9 The royal scribes were summoned at once—it was the third month, the month of Sivan, on the twenty-third day—and at Mordecai's dictation an order was written to the Jews, the satraps, governors and administrators of the provinces stretching from India to Ethiopia, a hundred and twenty-seven provinces, to each province in its own script, and to each people in its own language, and to 10 the Jews in their own script and language. These letters, written in the name of King Ahasuerus and sealed with the king's signet, were carried by couriers
11 mounted on horses from the king's own stud farms. In them the king granted the Jews, in whatever city they lived, the right to assemble in self-defense, with permission to destroy, slaughter and annihilate any armed force of any people or province that might attack them, together with their women and children, 12 and to plunder their possessions, with effect from the same day throughout the provinces of King Ahasuerus—the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is Adar.

The decree of rehabilitation

12a The text of the letter was as follows:

12b "The great King, Ahasuerus, to the satraps of the hundred and twenty-seven provinces which stretch from India to Ethiopia, to the provincial governors and to all our loyal subjects, greeting.

12c "Many men, repeatedly honored by the extreme bounty of their benefactors,

³ only grow the more arrogant. It is not enough for them to seek our subjects' injury, but unable as they are to support the weight of their own surfeit they turn ^{12d}₄ to scheming against their benefactors themselves. •Not content with banishing gratitude from the human heart, but elated by the plaudits of men unacquainted with goodness, notwithstanding that all is for ever under the eye of God, they ^{12e}₅ vainly expect to escape his justice, so hostile to the wicked. •Thus it has often happened to those placed in authority that, having entrusted friends with the conduct of affairs and allowed themselves to be influenced by them, they find themselves sharing with these the guilt of innocent blood and involved in irremediable mis-^{12f}₆ fortunes, •the upright intentions of rulers having been misled by false arguments of ^{12g}₇ the evilly disposed. •This may be seen without recourse to the history of earlier times to which we have referred; you have only to look at what is before you, at all crimes ^{12h}₈ perpetrated by a plague of unworthy officials. •For the future we will exert our ¹²ⁱ₉ efforts to assure the tranquillity and peace of the realm for all, •by adopting new policies and by always judging matters that are brought to our notice in the most equitable spirit.

^{12k}₁₀ "Thus Haman son of Hammedatha, a Macedonian, without a drop of Persian ^{12l}₁₁ blood and far removed from our goodness, enjoyed our hospitality •and was treated by us with the benevolence which we show to every nation, even to the extent of being proclaimed our 'father' and being accorded universally the prostration of ^{12m}₁₂ respect as second in dignity to the royal throne. •But he, unable to keep within his ¹²ⁿ₁₃ own high rank, schemed to deprive us of our realm and of our life. •Furthermore, by tortuous wiles and arguments, he would have had us destroy Mordecai, our savior and constant benefactor, with Esther the blameless partner of our majesty, and ^{12o}₁₄ their whole nation besides. •He thought by these means to leave us without support and so to transfer the Persian empire to the Macedonians.

^{12p}₁₅ "But we find that the Jews, marked out for annihilation by this archscoundrel, ^{12q}₁₆ are not criminals; they are in fact governed by the most just of laws. •They are sons of the Most High, the great and living God to whom we and our ancestors owe ^{12r}₁₇ the continuing prosperity of our realm. •You will therefore do well not to act on the letters sent by Haman son of Hammedatha, since their author has been hanged at the gates of Susa with his whole household: a well-earned punishment which ^{12s}₁₈ God, the ruler of all things, has speedily inflicted on him. •Put up copies of this letter ^{12t}₁₉ everywhere, allow the Jews freedom to observe their own customs, and come to ^{12u}₂₀ their help against anyone who attacks them on the day originally chosen for their maltreatment, that is the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is Adar. •For ^{12v}₂₁ the all-powerful God has made this day a day of joy and not of ruin for his chosen ^{12w}₂₂ people. •Jews, for your part, among your solemn festivals celebrate this as a special day with every kind of feasting, so that now and in the future, for you and for ^{12x}₂₃ Persians of good will it may commemorate your rescue, and for your enemies may stand as a reminder of their ruin.

^{12y}₂₄ "Every city and, more generally, every country, which does not follow these instructions, will be mercilessly devastated with fire and sword, and made not only inaccessible to men but hateful to wild animals and even birds for ever."

¹³ The text of this edict, to be promulgated as law in each province, was published to the various peoples, so that the Jews could be ready on the day stated to ¹⁴ avenge themselves on their enemies. •The couriers, mounted on the king's horses, set out in great haste and urgency at the king's command. The edict was also ¹⁵ published in the citadel of Susa. •Mordecai left the royal presence in a princely gown of violet and white, with a great golden crown and a cloak of fine linen ¹⁶ and purple. The city of Susa shouted for joy. •For the Jews there was light and ¹⁷ gladness, joy and honor. •In every province and in every city, wherever the king's command and decree arrived, there was joy and gladness among the Jews, with feasting and holidaymaking. Of the country's population many became Jews, since now the Jews were feared.

The great day of Purim

¹¹ The number of those killed in the citadel of Susa was reported the same day to the king, who said to Queen Esther, "In the citadel of Susa the Jews have killed five hundred men and also the ten sons of Haman. What must they have done in the other provinces of the realm? Tell me what you request; I grant it to you. ¹³ Tell me what else you desire; it is yours for the asking." "If such is the king's pleasure," Esther replied, "let the Jews of Susa be allowed to enforce today's decree tomorrow as well. And as for the ten sons of Haman, let their bodies ¹⁴ be hanged on the gallows." "Whereupon the king ordered this to be done; the edict was issued in Susa and the ten sons of Haman were hanged. ¹⁵ Thus the Jews of Susa reassembled on the fourteenth day of the month of Adar and killed three hundred men in the city. But they took no plunder.

¹⁶ The other Jews who lived in the king's provinces also assembled to defend their lives and rid themselves of their enemies. They slaughtered seventy-five thousand of their opponents. But they took no plunder. ¹⁷ This was on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar. On the fourteenth day they rested and made it a day of feasting and gladness. ¹⁸ But for the Jews of Susa, who had assembled on the thirteenth and fourteenth days, the fifteenth was the day they rested, making that a day of feasting and gladness. ¹⁹ This is why Jewish country people, those who live in undefended villages, keep the fourteenth day of the month of Adar as a day of gladness, feasting and holidaymaking, and exchange portions with one another, ^{19a} whereas for those who live in cities the day of rejoicing and exchanging portions with their neighbors is the fifteenth day of Adar.

V. THE FEAST OF PURIM

The official institution of the feast of Purim

²⁰ Mordecai committed these events to writing. Then he sent letters to all the ²¹ Jews throughout the provinces of King Ahasuerus, both near and far, enjoining them to celebrate the fourteenth and fifteenth days of the month of Adar every ²² year, as the days on which the Jews had rid themselves of their enemies, and the month in which their sorrow had been turned into gladness, and mourning into a holiday. He therefore told them to keep these as days of festivity and gladness when they were to exchange portions and make gifts to the poor.

²³ Once having begun to observe them, the Jews undertook to continue these ²⁴ practices about which Mordecai had written these words to them, "Haman son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, the persecutor of all the Jews, had plotted their destruction and had cast the pur, that is, the lot, for their overthrow and ruin.

25 But when he went again to the king to ask him to order the hanging of Mordecai, the wicked scheme which he had devised against the Jews recoiled on his own
 26 head, and both he and his sons were hanged on the gallows. "That is why these days were called Purim, from the word pur." And so, because of what was written in this letter, because of what they had seen for themselves and because of what 27 had happened to them, "the Jews vowed and took on themselves and their descendants and on all who should join them, to celebrate these two days without fail, in the manner prescribed and at the time appointed, year after year.
 28 Thus commemorated and celebrated from generation to generation, in each family, each province and each city, these days of Purim shall never be abrogated among the Jews, nor shall their memory die out among their race.
 29 Queen Esther, the daughter of Abihail, wrote with full authority to ratify
 30 this second letter, "and sent letters to all the Jews of the hundred and twenty-seven provinces of the realm of Ahasuerus in terms of kindness and friendship 31 enjoining them to observe these days of Purim at the appointed time, as Mordecai the Jew had recommended, and in the manner prescribed for themselves and their descendants, with additional ordinances for fasts and lamentations. "The 32 ordinance of Esther fixed this observance of Purim and it was recorded in writing.

Praise of Mordecai

1 10 King Ahasuerus levied tribute from the continent and the islands of the 2 sea. "All his mighty acts of power and the account of the high honor to which he raised Mordecai, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals
 3 of the Kings of Media and Persia? "How "Mordecai the Jew was next in rank to King Ahasuerus. He was a man held in respect among the Jews, esteemed by thousands of his brothers, a man who sought the good of his people and cared for the welfare of his entire race."
 10:4^{3a} And Mordecai said, "All this is God's doing. I remember the dream I had about 3^c these matters, nothing of which has failed to come true: "the little spring that became a river, the light that shone, the sun, the flood of water. Esther is the river—she whom the king married and made queen. "The two dragons are
 3^d Haman and myself. "The nations are those that banded together to blot out the name of Jew. "The single nation, mine, is Israel, those who cried out to God and were saved. Yes, the Lord has saved his people, the Lord has delivered us from all these evils, God has worked such signs and great wonders as have never happened among the nations.
 3^e "Two destinies he appointed, one for his own people, one for the nations at large. "And these two destinies were worked out at the hour and time and day laid down by God involving all the nations. "In this way God has remembered his people and vindicated his heritage; "and for them these days, the fourteenth and fifteenth of the month of Adar, are to be days of assembly, of joy and of gladness before God, through all generations and for ever among his people Israel."

Note on the Greek translation of the book

11:1^{3f} In the fourth year of the reign of Ptolemy and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who affirmed that he was a priest and Levite, and Ptolemy his son brought the foregoing letter concerning the Purim. They maintained it as being authentic, the translation having been made by Lysimachus son of Ptolemy, a member of the Jerusalem community.

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOKS OF MACCABEES

The First and Second Books of Maccabees were not in the Jewish Canon of scripture and have sometimes been relegated to the Apocrypha. The Church nevertheless gave recognition to them after a period of doubt and there is much to be learned from them about late developments in Jewish belief before the incarnation, and about the position of the Jewish nation between Greeks and Romans in the second century B.C.

The background of both books is the fight of the resistance movement against the Hellenization of the Jewish nation by the Seleucid kings. The First Book of Maccabees covers the forty years from 175 to 134 B.C., and must have been written before 63 B.C. As a history of the times it is invaluable, but allowances must be made for the author's intention of writing a religious history modeled on the ancient chroniclers of Israel.

The Second Book of Maccabees covers a part of the same period. It was written about the same date, in Greek and in a formal didactic style, incorporating documents which may well be genuine but are not always placed appropriately. The book was addressed to the expatriate Jews of Alexandria, to arouse their concern for the dangers threatening the Temple of Jerusalem, and it selects and arranges historical incidents for this purpose.

These books provide the setting in which the Book of Daniel was written.

THE FIRST BOOK OF MACCABEES

I. INTRODUCTION

Alexander and the Diadochoi

¹ 1 Alexander of Macedon, son of Philip, had come from the land of Kittim^a and defeated Darius, king of the Persians and Medes, whom he succeeded ² as ruler, at first of Hellas. •He undertook many campaigns, gained possession ³ of many fortresses, and put the local kings to death. •So he advanced to the ends of the earth, plundering nation after nation; the earth grew silent before ⁴ him, and his ambitious heart swelled with pride. •He assembled very powerful forces and subdued provinces, nations and princes, and they became his ⁵ tributaries. •But the time came when Alexander took to his bed, in the knowledge
⁶ that he was dying. •He summoned his comrades, noblemen who had been ⁷ brought up with him from his youth, and divided his kingdom among them
⁸ while he was still alive. •Alexander had reigned twelve years when he died.^b
^{8:9} Each of his comrades established himself in his own region. •All assumed crowns
^{9:10} after his death, they and their heirs after them for many years, bringing increasing evils on the world.

Antiochus Epiphanes: Israel infected with Hellenism

¹⁰ From these there grew a sinful offshoot, Antiochus Epiphanes, son of King ¹¹ Antiochus; once a hostage in Rome,^c he became king in the one hundred and ¹² thirty-seventh year of the kingdom of the Greeks.^d •It was then that there emerged from Israel a set of renegades who led many people astray. “Come,” they said, “let us reach an understanding with the pagans surrounding us, for since we ¹³ separated ourselves from them many misfortunes have overtaken us.” •This ¹⁴ proposal proved acceptable, and a number of the people eagerly approached ¹⁵ the king, who authorized them to practice the pagan observances. •So they ¹⁶ built a gymnasium in Jerusalem, such as the pagans have, •disguised their circumcision, and abandoned the holy covenant, submitting to the heathen rule as willing slaves of impiety.

Antiochus Epiphanes despoils the Temple, and persecutes Jews remaining faithful to the Law

¹⁷ Once Antiochus had seen his authority established, he determined to make ¹⁸ himself king of Egypt, and the ruler of both kingdoms. •He invaded Egypt
¹⁹ in massive strength, with chariots and elephants and a great fleet. •He engaged Ptolemy, king of Egypt, in battle, and Ptolemy turned back and fled before his advance, leaving many casualties. •The fortified cities of the land of Egypt ²⁰ were captured, and Antiochus plundered the country. •After his conquest of ²¹ Egypt, in the year one hundred and forty-three, Antiochus turned about and ²² advanced on Israel and Jerusalem in massive strength. •Insolently breaking into ²³ the sanctuary, he removed the golden altar and the lampstand for the light

22 with all its fittings, together with the table for the loaves of offering, the libation vessels, the cups, the golden censers, the veil, the crowns, and the golden decoration 23 on the front of the Temple, which he stripped of everything. He made 24 off with the silver and gold and precious vessels, he discovered the secret treasures 25 and seized them, and removing all of these, he went back to his own country, leaving the place a shambles and uttering words of extreme arrogance.

26 Then there was deep mourning for Israel throughout the country:

26 Rulers and elders groaned;
 27 girls and young men wasted away;
 the women's beauty suffered a change;
 27 every bridegroom took up a dirge,
 28 the bride sat grief-stricken on her marriage bed.
 28 The very land quaked for its inhabitants
 29 and the whole House of Jacob was clothed with shame.

29 The days passed, and after two years the king sent the mysarch^c through 30 the cities of Judah. He came to Jerusalem with an impressive force, and 31 addressing them with what appeared to be peaceful words, he gained their 32 confidence; then suddenly he fell on the city dealing it a terrible blow, 33 and destroying many of the people of Israel. He pillaged the city and set it on fire, 34 tore down its houses and encircling wall, took the women and children captive 35 and commandeered the cattle. Then they fortified the City of David with a great 36 strong wall and strong towers, and made this their Citadel. There they installed 37 an army of sinful men, renegades, who fortified themselves inside it, storing arms and provisions, and depositing there the loot they had collected from Jerusalem; they were to prove a great trouble.

36 It became an ambush for the sanctuary,
 38 an evil adversary for Israel at all times.
 37 They shed innocent blood all around the sanctuary
 39 and defiled the sanctuary itself.
 38 The citizens of Jerusalem fled because of them,
 40 she became a dwelling place of strangers;
 41 estranged from her own offspring,
 her children forsook her.
 39 Her sanctuary became as deserted as a wilderness, 41 her feasts were turned into mourning,
 her sabbaths into a mockery,
 her honor into reproach.
 40 Her dishonor now fully matched her former glory,
 42 her greatness was turned into grief.

41 Then the king issued a proclamation to his whole kingdom that all were 42 to become a single people, each renouncing his particular customs. All the pagans 43 conformed to the king's decree, and many Israelites chose to accept his 44 religion, sacrificing to idols and profaning the sabbath. The king also sent 46 instructions by messenger to Jerusalem and the towns of Judah directing them 45 to adopt customs foreign to the country, banning holocausts, sacrifices and 46 libations from the sanctuary, profaning sabbaths and feasts, defiling the 47 sanctuary and the sacred ministers, building altars, precincts and shrines for 48 idols, sacrificing pigs and unclean beasts, leaving their sons uncircumcised, 49 and prostituting themselves to all kinds of impurity and abomination, so 50 that they should forget the Law and revoke all observance of it. Anyone not obeying the king's command was to be put to death. Writing in such terms to every part of his kingdom, the king appointed inspectors for the whole people, and directed all the towns of Judah to offer sacrifice one after another.

Many of the people—that is, every apostate from the Law—rallied to them, and so committed evil in the country, forcing Israel into hiding in all their places of refuge. On the fifteenth day of Chislev in the year one hundred and forty-five the king erected the abomination of desolation⁹ above the altar; and altars were built in the surrounding towns of Judah and incense offered at the doors of houses and in the streets. Any books of the Law that came to light were torn up and burned. Whenever anyone was discovered possessing a copy of the covenant or practicing the Law, the king's decree sentenced him to death. Having might on their side they took action month after month against any offenders they discovered in the towns of Israel. On the twenty-fifth day of the month sacrifice was offered on the altar erected over the altar of holocaust. Women who had had their children circumcised were put to death according to the edict with their babies hung around their necks, and the members of their household and those who had performed the circumcision were executed with them.

Yet there were many in Israel who stood firm and found the courage to refuse unclean food. They chose death rather than contamination by such fare or profanation of the holy covenant, and they were executed. It was a dreadful wrath that visited Israel.

II. MATTATHIAS UNLEASHES THE HOLY WAR

Mattathias and his sons

In those days Mattathias son of John, son of Simeon, a priest of the line of Joarib, left Jerusalem and settled in Modein. He had five sons, John known as Gaddi, Simon called Thassi, Judas called Maccabaeus, Eleazar, called Avaran, and Jonathan called Apphus. When he saw the blasphemies being committed in Judah and Jerusalem, he said, "Alas that I should have been born to witness the overthrow of my people, and the overthrow of the Holy City, and to sit by while she is delivered over to her enemies, and the sanctuary into the hand of foreigners.

"Her Temple has become like a man of no repute, the vessels that were her glory have been carried off as booty,
her babies have been slaughtered in her streets,
her young men by the enemy's sword.
Is there a nation that has not claimed a share of her royal prerogatives,
that has not taken some of her spoils?
All her ornaments have been snatched from her,
her former freedom has become slavery.
See how our Holy Place, our beauty, our glory, is now laid waste, profaned by the pagans.
What have we left to live for?"

Mattathias and his sons tore their garments, put on sackcloth, and observed deep mourning.

The ordeal of the sacrifice of Modein

The king's commissioners who were enforcing the apostasy came to the town of Modein to make them sacrifice. Many Israelites gathered around them, but Mattathias and his sons drew apart. The king's commissioners then addressed Mattathias as follows, "You are a respected leader, a great man in this town; you have sons and brothers to support you. Be the first to step forward and conform to the king's decree, as all the nations have done, and the leaders of Judah and the survivors in Jerusalem; you and your sons shall be reckoned among the Friends of the King, you and your sons shall be honored with gold and silver and many presents." •Raising his voice, Mattathias retorted, "Even if every nation living in the king's dominions obeys him, each forsaking its ancestral religion to conform to his decrees, •I, my sons and my brothers will still follow the covenant of our ancestors. •Heaven preserve us from forsaking the Law and its observances. •As for the king's orders, we will not follow them: we will not swerve from our own religion either to right or to left." •As he finished speaking, a Jew came forward in the sight of all to offer sacrifice on the altar in Modein as the royal edict required. •When Mattathias saw this, he was fired with zeal; stirred to the depth of his being, he gave vent to his legitimate anger, threw himself on the man and slaughtered him on the altar. •At the same time he killed the king's commissioner who was there to enforce the sacrifice, and tore down the altar. •In his zeal for the Law he acted as Phinehas did against Zimri son of Salu. •Then Mattathias went through the town, shouting at the top of his voice, "Let everyone who has a fervor for the Law and takes his stand on the covenant come out and follow me." •Then he fled with his sons into the hills, leaving all their possessions behind in the town.

The ordeal of the sabbath in the desert

At this many who were concerned for virtue and justice went down to the desert and stayed there, taking with them their sons, their wives and their cattle, for the burden of their wrongs had become unendurable. •But word was brought to the king's men and the garrison in Jerusalem, in the City of David, that the men who had repudiated the king's edict had gone down to hiding places in the desert. •A strong detachment went after them, and when it came up with them ranged itself against them in battle formation, preparing to attack them on the sabbath day. •But first they challenged them, "Enough of this! Come out and do as the king orders and you shall be spared." •But they answered, "We refuse to come out, and we are not going to obey the king's orders and so profane the sabbath day." •The others at once went into action, •but they offered no opposition; not a stone was thrown, there was no barricading of the hiding places. •They only said, "Let us all die innocent; let heaven and earth bear witness that you are massacring us with no pretense of justice." •The attack was pressed home on the sabbath itself, and they were slaughtered, with their wives and children and cattle, to the number of one thousand persons.

The activity of Mattathias and his associates

When the news reached Mattathias and his friends, they mourned bitterly for the victims, and said to one another, "If we all do as our brothers have done, and refuse to fight the pagans for our lives and institutions, they will only destroy us the sooner from the earth." •So then and there they came to this decision, "If anyone attacks us on the sabbath day, whoever he may be, we will resist him; we must not all be killed, as our brothers were in the hiding places." •Soon they were joined by a community of Hasidaeans,^a stout fighting men of Israel, each one a volunteer on the side of the Law. •All the refugees from the persecution rallied to them, giving them added support. •They organized themselves into an armed force, striking down the sinners in their anger, and the renegades in their fury, and those who escaped them fled to the pagans for safety. •Mattathias and his friends made a tour, overthrowing the altars

46 and forcibly circumcising all the boys they found uncircumcised in the territories 47 of Israel. They hunted down the upstarts, and managed their campaign to good 48 effect. They wrested the Law out of the control of the pagans and the kings, and robbed sinful men of their advantage.

The testament and death of Mattathias

49 As the days of Mattathias were drawing to a close, he said to his sons,
 "Arrogance and outrage are now in the ascendant; it is a period of turmoil 50 and bitter hatred. This is the time, my children, for you to have a burning fervor for the Law and to give your lives for the covenant of our ancestors.

51 "Remember the deeds performed by our ancestors, each in his generation,
 and you shall win great honor and everlasting renown.
 52 Was not Abraham tried and found faithful, was that not counted as making him just?
 53 Joseph in the time of his distress maintained the Law,
 and so became lord of Egypt.
 54 Phinehas, our father, in return for his burning fervor received a covenant of everlasting priesthood.
 55 Joshua, for carrying out his task, became judge of Israel.
 56 Caleb, for his testimony before the assembled people, received an inheritance in the land.
 57 David for his generous heart inherited the throne of an everlasting kingdom.
 58 Elijah for his consuming fervor for the Law was caught up to heaven itself.
 59 Hananiah, Azariah and Mishael, for their fidelity, were saved from the flame.
 60 Daniel for his singleness of heart was rescued from the lion's jaw.
 61 Consider, then, how in generation after generation
 all who hope in him will not be found to falter.
 62 Do not fear the threats of the sinner,
 all his brave show must come to the dunghill and the worms.
 63 Exalted today, tomorrow he is nowhere to be found,
 for he has returned to the dust he came from
 and his scheming is brought to nothing.
 64 My children, play the man and be courageous for the Law,
 for it will bring you glory.

65 "Here is your brother Simeon, I know he is a man of sound judgment. Listen 66 to him all your lives; let him take your father's place. Judas Maccabaeus, strong and brave from his youth, let him be your general and conduct the war 67 against the pagans. The rest of you are to enroll in your ranks all those who 68 keep the Law, and to exact vengeance for your people. Pay back the pagans 69 to the full, and hold fast to the ordinance of the Law." Then he blessed them 70 and was laid with his ancestors. He died in the year one hundred and forty-six and was buried in his ancestral tomb at Modein, and all Israel mourned him deeply.

III. JUDAS MACCABAEUS, LEADER OF THE JEWS

(166-160 B.C.)

The eulogy of Judas Maccabaeus

¹
² 3 Then his son Judas, called Maccabaeus, took over his command. All his brothers, and all who had attached themselves to his father, supported him, and they fought for Israel with a will.

³ He extended the fame of his people.
He put on the breastplate like a giant and girded on his war harness;
he engaged in battle after battle,
protecting the ranks with his sword.
⁴ He was like a lion in his exploits,
like a lion's whelp roaring over its prey.
⁵ He pursued and tracked down the renegades,
he consigned those who troubled his people to the flames.
⁶ Renegades were abashed for terror of him,
all evildoers were utterly confounded,
and deliverance went forward under his leadership.
⁷ He brought bitterness to many a king and rejoicing to Jacob by his deeds,
his memory is blessed for ever and ever.
⁸ He went through the towns of Judah
and utterly destroyed the infidels in them, turning wrath away from Israel.
⁹ His name resounded to the ends of the earth and he rallied those who were on the point of perishing.

The first successes of Judas

¹⁰ But Apollonius^a mustered the pagans and a large force from Samaria to fight
¹¹ against Israel. When Judas learned of it, he went out to meet him and routed ¹² and killed him. Many fell wounded, and the survivors took to flight. Their spoils were seized and the sword of Apollonius was taken by Judas, who used ¹³ it to fight with throughout his life. On hearing that Judas had raised a mixed force ¹⁴ of believers and seasoned fighters, Seron, commander of the Syrian troops, said, "I will make a name for myself and gain honor in the kingdom if I fight Judas and those supporters of his who are so contemptuous of the king's orders."
¹⁵ He therefore launched another expedition, with a strong army of infidels to ¹⁶ support him in taking revenge on the Israelites. He had nearly reached the ascent of Beth-horon when Judas went out to confront him with a handful ¹⁷ of men. But as soon as these saw the force advancing to meet them they said to Judas, "How can we, few as we are, engage such overwhelming numbers?
¹⁸ We are exhausted as it is, not having had anything to eat today." "It is easy," Judas answered, "for a great number to be routed by a few; indeed in the sight ¹⁹ of heaven deliverance, whether by many or by few, is all one; for victory in war does not depend on the size of the fighting force; it is from heaven that ²⁰ strength comes. They are coming against us in full-blown insolence and law-²¹ lessness to destroy us, our wives and our children, and to plunder us; but we ²² are fighting for our lives and our laws, and he will crush them before our ²³ eyes; do not be afraid of them." When he had finished speaking, he made a sudden ²⁴ sally against Seron and his force and overwhelmed them. Judas pursued him down from Beth-horon as far as the plain. About eight hundred of their men

25 fell, and the rest took refuge in the country of the Philistines. ·Judas and his 26 brothers began to be feared, and alarm seized the surrounding peoples. ·His name even reached the king's ears, and in every nation there was talk of Judas and his battles.

Preparations for expeditions in Persia and Judaea. The regency of Lysias

27 The news of these events infuriated Antiochus, and he ordered mobilization 28 of all the forces in his kingdom, a very powerful army. ·Opening his treasury, he distributed a year's pay to his troops, telling them to be prepared for any 29 eventuality. ·He then found that the money in his coffers had run short and that the tribute of the province had decreased, as a result of the dissension and disaster brought upon the country by his own abrogation of laws that had 30 been in force from antiquity. ·He began to fear that, as had happened more than once, he would not have enough to cover the expenses and the lavish bounties he had previously been accustomed to make on a larger scale than his predecessors 31 on the throne. ·In this grave quandary he resolved to visit Persia, in order to 32 levy tribute on the provinces and so accumulate substantial funds. ·Lysias, a nobleman belonging to the royal family, was left in charge of the king's affairs 33 from the river Euphrates to the Egyptian frontier, ·and was to be responsible 34 for the education of his son Antiochus until his return. ·Antiochus made over to him half his forces, with the elephants, and gave him instructions about all 35 his policies, particularly about the inhabitants of Judaea and Jerusalem, ·against whom he was to send a force, to crush and destroy the power of Israel and the 36 remnant of Jerusalem, to wipe out their very memory from the place, ·to settle the sons of foreigners in all parts of their territory and to distribute their land 37 by lot. ·The king took with him the remaining half of his forces and set out from Antioch, the capital of his kingdom, in the year one hundred and forty-seven^b; he crossed the river Euphrates and made his way along the upper provinces.

Gorgias and Nicanor lead the Syrian army into Judaea

38 Lysias chose Ptolemy son of Dorymenes, with Nicanor and Gorgias, 39 influential men from among the Friends of the King, ·and dispatched under their command forty thousand foot and seven thousand horse to invade the land 40 of Judah and devastate it, as the king had ordered. ·The entire force set out and reached the neighborhood of Emmaus in the Lowlands, where they pitched 41 camp. ·When the merchants of the province heard who they were, they came to the camp, bringing with them a large amount of gold and silver, and fetters as well, proposing to buy the Israelites as slaves; they were accompanied by a 42 contingent from Idumaea and the Philistine country. ·Judas and his brothers saw that the situation was going from bad to worse and that armies were camping in their territory; they were also well aware that the king had ordered the people's 43 total destruction. ·So they said to each other, "Let us restore the ruins of our 44 people and fight for our people and our sanctuary." ·They mustered their people to prepare for war, and to offer prayer and implore compassion and mercy.

45 Jerusalem was left uninhabited like a desert,
 there was none left to go in or out, of all her children.
 The sanctuary was trodden underfoot,
 with men of an alien race in the Citadel,
 now a lodging place for pagans.
 There was no more rejoicing for Jacob,
 flute and zither were mute.

The Jews muster at Mizpah

46 After mustering, they made their way to Mizpah, opposite Jerusalem, since 47 Mizpah was traditionally a place of prayer for Israel. ·That day they fasted and put on sackcloth, covering their heads with ashes and tearing their garments.

 48 For the guidance that the heathen would have sought from the images of their 49 false gods, they opened the Book of the Law. They also brought out the priestly vestments, with first fruits and tithes, and marshaled the Nazirites who had 50 completed the period of their vow. Then, raising their voices to heaven, they cried, "What shall we do with these people, and where are we to take them?"
 51 Your sacred precincts have been trampled underfoot and defiled, your priests
 52 mourn in their humiliation, and now the pagans are allied together to destroy 53 us: you know what they have in mind for us. How can we stand up and face them 54 if you do not come to our aid?" Then they sounded the trumpets and made a great outcry.

55 Next Judas appointed leaders for the people, to command a thousand, a 56 hundred, fifty or ten men. He told those who were building houses, or about to be married, or planting vineyards, or who were simply afraid, to go home 57 every one of them, as the Law allowed. Then the formation marched off and 58 took up a position south of Emmaus. "Stand to your arms," Judas told them,
 "acquit yourselves bravely, be ready to fight in the morning against these pagans 59 massed against us to destroy us and our sanctuary. Better for us to die in battle 60 than to watch the ruin of our nation and our holy place. Whatever be the will of heaven, he will perform it."

The battle of Emmaus

1 4 Gorgias took with him five thousand foot and a thousand picked cavalry, 2 and the force moved off by night with the object of attacking the Jewish position and dealing them an unexpected blow; the men from the Citadel were 3 there to guide him. Judas got wind of it and himself moved off with his fighters 4 to strike at the king's forces in Emmaus, while their fighting troops had been 5 moved away from the encampment. And so, when Gorgias reached the camp of Judas, he found nobody and he began to search for the Jews in the mountains, 6 exclaiming, "They are running away from us." First light found Judas in the plain with three thousand men, although these lacked the armor and swords 7 they could have wished. They could now see the heathen encampment with its strong fortifications and cavalry surrounding it, clearly people who understood warfare.

8 Judas said to his men, "Do not be afraid of their numbers, and do not flinch at 9 their attack. Remember how our ancestors were delivered at the Red Sea when 10 Pharaoh was pursuing them in force. And now let us implore heaven to be kind to us and to remember his covenant with our ancestors and to destroy this army 11 confronting us today; then all the nations will know for certain that there is one who saves and delivers Israel."

12 The foreigners looked up and, seeing the Jews advancing against them, 13 came out of the camp to join battle. Judas' men sounded the trumpet and 14 engaged them. The pagans were routed and fled toward the plain and all the 15 stragglers fell by the sword. The pursuit continued as far as Gezer and the plains of Idumaea, Azotus and Jamnia, and the enemy lost about three thousand men.

16 Breaking off the pursuit, Judas returned with his men and said to the people, 17 "Never mind the booty, for we have another battle ahead of us. Gorgias and his forces are still in the mountains not far from us. First stand up to our enemies 19 and fight them, and then you can collect as much booty as you like." The words were hardly out of Judas' mouth when an enemy patrol appeared on the mount-20 ainside. This patrol, observing that their own troops had been routed and that the camp had been fired, for the smoke, which was clearly visible, told them 21 what had happened, were panic-stricken at the sight; and when they also saw

b. 165 B.C. c. When the time of a vow was completed, the Nazirite had to offer sacrifice in the Temple. But now the Temple was desecrated.

22 the forces of Judas drawn up on the plain in battle formation, they all fled 23 into Philistine territory. Judas now turned back to plunder the camp, and they carried off a large sum in gold and silver, with violet and sea-purple stuffs, 24 and many other valuables. On their return, the Jews chanted praises to heaven, 25 "For he is good, and his mercy is everlasting." That day had seen a remarkable deliverance in Israel.

The first campaign of Lysias

26 Those of the foreigners who had escaped came and gave Lysias an account 27 of all that had happened. The news shocked and dismayed him, for affairs in Israel had not gone as he intended, and the results were very different from 28 the instructions given him by the king. The next year he mobilized sixty thousand picked troops and five thousand cavalry with the intention of putting the Jews out 29 of action. They advanced into Idumaea and made their base at Bethzur,^a 30 where Judas met them with ten thousand men. When he saw their military strength he offered this prayer, "Blessed are you, savior of Israel, who shattered the might of the Philistine champion by the hand of your servant David, and delivered their camp into the hands of Jonathan son of Saul, and his armor-bearer. Crush this expedition in the same way at the hands of your people 31 Israel; make them ashamed of their forces and their cavalry. Make cowards of 32 them, undermine their confidence in their own strength, and may they reel at their 33 defeat. Overthrow them by the sword of those who love you, and all who acknow-34 ledge your name will sing your praises." The two forces engaged, and five 35 thousand men of Lysias' troops fell in hand-to-hand fighting. Seeing the rout of his army and the courage of Judas' troops and their readiness to live or die as soldiers should, Lysias withdrew to Antioch, where he recruited mercenaries for a further invasion of Judaea in even greater strength.

The purification of the Temple and its dedication

36 Then Judas and his brothers said, "Now that our enemies have been defeated, 37 let us go up to purify the sanctuary and dedicate it." So they marshaled the whole 38 army, and went up to Mount Zion. There they found the sanctuary a wilderness, the altar desecrated, the gates burned down, and vegetation growing in the courts as it might in a wood or on some mountain, while the storerooms 39 were in ruins. They tore their garments and mourned bitterly, putting dust 40 on their heads. They prostrated themselves on the ground, and when the trumpets gave the signal they cried aloud to heaven.

41 Then Judas ordered his men to engage the garrison in the Citadel until he 42 had purified the sanctuary. Next, he selected priests who were blameless in 43 observance of the Law to purify the sanctuary and remove the stones of the abomination to an unclean place.

44 They discussed what should be done about the altar of holocausts which had 45 been profaned, and very properly decided to pull it down, that it might never become a reproach to them, from its defilement by the pagans. They therefore 46 demolished it and deposited the stones in a suitable place on the Temple hill to await the appearance of a prophet who should give a ruling about them.
47 They took unhewn stones, as the Law prescribed, and built a new altar on the 48 lines of the old one. They restored the Holy Place and the interior of the house, 49 and purified the courts. They made new sacred vessels, and brought the lamp-50 stand, the altar of incense, and the table into the Temple. They burned incense on the altar and lit the lamps on the lampstand, and these shone inside the 51 Temple. They set out the loaves on the table and hung the curtains and completed all the tasks they had undertaken.

52 On the twenty-fifth of the ninth month, Chislev, in the year one hundred and 53 forty-eight, they rose at dawn and offered a lawful sacrifice on the new altar 54 of holocausts which they had made. The altar was dedicated, to the sound of zithers, harps and cymbals, at the same time of year and on the same day on which 55 the pagans had originally profaned it. The whole people fell prostrate in 56 adoration, praising to the skies him who had made them so successful. For eight days they celebrated the dedication of the altar, joyfully offering holocausts, 57 communion sacrifices and thanksgivings. They ornamented the front of the Temple with crowns and bosses of gold, repaired the gates and the storerooms 58 and fitted them with doors. There was no end to the rejoicing among the people, 59 and the reproach of the pagans was lifted from them. Judas, with his brothers and the whole assembly of Israel, made it a law that the days of the dedication of the altar should be celebrated yearly at the proper season, for eight days beginning on the twenty-fifth of the month Chislev, with rejoicing and gladness.

 60 They then proceeded to build high walls with strong towers around Mount Zion, to prevent the pagans from coming and riding roughshod over it as in the 61 past. Judas stationed a garrison there to guard the mount; he also fortified Bethzur, to give the people a fortress against Idumaea.

The expedition against the Idumaeans and Ammonites

1 5 When the surrounding nations heard that the altar had been rebuilt and the 2 sanctuary restored to what it had been before, they became very angry, and determined to destroy the whole race of Jacob living among them; they began murdering and evicting Jewish citizens.

3 Judas made war on the sons of Esau in Idumaea,^a in the region of Akrabattene where they held the Israelites under siege. He inflicted a crushing defeat on 4 them, and plundered them. He also remembered the wickedness of the sons of Baean who were a menace and a trap for the people with their ambushes 5 on the roads. Having blockaded them in their towers and besieged them, he vowed them to the ban; then he set fire to their towers and burned them down 6 with everyone inside. Next, he crossed over to the Ammonites where he found a strong fighting force and a numerous people with Timotheus for their leader.
 7 He engaged them in many encounters, routed them and cut them to pieces.
 8 After capturing Jazer and its outlying villages, he retired to Judaea.

The opening of campaigns in Galilee and Gilead

9 The pagans in Gilead now banded together against the Israelites living on their territory, to destroy them. But they took refuge in the fortress of Dathema, 10 and sent the following letter to Judas and his brothers, "The pagans around us 11 have banded themselves together against us to wipe us out, and they are preparing to storm the fortress in which we have taken refuge; Timotheus is in command 12 of their forces. Come at once and rescue us from their clutches, for we have 13 already suffered great losses. All our countrymen living among the Tubians have been put to death, their women and children have been taken into captivity, their property has been seized, and a force about a thousand strong has been 14 wiped out there." While the letter was being read, other messengers arrived 15 from Galilee with their garments torn bearing similar news, "The people of Ptolemais,^b Tyre and Sidon have joined forces with the whole of heathen Galilee 16 to destroy us!" When Judas and the people heard this, a great assembly was held to decide what should be done for their oppressed countrymen who were 17 under attack from their enemies. Judas said to his brother Simon, "Pick your men and go and relieve your countrymen in Galilee, while my brother Jonathan 18 and I make our way into Gilead." He left Joseph son of Zechariah and the people's leader Azariah with the remainder of the army in Judaea to guard it, 19 and gave them these orders: "Take charge of this people, and do not engage the 20 pagans until we return." Simon was allotted three thousand men for the expedition into Galilee, Judas eight thousand for Gilead.

The expeditions in Galilee and Gilead

21 Simon advanced into Galilee, engaged the pagans in several battles and 22 drove them off in disorder; he pursued them to the gate of Ptolemais, and they 23 lost about three thousand men, whose spoils he collected. He took away with him the Jews of Galilee and Arbatta,^c with their wives and children and all their possessions, and brought them into Judaea with great rejoicing.

24 Meanwhile Judas Maccabaeus and his brother Jonathan crossed the Jordan
25 and made a three days' march through the desert, where they encountered the Nabataeans,^d who came to an understanding with them and gave them 26 an account of all that had happened to their brothers in Gilead. Many of them, they said, were shut up in Bozrah and Bosor, Alema, Chaspho, Maked 27 and Carnaim, all large fortified towns. Others were blockaded in the other towns of Gilead, and the enemy planned to attack and capture these strongholds the very next day, and wipe out all the people inside them in a single day.

28 Judas and his army at once turned off by the desert road to Bozrah; having captured the town, he put the entire male population to the sword, plundered 29 the town and set it on fire. When night came, he left the place, and they 30 continued their march until they reached the fortress.^e In the light of dawn they saw an innumerable horde, setting up ladders and engines to capture the 31 fortress; the assault was just beginning. When Judas saw that the attack had begun and that the war cry was rising to heaven, mingled with trumpet calls and a great clamor, he said to the men of his army, "You must fight today, 32 fight for your countrymen." Dividing them into three commands, he advanced 33 on the enemy's rear, with trumpets sounding and prayers shouted aloud. The troops of Timotheus, recognizing that this was Maccabaeus, fled before his 34 advance; Maccabaeus dealt them a crushing defeat; about eight thousand of their 35 men fell that day. Then, wheeling on Alema, he attacked and captured it, put its 36 male population to death, plundered it and burned the place down. From there he moved on and took Chaspho, Maked, Bosor and the remaining towns 37 of Gilead. After these events, Timotheus mustered another force and pitched 38 camp opposite Raphon, on the far side of the wadi. Judas sent men to reconnoiter the camp, and these reported back as follows, "With him are massed 39 all the pagans surrounding us, making a very numerous army, with Arab mercenaries as auxiliaries; they are encamped on the far side of the wadi, and 40 ready to launch an attack on you." Judas then advanced to engage them, and was approaching the watercourse with his troops when Timotheus told the 41 commanders of his army, "If he crosses first we shall not be able to resist him, because he will have the advantage of us. But if he is afraid and camps on the other side of the stream we will cross over to him and the advantage will then be ours."

42 As soon as he reached the watercourse Judas posted the scribes of the people along the wadi, giving them this order: "Do not let anyone pitch his tent; all 43 are to go into battle!" He was himself the first across to the enemy side, with all the people following. Driven before them, the pagans all tore off their armor 44 and ran for refuge in the sacred precinct of Carnaim. The Jews first captured the town, and then burned down the precinct with everyone inside. And so Carnaim was overthrown, and the enemy could offer no further resistance to Judas.

45 Next, Judas assembled all the Israelites living in Gilead, from the least to the greatest, with their wives, children and belongings, an enormous muster, to 46 take them into the land of Judah. They reached Ephron, a large town straddling the road and strongly fortified. As it was impossible to bypass it on the right or 47 the left, there was nothing for it but to march straight through. But the people of the town denied them passage and barricaded the gates with stones. 48 Judas sent them a conciliatory message in these terms, "Let us go through your territory to reach our own; no one will do you any harm, we only want to march 49 through." But they would not open up for him. So Judas sent an order down 50 the column for everyone to halt where he stood. The fighting men took up their positions; Judas attacked the town all day and night, and it was delivered 51 into his hands. He put all the male inhabitants to the sword, razed it to the ground, plundered it and marched through the town over the bodies of the 52 dead. The Jews now crossed the Jordan into the great plain, opposite Bethshan, 53 Judas all the time rallying the stragglers and encouraging the people the whole 54 way until they reached the land of Judah. They climbed Mount Zion in joy and gladness, and offered holocausts because they had returned safe and sound without having lost a single man.

A setback at Jamnia

55 While Judas and Jonathan were in the land of Gilead and Simon his brother 56 in Galilee before Ptolemais, Joseph son of Zechariah, and Azariah, who were in command of the army, heard of their exploits and how well they had done in 57 battle, and said, "Let us make a name for ourselves too and go and fight the 58 nations around us." So they issued orders to the men of the forces under them 59 and marched on Jamnia. But Gorgias came out from the town with his men 60 to engage them. Joseph and Azariah were routed and pursued as far as the frontiers of Judaea. That day about two thousand Israelites lost their lives. 61 And so the people met with a great reverse, because they had not listened 62 to Judas and his brothers, but had relied on their own prowess. These were not of the same mold as those to whom the deliverance of Israel had been entrusted.

Successes in Idumaea and Philistia

63 But that hero Judas and his brothers were held in high honor throughout 64 Israel and among all the nations wherever their name was heard, and men 65 gathered around them to acclaim them. Judas marched out with his brothers to fight the Edomites in the country toward the south; he stormed Hebron and its outlying villages, threw down its fortifications and burned its circle of towers. 66 Leaving there, he made for the country of the Philistines and passed through 67 Marisa.^f Among the fallen in that day's fighting were some priests who sought 68 to prove their courage there by joining in the battle, a foolhardy venture. Judas next turned toward Azotus, a Philistine district; he overthrew their altars, burned down the carved images of their gods, and withdrew to the land of Judah, leaving their towns utterly despoiled.

The last days of Antiochus Epiphanes

1 6 Meanwhile King Antiochus was making his way across the upper provinces; he had heard that in Persia there was a city called Elymais, renowned for 2 its riches, its silver and gold, and its very wealthy temple containing golden armor, breastplates and weapons, left there by Alexander son of Philip, the 3 king of Macedon, the first to reign over the Greeks. He therefore went and attempted to take the city and pillage it, but without success, since the citizens 4 learned of his intention, and offered him a stiff resistance, whereupon he 5 turned about and retreated, disconsolate, in the direction of Babylon. But while he was still in Persia news reached him that the armies that had invaded 6 the land of Judah had been defeated, and that Lysias in particular had advanced in massive strength, only to be forced to turn and flee before the Jews; these had been strengthened by the acquisition of arms, supplies and abundant spoils from the armies they had cut to pieces; they had overthrown the abomination he had erected over the altar in Jerusalem, and had encircled the sanctuary with high walls as in the past, and had fortified Bethzur, one of his cities. When the king heard this news he was amazed and profoundly shaken; he threw himself on his bed and fell into a lethargy from acute disappointment, because things had not turned out for him as he had planned. And there he remained for many days, subject to deep and recurrent fits of melancholy, until he understood that he was dying. Then summoning all his Friends, he said to them, "Sleep evades my eyes, and my heart is cowed by anxiety. I have been asking myself how I could have come to such a pitch of distress, so great a flood as that which now engulfs me—I who was so generous and well loved in my heyday. But now I remember the wrong I did in Jerusalem when I seized all the vessels of silver and gold there, and ordered the extermination of the inhabitants of Judah for no reason at all. This, I am convinced, is why these misfortunes have overtaken me, and why I am dying of melancholy in a foreign land."

He summoned Philip, one of his Friends, and made him regent of his whole kingdom. He entrusted him with his diadem, his robe and his signet, on the understanding that he was to educate his son Antiochus and train him for the throne. Then King Antiochus died, in the year one hundred and forty-nine.^a Lysias, learning that the king was dead, established his son Antiochus on the throne in succession to him, having brought him up from childhood—and styled him Eupator.

The siege of the Citadel of Jerusalem by Judas Maccabaeus

The men from the Citadel were a threat to Israel in the neighborhood of the sanctuary, seeking every opportunity of harming them, and proving a strong support to the pagans. Judas decided that they must be destroyed, and he mobilized the whole people to besiege them. They assembled, and laid siege to the Citadel in the year one hundred and fifty, building firing platforms and siege engines. But some of the besieged broke through the blockade, and to these a number of renegades from Israel attached themselves. They made their way to the king and said, "How much longer are you going to wait before you see justice done and avenge our fellows? We were content to serve your father, to comply with his orders, and to obey his edicts. As a result our own people will have nothing to do with us; what is more, they have killed all those of us they could catch, and have plundered our heritages. Nor is it on us alone that their blows have fallen, but on all your dominions. At this moment they are laying siege to the Citadel of Jerusalem, to capture it, and they have fortified the sanctuary and Bethzur. Unless you forestall them at once, they will go on to even bigger things, and then you will never be able to control them."

The expedition of Antiochus V and Lysias. The battle of Bethzechariah

The king was furious when he heard this, and summoned all his Friends, the generals of his forces and the cavalry commanders. He recruited mercenaries from other kingdoms and the islands of the seas. His forces numbered a hundred thousand foot soldiers, twenty thousand cavalry and thirty-two elephants with experience of battle conditions. They advanced through Idumaea and besieged Bethzur, pressing the attack for days on end; they also constructed siege engines, but the defenders made a sortie and set these on fire, putting up a brave resistance. At this, Judas raised the siege of the Citadel and pitched camp at Bethzechariah^b opposite the royal encampment. The king rose at daybreak and marched his army at top speed down the road to Bethzechariah, where his 34 forces took up their battle formations and sounded the trumpets. The elephants were shown a syrup of grapes and mulberries to prepare them for the battle. 35 They distributed these animals among the phalanxes, allocating to each elephant a thousand men dressed in coats of mail with bronze helmets on their heads; 36 five hundred picked horsemen were also assigned to each beast. The horsemen anticipated every move their elephant made; wherever it went they went with 37 it, and never separated from it. On each elephant, to protect it, was a stout wooden tower, kept in position by girths, each with its team fighting from their 38 mounted position, as well as its driver. The remainder of the cavalry was stationed on one or other of the two flanks of the army, to harass the enemy and cover the phalanxes.

39 When the sun glinted on the bronze and golden shields the mountains caught the glint and gleamed like fiery torches. One part of the king's army was deployed 40 high up in the mountains and others on the valley floor, all advancing confidently and in good order. Everyone trembled at the noise made by this vast 41 multitude, the thunder of the troops on the march and the clanking of their armor, for it was an immense and mighty army. Judas and his army advanced 42 to give battle, and six hundred of the king's army were killed. Eleazar, called Avaran, noticing that one of the elephants was royally caparisoned and was also 43 taller than all the others, and supposing that the king was mounted on it, sacrificed himself to save his people and win an imperishable name. Boldly 44 charging toward the creature through the thick of the phalanx, dealing death to 45 right and left, so that the enemy scattered on either side at his onslaught, he darted in under the elephant, ran his sword into it and killed it. The beast 46 collapsed on top of him, and he died on the spot. The Jews saw how strong the king was, and the ferocity of the royal troops, and retired before them.

48 The royal army moved up to encounter them before Jerusalem, and the 49 king began to blockade Judaea and Mount Zion. He granted peace terms to the people of Bethzur, who evacuated the town; it lacked store of provisions 50 to withstand a siege, since the land was enjoying a sabbatical year. Having 51 occupied Bethzur, the king stationed a garrison there to hold it. He besieged the sanctuary for a long time, erecting firing platforms and siege engines, fire 52 throwers and ballistas, scorpions to discharge arrows, and catapults. The defenders countered these by constructing their own engines, and were thus 53 able to prolong their resistance. But they had no stocks of provisions, because it was the seventh year, and those who had taken refuge in Judaea from the 54 pagans had eaten up the last of their reserves. Only a few men were left in the Holy Place, owing to the severity of the famine; the rest had dispersed and gone home.

55 Meanwhile Philip, whom King Antiochus before his death had appointed 56 to train his son Antiochus for the throne, had returned from Persia and Media with the forces that had accompanied the king, and was planning to seize 57 control of affairs. On hearing this, Lysias at once decided to leave, and said to the king, the generals of the army and the men, "We are growing weaker 58 every day, we are short of food, and the place we are besieging is well fortified; moreover the affairs of the kingdom demand our attention. Let us offer the 59 hand of friendship to these men and make peace with them and with their whole nation. Let us grant them permission to follow their own customs as before, 60 since it is our abolition of these customs that provoked them into acting like this." The king and his commanders approved this argument, and he sent 61 the Jews an offer of peace, which they accepted. The king and the generals

62 ratified the treaty by oath, and the besieged accordingly left the fortress. The king then entered Mount Zion, but on seeing how impregnable the place was, he broke the oath he had sworn and gave orders for the encircling wall to be 63 demolished. He then hurriedly struck camp and retired to Antioch, where he found Philip already master of the city. Antiochus fought him and took the city by storm.

Demetrius I becomes king, and sends Bacchides and Alcimus to Judaea

1 7 In the year one hundred and fifty, Demetrius, son of Seleucus, escaped from Rome and arrived with a few men at a town on the coast, where he began
2 to hold court. As he was entering the crown lands of his ancestors his army 3 arrested Antiochus and Lysias, intending to bring them before him. But when 4 he heard of this he said, "Keep them out of my sight." So the army killed 5 them and Demetrius ascended the throne of his kingdom. Then there came to 6 him all the renegades and godless men in Israel, led by Alcimus, whose ambition
7 it was to become high priest. They denounced the people before the king.
8 "Judas and his brothers," they said, "have killed all your friends, and he has driven 9 us out of our country. Send someone now whom you can trust; let him go and 10 see the wholesale ruin Judas has brought on us and on the king's dominions, 11 and let him punish the wretches and all who assist them."

12 The king chose Bacchides, one of the Friends of the King, governor of the country beyond the river,^a a great man in the kingdom and loyal to the king.
13 He sent him with the godless Alcimus, whom he established as high priest, 14 with orders to exact retribution from the Israelites. So they set out with a 15 large force, and on reaching the land of Judah they sent messengers to Judas and 16 his brothers with treacherous proposals of peace. But these did not trust them, 17 seeing that they had come with a large force. Nevertheless a commission of 18 scribes presented themselves before Alcimus and Bacchides, to sue for just 19 terms. The first among the Israelites to ask them for peace terms were the 20 Hasidaeans, who reasoned like this, "This is a priest of Aaron's line who has 21 come with the armed forces; he will not wrong us." He did in fact discuss 22 peace terms with them and gave them his oath, "We will not attempt to injure 23 you or your friends." They believed him, but he arrested sixty of them and 24 put them to death in one day, fulfilling the words of scripture: They have scattered 25 the flesh of your devout, and shed their blood all around Jerusalem, and no one 26 to dig a grave! At this, fear and dread gripped the whole people. "There is 27 no truth or virtue in them," they said, "they have broken their agreement and 28 their sworn oath."

29 Bacchides then left Jerusalem and encamped at Bethzaith,^b and from there 30 sent and arrested many of the men who had deserted him, and some of the people, 31 and killed them, throwing them into the great cistern. Then he put Alcimus
32 in charge of the province, leaving an army with him to support him; Bacchides 33 himself returned to the king. Alcimus continued his struggle to become high 34 priest, and all who were disturbing the peace of their own people rallied to 35 him; gaining control of the land of Judah, they worked great havoc in Israel.
36 Seeing that all the wrongs done to the Israelites by Alcimus and his supporters
37 exceeded what the pagans had done, Judas went right around the whole territory 38 of Judaea to take vengeance on those who had deserted him and prevent their 39 free movement about the country.

40 When Alcimus saw how strong Judas and his supporters had grown, he realized that he had not the strength to resist them, and returned to the king where he laid criminal charges against them.

Nicanor in Judaea. The battle of Capharsalama

41 The king sent Nicanor, one of his generals ranking as Illustrious and a bitter 42 enemy of Israel, with orders to exterminate the people. Reaching Jerusalem with a large force, Nicanor sent envoys to Judas and his brothers with treacherous proposals of peace: "Let us have no fighting," he said, "between me and you; I will come with a small escort and meet you face to face in peace." And he came to Judas and they greeted each other peaceably enough; however, the enemy had made preparations to abduct Judas. When Judas became aware of Nicanor's treacherous purpose in coming to see him, he took fright and refused any further meeting. Nicanor then realized that his plan had been discovered, and went out to meet Judas in the battle near Capharsalama. About five hundred of Nicanor's men fell; the rest took refuge in the City of David.

Threats against the Temple

After these events Nicanor went up to Mount Zion. Some of the priests came out from the Holy Place with some elders, to welcome him peacefully and to show him the holocaust that was being offered for the king. But he mocked them and laughed in their faces, defiled them and used insolent language, swearing in his rage, "Unless Judas is handed over to me this time with his army, as soon as I am safely back, I promise you, I will burn this building down!" Then he went off in a fury. At this the priests went in again, and stood in tears before the altar and the sanctuary, saying, "You chose this house to be called by your name, to be a house of prayer and petition for your people. Take vengeance on this man and on his army, and let them fall by the sword; remember their blasphemies and give them no respite."

The "Day of Nicanor" at Adasa

Nicanor left Jerusalem and encamped at Beth-horon, where he was joined by an army from Syria. Meanwhile Judas camped at Adasa^c with three thousand men, and offered this prayer, "When the Assyrian king's envoys blasphemed, your angel went out and struck down one hundred and eighty-five thousand of his men. In the same way let us see you crush this army today, so that the rest may know that this man has spoken blasphemously against your sanctuary: judge him according to his wickedness."

The armies met in battle on the thirteenth of the month Adar, and Nicanor's army was crushed, he himself being the first to fall in the battle. When his troops saw that Nicanor had fallen, they threw down their arms and fled. The Jews pursued them a day's journey, from Adasa to the approaches of Gezer; they sounded their trumpets in warning as they followed them, and people came out from all the surrounding villages of Judaea and blocked their flight, so that they turned back on their own men, and all fell by the sword, not one being left alive. Collecting the spoils and booty, they cut off Nicanor's head and the right hand he had stretched out in a display of insolence; these were taken and displayed within sight of Jerusalem. The people were overjoyed, and kept that day as a great holiday: indeed they decided to celebrate it annually on the thirteenth of Adar. The land of Judah was at peace for a short time.

8 Now, Judas had heard of the reputation of the Romans, the military strength and their benevolence toward all who made common cause with them; they wanted to establish friendly relations with anyone who approached them, because of their military strength. He was told of their wars and of their prowess among the Gauls,^a whom they had conquered and put under tribute; and of all they had done in the province of Spain to gain possession of the silver and gold mines there, making themselves masters of the whole country by their determination and perseverance, despite its great distance from their own; of the kings who came from the ends of the earth to attack them, only to be crushed by them and overwhelmed with disaster, and of others who paid them annual tribute; Philip, Perseus king of the Kittim, and others who had dared to make war on them, had been defeated and reduced to subjection, while Antiochus the Great, king of Asia, who had advanced to attack them with a hundred and twenty elephants, cavalry, chariots and a very large army, had also suffered defeat at their hands; they had taken him alive and imposed on him and his successors the payment of an enormous tribute, the surrender of hostages, and the cession of the Indian territory, with Media, Lydia, and some of their best provinces, which they took from him and gave to King Eumenes. Judas was also told how, when the Greeks planned an expedition to destroy them, the Romans got wind of it and sent against them a single general, fought a campaign in which they inflicted heavy casualties, carried off their women and children into captivity, pillaged their goods, subdued their country, tore down their fortresses and reduced them to a slavery lasting to this very day; and how all other kingdoms and islands that had ever resisted them were also destroyed and enslaved.

But where their friends and those who relied on them were concerned, they had always stood by their friendship. They had subdued kings far and near, and all who heard their name went in terror of them. One man, if they determined to help him and advance him to a throne, would certainly occupy it, while another, if they so determined, would find himself deposed; their influence was paramount. In spite of all this not one of them had assumed a crown or put on the purple for his own aggrandizement. They had set up a senate, where three hundred and twenty councilors deliberated daily, constantly debating how best to regulate public affairs. They entrusted their government to one man for a year at a time, with absolute power over their whole empire, and this man was obeyed by all without any envy or jealousy.

Having chosen Eupolemus son of John, of the family of Accos, and Jason son of Eleazar, Judas sent them to Rome to make a treaty of friendship and alliance with these people, who would surely lift the yoke from their shoulders once they understood that the kingdom of the Greeks was reducing Israel to slavery. The envoys made the lengthy journey to Rome and presented themselves before the Senate with their formal proposal, "Judas Maccabaeus and his brothers, with the Jewish people, have sent us to you to conclude a treaty of alliance and peace with you, and to enroll ourselves as your allies and friends." The proposal met with the approval of the senators, and this is a copy of the rescript which they engraved on bronze tablets and sent to Jerusalem to be kept there by the Jews as a record of peace and alliance:

"Good fortune attend the Romans and the Jewish nation by sea and land for ever; may sword or enemy be far from them! If war comes first to Rome or any of her allies throughout her dominions, the Jewish nation is to take action as her ally, as occasion may require, and do it wholeheartedly. They are not to give or supply to the aggressor any grain, arms, money or ships; this is the Roman decision, and they are to honor their obligations without recompense. In the same way, if war comes first to the Jewish nation the Romans are to support them energetically as occasion may offer, and the aggressor shall not be furnished with grain, arms, money or ships; this is the Roman decision, and they will honor these obligations unreservedly. These are the terms laid down by the Romans for the Jewish people. If when they have come into force either party should wish to make any addition or deletion, they shall be free to do so, and any such addition or deletion shall be binding.^b

"As regards the wrongs done to them by King Demetrius, we have written to him in these terms: Why have you made your yoke lie heavy on our friends and allies the Jews? If they appeal against you again we will uphold their rights and make war on you by sea and land.”

9 Demetrius heard that Nicanor and his army had fallen in battle, and he sent Bacchides and Alcimus a second time into the land of Judah, and with them the right wing of his army. They took the road to Galilee and besieged Mesaloth in Arbela,^a and captured it, putting many people to death. In the first month of the year one hundred and fifty-two they set up camp before Jerusalem; they then moved on, making their way to Beerzeth^b with twenty thousand foot and two thousand horse. Judas lay in camp at Elasa with three thousand picked men. When they saw the huge size of the enemy forces they were terrified, and many slipped out of the camp, until no more than eight hundred of the force were left. When Judas saw that his army had melted away and that attack was imminent, he was aghast, for he had no time to rally them. Yet, dismayed as he was, he said to those who were left, “Up! Let us face the enemy; we may yet have the strength to fight them.” His men tried to dissuade him, declaring, “We have no strength for anything but to escape with our lives this time; then we can come back with our brothers to fight them; by ourselves we are too few.” “God forbid,” Judas retorted, “that I should do such a thing as run away from them! If our time has come, at least let us die like men for our countrymen, and leave nothing to tarnish our reputation.”

11 The enemy forces then marched out of the camp, and the Jews took up their position in readiness to engage them. The cavalry was ordered into two squadrons; the slingers and archers marched in the van of the army with the shock troops, all stout fighters; Bacchides was on the right wing. The phalanx advanced from between the two squadrons, sounding the trumpets; the men on Judas’ side blew their trumpets also, and the earth shook with the noise of the armies. The engagement lasted from morning until evening.

14 Judas saw that Bacchides and the main strength of his army lay on the right; all the stouthearted rallied to him, and they broke the right wing and pursued them to the furthest foothills of the range. But when the Syrians on the left wing saw that the right had been broken, they turned and followed hot on the heels of Judas and his men to take them in the rear. The fight became desperate, and there were many casualties on both sides. Judas himself fell, and the remnant fled.

19 Jonathan and Simon took up their brother Judas and buried him in his ancestral tomb at Modein. All Israel wept and mourned him deeply, and for many days they repeated this dirge. “What a downfall for the strong man, the man who saved Israel singlehanded!” The other deeds of Judas, the battles he fought, the exploits he performed, and all his titles to greatness have not been recorded; but they were very many.

IV. JONATHAN, LEADER OF THE JEWS AND HIGH PRIEST

The triumph of the Greek party. Jonathan leads the resistance

23 After the death of Judas the renegades came out of hiding throughout Israel and all the evildoers reappeared. At that time there was a severe famine, and

25 the country went over to their side. •Bacchides deliberately chose the enemies 26 of religion and set them up as governors of the country. •These traced and searched out the friends of Judas and brought them before Bacchides, who 27 took revenge on them and humiliated them. •A terrible oppression began in Israel;
 there had been nothing like it since the disappearance of prophecy among them.
 28 Then all the friends of Judas came together and said to Jonathan, •“Since 29 your brother Judas died, there has been no one like him to head the resistance 30 to the enemy, Bacchides and those who hate our nation. •Accordingly, we have today chosen you to take his place as our ruler and leader and to fight our 31 campaigns.” •From that day Jonathan accepted the leadership and took over the command from his brother Judas.

Jonathan in the desert of Tekoa. Bloody encounters around Medeba

32 Bacchides, when he heard the news, made plans to kill Jonathan. •But this 33 became known to Jonathan, his brother Simon and all his supporters, and they took refuge in the desert of Tekoa, camping by the water of the cistern at 34 Asphar. •(Bacchides came to know of this on the sabbath day, and he too crossed the Jordan with his entire army.)
 35 Jonathan sent his brother, who was in charge of the convoy, to request his 36 friends the Nabataeans to store their considerable baggage for them. •But the sons of Jambri from Medeba^c raided them, captured John and everything 37 he had and made off with their prize. •After this had happened it was reported to Jonathan and his brother Simon that the sons of Jambri were celebrating a great wedding, and were escorting the bride, a daughter of one of the great 38 notables of Canaan, from Nadabath with a large retinue. •Remembering the bloody end of their brother John, they went up and hid under cover of the 39 mountain. •As they were keeping watch, there came into sight a noisy procession with a great deal of baggage, and the bridegroom, with his groomsmen and his family, came out to meet it with tambourines and a band, and military display.
 40 The Jews rushed down on them from their ambush and killed them, inflicting heavy casualties; the survivors escaped to the mountain, leaving their entire 41 baggage train to be captured. •And so the wedding was turned into mourning 42 and the music of their band into a dirge. •Having in this way avenged in full the blood of their brother they returned to the marshes of the Jordan.

Crossing the Jordan

43 As soon as Bacchides heard this, he came on the sabbath day with a 44 considerable force to the steep banks of the Jordan. •Jonathan said to his men, “Up! Let us fight for our lives, for today is not like yesterday and the day before.
 45 You can see, we shall have to fight on our front and to our rear, we have the waters of the Jordan on one side, the marsh and scrub on the other, and we 46 have no line of withdrawal. •This is the moment to call on heaven for your 47 deliverance from the hand of our enemies.” •The engagement was begun by Jonathan, who aimed a blow at Bacchides, but the Syrian disengaged himself 48 and withdrew, •whereupon Jonathan and his men leaped into the Jordan and swam 49 to the other bank, but the enemy did not cross the Jordan in pursuit. •That day Bacchides lost about a thousand men.

Bacchides builds fortifications. The death of Alcimus

50 Bacchides returned to Jerusalem and built strongholds in Judaea, the fortress in Jericho, Emmaus, Beth-horon, Bethel, Timnath, Pharathon and Tephon, 51 with high walls and barred gates, •and stationed a garrison in each of them to 52 harass Israel. •He also fortified the town of Bethzur, Gezer and the Citadel, 53 and placed troops in them with supplies of provisions. •He took the sons of the leading men of the country as hostages, and had them placed under guard in the Citadel of Jerusalem.

54 In the year one hundred and fifty-three, in the second month, Alcimus ordered the demolition of the wall of the inner court of the sanctuary, destroying 55 the work of the prophets.^d Alcimus had just begun the demolition when he suffered a stroke, and his work was interrupted. His mouth became obstructed, and his paralysis made him incapable of speaking at all or giving directions 56 to his household; it was not long before he died in great agony. When Bacchides 57 saw that Alcimus was dead he returned to the king; and the land of Judah was left in peace for two years.

The siege of Bethbasi

58 All the renegades then agreed on a plan. "Now is the time," they said, "while Jonathan and his supporters are living in peace and are full of confidence, for 59 us to bring back Bacchides; he can arrest them all in one night." So they went 60 to him and reached an understanding. Bacchides at once set out with a large force, and sent secret instructions to all his allies in Judaea to seize Jonathan and his supporters. But they were unable to do this because their plan became 61 known, and Jonathan and his men arrested some fifty of the men of the country who were ringleaders in the plot, and put them to death.

62 Jonathan and Simon then retired with their partisans into the wilderness 63 to Bethbasi; they rebuilt the ruinous parts of the place and fortified it. When Bacchides heard this, he mustered his whole force and notified his adherents 64 in Judaea. He then proceeded to lay siege to Bethbasi, attacking it for many 65 days and constructing siege engines. But Jonathan, leaving his brother Simon 66 in the town, broke out into the countryside with a handful of men. He attacked Odomera and his brothers, and the sons of Phasiron in their tents; and these 67 went over to the attack, joining forces with him. Meanwhile Simon and his 68 people made a sortie from the town and set fire to the siege engines. Taking the offensive against Bacchides, they routed him. He was greatly disconcerted 69 to find that his plan and his assault had come to nothing, and vented his anger on those renegades who had induced him to enter the country, putting many 70 of them to death; then he decided to return to his own country. Discovering this, Jonathan sent envoys to negotiate peace terms and the release of prisoners 71 with him. Bacchides agreed to this, accepting his proposals and swearing 72 never to seek occasion to harm him all the days of his life. After surrendering to Jonathan the prisoners he had earlier taken in the land of Judah, he turned about and withdrew to his own country, and never again came near their frontiers.
 73 The sword no longer hung over Israel, and Jonathan settled in Michmash, where he began to judge the people and to rid Israel of the godless.

Alexander Balas competes for Jonathan's support, and appoints him high priest

1 10 In the year one hundred and sixty, Alexander, styled Epiphanes, son of Antiochus, landed at Ptolemais and occupied it. He was well received, 2 and held court there. On hearing this, King Demetrius assembled a very large 3 army and marched out to meet him in battle. Demetrius furthermore sent 4 Jonathan a conciliatory letter designed to enhance his dignity, for, as he said,
 "We had better move first to come to terms with these people before he makes 5 common cause with Alexander against us; he will not have forgotten all the 6 wrongs we inflicted on him and his brothers, and on his nation." He therefore authorized him to raise an army and manufacture arms, and to describe himself as his ally, and ordered the hostages in the Citadel to be surrendered to him.
 7 Jonathan went straight to Jerusalem and read the letter in the hearing of 8 the whole people and of the men in the Citadel. Everyone was awe-struck when 9 they heard that the king had given him authority to raise an army. The men in the Citadel surrendered the hostages to Jonathan, who handed them back to their parents. Jonathan then took up residence in Jerusalem and began the rebuilding and restoration of the city. He ordered those responsible for the work to build the walls and the defenses around Mount Zion in square hewn stones to make them stronger, and this was done. The foreigners in the fortresses built by Bacchides abandoned them, one after another leaving his post to go back to his own country. Only at Bethzur were a few left of those who had forsaken the Law and the commandments, since this served them as a place of refuge.

King Alexander heard of all the promises Demetrius had sent to Jonathan, and he was also given an account of the battles and exploits of this man and his brothers and the trials they had endured. "Shall we ever find another man like him?" he exclaimed. "Let us be quick to make a friend and ally of him!" He therefore wrote him a letter, addressing him in these terms, "King Alexander to his brother Jonathan, greetings. You have been brought to our notice as a strong man of action, and one disposed to be our friend. Accordingly we have today appointed you high priest of your nation, with the title of Friend of the King"—he also sent him a purple robe and a golden crown—"and you are to study our interests and maintain friendly relations with us."

Jonathan put on the sacred vestments in the seventh month of the year one hundred and sixty, on the feast of Tabernacles; he then set about raising troops and manufacturing arms in quantity.

Demetrius was displeased when he heard what had happened. "What have we done," he said, "that Alexander should have forestalled us in gaining the friendship of the Jews to strengthen his position? I will address an appeal to them too, offering them advancement and riches as an inducement to support me." And he wrote to them as follows:

"King Demetrius to the Jewish nation, greetings. We have heard how you have kept your agreement with us and have maintained friendly relations with us and have not gone over to our enemies, and it has given us great satisfaction. If you now continue to keep faith with us, we will make you a handsome return for what you do on our behalf. We will accord you many exemptions and grant you privileges. Henceforth I release you and exempt all the Jews from the tribute, the salt dues and the crown levies, and whereas I am entitled to levy the equivalent of one third of the sowing and one half of the fruit of the trees, I release from this levy, from today and for the future, the land of Judah and the three districts annexed to it from Samaria-Galilee, from this day in perpetuity. Jerusalem shall be sacred and exempt, with its territory, tithes and dues. I relinquish control of the Citadel in Jerusalem and make it over to the high priest, so that he may man it with a garrison of his own choosing. Every Jewish person taken from the land of Judah into captivity in any part of my kingdom I set free without ransom, and decree that all shall be exempt from taxes, even on their livestock. All festivals, sabbaths, new moons and days of special observance, and the three days before and three days after a festival, shall all be days of exemption and quittance for all the Jews in my kingdom, and no one shall have the right to pursue or molest any of them for any matter whatsoever. Jews shall be enrolled in the king's forces to the number of thirty thousand men, and receive maintenance on the same scale as the rest of the king's forces. Some of them shall be stationed in the king's major fortresses, and from among others appointments shall be made to positions of trust in the kingdom. Their officers and commanders shall be appointed from their own number, and shall live under their own laws, as the king has prescribed for the land of Judah. As regards the three districts annexed to Judaea from the province of Samaria, they shall be integrated into Judaea and considered as coming under one governor, obeying the high priest's authority and no other.

 39 I have made over Ptolemais and its environs as a free gift to the sanctuary in 40 Jerusalem, to meet the necessary expenses of public worship. •And I make a 41 personal grant of fifteen thousand silver shekels annually chargeable to the 42 royal revenue from appropriate places. •And the entire surplus, which has 43 not been paid in by the officials as in previous years, shall henceforth be paid
 44 over by them for work on the Temple. •In addition, the sum of five thousand 45 silver shekels, levied annually on the profits of the sanctuary, as shown in the annual accounts, is also relinquished as the perquisite of the priests who perform the liturgy. •Anyone who takes refuge in the Temple in Jerusalem or any of its precincts, when in debt to the royal exchequer or otherwise, shall be discharged in full possession of all the goods he owns in my kingdom. •As regards the building and restoration of the sanctuary, the expense of the work shall be met from the royal exchequer. •The reconstruction of the walls of Jerusalem and the fortification of the perimeter shall also be a charge on the royal exchequer, and so also the reconstruction of other city walls in Judaea."

Jonathan rejects Demetrius' offers

46 When Jonathan and the people heard these proposals they put no faith in them and refused to accept them, because they remembered the great wrongs 47 Demetrius had done in Israel and how cruelly he had oppressed them. •They decided in favor of Alexander, since they regarded him as their outstanding 48 benefactor, and they became his constant allies. •King Alexander now mustered 49 large forces and took up a position confronting Demetrius, •and the two kings met in battle. Alexander's army was routed, and Demetrius pursued him and 50 defeated his troops. •He continued the battle with vigor until sunset, but Demetrius himself was killed that day.

Alexander's marriage with Cleopatra. Jonathan as military commissioner and governor general

51 Alexander sent ambassadors to Ptolemy king of Egypt, with this message, 52 "Now that I have returned to my kingdom and ascended the throne of my ancestors, and have established my authority by crushing Demetrius, so gaining 53 control of our country—for I fought him and we destroyed both him and his 54 army and now occupy the throne of his kingdom—now, therefore, let us make a treaty of mutual friendship. Give me your daughter in marriage, and I will become your son-in-law and give you, and her, presents which are worthy of you."

55 King Ptolemy replied as follows, "Happy the day when you returned to 56 the land of your ancestors and ascended their royal throne! •I will do at once for you what your letter proposes; but meet me at Ptolemais, so that we can see one another, and I will become your father-in-law, as you have asked."

 58 in the year one hundred and sixty-two. •King Alexander went to meet him, and Ptolemy gave him the hand of his daughter Cleopatra and celebrated her wedding
 59 in Ptolemais with great magnificence, as kings do. •King Alexander then wrote 60 to Jonathan to come and meet him. •Jonathan made his way in state to Ptolemais, and met the two kings; he gave them and their friends silver and gold, and 61 many gifts, and made a favorable impression on them. •A number of scoundrels from Israel^b combined to denounce him, but the king paid no attention to 62 them. •In fact the king commanded that Jonathan should be divested of his 63 own garments and clothed in the purple, which was done. •The king then seated him by his side and said to his officers, "Escort him into the center of the city and proclaim that no one is to bring charges against him on any count; no one is 64 to molest him for any reason." •And so, when his accusers saw the honor done him by this proclamation, and Jonathan himself invested in the purple, 65 they all fled. The king did him the honor of enrolling him among the First Friends, and appointed him military commissioner and governor general.

 66 Jonathan then returned to Jerusalem in peace and gladness.

Demetrius II. Apollonius, governor of Coele-Syria, defeated by Jonathan

67 In the year one hundred and sixty-five,^c Demetrius son of Demetrius came 68 from Crete to the land of his ancestors. When King Alexander heard of it he was 69 plunged in gloom and retired to Antioch. Demetrius appointed Apollonius as governor of Coele-Syria; the latter assembled a large force, and from his camp at Jamnia sent the following message to Jonathan the high priest:

70 "You are entirely alone in rising against us, and now I find myself ridiculed and reproached on your account. Why do you use your authority to our dis-71 advantage in the mountains? If you are so confident in your forces, come down now to meet us on the plain and let us take each other's measure there; on 72 my side I have the strength of the towns. Ask and learn who I am and who are the others supporting us. Men will tell you that you cannot stand up to us, 73 because your ancestors were twice routed on their own ground,^d nor will you now be able to withstand the cavalry or so great an army on the plain, where there is neither stone nor outcrop nor cover of any kind."

74 When Jonathan heard the message of Apollonius his spirit was roused; he picked ten thousand men and left Jerusalem, and his brother Simon joined 75 him with reinforcements. He drew up his forces before Joppa; the citizens had shut him out as Apollonius had a garrison in Joppa. When they began the 76 attack, the citizens took fright and opened the gates, and Jonathan occupied 77 Joppa. Hearing this, Apollonius marshaled three thousand cavalry and a large army and made his way to Azotus as though intending to march through, while in fact pressing on into the plain, since he had a great number of cavalry on 78 which he was relying. Jonathan pursued him as far as Azotus, where the armies 79 joined battle. Now Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen in concealment 80 behind them. Jonathan knew of this ambush behind him; the horsemen surrounded his army and shot their arrows into the people from morning till 81 evening. But the people stood firm, as Jonathan had ordered, while the enemy's 82 horses tired. So Simon was able to throw in his force and close with the 83 phalanx, which he cut to pieces and routed. The cavalry scattered over the plain and fled to Azotus, where they entered Beth-dagon, the temple of their idol, 84 to take shelter there. But Jonathan set fire to Azotus and the surrounding towns, plundered them, and burned down the temple of Dagon, with all the 85 fugitives who had crowded into it. The enemy losses, counting those who fell by the sword and those burned to death, totaled about eight thousand men.
 86 Then Jonathan left there and encamped opposite Askalon, whose citizens came 87 out to meet him with great ceremony. Jonathan then returned to Jerusalem 88 with his followers, laden with booty. In the event, when King Alexander heard 89 what had happened, he awarded Jonathan fresh honors: he sent him a golden brooch, of the kind customarily presented to the Cousins of the King, and gave him proprietary rights over Ekron with all its lands.

Ptolemy VI supports Demetrius II but dies at the same time as Alexander Balas

1 11 The king of Egypt then assembled an army as numerous as the sands
 2 of the seashore, with many ships, and attempted to take possession of Alexander's kingdom by a ruse and add it to his own kingdom. He set off for Syria with protestations of peace, and the people of the towns opened their gates to him and came out to meet him, since King Alexander's orders were to 3 welcome him, Ptolemy being his father-in-law. On entering the towns, however,
 4 Ptolemy quartered troops as a garrison in each one. When he reached Azotus he was shown the burned-out temple of Dagon, with Azotus and its suburbs

in ruins, corpses scattered here and there, and the charred remains of those whom Jonathan had burned to death in the battle, piled into heaps along his route. They explained to the king what Jonathan had done, hoping for his disapproval; but the king said nothing. Jonathan then went to receive the king in state at Joppa, where they greeted each other and spent the night. Jonathan accompanied the king as far as the river called Eleutherus,^a and then returned to Jerusalem. King Ptolemy for his part occupied the coastal towns as far as the maritime quarter of Seleucia,^b all the while maturing his wicked designs against Alexander. He sent envoys to King Demetrius, saying, "Come, let us make a treaty with each other; I will give you my daughter, whom Alexander now has, and you shall rule your father's kingdom. I regret having given my daughter to that man, who has attempted to kill me." He made this accusation because he coveted his kingdom. Having carried off his daughter and bestowed her on Demetrius, he broke with Alexander, and their enmity became open. Ptolemy next entered Antioch and assumed the crown of Asia; he now wore on his head the two crowns of Egypt and Asia. Meanwhile, King Alexander was in Cilicia, since the people of those parts had risen in revolt, but when he heard the news, he advanced on his rival to give battle, while Ptolemy for his part also took the field, met him with a strong force and routed him. Alexander fled to Arabia for refuge, and King Ptolemy held victory celebrations. Zabdiel the Arab cut off Alexander's head and sent it to Ptolemy. Three days later King Ptolemy died, and the Egyptian garrisons in the strongholds were killed by the local inhabitants. So Demetrius became king in the year one hundred and sixty-seven.

Early relations between Demetrius and Jonathan

At the same time, Jonathan mustered the men of Judaea for an assault on the Citadel in Jerusalem, and they constructed many siege engines for use against it. But some renegades who hated their nation made their way to the king and told him that Jonathan was besieging the Citadel. The king was angered by the news. No sooner had he been informed than he set out and came to Ptolemais. He wrote to Jonathan, telling him to raise the siege and to meet him for a conference in Ptolemais as soon as possible. When Jonathan heard this he gave orders for the siege to continue; then he selected a deputation from the elders of Israel and the priests, and took the deliberate risk of taking silver and gold, clothing and numerous other presents, and going to Ptolemais to face the king, whose favor he succeeded in winning; and although one or two renegades of his nation brought charges against him, the king treated him as his predecessors had treated him, and promoted him in the presence of all his friends. He confirmed him in the high priesthood and whatever other distinctions he already held, and had him ranked among the First Friends. Jonathan claimed that the king should exempt Judaea from tribute, with the three Samaritan provinces, promising him three hundred talents in return. The king consented, and wrote Jonathan a rescript covering the whole matter, in these terms:

A new charter favoring the Jews

"King Demetrius to Jonathan his brother, and to the Jewish nation, greeting. We have written to Lasthenes our cousin concerning you, and now send you this copy of our rescript for your own information: King Demetrius to his father Lasthenes, greeting. The nation of the Jews are our friends and fulfill their obligations to us, and in view of their good will toward us we have decided to show them our bounty. We confirm them in their possession of the territory of Judaea and the three districts of Aphairema, Lydda and Ramathaim^c; these were annexed to Judaea from Samaritan territory, with all their dependencies, in favor of all who offer sacrifice in Jerusalem, instead of the royal dues which the king formerly received from them every year, from the yield of the soil and the fruit crops. ³⁵As regards our other rights over the tithes and taxes due to us, over the salt marshes, and the crown taxes due to us, as from today we release ³⁶them from them all. ³⁷No single one of these grants shall be set aside, from today in perpetuity. ³⁷It shall be your responsibility to have a copy of this made, to be given to Jonathan and displayed on the holy mountain in a conspicuous place."

Demetrius II rescued by Jonathan's troops at Antioch

³⁸ When King Demetrius saw that the country was at peace under his rule and that no resistance was offered him, he dismissed his forces, and sent all the men home, except for the foreign troops that he had recruited in the islands of the nations, thus incurring the enmity of the veterans who had served his ancestors. ³⁹ Now Trypho, one of Alexander's former supporters, seeing that all the troops were muttering against Demetrius, approached Iamleku the Arab, who was bringing up Antiochus, Alexander's young son, and repeatedly urged him to let him have the boy, so that he might succeed his father as king; he told him of Demetrius' decision and the resentment it had aroused among his troops. ⁴¹ He spent a long time there. ⁴¹ Meanwhile Jonathan sent to ask King Demetrius to withdraw the troops in the Citadel from Jerusalem and to remove the garrisons ⁴² from the strongholds, since they were constantly fighting Israel. ⁴² Demetrius sent back word to Jonathan, "Not only will I do this for you and for your nation, but I will heap honors on you and your nation if I find a favorable opportunity. ⁴³ For the present, you would do well to send me reinforcements, for all my troops ⁴⁴ have deserted." ⁴³ Jonathan sent off three thousand experienced soldiers to him in Antioch; when they reached the king, he was delighted at their arrival. ⁴⁵ The citizens crowded together in the center of the city, to the number of some hundred ⁴⁶ and twenty thousand, intending to kill the king. ⁴⁶ The king took refuge in the palace, while the citizens occupied the thoroughfares of the city and began to ⁴⁷ attack. ⁴⁷ The king then called on the Jews for help; and these all rallied around him in a body, then spread out through the city, and that day killed about a ⁴⁸ hundred thousand of its inhabitants. ⁴⁸ They fired the city, seizing a great deal ⁴⁹ of plunder at the same time, and secured the king's safety. ⁴⁹ When the citizens saw that the Jews had the city at their mercy their courage failed them, and ⁵⁰ they made an abject appeal to the king, "Give us the right hand of peace, and ⁵¹ let the Jews stop their fight against us and the city." ⁵¹ They threw down their arms and made peace. The Jews were covered in glory, in the eyes of the king and of everyone else in his kingdom. Having won renown in his kingdom they returned ⁵² to Jerusalem laden with booty. ⁵² King Demetrius continued to occupy the throne ⁵³ of his kingdom, and the country was quiet under his government. ⁵³ But he gave the lie to all the promises he had made, and fell out with Jonathan, giving nothing in return for the services Jonathan had rendered him, but thwarting him at every turn.

Jonathan opposes Demetrius II. Simon retakes Bethzur. The Hazor affair

⁵⁴ After this, Trypho came back with the little boy Antiochus,^d who became ⁵⁵ king and was crowned. ⁵⁵ All the troops that Demetrius had summarily dismissed rallied to Antiochus, and made war on Demetrius, and he turned tail and fled. ⁵⁶ Trypho captured the elephants and seized Antioch. ⁵⁷ Young Antiochus then wrote Jonathan the following letter, "I confirm you in the high priesthood and set you over the four districts^e and appoint you one ⁵⁸ of the Friends of the King." ⁵⁸ He sent him a service of gold plate, and granted him the right to drink from gold vessels, and to wear the purple and the golden ⁵⁹ brooch. ⁵⁹ He appointed his brother Simon as military commissioner of the 60 region from the Ladder of Tyre to the frontiers of Egypt. Jonathan then set out and made a progress through Transeuphrates and its towns, and the entire Syrian army rallied to his support. He came to Askalon and was received in state by the inhabitants. From there he proceeded to Gaza, but the people of Gaza shut him out, so he laid siege to it, burning down its suburbs and plundering them. The people of Gaza then pleaded with Jonathan, and he made peace with them; but he took the sons of their chief men as hostages and sent them away to Jerusalem. He then traveled through the country as far as Damascus.

Jonathan now learned that Demetrius' generals had arrived at Kadesh in Galilee with a great army, with the object of diverting him from his mission, and he went to meet them, leaving his brother Simon inside the country. Simon laid siege to Bethzur, attacking it day after day, and blockading the inhabitants till they sued for peace, which he granted them, though he expelled them from the town and occupied it, stationing a garrison there. Meanwhile Jonathan and his army, having pitched camp by the Lake of Gennesaret, rose early, and by morning were already in the plain of Hazor. The foreigners' army advanced to fight them on the plain, after laying first an ambush for him in the mountains. While the main body was advancing directly toward the Jews, the troops in ambush broke cover and attacked first. All the men with Jonathan fled; no one was left, except Mattathias son of Absalom and Judas son of Chalphi, the generals of his army. At this, Jonathan tore his garments, put dust on his head, and prayed. Then he returned to the fight and routed the enemy, who fled. When the fugitives from his own forces saw this they came back to him and joined in the pursuit as far as Kadesh where the enemy encampment was, and there they themselves pitched camp. About three thousand of the foreign troops fell that day. Jonathan then returned to Jerusalem.

Jonathan's relations with the Spartans

1 12 When Jonathan saw that circumstances were working in his favor he sent a select mission to Rome to confirm and renew his treaty of friendship with the Romans. He also sent letters to the same effect to the Spartans and to other places.^a The envoys made their way to Rome and entered the Senate, where they made this announcement: "Jonathan the high priest and the Jewish nation have sent us to renew your treaty of friendship and alliance with them as before." The Romans gave them letters to the authorities of each place, to procure their safe conduct to the land of Judah.

2 The following is the copy of the letter Jonathan wrote to the Spartans:
 3 "Jonathan the high priest, the senate of the nation, the priests and the rest of the Jewish people to the Spartans their brothers, greetings. In the past, a letter was sent to Onias, the high priest, from Areios, one of your kings, stating that you are indeed our brothers, as the copy subjoined attests. Onias received the envoy with honor, and accepted the letter, in which a clear reference was made to friendship and alliance. For our part, though we have no need of these, having the consolation of the holy books in our possession, we venture to send to renew our fraternal friendship with you, so that we may not become strangers to you, for a long time has elapsed since you sent us the letter.^b We may say that constantly on every occasion, at our festivals and on other appointed days, we make a remembrance of you in the sacrifices we offer and in our prayers, as it is right and fitting to remember brothers. We rejoice in your renown. As for ourselves, we have been involved in many trials, many battles, and the surrounding kings have fought against us. We were unwilling to trouble you or our other allies and friends during these wars. But now, having the support of heaven to help us, we have been delivered from our enemies, and it is they

16 who have been brought low, and so we have chosen Numenius son of Antiochus, and Antipater son of Jason, and sent them to the Romans to renew our former 17 treaty of friendship and alliance, and we have ordered them to make their way to you also, to greet you, and deliver to you this letter of ours concerning the 18 renewal of our brotherhood; we shall be grateful for an answer to it."

19 The following is the copy of the letter sent to Onias:

20 "Areios king of the Spartans, to Onias the high priest, greetings. It has 21 been discovered in a document concerning the Spartans and Jews that they 22 are brothers, and of the race of Abraham. Now that this has come to our 23 knowledge, we shall be obliged if you will send us news of your welfare. Our own message to you is this: your flocks and your possessions are ours, and ours are yours, and we are instructing our envoys to give you a message to this effect."

Jonathan in Coele-Syria. Simon in Philistia

24 Jonathan learned that Demetrius' generals had returned with a larger army 25 than before to make war on him. For that reason he left Jerusalem and went to face them in the region of Hamath, giving them no respite in which to mount 26 an invasion of his own country. He sent spies into their camp, who told him on their return that the enemy were taking up positions for a night attack on 27 the Jews. At sunset Jonathan ordered his men to keep watch with their weapons at hand, in readiness to fight at any time during the night, and posted advance 28 guards all around the camp. When they knew that Jonathan and his men were ready to fight, the enemy became afraid, and with quaking hearts they kindled 29 fires in their camp. Jonathan and his men, watching the glow of the fires, were 30 unaware of their withdrawal until morning, and although Jonathan pursued them, he failed to overtake them, for they had already crossed the river Eleu-31 therus. So Jonathan wheeled around on the Arabs called Zabadaeans, defeated 32 them and plundered them; then, breaking camp, he went to Damascus, and 33 traveled through the whole province. Meanwhile Simon had also set out and had penetrated as far as Askalon and the neighboring strongholds. He then 34 turned on Joppa and moved quickly to occupy it, for he had heard of their intention to hand over this strong point to the supporters of Demetrius; he stationed a garrison there to hold it.

Building work in Jerusalem

35 On Jonathan's return he called a meeting of the elders of the people and 36 decided with them to build fortresses in Judaea and to heighten the walls of Jerusalem and erect a high barrier between the Citadel and the city, to separate it from the city and isolate it, to prevent the occupants from buying or selling.
37 They gathered together to rebuild the city. Part of the wall over the eastern 38 ravine had fallen, and he restored the quarter called Chaphenatha. Meanwhile Simon rebuilt Adida in the Lowlands, fortifying it, and erecting gates with bolts.

Jonathan falls into the hands of his enemies

39 Trypho's ambition was to become king of Asia, assume the crown, and 40 overpower King Antiochus. He was apprehensive that Jonathan might not allow him to do so, and might even make war on him, so he set out and came to Bethshan, in the hopes of finding some pretext for his arrest and execution.

41 Jonathan went out to intercept him, with forty thousand picked men in 42 battle order, and arrived at Bethshan. When Trypho saw him there with 43 a large force, he hesitated to make any move against him. He even received him with honor, commended him to all his friends and presented gifts to him, 44 and told his friends and his troops to obey him as they would himself. He said to Jonathan, "Why have you made all these people so tired, when there is no

45 threat of war between us? Send them back home; pick yourself a few men as your bodyguard, and come with me to Ptolemais. I will hand it over to you, with the other fortresses and the remaining troops and all the officials; then I will take the road for home, for that was my purpose in coming here.”

46 Jonathan trusted him and did as he said; he dismissed his forces, who returned 47 to the land of Judah. With him he retained three thousand men, of whom 48 he left two thousand in Galilee, while a thousand accompanied him. But as soon as Jonathan had entered Ptolemais the people of Ptolemais closed the gates, seized him, and put all those who had entered with him to the sword.

49 Trypho sent troops and cavalry into Galilee and the Great Plain to wipe out all 50 Jonathan's supporters. These, concluding that he had been taken, and had perished with his companions, encouraged one another, marching with closed 51 ranks and ready to give battle, and when their pursuers saw that they would 52 fight for their lives, they turned back. They all reached the land of Judah safe and sound, but lamenting Jonathan and his companions, and in a state of alarm; 53 all Israel was plunged into mourning. All the surrounding pagans were now looking for ways of destroying them: “They have no leader,” they said, “no ally;
 we have only to attack them now, and we shall blot out their very memory from mankind.”

V. SIMON, HIGH PRIEST AND ETHNARCH OF THE JEWS

(142-134 B.C.)

Simon takes command

1 13 Simon heard that Trypho had collected a large army to invade and devastate
 2 the land of Judah, and when he was how the people were quaking with 3 fear, he went up to Jerusalem, called the people together, and exhorted them thus, “You know yourselves how much I and my brothers and my father's family have done for the laws and the sanctuary; you know what wars and hardships 4 we have experienced. That is why my brothers are all dead, for Israel's sake, 5 and I am the only one left. Far be it from me, then, to be sparing of my own life in any time of oppression, for I am not worth more than my brothers.
 6 Rather will I avenge my nation and the sanctuary and your wives and children,
 7 now that all the pagans have united in their malice to destroy us.” The spirit 8 of the people rekindled as they listened to his words, and they shouted back at 9 him, “You are our leader in place of Judas and your brother Jonathan. Fight 10 our battles for us, and we will do whatever you tell us.” So he assembled all the fighting men and hurried on the completion of the walls of Jerusalem, forti-11 fying the whole perimeter. He sent a considerable force to Joppa under Jonathan, son of Absalom, who drove out the inhabitants and remained there in occupation.

Simon repels Trypho from Judaea

12 Trypho now left Ptolemais with a large army to invade the land of Judah, 13 taking Jonathan with him under guard. Simon pitched camp in Adida, facing 14 the plain. When Trypho learned that Simon had stepped into the place of his brother Jonathan, and that he intended to join battle with him, he sent envoys 15 to him with this message, “Your brother Jonathan was in debt to the royal 16 exchequer for the offices he held; that is why we are detaining him. If you send a hundred talents of silver and two of his sons as hostages, to make sure 17 that on his release he does not revolt against us, we will release him.” Although Simon was aware that the message was a ruse, he sent for the money and the 18 boys for fear of incurring great hostility from the people, who would have said that Jonathan died because Simon did not send Trypho the money and 19 the boys. He therefore sent both the boys and the hundred talents, but Trypho 20 broke his word and did not release Jonathan. Next, Trypho set about the invasion and devastation of the country; he made a detour along the Adora road, but 21 Simon and his army confronted him wherever he attempted to go. The men in the Citadel kept sending messengers to Trypho, urging him to get through 22 to them by way of the wilderness and send them supplies. Trypho organized his entire cavalry to go, but that night it snowed so heavily that he could not 23 get through for the snow, so he struck camp and moved off into Gilead. As 24 he approached Baskama^a he killed Jonathan, and he was buried there. Trypho turned back and regained his own country.

Jonathan is buried in the mausoleum built by Simon at Modein

25 Simon sent and recovered the bones of his brother Jonathan, and buried 26 him in Modein, the town of his ancestors. All Israel kept solemn mourning for 27 him, bewailing him for many days. Over the tomb of his father and brothers
 Simon raised a monument high enough to catch the eye, using dressed stone 28 back and front. He erected seven pyramids facing each other, for his father 29 and mother and his four brothers, raising them on plinths and surrounding them with tall columns on which he had trophies of arms carved to their everlasting memory and, beside the armor, sculptured ships to be seen by all who 30 sailed the sea. Such was the monument he constructed at Modein, and it is still there today.

The favors of Demetrius II to Simon

31 Trypho treated the young King Antiochus treacherously and put him to 32 death. He usurped his throne, assuming the crown of Asia, and brought great 33 havoc on the country. Simon built up the fortresses of Judaea, surrounding them with high towers, great walls and gates with bolts, and stocked these 34 fortresses with food. He also sent a delegation to King Demetrius to induce him to grant relief to the province, because all that Trypho did was to 35 confiscate. King Demetrius replied to his request in a letter framed as follows:
 36 "King Demetrius to Simon, high priest and Friend of Kings, and to the elders 37 and nation of the Jews, greetings. It has pleased us to accept the golden crown and the palm you have sent us, and we are disposed to make a general peace 38 with you, and to write to the officials to grant you remissions. Everything that we have decreed concerning you remains in force, and the fortresses you have 39 built are to remain in your hands. We pardon all offenses, unwitting or intentional, committed up to this day, as well as the crown tax which you owe, and any other duty that used to be paid in Jerusalem shall no longer be payable.
 40 If any of you are suitable for enrollment in our bodyguard, let them be enrolled, 41 and let there be peace between us." It was in the year one hundred and seventy, 42 that the rule of the pagans was lifted from Israel, and the people began to engross their documents and contracts, "In the year one of Simon, great high priest, military commissioner, and leader of the Jews."

The capture of Gezer by Simon

43 At that time Simon went to lay siege to Gezer and surrounded it with his troops. He constructed a mobile tower, brought it up to the city, opened a 44 breach in one of the bastions and took it. The men in the mobile tower sprang 45 out into the city, where great confusion ensued. The citizens, accompanied by their wives and children, mounted the ramparts with their garments torn 46 and loudly implored Simon to make peace with them: "Treat us," they said, "not 47 as our wickedness deserves, but as your mercy prompts you." Simon came to terms with them and stopped the fighting; but he expelled them from the city, purified the houses which contained idols, and then made his entry with songs 48 of praise. He banished all uncleanness from it, settled men in it who observed the Law, and having fortified it, built a residence there for himself.

Simon occupies the Citadel in Jerusalem

49 The men in the Citadel in Jerusalem, prevented as they were from going out into the country and back to buy and sell, were in desperate want of food, and 50 numbers of them were carried off by starvation. They begged Simon to make peace with them, and he granted this, though he expelled them and purified the 51 Citadel from its pollutions. The Jews made their entry on the twenty-third day of the second month in the year one hundred and seventy-one, with acclamations and carrying palms, to the sound of harps, cymbals and zithers, chanting hymns and canticles, since a great enemy had been crushed and thrown out of 52 Israel. Simon made it a day of annual rejoicing. He strengthened the fortifications of the Temple hill by the side of the Citadel, and took up residence there 53 with his men. Seeing that his son John had come to manhood, Simon appointed him commander of all the forces, with his residence in Gezer.

A eulogy of Simon

1 14 In the year one hundred and seventy-two King Demetrius assembled his forces and marched into Media to muster help, in order to fight Trypho.
2 When Arsaces^a king of Persia and Media heard that Demetrius had entered his 3 territory, he sent one of his generals to capture him alive. The general went and defeated the army of Demetrius, seized him and brought him to Arsaces, 4 who put him in prison. The country was at peace throughout the days of Simon.

He sought the good of his nation
and they were well pleased with his authority,
and his magnificence throughout his life.

5 And to crown all his magnificence
he took Joppa and made it his harbor, gaining access to the islands of the sea.
6 He enlarged the frontiers of his nation,
keeping his mastery over the homeland,
7 and resettled a host of the captives.
He conquered Gezer, Bethzur, and the Citadel and cast out the unclean things from it;
and no one could resist him.
8 They farmed their land in peace,
the land gave its produce,
the trees of the plain their fruit.
9 The elders sat at ease in the streets,
all their talk was of their prosperity;
the young men wore finery and armor.
10 He kept the towns supplied with provisions and furnished with fortifications;
until his fame resounded to the ends of the earth.
11 He established peace in the land,
and Israel knew great joy.
12 Each man sat under his own vine and his own fig tree,
and there was no one to make them afraid.
13 No enemy was left in the land to fight them,
and the kings in those days were crushed.
14 He gave strength to all the humble folk among his people and cleared away every renegade and wicked man.
He strove to observe the Law,
15 and gave new splendor to the Temple,
replenishing it with sacred vessels.

Renewal of the alliances with Sparta and with Rome

16 When it became known in Rome and later in Sparta that Jonathan was 17 dead, people were deeply grieved. But as soon as they heard that his brother 18 Simon had succeeded him as high priest and was master of the country and 19 the cities in it, they wrote to him on bronze tablets to renew the treaty of 20 friendship and alliance which they had made with his brothers, Judas and 21 Jonathan, and the document was read out before the assembly in Jerusalem.

20 This is the copy of the letter sent by the Spartans:

“The rulers and the city of Sparta to Simon the high priest and to the elders
 21 and priests and the rest of the people of the Jews, greetings. The ambassadors 22 whom you sent to our people informed us of your glory and honor, and we 23 were delighted by their visit. We recorded their declarations in the minutes
 24 of our public assemblies, as follows, ‘Numenius son of Antiochus, and Antipater 25 son of Jason, ambassadors of the Jews, came to us to renew their friendship with 26 us. And it was the people’s pleasure to receive these personages with honors 27 and to deposit a copy of their statements in the public archives, so that the 28 people of Sparta may preserve a record of them; they also made a copy for 29 Simon the high priest.’”

24 After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome as the bearer of a large gold shield weighing a thousand minas, to confirm the alliance with them.

Official honors decreed for Simon

25 When these events were reported to the people they said, “What mark of 26 appreciation shall we give to Simon and his sons? He stood firm, he and 27 his brothers and his father’s House; he fought off the enemies of Israel and 28 secured its freedom.” So they recorded an inscription on bronze tablets and 29 set it up on pillars on Mount Zion. This is a copy of the text:

“On the eighteenth of Elul in the year one hundred and seventy-two, which 28 is the third year of Simon the great high priest, in Asaramel, in the grand 29 assembly of priests and people, leaders of the nation and elders of the country, we were notified as follows:

29 “When there was frequent fighting in the country, Simon, son of Mattathias, a scion of the line of Joarib, and his brothers courted danger and withstood the enemies of their nation to safeguard the integrity of their sanctuary and the Law, and so brought their nation great glory. Jonathan rallied his nation 30 and became their high priest, and was then gathered to his people. Their 31 enemies planned to invade their country in order to devastate their territory 32 and lay hands on their sanctuary. Simon then arose to fight for his nation.
 He spent much of his own wealth on arming the nation’s fighting men and 33 providing their pay; he fortified the cities of Judaea and Bethzur on the frontier of Judaea, where the enemy arsenal had formerly been, and stationed there 34 a garrison of Jewish soldiers. He also fortified Joppa on the coast and Gezer on the borders of Azotus, a place formerly inhabited by the enemy; he founded a Jewish settlement there, providing everything they needed to set them on 35 their feet. The people saw Simon’s faith and the glory he had resolved to win for his nation; they made him their leader and high priest because of all these achievements of his and the justice and faithfulness he had maintained toward his own nation, and because he sought every means to enhance the honor 36 of his people. In his day and under his guidance they succeeded in rooting out the pagans from their country, including those in the City of David in Jerusalem, who had converted it into a citadel for their own use from which they would sally out to defile the surroundings of the sanctuary and violate 37 its sacred character. He settled Jewish soldiers in it and fortified it as a protection 38 for the country and city, and heightened the walls of Jerusalem. In consequence 39 of this, King Demetrius confirmed him in the high-priestly office, made him one 40 of his Friends and advanced him to high honors; he had heard that the Romans named the Jews friends, allies and brothers, and that they had given Simon's ambassadors an honorable reception; and further, that the Jews and the priests had agreed that Simon should be their perpetual leader and high priest until a trustworthy prophet should arise; he was also to be their commissioner and to be responsible for the sanctuary and for the appointment of officials to supervise the fabric, to administer the country, and to control the arsenal and fortresses; he was to take charge of the sanctuary, and everyone had to obey him; all official documents in the country were to be drawn up in his name; he was to assume the purple and wear golden ornaments. No member of the public or the priesthood was to be allowed to set aside any one of these articles or contest his decisions, or convene a meeting anywhere in the country without his leave, or assume the purple or wear the golden brooch. Anyone contravening or rejecting any of these articles was to be liable at law. All the people consented to grant Simon the right to act on these decisions. And Simon accepted and consented to assume the high-priestly office and to act as military commissioner and ethnarch^b of the Jews and their priests, and to preside over all."

They ordered that this decree should be inscribed on bronze tablets and set up in the Temple precinct in a prominent place, and that copies should be deposited in the treasury, and made available to Simon and his sons.

Antiochus VII recognizes Simon's titles, and besieges Trypho in Dor

1 15 Antiochus, son of King Demetrius, addressed a letter from the islands of the sea to Simon, priest and ethnarch of the Jews, and to the whole nation; this was how it read:

"King Antiochus to Simon, high priest and ethnarch, and to the Jewish nation, greetings. Whereas certain scoundrels have seized control of the kingdom of our fathers, and I propose to claim back the kingdom so that I may re-establish it as it was before, and whereas I have accordingly recruited very large forces and fitted out warships, intending to make a landing in the country and deal with the men who have ruined it and laid waste many towns in my kingdom, now therefore I confirm in your favor all the remissions of tribute that my royal predecessors granted you, with any other concessions that they granted to you. I hereby authorize you to mint your own coinage as legal tender for your own country. I declare Jerusalem and the sanctuary exempt; all the arms you have manufactured and the fortresses you have built and now occupy are to remain yours. All debts to the royal treasury, present or future, shall be canceled from henceforth in perpetuity. When we have gained possession of our kingdom we will bestow such great honor on yourself, your nation and the Temple as shall exhibit your glory to the whole world."

10 In the year one hundred and seventy-four Antiochus mounted his expedition against the land of his ancestors, and all the troops rallied to him, so that few remained with Trypho. Antiochus pursued the usurper, who took refuge in Dor on the coast, knowing that misfortunes were piling up on him and that his troops had deserted him. Antiochus pitched camp before Dor with a hundred and twenty thousand fighting men and eight thousand cavalry. He laid siege to the city while the ships closed in from the sea, so that he had the city under attack from land and sea, and allowed no one to go in or come out.

The ambassadors return from Rome to Judaea; the alliance with Rome proclaimed

15 Meanwhile Numenius and his companions arrived from Rome carrying letters addressed to various kings and states, in the following terms:

16 "Lucius,^a consul of the Romans, to King Ptolemy, greetings. The Jewish ambassadors have come to us as our friends and allies to renew our original friendship and alliance in the name of the high priest Simon and the Jewish 18 people. They have brought a gold shield worth a thousand minas. Accordingly 19 we have decided to write to various kings and states, warning them not to molest them nor to attack them or their towns or their country, nor ally themselves 20 with any such aggressors. We have decided to accept the shield from them.

 21 If then any scoundrels have fled their country to take refuge with you, hand them over to Simon the high priest to be punished by him according to their law.”
 22 The consul sent the same letter to King Demetrius, to Attalus, Ariarathes 23 and Arsaces, and to all states, including Sampsames, the Spartans, Delos, Myndos, Sicyon, Caria, Samos, Pamphylia, Lycia, Halicarnassus, Rhodes, 24 Phaselis, Cos, Side, Aradus, Gortyna, Cnidus, Cyprus and Cyrene. They also drew up a copy for Simon the high priest.

Antiochus VII besieging Dor, becomes hostile to Simon and sends him a reprimand

25 Meanwhile Antiochus, from his positions on the outskirts of Dor, was continually throwing detachments against the town. He constructed siege 26 engines, and blockaded Trypho, preventing movement in or out. Simon sent him two thousand picked men to support him in the fight, with silver and gold 27 and plenty of equipment. But Antiochus would not accept them; instead, he repudiated all his previous agreements with Simon, and completely changed 28 his attitude to him. He sent him Athenobius, one of his friends, for an interview at which he was to say, “You are now occupying Joppa and Gezer and the 29 Citadel in Jerusalem, which are towns in my kingdom. You have laid waste their territory and done immense harm to the country; and you have seized 30 many localities belonging to my kingdom. Now either surrender the towns you have taken, with the revenue from the localities you have seized beyond 31 the limits of Judaea, or else pay me five hundred talents of silver in compensation for them and for the destruction you have done, and another five hundred talents for the revenues of the towns; otherwise we shall come and make war 32 on you.” When Athenobius, one of the Friends of the King, reached Jerusalem and saw Simon’s magnificence, his cabinet of gold and silver plate, and his 33 large retinue, he was dumfounded. He delivered the king’s message, but Simon gave him this answer, “It is not any foreign land that we have taken, nor any foreign property that we have seized, but the inheritance of our ancestors, 34 for some time unjustly wrested from us by our enemies; now that we have a favorable opportunity, we are merely recovering the inheritance of our 35 ancestors. As for Joppa and Gezer, which you claim, these were towns that did great harm to the people and laid waste the countryside; we are prepared to 36 give a hundred talents for them.” Without so much as a word in answer, the envoy went back to the king in a rage and reported on Simon’s answer and his magnificence, and on everything he had seen, at which the king fell into a fury.

Cendebaeus, governor of the Littoral, harasses Judaea

37 Trypho now boarded a ship and escaped to Orthosia. The king appointed 38 Cendebaeus commander in chief of the coastal region and allotted him a force 39 of infantry and cavalry. He ordered him to deploy his men facing Judaea, and instructed him to strengthen Kedron and fortify its gates, and to make war 40 on the people, while the king himself went in pursuit of Trypho. Cendebaeus arrived at Jamnia and began to harry the people forthwith, invading Judaea, 41 imprisoning the people and massacring them. He strengthened Kedron and stationed cavalry and troops there to make sorties and patrol the roads of Judaea, as the king had instructed him.

The victory of Simon’s sons over Cendebaeus

1 16 John then went up from Gezer and reported to his father Simon what 2 Cendebaeus was busy doing. At this, Simon summoned his two elder sons, Judas and John, and said to them, “I and my brothers and my father’s House have fought the enemies of Israel from our youth until today; the enterprises we directed have been successful, and many a time have we brought Israel deliverance. ³But now I am an old man, while you, mercifully, are old enough; take my place and my brother's, go out and fight for our nation, and may the ⁴support of heaven be with you." Then he selected from the country twenty thousand fighting men and cavalry, and these marched against Cendebaeus, ⁵spending the night at Modein. Making an early start, they marched into the plain, to find a large army opposing them, both infantry and cavalry; there was, ⁶however, a wadi in between. John drew up facing them, he and his people, and seeing that the men were afraid to cross the wadi he crossed over first ⁷himself. When his men saw this, they too crossed after him. He divided his army into two bodies of foot, with the horse in the center, the enemy's cavalry ⁸being very numerous. The trumpets rang out, and Cendebaeus was routed with his army; many of them fell mortally wounded, and the remainder took ⁹refuge in the fortress. It was then that Judas, John's brother, was wounded, but John pursued them until Cendebaeus reached Kedron, which he had ¹⁰strengthened. Their flight took them as far as the towers in the countryside of Azotus, and John burned these down. The enemy losses amounted to ten thousand men; John returned safely to Judaea.

Simon's tragic death at Dok. His son John succeeds him

¹¹ Ptolemy son of Abubus had been appointed military commissioner for the plain of Jericho; he owned much silver and gold, and was the high priest's ¹²son-in-law. His ambition was fired; he hoped to make himself master of the ¹³whole country, and began to plot the ruin of Simon and his sons. Simon, who was inspecting the towns up and down the country and attending to their ¹⁴administration, had come down to Jericho with his sons Mattathias and Judas, in the year one hundred and seventy-seven, in the eleventh month, the month ¹⁵of Shebat. The son of Abubus lured them into a small fortress called Dok,^a which he had built, where he offered them a great banquet, having men concealed ¹⁶about the place. When Simon and his sons were drunk, Ptolemy leaped to his feet with his men, and, grasping their weapons, they rushed on Simon in the ¹⁷banqueting hall and killed him with his two sons and some of his servants. So he committed a great act of treachery, and rendered evil for good. ¹⁸Ptolemy wrote a report of the affair and sent it to the king, in the expectation of being sent reinforcements and having the cities and the province made over to ¹⁹him. He sent other men to Gezer to murder John, and sent written orders to the military commanders to come to him so that he could present them ²⁰with silver and gold and gifts; he also sent others to take possession of Jerusalem and the Temple hill. But someone had been too quick for him and had already ²¹informed John in Gezer that his father and brothers had perished, adding, "He is also sending people to kill you too!" Overcome as he was by the news, John ²²arrested the men who had come to kill him and put them to death, since he already knew their murderous design. The rest of John's acts, the battles he ²³fought and the exploits he performed, the city walls he built, and all his other achievements, are to be found recorded in the Annals of his pontificate from ²⁴the day he succeeded his father as high priest.

THE SECOND BOOK OF MACCABEES

I. LETTERS TO THE JEWS OF EGYPT

FIRST LETTER

¹ 1 Greetings to their brothers, the Jews in Egypt, from their brothers, the Jews in Jerusalem and in the country of Judaea, and prosperity and peace.
² May God prosper you, remembering his covenant with Abraham, Isaac and ³ Jacob, his faithful servants. •May he give you all a heart to worship him and ⁴ to do his will with a generous mind and a willing spirit. •May he open your ⁵ hearts to his Law and his precepts, and give you peace. •May he hear your ⁶ prayers and be reconciled with you, and not abandon you in time of evil. •Here
⁷ we are now praying for you. •When Demetrius was king, in the year one hundred and sixty-nine, we Jews wrote to you as follows, “In the desperate affliction that has come on us in these years since Jason and his associates betrayed the ⁸ Holy Land and the kingdom, they burned the Temple gateway and shed innocent blood. Then we prayed to the Lord and were heard; we offered a sacrifice with ⁹ wheat flour, kindled the lamps and set out the loaves.” •And we now recommend you to keep the feast of Tabernacles of the month of Chislev. In the year one hundred and eighty-eight.^a

SECOND LETTER ^b

Address

¹⁰ The people of Jerusalem and of Judaea, the senate and Judas,^c to Aristobulus, tutor to King Ptolemy and one of the family of the anointed priests, and to the Jews in Egypt, greetings and good health.

Thanksgiving for the punishment of Antiochus

¹¹ Since we have been rescued by God from great dangers, we give him great
¹² thanks for championing our cause against the king, •for it was he who drove out ¹³ those who had taken up arms against the Holy City. •For when their leader reached Persia with his seemingly irresistible army, he was cut to pieces in the temple of Nanaea,^d as the result of a ruse employed by the priests who served that ¹⁴ goddess. •On the pretext of making a marriage with Nanaea, Antiochus came to the place with his friends, intending to take its many treasures as a dowry.
¹⁵ The priests of Nanaea had put these on display, and he entered the sacred precincts with a small retinue. As soon as Antiochus was inside they closed the ¹⁶ temple, •opened the secret door in the ceiling and struck down the leader and his party by hurling stones like thunderbolts. They then dismembered them, ¹⁷ cut off their heads and flung them to those outside. •Blessed in all things be our God, who has given the godless their deserts!

The miraculous preservation of the sacred fire

18 As we shall be celebrating the purification of the Temple on the twenty-fifth of Chislev, we consider it proper to notify you, so that you may celebrate the feast of Tabernacles and of the fire that appeared when Nehemiah, the 19 builder of the Temple and the altar, offered sacrifice. For when our ancestors were being deported to Persia the devout priests of the time took some of the fire from the altar and hid it secretly in the hollow of a dry well, where they 20 concealed it in such a way that the place was unknown to anyone. When some years had elapsed, in God's good time, Nehemiah, commissioned by the king of Persia, sent the descendants of the priests who had hidden the fire to recover it;
but they notified us that they had found not fire but a thick liquid. Nehemiah 21 ordered them to draw some out and bring it back. When the materials for the sacrifice had been set out, Nehemiah ordered the priests to pour the liquid over 22 the wood and what lay on it. When this had been done, and when in due course the sun, which had previously been clouded over, shone out, a great fire flared 23 up, to the astonishment of all. While the sacrifice was being burned, the priests and all those present with the priests offered prayer, Jonathan intoning 24 and the rest responding with Nehemiah. The prayer took this form: "Lord, Lord God, creator of all things, dreadful, strong, just, merciful, the only king 25 and benefactor, the only provider, who alone are just, almighty and everlasting, the deliverer of Israel from every evil, who made our fathers your chosen ones 26 and sanctified them, accept this sacrifice on behalf of all your people Israel, and protect your heritage and consecrate it. Bring together those of us who are 27 dispersed, set free those in slavery among the heathen, look favorably on those held in contempt or abhorrence, and let the heathen know that you are 28 our God. Punish those who oppress us and affront us by their insolence, and 29 plant your people firmly in your Holy Place, as Moses promised."

30 The priests then chanted hymns. When the sacrifice was all burned, Nehemiah 31 ordered the remaining liquid to be poured over large stones, and when this 32 was done a flame flared up, to be absorbed in the corresponding blaze of light 33 from the altar. When the matter became known and the king of the Persians heard that in the place where the exiled priests had hidden the fire a liquid had appeared, with which Nehemiah and his people had purified the materials of the 34 sacrifice, the king after verifying the facts, had the place enclosed and 35 pronounced sacred. The king exchanged many valuable presents with those 36 who enjoyed his favor. Nehemiah and his people termed this stuff "nephtar," which means "purification," but it is generally called "naphtha."

Jeremiah conceals the tabernacle, ark and altar

1 2 We find in the archives that the prophet Jeremiah,^a when he had given the 2 deportees the order to take the fire, as we have described, in giving them the Law warned the deportees never to forget the Lord's precepts, nor to let their thoughts be tempted by the sight of gold and silver statues or the finery 3 adorning them. Among other similar admonitions he urged them not to 4 let the Law depart from their hearts. The document also described how the prophet, warned by an oracle, gave orders for the tabernacle and the ark to go with him when he set out for the mountain which Moses had climbed to survey 5 God's heritage. On his arrival Jeremiah found a cave dwelling, into which he brought the tabernacle, the ark and the altar of incense, afterward blocking

6 up the entrance. Some of his companions came up to mark out the way, but 7 were unable to find it. When Jeremiah learned this, he reproached them: "The 8 place is to remain unknown," he said, "until God gathers his people together
 9 again and shows them his mercy. Then the Lord will bring these things once
 10 more to light, and the glory of the Lord will be seen, and so will the cloud, as it
 11 was revealed in the time of Moses and when Solomon prayed that the Holy Place 12 might be gloriously hallowed." It was also recorded how Solomon in his wisdom 13 offered the sacrifice of the dedication and completion of the sanctuary. As 14 Moses had prayed to the Lord and fire had come down from heaven and 15 burned up the sacrifice, so Solomon also prayed, and the fire from above 16 burned up the holocausts. Moses had said, "It is because it had not been eaten 17 that the sin offering was burned up." Solomon kept the feast in the same way 18 for eight days.

Nehemiah's library

13 In addition to the above, it was also recorded, both in the archives and in the 14 Memoirs of Nehemiah,^b how he founded a library and made a collection of the 15 books dealing with the kings and the prophets, the writings of David and the 16 letters of the kings on the subject of offerings. In the same way Judas made a 17 complete collection of the books dispersed in the late war, and these we still 18 have. If you need any of them, send someone to fetch copies for you.

An invitation to the dedication

16 To conclude, since we are now about to celebrate the purification of the 17 Temple, we are writing to you requesting you to observe the same days. God, 18 who has saved his whole people, conferring on all the heritage, kingdom, 19 priesthood and sanctification as he promised through the Law, will surely, as 20 our hope is in him, be swift to show us mercy and gather us together from 21 everywhere under heaven to the Holy Place, since he has rescued us from great 22 evils and has purified the Temple.

II. COMPILER'S PREFACE

19 The story of Judas Maccabaeus and his brothers, the purification of the great
 20 Temple, the dedication of the altar, together with the wars against Antiochus 21 Epiphanes and his son Eupator, and the manifestations from heaven that 22 came to hearten the brave champions of Judaism, so that, few though they 23 were, they despoiled the whole country, routed the barbarian hordes, recovered 24 the sanctuary renowned the whole world over, liberated the city and re-
 25 established the laws which were all but abolished, the Lord showing his favor 26 by all his gracious help to them—all this, already related in five books by Jason of 27 Cyrene, we shall attempt to condense into a single digest. Considering the spate of 28 figures and the difficulty encountered, because of the mass of material, by those 29 who wish to immerse themselves in historical records, we have aimed at providing 30 diversion for those who merely want something to read, a saving of labor for those who enjoy committing things to memory, and profit for each and all.
 For us who have undertaken the drudgery of this abridgement, this has been no easy task but a matter of sweat and midnight oil, comparable to the exacting task of a man organizing a banquet, whose aim is to satisfy a variety of tastes; nevertheless, for the sake of rendering a general service we remain glad to endure this drudgery, leaving accuracy of detail to the historian and concentrating our effort on tracing the outlines in this condensed version. Just as the architect of a new house is responsible for the construction as a whole, while the man undertaking the ceramic painting is responsible for estimating the decorative requirements, so, I think, it is with us. To make the subject his own, to explore its byways, to be meticulous about details, is the business of the original historian, but the man making the adaptation must be allowed to aim at conciseness of expression and to forgo any exhaustive treatment of his subject.

So now let us begin our narrative, without adding any more to what has been said above; there would be no sense in expanding the preface to the history and curtailing the history itself.

III. THE STORY OF HELIODORUS

The arrival of Heliodorus in Jerusalem

3 While the Holy City was inhabited in all peace and the laws were observed as perfectly as possible, through the piety of Onias the high priest and his hatred of wickedness, it came about that the kings themselves honored the Holy Place and enhanced the glory of the Temple with the most splendid offerings, even to the extent that Seleucus^a king of Asia defrayed from his own revenues all the expenses arising out of the sacrificial services. But a certain Simon, of the tribe of Bilgah, on being appointed administrator of the Temple, came into conflict with the high priest over the regulation of the city markets. Unable to get the better of Onias, he went off to Apollonius of Tarsus, who at that time was military commissioner for Coele-Syria and Phoenicia, and made out to him that the Treasury in Jerusalem was groaning with untold wealth, that the amount contributed was incalculable and out of all proportion to expenditure on the sacrifice, but that it could all be brought under the control of the king. Apollonius met the king and told him about the wealth that had been disclosed to him; whereupon the king selected Heliodorus, his chancellor, and sent him with instructions to effect the removal of the reported wealth. Heliodorus lost no time in setting out, ostensibly to inspect the towns of Coele-Syria and Phoenicia, but in fact to accomplish the king's purpose. On his arrival in Jerusalem, and after a hospitable reception from the high priest and the city, he announced what had been disclosed, thus revealing the reason for his presence, and asked if this was indeed the true situation. The high priest explained that there were funds set aside for widows and orphans, with some belonging to Hyrcanus son of Tobias, a man occupying a very exalted position, and that the whole sum, in contrast to what the evil Simon had alleged, amounted to four hundred talents of silver and two hundred of gold. He added also that it was entirely out of the question that an injustice should be done to those who had put their trust in the sanctity of the place and the inviolable majesty of a Temple venerated throughout the entire world.

Consternation in Jerusalem

13 But Heliodorus, because of his instructions from the king, peremptorily insisted that the funds must be confiscated for the royal exchequer. Fixing a day for the purpose, he went in to draw up an inventory of the funds. There was consternation throughout the city; the priests in their sacred vestments prostrated themselves before the altar and called upon heaven, the author of the law governing deposits, to preserve these funds intact for the depositors. The appearance of the high priest was enough to pierce the heart of the beholder, his expression and his altered color betraying the anguish of his soul; the man was so overwhelmed by fear and bodily trembling that those who saw him could not possibly mistake the distress he was suffering. People rushed headlong from the houses intent on making public supplication because of the

19 indignity threatening the Holy Place. •Women thronged the streets swathed in sackcloth below their breasts; girls secluded indoors ran together, some to the 20 doorways, some to the city walls, while others leaned out of the windows, •all stretching out their hands to heaven in entreaty. •It was pitiful to see the 21 people crowding together to prostrate themselves and the foreboding of the high priest in his deep anguish. •While they were calling on the all-powerful Lord to 22 preserve the deposits intact for the depositors, in full security, •Heliodorus carried on with his appointed task.

The punishment of Heliodorus

24 He had already arrived with his bodyguard near the Treasury, when the Sovereign of spirits and of every power caused so great an apparition that all who had dared to accompany Heliodorus were dumfounded at the power of 25 God, and were reduced to abject terror. •Before their eyes appeared a horse richly caparisoned and carrying a fearsome rider. Rearing violently, it struck at Heliodorus with its forefeet. The rider was seen to be accoutered entirely in gold.
26 Two other young men of outstanding strength and radiant beauty, magnificently appareled, appeared to him at the same time, and taking their stand on either 27 side of him flogged him unremittingly, inflicting stroke after stroke. •Suddenly Heliodorus fell to the ground, enveloped in thick darkness. His men came to 28 his rescue and placed him in a litter, •this man who but a moment before had made his way into the Treasury, as we said above, with a great retinue and his whole bodyguard; and as they carried him away, powerless to help himself, they openly acknowledged the sovereign power of God.

29 While Heliodorus lay prostrate under the divine visitation, speechless and bereft of all hope of deliverance, •the Jews blessed the Lord who had miraculously glorified his own Holy Place. And the Temple, which a little while before had been filled with terror and commotion, now overflowed with joy and gladness
31 at the manifestation of the almighty Lord. •Some of Heliodorus' companions quickly begged Onias to call upon the Most High, to bestow life on a man lying at the very point of death.

32 The high priest, afraid that the king might suspect the Jews of some foul play concerning Heliodorus, did indeed offer a sacrifice for the man's recovery.
33 And while the high priest was performing the rite of atonement, the same young men again appeared to Heliodorus wearing the same apparel, and standing beside him said, "Be very grateful to Onias the high priest, since it is for his 34 sake that the Lord has granted you your life. •As for you, who have been scourged from heaven, you must proclaim to all men the grandeur of God's power." So saying, they vanished.

The conversion of Heliodorus

35 Heliodorus offered sacrifice to the Lord and made most solemn vows to the preserver of his life, and then took courteous leave of Onias and marched his forces
36 back to the king. •He openly testified to all men of the works of the supreme God which he had seen with his own eyes. •When the king asked Heliodorus what 37 sort of man would be the right person to send to Jerusalem on a second occasion, he replied, "•If you have some enemy or a rebel against the government, send him there, and you will get him back well flogged, if he survives at all, for there
38 is certainly some peculiar power of God about that place. •He who has his dwelling in heaven watches over the place and defends it, and he strikes down and 39 destroys those who come to harm it." •This was the outcome of the affair of Heliodorus and the preservation of the Treasury.

IV. HELLENISTIC PROPAGANDA AND PERSECUTION UNDER ANTIOCHUS EPIPHANES

The misdeeds of Simon, administrator of the Temple

1 4 The Simon mentioned above as the informer against the funds and his own country began to slander Onias, insinuating that it was the high priest who had treated Heliodorus so harshly and had himself contrived these startling 2 events. ·Simon now had the effrontery to name this benefactor of the city, this protector of his compatriots, this zealot for the laws, as an enemy of the public 3 good. ·This hostility reached such proportions that murders were actually 4 committed by some of Simon's agents, ·and at this point Onias, recognizing how mischievous this rivalry was, and aware that Apollonius son of Menestheus, military commissioner for Coele-Syria and Phoenicia, was encouraging Simon 5 in his malice, ·went to see the king, not to play the accuser of his fellow citizens, but having the public and private welfare of the entire people at heart.
6 He saw that without some intervention by the king an orderly administration would no longer be possible, nor would Simon be forced to put a stop to his folly.

Jason, the high priest, introduces Hellenism

7 When Seleucus had departed this life and Antiochus styled Epiphanes had succeeded to the kingdom, Jason, brother of Onias,^a usurped the high priesthood 8 by underhand methods; ·he approached the king with a promise of three hundred and sixty talents of silver, with eighty talents to come from some other 9 source of revenue. ·He further committed himself to guarantee another hundred and fifty if he was allowed to use his authority to establish a gymnasium and a 10 youth center, and to enroll men in Jerusalem as Antiochists. ·When the king gave his assent, Jason set about introducing his fellow countrymen to the Greek 11 way of life as soon as he was in power. ·He suppressed the existing royal concessions to the Jews, granted at the instance of John, father of that Eupolemus who was later to be sent on the embassy of friendship and alliance with the Romans, and, overthrowing the lawful institutions, introduced new usages 12 contrary to the Law. ·He went so far as to plant a gymnasium at the very foot of 13 the Citadel, and to fit out the noblest of his cadets in the petasos.^b ·Godless wretch that he was and no true high priest, Jason set no bounds to his impiety; indeed the 14 Hellenizing process reached such a pitch ·that the priests ceased to show any interest in the services of the altar; scorning the Temple and neglecting the sacrifices, they would hurry to take part in the unlawful exercises on the training 15 ground as soon as the signal was given for the discus. ·They disdained all that 16 their ancestors had esteemed, and set the highest value on Hellenic honors. ·But all this brought its own retribution; the very people whose way of life they envied, whom they sought to resemble in everything, proved to be their enemies and 17 executioners. ·It is no small thing to violate the divine laws, as the period that followed will demonstrate.

18 On the occasion of the quinquennial games at Tyre in the presence of the 19 king, ·the vile Jason sent some Antiochists from Jerusalem as official spectators; these brought with them three hundred silver drachmae for the sacrifice to Hercules. But even those who brought the money thought it should not be spent on the sacrifice—this would not be right—and decided to reserve it for some other 20 item of expenditure; ·and so what the sender had intended for the sacrifice to Hercules was in fact applied, at the suggestion of those who brought it, to the construction of triremes.

4 a. Joshua, brother of Onias; the change of his name to Jason is evidence of his sympathies with Hellenization. b. The hat of Hermes, worn by athletes.

Antiochus Epiphanes is acclaimed in Jerusalem

21 Apollonius son of Menestheus had been sent to Egypt to attend the enthronement of King Philometor. Learning that the king had become hostile to his policies, Antiochus began to think of his own safety; and so he left Joppa 22 and moved to Jerusalem. He was given a magnificent welcome by Jason and the city, and was received with torches and acclamations; following this, he withdrew his army to Phoenicia.

Menelaus becomes high priest

23 When three years had passed, Jason sent Menelaus, brother of the Simon mentioned above, to convey the money to the king and get his decisions on 24 various essential matters made effective. But Menelaus, on being presented to the king, flattered him by his own appearance of authority, and so secured the high priesthood for himself, outbidding Jason by three hundred talents of silver.
25 He returned with the royal mandate, bringing nothing worthy of the high priesthood and supported only by the fury of a cruel tyrant and the rage of a 26 savage beast. Thus Jason, who had supplanted his own brother, was in turn 27 supplanted by a third, and obliged to take refuge in Ammonite territory. As for Menelaus, he retained his high office, but he defaulted altogether on the sums 28 promised to the king, although Sostratus, the commandant of the Citadel, whose business it was to collect the revenue, kept demanding payment. The pair 29 of them in consequence were summoned before the king, Menelaus leaving his brother Lysimachus as deputy high priest, while Sostratus left Crates, the commander of the Cypriots, to act for him.

The murder of Onias

30 While all this was going on, it happened that the people of Tarsus and Mallus revolted, because their towns had been given as a present to Antiochis, the 31 king's concubine. The king therefore hurried off to settle the affair, leaving 32 Andronicus, one of his dignitaries, to act as his deputy. Thinking he had found a favorable opportunity, Menelaus abstracted a number of golden vessels from the Temple and presented them to Andronicus, and managed to sell others 33 to Tyre and the surrounding cities. On receiving clear evidence to this effect, Onias retired to a place of sanctuary at Daphne near Antioch and then taxed him 34 with it. Thereupon Menelaus, taking Andronicus aside, urged him to murder Onias. Andronicus sought out Onias and, after deceitfully reassuring him by offering him his right hand on oath, succeeded in persuading him, in spite of his lingering suspicions, to leave the sanctuary; whereupon he immediately put 35 him to death, in defiance of all justice. The result was that not only the Jews but many of the other nations were appalled and indignant at this impious murder.
36 On the king's return from the region of Cilicia, the Jews of the capital, and those Greeks who shared their hatred of the crime, appealed to him about the 37 insensate murder of Onias. Antiochus was profoundly grieved and filled with 38 pity, and he wept for the prudence and great moderation of the dead man. His indignation was roused, and he immediately stripped Andronicus of the purple, tore his garments off him, and, parading him through the length of the city, rid the world of the assassin on the very spot where he had laid impious hands on Onias, the Lord dealing out to him the punishment he deserved.

Lysimachus killed in an insurrection

39 Now Lysimachus, with the connivance of Menelaus, had committed many sacrilegious thefts in the city, and when the facts had become widely known, the populace rose against Lysimachus, who had already disposed of many 40 pieces of gold plate. The infuriated mob was becoming menacing, and Lysimachus armed nearly three thousand men and took aggressive action; the troops were led by a certain Auranus, a man advanced in years and no less in 41 folly. ·Recognizing this act of aggression as the work of Lysimachus, some snatched up stones, others cudgels, while others scooped up handfuls of ashes lying 42 at hand, and all hurled everything indiscriminately at Lysimachus' men, ·to such effect that they wounded many of them, even killing a few, and routed them all;

the Temple robber himself they killed outside the treasury.

Menelaus buys his acquittal

43 As a result of this, legal proceedings were taken against Menelaus. ·When 44 the king came down to Tyre, the three men sent by the elders maintained the 45 justice of their case in his presence. ·Menelaus, seeing he was already defeated, promised a substantial sum to Ptolemy son of Dorymenes if he would 46 influence the king in his favor. ·Ptolemy then took the king aside into a 47 colonnade for some fresh air, and persuaded him to change his mind; ·the king actually dismissed the charges against Menelaus, the cause of all this evil, while he condemned to death the other poor wretches who, had they pleaded before 48 even Scythians, would have been let off scot free. ·No time was lost in carrying out this unjust punishment on those who had championed the cause of the city, the 49 rural communities and the sacred vessels. ·Some Tyrians even were so outraged 50 by the crime that they provided sumptuously for their funeral, ·while as a result of the greed of those in high places Menelaus retained his high office, growing in wickedness and establishing himself as the chief enemy of his fellow citizens.

Menelaus and Jason

1 5 About this time Antiochus undertook his second expedition^a against Egypt.
2 It then happened that all over the city for nearly forty days there were apparitions of horsemen galloping through the air, in cloth of gold, troops of 3 lancers fully armed, ·squadrons of cavalry in order of battle, attacks and charges this way and that, a flourish of shields, a forest of pikes, brandishing of swords, hurling of missiles, a glitter of golden accouterments and armor of all kinds.
4 So everyone prayed that this manifestation might prove a good omen.
5 Then on the strength of a false report that Antiochus was dead, Jason took at least a thousand men and launched an unexpected attack on the city. The troops manning the wall were forced back, and Menelaus, with the city all but 6 captured, took refuge in the Citadel. ·Jason, however, was still making a pitiless slaughter of his own fellow citizens, not stopping to consider that success against his own countrymen was the greatest of disasters, but rather picturing himself as setting up trophies won from some enemy, not from his own flesh and blood.
7 Even so, he did not succeed in seizing power; in the end his conspiracy brought him nothing but disgrace, and once again he took refuge in Ammonite territory.
8 His career of wickedness was thus brought to a halt. Kept under restraint by Aretas the Arab despot, fleeing from town to town, the quarry of all men, hated as a rebel against the laws, abhorred as the butcher of his country and his 9 countrymen, he drifted to Egypt, ·and at last this man, who had exiled so many from their fatherland, himself perished on foreign soil, having traveled to Sparta 10 in the hope that for kinship's sake they might harbor him. ·So many carcasses he had thrust out to lie unburied: now he himself had none to mourn him, no funeral rites, no place in the tomb of his ancestors.

Antiochus Epiphanes plunders the Temple

11 When the king came to hear of what had happened, he concluded that Judaea was in revolt. He therefore marched from Egypt, raging like a wild beast, and 12 began by storming the city. ·He then ordered his soldiers to cut down without mercy everyone they encountered, and to butcher all who took refuge in their

^{5 a.} The author dates this event in 168; but 1 Maccabees should preferably be followed, and this dates the sack of the Temple after the first expedition in 169.

13 houses. •It was a massacre of young and old, a slaughter of women and children, 14 a butchery of virgins and infants. •There were eighty thousand victims in the course of those three days, forty thousand dying by violence and as many again 15 being sold into slavery. •Not satisfied with this, he had the audacity to enter the holiest Temple in the entire world, Menelaus, that traitor to the laws and to his 16 country, acting as his guide; •with his unclean hands he seized the sacred vessels; and his impious hands swept away what other kings had presented for the 17 advancement, the glory and the honor of the place. •Antiochus, so much above himself, did not realize that the Lord was angry for the moment at the sins of the 18 inhabitants of the city, hence his unconcern for the Holy Place. •Had it not happened that they were entangled in many sins, Antiochus too, like Heliodorus when King Seleucus sent him to inspect the Treasury, would have been flogged 19 the moment he arrived and checked in his presumption. •However, the Lord had not chosen the people for the sake of the place, but the place for the sake 20 of the people; •and so the place itself, having shared the disasters that befell the people, in due course also shared their good fortune; forsaken by the Almighty in the time of his anger, it was reinstated in all its glory, once the great Sovereign had been reconciled.

High commissioners in Judaea

21 Antiochus went off with eighteen hundred talents he had stolen from the Temple, and hurried back to Antioch; in his arrogance he would have undertaken to make the dry land navigable and the sea passable on foot, so high his ambition 22 soared. •But he left high commissioners to plague the nation: in Jerusalem, Philip, a Phrygian by race,^b and by nature more barbarous than the man who 23 appointed him; •on Mount Gerizim, Andronicus; and besides these Menelaus, who lorded it over his countrymen worse than all the others. In his rooted 24 hostility to the Jews, •the king also sent the mysarch Apollonius at the head of an army twenty-two thousand strong, with orders to put to death all men in their 25 prime and to sell the women and children. •Arriving in Jerusalem and posing as a man of peace, this man waited until the holy day of the sabbath and then, taking advantage of the Jews as they rested from work, ordered his men to 26 parade fully armed; •all those who came out to watch he put to the sword;
 then, running through the city with his armed troops, he cut down an immense number of people.

27 Judas called Maccabaeus, however, with about nine others, withdrew into the wilderness, and lived like wild animals in the hills with his companions, eating nothing but wild plants to avoid contracting defilement.

Pagan cults imposed

1 6 Shortly afterward, the king sent an old man from Athens to compel the Jews to abandon their ancestral customs and live no longer by the laws of 2 God; •and to profane the Temple in Jerusalem and dedicate it to Olympian Zeus, and that on Mount Gerizim to Zeus, patron of strangers, as the inhabitants had 3 requested.^a •The imposition of this evil was oppressive and altogether intolerable.
 4 The Temple was filled with reveling and debauchery by the pagans, who took their pleasure with prostitutes and had intercourse with women in the sacred 5 precincts, introducing other indecencies besides. •The altar of sacrifice was loaded 6 with victims proscribed by the laws as unclean. •A man might neither keep the sabbath nor observe the traditional feasts, nor so much as admit to being a 7 Jew. •People were driven by harsh compulsion to eat the sacrificial entrails at the monthly celebration of the king's birthday; and when a feast of Dionysus occurred they were forced to wear ivy wreaths and walk in the Dionysiac 8 procession. •A decree was issued at the instance of the people of Ptolemais for the neighboring Greek cities, enforcing the same conduct on the Jews there, 9 obliging them to share in the sacrificial meals, •and ordering the execution of those who would not voluntarily conform to Greek customs. So it became clear that disaster was imminent.

10 For example, there were two women charged with having circumcised their children. They were paraded publicly around the town, with their babies hung at their breasts, and then hurled over the city wall. Other people who had assembled in the caves to keep the seventh day without attracting attention were denounced to Philip and all burned together, since their consciences would not allow them to defend themselves, out of respect for the holiness of the day.

Providential interpretation of the persecution

12 Now I urge anyone who may read this book not to be dismayed at these calamities, but to reflect that such visitations are not intended to destroy our race but to discipline it. Indeed when evildoers are not left for long to their own devices but incur swift retribution, it is a sign of great benevolence. In the case of the other nations the Master waits patiently for them to attain the full measure of their sins before he punishes them, but with us he has decided to deal differently, rather than have to punish us later, when our sins come to a head. And so he never entirely withdraws his mercy from us; he may discipline us by some disaster, but he does not desert his own people. Let this be said simply by way of reminder; we must return to our story without more ado.

18 Eleazar, one of the foremost teachers of the Law, a man already advanced in years and of most noble appearance, was being forced to open his mouth wide to swallow pig's flesh. But he, resolving to die with honor rather than to live disgraced, went to the block of his own accord, spitting the stuff out, the plain duty of anyone with the courage to reject what it is not lawful to taste, even from a natural tenderness for his own life. Those in charge of the impious banquet, because of their long-standing friendship with him, took him aside and privately urged him to have meat brought of a kind he could properly use, prepared by himself, and only pretend to eat the portions of sacrificial meat as prescribed by the king; this action would enable him to escape death, by availing himself of an act of kindness prompted by their long friendship. But having taken a noble decision worthy of his years and the dignity of his great age and the well-earned distinction of his gray hairs, worthy too of his impeccable conduct from boyhood, and above all of the holy legislation established by God himself, he publicly stated his convictions, telling them to send him at once to Hades. "Such pretense," he said, "does not square with our time of life; many young people would suppose that Eleazar at the age of ninety had conformed to the foreigners' way of life, and because I had played this part for the sake of a paltry brief spell of life might themselves be led astray on my account; I should only bring defilement and disgrace on my old age. Even though for the moment I avoid execution by man, I can never, living or dead, elude the grasp of the Almighty. Therefore if I am man enough to quit this life here and now I shall prove myself worthy of my old age, and I shall have left the young a noble example of how to make a good death, eagerly and generously, for the venerable and holy laws."

29 With these words he went straight to the block. His escorts, so recently well disposed toward him, turned against him after this declaration, which they regarded as sheer madness. Just before he died under the blows, he groaned aloud and said, "The Lord whose knowledge is holy sees clearly that, though I might have escaped death, whatever agonies of body I now endure under this bludgeoning, in my soul I am glad to suffer, because of the awe which he inspires in me."

31 This was how he died, leaving his death as an example of nobility and a record of virtue not only for the young but for the great majority of the nation.

The martyrdom of the seven brothers

1 7 There were also seven brothers who were arrested with their mother. The king tried to force them to taste pig's flesh, which the Law forbids, by 2 torturing them with whips and scourges. One of them, acting as spokesman for the others, said, "What are you trying to find out from us? We are prepared to 3 die rather than break the laws of our ancestors." The king, in a fury, 4 ordered pans and caldrons to be heated over a fire. As soon as they were red-hot he commanded that this spokesman of theirs should have his tongue cut out, his head scalped and his extremities cut off, while the other brothers and 5 his mother looked on. When he had been rendered completely helpless, the king gave orders for him to be brought, still breathing, to the fire and fried alive in a pan. As the smoke from the pan drifted about, his mother and the rest 6 encouraged one another to die nobly, with such words as these, "The Lord God is watching, and surely he takes pity on us, as in the song in which Moses bore witness against the people to their face, proclaiming that 'he will certainly take pity on his servants.'"

7 When the first had left the world in this way, they led on the second for their brutal amusement. After stripping the skin from his head, hair and all, they asked 8 him, "Will you eat, before your body is tortured limb by limb?" But he retorted in the language of his ancestors, "Never!" And so he too was put to the torture in 9 his turn. With his last breath he exclaimed, "Inhuman fiend, you may discharge us from this present life, but the King of the world will raise us up, since it is for his laws that we die, to live again for ever."

10 After him, they amused themselves with the third, who on being asked for 11 his tongue promptly thrust it out and boldly held out his hands, with these honorable words, "It was heaven that gave me these limbs; for the sake of his 12 laws I disdain them; from him I hope to receive them again." The king and his attendants were astounded at the young man's courage and his utter indifference to suffering.

13 When this one was dead they subjected the fourth to the same savage torture. 14 When he neared his end he cried, "Ours is the better choice, to meet death at men's hands, yet relying on God's promise that we shall be raised up by him; whereas for you there can be no resurrection, no new life."

15 Next they brought forward the fifth and began torturing him. But he looked 16 at the king and said, "You have power over men, mortal as you are, and can act as you please. But do not think that our race has been deserted by God. 17 Only wait, and you shall see in your turn how his mighty power will torment you and your race."

18 After him they led out the sixth, and his dying words were these, "Do not delude yourself: we are suffering like this through our own fault, having sinned 19 against our own God; the result has been terrible, but do not think you yourself will go unpunished for attempting to make war on God."

20 But the mother was especially admirable and worthy of honorable remembrance, for she watched the death of seven sons in the course of a single day, 21 and endured it resolutely because of her hopes in the Lord. Indeed she encouraged each of them in the language of their ancestors; filled with noble conviction, she reinforced her womanly argument with manly courage, saying 22 to them, "I do not know how you appeared in my womb; it was not I who endowed you with breath and life, I had not the shaping of your every part. 23 It is the creator of the world, ordaining the process of man's birth and presiding over the origin of all things, who in his mercy will most surely give you back both breath and life, seeing that you now despise your own existence for the sake of his laws."

24 Antiochus thought he was being ridiculed, suspecting insult in the tone of her voice"; and as the youngest was still alive he appealed to him not with mere words but with promises on oath to make him both rich and happy if he would abandon the traditions of his ancestors; he would make him his Friend and entrust him with public office. "The young man took no notice at all, and so the king then appealed to the mother, urging her to advise the youth to save his life. After a great deal of urging on his part she agreed to try persuasion on her son. Bending over him, she fooled the cruel tyrant with these words, uttered in the language of their ancestors, "My son, have pity on me; I carried you nine months in my womb and suckled you three years, fed you and reared you to the age you are now (and cherished you). "I implore you, my child, observe heaven and earth, consider all that is in them, and acknowledge that God made them out of what did not exist, and that mankind comes into being in the same way. "Do not fear this executioner, but prove yourself worthy of your brothers, and make death welcome, so that in the day of mercy I may receive you back in your brothers' company."

30 She had scarcely ended when the young man said, "What are you all waiting for? I will not comply with the king's ordinance; I obey the ordinance of the Law given to our ancestors through Moses. "As for you, sir, who have contrived every kind of evil against the Hebrews, you will certainly not escape the hands of God. "We are suffering for our own sins; and if, to punish and discipline us, our living Lord vents his wrath upon us, he will yet be reconciled with his own servants. "But you, unholy wretch, bloodiest villain of all mankind, do not be carried away with senseless elation, crowing with false confidence as you raise your hand against his servants, "for you have not yet escaped the judgment of God the almighty, the all-seeing. "Our brothers already, after enduring their brief pain, now drink of ever-flowing life, by virtue of God's covenant, while you, by God's judgment, will have to pay the just penalty for your arrogance. I too, like my brothers, surrender my body and life for the laws of my ancestors, calling on God to show his kindness to our nation and that soon, and by trials and afflictions to bring you to confess that he alone is God, "so that with my brothers and myself there may be an end to the wrath of the Almighty, rightly let loose on our whole nation."

39 The king fell into a rage and treated this one more cruelly than the others, for he was himself smarting from the young man's scorn. "And so the last brother met his end undefiled and with perfect trust in the Lord. "The mother was the last to die, after her sons.

42 But let this be sufficient account of the ritual meals and excessive torments.

V. THE VICTORY OF JUDAISM

THE DEATH OF THE PERSECUTOR AND PURIFICATION OF THE TEMPLE

Judas Maccabaeus and the resistance

1 8 Judas Maccabaeus and his companions made their way secretly among the villages, rallying their kinsfolk; they recruited those who remained loyal to Judaism, and assembled about six thousand. "They called upon the Lord to have regard for the people oppressed on all sides, to take pity on the Temple profaned by the godless, "to have mercy on the city falling into ruin and nearly leveled to the ground, to hear the blood of the victims that cried aloud to him, to remember the criminal slaughter of innocent babies and to avenge the blasphemies perpetrated against his name. "As soon as Maccabaeus had an organized force he at once proved invincible to the pagans, the Lord's anger 6 having turned into compassion. Making surprise attacks on towns and villages, he fired them; he captured favorable positions and inflicted a number of reverses 7 on the enemy, generally availing himself of the cover of night for such enterprises. The fame of his valor spread far and wide.

Early exploits

8 When Philip saw Judas was making steady progress and winning more and more frequent successes, he wrote to Ptolemy, the military commissioner for Coele-Syria and Phoenicia, asking for reinforcements in the royal interest.
 9 Ptolemy appointed Nicanor son of Patroclus, one of the king's First Friends, and sent him without delay at the head of an international force of at least twenty thousand men, to exterminate the entire Jewish race. As his associate he 10 appointed Gorgias, a professional general of wide military experience. Nicanor determined to raise the two thousand talents of tribute money owed by the king 11 to the Romans, by the sale of Jewish prisoners of war. He lost no time in sending the seaboard towns an invitation to come and buy Jewish manpower, promising delivery of ninety head for one talent; but he did not reckon on the judgment from the Almighty that was soon to overtake him.

12 When news reached Judas of Nicanor's advance, he warned his men of the 13 enemy's approach, whereupon the fainthearted and those who lacked confidence 14 in the justice of God took to their heels and ran away. The rest sold all their remaining possessions, at the same time praying the Lord to deliver them from 15 the godless Nicanor, who had sold them even in advance of any encounter—if not for their own sakes, then at least out of consideration for the covenants made with their ancestors, and because they themselves bore his sacred and majestic name.

16 Maccabaeus marshaled his men, who numbered about six thousand, and exhorted them not to be dismayed at the enemy or discouraged at the vast horde 17 of pagans wickedly advancing against them, but to fight bravely, keeping before their eyes the criminal outrage inflicted by these men on the Holy Place, and the agony of the humiliated city, not to mention the destruction of their 18 traditional way of life. "They may put their trust in their weapons and their exploits," he said, "but our confidence is in almighty God, who is able with a nod 19 to overthrow both those marching on us and the whole world with them." He reminded them of the occasions on which their forebears had received help:
 that time when, under Sennacherib, a hundred and eighty-five thousand men 20 had perished; that time in Babylonia when in the battle with the Galatians the Jewish combatants numbered only eight thousand and four thousand Macedonians, yet when the Macedonians were hard pressed, the eight thousand wiped out a hundred and twenty thousand because of the help they received from heaven, and won incalculable gains.

21 Having so roused their courage by these words that they were ready to die for the laws and their country, he then divided his army roughly into four, 22 putting his brothers, Simon, Joseph and Jonathan in command of one division each, and assigning them fifteen hundred men apiece. Next, he ordered Esdras^a 23 to read the sacred book aloud, and gave them their watchword, "Help from God"; then he put himself at the head of the first division and joined battle with 24 Nicanor. With the Almighty for their ally, they slaughtered over nine thousand of the enemy, wounded and crippled the greater part of Nicanor's army and put 25 them all to flight. The money of their prospective purchasers fell into their hands. After pursuing them for a good while, they turned back, since time was 26 pressing: it was the eve of the sabbath, and for that reason they did not prolong 27 their pursuit. They collected the enemy's weapons and stripped them of their spoils, and then celebrated the sabbath with heartfelt praise and thanks to the Lord, who had reserved that day for distilling on them the first dew of his mercy.

28 When the sabbath was over they distributed some of the booty among the victims of the persecution and the widows and orphans; the rest they divided among themselves and their children. They then joined in public supplication, imploring the merciful Lord to be fully reconciled with his servants.

The defeat of Timotheus and Bacchides

30 They also challenged the forces of Timotheus and Bacchides and wiped out over twenty thousand of them, gaining possession of several high fortresses. They divided their enormous booty into two equal shares, one for themselves, the other for the victims of the persecution and the orphans and widows, not forgetting the aged. They carefully collected the enemy's weapons and stored them in convenient places. The rest of the spoils they took to Jerusalem. They killed the officer commanding Timotheus' bodyguard, an extremely wicked man who had done great harm to the Jews. In the course of their victory celebrations in Jerusalem they burned the men that had fired the holy gates, who with Callisthenes had taken refuge in one small house; so these received a fitting reward for the sacrilege.

The flight and testimony of Nicanor

34 The triple-dyed scoundrel Nicanor, who had brought the thousand merchants to buy the Jews, finding himself humbled, with the Lord's help, by men he had himself reckoned as of very little account, stripped off his robes of state, and made his way across country unaccompanied, like a runaway slave, reaching Antioch by a singular stroke of fortune, considering that his army was destroyed. Thus the man who had promised the Romans to make good their tribute money by selling the prisoners from Jerusalem testified that the Jews had a defender, and that on this account the Jews were invulnerable, because they followed the laws which that defender had ordained.

1 About that time, as it happened, Antiochus had retreated in disorder from the country of Persia. He had entered the city called Persepolis, planning to rob the temple and occupy the city; but the population at once sprang to arms to defend themselves, with the result that Antiochus was routed by the inhabitants and forced to beat a humiliating retreat. On his arrival in Ecbatana he learned what had happened to Nicanor and to Timotheus' forces. Flying into a passion, he resolved to make the Jews pay for the disgrace inflicted by those who had routed him, and with this in mind he ordered his charioteer to drive without stopping and get the journey over. But the condemnation of heaven traveled with him. He had said in his pride, "When I reach Jerusalem I will turn it into a mass grave for the Jews." But the all-seeing Lord, the God of Israel, struck him with an incurable and unseen complaint. The words were hardly out of his mouth when he was seized with an incurable pain in his bowels and with excruciating internal torture; and this was only right, since he had inflicted many barbaric tortures on the bowels of others. Even so he in no way diminished his arrogance; still bursting with pride, breathing fire in his wrath against the Jews, he was in the act of ordering an even keener pace when he suddenly hurtled from his chariot, and the violence of his headlong fall racked every bone in his body. He who only a little while before had thought in his superhuman boastfulness to command the waves of the sea, he who imagined he could weigh mountain peaks in a balance, found himself flat on the ground, borne in a litter, a visible demonstration to all of the power of God, in that the very eyes of this godless man teemed with worms and his flesh rotted away while he lingered on in agonizing pain, and the stench of his decay sickened the whole

10 army. •A short while beforehand he had thought to grasp the stars of heaven; now no one could bring himself to act as his bearer, for the stench was unbearable.

11 In consequence he began there and then, in his shattered state, to shed his excessive pride and to come to his senses under the divine lash, for he was tormented with pain all the time. •His stench became unendurable even to himself, and he exclaimed, "It is right to submit to God; no mortal should aspire to equality with the godhead." •The wretch began to pray to the Master, who would never take pity on him now, declaring •that the Holy City, toward which he had been speeding to raze it to the ground and turn it into a mass grave, should be declared free; •as for the Jews, whom he had considered as not even worth burying, so much carrion to be thrown out with their children for birds and beasts to prey on, he would make them all the equals of the citizens of Athens; 16 the holy Temple which he had once plundered he would now adorn with the finest offerings; he would restore all the sacred vessels many times over; he would defray from his personal revenue the expenses incurred for the sacrifices; 17 and to crown it all he would himself turn Jew and visit every place where men lived, proclaiming the power of God.

Antiochus writes to the Jews

18 Finding no respite at all from his suffering, because God had punished him with his righteous sentence, he abandoned all hope for himself and wrote the Jews the letter transcribed below, which takes the form of an appeal in these terms:

19 "To the excellent Jews his citizens, Antiochus, king and commander in chief, 20 sends hearty greetings, wishing them all health and prosperity. •If you and your children are well and your affairs are as you would wish, then I am profoundly thankful. •For my part, though prostrate with sickness, I cherish tender memories of you. On my return from the country of Persia I fell seriously ill, and thought 22 it necessary to make provision for the common security of all. •Not that I despair 23 of my condition, for I have great hope of shaking off the malady, •but considering how my father, whenever he was making an expedition into the uplands, would designate his successor, •so that in case of any unforeseen event or disquieting rumor the people of the provinces might know to whom he had left the conduct 25 of affairs and thus remain undisturbed: •furthermore, being well aware that the princes on our frontiers and neighbors of our realm are watching for opportunities and waiting to see what will happen, I have designated as king my son Antiochus, whom I have more than once entrusted and commended to most of you when I was setting out for the upland satrapies; a transcript of my letter to 26 him is appended hereto. •I therefore urge and require you to remember past favors both public and personal, and to persist, each one of you, in your existing 27 good will toward myself and my son. •I am confident that he will pursue my own policy with benevolence and humanity, and will prove accommodating to your interests."

28 And so this murderer and blasphemer, having endured the same terrible suffering as he had made others endure, met his pitiable fate, and ended his life 29 among the remote and inhospitable mountains. •His comrade Philip brought back his body, and then, fearing Antiochus' son, withdrew to Egypt, to the court of Ptolemy Philometor.

The purification of the Temple^a

1 10 Maccabaeus and his companions, under the Lord's guidance, restored 2 the Temple and the city, •and pulled down the altars erected by the 3 foreigners in the market place, as well as the sacred enclosures. •They purified the sanctuary and built another altar; then striking fire from flints and using this fire, they offered the first sacrifice for two years, burning incense, lighting the 4 lamps and setting out the loaves. When they had done this they threw themselves flat on the ground, and implored the Lord never again to let them fall into such adversity, but if they should ever sin, to correct them with moderation and not to deliver them over to blasphemous and barbarous nations. This day of the purification of the Temple fell on the very day on which the Temple had been profaned by the foreigners, the twenty-fifth of the same month, Chisleu. They kept eight festal days with rejoicing, in the manner of the feast of Tabernacles, remembering how, not long before at the time of the feast of Tabernacles, they had been living in the mountains and caverns like wild beasts. Then, carrying branches, leafy boughs and palms, they offered hymns to him who had brought the cleansing of his own Holy Place to a happy outcome. They also decreed by public edict, ratified by vote, that the whole Jewish nation should celebrate those same days every year.

VI. THE STRUGGLE OF JUDAS AGAINST THE NEIGHBORING PEOPLES, AND AGAINST LYSIAS, EUPATOR'S HIGH COMMISSIONER

The disgrace of Ptolemy Macron

9 Such were the circumstances attending the death of Antiochus styled 10 Epiphanes. Our task now is to unfold the history of Antiochus Eupator, son 11 of that godless man, and relate briefly the evil effects of the wars. On coming 12 to the throne, this prince put at the head of affairs a certain Lysias, high 13 commissioner for Coele-Syria and Phoenicia. Now Ptolemy, Macron as he was 14 styled, the first governor to treat the Jews with any justice, had done his best to 15 govern them peacefully to make up for the wrongs inflicted on them in the past.
16 Denounced to Eupator by the Friends of the King, he heard himself called traitor
17 at every turn for having abandoned Cyprus, which had been entrusted to him
18 by Philometor, and for going over to Antiochus Epiphanes; having shed no 19 luster on his illustrious office, he committed suicide by poisoning himself.

Gorgias and the Idumaeen fortresses

14 Gorgias now became military commissioner for that region; he maintained
15 a force of mercenaries and a continual state of war with the Jews. At the same
16 time the Idumaeans, who controlled important fortresses, were exerting pressure
17 on the Jews, welcoming outlaws from Jerusalem and endeavoring to maintain 18 a state of war. Maccabaeus and his men, after making public supplication to 19 God, entreating him to support them, hurled themselves against the Idumaeen 20 fortresses. Vigorously pressing home their attack, they seized possession of 21 these vantage points, beating off all who fought on the ramparts; they slaughtered 22 all who fell into their hands, accounting for not less than twenty thousand. Nine 23 thousand at least took refuge in two exceptionally strong castles with everything 24 they needed to withstand a siege, whereupon Maccabaeus left Simon and Joseph,
25 with Zacchaeus and his forces, in sufficient numbers to besiege them, and himself
26 went off to other places demanding his attention. But Simon's men were greedy 27 for money and allowed themselves to be bribed by some of the men in the 28 castles; accepting seventy thousand drachmae, they let a number of them escape.
29 When Maccabaeus was told what had happened, he summoned the people's 30 commanders and accused the offenders of having sold their brothers for money 31 by setting free men who were at war with them. Having executed them as 32 traitors, he at once proceeded to capture both castles. Successful in all that he 33 undertook by force of arms, in these two fortresses he slaughtered more than 34 twenty thousand men.

10 a. This incident took place (December 164) before the death of Antiochus (Spring 163).

Judas defeats Timotheus and captures Gezer

24 Timotheus, who had been beaten by the Jews once before, now assembled an enormous force of mercenaries, mustering cavalry from Asia in considerable numbers, and appeared in Judaea, expecting to conquer it by force of arms. 25 At his approach Maccabaeus and his men made their supplications to God, 26 sprinkling earth on their heads and putting sackcloth around their waists. Prostrating themselves on the terrace before the altar, they begged him to support them and to show himself the enemy of their enemies, the adversary of their adversaries, as the Law clearly states.

27 After these prayers they armed themselves and advanced a fair distance 28 from the city, halting when they were close to the enemy. As the first light of dawn began to spread, the two sides joined battle, the one having as their pledge of success and victory not only their own valor but their recourse to the Lord, 29 the other making their own ardor their mainstay in the fight. When the battle was at its height the enemy saw five magnificent men appear from heaven on 30 horses with golden bridles and put themselves at the head of the Jews; surrounding Maccabaeus and screening him with their own armor, they kept him unscathed, while they rained arrows and thunderbolts on the enemy until, 31 blinded and confused, they scattered in complete disorder. Twenty thousand five 32 hundred infantry and six hundred cavalry were slaughtered. Timotheus himself fled to a strongly guarded citadel called Gezer, where Chaereas was in command. 33 For four days Maccabaeus and his men eagerly besieged the fortress, while 34 the defenders, confident in the security of the place, hurled fearful blasphemies and godless insults at them. At daybreak on the fifth day, twenty young men 35 of Maccabaeus' forces, fired with indignation at the blasphemies, bravely stormed the wall, and cut down with brutal fury everyone they encountered. 36 Others, in a similar scaling operation, took the defenders in the rear, and set fire to the towers, lighting pyres on which they burned the blasphemers alive. Others broke down the gates and let in the rest of the army, and were the first 37 to occupy the town. Timotheus had hidden in a cistern, but they killed him, 38 with his brother Chaereas, and Apollophanes. When all this was over, they blessed with hymns and thanksgiving the Lord, who had shown such great kindness to Israel and given them the victory.

1 1 Almost immediately afterward, Lysias, the king's tutor and cousin and 2 his vizier, much disturbed at the turn of events, mustered about eighty thousand foot soldiers and his entire cavalry and advanced against the Jews, 3 intending to make the Holy City a place for Greeks to live in, to levy a tax on the Temple as was done with other national shrines, and to put the office of 4 high priest up for sale every year; he took no account at all of the power of God, being sublimely confident in his tens of thousands of infantrymen, his thousands of cavalry, and his eighty elephants.

5 Invading Judaea, he approached Bethzur, a fortified position about twenty 6 miles from Jerusalem, and began to subject it to strong pressure. When Maccabaeus and his men learned that Lysias was besieging the fortresses, they and the populace with them begged the Lord with lamentation and tears to 7 send a good angel to save Israel. Maccabaeus himself was the first to take up his weapons, and he urged the rest to risk their lives with him in support of their 8 brothers; so they sallied out resolutely, as one man. They were still near Jerusalem when a rider attired in white appeared at their head brandishing 9 golden accouterments. With one accord they all blessed the God of mercy, and found themselves filled with such courage that they were ready to lay low not 10 men only but the fiercest beasts and walls of iron. They advanced in battle order 11 with the aid of their celestial ally, the Lord having had mercy on them. Charging like lions on the enemy, they laid low eleven thousand of the infantry and 12 sixteen hundred horsemen, and routed all the rest. •Of those, the majority got away, wounded and weaponless. Lysias himself escaped only by ignominious flight.

Lysias makes peace with the Jews. Four letters concerning the treaty

13 Now Lysias was not lacking in intelligence, and as he reflected on the reverse he had suffered he realized that the Hebrews were invincible because the mighty 14 God fought for them. He therefore sent to them •suggesting a reconciliation on just terms all around, and promising to induce even the king to become their 15 friend. •Maccabaeus, thinking only of the common good, agreed to all that Lysias proposed, and whatever Maccabaeus submitted to Lysias in writing concerning the Jews was granted by the king.

16 Here is the text of the letter Lysias wrote to the Jews, “From Lysias to the 17 Jewish people, greetings. •John and Absalom, your envoys, have delivered to me the communication transcribed below, requesting me to approve its provisions.
18 Anything requiring the king’s attention I have put before him; anything coming 19 within my own competence I have granted. •Provided you maintain your good will toward the administration I will do my best in the future to promote 20 your advantage. •As for the details, I have given orders for your envoys and my 21 own officials to discuss these with you. •May you prosper. The year one hundred and forty-eight, the twenty-fourth day of the month of Dioscoros.”

22 The king’s letter was as follows, “King Antiochus to his brother Lysias, 23 greetings. •Now that our father has taken his place among the gods our will is that the subjects of the realm be left undisturbed to attend to their own affairs.
24 We understand that the Jews do not approve our father’s policy, the adoption of Greek customs, but prefer their own way of life and ask to be allowed to observe their own laws. •Accordingly, since we intend this people to be free from vexation like any other, our ruling is that the Temple be restored to them and 26 that they conduct their affairs according to the customs of their ancestors. •It will therefore be your concern to send them a mission of friendship, so that on learning our policy they may have confidence and proceed happily about their own affairs.”

27 The king’s letter to the Jewish nation was in these terms, “King Antiochus
28 to the Jewish senate and the rest of the Jews, greetings. •If you are well, that is as we would wish; we ourselves are in good health. •Menelaus informs us that 29 you wish to return home and attend to your own affairs. •Accordingly, all those who return before the thirtieth day of Xanthicus may rest assured that they have 31 nothing to fear. •The Jews may make use of their own kind of food and their own laws as formerly, and none of them is to be molested in any way for any unwitting offenses. •I am in fact sending Menelaus to set your minds at rest.
32 Farewell. In the hundred and forty-eighth year, the fifteenth of Xanthicus.”

34 The Romans also sent the Jews a letter, which read as follows, “Quintus Memmius, Titus Manius, ambassadors of the Romans, to the people of the Jews, 35 greetings. •Whatever Lysias, the king’s cousin, has granted you we also approve.
36 As for the matters he decided to refer to the king, consider them carefully and send someone without delay, if we are to interpret them to your advantage, 37 because we are leaving for Antioch. •Lose no time, therefore, in sending us those who can tell us what your intentions are. •Farewell. In the hundred and 38 forty-eighth year, the fifteenth of Xanthicus.”

Incidents at Joppa and Jamnia

1 12 After these agreements had been concluded Lysias returned to the king
2 while the Jews went back to their farming. •Among the local military commissioners, Timotheus and Apollonius son of Gennaesus, as also Hieronymus and Demophon, and Nicanor the Cypriarch as well, would not allow the Jews to live in peace and quiet.

3 The people of Joppa went so far as to perpetrate the following outrage: they invited the Jews living among them to go aboard some boats they had lying ready, taking their wives and children. There was no hint of any intention to harm them; there had been a public vote by the citizens, and the Jews accepted, as well they might, being peaceable people with no reason to suspect anything. But once out in the open sea they were all sent to the bottom, a company of at least two hundred.

When Judas heard of the cruel fate of his countrymen, he issued his orders to his men and after invoking God, the just judge, he attacked his brothers' murderers. Under cover of dark he set fire to the harbor, burned the boats and put to the sword everyone who had taken refuge there. As the town gates were closed, he withdrew, intending to come back and wipe out the whole community of Joppa. But hearing that the people of Jamnia were planning to treat their resident Jews in the same way, he made a night attack on the Jamnites and fired the harbor with its fleet; the glow of the flames was seen as far off as Jerusalem, thirty miles away.

The expedition in Gilead

When they had left the town over a mile behind them in their advance Timotheus, Judas was attacked by an Arab force of at least five thousand foot soldiers, with five hundred cavalry. A fierce engagement followed, and with God's help Judas' men won the day; the defeated nomads begged Judas to offer them the right hand of friendship, and promised to surrender their herds and make themselves generally useful to him. Realizing that they might indeed prove valuable in many ways, Judas consented to make peace with them and after an exchange of pledges the Arabs withdrew to their tents.

Judas also attacked a certain fortified town, enclosed by ramparts and inhabited by a medley of races; its name was Caspin. Confident in the strength of their walls and their stock of provisions, the besieged adopted an insolent attitude to Judas and his men, reinforcing their insults with blasphemies and profanity. But Judas and his men invoked the great Sovereign of the world who without battering-ram or siege engine overthrew Jericho in the days of Joshua; they then made a furious assault on the wall. Capturing the city by the will of God, they made such indescribable slaughter that the nearby lake, two furlongs across, seemed filled to overflowing with blood.

The battle of Carnaim

Ninety-five miles further on from there, they reached the Charax, in the country of Jews known as Tubians. They did not find Timotheus himself in that neighborhood; he had already left the district, having achieved nothing apart from leaving a very strong garrison at one point. Dositheus and Sosipater, two of the Maccabaeen generals, marched out and destroyed the force Timotheus had left behind in the fortress, amounting to more than ten thousand men. Maccabaeus himself divided his army into cohorts to which he assigned commanders, and then hurried in pursuit of Timotheus, whose troops numbered one hundred and twenty thousand infantry and two thousand five hundred cavalry. Timotheus' first move on learning of Judas' advance was to send away the women and children and the rest of the baggage train to the place called Carnaim, since it was an impregnable position, difficult of access owing to the narrowness of all the approaches. When the first of Judas' cohorts came into sight, the enemy were seized with fright; panic-stricken at this manifestation of the All-seeing, they fled headlong in all directions, so that they were often wounded by their own men, running on the points of one another's swords. Judas pursued them with a will, cutting the sinners to pieces and killing something like thirty thousand men. Timotheus himself, having fallen into the hands of Dositheus and Sosipater and their men, very craftily pleaded with them to let him go with his life, on the grounds that he had the parents of most and the brothers of some in his power, and that these could otherwise expect short shrift.

 25 When at long last he convinced them that he would honor his promise and return these people safe and sound, they let him go for the sake of saving their brothers.
 26 Reaching Carnaim and the Atargateion,^a Judas slaughtered twenty-five thousand men.

The return by way of Ephron and Scythopolis

27 After the rout of these enemies he led his army against Ephron, a fortified town, where Lysias was living. Stalwart young men drawn up outside the walls offered vigorous resistance, while inside there were quantities of war engines 28 and missiles in reserve. But the Jews, invoking the Sovereign who by his power shatters enemies' defenses, gained control of the city, and cut down nearly 29 twenty-five thousand of the people inside. Moving off from there, they pressed 30 on to Scythopolis,^b seventy-five miles from Jerusalem. But as the Jews who had settled there assured Judas that the people of Scythopolis had always treated them well and had been particularly kind to them when times had been at their 31 worst, he and his men thanked them and urged them to extend the same friendship to his race in the future.

They reached Jerusalem shortly before the feast of Weeks.

The campaign against Gorgias

32 After Pentecost, as it is called, they marched against Gorgias, the military 33 commissioner for Idumaea. He came out at the head of three thousand infantry 34 and four hundred cavalry; in the course of the ensuing battle a few Jews lost their lives.

35 A man called Dositheus, one of the Tubians, who was on horseback and a powerful man, grasped Gorgias, taking him by the cloak, and was forcibly dragging him along, intending to take the accursed man alive, but one of the Thracian cavalry, hurling himself on Dositheus, slashed his shoulder, and 36 Gorgias escaped to Marisa. Meanwhile since Esdras and his men had been fighting for a long time and were exhausted, Judas called on the Lord to show them he was their ally and leader in battle.

37 Then, chanting the battle cry and other hymns at the top of his voice in the language of his ancestors, he routed Gorgias' troops.

The sacrifice for the fallen

38 Judas then rallied his army and moved on to the town of Adullam, and since the seventh day of the week had arrived they purified themselves according to 39 custom and kept the sabbath in that place. The next day they came to Judas
 (since the necessity was by now urgent) to have the bodies of the fallen taken up 40 and laid to rest among their relatives in their ancestral tombs. But when they found on each of the dead men, under their tunics, amulets of the idols taken from Jamnia, which the Law prohibits to Jews, it became clear to everyone that 41 this was why these men had lost their lives. All then blessed the ways of the 42 Lord, the just judge who brings hidden things to light, and gave themselves to prayer, begging that the sin committed might be fully blotted out. Next, the valiant Judas urged the people to keep themselves free from all sin, having 43 seen with their own eyes the effects of the sin of those who had fallen; after this he took a collection from them individually, amounting to nearly two thousand drachmae, and sent it to Jerusalem to have a sacrifice for sin offered, 44 an altogether fine and noble action, in which he took full account of the resurrection. For if he had not expected the fallen to rise again it would have been 45 superfluous and foolish to pray for the dead, whereas if he had in view the splendid recompense reserved for those who make a pious end, the thought was holy and devout. This was why he had this atonement sacrifice offered for the dead, so that they might be released from their sin.

Antiochus V and Lysias. The fate of Menelaus

¹ 13 In the year one hundred and forty-nine Judas and his men discovered ² that Antiochus Eupator was advancing in force against Judaea, and with him Lysias his tutor and vizier; he had moreover a Greek force of one hundred and ten thousand infantry, five thousand three hundred cavalry, twenty-two elephants, and three hundred chariots fitted with scythes.

³ Menelaus sided with them, and with great duplicity kept encouraging Antiochus, not for the welfare of his own country but in the hope of being ⁴ confirmed in office. But the King of kings stirred up the anger of Antiochus against the guilty wretch, and when Lysias made it clear to the king that Menelaus was the cause of all the troubles, Antiochus gave orders for him to be ⁵ taken to Beroea and there put to death by the local method of execution. In that place there is a tower fifty cubits high, filled with ash, with a circular construction ⁶ sloping steeply down from all sides toward the ashes. If anyone is convicted of sacrilegious theft or notoriously guilty of certain other crimes, they take him up ⁷ to the top and thrust him down to perish. In such a manner was the renegade ⁸ fated to die; Menelaus had not even the privilege of burial. Deserved justice, this; since he had committed many sins against the altar whose fire, whose very ashes were holy, it was in ashes that he met his death.

The prayers and success of the Jews near Modein

⁹ The king, then, was advancing, his mind filled with barbarous designs, to give the Jews a demonstration of far worse things than anything that had ¹⁰ happened under his father. When Judas heard of this he ordered the people to call day and night upon the Lord, now if ever, for this once at least, to come to ¹¹ the help of those who were in peril of being deprived of the Law, their fatherland and the holy Temple, and not to allow the people, just when they were beginning to breathe again, to fall into the power of the blaspheming ¹² pagans. When they had all, as one man, obeyed his instructions and had made their petitions to the merciful Lord, weeping, fasting and prostrating themselves for three days continuously, Judas spoke words of encouragement and told them to ¹³ keep close to him. After separate consultation with the elders he resolved not to wait for the king's army to invade Judaea and take possession of the city, but to march out and bring the whole matter to a decision with the help of God.

¹⁴ Leaving the outcome to the creator of the world, and exhorting his soldiers to fight bravely to the death for the laws, the Temple, the city, their country ¹⁵ and their way of life, he halted his army near Modein. Leaving his men with the watchword "Victory from God," he made a night attack on the king's pavilion with a picked band of the bravest young men. Inside the camp he destroyed about two thousand, and his men cut down the largest of the elephants with its ¹⁶ driver; in the end they filled the whole camp with terror and confusion before ¹⁷ withdrawing in triumph. Dawn was just breaking as this was brought to an end, through the protection of the Lord watching over Judas.

Antiochus in treaty with the Jews

¹⁸ The king, having had a taste of Jewish daring, now tried to attack their ¹⁹ positions strategically. He advanced on Bethzur, a strong fortress of the Jews, but was repulsed, and so checked and worsted.

²⁰ Judas sent in to the garrison what they needed, but Rhodocus, of the Jewish ²¹ army, supplied the enemy with secret information; the man was identified, ²² arrested, and dealt with. For the second time the king parleyed with the garrison of Bethzur; he offered and accepted pledges of amity, retired, then attacked Judas

²³ and his men, but came off worst. He was then told that Philip, left in charge of affairs at Antioch, had made a desperate move. He was stunned by this, opened negotiations with the Jews, capitulated, and swore to abide by all reasonable conditions. He reached an agreement, offered sacrifice, honored the Temple, and made generous gifts to the Holy Place.

²⁴ He received Maccabaeus kindly, then left Hegemonides behind as military commissioner from Ptolemais to the territory of the Gerrenians, and went to Ptolemais. The inhabitants of the place disapproved of the treaty; they voiced ²⁵ their resentment and wanted to annul its articles. Lysias mounted the rostrum and made a persuasive defense of the articles which convinced and calmed them, and so won their good will. He then withdrew to Antioch.

So much for the episode of the king's offensive and retreat.

VII. THE CONFLICT WITH NICANOR,

GENERAL OF DEMETRIUS I.

THE DAY OF NICANOR

Alcimus the high priest intervenes

⁵ Presently he found an opportunity that suited his perverse purpose. When Demetrius called him into his council and questioned him about the dispositions and intentions of the Jews, he replied, "Those Jews called Hasidaeans, who are led by Judas Maccabaeus, are warmongers and rebels who are preventing ⁷ the kingdom from finding stability. That is why, after being deprived of my ⁸ hereditary dignity, I mean the high priesthood, I have come here now, first, out of genuine concern for the king's interests, and secondly, out of a regard for our own fellow citizens, because the irresponsible behavior of those I have ⁹ mentioned has brought great degradation on our entire race. When your majesty has taken note of all these points, may it please you to make provision for the welfare of our country and our oppressed nation, as befits the gracious ¹⁰ benevolence you extend to all; for as long as Judas remains alive the state will never enjoy peace."

¹¹ When Alcimus had finished this speech, the rest of the Friends of the King, who hated Judas, seized the occasion to arouse Demetrius' anger against him. ¹² He at once selected Nicanor, who had been commander of the elephants, ¹³ promoted him military commissioner for Judaea and dispatched him with instructions to dispose of Judas, disperse his followers and install Alcimus as high ¹⁴ priest of the greatest of temples. The pagans in Judaea, who had fled before Judas, flocked to join Nicanor, thinking that the misfortunes and troubles of the Jews would be to their own advantage.

Nicanor comes to terms with Judas

¹⁵ When the Jews heard that Nicanor was coming and that the pagans were about to attack, they sprinkled dust over themselves and made supplication to him who had established his people for ever and had never failed to support his ¹⁶ own heritage by his direct intervention. On their leader's orders they at once left the place where they were and came upon the enemy at the village of Dessau.^a Simon, brother of Judas, had engaged Nicanor, but because of the unexpected arrival of his adversaries had suffered a slight check. However, Nicanor had heard how brave Judas and his men were and how resolutely they always fought for their country, and he did not dare allow bloodshed to decide the issue. And so he sent Posidonius, Theodotus and Mattathias to offer the Jews pledges of friendship and to accept theirs.

After careful consideration of his terms, the leader communicated them to his troops, and since they were all clearly of one mind they agreed to the treaty. A day was fixed on which the respective leaders were to meet privately on neutral ground: a litter came out from either side and seats were set up. Judas had posted armed men on the alert in advantageous positions in case of a sudden treacherous move by the enemy. The leaders held their conference and reached agreement. Nicanor took up residence in Jerusalem and did nothing out of place there; he even sent away the crowds that had flocked to join him. He kept Judas constantly with him, becoming deeply attached to him and he encouraged him to marry and have children. Judas married, settled down and led a normal life.

Alcimus renews hostilities, and Nicanor threatens the Temple

When Alcimus saw how friendly the two men had become, he went to Demetrius with a copy of the treaty they had signed and told him that Nicanor was holding ideas against the interests of the state, and was planning that Judas, an enemy of the realm, should fill the next vacancy among the Friends of the King.

The king flew into a rage; roused by the calumnies of this archvillain, he wrote to Nicanor, telling him of his strong displeasure at the treaty and ordering him to send Maccabaeus to Antioch in chains immediately.

When the letter reached Nicanor he was very much upset, for it went against the grain with him to break his agreement with a man who had done nothing wrong. However, there was no question of opposing the king, so he waited for an opportunity to carry out the order by a stratagem. Maccabaeus began to notice that Nicanor was treating him more sharply and that his manner of speaking to him was more abrupt than it had been, and he concluded that such severity could have no very good motive. He therefore collected a considerable number of his followers and withdrew from Nicanor. The latter, realizing that the man had well and truly outmaneuvered him, went to the great and holy Temple at a time when the priests were offering the customary sacrifices, and ordered them to surrender Judas. When they protested on oath that they did not know where the wanted man could be, he stretched out his right hand toward the Temple and swore this oath, "If you do not hand Judas over to me as prisoner, I will raze this sanctuary of God to the ground, I will demolish the altar, and on this very spot I will erect a splendid temple to Dionysus." With these words he left them. The priests stretched out their hands to heaven, calling on him who has at all times done battle for our nation; this was their prayer: "O Lord, you who stand in need of nothing at all, it has pleased you that there should be in our midst a Temple for your dwelling place. Now therefore, holy Lord of all holiness, preserve for ever from all profanation this house, so newly purified."

The death of Razis

Now, a certain Razis, one of the elders of Jerusalem, was denounced to Nicanor. He was a man who loved his countrymen and stood high in their esteem, and he was known as the father of the Jews because of his kindness. In the earlier days of the insurrection he had been convicted of Judaism, and he had risked both body and life for Judaism with the utmost zeal. By way of demonstrating the enmity he had for the Jews, Nicanor sent over five hundred soldiers to arrest him, reckoning that if he eliminated this man he would be dealing them a severe blow. When the troops were on the point of capturing the tower and were forcing the courtyard gate and calling for fire to set the doors alight, Razis, finding himself completely surrounded, fell on his own sword, nobly resolving to die rather than fall into the clutches of these villains and suffer outrages unworthy of his noble birth. But in the heat of conflict he missed his thrust, and while the troops swarmed in through the doorways, he ran up with alacrity on to the wall and bravely threw himself down among the troops. But as they instantly drew back some distance, he fell into the middle of the empty space. Still breathing, and blazing with anger, he struggled to his feet, blood spurting in all directions, and despite his terrible wounds ran right through the crowd; then, taking his stand on a steep rock, although he had now lost every drop of blood, he tore out his entrails and taking them in both hands flung them among the troops, calling on the Master of his life and spirit to give them back to him one day. Such was the manner of his passing.

Nicanor's blasphemies

1 15 Nicanor heard that Judas and his men were in the neighborhood of Samaria, so he decided to attack them, at no risk to himself, on the day of rest. Those Jews who had been compelled to follow him said, "You must not massacre them in such a savage, barbarous way, but give its proper honor to the day on which the All-seeing has conferred a special holiness." At this the triple-dyed scoundrel asked if there was in heaven a sovereign who had ordered the keeping of the sabbath day. When they answered, "It is the living Lord himself, the heavenly sovereign, who has ordered the observance of the seventh day," he retorted, "And it is I myself as sovereign on earth who order you to take up arms and carry through this business of the king." For all that, he never managed to carry through his savage plan.

Judas harangues his men. His dream

6 While Nicanor, in his unlimited boastfulness and pride, was planning to erect a public trophy with the spoils taken from Judas and his men, Maccabaeus remained firm in his confident conviction that the Lord would stand by him. He urged his men not to be dismayed by the attacks of the pagans but, keeping in mind the help that had come to them from heaven in the past, to be confident that this time also victory would be theirs with the help of the Almighty. He put fresh heart into them, citing the Law and the Prophets, and by stirring up memories of the battles they had already won he filled them with new enthusiasm. Having thoroughly roused their courage, he ended his speech by detailing the treachery of the heathen and their violation of their oaths.

11 Having armed each one of them not so much with the safety given by shield and lance as with that confidence that springs from noble language, he encouraged them all by describing to them a convincing dream—a vision, as it were. What he had seen was this: Onias, the former high priest, that paragon of men, modest of bearing and gentle of manners, suitably eloquent and trained from boyhood in the practice of every virtue—Onias was stretching out his hands and praying for the whole nation of the Jews. Next there appeared a man equally remarkable for his great age and dignity and invested with a marvelous and impressive air of majesty. Onias began to speak: "This is a man," he said, "who loves his brothers and prays much for the people and the Holy City—Jeremiah, the prophet of God." Jeremiah then stretched out his right hand and presented Judas with a golden sword, saying as he gave it, "Take this holy sword as a gift from God; with it you shall strike down enemies."

The disposition of the combatants

17 Encouraged by the noble words of Judas, which had the power to inspire valor and give the young the spirit of grown men, they decided not to pitch camp but to make a spirited attack and settle the matter fighting hand to hand with all their courage, since the city, their holy religion and the Temple were 18 in danger. Their concern for their wives and children, their brothers and relatives, had shrunk to minute importance; their chief and greatest fear was 19 for the consecrated Temple. Those left behind in the city felt a similar anxiety, alarmed as they were about the forthcoming encounter in the open 20 country. Everyone now awaited the coming issue. The enemy had already concentrated their forces and stood formed up in order of battle, with the elephants drawn up in a strategic position and the cavalry disposed on the wings.
 21 Maccabaeus took note of these masses confronting him, the glittering array of armor and the fierce aspect of the elephants; then, raising his hands to heaven, he called on the Lord who works miracles, in the knowledge that it is not by force of arms, but as he sees fit to decide, that victory is granted by him to such 22 as deserve it. His prayer was worded thus: "You, Master, sent your angel in the days of Hezekiah king of Judaea, and destroyed no less than one hundred 23 and eighty-five thousand of Sennacherib's army; now once again, Sovereign of heaven, send a good angel before us to spread terror and dismay. May these men 24 be struck down by the might of your arm, since they have come with blasphemy on their lips to attack your holy people." With this, he brought his prayer to an end.

The defeat and death of Nicanor

25 Nicanor and his men advanced to the sound of trumpets and war songs, 26 but the men of Judas closed with the enemy uttering invocations and prayers.
 27 Fighting with their hands and praying to God in their hearts, they cut down at least thirty-five thousand men and were greatly cheered by this divine mani-28 festation. When the engagement was ended and they were withdrawing in triumph they recognized Nicanor, lying dead in full armor.

29 With shouting and confusion all around, they blessed the sovereign Master 30 in the language of their ancestors. The man who had devoted himself entirely, body and soul, to the service of his countrymen, and had always preserved the love he had felt even in youth for those of his own race, gave orders for Nicanor's head to be cut off, together with his arm and shoulder, and taken to Jerusalem.
 31 When he arrived there himself, he called together his countrymen and the priests; 32 then standing in front of the altar he sent for the people from the Citadel. He showed them the head of the infamous Nicanor, and the hand which the blasphemer had stretched out so insolently against the holy house of the 33 Almighty. Then, cutting out the tongue of the godless Nicanor, he gave orders for it to be fed piecemeal to the birds, and for the reward of his folly to be hung up 34 in sight of the Temple. At this, everyone sent blessings heavenward to the glorious Lord, saying, "Blessings on him who has preserved his own dwelling from pollution!"

35 He hung Nicanor's head from the Citadel,^a a clear and evident sign to all 36 of the help of the Lord. They all passed a decree by unanimous vote never to let that day go by unobserved, but to celebrate the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, called Adar in Aramaic, the eve of the day of Mordecai.^b

Compiler's epilogue

37 So ends the episode of Nicanor, and as, since then, the city has remained in the possession of the Hebrews, I shall bring my own work to an end here too.
 38 If it is well composed and to the point, that is just what I wanted. If it is trashy 39 and mediocre, that is all I could manage. Just as it is injurious to drink wine by itself, or again water, whereas wine mixed with water is pleasant and produces a delightful sense of well-being, so skill in presenting the incidents is what delights the understanding of those who read the story. On that note I will close.

15 a. This is an anachronism; the Citadel was still in the hands of the Syrians at this date.
 b. Called the Day of Nicanor, 1 M. 7:48. The Day of Mordecai is the Purim of Est. 9:20.

INTRODUCTION TO THE WISDOM WRITINGS

Wisdom literature flourished throughout the ancient East, ignoring national boundaries and often little affected by religious beliefs. It is essentially the wisdom of experience, offering a recipe for successful living, and this wisdom is itself respected as a cultural accomplishment.

The earliest wisdom writings of Israel are like those of neighboring races. The five books of the Old Testament known as "the wisdom books" are Job, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, Ecclesiasticus and Wisdom; with them is grouped the Song of Songs owing to its reputed connection with Solomon the wise king, and characteristic wisdom writing is also found in some Psalms and in parts of the books of Tobit and Baruch.

In the latest of these books, Ecclesiastes and Wisdom, we find a combination of the typical worldly prudence with a return to the great themes of the Old Testament: like their pagan counterparts, the sages of Israel may still be absorbed in the individual and his destiny, but they see the world under the province of Yahweh who has given so many wise men to Israel in the past. And now wisdom itself is exalted and celebrated as the supreme gift of God.

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOK OF JOB

The Book of Job is the literary masterpiece of the wisdom movement. The main character, Job, is a famous figure from ancient history, traditionally regarded as a model of virtue; he is used by the author to exemplify the problem of the good man who is punished by misfortune and sickness.

The form of the book is that of a long dialogue poem, with a prose prologue and epilogue. In the course of the dialogue, Job's friends offer him all the answers that piety and wisdom can suggest; Job is not reconciled, and the final word is with Yahweh, whose speeches assert a majesty that may not be questioned.

In spite of the ancient setting of the story, the book dates from after the Exile, and a likely date is the beginning of the fifth century B.C. From differences of style and anomalies in the sequence of the speeches, it has sometimes been suspected that editors have added to the original text: the speeches of Elihu, in particular, may be a later addition. But these, too, make a contribution to the book.

THE BOOK OF JOB

I. PROLOGUE

Satan tests Job

1 There was once a man in the land of Uz^a called Job: a sound and honest
2 man who feared God and shunned evil. Seven sons and three daughters 3 were born to him. And he owned seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundred yoke of oxen and five hundred she-donkeys, and many servants besides. This man was indeed a man of mark among all the people of the East.^b 4 It was the custom of his sons to hold banquets in each other's houses, one after the other, and to send and invite their three sisters to eat and drink with them.
5 Once each series of banquets was over, Job would send for them to come and be purified, and at dawn on the following day he would offer a holocaust for each of them. "Perhaps," Job would say, "my sons have sinned and in their hearts affronted God." So that was what he used to do after each series.

6 One day the Sons of God^c came to attend on Yahweh, and among them was 7 Satan. So Yahweh said to Satan, "Where have you been?" "Around the earth," 8 he answered, "roaming about." So Yahweh asked him, "Did you notice my servant Job? There is no one like him on the earth: a sound and honest man 9 who fears God and shuns evil." "Yes," Satan said, "but Job is not God-fearing 10 for nothing, is he? Have you not put a wall around him and his house and all his domain? You have blessed all he undertakes, and his flocks throng the 11 countryside. But stretch out your hand and lay a finger on his possessions:
12 I warrant you, he will curse you to your face." "Very well," Yahweh said to Satan, "all he has is in your power. But keep your hands off his person." So Satan left the presence of Yahweh.

13 On the day when Job's sons and daughters were at their meal and drinking
14 wine at their eldest brother's house, a messenger came to Job. "Your oxen," 15 he said, "were at the plow, with the donkeys grazing at their side, when the Sabaeans^d swept down on them and carried them off. Your servants they put 16 to the sword: I alone escaped to tell you." He had not finished speaking when another messenger arrived. "The fire of God," he said, "has fallen from the heavens and burned up all your sheep, and your shepherds too: I alone escaped 17 to tell you." He had not finished speaking when another messenger arrived.
"The Chaldaeans," he said, "three bands of them, have raided your camels and made off with them. Your servants they put to the sword: I alone escaped to 18 tell you." He had not finished speaking when another messenger arrived.
"Your sons and daughters," he said, "were at their meal and drinking wine at 19 their eldest brother's house, when suddenly from the wilderness a gale sprang up, and it battered all four corners of the house which fell in on the young people. They are dead: I alone escaped to tell you."

²⁰ Job rose and tore his gown and shaved his head.^e Then falling to the ground ²¹ he worshiped and said:

"Naked I came from my mother's womb,
naked I shall return.
Yahweh gave, Yahweh has taken back.
Blessed be the name of Yahweh!"

²² In all this misfortune Job committed no sin nor offered any insult to God.
¹ Once again the Sons of God came to attend to Yahweh, and among them was ² Satan. So Yahweh said to Satan, "Where have you been?" "Around the earth," ³ he answered, "roaming about." So Yahweh asked him, "Did you notice my servant Job? There is no one like him on the earth: a sound and honest man who fears God and shuns evil. His life continues blameless as ever; in vain you ⁴ provoked me to ruin him." "Skin for skin!" Satan replied. "A man will give ⁵ away all he has to save his life. But stretch out your hand and lay a finger on ⁶ his bone and flesh; I warrant you, he will curse you to your face." "Very well," ⁷ Yahweh said to Satan, "he is in your power. But spare his life." So Satan left the presence of Yahweh.

He struck Job down with malignant ulcers from the sole of his foot to the ⁸ top of his head. Job took a piece of pot to scrape himself, and went and sat
⁹ in the ashpit. Then his wife said to him, "Do you now still mean to persist ¹⁰ in your blamelessness? Curse God, and die." "That is how foolish women talk," Job replied. "If we take happiness from God's hand, must we not take sorrow too?" And in all this misfortune Job uttered no sinful word.

¹¹ The news of all the disasters that had fallen on Job came to the ears of three of his friends. Each of them set out from home—Eliphaz of Teman, Bildad of Shuah and Zophar of Naamath^a—and by common consent they decided to go and offer ¹² him sympathy and consolation. Looking at him from a distance, they could not recognize him; they wept aloud and tore their garments and threw dust over their heads. They sat there on the ground beside him for seven days and seven nights. To Job they spoke never a word, so sad a sight he made.

II. THE DIALOGUE

A. FIRST SERIES OF SPEECHES

Job curses the day of his birth

¹ 3 In the end it was Job who broke the silence and cursed the day of his birth.
² This is what he said:

³ May the day perish when I was born,
and the night that told of a boy conceived.
⁴ May that day be darkness,
may God on high have no thought for it,
may no light shine on it.
⁵ May murk and deep shadow claim it for their own,
clouds hang over it,
eclipse swoop down on it.
⁶ Yes, let the dark lay hold of it, to the days of the year let it not be joined,
into the reckoning of months not find its way.
⁷ May that night be dismal,
no shout of joy come near it.

8 Let them curse it who curse the day,
 who are prepared to rouse Leviathan.^a 9 Dark be the stars of its morning,

 let it wait in vain for light
 and never see the opening eyes of dawn.

10 Since it would not shut the doors of the womb on me to hide sorrow from my eyes.

11 Why did I not die newborn, not perish as I left the womb?

12 Why were there two knees to receive me,
 two breasts for me to suck?

13 Had there not been, I should now be lying in peace,
 wrapped in a restful slumber,
 with the kings and high viziers of earth
 who build themselves vast vaults, or with princes who have gold and to spare
 and houses crammed with silver.

16 Or put away like a stillborn child that never came to be,
 like unborn babes that never see the light.

17 Down there,^b bad men bustle no more,
 there the weary rest.

18 Prisoners, all left in peace,
 hear no more the shouts of the jailer.

19 Down there, high and low are all one,
 and the slave is free of his master.

20 Why give light to a man of grief?
 Why give life to those bitter of heart,
 who long for a death that never comes,
 and hunt for it more than for a buried treasure?

22 They would be glad to see the grave mound and shout with joy if they reached the tomb.

23 Why make this gift of light to a man who does not see his way, whom God balks on every side?

24 My only food is sighs,
 and my groans pour out like water.

25 Whatever I fear comes true,
 whatever I dread befalls me.

26 For me, there is no calm, no peace;
 my torments banish rest.

Confidence in God

1 4 Eliphaz of Teman spoke next. He said:
 2 If one should address a word to you, will you endure it?
 Yet who can keep silent?

3 Many another, once, you schooled,
 giving strength to feeble hands;
 4 your words set right whoever wavered,
 and strengthened every failing knee.

5 And now your turn has come, and you lose patience too;
 now it touches you, and you are overwhelmed.

e. Mourning ritual.

2 a. The three towns are in Idumaeian and Arab territory. Edom and "the East" were proverbially the homeland of the sages.

3 a. The dragon of primeval chaos; he might be roused by a curse against the present order.

b. In Sheol, the underworld.

6 Does not your piety give you confidence, your blameless life not give you hope?
 7 Can you recall a guiltless man that perished,
 or have you ever seen good men brought to nothing?
 8 I speak of what I know: those who plow iniquity and sow the seeds of grief reap a harvest of the same kind.
 9 A breath from God will bring them to destruction,
 a blast of his anger will wipe them out.
 10 The lion's roar, his savage growls,
 like the fangs of lion cubs are broken off.
 11 For lack of prey the lion dies at last,
 and the whelps of his lioness are scattered.

12 Now, I have had a secret revelation,
 a whisper has come to my ears.
 13 At the hour when dreams master the mind,
 and slumber lies heavy on man, 14 a shiver of horror ran through me,
 and my bones quaked with fear.
 15 A breath slid over my face,
 the hairs of my body bristled.
 16 Someone stood there—I could not see his face,
 but the form remained before me.
 Silence—and then I heard a Voice,
 17 “Was ever any man found blameless in the presence of God,
 or faultless in the presence of his Maker?
 18 In his own servants, God puts no trust,
 and even with his angels he has fault to find.
 19 What then of those who live in houses of clay,
 who are founded on dust?
 They are crushed as easily as a moth,
 20 one day is enough to grind them to powder.
 They vanish for ever, and no one remembers them.
 21 Their tent peg is snatched from them,
 and they die for lack of wisdom.”

1 5 Make your appeal then. Will you find an answer?
 To which of the Holy Ones will you turn?
 2 Resentment kills the senseless,
 and anger brings death to the fool.
 3 I myself have seen how such a one took root,
 until a swift curse fell on his House.
 4 His sons at a single blow lose their prop and stay, ruined at the gate^a with no one to defend them;
 5 their harvest goes to feed the hungry,
 God snatches it from their mouths,
 and thirsty men hanker after their goods.
 6 Grief does not grow out of the earth,
 nor sorrow spring from the ground.
 7 It is man who breeds trouble for himself
 as surely as eagles fly to the height.
 8 If I were as you are, I should appeal to God,
 and lay my case before him.
 9 His works are great, past all reckoning, marvels, beyond all counting.
 10 He sends down rain to the earth,
 pours down water on the fields.

11 If his will is to rescue the downcast,
 or raise the afflicted to the heights of joy, 12 he wrecks the plans of the artful,
 and brings to naught their intrigues.
 13 He traps the crafty in the snare of their own shrewdness, turns subtle counselors to idiots.
 14 In daylight they come against darkness,
 and grope their way as if noon were night.
 15 He rescues the bankrupt from their jaws,
 and the poor man from the hands of the violent.
 16 Thus the wretched can hope again
 and wickedness must shut its mouth.
 17 Happy indeed the man whom God corrects!
 Then do not refuse this lesson from Shaddai.^b 18 For he who wounds is he who soothes the sore,
 and the hand that hurts is the hand that heals.
 19 Six times he will deliver you from sorrow,
 and the seventh, evil shall not touch you.
 20 In time of famine, he will save you from death,
 and in wartime from the stroke of the sword.
 21 You shall be safe from the lash of the tongue,
 and see the approach of the brigand without fear.
 22 You shall laugh at drought and frost,
 and have no fear of the beasts of the earth.
 23 You shall have a pact with the stones of the field,
 and live in amity with wild beasts.
 24 You shall find your tent secure,
 and your sheepfold untouched when you come.
 25 You shall see your descendants multiply,
 your offspring grow like the grass in the fields.
 26 In ripe age you shall go to the grave,
 like a wheat sheaf stacked in due season.
 27 All this, we have observed: it is true.
 Heed it, and do so to your profit.

Only the sufferer knows his own grief

1 6 Job spoke next. He said:
 2 If only my misery could be weighed,
 and all my ills be put on the scales!
 3 But they outweigh the sands of the seas:
 what wonder then if my words are wild?
 4 The arrows of Shaddai stick fast in me,
 my spirit absorbs their poison,
 God's terrors stand against me in array.
 5 Does a wild donkey bray when it finds soft grass, or an ox ever low when its fodder is in reach?
 6 Can tasteless food be taken without salt,
 or is there flavor in the white of an egg?
 7 The very dishes which I cannot stomach,
 these are my diet in my sickness.
 8 Oh may my prayer find fulfillment,
 may God grant me my hope!

5 a. The town gate, at which justice was dispensed. b. Name for God in the patriarchal period, here a deliberate archaism.

9 May it please God to crush me, to give his hand free play and do away with me!
10 This thought, at least, would give me comfort
(a thrill of joy in unrelenting pain),
that I had not denied the Holy One's decrees.
11 But have I the strength to go on waiting?
What use is life to me, when doomed to certain death?
12 Is mine the strength of stone,
or is my flesh bronze?
13 Can any power be found within myself,
has not all help deserted me?
14 Grudge pity to a neighbor,
and you forsake the fear of Shaddai.

15 My brothers have been fickle as a torrent,
as the course of a seasonal stream.
16 Ice is the food of their dark waters,
they swell with the thawing of the snow;
17 but in the hot season they dry up,
with summer's heat they vanish.
18 Caravans leave the trail to find them,
go deep into desert, and are lost.
19 The caravans of Tema look to them,
and on them Sheba's convoys build their hopes.
20 Their trust proves vain,
they reach them only to be thwarted.

21 So, at this time, do you behave to me:
one sight of me, and then you flee in fright.
22 Have I said to you, "Give me this or that,
bribe someone for me at your own cost, 23 snatch me from the clutches of an enemy,
or ransom me from a tyrant's hand?" 24 Put me right, and I will say no more;
show me where I have been at fault.
25 Fair comment can be borne without resentment,
but what is the basis for your strictures?
26 Do you think mere words deserve censure,
desperate speech that the wind blows away?
27 Soon you will be casting lots for an orphan,
and selling your friend at bargain prices!
28 Come, I beg you, look at me:
as man to man, I will not lie.
29 Relent, and grant me justice;
relent, my case is not yet tried.
30 Is falsehood to be found on my lips?
Cannot my palate tell the taste of misfortune?

7 1 Is not man's life on earth nothing more than pressed service,
his time no better than hired drudgery?
2 Like the slave, sighing for the shade,
or the workman with no thought but his wages,
3 months of delusion I have assigned to me,
nothing for my own but nights of grief.
4 Lying in bed I wonder, "When will it be day?"
Risen I think, "How slowly evening comes!"
Restlessly I fret till twilight falls.

5 Vermin cover my flesh, and loathsome scabs;
 my skin is cracked and oozes pus.
 6 Swifter than a weaver's shuttle my days have passed,
 and vanished, leaving no hope behind.
 7 Remember that my life is but a breath,
 and that my eyes will never again see joy.
 8 The eye that once saw me will look on me no more,
 your eyes will turn my way, and I shall not be there.
 9 As a cloud dissolves and is gone,
 so he who goes down to Sheol never ascends again.
 10 He never comes home again,
 and his house knows him no more.
 11 No wonder then if I cannot keep silence;
 in the anguish of my spirit I must speak,
 lament in the bitterness of my soul.
 12 Am I the Sea, or the Wild Sea Beast,^a that you should keep me under watch and guard?
 13 If I say, "My bed will comfort me,
 my couch will soothe my pain," 14 you frighten me with dreams and terrify me with visions.
 15 Strangling I would welcome rather,
 and death itself, than these my sufferings.
 16 I waste away, my life is not unending;
 leave me then, for my days are but a breath.
 17 What is man that you should make so much of him,
 subjecting him to your scrutiny, 18 that morning after morning you should examine him
 and at every instant test him?
 19 Will you never take your eyes off me
 long enough for me to swallow my spittle?
 20 Suppose I have sinned, what have I done to you,
 you tireless watcher of mankind?
 Why do you choose me as your target?
 Why should I be a burden to you?
 21 Can you not tolerate my sin,
 nor overlook my fault?
 It will not be long before I lie in earth;
 then you will look for me, but I shall be no more.

The unswerving course of God's justice

1 8 Bildad of Shuah spoke next. He said:
 2 Is there no end to these words of yours,
 to your long-winded blustering?
 3 Can God deflect the course of right or Shaddai falsify justice?
 4 If your sons sinned against him,
 they have paid for their sins;
 6a so you too, if so pure and honest,
 5 must now seek God, plead with Shaddai.

7 a. In the Babylonian cosmogonies, the Sea (personified as Tiamat) was conquered and controlled by one of the gods. In popular imagery influenced by this story, Yahweh became the conqueror who held the sea under his control.

6b Without delay he will restore his favor to you, will see that the good man's house is rebuilt.
7 Your former state will seem to you as nothing beside your new prosperity.

8 Question the generation that has passed,
meditate on the experience of its fathers.
9 We sons of yesterday know nothing;
our life on earth passes like a shadow.
10 But they will teach you, they will tell you,
and these are the words they will speak from the heart, 11 "Does papyrus flourish, except in marshes?
Without water, can the rushes grow?
12 Pluck them even at their freshest:
fastest of all plants they wither.
13 Such is the fate of all who forget God;
so perishes the hope of the godless man.
14 His trust is only a thread,
his assurance a spider's web.
15 Let him lean on his house; it will not stand firm;
cling to it, it will not hold.
16 Like some lush plant in the sunlight,
he sprouted his early shoots over the garden;
17 but his roots were twined in a heap of stones,
he drew his life among the rocks.
18 Snatch him from his bed,
and it denies it ever saw him.
19 Now he rots on the roadside,
and from that soil spring others.
20 Believe me, God neither spurns a stainless man,
nor lends his aid to the evil.
21 Once again your cheeks will fill with laughter,
from your lips will break a cry of joy.
22 Your enemies shall be covered with shame,
and the tent of the wicked folk shall vanish."

God's justice is above all law

1 9 Job spoke next. He said:
2 Indeed, I know it is as you say:
how can man be in the right against God?
3 If any were so rash as to challenge him for reasons,
one in a thousand would be more than they could answer.
4 His heart is wise, and his strength is great:
who then can successfully defy him?
5 He moves the mountains, though they do not know it;
he throws them down when he is angry.
6 He shakes the earth, and moves it from its place,
making all its pillars tremble.
7 The sun, at his command, forbears to rise,
and on the stars he sets a seal.
8 He and no other stretched out the skies,
and trampled the Sea's tall waves.
9 The Bear, Orion too, are of his making,
the Pleiades and the Mansions of the South.
10 His works are great, beyond all reckoning,
his marvels, past all counting.

11 Were he to pass me, I should not see him,
 nor detect his stealthy movement.
 12 Were he to snatch a prize, who could prevent him, or dare to say, "What are you doing?"
 13 God never goes back on his anger,
 Rahab's minions still lie at his feet.^a 14 How dare I plead my cause, then,

 or choose arguments against him?
 15 Suppose I am in the right, what use is my defense?
 For he whom I must sue is judge as well.
 16 If he deigned to answer my citation, could I be sure that he would listen to my voice?
 17 He, who for one hair crushes me,
 who, for no reason, wounds and wounds again, 18 leaving me not a moment to draw breath,
 with so much bitterness he fills me.
 19 Shall I try force? Look how strong he is!
 Or go to court? But who will summon him?
 20 Though I think myself right, his mouth may condemn me;
 though I count myself innocent, it may declare me a hypocrite.
 21 But am I innocent after all? Not even I know that,
 and, as for my life, I find it hateful.
 22 It is all one, and this I dare to say:
 innocent and guilty, he destroys all alike.
 23 When a sudden deadly scourge descends,
 he laughs at the plight of the innocent.

24 When a country falls into a tyrant's hand,
 it is he who blindfolds the judges.
 Or if not he, who else?
 25 My days run hurrying by,
 seeing no happiness in their flight, 26 skimming along like a reed canoe,
 or the flight of an eagle after its prey.
 27 If I resolve to stifle my moans,
 change countenance, and wear a smiling face, 28 fear comes over me, at the thought of all I suffer, for such, I know, is not your treatment of the innocent.
 29 And if I am guilty,
 why should I put myself to useless trouble?
 30 No use to wash myself with snow,
 or bleach my hands pure white;
 31 for you will plunge me in dung until my very clothes recoil from me.
 32 Yes, I am man, and he is not; and so no argument,
 no suit between the two of us is possible.
 33 There is no arbiter between us,
 to lay his hand on both,
 34 to stay his rod from me,
 or keep away his daunting terrors.
 35 Nonetheless, I shall speak, not fearing him:
 I do not see myself like that at all.
 1 Since I have lost all taste for life,
 I will give free rein to my complaints;

9 a. Rahab stands for Chaos, the first enemy conquered by God.

2 I shall let my embittered soul speak out.
 I shall say to God, "Do not condemn me,
 but tell me the reason for your assault.
 3 Is it right for you to injure me, cheapening the work of your own hands
 and abetting the schemes of the wicked?
 4 Have you got human eyes,
 do you see as mankind sees?
 5 Is your life mortal like man's,
 do your years pass as men's days pass?
 6 You, who inquire into my faults
 and investigate my sins,
 7 you know very well that I am innocent,
 and that no one can rescue me from your hand.
 8 Your own hands shaped me, modeled me;
 and would you now have second thoughts, and destroy me?
 9 You modeled me, remember, as clay is modeled,
 and would you reduce me now to dust?
 10 Did you not pour me out like milk,
 and curdle me then like cheese^a; 11 clothe me with skin and flesh,
 and weave me of bone and sinew?
 12 And then you endowed me with life,
 watched each breath of mine with tender care.
 13 Yet, after all, you were dissembling;
 bidding your time, I know, 14 to mark if I should sin
 and to let no fault of mine go uncensured.
 15 Woe to me, if I am guilty;
 if I am innocent, I dare not lift my head,
 so wholly abject, so drunk with pain am I.
 16 And if I make a stand, like a lion you hunt me down,
 adding to the tale of your triumphs.
 17 You attack, and attack me again,
 with stroke on stroke of your fury,
 relentlessly your fresh troops assail me.
 18 "Why did you bring me out of the womb?
 I should have perished then, unseen by any eye, 19 a being that had never been,
 to be carried from womb to grave.
 20 The days of my life are few enough:
 turn your eyes away, leave me a little joy, 21 before I go to the place of no return,
 the land of murk and deep shadow, 22 where dimness and disorder hold sway,
 and light itself is like the dead of night."

Job must acknowledge God's wisdom

1 11 Zophar of Naamath spoke next. He said:

2 Is babbling to go without an answer?
 Is wordiness in man a proof of right?
 3 Do you think your talking strikes men dumb,
 will you jeer with no one to refute you?
 4 These were your words, "My way of life is faultless, and in your eyes I am free from blame."

5 But if God had a mind to speak, to open his lips and give you answer,
 6 were he to show you the secrets of wisdom which put all cleverness to shame—
 you would know it is for sin he calls you to account.
 7 Can you claim to grasp the mystery of God,
 to understand the perfection of Shaddai?
 8 It is higher than the heavens: what can you do?
 It is deeper than Sheol: what can you know?
 9 Its length is longer than the earth,
 its breadth is broader than the sea.
 10 If he passes, who can stop him,
 or make him yield once he has seized?
 11 For he detects the worthlessness in man,
 he sees iniquity and marks it well.
 12 And so the idiot grows wise,
 thus a young wild donkey grows tame.
 13 Come, you must set your heart right,
 stretch out your hands to him.
 14 Renounce the iniquity that stains your hands,
 let no injustice live within your tents.
 15 Then you may face the world in innocence,
 unwavering and free from fear.
 16 You will forget your sufferings,
 remember them as waters that have passed away.
 17 Your life, more radiant than the noonday,
 will make a dawn of darkness.
 18 Full of hope, you will live secure,
 dwelling well and safely guarded.
 19 No one will dare disturb you,
 and many a man will seek your favor.
 20 But the wicked will look around with weary eyes,
 and finding no escape,
 the only hope they have is life's last breath.

God's wisdom is best seen in the dreadful works of his omnipotence

1 12 Job spoke next. He said:
 2 Doubtless, you are the voice of the people,
 and when you die, wisdom will die with you!
 3 I can reflect as deeply as ever you can,
 I am no way inferior to you.
 And who, for that matter, has not observed as much?
 4 A man becomes a laughingstock to his friends
 if he cries to God and expects an answer.
 The blameless innocent incurs only mockery.
 5 "Add insult to injury," think the prosperous,
 "strike the man now that he is staggering!"
 6 And yet, the tents of brigands are left in peace,
 and those who challenge God live in safety,
 and make a god of their two fists!
 7 If you would learn more, ask the cattle, seek information from the birds of the air.

10 a. The contemporary belief was that an embryo was formed by the congealing of the mother's blood.

8 The creeping things of earth will give you lessons, and the fishes of the sea will tell you all.
 9 There is not one such creature but will know this state of things is all of God's own making.
 10 He holds in his power the soul of every living thing,
 and the breath of each man's body.
 11 The ear is a judge of speeches, is it not,
 just as the palate can tell one food from another?
 12 Wisdom is found in the old,
 and discretion comes with great age.
 13 But in him there is wisdom, and power, too,
 and decision no less than discretion.
 14 What he destroys, none can rebuild;
 whom he imprisons, none can release.
 15 Is there a drought? He has checked the waters.
 Do these play havoc with the earth? He has let them loose.
 16 In him is strength, in him resourcefulness,
 beguiler and beguiled are both alike his slave.
 17 He robs the country's counselors of their wits, turns judges into fools.
 18 His hands untie the belt of kings,
 and bind a rope about their loins.
 19 He makes priests walk barefoot,
 and overthrows the powers that are established.
 20 He strikes the cleverest speakers dumb,
 and robs old men of their discretion.
 21 He pours contempt on the nobly born,
 and unties the girdle of the strong.
 22 He robs the depths of their darkness,
 brings deep shadow to the light.
 23 He builds a nation up, then strikes it down,
 or makes a people grow, and then destroys it.
 24 He strips a country's leaders of their judgment,
 and leaves them to wander in a trackless waste, 25 to grope about in unlit darkness,
 and totter like a man in liquor.

1 13 I have seen all this with my own eyes,
 heard with my own ears, and understood.
 2 Whatever you know, I know too;
 I am no way inferior to you.
 3 But my words are intended for Shaddai;
 I mean to remonstrate with God.
 4 As for you, you are only charlatans,
 physicians in your own estimation.
 5 I wish someone would teach you to be quiet
 —the only wisdom that becomes you!
 6 Kindly listen to my accusation,
 pay attention to the pleading of my lips.
 7 Will you plead God's defense with prevarication,
 his case in terms that ring false?
 8 Will you be partial in his favor,
 and act as his advocates?
 9 For you to meet his scrutiny, would this be well?
 Can he be duped as men are duped?
 10 Harsh rebuke you would receive from him

for your covert partiality.

- 11 Does his majesty not affright you,
dread of him not fall on you?
- 12 Your old maxims are proverbs of ash,
your retorts, retorts of clay.
- 13 Silence! Now I will do the talking, whatever may befall me.
- 14 I put my flesh between my teeth,
I take my life in my hands.
- 15 Let him kill me if he will; I have no other hope than to justify my conduct in his eyes.
- 16 This very boldness gives promise of my release,
since no godless man would dare appear before him.
- 17 Listen carefully to my words,
and lend your ears to what I have to say.
- 18 You shall see, I will proceed by due form of law, persuaded, as I am, that I am guiltless.
- 19 Who comes against me with an accusation?
Let him come! I am ready to be silenced and to die.
- 20 But grant me these two favors:
if not, I shall not dare to confront you.
- 21 Take your hand away, which lies so heavy on me,
no longer make me cower from your terror.
- 22 Then arraign me, and I will reply;
or rather, I will speak and you shall answer me.
- 23 How many faults and crimes have I committed?
What law have I transgressed, or in what have I offended?
- 24 Why do you hide your face
and look on me as your enemy?
- 25 Will you intimidate a wind-blown leaf,
will you chase the dried-up chaff;
- 26 you list bitter accusations against me,
taxing me with the faults of my youth,
after putting my feet in the stocks,
watching my every step,
and measuring my footprints;
- 28 while my life is crumbling like rotten wood,
or a moth-eaten garment.
- 1 14 Man, born of woman,
has a short life yet has his fill of sorrow.
- 2 He blossoms, and he withers, like a flower;
fleeting as a shadow, transient.
- 3 And is this what you deign to turn your gaze on,
him that you would bring before you to be judged?
- 4 Who can bring the clean out of the unclean?
No man alive!
- 5 Since man's days are measured out,
since his tale of months depends on you,
since you assign him bounds he cannot pass,
- 6 turn your eyes from him, leave him alone,
like a hired drudge, to finish his day.
- 7 There is always hope for a tree:
when felled, it can start its life again;
its shoots continue to sprout.
- 8 Its roots may be decayed in the earth,
its stump withering in the soil,

- 9 but let it scent the water, and it buds,
and puts out branches like a plant new set.
- 10 But man? He dies, and lifeless he remains;
man breathes his last, and then where is he?
- 11 The waters of the seas may disappear,
all the rivers may run dry or drain away;
- 12 but man, once in his resting place, will never rise again.
The heavens will wear away before he wakes,
before he rises from his sleep.
- 13 If only you would hide me in Sheol,
and shelter me there until your anger is past,
fixing a certain day for calling me to mind—
- 14 for once a man is dead can he come back to life?—
day after day of my service I would wait for my relief to come.
- 15 Then you would call, and I should answer,
you would want to see the work of your hands once more.
- 16 Now you count every step I take,
but then you would cease to spy on my sins;
- 17 you would seal up my crime in a bag,
and whiten my fault over.
- 18 But no! Soon or late the mountain falls,
the rock moves from its place, 19 water wears away the stones,
the cloudburst erodes the soil;
just so do you destroy man's hope.
- 20 You crush him once for all, and he is gone;
you mar him, and then you bid him go.
- 21 Let his sons achieve honor, he does not know of it, humiliation, he gives it not a thought.
- 22 He feels no pain for anything but his own body,
makes no lament, save for his own life.

B. SECOND SERIES OF SPEECHES

Job's own words condemn him

- 1 15 Eliphaz of Teman spoke next. He said:
- 2 Does a wise man answer with airy reasonings,
or feed himself on an east wind?
- 3 Does he defend himself with empty talk and ineffectual wordiness?
- 4 You do worse: you flout piety,
you repudiate meditation in God's presence.
- 5 A guilty conscience prompts your words,
you adopt the language of the cunning.
- 6 Your own mouth condemns you, and not I;
your own lips bear witness against you.
- 7 Are you the first-born of the human race,
brought into the world before the hills?
- 8 Have you been a listener at God's council, or established a monopoly of wisdom?

9 What knowledge have you that we have not,
what understanding that is not ours too?
10 A gray-haired man, and an ancient, are of our number;
these have seen more summers than your father.
11 Do you scorn the comfort that God gives,
and the moderation we have used in speaking?
12 See how passion carries you away!
How evil you look,
13 when you thus loose your anger on God and utter speeches such as these!
14 How can any man be clean?
Born of woman, can he ever be good?
15 In his own Holy Ones God puts no trust,
and the heavens themselves are not, in his eyes, clean.
16 Then how much less this hateful, corrupt thing, mankind, that drinks iniquity like water!

17 Listen to me, I have a lesson for you:
I will tell you of my own experience,
18 and of the teaching of the sages,
those faithful guardians of the tradition of their fathers, 19 to whom alone the land was given,
with never a foreigner to mix with them.
20 The life of the wicked is unceasing torment,
the years allotted to the tyrant are numbered.
21 The danger signal ever echoes in his ear,
in the midst of peace the marauder swoops on him.
22 He has no hope of fleeing from the darkness,
but knows that he is destined for the sword,
23 marked down as meat for the vulture.
He knows that his ruin is at hand.
24 The hour of darkness makes him terrified;
distress and anguish close in on him,
as though some king were mounting an attack.

25 He raised his hand against God,
he ventured to defy Shaddai.
26 Blindly he bore down on him
from behind his massive shield.
27 His face had grown full and fat,
and his thighs too heavy with flesh.
28 He had taken possession of ruined towns and made his dwelling in deserted houses.
But all his careful building will go once more to ruin;
29 not for him increase of wealth, his riches will not last,
no longer will he cast his shadow over the land.
30 A flame will wither up his tender buds;
the wind will carry off his blossom.
31 But he should not trust in his great stature,
if he would not trust in vain.
32 His boughs will wither before their time,
and his branches never again be green.
33 Like a vine he will let his unripe clusters fall,
like an olive shed his blossom.
34 Ah yes, the sinner's brood is barren,
and fire consumes the tents of the venal.
35 Conceive mischief, and you breed disaster,
and carry in yourself deceitfulness.

The injustice of man and the justice of God

1 16 Job spoke next. He said:

2 How often have I heard all this before!
 3 What sorry comforters you are!
 4 Is there never to be an end of airy words?
 5 What a plague your need to have the last word is!
 6 I too could talk like you,
 7 were your soul in the plight of mine.
 8 I too could overwhelm you with sermons,
 9 I could shake my head over you,
 10 and speak words of encouragement,
 11 until my lips grew tired.
 12 But, while I am speaking, my suffering remains;
 13 and when I am not, do I suffer any the less?
 14 And now ill will drives me to distraction,
 15 and a whole host molests me,
 16 rising, like some witness for the prosecution,
 17 to utter slander to my very face.
 18 In tearing fury it pursues me,
 19 with gnashing teeth.
 20 My enemies whet their eyes on me,
 21 and open gaping jaws.
 22 Their insults strike like slaps in the face,
 23 and all set on me together.
 24 Yes, God has handed me over to the godless,
 25 and cast me into the hands of the wicked.
 26
 27 I lived at peace, until he shattered me,
 28 taking me by the neck to dash me to pieces.
 29 He has made me a target for his archery,
 30 shooting his arrows at me from every side.
 31 Pitiless, through the loins he pierces me,
 32 and scatters my gall on the ground.
 33 Breach after breach he drives through me,
 34 bearing down on me like a warrior.
 35 I have sewn sackcloth over my skin
 36 and rubbed my brow in the dust.
 37 My face is red with tears,
 38 and a veil of shadow hangs on my eyelids.
 39 This notwithstanding, my hands are free of violence,
 40 and my prayer is undefiled.
 41 Cover not my blood, O earth,^a 42 afford my cry no place to rest.
 43 Henceforth I have a witness in heaven,
 44 my defender is there in the height.
 45 My own lament is my advocate with God,
 46 while my tears flow before him.
 47 Let this plead for me as I stand before God,
 48 as a man will plead for his fellows.
 49 For the years of my life are numbered,
 50 and I shall soon take the road of no return.

1 17 My breath grows weak,
 2 and the gravediggers are gathering for me.
 3 I am the butt of mockers,
 4 and all my waking hours I brood on their spitefulness.

3 You yourself must take my own guarantee, since no one cares to clap his hand on mine.^a 4 For you have shut their hearts to reason,
 and not a hand is lifted.
 5 Like a man who invites his friends to share his property while the eyes of his own sons languish, 6 I have become a byword among the people,
 and a creature on whose face to spit.
 7 My eyes grow dim with grief,
 and my limbs wear away like a shadow.
 8 At this, honest men are shocked,^b and the guiltless man rails against the godless; 9 just men grow more settled in their ways,
 those whose hands are clean add strength to strength.
 10 Come, then, all of you: set on me once more!
 I shall not find a single sage among you.
 11 My days have passed, far otherwise than I had planned, and every fiber of my heart is broken.
 12 Night, they say, makes room for day,
 and light is near at hand to chase the darkness.
 13 All I look forward to is dwelling in Sheol,
 and making my bed in the dark.
 14 I tell the tomb, "You are my father,"
 and call the worm my mother and my sister.
 15 Where then is my hope?
 Who can see any happiness for me?
 16 Will these come down with me to Sheol, or sink with me into the dust?

Anger is powerless against the course of justice

1 18 Bildad of Shuah spoke next. He said:
 2 Will you never learn to check such words?
 Do you think we shall be slow to speak?
 3 Why do you regard us as beasts,
 look on us as dumb animals?
 4 Tear yourself to pieces if you will,
 but the world, for all your rage, will not turn to desert,
 the rocks will not shift from their places.
 5 The wicked man's light must certainly be put out,
 his brilliant flame cease to shine.
 6 In his tent the light is dimmed,
 the lamp that shone on him is snuffed.
 7 His vigorous stride grows cramped,
 his own cunning brings him down.
 8 For into the net his own feet carry him,
 he walks among the snares.
 9 A spring grips him by the heel,
 a trap snaps shut, and he is caught.
 10 Hidden in the earth is a noose to snare him,
 pitfalls lie across his path.
 11 Terrors attack him on every side,
 and follow behind him step for step.
 12 Hunger becomes his companion,

16 a. Blood, if not covered with earth, cries to heaven for vengeance.

17 a. I.e., to go surety for me. b. Assuming that such suffering is a punishment for guilt.

13 by his side Disaster stands.
 Disease devours his flesh,
 14 Death's First-Born^a gnaws his limbs.
 He is torn from the shelter of his tent,
 and dragged before the King of Terrors.
 15 The Lilith^b makes her home under his roof, while people scatter brimstone on his holding.
 16 His roots grow withered below,
 and his branches are blasted above.
 17 His memory fades from the land,
 his name is forgotten in his homeland.
 18 Driven from light into darkness,
 he is an exile from the earth, 19 without issue or posterity among his own people,
 none to live on where he has lived.
 20 His tragic end appalls the West,
 and fills the East with terror.
 21 A fate like his awaits every sinful house,
 the home of every man who knows not God.

Faith at its height in desertion by God and man

1 19 Job spoke next. He said:
 2 Will you never stop tormenting me,
 and shattering me with speeches?
 3 Ten times, no less, you have insulted me,
 ill-treating me without a trace of shame.
 4 Suppose that I have gone astray,
 suppose I am even yet in error:
 5 it is still true, though you think you have the upper hand of me and feel that you have proved my guilt, 6 that God, you must know, is my oppressor,
 and his is the net that closes around me.
 7 If I protest against such violence, there is no reply;
 if I appeal against it, judgment is never given.
 8 He has built a wall across my path which I cannot pass,
 and covered my way with darkness.
 9 He has stolen my honor away,
 and taken the crown from my head.
 10 On every side he breaks through my defenses, and I succumb.
 As a man a shrub, so he uproots my hope.
 11 His anger flares against me,
 and he counts me as his enemy.
 12 His troops have come in force,
 they have mounted their attack against me,
 laid siege to my tent.
 13 My brothers stand aloof from me,
 and my relations take care to avoid me.
 14 My kindred and my friends have all gone away,
 and the guests in my house have forgotten me.
 15 The serving maids look on me as a foreigner,
 a stranger, never seen before.
 16 My servant does not answer when I call him,
 I am reduced to entreating him.
 17 To my wife my breath is unbearable,
 for my own brothers I am a thing corrupt.

18 Even the children look down on me,
 ever ready with a jibe when I appear.
 19 All my dearest friends recoil from me in horror:
 those I loved best have turned against me.
 20 Beneath my skin, my flesh begins to rot,
 and my bones stick out like teeth.
 21 Pity me, pity me, you, my friends,
 for the hand of God has struck me.
 22 Why do you hound me down like God,
 will you never have enough of my flesh?
 23 Ah, would that these words of mine were written down, inscribed on some monument 24 with iron chisel and engraving tool,
 cut into the rock for ever.
 25 This I know: that my Avenger^a lives,
 and he, the Last, will take his stand on earth.
 26 After my awaking, he will set me close to him,
 and from my flesh I shall look on God.
 27 He whom I shall see will take my part:
 these eyes will gaze on him and find him not aloof.
 My heart within me sinks . . .
 28 You, then, that mutter, "How shall we track him down, what pretext shall we find against him?"
 29 may well fear the sword on your own account.
 There is an anger stirred to flame by evil deeds;
 you will learn that there is indeed a judgment.

The course of justice admits of no exception

1 20 Zophar of Naamath spoke next. He said:
 2 To this my thoughts are eager to reply:
 no wonder if I am possessed by impatience,
 3 I found these admonitions little to my taste,
 but my spirit whispers to me how to answer them.
 4 Do you not know, that since time began and man was set on the earth, 5 the triumph of the wicked has always been brief,
 and the sinner's gladness has never lasted long?
 6 Towering to the sky he may have been,
 with head touching the clouds;
 7 but he vanishes, like a phantom, once for all,
 while those who saw him now ask, "Where is he?"
 8 Like a dream that leaves no trace he takes his flight, like a vision in the night he flies away.
 9 The eye that looked on him will never see him more,
 his house nevermore sets eyes on him.
 10 His sons must recoup his victims,
 and his children pay back his riches.
 11 With the vigor of youth his bones were filled,
 now it lies in the dust with him.
 12 Evil was sweet to his mouth,
 he hid it beneath his tongue;

18 a. The principal disease, probably plague. b. A female demon of popular legend.

19 a. "Avenger" and "take his stand" are technical legal terms.

13 unwilling to let it go,
 he let it linger on his palate.
 14 Such food goes bad in his belly, working inside him like the poison of a viper.
 15 Now he must bring up all the wealth that he has swallowed,
 God makes him disgorge it.
 16 He sucked "poison of vipers":
 and the tongue of the adder kills him.
 17 He will know no more of streams that run with oil,
 or the torrents of honey and cream.
 18 Gone that glad face at the sight of his gains,
 those comfortable looks when business was thriving.
 19 Since he once destroyed the huts of poor men,
 and stole other's houses when he should have built his own, 20 since his avarice could never be satisfied,
 now his hoarding will not save him;
 21 since there was nothing ever escaped his greed,
 now his prosperity will not last.
 22 His abundance at its full, want seizes him,
 misery descends on him in all its force.
 23 On him God looses all his burning wrath,
 hurling against his flesh a hail of arrows.
 24 No use to run away from the iron armory,
 for the bow of bronze will shoot him through.
 25 Out through his back an arrow sticks,
 from his gall a shining point.
 26 An arsenal of terrors falls on him,
 and all that is dark lies in ambush for him.
 A fire unlit by man devours him,
 and consumes what is left in his tent.
 27 The heavens lay bare his iniquity,
 the earth takes its stand against him.
 28 A flood sweeps his house away,
 and carries it off in the Day of Wrath.
 29 Such is the fate God allots to the wicked,
 such his inheritance assigned by God.

Facts give the lie

1 21 Job spoke next. He said:
 2 Listen, only listen to my words;
 this is the consolation you can offer me.
 3 Let me have my say;
 you may jeer when I have spoken.
 4 Do you think I bear a grudge against man?
 Have I no reason to be out of patience?
 5 Hear what I have to say, and you will be dumfounded, will place your hands over your mouths.
 6 I myself am appalled at the very thought,
 and my flesh begins to shudder.
 7 Why do the wicked still live on,
 their power increasing with their age?
 8 They see their posterity insured,
 and their offspring grow before their eyes.
 9 The peace of their houses has nothing to fear,
 the rod that God wields is not for them.

10 No mishap with their bulls at breeding time,
nor miscarriage with their cows at calving.
11 They let their infants frisk like lambs,
their children dance like deer.
12 They sing to the tambourine and the lyre,
and rejoice to the sound of the flute.
13 They end their lives in happiness and go down in peace to Sheol.

14 Yet these were the ones who said to God, "Go away!
We do not choose to learn your ways.
15 What is the point of our serving Shaddai?
What profit should we get from praying to him?"
16 Is it not true, they held their fortune in their own two hands, and in their counsels, left no room for God?
17 Do we often see a wicked man's light put out,
or disaster overtaking him,
or all his goods destroyed by the wrath of God?
18 How often do we see him harassed like a straw before the wind,
or swept off like chaff before a gale?
19 God, you say, reserves the man's punishment for his children.
No! Let him bear the penalty himself, and suffer under it!
20 Let him see his ruin with his own eyes,
and himself drink the anger of Shaddai.
21 When he has gone, how can the fortunes of his House affect him, when the number of his months is cut off?
22 But who can give lessons in wisdom to God,
to him who is judge of those on high?
23 And again: one man dies in the fullness of his strength, in all possible happiness and ease, 24 with his thighs all heavy with fat,
and the marrow of his bones undried.
25 Another dies with bitterness in his heart,
never having tasted happiness.
26 Together now they lie in the dust with worms for covering.

27 I know well what is in your mind,
the spiteful thoughts you entertain about me.
28 "What has become of the great lord's house," you say,
"where is the tent where the wicked lived?" 29 Have you never asked those that have traveled,
or have you misunderstood the tale they told, 30 "The wicked man is spared for the day of disaster,
and carried off in the day of wrath?" 31 But who is there then to accuse him to his face for his deeds,
and pay him back for what he has done, 32 when he is on his way to his burial,
when men are watching at his grave.
33 The clods of the valley are laid gently on him,
and a whole procession walks behind him.
34 So what sense is there in your empty consolation?
What nonsense are your answers!

C. THIRD SERIES OF SPEECHES

God punishes only to vindicate justice

1 22 Eliphaz of Teman spoke next. He said:

- 2 Can a man be of any use to God,
when even the wise man's wisdom is of use only to himself?
- 3 Does Shaddai derive any benefit from your integrity,
or profit from your blameless conduct?
- 4 Would he punish you for your piety,
and hale you off to judgment?
- 5 No, rather for your manifold wickednesses,
for your unending iniquities!
- 6 You have exacted needless pledges from your brothers,
and men go naked now through your despoiling;
- 7 you have grudged water to the thirsty man,
and refused bread to the hungry;
- 8 you have narrowed the lands of the poor man down to nothing to set your crony in his place, 9 sent widows away empty-handed and crushed the arms of orphans.
- 10 No wonder, then, if snares are all around you,
or sudden terrors make you afraid.
- 11 Light has turned to darkness and it blinds you,
and a flood of water overwhelms you.
- 12 Does not God live at the height of heaven,
and see the zenith of the stars?
- 13 Because he is far above, you said, "What does God know?
Can he peer through the shadowed darkness?"
- 14 The clouds, to him, are an impenetrable veil,
and he prowls on the rim of the heavens.
- 15 And will you still follow the ancient trail
trodden by the wicked?
- 16 Those men who were borne off before their time,
with rivers swamping their foundations, 17 because they said to God, "Go away!
What can Shaddai do to us?"
- 18 Yet he himself had filled their houses with good things,
while these wicked men shut him out of their counsels.
- 19 At the sight of their ruin, good men rejoice,
and the innocent deride them:
- 20 "See how their greatness is brought to nothing!
See how their wealth has perished in the flames!"
- 21 Well then! Make peace with him, be reconciled, and all your happiness will be restored to you.
- 22 Welcome the teaching from his lips,
and keep his words close to your heart.
- 23 If you return, humbled, to Shaddai
and drive all injustice from your tents, 24 if you reckon gold as dust
and Ophir as the pebbles of the torrent, 25 then you will find Shaddai worth bars of gold or silver piled in heaps.
- 26 Then Shaddai will be all your delight,
and you will lift your face to God.

27 You will pray, and he will hear;
 you will have good reason to fulfill your vows.
 28 Whatever you undertake will go well,
 and light will shine on your path;
 29 for he that casts down the boasting of the braggart is he that saves the man of downcast eyes.
 30 If a man is innocent, he will bring him freedom,
 and freedom for you if your hands are kept unstained.

God is far off, and evil is victorious

1 23 Job spoke next. He said:
 2 My lament is still rebellious,
 that heavy hand of his drags groans from me.
 3 If only I knew how to reach him,
 or how to travel to his dwelling!
 4 I should set out my case to him,
 my mouth would not want for arguments.
 5 Then I could learn his defense, every word of it,
 taking note of everything he said to me.
 6 Would he use all his strength in this debate with me?
 No, he would have to give me a hearing.
 7 He would see he was contending with an honest man,
 and I should surely win my case.
 8 If I go eastward, he is not there;
 or westward—still I cannot see him.
 9 If I seek him in the north, he is not to be found, invisible still when I turn to the south.
 10 And yet he knows of every step I take!
 Let him test me in the crucible: I shall come out pure gold.
 11 My footsteps have followed close in his,
 I have walked in his way without swerving;
 12 I have kept every commandment of his lips,
 cherishing the words from his mouth in my breast.
 13 But once he has decided, who can change his mind?
 Whatever he plans, he carries out.
 14 No doubt, then, but he will carry out my sentence,
 like so many other decrees that he has made.
 15 That is why I am full of fear before him, and the more I think, the greater grows my dread of him.
 16 God has made my heart sink,
 Shaddai has filled me with fear.
 17 For darkness hides me from him,
 and the gloom veils his presence from me.
 1 24 Why has not Shaddai his own store of times, and why do his faithful never see his Days?^a 2 The wicked move boundary marks away,
 they carry off flock and shepherd.
 3 Some drive away the orphan's donkey,
 and take the widow's ox for a security.
 4 Beggars, now, avoid the roads,
 and all the poor of the land must go into hiding.

24 a. A "store of times" could be used to lengthen a man's life and provide the opportunity to complete his punishment; "his Days" would be like "the Day of Yahweh," a time when he would assert his sovereignty in universal retribution.

- 5 Like wild donkeys in the desert, they go out,
driven by the hunger of their children,
to seek food on the barren steppes.
- 6 They must do the harvesting in the scoundrel's field,
they must do the picking in the vineyards of the wicked.
- 10 They go about naked, lacking clothes,
and starving while they carry the sheaves.
- 11 They have no stones for pressing oil,
they tread the winepresses, yet they are parched with thirst.
- 7 They spend the night naked, lacking clothes,
with no covering against the cold.
- 8 Mountain rainstorms cut them through,
shelterless, they hug the rocks.
- 9 Fatherless children are robbed of their lands,
and poor men have their cloaks seized as security.
- 12 From the towns come the groans of the dying
and the gasp of wounded men crying for help.
Yet God remains deaf to their appeal!
- 13 Others of them hate the light,
know nothing of its ways,
avoid its paths.
- 14 When all is dark the murderer leaves his bed
to kill the poor and needy.
All night long prowls the thief,
breaking into houses while the darkness lasts.
- 16a The eye of the adulterer watches for twilight, 15 "No one will see me," he mutters
as he masks his face.
- 16b In the daytime they go into hiding,
these folk who have no love for the light.
- 17 For all of them, morning is their darkest hour,
because they know its terrors.
- 25 Is this not so? Who can prove me a liar or show that my words have no substance?

A hymn to God's omnipotence

- 1 25 Bildad of Shuah spoke next. He said:
- 2 What sovereignty, what awe, is his who keeps the peace in his heights!
- 3 Can anyone number his armies,
or boast of having escaped his ambushes?
- 4 Could any man ever think himself innocent, when confronted by God?
Born of woman, how could he ever be clean?
- 5 The very moon lacks brightness,
and the stars are unclean as he sees them.
- 6 What, then, of man, maggot that he is,
the son of man, a worm?
- 5 26 The Shades tremble beneath the earth;
the waters and their denizens are afraid.
- 6 Before his eyes, Sheol is bare,
Perdition^a itself is uncovered.
- 7 He it was who spread the North^b above the void,
and poised the earth on nothingness.
- 8 He fastens up the waters in his clouds—
the mists do not tear apart under their weight.

9 He covers the face of the moon at the full,
his mist he spreads over it.
10 He has traced a ring on the surface of the waters,
at the boundary between light and dark.
11 The pillars of the heavens tremble,
they are struck with wonder when he threatens them.
12 With his power he calmed the Sea,
with his wisdom struck Rahab down.
13 His breath made the heavens luminous,
his hand transfixed the Fleeing Serpent.
14 All this but skirts the ways he treads,
a whispered echo is all that we hear of him.
But who could comprehend the thunder of his power?

Bildad's words are empty

1 Job spoke next. He said:

2 To one so weak, what a help you are,
for the arm that is powerless, what a rescuer!
3 What excellent advice you give the unlearned,
never at a loss for a helpful suggestion!
4 But who are they aimed at, these speeches of yours,
and what spirit is this that comes out of you?

Job reaffirms his innocence while acknowledging God's power

1 27 And Job continued his solemn discourse. He said:

2 I swear by the living God who denies me justice,
by Shaddai who has turned my life sour,
3 that as long as a shred of life is left in me,
and the breath of God breathes in my nostrils, 4 my lips shall never speak untruth,
nor any lie be found on my tongue.
5 Far from ever admitting you to be in the right:
I will maintain my innocence to my dying day.
6 I take my stand on my integrity, I will not stir:
my conscience gives me no cause to blush for my life.
7 May my enemy meet a criminal's end,
and my opponent suffer with the guilty.
8 For what hope, after all, has the godless when he prays,
and raises his soul to God?
9 Is God likely to hear his cries
when disaster descends on him?
10 Did he make Shaddai all his delight,
calling on him at every turn?
11 No: I am showing you how God's power works, making no secret of Shaddai's designs.
12 And if you all had understood them for yourselves,
you would not have wasted your breath in empty words.

The speech of Zophar: the accursed

13 Here is the fate that God has in store for the wicked, and the inheritance with which Shaddai endows the man of violence.
14 A sword awaits his sons, however many they may be,
and their children after them will go unfed.

26 a. In Hebrew "Abaddon," perhaps originally a deity, here a synonym for Sheol, the underworld.
b. The "fixed quarter" of the vault of the sky, on which the heavens were believed to revolve.

- 15 Plague will bury those he leaves behind him,
and their widows will have no chance to mourn them.
- 16 He may collect silver like dust,
and gather fine clothes like clay.
- 17 Let him gather! Some good man will wear them, while his silver is shared among the innocent.
- 18 He has built himself a spider's web,
made himself a watchman's shack.
- 19 He goes to bed a rich man, but never again:
he wakes to find not a penny left.
- 20 Terrors attack him in broad daylight,
and at night a whirlwind sweeps him off.
- 21 An east wind picks him up and drags him away,
snatching him up from his homestead.
- 22 Pitilessly he is turned into a target,
and forced to flee from the hands that menace him.
- 23 His downfall is greeted with applause,
and hissing meets him on every side.
- 24 ^{18acb} Headlong he flees from daylight,
he shrinks from the road which runs on the heights.
The lands of his home are under a curse,
for heat and drought dry up the waters
and scorch what is left of his corn.
- 19 The womb that shaped him forgets him
and his name is recalled no longer.
- 20 Thus wickedness is blasted as a tree is struck.
- 21 He used to be harsh to the barren, childless woman,
and show no kindness to the widow.
- 22 But he who lays mighty hold on tyrants
rises up to take away that life which seemed secure.
- 23 He let him build his hopes on false security,
but kept his eyes on every step he took.
- 24 The man had his time of glory, now he vanishes,
drooping like a mallow plucked from its bed,
and withering like an ear of corn.

D. A HYMN IN PRAISE OF WISDOM

Wisdom is beyond man's reach

- 1 28 Silver has its mines,
and gold a place for refining.
- 2 Iron is extracted from the earth,
the smelted rocks yield copper.
- 3 Man makes an end of darkness
when he pierces to the uttermost depths
the black and lightless rock.
- 4 Mines the lamp folk dig
in places where there is no foothold,
and hang suspended far from mankind.
- 5 That earth from which bread comes is ravaged underground by fire.
- 6 Down there, the rocks are set with sapphires,
full of spangles of gold.
- 7 Down there is a path unknown to birds of prey,
unseen by the eye of any vulture;

8 a path not trodden by the lordly beasts,
 where no lion ever walked.

9 Man attacks its flinty sides,
 upturning mountains by their roots,
 10 driving tunnels through the rocks,
 on the watch for anything precious.

11 He explores the sources of rivers,^a and brings to daylight secrets that were hidden.

12 But tell me, where does wisdom come from?
 Where is understanding to be found?

13 The road to it is still unknown to man,
 not to be found in the land of the living.

14 "It is not in me," says the Abyss;
 "Nor here," replies the Sea.

15 It cannot be bought with solid gold,
 not paid for with any weight of silver, 16 nor be priced by the standard of the gold of Ophir,
 or of precious onyx or sapphire.

17 No gold, no glass can match it in value,
 nor for a fine gold vase can it be bartered.

18 Nor is there need to mention coral, nor crystal;
 beside wisdom, pearls are not worth the fishing.

19 Topaz from Cush is worthless in comparison, and gold, even refined, is valueless.

20 But tell me, where does wisdom come from?
 Where is understanding to be found?

21 It is outside the knowledge of every living thing,
 hidden from the birds in the sky.

22 Perdition and Death can only say,
 "We have heard reports of it."

23 God alone has traced its path
 and found out where it lives.

24 (For he sees to the ends of the earth, and observes all that lies under heaven.)

25 When he willed to give weight to the wind and measured out the waters with a gauge, 26 when he made the laws and rules for the rain and mapped a route for thunderclaps to follow, 27 then he had it in sight, and cast its worth, assessed it, fathomed it.

28 And he said to man,
 "Wisdom? It is fear of the Lord.
 Understanding?—avoidance of evil."

E. CONCLUSION OF THE DIALOGUE

Job's lament and final defense

a. His former happiness

1 29 And Job continued his solemn discourse. He said:

2 Who will bring back to me the months that have gone,
 and the days when God was my guardian,

28 a. In "the waters under the earth," cf. 26:5.

3 when his lamp shone over my head,
 and his light was my guide in the darkness?
 4 Shall I ever see my autumn days again
 when God hedged around my tent;
 5 when Shaddai dwelt with me,
 and my children were around me; 6 when my feet were plunged in cream,
 and streams of oil poured from the rocks?

7 When I went out to the gate of the city,
 when I took my seat in the square,
 8 as soon as I appeared, the young men stepped aside,
 while the older men rose to their feet.
 9 Men of note interrupted their speeches,
 and put their fingers on their lips;
 10 the voices of rulers were silenced,
 and their tongues stayed still in their mouths.
 21 They waited anxiously to hear me,
 and listened in silence to what I had to say.
 22 When I paused, there was no rejoinder,
 and my words dropped on them, one by one.
 23 They waited for me, as men wait for rain,
 openmouthed, as if to catch the year's last showers.
 24 If I smiled at them, it was too good to be true,
 they watched my face for the least sign of favor.
 25 In a lordly style, I told them which course to take,
 and like a king amid his armies,
 I led them where I chose.

11 My praises echoed in every ear,
 and never an eye but smiled on me;
 12 because I freed the poor man when he called,
 and the orphan who had no one to help him.
 13 When men were dying, I it was who had their blessing;
 if widows' hearts rejoiced, that was my doing.
 14 I had dressed myself in righteousness like a garment;
 justice, for me, was cloak and turban.
 15 I was eyes for the blind,
 and feet for the lame.
 16 Who but I was father of the poor?
 The stranger's case had a hearing from me.
 17 I used to break the fangs of wicked men,
 and snatch their prey from between their jaws.
 18 So I thought to myself, "I shall die in honor,
 my days like a palm tree's for number.
 19 My roots thrust out to the water,
 my leaves freshened by the falling dew at night.
 20 My reputation will never fade,
 and the bow in my hands will gain new strength."

b. His present misery

1 30 And now I am the laughingstock of my juniors, the young people, whose fathers I did not consider fit
 to put with the dogs that looked after my flock.
 2 The strength of their hands would have been useless to me,

3 enfeebled as they were,
 worn out by want and hunger.
They used to gnaw the roots of desert plants,
 and brambles from abandoned ruins;
4 and plucked mallow, and brushwood leaves, making their meals off roots of broom.
5 Outlawed from the society of men,
 who, as against thieves, raised hue and cry against them, 6 they made their dwellings on ravines' steep sides,
 in caves or clefts in the rock.
7 You could hear them wailing from the bushes,
 as they huddled together in the thistles.
8 Their children are as worthless a brood as they were,
 nameless people, outcasts of society.
9 And these are the ones that now sing ballads about me,
 and make me the talk of the town!
10 To them I am loathsome, they stand aloof from me,
 do not scruple to spit in my face.
11 Because he has unbent my bow and chastened me
 they cast the bridle from their mouth.
12 That brood of theirs rises to right of me,
 stones are their weapons,
 and they take threatening strides toward me.
13 They have cut me off from all escape,
 there is no one to check their attack.
14 They move in, as though through a wide breach,
 and I am crushed beneath the rubble.
15 Terrors turn to meet me,
 my confidence is blown away as if by the wind;
 my hope of safety passes like a cloud.

16 And now the life in me trickles away,
 days of grief have gripped me.
17 At nighttime, sickness saps my bones,
 I am gnawed by wounds that never sleep.
18 With immense power it has caught me by the clothes,
 clutching at the collar of my coat.
19 It has thrown me into the mud
 where I am no better than dust and ashes.

20 I cry to you, and you give me no answer;
 I stand before you, but you take no notice.
21 You have grown cruel in your dealings with me,
 your hand lies on me, heavy and hostile.
22 You carry me up to ride the wind,
 tossing me about in a tempest.
23 I know it is to death that you are taking me,
 the common meeting place of all that lives.

24 Yet have I ever laid a hand on the poor
 when they cried out for justice in calamity?
25 Have I not wept for all whose life is hard,
 felt pity for the penniless?
26 I hoped for happiness, but sorrow came;
 I looked for light, but there was darkness.
27 My stomach seethes, is never still,
 for every day brings further suffering.

28 Somber I go, yet no one comforts me,
 and if I rise in the council, I rise to weep.
 29 I have become the jackal's brother and the ostrich's companion.
 30 My skin has turned black on me,
 my bones are burned with fever.
 31 My harp is tuned to funeral wails,
 my flute to the voice of mourners.

Job's apologia^a

1 31 I made a pact with my eyes,
 not to linger on any virgin.
 2 Now, what shares does God deal out on high,
 what lots does Shaddai assign from heaven,
 3 if not disaster for the wicked,
 and calamities for the iniquitous?
 4 But surely he sees how I behave,
 does he not count all my steps?
 5 Have I been a fellow traveler with falsehood,
 or hastened my steps toward deceit?
 6 If he weighs me on honest scales,
 being God, he cannot fail to see my innocence.
 7 If my feet have wandered from the rightful path,
 or if my eyes have led my heart astray,
 or if my hands are smirched with any stain, 8 let another eat what I have sown,
 and let my young shoots all be rooted out.
 9 If I ever lost my heart to any woman,
 or lurked at my neighbor's door,
 10 let my wife grind corn that is not mine,
 let her sleep between others' sheets.
 11 For I should have committed a sin of lust,
 a crime punishable by the law,
 12 and should have lit a fire burning till Perdition,
 which would have devoured all my harvesting.
 13 If ever I have infringed the rights of slave or maidservant in legal actions against me—14 what shall I do, when God stands up?
 What shall I say, when he holds his assize?
 15 They, no less than I, were created in the womb
 by the one same God who shaped us all within our mothers.
 38 If my land calls down vengeance on my head and every furrow runs with tears, 39 if without payment I have eaten fruit grown on it or given those who toiled there cause to groan, 40a let branches grow where once was wheat,
 and foul weeds where barley thrived.
 16 Have I been insensible to poor men's needs,
 or let a widow's eyes grow dim?
 17 Or taken my share of bread alone,
 not giving a share to the orphan?
 18 I, whom God has fostered fatherlike, from childhood, and guided since I left my mother's womb.
 19 Have I ever seen a wretch in need of clothing,
 or a beggar going naked,

20 without his having cause to bless me from his heart,
 as he felt the warmth of the fleece from my lambs?
 21 Have I raised my hand against the guiltless, presuming on my credit at the gate?
 22 If so, then let my shoulder fall from its socket,
 my arm be shattered at the joint.
 23 God's terror would indeed descend on me;
 how could I hold my ground before his majesty?
 24 Have I put all my trust in gold,
 from finest gold sought my security?
 25 Have I ever gloated over my great wealth,
 or the riches that my hands have won?
 26 Or has the sight of the sun in its glory,
 or the glow of the moon as it walked the sky, 27 stolen my heart, so that my hand
 blew them a secret kiss?
 28 That too would be a criminal offense,
 to have denied the supreme God.
 29 Have I taken pleasure in my enemies' misfortunes,
 or made merry when disaster overtook them, 30 I who allowed my tongue to do no wrong,
 by cursing them or vowing them to death?
 31 The people of my tent, did they not say,
 "Is there a man he has not filled with meat?" 32 No stranger ever had to sleep outside,
 my door was always open to the traveler.
 33 Have I ever hidden my sins from men,
 keeping my iniquity secret in my breast?
 34 Have I ever stood so in fear of common gossip,
 or so dreaded any family's contempt,
 that I have been reduced to silence, not venturing out of doors?
 35 Who can get me a hearing from God?
 I have had my say, from A to Z; now let Shaddai answer me.
 When my adversary has drafted his writ against me
 36 I shall wear it on my shoulder,
 and bind it around my head like a royal turban.
 37 I will give him an account of every step of my life,
 and go as boldly as a prince to meet him.
 40b End of the words of Job.

III. THE SPEECHES OF ELIHU

Elihu joins the discussion

1 32 These three men said no more to Job, because he was convinced of his 2 innocence. But another man was infuriated—Elihu son of Barachel the Buzite, of the clan of Ram. He fumed with rage against Job for thinking that 3 he was right and God was wrong; and he was equally angry with the three friends for giving up the argument and thus admitting that God could be unjust.
 4 While they were speaking, Elihu had held himself back, because they were older
 5 than he was; but when he saw that the three men had not another word to say 6 in answer, his anger burst out. Thus Elihu son of Barachel the Buzite spoke next. He said:

31 a. The form of this declaration, "a conditional imprecation," is that required by law from an accused person pleading "not guilty."

Prologue

I am still young,
 and you are old,
 so I was shy, afraid,
 to tell you what I know.
 7 I told myself, "Old age should speak, advancing years will utter wisdom." 8 But now I know that it is a breath in man,
 the inspiration of Shaddai, that gives discernment.
 9 Great age does not give wisdom,
 nor longevity sound judgment.
 10 And so I ask you for a hearing;
 now it is my turn to tell what I know.
 11 There was a time when I hoped for much from your speeches:
 I gave your reasonings a ready hearing,
 and watched you choose your words.
 12 I gave you all my attention,
 and I can say that no one gave Job the lie,
 not one of you disproved his statements.
 13 So do not dare to say that you have found wisdom,
 or that your teaching is from God not man.
 14 I am not going to follow the same line of argument;
 my reply to Job will be couched in different terms.
 15 They have been nonplused, baffled for an answer,
 words have failed them.
 16 I have been waiting. Since they are silent, and have abandoned all efforts to reply, 17 now I will have my say,
 my turn has come to say what I know.
 18 For I am filled with words,
 choked by the rush of them within me.
 19 I have a feeling in my heart like new wine seeking a vent,
 and bursting a brand-new wineskin.
 20 Nothing will bring relief but speech,
 I will open my mouth and give my answer.
 21 I shall not show any partiality toward anyone,
 nor heap on any fulsome flatteries.
 22 I have no skill in flattery,
 my creator would soon silence me otherwise.

Job's presumption

1 33 Now, Job, be kind enough to listen to my words, and attend to all I have to say.
 2 Now as I open my mouth,
 and my tongue shapes words against my palate,
 3 my heart shall utter sayings full of wisdom,
 and my lips speak the honest truth.
 4 Refute me, if you can.
 Prepare your ground to oppose me.
 5 See, I am your fellow man, not a god;
 like you, I was fashioned out of clay.
 6 God's breath it was that made me,
 the breathing of Shaddai that gave me life.
 7 Thus, no fear of me need disturb you,
 my hand will not lie heavy over you.

8 How could you say in my hearing—
for the sound of your words did not escape me—9 “I am clean, and sinless,
I am pure, free of all fault.
10 Yet he is inventing grievances against me,
and imagining me his enemy.
11 He puts me in the stocks,
he watches my every step?”
12 In saying so, I tell you, you are wrong:
God does not fit man’s measure.
13 Why do you rail at him
for not replying to you, word for word?
14 God speaks first in one way,
and then in another, but not one notices.
15 He speaks by dreams, and visions that come in the night, when slumber comes on mankind,
and men are all asleep in bed.
16 Then it is he whispers in the ear of man,
or may frighten him with fearful sights, 17 to turn him away from evil-doing,
and make an end of his pride;
18 to save his soul from the pit
and his life from the pathway to Sheol.
19 With suffering, too, he corrects man on his sickbed,
when his bones keep trembling with palsy; 20 when his whole self is revolted by food,
and his appetite spurns dainties;
21 when his flesh rots as you watch it,
and his bare bones begin to show;
22 when his soul is drawing near to the pit,
and his life to the dwelling of the dead.
23 Then there is an Angel by his side,
a Mediator, chosen out of thousands,
to remind a man where his duty lies,
24 to take pity on him and to say,
“Release him from descent into the pit,
for I have found a ransom for his life”;
25 his flesh recovers the bloom of its youth,
he lives again as he did when he was young.
26 He prays to God who has restored him to favor,
and comes, in happiness, to see his face.
27 He publishes far and wide the news of his vindication, singing before his fellow men this hymn of praise,
“I sinned and left the path of right,
but God has not punished me as my sin deserved.
28 He has spared my soul from going down into the pit,
and is allowing my life to continue in the light.” 29 All this God does again and yet again for man, 30 rescuing his soul from the pit,
and letting the light of life shine bright on him.
31 Job, give me your attention, listen well;
keep silence: I have more to say.
32 If you have anything to say, refute me,
speak out, for I would gladly recognize your innocence.

33 If you have not, then listen:
keep silence, while I teach you wisdom.

The three Sages have failed to justify God

1 34 Elihu continued his speech. He said:

2 You men of wisdom, listen to my words:
lend me your ears, you learned men.
3 The ear is a judge of speeches,
just as the palate can tell one food from another.
4 Let us discover together where justice lies,
and settle among us what is best.
5 Now Job has said, "I am in the right,
and God refuses to grant me justice.
6 The judge who judges me is ill-disposed,
and though I have not sinned, my wounds are past all cure."
7 Are there many men like Job,
who drink scurrility like water,
8 who keep company with evildoers,
and march in step with the wicked?
9 Did he not say it was useless
for man to try to please God?

10 Listen then to me, like intelligent men.
So far is God removed from wickedness,
and Shaddai from injustice, 11 that he requites a man for what he does,
treating each one as his way of life deserves.
12 God never does wrong, do not doubt that!
Shaddai does not deflect the course of right.
13 It is not as if someone else had given him the earth in trust,
or confided the whole universe to his care.
14 Were he to recall his breath,
to draw his breathing back into himself, 15 things of flesh would perish all together,
and man would return to dust.
16 If you have any intelligence, listen to this,
and lend your ear to what I have to say.
17 Could an enemy of justice ever govern?
Would you dare condemn the Just One, the Almighty, 18 who can tell kings that they are good for nothing,
and treat noblemen like criminals, 19 who shows no partiality to princes and makes no distinction between the rich and the poor,
all alike being made by his own hands?
20 They die, they are gone in an instant,
great though they are, they perish in the dead of night:
it costs him no effort to remove a tyrant.
21 His eyes, you see, keep watch on all men's ways,
and he observes their every step.
22 Not darkness, nor the deepest shadow,
can hide the wrongdoer.
23 He serves no writ on men
summoning them to appear before God's court: 24 he smashes great men's power without inquiry and sets up others in their places.
25 He knows well enough what they are about,

26 and one fine night he throws them down for men to trample on.
 He strikes them down for their wickedness,
 and makes them prisoners for all to see.

27 You may say, "They have so turned from him,
 and so ignored his ways,
 28 that the poor have cried out to him against them and the wailing of the humble has assailed his ears, 29 yet he is unmoved, and nothing can touch him;
 he hides his face and nobody can see him."
 But nonetheless he does take pity on nations and on men, 30 freeing the godless man from the meshes of distress.

31 If such a man says to God,
 "I was led astray, I will sin no more.
 32 If I did wrong, tell me about it,
 if I have been unjust, I will be so no more"— 33 in such a case, do you think he ought to punish him,
 you who reject his decisions?
 Since it is you who make this choice, not I,
 let us all share your knowledge!

34 But this is what all sensible folk will say,
 and any wise man among my hearers, 35 "There is no wisdom in Job's speech,
 his words lack sense.

36 Put him unsparingly to the proof since his retorts are the same as those that the wicked make.
 37 For to sin he adds rebellion, calling justice into question in our midst
 and heaping abuse on God."

God is not indifferent to what happens on earth

1 35 Elihu continued his speech. He said:

2 Do you presume to maintain that you are in the right,
 to insist on your innocence before God,
 3 even to ask him, "How does it affect you,
 what harm has it done you if I have sinned?" 4 Well then, this is how I will answer you,
 and your friends as well.

5 Look up at the skies, look at them well,
 and see how high the clouds are above you.

6 If you sin, what do you achieve against him?
 If you heap up crimes, what is the injury you do him?
 7 If you are just, what do you give him,
 what benefit does he receive at your hands?

8 Your fellow men are the ones to suffer from your crimes, humanity is the gainer if you are good.

9 When people groan under the weight of oppression,
 or cry out under the tyranny of the mighty, 10 no one thinks to ask, "Where is God, my maker,
 who makes glad songs ring out at dead of night, 11 who makes us cleverer than the earth's wild beasts,
 wiser than the birds in the sky?" 12 Then they cry aloud, but he does not answer
 because of man's base pride.

- 13 How idle to maintain that God is deaf,
that Shaddai notices nothing!
- 14 You even claim, "He does not see me:
my cause is exposed before him, and yet I wait and wait."
- 15 Or even, "His anger never punishes,
he does not seem to know of men's rebellion."
- 16 Hence when Job opens his mouth, it is for idle talk:
his spate of words comes out of ignorance.

The real meaning of Job's sufferings

- 1 36 Elihu went on speaking. He said:
- 2 Be patient with me a little longer while I explain,
for I have more to say on God's behalf.
- 3 I will range far afield for my arguments
to prove my Maker just.
- 4 What I say contains no fallacies, I assure you,
you see before you an enlightened man.
- 5 God does not spurn the blameless man or let the sinner live on in all his power.
- 6 He accords justice to the poor,
and upholds the good man's rights.
- 7 When he raises kings to thrones,
if they grow proud of their unending sway,
- 8 then he fetters them with chains,
binding them in the bondage of distress.
- 9 He shows them all that they have done,
and all the sins of pride they have committed.
- 10 He whispers a message in their ears,
urging them to amend themselves.
- 11 If they listen and do as he says,
their days end in happiness,
and their closing years are full of ease.
- 12 If not, then a thunderbolt destroys them,
and death comes on them unawares.
- 13 Yes the stubborn who cherish anger,
and when he shackles them, do not ask for help:
- 14 they die in their youth,
or lead a life despised by all.
- 15 The wretched, however, he saves by their very wretchedness,
and uses distress to open their eyes.
- 16 For you, no less, he plans relief from sorrow.
Once you lived in luxury unbounded,
with rich food piled high on your table.
- 17 But you did not execute justice on the wicked,
you cheated orphaned children of their rights.
- 18 In future beware of being led astray by riches,
or corrupted by fat bribes.
- 19 Prosecute the rich, not merely the penniless;
strong-armed men as well as those who are powerless.
- 20 Do not trample on those you do not know
to install your relations in their place.
- 21 Avoid any tendency to wrong-doing,
for such has been the true cause of your trials.

A hymn to God's wisdom and omnipotence

- 22 Look, by reason of his power God is supreme,
 what teacher can be compared with him?
- 23 Who has ever told him which course to take,
 or dared to say to him, "You have done wrong?"
- 24 Turn your mind rather to praising his works,
 a theme that many men have sung:
 25 a sight that everyone can see,
 that man may gaze on from afar.
- 26 Yes, the greatness of God exceeds our knowledge,
 the number of his years is past computing.
- 27 He it is who keeps the raindrops back,
 dissolving the showers into mist, 28 which otherwise the clouds would spill
 in floods over all mankind.
- 31 Thanks to them he nourishes the nations
 with generous gifts of food.
- 29 And who can fathom how he spreads the clouds,
 or why such crashes thunder from his tent?
- 30 He spreads out the mist, wrapping it about him,
 and covers the tops of the mountains.
- 32 He gathers up the lightning in his hands,
 choosing the mark it is to reach;
 33 his thunder gives warning of its coming:
 wrath overtakes iniquity.
- 1 37 At this my own heart quakes,
 and leaps from its place.
- 2 Listen, oh listen, to the blast of his voice
 and the sound that blares from his mouth.
- 3 He hurls his lightning below the span of heaven,
 it strikes to the very ends of the earth.
- 4 After it comes the roar of his voice,
 the peal of God's majestic thunder.
 He does not check his thunderbolts until his voice resounds no more.
- 5 No doubt of it, but God reveals wonders,
 and does great deeds that we cannot understand.
- 6 When he says to the snow, "Fall on the earth,"
 or tells the rain to pour down in torrents, 7 he brings all men's strivings to a standstill
 so that each must acknowledge his hand at work.
- 8 All the beasts go back to their dens, taking shelter in their lairs.
- 9 The storm wind comes from the Mansion of the South,
 and the north winds usher in the cold.
- 10 God breathes, and the ice is there,
 the surface of the waters freezes over.
- 11 He weighs the clouds down with moisture,
 and the storm clouds radiate his lightning.
- 12 He himself guides their wheeling motion,
 directing all their seasonal changes:
 they carry out his orders to the letter
 all over his inhabited world.
- 13 Whether for punishing earth's peoples or for a work of mercy, he dispatches them.
- 14 Listen to all this Job: no backsliding now!

Meditate on God's wonders.
 15 Can you tell how God controls them or how his clouds make the lightning flash?
 16 Can you tell how he holds the clouds in balance:
 a miracle of consummate skill?
 17 When your clothes are hot to your body
 and the earth lies still under the south wind, 18 can you help him to spread the vault of heaven,
 Or temper that mirror of cast metal?
 19 Tell me what to say to him:

 20 Can my words carry weight with him?
 Do man's commands reach his ears?
 21 There are times when the light vanishes
 behind darkening clouds;
 then comes the wind, sweeping them away,
 22 and brightness spreads from the north.
 God is clothed in fearful splendor:
 23 he, Shaddai, is far beyond our reach.
 Supreme in power, in equity,
 excelling in justice, yet no oppressor—24 no wonder that men fear him,
 and thoughtful men hold him in awe.

IV. THE SPEECHES OF YAHWEH

FIRST SPEECH

Job must bow to the creator's wisdom

1 38 Then from the heart of the tempest Yahweh gave Job his answer
 He said:
 2 Who is this obscuring my designs
 with his empty-headed words?
 3 Brace yourself like a fighter;
 now it is my turn to ask questions and yours to inform me.
 4 Where were you when I laid the earth's foundations?
 Tell me, since you are so well informed!
 5 Who decided the dimensions of it, do you know?
 Or who stretched the measuring line across it?
 6 What supports its pillars at their bases?
 Who laid its cornerstone 7 when all the stars of the morning were singing with joy, and the Sons of God in chorus were chanting praise?
 8 Who pent up the sea behind closed doors
 when it leaped tumultuous out of the womb, 9 when I wrapped it in a robe of mist
 and made black clouds its swaddling bands;
 10 when I marked the bounds it was not to cross
 and made it fast with a bolted gate?
 11 Come thus far, I said, and no farther:
 here your proud waves shall break.
 12 Have you ever in your life given orders to the morning or sent the dawn to its post, 13 telling it to grasp the earth by its edges

- 14 and shake the wicked out of it,
 when it changes the earth^a to sealing clay
 and dyes it as a man dyes clothes; 15 stealing the light from wicked men^b and breaking the arm raised to strike?
 16 Have you journeyed all the way to the sources of the sea,
 or walked where the Abyss is deepest?
 17 Have you been shown the gates of Death or met the janitors of Shadowland?
 18 Have you an inkling of the extent of the earth?
 Tell me all about it if you have!
 19 Which is the way to the home of the light,
 and where does darkness live?
 20 You could then show them the way to their proper places,
 or put them on the path to where they live!
 21 If you know all this, you must have been born with them,
 you must be very old by now!
 22 Have you ever visited the place where the snow is kept,
 or seen where the hail is stored up, 23 which I keep for times of stress,
 for days of battle and war?
 24 From which direction does the lightning fork
 when it scatters sparks over the earth?
 25 Who carves a channel for the downpour,
 and hacks a way for the rolling thunder, 26 so that rain may fall on lands where no one lives,
 and the deserts void of human dwelling, 27 giving drink to the lonely wastes
 and making grass spring where everything was dry?
 28 Has the rain a father?
 Who begets the dewdrops?
 29 What womb brings forth the ice,
 and gives birth to the frost of heaven, 30 when the waters grow hard as stone and the surface of the deep congeals?
 31 Can you fasten the harness of the Pleiades,
 or untie Orion's bands?
 32 Can you guide the morning star season by season and show the Bear and its cubs which way to go?
 33 Have you grasped the celestial laws?
 Could you make their writ run on the earth?
 34 Can your voice carry as far as the clouds
 and make the pent-up waters do your bidding?
 35 Will lightning flashes come at your command and answer, "Here we are?"
 36 Who gave the ibis wisdom and endowed the cock with foreknowledge?^c 37 Whose skill details every cloud and tilts the flasks of heaven 38 until the soil cakes into a solid mass
 and clods of earth cohere together?

38 a. The "clay" is red in color. b. The light, or natural element, of the wicked, is the darkness of night. c. Both birds credited with foresight; the ibis heralds the flooding of the Nile, the cock announces the dawn.

- 39 Do you find a prey for the lioness
and satisfy the hunger of her whelps 40 when they crouch in their dens and lurk in their lairs?
41 Who makes provision for the raven when his squabs cry out to God and crane their necks in hunger?
1 39 Do you know how mountain goats give birth,
or have you ever watched the hinds in labor?
2 How many months do they carry their young?
At what time do they give birth?
3 They crouch to drop their young,
and let their burdens fall in the open desert;
4 and when the calves have grown and gathered strength
they leave them, never to return.
- 5 Who gave the wild donkey his freedom,
and untied the rope from his proud neck?
6 I have given him the desert as a home,
the salt plains as his own habitat.
7 He scorns the turmoil of the town:
there are no shouts from a driver for him to listen for.
8 The mountains are the pastures that he ranges
in quest of any type of green blade or leaf.
- 9 Is the wild ox willing to serve you or spend a night beside your manger?
10 If you tie a rope around his neck
will he harrow the furrows for you?
11 Can you rely on his massive strength and leave him to do your heavy work?
12 Can you depend on him to come home carrying your grain to your threshing floor?
- 13 Can the wing of the ostrich be compared with the plumage of the stork or falcon?
14 She leaves her eggs on the ground with only earth to warm them;
15 forgetting that a foot may tread on them
or a wild beast may crush them.
16 Cruel to her chicks as if they were not hers,
little she cares if her labor goes for nothing.
17 God, you see, has made her unwise,
and given her no share of common sense.
18 Yet, if she bestirs herself to use her height,
she can make fools of horse and rider too.
- 19 Are you the one who makes the horse so brave and covers his neck with flowing hair?
20 Do you make him leap like a grasshopper?
His proud neighing spreads terror far and wide.
21 Exultantly he paws the soil of the valley,
and prances eagerly to meet the clash of arms.
22 He laughs at fear; he is afraid of nothing,
he recoils before no sword.
23 On his back the quiver rattles,
the flashing spear and javelin.

24 Quivering with impatience, he eats up the miles;
 when the trumpet sounds, there is no holding him.
 25 At each trumpet blast he shouts "Hurrah!"
 He scents the battle from afar,
 hearing the thundering of chiefs, the shouting.

26 Does the hawk take flight on your advice
 when he spreads his wings to travel south?
 27 Does the eagle soar at your command to make her eyrie in the heights?
 28 She spends her nights among the crags
 with an unclimbed peak as her redoubt 29 from which she watches for prey, fixing it with her far-ranging eye.
 30 She feeds her young on blood:
 wherever men fall dying, there she is.

1
31 40 Then Yahweh turned to Job, and he said:

2
32 Is Shaddai's opponent willing to give in?
 Has God's critic thought up an answer?

3 33 Job replied to Yahweh:

4
34 My words have been frivolous: what can I reply?
 I had better lay my finger on my lips.
 5 35 I have spoken once . . . I will not speak again;
 more than once . . . I will add nothing.

SECOND SPEECH

God is master of the forces of evil

6 Yahweh gave Job his answer from the heart of the tempest. He said:

7 8 Brace yourself like a fighter,
 now it is my turn to ask questions and yours to inform me.
 9 10 Do you really want to reverse my judgment,
 and put me in the wrong to put yourself in the right?
 11 12 Has your arm the strength of God's,
 can your voice thunder as loud?
 13
14 If so, assume your dignity, your state,
 robe yourself in majesty and splendor.
 15
16 Let the spate of your anger flow free;
 humiliate the haughty at a glance!
 17
18 Cast one look at the proud and bring them low, strike down the wicked where they stand.
 19 20 Bury the lot of them in the ground,
 shut them, silent-faced, in the dungeon.
 21
22 I myself will be the first to acknowledge that your own right hand can assure your triumph.

Behemoth

23 24 Now think of Behemoth;
 he eats greenstuff like the ox.
 25
26 But what strength he has in his loins,
 what power in his stomach muscles!
 27 28 His tail is as stiff as a cedar,
 the sinews of his thighs are tightly knit.

18 His vertebrae are bronze tubing,
 13 his bones as hard as hammered iron.
 19 He is the masterpiece of all God's work,
 14 but his Maker threatened him with the sword,
 20 forbidding him the mountain regions
 15 where all the wild beasts have their playground.
 21 So he lies beneath the lotus,
 16 and hides among the reeds in the swamps.
 22 The leaves of the lotus give him shade,
 17 the willows by the stream shelter him.
 23 Should the river overflow on him, why should he worry?
 18 A Jordan could pour down his throat without his caring.
 24 So who is going to catch him by the eyes
 19 or drive a peg through his nostrils?

Leviathan

25 Leviathan, too! Can you catch him with a fishhook
 20 or run a line around his tongue?
 26 Can you put a ring through his nose
 21 or pierce his jaw with a hook?
 27 Will he plead and plead with you,
 22 will he coax you with smooth words?
 28 Will he strike a bargain with you
 23 to become your slave for life?
 29 Will you make a pet of him, like a bird,
 24 keep him on a lead to amuse your maids?
 30 Is he to be sold by the fishing guild
 25 and then retailed by merchants?
 31 Riddle his hide with darts?
 26 Prod his head with a harpoon?
 32 You have only to lay a finger on him
 27 never to forget the struggle or risk it again!
 28 41 Any hopes you might have would prove vain,
 1 for the mere sight of him would stagger you.
 2 When roused, he grows ferocious,
 1 no one can face him in a fight.
 3 Who can attack him with impunity?
 2 No one beneath all heaven.
 4 Next I will talk of his limbs
 3 and describe his matchless strength.
 5 Who can unloose the front of his coat
 4 or pierce the double armor of his breastplate?
 6 Who dare open the gates of his mouth?
 5 Terror dwells in those rows of teeth!
 7 His back is like rows of shields,
 6 sealed with a seal of stone,
 8 touching each other so close 7 that not a breath could pass between;
 9 sticking to one another
 8 to make an indivisible whole.
 10 When he sneezes, light leaps forth,
 9 his eyes are like the eyelids of the dawn.
 11 From his mouth come fiery torches,
 10 sparks of fire fly out of it.
 12 His nostrils belch smoke
 11 like a caldron boiling on the fire.

¹³₁₂ His breath could kindle coals,
 so hot a flame issues from his mouth.
¹⁴₁₃ Strength has made a home in his neck,
 fear leaps before him as he goes.
¹⁷₁₆ When he stands up, the waves themselves take fright,
 the billows of the sea retreat.
¹⁵₁₄ The folds of his flesh stick together,
 firmly set in it, immovable.
¹⁶₁₅ His heart is as hard as rock, unyielding as a millstone.
¹⁸₁₇ Sword may strike him, but cannot pierce him;
 no more can spear, javelin or lance.
¹⁹₁₈ Iron means no more to him than straw,
 nor bronze than rotten wood.
²⁰₁₉ The arrow does not make him run,
 sling stones he treats as wisps of hay.
²¹₂₀ A club strikes him like a reed,
 he laughs at the whirring javelin.
²²₂₁ He has sharp potsherds underneath,
 and moves across the slime like a harrow.
²³₂₂ He churns the depths into a seething caldron,
 he makes the sea fume like a scent burner.
²⁴₂₃ Behind him he leaves a glittering wake—
 a white fleece seems to float on the deeps.
²⁵₂₄ He has no equal on earth,
 being created without fear.
²⁶₂₅ He looks the haughtiest in the eye;
 of all the sons of pride he is the king.

Job's final answer

¹ 42 This was the answer Job gave to Yahweh:
² I know that you are all-powerful:
 what you conceive, you can perform.
³ I am the man who obscured your designs with my empty-headed words.
 I have been holding forth on matters I cannot understand,
 on marvels beyond me and my knowledge.
⁴ (Listen, I have more to say,
 now it is my turn to ask questions and yours to inform me.)
⁵ I knew you then only by hearsay;
 but now, having seen you with my own eyes,
⁶ I retract all I have said,
 and in dust and ashes I repent.

V. EPILOGUE

Yahweh rebukes the three Sages

⁷ When Yahweh had said all this to Job, he turned to Eliphaz of Teman.
 "I burn with anger against you and your two friends," he said, "for not speaking ⁸ truthfully about me as my servant Job has done. 'So now find seven bullocks and seven rams, and take them back with you to my servant Job and offer a holocaust for yourselves, while Job, my servant, offers prayers for you. I will listen to him with favor and excuse your folly in not speaking of me properly ⁹ as my servant Job has done.'" ·Eliphaz of Teman, Bildad of Shuah and Zophar of Naamath went away to do as Yahweh had ordered, and Yahweh listened to Job with favor.

Yahweh restores Job's fortunes

- ¹⁰ Yahweh restored Job's fortunes, because he had prayed for his friends.
¹¹ More than that, Yahweh gave him double what he had before. ·And all his brothers and all his sisters and all his friends of former times came to see him and sat down at table with him. They showed him every sympathy, and comforted him for all the evils Yahweh had inflicted on him. Each of them gave ¹² him a silver coin, and each a gold ring. ·Yahweh blessed Job's new fortune even more than his first one. He came to own fourteen thousand sheep, six ¹³ thousand camels, a thousand yoke of oxen and a thousand she-donkeys. ·He had ¹⁴ seven sons and three daughters; ·his first daughter he called "Turtledove," the ¹⁵ second "Cassia" and the third "Mascara." ·Throughout the land there were no women as beautiful as the daughters of Job. And their father gave them inheritance rights like their brothers.
¹⁶ After his trials, Job lived on until he was a hundred and forty years old, and ¹⁷ saw his children and his children's children up to the fourth generation. ·Then Job died, an old man and full of days.

INTRODUCTION TO THE PSALMS

The Psalter, or Book of Psalms, is a collection of hymns used in the liturgical worship of the Temple; it is arranged in five "books" or parts. Some of the psalms can be identified as written for one or other of the great festivals (for example the group called "Songs of Ascents," which are for the annual pilgrimage); others cannot be so simply defined, and it may well be that the liturgical use of them changed during the eventful years of Israel's history.

The 150 psalms* represent the work of several centuries. There are some which can be dated from the Exile and some after the return to Jerusalem, and others which are clearly allied to the wisdom writings of later times; but there are also psalms which belong to the period of the kings and among these there may be psalms as early as David himself, traditionally the writer and singer of songs. Although the inscriptions appear to ascribe many of the psalms to David, it should be noted that these inscriptions actually refer to different collections of the hymns made at different times or places; it is the existence of these separate collections which explains the duplication of a few psalms in the Psalter. Nevertheless, an early editor accepted some of the inscriptions as indications of authorship, and added annotations on the probable occasion of their writing.

The psalms have for so long been used in Christian worship that their early origins are often overlooked; like all lyrical poetry, they express passion—and in their own time there was nothing improper about violent curses against enemies and oppressors or against the unfaithful, nor about a frank longing for revenge and massacre. These are notes which can be found in the psalms and, like the name Yahweh, must be accepted as a part of the world of the psalmists. But the principal kinds of psalms which can be distinguished by their subjects include: hymns of praise, often recalling the mighty works of God in the past history of the nation; prayers of entreaty or penitence, either personal or collective; thanksgivings; wisdom psalms and praise of the Law; prophetic oracles; royal psalms. The royal psalms are addressed to kings, the successors of David, and often include prophecies of their future glory; after the end of the monarchy, these oracles together with the prophecies of the renewal of Zion became a focus of the messianic hope, and they are commonly accepted as such by the writers of the New Testament.

* From Ps. 10 to Ps. 148 the numbering of the Hebrew Bible (adopted here) is one figure ahead of the Greek and the Vulgate, which join 9 and 10 and also 114 and 115, but divide both 116 and 147 into two.

THE PSALMS

PSALM 1

The two ways

- 1 Happy the man
who never follows the advice of the wicked, or loiters on the way that sinners take,
or sits about with scoffers,
2 but finds his pleasure in the law of Yahweh,
and murmurs his law day and night.
- 3 He is like a tree that is planted
by water streams,
yielding its fruit in season,
its leaves never fading;
success attends all he does.
4 It is nothing like this with the wicked, nothing like this!
- No, these are like chaff
blown away by the wind.
5 The wicked will not stand firm when Judgment comes,
nor sinners when the virtuous assemble.
6 For Yahweh takes care of the way the virtuous go,
but the way of the wicked is doomed.

PSALM 2

The messianic drama

- 1 Why this uproar among the nations?
Why this impotent muttering of pagans—
2 kings on earth rising in revolt, princes plotting against Yahweh and his Anointed, 3 “Now let us break their fetters!
Now let us throw off their yoke!”
- 4 The One whose throne is in heaven sits laughing, Yahweh derides them.
5 Then angrily he addresses them,
in a rage he strikes them with panic, 6 “This is my king, installed by me on Zion, my holy mountain.”
- 7 Let me proclaim Yahweh’s decree;
he has told me, “You are my son,
today I have become your father.
8 Ask and I will give you the nations for your heritage,

the ends of the earth for your domain.
 9 With iron scepter you will break them,
 shatter them like potter's ware."

10 So now, you kings, learn wisdom,
 earthly rulers, be warned:
 11 serve Yahweh, fear him,
 12 tremble and kiss his feet,
 or he will be angry and you will perish,
 for his anger is very quick to blaze.

Happy all who take shelter in him.

PSALM 3

Morning prayer of the virtuous man under persecution

Psalm Of David When he was escaping from his son Absalom

1 Yahweh, more and more are turning against me,
 more and more rebelling against me,
 2 more and more saying about me,
 "There is no help for him in his God."

Pause

3 But, Yahweh, my encircling shield,
 my glory, you help me hold up my head.
 4 Loudly I cry to Yahweh,
 and he answers me from his holy mountain.

Pause

5 Now I can lie down and go to sleep and then awake, for Yahweh has hold of me:
 6 no fear now of those tens of thousands posted against me wherever I turn.

Pause

7 Rise, Yahweh!
 Save me, my God!
 You hack all my enemies to the cheekbone,
 you break the teeth of the wicked.
 8 From Yahweh, rescue.
 On your people, blessing!

PSALM 4

Evening prayer

For the choirmaster For strings Psalm Of David

1 God, guardian of my rights, you answer when I call,
 when I am in trouble, you come to my relief;
 now be good to me and hear my prayer.

2 You men, why shut your hearts so long,
 loving delusions, chasing after lies?

Pause

3 Know this, Yahweh works wonders for those he loves, Yahweh hears me when I call to him.

- 4 Tremble: give up sinning,
spend your night in quiet meditation.
- 5 Offer sacrifice in a right spirit, and trust Yahweh.
- 6 "Who will give us sight of happiness?" many say.
Show us the light of your face, turned toward us!
- 7 Yahweh, you have given more joy to my heart than others ever knew, for all their corn and wine.
- 8 In peace I lie down, and fall asleep at once,
since you alone, Yahweh, make me rest secure.

*PausePSALM 5*Morning PrayerFor the choirmaster For flutes Psalm Of David*

- 1 Yahweh, let my words come to your ears,
spare a thought for my sighs.
- 2 Listen to my cry for help,
my King and my God!
- 3 I say this prayer to you, Yahweh,
for at daybreak you listen for my voice;
and at dawn I hold myself in readiness for you,
I watch for you.
- 4 You are not a God who is pleased with wickedness,
you have no room for the wicked;
boasters collapse
under your scrutiny.
- 5 You hate all evil men,
liars you destroy;
murderers and frauds
Yahweh detests.
- 6 But I, so great is your love,
may come to your house,
and before your holy Temple bow down
in reverence to you.
- 7 Yahweh, lead me in the path of your righteousness,
for there are men lying in wait for me;
make your way plain before me.
- 8 Not a word from their lips can be trusted,
deep within them lies ruin,
their throats are yawning graves;
they make their tongues so smooth!
- 9 Pronounce them guilty, God,
make their intrigues their own downfall!
Hound them for their countless crimes,
since they have rebelled against you.
- 10 But joy for all who take shelter in you,
endless shouts of joy!
Since you protect them, they exult in you,
those who love your name.
- 11

- 12 It is you who bless the virtuous man, Yahweh;
your favor is like a shield covering him.

PSALM 6

Prayer in ordeal

For the choirmaster For strings, for the octachord Psalm Of David

- 1 Yahweh, do not punish me in your rage,
or reprove me in the heat of anger.
2 Pity me, Yahweh, I have no strength left,
heal me, my bones are in torment,
3 my soul is in utter torment.
Yahweh, how long will you be?
4 Come back, Yahweh, rescue my soul,
save me, if you love me;
5 for in death there is no remembrance of you:
who can sing your praises in Sheol?
6 I am worn out with groaning, every night I drench my pillow
and soak my bed with tears;
7 my eye is wasted with grief,
I have grown old with enemies all around me.
8 Away from me, all you evil men!
For Yahweh has heard the sound of my weeping;
9 Yahweh has heard my petition,
Yahweh will accept my prayer.
10 Let all my enemies, discredited, in utter torment,
fall back in sudden confusion.

PSALM 7

Prayer of the virtuous under persecution

Lamentation Of David, who sang it to Yahweh about Cush the Benjaminite

- 1 Yahweh my God, I take shelter in you;
from all who hound me, save me, rescue me,
2 or, like a lion, he will carry me off and tear me to pieces where no one can save me.
3 Yahweh my God, if I ever soiled my hands with fraud, 4 repaid a friend evil for good,
spared a man who wronged me,^a 5 then let the enemy hound me down and catch me, let him stamp my life into the ground,
and leave my entrails lying in the dust!

Pause

^a 7 a. The lex talionis, cf. Ex. 21:25, required that evil should be rendered for evil, just as good for good.

- 6 Rise, Yahweh, in anger,
awake, my God!
Confront the raging of my enemies,
you who demand that justice shall be done.
- 7 Let the nations muster around you in a body,
and then return, high over them.
- 8 (Yahweh is arbiter of nations.)^b
- Give judgment for me, Yahweh: as my virtue and my integrity deserve.
- 9 Bring the maliciousness of evil men to an end,
set the virtuous on his feet,
you righteous God,
assessor of mind and heart.
- 10 God is the shield that protects me,
he preserves upright hearts,
- 11 God the righteous judge
is slow to show his anger,
but he is a God who is always enraged
- 12 by those who refuse to repent.

- The enemy may sharpen his sword,
he may bend his bow and take aim,
but the weapons he prepares will kill himself and his arrows turn into firebrands.
- 13 Look at him, pregnant with wickedness,
conceiving Spite, he gives birth to Mishap.
- 14 He dug a pit, hollowed it out,
only to fall into his own trap!
- 15 His spite recoils on his own head,
his brutality falls back on his own skull.

- 17 I give thanks to Yahweh for his righteousness,
I sing praise to the name of the Most High.

PSALM 8

The munificence of the creator

For the choirmaster On the . . . of Gath^a Psalm Of David

- 1 Yahweh, our Lord,
how great your name throughout the earth!
- Above the heavens is your majesty chanted
by the mouths of children, babes in arms.
You set your stronghold firm against your foes
to subdue enemies and rebels.
- 2
- 3 I look up at your heavens, made by your fingers,
at the moon and stars you set in place—
- 4 ah, what is man that you should spare a thought for him,
the son of man that you should care for him?
- 5 Yet you have made him little less than a god,
you have crowned him with glory and splendor,

- 6 made him lord over the work of your hands,
set all things under his feet,
- 7 sheep and oxen, all these,
yes, wild animals too,
- 8 birds in the air, fish in the sea
traveling the paths of the ocean.
- 9 Yahweh, our Lord,
how great your name throughout the earth!

PSALM 9-10

God crushes the wicked and saves the humble^a

For the choirmaster For oboe and harp Psalm Of David

- 1 Aleph I thank you, Yahweh, with all my heart;
I recite your marvels one by one,
- 2 I rejoice and exult in you,
I sing praise to your name, Most High.
- 3 Beth My enemies are in retreat,
stumbling, perishing as you confront them:
- 4 you have upheld the justice of my cause
from the throne where you sit as righteous judge.
- 5 Ghimel You have checked the nations, you have crushed the wicked, blotted out their name for ever and ever;
- 6 the enemy is finished, in everlasting ruin,
you have overthrown cities, their memory has perished.
- 7 He See, Yahweh is enthroned for ever,
he sets up his throne for judgment;
- 8 he is going to judge the world with justice,
and pronounce a true verdict on the nations.
- 9 Waw May Yahweh be a stronghold for the oppressed,
a stronghold when times are hard.
- 10 Those who acknowledge your name can rely on you,
you never desert those who seek you, Yahweh.
- 11 Zain To Yahweh with his home in Zion, sing praise,
tell the nations of his mighty actions;
- 12 he, the avenger of blood, remembers them,
he does not ignore the cry of the wretched.
- 13 Heth Take pity on me, Yahweh, look on my suffering,
you who lift me back from the gates of death,
that in the gates of the daughter of Zion
- 14 I may recite your praises one by one, rejoicing that you have saved me.
- 15 Teth The nations have sunk into a pit of their own making,
they are caught by the feet in the snare they set themselves.

b. This gloss indicates that the peoples are gathered for judgment.

8 a. A musical instrument, or the name of a tune.

9 a. Ps. 9 and 10 were originally one poem; it is "alphabetical" (i.e., an acrostic), but in the present text there are several letters without their strophes.

- 16 Yahweh has made himself known, has given judgment,
he has trapped the wicked in the work of their own hands.
Muted music
- 17 May the wicked return to Sheol,
all the nations forgetful of God. Pause
- 18 Kaph For the needy is not always forgotten,
the hope of the poor is never brought to nothing.
- 19 Rise, Yahweh, let not man have the upper hand,
let the nations stand trial before you!
- 20 Strike terror into them, Yahweh,
let the nations know they are only men! Pause
- 1 Lamed Yahweh, why do you stand aside,
why hide from us now the times are hard?
- 2 The poor man is devoured by the pride of the wicked,
he is caught in the wiles that the other has devised.
- 3 (Mem) The evil man boasts of his soul's desires,
the grasping man blasphemes,^a the wicked spurns Yahweh.
- 4 (Nun) "His anger is up there, he will not make me pay!
There is no God!" This is the way his mind works.
- 5 At every moment his course is assured,
your rulings are too lofty for his notice;
his rivals? He sneers at them all.
- 6 "Nothing can shake me," he assures himself.
- 7 Himself untouched by disaster, he curses others.
- (Samek) Fraud and oppression fill his mouth,
Pe spite and iniquity are under his tongue;
8 there in the reeds he lies in ambush to kill the innocent where no one can see.
- Ain* Peering and prying for the out of luck, 9 lurking unseen like a lion in his hide,
lurking to capture the poor man,
the poor man seized, he drags him away in his net.
- 10 (Sade) Questing of eye, he stoops, he crouches,
and the luckless wretch falls into his power 11 as he thinks to himself, "God forgets, he hides his face, he does not see at all."
- 12 Qoph Rise, Yahweh, God raise your hand,
do not forget the poor!
- 13 Why does the wicked man spurn God,
assuring himself, "He will not make me pay?"
- 14 Resh You yourself have seen the distress and the grief,
you watch and then take them into your hands;
the luckless man commits himself to you,
you, the orphan's certain help.
- 15 Shin Break the power of the wicked, of the evil man, seek out his wickedness till there is none to be found!
- 16 Yahweh is king for ever and ever,
the pagans are doomed to vanish from his country.

- 17 Tau Yahweh, you listen to the wants of the humble, you bring strength to their hearts, you grant them a hearing, 18 judging in favor of the orphaned and exploited,
 so that earthborn man may strike fear no longer.

PSALM 11

v 10

The confidence of the virtuous*For the choirmaster Of David*

- 1 In Yahweh I take shelter.
 How can you say to me,
 "Bird, fly back to your mountain:
 2 "see how the wicked are bending their bows
 and fitting their arrows to the string,
 ready to shoot the upright from the shadows.
 3 When foundations fall to ruin, what can the virtuous do?"
 4 Yahweh is in his holy Temple,
 Yahweh whose throne is in heaven;
 his eyes look down at the world,
 his searching gaze scans all mankind.
 5 The virtuous and the wicked are under Yahweh's scrutiny, and his soul hates anyone who loves brutality.
 6 He rains coals of fire and brimstone on the wicked,
 he serves them a scorching wind to swallow down.
 7 Yahweh is righteous, he loves virtue, upright men will contemplate his face.

PSALM 12

v 11

Against a deceitful world*For the choirmaster For the octachord Psalm Of David*

- 1 Save us, Yahweh! There are no devout men left, fidelity has vanished from mankind.
 2 All they do is lie to one another, flattering lips, talk from a double heart.
 3 May Yahweh slice off every flattering lip,
 each tongue so glib with boasts,
 4 those who say, "In our tongue lies our strength,
 our lips have the advantage; who can master us?" 5 "For the plundered poor, for the needy who groan, now will I act," says Yahweh.
 "I will grant them the safety they sigh for."
 6 The words of Yahweh are without alloy, nature's silver coming from the earth seven times refined.
 7 And you, Yahweh, hold us in your keeping, against that breed protect us always.
 8 The wicked prowl on every side,
 baseness stands high among the sons of men.

PSALM 13

v 12

A confident appeal

For the choirmaster Psalm Of David

- 1 How much longer will you forget me, Yahweh? For ever?
How much longer will you hide your face from me?
- 2 How much longer must I endure grief in my soul,
and sorrow in my heart by day and by night?
How much longer must my enemy have the upper hand of me?
- 3 Look and answer me, Yahweh my God!
- Give my eyes light, or I shall sleep in death,
and my enemy will say, "I have beaten him,"
and my oppressors have the joy of seeing me stumble.
- 5 But I for my part rely on your love, Yahweh;
let my heart rejoice in your saving help.
Let me sing to Yahweh for the goodness he has shown me.

PSALM 14

v 13

The godless men

For the choirmaster Of David

- 1 The fool says in his heart,
"There is no God!"
Their deeds are corrupt and vile,
there is not one good man left.
- 2 Yahweh is looking down from heaven
at the sons of men,
to see if a single one is wise,
if a single one is seeking God.
- 3 All have turned aside,
all alike are tainted;
there is not one good man left,
not a single one.
- 4 Are they so ignorant, all these evil men
who swallow my people
as though they were eating bread,
and never invoke Yahweh?
- 5 They will be struck with fear,
fear without reason,
since God takes the side of the virtuous:
deride as you may the poor man's hopes,
Yahweh is his shelter.
- 6 Yahweh is his shelter.
- 7 Who will bring Israel salvation from Zion?
When Yahweh brings his people home,
what joy for Jacob, what happiness for Israel!

PSALM 15

v 14

The guest of Yahweh

Psalm Of David

- 1 Yahweh, who has the right to enter your tent,
or to live on your holy mountain?
- 2 The man whose way of life is blameless,
who always does what is right,
who speaks the truth from his heart,
whose tongue is not used for slander,
- 3 who does no wrong to his fellow,
casts no discredit on his neighbor,
4 looks with contempt on the reprobate,
but honors those who fear Yahweh;
- 5 who stands by his pledge at any cost,
does not ask interest on loans,
and cannot be bribed to victimize the innocent.
—If a man does all this, nothing can ever shake him.

PSALM 16

v 15

Yahweh, my heritage

Miktam Of David

- 1 Look after me, God, I take shelter in you.
- 2 To Yahweh you say, "My Lord,
you are my fortune, nothing else but you,"
3 yet to those pagan deities in the land,
"My princes, all my pleasure is in you."
- 4 Their idols teem, after these they run:
shall I pour their blood libations?—not I!
Take their names on my lips?—never!
- 5 Yahweh, my heritage, my cup,
you, and you only, hold my lot secure;
6 the measuring line marks out delightful places for me,
for me the heritage is superb indeed.
- 7 I bless Yahweh, who is my counselor,
and in the night my inmost self instructs me;
8 I keep Yahweh before me always,
for with him at my right hand nothing can shake me.
- 9 So my heart exults, my very soul rejoices,
my body, too, will rest securely, 10 for you will not abandon my soul to Sheol,
nor allow the one you love to see the Pit;
11 you will reveal the path of life to me,
give me unbounded joy in your presence,
and at your right hand everlasting pleasures.

PSALM 17

v 16

The innocent man pleads his cause*Prayer Of David*

- 1 Yahweh, hear the plea of virtue,
 listen to my appeal,
 lend an ear to my prayer,
 my lips free from dishonesty.
- 2 From your presence will my sentence come,
 your eyes are fixed on what is right.
- 3 You probe my heart, examine me at night,
4 you test me yet find nothing, no murmuring from me:
 my mouth has never sinned 'as most men's do.
- 5 No, I have treasured the words from your lips;
 in the path prescribed 'walking deliberately in your footsteps, so that my feet do not slip.
- 6 I invoke you, God, and you answer me;
7 turn your ear to me, hear what I say,
 display your marvelous kindness, savior of fugitives!
- 8 From those who revolt against you guard me like the pupil of your eye; 9 hide me in the shadow of your wings
 from the onslaughts of the wicked.
- 10 My enemies cluster around me, breathing hostility; 11 entrenched in their fat, their mouths utter arrogant claims; 'now they are closing in, 12 they have eyes for nothing but to see me overthrown.
 They look like a lion eager to tear to pieces,
 like a young lion crouching in its hide.
- 13 Rise, Yahweh, subdue him face to face, 14 rescue my soul from the wicked with your sword,
 with your hand, Yahweh, rescue me from men,
 from the sort of men whose lot is here and now.
- 15 Cram their bellies from your stores,
 give them all the sons that they could wish for,
 let them have a surplus to leave their children!
 For me the reward of virtue is to see your face,
 and, on waking, to gaze my fill on your likeness.

Song of triumph for the king

For the choirmaster. Of David, the servant of Yahweh, who addressed the words of this song to Yahweh at the time when Yahweh delivered him from the power of his enemies and of Saul. He said:

- 1 I love you, Yahweh, my strength (my savior, you rescue me from violence).
- 2 Yahweh is my rock and my bastion,
 my deliverer is my God.

I take shelter in him, my rock,
my shield, my horn of salvation,
my stronghold and my refuge.
From violence you rescue me.
3 He is to be praised; on Yahweh I call and am saved from my enemies.

4 The waves of death encircled me,
the torrents of Belial burst on me;
5 the cords of Sheol girdled me,
the snares of death were before me.

6 In my distress I called to Yahweh
and to my God I cried;
from his Temple he heard my voice,
my cry came to his ears.

7 Then the earth quivered and quaked,
the foundations of the mountains trembled (they quivered because he was angry);
8 from his nostrils a smoke ascended,
and from his mouth a fire that consumed (live embers were kindled at it).

9 He bent the heavens and came down,
a dark cloud under his feet;
10 he mounted a cherub and flew,
and soared on the wings of the wind.

11 Darkness he made a veil to surround him,
his tent a watery darkness, dense cloud; 12 before him a flash enkindled
hail and fiery embers.

13 Yahweh thundered from heaven,
the Most High made his voice heard;
14 he let his arrows fly and scattered them,
launched the lightnings and routed them.

15 The bed of the seas was revealed,
the foundations of the world were laid bare,
at your muttered threat, Yahweh,
at the blast of your nostrils' breath.

16 He sends from on high and takes me,
he draws me from deep waters, 17 he delivers me from my powerful enemy,
from a foe too strong for me.

18 They assailed me on my day of disaster,
but Yahweh was my support;
19 he freed me, set me at large,
he rescued me, since he loves me.

20 Yahweh requites me as I act justly,
as my hands are pure so he repays me, 21 since I have kept the ways of Yahweh,
nor fallen away from my God.

22 His judgments are all before me,
his statutes I have not put from me;

- 23 I am blameless in his presence,
I keep sin at arm's length.
- 24 And Yahweh repays me as I act justly,
as my purity is in his sight.
- 25 Faithful you are with the faithful,
blameless with the blameless, 26 pure with the one who is pure,
but crafty with the devious, 27 you save a people that is humble and humiliate eyes that are haughty.
- 28 Yahweh, you yourself are my lamp,
my God lights up my darkness;
29 with you I storm the barbican,
with my God I leap the rampart.
- 30 This God, his way is blameless;
the word of Yahweh is without dross.
He it is who is the shield
of all who take shelter in him.
- 31 Who else is God but Yahweh,
who else a rock save our God?
32 This God who girds me with strength and makes my way without blame,
- 33 who makes my feet like the hinds'
and holds me from falling on the heights, 34 who trains my hands for battle,
my arms to bend a bow of bronze.
- 35 You give me your saving shield
(your right hand upholds me), with care you train me, 36 wide room you make for my steps under me,
my feet have never faltered.
- 37 I pursue my enemies and overtake them,
nor turn back till an end is made of them;
38 I strike them down, and they cannot rise,
they fall, they are under my feet.
- 39 You have girt me with strength for the fight,
bent down my assailants beneath me, 40 made my enemies turn their backs to me;
and those who hate me I destroy.
- 41 They cry out, there is no one to save,
to Yahweh, but there is no reply;
42 I crush them fine as dust before the wind,
trample them like the mud of the streets.
- 43 You deliver me from a people in revolt,
you place me at the head of the nations,
a people I did not know are now my servants,
- 44 foreigners come wooing my favor,
no sooner do they hear than they obey me, 45 foreigners grow faint of heart,
they come trembling out of their fastnesses.

- 46 Life to Yahweh! Blessed be my rock!
Exalted be the God of my salvation,
47 the God who gives me vengeance
and subjects the peoples to me, 48 who rescues me from my raging enemies.
You lift me high above those who attack me,
you deliver me from the man of violence.
49 For this I will praise you, Yahweh, among the heathen and sing praise to your name.
50 His king he saves and saves again,
displays his love for his anointed,
for David and his heirs for ever.

Yahweh, the sun of righteousness

For the choirmaster Psalm Of David

- 1 The heavens declare the glory of God,
the vault of heaven proclaims his handiwork;
2 day discourses of it to day,
night to night hands on the knowledge.
3 No utterance at all, no speech,
no sound that anyone can hear;
4 yet their voice goes out through all the earth,
and their message to the ends of the world.
5 High above, he pitched a tent for the sun,
who comes out of his pavilion like a bridegroom,
exulting like a hero to run his race.
6 He has his rising on the edge of heaven,
the end of his course is its furthest edge,
and nothing can escape his heat.
7 The Law of Yahweh is perfect,
new life for the soul; -
the decree of Yahweh is trustworthy, wisdom for the simple.
8 The precepts of Yahweh are upright,
joy for the heart;
the commandment of Yahweh is clear,
light for the eyes.
9 The fear of Yahweh is pure, lasting for ever;
the judgments of Yahweh are true,
righteous, every one, 10 more desirable than gold,
even than the finest gold;
his words are sweeter than honey,
even than honey that drips from the comb.

- 11 Thus your servant is formed by them,
observance brings great reward.
- 12 But who can detect his own failings?
Wash out my hidden faults.
- 13 And from pride preserve your servant,
never let it dominate me.
So shall I be above reproach,
free from grave sin.
- 14 May the words of my mouth always find favor,
and the whispering of my heart,
in your presence, Yahweh,
my Rock, my Redeemer!

Prayer for the king

For the choirmaster Psalm Of David

- 1 May Yahweh answer you in time of trouble,
may the name of the God of Jacob protect you!
- 2 May he send you help from the sanctuary,
give you support from Zion,
3 remember all your oblations and find your holocaust acceptable; Pause
- 4 may he grant you your heart's desire,
and crown all your plans with success;
5 may we shout with joy for your victory,
and plant our banners in the name of our God!
- May Yahweh grant all your petitions!
- 6 Now I know that Yahweh
saves his anointed,
and answers him from his holy heaven
with mighty victories from his own right hand.
- 7 Some boast of chariots, some of horses,
but we boast about the name of Yahweh our God;
8 theirs to crumple and fall,
but we shall stand, and stand firm!
- 9 Yahweh, save the king,
answer us when we call.

Thanksgiving for the king

For the choirmaster Psalm Of David

- 1 Yahweh, the king rejoices in your power;
what great joy your saving help gives him!
- 2 You have granted him his heart's desire,
not denied him what his lips entreated. Pause

3 For you have met him with choicest blessings, put a crown of pure gold on his head;
 4 he asked for life, and you gave it him,
 length of days for ever and ever.

5 Great his glory through your saving help,
 you have loaded him with splendor and majesty;
 6 yes, you confer on him everlasting blessings,
 you gladden him with the joy of your presence.

7 Yes, the king puts his trust in Yahweh,
 by grace of the Most High he reigns unshaken.

8 Your hand will unmask all your enemies,
 your right hand all who hate you;
 9 you will make them like a blazing furnace,
 the day that you appear,

Yahweh will engulf them in his anger,
 and fire will devour them;
 10 you will wipe their children from the earth,
 their descendants from among the sons of men.

11 Plot though they do to harm you and weave their plan as they may, they cannot win; 12 since you will make them turn tail,
 by shooting your arrows in their faces.

13 Rise, Yahweh, in your power!
 We will sing and play in honor of your strength.

The sufferings and hope of the virtuous man

For the choirmaster To the "Doe of the Dawn" Psalm Of David

1 My God, my God, why have you deserted me?
 How far from saving me, the words I groan!
 2 I call all day, my God, but you never answer,
 all night long I call and cannot rest.

3 Yet, Holy One, you who make your home in the praises of Israel, 4 in you our fathers put their trust,
 they trusted and you rescued them;
 5 they called to you for help and they were saved,
 they never trusted you in vain.

6 Yet here am I, now more worm than man,
 scorn of mankind, jest of the people,
 7 all who see me jeer at me,
 they toss their heads and sneer,

8 "He relied on Yahweh, let Yahweh save him!
 If Yahweh is his friend, let Him rescue him!"

9 Yet you drew me out of the womb,
 you entrusted me to my mother's breasts;
 10 placed on your lap from my birth,
 from my mother's womb you have been my God.

- 11 Do not stand aside: trouble is near,
I have no one to help me!
- 12 A herd of bulls surrounds me,
strong bulls of Bashan close in on me;
13 their jaws are agape for me,
like lions tearing and roaring.
- 14 I am like water draining away,
my bones are all disjointed,
my heart is like wax,
melting inside me;
15a my palate is drier than a potsherd
15b and my tongue is stuck to my jaw.
- 16 A pack of dogs surrounds me,
a gang of villains closes me in;
they tie me hand and foot 15c and leave me lying in the dust of death.
- 17 I can count every one of my bones,
and there they glare at me, gloating;
18 they divide my garments among them
and cast lots for my clothes.
- 19 Do not stand aside, Yahweh.
O my strength, come quickly to my help;
20 rescue my soul from the sword,
my dear life from the paw of the dog, 21 save me from the lion's mouth,
my poor soul from the wild bulls' horns!
- 22 Then I shall proclaim your name to my brothers,
praise you in full assembly:
23 you who fear Yahweh, praise him!
Entire race of Jacob, glorify him!
Entire race of Israel, revere him!
- 24 For he has not despised or disdained the poor man in his poverty,
has not hidden his face from him,
but has answered him when he called.
- 25 You are the theme of my praise in the Great Assembly,
I perform my vows in the presence of those who fear him.
26 The poor will receive as much as they want to eat.
Those who seek Yahweh will praise him.
Long life to their hearts!
- 27 The whole earth, from end to end, will remember and come back to Yahweh;
all the families of the nations will bow down before him.
28 For Yahweh reigns, the ruler of nations!
29 Before him all the prosperous of the earth will bow down, before him will bow all who go down to the dust.
30 And my soul will live for him, my children will serve him;
31 men will proclaim the Lord to generations still to come,
his righteousness to a people yet unborn. All this he has done.

The Good Shepherd*Psalm Of David*

- 1 Yahweh is my shepherd,
 I lack nothing.
- 2 In meadows of green grass he lets me lie.
 To the waters of repose he leads me;
3 there he revives my soul.
- He guides me by paths of virtue for the sake of his name.
- 4 Though I pass through a gloomy valley,
 I fear no harm;
 beside me your rod and your staff
 are there, to hearten me.
- 5 You prepare a table before me
 under the eyes of my enemies;
 you anoint my head with oil,
 my cup brims over.
- 6 Ah, how goodness and kindness pursue me,
 every day of my life;
 my home, the house of Yahweh,
 as long as I live!

Antiphonal psalm for solemn entry into the sanctuary*Psalm Of David*

- 1 To Yahweh belong earth and all it holds,
 the world and all who live in it;
- 2 he himself founded it on the ocean,
 based it firmly on the nether sea.
- 3 Who has the right to climb the mountain of Yahweh,
 who the right to stand in his holy place?
- 4 He whose hands are clean, whose heart is pure,
 whose soul does not pay homage to worthless things
 and who never swears to a lie.
- 5 The blessing of Yahweh is his,
 and vindication from God his savior.
- 6 Such are the people who seek him,
 who seek your presence, God of Jacob!
- 7 Gates, raise your arches,
 rise, you ancient doors,
 let the king of glory in!
- 8 Who is this king of glory?
 Yahweh the strong, the valiant,
 Yahweh valiant in battle!

Pause

- 9 Gates, raise your arches,
rise, you ancient doors,
let the king of glory in!
- 10 Who is this king of glory?
He is Yahweh Sabaoth,
King of glory, he!

Prayer in danger

Of David

- 1 Aleph To you, Yahweh, I lift up my soul, 2 O my God.
- Beth* I rely on you, do not let me be shamed,
do not let my enemies gloat over me!
- 3 Ghimel No, those who hope in you are never shamed, shame awaits disappointed traitors.
- 4 Daleth Yahweh, make your ways known to me,
teach me your paths.
- 5 He Set me in the way of your truth, and teach me,
for you are the God who saves me.
- Waw* All day long I hope in you 7c because of your goodness, Yahweh.
- 6 Zain Remember your kindness, Yahweh,
your love, that you showed long ago.
- 7a Heth Do not remember the sins of my youth;
7b but rather, with your love remember me.
- 8 Teth Yahweh is so good, so upright,
he teaches the way to sinners;
- 9 Yod in all that is right he guides the humble,
and instructs the poor in his way.
- 10 Kaph All Yahweh's paths are love and truth
for those who keep his covenant and his decrees.
- 11 Lamed For the sake of your name, Yahweh, forgive my guilt, for it is great.
- 12 Mem Everyone who fears Yahweh will be taught the course a man should choose;
- 13 Nun his soul will live in prosperity,
his children have the land for their own.
- 14 Samek The close secret of Yahweh belongs to them who fear him, his covenant also, to bring them knowledge.
- 15 Ain My eyes are always on Yahweh,
for he releases my feet from the net.
- 16 Pe Turn to me, take pity on me,
alone and wretched as I am!
- 17 Sade Relieve the distress of my heart,
free me from my sufferings.
- 18 Qoph See my misery and pain,
forgive all my sins!

- 19 Resh See how my enemies multiply,
and how violent their hatred has grown.
- 20 Shin Watch over my soul, rescue me;
let me not be shamed: I take shelter in you.
- 21 Tau Let innocence and integrity be my protection, since my hope is in you, Yahweh.

Redeem Israel, God,
from all his troubles.

PSALM 26

Prayer of the blameless

Of David

- 1 Yahweh, be my judge!
I go my way in my innocence,
My trust in Yahweh never wavers.
- 2 Test me, Yahweh, and probe me,
put me to the trial, loins and heart;
for your love is before my eyes,
and I live my life in loyalty to you.
- 4 No sitting with wastrels for me,
no associating with hypocrites;
I hate the society of evil men,
I refuse to sit down with the wicked.
- 6 I wash my hands in innocence
and join the procession around your altar, singing a hymn of thanksgiving,
proclaiming all your wonders.
- 8 I love the house where you live,
the place where your glory makes its home.
- 9 Do not let my soul share the fate of sinners,
or my life the doom of men of blood,
men with guilt on their hands,
whose right hands are heavy with bribes.
- 11 But I live my life in innocence,
redeem me, Yahweh, take pity on me;
my foot is set on the right path,
I bless you, Yahweh, at the Assemblies.

PSALM 27

In God's company there is no fear

Of David

- 1 Yahweh is my light and my salvation,
whom need I fear?
Yahweh is the fortress of my life,
of whom should I be afraid?

- 2 When evil men advance against me
 to devour my flesh,
 they, my opponents, my enemies,
 are the ones who stumble and fall.
- 3 Though an army pitched camp against me,
 my heart would not fear;
 though war were waged against me,
 my trust would still be firm.
- 4 One thing I ask of Yahweh,
 one thing I seek:
 to live in the house of Yahweh
 all the days of my life,
 to enjoy the sweetness of Yahweh
 and to consult him in his Temple.
- 5 For he shelters me under his awning
 in times of trouble;
 he hides me deep in his tent,
 sets me high on a rock.
- 6 And now my head is held high over the enemies who surround me, in his tent I will offer
 exultant sacrifice.
- I will sing, I will play for Yahweh!
- 7 Yahweh, hear my voice as I cry!
 Pity me! Answer me!
- 8 My heart has said of you, “Seek his face.”
- 9 Yahweh, I do seek your face;
 do not hide your face from me.
- Do not repulse your servant in anger;
 you are my help.
 Never leave me, never desert me,
 God, my savior!
- 10 If my father and mother desert me,
 Yahweh will care for me still.
- 11 Yahweh, teach me your way,
 lead me in the path of integrity
 because of my enemies;
- 12 do not abandon me to the will of my foes—
 false witnesses have risen against me,
 and breathe out violence.
- 13 This I believe: I shall see the goodness of Yahweh,
 in the land of the living.
- 14 Put your hope in Yahweh, be strong, let your heart be bold,
 put your hope in Yahweh.

Petition and thanksgiving

Of David

- 1 I cry to you, Yahweh,
my Rock! Do not be deaf to me,
for if you are silent, I shall go down to the Pit like the rest.
- 2 Hear my voice, raised in petition,
as I cry to you for help,
as I raise my hands, Yahweh, toward your Holy of Holies.
- 3 Do not drag me away with the wicked,
away with the evil men
who talk of peace to their neighbors
while malice is in their hearts.
- 4 Repay them for their actions, Yahweh,
for the evil they commit,
for their handiwork repay them,
let them have what they deserve!
- 5 How blind they are to the works of Yahweh,
to his own handiwork!
May he pull them down and not rebuild them!
- 6 Blessed be Yahweh, for he hears
the sound of my petition!
- 7 Yahweh is my strength, my shield,
my heart puts its trust in him;
I have been helped, my flesh has bloomed again,
I thank him with all my heart.
- 8 Yahweh is the strength of his people,
a saving fortress for his anointed.
- 9 Save your people! Bless your heritage!
Shepherd them; carry them for ever!

Hymn to the lord of the storm

Psalm Of David

- 1 Pay tribute to Yahweh, you sons of God,^a tribute to Yahweh of glory and power,
2 tribute to Yahweh of the glory of his name,
worship Yahweh in his sacred court.
- 3a The voice of Yahweh over the waters!
3c Yahweh over the multitudinous waters!

29 a. The angels, who make up the "sacred court" of v.2.

- 4 The voice of Yahweh in power!
The voice of Yahweh in splendor!
- 5 The voice of Yahweh shatters the cedars,
Yahweh shatters the cedars of Lebanon,
6 making Lebanon leap like a calf,
Sirion^b like a young wild bull.
- 7 The voice of Yahweh sharpens lightning shafts!
- 8 The voice of Yahweh sets the wilderness shaking.
Yahweh shakes the wilderness of Kadesh.
- 9a The voice of Yahweh sets the terebinths shuddering, 9b stripping the forests bare.
- 3b The God of glory thunders.
9c In his palace everything cries, "Glory!"
- 10 Yahweh sat enthroned for the Flood, Yahweh sits enthroned as a king for ever.
- 11 Yahweh gives strength to his people,
Yahweh blesses his people with peace.

Thanksgiving after mortal danger*Psalm Canticle for the Dedication of the House Of David*

- 1 High praise, Yahweh, I give you, for you have helped me up, and not let my enemies gloat over me.
- 2 Yahweh, my God, I cried to you for help, and you have healed me.
- 3 Yahweh, you have brought my soul up from Sheol,
of all those who go down to the Pit you have revived me.
- 4 Play music in Yahweh's honor, you devout,
remember his holiness, and praise him.
- 5 His anger lasts a moment, his favor a lifetime;
in the evening, a spell of tears, in the morning, shouts of joy.
- 6 In my prosperity, I used to say,
"Nothing can ever shake me!"
- 7 Your favor, Yahweh, stood me on a peak impregnable;
but then you hid your face and I was terrified.
- 8 Yahweh, I call to you,
I beg my God to pity me,
9 "What do you gain by my blood^a if I go down to the Pit?
Can the dust praise you or proclaim your faithfulness?"
- 10 "Hear, Yahweh, take pity on me; Yahweh, help me!"
- 11 You have turned my mourning into dancing,
you have stripped off my sackcloth and wrapped me in gladness;
12 and now my heart, silent no longer, will play you music;
Yahweh, my God, I will praise you for ever.

Prayer in time of ordeal

For the choirmaster Psalm Of David

- 1 In you, Yahweh, I take shelter;
never let me be disgraced.
2 In your righteousness deliver me, rescue me,
turn your ear to me, make haste!
- Be a sheltering rock for me,
a walled fortress to save me!
3 For you are my rock, my fortress;
for the sake of your name, guide me, lead me!
- 4 Pull me out of the net they have spread for me,
for you are my refuge;
5 into your hands I commit my spirit,
you have redeemed me, Yahweh.
- 6 God of truth, you hate
those who serve worthless idols;
but I put my trust in Yahweh:
7 I will exult, and rejoice in your love!
- You, who have seen my wretchedness,
and known the miseries of my soul,
8 have not handed me over to the enemy,
you have given my feet space and to spare.
- 9 Take pity on me, Yahweh,
I am in trouble now.
Grief wastes away my eye,
my throat, my inmost parts.
- 10 For my life is worn out with sorrow,
my years with sighs;
my strength yields under misery,
my bones are wasting away.
- 11 To every one of my oppressors
I am contemptible,
loathsome to my neighbors,
to my friends a thing of fear.
- Those who see me in the street
hurry past me;
12 I am forgotten, as good as dead in their hearts,
something discarded.
- 13 I hear their endless slanders,
threats from every quarter,
as they combine against me,
plotting to take my life.

b. Another name for Lebanon.

30 a. I.e., my death.

- 14 But I put my trust in you, Yahweh,
I say, "You are my God."
15 My days are in your hand, rescue me from the hands of my enemies and persecutors; 16 let your face smile on your servant,
save me in your love.
- 17 I invoke you, Yahweh; do not let me be disgraced,
let the disgrace fall on the wicked!
18 May they go speechless to Sheol,
their lying lips struck dumb
for those insolent slurs on the virtuous,
for that arrogance and contempt.
- 19 Yahweh, how great your goodness,
reserved for those who fear you,
bestowed on those who take shelter in you,
for all mankind to see!
- 20 Safe in your presence you hide them
far from the wiles of men;
inside your tent you shelter them
far from the war of tongues.
- 21 Blessed be Yahweh, who performs marvels of love for me (in a fortress-city)!
22 In my alarm I exclaimed,
"I have been snatched out of your sight!"
Yet you heard my petition
when I called to you for help.
- 23 Love Yahweh, all you devout:
Yahweh, protector of the faithful,
will repay the arrogant
with interest.
- 24 Be strong, let your heart be bold,
all you who hope in Yahweh!

PSALM 32

Candid admission of sin

Of David Poem

- 1 Happy the man whose fault is forgiven,
whose sin is blotted out;
2 happy the man whom Yahweh accuses of no guilt,
whose spirit is incapable of deceit!
- 3 All the time I kept silent, my bones were wasting away with groans, day in, day out; 4 day and night your hand
lay heavy on me;
my heart grew parched as stubble
in summer drought.

Pause

5 At last I admitted to you I had sinned;
 no longer concealing my guilt,
 I said, "I will go to Yahweh and confess my fault."
 And you, you have forgiven the wrong I did,
 have pardoned my sin.

Pause

6 That is why each of your servants prays to you in time of trouble;
 even if floods come rushing down,
 they will never reach him.
 7 You are a hiding place for me,
 you guard me when in trouble,
 you surround me with songs of deliverance.

Pause

8 I will instruct you, and teach you the way to go;
 I will watch over you and be your adviser.

9 Do not be like senseless horse or mule that need bit and bridle to curb their spirit (to let you get near them).

10 Many torments await the wicked,
 but grace enfolds the man who trusts in Yahweh.

11 Rejoice in Yahweh,
 exult, you virtuous,
 shout for joy, all upright hearts.

PSALM 33v 32*Hymn to Providence

1 Shout for joy to Yahweh, all virtuous men, praise comes well from upright hearts;
 2 give thanks to Yahweh on the lyre,
 play to him on the ten-string harp;
 3 sing a new song in his honor,
 play with all your skill as you acclaim^a him!
 4 The word of Yahweh is integrity itself,
 all he does is done faithfully;
 5 he loves virtue and justice,
 Yahweh's love fills the earth.

6 By the word of Yahweh the heavens were made,
 their whole array by the breath of his mouth;
 7 he collects the ocean waters as though in a wineskin,
 he stores the deeps in cellars.

8 Let the whole world fear Yahweh,
 let all who live on earth revere him!
 9 He spoke, and it was created;
 he commanded, and there it stood.

10 Yahweh thwarts the plans of nations,
 frustrates the intentions of peoples;
 11 but Yahweh's plans hold good for ever,
 the intentions of his heart from age to age.

33 a. "Hail him with the war cry"; but after the Exile, the war cry has assumed a ceremonial and liturgical character in thanksgivings and processions.

- 12 Happy the nation whose God is Yahweh,
the people he has chosen for his heritage.
- 13 Yahweh looks down from heaven, 14 he sees the whole human race;
from where he sits he watches 15 all who live on the earth,
he who molds every heart
and takes note of all men do.
- 16 A large army will not keep a king safe, 17 nor does the hero escape by his great strength;
it is delusion to rely on the horse for safety,
for all its power, it cannot save.
- 18 But see how the eye of Yahweh is on those who fear him, 19 on those who rely on his love,
to rescue their souls from death
and keep them alive in famine.
- 20 Our soul awaits Yahweh, 21 he is our help and shield;
our hearts rejoice in him,
we trust in his holy name.
22 Yahweh, let your love rest on us
as our hope has rested in you.

PSALM 34

In praise of God's justice

Of David. When after pretending to be mad in front of Abimelech, he was dismissed by him and made his escape

- 1 Aleph I will bless Yahweh at all times,
his praise shall be on my lips continually;
- 2 Beth my soul glories in Yahweh,
let the humble hear and rejoice.
- 3 Ghimel Proclaim with me the greatness of Yahweh,
together let us extol his name.
- 4 Daleth I seek Yahweh, and he answers me
and frees me from all my fears.
- 5 He Every face turned to him grows brighter and is never ashamed.
- 6 Zain A cry goes up from the poor man, and Yahweh hears,
and helps him in all his troubles.
- 7 Heth The angel of Yahweh pitches camp around those who fear him; and he keeps them safe.
- 8 Teth How good Yahweh is—only taste and see!
Happy the man who takes shelter in him.
- 9 Yod Fear Yahweh, you his holy ones:
those who fear him want for nothing.
- 10 Kaph The young lion may go empty and hungry,
but those who seek Yahweh lack nothing good.

- 11 Lamed Come, my sons, listen to me,
I will teach you the fear of Yahweh.
- 12 Mem Which of you wants to live to the full,
who loves long life and enjoyment of prosperity?
- 13 Nun Malice must be banished from your tongue,
deceitful conversation from your lips;
- 14 Samek never yield to evil, practice good,
seek peace, pursue it.
- 16 Pe The face of Yahweh frowns on evil men,
to wipe their memory from the earth;
- 15 Ain the eyes of Yahweh are turned toward the virtuous,
his ears to their cry.
- 17 Sade They cry for help and Yahweh hears and rescues them from all their troubles;
- 18 Qoph Yahweh is near to the brokenhearted,
he helps those whose spirit is crushed.
- 19 Resh Hardships in plenty beset the virtuous man,
but Yahweh rescues him from them all;
- 20 Shin taking care of every bone,
Yahweh will not let one be broken.
- 21 Tau Evil will bring death to the wicked,
those who hate the virtuous will have to pay;
- 22 (Waw) while Yahweh himself ransoms the souls of his servants, and those who take shelter in him have nothing to pay.

PSALM 35

v 34

Prayer of a virtuous man under oppression*Of David*

- 1 Accuse my accusers, Yahweh,
attack my attackers;
- 2 grip shield and buckler,
up, and help me;
- 3 brandish lance and pike
in the faces of my pursuers.
Tell my soul, "I am your salvation."
- 4 Shame and dishonor on those
who are out to kill me!
Back with them! Cover with confusion those who plot my downfall!
- 5 May they be like chaff before the wind,
with the angel of Yahweh to chase them!
- 6 May their way be dark and slippery,
with the angel of Yahweh to hound them!
- 7 Unprovoked they spread their net for me,
they dug a pit for me;
- 8 but Ruin creeps on them unawares,
the net they have spread will catch them instead,
and into their own pit will they fall.

- 9 Then my soul will rejoice in Yahweh,
exult that he has saved me.
- 10 All my bones will exclaim, "Yahweh,
who can compare with you
in rescuing the poor man from the stronger,
the needy from the man who exploits him?"
- 11 Lying witnesses take the stand, questioning me on things I know nothing about;
12 they repay my kindness with evil,
there is desolation in my soul.
- 13 Yet, when they were sick, I put sackcloth on,
I humbled my soul with fasting,
murmuring prayers to my own breast 14 as though for a friend or brother;
and, like a person mourning his mother,
went about dejected and sorrowing.
- 15 Now I have fallen, they crowd around delighted,
flocking to jeer at me;
strangers I never even knew 16 with loud cries tear me to pieces, riddling me with gibe after gibe,
grinding their teeth at me.
- 17 How much longer, Lord, will you look on?
Rescue my soul from their onslaughts,
my dear life from these lions.
- 18 I will give thanks in the Great Assembly,
praise you where the people throng.
- 19 Do not let my lying enemies
gloat over me,
do not let those who hate me for no reason exchange sly glances.
- 20 Peace is not what they discuss with the peace-loving people of the land;
they think out false accusations, 21 their mouths wide to accuse me,
"Aha! Aha!" they say,
"With our own eyes we saw it!"
- 22 Now break your silence, Yahweh, you were looking too,
Lord, do not stand aside,
23 up, wake up, come to my defense,
Lord my God side with me!
- 24 Yahweh my God, you are righteous, so give verdict for me,
and do not let them gloat over me.
- 25 Do not let them think, "Just as we hoped!"
Do not let them say, "Now we have got him down!"
- 26 Shame and dishonor on all
who gloat over my misfortune;
shame and discredit cover all who profit at my expense!
- 27 But shouts of joy and gladness for all who take pleasure in my virtue;

give them constant cause to say,
 "Great is Yahweh,
 who likes to see his servant at peace!"

28 Then my tongue will shout your goodness, and sing your praises all day long.

The wickedness of the sinner, the goodness of God

For the choirmaser Of the servant of Yahweh, David

1 The wicked man's oracle is Sin
 in the depths of his heart;
 there is no fear of God
 before his eyes.

2 He sees himself with too flattering an eye
 to detect and detest his guilt;
 3 all he says tends to mischief and deceit,
 he has turned his back on wisdom.

4 How best to work mischief he plots,
 even when he is in bed;
 he persists in his evil course,
 he never rejects what is bad.

5 Your love, Yahweh, reaches to the heavens,
 your faithfulness to the clouds;
 6 your righteousness is like the mountains of God,
 your judgments like the mighty deep.

Yahweh, protector of man and beast,
 7 how precious, God, your love!
 Hence the sons of men
 take shelter in the shadow of your wings.

8 They feast on the bounty of your house,
 you give them drink from your river of pleasure;
 9 yes, with you is the fountain of life,
 by your light we see the light.

10 Do not stop loving those who know you,
 or being righteous to upright hearts.
 11 Do not let arrogant feet crush me
 or wicked hands expel me.

12 The evil men have fallen, there they lie, beaten down, never to stand again!

PSALM 37

v 36

The fate of the virtuous and the wicked

Of David

1 Aleph Do not worry about the wicked,
 do not envy those who do wrong.
 2 Quick as the grass they wither, fading like the green in the field.

- 3 Beth Trust in Yahweh and do what is good,
make your home in the land and live in peace;
4 make Yahweh your only joy
and he will give you what your heart desires.
- 5 Ghimel Commit your fate to Yahweh,
trust in him and he will act:
6 making your virtue clear as the light,
your integrity as bright as noon.
- 7 Daleth Be quiet before Yahweh, and wait patiently for him,
not worrying about men who make their fortunes,
about men who scheme 14c to bring the poor and needy down.
- 8 He Enough of anger, leave rage aside,
do not worry, nothing but evil can come of it:
9 for the wicked will be expelled,
while those who hope in Yahweh shall have the land for their own.
- 10 Waw A little longer, and the wicked will be no more,
search his place well, he will not be there; 11 but the humble shall have the land for their own to enjoy untroubled peace.
- 12 Zain The wicked man plots against the virtuous,
and grinds his teeth at him;
13 but the Lord only laughs at the man,
knowing his end is in sight.
- 14a Heth Though the wicked draw the sword,
14b and bend their bow, to kill the upright, 15 their swords will only pierce their own hearts
and their bows will be smashed.
- 16 Teth The little the virtuous possesses
outweighs all the wealth of the wicked, 17 since the arms of the wicked are doomed to break,
and Yahweh will uphold the virtuous.
- 18 Yod Yahweh takes care of good men's lives,
and their heritage will last for ever;
19 they will not be at a loss when bad times come,
in time of famine they will have more than they need.
- 20 Kaph As for the wicked—they will perish,
these enemies of Yahweh;
they will vanish like the beauty of the meadows,
they will vanish in smoke.
- 21 Lamed The wicked man borrows without meaning to repay,
but a virtuous man is generous and openhanded;
22 those he blesses will have the land for their own,
those he curses will be expelled.
- 23 Mem Yahweh guides a man's steps,
they are sure, and he takes pleasure in his progress;
24 he may fall, but never fatally,
since Yahweh supports him by the hand.
- 25 Nun Now I am old, but ever since my youth
I never saw a virtuous man deserted,

- 26 or his descendants forced to beg their bread;
he is always compassionate, always lending:
his children will be blessed.
- 27 Samek Never yield to evil, practice good
and you will have an everlasting home, 28 for Yahweh loves what is right,
and never deserts the devout.
- Ain* Those who do wrong will perish once and for all,
and the children of the wicked shall be expelled;
29 the virtuous will have the land for their own,
and make it their home for ever.
- 30 Pe The mouth of the virtuous man murmurs wisdom,
and his tongue speaks what is right;
31 with the Law of his God in his heart
his steps can never falter.
- 32 Sade The wicked man spies on the virtuous,
seeking to kill him;
33 Yahweh will never leave him in those clutches,
or let him be condemned under trial.
- 34a Qoph Put your hope in Yahweh, keep his way,
40b and he will save you from the wicked, 34b raising you until you make the land your own and see the wicked expelled.
- 35 Resh I have seen the wicked in his triumph towering like a cedar of Lebanon, 36 but when next I passed, he was not there,
I looked for him and he was nowhere to be found.
- 37 Shin Observe the innocent man, consider the upright:
for the man of peace there are descendants, 38 but sinners shall be destroyed altogether,
the descendants of the wicked shall be wiped out.
- 39 Tau The salvation of the virtuous comes from Yahweh,
he is their shelter when trouble comes;
40a Yahweh helps and rescues them,
he saves them because they take shelter in him.

Prayer in distress

Psalms Of David In commemoration

- 1 Yahweh, do not punish me in your rage,
or reprove me in the heat of anger.
- 2 Your arrows have pierced deep,
your hand has pressed down on me;
- 3 no soundness in my flesh now you are angry,
no health in my bones, because of my sin.
- 4 My guilt is overwhelming me,
it is too heavy a burden;
- 5 my wounds stink and are festering,

the result of my folly;
 bowed down, bent double, overcome,
 I go mourning all the day.

My loins are burned up with fever,
 there is no soundness in my flesh:
 numbed and crushed and overcome,
 my heart groans, I moan aloud.

Lord, all that I long for is known to you,
 my sighing is no secret from you;
 my heart is throbbing, my strength deserting me,
 the light of my eyes itself has left me.

My friends and my companions shrink from my wounds,
 even the dearest of them keep their distance;
 men intent on killing me lay snares,
 others, hoping to hurt me, threaten my ruin,
 hatching treacherous plots all day.

But I am like the deaf, I do not hear,
 like the dumb man who does not open his mouth;
 I am like the man who, hearing nothing,
 gives no sharp answer in return.

For I put my trust in you, Yahweh,
 and leave you to answer for me, Lord my God.
 I have already said, "Stop them gloating over me, do not let them take advantage of me if my foot should slip."

And now my fall is upon me,
 there is no relief from my pains;
 yes, I admit my guilt,
 I am sorry for having sinned.

There are more and more to hurt me for no reason,
 There are more to hate me unprovoked,
 repaying my kindness with evil,
 arraigning me for trying to do right.

Yahweh, do not desert me,
 do not stand aside, my God!
 Come quickly to my help,
 Lord, my savior!

The insignificance of man before God

For the choirmaster For Jeduthun Psalm Of David

I said, "I will watch how I behave,
 and not let my tongue lead me into sin;
 I will keep a muzzle on my mouth
 as long as the wicked man is near me."
 I stayed dumb, silent, speechless,
 though the sight of him thriving made torment increase.

My heart had been smoldering inside me,
 but it flared up at the thought of this

- 4 and the words burst out,
 "Tell me, Yahweh, when my end will be,
 how many days are allowed me,
 show me how frail I am.
- 5 "Look, you have given me an inch or two of life,
 my life-span is nothing to you;
 every man that stands on earth is only a puff of wind, Pause
 6 and the wealth he amasses is only a puff of wind—
 he does not know who will take it next."
- 7 So tell me, Lord, what can I expect?
 My hope is in you.
- 8 Free me from all my sins,
 do not make me the butt of idiots.
- 9 I am dumb, I speak no more,
 since you yourself have been at work.
- 10 Lay your scourge aside,
 I am worn out with the blows you deal me.
- 11 You punish man with the penalties of sin,
 like a moth you eat away all that gives him pleasure—
 man is indeed only a puff of wind! Pause
- 12 Yahweh, hear my prayer,
 listen to my cry for help,
 do not stay deaf to my crying.
 I am your guest, and only for a time,
 a nomad like all my ancestors.
- 13 Look away, let me draw breath,
 before I go away and am no more!

Song of praise and prayer for help*For the choirmaster Psalm Of David*

- 1 I waited and waited for Yahweh,
 now at last he has stooped to me
 and heard my cry for help.
- 2 He has pulled me out of the horrible pit,
 out of the slough of the marsh,
 has settled my feet on a rock
 and steadied my steps.
- 3 He has put a new song in my mouth, a song of praise to our God;
 dread will seize many at the sight,
 and they will put their trust in Yahweh.
- 4 Happy the man who puts his trust in Yahweh,
 and does not side with rebels
 who stray after false gods.
- 5 How many wonders you have done for us,
 Yahweh, my God!

How many plans you have made for us;
you have no equal!
I want to proclaim them, again and again,
but they are more than I can count.

6 You, who wanted no sacrifice or oblation,
opened my ear,
7 you asked no holocaust or sacrifice for sin;
then I said, "Here I am! I am coming!"

8 In the scroll of the book am I not commanded to obey your will?
My God, I have always loved your Law
from the depths of my being.

9 I have always proclaimed the righteousness of Yahweh
in the Great Assembly;
nor do I mean to stop proclaiming,
as you know well.

10 I have never kept your righteousness to myself,
but have spoken of your faithfulness and saving help;
I have made no secret of your love and faithfulness
in the Great Assembly.

11 For your part, Yahweh, do not withhold your kindness from me!
May your love and faithfulness constantly preserve me.

12 More misfortunes beset me than I can count,
my sins close in on me
until I can hardly see,
they outnumber the hairs on my head;
my courage is running out.

13 Oh come and rescue me, Yahweh,
Yahweh come quickly and help me!
14 Shame and dishonor on all
who are out to kill, to destroy me!

Down with them! Disgrace on those who enjoy my misfortune!
15 May they be aghast with shame,
those who say to me, "Aha! Aha!"

16 But joy and gladness
for all who seek you!
To all who love your saving power
give constant cause to say, "God is great!"

17 To me, poor wretch,
come quickly, Lord!
My helper, my savior, my God,
come and do not delay!

Prayer of a sick and lonely man

For the choirmaster Psalm Of David

- 1 Happy the man who cares for the poor and the weak:
if disaster strikes, Yahweh will come to his help.
- 2 Yahweh will guard him, give him life and happiness in the land;
ah, do not let his enemies treat him as they please!
- 3 Yahweh will be his comfort on his bed of sickness;
most carefully you make his bed when he is sick.
- 4 I for my part said, "Yahweh, take pity on me!
Cure me, for I have sinned against you."
- 5 My enemies say of me with malice,
"How long before he dies and his name perishes?"
- 6 They visit me, their hearts full of spite,
they offer hollow comfort, and go out to spread the news.
- 7 All who hate me whisper to each other about me,
reckoning I deserve the misery I suffer,
- 8 "This sickness is fatal that has overtaken him,
he is down at last, he will never get up again."
- 9 Even my closest and most trusted friend,
who shared my table, rebels against me.
- 10 But Yahweh, take pity on me!
Raise me up, and I will pay them back;
and by this I shall know that I enjoy your favor,
if my enemy fails to triumph over me;
- 11 and I, whom you uphold, go unscathed,
set by you in your presence for ever.
- 12
- 13 Blessed be Yahweh, the God of Israel,
from all eternity and for ever!
Amen. Amen!^a

Lament of a Levite in exile

For the choirmaster Poem Of the sons of Korah

- 1 As a doe longs
for running streams,
so longs my soul
for you, my God.
- 2 My soul thirsts for God,
the God of life;
when shall I go to see the face of God?^a
- 3 I have no food but tears,
day and night;

41 a. This doxology ends the first book of the Psalter.

42 a. To find the presence of God in the Temple at Jerusalem.

and all day long men say to me,
 "Where is your God?"

4 I remember, and my soul
 melts within me:
 I am on my way to the wonderful Tent,
 to the house of God,
 among cries of joy and praise
 and an exultant throng.

5 Why so downcast, my soul,
 why do you sigh within me?
 Put your hope in God: I shall praise him yet,
 6 my savior, my God.

When my soul is downcast within me,
 I think of you;
 from the land of Jordan and of Hermon,
 of you, humble mountain!^b

7 Deep is calling to deep as your cataracts roar;
 all your waves, your breakers,
 have rolled over me.

8 In the daytime may Yahweh command his love to come,
 and by night may his song be on my lips,
 a prayer to the God of my life!

9 Let me say to God my Rock,
 "Why do you forget me?
 Why must I walk
 so mournfully, oppressed by the enemy?"

10 Nearly breaking my bones
 my oppressors insult me,
 as all day long they ask me,
 "Where is your God?"

11 Why so downcast, my soul,
 why do you sigh within me?
 Put your hope in God: I shall praise him yet,
 my savior, my God.

43

1 Defend me, take up my cause against people who have no pity;
 from the treacherous and cunning man
 rescue me, God.

2 It is you, God, who are my shelter:
 why do you abandon me?
 Why must I walk
 so mournfully, oppressed by the enemy?

3 Send out your light and your truth,
 let these be my guide,
 to lead me to your holy mountain
 and to the place where you live.

4 Then I shall go to the altar of God,
 to the God of my joy,

I shall rejoice, I shall praise you on the harp,
Yahweh, my God.

5 Why so downcast, my soul,
why do you sigh within me?
Put your hope in God: I shall praise him yet,
my savior, my God.

National lament

For the choirmaster Of the sons of Korah Psalm

1 God, we have heard with our own ears,
our ancestors have told us
of the deeds you performed in their days, 2 in days long ago, by your hand.

To put them in the land you dispossessed the nations,
you harried the peoples to make room for them;
3 it was not by their swords they won the land,
it was not by their arms they gained the victory:
it was your right hand, your arm
and the light of your face—because you loved them.

4 You it was, my King, my God,
who won those victories for Jacob;
5 through you we trampled down our enemies through your name we subdued our aggressors.

6 My trust was not in my bow,
my sword did not gain me victory:
7 we conquered our enemies through you,
you, who defeated all who hated us—
8 our boast was always of God,
we praised your name without ceasing.

9 Yet now you abandon and scorn us,
you no longer march with our armies,
10 you allow the enemy to push us back,
and let those who hate us raid us when it suits them.

11 You let us go to the slaughterhouse like sheep,
you scatter us among the nations;
12 you sell your people for next to nothing,
and make no profit from the bargain.

13 Thanks to you, our neighbors insult us,
all those around us make us their butt and laughingstock; 14 you make us a byword to pagans,
a thing to make them toss their heathen heads.

15 All day long I brood on this disgrace,
my face covered in shame,
16 under a shower of insult and blasphemy,
a display of hatred and revenge.

Pause

17 All this happened to us though we had not forgotten you, though we had not been disloyal to your covenant;
 18 though our hearts had not turned away,
 though our steps had not left your path:
 19 yet you crushed us in the place where the jackals live,
 and threw the shadow of death over us.

20 Had we forgotten the name of our own God
 and stretched out our hands to a foreign one, 21 would not God have found this out,
 he who knows the secrets of the heart?
 22 No, it is for your sake we are being massacred daily,
 and counted as sheep for the slaughter.

23 Wake up, Lord! Why are you asleep?
 Awake! Do not abandon us for good.
 24 Why do you hide your face,
 and forget we are wretched and exploited?

25 For we are bowed in the dust,
 our bodies crushed to the ground.
 26 Rise! Come to our help!
 Redeem us for the sake of your love.

Royal wedding song

For the choirmaster Tune: "Lilies . . ." Of the sons of Korah Poem Love song

1 My heart is stirred by a noble theme:
 I address my poem to the king;
 my tongue as ready as the pen of a busy scribe.

2 Of all men you are the most handsome,
 your lips are moist with grace,
 for God has blessed you for ever.

3 Hero, strap your sword at your side,
 4 in majesty and splendor; on, ride on,
 in the cause of truth, religion and virtue!

Stretch the bowstring tight,
 lending terror to your right hand.
 5 Your arrows are sharp; nations lie at your mercy,
 the king's enemies are losing heart.

6 Your throne, God, shall last for ever and ever,
 your royal scepter is a scepter of integrity:
 7 virtue you love as much as you hate wickedness.

This is why God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness, above all your rivals;
 8 myrrh and aloes waft from your robes.

9 From palaces of ivory harps entertain you,
 daughters of kings are among your maids of honor;
 on your right stands the queen, in gold from Ophir.

- 10 Listen, daughter, pay careful attention:
forget your nation and your ancestral home,
11 then the king will fall in love with your beauty.
He is your master now, bow down to him.
- 12 The daughter of Tyre will solicit your favor with gifts, 13 the wealthiest nations, with jewels set in gold.
- 14 Dressed in brocades, the king's daughter is led in to the king, with bridesmaids in her train.
- Her ladies-in-waiting follow 15 and enter the king's palace to general rejoicing.
- 16 Your ancestors will be replaced by sons whom you will make lords of the whole world.
- 17 I shall immortalize your name,
nations will sing your praises for ever and ever.

God is on our side

For the choirmaster Of the sons of Korah For oboe Song

- 1 God is our shelter, our strength,
ever ready to help in time of trouble,
2 so we shall not be afraid when the earth gives way,
when mountains tumble into the depths of the sea, 3 and its waters roar and seethe,
the mountains tottering as it heaves.
- (Yahweh Sabaoth is on our side,
our citadel, the God of Jacob!) Pause
- 4 There is a river whose streams refresh the city of God, and it sanctifies the dwelling of the Most High.
5 God is inside the city, she can never fall,
at crack of dawn God helps her;
6 to the roaring of nations and tottering of kingdoms,
when he shouts, the world disintegrates.
- 7 Yahweh Sabaoth is on our side,
our citadel, the God of Jacob! Pause
- 8 Come, think of Yahweh's marvels,
the astounding things he has done in the world;
9 all over the world he puts an end to wars,
he breaks the bow, he snaps the spear,
he gives shields to the flames.
10 "Pause a while and know that I am God, exalted among the nations, exalted over the earth!"
- 11 Yahweh Sabaoth is on our side,
our citadel, the God of Jacob! Pause

Yahweh, king of Israel, lord of the world*For the choirmaster Of the sons of Korah Psalm*

- 1 Clap your hands, all you peoples,
acclaim God with shouts of joy;
- 2 for Yahweh, the Most High, is to be dreaded,
the Great King of the whole world.
- 3 He brings the peoples under our dominion,
he puts the nations under our feet;
- 4 for us he chooses our heritage—
the pride of Jacob, whom he loved.
- 5 God rises to shouts of acclamation,
Yahweh rises to a blast of trumpets,
- 6 let the music sound for our God, let it sound,
let the music sound for our King, let it sound!
- 7 God is king of the whole world:
play your best in his honor!
- 8 God is king of the nations,
he reigns on his holy throne.
- 9 The leaders of the nations rally
to the people of the God of Abraham.
Every shield in the world belongs to God.
He reigns supreme.

Zion, the mountain of God*Song Psalm Of the sons of Korah*

- 1 Yahweh is great and supremely to be praised
in the city of our God,
2 the holy mountain, beautiful where it rises,
joy of the whole world;
- Mount of Zion, deep heart of the North,
city of the Great King;
- 3 here among her palaces,
God proved to be her fortress.
- 4 There was a rallying, once, of kings,
advancing together along a common front;
- 5 they looked, they were amazed,
they panicked, they ran!
- 6 There they shuddered and writhed
like women in labor, 7 it was the east wind, that wrecker of ships of Tarshish!^a

8 What we had heard we saw for ourselves
 in the city of our God,
 the city of Yahweh Sabaoth,
 God-protected for ever.

Pause

9 God, in your Temple
 we reflect on your love:
 10 God, your praise, like your name,
 reaches to the ends of the world.

 Your right hand holds the victory;
 11 Mount Zion rejoices,
 the daughters of Judah exult
 to have your rulings.

12 Go through Zion, walk around her,
 counting her towers, 13 admiring her walls,
 reviewing her palaces;

 then tell the next generation 14 that God is here,
 our God and leader,
 for ever and ever.

The futility of riches*For the choirmaster Of the sons of Korah Psalm*

1 Hear this, all nations,
 pay attention all who live on earth,
 2 important people, ordinary people,
 rich and poor alike!

3 My lips have wisdom to utter,
 my heart whispers sound sense;
 4 I turn my attention to a proverb,
 and set my solution to the harp.

5 Why should I be afraid in evil times,
 when malice dogs my steps and hems me in,
 6 of men who trust in their wealth and boast of the profusion of their riches?

7 But man could never redeem himself or pay his ransom to God:
 8 it costs so much to redeem his life,
 9 it is beyond him; how then could he live on for ever and never see the Pit—

10 when all the time he sees that wise men die;
 that foolish and stupid perish both alike,
 and leave their fortunes to others.

- 11 Their tombs are their eternal home,
their lasting residence,
though they owned estates that bore their names.
- 12 Man when he prospers forfeits intelligence:
he is one with the cattle doomed to slaughter.
- 13 So on they go with their self-assurance, with men to run after them when they raise their voice. Pause
- 14 Like sheep to be penned in Sheol, Death will herd them to pasture
and the upright will have the better of them.
- Dawn will come and then the show they made will disappear,
Sheol the home for them!
But God will redeem my life
from the grasp of Sheol, and will receive me. Pause
- 16 Do not be afraid when a man grows rich,
when the glory of his House increases;
when he dies he can take nothing with him,
his glory cannot follow him down.
- 18 The soul he made so happy while he lived
—"look after yourself and men will praise you"— will join the company of his ancestors who will never see the light of day again.
- 20 Man in his prosperity forfeits intelligence:
he is one with the cattle doomed to slaughter.

Worship in spirit and truth

Psalms Of Asaph

- 1 Yahweh, God of Gods,
speaks, he summons the earth.
From east to west,
2 from Zion, perfection of beauty, he shines.
- 3 Let our God come, and be silent no more!
Preceding him, a devouring fire,
around him, a raging storm;
4 he summons the heavens above and the earth, to his people's trial:
- 5 "Assemble my faithful before me who sealed my covenant by sacrifice!" 6 Let the heavens proclaim his righteousness
when God himself is judge!
- 7a "Listen, my people, I am speaking;
7b Israel, I am giving evidence against you!
21c I charge, I indict you to your face, 7c I, God, your God.

- 8 "I am not finding fault with your sacrifices,
those holocausts constantly before me;
- 9 I do not claim one extra bull from your homes,
nor one extra goat from your pens,
- 10 "since all the forest animals are already mine,
and the cattle on my mountains in their thousands;
- 11 I know all the birds of the air,
nothing moves in the field that does not belong to me.
- 12 "If I were hungry, I should not tell you,
since the world and all it holds is mine.
- 13 Do I eat the flesh of bulls,
or drink goats' blood?
- 14 "No, let thanksgiving be your sacrifice to God, fulfill the vows you make to the Most High;
then you can invoke me in your troubles
and I will rescue you, and you shall honor me."
- 16 But to the wicked man God says:
- "What business have you reciting my statutes,
standing there mouthing my covenant,
since you detest my discipline
and thrust my words behind you?
- 18 "You make friends with a thief as soon as you see one,
you feel at home with adulterers,
your mouth is given freely to evil
and your tongue to inventing lies.
- 20 "You sit there, slandering your own brother,
you malign your own mother's son.
You do this, and expect me to say nothing?
Do you really think I am like you?
- 22 "You are leaving God out of account; take care!
Or I will tear you to pieces where no one can rescue you!
Whoever makes thanksgiving his sacrifice honors me;
to the upright man I will show how God can save."

Miserere

For the choirmaster Psalm Of David When the prophet Nathan came to him because he had been with Bathsheba

- 1 Have mercy on me, O God, in your goodness,
in your great tenderness wipe away my faults;
- 2 wash me clean of my guilt,
purify me from my sin.
- 3 For I am well aware of my faults,
I have my sin constantly in mind,
having sinned against none other than you,
having done what you regard as wrong.

You are just when you pass sentence on me,
blameless when you give judgment.

5 You know I was born guilty,
a sinner from the moment of conception.

6 Yet, since you love sincerity of heart,
teach me the secrets of wisdom.

7 Purify me with hyssop^a until I am clean;
wash me until I am whiter than snow.

8 Instill some joy and gladness into me,
let the bones you have crushed rejoice again.

9 Hide your face from my sins,
wipe out all my guilt.

10 God, create a clean heart in me,
put into me a new and constant spirit,

11 do not banish me from your presence,
do not deprive me of your holy spirit.

12 Be my savior again, renew my joy, keep my spirit steady and willing;
13 and I shall teach transgressors the way to you,
and to you the sinners will return.

14 Save me from death, God my savior,
and my tongue will acclaim your righteousness;
15 Lord, open my lips,
and my mouth will speak out your praise.

16 Sacrifice gives you no pleasure,
were I to offer holocaust, you would not have it.
17 My sacrifice is this broken spirit,
you will not scorn this crushed and broken heart.

18 Show your favor graciously to Zion.
rebuild the walls of Jerusalem.^b

19 Then there will be proper sacrifice to please you —holocaust and whole oblation—
and young bulls to be offered on your altar.

For the choirmaster Poem Of David When Doeg the Edomite went and warned Saul, "David has gone to Ahimelech's house"

1 Why make a boast of your wickedness,
you champion in villainy,
2 all day plotting destruction?
Your tongue is razor sharp,
you artist in perfidy!

3 You prefer evil to good,
lying to honest speech;
4 you love the destructive word,
perfidious tongue!

Pause

- 5 That is why God will crush you,
snatch you away for good,
tear you out of your tent,
uproot you from the land of the living. Pause
- 6 Dread will seize the virtuous at the sight,
they will laugh at his fate:
- 7 "So much for the man who refused to make God his fortress,
but relied on his own great wealth and drew his strength from crime!"
- 8 I, for my part, like an olive tree growing in the house of God,
put my trust in God's love

- 9 I mean to thank you constantly for doing what you did,
and put my hope in your name, that is so full of kindness,
in the presence of those who love you.

The godless man^a*For the choirmaster In sickness Poem Of David*

- 1 The fool says in his heart,
"There is no God!"
They are false, corrupt, vile,
there is not one good man left.
- 2 God is looking down from heaven
at the sons of men,
to see if a single one is wise,
if a single one is seeking God.
- 3 All have turned aside,
all alike are tainted
There is not one good man left,
not a single one.
- 4 Are they so ignorant, these evil men
who swallow my people
as though they were eating bread,
and never invoke God?
- 5 They will be struck with fear,
fear without reason,
since God scatters the bones of the apostate,
they are disgraced, for God rejects them.
- 6 Who will bring Israel salvation from Zion?
When God brings his people home,
what joy for Jacob, what happiness for Israel!

Prayer in persecution

For the choirmaster For strings Poem Of David

- 1 God, hear my prayer,
do not hide from my petition,

- 3 I shudder at the enemy's shouts,
at the howling of the wicked;
they bring misery crashing down on me,
and vent their fury on me.
- 4 My heart aches in my breast,
Death's terrors assail me,
fear and trembling descend on me,
horror overwhelms me.
- 5 And I say,
"Oh for the wings of a dove to fly away and find rest."
- 6 How far I would take my flight,
and make a new home in the desert!

12 Were it an enemy who insulted me,
I could put up with that;
had a rival got the better of me,
I could hide from him.

13 But you, a man of my own rank,
a colleague and a friend, 14 to whom sweet conversation bound me in the house of God!

15 May they recoil in disorder,
may Death descend on them,
may they go down, still living, to Sheol—
since Evil shares their homes.

16 I, for myself, appeal to God and Yahweh saves me;
17 evening, morning, noon,
I complain, I groan;
he will hear me calling.

18 His peace can ransom me
from the war being waged on me.
How many are ranged against me!
19 But God will hear me.

Sovereign from the first, he will humble them;
no change of heart for them,
since they do not fear God.

Pause

20 He^a has attacked his friends,
he has gone back on his word;
21 though his mouth is smoother than butter,
he has war in his heart;
his words may soothe more than oil,
but they are naked swords.

22 Unload your burden on to Yahweh,
and he will support you;
he will never permit
the virtuous to falter.

23 As for these murderous, these treacherous men,
you, God, will push them down to the deepest Pit
before half their days are out.

For my part, I put my trust in you.

Reliance on God

For the choirmaster Tune: "Dove of the distant gods" Of David Miktam
When the Philistines held him in Gath

- 1 Take pity on me, God, as they harry me, pressing their attacks home all day.
- 2 All day my opponents harry me,
 hordes coming in to the attack.
- 3 Raise me up when I am most afraid,
 I put my trust in you;
- 4 in God, whose word^a I praise,
 in God I put my trust, fearing nothing;
 what can men do to me?
- 5 All day long they twist what I say,
 all they think of is how to harm me, 6 they conspire, lurk, spy on my movements, determined to take my life.
- 7 Are they to go unpunished for such a crime?
 God, in fury bring the nations down!
- 8 You have noted my agitation,
 now collect my tears in your wineskin!
- 9 Then my enemies will have to fall back
 as soon as I call for help.
- This I know: that God is on my side.
 10 In God whose word I praise,
 in Yahweh, whose word I praise,
 11 in God I put my trust, fearing nothing;
 what can man do to me?
- 12 I must fulfill the vows I made you, God;
 I shall pay you my thank offerings,
 13 for you have rescued me from Death to walk in the presence of God in the light of the living.

Among ferocious enemies

For the choirmaster Tune: "Do not destroy" Of David Miktam When he escaped from Saul, in the cave

- 1 Take pity on me, God, take pity on me,
 in you my soul takes shelter;
 I take shelter in the shadow of your wings
 until the destroying storm is over.
- 2 I call on God the Most High,
 on God who has done everything for me:
 3 to send from heaven and save me,
 to check the people harrying me,
 may God send his faithfulness and love.

Pause

- 4 I lie surrounded by lions greedy for human prey,
their teeth are spears and arrows,
their tongue a sharp sword.
- 5 Rise high above the heavens, God,
let your glory be over the earth!
- 6 They laid a net where I was walking
when I was bowed with care;
they dug a pitfall for me
but fell into it themselves!
- 7 My heart is ready, God,
my heart is ready;
I mean to sing and play for you,
awake, my muse,
awake, lyre and harp,
I mean to wake the Dawn!
- 9 Lord, I mean to thank you among the peoples,
to play music to you among the nations;
10 your love is high as heaven,
your faithfulness as the clouds.
- 11 Rise high above the heavens, God,
let your glory be over the earth!

The Judge of earthly judges*For the choirmaster Tune: "Do not destroy" Of David Miktam*

- 1 Gods^a you may be, but do you give the sentences you should,
and dispense impartial justice to mankind?
- 2 On the contrary, in your hearts you meditate oppression,
with your hands you dole out tyranny on earth.
- 3 Right from the womb these wicked men have gone astray,
these double talkers have been in error since their birth;
4 their poison is the poison of the snake,
they are deaf as the adder that blocks its ears
5 so as not to hear the magician's music and the clever snake charmer's spells.
- 6 God, break their teeth in their mouths,
Yahweh, wrench out the fangs of these savage lions!
7 May they drain away like water running to waste,
may they wither like trodden grass, 8 like a slug that melts as it moves,
like an abortion, denied the light of day!
- 9 Before they sprout thorns like the bramble,
green or scorched, may the wrath whirl them away!
10 What joy for the virtuous, seeing this vengeance,

56 a. I.e., promise.

58 a. The judges and rulers addressed in these two verses.

- 11 bathing their feet in the blood of the wicked!
 "So," people will say, "the virtuous do have their harvest;
 so there is a God who dispenses justice on earth!"

Against the wicked

For the choirmaster Tune: "Do not destroy" Of David Miktam When Saul sent spies to his house to have him killed

- 1 Rescue me from my enemies, my God,
 protect me from those attacking me,
 2 rescue me from these evil men,
 save me from these murderers!
- 3 Look at them lurking to ambush me,
 they are strong and united against me;
 4 for no fault, no sin, no offense of mine,
 Yahweh, how they hurry into position!
- 5 Wake up, stand by me and look,
 Yahweh, God of Sabaoth, God of Israel,
 up, now, and punish these pagans,
 show no mercy to these villains and traitors! Pause
- 6 Back they come at nightfall,
 snarling like curs,
 prowling through the town.
- 7 See how they slaver at the mouth,
 with swords between their teeth,
 "There is no one listening."
- 8 Yahweh, you laugh at them,
 you make fun of these pagans.
 9 My Strength, I look to you.
- 10 My citadel is God himself,
 the God who loves me is coming,
 God will show me my enemies defeated.
- 11 Slaughter them, God, before my people forget!
 Harry them with your power and strike them down,
 Lord, our shield!
- 12 Sin is in their mouths, sin on their lips,
 so let them be caught in their pride!
 For the curses and lies they utter,
- 13 destroy them in anger, destroy, until they are finished, until God is acknowledged as ruler in Jacob to the remotest parts of the earth! Pause
- 14 Back they come at nightfall,
 snarling like curs,
 prowling through the town;
 15 scavenging for food,
 growling till they are full.

16 I, for my part, celebrate your strength,
I sing of your love morning by morning;
you have always been my citadel,
a shelter when I am in trouble.

17 My Strength, I play for you,
my citadel is God himself,
the God who loves me.

National prayer after defeat

For the choirmaster Tune: "The decree is a lily" Miktam Of David For instruction When he was at war with Aram-naharaim and Aram-zobah, and Joab marched back to destroy twelve thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt

1 God, you have rejected us, broken us;
you have been angry, come back to us!

2 You have made the earth tremble, torn it apart;
now mend the rifts, it is tottering still!

3 You have allowed your people to suffer,
to drink a wine that makes us reel.

4 Hoist the standard to rally those who fear you,
to put them out of range of bow and arrow.

5 To bring rescue to those you love,
save with your right hand and answer us!

Pause

6 God promised us once from his sanctuary,
"I the Victor will parcel out Shechem,
and share out the Valley of Succoth.

7 "Gilead is mine, Manasseh mine,
Ephraim is my helmet,
Judah, my marshal's baton.

8 "Moab a bowl for me to wash in!
I throw my sandal^a over Edom.
Now shout 'Victory,' Philistia!"^b

9 Who is there now to take me into the fortified city,
to lead me into Edom?

10 God, can you really have rejected us?
You no longer march with our armies.

11 Help us in this hour of crisis,
the help that man can give is worthless.

12 With God among us we shall fight like heroes,
he will trample on our enemies.

Prayer of an exile

For the choirmaster For strings Of David

- 1 God, hear my cry for help, listen to my prayer!
- 2 From the end of the earth I call to you,
with sinking heart.
To the rock too high for me,
lead me!
- 3 For you are my refuge,
a strong tower against the enemy.
- 4 Let me stay in your tent for ever,
taking refuge in the shelter of your wings. Pause
- 5 You, God, accept my vows,
you grant me the heritage of those who fear your name.
- 6 Let the king live on and on, prolong his years, generation on generation.
- 7 May he sit enthroned in God's presence for ever!
Assign your Love and Faithfulness to guard him!
- 8 So I shall always sing of your name,
fulfilling the vows I have taken, day after day.

Hope in God alone

For the choirmaster . . . Jeduthun Psalm Of David

- 1 In God alone there is rest for my soul,
from him comes my safety;
- 2 with him alone for my rock, my safety,
my fortress, I can never fall.
- 3 How many times will you come rushing at a man,
all of you, to bring him down
like a wall already leaning over,
like a rampart undermined?
- 4 Deceit their sole intention,
their delight is to mislead;
with lies on their lips they bless aloud,
while cursing inwardly. Pause
- 5 Rest in God alone, my soul!
He is the source of my hope;
- 6 with him alone for my rock, my safety,
my fortress, I can never fall;
- 7 rest in God, my safety, my glory,
the rock of my strength.
- 8 In God, I find shelter; rely on him
people, at all times;
unburden your hearts to him,
God is a shelter for us. Pause

- 9 Ordinary men are only a puff of wind,
important men^a delusion;
put both in the scales and up they go,
lighter than a puff of wind.
- 10 Put no reliance on extortion,
no empty hopes in robbery;
though riches may increase,
keep your heart detached.
- 11 God has spoken once,
twice I have heard this:
it is for God to be strong,
for you, Lord, to be loving;
- 12 and you yourself repay
man as his works deserve.

Desire for God

Psalm Of David When he was in the wilderness of Judah

- 1 God, you are my God, I am seeking you,
my soul is thirsting for you,
my flesh is longing for you,
a land parched, weary and waterless;
- 2 I long to gaze on you in the Sanctuary,
and to see your power and glory.
- 3 Your love is better than life itself,
my lips will recite your praise;
- 4 all my life I will bless you,
in your name lift up my hands;
- 5 my soul will feast most richly,
on my lips a song of joy and, in my mouth, praise.
- 6 On my bed I think of you,
I meditate on you all night long,
for you have always helped me.
- 7 I sing for joy in the shadow of your wings;
my soul clings close to you,
your right hand supports me.
- 8
- 9 But may those now hounding me to death
go down to the earth below,
consigned to the edge of the sword,
and left as food for jackals.
- 10 Then will the king rejoice in God,
and all who swear by him be able to boast once these lying mouths are silenced.

The punishment for slanderers*For the choirmaster Psalm Of David*

- 1 God, hear me as I make my plea,
protect me from this frightening enemy,
- 2 hide me from the wicked and their schemes,
from this mob of evil men,
- 3 sharpening their tongues like swords,
shooting bitter words like arrows,
- 4 shooting them at the innocent from cover,
shooting suddenly, without warning.
- 5 Urging each other on to their wicked purpose,
they discuss where to hide their snares.
"Who is going to see us?" they say,
- 6 "Who can probe our secrets?"
Who? He who probes the inmost mind and the depths of the heart.
- 7 God will shoot them with his own arrow,
wound them without warning.
- 8 He will destroy them for that tongue of theirs,
and all who see them fall will shake their heads.
- 9 Then all will feel afraid,
will tell others what God has done;
they will understand why he has done it.
- 10 The virtuous will rejoice in Yahweh,
will make him their refuge;
and upright hearts will be able to boast.

Thanksgiving hymn*For the choirmaster Of David Song*

- 1 Praise is rightfully yours,
God, in Zion.
Vows to you must be fulfilled,
for you answer prayer.
- 2 All flesh must come to you
with all its sins;
though our faults overpower us,
you blot them out.
- 3 Happy the man you choose, whom you invite
to live in your courts.
Fill us with the good things of your house,
of your holy Temple.
- 4 Your righteousness repays us with marvels,
God our savior,
hope of all the ends of the earth
and the distant islands.

- 6 Your strength holds the mountains up,
such is the power that wraps you;
- 7 you calm the clamor of the ocean,
the clamor of its waves.
- 8 The nations are in uproar, in panic
those who live at the ends of the world,
as your miracles bring shouts of joy
to the portals of morning and evening.
- 9 You visit the earth and water it,
you load it with riches;
God's rivers brim with water
to provide their grain.
- 10 This is how you provide it:
by drenching its furrows, by leveling its ridges,
by softening it with showers, by blessing the first fruits.
- 11 You crown the year with your bounty,
abundance flows wherever you pass;
- 12 the desert pastures overflow,
the hillsides are wrapped in joy,
the meadows are dressed in flocks,
- 13 the valleys are clothed in wheat,
what shouts of joy, what singing!

Corporate act of thanksgiving

For the choirmaster Song Psalm

- 1 Acclaim God, all the earth,
2 play music to the glory of his name,
3 glorify him with your praises,
say to God, "What dread you inspire!"
- Your achievements are the measure of your power.
Your enemies cringe in your presence;
- 4 all the earth bows down to you,
playing music for you, playing in honor of your name. Pause
- 5 Come and see what marvels God has done,
so much to be feared for his deeds among mankind:
6 he turned the sea into dry land,
they crossed the river on foot!
- So let us rejoice in him,
7 who rules for ever by his power:
his eyes keep watch on the nations,
let no rebel raise his head! Pause
- 8 You nations, bless our God
and make his praise resound, 9 who brings our soul to life
and keeps our feet from faltering.
- 10 You tested us, God,
you refined us like silver,
11 you let us fall into the net,

12 you laid heavy burdens on our backs,
 you let people drive over our heads;
 but now the ordeal by fire and water is over,
 and you allow us once more to draw breath.

13 I bring holocausts to your house,
 I bring them to fulfill those vows 14 that rose to my lips,
 those vows I spoke when in trouble.

15 I offer you fat holocausts
 and the smoke of burning rams,
 I offer you bullocks and he-goats.

Pause

16 Come and listen, all you who fear God,
 while I tell you what he has done for me:
 17 when I uttered my cry to him
 and high praise was on my tongue, 18 had I been guilty in my heart,
 the Lord would never have heard me.
 19 But God not only heard me,
 he listened to my prayer.

20 Blessed be God,
 who neither ignored my prayer
 nor deprived me of his love.

National song of triumph

For the choirmaster Of David Psalm Song

- 1 Let God arise, let his enemies be scattered,
let those who hate him flee before him!
- 2 As smoke disperses, they disperse;
as wax melts when near the fire,
so the wicked perish when God approaches.
- 3 But at God's approach, the virtuous rejoice,
exulting and singing for joy.
- 4 Sing to Yahweh, play music to his name,
build a road for the Rider of the Clouds,
rejoice in Yahweh, exult at his coming!
- 5 Father of orphans, defender of widows, such is God in his holy dwelling;
- 6 God gives the lonely a permanent home,
makes prisoners happy by setting them free,
but rebels must live in an arid land.
- 7 God, when you set out at the head of your people, 8 and marched across the desert, 'the earth rocked,
the heavens deluged at God's coming,
at the coming of God, the God of Israel. Pause
- 9 God, you rained a downpour of blessings,
when your heritage was faint you gave it strength;
10 your family found a home, where you in your goodness, God, provided for the needy.
- 11a The Lord gives his couriers the news,
14a "Shaddai has scattered 'a huge army."
11b Kings are in flight, armies in flight, 12 the women at home take their pick of the loot.
- 13 Meanwhile you others were lolling in the sheepfolds.
There were dove wings covered with silver,
on their pinions the sheen of green gold;
14b jewels were there like snow on Dark Mountain.
- 15 That peak of Bashan, a mountain of God?
Rather, a mountain of pride, that peak of Bashan!
- 16 Peaks of pride, have you the right to look down on a mountain where God has chosen to live,
where Yahweh is going to live for ever?
- 17 With thousands of myriads of divine chariots
the Lord has left Sinai for his sanctuary.
- 18 God, you have ascended to the height, and captured prisoners,
you have taken men as tribute,
yes, taken rebels to your dwelling, Yahweh!
- 19 Blessed be the Lord day after day,
the God who saves us and bears our burdens!

- 20 This God of ours is a God who saves,
to the Lord Yahweh belong the ways of escape from death;
- 21 but God will smash the heads of his enemies,
the hairy skull of the man who parades his guilt.
- 22 The Lord has promised, "I will bring them back from Bashan,
I will bring them back from the bottom of the sea, 23 for your feet to wade in blood, for the tongues of your dogs to lap their share of the enemy."
- 24 God, your procession can be seen,
my God's, my king's procession to the sanctuary, 25 with cantors marching in front, musicians behind,
and between them maidens playing tambourines.
- 26 Bless God in your choirs,
bless the Lord, you who spring from Israel!
- 27 Benjamin, the youngest, is there in the lead,
the princes of Judah in brocaded robes,
the princes of Zebulun, the princes of Naphtali.
- 28 Take command, God, as befits your power, that power, God, you have wielded on our behalf 29 from your Temple high above Jerusalem!
Kings will come to you, bringing presents.
- 30 Rebuke the Beast of the Reeds,^a that herd of bulls, those calves, that people,
until, humbled, they bring gold and silver.
Scatter those warmongering pagans!
- 31 Ambassadors will come from Egypt,
Ethiopia will stretch out her hands to God.
- 32 Sing to God, you kingdoms of the earth, 33 play for the Rider of the Heavens, the ancient heavens! Pause
Listen to him shouting, to his thundering, 34 and acknowledge the power of God!
- 35 Over Israel his splendor, in the clouds his power,
God in his sanctuary is greatly to be feared.
He, the God of Israel,
gives power and strength to his people.
- Blessed be God.

Lament

For the choirmaster Tune: "Lilies . . ." Of David

- 1 Save me, God! The water is already up to my neck!

- 2 I am sinking in the deepest swamp,
there is no foothold;
I have stepped into deep water
and the waves are washing over me.
- 3 Worn out with calling, my throat is hoarse,
my eyes are strained, looking for my God.
- 4 More people hate me for no reason than I have hairs on my head, more are groundlessly hostile
than I have hair to show.
(They ask me to give back what I never took.)
- 5 God, you know how foolish I have been,
my offenses are not hidden from you;
- 6 but let those who hope in you not blush for me,
Yahweh Sabaoth!^a
Let those who seek you not be ashamed of me,
God of Israel!
- 7 It is for you I am putting up with insults
that cover me with shame,
8 that make me a stranger to my brothers,
an alien to my mother's other sons;
9 zeal for your house devours me,
and the insults of those who insult you fall on me.
- 10 If I mortify myself with fasting,
they make this a pretext for insulting me;
11 if I dress myself in sackcloth,
I become their laughingstock,
12 the gossip of people sitting at the city gate,
and the theme of drunken songs.
- 13 For my part, I pray to you, Yahweh,
at the time you wish;
in your great love, answer me, God,
faithful in saving power.
- 14 Pull me out of this swamp; let me sink no further,
let me escape those who hate me,
save me from deep water!
15 Do not let the waves wash over me,
do not let the deep swallow me
or the Pit close its mouth on me.
- 16 In your loving kindness, answer me, Yahweh,
in your great tenderness turn to me;
17 do not hide your face from your servant,
quick, I am in trouble, answer me;
18 come to my side, redeem me,
from so many enemies ransom me.
- 19a You know all the insults I endure,
19c every one of my oppressors is known to you;
20a the insults have broken my heart,

68 a. Egypt.

69 a. "Lord of the armies," not only Lord of the Nation of Israel at arms, but also of "the hosts of heaven."

19b my shame and disgrace are past cure;
 20b I had hoped for sympathy, but in vain,
 20c I found no one to console me.
 21 They gave me poison to eat instead,
 when I was thirsty they gave me vinegar to drink.
 22 May their own table prove a trap for them,
 and their plentiful supplies, a snare!
 23 may their eyes grow dim, go blind, strike their loins with chronic palsy!
 24 Vent your fury on them,
 let your burning anger overtake them;
 25 may their camp be reduced to ruin,
 and their tents left unoccupied:
 26 for hounding a man after you had struck him,
 for adding more wounds to those which you inflicted.
 27 Charge them with crime after crime,
 deny them further access to your righteousness, 28 blot them out of the book of life,
 strike them off the roll of the virtuous!
 29 For myself, wounded wretch that I am,
 by your saving power, God, lift me up!
 30 I will praise the name of God with a song,
 I will extol him with my thanksgiving,
 31 more pleasing to Yahweh than any ox
 or bull with horn and hoof.
 32 Then, seeing this, the humble can rejoice:
 long life to your hearts, all you who seek for God!
 33 Yahweh will always hear those who are in need,
 will never scorn his captive people.
 34 Let heaven and earth acclaim him,
 the oceans and all that moves in them!
 35 For God will save Zion,
 and rebuild the towns of Judah:
 they will be lived in, owned,
 36 handed down to his servants' descendants,
 and lived in by those who love his name.

A cry of distress^a

For the choirmaster Of David For commemoration

1 Oh come and rescue me, God,
 Yahweh come quickly and help me!
 2 Shame and dishonor on those
 who are out to kill me!
 Down with them! Disgrace on those
 who enjoy my misfortune!
 3 May they be aghast with shame,
 those who say to me, "Aha! Aha!"

- 4 But joy and gladness
for all who seek you!
To all who love your saving power
give constant cause to say, "God is great!"

come quickly, God!
My helper, my savior, Yahweh,
come without delay!

An old man's prayer

- 1 In you, Yahweh, I take shelter;
never let me be disgraced.
- 2 In your righteousness rescue me, deliver me,
turn your ear to me and save me!
- 3 Be a sheltering rock for me,
a walled fortress to save me!
For you are my rock, my fortress.
- 4 My God, rescue me from the hands of the wicked,
from the clutches of rogue and tyrant!
- 5 For you alone are my hope, Lord,
Yahweh, I have trusted you since my youth,
6 I have relied on you since I was born,
you have been my portion from my mother's womb,
and the constant theme of my praise.
- 7 To many I have seemed an enigma,
but you are my firm refuge.
- 8 My mouth is full of your praises,
filled with your splendor all day long.
- 9 Do not reject me now I am old,
nor desert me now my strength is failing, 10 for my enemies are uttering threats,
spies hatching their conspiracy:
- 11 "Hound him down now that God has deserted him, seize him, there is no one to rescue him!"
- 12 God, do not stand aside,
my God, come quickly and help me!
- 13 Shame and ruin on those who attack me;
may insult and disgrace cover those whose aim is to hurt me!
- 14 I promise that, ever hopeful,
I will praise you more and more,
15 my lips shall proclaim your righteousness and power to save, all day long.
- 16 I will come in the power of Yahweh
to commemorate your righteousness, yours alone.

- 17 God, you taught me when I was young,
and I am still proclaiming your marvels.
- 18 Now that I am old and gray,
God, do not desert me;
let me live to tell the rising generation
about your strength and power,
about your heavenly righteousness, God.
- 19 You have done great things;
who, God, is comparable to you?
- 20 You have sent me misery and hardship,
but you will give me life again,
you will pull me up again from the depths of the earth,
prolong my old age, and once more comfort me.
- 21
- 22 I promise I will thank you on the lyre,
my ever-faithful God,
I will play the harp in your honor,
Holy One of Israel.
- 23 My lips shall sing for joy as I play to you,
and this soul of mine which you have redeemed.
- 24 And all day long, my tongue
shall be talking of your righteousness.
Shame and disgrace on those whose aim is to hurt me!

The promised king*Of Solomon*

- 1 God, give your own justice to the king,
your own righteousness to the royal son,

and your poor with justice.
- 3 Let the mountains and hills
bring a message of peace for the people.
4 Uprightly he will defend the poorest,
he will save the children of those in need,
and crush their oppressors.
- 5 Like sun and moon he will endure,
age after age,
6 welcome as rain that falls on the pasture,
and showers to thirsty soil.
- 7 In his days virtue will flourish,
a universal peace till the moon is no more;
8 his empire shall stretch from sea to sea,
from the river to the ends of the earth.
- 9 The Beast^a will cower before him
and his enemies grovel in the dust;
10 the kings of Tarshish and of the islands will pay him tribute.

- The kings of Sheba and Seba
will offer gifts;
11 all kings will do him homage,
all nations become his servants.
- 12 He will free the poor man who calls to him,
and those who need help, 13 he will have pity on the poor and feeble,
and save the lives of those in need;
- 14 he will redeem their lives from exploitation and outrage,
their lives will be precious in his sight.
15 (Long may he live, may gold from Sheba be given him!)
Prayer will be offered for him constantly, blessings invoked on him all day long.
- 16 Grain everywhere in the country,
even on the mountain tops,
abundant as Lebanon its harvest,
luxuriant as common grass!
- 17 Blessed be his name for ever,
enduring as long as the sun!
May every race in the world be blessed in him,
and all the nations call him blessed!
- 18 Blessed be Yahweh, the God of Israel,
who alone performs these marvels!
19 Blessed for ever be his glorious name,
may the whole world be filled with his glory!
Amen. Amen!

The triumph of justice*Psalm Of Asaph*

- 1 God is indeed good to Israel,
the Lord is good to pure hearts.
- 2 My feet were on the point of stumbling,
a little further and I should have slipped,
3 envying the arrogant as I did,
and watching the wicked get rich.
- 4 For them, no such thing as pain,
their bodies are healthy and strong,
5 they do not suffer as other men do,
no human afflictions for them!

72 a. A word for a demon or a dangerous wild animal of the desert, used here for the heathen neighboring nations. b. As this note indicates, the doxology (vv.18,19) ends the second book of the Psalter.

- 6 So pride is their chain of honor,
violence the garment that covers them;
7 their spite oozes like fat,
their hearts drip with slyness.
- 8 Cynical advocates of evil,
lofty advocates of force,
9 they think their mouth is heaven
and their tongue can dictate on earth.
- 10 This is why my people turn to them
and lap up all they say, 11 asking, "How will God find out?
Does the Most High know everything?
12 Look at them: these are the wicked,
well-off and still getting richer!"
- 13 After all, why should I keep my own heart pure,
and wash my hands in innocence, 14 if you plague me all day long and discipline me every morning?
- 15 Had I said, "That talk appeals to me,"
I should have betrayed your children's race.
16 Instead, I tried to analyze the problem,
hard though I found it—
- 17 until the day I pierced the mystery
and saw the end in store for them:
18 they are on a slippery slope, you put them there,
you urge them on to ruin,
- 19 until suddenly they fall,
done for, terrified to death.
20 When you wake up, Lord, you shrug them off like the phantoms of a morning dream.
- 21 When my heart had been growing sourer
with pains shooting through my loins, 22 I had simply failed to understand,
my stupid attitude to you was brutish.
- 23 Even so, I stayed in your presence,
you held my right hand;
24 now guide me with advice
and in the end receive me into glory.
- 25 I look to no one else in heaven,
I delight in nothing else on earth.
26 My flesh and my heart are pining with love,
my heart's Rock, my own, God for ever!
- 27 So then: those who abandon you are doomed,
you destroy the adulterous deserter^a;
28 whereas my joy lies in being close to God.
I have taken shelter in the Lord, continually to proclaim what you have done.

Lament on the destruction of the Temple

Poem Of Asaph

- 1 God, have you finally rejected us, raging at the flock you used to pasture?
- 2 Remember the people you long since made your own,
your hereditary tribe whom you redeemed,
and this Mount Zion where you came to live.
- 3 Pick your steps over these endless ruins:
the enemy have sacked everything in the sanctuary.
- 4 They roared where your Assemblies used to take place,
they stuck their enemy emblems over the entrance,^a emblems we had never seen before.
- 6 Axes deep in the wood, hacking at the panels,
they battered them down with mallet and hatchet;
then, God, setting fire to your sanctuary,
they profanely razed the house of your name to the ground.
- 8 Determined to destroy us once and for all,
they burned down every shrine of God in the country.
9 Deprived of signs, with no prophets left,
who can say how long this will last?
- 10 How much longer, God, is the oppressor to blaspheme,
is the enemy to insult your name for ever?
11 Why hold back your hand,
why keep your right hand hidden?
- 12 Yet, God, my king from the first,
author of saving acts throughout the earth, 13 by your power you split the sea in two,
and smashed the heads of monsters on the waters.
- 14 You crushed Leviathan's heads,
leaving him for wild animals to eat, 15 you opened the spring, the torrent,
you dried up inexhaustible rivers.
- 16 You are master of day and night,
you instituted light and sun, 17 you fixed the boundaries of the world,
you created summer and winter.
- 18 Now, Yahweh, remember the enemy's blasphemy,
how frenzied people dare to insult your name.
19 Do not betray your turtledove to the beast,
do not forget your wretched people for good.
- 20 Respect the covenant! We can bear no more—every cave in the country is the scene of violence!
21 Do not let the hard-pressed retreat in confusion,
give the poor and needy cause to praise your name.

73 a. As in the prophets, the expression refers to religious unfaithfulness.

74 a. Probably a description of the destruction of the Temple by "the mad king," Antiochus Epiphanes; if so, he is the "madman" of v.22.

- 22 Rise, God, say something on your own behalf,
do not forget the madman's daylong blaspheming, 23 remember the shouting of your enemies,
this ever-rising clamor of your adversaries.

To the divine judge

For the choirmaster Tune: "Do not destroy" Psalm Of Asaph Song

- 1 We give thanks to you, God,
we give thanks as we invoke your name,
as we recount your marvels.
- 2 "At the moment I decide
I will dispense strict justice;
3 the earth shall quake and all its inhabitants,
it is I who poised its columns.
- 4 "I said to the boastful: Enough of boasting!
and to the wicked: How dare you raise your horn, 5 how dare you raise your horn like that,
how dare you speak so boldly!"
- 6 Not from the east, nor from the west,
not from the desert, nor from the mountains, 7 but from God the judgment comes,
lowering one, raising another.
- 8 Yahweh is holding a cup of frothing wine, heavily drugged;
he pours it out, they drain it to the dregs,
all drink of it, the wicked of the earth.
- 9 But I will never stop proclaiming the God of Jacob or playing in his honor;
10 I will cut off the horns of all the wicked and raise the horns of the virtuous.

Ode to God the awe-inspiring^a

For the choirmaster For strings Psalm Of Asaph

- 1 God is renowned in Judah,
his name is great in Israel;
2 his tent is pitched in Salem,
his home is in Zion;
3 there he has broken the lightning-swift arrow,
the shield, the sword and the line of battle.
- 4 You the Illustrious and Majestic:
5 mountains of spoil have been captured;
heroes are now sleeping their last sleep,
the warriors' arms have failed them;
6 at your reproof, God of Jacob, chariot and horse stand spellbound.

Pause

7 You the Terrible! Who can oppose you and your furious onslaught?
8 When your verdicts thunder from heaven,
earth stays silent with dread;
9 when God stands up to give judgment and to save all the humble of the earth. Pause

10 Man's wrath only adds to your glory;
the survivors of your wrath you will draw like a girdle
around you;
11 fulfill the promises you make to Yahweh your God,
make offerings to the Terrible, you who surround him;
12 he snuffs out the lives of princes,
he is terrible to the kings of the earth.

Meditation on Israel's past

For the choirmaster . . . Jeduthun Of Asaph Psalm

1 Loudly I cry to God, loudly to God who hears me.

2 When in trouble I sought the Lord,
all night long I stretched out my hands,
my soul refusing to be consoled.
3 I thought of God and sighed,
I pondered and my spirit failed me.

4 You stopped me closing my eyes,
I was too distraught to speak;
5 I thought of the olden days,
years long past came back to me,
6 I spent all night meditating in my heart,
I pondered and my spirit asked this question:

7 "If the Lord has rejected you, is this final?
If he withholds his favor, is this for ever?
8 Is his love over for good and the promise void for all time?
9 Has God forgotten to show mercy,
or has his anger overcome his tenderness? Pause

10 "This," I said then, "is what distresses me:
that the power of the Most High is no longer what it was."
11 Remembering Yahweh's achievements, remembering your marvels in the past,
12 I reflect on all that you did,
I ponder on all your achievements.

13 God, your ways are holy!
What god so great as God?
14 You are the God who did marvelous things
and forced nations to acknowledge your power, 15 with your own arm redeeming your people,
the sons of Jacob and Joseph. Pause

- 16 When the waters saw it was you, God,
when the waters saw it was you, they recoiled,
shuddering to their depths.
- 17 The clouds poured down water,
the sky thundered,
your arrows darted out.
- 18 Your thunder crashed as it rolled,
your lightning lit up the world,
the earth shuddered and quaked.
- 19 You strode across the sea,
you marched across the ocean,
but your steps could not be seen.
- 20 You guided your people like a flock
by the hands of Moses and Aaron.

The lessons of Israelite history

Psalm Of Asaph

- 1 Listen to this Law, my people,
pay attention to what I say;
- 2 I am going to speak to you in parable
and expound the mysteries of our past.
- 3 What we have heard and known for ourselves,
and what our ancestors have told us,
4 must not be withheld from their descendants,
but be handed on by us to the next generation;
- that is: the titles of Yahweh, his power
and the miracles he has done.
- 5 When he issued the decrees for Jacob and instituted a Law in Israel,
he gave our ancestors strict orders
to teach it to their children;
- 6 the next generation was to learn it,
the children still to be born,
and these in their turn were to tell their own children 7 so that they too would put their confidence in God, never forgetting God's achievements,
and always keeping his commandments,
8 and not becoming, like their ancestors,
a stubborn and unruly generation,
a generation with no sincerity of heart,
in spirit unfaithful to God.
- 9 The sons of Ephraim, who were bowmen, turned tail when the time came to fight;
- 10 they had not kept God's covenant,
they refused to follow his Law;
- 11 they had forgotten his achievements,
the marvels he had shown them:

- 12 he had worked wonders for their ancestors
in the plains of Zoan, down in Egypt:
- 13 dividing the sea, bringing them through,
making the waters stand up like dikes, 14 leading them with a cloud by day and with a fiery glow at night,
- 15 splitting rocks in the wilderness,
quenching their thirst with unlimited water, 16 conjuring streams from the rock
and bringing down water in torrents.
- 17 They only sinned against him more than ever,
defying the Most High in the desert, 18 deliberately challenging God
by demanding their favorite food.
- 19 They blasphemed against God,
"Is it likely," they said, "that God could give a banquet in the wilderness?"
- 20 "Admittedly, when he struck the rock,
waters gushed, torrents streamed out,
but bread now, can he give us that,
can he provide meat for his people?"
- 21 Yahweh was enraged when he heard them,
a fire flared at Jacob,
the wrath attacked Israel 22 for having no faith in God,
no trust in his power to save.
- 23 He gave orders to the skies above,
he opened the doors of heaven, 24 he rained down manna to feed them,
he gave them the wheat of heaven;
25 men ate the bread of Immortals,
he sent them more food than they could eat.
- 26 He stirred up an east wind in the heavens,
he conjured up a south wind by his power, 27 he rained down meat on them like dust;
birds as thick as sand on the seashore 28 he sent tumbling into their camp,
in all directions around their tents.
- 29 They all had enough and to spare,
he having provided what they wanted;
30 but they had hardly satisfied their craving,
the food was still in their mouths,
- 31 when the wrath of God attacked them,
slaughtering their strongest men and laying the flower of Israel low.
- 32 Despite all this they went on sinning,
and put no faith in his marvels;
33 for which he blasted their days
and their years in a flash.

- 34 Whenever he slaughtered them they sought him,
they came to their senses and sought him earnestly 35 remembering that God was their rock,
God the Most High, their redeemer.
- 36 But though they outwardly flattered him
and used their tongues to lie to him, 37 in their hearts they were not true to him,
they were unfaithful to his covenant.
- 38 Compassionately, however,
he forgave their guilt instead of killing them,
repeatedly repressing his anger
instead of rousing his full wrath, 39 remembering they were creatures of flesh,
a puff of wind that passes and does not return.
- 40 How often they defied him in the wilderness,
how often they outraged him in the desert, 41 repeatedly challenging God, provoking the Holy One of Israel—42 entirely oblivious of his hand and of the time he saved them from the oppressor:
- 43 by imposing his signs on Egypt,
by displaying his wonders in the plains of Zoan, 44 by turning their rivers into blood
to stop them drinking from their streams,
- 45 by sending horseflies to eat them
and frogs to devastate them, 46 by consigning their crops to the caterpillar and their hard-won harvest to the locust,
- 47 by killing their vines with hail and their sycamore trees with frost, 48 by condemning their cattle to plague
and their flocks to feverish pests,
- 49 by unleashing his fierce anger, rage,
indignation and hardship on them,
a mission of angels of disaster,
50 by giving his anger free rein,
- by not even exempting them from death,
by condemning them to plague,
51 by striking down all the first-born in Egypt,
the first fruits of their virility in the tents of Ham,
- 52 by driving his people out like sheep,
by leading them through the wilderness like a flock, 53 by guiding them safe and unafraid
while the sea engulfed their enemies,
- 54 by bringing them to his sacred frontier,
the highlands conquered by his own right hand, 55 by expelling the pagans in front of them and by marking out a heritage for each,
in which the tribes of Israel could pitch their tents.
- 56 Even so, they went on challenging God the Most High,
rebelliously disregarding his decrees;

- 57 as perverse and disloyal as their ancestors,
treacherous as a bow with a warp, 58 provoking him with their high places
and rousing his jealousy with their idols.
- 59 God was enraged when he heard them,
he rejected Israel out of hand, 60 he left his home in Shiloh,
that tent where he once lived with men.
- 61 He consigned his power to captivity,
his splendor^a to the enemy's clutches;
62 he condemned his own people to the sword,
he raged at his heritage,
- 63 whose young men were then burned to death—
no brides left to hear the wedding song; 64 whose priests fell by the sword—
no widows left to raise the dirge.
- 65 Then, like a sleeper, like a hero
fighting-mad with wine, the Lord woke up 66 to strike his enemies on the rump and put them to everlasting shame.
- 67 Rejecting the tent of Joseph,
not choosing the tribe of Ephraim, 68 instead he chose the tribe of Judah
and his well-loved mountain of Zion, 69 where he built his sanctuary, a copy of high heaven,
founding it firm as the earth for ever.
- 70 Choosing David as his servant,
he took him from the sheepfolds, 71 called him from tending ewes in lamb to pasture his people Jacob and Israel his heritage:
72 who did this with unselfish care
and led them with a sensitive hand.

National lament^a*Psalm Of Asaph*

- 1 God, the pagans have invaded your heritage,
they have desecrated your holy Temple;
they have reduced Jerusalem to a pile of ruins,
2 they have left the corpses of your servants
to the birds of the air for food, and the flesh of your devout to the beasts of the earth.
- 3 They have shed blood like water
throughout Jerusalem, not a gravedigger left!

butt and laughingstock of all those around us.
 5 How much longer will you be angry, Yahweh? For ever?
 Is your jealousy to go on smoldering like a fire?

6 Pour out your anger on the pagans,
 who do not acknowledge you,
 and on those kingdoms
 that do not call on your name,
 7 for they have devoured Jacob
 and reduced his home to desolation.

8 Do not hold our ancestors' crimes against us,
 in tenderness quickly intervene,
 we can hardly be crushed lower;
 9 help us, God our savior,
 for the honor of your name;
 Yahweh, blot out our sins,
 rescue us for the sake of your name.

10 Why should the pagans ask, "Where is their God?"
 May we soon see the pagans learning what vengeance
 you exact for your servants' blood shed here!
 11 May the groans of the captive reach you;
 by your mighty arm rescue those doomed to die!

12 Pay our neighbors sevenfold, strike to the heart
 for the monstrous insult proffered to you, Lord!
 13 And we your people, the flock that you pasture,
 giving you everlasting thanks,
 will recite your praises for ever and ever.

Prayer for the restoration of Israel

For the choirmaster Tune: "The decrees are lilies" Of Asaph Psalm

1 Shepherd of Israel, listen,
 you who lead Joseph like a flock;
 enthroned on the cherubs, shine
 2 on Ephraim, Benjamin and Manasseh^a;
 rouse your strength,
 come to us and save us!

3 Yahweh Sabaoth, bring us back,
 let your face smile on us and we shall be safe.

4 Yahweh Sabaoth, how much longer will you smolder at your people's prayer?
 5 Having fed us on the bread of tears,
 having made us drink them in such measure, 6 you now let our neighbors quarrel over us
 and our enemies deride us.

7 Yahweh Sabaoth, bring us back,
 let your face smile on us and we shall be safe.

- 8 There was a vine: you uprooted it from Egypt;
to plant it, you drove out other nations, 9 you cleared a space where it could grow,
it took root and filled the whole country.
- 10 It covered the mountains with its shade,
the cedars of God with its branches, 11 its tendrils extended to the sea,
its offshoots all the way to the river.^b
- 12 Why have you destroyed its fences?
Now anyone can go and steal its grapes,
13 the forest boar can ravage it and wild animals eat it.
- 14 Please, Yahweh Sabaoth, relent!
Look down from heaven, look at this vine, 15 visit it, protect what your own right hand has planted.
16 They threw it on the fire like dung,
but one look of reproof from you and they will be doomed.
- 17 May your hand protect the man at your right,
the son of man who has been authorized by you.
18 We shall never turn from you again;
our life renewed, we shall invoke your name.
- 19 Yahweh Sabaoth, bring us back,
let your face smile on us and we shall be safe.

Against the enemies of Israel

Song Psalm Of Asaph

- 1 God, do not remain silent;
do not be unmoved, O God, or unresponsive!
- 2 See how your enemies are stirring,
see how those who hate you rear their heads.
- 3 Weaving a plot against your people,
4 conspiring against those you protect, they say,
"Come, we will finish them as a nation,
the name of Israel shall be forgotten!"
- 5 Unanimous in their plot,
they seal a treaty against you:
6 the tents of Edom and the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Hagrites,
- 7 Gebal, Ammon, Amalek,
Philistia and the Tyrians;
8 and now Assur^a has joined them to reinforce the sons of Lot.
- 9 Treat them like Midian and Sisera,
like Jabin at the river Kishon, 10 wiped out at En-dor,
they served to dung the ground.
- 11 Treat their generals like Oreb and Zeeb,
their commanders like Zebah and Zalmunna, 12 those who once said, "Let us take for ourselves possession of the Dwellings of God!"
- 13 My God, bowl them along like tumbleweed,
like chaff at the mercy of the wind;
14 as fire devours the forest,
as the flame licks up the mountains, 15 drive them on with your whirlwind,
rout them with your tornado;
16 cover their faces with shame,
until they seek your name, Yahweh.
- 17 Shame and panic be always theirs, 18 disgrace and death; and let them know this:
you alone bear the name Yahweh,
Most High over the whole world.

Pause

- 8 Yahweh Sabaoth, hear my prayer,
 listen, God of Jacob; Pause
- 9 God our shield, now look on us and be kind to your anointed.
- 10 A single day in your courts

- 4 Bring us back, God our savior, master your resentment against us.
- 5 Do you mean to be angry with us for ever,
 to prolong your wrath age after age?
- 6 Will you not give us life again,
 for your people to rejoice in you?
- 7 Yahweh, show us your love,

- 8 I am listening. What is Yahweh saying?
 What God is saying means peace
 for his people, for his friends,
 if only they renounce their folly;
- 9 for those who fear him, his saving help is near,
 and the glory will then live in our country.
- 10 Love and Loyalty now meet, Righteousness and Peace now embrace;

 since you alone are great, you perform marvels,
 you God, you alone.

84 a. The balsam tree; this valley was the last stage of the pilgrimage to Jerusalem. b. The "sons of Korah" (see inscription) were the order of gatekeepers at the Temple.

- 11 Yahweh, teach me your way,
how to walk beside you faithfully,
make me singlehearted in fearing your name.
- 12 I thank you with all my heart, Lord my God,
I glorify your name for ever,
13 your love for me has been so great,
you have rescued me from the depths of Sheol.
- 14 Now arrogant men, God, are attacking me,
a brutal gang hounding me to death:
people to whom you mean nothing.
- 15 Lord God, you who are always merciful and tenderhearted, slow to anger, always loving, always loyal,
16 turn to me and pity me.
- Give me your strength, your saving help,
me your servant, this son of a pious mother, 17 give me one proof of your goodness.
- Yahweh, make my opponents ashamed,
show them that you are my help and consolation.

Zion, mother of nations

Of the sons of Korah Psalm Song

- 2a 1 Yahweh loves his city
founded on the holy mountain;
2b he prefers the gates of Zion
2c to any town in Jacob.
- 3 He has glorious predictions to make of you,
city of God! Pause
- 4 "I will add Egypt and Babylon
to the nations that acknowledge me.
Of Philistia, Tyre, Ethiopia,
'Here so and so was born,' men say.
5 But all call Zion 'Mother,' since all were born in her."
- 6 It is he who makes her what she is,
he, the Most High, Yahweh;
and as he registers the peoples,
"It was here," he writes, "that so and so was born."
7 And there will be princes dancing there.^a Pause
All find their home in you.

Lament

Song Psalm Of the sons of Korah For the choirmaster In sickness or suffering Poem For Heman the native-born

- 1 Yahweh my God, I call for help all day, I weep to you all night;

- 2 may my prayer reach you hear my cries for help;
- 3 for my soul is all troubled,
 my life is on the brink of Sheol;
- 4 I am numbered among those who go down to the Pit, a man bereft of strength:
- 5 a man alone, down among the dead,
 among the slaughtered in their graves,
 among those you have forgotten,
 those deprived of your protecting hand.
- 6 You have plunged me to the bottom of the Pit,
 to its darkest, deepest place,
7 weighted down by your anger,
 drownèd beneath your waves. Pause
- 8 You have turned my friends against me
 and made me repulsive to them;
 in prison and unable to escape,
9 my eyes are worn out with suffering.
- Yahweh, I invoke you all day,
 I stretch out my hands to you:
10 are your marvels meant for the dead,
 can ghosts rise up to praise you? Pause
- 11 Who talks of your love in the grave,
 of your faithfulness in the place of perdition?
12 Do they hear about your marvels in the dark,
 about your righteousness in the land of oblivion?
- 13 But I am here, calling for your help,
 praying to you every morning:
14 why do you reject me?
 Why do you hide your face from me?
- 15 Wretched, slowly dying since my youth,
 I bore your terrors—now I am exhausted;
16 your anger overwhelmed me,
 you destroyed me with your terrors 17 which, like a flood, were around me, all day long,
 all together closing in on me.
- 18 You have turned my friends and neighbors against me,
 now darkness is my one companion left.

Hymn and a prayer to God's faithfulness*Poem For Ethan the native-born*

- 1 I will celebrate your love for ever, Yahweh,
 age after age my words shall proclaim your faithfulness;
- 2 for I claim that love is built to last for ever
 and your faithfulness founded firmly in the heavens.

3 "I have made a covenant with my Chosen,
I have given my servant David my sworn word:
4 I have founded your dynasty to last for ever,
I have built you a throne to outlast all time."

Pause

5 Yahweh, the assembly of holy ones in heaven applaud the marvel of your faithfulness.
6 Who in the skies can compare with Yahweh?
Which of the heaven-born can rival him?

7 God, dreaded in the assembly of holy ones,
great and terrible to all around him,
8 Yahweh, God of Sabaoth, who is like you?— mighty Yahweh, clothed in your faithfulness!

9 You control the pride of the ocean,
when its waves ride high, you calm them;
10 you split Rahab^a in two like a carcass
and scattered your enemies with your mighty arm.

11 The heavens are yours and the earth is yours,
you founded the world and all it holds,
12 you created north and south;
Tabor and Hermon hail your name with joy.

13 Yours was the arm, and yours the prowess,
mighty and exalted your right hand;
14 Righteousness and Justice support your throne,
Love and Faithfulness are your attendants.

15 Happy the people who learn to acclaim you!
Yahweh, they will live in the light of your favor;
16 they will rejoice in your name all day and exult in your righteousness.

17 You are their glory and their strength,
you, by your kindness, raise our fortunes, 18 since both our shield and our king belong to Yahweh, the Holy One of Israel.

19 Once you spoke in vision and said to your friends,^b
"I have conferred the crown on a hero,
and promoted one chosen from my people.

20 "I have selected my servant David and anointed him with my holy oil; 21 my hand will be constantly with him,
he will be able to rely on my arm.

22 "No enemy will be able to outwit him,
no wicked man to worst him,
23 I myself will crush his opponents,
I will strike dead all who hate him.

24 "With my faithfulness and love,
his fortunes shall rise in my name.
25 I will give him control of the sea,
complete control of the rivers.

26 "He will invoke me, 'My father,
my God and rock of my safety,'

27 and I shall make him my first-born,
the Most High for kings on earth.

28 "I will keep my love for him always,
my covenant with him shall stand, 29 I have founded his dynasty to last for ever,
his throne to be as lasting as the heavens.

30 "Should his descendants desert my Law
and disregard my rulings, 31 should they violate my statutes
and not keep my commandments,

32 "I will punish their sins with the rod and their crimes with the whip, 33 but never withdraw my love from him or fail in my faithfulness.

34 "I will not break my covenant,
I will not revoke my given word;
35 I have sworn on my holiness, once for all,
and cannot turn liar to David.

36 "His dynasty shall last for ever,
I see his throne like the sun,
37 enduring for ever like the moon,
that faithful witness in the sky."

Pause

38 And yet you have rejected, disowned and raged at your anointed;
39 you have repudiated the covenant with your servant
and flung his crown dishonored to the ground.

40 You have pierced all his defenses,
and laid his forts in ruins;
41 anyone may go and loot him,
his neighbors treat him with scorn.

42 You have let his opponents get the upper hand,
and made all his enemies happy, 43 you have snapped his sword on a rock and failed to support him in battle.

44 You have stripped him of his glorious scepter,
and toppled his throne to the ground, 45 you have aged him before his time
and covered him in shame.

Pause

46 Yahweh, how much longer will you hide? For ever?
How much longer must your anger smolder like a fire?
47 Remember me, the short time I have left and the void to which you destine mankind.
48 What man can cling to life and not see death?
Who can evade the clutches of Sheol?

Pause

49 Lord, where are those earlier signs of your love?
You swore your oath to David on your faithfulness!
50 Lord, do not forget how your servant was insulted,

51 how I take these pagans' taunts to heart,
insults, Yahweh, that your enemies have offered,
insults to your anointed wherever he goes.

Blessed be Yahweh for ever.
Amen. Amen!^c

PSALM 90

The human condition

Prayer Of Moses, man of God

1 Lord, you have been our refuge age after age.

2 Before the mountains were born,
before the earth or the world came to birth,
you were God from all eternity and for ever.

3 You can turn man back into dust
by saying, "Back to what you were, you sons of men!"

4 To you, a thousand years are a single day,
a yesterday now over, an hour of the night.

5 You brush men away like waking dreams,
they are like grass

6 sprouting and flowering in the morning, withered and dry before dusk.

7 We too are burned up by your anger
and terrified by your fury;

8 having summoned up our sins
you inspect our secrets by your own light.

9 Our days dwindle under your wrath,
our lives are over in a breath

10 —our life lasts for seventy years,
eighty with good health,
but they all add up to anxiety and trouble—
over in a trice, and then we are gone.

11 Who yet has felt the full force of your fury,
or learned to fear the violence of your rage?

12 Teach us to count how few days we have and so gain wisdom of heart.

13 Relent, Yahweh! How much longer do we have?
Take pity on your servants!

14 Let us wake in the morning filled with your love and sing and be happy all our days;

15 make our future as happy as our past was sad,
those years when you were punishing us.

16 Let your servants see what you can do for them,
let their children see your glory.

17 May the sweetness of the Lord be on us!
Make all we do succeed.

PSALM 91

v 90

God's protection

- 1 If you live in the shelter of Elyon^a
and make your home in the shadow of Shaddai, 2 you can say to Yahweh, "My refuge, my fortress,
my God in whom I trust!"
- 3 He rescues you from the snares
of fowlers hoping to destroy you;
4a he covers you with his feathers,
4b and you find shelter underneath his wings.
- 5 You need not fear the terrors of night,
the arrow that flies in the daytime, 6 the plague that stalks in the dark,
the scourge that wreaks havoc in broad daylight.
- 7 Though a thousand fall at your side,
ten thousand at your right hand,
you yourself will remain unscathed, 4c with his faithfulness for shield and buckler.
- 8 You have only to look around to see how the wicked are repaid, 9 you who can say, "Yahweh my refuge,"
and make Elyon your fortress.
- 10 No disaster can overtake you,
no plague come near your tent:
11 he will put you in his angels' charge
to guard you wherever you go.
- 12 They will support you on their hands
in case you hurt your foot against a stone; 13 you will tread on lion and adder,
trample on savage lions and dragons.
- 14 "I rescue all who cling to me,
I protect whoever knows my name,
15 I answer everyone who invokes me,
I am with them when they are in trouble;
I bring them safety and honor.
16 I give them life, long and full,
and show them how I can save."

The virtuous man rejoices

Psalm Song For the sabbath

- 1 It is good to give thanks to Yahweh,
to play in honor of your name, Most High,

c. The doxology ends the third book of the Psalter.

91 a. Four names for God are used in this strophe: Elyon, Shaddai, Yahweh, and Elohim. They can be rendered, the Most High, the God of heaven, the Lord, God.

2 to proclaim your love at daybreak and your faithfulness all through the night 3 to the music of the zither and lyre,
to the rippling of the harp.

4 I am happy, Yahweh, at what you have done;
at your achievements I joyfully exclaim, 5 "Great are your achievements, Yahweh, immensely deep your thoughts!"
6 Stupid men are not aware of this,
fools can never appreciate it.

7 The wicked may sprout as thick as weeds and every evildoer flourish,
but only to be everlastingly destroyed,
8 whereas you are supreme for ever.
9 See how your enemies perish,
how all evil men are routed.

10 You raise my horn as if I were a wild ox,
you pour fresh oil on my head;
11 I was able to see those who were spying on me,
to overhear what the wicked were whispering, 12 so the virtuous flourish like palm trees
and grow as tall as the cedars of Lebanon.

13 Planted in the house of Yahweh,
they will flourish in the courts of our God, 14 still bearing fruit in old age,
still remaining fresh and green, 15 to proclaim that Yahweh is righteous,
my rock in whom no fault is to be found!

PSALM 93

v 92

The majesty of God

1 Yahweh is king, robed in majesty, Yahweh is robed in power,
he wears it like a belt.

2 You have made the world firm, unshakable;
your throne has stood since then,
you existed from the first, Yahweh.

3 Yahweh, the rivers raise,
the rivers raise their voices,
the rivers raise their thunders;

4 greater than the voice of ocean,
transcending the waves of the sea,
Yahweh reigns transcendent in the heights.

5 Your decrees will never alter;
holiness will distinguish your house,
Yahweh, for ever and ever.

PSALM 94

v 93

The justice of God

- 1 Yahweh, God of revenge,
God of revenge, appear!
2 Rise, judge of the world,
give the proud their deserts!
- 3 Yahweh, how much longer are the wicked,
how much longer are the wicked to triumph?
4 Are these evil men to remain unsilenced, boasting and asserting themselves?
- 5 Yahweh, they crush your people,
they oppress your hereditary people, 6 murdering and massacring widows, orphans and guests.
- 7 "Yahweh sees nothing," they say,
"the God of Jacob takes no notice."
8 You most stupid of men, you fools, think this over and learn some sense.
- 9 Is the inventor of the ear unable to hear?
The creator of the eye unable to see?
10 The punisher of the pagans unable to punish?
Yahweh the teacher of mankind 11 knows exactly how men think,
how their thoughts are a puff of wind.
- 12 Yahweh, happy the man whom you instruct,
the man whom you teach through your law;
13 his mind is at peace though times are bad,
while a pit is being dug for the wicked.
- 14 For Yahweh has not abandoned
or deserted his hereditary people; 15 for verdict will return to righteousness again,
and, in its wake, all upright hearts.
- 16 No one ever stood up for me against the wicked,
not a soul took a stand to save me from evil men;
17 without Yahweh's help, I should, long ago,
have gone to the Home of Silence.
- 18 I need only say, "I am slipping,"
and your love, Yahweh, immediately supports me; 19 and in the middle of all my troubles
you console me and make me happy.
- 20 You never consent to that corrupt tribunal
that imposes disorder as law, 21 that takes the life of the virtuous and condemns the innocent to death.
- 22 No! Yahweh is still my citadel,
my God is a rock where I take shelter;
23 he will pay them back for all their sins,
he will silence their wickedness,
Yahweh our God will silence them.

PSALM 95

v 94

Psalm for daily use

1 Come, let us praise Yahweh joyfully,
 2 acclaiming the Rock of our safety;
 let us come into his presence with thanksgiving,
 acclaiming him with music.

3 For Yahweh is a great God,
 a greater King than all other gods;
 4 from depths of earth to mountain top everything comes under his rule;
 5 the sea belongs to him, he made it,
 so does the land, he shaped this too.

6 Come in, let us bow, prostrate ourselves,
 and kneel in front of Yahweh our maker,
 7 for this is our God,
 and we are the people he pastures,
 the flock that he guides.

8 If only you would listen to him today,
 "Do not harden your hearts as at Meribah,
 as you did that day at Massah in the wilderness,^a 9 when your ancestors challenged me, tested me, although they had seen what I could do.

10 "For forty years that generation repelled me, until I said: How unreliable these people who refuse to grasp my ways!
 11 And so, in anger, I swore that not one would reach the place of rest I had for them."

PSALM 96

v 95

Yahweh, king and judge

1 Sing Yahweh a new song!
 Sing to Yahweh, all the earth!
 2 Sing to Yahweh, bless his name.

3 Proclaim his salvation day after day,
 tell of his glory among the nations,
 tell his marvels to every people.

4 Yahweh is great, loud must be his praise,
 he is to be feared beyond all gods.
 5 Nothingness, all the gods of the nations.

6 Yahweh himself made the heavens,
 in his presence are splendor and majesty,
 in his sanctuary power and beauty.

7 Pay tribute to Yahweh, families of the peoples,
 tribute to Yahweh of glory and power,
 8 tribute to Yahweh of his name's due glory.

- 9 Bring out the offering, bear it before him,
worship Yahweh in his sacred court,
tremble before him, all the earth!
- 10 Say among the nations, "Yahweh is king!"
Firm has he made the world, and unshakable;
he will judge each nation with strict justice.
- 11 Let the heavens be glad, let earth rejoice,
let the sea thunder and all that it holds,
12 let the fields exult and all that is in them,
let all the woodland trees cry out for joy, 13 at the presence of Yahweh, for he comes,
he comes to judge the earth,
to judge the world with justice
and the nations with his truth.

PSALM 97

v 96

The triumph of Yahweh

- 1 Yahweh is king! Let earth rejoice,
the many isles be glad!
- 2 Cloud and Darkness surround him,
Righteousness and Justice support his throne.
- 3 A fire precedes him as he goes,
devouring all enemies around him;
4 his lightning lights up the world,
earth observes and quakes.
- 5 The mountains melt like wax
at the coming of the Master of the world;
6 the heavens proclaim his righteousness,
all nations see his glory.
- 7 Shame on those who worship images,
who take pride in their idols:
bow down as he passes, all you gods!
- 8 Zion hears and rejoices,
the daughters of Judah exult
at the rulings you utter, Yahweh.
- 9 For you are Yahweh
Most High over the world,
far transcending all other gods.
- 10 Yahweh loves those who repudiate evil,
he guards the souls of the devout,
rescuing them from the clutches of the wicked.
- 11 Light dawns for the virtuous,
and joy, for upright hearts.
12 Rejoice in Yahweh, you virtuous,
remember his holiness, and praise him!

95 a. "The place was named Massah and Meribah," Ex. 17:7. The names mean "Temptation" and "Dispute."

PSALM 98

The judge of the world^a*Psalm*

- 1 Sing Yahweh a new song
for he has performed marvels,
his own right hand, his holy arm,
gives him the power to save.
- 2 Yahweh has displayed his power;
has revealed his righteousness to the nations, 3 mindful of his love and faithfulness to the house of Israel.
- The most distant parts of the earth have seen the saving power of our God.
- 4 Acclaim Yahweh, all the earth,
burst into shouts of joy!
- 5 Sing to Yahweh, sing to the music of harps,
and to the sound of many instruments;
6 to the sound of trumpet and horn acclaim Yahweh the King!
- 7 Let the sea thunder and all that it holds,
and the world, with all who live in it;
8 let all the rivers clap their hands and the mountains shout for joy,
- 9 at the presence of Yahweh, for he comes
to judge the earth,
to judge the world with righteousness
and the nations with strict justice.

PSALM 99

v 98

God, righteous and holy king

- 1 Yahweh is king, the nations tremble;
he is enthroned on the cherubs, earth quakes;
2 Yahweh is great in Zion.
- He is high over all nations;
3 may they praise your great and terrible name,
4 "Holy is he, and mighty!"
- You are a king who loves justice, insisting on honesty, justice, virtue,
as you have done for Jacob.
- 5 Let us extol Yahweh our God,
and worship at his footstool,
"Holy is he!"

- 6 Moses, Aaron one of his priests, and Samuel his votary, all invoked Yahweh:
and he answered them.
- 7 He talked with them in the pillar of cloud;
they obeyed his decrees, the Law he gave them.
- 8 Yahweh our God, you responded to them,
a God of forgiveness for them,
in spite of punishing their sins.
- 9 Extol Yahweh our God,
worship at his holy mountain,
"Holy is Yahweh our God!"

Invitation to praise God

Psalm For thanksgiving

- 1 Acclaim Yahweh, all the earth,
2 serve Yahweh gladly,
come into his presence with songs of joy!
- 3 Know that he, Yahweh, is God,
he made us and we belong to him,
we are his people, the flock that he pastures.
- 4 Walk through his porticoes giving thanks,
enter his courts praising him,
give thanks to him, bless his name!
- 5 Yes, Yahweh is good,
his love is everlasting,
his faithfulness endures from age to age.

The ideal ruler

Of David Psalm

- 1 My song is about kindness and justice;
Yahweh, I sing it to you.
- 2 I mean to make good progress, as the blameless do:
when will you come to me?
- In my household, I will advance
in purity of heart;
- 3 I will not let my eyes rest
on any misconduct.
- I hate the practices of the apostate,
they have no appeal for me;
- 4 perverted hearts must keep their distance,
the wicked I disregard.

- 5 The man who secretly slanders his neighbor
I reduce to silence;
haughty looks, proud heart,
I cannot tolerate these.
- 6 I look to my religious countrymen
to compose my household;
only the man who makes progress, as the blameless do,
can be my servant.
- 7 There is no room in my house
for any hypocrite;
no liar keeps his post
where I can see him.
- 8 Morning after morning^a I reduce to silence
all who are wicked in this country, banishing from the city of Yahweh
all evil men.

PSALM 102

v 101

Prayer in misfortune

Prayer of the downtrodden telling Yahweh their troubles at a moment of distress

- 1 Yahweh, hear my prayer,
let my cry for help reach you;
- 2 do not hide your face from me
when I am in trouble;
bend down to listen to me,
when I call, be quick to answer me!
- 3 For my days are vanishing like smoke,
my bones smoldering like logs, 4 my heart shriveling like scorched grass
and my appetite has gone;
5 whenever I heave a sigh,
my bones stick through my skin.
- 6 I live in a desert like the pelican,
in a ruin like the screech owl,
7 I stay awake, lamenting
like a lone bird on the roof;
8 my enemies insult me all day long,
those who used to praise me now use me as a curse.
- 9 Ashes are the bread I eat,
what I drink I lace with tears,
10 under your furious anger,
since you only picked me up to throw me down;
11 my days dwindle away like a shadow,
I am as dry as hay.
- 12 Whereas, Yahweh, you remain for ever;
each generation in turn remembers you!
- 13 Rise, take pity on Zion!—
the time has come to have mercy on her,
the hour has come;

- 14 for your servants prize her stones
and are moved to pity by her dust.
- 15 Then will the nations fear the name of Yahweh
and all kings on earth respect your glory; 16 when Yahweh builds Zion anew,
he will be seen in his glory;
17 he will answer the prayer of the abandoned,
he will not scorn their petitions.
- 18 Put this on record for the next generation,
so that a race still to be born can praise God:
19 Yahweh has leaned down from the heights of his sanctuary,
has looked down at earth from heaven, 20 to hear the sighing of the captive,
and to set free those doomed to die.
- 28 Your servants' sons will have a permanent home,
and their descendants be in your presence always, 21 to proclaim the name of Yahweh in Zion,
his praise in Jerusalem;
22 nations and kingdoms will be united and offer worship to Yahweh together.
- 23a My strength has already run out;
24a tell me how much longer I have left.
23b Do not take me prematurely, 24b when your own life lasts for ever.
- 25 Aeons ago, you laid earth's foundations,
the heavens are the work of your hands; 26 all will vanish, though you remain,
all wear out like a garment,
like clothes that need changing you will change them;
27 but yourself, you never change, and your years are unending.

PSALM 103

v 102

God is love

Of David

- 1 Bless Yahweh, my soul,
bless his holy name, all that is in me!
2 Bless Yahweh, my soul,
and remember all his kindnesses:
- 3 in forgiving all your offenses,
in curing all your diseases,
4 in redeeming your life from the Pit,
in crowning you with love and tenderness,
5 in filling your years with prosperity,
in renewing your youth like an eagle's.^a
- 6 Yahweh, who does what is right,
is always on the side of the oppressed;

101 a. Morning is the time for administering justice.

103 a. I.e., like an eagle recovering strength and vigor after molting.

- 7 he revealed his intentions to Moses,
his prowess to the sons of Israel.
- 8 Yahweh is tender and compassionate,
slow to anger, most loving;
9 his indignation does not last for ever,
his resentment exists a short time only;
10 he never treats us, never punishes us,
as our guilt and our sins deserve.
- 11 No less than the height of heaven over earth
is the greatness of his love for those who fear him; 12 he takes our sins farther away
than the east is from the west.
- 13 As tenderly as a father treats his children,
so Yahweh treats those who fear him; 14 he knows what we are made of,
he remembers we are dust.
- 15 Man lasts no longer than grass,
no longer than a wild flower he lives, 16 one gust of wind, and he is gone,
never to be seen there again;
- 17 yet Yahweh's love for those who fear him
lasts from all eternity and for ever,
like his goodness to their children's children, 18 as long as they keep his covenant and remember to obey his precepts.
- 19 Yahweh has fixed his throne in the heavens,
his empire is over all.
20 Bless Yahweh, all his angels, heroes mighty to enforce his word,
attentive to his word of command.
- 21 Bless Yahweh, all his armies, servants to enforce his will.
22 Bless Yahweh, all his creatures in every part of his empire!
- Bless Yahweh, my soul.

PSALM 104

v 103

The glories of creation

- 1 Bless Yahweh, my soul.
Yahweh my God, how great you are!
Clothed in majesty and glory,
2 wrapped in a robe of light!
- 3 You stretch the heavens out like a tent,
you build your palace on the waters above;
using the clouds as your chariot,
you advance on the wings of the wind;
4 you use the winds as messengers and fiery flames as servants.

- 5 You fixed the earth on its foundations,
unshakable for ever and ever;
6 you wrapped it with the deep as with a robe,
the waters overtopping the mountains.
- 7 At your reproof the waters took to flight,
they fled at the sound of your thunder, 8 cascading over the mountains, into the valleys,
down to the reservoir you made for them;
9 you imposed the limits they must never cross again,
or they would once more flood the land.
- 10 You set springs gushing in ravines,
running down between the mountains, 11 supplying water for wild animals,
attracting the thirsty wild donkeys;
12 near there the birds of the air make their nests and sing among the branches.
- 13 From your palace you water the uplands
until the ground has had all that your heavens have to offer; 14 you make fresh grass grow for cattle and those plants made use of by man,
for them to get food from the soil: 15 wine to make them cheerful,
oil to make them happy
and bread to make them strong.
- 16 The trees of Yahweh get rain enough,
those cedars of Lebanon he planted;
17 here the little birds build their nest
and, on the highest branches, the stork has its home.
18 For the wild goats there are the mountains,
in the crags rock badgers hide.
- 19 You made the moon to tell the seasons,
the sun knows when to set:
20 you bring darkness on, night falls,
all the forest animals come out:
21 savage lions roaring for their prey, claiming their food from God.
- 22 The sun rises, they retire,
going back to lie down in their lairs, 23 and man goes out to work,
and to labor until dusk.
24 Yahweh, what variety you have created,
arranging everything so wisely!
Earth is completely full of things you have made:
- 25 among them vast expanse of ocean, teeming with countless creatures,
creatures large and small,
26 with the ships going to and fro
and Leviathan whom you made to amuse you.
- 27 All creatures depend on you
to feed them throughout the year;
28 you provide the food they eat,
with generous hand you satisfy their hunger.

- 29 You turn your face away, they suffer,
you stop their breath, they die
and revert to dust.
- 30 You give breath, fresh life begins,
you keep renewing the world.
- 31 Glory for ever to Yahweh!
May Yahweh find joy in what he creates,
32 at whose glance the earth trembles,
at whose touch the mountains smoke!
- 33 I mean to sing to Yahweh all my life,
I mean to play for my God as long as I live.
34 May these reflections of mine give him pleasure,
as much as Yahweh gives me!
- 35 May sinners vanish from the earth and the wicked exist no more!
- Bless Yahweh, my soul.

PSALM 105

v 104

The wonderful history of Israel

Alleluia!

- 1 Give thanks to Yahweh, call his name aloud,
proclaim his deeds to the peoples!
- 2 Sing to him, play to him,
tell over all his marvels!
- 3 Glory in his holy name,
let the hearts that seek Yahweh rejoice!
- 4 Seek Yahweh and his strength,
seek his face untiringly;
5 remember the marvels he has done,
his wonders, the judgments from his mouth.
- 6 Stock of Abraham his servant,
sons of Jacob his chosen one!
7 He is Yahweh our God,
his authority is over all the earth.
- 8 Remember his covenant for ever,
his word of command for a thousand generations, 9 the pact he made with Abraham,
his oath to Isaac.
- 10 He established it as a statute for Jacob,
an everlasting covenant for Israel.
11 "I give you a land," he said,
"Canaan, your allotted heritage.
- 12 "There where you were easily counted, few in number, strangers to the country."
13 They went from nation to nation,
from one kingdom to another people;
- 14 he let no man oppress them,
he punished kings on their behalf.

- 15 "Do not touch my anointed ones," he said,
"do not harm my prophets!"
- 16 Next, he called down famine on the country,
he broke their staff, that is, their bread;
17 he sent a man ahead of them,
Joseph, sold as a slave.
- 18 They tortured his feet with fetters,
they put his neck in irons;
19 time passed, Joseph's oracle came true,
Yahweh's word proved him right.
- 20 The king gave orders to release him,
that master of nations set him free, 21 putting him in charge of his household,
in control of all he possessed,
- 22 to train his officials as he thought fit
and convert his elders into sages.
23 Israel then migrated to Egypt,
Jacob settled in the land of Ham.
- 24 He made his people fertile and more vigorous than their oppressors, 25 whose hearts he then disposed to hatred of his people and double-dealing with his servants.
- 26 He sent his servant Moses,
and Aaron, the man of his choice;
27 there they displayed his signs,
his wonders in the land of Ham.
- 28 He sent darkness, darkness fell,
but still they defied his word.
29 He turned their rivers into blood,
thus killing all their fish.
- 30 Their country was overrun with frogs
even in the royal apartments;
31 he spoke: flies and mosquitoes swarmed throughout the country.
- 32 He sent them hail instead of rain,
fire swept across their land;
33 he blasted their vines and fig trees,
he shattered the trees throughout the country.
- 34 He spoke: there came locusts,
grasshoppers, more than you could count, 35 eating every scrap of greenstuff,
every blade their soil produced.
- 36 Next, he struck down all the first-born in their land,
the entire first fruits of their fertility;
37 then he led Israel out with gold and silver,
and not one man of their tribes was left behind.
- 38 Egypt was glad to see them go,
they had filled her with alarm;
39 he spread a cloud to cover them,
and a fire to glow at night.

40 They demanded food, he sent them quails,
 he satisfied them with the bread of heaven;
 41 he opened the rock, the waters gushed to flow through the desert like a river.

42 Yes, faithful to the sacred promise
 given to his servant Abraham, 43 he led his happy people forward,
 to joyful shouts from his chosen, 44 and gave them the pagans' territories.
 Where others had toiled, they took possession, 45 on condition that they kept his statutes and remained obedient to his laws.

PSALM 106

v 105

National confession

Alleluia!

1 Give thanks to Yahweh, for he is good,
 his love is everlasting!
 2 Who can count all Yahweh's triumphs?
 Who can praise him enough?

3 Happy are we if we exercise justice and constantly practice virtue!
 4 Yahweh, remember me,
 for the love you bear your people,
 come to me as a savior,
 5 let me share the happiness of your chosen,
 the joys of your nation
 and take pride in being one of your heirs.

6 We have sinned quite as much as our fathers,
 we have been wicked, we are guilty;
 7 our ancestors in Egypt never grasped the meaning of your marvels.

They failed to appreciate your great love,
 they defied the Most High at the Sea of Reeds.
 8 For the sake of his name, he saved them
 to demonstrate his power.

9 One word from him dried up the Sea of Reeds,
 he led them across the sea bed like dry land, 10 he saved them from the grasp of those who hated them
 and rescued them from the clutches of the enemy.

11 And the waters swallowed their oppressors,
 not one of them was left.
 12 Then, having faith in his promises,
 they immediately sang his praises.

13 They forgot his achievements as quickly,
 going on before asking his advice;
 14 their desires overcame them in the desert,
 they challenged God in the wilds.

- 15 He granted them what they asked for,
then struck them with a wasting fever;
16 in camp, they grew jealous of Moses and Aaron, Yahweh's holy one.
- 17 The earth opened, swallowing Dathan,
closing on Abiram's faction, 18 fire flamed out against their faction,
the renegades went up in flames.
- 19 They made a calf at Horeb,
performed prostrations to a smelted thing, 20 exchanging the one who was their glory
for the image of a grass-eating ox.
- 21 They forgot the God who had saved them
by performing such feats in Egypt, 22 such wonders in the land of Ham,
such fearful things at the Sea of Reeds
- 23 He talked of putting an end to them and would have done, if Moses his chosen had not stood in the breach, confronting him,
and deflecting his destructive anger.
- 24 They refused a land of delight,
having no faith in his promise;
25 they stayed in their camp and grumbled,
they would not listen to Yahweh's voice.
- 26 So, raising his hand, he swore to make them fall dead in the desert 27 and their descendants to fall to the heathen, and to disperse them throughout those countries.
- 28 They accepted the yoke of Baal-peor
and ate sacrifices to the dead.
29 They provoked him by their behavior;
plague broke out among them.
- 30 Then up stood Phinehas to intervene,
and the plague was checked;
31 hence his reputation for virtue through successive generations for ever.
- 32 They enraged him at the waters of Meribah;
as a result, things went wrong for Moses, 33 since they had embittered his spirit and he spoke without stopping to think.
- 34 They did not destroy the pagans
as Yahweh had told them to do, 35 but, intermarrying with them,
adopted their practices instead.
- 36 Serving the pagans' idols,
they found themselves trapped 37 into sacrificing their own sons and daughters to demons.
- 38 They shed innocent blood,
the blood of their sons and daughters,

offering them to the idols of Canaan,
they polluted the country with blood.

39 They defiled themselves by such actions,
40 their behavior was that of a whore.
Yahweh's anger blazed out at his people,
he came to loathe his heirs.

41 He handed them over to the pagans,
42 those who hated them became their masters;
their enemies tyrannized over them,
crushing them under their rule.

43 Time and again he rescued them,
but they went on defying him deliberately 44 and plunging deeper into wickedness;
even so, he took pity on their distress
each time he heard them calling.

45 For their sake, he remembered his covenant,
he relented in his great love, 46 making their captors mitigate the harshness of their treatment.

47 Yahweh our God and savior, gather us from among the pagans,
to give thanks to your holy name
and to find our happiness in praising you.

48 Blessed be Yahweh the God of Israel,
from all eternity and for ever!
Here, all the people are to say, "Amen."^a

PSALM 107

v 106

God, a refuge in all dangers

Alleluia!

1 Give thanks to Yahweh, for he is good,
his love is everlasting:

2 let these be the words of Yahweh's redeemed,
those he has redeemed from the oppressor's clutches,
3 by bringing them home from foreign countries,
from east and west, from north and south.

4 Some had lost their way in the wilds and the desert,
not knowing how to reach an inhabited town;
5 they were hungry and desperately thirsty,
their courage was running low.

6 Then they called to Yahweh in their trouble
and he rescued them from their sufferings, 7 guiding them by a route leading direct to an inhabited town.

8 Let these thank Yahweh for his love,
for his marvels on behalf of men;
9 satisfying the hungry,
he fills the starving with good things.

- 10 Some were living in gloom and darkness,
fettered in misery and irons 11 for defying the orders of God,
for scorning the advice of the Most High; 12 who bent them double with hardship,
to breaking point, with no one to help them.
- 13 Then they called to Yahweh in their trouble
and he rescued them from their sufferings;
14 releasing them from gloom and darkness,
shattering their chains.
- 15 Let these thank Yahweh for his love,
for his marvels on behalf of men;
16 breaking bronze gates open,
he smashes iron bars.
- 17 Some, driven frantic by their sins,
made miserable by their own guilt 18 and finding all food repugnant, were nearly at death's door.
- 19 Then they called to Yahweh in their trouble
and he rescued them from their sufferings;
20 sending his word and curing them,
he snatched them from the Pit.
- 21 Let these thank Yahweh for his love,
for his marvels on behalf of men.
22 Let them offer thanksgiving sacrifices and proclaim with shouts of joy what he has done.
- 23 Others, taking ship and going to sea,
were plying their business across the ocean;
24 they too saw what Yahweh could do,
what marvels on the deep!
- 25 He spoke and raised a gale,
lashing up towering waves.
26 Flung to the sky, then plunged to the depths,
they lost their nerve in the ordeal, 27 staggering and reeling like drunkards with all their seamanship adrift.
- 28 Then they called to Yahweh in their trouble
and he rescued them from their sufferings, 29 reducing the storm to a whisper
until the waves grew quiet, 30 bringing them, glad at the calm, safe to the port they were bound for.
- 31 Let these thank Yahweh for his love,
for his marvels on behalf of men.
32 Let them extol him at the Great Assembly and praise him in the Council of Elders.
- 33 Sometimes he turned rivers into desert,
springs of water into arid ground, 34 or a fertile country into salt flats,
because the people living there were wicked.

35 Or again, he turned a desert into sheets of water,
and an arid country into flowing springs, 36 where he gave the hungry a home
in which to found a habitable town.

37 There, they sow the fields and plant their vines,
there, they show a profitable harvest.
38 He blesses them, they grow in number,
he sees that their livestock does not decrease.

39 Their numbers had fallen, they had grown weak
under pressure of disaster and hardship.
40 Pouring his contempt upon the nobly born,
he left them to wander in a trackless waste.

41 But now, he lifts the needy out of their misery,
and gives them a flock of new families;
42 at the sight of which, upright hearts rejoice and wickedness must hold its tongue.

43 If you are wise, study these things and realize how Yahweh shows his love.

PSALM 108

Morning hymn and national prayer^a*Song Psalm Of David*

1 My heart is ready, God
—I mean to sing and play.
Awake, my muse,
2 awake, lyre and harp,
I mean to wake the Dawn!

3 Yahweh, I mean to thank you among the peoples,
to play music to you among the nations;
4 your love is high as heaven,
your faithfulness as the clouds.
5 Rise high above the heavens, God,
let your glory be over the earth!

6 To bring rescue to those you love
save with your right hand and answer us!

7 God promised us once from his sanctuary,
“I the Victor will parcel out Shechem,
and share out the Valley of Succoth.

8 “Gilead is mine, Manasseh mine,
Ephraim is my helmet,
Judah, my marshal’s baton.

9 “Moab a bowl for me to wash in!
I throw my sandal over Edom
and shout: Victory! over Philistia.”

10 Who is there now to take me into the fortified city,
to lead me into Edom?
11 God, can you really have rejected us?
You no longer march with our armies.

- 12 Help us in this hour of crisis,
the help that man can give is worthless.
13 With God among us, we shall fight like heroes,
he will trample on our enemies.

PSALM 109

v 108

An appeal against enemies

For the choirmaster Of David Psalm

- 1 God whom I praise, break your silence,
2 now that the wicked and the false
are both accusing me.
They are defaming me,
3 saying malicious things about me,
attacking me for no reason.
4 In return for my friendship, they denounce me,
though all I had done was pray for them;
5 they pay me back evil for kindness and hatred for friendship.
6 "Give him a venal judge,
find someone to frame the charge;
7 let him be tried and found guilty,
let his prayer be construed as a crime!
8 "Let his life be cut short,
let someone else take his office;
9 may his children be orphaned and his wife widowed!
10 "May his children be homeless vagabonds,
begged and hounded from their hovels;
11 may the creditor seize his possessions and foreigners swallow his profits!
12 "May no one be left to show him kindness,
may no one look after his orphans, 13 may his family die out,
its name disappear in one generation!
14 "May the crimes of his fathers be held against him and his mother's sin never be effaced; 15 may Yahweh bear these constantly in mind,
to wipe their memory off the earth!" 16 That wretch never thought of being kind,
but hounded the poor, the needy
and the brokenhearted to death.
17 He loved cursing, may it recoil on him,
had no taste for blessing, may it shun him!
18 He used to wrap curses around him like a cloak,
let them soak right into him like water,
deep into his bones like oil.
19 May they now envelop him like a gown,
be tied around his waist for ever!

- 20 May Yahweh pay all my accusers,
all my detractors like this!
- 21 Yahweh, defend me for the sake of your name,
rescue me, since your love is generous!
- 22 Reduced to weakness and poverty,
my heart is sorely tormented;
- 23 I am dwindling away like a shadow,
they have brushed me off like a locust.
- 24 My knees are weak for lack of food,
my body is thin for lack of oil;
- 25 I have become an object of derision,
people shake their heads at me in scorn.
- 26 Help me, Yahweh my God,
save me since you love me,
and let them know that you have done it,
that it was you, Yahweh, who did it.
- 27
- 28 Counter their curses with your blessing,
shame my aggressors, make your servant glad!
- 29 Clothe my accusers in disgrace,
cover them with a cloak of shame.
- 30 I will give thanks aloud to Yahweh
and praise him in the Assembly,
for conducting the poor man's defense
- 31 against those who would have sentenced him to death.

PSALM 110

The Messiah: king and priest*Of David Psalm*

- 1 Yahweh's oracle to you, my Lord, "Sit at my right hand and I will make your enemies a footstool for you."
- 2 Yahweh will force all your enemies
under the sway of your scepter in Zion.
- 3 Royal dignity was yours from the day you were born, on the holy mountains,
royal from the womb, from the dawn of your earliest days.
- 4 Yahweh has sworn an oath which he never will retract,
"You are a priest of the order of Melchizedek, and for ever."
- 5 The Lord is at your right hand.
When he grows angry he shatters kings,
he gives the nations their deserts,
smashing their skulls, he heaps the wide world with corpses.
- 6 Drinking from the stream as he goes,
he can hold his head high in victory.

PSALM 111

v 110

In praise of the divine attributes

- 1 Alleluia!
- Aleph
Beth* I give thanks to Yahweh with all my heart
where the virtuous meet and the people assemble.
- 2 *Ghimel
Daleth* The works of Yahweh are sublime, those who delight in them are right to fix their eyes on them.
- 3 *He
Waw* Every work that he does is full of glory and majesty,
and his righteousness can never change.
- 4 *Zain
Heth* He allows us to commemorate his marvels.
Yahweh is merciful and tenderhearted,
- 5 *Teth
Yod* he provides food for those who fear him;
he never forgets his covenant.
- 6 *Kaph
Lamed* He reminds his people of the power that he wields
by giving them the inheritance of the nations.
- 7 *Mem
Nun* All that he does is done in faithfulness and justice,
in all ways his precepts are dependable,
- 8 *Samek
Ain* ordained to last for ever and ever,
framed in faithfulness and integrity.
- 9 *Pe
Sade
Qoph* Quickly he comes to his people's rescue, imposing his covenant once and for all;
so holy his name, commanding our dread.
- 10 *Resh
Shin
Tau* This fear of Yahweh is the beginning of wisdom,
they have sound sense who practice it.
His praises will be sung for ever.

PSALM 112

v 111

In praise of the virtuous

- 1 Alleluia!
- Aleph
Beth* Happy the man who fears Yahweh
by joyfully keeping his commandments!
- 2 *Ghimel
Daleth* Children of such a man will be powers on earth,
descendants of the upright will always be blessed.
- 3 *He
Waw* There will be riches and wealth for his family,
and his righteousness can never change.
- 4 *Zain
Heth* For the upright he shines like a lamp in the dark,
he is merciful, tenderhearted, virtuous.
- 5 *Teth
Yod* Interest is not charged by this good man,
he is honest in all his dealings.
- 6 *Kaph
Lamed* Kept safe by virtue, he is ever steadfast, and leaves an imperishable memory behind him;

- 7 Mem with constant heart, and confidence in Yahweh,
Nun he need never fear bad news.
- 8 Samek Steadfast in heart he overcomes his fears:
Ain in the end he will triumph over his enemies.
- 9 Pe Quick to be generous, he gives to the poor,
Sade his righteousness can never change,
Qoph men such as this will always be honored,
- 10 Resh though this fills the wicked with fury
Shin until, grinding their teeth, they waste away,
Tau vanishing like their vain hopes.

PSALM 113

v 112

To God the glorious, the merciful

- 1 Alleluia!
- You servants of Yahweh, praise,
praise the name of Yahweh!
- 2 Blessed be the name of Yahweh,
henceforth and for ever!
- 3 From east to west,
praised be the name of Yahweh!
- 4 High over all nations, Yahweh!
His glory transcends the heavens!
- 5 Who is like Yahweh our God?—
enthroned so high, he needs to stoop 6 to see the sky and earth!
- 7 He raises the poor from the dust;
he lifts the needy from the dunghill 8 to give them a place with princes, with the princes of his people.
- 9 He enthrones the barren woman in her house
by making her the happy mother of sons.

PSALM 114

v 113A

Hymn for the Passover

- Alleluia!
- 1 When Israel came out of Egypt,
the House of Jacob from a foreign nation,
2 Judah became his sanctuary and Israel his domain.
- 3 The sea fled at the sight,
the Jordan stopped flowing,
4 the mountains skipped like rams,
and like lambs, the hills.
- 5 Sea, what makes you run away?
Jordan, why stop flowing?

- 6 Why skip like rams, you mountains,
why like lambs, you hills?
- 7 Quake, earth, at the coming of your Master,
at the coming of the God of Jacob,
- 8 who turns rock into pool,
flint into fountain.

PSALM 115

v 113B

The one true God

- 1 Not by us, Yahweh, not by us,
by you alone is glory deserved,
by your love and your faithfulness!
- 2 Do the pagans ask, "Where is their God?"
- 3 Ours is the God whose will is sovereign
in the heavens and on earth,
4 whereas their idols, in silver and gold,
products of human skill,
5 have mouths, but never speak,
eyes, but never see,
6 ears, but never hear,
noses, but never smell,
7 hands, but never touch,
feet, but never walk,
and not a sound from their throats.
8 Their makers will end up like them,
and so will anyone who relies on them.
- 9 House of Israel, rely on Yahweh,
on him, our help and shield!
- 10 House of Aaron, rely on Yahweh,
on him, our help and shield!
- 11 You who fear Yahweh, rely on Yahweh,
on him, our help and shield!
- 12 Yahweh remembers us, he will bless,
he will bless the House of Israel,
he will bless the House of Aaron, 13 he will bless those who fear Yahweh, without distinction of rank.^a
- 14 May Yahweh add to your numbers,
yours and your children's too!
15 May you be blessed by Yahweh,
maker of heaven and earth!
- 16 Heaven belongs to Yahweh,
earth he bestows on man.
- 17 The dead cannot praise Yahweh,
they have gone down to silence;
18 but we, the living, bless Yahweh henceforth and evermore.

115 a. Between the Israelites by birth, the priestly house of Aaron, and the "God-fearers" who are proselytes.

Thanksgiving

Alleluia!

- 1 I love! For Yahweh listens to my entreaty;
2 he bends down to listen to me when I call.
- 3 Death's cords were tightening around me,
the nooses of Sheol;
distress and anguish gripped me,
4 I invoked the name of Yahweh:
"Yahweh, rescue me!"
- 5 Yahweh is righteous and merciful,
our God is tenderhearted;
6 Yahweh defends the simple,
he saved me when I was brought to my knees.
- 7 Return to your resting place, my soul,
Yahweh has treated you kindly.
8 He has rescued (me from death) my eyes from tears and my feet from stumbling.
- 9 (I will walk in Yahweh's presence in the land of the living.)^a
- 10 I have faith, even when I say,
"I am completely crushed."
11 In my alarm, I declared,
"No man can be relied on."
- 12 What return can I make to Yahweh
for all his goodness to me?
13 I will offer libations to my savior,
invoking the name of Yahweh.
- 14 (I will pay what I vowed to Yahweh;
may his whole nation be present!)
- 15 The death of the devout costs Yahweh dear.
16 Yahweh, I am your servant,
your servant, son of a pious mother,
you undo my fetters.
- 17 I will offer you the thanksgiving sacrifice,
invoking the name of Yahweh.
9 I will walk in Yahweh's presence
in the land of the living.
- 18 I will pay what I vowed to Yahweh;
may his whole nation be present,
19 in the courts of the house of Yahweh,
in your heart, Jerusalem.

Summons to praise

Alleluia!

- 1 Praise Yahweh, all nations,
extol him, all you peoples!
- 2 For his love is strong,
his faithfulness eternal.

PSALM 118

v 117

Processional hymn for the feast of Tabernacles^a

Alleluia!

- 1 Give thanks to Yahweh, for he is good,
his love is everlasting!
- 2 Let the House of Israel say it,
"His love is everlasting!"
- 3 Let the House of Aaron say it,
"His love is everlasting!"
- 4 Let those who fear Yahweh say it,
"His love is everlasting!"
- 5 Hard pressed, I invoked Yahweh,
he heard me and came to my relief.
- 6 With Yahweh on my side, I fear nothing:
what can man do to me?
- 7 With Yahweh on my side, best help of all,
I can triumph over my enemies.
- 8 I would rather take refuge in Yahweh
than rely on men;
- 9 I would rather take refuge in Yahweh
than rely on princes.
- 10 The pagans were swarming around me,
in the name of Yahweh I cut them down;
11 they swarmed around me closer and closer,
in the name of Yahweh I cut them down;
- 12 they swarmed around me like bees,
they blazed like a thorn fire,
in the name of Yahweh I cut them down.
- 13 I was pressed, pressed, about to fall,
but Yahweh came to my help;
- 14 Yahweh is my strength and my song,
he has been my savior.
- 15 Shouts of joy and safety
in the tents of the virtuous:
Yahweh's right hand is wreaking havoc,

116 a. This verse (and the bracketed words in v.8) have been added by an editor or copyist to assimilate this passage to the parallel Ps. 56:13. In this psalm, v.9 should be read after v.17.
118 a. The last of the six "Hallel" (Praise) psalms which began with Ps. 113.

- 16 Yahweh's right hand is winning,
Yahweh's right hand is wreaking havoc!
- 17 No, I shall not die, I shall live
to recite the deeds of Yahweh;
18 though Yahweh has punished me often,
he has not abandoned me to Death.
- 19 Open the gates of virtue to me,
I will come in and give thanks to Yahweh.
20 This is Yahweh's gateway,
through which the virtuous may enter.
21 I thank you for having heard me,
you have been my savior.
- 22 It was the stone rejected by the builders
that proved to be the keystone; 23 this is Yahweh's doing and it is wonderful to see.
24 This is the day made memorable by Yahweh,
what immense joy for us!
- 25 Please, Yahweh, please save us.
Please, Yahweh, please give us prosperity.
26 Blessings on him who comes in the name of Yahweh!
We bless you from the house of Yahweh.
27 Yahweh is God, he smiles on us.
With branches in your hands draw up in procession
as far as the horns of the altar,
- 28 You are my God, I give you thanks,
I extol you, my God;
I give you thanks for having heard me,
you have been my savior.
- 29 Give thanks to Yahweh, for he is good,
his love is everlasting!

v 118

In praise of the divine Law

- 1 Aleph Ah, how happy those of blameless life
who walk in the Law of Yahweh!
- 2 How happy those who respect his decrees,
and seek him with their whole heart, 3 and, doing no evil,
walk in his ways!
- 4 You yourself have made your precepts known,
to be faithfully kept.
- 5 Oh, may my behavior be constant in keeping your statutes.
- 6 If I concentrate on your every commandment,
I can never be put to shame.
- 7 I thank you from an upright heart,
schooled in your rules of righteousness.
- 8 I mean to observe your statutes;
never abandon me.
- 9 Beth How can a youth remain pure?
By behaving as your word prescribes.

10 I have sought you with all my heart,
do not let me stray from your commandments.
11 I have treasured your promises in my heart,
since I have no wish to sin against you.
12 How blessed are you, Yahweh!
Teach me your statutes!
13 With my lips I have repeated them,
all these rulings from your own mouth.
14 In the way of your decrees lies my joy,
a joy beyond all wealth.
15 I mean to meditate on your precepts and to concentrate on your paths.
16 I find my delight in your statutes,
I do not forget your word.

17 Ghimel Be good to your servant and I shall live,
I shall observe your word.
18 Open my eyes: I shall concentrate on the marvels of your Law.
19 Exile though I am on earth,
do not hide your commandments from me.
20 My soul is overcome
with an incessant longing for your rulings.
21 You reprove the arrogant, the accursed who stray from your commandments.
22 Avert their insults and contempt from me,
since I respect your decrees.
23 Though princes put me on trial,
your servant will meditate on your statutes, 24 since your decrees are my delight,
your statutes are my counselors.

25 Daleth Down in the dust I lie prostrate:
revive me as your word has guaranteed.
26 I admitted my behavior, you answered me,
now teach me your statutes.
27 Explain to me how to keep your precepts,
that I may meditate on your marvels.
28 I am sleepless with grief:
raise me as your word has guaranteed.
29 Turn me from the path of delusion, grant me the grace of your Law.
30 I have chosen the way of fidelity,
I have set my heart on your rulings.
31 I cling to your decrees:
Yahweh, do not disappoint me.
32 I run the way of your commandments,
since you have set me free.

33 He Expound to me the way of your statutes, Yahweh, and I will always respect them.
34 Explain to me how to respect your Law
and how to observe it wholeheartedly.
35 Guide me in the path of your commandments,
since my delight is there.
36 Turn my heart to your decrees and away from getting money.

- 37 Avert my eyes from lingering on inanities,
give me life by your word.
- 38 Keep your promise to your servant,
so that others in turn may fear you.
- 39 Avert the insults that I fear,
in the kindness of your rulings.
- 40 Look how I yearn for your precepts:
give me life by your righteousness.
- 41 Waw For, Yahweh, visited by your love and saving help, as you have promised, 42 I can find an answer to the insults,
since I rely on your word.
- 43 Do not deprive me of that faithful word,
since my hope has always lain in your rulings.
- 44 Let me observe your Law unfailingly
for ever and ever.
- 45 So, having sought your precepts,
I shall walk in all freedom.
- 46 I shall proclaim your decrees to kings without fear of disgrace.
- 47 Your commandments fill me with delight,
I love them deeply.
- 48 I stretch out my hands to your beloved commandments,
I meditate on your statutes.
- 49 Zain Remember the word you pledged your servant,
on which you have built my hope.
- 50 This has been my comfort in my suffering:
that your promise gives me life.
- 51 Endlessly the arrogant have jeered at me,
but I have not swerved from your Law.
- 52 Remembering your rulings in the past,
Yahweh, I take comfort.
- 53 Fury grips me when I see the wicked
abandoning your Law.
- 54 Where I live in exile,
your statutes are psalms for me.
- 55 All night, Yahweh, I remember your name and observe your Law.
- 56 Surely it will count to my credit:
that I respect your precepts.
- 57 Heth Have I not said, Yahweh, that my task is to observe your words?
- 58 Wholeheartedly I now entreat you,
take pity on me as you have promised!
- 59 After reflecting on my behavior,
I turn my feet to your decrees.
- 60 Wasting no time, I hurry
to observe your commandments.
- 61 Though the nooses of the wicked tighten around me,
I do not forget your Law.
- 62 I get up at midnight to thank you for the righteousness of your rulings.
- 63 I am a friend to all who fear you and observe your precepts.

- 64 Yahweh, your love fills the earth:
teach me your statutes.
- 65 Teth In accordance with your word, Yahweh,
you have been good to your servant.
- 66 Teach me good sense and knowledge,
for I rely on your commandments.
- 67 In earlier days I had to suffer, I used to stray,
but now I remember your promise.
- 68 You, so good and kind,
teach me your statutes!
- 69 Though the arrogant tell foul lies about me,
I wholeheartedly respect your precepts.
- 70 Their hearts are gross as fat,
but my delight is in your Law.
- 71 It was good for me to have to suffer,
the better to learn your statutes.
- 72 I put the Law you have given before all the gold and silver in the world.
- 73 Yod Yahweh, my maker, my preserver, explain your commandments for me to learn.
- 74 Seeing me, those who fear you will be glad,
since I put my hope in your word.
- 75 I know that your rulings are righteous, Yahweh,
that you make me suffer out of faithfulness.
- 76 Now, please let your love comfort me,
as you have promised your servant.
- 77 Treat me tenderly, and I shall live,
since your Law is my delight.
- 78 Shame seize the arrogant who defame me,
when I meditate on your precepts!
- 79 May those who fear you rally to me,
all those familiar with your decrees!
- 80 Blameless in your statutes be my heart:
no such shame therefore for me!
- 81 Kaph Keeping my hope in your word,
I have worn myself out waiting for you to save me,
and have strained my eyes waiting for your promise:
when, I want to know, will you console me?
- 83 Though smoked as dry as a wineskin,
I do not forget your statutes.
- 84 How much longer has your servant to live,
when will you condemn my persecutors?
- 85 The arrogant have dug pitfalls for me
in defiance of your Law.
- 86 Your commandments epitomize faithfulness;
when liars hound me, you must help me.
- 87 Though these wretches have almost done for me,
I have never abandoned your precepts.
- 88 Lovingly intervene, give me life,
and I will observe your decrees.
- 89 Lamed Lasting to eternity, your word, Yahweh, unchanging in the heavens:
your faithfulness lasts age after age;
- 90

- you founded the earth to endure.
 91 Creation is maintained by your rulings,
 since all things are your servants.
 92 Had your Law not been my delight
 I should have perished in my suffering.
 93 I shall never forget your precepts;
 by these you have kept me alive.
 94 I am yours, save me,
 since I study your precepts.
 95 The wicked may hope to destroy me,
 but I am scrupulous about your decrees.
 96 I have noticed limitations to all perfection,
 but your commandment has no limits at all.
- 97 Mem Meditating all day on your Law,
 how I have come to love it!
 98 By your commandment, ever mine,
 how much wiser you have made me than my enemies!
 99 How much subtler than my teachers,
 through my meditating on your decrees!
 100 How much more perceptive than the elders,
 as a result of my respecting your precepts!
 101 I refrain my feet from every evil path,
 the better to observe your word.
 102 I do not turn aside from your rulings,
 since you yourself teach me these.
 103 Your promise, how sweet to my palate!
 Sweeter than honey to my mouth!
 104 Your precepts endow me with perception;
 I hate all deceptive paths.
- 105 Nun Now your word is a lamp to my feet,
 a light on my path.
 106 I have sworn to observe, I shall maintain,
 your righteous rulings.
 107 Yahweh, though my suffering is acute,
 revive me as your word has guaranteed.
 108 Yahweh, accept the homage that I offer, teach me your rulings.
 109 I would lay down my life at any moment,
 I have never yet forgotten your Law.
 110 The wicked have tried to trap me,
 but I have never yet veered from your precepts.
 111 Your decrees are my eternal heritage,
 they are the joy of my heart.
 112 I devote myself to obeying your statutes—compensation enough for ever!
- 113 Samek Odious, those whose allegiance is divided;
 I love your Law!
 114 You, my refuge and shield,
 I put my hope in your word.
 115 Away from me, you wicked people!
 I will respect the commandments of my God.
 116 Support me as you have promised, and I shall live,
 do not disappoint me of my hope.
 117 Uphold me, and I shall be safe with your statutes constantly before my eyes.

- 118 You spurn all who stray from your statutes,
their notions being delusion.
- 119 You scour the wicked off the earth like rust;
that is why I love your decrees.
- 120 My whole being trembles before you,
your rulings fill me with fear.
- 121 Ain Persevering in justice and virtue,
must I now be abandoned to my oppressors?
122 Guarantor of your servant's well-being,
forbid the arrogant to oppress me!
123 My eyes are worn out looking for your saving help,
for your promise of righteousness to come.
124 Treat your servant lovingly,
teach me your statutes.
125 I am your servant; if you will explain,
I shall embrace your decrees.
126 Yahweh, now is the time to act,
your Law is being broken.
127 Yes, I love your commandments
more than gold, than purest gold.
128 Yes, I rule myself by all your precepts;
I hate all deceptive paths.
- 129 Pe Your decrees are so wonderful my soul cannot but respect them.
130 As your word unfolds, it gives light,
and the simple understand.
131 I open my mouth, panting eagerly for your commandments.
132 Turn to me please, pity me,
as you should those who love your name.
133 Direct my steps as you have promised,
let evil win no power over me.
134 Rescue me from human oppression;
I will observe your precepts.
135 Treat your servant kindly,
teach me your statutes.
136 My eyes stream with tears,
because others disregard your Law.
- 137 Sade Righteous, indeed, Yahweh!
And all your rulings correct!
138 The decrees you impose, how righteous,
how absolutely faithful!
139 Zeal for your house devours me,
since my oppressors forget your word.
140 But your promise is well tested,
and your servant holds it dear.
141 Puny and despised as I am,
I do not forget your precepts.
142 Your righteousness is eternal righteousness,
your Law holds true for ever.
143 Though distress and anguish grip me,
your commandments are my delight.
144 Eternally righteous, your decrees—
explain them to me, and I shall live.

- 145 Qoph Sincere, my call—Yahweh, answer me!
I will respect your statutes.
- 146 I invoke you, save me,
I will observe your decrees.
- 147 I am up before dawn to call for help,
I put my hope in your word.
- 148 I lie awake throughout the night,
to meditate on your promise.
- 149 In your love, Yahweh, listen to my voice,
let your rulings give me life.
- 150 My cruel persecutors are closing in,
how remote they are from your Law!
- 151 But, Yahweh, you are closer still and all your commandments are true.
- 152 Long have I known that your decrees were founded to last for ever.
- 153 Resh Take note of my suffering and rescue me,
for I do not forget your Law.
- 154 Take up my cause, defend me,
give me life as you have promised.
- 155 You will never save the wicked,
if they do not study your statutes,
- 156 but many are your mercies to me, Yahweh,
by your rulings give me life.
- 157 Many hound me and oppress me,
but I do not swerve from your decrees.
- 158 The sight of these renegades disgusts me,
they do not observe your promise;
- 159 but, Yahweh, see how I love your precepts,
and lovingly give me life.
- 160 Faithfulness is the essence of your word,
your righteous rulings hold good for ever.
- 161 Shin Unjustifiably though princes hound me,
your word is what fills me with dread.
- 162 I rejoice in your promise,
like someone on finding a vast treasure.
- 163 I hate, I detest, delusion;
your Law is what I love.
- 164 Seven times daily I praise you for your righteous rulings.
- 165 Universal peace for those who love your Law,
no stumbling blocks for them!
- 166 Waiting for you, Yahweh, my savior,
I fulfill your commandments.
- 167 My soul observes your decrees;
these I wholly love.
- 168 I observe your precepts, your decrees;
you know how I keep to your paths.
- 169 Tau Yahweh, may my cry approach your presence;
let your word endow me with perception!
- 170 May my entreaty reach your presence;
rescue me as you have promised.
- 171 May my lips proclaim your praise,
since you teach me your statutes.

- 172 May my tongue recite your promise,
since all your commandments are righteous.
- 173 May your hand be there to help me,
since I have chosen your precepts.
- 174 I long for you, Yahweh, my savior,
your Law is my delight.
- 175 Long may my soul live to praise you,
long be your rulings my help!
- 176 I am wandering like a lost sheep:
come and look for your servant.
- No, I have never forgotten your commandments.

PSALM 120

The enemies of peace

Song of Ascents

- 1 When I am in trouble, I call to Yahweh, and he answers me.
- 2 Yahweh, save me from these lying lips
and these faithless tongues!
- 3 How will he pay back the false oath
of a faithless tongue?
- 4 With war arrows hardened over red-hot charcoal!
- 5 This is worse than a life in Meshech,^a or camping in Kedar!
- 6 Too long have I lived
among people who hate peace,
- 7 who, when I propose peace,
are all for war.

PSALM 121

The guardian of Israel

Song of Ascents

- 1 I lift my eyes to the mountains:
where is help to come from?
- 2 Help comes to me from Yahweh,
who made heaven and earth.
- 3 No letting our footsteps slip!
This guard of yours, he does not doze!
- 4 The guardian of Israel
does not doze or sleep.
- 5 Yahweh guards you, shades you.
With Yahweh at your right hand
sun cannot strike you down by day, nor moon at night.

120 a. In the Caucasus. The Arabs of Kedar lived in the Syrian desert. Both are regarded by the psalmist as uncivilized.

- 7 Yahweh guards you from harm,
 he guards your lives,
 8 he guards you leaving, coming back,
 now and for always.

PSALM 122

v 121

Hail, Jerusalem!Song of Ascents Of David

- 1 How I rejoiced when they said to me,
 "Let us go to the house of Yahweh!"
 2 And now our feet are standing in your gateways, Jerusalem.
 3 Jerusalem restored! The city,
 one united whole!
 4 Here the tribes come up,
 the tribes of Yahweh,
 they come to praise Yahweh's name,
 as he ordered Israel,
 5 here where the tribunals of justice are,
 the royal tribunals of David.
 6 Pray for peace in Jerusalem,
 "Prosperity to your houses!
 7 Peace inside your city walls!
 Prosperity to your palaces!"
 8 Since all are my brothers and friends,
 I say "Peace be with you!"
 9 Since Yahweh our God lives here,
 I pray for your happiness.

PSALM 123

v 122

Prayer of the distressed*Song of Ascents*

- 1 I lift my eyes to you,
 to you who have your home in heaven,
 2 eyes like the eyes of slaves
 fixed on their master's hand;
 like the eyes of a slave girl
 fixed on the hand of her mistress,
 so our eyes are fixed on Yahweh our God,
 for him to take pity on us;
 3 pity us, Yahweh, take pity on us,
 we have had more than our share of scorn, 4 more than our share
 of jeers from the complacent,
 of scorn from the proud.

PSALM 124

v 123

The savior of Israel

Song of Ascents David

- 1 If Yahweh had not been on our side
—let Israel repeat it—
- 2 if Yahweh had not been on our side
when they attacked us,
3 they would have swallowed us alive
and burned us to death in their rage.
- 4 The waters would have closed over us,
the torrent have swept us away,
5 either would have drowned us
in their turbulent waves.
- 6 Blessed be Yahweh who did not let us fall
a victim to those teeth, 7 who let us escape like birds
from the fowler's net.
- 8 He tore the net
and we escaped;
our help is in the name of Yahweh,
who made heaven and earth.

PSALM 125

v 124

God protects his faithful

Song of Ascents

- 1 Those who trust in Yahweh are like Mount Zion, unshakable, standing for ever.
- 2 Jerusalem! Encircled by mountains, as Yahweh encircles his people
now and for always.
- 3 No wicked scepter shall rule
this heritage of the virtuous, or the virtuous in their turn might take to evil.
- 4 Yahweh, be good to the good,
to those of upright heart.
- 5 But the perverts, those who follow twisting paths—
may Yahweh send them to join the evildoers!
- Peace to Israel!

PSALM 126

v 125

Song of the returning exiles

Song of Ascents

- 1 When Yahweh brought Zion's captives home,
at first it seemed like a dream;

- 2 then our mouths filled with laughter
and our lips with song.
- Even the pagans started talking about the marvels Yahweh had done for us!
- 3 What marvels indeed he did for us,
and how overjoyed we were!
- 4 Yahweh, bring all our captives back again
like torrents in the Negeb!
- 5 Those who went sowing in tears
now sing as they reap.
- 6 They went away, went away weeping,
carrying the seed;
they come back, come back singing,
carrying their sheaves.

PSALM 127

v 126

Trust in Providence

Song of Ascents Solomon

- 1 If Yahweh does not build the house,
in vain the masons toil;
if Yahweh does not guard the city,
in vain the sentries watch.
- 2 In vain you get up earlier,
and put off going to bed,
sweating to make a living,
since he provides for his beloved as they sleep.
- 3 Sons are a bounty from Yahweh,
he rewards with descendants:
like the arrows in a hero's hand
are the sons you father when young.
- 5 Happy the man who has filled his quiver
with arrows of this sort;
in dispute with his enemies at the gate,^a
he will not be worsted.

PSALM 128

v 127

Blessing for the devout

Song of Ascents

- 1 Happy, all those who fear Yahweh
and follow in his paths.
- 2 You will eat what your hands have worked for,
happiness and prosperity will be yours.
- 3 Your wife: a fruitful vine
on the inner walls of your house.
Your sons: around your table
like shoots around an olive tree.

4 Such are the blessings that fall on the man who fears Yahweh.
 5a May Yahweh bless you from Zion,
 5c all the days of your life!
 5b May you see Jerusalem prosperous
 6 and live to see your children's children!

Peace to Israel!

PSALM 129

v 128

Against the enemies of Zion

Song of Ascents

1 Hard as they have harried me since I was young
 —let Israel repeat it—
 2 hard as they have harried me since I was young,
 they have not overcome me.

3 Plowmen have plowed on my back longer and longer furrows, 4 but now Yahweh the Righteous has shattered
 the yoke of the wicked.

5 May they all be thrown into confusion, be routed,
 who have hated Zion,
 6 be blasted by winds from the east like grass sprouting on the roof!

7 Roof grass never yet filled
 reaper's arm or binder's lap—
 8 and no one passing them will ever say,
 "Yahweh's blessing on you!"

We bless you in the name of Yahweh.

PSALM 130

v 129

From the depths

Song of Ascents

1 From the depths I call to you, Yahweh,
 2 Lord, listen to my cry for help!
 Listen compassionately to my pleading!

3 If you never overlooked our sins, Yahweh,
 Lord, could anyone survive?
 4 But you do forgive us:
 and for that we revere you.

5 I wait for Yahweh, my soul waits for him,
 I rely on his promise,
 6 my soul relies on the Lord
 more than a watchman on the coming of dawn.

- 7 Let Israel rely on Yahweh
 as much as the watchman on the dawn!
 For it is with Yahweh that mercy is to be found,
 and a generous redemption;
- 8 it is he who redeems Israel
 from all their sins.

PSALM 131

v 130

Childlike trust in God

Song of Ascents Of David

- 1 Yahweh, my heart has no lofty ambitions,
 my eyes do not look too high.
 I am not concerned with great affairs or marvels beyond my scope.
- 2 Enough for me to keep my soul tranquil and quiet
 like a child in its mother's arms,
 as content as a child that has been weaned.
- 3 Israel, rely on Yahweh,
 now and for always!

PSALM 132

The ark is taken to Zion: anniversary hymn

Song of Ascents

- 1 Yahweh, remember David and all the hardships he suffered, 2 and the oath he swore to Yahweh,
 his vow to the Mighty One of Jacob:
- 3 not to enter tent or house,
 not to climb into bed,
 4 not to allow himself to sleep,
 not even to close his eyes,
 5 until he had found a place for Yahweh,
 a home for the Mighty One of Jacob!
- 6 Listen: we heard it was in Ephrathah,
 we found it at Fields-of-the-Forest!
 7 Let us go where he is waiting
 and worship at his footstool.
- 8 Yahweh, go up to your resting place,
 you and your ark of power.
 9 Your priests are vesting in virtue and your devout are shouting for joy.
 10 For the sake of your servant David,
 do not banish your anointed.
- 11 Yahweh swore to David and will remain true to his word,
 "I promise that your own son shall succeed you on the throne.

- 12 "If your sons observe my covenant,
the decrees that I have taught them,
their sons too shall succeed you on the throne for evermore."
- 13 For Yahweh has chosen Zion, desiring this to be his home, 14 "Here I will stay for ever,
this is the home I have chosen.
- 15 "I will bless her virtuous with riches,
provide her poor with food, 16 vest her priests in salvation
and her devout shall shout for joy.
- 17 "Here I will make a horn sprout for David,
here, I will trim a lamp for my anointed, 18 whose enemies I shall clothe in shame,
while his crown bursts into flower."

PSALM 133

v 132

Brotherly love

Song of Ascents Of David

- 1 How good, how delightful it is for all to live together like brothers:
- 2 fine as oil on the head,
running down the beard,
running down Aaron's beard
to the collar of his robes;
- 3 copious as a Hermon dew
falling on the heights of Zion,
where Yahweh confers his blessing,
everlasting life.

PSALM 134

v 133

Night hymn

Song of Ascents

- 1 Come, bless Yahweh,
all you who serve Yahweh,
serving in the house of Yahweh,
in the courts of the house of our God!
- 2 Stretch out your hands toward the sanctuary,
bless Yahweh night after night!
- 3 May Yahweh bless you from Zion,
he who made heaven and earth!^a

134 a. This blessing ends the series of pilgrim psalms ("Songs of Ascents") which began with Ps. 120.

PSALM 135

v 134

Hymn of praise

- 1 Alleluia!
Praise the name of Yahweh,
praise Yahweh, you who serve him,
2 serving in the house of Yahweh,
in the courts of the house of our God!
- 3 Praise Yahweh, for Yahweh is good.
Play for his name, for he inspires love;
4 since Yahweh has chosen Jacob,
Israel as his own.
- 5 I have learned for myself that Yahweh is great,
that our Lord surpasses all other gods.
6 In the heavens, on the earth,
in the ocean, in the depths,
Yahweh's will is sovereign.
- 7 He raises up clouds from the boundaries of earth,
makes the lightning flash for the downpour
and brings the wind out of his storehouse.
- 8 He struck down the first-born of Egypt,
of man and beast alike,
9 he sent signs and wonders
among you, Egypt,
against Pharaoh and his officials.
- 10 He struck the pagans down in droves,
he slaughtered mighty kings, 11 Sihon, king of the Amorites,
and Og, the king of Bashan,
and all the kingdoms of Canaan;
12 he gave their lands as a legacy,
a legacy to his people Israel.
- 13 Yahweh, your name endures for ever!
Yahweh, your memory is always fresh!
14 Since Yahweh vindicates his people,
and cares for those who serve him;
15 whereas pagans' idols, in silver and gold,
products of human skill,
16 have mouths, but never speak,
eyes, but never see,
17 ears, but never hear,
and not a breath in their mouths.
18 Their makers will end up like them
and so will anyone who relies on them.
- 19 House of Israel, bless Yahweh, House of Aaron, bless Yahweh, 20 House of Levi, bless Yahweh,
you who fear Yahweh, bless Yahweh!
- 21 Blessed be Yahweh in Zion,
in Jerusalem his home!

PSALM 136

v 135

Litany of thanksgiving

Alleluia!

- 1 Give thanks to Yahweh, for he is good,
his love is everlasting!
- 2 Give thanks to the God of gods,
his love is everlasting!
- 3 Give thanks to the Lord of lords,
his love is everlasting!
- 4 He alone performs great marvels,
his love is everlasting!
- 5 His wisdom made the heavens,
his love is everlasting!
- 6 He set the earth on the waters,
his love is everlasting!
- 7 He made the great lights,
his love is everlasting!
- 8 The sun to govern the day,
his love is everlasting!
- 9 Moon and stars to govern the night,
his love is everlasting!
- 10 He struck down the first-born of Egypt,
his love is everlasting!
- 11 And brought Israel out,
his love is everlasting!
- 12 With mighty hand and outstretched arm,
his love is everlasting!
- 13 He split the Sea of Reeds,
his love is everlasting!
- 14 Led Israel through the middle,
his love is everlasting!
- 15 Drowned Pharaoh and his army,
his love is everlasting!
- 16 He led his people through the wilderness,
his love is everlasting!
- 17 He struck down mighty kings,
his love is everlasting!
- 18 He slaughtered famous kings,
his love is everlasting!
- 19 Sihon, king of the Amorites,
his love is everlasting!
- 20 And Og, the king of Bashan,
his love is everlasting!
- 21 He gave their lands as a legacy,
his love is everlasting!
- 22 A legacy to his servant Israel,
his love is everlasting!
- 23 He remembered us when we were down,
his love is everlasting!

- 24 And snatched us from our oppressors,
his love is everlasting!
- 25 He provides for all living creatures,
his love is everlasting!
- 26 Give thanks to the God of Heaven,
his love is everlasting!

PSALM 137

Ballad of the exiles

- 1 Beside the streams of Babylon
we sat and wept
at the memory of Zion, 2 leaving our harps
hanging on the poplars there.
- 3 For we had been asked to sing to our captors,
to entertain those who had carried us off:
"Sing," they said,
"some hymns of Zion."
- 4 How could we sing
one of Yahweh's hymns
in a pagan country?
5 Jerusalem, if I forget you,
may my right hand wither!
- 6 May I never speak again,
if I forget you!
If I do not count Jerusalem
the greatest of my joys!
- 7 Yahweh, remember what the Sons of Edom did on the day of Jerusalem,^a how they said, "Down with her!
Raze her to the ground!"
- 8 Destructive Daughter of Babel,
a blessing on the man who treats you
as you have treated us, 9 a blessing on him who takes and dashes
your babies against the rock!

PSALM 138

Hymn of thanksgiving

Of David

- 1 I thank you, Yahweh, with all my heart,
because you have heard what I said.
2 In the presence of the angels I play for you,
and bow down toward your holy Temple.

I give thanks to your name for your love and faithfulness;
your promise is even greater than your fame.

3 The day I called for help, you heard me
and you increased my strength.

4 Yahweh, all kings on earth give thanks to you,
for they have heard your promises;

5 they celebrate Yahweh's actions,
"Great is the glory of Yahweh!"

6 From far above, Yahweh sees the humble,
from far away he marks down the arrogant.

7 Though I live surrounded by trouble,
you keep me alive—to my enemies' fury!

8 You stretch your hand out and save me,
your right hand will do everything for me.

Yahweh, your love is everlasting,
do not abandon us whom you have made.

PSALM 139

v 138

In praise of God's omniscience

For the choirmaster Of David Psalm

1 Yahweh, you examine me and know me,
2 you know if I am standing or sitting,
3 you read my thoughts from far away,
4 whether I walk or lie down, you are watching,
5 you know every detail of my conduct.

6 The word is not even on my tongue,
7 Yahweh, before you know all about it;
8 close behind and close in front you fence me around,
9 shielding me with your hand.

10 Such knowledge is beyond my understanding,
11 a height to which my mind cannot attain.

12 Where could I go to escape your spirit?
13 Where could I flee from your presence?
14 If I climb the heavens, you are there,
15 there too, if I lie in Sheol.

16 If I flew to the point of sunrise,
17 or westward across the sea,
18 your hand would still be guiding me,
19 your right hand holding me.

20 If I asked darkness to cover me,
21 and light to become night around me,
22 that darkness would not be dark to you,
23 night would be as light as day.

24 It was you who created my inmost self,
25 and put me together in my mother's womb;
26 for all these mysteries I thank you:
27 for the wonder of myself, for the wonder of your works.

137 a. At the destruction of Jerusalem, 587 B.C., the neighboring nation of the Edomites joined forces with the besieging army. The prophets denounce them far more bitterly than they denounce the Chaldaean invaders.

15 You know me through and through,
from having watched my bones take shape
when I was being formed in secret, knitted together in the limbo of the womb.

16 You had scrutinized my every action,
all were recorded in your book,
my days listed and determined,
17 even before the first of them occurred.

God, how hard it is to grasp your thoughts!
How impossible to count them!
18 I could no more count them than I could the sand, and suppose I could, you would still be with me.

19 God, if only you would kill the wicked!
Men of blood, away from me!
20 They talk blasphemously about you, regard your thoughts as nothing.

21 Yahweh, do I not hate those who hate you,
and loathe those who defy you?
22 I hate them with a total hatred,
I regard them as my own enemies.

23 God, examine me and know my heart,
probe me and know my thoughts;
24 make sure I do not follow pernicious ways,
and guide me in the way that is everlasting.

PSALM 140

v 139

Against the wicked

For the choirmaster Psalm Of David

1 Yahweh, rescue me from evil people, defend me from men of violence, 2 from people plotting evil,
forever intent on stirring up strife,
3 who make their tongues as sharp as serpents'
with viper's venom on their lips.

Pause

4 Yahweh, guard me from attacks by the wicked, defend me from those who love force,
from people plotting to make me stumble,
5b forever laying snares where I walk,
5a insolent wretches, concealing pitfall and noose
5c to trap me as I pass.

Pause

6 I have told Yahweh, "You are my God."
Yahweh, listen to my cry for help.
7 Yahweh, my Lord, my saving strength,
shielding my head when I have to fight, 8 Yahweh, do not grant their wicked wishes,
do not let their plots succeed.

9 May those besieging me not win,
may their own cruel words overtake them,
10 may red-hot embers rain down on them,

Pause

- 11 may they be flung into the abyss for good,
 may evil hound the man of violence to death
 and the slanderer not hold his own on earth.
- 12 I know Yahweh will avenge the wretched,
 and see justice done for the poor.
- 13 The virtuous shall have good cause to thank your name,
 and the upright to find a home with you.

PSALM 141

v 140

Against the attractions of evil

Psalm Of David

- 1 Yahweh, I am calling, hurry to me,
 listen to me, I am invoking you.
- 2 My prayers rise like incense,
 my hands like the evening offering.
- 3 Yahweh, set a guard at my mouth,
 a watcher at the gate of my lips.
- 4 Let me feel no impulse to do wrong,
 to share the godlessness of evildoers.
- No, I will not sample their delights.
- 5 A virtuous man may strike me in reproof, for my own good,
 but a wicked one shall never anoint my head with oil!
 Daily I counter their malice with prayer.
- 6 When their judges are flung on jagged rock,
 they will learn how mild my words have been,
- 7 "Like a millstone smashed on the ground,
 our bones are scattered at the mouth of Sheol."
- 8 To you, Yahweh my Lord, I turn my eyes.
 I take shelter in you, do not leave me exposed!
- 9 Keep me out of traps that are set for me,
 from the bait laid for me by evil men.
- 10 Let the wicked fall into their own net,
 while I go on my way.

Prayer of a hunted man

Poem Of David When he was in the cave Psalm

- 1 To Yahweh, my cry! I plead.
 To Yahweh, my cry! I entreat.
- 2 I pour out my supplications,
 I unfold all my troubles;
- 3 my spirit fails me,
 but you, you know my path.
- On the path I follow
 they have concealed a trap.
- 4 Look on my right^a and see,

142 a. The place for a man's advocate to stand.

there is no one to befriend me.
 All help is denied me,
 no one cares about me.

5 I invoke you, Yahweh,
 I affirm that you are my refuge,
 my heritage in the land of the living.
 6 Listen to my cries for help,
 I can hardly be crushed lower.

Rescue me from persecutors stronger than I am!
 7 Free me from this imprisonment,
 and I will thank your name once more in the Assembly of the virtuous,
 for the goodness you show me.

PSALM 143

v 142

A humble entreaty

Psalm Of David

1 Yahweh, hear my prayer,
 listen to my pleading,
 answer me faithfully, righteously;
 2 do not put your servant on trial,
 no one is virtuous by your standards.

3 An enemy who hounds me
 to crush me into the dust, forces me to dwell in darkness
 like the dead of long ago;
 4 my spirit fails me
 and my heart is full of fear.

5 I recall the days of old,
 I reflect on all that you did,
 I ponder your deeds;
 6 I stretch out my hands,
 like thirsty ground I yearn for you.

Pause

7 Quick, Yahweh, answer me
 before my spirit fails;
 if you hide your face much longer,
 I shall go down to the Pit like the rest.

8 Let dawn bring proof of your love,
 for one who relies on you;
 let it show the right road,
 to one who lifts up his soul to you.

9 Yahweh, rescue me from my enemies,
 I have fled to you for shelter;
 10 teach me to obey you,
 since you are my God;
 may your good spirit guide me
 on to level ground.

- 11 Yahweh, for the sake of your name,
keep your promise to save me;
protect me from oppression, 12 love me, kill my enemies,
destroy my oppressors,
for I am your servant.

PSALM 144

War hymn and the fruits of victory

David

- 1 Blessed be Yahweh, my rock,
who trains my hands for war
and my fingers for battle, 2 my love, my bastion,
my citadel, my savior,
I shelter behind him, my shield,
he makes the nations submit to me.
- 3 Yahweh, what is man, that you should notice him?
A human being, that you should think about him?
4 Man's life, a mere puff of wind,
his days, as fugitive as shadows.
- 5 Yahweh, lower your heavens, come down to us!
Touch the mountains, make them smoke,
6 flash your lightning—scatter them,
shoot your arrows—rout them.
- 7 Reach down your hand from above,
save me, rescue me from deep waters,
from the power of aliens
8 who tell nothing but lies,
who are prepared to swear to falsehood!
- 9 God, I have made a new song for you to be played on the ten-string lyre, 10 you who give victory to kings and safety to your servant David.
- 11 From peril of sword save me,
rescue me from the power of aliens
who tell nothing but lies,
who are prepared to swear to falsehood!
- 12 May our sons be like plants growing strong from their earliest days, our daughters like corner statues,^a carvings fit for a palace;
13 may our barns overflow
with every possible crop,
may the sheep in our fields be counted
in their thousands and tens of thousands,

144 a. Presumably caryatids.

- 14 may our cattle be stout and strong;
and may there be an end of raids and exile,
and of panic in our streets.
- 15 Happy the nation of whom this is true,
happy the nation whose God is Yahweh!

PSALM 145

v 144

Hymn of praise to Yahweh the king

Hymn Of David

- 1 Aleph I sing your praises, God my King,
I bless your name for ever and ever,
- 2 Beth blessing you day after day,
and praising your name for ever and ever.
- 3 Ghimel Can anyone measure the magnificence of Yahweh the great, and his inexpressible grandeur?
- 4 Daleth Celebrating your acts of power,
one age shall praise your doings to another.
- 5 He Oh, the splendor of your glory, your renown!
I tell myself the story of your marvelous deeds.
- 6 Waw Men will proclaim your fearful power and I shall assert your greatness;
- 7 Zain they will celebrate your generous kindness and joyfully acclaim your righteousness.
- 8 Heth He, Yahweh, is merciful, tenderhearted,
slow to anger, very loving,
- 9 Teth and universally kind; Yahweh's tenderness embraces all his creatures.
- 10 Yod Yahweh, all your creatures thank you,
and your faithful bless you.
- 11 Kaph Kingly and glorious they proclaim you,
they affirm your might.
- 12 Lamed Let mankind learn your acts of power,
and the majestic glory of your sovereignty!
- 13 Mem Your sovereignty is an eternal sovereignty,
your empire lasts from age to age.
- (Nun) Always true to his promises, Yahweh shows love in all he does.^a
- 14 Samek Only stumble, and Yahweh at once supports you,
if others bow you down, he will raise you up.
- 15 Ain Patiently all creatures look to you
to feed them throughout the year;
- 16 Pe quick to satisfy every need,
you feed them all with a generous hand.
- 17 Sade Righteous in all that he does,
Yahweh acts only out of love,
- 18 Qoph standing close to all who invoke him,
close to all who invoke Yahweh faithfully.

- 19 Resh Those who fear him need only to ask to be answered;
he hears their cries for help and saves them.
- 20 Shin Under his protection the pious are safe,
but Yahweh is destruction to the wicked.
- 21 Tau Yahweh's praise be ever in my mouth,
and let every creature bless his holy name
for ever and ever!

PSALM 146

v 145

Hymn to the God of help

- 1 Alleluia!
- Praise Yahweh, my soul!
I mean to praise Yahweh all my life,
I mean to sing to my God as long as I live.
- 3 Do not put your trust in men in power,
or in any mortal man—he cannot save, 4 he yields his breath and goes back to the earth he came from,
and on that day all his schemes perish.
- 5 Happy the man who has the God of Jacob to help him,
whose hope is fixed on Yahweh his God,
6 maker of heaven and earth,
and the sea, and all that these hold!
- 7 Yahweh, forever faithful,
gives justice to those denied it,
gives food to the hungry,
gives liberty to prisoners.
- 8a Yahweh restores sight to the blind,
8b Yahweh straightens the bent,
9a Yahweh protects the stranger,
9b he keeps the orphan and widow.
- 8c Yahweh loves the virtuous, 9c and frustrates the wicked.
10 Yahweh reigns for ever,
your God, Zion, from age to age.

PSALM 147

v 146–147

Hymn to the Almighty

- Alleluia!
- 1 Praise Yahweh—it is good to sing
in honor of our God—sweet is his praise.
- 2 Yahweh, Restorer of Jerusalem!
He brought back Israel's exiles,
3 healing their broken hearts,
and binding up their wounds.

4 He decides the number of the stars and gives each of them a name;
5 our Lord is great, all-powerful,
of infinite understanding.

6 Yahweh, who lifts up the humble,
humbles the wicked to the ground.

7 Sing to Yahweh in gratitude,
play the lyre for our God:
8 who covers the heavens with clouds,
to provide the earth with rain,
to produce fresh grass on the hillsides
and the plants that are needed by man, 9 who gives their food to the cattle and to the young ravens when they cry.

10 The strength of the war horse means nothing to him,
it is not infantry that interests him.
11 Yahweh is interested only in those who fear him,
in those who rely on his love.

12 Praise Yahweh, Jerusalem,
Zion, praise your God:
13 for strengthening the bars of your gates,
for blessing your citizens, 14 for granting you peace on your frontiers,
for feeding you on the finest wheat.

15 He gives an order;
his word flashes to earth:
16 to spread snow like a blanket,
to stew hoarfrost like ashes, 17 to drop ice like breadcrumbs,
and when the cold is unbearable, 18 he sends his word to bring the thaw
and warm wind to melt the snow.

19 He reveals his word to Jacob,
his statutes and rulings to Israel:
20 he never does this for other nations,
he never reveals his rulings to them.

PSALM 148

Cosmic hymn of praise

1 Alleluia!

Let heaven praise Yahweh:
praise him, heavenly heights, 2 praise him, all his angels,
praise him, all his armies!

3 Praise him, sun and moon,
praise him, shining stars,
4 praise him, highest heavens,
and waters above the heavens!

5 Let them all praise the name of Yahweh,
at whose command they were created;

6 he has fixed them in their place for ever,
by an unalterable statute.

7 Let earth praise Yahweh:
sea monsters and all the deeps,
8 fire and hail, snow and mist,
gales that obey his decree, 9 mountains and hills,
orchards and forests,
10 wild animals and farm animals,
snakes and birds,
11 all kings on earth and nations,
princes, all rulers in the world, 12 young men and girls,
old people, and children too!

13 Let them all praise the name of Yahweh,
for his name and no other is sublime,
transcending earth and heaven in majesty, 14 raising the fortunes of his people,
to the praises of the devout,
of Israel, the people dear to him.

PSALM 149

Song of triumph

1 Alleluia!
Sing Yahweh a new song,
let the congregation of the faithful sing his praise!

2 Let Israel rejoice in his maker,
and Zion's children exult in their King;
3 let them dance in praise of his name,
playing to him on strings and drums!

4 For Yahweh has been kind to his people, conferring victory on us who are weak;
5 the faithful exult in triumph,
prostrate before God they acclaim him 6 with panegyrics on their lips,
and a two-edged sword in their hands 7 to exact vengeance on the pagans,
to inflict punishment on the heathen, 8 to shackle their kings with chains
and their nobles with fetters, 9 to execute the preordained sentence.^a
Thus gloriously are the faithful rewarded!

PSALM 150

Final chorus of praise^a

1 Alleluia!
Praise God in his Temple on earth,

^{149 a.} In the prophetic books.

^{150 a.} A grand doxology to close the Psalter.

- 2 praise him in his temple in heaven,
 praise him for his mighty achievements,
 praise him for his transcendent greatness!
- 3 Praise him with blasts of the trumpet,
 praise him with lyre and harp,
4 praise him with drums and dancing,
 praise him with strings and reeds,
5 praise him with clashing cymbals,
 praise him with clanging cymbals!
- 6 Let everything that breathes praise Yahweh!

Alleluia!

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOK OF PROVERBS

“The Book of Proverbs” is a compilation that includes works representing several centuries of thought. The main body of the book consists of a collection of short aphorisms introduced as “Proverbs of Solomon” with an appendix of “sayings” of other wise men, and a second collection of “Further Proverbs of Solomon.” This part of the book (ch. 10–29) can safely be dated before the Exile; much of it may well go back to Solomon’s time and it may include some of the three thousand proverbs which the king is said to have invented (1 K.5:12).

However, the appendix to the second collection, “sayings of Agur, numerical proverbs, sayings of Lemuel,” appears to be later; and the long prologue to the book, commending wisdom, is post-exilic and probably dates from the fifth century B.C. The acrostic poem in praise of the ideal wife, which ends the book, is of unknown date. It will be noticed that the later writings show some development of doctrine beyond the predominantly worldly wisdom of the short aphorisms.

THE PROVERBS

Title and purpose of the book

- 1 1 The proverbs of Solomon son of David, king of Israel:
2 for learning what wisdom and discipline are,
3 for understanding words of deep meaning,
4 for acquiring an enlightened attitude of mind
5 —virtue, justice and fair-dealing;
6 for teaching sound judgment to the ignorant,
7 and knowledge and sense to the young;
8 for perceiving the meaning of proverbs and obscure sayings,
9 the sayings of the sages and their riddles.
10 Let the wise listen and he will learn yet more,
11 and the man of discernment will acquire the art of guidance.
12
13 The fear of Yahweh is the beginning of knowledge;
14 fools spurn wisdom and discipline.

I. PROLOGUE

A COMMENDATION OF WISDOM

The sage speaks: avoid bad company

- 8 Listen, my son, to your father's instruction,
9 do not reject your mother's teaching:
10 they will be a crown of grace for your head,
11 a circlet for your neck.
12 My son, if sinners try seduce you,
13 do not give way.
14 If they say, "Come with us:
15 there is blood to be had if we lie in wait for it,
16 if we plan an ambush for the innocent;
17 we can swallow them alive, like Sheol,
18 alive and whole like those who go down to the Pit.
19 We shall find treasures of every sort,
20 we shall fill our houses with plunder;
21 throw in your lot with us:
22 one purse between us all."
23 My son, do not follow them in their way,
24 keep your steps out of their path
25 (for their feet hasten to evil, 26 they are quick to shed blood);
27 the net is always spread in vain
28 if the bird is watching.

18 It is for their own blood these men lie in wait, their own selves they lie in ambush for.
 19 To this come all men who are after dishonest gain, which robs of their lives all those who take it for their own.

Wisdom speaks: a warning to the heedless

20 Wisdom calls aloud in the streets,
 she raises her voice in the public squares;
 21 she calls out at the street corners,
 she delivers her message at the city gates, 22 "You ignorant people, how much longer will you cling to your ignorance?
 How much longer will mockers revel in their mocking and fools hold knowledge contemptible?
 23 Pay attention to my warning:
 now I will pour out my heart to you,
 and tell you what I have to say.
 24 Since I have called and you have refused me,
 since I have beckoned and no one has taken notice, 25 since you have ignored all my advice
 and rejected all my warnings.
 26 I, for my part, will laugh at your distress,
 I will jeer at you when calamity comes,
 27 when calamity bears down on you like a storm
 and your distress like a whirlwind,
 when disaster and anguish bear down on you.
 28 Then they shall call to me, but I will not answer, they shall seek me eagerly and shall not find me.
 29 They despised knowledge,
 they had no love for the fear of Yahweh, 30 they would take no advice from me,
 and spurned all my warnings:
 31 so they must eat fruits of their own courses,
 and choke themselves with their own scheming.
 32 For the errors of the ignorant lead to their death,
 and the complacency of fools works their own ruin; 33 but whoever listens to me may live secure,
 he will have quiet, fearing no mischance."

Wisdom, a safeguard against bad company

1 2 My son, if you take my words to heart,
 if you set store by my commandments,
 2 tuning your ear to wisdom,
 and applying your heart to truth:
 3 yes, if your plea is for clear perception,
 if you cry out for discernment,
 4 if you look for it as if it were silver,
 and search for it as for buried treasure, 5 you will then understand what the fear of Yahweh is,
 and discover the knowledge of God.
 6 For Yahweh himself is giver of wisdom,
 from his mouth issue knowledge and discernment.
 7 He keeps his help for honest men,
 he is the shield of those whose ways are honorable;
 8 he stands guard over the paths of justice,
 he keeps watch on the way of his devoted ones.

9 Then you will understand what virtue is, justice, and fair dealing,
all paths that lead to happiness.

10 When wisdom comes into your heart and knowledge is a delight to you, 11 then prudence will be there to watch over you,
and discernment be your guardian 12 to keep you from the way that is evil,
from the man whose speech is deceitful, 13 from those who leave the paths of honesty
to walk the roads of darkness:
14 men who find their joy in doing wrong,
and their delight in deceitfulness, 15 whose tracks are twisted,
and the paths that they tread crooked.
16 Keeping you also from the alien woman,
from the stranger, with her wheedling words;
17 she has left the partner of her younger days,
she has forgotten the covenant of God;
18 toward death her house is declining,
down to the Shades her paths go.
19 Of those who go to her not one returns,
they never regain the paths of life.

20 So you will pursue the way of good men,
persisting in the paths of the virtuous.
21 For the land will be for honest men to live in,
the innocent will have it for their home;
22 while the wicked will be cut off from the land,
and the faithless rooted out of it.

How to acquire wisdom

1 3 My son, do not forget my teaching,
let your heart keep my principles,
2 for these will give you lengthier days,
longer years of life, and greater happiness.

3 Let kindness and loyalty never leave you:
tie them around your neck,
write them on the tablet of your heart.
4 So shall you enjoy favor and good repute
in the sight of God and man.
5 Trust wholeheartedly in Yahweh,
put no faith in your own perception;
6 in every course you take, have him in mind:
he will see that your paths are smooth.
7 Do not think of yourself as wise,
fear Yahweh and turn your back on evil:
8 health-giving, this, to your body,
relief to your bones.

9 Honor Yahweh with what goods you have
and with the first fruits of all your returns; 10 then your barns will be filled with wheat,
your vats overflowing with new wine.

11 My son, do not scorn correction from Yahweh,
do not resent his rebuke;
12 for Yahweh reproves the man he loves,
as a father checks a well-loved son.

The joys of wisdom

- 13 Happy the man who discovers wisdom,
the man who gains discernment:
14 gaining her is more rewarding than silver,
more profitable than gold.
15 She is beyond the price of pearls,
nothing you could covet is her equal.
16 In her right hand is length of days;
in her left hand, riches and honor.
17 Her ways are delightful ways,
her paths all lead to contentment.
18 She is a tree of life for those who hold her fast,
those who cling to her live happy lives.
- 19 By wisdom, Yahweh set the earth on its foundations,
by discernment, he fixed the heavens firm.
20 Through his knowledge the depths were carved out,
and the clouds rain down the dew.
- 21 My son, hold to sound judgment and to prudence,
do not let them out of your sight;
22 they will prove the life of your soul,
an ornament around your neck.
23 You will go on your way in safety,
your feet will not stumble.
24 When you sit down, you will not be afraid,
when you lie down, sweet will be your sleep.
25 Have no fear of sudden terror or of assault from wicked men, 26 since Yahweh will be your guarantor,
he will keep your steps from the snare.
- 27 Do not refuse a kindness to anyone who begs it,
if it is in your power to perform it.
28 Do not say to your neighbor, "Go away! Come another time!
I will give it you tomorrow," if you can do it now.
29 Do not plot harm against your neighbor
as he lives unsuspecting next door.
30 Do not pick a groundless quarrel with a man who has done you no harm.
31 Do not emulate the man of violence, never model your conduct on his;
32 for the willful wrongdoer is abhorrent to Yahweh,
who confides only in honest men.
33 Yahweh's curse lies on the house of the wicked,
but he blesses the home of the virtuous.
34 He mocks those who mock,
but accords his favor to the humble.
35 Honor is the portion of the wise,
all that fools inherit is disgrace.

On choosing wisdom

- 1 4 Listen, my sons, to a father's instruction;
pay attention, and learn what clear perception is.
2 What I am commending to you is sound doctrine:
do not discard my teaching.
3 I too was once a son with a father,
in my mother's eyes a tender child, unique.

- 4 This was what he used to teach me,
 "Let your heart treasure what I have to say,
 keep my principles and you shall live;
 5 acquire wisdom, acquire perception,
 never forget her, never deviate from my words.
 6 Do not desert her, she will keep you safe,
 love her, she will watch over you.
 7 The beginning of wisdom? The acquisition of wisdom;
 at the cost of all you have, acquire perception.
 8 Hold her close, and she will make you great;
 embrace her, and she will be your pride;
 9 she will set a crown of grace on your head, present you with a glorious diadem."
- 10 Listen, my son, take my words to heart,
 and the years of your life shall be multiplied.
 11 I have educated you in the ways of wisdom,
 I have guided you along the paths of honesty.
 12 As you walk, your going will be unhindered,
 as you run, you will not stumble.
 13 Hold fast to discipline, never let her go,
 keep your eyes on her, she is your life.
 14 Never set your foot on the path of the wicked,
 do not walk the way that the evil go.
 15 Avoid it, do not take it,
 turn your back on it, pass it by.
 16 For they cannot sleep unless they have first done wrong, they miss their sleep if they have not brought someone down; 17 wickedness is the bread they eat,
 and violence the wine they drink.
- 18 The path of the virtuous is like the light of dawn,
 its brightness growing to the fullness of day;
 19 the way of the wicked is as dark as night,
 they cannot tell what it is they stumble over.
- 20 My son, pay attention to my words,
 listen carefully to the words I say;
 21 do not let them out of your sight,
 keep them deep in your heart.
 22 They are life to those who grasp them,
 health for the entire body.
 23 More than all else, keep watch over your heart,
 since here are the wellsprings of life.
 24 Turn your back on the mouth that misleads,
 keep your distance from lips that deceive.
 25 Let your eyes be fixed ahead,
 your gaze be straight before you.
 26 Let the path you tread be level
 and all your ways made firm.
 27 Turn neither to right nor to left,
 keep your foot clear of evil.

Flight from the seductress. Where the wise man's love should be

- 1 5 My son, pay attention to my wisdom,
 listen carefully to what I know,
 2 and so have prudence and knowledge to protect you;
 these will keep a guard on your lips.

3 Take no notice of a loose-living woman,
 for the lips of this alien drip with honey,
 her words are smoother than oil,
 4 but their outcome is bitter as wormwood,
 sharp as a two-edged sword.
 5 Her feet go down to death,
 her steps lead down to Sheol;
 6 far from following the path of life,
 her ways are undirected, irresponsible.

7 And now, my son, listen to me,
 never deviate from what I say:
 8 set your course as far from her as possible,
 go nowhere near the door of her house, 9 or you will surrender your honor to others,
 your years to one who has no pity, 10 and strangers will batten on your property,
 your labors going to some alien house, 11 and, at your ending,
 when body and flesh are consumed, 12 you will groan and exclaim,
 "Alas, I hated discipline,
 my heart spurned all correction;
 13 I would not hear the voice of my masters,
 I would not listen to those who tried to teach me.
 14 Now I am all but reduced to the depths of misery,
 in the presence of the whole community."

15 Drink the water from your own cistern, fresh water from your own well.^a 16 Do not let your fountains flow to waste elsewhere,
 nor your streams in the public streets.
 17 Let them be for yourself alone,
 not for strangers at the same time.
 18 And may your fountainhead be blessed!

19 Find joy with the wife you married in your youth, fair as a hind, graceful as a fawn.
 Let hers be the company you keep,
 hers the breasts that ever fill you with delight,
 hers the love that ever holds you captive.
 20 Why be seduced, my son, by an alien woman,
 and fondle the breast of a woman who is a stranger?
 21 For the eyes of Yahweh observe a man's ways
 and survey all his paths.
 22 The wicked man is snared in his own misdeeds,
 is caught in the meshes of his own sin.
 23 For want of discipline, he dies,
 and is lost through his own excessive folly.

On surety rashly offered

1 6 My son, if you have gone surety for your neighbor,
 if you have guaranteed the bond of a stranger,
 2 if you have committed yourself with your own lips,
 if through words of yours you have been entrapped,

5 a. I.e., keep to your lawful wife.

- 3 do this, my son, to extricate yourself—
 since you have put yourself in the power of your neighbor:
 go, go quickly, and plead with your neighbor, 4 give your eyes no sleep,
 your eyelids no rest,
 5 break free like a gazelle from the trap,
 like a bird from the snare.

The idler and the ant

- 6 Idler, go to the ant;
 ponder her ways and grow wise:
 7 no one gives her orders,
 no overseer, no master,
 8 yet all through the summer she makes sure of her food,
 and gathers her supplies at harvest time.
 9 How long do you intend to lie there, idler?
 When are you going to rise from your sleep?
 10 A little sleep, a little drowsiness,
 a little folding of the arms to take life easier, 11 and like a vagrant, poverty is at your elbow
 and, like a beggar, want.

Portrait of a scoundrel

- 12 A scoundrel, a vicious man,
 he goes with a leer on his lips, 13 winking his eye, shuffling his foot,
 beckoning with his finger.
 14 Deceit in his heart, always scheming evil,
 he sows dissension.
 15 Disaster will overtake him sharply for this,
 suddenly, irretrievably, his fall will come.

Seven things hateful to God^a

- 16 There are six things that Yahweh hates,
 seven that his soul abhors:
 17 a haughty look, a lying tongue,
 hands that shed innocent blood, 18 a heart that weaves wicked plots,
 feet that hurry to do evil, 19 a false witness who lies with every breath,
 a man who sows dissension among brothers.

More fatherly advice

- 20 Keep your father's principle, my son,
 do not spurn your mother's teaching.
 21 Bind them ever to your heart,
 tie them around your neck.
 22 When you walk, these will guide you,
 when you lie down, watch over you,
 when you wake, talk with you.
 23 For this principle is a lamp,
 this teaching is a light;
 correction and discipline are the way to life, 24 preserving you from the woman subject to a husband,
 from the smooth tongue of the woman who is a stranger.

25 Do not covet her beauty in your heart or let her captivate you with the play of her eyes; 26 a harlot can be bought for a hunk of bread,
 but the adulteress is aiming to catch a precious life.
 27 Can a man hug fire to his breast
 without setting his clothes alight?
 28 Can a man walk on red-hot coals
 without burning his feet?
 29 So it is the man who consorts with his neighbor's wife:
 no one who touches her will go unpunished.
 30 Men attach small blame to the thief
 who in hunger steals to fill his belly; 31 though, once caught, he must pay back sevenfold,
 and has to hand over all his family resources.
 32 But the adulterer has no sense;
 act like him, and court your own destruction.
 33 All he gets is blows and insults,
 and disgrace that will not be blotted out.
 34 For jealousy inflames the husband who will show no mercy when the day comes for revenge, 35 he will not consider any compensation,
 lavish what gifts you may, he will not be placated.
 1 7 My son, keep my words,
 and treasure my principles,
 2 keep my principles and you will live,
 keep my teaching as the apple of your eye.
 3 Bind these to your fingers,
 write them on the tablet of your heart.
 4 To Wisdom say, "My sister!"
 Call Perception your dearest friend,
 5 to preserve you from the alien woman,
 from the stranger, with her wheedling words.
 6 From the window of her house
 she looked out on the street, 7 to see if among the men, young and callow,
 there was one young man who had no sense at all.
 8 And now he passes down the lane, and comes near her corner, reaching the path to her house 9 at twilight when day is declining, at dead of night and in the dark.
 10 But look, the woman comes to meet him,
 dressed like a harlot, wrapped in a veil.
 11 She is loud and brazen;
 her feet cannot rest at home.
 12 Now in the street, now in the square,
 she is on the lookout at every corner.
 13 She catches hold of him, she kisses him,
 the bold-faced creature says to him,
 14 "I had to offer sacrifices:
 I discharged my vows today,
 15 that is why I came out to meet you,
 to look for you, and now I have found you.
 16 I have made my bed gay with quilts, spread the best Egyptian sheets,

17 I have sprinkled my bed with myrrh,
 with aloes and with cinnamon.
 18 Come, let us drink deep of love until the morning,
 and abandon ourselves to delight.
 19 For my husband is not at home,
 he has gone on a very long journey, 20 taking his moneybags with him;
 he will not be back until the moon is full.”
 21 With her persistent coaxing she entices him, draws him on with her seductive patter.
 22 Bemused, he follows her like an ox being led to the slaughter,
 like a stag caught in a noose, 23 till he is pierced to the liver by an arrow,
 like a bird darting into a snare
 not knowing its life is at stake.
 24 And now, my son, listen to me,
 pay attention to the words I have to say: 25 do not let your heart stray into her ways,
 or wander into her paths;
 26 she has done so many to death,
 and the strongest have all been her victims.
 27 Her house is the way to Sheol,
 the descent to the courts of death.

Wisdom again personified

1 8 Does Wisdom not call meanwhile?
 Does Discernment not lift up her voice?
 2 On the hilltop, on the road,
 at the crossways, she takes her stand;
 3 beside the gates of the city,
 at the approaches to the gates she cries aloud, 4 “O men! I am calling to you;
 my cry goes out to the sons of men.
 5 You ignorant ones! Study discretion;
 and you fools, come to your senses!
 6 Listen, I have serious things to tell you,
 from my lips come honest words.
 7 My mouth proclaims the truth,
 wickedness is hateful to my lips.
 8 All the words I say are right,
 nothing twisted in them, nothing false, 9 all straightforward to him who understands,
 honest to those who know what knowledge means.
 10 Accept my discipline rather than silver,
 knowledge in preference to pure gold.
 11 For wisdom is more precious than pearls,
 and nothing else is so worthy of desire.

Wisdom sings her own praises. Wisdom, the guide of kings

12 “I, Wisdom, am mistress of discretion, the inventor of lucidity of thought.
 14 Good advice and sound judgment belong to me,
 perception to me, strength to me.
 13 (To fear Yahweh is to hate evil.)
 I hate pride and arrogance,

- wicked behavior and a lying mouth.
 17 I love those who love me;
 those who seek me eagerly shall find me.
 15 By me monarchs rule
 and princes issue just laws; 16 by me rulers govern,
 and the great impose justice on the world.
 18 With me are riches and honor,
 lasting wealth and justice.
 19 The fruit I give is better than gold, even the finest,
 the return I make is better than pure silver.
 20 I walk in the way of virtue.
 in the paths of justice, 21 enriching those who love me,
 filling their treasuries.

Wisdom as creator

- 22 “Yahweh created me when his purpose first unfolded,
 before the oldest of his works.
 23 From everlasting I was firmly set,
 from the beginning, before earth came into being.
 24 The deep^a was not, when I was born,
 there were no springs to gush with water.
 25 Before the mountains were settled,
 before the hills, I came to birth;
 26 before he made the earth, the countryside,
 or the first grains of the world's dust.
 27 When he fixed the heavens firm, I was there,
 when he drew a ring on the surface of the deep, 28 when he thickened the clouds above,
 when he fixed fast the springs of the deep, 29 when he assigned the sea its boundaries
 —and the waters will not invade the shore—
 when he laid down the foundations of the earth, 30 I was by his side, a master craftsman,
 delighting him day after day,
 ever at play in his presence, 31 at play everywhere in his world,
 delighting to be with the sons of men.

The great invitation

- 32a “And now, my sons, listen to me;
 33 listen to instruction and learn to be wise,
 do not ignore it.
 32b Happy those who keep my ways!
 34 Happy the man who listens to me,
 who day after day watches at my gates to guard the portals.
 35 For the man who finds me finds life,
 he will win favor from Yahweh;
 36 but he who does injury to me does hurt to his own soul,
 all who hate me are in love with death.”

^a 8 a. “The waters under the earth.”

Wisdom as hostess

- 1 9 Wisdom has built herself a house,
 she has erected her seven pillars,
 2 she has slaughtered her beasts, prepared her wine,
 she has laid her table.
 3 She has dispatched her maidservants
 and proclaimed from the city's heights:
 4 "Who is ignorant? Let him step this way."
 To the fool she says,
 5 "Come and eat my bread,
 drink the wine I have prepared!
 6 Leave your folly and you will live,
 walk in the ways of perception."

Against cynics

- 7 Correct a mocker and you make an enemy;
 rebuke a wicked man, you get insult in return.
 8 Do not rebuke the mocker, he will only hate you, rebuke a wise man and he will love you for it.
 9 Be open with the wise, he grows wiser still,
 teach a virtuous man, he will learn yet more.
 10 The fear of Yahweh is the beginning of wisdom;
 the knowledge of the Holy One—perception indeed!
 11 For days are multiplied by me
 and years of life increased.
 12 Are you wise? It is to your advantage.
 A mocker? The burden is yours alone.

Dame Folly apes Wisdom

- 13 Dame Folly acts on impulse,
 is childish and knows nothing.
 14 She sits at the door of her house,
 on a throne commanding the city, 15 inviting the passers-by
 as they pass on their lawful occasions,
 16 "Who is ignorant? Let him step this way."
 To the fool she says,
 17 "Stolen waters are sweet,
 and bread tastes better when eaten in secret." 18 The fellow does not realize that here the Shades are gathered, that her guests are heading for the valleys of Sheol.

II. THE MAJOR COLLECTION ATTRIBUTEDTO SOLOMON^a

- 1 10 The proverbs of Solomon.

- A wise son is his father's joy,
 a foolish son his mother's grief.
 2 Treasures wickedly come by give no benefit,
 but right conduct brings delivery from death.
 3 Yahweh does not leave the virtuous man hungry,
 but he thwarts the greed of the wicked.

- 4 The slack hand brings poverty,
but the diligent hand brings wealth.
- 5 Gathering in summer is the mark of the prudent,
sleeping at harvest is the sign of the shameless.
- 6 The blessings of Yahweh are on the head of the virtuous man,
premature mourning stops the mouths of the wicked.
- 7 The virtuous man is remembered with blessings,
the wicked man's name rots away.
- 8 The heart that is wise is obedient to instruction,
the gabbling fool is heading for ruin.
- 9 He walks secure whose ways are honorable,
but he who follows crooked ways is soon discovered.
- 10 A wink of the eye, and a man makes trouble,
a bold rebuke, and a man makes peace.
- 11 The mouth of the virtuous man is a life-giving fountain,
violence lurks in the mouth of the wicked.
- 12 Hatred provokes disputes,
love covers over all offenses.
- 13 On the lips of a discerning man is wisdom found,
on the back of a fool, the stick.
- 14 Wise men store up knowledge,
but the mouth of a fool makes ruin imminent.
- 15 The rich man's wealth is his stronghold,
poverty is the poor man's undoing.
- 16 The virtuous man's wage affords him life,
but destruction is all the wicked man earns.
- 17 The path of life is to abide by discipline,
and he who ignores correction goes astray.
- 18 The lips of just men silence hatred,
he who voices slander is a fool.
- 19 A flood of words is never without its fault,
he who has his lips controlled is a prudent man.
- 20 The virtuous man's tongue is purest silver,
the heart of the wicked is of trumpery value.
- 21 The lips of the virtuous man nourish a multitude,
but fools die in poverty.
- 22 The blessing of Yahweh is what brings riches,
to this hard toil has nothing to add.
- 23 The joy of the fool lies in doing wrong,
but the joy of the man of discernment in acquiring wisdom.
- 24 What the wicked man fears overtakes him,
what the virtuous desires comes to him as a present.

- 25 When the storm is over, the wicked man is no more,
but the virtuous stands firm for ever.
- 26 As vinegar to the teeth, smoke to the eyes,
so the sluggard to the one who sends him.
- 27 The fear of Yahweh adds length to life,
the years of the wicked will be cut short.
- 28 The hope of virtuous men is all joy,
the expectations of the wicked are frustrated.
- 29 Yahweh is a stronghold for the man of honest life,
for evildoers nothing but ruin.
- 30 The virtuous man will never be moved from his own place,
but the land will offer no home for the wicked.
- 31 The mouth of the virtuous man utters wisdom,
the deceitful tongue shall be torn out.
- 32 The lips of the virtuous man drip with kindness,
the mouth of the wicked with deceit.
- 1 11 A false balance is abhorrent to Yahweh,
a just weight is pleasing to him.
- 2 Pride comes first, disgrace comes after;
with the humble is wisdom found.
- 3 Honest men have their own honesty for guidance, treacherous men are ruined by their own perfidy.
- 4 In the day of wrath riches will be of no advantage,
but virtuous conduct delivers from death.
- 5 The virtues of the blameless man smooth the way before him,
the wicked man founders in his own wickedness.
- 6 Their virtuous conduct sets honest men free, treacherous men are imprisoned by their own desires.
- 7 The hope of the wicked perishes with death,
the expectation of the godless is frustrated.
- 8 The virtuous man escapes misfortune,
the wicked man incurs it instead.
- 9 Through his mouth the godless man is the ruin of his neighbor,
but by knowledge the virtuous are safeguarded.
- 10 When virtuous men prosper the city rejoices,
there are glad cries, too, when the wicked are ruined.
- 11 A city is raised on the blessing of honest men,
and demolished by the mouth of the wicked.
- 12 Who scoffs at his neighbor is a fool;
the man of discernment holds his tongue.
- 13 A tittle-tattler lets secrets out,
a trustworthy man keeps things hidden.
- 14 For want of guidance a people fails,
safety lies in many advisers.

- 15 He who goes bail for a stranger will rue it,
the man who hates going surety is safe.
- 16 A gracious woman brings honor to her husband,
she who has no love for justice is dishonor enthroned.
The indolent lack resources,
men of enterprise grow rich.
- 17 The generous man is his own benefactor,
a cruel man injures his own flesh.
- 18 The livelihood won by the wicked is illusory,
he who sows virtue reaps a solid reward.
- 19 A virtuous man may count on life,
the pursuer of evil on death.
- 20 Men of depraved heart are abhorrent to Yahweh,
dear to him, those whose ways are blameless.
- 21 Be sure of it, a wicked man will not go unpunished,
but the race of the virtuous will come to no harm.
- 22 A golden ring in the snout of a pig is a lovely woman who lacks discretion.
- 23 The desire of the virtuous ends in happiness,
the hope of the wicked is in vain.
- 24 One is extravagant, yet his riches grow,
another excessively mean, but only grows the poorer.
- 25 The generous soul will prosper,
he who waters, will be watered.
- 26 The people's curse is on the man who hoards the wheat,
a blessing on him who sells it.
- 27 He who strives after good is striving after favor,
he who looks for evil will have evil come to him.
- 28 He who trusts in riches will have his fall,
the virtuous will flourish like the leaves.
- 29 He who misgoverns his house inherits the wind,
and the fool becomes slave to the wise.
- 30 From fruits of virtue grows a tree of life;
the wicked are carried off before their time.
- 31 If here on earth the virtuous man gets his due,
how much more the wicked, how much the sinner!
- 1 12 He who loves discipline, loves knowledge,
stupid is the man who hates correction.
- 2 The good man wins the favor of Yahweh,
but he condemns the man who is a schemer.
- 3 No man is made secure by wickedness,
but nothing shakes the roots of virtuous men.
- 4 A good wife, her husband's crown,
a shameless wife, a cancer in his bones.
- 5 The plans of virtuous men are honest,
the intrigues of the wicked are nothing if not deceit.

- 6 The words of wicked men are snares to shed blood,
but honest men have an answer and elude them.
- 7 Once thrown down, the wicked are no more,
but the house of virtuous men stands firm.
- 8 The praise of a man is in proportion to his prudence,
men of depraved heart are held in contempt.
- 9 Better a common man who does his own work than one who plays the lord and goes short of bread.
- 10 The virtuous man looks after the lives of his beasts,
but the wicked man's heart is ruthless.
- 11 He who tills his land shall have bread and to spare,
he who chases fantasies has no sense.
- 12 The desires of the godless are sickly,
the roots of the devout are firmly set.
- 13 His own lips are to blame when the wicked man is entrapped,
the virtuous man finds his own way out of misfortune.
- 14 When a man is filled with good things, it is the fruit of his own words,
each man's labor brings its own return.
- 15 In the eyes of a fool the way he goes is right,
the wise man listens to advice.
- 16 The fool shows his displeasure straight away,
the discreet man overlooks the insult.
- 17 To tell the truth is to further justice,
a false witness is nothing but deceit.
- 18 There are some whose thoughtless words pierce like a sword,
but the tongue of the wise brings healing.
- 19 Lips that tell the truth abide firm for ever,
the tongue that lies lasts only for a moment.
- 20 Bitterness is in the heart of the schemer,
joy with those who give counsels of peace.
- 21 No harm can come to the virtuous man,
but the wicked have their fill of troubles.
- 22 Lips that lie are abhorrent to Yahweh;
dear to him those who speak the truth.
- 23 The man of discretion keeps his knowledge hidden,
the heart of fools proclaims their folly.
- 24 For the diligent hand, authority;
for the slack hand, forced labor.
- 25 Worry makes a man's heart heavy,
a kindly word makes it glad.
- 26 An impartial arbiter is his own best friend;
the way of the wicked leads them astray.
- 27 The idle man has no game to roast:
diligence is a man's most precious possession.

- 28 Life lies along the path of virtue,
the way of the vicious leads to death.
- 1 13 A wise son loves discipline,
a mocker will not listen to reproof.
- 2 When a man has good things to eat, it is the fruit of his own words,
but the appetite of the treacherous feeds on violence.
- 3 He keeps his life who guards his mouth,
he who talks too much is lost.
- 4 The idler yearns, but there is no food for him;
hard workers get their fill.
- 5 The virtuous man hates lying words,
but the wicked man slanders and defames.
- 6 Virtue preserves the man of honest life, wickedness proves the ruin of the sinner.
- 7 There are some who, on nothing, pretend to be rich,
some, with great wealth, pretend to be poor.
- 8 A man's wealth may ransom his life,
but the poor man sees no threat.
- 9 The light of virtuous men burns bright,
the lamp of the wicked goes out.
- 10 Insolence breeds disputes;
with the humble is wisdom found.
- 11 A sudden fortune will dwindle away,
he grows rich who accumulates little by little.
- 12 Hope deferred makes the heart sick,
desire fulfilled is a tree of life.
- 13 He who despises the word will destroy himself,
he who respects the commandment will be safe.
- 14 The wise man's teaching is a life-giving fountain,
for eluding the snares of death.
- 15 Intelligent prudence secures favor,
the way of the treacherous is hard.
- 16 Every man of discretion acts by the light of knowledge,
the fool parades his folly.
- 17 A malicious messenger means a fall into misfortune,
a trusty envoy heals.
- 18 For the man who rejects discipline: poverty and disgrace;
for the man who accepts correction: honor.
- 19 Desire fulfilled is sweet to the soul;
fools are loth to turn from evil.
- 20 Make the wise your companions and you grow wise yourself;
make fools your friends and suffer for it.
- 21 Misfortune dogs the sinner;
good fortune rewards the virtuous.
- 22 The good man bequeaths his heritage to his children's children, the wealth of the sinner is stored up for the virtuous.

- 23 The poor man's fallow yields food in plenty;
there are some who perish when justice fails.
- 24 The man who fails to use the stick hates his son;
the man who is free with his correction loves him.
- 25 The virtuous man eats to his heart's content,
the belly of the wicked goes empty.
- 1 14 Wisdom builds herself a house;
with her own hands Folly pulls it down.
- 2 He whose course is honest fears Yahweh,
he whose paths are crooked scorns him.
- 3 The fool's mouth contains a rod of pride,
the wise man's lips watch over him.
- 4 No oxen, no cattle feed;
stout ox, rich crop.
- 5 The truthful witness tells no lies,
the false witness lies with every breath.
- 6 In vain the mocker looks for wisdom,
knowledge comes easy to the discerning man.
- 7 Keep well clear of the fool,
you will not find wise lips there.
- 8 To the man of discretion, wisdom means a watch on his own conduct,
but the folly of fools is delusion.
- 9 God mocks the wicked,
he shows favor to honest men.
- 10 The heart knows its own grief best,
nor can a stranger share its joy.
- 11 The house of the wicked shall be destroyed,
the tent of honest men will stand firm.
- 12 There is a way that some think right,
but it leads in the end to death.
- 13 Even in laughter the heart finds sadness,
and joy makes way for sorrow.
- 14 The unstable heart is satisfied with its own ways,
the good man with his own hard work.
- 15 The simpleton believes what he is told,
the man of discretion watches how he treads.
- 16 The wise man sees evil coming and avoids it,
the fool is rash and presumptuous.
- 17 A quick-tempered man commits rash acts,
the prudent man will be long-suffering.
- 18 Simpletons have folly for their portion,
men of discretion knowledge for their crown.
- 19 The evil bow down before the good,
the wicked, at the gates of the virtuous.

- 20 The poor man is detestable even to his neighbor,
but the rich man has friends and to spare.
- 21 He who looks down on his neighbor sins,
blessed is he who takes pity on the poor.
- 22 To be a schemer, is this not evil?
Lay worthy plans, and kindness and loyalty await you.
- 23 Hard work always yields its profit,
idle talk brings only want.
- 24 Sound judgment is the crown of the wise,
folly the diadem of fools.
- 25 A truthful witness is a saver of lives, he who utters lies is an impostor.
- 26 Fear of Yahweh gives good grounds for confidence,
in him his children find a refuge.
- 27 The fear of Yahweh is a life-giving spring,
for eluding the snares of death.
- 28 A king's majesty shows in the numbers of his people,
with few to rule, a prince is ruined.
- 29 The equable man is full of discernment,
the hasty is more than foolish.
- 30 The life of the body is a tranquil heart,
but envy is a cancer in the bones.
- 31 To oppress the poor is to insult his creator,
to be kind to the needy is to honor him.
- 32 The wicked man is overthrown by his own malice,
the virtuous finds shelter in his integrity.
- 33 In the hearts of discerning men wisdom makes her home,
within the fool she has no place at all.
- 34 Virtue makes a nation great,
by sin whole races are disgraced.
- 35 A clever servant enjoys the favor of the king,
he uses his shrewdness to avoid disgrace.
- 1 15 A mild answer turns away wrath,
sharp words stir up anger.
- 2 The tongue of wise men distills knowledge,
the mouth of fools spews folly.
- 3 The eyes of Yahweh are everywhere:
observing the evil and the good.
- 4 The tongue that soothes is a tree of life;
the barbed tongue, a breaker of hearts.
- 5 He who spurns his father's discipline is a fool,
he who accepts correction is discreet.
- 6 In the house of the virtuous there is no lack of treasure,
the earnings of the wicked are fraught with anxiety.

- 7 Wise men's lips keep guard on knowledge,
not so the heart of fools.
- 8 The sacrifice of the wicked is abhorrent to Yahweh,
dear to him is the prayer of honest men.
- 9 The conduct of the wicked is abhorrent to Yahweh,
but he loves the man who makes virtue his goal.
- 10 Correction is severe for him who leaves the way;
he who hates being reprimanded will die.
- 11 Sheol and Perdition lie open to Yahweh;
how much more the hearts of mankind!
- 12 The mocker does not care to be reprimanded,
he will not choose the wise for his companions.
- 13 Glad heart means happy face,
where the heart is sad the spirit is broken.
- 14 The heart of the discerning makes knowledge its search,
the mouth of fools feeds on folly.
- 15 For the sorrowing every day is evil,
for the joyous heart it is festival always.
- 16 Better to have little and with it fear of Yahweh
than to have treasure and with it anxiety.
- 17 Better a dish of herbs when love is there than a fattened ox and hatred to go with it.
- 18 The hot-headed man provokes disputes,
the equable man allays dissension.
- 19 The way of the lazy is strewn with thorns,
the path of the industrious is a broad highway.
- 20 A wise son is his father's joy,
a foolish man despises his mother.
- 21 Folly appeals to a man with no sense,
the man of discernment goes straight forward.
- 22 Without deliberation plans come to nothing,
where counselors are many plans succeed.
- 23 When a man has a ready answer he has joy too:
how satisfying is the apt reply!
- 24 The upward path to life is for the wise man,
that he may avoid Sheol below.
- 25 Yahweh pulls down the house of the proud,
but he keeps the widow's boundaries intact.
- 26 Wicked scheming is abhorrent to Yahweh,
but words that are kind are pure.
- 27 He who seeks dishonest gain brings trouble on his house,
he who hates bribes shall have life.
- 28 The heart of the virtuous man contemplates kind actions,
the mouth of wicked men spews out malice.

- 29 Yahweh stands far from the wicked,
but he listens to the prayers of the virtuous.
- 30 A kindly glance gives joy to the heart,
good news lends strength to the bones.
- 31 The ear attentive to wholesome correction finds itself at home in the company of the wise.
- 32 He who rejects discipline despises his own self;
he who listens to correction wins discernment.
- 33 The fear of Yahweh is a school of wisdom,
humility goes before honor.
- 1 16 Man's heart makes the plans,
Yahweh gives the answer.
- 2 A man's conduct may strike him as pure,
Yahweh, however, weighs the motives.
- 3 Commend what you do to Yahweh,
and your plans will find achievement.
- 4 Yahweh made everything for its own purpose,
yes, even the wicked for the day of disaster.
- 5 The arrogant heart is abhorrent to Yahweh,
be sure it will not go unpunished.
- 6 By kindness and loyalty atonement is made for sin;
with the fear of Yahweh goes avoidance of evil.
- 7 Let Yahweh be pleased with a man's way of life
and he makes his very enemies into friends.
- 8 Better have little and with it virtue,
than great revenues and no right to them.
- 9 A man's heart plans out his way
but it is Yahweh who makes his steps secure.
- 10 The lips of the king utter oracles,
he does not err when he speaks in judgment.
- 11 To Yahweh belong the balance and scales,
all the weights in the bag are of his making.
- 12 Evil-doing is abhorrent to kings,
since virtue is the throne's foundation.
- 13 Virtuous lips are welcome to a king,
he loves a man of honest words.
- 14 The king's wrath is the herald of death,
but a wise man will appease it.
- 15 When the king's face brightens it spells life,
his favor is like the rain in spring.
- 16 Better gain wisdom than gold,
choose discernment rather than silver.
- 17 To turn from evil is the way of honest men;
he keeps his life safe who watches where he goes.

- 18 Pride goes before destruction,
a haughty spirit before a fall.
- 19 Better be humble among the lowly than share the booty with the proud.
- 20 He who listens closely to the word shall find happiness;
he who puts his trust in Yahweh is blessed.
- 21 He whose heart is wise is proclaimed discerning;
sweetness of speech makes words the more persuasive.
- 22 Shrewdness is a fountain of life for its possessor,
the folly of fools is their own punishment.
- 23 The wise man's heart lends shrewdness to his mouth
and makes his words more persuasive.
- 24 Kindly words are a honeycomb,
sweet to the taste, wholesome to the body.
- 25 There is a way that some think right,
but it leads in the end to death.
- 26 A worker's appetite works on his behalf,
his hungry mouth drives him on.
- 27 A scoundrel digs deep for mischief-making,
on his lips is a fire that scorches.
- 28 A troublemaker sows strife,
a talebearer divides friend from friend.
- 29 A violent man lures his neighbor astray
and leads him by a way that is not good.
- 30 He who closes his eyes meditates mischief;
he who purses his lips has already done wrong.
- 31 White hairs are a crown of honor,
they are found in the paths of virtue.
- 32 Better an equable man than a hero,
a man master of himself than one who takes a city.
- 33 On the breast the lot is drawn,^a from Yahweh the decision comes.
- 1 17 Better a dry crust and with it peace
than a house where feast and dispute go together.
- 2 Where the son is profligate the shrewd slave is master,
with the other brothers, he will share the inheritance.
- 3 A crucible for silver, a furnace for gold,
but Yahweh for the testing of hearts!
- 4 An evildoer pays attention to malicious lips,
a liar listens to a slanderous tongue.
- 5 To mock the poor is to insult his creator,
he who laughs at distress shall not go unpunished.
- 6 The crown of the aged is their children's children;
the children's glory is their father.

- 7 Fine words do not become the foolish,
false words become a prince still less.
- 8 A gift works like a talisman for him who gives it:
he prospers whichever way he turns.
- 9 He who covers an offense promotes love,
he who raises the matter again divides friends.
- 10 On a man of discernment a reproof makes more impression than a hundred strokes on a fool.
- 11 The wicked man thinks of nothing but rebellion,
hence a cruel messenger will be sent against him.
- 12 Rather come on a bear robbed of her cubs
than on a fool in his folly.
- 13 He who returns evil for good will not rid his house of evil.
- 14 As well loose a flood as initiate legal proceedings;
break off before the dispute begins.
- 15 To absolve the guilty and condemn the virtuous,
both alike are abhorrent to Yahweh.
- 16 What good is money in a foolish hand?
To purchase wisdom, when he has no sense?
- 17 A friend is a friend at all times,
it is for adversity that a brother is born.
- 18 He lacks sense who offers guarantees and goes surety for his neighbor.
- 19 He who has a taste for dispute has a taste for blows,
the man of haughty speech courts destruction.
- 20 The contrary heart does not find happiness,
the deceitful tongue falls into distress.
- 21 He who begets a stupid son begets him to his sorrow,
the father of a fool knows no joy.
- 22 A glad heart is excellent medicine,
a spirit depressed wastes the bones away.
- 23 Under cover of the cloak a venal man takes the gift
to pervert the course of justice.
- 24 The man of discernment has wisdom there before him,
but the eyes of the fool range to the ends of the earth.
- 25 A foolish son is his father's sorrow,
and the grief of her who gave him birth.
- 26 To fine the innocent is not right,
to strike the noble is still worse.
- 27 A man who can control his tongue has knowledge,
a man of discernment keeps his temper cool.

- 28 If a fool can hold his tongue, even he can pass for wise,
and pass for clever if he keeps his lips tight shut.
- 1 18 Who lives by himself follows his own whim,
he is angered by advice of any kind.
- 2 The fool has no love for reflection
but only for airing his opinion.
- 3 When wickedness comes, contempt comes too,
and, with disgrace, dishonor.
- 4 Deep waters, such are the words of man:
a swelling torrent, a fountain of life.
- 5 It is not good to show partiality for the wicked
and so to deprive the virtuous when giving judgment.
- 6 The lips of the fool draw him into arguments
and his mouth pleads for a beating.
- 7 The mouth of the fool works his own ruin,
his lips are a snare for his own life.
- 8 The words of a talebearer are tasty morsels
that go right down into the belly.
- 9 The man who is idle at work
is blood brother to the destroyer.
- 10 The name of Yahweh is a strong tower;
the virtuous man runs to it and is secure.
- 11 The rich man's wealth is his stronghold,
a high wall, as he supposes.
- 12 The human heart is haughty until destruction comes,
humility goes before honor.
- 13 To retort without first listening is folly to work one's own confusion.
- 14 Sickness the spirit of man can endure,
but when the spirit is broken, who can bear this?
- 15 The heart of the discerning gains in knowledge,
the ear of the wise man searches for knowledge.
- 16 A present opens every door for you and wins you access to the great.
- 17 The first to plead is adjudged to be right,
in comes his opponent, then the trial begins.
- 18 The lot puts an end to disputes and decides between men of power.
- 19 Brother helped by brother is a fortress,
friends are like the bars of a keep.
- 20 When a man's stomach is full, it is the fruit of his own mouth,
it is the yield of his lips that fills him.
- 21 Death and life are in the gift of the tongue,
those who indulge it must eat the fruit it yields.

- 22 Who finds a wife finds happiness,
receiving a mark of favor from Yahweh.
- 23 The poor man's language is entreaty,
the rich man's answer harshness.
- 24 There are friends who lead one to ruin,
others are closer than a brother.
- 1 19 Better a poor man living an honest life
than the adept at double-talk who is a fool.
- 2 Where reflection is wanting, zeal is not good;
he who goes too quickly misses his way.
- 3 It is man's folly that spoils his fortunes,
yet it is against Yahweh that his heart rages.
- 4 Wealth multiplies friends,
but the one friend the poor man has is taken from him!
- 5 The false witness will not go unpunished,
the man who utters lies will not go free.
- 6 The generous man has many to court his favor,
to one who gives, everyone is friend.
- 7 The poor man's brothers hate him, every one;
his friends—how much the more do these desert him!
He goes in search of words, but there are none to be had.
- 8 He who obtains wisdom works his own good,
he who cares about discernment finds happiness.
- 9 The false witness shall not go unpunished,
the man who utters lies will meet his end.
- 10 It is not fitting for a fool to live in luxury,
still less for a slave to govern princes.
- 11 A man's shrewdness shows in equanimity,
his self-respect in overlooking an offense.
- 12 Like the roaring of a lion, the anger of a king,
but like dew on the grass his favor.
- 13 A foolish son is the ruin of his father,
a woman's scolding is like a dripping gutter.
- 14 From fathers comes inheritance of house and wealth,
from Yahweh a wife who is discreet.
- 15 Idleness lulls a man to sleep,
the feckless soul will go hungry.
- 16 He who keeps the commandment is keeper of himself,
but he who despises the word shall die.
- 17 The man who is kind to the poor lends to Yahweh:
he will repay him for what he has done.
- 18 All the while there is hope, chastise your son,
but do not set out to destroy him altogether.
- 19 A violent man lays himself open to a penalty;
spare him, and you aggravate your own misfortune.

- 20 Listen to advice, accept correction,
to be the wiser in the time to come.
- 21 Plans multiply in the human heart,
but the purpose of Yahweh stands firm.
- 22 A man's attraction lies in his kindness, better a poor man than a liar.
- 23 The fear of Yahweh leads to life,
a man has food and shelter, and no evil to fear.
- 24 Into the dish the idler dips his hand,
but bring it back to his mouth he cannot.
- 25 Strike a mocker and the ignorant will be more wary, correct a man of discernment and he will listen to reason.
- 26 He who dispossesses his father and drives out his mother is a son as shameless as deprived.
- 27 Give up listening to instruction, my son,
and ignoring what knowledge has to say.
- 28 A witness of bad character holds justice in contempt;
the mouth of the wicked gorges on iniquity.
- 29 The stick was created for mockers,
and beating for the backs of fools.
- 1 20 Wine is reckless, strong drink quarrelsome;
unwise is he whom it seduces.
- 2 Like the roaring of a lion the fury of a king;
whoever provokes his anger wrongs his own life.
- 3 It is to a man's honor if he avoids quarrels,
but fools never exercise self-control.
- 4 Autumn is over but the idler does not plow,
at harvest time he looks—nothing there!
- 5 Deep in water are the purposes in human hearts,
the discerning man has only to draw them out.
- 6 Many describe themselves as kindly men,
but who can find a man really to be trusted?
- 7 A virtuous man whose ways are blameless—
happy his children after him!
- 8 A king enthroned on the judgment seat
with one look scatters all that is evil.
- 9 What man can say, "I have cleansed my heart,
I am purified of my sin?"
- 10 One weight here, another there; here one measure, there another:
both alike are abhorrent to Yahweh.
- 11 Even at play a child reveals whether his actions will be pure and right.
- 12 Ear that hears, eye that sees,
Yahweh has made both of these.

- 13 Do not love sleep or you will know poverty;
keep your eyes open and have bread and to spare.
- 14 "No good, no good!" says the buyer,
but he goes off congratulating himself.
- 15 There is gold, and profusion of pearls,
but lips that speak of knowledge, that is the priceless ornament.
- 16 Take the man's clothes! He has gone surety for a stranger.
Seize him to the profit of persons unknown!
- 17 A man finds bread sweet when it is got by fraud,
but later his mouth is full of grit.
- 18 Weigh your plans in consultation, with sound guidance wage your war.
- 19 The bearer of gossip lets out secrets;
have nothing to do with chatterers.
- 20 Whoever curses father or mother
in blackest darkness shall have his lamp snuffed out.
- 21 Property quickly come by at first will not be blessed in the end.
- 22 Do not say, "I will repay evil";
put your hope in Yahweh and he will keep you safe.
- 23 One weight here, another there: this is abhorrent to Yahweh, false scales are not good.
- 24 Yahweh guides a man's steps:
how could man discern the way he goes?
- 25 A man is trapped when he shouts "Dedicated!"
and only begins to reflect after the vow.
- 26 A wise king winnows the wicked,
and makes their spite recoil on themselves.
- 27 Man's spirit is the lamp of Yahweh, searching his deepest self.
- 28 Kindness and loyalty mount guard over the king,
his throne is founded on kindness.
- 29 The glory of the young is their strength,
the dignity of the old, gray hairs.
- 30 Wounding strokes are good medicine for evil,
blows bring healing to the deepest self.
- 1 21 Like flowing water is the heart of the king in the hand of Yahweh, who turns it where he pleases.
- 2 A man's conduct may strike him as upright,
Yahweh, however, weighs the heart.
- 3 To act virtuously and with justice is more pleasing to Yahweh than sacrifice.
- 4 Haughty eye, proud heart,
lamp of the wicked, nothing but sin.

- 5 The hardworking man is thoughtful, and all is gain;
too much haste, and all that comes of it is want.
- 6 To make a fortune with the help of a lying tongue,
such the idle fantasy of those who look for death.
- 7 The marauding of the wicked entraps them through their refusal to do what is right.
- 8 The way of the felon is devious,
the conduct of the innocent straightforward.
- 9 Better the corner of a loft to live in
than a house shared with a scolding woman.
- 10 The wicked man's soul is intent on evil,
he looks on his neighbor with dislike.
- 11 When a mocker is punished, the ignorant man grows wiser,
when a wise man is instructed he acquires more knowledge.
- 12 The Just One watches the house of the wicked:
he hurls the wicked to destruction.
- 13 He who shuts his ear to the poor man's cry shall himself plead and not be heard.
- 14 Anger is mollified by a covert gift, raging fury by a bribe under cover of the cloak.
- 15 For the virtuous man it is a joy to execute justice,
but it brings dismay to evildoers.
- 16 The man who strays from the way of prudence
will rest where the Shades gather around him.
- 17 Pleasure lovers stay poor,
he will not grow rich who loves wine and good living.
- 18 The wicked man is the price to be paid for the virtuous,
the deceiver for the upright.
- 19 Better to live in a desert land than with a scolding and irritable woman.
- 20 If in a wise man's dwelling there is precious treasure and oil,
the fool will gobble it up.
- 21 He who pursues virtue and kindness shall find life and honor too.
- 22 The wise man can scale a citadel of warriors and throw down the rampart it trusted in.
- 23 He who keeps watch over his mouth and his tongue
preserves himself from disaster.
- 24 Arrogant, haughty, his name is "Mocker";
overweening pride marks his behavior.
- 25 The idler's desires are the death of him,
since his hands will do no work.
- 26 The godless is forever coveting,
the virtuous man gives without ever refusing.

- 27 The sacrifice of wicked men is abhorrent,
above all when they offer for bad motives.
- 28 The false witness will meet his doom,
but the speech of the obedient will always be heard.
- 29 The wicked man assumes an air of confidence,
the honest man gives his own conduct careful thought.
- 30 Neither wisdom, nor prudence, nor advice,
can stand in Yahweh's presence.
- 31 The horse is caparisoned for the day of battle,
but to Yahweh the victory belongs.
- 1 22 A good name is more desirable than great wealth,
the respect of others is better than silver or gold.
- 2 Rich and poor are found together,
Yahweh has made them all.
- 3 The discreet man sees danger and takes shelter,
the ignorant go forward and pay for it.
- 4 The reward of humility is the fear of Yahweh,
riches, honor and life.
- 5 Thorns and snares line the path of the willful,
he who values his life will keep his distance.
- 6 Instruct a child in the way he should go,
and when he grows old he will not leave it.
- 7 The rich man lords it over the poor,
the borrower is the lender's slave.
- 8 He who sows injustice reaps disaster,
and the rod of his anger falls on himself.
- 9 A blessing awaits the man who is kindly,
since he shares his bread with the poor.
- 10 Expel the mocker and strife goes too, dispute and abuse die down.
- 11 Yahweh loves the pure in heart, friend to the king is the man of gracious speech.
- 12 The eyes of Yahweh see knowledge safe preserved,
but he confounds the words of liars.
- 13 "There is a lion outside," says the idler,
"I shall be killed in the street!"
- 14 The mouth of alien women is a deep pit,
into it falls the man whom Yahweh detests.
- 15 Innate in the heart of a child is folly,
judicious beating will rid him of it.
- 16 Oppress the poor and you enrich him,
give to the rich and you make him poor.

III. A COLLECTION OF THE SAGES

17 Sayings of the sages.

Give ear to my words
and apply your heart to knowing them;
18 for it will be a delight to keep them deep within you to have them all ready on your lips.
19 So that your trust may be in Yahweh,
today I propose to make your way known to you.

20 Have I not written for you thirty chapters^a
of advice and knowledge, 21 for you to be able to expound the truth and with sound words to answer those who question you?

22 Because a man is poor, do not therefore cheat him,
nor, at the city gate,^b oppress anybody in affliction;
23 for Yahweh takes up their cause,
and extorts the life of their extortioners.

24 Make friends with no man who gives way to anger,
make no hasty-tempered man a companion of yours, 25 for fear you learn from his behavior and in this risk the loss of your own life.

26 Do not be one of those who go guarantor,
who go surety for debts:
27 if you have no means of paying you will find your bed taken from under you.
28 Do not displace the ancient landmark,
set by your ancestors.

29 You see some man sharp at business?
He will come to serve kings.
Not for him the service of obscure people.

1 23 If you take your seat at a great man's table,
take careful note of what you have before you;
2 put a knife to your throat
if you are prone to gluttony.
3 Do not crave his choice food,
for it is doubtful nourishment.

4 Do not weary yourself with getting rich,
and have nothing to do with dishonest gain.
5 You fix your gaze on this, and it is there no longer,
for it is able to sprout wings
like an eagle that flies off to the sky.

6 Do not dine with a niggardly man,
do not crave his choice food.
7 It would be like a tempest in his throat.
"Eat and drink," he tells you, but his heart is not in it.
8 You will spit out what little you have eaten and find your compliments wasted.

9 Do not waste words on a fool,
he will not appreciate the shrewdness of your remarks.

- 10 Do not displace the ancient landmark or encroach on orphans' lands, 11 for he who avenges them is strong and will take up their cause against you.
- 12 Apply your heart to discipline,
and your ears to words that are wise.
- 13 Do not be chary of correcting a child,
a stroke of the cane is not likely to kill him.
14 A stroke of the cane
and you save him from Sheol.
- 15 My son, if your heart is wise,
then my own heart is glad,
16 and my inmost self rejoices
when from your lips come honest words.
- 17 Do not let your heart be envious of sinners
but be steady every day in the fear of Yahweh; 18 for there is a morrow,
and your hope will not be nullified.
- 19 Listen, my son, and learn to be wise,
and guide your heart in the way . . .
- 20 Do not be one of those forever tipping wine
nor one of those who gorge themselves with meat; 21 for the drunkard and glutton impoverish themselves,
and a drowsy head makes a wearer of rags.
- 22 Listen to your father who begot you,
do not despise your mother in her old age.
- 23 Truth you must purchase, never sell;
this is wisdom, discipline, and discernment.
- 24 The father of the virtuous man will rejoice indeed,
he who fathers a wise man will have joy of it.
- 25 May you be the joy of your father,
the gladness of her who bore you!
26 My son, attend to me,
keep your eyes fixed on my advice:
27 a harlot is a deep pit,
a narrow well, the woman who is a stranger.
28 Yes, like a robber she is on the watch and many are the men she dupes.
29 For whom is everybody's pity and everyone's contempt,
for whom is strife reserved, for whom dissatisfaction,
for whom blows struck from all sides,
for whom the clouded eye?
30 For those who linger over wine too long,
ever on the lookout for the well-blended wine.
31 Never relish how red it is, this wine,
how sparkling in the cup,
how smooth its flow.

22 a. Probably an allusion to The Wisdom of Amenemophis, on which this whole passage is based. b. Where cases were judged.

- 32 In the end its bite is like a serpent's,
its sting as sharp as an adder's.
- 33 Your eyes will see strange things,
distorted words will come from your heart.
- 34 You will be like one sleeping in mid-ocean,
like one asleep at the masthead.
- 35 "Struck me, have they? But I'm not hurt.
Beaten me? I don't feel anything.
When shall I wake up? . . .
I'll ask for more of it!"
- 1 24 Do not be envious of wicked men
or wish for their company, 2 for their hearts are scheming violence,
their lips talking of mischief.
- 3 By wisdom a house is built,
by discernment the foundation is laid;
4 by knowledge its storerooms filled with riches of every kind, rare and desirable.
- 5 Better the wise man than the strong,
the man with knowledge than the brawny fellow; 6 for war is won by sound thinking and victory rests in having many counselors.
- 7 Wisdom is coral^a to the fool:
at the city gate he does not open his mouth.
- 8 The man intent on evil-doing is called a rank intriguer.
- 9 The foolish scheme nothing but sin,
the mocker is abhorrent to men.
- 10 If you lose heart,
when adversity comes your strength will only be weakness.
- 11 Rescue those being led away to death,
hold back those who are being dragged to the slaughter.
- 12 Will you object, "But look, we did not know?"
Has he who weighs the heart no understanding,
he who scans your soul no knowledge?
He himself will repay a man as his deeds deserve.
- 13 Eat honey, my son, since it is good;
honey that drips from the comb is sweet to the taste:
14 and such is knowledge of wisdom for your soul:
find it, and there will be a morrow,
and your hope will not be in vain.
- 15 Do not lurk, wicked man, around the virtuous man's dwelling,
do not despoil his house.
- 16 For though the virtuous man falls seven times, he stands up again;
the wicked are the ones who stumble in adversity.
- 17 Should your enemy fall, do not rejoice,
when he stumbles do not let your heart exult;
18 for fear that at the sight Yahweh will be displeased and turn his anger away from him.
- 19 Do not be indignant about the wicked,
do not be envious of evil men,

- 20 since there is no morrow for the wicked man;
the lamp of the wicked will be snuffed out.
- 21 Fear Yahweh, my son, and fear the king;
do not rebel against either of them;
- 22 for suddenly their vengeance will arise,
and then who knows what ruin both of them will send?

IV. ANOTHER COLLECTION OF THE SAGES

- 23 The following are also taken from the sages:
- 24 To show partiality in judgment is not good.
25 The man who says, "You are innocent" to the guilty;
the peoples will have only curses for him, and the nations horror;
but those who deal out punishment have cause for satisfaction,
on them a blessing rests.
- 26 He who returns an honest answer plants a kiss on the lips.
- 27 On the open ground, plan what you have to do,
make your preparation in the field;
then you may go
and build your house.
- 28 Do not bear witness lightly against your neighbor,
nor with your lips deceive.
- 29 Do not say, "I will treat him as he has treated me;
I will repay each man as he deserves."
- 30 By the idler's field I was passing,
by the vineyard of a man who had no sense, 31 there it all lay, deep in thorns, entirely overgrown with nettles,
and its stone wall broken down.
- 32 And as I gazed I pondered,
I drew this lesson from the sight,
33 "A little sleep, a little drowsiness,
a little folding of the arms to take life more easily, 34 and like a vagrant, poverty is at your elbow
and, like a beggar, want."

V. THE SECOND COLLECTION ATTRIBUTED TO SOLOMON

- 1 25 The following also are proverbs of Solomon transcribed by Hezekiah, king of Judah.
- 2 To conceal a matter, this is the glory of God,
to sift it thoroughly, the glory of kings.
- 3 High though the heavens are, deep the earth,
there is no fathoming the heart of kings.
- 4 From silver remove the dross
and it emerges wholly purified;
- 24 a. Too delicate for him to appreciate.

- 5 from the king's presence remove the wicked
and on virtue his throne is founded.
- 6 In the presence of the king do not give yourself airs,
do not put yourself where the great are standing;
7 better to be invited, "Come up here"
than be humiliated in the presence of the prince.
- 8 What your eyes have witnessed
do not come out with too quickly at the trial, for what are you to do at the end should your neighbor confute you?
- 9 Have the quarrel out with your neighbor,
but do not disclose another's secret, 10 or someone, hearing, will reproach you with it,
and so you lose your reputation.
- 11 Like apples of gold in a silver setting is a word that is aptly spoken.
12 A golden ring, an ornament of finest gold,
is a wise rebuke to an attentive ear.
- 13 The coolness of snow in harvest time,
such is the trusty messenger to those who send him:
he revives the soul of his master.
- 14 Clouds and gusts and yet no rain,
such is the man whose promises are princely but never kept.
- 15 With patience a judge may be cajoled:
a soft tongue breaks bones.
- 16 Eat to your satisfaction what honey you may find,
but not to excess or you will bring it up again.
- 17 Do not set foot too often in your neighbor's house,
for fear he tires of you and comes to hate you.
- 18 A mace, a sword, a keen arrow,
such is the man who bears false witness against his neighbor.
- 19 Decaying tooth, lame foot,
such is the fickle man when trusted in time of trouble.
20 As well take off your coat in bitter weather.
- It is to treat a wound with vinegar to sing songs to a sorrowing heart.
- 21 If your enemy is hungry, give him something to eat;
if thirsty, something to drink.
22 By this you heap red-hot coals on his head,
and Yahweh will reward you.
- 23 The rain is born of the north wind,
the ravaged face of a backbiting tongue.
- 24 Better the corner of a loft to live in
than a house shared with a scolding woman.
- 25 Cold water to a thirsty throat:
such is good news from a distant land.

- 26 A churned up spring, a fountain fouled:
such is the virtuous man trembling before the wicked.
- 27 It is not good to eat too much honey,
or to be taken in by fawning words.
- 28 An open town, and without defenses:
such is the man lacking self-control.
- 1 26 Snow no more befits the summer, or rain the harvest time,
than honors befit a fool.
- 2 As the sparrow escapes, and the swallow flies away,
so the undeserved curse will never hit its mark.
- 3 A whip for the horse, a bridle for the donkey,
and for the backs of fools, the stick.
- 4 Do not answer a fool in the terms of his folly
for fear you grow like him yourself.
- 5 Answer a fool in the terms of his folly
for fear he imagines himself wise.
- 6 . . . He drinks a bitter draught who sends a message by a fool.
- 7 Unreliable as a lame man's legs:
so is a proverb in the mouth of fools.
- 8 Like fixing a stone tight in the sling,
so is giving honors to a fool.
- 9 A thorn branch in a drunkard's hand:
such is a proverb in the mouth of fools.
- 10 An archer wounding all who pass:
such is the man who employs a fool.
- 11 As a dog returns to its vomit,
so a fool reverts to his folly.
- 12 You see some man who thinks himself wise?
More hope for a fool than for him!
- 13 "There is a lion in the street," says the idler
"a lion in the square!"
- 14 The door turns on its hinges,
the idler, on his bed.
- 15 Into the dish the idler dips his hand
but is too tired to bring it back to his mouth.
- 16 The idler thinks himself wiser than seven men who answer with discretion.
- 17 Like catching a stray dog by the tail,
so is interfering in the quarrels of others.
- 18 Like a madman hurling firebrands,
arrows and death,
19 so is the man who lies to his neighbor
and then says, "It was all a joke."

- 20 No wood, and the fire goes out;
no talebearer, and quarreling dies down.
- 21 Charcoal for live embers, wood for fire,
for kindling strife a quarrelsome man.
- 22 The words of a talebearer are tasty morsels
that go right down into the belly.
- 23 A glaze applied to an earthen pot:
such are smooth lips and wicked heart.
- 24 Where hatred is there are dissembling lips,
but deep within lies treachery;
25 do not trust him if the man be fair of speech,
since in his heart lurk seven abominations.
- 26 Hatred may well disguise itself with guile,
only to unmask its spite before the community.
- 27 The man who digs a pit falls into it,
the stone comes back on him that rolls it.
- 28 The lying tongue hates the truth,
the fawning mouth brings ruin.
- 1 27 Do not boast about tomorrow,
since you do not know what today will bring forth.
- 2 Let the other man praise you, but not your own mouth.
A stranger, but not your lips.
- 3 Heaviness of stone, weight of sand, heavier than both: annoyance from a fool.
- 4 Cruelty of wrath, surge of anger.
But jealousy, who can withstand that?
- 5 Better open reproof
than voiceless love.
- 6 From one who loves, wounds are well-intentioned;
from one who hates, kisses are ominous.
- 7 The gorged throat revolts at honey,
the hungry throat finds all bitterness sweet.
- 8 Like a bird that strays from its nest,
so is the man who strays from where he belongs.
- 9 Fragrant oil gladdens the heart,
friendship's sweetness comforts the soul.
- 10 Do not abandon friend, or father's friend;
when trouble comes, do not go running to your brother's house.
Better a friend near than a brother far away.
- 11 Learn to be wise, my son, and gladden my heart,
that I may have an answer for the man who insults me.
- 12 The discreet man sees danger and takes shelter,
the ignorant go forward and pay for it.
- 13 Take the man's clothes! He has gone surety for a stranger.
Seize him to the profit of persons unknown!

- 14 He who at dawn loudly blesses his neighbor is accounted to curse.
- 15 The steady dripping of a gutter on a rainy day
and a scolding woman are alike.
- 16 Whoever can restrain her, can restrain the wind,
and with his right hand grasp oil.
- 17 Iron is made the finer by iron,
a man is refined by contact with his neighbor.
- 18 He who tends the fig tree eats its figs,
he who looks after his master shall be honored.
- 19 As no two faces are ever alike,
unlike, too, are the hearts of men.
- 20 Sheol and Perdition are never satisfied,
nor are the eyes of man ever satisfied.
- 21 A crucible for silver, a furnace for gold,
a man for testing the words of flatterers.
- 22 Pound the fool in a mortar as you may,
you will not separate him from his folly.
- 23 Know your flocks' condition well,
take good care of your herds;
24 since riches do not last for ever,
wealth is not handed down from age to age.
- 25 The grass once gone, the aftergrowth appearing,
the hay gathered in from the mountains, 26 you should have lambs to clothe you,
goats to pay for your fields, 27 goat's milk sufficient to feed you,
and to provide for your serving girls.
- 1 28 The wicked man flees when no one is after him,
the virtuous man is bold as a lion.
- 2 The fault lies with the headstrong when quarrels flare up,
the discreet man quenches them.
- 3 A wicked man who oppresses the poor:
here is a devastating rain—and farewell, bread!
- 4 Those who forsake the law have a good word for the wicked,
those who observe the law have no time for such.
- 5 The wicked do not know what justice means,
those who fear Yahweh understand everything.
- 6 Better a poor man living an honest life
than a man of devious ways, rich though he be.
- 7 A discerning son is he who keeps the Law;
an associate of profligates brings shame on his father.
- 8 He who increases his wealth by usury and interest
amasses it for someone else who will bestow it on the poor.
- 9 He who turns his ear away from listening to the Law,
his prayer is an abomination.

- 10 He who seduces honest men to evil ways
will fall into his own pit.
Blameless men are the heirs to happiness.
- 11 The rich man may think himself wise,
but a poor man with sense will unmask him.
- 12 When the virtuous triumph, there is great rejoicing;
when the wicked are in the ascendant, men take cover.
- 13 He who conceals his faults will not prosper,
he who confesses and renounces them will find mercy.
- 14 Happy the man who is never without fear,
he who hardens his heart will fall into distress.
- 15 A roaring lion, a hungry bear,
such is the bad ruler of a poor people.
- 16 A prince lacking sense is rich in rapacity,
he who hates avarice will lengthen his days.
- 17 A man wanted for murder will be a fugitive until death. Do not lay hands on him.
- 18 He who lives an honest life will be safe,
he who wavers between two ways falls down in one of them.
- 19 He who tills his land shall have bread and to spare,
he who chases fantasies, poverty in plenty.
- 20 A trustworthy man will be overwhelmed with blessings, but he who tries to get rich quickly will not go unpunished.
- 21 It is not good to show partiality,
but men will do wrong for a mouthful of bread.
- 22 He chases after wealth, the man of greedy eye,
not knowing that want is overtaking him.
- 23 He who reproves another will enjoy more favor
in the end than the flatterer.
- 24 He who robs his father (and his mother) saying, "No wrong here!"
is comrade for a brigand.
- 25 The covetous man provokes disputes,
he who trusts in Yahweh shall prosper.
- 26 He who trusts his own promptings is a fool,
he whose ways are wise will be safe.
- 27 He who gives to the poor shall never want,
he who closes his eyes to them will bear many a curse.
- 28 When the wicked are in the ascendant, men take cover,
but when they perish, virtuous men multiply.
- 1 29 The man often rebuked but stubborn still:
suddenly, irretrievably, his fall will come.
- 2 When virtuous men are in power, the people are joyful,
when the wicked rule, the people groan.
- 3 The lover of Wisdom makes his father glad,
but the patron of harlots fritters his wealth away.

- 4 A king gives a country stability by justice,
an extortioner brings it to ruin.
- 5 The man who flatters his neighbor spreads a net for his feet.
- 6 Under the feet of the wicked man there is a snare,
but the virtuous runs on rejoicing.
- 7 The virtuous man is concerned for the rights of the poor,
the wicked knows no such concern.
- 8 Scoffers set cities in a ferment,
but wise men moderate anger.
- 9 Let a wise man argue with a fool,
be he angry or good-humored he will not gain his end.
- 10 Men of blood hate the blameless man,
but honest men cherish his life.
- 11 The fool comes out with all his angry feelings,
but the wise man subdues and restrains them.
- 12 When a ruler listens to false reports,
all his ministers will be scoundrels.
- 13 Poor man and usurer are found together,
Yahweh gives light to the eyes of both.
- 14 The king who judges the poor with equity sees his throne set firm for ever.
- 15 The stick and the reprimand bestow wisdom,
a child left to himself brings shame on his mother.
- 16 When the wicked are in power, sin multiplies,
but the virtuous shall witness their downfall.
- 17 Correct your son, and he will give you peace of mind;
he will delight your soul.
- 18 Where there is no vision the people get out of hand;
blessed are they who keep the Precept.^a
- 19 Not by words is a slave corrected:
even if he understands, he will take no notice.
- 20 You see some man too ready of speech?
More hope for a fool than for him.
- 21 If a man's slave is pampered from childhood,
he will prove ungrateful in the end.
- 22 A bad-tempered man provokes disputes,
a man prone to anger is a great cause of sin.
- 23 A man's pride brings him humiliation,
he who humbles himself will win honor.
- 24 Complicity with thieves and a wrong to oneself:
to hear the curse^b and make no disclosure.

29 a. "Vision" is probably the prophetic gift; "the Precept" may be the prophet's teaching, or else the Law. b. The curse pronounced against the unidentified criminal or on witnesses who refuse to come forward.

- 25 To be afraid of men is a snare,
he who puts his trust in Yahweh is secure.
- 26 Many a man seeks a ruler's favor,
but the rights of each come from Yahweh.
- 27 Abhorrent to the virtuous is the sinful man,
abhorrent to the wicked is the man of honor.

VI. THE SAYINGS OF AGUR

1 30 The sayings of Agur son of Jakeh, of Massa. Oracle of this man for Ithiel, for Ithiel and for Ucal.^a

- 2 Surely I must be the most stupid of men, bereft of human intelligence,
- 3 I have not learned wisdom,
and I lack the knowledge of the Holy Ones.
- 4 Who has mounted to the heavens, then descended?
Who has gathered the wind in the clasp of his hand?
Who has wrapped the waters in his cloak?
Who has set all the ends of the earth firm?
What is his name, or the name of his son,
if you know it?
- 5 Every word of God is unalloyed,
he is the shield of those who take refuge in him.
- 6 To his words make no addition,
lest he reprove you and know you for a fraud.
- 7 Two things I beg of you,
do not grudge me them before I die:
- 8 keep falsehood and lies far from me,
give me neither poverty nor riches,
grant me only my share of bread to eat,
for fear that surrounded by plenty, I should fall away
and say, "Yahweh—who is Yahweh?"
or else, in destitution, take to stealing and profane the name of my God.
- 10 Do not denounce a slave to his master,
lest he curse you, and you suffer for it.
- 11 There is a breed of man who curses his father and does not bless his mother;
- 12 a breed that, laying claim to purity,
has yet not been cleansed of its filth;
- 13 a breed haughty of eye,
with disdain in every glance;
- 14 a breed with swords for teeth,
with knives for jaws,
with which to devour the poor and rid the earth of them,
to devour the needy and rid mankind of them.

VII. NUMERICAL PROVERBS

- 15 The leech has two daughters: "Give, give!" their cry.

- 16 There are three insatiable things,
four, indeed, that never say, "Enough!"
Sheol, the barren womb,
earth which can never have its fill of water,
fire which never says, "Enough!"
- 17 The eye which looks jeeringly on a father,
and scornfully on an aging mother,
shall be pecked out by the ravens of the valley,
and eaten by the vultures.
- 18 There are three things beyond my comprehension,
four, indeed, that I do not understand:
19 the way of an eagle through the skies,
the way of a snake over the rock,
the way of a ship in mid-ocean,
the way of a man with a girl.
- 20 This is how the adulteress behaves:
when she has eaten,
she wipes her mouth clean and says,
"I have done nothing wrong."
- 21 There are three things at which the earth trembles,
four, indeed, which it cannot endure:
22 a slave become king,
a churlish man full-fed, 23 a jilted girl wed at last,
a maid supplanting mistress.
- 24 There are four creatures little on the earth,
though wisest of the wise:
25 the ants, a race with no strength,
yet in the summer they make sure of their food;
26 the rock rabbits, a race with no defenses,
yet they make their home in the rocks;
27 the locusts, these have no king,
and yet they all march in good order;
28 the lizard which you can catch in your hand,
yet it frequents the palaces of kings.
- 29 There are three things of stately tread,
four, indeed, of stately bearing:
30 the lion, bravest of beasts,
he will draw back from nothing;
31 the cock that proudly struts among the hens,
the he-goat, leader of the flock,
and the king when he harangues his people.
- 32 If you have been foolish enough to fly into a passion and now have second thoughts, lay your hand on your lips.
33 For by churning the milk you produce butter,
by wringing the nose you produce blood,
and by whipping up anger you produce strife.

30 a. This heading is obscure. Massa is the name of an Ishmaelite tribe of North Arabia, credited with "the wisdom of the East," but it may not be correct to take this word, and the other capitalized words, as proper names.

VIII. THE SAYINGS OF LEMUEL

- 1 31 The sayings of Lemuel king of Massa,^a taught him by his mother:
 2 What, my son! What, son of my womb!
 What, son of my vows!
 3 Do not spend all your energy on women,
 nor your loins on these destroyers of kings.
 4 Not for kings, O Lemuel,
 not for kings the drinking of wine,
 not for princes to love strong drink,
 5 for fear that in liquor they forget what they have decreed and override the rights of all in distress.
 6 Procure strong drink for a man about to perish,
 wine for the heart that is full of bitterness:
 7 let him drink and forget his misfortune,
 and remember his misery no more.
 8 Speak, yourself, on behalf of the dumb,
 on behalf of all the unwanted;
 9 speak, yourself, pronounce a just verdict,
 uphold the rights of the poor, of the needy.

IX. ALPHABETIC POEM ON THE PERFECT WIFE

- 10 Aleph A perfect wife—who can find her?
 She is far beyond the price of pearls.
 11 Beth Her husband's heart has confidence in her,
 from her he will derive no little profit.
 12 Ghimel Advantage and not hurt she brings him
 all the days of her life.
 13 Daleth She is always busy with wool and with flax,
 she does her work with eager hands.
 14 He She is like a merchant vessel bringing her food from far away.
 15 Waw She gets up while it is still dark giving her household their food,
 giving orders to her serving girls.
 16 Zain She sets her mind on a field, then she buys it;
 with what her hands have earned she plants a vineyard.
 17 Heth She puts her back into her work and shows how strong her arms can be.
 18 Teth She finds her labor well worth while;
 her lamp does not go out at night.
 19 Yod She sets her hands to the distaff,
 her fingers grasp the spindle.
 20 Kaph She holds out her hand to the poor,
 she opens her arms to the needy.

- 21 Lamed Snow may come, she has no fears for her household,
with all her servants warmly clothed.
- 22 Mem She makes her own quilts,
she is dressed in fine linen and purple.
- 23 Nun Her husband is respected at the city gates,
taking his seat among the elders of the land.
- 24 Samek She weaves linen sheets and sells them,
she supplies the merchant with sashes.
- 25 Ain She is clothed in strength and dignity,
she can laugh at the days to come.
- 26 Pe When she opens her mouth, she does so wisely;
on her tongue is kindly instruction.
- 27 Sade She keeps good watch on the conduct of her household,
no bread of idleness for her.
- 28 Qoph Her sons stand up and proclaim her blessed,
her husband, too, sings her praises:
- 29 Resh "Many women have done admirable things,
but you surpass them all!"
- 30 Shin Charm is deceitful, and beauty empty;
the woman who is wise is the one to praise.
- 31 Tau Give her a share in what her hands have worked for,
and let her works tell her praises at the city gates.

INTRODUCTION TO ECCLESIASTES

The name means "the Preacher." In the first chapter, the Preacher is called "son of David and king in Jerusalem"; but this is a literary device for commending the author's wisdom to readers under the name of the proverbially wise King Solomon. In fact, the book may perhaps be a compilation by several hands, and it certainly dates from after the Exile.

A main theme of these aphorisms and meditations is the utter emptiness of human existence and the futility of a life in which the good and the bad must come to exactly the same end. There are affinities with Greek thinking, and the 3rd century B.C. is the likeliest time of composition. The book represents a transitional stage in the religious development of Israel and exposes the need of a new revelation.

ECCLESIASTES

¹₂³ 1 The words of Qoheleth^a son of David, king in Jerusalem. •Vanity of vanities, Qoheleth says. Vanity of vanities. All is vanity! •For all his toil, his toil under the sun, what does man gain by it?

PART ONE

Prologue

⁴ A generation goes, a generation comes, yet the earth stands firm for ever.
⁵ The sun rises, the sun sets; then to its place it speeds and there it rises. •Southward
⁶ goes the wind, then turns to the north; it turns and turns again; back then to its ⁷ circling goes the wind. •Into the sea all the rivers go, and yet the sea is never ⁸ filled, and still to their goal the rivers go. •All things are wearisome. No man ⁹ can say that eyes have not had enough of seeing, ears their fill of hearing. •What was will be again; what has been done will be done again; and there is nothing ¹⁰ new under the sun. •Take anything of which it may be said, “Look now, this ¹¹ is new.” Already, long before our time, it existed. •Only no memory remains of earlier times, just as in times to come next year itself will not be remembered.

The career of Solomon

¹²₁₃ 1 I, Qoheleth, have reigned in Jerusalem over Israel. •With the help of wisdom
I have been at pains to study all that is done under heaven; oh, what a weary ¹⁴ task God has given mankind to labor at! •I have seen everything that is done under the sun, and what vanity it all is, what chasing of the wind!

¹⁵ What is twisted cannot be straightened,
what is not there cannot be counted.

¹⁶ I thought to myself, “I have acquired a greater stock of wisdom than any of my predecessors in Jerusalem. I have great experience of wisdom and learning.”
¹⁷ Wisdom has been my careful study; stupidity, too, and folly. And now I have come to recognize that even this is chasing of the wind.

¹⁸ Much wisdom, much grief,
the more knowledge, the more sorrow.

¹₂³ 2 I thought to myself, “Very well, I will try pleasure and see what enjoyment has to offer.” And there it was: vanity again! •This laughter, I reflected, is a ³ madness, this pleasure no use at all. •I resolved to have my body cheered with wine, my heart still devoted to wisdom; I resolved to embrace folly to see what made mankind happy, and what men do under heaven in the few days they ⁴ have to live. •I did great things: built myself palaces, planted vineyards; •made ⁵ myself gardens and orchards, planting every kind of fruit tree in them. •I had ⁶ pools made for watering the plantations: •bought men slaves, women slaves;
⁷ had home-born slaves as well; herds and flocks I had too, more than anyone

⁸ in Jerusalem before me. I amassed silver and gold, the treasures of kings and provinces; acquired singing men and singing women and every human luxury, chest on chest of it. So I grew great, greater than anyone in Jerusalem before me; nor did my wisdom leave me. I denied my eyes nothing they desired, refused my heart no pleasure, a heart that found all my hard work a pleasure; such was the return I got for all my efforts. I then reflected on all that my hands had achieved and on all the effort I had put into its achieving. What vanity it all is and chasing of the wind! There is nothing to be gained under the sun.

¹² My reflections then turned to wisdom, stupidity, folly. For instance, what ¹³ can the successor of a king do? What has been done already. More is to be had from wisdom than from folly, as from light than from darkness; this, of course, I see:

¹⁴ The wise man sees ahead,
the fool walks in the dark.

¹⁵ No doubt! But I know too, that one fate awaits them both. "The fool's fate," I thought to myself, "will be my fate too. Of what use my wisdom, then? This, ¹⁶ too," I thought, "is vanity." Since there is no lasting memory for wise man or for fool, and in the days to come both will be forgotten; wise man, alas, no ¹⁷ less than fool must die. Life I have come to hate, for what is done under the ¹⁸ sun disgusts me, since all is vanity and chasing of the wind. All I have toiled ¹⁹ for and now bequeath to my successor I have come to hate; who knows whether he will be a wise man or a fool? Yet he will be master of all the work into which ²⁰ I have put my efforts and wisdom under the sun. That, too, is vanity. And hence I have come to despair of all the efforts I have expended under the sun. ²¹ For so it is that a man who has labored wisely, skillfully and successfully must leave what is his own to someone who has not toiled for it at all. This, too, ²² is vanity and great injustice; for what does he gain for all the toil and strain ²³ that he has undergone under the sun? What of all his laborious days, his cares of office, his restless nights? This, too, is vanity.

²⁴ There is no happiness for man but to eat and drink and to be content with ²⁵ his work. This, too, I see as something from God's hand, since plenty and ²⁶ penury both come from God; wisdom, knowledge, joy, he gives to the man who pleases him; on the sinner lays the task of gathering and storing up for another who is pleasing to God. This, too, is vanity and chasing of the wind.

Death

¹ 3 There is a season for everything, a time for every occupation under heaven:

² A time for giving birth,
a time for dying;
a time for planting,
a time for uprooting what has been planted.

³ A time for killing,
a time for healing;
a time for knocking down,
a time for building.

⁴ A time for tears,
a time for laughter;
a time for mourning,
a time for dancing.

⁵ A time for throwing stones away,
a time for gathering them up;
a time for embracing,
a time to refrain from embracing.

⁶ A time for searching,

a time for losing;
 a time for keeping,
 a time for throwing away.

7 A time for tearing,
 a time for sewing;
 a time for keeping silent,
 a time for speaking.

8 A time for loving,
 a time for hating;
 a time for war,
 a time for peace.

9 What does a man gain for the efforts that he makes? I contemplate the task 10 that God gives mankind to labor at. All that he does is apt for its time; but 11 though he has permitted man to consider time in its wholeness, man cannot comprehend the work of God from beginning to end.

12 I know there is no happiness for man except in pleasure and enjoyment while 13 he lives. And when man eats and drinks and finds happiness in his work, this is a gift from God.

14 I know that what God does he does consistently. To this nothing can be 15 added, from this nothing taken away; yet God sees to it that men fear him. What is, already was; what is to be, has been already; yet God cares for the persecuted.
 16 But I still observe that under the sun crime is where law should be, the criminal 17 where the good should be. "God," I thought to myself, "will judge both virtuous 18 and criminal, because there is a time here for all that is purposed or done." I also thought that mankind behaves like this so that God may show them up for what 19 they are, and expose them for the brute beasts they are to each other. Indeed, the fate of man and beast is identical; one dies, the other too, and both have the selfsame breath; man has no advantage over the beast, for all is vanity.
 20 Both go to the same place; both originate from the dust and to the dust both 21 return. Who knows if the spirit of man mounts upward or if the spirit of the beast goes down to the earth?

22 I see there is no happiness for man but to be happy in his work, for this is the lot assigned him. Who then can bring him to see what is to happen after his time?

Society

1 4 I come again to contemplate all the oppression that is committed under the sun. Take for instance the tears of the oppressed, with no one to protect 2 them; the power their oppressors wield. No one to protect them! So, rather than the living who still have lives to live, I salute the dead who have already 3 met death; happier than both of these is he who is yet unborn and has not seen 4 the evil things that are done under the sun. I see that all effort and all achievement spring from men's mutual jealousy. This, too, is vanity and chasing of the wind.

5 The fool folds his arms
 and eats his own flesh away.

6 —Better one handful of repose than two hands full of effort

7 in chasing the wind. And I observe another vanity under the sun: a man 8 is quite alone—no son, no brother; and yet there is no end to his efforts, his eyes can never have their fill of riches. For whom, then, do I work so hard and grudge myself pleasure? This, too, is vanity, a sorry business.

9 Better two than one by himself, since thus their work is really profitable.
 10 If one should fall, the other helps him up; but woe to the man by himself with 11 no one to help him up when he falls down. Again: they keep warm who sleep

12 two together, but how can a man keep warm alone? ·Where one alone would be overcome, two will put up resistance; and a threefold cord is not quickly broken.

13 Better a lad beggarly yet wise,
than a king old yet foolish

14 who will no longer take advice. ·The lad may well step from prison to the throne,
15 or have been born a beggar in the kingdom he now owns. ·I observe that all who live and move under the sun side with that lad, the usurper who has succeeded.
16 He takes his place at the head of innumerable subjects; sad, if later no one has cause to be glad of him. This too, most certainly, is vanity and chasing of the wind.

17 When you go to the Temple, be on your guard. Go near so that you can hear; the sacrifice is more valuable than the offering of fools, even if they are unaware of doing wrong.

1 S Be in no hurry to speak; do not hastily declare yourself before God; for God is in heaven, you on earth. Be sparing, then, of speech:

2 Dreaming comes from much worrying, foolish talk from a multiplicity of words.

3 If you make a vow to God, discharge it without delay, for God has no love for 4 fools. Discharge your vow. ·Better a vow unmade than made and not discharged.

5 Do not allow your own words to bring guilt on you, nor tell your angel afterward it was unintentional. Why should a word of yours give God occasion to be angry, and destroy what your hands have worked for?

6 For every dream, a vanity to match;
too many words, a chasing of the wind.

Therefore, fear God.

7 If in a province you see the poor oppressed, right and justice violated, do not be surprised. You will be told that officials are under the supervision of superiors,
8 who are supervised in turn; ·you will hear talk of “the common good” and “the service of the king.”

Money

9 He who loves money never has money enough,
he who loves wealth never has enough profit;

this, too, is vanity.

10 Where goods abound,
parasites abound;

and what is the good of them to their owner? That he can feast his eyes on 11 them. ·The laborer's sleep is sweet, whether he has eaten little or much; but 12 the rich man's wealth will not let him sleep at all. ·There is a great injustice that I observe under the sun: riches stored and turning to loss for their owner.
13 One unlucky venture, and those riches are lost; a son is born to him, and he has 14 nothing to leave him. ·Naked from his mother's womb he came, as naked as 15 he came he will depart again; nothing to take with him after all his efforts. ·This is a grievous wrong, that as he came, so must he go; what profit can he show
16 after toiling to earn the wind, ·as he spends the rest of his days in darkness, grief, worry, sickness and resentment?

17 This, then, is my conclusion: the right happiness for men is to eat and drink and be content with all the work he has to do under the sun, during the few
18 days God has given him to live, since this is the lot assigned him. ·And whenever God gives a man riches and property, with the ability to enjoy them and to find 19 contentment in his work, this is a gift from God. ·He will not need to brood, at least, over the duration of his life so long as God keeps his heart occupied with joy.

¹/₂ 6 There is an evil I observe under the sun that weighs men down: •Suppose a man has received from God riches, property, honors—nothing at all left him to wish for. Yet God does not give him the chance to enjoy them, but some stranger enjoys them. There is vanity here, and grievous suffering. •Or perhaps a man has had a hundred sons and as many daughters and lived for many years, and then derives no benefit from his estate, not even a tomb to call his own. Why then I say, better the untimely born than he:

⁴ In darkness arriving,
in darkness departing;

even his name is wrapped in darkness.

⁵ Never seeing the sun,
never knowing rest;

⁶ the one no more than the other. •Even if the man had lived a thousand years twice over, without deriving profit from his estate, do not both alike go to the same place?

⁷ Man toils but to eat,
yet his belly is never filled.

⁸ What advantage has the wise man over the fool? And what about the pauper
⁹ who keeps up appearances before his fellow men? •Do appearances count more than the condition of the belly? This, too, is vanity and chasing of the wind.
¹⁰ What has been already has a name; and what man is, is known; he cannot ¹¹ dispute with one stronger than himself. •The more words, the greater the vanity of it all; and what does man get from it?

¹² Who knows what is good for man in his lifetime, in those few days he lives so vainly, days that like a shadow he spends? Who can tell a man what will happen under the sun after his time?

PART TWO

¹/₂ 7 Better a good name than costly oil,
the day of death than the day of birth.
²/₃ Better go to the house of mourning than to the house of feasting;
for to this end all men come,
let the living take this to heart.
³/₄ Better sadness than laughter,
a severe face confers some benefit.
⁴/₅ The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning,
the heart of fools in the house of gaiety.
⁵/₆ Better attend to a wise man's reprimand than listen to a song sung by a fool.
⁶/₇ For like the crackling of thorns under the caldron is the laughter of fools:
this is vanity, too.
⁷/₈ For laughter makes a fool of the wise man and merriment corrupts the heart.

Sanctions

⁸/₉ Better the end of a matter than its beginning, better patience than pride.

⁹/₁₀ Do not be hasty with your resentment, for resentment is found in the heart
¹⁰/₁₁ of fools. •Do not ask why earlier days were better than these, for that is not

¹¹ a question prompted by wisdom. •Wisdom is a precious legacy, a boon for ¹² those on whom the sun shines. •For as money gives protection, so does wisdom;
¹³ and the good that knowledge imparts is this: its possessor finds that wisdom keeps him safe.

¹³ Consider the work of God; who can set straight what he has made crooked?
¹⁴ When times are prosperous, enjoy your happiness; when times are bad, consider
¹⁵ this: the one is God's doing, as is the other, in order that man may know ¹⁶ nothing of his destiny. •In this fleeting life of mine I have seen so much: the virtuous man perishing for all his virtue, for all his godlessness the godless living on.

¹⁶ Do not be overvirtuous
¹⁷ nor play too much the sage;
 why drive yourself too hard?

¹⁷ Do not be wicked to excess,
¹⁸ and do not be a fool;

¹⁸ why die before your time? •The best thing is to hold the one and not let go the ¹⁹ other, for both of these will happen to the God-fearing man.

^{19,20} Wisdom lends more strength to the wise than ten rulers in a city. •There ^{20,21} is no virtuous man on earth who, doing good, is ever free of sin. •Another
²¹ thing: pay no attention to telltales; you may hear that your servant has reviled ²² you; •your own heart knows how often you have reviled others.

²² I have put all this to the test by wisdom, claiming to be wise; but wisdom has ²³ been beyond my reach. •Reality lies beyond my grasp; and deep, so deep, who ²⁴ can discover it?
²⁵

²⁵ Once again I was at pains to study wisdom and retribution, to see wickedness
²⁶ as folly, and foolishness as madness. •I find woman more bitter than death;
²⁷ she is a snare, her heart a net, her arms are chains;

He who is pleasing to God eludes her,
 but the sinner is her captive.

²⁷ This then you must know, says Qoheleth, is the sum of my investigation, putting ²⁸ this and that together. •I have made other researches too, without result.
²⁹

One man in a thousand I may find,
 but never a woman better than the rest.

²⁹ This, however, you must know: I find that God made man simple; man's complex ³⁰ problems are of his own devising.

1 8 Who is like the sage?
 Who else can solve a problem?
 The wisdom of a man lends brightness to his face;
 his face, once grim, is altered.

2 This I say: Obey the command of the king, for the sake of the oath of God;
 3 do not rashly transgress it; do not be stubborn when the cause is not a good 4 one, since he acts as he thinks fit; •for the word of the king is paramount, and who dare say to him, "Why do that?"

5 He who obeys the command will come to no harm, and the wise man knows there will be a time of judgment.

6 For there is a time of judgment for everything; and man runs grave risks, 7 since he does not know what is going to happen; and who can tell him when 8 it will happen? •No man can master the wind so as to hold it back, nor control the day of death. There is no discharge in time of war: no more can wickedness 9 set its author free. All this I observe as I consider all that is done under the sun, whenever man tyrannizes over man to his hurt.

- 10 And then I see the wicked brought to burial and people come from the Temple to honor them in the city for having been the men they were. This, too, is 11 vanity. Since the sentence on wrongdoing is not carried out at once, men's inmost 12 hearts are intent on doing wrong. The sinner who does wrong a hundred times survives even so. I know very well that happiness is reserved for those who fear 13 God, because they fear him; that there will be no happiness for the wicked man and that he will only eke out his days like a shadow, because he does not fear God.
14 But there is a vanity found on earth; the good, I mean, receive the treatment the wicked deserve; and the wicked the treatment the good deserve. This, too, I say, is vanity.
- 15 Joy, then, is the object of my praise, since under the sun there is no happiness for man except in eating, drinking and pleasure. This is his standby in his toil through the days of life God has given him under the sun.

Love

- 16 Wisdom having been my careful study, I came to observe the business that goes on here on earth. And certainly the eyes of man never rest, day and night.
17 And I look at all the work of God: plainly no one can discover what the work is that goes on under the sun or explain why man should toil to seek yet never discover. Not even a sage can discover it, though he may claim to know.
- 1 9 For I have reflected on all this and come to understand that the virtuous and the wise with all they do are in the hand of God.
- 2 Man does not know what love is, or hate, and both of these in his eyes are vanity.
- Just as one fate comes to all, to virtuous as to wicked, to clean and unclean, to him who sacrifices and him who does not sacrifice, so it is with the good man 3 and the sinner, with him who takes an oath and him who shrinks from it. This is the evil that inheres in all that is done under the sun: that one fate comes to all;
further, that the hearts of men should be full of malice; that they should practice 4 such extravagances toward the living in their lifetime and the dead thereafter.
For anyone who is linked with all that live still has some hope, a live dog being 5 better than a dead lion. The living know at least that they will die, the dead know nothing; no more reward for them, their memory has passed out of mind.
6 Their loves, their hates, their jealousies, these all have perished, nor will they ever again take part in whatever is done under the sun.

- 7 Go, eat your bread with joy and drink your wine with a glad heart;

for what you do God has approved beforehand.

- 8 Wear white all the time,
do not stint your head of oil.

- 9 Spend your life with the woman you love, through all the fleeting days of the life that God has given you under the sun; for this is the lot assigned to you in life 10 and in the efforts you exert under the sun. Whatever work you propose to do, do it while you can, for there is neither achievement, nor planning, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in Sheol where you are going.

Chance

- 11 I see this too under the sun: the race does not go to the swift, nor the battle to the strong; there is no bread for the wise, wealth for the intelligent, nor favor 12 for the learned; all are subject to time and mischance. Man does not know his hour; like fish caught in the treacherous net, like birds taken in the snare, so is man overtaken by misfortune suddenly falling on him.
- 13 I observe another evil under the sun, to me a grave one. There was a 14 small town, with only a few inhabitants; a mighty king marched against it, laid siege to it and built great siegeworks around it. But a poverty-stricken sage 15

confronted him and by his wisdom saved the town. No one remembered this poor man afterward. ·Now I say: wisdom is better than strength, but a poor man's wisdom is never valued and his words are disregarded. ·The gentle words of the wise are heard above the shouts of a king of fools.

18 Better wisdom than warlike weapons, but one mistake undoes a deal of good. 10 Dead flies spoil a bowl of perfumed oil; a little folly is stronger than wisdom and honor.

2 The wise man's heart leads him aright,
the fool's heart leads him astray.

3 A fool has only to walk along the road and, having no sense, he makes plain to all what a fool he is.

4 With the anger of the ruler mounting against you, do not leave your post; compose avoids many a fault. ·There is an evil I observe under the sun, the type of misjudgment to which rulers are prone: ·folly promoted to high dignities, rich men taking the lowest place ·Slaves I see on horseback, princes going on foot like slaves.

8 He who digs a pit may fall into it;
a man saps a wall, the serpent bites him.
9 He who quarries stones may be hurt by them;
he who chops wood takes a risk.

10 If for want of sharpening the ax is blunt, you have to strike very hard, but the reward given by wisdom is success. ·If the snake bites before it is charmed, what is the use of the charmer?

12 Words from a wise man's mouth are pleasing,
but a fool's lips procure his own ruin.

13 Of the words he speaks folly is the beginning, sheer madness the end. ·A fool is a great spender of words: man does not know the future; so who can tell him what is to happen after his time?

15 Fools find hard work irksome;
he who does not know the way cannot go to town.

16 A bad outlook for you, country with a lad for king, and where princes feast in the morning. ·Happy the country whose king is nobly born, where princes eat at a respectable hour to keep themselves strong, not to make themselves drunk.

18 Owing to neglect the rooftree gives way;
for want of care the house lets in the rain.

19 —But meals are made for laughter. Wine gives joy to life. Money is the answer to everything.^a 20 Do not curse the king, even in thought;

do not curse the rich, even in your bedroom,
for a bird of the air will carry the news;
indiscretion sprouts wings.

11 Cast your bread on the water; at long last you will find it again. ·Share with seven, yes with eight, for you never know what disaster may occur on earth. ·When clouds are full of rain, they empty it out on the earth. Let the tree fall south or north, where the tree falls there it lies.

4 Keep watching the wind and you will never sow, stare at the clouds and you will never reap.

5 Just as you do not know the way of the wind or the mysteries of a woman with child, no more can you know the work of God who is behind it all.

6 In the morning sow your seed,
do not let your hands lie idle in the evening.

For which will prove successful, this or that, you cannot tell; and it may be that both will turn out well together.

Old age

7 Light is sweet; at sight of the sun the eyes are glad. However great the number 8 of the years a man may live, let him enjoy them all, and yet remember that dark days will be many. All that is to come is vanity.

9 Rejoice in your youth, you who are young;
let your heart give you joy in your young days.
Follow the promptings of your heart and the desires of your eyes.

But this you must know: for all these things God will bring you to judgment.

10 Cast worry from your heart,
shield your flesh from pain.

1 Yet youth, the age of dark hair, is vanity. 12 And remember your creator in the days of your youth, before evil days come and the years approach when
2 you say, "These give me no pleasure," before sun and light and moon and stars grow dark, and the clouds return after the rain;

3 the day when those who keep the house tremble^a
and strong men are bowed;
when the women grind no longer at the mill,
because day is darkening at the windows 4 and the street doors are shut;
when the sound of the mill is faint,
when the voice of the bird is silenced,
and song notes are stilled,
5 when to go uphill is an ordeal
and a walk is something to dread.

Yet the almond tree is in flower,
the grasshopper is heavy with food
and the caper bush bears its fruit, while man goes to his everlasting home. And the mourners are already walking to and fro in the street

6 before the silver cord has snapped,
or the golden lamp been broken,
or the pitcher shattered at the spring,
or the pulley cracked at the well,

7 or before the dust returns to the earth as it once came from it, and the breath to God who gave it.

8 Vanity of vanities, Qoheleth says. All is vanity.

10 a. Probably to be read after v. 16, as the answer given by the "princes."

12 a. These lines are a picture of old age.

Epilogue

- ⁹ Besides being a sage, Qoheleth also taught his knowledge to the people, ¹⁰ having weighed, studied and amended a great many proverbs. •Qoheleth tried to write in an attractive style and to set down truthful thoughts in a straight-forward manner.
- ¹¹ The words of the sages are like goads, like pegs driven deep; a shepherd uses these for the good of his flocks.
- ¹² One last thing, my son, be warned that writing books involves endless hard work, and that much study wearies the body.
- ¹³ To sum up the wole matter: fear God, and keep his commandments, since ¹⁴ this is the whole duty of man. •For God will call all hidden deeds, good or bad, to judgment.

INTRODUCTION TO THE SONG OF SONGS

This is a series of love poems in which the two lovers are now united, now divided, now sought, now found. In places the man is called “king” and “Solomon,” and the whole work is ascribed to Solomon by Hebrew tradition; however, the vocabulary and style of the writing tell us that it is a later composition and dates from after the Exile.

It has been accepted as an elaborate allegory of the love story of God and his people Israel; and, indeed, it is possible to find many correspondences between the changing fortunes of the bride in the poems and the sequence in Israel's history of conversion, hope, disillusion and hope renewed. On the other hand the book has been explained as a collection of poems about true love and marriage in which any apparent allusions to Israel's history are accidental. Neither interpretation exactly and satisfactorily accounts for every detail in the book.

THE SONG OF SONGS

TITLE AND PROLOGUE

1 1 The Song of Songs, which is Solomon's.

2 THE BRIDE Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth.
Your love is more delightful than wine;
3 delicate is the fragrance of your perfume,
your name is an oil poured out,
and that is why the maidens love you.
4 Draw me in your footsteps, let us run.
The King has brought me into his rooms;
you will be our joy and our gladness.
We shall praise your love above wine;
how right it is to love you.

FIRST POEM

5 THE BRIDE I am black but lovely, daughters of Jerusalem, like the tents of Kedar,
like the pavilions of Salmah.
6 Take no notice of my swarthiness,
it is the sun that has burned me.
My mother's sons turned their anger on me,
they made me look after the vineyards.
Had I only looked after my own!

7 *Tell me then, you whom my heart loves:
Where will you lead your flock to graze,
where will you rest it at noon?
That I may no more wander like a vagabond
beside the flocks of your companions.*

8 THE CHORUS If you do not know this, O loveliest of women, follow the tracks of the flock,
and take your kids to graze
close by the shepherds' tents.

9 THE BRIDEGROOM To my mare harnessed to Pharaoh's chariot
I compare you, my love.
10 Your cheeks show fair between their pendants
and your neck within its necklaces.
11 We shall make you golden earrings and beads of silver.

12 DIALOGUE OF —While the King rests in his own room
THE BRIDE AND my nard yields its perfume.
13 BRIDEGROOM My Beloved is a sachet of myrrh

lying between my breasts.

14 My Beloved is a cluster of henna flowers
among the vines of Engedi.

15 —How beautiful you are, my love,
how beautiful you are!
Your eyes are doves.

16 —How beautiful you are, my Beloved,
and how delightful!
All green is our bed.

17 —The beams of our house are of cedar,
the paneling of cypress.

1 2 —I am the rose of Sharon,
the lily of the valleys.

2 —As a lily among the thistles,
so is my love among the maidens.

3 —As an apple tree among the trees of the orchard,
so is my Beloved among the young men.
In his longed-for shade I am seated and his fruit is sweet to my taste.

4 He has taken me to his banquet hall,
and the banner he raises over me is love.

5 Feed me with raisin cakes,
restore me with apples,
for I am sick with love.

6 His left arm is under my head,
his right embraces me.

7 —I charge you,
daughters of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles, by the hinds of the field,
not to stir my love, nor rouse it,
until it please to awake.

SECOND POEM

8 THE BRIDE

I hear my Beloved.
See how he comes leaping on the mountains,
bounding over the hills.

9 My Beloved is like a gazelle,
like a young stag.

See where he stands
behind our wall.
He looks in at the window,
he peers through the lattice.

10 My Beloved lifts up his voice,
he says to me,
“Come then, my love,
my lovely one, come.

11 For see, winter is past,
the rains are over and gone.

12 The flowers appear on the earth.

The season of glad songs has come,
the cooing of the turtledove is heard in our land.

13 The fig tree is forming its first figs
and the blossoming vines give out their fragrance.
Come then, my love,
my lovely one, come.

14 My dove, hiding in the clefts of the rock,
in the coverts of the cliff,
show me your face,
let me hear your voice;
for your voice is sweet and your face is beautiful."

15 Catch the foxes for us,
the little foxes
that make havoc of the vineyards,
for our vineyards are in flower.

16 My Beloved is mine and I am his.
He pastures his flock among the lilies.

17 Before the dawn wind rises,
before the shadows flee,
return! Be, my Beloved,
like a gazelle,
a young stag,
on the mountains of the covenant.

1 3 On my bed, at night, I sought him whom my heart loves.
I sought but did not find him.
2 So I will rise and go through the City;
in the streets and the squares
I will seek him whom my heart loves.
. . . I sought but did not find him.

3 The watchmen came upon me
on their rounds in the City:
"Have you seen him whom my heart loves?"

4 Scarcely had I passed them than I found him whom my heart loves.
I held him fast, nor would I let him go till I had brought him
into my mother's house,
into the room of her who conceived me.

5 THE BRIDEGROOM I charge you,
daughters of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles, by the hinds of the field,
not to stir my love, nor rouse it,
until it please to awake.

THIRD POEM

6 What is this coming up from the desert
like a column of smoke,
breathing of myrrh and frankincense
and every perfume the merchant knows?

7 See, it is the litter of Solomon.
 Around it are sixty champions,
 the flower of the warriors of Israel;
 8 all of them skilled swordsmen,
 veterans of battle.
 Each man has his sword at his side,
 against alarms by night.

9 King Solomon
 has made himself a throne
 of wood from Lebanon.
 10 The posts he has made of silver,
 the canopy of gold,
 the seat of purple;
 the back is inlaid with ebony.

11 Daughters of Zion, come and see
 King Solomon,
 wearing the diadem with which his mother crowned him
 on his wedding day,
 on the day of his heart's joy.

1 4 THE BRIDEGROOM How beautiful you are, my love,
 how beautiful you are!
 Your eyes, behind your veil,
 are doves;
 your hair is like a flock of goats
 frisking down the slopes of Gilead.
 2 Your teeth are like a flock of shorn ewes
 as they come up from the washing.
 Each one has its twin,
 not one unpaired with another.
 3 Your lips are a scarlet thread
 and your words enchanting.
 Your cheeks, behind your veil,
 are halves of pomegranate.
 4 Your neck is the tower of David built as a fortress,
 hung around with a thousand bucklers,
 and each the shield of a hero.
 5 Your two breasts are two fawns,
 twins of a gazelle,
 that feed among the lilies.

6 Before the dawn wind rises,
 before the shadows flee,
 I will go to the mountain of myrrh,
 to the hill of frankincense.

7 You are wholly beautiful, my love,
 and without a blemish.

8 Come from Lebanon, my promised bride, come from Lebanon, come on your way.
 Lower your gaze, from the heights of Amana,
 from the crests of Senir and Hermon,
 the haunt of lions,
 the mountains of leopards.

- 9 You ravish my heart,
my sister,^a my promised bride,
you ravish my heart
with a single one of your glances,
with one single pearl of your necklace.
- 10 What spells lie in your love,
my sister, my promised bride!
How delicious is your love, more delicious than wine!
How fragrant your perfumes,
more fragrant than all other spices!
- 11 *Your lips, my promised one,
distill wild honey.*
Honey and milk
are under your tongue;
and the scent of your garments
is like the scent of Lebanon.
- 12 She is a garden enclosed,
my sister, my promised bride;
a garden enclosed,
a sealed fountain.
- 13 Your shoots form an orchard of pomegranate trees,
the rarest essences are yours:
14 nard and saffron,
calamus and cinnamon,
with all the incense-bearing trees;
myrrh and aloes,
with the subtlest odors.
- 15 Fountain that makes the gardens fertile,
well of living water,
streams flowing down from Lebanon.
- 16 THE BRIDE Awake, north wind,
come, wind of the south!
Breathe over my garden,
to spread its sweet smell around.
Let my Beloved come into his garden,
let him taste its rarest fruits.
- 1 5 THE BRIDEGROOM I come into my garden,
my sister, my promised bride,
I gather my myrrh and balsam,
I eat my honey and my honeycomb,
I drink my wine and my milk.
Eat, friends, and drink,
drink deep, my dearest friends.

FOURTH POEM

- 2 THE BRIDE I sleep, but my heart is awake.
I hear my Beloved knocking.
“Open to me, my sister, my love,
my dove, my perfect one,
for my head is covered with dew,
my locks with the drops of night.”
- 3 —“I have taken off my tunic, am I to put it on again?”

I have washed my feet,
 am I to dirty them again?"
 4 My Beloved thrust his hand
 through the hole in the door;
 I trembled to the core of my being.
 5 Then I rose
 to open to my Beloved,
 myrrh ran off my hands,
 pure myrrh off my fingers,
 on to the handle of the bolt.

I opened to my Beloved,
 but he had turned his back and gone!
 My soul failed at his flight.
 I sought him but I did not find him,
 I called to him but he did not answer.
 7 The watchmen came upon me
 as they made their rounds in the City.
 They beat me, they wounded me,
 they took away my cloak,
 they who guard the ramparts.

I charge you,
 daughters of Jerusalem,
 if you should find my Beloved,
 what must you tell him . . . ?
 That I am sick with love.

9 THE CHORUS What makes your Beloved better than other lovers,
 O loveliest of women?
 What makes your Beloved better than other lovers,
 to give us a charge like this?

10 THE BRIDE My Beloved is fresh and ruddy,
 to be known among ten thousand.
 11 His head is golden, purest gold,
 his locks are palm fronds
 and black as the raven.
 12 His eyes are doves
 at a pool of water,
 bathed in milk,
 at rest on a pool.
 13 His cheeks are beds of spices,
 banks sweetly scented.
 His lips are lilies,
 distilling pure myrrh.
 14 His hands are golden, rounded, set with jewels of Tarshish.
 His belly a block of ivory covered with sapphires.
 15 His legs are alabaster columns set in sockets of pure gold.
 His appearance is that of Lebanon,
 unrivaled as the cedars.
 16 His conversation is sweetness itself,
 he is altogether lovable.

Such is my Beloved, such is my friend,
O daughters of Jerusalem.

Where did your Beloved go,
O loveliest of women?
Which way did your Beloved turn
so that we can help you to look for him?

²/₇ THE BRIDE

My Beloved went down to his garden,
to the beds of spices,
to pasture his flock in the gardens and gather lilies.

³/₂ I am my Beloved's, and my Beloved is mine.
He pastures his flock among the lilies.

FIFTH POEM

⁴/₃ THE BRIDEGROOM You are beautiful as Tirzah, my love, fair as Jerusalem.

⁵/₄ Turn your eyes away,
for they hold me captive.
Your hair is like a flock of goats
frisking down the slopes of Gilead.

⁶/₅ Your teeth are like a flock of sheep
as they come up from the washing.
Each one has its twin,
not one unpaired with another.

⁷/₆ Your cheeks, behind your veil,
are halves of pomegranate.

⁸/₇ There are sixty queens and eighty concubines (and countless maidens).
⁹/₈ But my dove is unique,
mine, unique and perfect.
She is the darling of her mother,
the favorite of the one who bore her.

The maidens saw her, and proclaimed her blessed,
queens and concubines sang her praises:
¹⁰/₉ "Who is this arising like the dawn,
fair as the moon,
resplendent as the sun,
terrible as an army with banners?"

¹¹/₁₀ I went down to the nut orchard to see what was sprouting in the valley, to see if the vines were budding
and the pomegranate trees in flower.
¹²/₁₁ Before I knew . . . my desire had hurled me
on the chariots of my people, as their prince.

¹/₁₂ 7 THE CHORUS Return, return, O maid of Shulam, return, return, that we may gaze on you!

¹ THE BRIDEGROOM Why do you gaze on the maid of Shulam dancing as though between two rows of dancers?

How beautiful are your feet in their sandals,
O prince's daughter!
The curve of your thighs is like the curve of a necklace,
work of a master hand.

2

Your navel is a bowl well rounded with no lack of wine,
your belly a heap of wheat surrounded with lilies.

3

Your two breasts are two fawns,
twins of a gazelle.

4

Your neck is an ivory tower.
Your eyes, the pools of Heshbon,
by the gate of Bath-rabbim.
Your nose, the Tower of Lebanon, sentinel facing Damascus.

5

Your head is held high like Carmel,
and its plaits are as dark as purple;
a king is held captive in your tresses.

6

How beautiful you are, how charming,
my love, my delight!

7

In stature like the palm tree,
its fruit clusters your breasts.

9
8

"I will climb the palm tree," I resolved,
"I will seize its clusters of dates."
May your breasts be clusters of grapes,
your breath sweet-scented as apples,
your speaking, superlative wine.

10 9

THE BRIDE

Wine flowing straight to my Beloved,
as it runs on the lips of those who sleep.

10

I am my Beloved's,
and his desire is for me.

11

Come, my Beloved,
let us go to the fields.

13
12

We will spend the night in the villages,
and in the morning we will go to the vineyards.
We will see if the vines are budding,
if their blossoms are opening,
if the pomegranate trees are in flower.

14 13

Then I shall give you
the gift of my love.
The mandrakes yield their fragrance,^a
the rarest fruits are at our doors;
the new as well as the old,
I have stored them for you, my Beloved.

1
8

Ah, why are you not my brother,
nursed at my mother's breast!
Then if I met you out of doors, I could kiss you without people thinking ill of me.

I should lead you, I should take you into my mother's house, and you would teach me!
I should give you spiced wine to drink,
juice of my pomegranates.

3

His left arm is under my head
and his right embraces me.

7 a. The mandrake was thought to be aphrodisiac, and to promote fertility.

- 4 THE BRIDEGROOM I charge you,
daughters of Jerusalem,
not to stir my love, nor rouse it,
until it please to awake.

CONCLUSION

- 5 THE CHORUS Who is this coming up from the desert leaning on her Beloved?
- THE BRIDEGROOM I awakened you under the apple tree,
there where your mother conceived you,
there where she who gave birth to you conceived you.
- 6 Set me like a seal on your heart,
like a seal on your arm.
For love is strong as Death,
jealousy relentless as Sheol.^a
The flash of it is a flash of fire,
a flame of Yahweh himself.
- 7 Love no flood can quench,
no torrents drown.

Aphorism of a sage

Were a man to offer all the wealth of his house to buy love, contempt is all he would purchase.

Two epigrams^b

- Our sister is little: her breasts are not yet formed. What shall we do for our 8 sister on the day she is spoken for? ·If she is a rampart, on the crest we will 9 build a battlement of silver; if she is a door, we will board her up with planks of cedar.

- I am a wall, and my breasts represent its towers. And under his eyes 10 I have found true peace.

- Solomon had a vineyard at Baal-hamon. He entrusted it to overseers, 11 and each one was to pay him the value of its produce, a thousand shekels of silver. ·But I look after my own vineyard myself. You, Solomon, may have 12 your thousand shekels, and those who oversee its produce their two hundred.

Final additions

- 13 You^c who dwell in the gardens, my companions listen for your voice; deign to let me hear it.

- 14
Haste away, my Beloved.
Be like a gazelle,
a young stag,
on the spicy mountains.^d

8 a. Sheol (the underworld) is personified here and more or less an equivalent of Death.
b. Written in criticism of the worldly wisdom of a Jewish ruler, probably John Hyrcanus, 135–105 B.C. In the first, Jerusalem answers that she has no need of the costly fortifications proposed by “her brothers,” the Sadducees. The second seems to protest that the modern Solomon’s officers are taking a large commission on the taxes which they do nothing to earn.
c. Wisdom. d. An answer by a different author.

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOK OF WISDOM

Wisdom, like Ecclesiastes, is attributed inside the book to King Solomon; but it is a late book, written in the last century B.C., in the expressive Greek of a well-educated hellenized Jew.

The three main divisions in this well-constructed book are distinguished in the present translation by headings:

I. Wisdom and Man's Destiny, ch. 1–5.

II. The Origin, Nature and Effects of Wisdom, ch. 6–9.

III. Wisdom and God in History, ch. 10–19.

The last section concentrates attention on the Exodus from Egypt as the supreme work of God's provident wisdom, and it includes a long digression on idolatry.

This book was not included in the canon of Hebrew scripture. However, it was known to the writers of the New Testament, who make use of it in several places.

THE BOOK OF WISDOM

I. WISDOM AND MAN'S DESTINY

On seeking God and rejecting evil

- 1 1 Love virtue, you who are judges on earth,^a let honesty prompt your thinking about the Lord,
seek him in simplicity of heart;
2 since he is to be found by those who do not put him to the test, he shows himself to those who do not distrust him.
3 But 'selfish intentions divorce from God;
and Omnipotence, put to the test, confounds the foolish.
4 No, Wisdom will never make its way into a crafty soul
nor stay in a body that is in debt to sin;
5 the holy spirit of instruction shuns deceit,
it stands aloof from reckless purposes,
is taken aback when iniquity appears.
- 6 Wisdom is a spirit, a friend to man,
though she will not pardon the words of a blasphemer,
since God sees into the innermost parts of him,
truly observes his heart,
and listens to his tongue.
- 7 The spirit of the Lord, indeed, fills the whole world,
and that which holds all things together knows every word that is said.
8 The man who gives voice to injustice will never go unnoticed, nor shall avenging Justice pass him by.
9 For the godless man's deliberations will be examined, and a report of his words will reach the Lord
to convict him of his crimes.
- 10 There is a jealous ear that overhears everything,
not so much as a murmur of complaint escapes it.
11 Beware, then, of complaining about nothing,
and keep your tongue from finding fault;
since the most secret word will have repercussions,
and a lying mouth deals death to the soul.
- 12 Do not court death by the errors of your ways,
nor invite destruction through your own actions.
13 Death was not God's doing.
he takes no pleasure in the extinction of the living.
14 To be—for this he created all;
the world's created things have health in them,
in them no fatal poison can be found,
and Hades^b holds no power on earth;
15 for virtue is undying.

Life as the godless see it

16 But the godless call with deed and word for Death, counting him friend, they wear themselves out for him,
with him they make a pact,
and are fit to be his partners.
1 For they say to themselves, with their misguided reasoning:

2

“Our life is short and dreary,
nor is there any relief when man’s end comes,
nor is anyone known who can give release from Hades.

2 By chance we came to birth, and after this life we shall be as if we had never been.

The breath in our nostrils is a puff of smoke,
reason a spark from the beating of our hearts;

3 put this out and our body turns to ashes,
and the spirit melts away like idle air.

4 In time, our name will be forgotten,
nobody will remember what we have done;
our life will pass away like wisps of cloud,
dissolve like the mist

that the sun’s rays drive away
and the heat of it overwhelms.

5 Yes, our days are the passing of a shadow,
from our death there is no turning back,
the seal is set: no one returns.

6 “Come then, let us enjoy what good things there are,
use this creation with the zest of youth:

7 take our fill of the dearest wines and perfumes,
let not one flower of springtime pass us by,

8 before they wither crown ourselves with roses.

9 Let none of us forgo his part in our orgy,
let us leave the signs of our revelry everywhere,
this is our portion, this the lot assigned us.

10 “As for the virtuous man who is poor, let us oppress him;
let us not spare the widow,

nor respect old age, white-haired with many years.

11 Let our strength be the yardstick of virtue, since weakness argues its own futility.

12 Let us lie in wait for the virtuous man, since he annoys us and opposes our way of life,

reproaches us for our breaches of the law
and accuses us of playing false to our upbringing.

13 He claims to have knowledge of God,
and calls himself a son of the Lord.

14 Before us he stands, a reproof to our way of thinking,
the very sight of him weighs our spirits down;

15 his way of life is not like other men’s,
the paths he treads are unfamiliar.

16 In his opinion we are counterfeit;
he holds aloof from our doings as though from filth;

he proclaims the final end of the virtuous as happy and boasts of having God for his father.

17 Let us see if what he says is true,

18 let us observe what kind of end he himself will have.
 If the virtuous man is God's son, God will take his part and rescue him from the clutches of his enemies.
 19 Let us test him with cruelty and with torture, and thus explore this gentleness of his
 and put his endurance to the proof.
 20 Let us condemn him to a shameful death
 since he will be looked after—we have his word for it."

The godless gravely mistaken

21 This is the way they reason, but they are misled, their malice makes them blind.
 22 They do not know the hidden things of God,
 they have no hope that holiness will be rewarded,
 they can see no reward for blameless souls.
 23 Yet God did make man imperishable,
 he made him in the image of his own nature;
 24 it was the devil's envy that brought death into the world,
 as those who are his partners will discover.

The destinies of good and bad men compared

1 3 But the souls of the virtuous are in the hands of God,
 no torment shall ever touch them.
 2 In the eyes of the unwise, they did appear to die,
 their going looked like a disaster,
 3 their leaving us, like annihilation;
 but they are in peace.
 4 If they experienced punishment as men see it,
 their hope was rich with immortality;
 5 slight was their affliction, great will their blessings be.
 God has put them to the test
 and proved them worthy to be with him;
 6 he has tested them like gold in a furnace,
 and accepted them as a holocaust.
 7 When the time comes for his visitation they will shine out;
 as sparks run through the stubble, so will they.
 8 They shall judge nations, rule over peoples,
 and the Lord will be their king for ever.
 9 They who trust in him will understand the truth,
 those who are faithful will live with him in love;
 for grace and mercy await those he has chosen.
 10 But the godless will be duly punished for their reasoning, for neglecting the virtuous man and deserting the Lord.
 11 Yes, wretched are they who scorn wisdom and discipline:^a their hope is void,
 their toil unavailing,
 their achievements unprofitable;
 12 their wives are reckless,
 their children depraved,
 their descendants accursed.

Better be barren than have godless children

13 Blessed the barren woman^b if she be blameless,
 she who has known no guilty bed;
 her fruitfulness will be seen at the scrutiny of souls.

14 Blessed, too, the eunuch^c whose hand has committed no crime,
 who has contemplated no wrong against the Lord;
 for his loyalty special favor will be granted him,
 a most desirable portion in the temple of the Lord.
 15 For the fruit of honest labors is glorious,
 and the root of understanding does not decay.

16 But children of adulterers,^d these shall have no future,
 the offspring of an unlawful bed must vanish.
 17 Even if they live long, they will count for nothing,
 their old age will go unhonored at the last;
 18 while if they die early, they have neither hope nor comfort on the day of doom.
 19 Yes, harsh is the fate of a race of evildoers.

1 4 Better to have no children yet to have virtue, since immortality perpetuates its memory
 and God and men both think highly of it.
 2 Present, we imitate it,
 absent, we long for it;
 crowned, it holds triumph through eternity,
 having striven for blameless prizes and emerged the victor.

3 But the swarming brood of the godless shall bring no advantage;
 offspring of bastard stock, it will never strike deep roots,
 never put down firm foundations.
 4 Branch out for a time they may;
 but, frailly rooted, they will sway in the wind,
 be torn up by the violence of the storm;
 5 hardly grown, their branches will be snapped off,
 their fruit be useless,
 too unripe to eat,
 fit for nothing.
 6 For children begotten of unlawful intercourse witness, when God judges them, to the wrong their parents did.

The premature death of the virtuous man

7 The virtuous man, though he die before his time, will find rest.
 8 Length of days is not what makes age honorable,
 nor number of years the true measure of life;
 9 understanding, this is man's gray hairs,
 untarnished life, this is ripe old age.
 10 He has sought to please God, so God has loved him;
 as he was living among sinners, he has been taken up.
 11 He has been carried off so that evil may not warp his understanding or treachery seduce his soul;
 12 for the fascination of evil throws good things into the shade,
 and the whirlwind of desire corrupts a simple heart.
 13 Coming to perfection in so short a while, he achieved long life;
 14 his soul being pleasing to the Lord,
 he has taken him quickly from the wickedness around him.

3 a. This wisdom is practical—life directed by wisdom; for this, discipline is necessary.
 b. Until now, it had been axiomatic that sterility was a disgrace or a punishment. c. Eunuchs were excluded from the community of Israel (Dt. 23:2), and therefore from the blessings promised to the Chosen People. d. The word may bear the usual sense; or indicate Jews married to pagans, or simply renegade Jews.

Yet people look on, uncomprehending;
 it does not enter their heads 15 that grace and mercy await the chosen of the Lord,
 and protection, his holy ones.
 16 The virtuous man who dies condemns the godless who survive,
 and youth's untimely end the protracted age of the wicked.
 17 These people see the wise man's ending without understanding what the Lord has in store for him or why he has taken him to safety; 18 they look on and sneer,
 but the Lord will laugh at them.
 19 Soon they will be corpses without honor,
 objects of scorn among the dead for ever.
 The Lord will dash them down headlong, dumb.
 He will tear them from their foundations,
 they will be utterly laid waste,
 anguish will be theirs,
 and their memory shall perish.

Virtuous men and godless at the judgment

20 They will come trembling to the reckoning of their sins,
 and their crimes, confronting them, will accuse them.
 1 5 Then the virtuous man stands up boldly to face those who have oppressed him,
 those who thought so little of his sufferings.
 2 And they, at the sight of him, will shake with cowards' fear, amazed he should be saved so unexpectedly.
 3 Stricken with remorse, each will say to the other,
 say with a groan and in distress of spirit:
 4 "This is the man we used to laugh at once,
 a butt for our sarcasm, fools that we were!
 His life we regarded as madness,
 his ending as without honor.
 5 How has he come to be counted as one of the sons of God?
 How does he come to be assigned a place among the saints?
 6 Clearly we have strayed from the way of truth;
 the light of justice has not shone for us,
 the sun never rose on us.
 7 We have left no path of lawlessness or ruin unexplored,
 we have crossed deserts where there was no track,
 but the way of the Lord is one we have never known.
 8 Arrogance, what advantage has this brought us?
 Wealth and boasting, what have these conferred on us?
 9 All those things have passed like a shadow, passed like a fleeting rumor.
 10 Like a ship that cuts through heaving waves—leaving no trace to show where it has passed,
 no wake from its keel in the waves.
 11 Or like a bird flying through the air—
 leaving no proof of its passing;
 it whips the light air with the stroke of its pinions,
 tears it apart in its whirring rush,
 drives its way onward with sweeping wing,
 and afterward no sign is seen of its passage.
 12 Or like an arrow shot at a mark,

- 13 the pierced air closing so quickly on itself,
there is no knowing which way the arrow has passed.
So with us: scarcely born, we have ceased to be;
of virtue not a trace have we to show,
we have spent ourselves on wickedness instead.”
- 14
15 Yes, the hope of the godless is like chaff carried on the wind, like fine spray driven by the gale;
it disperses like smoke before the wind,
goes like the memory of a one-day guest.
- 15
16 But the virtuous live for ever,
their recompense lies with the Lord,
the Most High takes care of them.
- 16
17 So they shall receive the royal crown of splendor,
the diadem of beauty from the hand of the Lord;
for he will shelter them with his right hand and shield them with his arm.
- 17
18 For armor he will take his jealous love,
he will arm creation to punish his enemies;
he will put on justice as a breastplate,
and for helmet wear his undissembling judgment;
- 18
19 he will take up invincible holiness for shield,
he will forge a biting sword of his stern wrath,
and the universe will march with him to fight the reckless.
- 19
20 Bolts truly aimed, the shafts of lightning will leap,
and from the clouds, as from a full-drawn bow, fly to their mark;
and the catapult will hurl hailstones charged with fury.
- 20
21 The waters of the sea will rage against them,
the rivers engulf them without pity.
- 21
22 The breath of Omnipotence will blow against them
and winnow them like a hurricane.
- 22
23 So lawlessness will bring the whole earth to ruin
and evil-doing bring the thrones of the mighty down.
- 23
24

II. THE ORIGIN, NATURE AND EFFECTS OF WISDOM

HOW IT IS TO BE HAD

The duty of kings to cultivate wisdom

- 1
2 6 “Listen then, kings, and understand;
rulers of remotest lands, take warning;
3 hear this, you who have thousands under your rule,
who boast of your hordes of subjects.
4 For power is a gift to you from the Lord, sovereignty is from the Most High;
he himself will probe your acts and scrutinize your intentions.
- 4
5 If, as administrators of his kingdom, you have not governed justly nor observed the law,
nor behaved as God would have you behave,
6 he will fall on you swiftly and terribly.
Ruthless judgment is reserved for the high and mighty;
7 the lowly will be compassionately pardoned,

6 a. The Latin Vulgate begins this chapter with an additional maxim numbered as v.1.

the mighty will be mightily punished.

8 For the Lord of All does not cower before a personage, he does not stand in awe of greatness, since he himself has made small and great
and provides for all alike;

8
9 but strict scrutiny awaits those in power.

9 10 Yes, despots, my words are for you,
that you may learn what wisdom is and not transgress; 11 for they who observe holy things holily will be adjudged holy,
and, accepting instruction from them, will find their defense in them.
12 Look forward, therefore, to my words;
yearn for them, and they will instruct you.

Wisdom sought is Wisdom found 12

13 Wisdom is bright, and does not grow dim.

By those who love her she is readily seen,
and found by those who look for her.

13 14 Quick to anticipate those who desire her, she makes herself known to them.

14
15 Watch for her early and you will have no trouble;
you will find her sitting at your gates;

15
16 Even to think about her is understanding fully grown;
be on the alert for her and anxiety will quickly leave you.

17 She herself walks about looking for those who are worthy of her and graciously shows herself to them as they go,
in every thought of theirs coming to meet them.

17
18 Of her the most sure beginning is the desire for discipline, care for discipline means loving her,

18 19 loving her means keeping her laws,
obeying her laws guarantees incorruptibility,

19 20 incorruptibility brings near to God;
21 thus desire for Wisdom leads to sovereignty.

21
22 If then, despots of nations, you delight in throne and scepter, honor Wisdom, thus to reign for ever.

Solomon sets out to describe Wisdom

22
24 What Wisdom is and how she came to be, I will now declare,

I will hide none of the secrets from you;

I will trace her right from the beginning and set out knowledge of her, plainly, not swerving from the truth.

25 Neither will I take blighting Envy as my traveling companion, for she has nothing in common with Wisdom.

26 In the greatest number of wise men lies the world's salvation, in a sagacious king the stability of a people.

27
27 Learn, therefore, from my words; the gain will be yours.

Solomon a man like other men

1 7 Like all the others, I too am a mortal man, descendant of the first being fashioned from the earth,
I was modeled in flesh within my mother's womb,
2 for ten months^a taking shape in her blood
by means of virile seed and pleasure, sleep's companion.
3 I, too, when I was born, drew in the common air,
I fell on the same ground that bears us all,

a wail my first sound, as for all the rest.

- 4 I was nurtured in swaddling clothes, with every care.
 5 No king has known any other beginning of existence;
 6 for all there is one way only into life, as out of it.

Solomon's respect for Wisdom

- 7 And so I prayed, and understanding was given to me;
 I entreated, and the spirit of Wisdom came to me.
 8 I esteemed her more than scepters and thrones;
 compared with her, I held riches as nothing.
 9 I reckoned no priceless stone to be her peer,
 for compared with her, all gold is a pinch of sand,
 and beside her silver ranks as mud.
 10 I loved her more than health or beauty,
 preferred her to the light,
 since her radiance never sleeps.
 11 In her company all good things came to me, at her hands riches not to be numbered.
 12 All these I delighted in, since Wisdom brings them, but as yet I did not know she was their mother.
 13 What I learned without self-interest, I pass on without reserve;
 I do not intend to hide her riches.
 14 For she is an inexhaustible treasure to men,
 and those who acquire it win God's friendship,
 commended as they are to him by the benefits of her teaching.

The appeal to divine inspiration

- 15 May God grant me to speak as he would wish and express thoughts worthy of his gifts, since he himself is the guide of Wisdom,
 since he directs the sages.
 16 We are indeed in his hand, we ourselves and our words,
 with all our understanding, too, and technical knowledge.
 17 It was he who gave me true knowledge of all that is,^b who taught me the structure of the world and the properties of the elements,
 18 the beginning, end and middle of the times,
 the alternation of the solstices and the succession of the seasons, 19 the revolution of the year and the positions of the stars, 20 the natures of animals and the instincts of wild beasts,
 the powers of spirits and the mental processes of men,
 the varieties of plants and the medical properties of roots.
 21 All that is hidden, all that is plain, I have come to know, instructed by Wisdom who designed them all.

In praise of Wisdom

- 22 For within her is a spirit intelligent, holy,
 unique, manifold, subtle,
 active, incisive, unsullied,
 lucid, invulnerable, benevolent, sharp, 23 irresistible, beneficent, loving to man, steadfast, dependable, unperturbed,
 almighty, all-surveying,

7 a. Ten lunar months. b. The outline of knowledge and science which follows reflects the interests of the Hellenistic schools of the author's own day.

penetrating all intelligent, pure
and most subtle spirits;
24 for Wisdom is quicker to move than any motion;
she is so pure, she pervades and permeates all things.

25 She is a breath of the power of God,
pure emanation of the glory of the Almighty;
hence nothing impure can find a way into her.
26 She is a reflection of the eternal light,
untarnished mirror of God's active power,
image of his goodness.

27 Although alone, she can do all;
herself unchanging, she makes all things new.
In each generation she passes into holy souls,
she makes them friends of God and prophets;
28 for God loves only the man who lives with Wisdom.
29 She is indeed more splendid than the sun,
she outshines all the constellations;
compared with light, she takes first place, 30 for light must yield to night,
but over Wisdom evil can never triumph.

1 8 She deploys her strength from one end of the earth to the other, ordering all things for good.

From Wisdom comes all that is desirable

2 She it was I loved and searched for from my youth;
I resolved to have her as my bride,
I fell in love with her beauty.
3 Her closeness to God lends luster to her noble birth, since the Lord of All has loved her.
4 Yes, she is an initiate in the mysteries of God's knowledge, making choice of the works he is to do.
5 If in this life wealth be a desirable possession,
what is more wealthy than Wisdom whose work is everywhere?
6 Or if it be the intellect that is at work,
where is there a greater than Wisdom, designer of all?
7 Or if it be virtue you love,
why, virtues are the fruit of her labors,
since it is she who teaches temperance and prudence,
justice and fortitude;
nothing in life is more serviceable to men than these.
8 Or if you are eager for wide experience,
she knows the past, she forecasts the future;
she knows how to turn maxims, and solve riddles;
she has foreknowledge of signs and wonders,
of the unfolding of the ages and the times.

Wisdom indispensable to rulers

9 I therefore determined to take her to share my life, knowing she would be my counselor in prosperity,
my comfort in cares and sorrow.
10 Through her, I thought, I shall be acclaimed where people gather and honored, while still a youth, among the elders.
11 I shall be reckoned shrewd when I sit in judgment,
in presence of the great I shall be admired.
12 They will wait on my silences,

and pay attention when I speak;
 if I speak at some length, they will lay their hand on their lips.
 13 By means of her, immortality shall be mine,
 I shall leave an everlasting memory to my successors.
 14 I shall govern peoples and nations will be subject to me;
 15 at the sound of my name fearsome despots will be afraid;
 I shall show myself kind to my people and valiant in battle.
 16 When I go home I shall take my ease with her,
 for nothing is bitter in her company,
 when life is shared with her there is no pain,
 gladness only, and joy.

Solomon prepares to ask for Wisdom

17 Inwardly revolving these thoughts, and considering in my heart
 that immortality is found in being kin to Wisdom 18 pure contentment in her friendship, inexhaustible riches in what she does,
 intelligence in the cultivation of her society,
 and renown in the fellowship of her conversation,
 I went in all directions seeking by what means I might make her mine.
 19 I was a boy of happy disposition,
 I had received a good soul as my lot,
 20 or rather, being good, I had entered an undefiled body;
 but knowing I could not master Wisdom but by the gift of God
 —a mark itself of understanding, to know whose the bounty was—
 I turned to the Lord and entreated him,
 with all my heart I said:

A prayer for Wisdom

1 9 "God of our ancestors, Lord of mercy,
 who by your word have made all things,
 2 and in your wisdom have fitted man
 to rule the creatures that have come from you, 3 to govern the world in holiness and justice and in honesty of soul to wield authority, 4 grant me Wisdom, consort of your throne,
 and do not reject me from the number of your children.
 5 "For I am your servant, son of your serving maid,
 a feeble man, with little time to live,
 with small understanding of justice and the laws.
 6 Indeed, were anyone perfect among the sons of men, if he lacked the Wisdom that comes from you, he would still count for nothing.
 7 You yourself have chosen me^a to be king over your people,
 to be judge of your sons and daughters.
 3 You have bidden me build a temple on your holy mountain, an altar in the city where you have pitched your tent,
 a copy of that sacred tabernacle which you prepared from the beginning.
 With you is Wisdom, she who knows your works,
 she who was present when you made the world;
 she understands what is pleasing in your eyes

9 a. Solomon was preferred to Absalom or Adonijah, 2 S. 3:2-5.

10 and what agrees with your commandments.
 Dispatch her from the holy heavens,
 send her forth from your throne of glory
 to help me and to toil with me
 and teach me what is pleasing to you, 11 since she knows and understands everything.
 She will guide me prudently in my undertakings
 and protect me by her glory.
 12 Then all I do will be acceptable, I shall govern your people justly and shall be worthy of my father's^b throne.
 13 "What man indeed can know the intentions of God?
 Who can divine the will of the Lord?
 14 The reasonings of mortals are unsure and our intentions unstable;
 15 for a perishable body presses down the soul,
 and this tent of clay weighs down the teeming mind.
 16 It is hard enough for us to work out what is on earth, laborious to know what lies within our reach;
 who, then, can discover what is in the heavens?
 17 As for your intention, who could have learned it, had you not granted Wisdom
 and sent your holy spirit from above?
 18 Thus have the paths of those on earth been straightened and men been taught what pleases you,
 and saved, by Wisdom."

III. WISDOM AND GOD IN HISTORY

From Adam to Moses

1 10 The father of the world, the first being to be fashioned, created alone, he had her for his protector and she delivered him from his fault;^a 2 she gave him the strength to subjugate all things.
 3 But when a sinner^b in his wrath deserted her,
 he perished in his fratricidal fury.
 4 When because of him the earth was drowned, it was Wisdom again who saved it,
 piloting the virtuous man^c on a paltry piece of wood.
 5 Again, when, concurring in wickedness, the nations had been thrown into confusion, it was she who singled out the virtuous man,^d preserved him blameless before God
 and fortified him against pity for his child.
 6 It was she who, while the godless perished, saved the virtuous man^e as he fled from the fire raining down on the Five Cities, 7 in witness against whose evil ways
 a desolate land still smokes,
 where shrubs bear fruit that never ripens and where, monument to an unbelieving soul, there stands a pillar of salt.
 8 For, by neglecting the path of Wisdom,
 not only were they kept from knowledge of the good,

they actually left the world a memorial of their folly,
so that their crimes might not escape notice.

- 9 But Wisdom delivered her servants from their ordeals.
10 The virtuous man,^f fleeing from the anger of his brother, was led by her along straight paths.
She showed him the kingdom of God
and taught him the knowledge of holy things.
She brought him success in his toil
and gave him full return for all his efforts; 11 she stood by him against grasping and oppressive men
and she made him rich.
12 She guarded him closely from his enemies
and saved him from the traps they set for him.
In an arduous struggle she awarded him the prize,
to teach him that piety is stronger than all.
- 13 She did not forsake the virtuous man when he was sold,^g
but kept him free from sin;
14 she went down to the dungeon with him;
she would not abandon him in his chains,
but procured for him the scepter of a kingdom
and authority over his despotic masters,
thus exposing as liars those who had traduced him,
and giving him honor everlasting.

The Exodus

- 15 A holy people and a blameless race,
this she delivered from a nation of oppressors.
16 She entered the soul of a servant of the Lord,^h and withstood fearsome kings with wonders and signs.
17 To the saints she gave the wages of their labors;
she led them by a marvelous road;
she herself was their shelter by day
and their starlight through the night.
18 She brought them across the Red Sea, led them through that immensity of water, 19 while she swallowed their enemies in the waves
then spat them out from the depths of the abyss.
20 So the virtuous despoiled the goddess;
Lord, they extolled your holy name,
and with one accord praised your protecting hand, 21 for wisdom opened the mouths of the dumb and gave speech to the tongues of babes.

- 1 11 At the hand of a holy prophet^a she gave their actions success.
2 They journeyed through an unpeopled wilderness and pitched their tents in inaccessible places.
3 They stood firm against their enemies, fought off their foes.
4 On you^b they called when they were thirsty,
and from the rocky cliff water was given them,
from hard stone their thirst was quenched.

b. David.

10 a. It was common doctrine of contemporary Judaism that Adam was "delivered" by repentance and atonement. b. Cain. c. Noah. d. Abraham. e. Lot. f. Jacob. g. Joseph. h. Moses.

11 a. Moses. b. God; much of the rest of the book is directly addressed to him (e.g., continuously from here to 12:14) and Wisdom is scarcely mentioned again.

How water proved the ruin of Egypt and the saving of Israel

⁵₆ Thus, what served to punish their enemies became a benefit for them in their distress.
⁶₇ You gave them not that ever-flowing source of river water turbid with defiling floods, ⁷₈ stern answer for their decree of infanticide,^c
 but, against all hope, water in abundance, ⁸₉ showing by the thirst that then was raging
 how severely you punished their enemies.
⁹₁₀ From their ordeals, which were no more than the reproofs of Mercy, they learned what tortures a sentence of wrath inflicts on the godless; ¹⁰₁₁ you tested them indeed, correcting them like a father, but the others you strictly examined, like a severe king who condemns.
¹¹₁₂ Near or far away,^d they were equally worn down, ¹²₁₃ double indeed was the grief that seized on them,
 double the groaning at the memory of the past; ¹³₁₄ hearing that what punished them^e had set the others rejoicing,
 they saw the Lord in it, ¹⁴₁₅ and for him whom long ago they had cast out, exposed, and later mockingly rebuffed,^f
 they felt only amazement when all was done;
 the thirst of the virtuous and theirs had worked so differently.

God's forbearance with Egypt

¹⁵₁₆ As their foolish and wicked notions led them astray into worshiping mindless reptiles and contemptible beasts, ¹⁶₁₇ you sent hordes of mindless creatures to punish them and teach them that the instruments of sin are instruments of punishment.
¹⁷₁₈ And indeed your all-powerful hand did not lack means
 —the hand that from formless matter created the world—
 to unleash a horde of bears or savage lions on them ¹⁸₁₉ or unknown beasts, newly created, full of rage, exhaling fiery breath,
 ejecting swirls of stinking smoke
 or flashing fearful sparks from their eyes, ¹⁹₂₀ beasts not only able to crush them with a blow,
 but also to destroy them by their terrifying appearance.
²⁰₂₁ But even without these, they could have dropped dead at a single breath, pursued by your justice,
 whirled away by the breath of your power.
 But no, you ordered all things by measure, number, weight.

This forbearance explained

²¹₂₂ For your great strength is always at your call;
 who can withstand the might of your arm?
²²₂₃ In your sight the whole world is like a grain of dust that tips the scales, like a drop of morning dew falling on the ground.
²³₂₄ Yet you are merciful to all, because you can do all things and overlook men's sins so that they can repent.
²⁴₂₅ Yes, you love all that exists, you hold nothing of what you have made in abhorrence,
 for had you hated anything, you would not have formed it.
²⁵₂₆ And how, had you not willed it, could a thing persist,
 how be conserved if not called forth by you?
²⁶₂₇ You spare all things because all things are yours, Lord, lover of life,

1 12 you whose imperishable spirit is in all.
 2 Little by little, therefore, you correct those who offend,
 you admonish and remind them of how they have sinned,
 so that they may abstain from evil and trust in you, Lord.

God's forbearance with Canaan

3 The ancient inhabitants of your holy land
 4 you hated for their loathsome practices, their deeds of sorcery and unholy rites,
 5 hated as ruthless murderers of children,
 as eaters of entrails at feasts of human flesh, 6 initiated while the bloody orgy goes on,^a
 as murderous parents of defenseless beings.
 You determined to destroy them at our fathers' hands,
 7 so that this land, dearer to you than any other,
 might receive a colony of God's children worthy of it.
 8 Even so, since these were men, you treated them leniently,
 sending hornets as forerunners of your army,
 to destroy them bit by bit.
 9 Not that you could not hand the godless over to the virtuous in pitched battle
 or destroy them at once by savage beasts or one stern word from you; 10 but, by condemning them piece by piece, you gave them the chance to repent,
 although you knew very well they were inherently evil,
 innately wicked
 11 and fixed in their cast of mind;
 for they were a race accursed from the beginning.

This forbearance explained

12 Nor was it from awe of anyone that you left them unpunished for their sins.
 Who would venture to say, "What have you done?"
 Who would dare to defy your sentence?
 Who arraign you for destroying nations which you have created?
 What champion of guilty men dare come to confront you and challenge you?
 13 For there is no god, other than you, who cares for every thing, to whom you might have to prove that you never judged unjustly; 14 as for those you punished, no king, no despot, dare reproach you with it to your face.
 15 Being just yourself, you order all things justly, holding it unworthy of your power to condemn a man who has not deserved to be punished.
 16 Your justice has its source in strength,
 your sovereignty over all makes you lenient to all.
 17 You show your strength when your sovereign power is questioned and you expose the insolence of those who know it; 18 but, disposing of such strength, you are mild in judgment,
 you govern us with great lenience,
 for you have only to will, and your power is there.

c. According to Ex. 7, the turning of the Nile water into blood was a threat to persuade Pharaoh to release the Israelites; here it is represented as retribution for the decree of Ex. 1.
 d. The Egyptians, "near" while Israel was among them, "far" after the Exodus. e. Water.
 f. Moses; as a baby he had been "exposed" on the Nile waters.

12 a. Human sacrifice was known in Canaan, but nothing is known of cannibalism; the author is borrowing from his knowledge of Hellenistic mystery religions.

What is to be learned from God's forbearance

- 19 By acting thus you have taught a lesson to your people how the virtuous man must be kindly to his fellow men,
and you have given your sons the good hope that after sin you will grant repentance.
- 20 If with such care and such indulgence you have punished
the enemies of your children,
when death was what they deserved,
and given them time and room to rid themselves of wickedness,
- 21 with what exact attention have you not judged your sons,
to whose ancestors you made such fair promises by oaths and covenants.
- 22 Thus, while you correct us, you flog our enemies ten thousand times harder, to teach us, when we judge, to reflect on your kindness
and when we are judged, to look for mercy.

God follows clemency with severity

- 23 This is why, against those who were leading wicked and foolish lives,
you turned their own abominations^b to torment them;
24 they had indeed strayed too far from paths that strayed already,
and came to regard the vilest, most contemptible animals as gods,
being deceived, like silly little children.
- 25 So, as to children with no sense,
you sent them a punishment to mock them, 26 but they who took no warning from such mocking correction were soon to experience a punishment worthy of God.
- 27 Worn down by what they suffered from these beasts, those beasts they had taken for gods, now the means of their punishment,
they saw straight, and acknowledged as true God
him they had hitherto refused to know.
That is why the extreme penalty was inflicted on them.

Astral and nature cults

- 1 Yes, naturally stupid are all men who have not known God and who, from the good things that are seen, have not been able to discover Him-who-is,
or, by studying the works, have failed to recognize the Artificer.
- 2 Fire, however, or wind, or the swift air,
the sphere of the stars, impetuous water, heaven's lamps,
are what they have held to be the gods who govern the world.
- 3 If, charmed by their beauty, they have taken things for gods,
let them know how much the Lord of these excels them,
since the very Author of beauty has created them.
- 4 And if they have been impressed by their power and energy, let them deduce from these how much mightier is he that has formed them,
- 5 since through the grandeur and beauty of the creatures
we may, by analogy, contemplate their Author.
- 6 Small blame, however, attaches to these men,
for perhaps they only go astray
in their search for God and their eagerness to find him;
living among his works, they strive to comprehend them
and fall victim to appearances, seeing so much beauty.
- 7

8 Even so, they are not to be excused:
 9 if they are capable of acquiring enough knowledge to be able to investigate the world,
 how have they been so slow to find its Master?

The cults of idols

10 But wretched are they—in dead things putting their hopes—who have given to things made by human hands the title of gods, gold and silver, finely worked,
 likenesses of animals,
 or some useless stone, carved by some hand long ago.

11 Take a woodcutter. He fells a suitable tree, neatly strips off the bark all over
 and then with admirable skill works the wood into an object useful in daily life.
 12 The bits left over from his work
 he uses for cooking his food, then eats his fill.
 13 There is still a good-for-nothing bit left over,
 a gnarled and knotted billet:
 he picks it up, whittles it with the concentration of leisure,
 he shapes it with the skill of relaxation,
 he gives it a human shape 14 or perhaps he makes it into some vile animal, smears it with ocher, paints its surface red,
 coats over all its blemishes.
 15 He next makes a worthy home for it, lets it into the wall, fixes it with an iron clamp.
 16 Thus he makes sure that it will not fall down—
 he is well aware it cannot help itself:
 it is only an image, and it needs to be helped.
 17 And yet, if he wishes to pray for his goods, for marriages,
 for his children,
 he does not blush to harangue this lifeless thing—
 for health he invokes weakness, 18 for life he pleads with death,
 for help he goes begging to utter inexperience,
 for his travels, to something that cannot stir a foot; 19 for his profits and plans and success in pursuing his craft, he asks skill from something whose hands have no skill whatever.
 1 14 Or someone else, taking ship to cross the raging sea, invokes a log^a even frailer than the vessel that bears him.
 2 No doubt that ship is the product of a craving for gain,
 its building embodies the wisdom of the shipwright, 3 but your providence, Father, is what steers it,
 you having opened a pathway even through the sea,
 a safe way over the waves,
 4 showing that you can save, whatever happens,
 so that even without skill a man may sail abroad.

5 It is not your will that the works of your Wisdom lie idle, and hence men entrust their lives to the smallest piece of wood,
 cross the high seas on a raft and come safe to port.
 6 Why, in the beginning even, while the proud giants were perishing,

b. False gods.

14 a. A wooden image on the prow or the poop.

the hope of the world took refuge on a raft^b and, steered by your hand, preserved the germ of a new generation for the ages to come.

7 For blessed is the wood which serves the cause of virtue,
8 but accursed that handmade thing and its maker, he for having made it, the perishable thing itself because it has been called god.
9 Yes, God holds the godless and his godlessness in equal hatred;
10 work and workman alike shall be punished.
11 Hence judgment shall fall on the idols themselves of the heathen, since, although part of God's creation, they have become an abomination,
snares for the souls of men,
a pitfall for the feet of the reckless.

The origin of the cult of idols

12 The invention of idols was the origin of fornication,^c their discovery the corrupting of life.
13 They did not exist at the beginning, they will not exist for ever;
14 through human vanity they came into the world
and hence a sudden end has been designed for them.
15 A father afflicted by untimely mourning makes an image of his child so swiftly taken, and now he honors as a god what yesterday had only been a dead man,
bequeathing mysteries and initiations to his dependents.
16 Then in the course of time the godless custom hardens, and is observed as law
17 and, by command of princes, the carved images receive worship.
Of those who lived too far away to be honored in person
men would make a portrait from a distance and produce a visible image of the king they honored, meaning, by such zeal, to flatter the absent as if he were with them.
18 Even people who did not know him were stimulated into spreading his cult by the idealism of the artist; 19 for the latter, doubtless wishing to please the ruler, exerted all his skill to make the likeness finer than reality 20 and the crowd, carried away by the beauty of the work, accorded divine honors to him whom only recently they had honored as a man.
21 And this became a pitfall for life,
that men, whether slaves to misfortune or princely power,
should have bestowed the incommunicable name on sticks and stones.

The consequences of idolatry

22 Soon it is not enough for them that their knowledge of God should be at fault;
in the great struggle to which ignorance condemns their lives
they next give such massive ills the name of peace.
23 With their child-murdering initiations, their secret mysteries, their orgies with outlandish ceremonies,^d 24 they no longer retain any purity in their lives or their marriages, one treacherously murdering the next or doing him injury
by adultery.

- 25 Everywhere a welter of blood and murder, theft and fraud, 26 corruption, treachery, riots, perjury,
 disturbance of decent people, forgetfulness of favors, 27 pollution of souls, sins against nature,
 disorder in marriage, adultery, debauchery.
 For the worship of unnamed^c idols
 28 is the beginning, cause, and end of every evil.
 Either that, or they rave in ecstasy,
 or utter false oracles,
 or lead lives of great wickedness, 29 or perjure themselves without hesitation;
 for since they put their trust in lifeless idols
 they do not reckon their false oaths can harm them.
- 30 But justice will overtake them on two counts:
 as idolaters, for degrading the concept of God,
 as frauds, for swearing in despite of truth,
 in defiance of all that is holy.
- 31 For it is not the power of the things by which men swear
 but the retribution due to sinners that always overtakes the offense of the guilty.

Israel not idolatrous

- 1 15 But you, our God, are kind, loyal, and slow to anger,
 and you govern all things with mercy.
- 2 If we sin, we still are yours, since we acknowledge your power, but, knowing you acknowledge us as yours, we will not sin.
- 3 To acknowledge you is indeed the perfect virtue,
 to know your power is the root of immortality.
- 4 No invention of perverted human skill has led us astray, no painter's sterile labor,
 no figure daubed with assorted colors,
 5 the sight of which sets fools yearning and reverencing the lifeless form of some unbreathing image.
- 6 Lovers of evil and worthy of such hopes are those who make them, those who reverence them, and those who worship them.

The makers of idols are fools

- 7 Take a potter, now, laboriously working the soft earth,
 shaping all sorts of things for us to use.
 Out of the same clay, even so, he models vessels intended for clean purposes
 and the contrary sort, all alike;
 but which of these two uses each will have
 is for the potter himself to decide.
- 8 Then—effort very evilly spent—of the same clay he shapes
 a futile god—
 he who, so recently made out of earth himself,
 will shortly return to what he was taken from,
 once he is called to give an account of his life.
- 9 Even so he wastes no thought on imminent death or on the shortness of his life.

b. Noah's ark; the "proud giants" are the Nephilim of Gn. 6. c. Probably in the sense of religious infidelity. d. Such as the orgies of the Bacchanalian rites and the Phrygian mystery religions. e. I.e., either "unreal" or "unspeakable."

Far from it, he strives to outdo the goldsmiths and silversmiths, apes the bronzeworkers too,
 and takes pride in the spurious models that he makes.

10 Ashes, his heart,
 meaner than dirt his hope,
 his life more ignoble than clay, 11 since he misconceives the One who shaped him,
 who breathed an active soul into him
 and inspired a living spirit.

12 What is more, he looks on this life of ours as a kind of game,
 and our time here like a fair, full of bargains.
 "However foul the means," he says, "a man must make a living." 13 He, more than any other, knows he is sinning,
 he who from the same earthly material makes both breakable vessel and idol.

The folly of the Egyptians; their indiscriminate idolatry

14 But most foolish, more pitiable even than the soul of a little child, are the enemies who once played the tyrant with your people, 15 and have taken all the idols of the heathen for gods, which can use neither their eyes for seeing nor their nostrils for breathing the air
 nor their ears for hearing
 nor the fingers on their hands for handling;
 while their feet are no use for walking, 16 since a human being made them,
 a creature of borrowed breath gave them shape.
 Now no man can shape a god as good as himself;
 17 subject to death, his impious hands can only produce something dead.
 He himself is worthier than the things he worships;
 he will at least have lived, but never they.
 18 Even the most hateful animals are worshiped,
 worse than the rest in their degree of stupidity.
 19 With no trace of beauty to prompt the inclination—as some animals might have—the praise and blessing of God do not come their way.

Egypt and Israel: harmful animals, quails

1 16 Thus they were appropriately punished by similar creatures and were tormented by hordes of brutes.
 2 In contrast to this punishment, you treated your own people with kindness
 and, to satisfy their sharp appetite,
 you provided for their food quails, a luscious rarity.
 3 Thus the Egyptians, at the repulsive sight of the creatures sent against them,^a
 were to find, though they longed for food,
 that even their natural appetite had revolted.
 While your own people, after a short privation,
 were to have a rare relish for their portion.
 4 Inevitable that relentless want should seize on the former,
 the oppressors;
 enough for the latter to be shown how their enemies were being tortured.

Egypt and Israel: the plague of locusts, the bronze serpent

- 5 When the savage rage of wild animals overtook them and they were perishing from the bites of writhing snakes, your wrath did not continue to the end.
- 6 It was by way of reprimand, lasting a short time, that they were distressed,
for they had a saving token to remind them of the commandment of your Law.
- 7 Whoever turned to it was saved, not by what he looked at,
but by you, the universal savior.
- 8 And by such means you proved to our enemies
that it is you who deliver from every evil;
since the bites of locusts and flies proved fatal to them
and no remedy could be found to save them—
and well they deserved to be punished by such creatures.
- 10 But, for your sons, not even the fangs of venomous serpents could bring them down;
your mercy came to their help and cured them.
One sting—how quickly healed!—to remind them of your oracles rather than that, by sinking into deep forgetfulness, they should be cut off from your kindness.
- 12 No herb, no poultice cured them,
but it was your word, Lord, which heals all things.
- 13 For you have power of life and death,
you bring down to the gates of Hades and bring back again.
14 Man in his malice may put to death,
he does not bring the departed spirit back or free the soul that Hades has once received.

Egypt and Israel: the elements

- 15 It is not possible to escape your hand.
16 The godless who refused to acknowledge you were scourged by the strength of your arm, pursued by no ordinary rains, hail and unrelenting downpours,
and consumed by fire.
- 17 Even more wonderful, in the water—which quenches all—the fire raged fiercer than ever;
for the elements fight for the virtuous.
- 18 At one moment the flame would die down,
to avoid consuming the animals sent against the godless and to make clear to them by that sight, that the sentence of God was pursuing them;
- 19 at another, in the very heart of the water, it would burn more fiercely than fire
to ruin the harvests of a guilty land.
- 20 How differently with your people! You gave them the food of angels,^b from heaven untiringly sending them bread already prepared, containing every delight, satisfying every taste.
- 21 And the substance you gave demonstrated your sweetness toward your children,
for, conforming to the taste of whoever ate it,
it transformed itself into what each eater wished.
- 22 Snow and ice endured the fire, without melting;

by which they were to know that, to destroy the harvests
of their enemies,
23 fire would burn even in hail and flare in falling rain, whereas, on the other hand, it would even forget its own virtue in the service of feeding the virtuous.

24 For creation, in obedience to you, its maker, exerts itself to punish the wicked
and slackens for the benefit of those who trust in you.
25 Thus it became, by a total transformation,
the agent of your all-nourishing bounty,
conforming to the wish of those in need, 26 so that your beloved children, Lord, might learn that the various crops are not what nourishes man,
but your word which preserves all who trust in you.
27 For that which fire could not destroy melted in the heat of a single fleeting sunbeam, 28 to show that, to give you thanks, we must rise before the sun and pray to you when light begins to dawn; 29 for the hope of the ungrateful will melt like winter's frost and flow away like water running to waste.

Egypt and Israel: darkness and light

1 17 Your judgments are indeed great and inexpressible, which is why undisciplined souls have gone astray.
2 When impious men imagined they had the holy nation in their power, they themselves lay prisoners of the dark,^a in the fetters of long night, confined under their own roofs, banished from eternal providence.
3 While they thought to remain unnoticed with their secret sins, curtained by dark forgetfulness,
they were scattered in fearful dismay,
terrified by apparitions.
4 The hiding place sheltering them could not ward off their fear;
terrifying noises echoed around them;
and gloomy, grim-faced specters haunted them.
5 No fire had power enough to give them light,
nor could the brightly blazing stars illuminate that dreadful night—6 only a great blaze, burning of its own accord, that, full of dread, shone through to them;
And in their terror, once that sight had vanished,
they thought what they had seen more terrible than ever.
7 Their magic arts proved utterly unavailing,
their boasted cunning was ignominiously confounded; 8 for those who professed to drive out fears and disorders from sick souls,
themselves fell sick of a ridiculous terror.
9 Even when there was nothing frightful to scare them,
the prowling of beasts and the hissing of reptiles terrified them;
they died convulsed with fright,
refusing so much as to look at the air, which cannot be eluded anyhow!
10 Wickedness is confessedly very cowardly, and it condemns itself;
under pressure from conscience it always assumes the worst.
11 Fear, indeed, is nothing other than the abandonment of the supports offered by reason; 12 the less you rely within yourself on these,

the more alarming it is not to know the cause of your suffering.
 And they, all locked in the same sleep,
 while that darkness lasted, which was in fact quite powerless
 and had issued from the depths of equally powerless Hades, were now chased by monstrous specters,
 now paralyzed by fainting of their souls;
 for a sudden, unexpected terror had swept over them.

And thus, whoever it might be that fell there stayed clamped to the spot in this prison without bars.
 Whether he was plowman or shepherd,
 or someone working by himself,
 he was still overtaken and suffered the inevitable fate,
 for all had been bound by the one same chain of darkness.

The sighing of the wind,
 the tuneful noise of birds in the spreading branches,
 the measured beat of water in its powerful course,
 the harsh din of the rocky avalanche,
 the invisible, swift course of bounding animals,
 the roaring of the savagest wild beasts,
 the echo rebounding from the clefts in the mountains,
 all held them paralyzed with fear.

The whole world was shining with brilliant light and, unhindered, went on with its work;
 over them alone there spread a heavy darkness,
 image of the dark that would receive them.
 But heavier than the darkness, the burden they were to themselves.

18 But for your holy ones all was great light.
 The Egyptians who could hear their voices, though not see their shapes,
 called them fortunate because they had not suffered too;
 they thanked them for doing no injury in return for previous wrongs
 and asked forgiveness for their past ill will.
 In contrast to the darkness, you gave your people a pillar of blazing fire,
 to guide them on their unknown journey,
 a mild sun for their ambitious migration.
 But well they deserved, those others, to be deprived of light and imprisoned in darkness,
 for having kept in captivity your children,
 by whom the imperishable light of the Law was to be given to the world.

Egypt and Israel: the Destroyer

As they had resolved to kill the infants of the holy ones,
 and as of those exposed only one child had been saved,
 to punish them, you made away with thousands of their children,
 and destroyed them all together in the wild waves.

That night had been foretold to our ancestors, so that, once they saw what kind of oaths they had put their trust in, they would joyfully take courage.

This was the expectation of your people,
 the saving of the virtuous and the ruin of their enemies;

- 8 for by the same act with which you took vengeance on our foes
you made us glorious by calling us to you.
- 9 The devout children of worthy men offered sacrifice^a in secret and this divine pact they struck with one accord:
that the saints would share the same blessings and dangers alike;
and forthwith they had begun to chant the hymns of the fathers.^b
- 10 In echo came the discordant cries of their enemies and the pitiful sound rang out of those lamenting their children.
- 11 The same punishment struck slave and master alike,
commoner and king suffered the selfsame loss.
- 12 All had innumerable dead alike,
struck by the same death.
There were not enough living left to bury them,
for in a moment the flower of their race had perished.
- 13 They who, thanks to their sorceries, had been wholly incredulous, at the destruction of their first-born now acknowledged this people to be son of God.
- 14 When peaceful silence lay over all,
and night had run the half of her swift course, 15 down from the heavens, from the royal throne, leaped your all-powerful Word;
into the heart of a doomed land the stern warrior leaped.
Carrying your unambiguous command like a sharp sword, 16 he stood, and filled the universe with death;
he touched the sky, yet trod the earth.
- 17 Immediately, dreams and gruesome visions overwhelmed
them with terror,
unexpected fears assailed them.
- 18 Hurling down, some here, some there, half dead,
they proclaimed why it was they were dying;
19 for the dreams that had troubled them had warned them
why beforehand,
so that they might not perish without knowing why they had been struck down.
- 20 But the virtuous, too, felt the touch of death;
a multitude was struck down in the wilderness.
But the wrath did not last long,
21 for a blameless man^c hastened to champion their cause.
Wielding the weapons of his sacred office,
prayer and atoning incense,
he took his stand against the Anger and put an end to the calamity, showing that he was indeed your servant.
- 22 He conquered the bitter plague, not by physical strength,
not by force of arms;
but by word he prevailed over the Punisher,
by recalling the oaths made to the Fathers, and the covenants.
- 23 Already the corpses lay piled in heaps,
when he interposed and beat back the wrath
and cut off its approach to the living.
- 24 For the whole world was on his flowing robe,^d
the glorious names of the Fathers on the four rows of stones, and your Majesty on the diadem on his head.
- 25 From these the Destroyer recoiled, he was afraid of these;
a mere taste of the wrath had been enough.

Egypt and Israel: the Red Sea

- 1 19 But the godless were assailed by merciless anger to the very end,
 2 for God knew beforehand what they would do,
 3 how, after letting his people leave and hastening their departure,
 4 they would change their minds and set out in pursuit.
 5 They were actually still conducting their mourning rites
 6 and lamenting at the tombs of their dead,
 7 when another mad scheme entered their heads,
 8 and they set out to pursue as fugitives the very people they had 9 begged to go away.
 10 A well-deserved fate urged them to this extreme 11 and made them forget what had already happened, 12 so that to all their torments they might add the one penalty
 13 still outstanding
 14 and, while your people accomplished a miraculous journey, 15 themselves meet an extraordinary death.
 16 For, to keep your children from all harm,
 17 the whole creation, obedient to your commands,
 18 was once more, and newly, fashioned in its nature.
 19 Overshadowing the camp there was the cloud,
 20 where water had been, dry land was seen to rise,
 21 the Red Sea became an unimpeded way,
 22 the tempestuous flood a green plain;
 23 sheltered by your hand, the whole nation passed across,
 24 gazing at these amazing miracles.
 25 They were like horses at pasture,
 26 they skipped like lambs,
 27 singing your praises, Lord, their deliverer.

Nature refashioned for Israel

- 10 They still remembered the events of their exile,
 11 how the land, not bearing animals, had bred mosquitoes instead,
 12 how, instead of fish, the river had disgorged innumerable frogs.
 13 Later they saw a new method of birth for birds
 14 when, goaded by hunger, they asked for food they could relish,
 15 and quails came out of the sea to satisfy them.

Egypt more blameworthy than Sodom

- 13 On the sinners, however, punishments rained down
 14 not without violent thunder as early warning;
 15 and deservedly they suffered for their crimes,
 16 since they evinced such bitter hatred toward strangers.
 17 Others^a had refused to welcome unknown men on their arrival,
 18 but these had made slaves of guests and benefactors.
 19 The former, moreover—and this will be to their credit—
 20 had shown the foreigners hostility from the start;
 21 not so the latter: these welcomed your people with feasting
 22 and after granting them equal rights with themselves
 23 then afflicted them with forced labor.
 24 Thus they were struck with blindness

18 a. The Passover meal, a sacrifice celebrated inside the houses. b. In the author's time, the Psalms of Praise (Hallel) were sung at the Passover. c. Aaron. d. In these three lines, the author is describing the high priest's robe of his own day: "The whole world" is a symbolic representation of the three-story universe; "the Fathers" are the twelve ancestors of the tribes; "the Majesty of the Lord" is the gold plate of dedication.

19 a. The inhabitants of Sodom, Gn. 19.

like the former at the door of the virtuous man,^b
when, yawning darkness all around them,
each had to grope his way through his own door.

Nature refashioned at the Exodus

- 18 Thus the elements interchanged their qualities,
 as on a harp the notes may change their rhythm,
 though all the while preserving their tone;
 this clearly appears from a scrutiny of the events.
19 Creatures that live on land became aquatic,^c
 and those that swim emerged on land.
20 Fire increased its own virtue in the water,
 water forgot its property of extinguishing.
21 Flames, on the other hand, would not scorch the flesh
 of animals, however frail, that ventured into them;
 nor would they melt that heavenly food
 like hoarfrost, and as easily melted.

Conclusion

- 22 Yes, Lord, in every way you have made your people great and glorious;
 you have never disdained them, but stood by them always and everywhere.

b. Lot, see 10:6. c. The Israelites and their cattle "took to the water"; frogs left the water for the land.

INTRODUCTION TO ECCLESIASTICUS

This book was originally written in Hebrew; as its foreword says, it was translated into Greek by the author's grandson in 132 B.C. The translation was adopted into the Greek Bible, in which it was subtitled "The Wisdom of Jesus Ben Sirach." It does not appear in the Jewish canon of Scripture, and its Latin title, "Ecclesiasticus"—the Church's book—may call attention to the fact that the Church adopted it although the Synagogue did not.

Much of the book consists of maxims and aphorisms of worldly wisdom and social prudence, but there is also a strong note of respect and love for the Law of Moses and a veneration of the great figures of the Old Testament from Enoch to Nehemiah.

ECCLESIASTICUS

TRANSLATOR'S FOREWORD

1 Many and wonderful are the gifts we have been granted by means of the 2 Law and the Prophets and the others that followed them, an education in 3 wisdom on which Israel is indeed to be complimented. But it is not enough 4 merely for those who read the scriptures to be learned in them; students should 5 also be able to be of use to people outside by what they say and write. So it
6 was that my grandfather Jesus, having devoted himself more and more to reading 7 the Law and the Prophets and the other volumes of the fathers and having 8-9 gained ability enough in these matters, was brought to the point of himself 10-11 writing down some of the things that have a bearing on education in wisdom, 12 in order that those studiously inclined and with obligations in these matters
13 might make all the more progress in living according to the Law.

14 You are therefore asked to read this book with good will and attention
15 and to show the indulgence in those places where, notwithstanding our efforts
16-17 at interpretation, we may seem to have failed to give an adequate rendering 18 of this or that expression; the fact is that you cannot find an equivalent for 19 things originally written in Hebrew when you come to translate them into 20 another language; what is more, you will find on examination that the Law
21 itself, the Prophets and the other books differ considerably in translation 22 from what appears in the original text.

23 It was in the thirty-eighth year of the late King Euergetes,^a when after my 24 arrival in Egypt I had already spent some time there, that I found a work
25 of more than common instructional worth, which convinced me of the urgency 26 of applying myself in my turn with pains and diligence to the translation of the 27 book that follows; and I spent much time and learning on it in the course of 28 this period, to complete the work and to publish the book for the benefit 29 especially of those who, domiciled abroad, wish to study how to fit themselves
30 and their manners for living according to the Law.

I. COLLECTIONS OF SAYINGS

The mystery of wisdom

- 1 1 All wisdom is from the Lord,
and it is his own for ever.
- 2 The sand of the sea and the raindrops,
and the days of eternity, who can assess them?
- 3 The height of the sky and the breadth of the earth,
and the depth of the abyss, who can probe them?
- 4 Before all other things wisdom was created,
shrewd understanding is everlasting.
- 6 For whom has the root of wisdom ever been uncovered?
Her resourceful ways, who knows them?
- 8 One only is wise, terrible indeed,
9 seated on his throne, the Lord.

He himself has created her, looked on her and assessed her,
 and poured her out on all his works
 to be with all mankind as his gift,
 and he conveyed her to those who love him.

The fear of God

The fear of the Lord is glory and pride,
 and happiness and a crown of joyfulness.
 The fear of the Lord will gladden the heart,
 giving happiness and joy and long life.
 With him who fears the Lord it will be well at the last,
 and he will be blessed on the day of his death.
 To fear the Lord is the beginning of wisdom,
 she was created with the faithful in their mothers' womb;
 she has made a nest among men, an age-old foundation,
 and to their offspring she will cling faithfully.
 To fear the Lord is the perfection of wisdom;
 she intoxicates them with her fruits;
 she fills their whole house with their heart's desire,
 and their storerooms with her produce.
 The fear of the Lord is the crown of wisdom;
 it makes peace and health to flourish.
 The Lord has looked on her and assessed her,
 he has showered down learning and discernment,
 and exalted the renown of those who hold her close.
 To fear the Lord is the root of wisdom,
 and her branches are long life.

Patience and self-control

The rage of the wicked man cannot justify him,
 for the weight of his rage is his downfall.
 The patient man will hold out till the time comes,
 but his joy will break out in the end.
 He will hide his words till the time comes,
 and stories of his discernment will be on many lips.

Wisdom and uprightness

In wisdom's treasures there are learned sayings,
 but reverence for God is loathsome to the sinner.
 If you desire wisdom, keep the commandments,
 and the Lord will convey her to you.
 For wisdom and instruction mean the fear of the Lord,
 and what pleases him is faithfulness and gentleness.
 Do not be unsubmitive to the fear of the Lord,
 do not practice it with a double heart.
 Do not act a part in public,
 and keep a watch over your lips.
 Do not raise yourself up, in case you fall
 and bring disgrace on yourself,
 for the Lord would then reveal your secrets and humiliate you before the whole community for not having attained the fear of the Lord,
 and for having a heart full of deceit.

The fear of God in time of ordeal

1 2 My son, if you aspire to serve the Lord, prepare yourself for an ordeal.
 2 Be sincere of heart, be steadfast,
 and do not be alarmed when disaster comes.
 3 Cling to him and do not leave him,
 so that you may be honored at the end of your days.
 4 Whatever happens to you, accept it,
 and in the uncertainties of your humble state, be patient, 5 since gold is tested in the fire,
 and chosen men in the furnace of humiliation.
 6 Trust him and he will uphold you,
 follow a straight path and hope in him.
 7 You who fear the Lord, wait for his mercy;
 do not turn aside in case you fall.
 8 You who fear the Lord, trust him,
 and you will not be balked of your reward.
 9 You who fear the Lord hope for good things,
 for everlasting happiness and mercy.
 10 Look at the generations of old and see:
 11 who ever trusted in the Lord and was put to shame?
 12 Or who ever feared him steadfastly and was left forsaken?
 Or who ever called out to him, and was ignored?
 13 For the Lord is compassionate and merciful,
 he forgives sins, and saves in days of distress.
 14 Woe to faint hearts and listless hands,
 and to the sinner who treats two paths.
 15 Woe to the listless heart that has no faith,
 for such will have no protection.
 16 Woe to you who have lost the will to endure;
 17 what will you do at the Lord's visitation?
 18 Those who fear the Lord do not disdain his words,
 and those who love him keep his ways.
 19 Those who fear the Lord do their best to please him,
 and those who love him find satisfaction in his Law.
 20 Those who fear the Lord keep their hearts prepared and humble themselves in his presence.
 21 Let us fall into the hands of the Lord, not into the hands of men;
 22 for as his majesty is, so too is his mercy.
 23

Duties toward parents

1 3 Children, listen to me your father,
 2 do what I tell you, and so be safe;
 3 for the Lord honors the father in his children,
 and upholds the rights of a mother over her sons.
 4 Whoever respects his father is atoning for his sins,
 5 he who honors his mother is like someone amassing a fortune.
 6 Whoever respects his father will be happy with children of his own,
 he shall be heard on the day when he prays.
 7 Long life comes to him who honors his father,
 he who sets his mother at ease is showing obedience to the Lord.
 8 He serves his parents as he does his Lord.
 9 Respect your father in deed as well as word,
 10 so that blessing may come on you from him;
 11 since a father's blessing makes the houses of his children firm, while a mother's curse tears up their foundations.

- 10
12 Do not make a boast of disgrace overtaking your father, your father's disgrace reflects no honor on you; 11
13 for a man's honor derives from the respect shown to his father, and a mother held in dishonor is a reproach to her children.
12
14 My son, support your father in his old age,
do not grieve him during his life.
13
15 Even if his mind should fail, show him sympathy,
do not despise him in your health and strength;
14 for kindness to a father shall not be forgotten
but will serve as reparation for your sins.
17
15 In the days of your affliction it will be remembered of you,
like frost in sunshine, your sins will melt away.
16
18 The man who deserts his father is no better than a blasphemer, and whoever angers his mother is accursed of the Lord.

Humility

- 17
19 My son, be gentle in carrying out your business,
and you will be better loved than a lavish giver.
18
20 The greater you are, the more you should behave humbly, and then you will find favor with the Lord; 20 21 for great though the power of the Lord is,
he accepts the homage of the humble.
21
22 Do not try to understand things that are too difficult for you,
or try to discover what is beyond your powers.
22 Concentrate on what has been assigned you,
you have no need to worry over mysteries.
23
24 Do not meddle with matters that are beyond you; 25 what you have been taught already exceeds the scope of the human mind.
24
26 For many have been misled by their own presumption,
and wrongheaded opinions have warped their ideas.

Pride

- 26
27 A stubborn heart will come to a bad end at last,
and whoever loves danger will perish in it.
27
29 A stubborn heart is weighed down with troubles,
the sinner heaps sin on sin.
28
30 There is no cure for the proud man's malady,
since an evil growth has taken root in him.
29
31 The heart of a sensible man will reflect on parables,
an attentive ear is the sage's dream.

Charity to the poor

- 30
33 Water quenches a blazing fire,
almsgiving atones for sins.
31
34 Whoever gives favors in return is mindful of the future;
at the moment of his fall he will find support.
1
4 My son, do not refuse the poor a livelihood,
do not tantalize the needy.
2 Do not add to the sufferings of the hungry,
do not bait a man in distress.
3 Do not aggravate a heart already angry,
nor keep the destitute waiting for your alms.
4 Do not repulse a hard-pressed beggar,
nor turn your face from a poor man.

5 Do not avert your eyes from the destitute,
 give no man occasion to curse you;
 6 for if a man curses you in the bitterness of his soul,
 his maker will hear his imprecation.
 7 Gain the love of the community,
 bow your head to a man of authority.
 8 To the poor man lend an ear,
 and return his greeting courteously.
 9 Save the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor,
 and do not be mean-spirited in your judgments.
 10 Be like a father to orphans,
 and as good as a husband to widows.
 11 And you will be like a son to the Most High,
 whose love for you will surpass your mother's.

Wisdom as educator

11 Wisdom brings up her sons,
 12 and cares for those who seek her.
 13 Whoever loves her loves life,
 those who wait on her early will be filled with happiness.
 14 Whoever holds her close will inherit honor,
 and wherever he walks the Lord will bless him.
 15 Those who serve her minister to the Holy One,
 and the Lord loves those who love her.
 16 Whoever obeys her judges aright,
 and whoever pays attention to her dwells secure.
 17 If he trusts himself to her he will inherit her,
 and his descendants will remain in possession of her;
 18 for though she takes him at first through winding ways, 19 bringing fear and faintness on him,
 plaguing him with her discipline until she can trust him,
 and testing him with her ordeals,
 in the end she will lead him back to the straight road,
 and reveal her secrets to him.
 20 If he wanders away she will abandon him,
 21 and hand him over to his fate.
 22

Shame and human respect

20 My son, bide your time and be on your guard against evil, 21 and have no cause to be ashamed of yourself;
 22 for there is a shame that leads to sin,
 23 as well as a shame that is honorable and gracious.
 24 Do not show partiality, to your own detriment,
 25 or deference, to your own downfall.
 26 Do not refrain from speech at an opportune time,
 27 and do not hide your wisdom;
 28 for wisdom shall be recognized in speech,
 and instruction by what the tongue utters.
 29 Do not contradict the truth,
 30 rather blush for your own ignorance.
 31 Do not be ashamed to confess your sins,
 32 do not strive against the current of a river.
 33 Do not grovel to a foolish man,
 do not show partiality to a man of influence.
 Fight to the death for truth,
 and the Lord God will war on your side.

- 29 Do not be bold of tongue,
34 yet idle and slack in deed;
30 do not be like a lion at home,
35 or a coward before your servants.
31 Do not let your hands be outstretched to receive,
36 yet closed when the time comes to give back.

Wealth and presumption

- 1 5 Do not give your heart to your money, or say, "With this I am self-sufficient." 2 Do not be led by your appetites and energy to follow the passions of your heart.
3 And do not say, "Who has authority over me?"
for the Lord will certainly be avenged on you.
4 Do not say, "I sinned, and what happened to me?"
for the Lord's forbearance is long.
5 Do not be so sure of forgiveness
that you add sin to sin.
6 And do not say, "His compassion is great,
he will forgive me my many sins";
7 for with him are both mercy and wrath,
and his rage bears heavy on sinners.
7 Do not delay your return to the Lord,
8 do not put it off day after day;
9 for suddenly the Lord's wrath will blaze out,
and at the time of vengeance you will be utterly destroyed.
8 Do not set your heart on ill-gotten gains,
10 they will be of no use to you on the day of disaster.

Straightforwardness and self-possession

- 9 Do not winnow in every wind,
11 or walk along every byway
(such is the practice of the deceitful sinner).
10 Be steady in your convictions,
12 sincere in your speech.
11 Be quick to listen,
13 and deliberate in giving an answer.
12 If you understand the matter, give your neighbor an answer,
14 if not, put your hand over your mouth.
13 Both honor and disgrace come from talking,
15 a man's tongue can cause his downfall.
14 Do not get a name for scandalmongering,
16 do not set traps with your tongue;
17 for as shame lies in store for the thief,
so harsh condemnation awaits the deceitful.
15 Avoid offenses in great as in small matters,
18 and do not become an enemy where you should stay a friend;
1 for a bad name will earn you shame and reproach,
as happens to the deceitful sinner.
2 6 Do not give in to the promptings of your temper,
in case it gores your soul like a mad bull;
3 in case it gobbles up your leaves and you lose your fruits,
and are left like a withered tree.
4 An evil temper destroys the man who has it and makes him the laughingstock of his enemies.

Friendship

5 A kindly turn of speech multiplies a man's friends, and a courteous way of speaking invites many a friendly reply.
 6 Let your acquaintances be many,
 but your advisers one in a thousand.
 7 If you want to make a friend, take him on trial,
 and be in no hurry to trust him;
 8 for one kind of friend is only so when it suits him
 but will not stand by you in your day of trouble.
 9 Another kind of friend will fall out with you and to your dismay make your quarrel public, 10 and a third kind of friend will share your table,
 but not stand by you in your day of trouble:
 11 when you are doing well he will be your second self,
 ordering your servants about;
 12 but if ever you are brought low he will turn against you and will hide himself from you.
 13 Keep well clear of your enemies,
 and be wary of your friends.
 14 A faithful friend is a sure shelter,
 whoever finds one has found a rare treasure.
 15 A faithful friend is something beyond price,
 there is no measuring his worth.
 16 A faithful friend is the elixir of life,
 and those who fear the Lord will find one.
 17 Whoever fears the Lord makes true friends,
 for as a man is, so is his friend.

Apprenticeship to wisdom

18 My son, from your earliest youth choose instruction, and till your hair is white you will keep finding wisdom.
 19 Cultivate her like the plowman and the sower,
 and wait for her fine harvest, 20 for in tilling her you will toil a little while,
 but very soon you will be eating her crops.
 20 How very harsh she is to the undisciplined!
 21 The senseless man does not stay with her for long:
 21 she will weigh on him like a heavy stone,
 22 and he will lose no time in throwing her off;
 22 for discipline is true to her name,
 23 she is not accessible to many.
 23 Listen, son, and take my warning,
 24 do not reject my advice:
 24 put your feet into her fetters,
 25 and your neck into her harness;
 25 give your shoulder to her yoke,
 26 do not be restive in her reins;
 26 court her with all your soul,
 27 and with all your might keep in her ways;
 27 go after her and seek her; she will reveal herself to you;
 28 once you hold her, do not let her go.
 28 For in the end you will find rest in her 29 and she will take the form of joy for you:
 29 her fetters you will find are a strong defense,
 30 her harness, a robe of honor.
 30 Her yoke will be a golden ornament, 31

her reins, purple ribbons;
 31 you will wear her like a robe of honor,
 32 you will put her on like a crown of honor.
 32 If you wish, my son, you can acquire instruction,
 33 if you give your mind to it, subtlety will be yours.
 33 If you love listening you will learn,
 34 if you lend an ear, wisdom will be yours.
 34 Attend the gathering of elders;
 35 if there is a wise man there, attach yourself to him.
 35 Listen willingly to any discourse coming from God,
 do not let shrewd proverbs escape you.
 36 If you see a man of understanding, visit him early,
 let your feet wear out his doorstep.
 37 Reflect on the injunctions of the Lord,
 busy yourself at all times with his commandments.
 He will strengthen your mind,
 and the wisdom you desire will be granted you.

Miscellaneous advice

1 7 Do not evil, and evil will not befall you;
 2 shun wrong, and it will avoid you.
 3 Son, do not sow in the furrows of wrongdoing,
 or you may reap it seven times over.
 4 Do not ask the Lord for the highest place,
 or the king for a seat of honor.
 5 Do not parade your virtue before the Lord,
 or your wisdom before the king.
 6 Do not scheme to be appointed judge,
 in case you are not strong enough to stamp out injustice,
 in case you let yourself be swayed by an influential man,
 and so risk the loss of your integrity.
 7 Do not wrong the general body of citizens and so lower yourself in popular esteem.
 8 Do not be drawn to sin twice over,
 for you will not go unpunished even once.
 9 Do not say, "God will consider the great number of my gifts;
 11 when I make my offerings to the Most High God he will accept them."
 10 Do not be impatient in prayer;
 10 do not neglect to give alms.
 11 Do not laugh at a man when he is sad of heart,
 12 for he who brings him low can lift him high.
 12 Do not draw up a lying indictment against your brother, 13 do not do it against a friend either.
 13 Mind you tell no lies,
 14 for no good can come of it.
 14 Do not make long-winded speeches in the gathering of elders,
 15 and do not repeat yourself at your prayers.
 15 Do not shirk wearisome labor,
 16 or farm work, which the Most High created.
 16 Do not swell the ranks of the sinners,
 17 remember that the wrath will not delay.
 18

- 17 Be very humble,
19 since the punishment for the godless is fire and worms.
- 18 Do not barter a friend for profit,
20 nor a real brother for the gold of Ophir.
- 17 Do not turn against a wise and good wife, 21 for her charm is worth more than gold.
- 20 Do not ill-treat a slave who is an honest worker, 22 or a wage earner who does his best for you.
- 21 Love an intelligent slave like your own self,
23 and do not deny him his freedom.

Children

- 22 Have you cattle? Look after them;
24 if they are making you a profit, keep them.
- 23 Have you children? Educate them, 25 make them bow the neck from childhood.
- 24 Have you daughters? Take care of their bodies, 26 but do not be over-indulgent.
- 25 Marry a daughter off, and you have finished a great work;
27 but give her to a man of sense.
- 26 Have you a wife to your liking? Do not turn her out;
28 but if you dislike her, never trust her.

Parents

- 27 With all your heart honor your father, 29 never forget the birthpangs of your mother.
- 28 Remember that you owe your birth to them;
30 how can you repay them for what they have done for you?

Priests

- 29 With all your soul hold the Lord in awe, 31 and revere his priests.
- 30 With all your might love him who made you, 32 and do not abandon his ministers.
- 31 Fear the Lord and honor the priest
33 and give him the portion enjoined on you:
34 first fruits and sacrifices of reparation and the shoulder gift, 35 the sacrifice of sanctification, and first fruits of the holy things.

The poor and afflicted

- 32 Stretch your hand out also to the poor man, 36 that your blessing may be perfect.
- 33 Be generous in your gifts to all the living, 37 do not withhold your favor even from the dead.
- 34 Do not fail those who weep,
38 but share the grief of the grief-stricken.
- 35 Do not shrink from visiting the sick;
39 in this way you will make yourself loved.
- 36 In everything you do, remember your end,
40 and you will never sin.

Prudence and common sense

- 1 8 Do not try conclusions with an influential man,
in case you later fall into his clutches.
- 2 Do not quarrel with a rich man,
in case he turns the scales against you;

3 for gold has destroyed many,
and has swayed the hearts of kings.

4 Do not quarrel with a man of quick tongue,
do not pile logs on his fire.

4 5 Do not jest with an ill-mannered man,
in case you hear your ancestry insulted.

5
6 Do not revile a repentant sinner;
remember that we all are guilty.

6 7 Do not despise a man in his old age;
after all, some of us too are growing old.

7 8 Do not gloat over a man's death;
remember that we all must die.

Tradition

8 9 Do not ignore the talk of the wise,
be conversant with their proverbs, 10 since from these you will learn the theory and art of serving the great.

9
11 Do not underrate the talk of old men,
after all, they themselves learned it from their fathers; 12 from them you will learn how to think,
and the art of the timely answer.

Prudence

10
13 Do not kindle the coals of the sinner,
in case you scorch yourself in his blaze.

11
14 Refuse to be drawn by an arrogant man,
for fear he tries to trap you in your words.

15 Do not lend to anyone who is stronger than you are—
if you do lend, resign yourself to loss.

13
16 Do not stand surety beyond your means;
if you do stand surety, be prepared to pay up.

14
17 Do not go to law with a judge,
since judgment will be given in his favor.

15
18 Do not travel with a reckless fellow,
in case he imposes on you;
he will act as the whim takes him,
and you will both be ruined by his folly.

16
19 Do not argue with a quick-tempered man, or travel with him through the wilderness;
since blood counts for nothing in his eyes,
and where no help is to be had, he will strike you down.

20 Do not ask a fool for advice,
since he will not be able to keep a confidence.

18
21 In a stranger's presence do nothing that should be kept secret, since you cannot tell what use he will make of it.

19
22 Do not open your heart to every man, or solicit favors from all comers.

Women

1 9 Do not be jealous of the wife you love,
or teach her lessons in evil to your detriment.

2 Do not give your soul to a woman,
for her to trample on your strength.

- 3 Do not keep company with a harlot,
in case you get entangled in her snares.
- 4 Do not dally with a singing girl,
in case you get caught by her wiles.
- 5 Do not stare at a virgin,
in case you and she incur the same punishment.
- 6 Do not give your soul to whores,
or you will ruin your inheritance.
- 7 Keep your eyes to yourself in the streets of a town,
do not prowl about its unfrequented quarters.
- 8 Turn your eyes away from a handsome woman,
do not stare at the beauty that belongs to someone else.
- 9 Woman's beauty has led many astray;
it kindles desire like a flame.
- 9
13 Never sit down with a married woman, or sit at table with her drinking wine,
in case you succumb to her charms,
and in your ardor you slide down to your ruin.

Relations with men

- 10
14 Do not desert an old friend;
the new one will not be his match.
- 15 New friend, new wine;
when it grows old, you drink it with pleasure.
- 11
16 Do not envy the sinner his success;
you do not know what turn his career will take.
- 12
17 Do not take pleasure in what pleases the godless;
remember they will not go unpunished to their grave.
- 13
18 Keep your distance from the man who has the power to put to death, and you will not be haunted by the fear of dying.
- 19 If you do approach him, make no false move,
or he may take your life.
- 20 Realize that you are treading among trip lines,
that you are strolling on the battlements.
- 14
21 Cultivate your neighbors as far as you can,
and consult with wise men.
- 15
22 For conversation seek intelligent men, let all your discussions bear on the law of the Most High.
- 16
23 Have virtuous men for your table companions,
and let your pride be in fearing the Lord.
- 17
24 Work from skilled hands will earn its praise,
but a leader of the people must be shrewd of speech.
- 18
25 A phrasemaker is a terror to his town,
a loose talker is detested.

Government

- 1 10 The wise magistrate will be strict with his people, and the government of a prudent man will be well regulated.
- 2 As the magistrate is, so will his officials be,
as the governor is, so will be the inhabitants of his city.
- 3 An uneducated king will be the ruin of his people,
a city owes its prosperity to the intelligence of its leading men.
- 4 The government of the earth is in the hands of the Lord,
he sets the right man over it at the right time.

5 A man's success is in the hands of the Lord,
it is he who invests the lawgiver with honor.

Against pride

6 Do not resent your neighbor's every offense,
and never act in a fit of passion.

7 Pride is hateful to God and man,
and injustice is abhorrent to both.

8 Empire passes from nation to nation
because of injustice, arrogance and money.

9 What has dust and ashes to pride itself on?
Even in life its guts are repellent.

10b A long illness mocks the doctor;
10 a king today is a corpse tomorrow.

11 When a man comes to die,
12 his inheritance will be creeping things, beasts of prey, worms.

14 The beginning of human pride is to desert the Lord,
15 and to turn one's heart away from one's maker.

13 Since the beginning of pride is sin,
whoever clings to it will pour forth filth.

16 For which reason the Lord inflicted extraordinary punishments on them
and utterly overthrew them.

14 The Lord has thrown down rulers' thrones,
17 and seated the humble in their place.

15 The Lord has plucked up proud men by the roots,
18 and planted the lowly in their place.

16 The Lord has overthrown the lands of the heathens
19 and destroyed them to the very foundations of the earth.

17 He has taken some of them away and destroyed them,
20 and blotted out their memory from the earth.

18 Pride was not created for men,
22 nor furious rage for those born of woman.

Persons deserving honor

19 What race deserves honor? The human race.

23 What race deserves honor? Those who fear the Lord.

What race deserves contempt? The human race.

What race deserves contempt? Those who break the commandments.

20 Among brothers the leader of them deserves honor,
24 and those who fear the Lord deserve honor in his sight.

22 Let rich and noble and poor
25 take pride in fearing the Lord.

23 It is not right to despise a poor but intelligent man,
26 and it is not good to honor a man who is a sinner.

24 Ruler, magistrate, influential man, all are to be honored,
27 but none of them is greater than him who fears the Lord.

25 A wise slave will have free men waiting on him,
28 and the man of sense will not grumble.

Frankness and humility

26 Do not try to be smart when you do your work, 29 do not put on airs when you are in difficulties.

- 27 Better a hard-working man who has plenty of everything, 30 than a pretentious man at a loss for a meal.
- 28 My son, be modest in your self-esteem, 37 and value yourself at your proper worth.
- 29 Who can justify a man who runs himself down, 32 or respect a man who despises himself?
- 30 A poor man is honored for his wits, 33 and a rich man for his wealth.
- 31 Honored in poverty, how much the more in wealth!
34 Dishonored in wealth, how much the more in poverty!

Do not go by appearances

- 1 11 The poor man's wisdom keeps his head erect,
and gives him a place with the great.
- 2 Do not praise a man for his good looks,
nor dislike anybody for his appearance.
- 3 Small among winged creatures is the bee
but her produce is the sweetest of the sweet.
- 4 Do not preen yourself on your fine clothes,
nor be swollen headed on your day of glory;
for the Lord's deeds are marvelous,
though hidden from mankind.
- 5 Many monarchs have been made to sit on the ground,
and the man nobody thought of has worn the crown.
- 6 Many influential men have been utterly disgraced,
and prominent men have fallen into the power of others.

Deliberation and reflection

- 7 Do not find fault before making thorough inquiry;
first reflect, then give a reprimand.
- 8 Listen before you answer,
and do not interrupt a speech in the middle.
- 9 Do not wrangle about something that does not concern you,
nor interfere in the squabbles of sinners.
- 10 My son, do not take on a great amount of business;
if you multiply your interests, you are bound to suffer for it;
hurry as fast as you can, yet you will never arrive,
nor will you escape by running away.
- 11 A man labors and toils and forges ahead,
only to find himself the more outdistanced.

Trust in God alone

- 12 Another man is a poor creature begging for assistance,
badly off for support, but rich in poverty,
and the Lord turns a favorable eye on him,
sets him on his feet out of his abject condition,
and enables him to hold his head high,
to the utter amazement of many.
- 14 Good and bad, life and death,
poverty and wealth, all come from the Lord.
- 17 The Lord's gift remains constant to the devout,
and his good will means a good journey for ever.
- 18 A man grows rich by his sharpness and grabbing,
and here is the reward he receives for it:

19 he says, "I have found rest,
 and now I can enjoy my goods";
 20 but he does not know how long this will last;
 he will have to leave his goods for others and die.
 20 Persevere at your duty, take pleasure in doing it,
 21 and grow old at your work.
 21 Do not be astonished at the sinner's achievements;
 22 trust the Lord and keep to your duty;
 23 since it is a trifle in the eyes of the Lord,
 in a moment, suddenly to make a poor man rich.
 22 The devout man receives the Lord's blessing as his reward,
 24 in a moment God brings his blessing to flower.
 23 Do not say, "What are my needs,
 25 what will be my profits in future?"
 24 And do not say, "I am self-supporting,
 26 what losses can I suffer in future?"
 25 In a time of profit, losses are forgotten,
 27 and in a time of loss, no one remembers profits.
 26 Yet it is a trifle for the Lord on the day a man dies
 28 to repay him as his conduct deserves.
 27 A moment's adversity, and pleasures are forgotten;
 29 in a man's last hour his deeds will stand revealed.
 28 Call no man fortunate before his death;
 30 it is by his end that a man will be known.

Distrust the wicked

29 Do not bring every man home with you,
 31 for many are the traps of the crafty.
 30 Like a decoy partridge in a basket, such is the proud man's heart;
 32 like a spy he watches for your downfall.
 31 The slanderer twists good into evil,
 33 will cast a slur on what deserves most praise.
 32 A hearthful of glowing coals starts from a single spark,
 34 and the sinner lurks for the chance to spill blood.
 33 Beware of a scoundrel and his evil contrivances,
 35 in case he puts a smear on you for ever.
 34 Bring a stranger home with you and he will start trouble,
 36 and estrange you from your own family.

Rules for doing good^a

1 12 If you do a good turn, know for whom you are doing it, and your good deeds will not go to waste.
 2 Do good to a devout man, and you will receive a reward,
 if not from him, then certainly from the Most High.
 3 No good will come to a man who persists in evil,
 or who refuses to give alms.
 4 Give to a devout man,
 do not go to the help of a sinner.
 5 Do good to a humble man,
 give nothing to a godless one.
 Refuse him bread, do not give him any,
 it might make him stronger than you are;
 then you would be repaid evil twice over for all the good you had done him.

12 a. The worldly wisdom of this section may be contrasted with the ethics of the Gospel.

- 6 For the Most High himself detests sinners,
and will repay the wicked with a vengeance.
7 Give to the good man,
and do not go to the help of a sinner.

True and false friends

- 8 In prosperity you cannot always tell a true friend,
but in adversity you cannot mistake an enemy.
9 When a man is doing well his enemies are sad, when he is doing badly, even a friend will keep his distance.
10 Do not ever trust an enemy;
as bronze tarnishes, so does his malignity.
11 Even if he behaves humbly and comes bowing and scraping, maintain your reserve and be on your guard against him.
Behave toward him as if you were polishing a mirror,
you will find that his tarnish cannot last.
12 Do not stand him beside you in case he thrusts you out and takes your place.
Do not seat him at your right hand,
or he will be after your position,
and you will end up by admitting the truth of my words,
and feeling the sting in them.
13 Who feels sorry for a snake charmer bitten by a snake, or for those who take risks with savage animals?— 14 just so for someone consorting with a sinner,
15 and being accomplice to his sins.
16 As long as you maintain your stand he will not reveal himself, but if you once give way he will press his advantage.
17 An enemy may have sweetness on his lips,
and in his heart a scheme to throw you in the ditch.
18 An enemy may have tears in his eyes,
but if he gets a chance not even blood will satisfy him.
19 If you meet with misfortune, you will find him there before you,
and, pretending to help you, he will trip you up.
20 He will wag his head and clap his hands,
he will whisper a lot and his expression will change.

Mix with your equals

- 1 13 Whoever touches pitch will be defiled, and anyone who associates with a proud man will come to be like him.
2 Do not try to carry a burden too heavy for you,
do not associate with someone more powerful and wealthy than yourself.
3 Why put the clay pot next to the iron caldron?
It will only break when they collide.
4 The rich man wrongs a man and puts on airs,
while the poor man is wronged and apologizes.
5 If you are useful he will exploit you,
if you cannot keep up with him he will desert you.
6 Are you well off?—he will live with you,
he will clean you out without a single qualm.
7 Does he need you?—he will hoodwink you, smile at you and raise your hopes;
he will speak to you with smooth words and say, "I wonder what you would like?"

- 7 8 And he will put you to shame with his grand dinners, until he has cleaned you out two or three times over,
and he will finish by making you ridiculous.
When he sees you afterward he will snub you,
and wag his head about you.
- 8
11 Take care you are not hoodwinked
and thus humiliated through your own stupidity.
9
12 When an influential man invites you, show reluctance,
and he will press his invitation all the more.
- 10
13 Do not thrust yourself forward, in case you are pushed aside,
but do not stand aloof, or you will be overlooked.
- 11
14 Do not affect to treat him as an equal,
do not trust his flow of words;
since all this talking is expressly meant to test you,
under cover of geniality he will be weighing you up.
- 12
15 Pitiless is the man who is too free with his words,
he will not spare you either blows or chains.
- 13
16 Be wary, take very great care,
because you are walking with your own downfall.
- 15
19 Every living thing loves its own sort,
and every man his neighbor.
- 16
20 Every creature mixes with its kind,
and man sticks to his own sort.
- 17
21 How can wolf and lamb agree?—
Just so with sinner and devout.
- 18
22 What peace can there be between hyena and dog?
And what peace between rich man and poor?
- 19
23 Wild donkeys are the prey of desert lions;
so too, the poor are the quarry of the rich.
- 20
24 The proud man thinks humility abhorrent;
so too, the rich abominate the poor.
- 21
25 When the rich man stumbles he is supported by friends;
when the poor man falls, his friends push him away.
- 22
26 When the rich man slips, there are many hands to catch him, if he talks nonsense he is congratulated.
- 27 The poor man slips, and is blamed for it,
he may talk good sense, but no room is made for him.
- 23
28 The rich man speaks and everyone stops talking,
and then they praise his discourse to the skies.
- 29 The poor man speaks and people say, "Who is this?"
and if he staggers they push him down.
- 24
30 Wealth is good where there is no sin,
poverty is evil, the godless say.
- 25
31 A man's heart molds his expression
whether for better or worse.
- 26
32 The mark of a good heart is a cheerful expression;
inventing proverbs is weary work.

True happiness

- 1 14 Happy the man who has not sinned in speech
and who need feel no remorse for sins.
- 2 Happy the man whose own soul does not accuse him,
and who has never given up hope.

Envy and greed

- 3 Wealth is not the right thing for a niggardly man,
and what use are possessions to a covetous one?
- 4 A man who hoards by stinting himself is hoarding for others,
and others will live sumptuously on his riches.
- 5 If a man is mean to himself, to whom will he be good?
He does not even enjoy what is his own.
- 6 No one is meaner than the man who is mean to himself,
and this is how his wickedness pays him back.
- 7 If he does good at all, he does it without intending to,
and in the end he himself reveals his wickedness.
- 8 Evil is the man who has a grudging eye,
averting his face, and careless of others' lives.
- 9 The eye of the grasping man is not content with his portion,
greed shrivels up the soul.
- 10 The miser is grudging of bread,
there is famine at his table.
- 11 My son, treat yourself as well as you can afford,
and bring worthy offerings to the Lord.
- 12 Remember that death will not delay,
and that the covenant of Sheol^a has not been revealed to you.
- 13 Be kind to your friend before you die,
treat him as generously as you can afford.
- 14 Do not refuse yourself the good things of today,
do not let your share of what is lawfully desired pass you by.
- 15 Will you not have to leave your fortune to another,
and the fruit of your labor to be divided by lot?
- 16 Then give and receive, and take your ease,
for in Sheol you cannot look for pleasure.
- 17 Every living thing grows old like a garment, 18 the age-old law is "Death must be."
- 18 Like foliage growing on a bushy tree, 19 some leaves falling, others growing,
so are the generations of flesh and blood:
one dies, another is born.
- 19 Every achievement rots away and perishes, 20 and with it goes its author.

The happiness of the sage

- 20 Happy the man who meditates on wisdom,
22 and reasons with good sense,
21 who studies her ways in his heart,
23 and ponders her secrets.
- 22 He pursues her like a hunter,
and lies in wait by her path;
- 23 he peeps in at her windows,
24 and listens at her doors;
- 24 He lodges close to her house,
25 and fixes his peg in her walls;
- 25 he pitches his tent at her side,
and lodges in an excellent lodging;
- 26 he sets his children in her shade,
and camps beneath her branches;

- 27 he is sheltered by her from the heat,
and in her glory he makes his home.
- 1 15 Whoever fears the Lord will act like this,
and whoever grasps the Law will obtain wisdom.
2 She will come to meet him like a mother,
and receive him like a virgin bride.
3 She will give him the bread of understanding to eat,
and the water of wisdom to drink.
4 He will lean on her and will not fall,
he will rely on her and not be put to shame.
5 She will raise him high above his neighbors,
and in full assembly she will open his mouth.
6 He will find happiness and a crown of joy,
he will inherit an everlasting name.
7 Foolish men will not gain possession of her,
nor will sinful men set eyes on her.
8 She stands remote from pride,
and liars cannot call her to mind.
9 Praise is unseemly in a sinner's mouth,
since it has not been put there by the Lord.
10 For praise should only be uttered in wisdom,
and the Lord himself then prompts it.

Man is free

- 11 Do not say, "The Lord was responsible for my sinning,"
for he is never the cause of what he hates.
12 Do not say, "It was he who led me astray,"
for he has no use for a sinner.
13 The Lord hates all that is foul,
and no one who fears him will love it either.
14 He himself made man in the beginning,
and then left him free to make his own decisions.
15 If you wish, you can keep the commandments,
to behave faithfully is within your power.
16
17 He has set fire and water before you;
put out your hand to whichever you prefer.
18 Man has life and death before him;
whichever a man likes better will be given him.
19 For vast is the wisdom of the Lord;
he is almighty and all-seeing.
20 His eyes are on those who fear him,
he notes every action of man.
21 He never commanded anyone to be godless,
he has given no one permission to sin.

Curses reaped by the wicked

- 1 16 Do not long for a brood of worthless children,
and take no pleasure in godless sons.
2 However many you have, take no pleasure in them,
unless the fear of the Lord lives among them.
3 Do not count on their having long life,
do not put too much faith in their future;
for better have one than a thousand,
better die childless than have godless ones.
4

14 a. Probably the decree assigning the date of death.

4 One man of sense can populate a city,
 but the race of lawless men will be destroyed.
 5 My eyes have seen many such things,
 6 my ears have heard things still more impressive.
 7 Fire will be kindled in a community of sinners;
 the wrath was kindled in a disobedient nation.
 8 God did not pardon the giants of old who, confident in their strength, rebelled.
 9 He did not spare the people with whom Lot lived, whom he abhorred for their pride.
 10 He had no pity on that people doomed to destruction,
 who were wiped out in their sins, 11 nor on the six hundred thousand men on the march who banded together in their obstinacy.^a 12 Had there been even only one stubborn man,
 it would have been astonishing if he had escaped unpunished, since mercy and wrath alike belong to the Lord
 who is mighty to forgive and to pour out wrath.
 13 His mercy is great, but his severity is as great;
 he judges every man as his deeds deserve:
 14 the sinner shall not escape with his ill-gotten gains,
 nor the devout man's patience go for nothing.
 15 He allows free play to his mercy;
 yet every man shall be treated as his deeds deserve.

Certainty of retribution

17 Do not say, "I will hide from the Lord,
 18 who will remember me up there?
 19 I shall certainly not be noticed among so many;
 what am I in the immensity of creation?"
 20 Why look, the sky and the heavens above the sky,
 the deep and the earth tremble at his visitation.
 21 The mountains and the base of the earth together
 quail and tremble when he looks at them.
 22 But who bothers his head about such things?
 who attempts to understand the way he moves?
 23 The storm wind itself is invisible,
 and most of what he does goes undetected.
 24 "Who will report whether justice has been done?
 Who will be expecting it? The covenant is far away."
 25 Such are the thoughts of the man of little sense,
 the rash misguided man who loves his illusions.

Man in creation

26 Listen to me, my son, and learn knowledge,
 and give your whole mind to my words.
 27 I will expound discipline to a nicety,
 and proclaim knowledge with precision.
 28 When God created his works in the beginning,
 he allotted them their portions as soon as they were made.
 29 He determined his works for all time,
 from their beginnings to their distant future.
 They know neither hunger nor weariness,
 and they never desert their duties.
 None has ever jostled its neighbor,
 they will never disobey his word.^b

29 And afterward the Lord looked at the earth,
 30 and filled it with his good things.
 30 He covered its surface with every kind of animal,
 31 and to it they will return.

1 17 The Lord fashioned man from the earth,
 2 to consign him back to it.
 2 He gave them so many days' determined time,
 he gave them authority over everything on earth.
 3 He clothed them with strength like his own,
 and made them in his own image.
 4 He filled all living things with dread of man,
 making him master over beasts and birds.
 6 He shaped for them a mouth and tongue, eyes and ears,
 5 and gave them a heart to think with.
 7 He filled them with knowledge and understanding,
 6 and revealed to them good and evil.
 8 He put his own light in their hearts
 7 to show them the magnificence of his works.
 10 They will praise his holy name,
 8 as they tell of his magnificent works.
 11 He set knowledge before them,
 9 he endowed them with the law of life.
 12 He established an eternal covenant with them,
 10 and revealed his judgments to them.
 11 Their eyes saw his glorious majesty,
 11 and their ears heard the glory of his voice.
 14 He said to them. "Beware of all wrongdoing";
 12 he gave each a commandment concerning his neighbor.

The divine judge

15 Their ways are always under his eye,
 13 they cannot be hidden from his sight.
 17 Over each nation he has set a governor,
 14 but Israel is the Lord's own portion.^a 16 All their works are as the sun to him, and his eyes rest constantly on their ways.
 20 Their iniquities are not hidden from him,
 17 all their sins are before the Lord.
 22 A man's almsgiving is like a signet ring to him,
 18 he cherishes a man's generosity like the pupil of his eye.
 23 One day he will rise and reward them,
 19 he will pay back their deserts on their own heads.
 24 But to those who repent he permits return,
 20 and he encourages those who were losing hope.

Exhortation to repentance

25 Return to the Lord and leave sin behind,
 21 plead before his face and lessen your offense.
 26 Come back to the Most High and turn away from iniquity, 23 and hold in abhorrence all that is foul.
 27 Who will praise the Most High in Sheol,
 (26) if the living do not do so by giving glory to him?

16 a. Those who died in the wilderness and did not reach Canaan; Ex. 12:37; Nb. 11:21.

b. The reference is to the stars and planets.

17 a. Israel had no king in the author's time.

28 To the dead, as to those who do not exist, praise is unknown,
 (27) only those with life and health can praise the Lord.
 29 How great is the mercy of the Lord,
 28 his pardon on all those who turn toward him!
 30 Man cannot have everything,
 29 since the son of man is not immortal.
 31 What is brighter than the sun? Yet it suffers eclipse.
 30 Flesh and blood think of nothing but evil.
 32 He surveys the armies of the lofty sky,
 31 while all men are no more than dust and ashes.

The greatness of God

1 He who lives for ever created all the universe.
 2 The Lord alone will be found righteous.
 4 He has given no one the power to proclaim his works,
 3 and who can fathom his magnificent deeds?
 5 Who can assess his magnificent strength,
 4 and who can go further and tell of his mercies?
 6 Nothing can be added to them, nothing subtracted,
 5 it is impossible to fathom the marvels of the Lord.
 7 When a man finishes he is only beginning,
 6 and when he stops he is as puzzled as ever.

The nothingness of man

8 What is man, what purpose does he serve?
 7 What is the good in him, and what the bad?
 9 Take the number of a man's days; a hundred years is very long.
 10 Like a drop of water from the sea, or a grain of sand,
 8 such are these few years compared with eternity.
 11 For this reason the Lord shows them forbearance,
 9 and pours out his mercy on them.
 12 He sees and recognizes how wretched their end is,
 10 and so he makes his forgiveness the greater.
 13 Man's compassion extends to his neighbor,
 12 but the compassion of the Lord extends to everything that lives;
 11 rebuking, correcting and teaching,
 bringing them back as a shepherd brings his flock.
 14 He has compassion on those who accept correction,
 and who fervently look for judgments.

The art of giving

15 My son, do not temper your favors with disparagement, nor any of your gifts with words that hurt.
 16 Does not dew relieve the heat?
 In the same way a word is worth more than a gift.
 17 Why surely, a word is better than a good present,
 but a generous man is ready with both.
 18 A fool will offer nothing but insult,
 and a grudging man's gift makes the eyes smart.

Reflection and foresight

19 Learn before you speak,
 take care of yourself before you fall ill.
 20 Examine yourself before judgment comes,
 and on the day of visitation you will find yourself acquitted.
 21 Humble yourself before you fall ill,

and when you sin, repent.

- 22 Let nothing prevent your discharging a vow in good time, and do not wait till death before setting matters to rights.
- 23 Prepare yourself before making a vow,
and do not be like a man who tempts the Lord.
- 24 Bear the wrath of the last days in mind,
the time of vengeance when God averts his face.
- 25 In a time of plenty remember times of famine,
poverty and want in days of wealth.
- 26 The time slips by between dawn and dusk,
all things pass swiftly in the presence of the Lord.
- 27 A wise man will be cautious in everything, and in sinful days he will take care not to offend.
- 28 Every man of sense recognizes wisdom,
and will respect anyone who has found her.
- 29 Those who understand sayings have themselves grown wise and have poured out apt proverbs.

Self-control

- 30 Do not follow your lusts,
restrain your desires.
- 31 If you allow yourself to satisfy your desires,
this will make you the laughingstock of your enemies.
- 32 Do not indulge in luxurious living,
nor get involved in such society.
- 33 Do not beggar yourself by banqueting on credit
when there is nothing in your pocket.
- 1 19 Behave like that and you will never grow rich;
he who despises trifles will sink down little by little.
- 2 Wine and women corrupt sensible men,
the customer of whores loses all sense of shame.
- 3 Grubs and worms will have him as their legacy,
and the man who knows no shame shall lose his life.

Against loose talk

- 4 Being too ready to trust shows shallowness of mind,
by committing sin a man does wrong to himself.
- 5 Taking pleasure in evil earns condemnation,
by hating gossip a man avoids evil.
- 6 Never repeat what you are told
and you will come to no harm;
- 7 whether to friend or foe, do not talk about it, unless it would be sinful not to, do not reveal it;
- 8 you would be heard out, then mistrusted,
and in due course you would be hated.
- 9 Have you heard something? Let it die with you.
Courage! It will not burst you!
- 10 A fool will suffer birthpangs over something told him,
like a woman laboring with child.
- 11 Like an arrow stuck in the flesh of the thigh,
such is a piece of news inside a fool.

Do not trust everything you hear

- 13 Question your friend, he may have done nothing at all,
and if he has done anything, he will not do it again.
- 14 Question your neighbor, he may have said nothing at all,
and if he has said anything, he will not say it again.

- 15 Question your friend, for slander is very common,
 16 do not believe all you hear.
 16 A man sometimes makes a slip, without meaning what he says;
 17 and which of us has never sinned by speech?
 17 Question your neighbor before you threaten him,
 18 and leave scope for the Law of the Most High.

True and false wisdom

- 20 Wisdom consists entirely in fearing the Lord, and wisdom is entirely constituted by the fulfilling of the Law.
 22 But being learned in evil is not wisdom,
 26 and there is no shrewd judgment in the advice of sinners.
 23 There is a cleverness that is foul,
 20 he who does not have wisdom is a fool.
 24 Better be short of sense and full of fear,
 27 than abound in shrewdness and violate the Law.
 25 There is an adroit sort of cleverness promoting injustice,
 23 there is the man who will abuse favors to establish his case.
 26 There is the man who will walk bowed down with grief,
 when inwardly this is nothing but deceit:
 27 he hides his face and pretends to be deaf,
 24 and when you are off your guard he takes advantage of you.
 28 This man may think he lacks the power to sin,
 25 but he will do wrong when he gets the chance.
 29 You can tell a man by his appearance,
 26 you can tell a thinking man by the look on his face.
 30 A man's dress tells you what he does,
 27 and a man's walk tells you what he is.

Silence and speech

- 1 20 There is the rebuke that is untimely,
 28 and there is the man who keeps quiet, and he is the shrewd one.
 2 But how much better to rebuke than to fume!
 3 The man who acknowledges a fault wards off punishment.
 4 Like a eunuch longing to take a girl's virginity
 3 so is he who uses force to argue cases.
 5 There is the man who keeps quiet and is considered wise, another incurs hatred for talking too much.
 6 There is the man who keeps quiet, not knowing how to answer,
 another keeps quiet, because he knows when to speak.
 7 A wise man will keep quiet till the right moment,
 but a garrulous fool will always misjudge it.
 8 The man who talks too much will get himself disliked,
 and the self-appointed oracle will make himself hated.

Paradoxes

- 9 There is the man who finds misfortune the saving of him, and the lucky find that may turn to loss.
 10 There is the gift that affords you no profit,
 and the gift that repays you double.
 11 There is the honor that leads to humiliation, and there are men in a low state who raise their heads.

- 12 There is the man who buys much for little,
yet pays for it seven times over.
- 13 The wise man will win love by his words,
while fools may shower favors in vain.
- 14 A stupid man's gift will bring you no advantage,
his eyes look for seven times as much in return.
- 15 He gives little and reviles much,
he opens his mouth like the town crier,
- 16 he lends today and demands payment tomorrow;
he is a detestable fellow.
- 16
17 The fool will say, "I have no friends,
I get no gratitude for my good deeds;
- 17
18 those who eat my bread have malicious tongues."
How often he will be laughed at, and by how many!

Inappropriate talk

- 18
20 Better a slip on the pavement than a slip of the tongue;
this is how ruin takes the wicked by surprise.
- 19
21 A coarse-grained man is like an indiscreet story
endlessly retold by the ignorant.
- 20
22 A maxim is rejected when coming from a fool,
since he does not utter it on the apt occasion.
- 21
23 Take a man who is prevented from sinning by poverty;
no qualms of conscience disturb his rest.
- 22
24 Take a man who destroys himself out of false shame,
destroys himself for the sake of a fool's opinion.
- 23
25 Take a man who, out of false shame, makes promises to a friend,
and so makes an enemy for nothing.

Lying

- 24
26 Lying is an ugly blot on a man,
and ever on the lips of the ignorant.
- 25
27 A thief is preferable to an inveterate liar,
but both are heading for ruin.
- 26
28 Lying is an abominable habit,
so that disgrace is the liar's for ever.

The wise man: his dignity and his dangers

- 27
29 A wise man advances himself by his words,
a shrewd man will please princes.
- 28
30 He who tills the soil will have a full harvest,
he who pleases princes will secure pardon for his offenses.
- 29
31 Presents and gifts blind wise men's eyes
and stifle rebukes like a muzzle on the mouth.
- 30
32 Wisdom concealed, and treasure undiscovered, what use is either of these?
- 31
33 Better a man who conceals his folly than a man who conceals his wisdom.

Various sins

- 1 21 My son, have you sinned? Do not do it again, and ask forgiveness for your previous faults.
- 2 Flee from sin as from a snake,
if you approach it, it will bite you;
- 3 its teeth are lion's teeth,
they deprive men of their lives.
- 4 All lawbreaking is like a two-edged sword,
the wounds it inflicts are beyond cure.
- 5 Panic and violence make havoc of palaces,
similarly, desolation overtakes the houses of the proud.
- 6 A plea from a poor man's mouth goes straight to the ear of God,
whose judgment comes without delay.
- 7 Whoever resents reproof walks in the sinner's footsteps;
the man who fears the Lord bears repentance in his heart.
- 8 The glib speaker is known far and wide,
but when he makes a slip the thinking man detects it.
- 9 To build your house on other people's money is like collecting stones for your own tomb.
- 10 A meeting of lawless men is like a heap of tow:
they will end in a blazing fire.
- 11 The sinner's road is smoothly paved,
but it ends at the pit of Sheol.

The wise man and the fool

- 12 Whoever keeps the Law will master his instincts;
the fear of the Lord is made perfect in wisdom.
- 13 The man who lacks intelligence cannot be taught,
but intelligence can increase a man's bitterness.
- 14 The wise man's knowledge will increase like a flood,
and his advice is like a living spring.
- 15 The heart of a fool is like a broken jar,
it will not hold any knowledge.
- 16 If a cultured man hears a wise saying,
he praises it and caps it with another;
if an imbecile hears it, he laughs at it,
and tosses it behind his back.
- 17 The talk of a fool is like a load on a journey,
but it is a pleasure to listen to an intelligent man.
- 18 The shrewd man's utterance will be eagerly awaited in the assembly,
what he says will be given serious consideration.
- 19 The wisdom of a fool is like the wreckage of a house,
the knowledge of a dolt is incoherent talk.
- 20 To the senseless fellow instruction is like fetters on his feet,
like manacles on his right hand.
- 21 A fool laughs at the top of his voice,
but a man of intelligence quietly smiles.
- 22 To the shrewd man instruction is like a golden ornament,
like a bracelet on his right arm.

- 22 The foot of a fool goes straight into a house,
 25 but a man of much experience is respectful in his approach;
 23 a stupid man peeps inside through the door,
 26 a well-bred man waits outside.
 24 Listening at doors is a sign of bad upbringing,
 27 a perceptive man would be ashamed to do so.
 25 The lips of gossips repeat the words of others,
 28 the words of wise men are carefully weighed.
 26 The heart of fools is exposed in their words;
 29 the words of wise men reveal their heart.
 27 When a godless man curses his enemy,
 30 he is cursing himself.
 28 The scandalmonger sullies himself
 31 and earns the hatred of the neighborhood.

The idler

- 1 22 An idler is comparable to a stone covered in filth,
 everyone whistles at his disgrace.
 2 An idler is comparable to a lump of dung,
 anyone picking it up shakes it off his hand.

Degenerate children

- 3 It is a disgrace to have fathered a badly brought-up son,
 and the birth of a daughter is a loss.
 4 A sensible daughter is a treasure to her husband,
 but a shameless one is a grief to her father.
 5 An insolent daughter puts father and mother to shame,
 and will be disowned by both.
 6 An untimely remonstrance is like music at a funeral,
 but a thrashing and correction are wisdom at all times.

Wisdom and folly

- 9 You are gluing the broken pieces of a pot together if you try 7 to teach a fool,
 8 you are rousing a man who is besotted with sleep.
 9 A fool is the same as a drowsing man if you have to explain anything to him,
 when you have finished he will say, "What is it all about?"
 11 Shed tears for the dead man, since he has left the light behind;
 10 shed tears for the fool, since he has left his wits behind;
 shed quieter tears for the dead, since he is at rest.
 11 For the fool, life is sadder than death.
 12 Mourning for the dead lasts seven days,
 13 for the foolish and ungodly all the days of their lives.
 13 Do not waste many words on a stupid man,
 14 do not go near a dolt.
 15 Beware of him, or he will give you trouble,
 and leave you soiled by contact with him.
 16 Avoid him, and you will find rest
 and not be exasperated by his folly.
 14 What is heavier than lead,
 and what is its name if not "fool?"
 15 Sand, and salt, and a lump of iron 18 are all easier to bear than a dolt.

- 16 A tie beam bonded into a building
 19 will not be dislodged by an earthquake; 20 so too, a heart resolved after due reflection will not flinch at the critical moment.
- 17 A heart founded on intelligent reflection is like a stucco decoration on a smooth wall.
- 18 Pebbles placed on top of a wall
 21 will not stand up to the wind;
 22 no more can the heart of a fool frightened at his own thoughts stand up to fear.

Friendship

- 19 Prick an eye and you will draw a tear, 24 prick a heart and you bring its feelings to light.
- 20 Throw stones at birds and you scare them away, 25 revile a friend and you break up friendship.
- 21 If you have drawn your sword on a friend, 26 do not despair; there is a way back.
- 22 If you have opened your mouth against your friend, 27 do not worry; there is hope for reconciliation;
 but insult, arrogance, betrayal of secrets, and the stab in the back—
 in these cases any friend will run away.
- 23 Win your neighbor's confidence when he is poor,
 28 so that you may enjoy his later good fortune with him;
 29 stand by him in times of trouble,
 in order to have your share when he comes into a legacy.
- 24 Fire is heralded by the reek of the furnace and smoke, 30 so too bloodshed by insults.
- 25 I will not be ashamed to shelter a friend,
 31 nor will I hide from his face;
 26 and if evil comes to me through him,
 32 everyone who hears about it will beware of him.

Vigilance

- 27 Who will set a guard on my mouth, 33 and a seal of prudence on my lips,
 to keep me from falling,
 and my tongue from causing my ruin?
- 1 23 Lord, father and master of my life,
 do not abandon me to their whims,
 do not let me fall because of them.
- 2 Who will lay whips to my thoughts,
 and the discipline of wisdom to my heart,
 to be unmerciful to my errors,
 and let none of my sins go unchecked
- 3 in case my errors multiply,
 and my sins increase in number,
 and I fall before my adversaries,
 and my enemy gloats over me?
- 4 Lord, father and God of my life,
 do not give me proud eyes,
 5 turn lust away from me,
 6 do not let lechery and lust grip me,
 do not give me over to shameless desire.

Swearing

7 Listen, children, to the instruction I have to give;
 whoever keeps it will not be caught out.
 8 The sinner is ensnared by his own lips,
 both the abusive and the proud man are tripped by them.
 9 Do not accustom your mouth to swearing,
 (10) nor get into the habit of naming the Holy One;
 10 for just as a slave who is constantly overseen 11 will never be without bruises, so too the man who is continually swearing oaths and uttering
 the name
 will not be exempt from sin.
 11 A man forever swearing is full of iniquity,
 12 and the scourge will not depart from his house.
 13 If he offends, his sin will be on him,
 if he swears lightly, he sins twice over; 14 if he swears a false oath, he will not be treated as innocent,
 for his house will be filled with calamities.

Foul talk

13 There is a manner of talking that is fraught with death;
 14 let it not be found in the inheritance of Jacob, 15 for devout men will keep all that far from them,
 they will not wallow in sin.
 16 Do not habituate your mouth to coarseness and foul language,
 17 for this means sinful talk.
 18 Remember your father and mother
 19 when you are sitting among princes,
 in case you forget yourself in their presence,
 and behave like a fool,
 and then wish you had not been born,
 and curse the day of your birth.
 20 A man in the habit of using improper words will never break himself of it however long he lives.

Incest and adultery

19 Two kinds of men multiply sins,
 20 and a third draws down wrath:
 21 there is a desire that, blazing like a furnace,
 22 cannot be quenched until it is slaked;
 23 there is the man who lusts for his own flesh:
 he will not give up until the fire consumes him;
 24 to a fornicator all food is sweet,
 and he will not weary of it until he dies.
 25 The man who sins against his own marriage bed,
 26 and says to himself, "Who can see me?
 There is darkness all around me, the walls hide me,
 nobody sees me; why should I worry?
 The Most High will not call my sins to mind":
 27 what he fears is the eyes of men,
 28 he does not realize that the eyes of the Lord
 are ten thousand times brighter than the sun,
 observing every aspect of human behavior,
 seeing into the most secret corners.
 29 All things were known to him before they were created,
 and are still, now that they are finished.

21 This man will be punished in view of the whole town,
30 and will be seized where he least expects it.

The adulteress

22 Similarly the woman who deserts her husband,
32 and provides him with an heir by another man:
23 first, she has disobeyed the Law of the Most High;
33 secondly, she has been false to her husband;
and thirdly, she has gone whoring in adultery
and conceived children by another man.
24 She will be led before the assembly,
34 an inquiry will be held about her children.
25 Her children will strike no root,
35 her branches will bear no fruit.
26 She will leave an accursed memory behind her,
36 her shame will never be wiped out.
27 And those who survive her will recognize 37 that nothing is better than fearing the Lord, and nothing sweeter than adherence to the Lord's commandments.

Discourse of Wisdom

1 24 Wisdom speaks her own praises,
in the midst of her people she glories in herself.
2 She opens her mouth in the assembly of the Most High,
she glories in herself in the presence of the Mighty One;
3 "I came forth from the mouth of the Most High,
6 and I covered the earth like mist.
4 I had my tent in the heights,
7 and my throne in a pillar of cloud.
5 Alone I encircled the vault of the sky,
8 and I walked on the bottom of the deeps.
6 Over the waves of the sea and over the whole earth,
9 and over every people and nation I have held sway.
7 Among all these I searched for rest,
11 and looked to see in whose territory I might pitch camp.
8 Then the creator of all things instructed me,
12 and he who created me fixed a place for my tent.
13 He said, 'Pitch your tent in Jacob, make Israel your inheritance.'
9 From eternity, in the beginning, he created me,
14 and for eternity I shall remain.
10 I ministered before him in the holy tabernacle,
15 and thus was I established on Zion.
11 In the beloved city he has given me rest,
and in Jerusalem I wield my authority.
12 I have taken root in a privileged people,
16 in the Lord's property, in his inheritance.
13 I have grown tall as a cedar on Lebanon,
17 as a cypress on Mount Hermon;
14 I have grown tall as a palm in Engedi,
18 as the rose bushes of Jericho;
19 as a fine olive in the plain,
as a plane tree I have grown tall.
15 I have exhaled a perfume like cinnamon and acacia,
20 I have breathed out a scent like choice myrrh,

21 like galbanum, onycha and stacte,
 like the smoke of incense in the tabernacle.
 16 I have spread my branches like a terebinth,
 22 and my branches are glorious and graceful.
 17 I am like a vine putting out graceful shoots,
 23 my blossoms bear the fruit of glory and wealth.
 19 Approach me, you who desire me,
 26 and take your fill of my fruits,
 20 for memories of me are sweeter than honey,
 27 inheriting me is sweeter than the honeycomb.
 28 They who eat me will hunger for more,
 29 they who drink me will thirst for more.
 22 Whoever listens to me will never have to blush,
 30 whoever acts as I dictate will never sin."

Wisdom and the Law

23 All this is no other than the book of the covenant of the 32 Most High God,
 33 the Law that Moses enjoined on us,
 an inheritance for the communities of Jacob.
 25 That is what makes wisdom brim like the Pishon,^a 35 like the Tigris in the season of fruit,
 26 what makes understanding brim over like the Euphrates,
 36 like the Jordan at harvest time;
 27 and makes discipline flow like the Nile,
 like the Gihon at the time of vintage.
 28 The first man never managed to grasp her entirely,
 38 nor has the most recent one fully comprehended her;
 29 for her thoughts are wider than the sea,
 39 and her designs more profound than the abyss.
 30 And I, like a conduit from a river,
 40 like a watercourse running into a garden,
 41 I said, "I am going to water my orchard,
 42 I intend to irrigate my flower beds."
 43 And see, my conduit has grown into a river,
 and my river has grown into a sea.
 32 Now I shall make discipline shine out,
 44 I shall send its light far and wide.
 33 I shall pour out teaching like prophecy,
 46 as a legacy to all future generations.
 34 Observe that I have not toiled for myself alone,
 47 but for all who are seeking wisdom.

Proverbs

1 25 There are three things my soul delights in,
 and which are delightful to God and to men:
 2 concord between brothers, friendship between neighbors,
 and a wife and husband who live happily together.
 2 There are three sorts of people my soul hates,
 3 and whose existence I consider an outrage:
 4 a poor man swollen with pride, a rich man who is a liar
 and an adulterous old man who has no sense.

24 a. The Jordan and the Nile are grouped here with the four rivers of Eden, Gn. 2:10f.

Old men

- 3 If you have gathered nothing in your youth,
 how can you find anything in your old age?
 4 How fine a thing: sound judgment with gray hairs,
 and for graybeards to know how to advise!
 5 How fine a thing: wisdom in the aged,
 and considered advice coming from men of distinction!
 6 The crown of old men is ripe experience,
 8 their true glory, the fear of the Lord.

Numerical proverbs

- 7 There are nine things I can think of which strike me as happy,
 and a tenth which is now on my tongue:
 10 a man whose joy is in his children,
 he who lives to see the downfall of his enemies;
 8 happy the man who keeps house with a sensible wife;
 11 he who does not toil with ox and donkey^a;
 he who has never sinned with his tongue;
 he who does not serve a man less worthy than himself;
 9 happy the man who has acquired good sense
 12 and can find attentive ears for what he has to say;
 10 how great the man is who has acquired wisdom;
 13 but no one excels the man who fears the Lord.
 11 The fear of the Lord surpasses everything; 15 what can compare with a man who has mastered that

Women

- 13 Any wound rather than a wound of the heart!
 17 Any spite rather than the spite of woman!
 14 Any evil rather than an evil caused by an enemy!
 18 Any vengeance rather than the vengeance of a foe!
 19 There is no poison worse than the poison of a snake,
 15 there is no fury worse than the fury of an enemy.
 22 I would sooner keep house with a lion or a dragon
 23 than keep house with a spiteful wife.
 16
 17 A woman's spite changes her appearance
 24 and makes her face as grim as any bear's.
 18 When her husband goes out to dinner with his neighbors,
 25 he cannot help heaving bitter sighs.
 19 No wickedness comes anywhere near the wickedness of a woman,
 26 may a sinner's lot be hers!
 20 As climbing up a sandhill is for elderly feet
 27 such is a garrulous wife for a quiet husband.
 21 Do not be taken in by a woman's beauty,
 28 never lose your head over a woman.
 22 Bad temper, insolence and shame hold sway
 29 where the wife supports the husband.
 23 Low spirits, gloomy face, stricken heart:
 31 such the achievements of a spiteful wife.
 32 Slack hands and sagging knees
 indicate a wife who makes her husband wretched.
 24 Sin began with a woman,
 33 and thanks to her we all must die.

- 25 Do not let water find a leak,
 26 do not allow a spiteful woman free rein for her tongue.
 26 If she will not do as you tell her,
 27 get rid of her.^b
- 1 26 Happy the husband of a really good wife;
 the number of his days will be doubled.
- 2 A perfect wife is the joy of her husband,
 he will live out the years of his life in peace.
- 3 A good wife is the best of portions,
 reserved for those who fear the Lord;
- 4 rich or poor, they will be glad of heart,
 cheerful of face, whatever the season.
- 5 There are three things my heart dreads,
 and a fourth which terrifies me:
 6 slander by a whole town, the gathering of a mob,
 7 and a false accusation—these are all worse than death;
 8 but a woman jealous of a woman means heartbreak and sorrow,
 9 and all this is the scourge of the tongue.
- 7 A bad wife is a badly fitting ox yoke,
 10 trying to master her is like grasping a scorpion.
- 8 A drunken wife will goad anyone to fury, 11 she makes no effort to hide her degradation.
- 9 A woman's wantonness shows in her bold look,
 12 and can be recognized by her sidelong glances.
- 10 Keep a headstrong daughter under firm control,
 or she will abuse any indulgence she receives.
- 11 Keep a strict watch on her shameless eye,
 do not be surprised if she disgraces you.
- 12 Like a thirsty traveler she will open her mouth 13 and drink any water she comes across;
 she will sit in front of every peg,
 and open her quiver to any arrow.
- 13 The grace of a wife will charm her husband, 16 her accomplishments will make him the stronger.
- 14 A silent wife is a gift from the Lord, 18 no price can be put on a well-trained character.
- 15 A modest wife is a boon twice over, 20 a chaste character cannot be weighed on scales.
- 16 Like the sun rising over the mountains of the Lord 21 is the beauty of a good wife in a well-kept house.
- 17 Like the lamp shining on the sacred lampstand 22 is a beautiful face on a well-proportioned body.
- 18 Like golden pillars on a silver base
 23 are shapely legs on firm-set heels.

Depressing things

- 28 There are two things which grieve my heart
 29 and a third arouses my anger:
 26 a warrior wasting away through poverty,
 intelligent men treated with contempt, 27 a man turning back from virtue to sin—
 the Lord marks this man out for a violent death.

Commerce

- 29
28 It is difficult for a merchant to avoid doing wrong
and for a salesman not to incur sin.
- 1 27 Many have sinned for the sake of profit,
he who hopes to be rich must be ruthless.
- 2 A peg will stick in the joint between two stones,
and sin will wedge itself between selling and buying.
- 3
4 If a man does not hold earnestly to the fear of the Lord,
his House will soon be overthrown.

Speech

- 4
5 In a shaken sieve the rubbish is left behind,
so too the defects of a man appear in his talk.
- 5
6 The kiln tests the work of the potter,
the test of a man is in his conversation.
- 6
7 The orchard where the tree grows is judged on the quality of its fruit, similarly a man's words betray what he feels.
- 7 8 Do not praise a man before he has spoken,
since this is the test of men.

Virtue

- 8
9 If you pursue justice you will achieve it and put it on like a festal gown.
- 9
10 Birds consort with their kind,
justice comes home to those who practice it.
- 10
11 The lion lies in wait for its prey,
so does sin for those who do wrong.
- 11
12 The devout man's conversation is wisdom at all times,
but the fool is as changeable as the moon.
- 12
13 Among stupid people look for your opportunity to leave,
but among thoughtful men take your time.
- 13
14 The conversation of fools is disgusting, raucous their laughter at their sinful orgies.
- 14
15 The talk of hard-swearing men makes your hair stand on end, their brawls make you stop your ears.
- 15
16 A quarrel between proud men leads to bloodshed, their abuse is painful to hear.

Secrets

- 16
17 A betrayer of secrets forfeits all esteem
and will never find the kind of friend he wants.
- 17
18 Be fond of a friend and keep faith with him, but if you have betrayed his secrets, do not pursue him any more;
- 18
20 for as a man destroys his enemy,
so you have destroyed the friendship of your neighbor,
and as you let a bird slip through your fingers,
so you have let your friend go, and will not catch him.
- 19
21 Do not go after him—he is far away,
he has fled like a gazelle from the snare.
- 20
22 For a wound can be bandaged and abuse forgiven, but for the man who has betrayed a secret there is no hope.
- 21
23 24

Hypocrisy

- 22 The man with a sly wink is plotting mischief, 23 no one can dissuade him from it.
- 23 Honey-tongued to your face, 26 he is lost in admiration at your words;
but behind your back he has other things to say,
and makes your own words sound offensive.
- 24 I have found many things to hate, but nothing to equal this man, 27 and the Lord hates him too.
- 25 The man who throws a stone in the air, throws it on to his own head;
28 a treacherous blow cuts both ways.
- 26 The man who digs a pit falls into it,
29 he who sets a snare will be caught by it.
- 27 On the man who does evil, evil will recoil, 30 though where it came from he will not know.
- 28 Sarcasm and abuse are the mark of an arrogant man, 31 but vengeance lies in wait like a lion for him.
- 29 The trap will close on all who rejoice in the downfall of the devout, 32 and pain will eat them up before they die.

Resentment

- 30 Resentment and anger, these are foul things too, 33 and both are found with the sinner.
- 1 28 He who exacts vengeance will experience the vengeance of the Lord, who keeps strict account of sin.
- 2 Forgive your neighbor the hurt he does you,
and when you pray, your sins will be forgiven.
- 3 If a man nurses anger against another,
can he then demand compassion from the Lord?
- 4 Showing no pity for a man like himself,
can he then plead for his own sins?
- 5 Mere creature of flesh, he cherishes resentment;
who will forgive him his sins?
- 6 Remember the last things, and stop hating,
7 remember dissolution and death, and live by the commandments.
- 7 Remember the commandments, and do not bear your 8 neighbor ill will;
- 9 remember the covenant of the Most High, and overlook
the offense.

Quarrels

- 8 Avoid quarreling and you will sin less;
10 for a hot-tempered man provokes quarrels,
9 a sinner sows trouble between friends,
introducing discord among men at peace.
- 10 The way a fire burns depends on its fuel, 12 a quarrel spreads in proportion to its violence;
a man's rage depends on his strength,
his fury grows fiercer in proportion to his wealth.
- 11 A sudden quarrel kindles fire, 13 a hasty dispute leads to bloodshed.
- 12 Blow on a spark and up it flares, 14 spit on it and out it goes;
both are the effects of your mouth.

The tongue

13 A curse on the scandalmonger and the deceitful,
 13 he has ruined many who lived in concord.
 14 That third tongue has shaken many,^a 16 and driven them from nation to nation;
 17 it has pulled down fortified cities,
 and overturned the houses of princes.
 15 The third tongue has driven virtuous wives out of house and home, 19 and deprived them of the due reward for their hard work.
 16 Anyone who listens to it will never know peace of mind,
 20 will never live in peace again.
 17 A stroke of the whip raises a weal,
 21 but a stroke of the tongue breaks bones.
 18 Many have fallen by the edge of the sword,
 22 but many more have fallen by the tongue.
 19 Happy the man who has been sheltered from it, 23 and has not experienced its fury,
 who has not dragged its yoke about,
 or been bound in its chains;
 20 for its yoke is an iron yoke,
 24 its chains are bronze chains;
 21 the death it inflicts is a miserable death,
 25 Sheol is preferable to it.
 22 It cannot gain a hold over the devout,
 26 they are not burned by its flames.
 23 Those who desert the Lord will fall into it, 27 it will flare up inextinguishably among them,
 it will be let loose against them like a lion,
 it will tear them like a leopard.
 24 Look, fence your property around with a quickthorn hedge,
 28 lock away your silver and gold;
 25 then make scales and weights for your words,
 29 and put a door with bolts across your mouth.
 26 Take care you take no false step through it,
 30 in case you fall a prey to him who lies in wait.

Loans

1 29 Making your neighbor a loan is an act of mercy, to lend him a helping hand is to keep the commandments.
 2 Lend to your neighbor in his time of need,
 and in your turn repay your neighbor on time.
 3 Be as good as your word and keep faith with him,
 and you will find your needs met every time.
 4 Many treat a loan as a windfall,
 and embarrass those who have come to their rescue.
 5 Until he gets something, a man will kiss his neighbor's hand,
 and refer to his wealth in respectful tones;
 6 but when the loan falls due, he puts this off,
 he repays with offhand words,
 and pleads the inconvenience of the time.
 6 Even if he can be made to pay, his creditor will barely recover half,
 and consider even that a windfall.
 8 But otherwise he will be cheated of his money,
 and undeservedly gain himself an enemy;
 9 the man will pay him back in curses and recriminations,
 and instead of respect will have contempt for him.

⁷₁₀ Many, not out of malice, refuse to lend;
they are merely anxious not to be cheated for nothing.

Generosity

⁸₁₁ Nevertheless, be patient with those who are badly off,
do not keep them waiting on your generosity.
⁹₁₂ For the commandment's sake go to the poor man's help,
do not turn him away empty-handed in his need.
¹⁰₁₃ Better let your silver go on brother or friend,
do not let it go to waste, rusting under a stone.
¹¹₁₄ Invest your treasure as the Most High orders,
and you will find it more profitable than gold.
¹²₁₅ Deposit generosity in your storerooms and it will release you from every misfortune.
¹³₁₆ Better than sturdy shield or weighty spear,
¹⁶₁₇ it will fight for you against the enemy.

Securities

¹⁴₁₈ A good man will go surety for his neighbor;
a man has lost all shame if he fails him.
¹⁵₁₉ Do not forget the favor your guarantor has done you;
he has given his life for you.
¹⁶₂₁ A sinner is careless of his guarantor's prosperity,
an ungrateful man forgets the one who saved him.
¹⁷₂₃ Going surety has ruined many prosperous men and rocked them like a wave of the sea.
¹⁸₂₄ It has driven powerful men from home
to wander among foreign nations.
¹⁹₂₅ The sinner who involves himself with guarantees,
in pursuit of a deal, will find himself involved in lawsuits.
²⁰₂₆ Come to your neighbor's help as far as you can,
but take care not to fall into the same plight.

Home and hospitality

²¹₂₇ The first thing in life is water, and bread, and clothing, and a house for the sake of privacy.
²²₂₈ Better a poor man's life under a roof of planks,
than lavish fare in the house of another.
²³₂₉ Whether you have little or much, be content with it,
and you will not be dubbed an intruder.
²⁴₃₀ It is a miserable life, going from house to house;
wherever you stay, not daring to open your mouth;
²⁵₃₁ you are a stranger, you know the taste of humiliation,
not to mention the sound of embittering words, ²⁶₃₂ "Come along, stranger, lay the table,
if you have anything with you, give it to me to eat." ²⁷₃₃ "Go away, stranger, make room for someone important;
my brother is coming to stay, I need the house."
²⁸₃₄ It is hard for a cultured man to hear himself beggared hospitality and treated like an undischarged debtor.

28 a. From the context, it seems that the "first" man is slandered to a "second" man by "the third tongue."

Bringing up children

- 1 30 A man who loves his son will beat him frequently so that in after years the son may be his comfort.
- 2 A man who is strict with his son will reap the benefit,
and be able to boast of him to his acquaintances.
- 3 A man who educates his son will be the envy of his enemy,
and will be proud of him among his friends.
- 4 Even when the father dies, he might well not be dead,
since he leaves his likeness behind him.
- 5 In life he has had the joy of his company,
dying, he has no anxieties.
- 6 He leaves an avenger against his enemies,
and a rewarder of favors for his friends.
- 7 A man who coddles his son will bandage his wounds,
his heart will turn over at every shout.
- 8 A horse badly broken-in turns out stubborn,
an uncontrolled son turns out headstrong.
- 9 Pamper your child, and he will give you a fright,
play with him, and he will bring you sorrow.
- 10 Do not share his laughter, if you do not wish to share his sorrow and to end by grinding your teeth.
- 11 Allow him no independence in childhood,
and do not wink at his mistakes.
- 12 Bend his neck in youth,
bruise his ribs while he is a child,
or else he will grow stubborn and disobedient,
and hurt you very deeply.
- 13 Be strict with your son, and persevere with him,
or you will rue his insolence.

Health

- 14 Better a poor man healthy and fit
than a rich man tormented in body.
- 15 Health and strength are better than any gold,
a robust body than untold wealth.
- 16 No riches can outweigh bodily health,
no enjoyment surpass a cheerful heart.
- 17 Better death than a wretched life,
and everlasting rest than chronic illness.
- 18 Good things lavished on a closed mouth are like food offerings put on a grave.
- 19 What use is an offering to an idol which can neither eat nor smell?
- 20 How describe a man pursued by the Lord's displeasure?^a
- 20 He looks and sighs
21 as a eunuch embracing a virgin sighs.

Happiness

- 21 Do not abandon yourself to sorrow,
do not torment yourself with brooding.
- 22 Gladness of heart is life to a man,
23 joy is what gives him length of days.

²³
²⁴ Beguile your cares, console your heart,
 chase sorrow far away;
²⁵ for sorrow has been the ruin of many,
 and is no use to anybody.
²⁶ Jealousy and anger shorten your days,
 and worry brings premature old age.
²⁷ A genial heart makes a good trencherman,
 one who benefits from his food.

Riches

¹ 31 The sleeplessness brought by wealth makes a man lose weight, the worry it causes drives away sleep.
² The worries of the daytime interfere with slumber,
 as a serious illness drives away sleep.
³ The rich man toils, piling up money,
 and when he leaves off, he stuffs himself with luxuries;
⁴ the poor man toils, his livelihood dwindling,
 and when he leaves off, is destitute.
⁵ The man who loves gold will not be reckoned virtuous,
 the man who chases after profit will be caught out by it.
⁶ Many have gone to their ruin for the sake of gold,
 though their destruction stared them in the face;
⁷ it is a snare for those who sacrifice to it,
 and every fool will be caught in it.
⁸ Happy the rich man who is found to be blameless and does not go chasing after gold.
⁹ Who is he, for us to congratulate him,
 since he has achieved wonders among his kind?
¹⁰ Who has been through this test and emerged perfect?
 He may well be proud of that!
 Who has had the power to sin and has not sinned,
 to wrong another and not done it?
¹¹ His fortune will be firmly based and the assembly will acclaim his generosity.

Dinner parties

¹² Have you sat down at a lavish table?
 Do not gape at it,
¹³ do not say, "What a feast!"
¹⁴ Remember how bad it is to have a greedy eye;
¹⁵ is anything in creation greedier than the eye?
 That is why it waters on every occasion.
¹⁶ Do not reach out for anything your host has his eye on,
¹⁷ do not jostle him at the dish.
¹⁸ Judge your fellow guest's needs by your own,
¹⁹ be thoughtful in every way.
²⁰ Eat what is offered you like a well brought-up person,
 do not wolf your food or you will earn dislike.
²¹ For politeness' sake be the first to stop;
 do not act the glutton, or you will give offense, ²² and if you are sitting with a large party,
 do not help yourself before the others do.
²³ A little is quite enough for a well-bred person;

his breathing is easy when he gets to bed.

²⁰₂₄ A moderate diet insures sound sleep,
a man gets up early, in the best of spirits.

²³ Sleeplessness, biliousness and gripe are what the glutton has to endure.

²¹₂₅ If you are forced to eat too much,
get up, go and be sick, and you will feel better.

²²₂₆ Listen to me, my son, do not disregard me,
eventually you will see the force of my words.

²⁷ Be moderate in all your activities and illness will never overtake you.

²³₂₈ People praise the man who keeps a splendid table,
and their opinion of his munificence is sound; ²⁴₂₉ similarly, the man who keeps a mean table will be notorious throughout the town,
and their opinion of his meanness is not doubtful either.

Wine

²⁵₃₀ Do not play the valiant at your wine,
for wine has been the undoing of many.

²⁶₃₁ The furnace proves the temper of steel,
and wine proves hearts in the drinking bouts of braggarts.

²⁷₃₂ Wine is life for man
if drunk in moderation.

³³ What is life worth without wine?

³⁵ It was created to make men happy.

²⁸₃₆³⁷ Drunk at the right time and in the right amount,
wine makes for a glad heart and a cheerful mind.

²⁹₃₉ Bitterness of soul comes of wine drunk to excess out of temper or bravado.

³⁰₄₀ Drunkenness excites the stupid man to a fury to his own harm.
it reduces his strength while leading to blows.

³¹₄₁ Do not rebuke your neighbor at a wine feast,
do not slight him when he is enjoying himself,

⁴² do not speak reproachfully to him,
or annoy him by reclaiming money owing.

Banquets

¹ 32 Have they made you president?ⁿ Do not let it go to your head.
behave like everyone else in the party,
see that they are happy and then sit down yourself.

² Having discharged your duties, take your place
and enjoy yourself with the others,
³ and receive the crown for your competence.

³₄⁵ Speak, old men, it is proper that you should;
but know what you are talking about, and do not interrupt the music.

⁴₆ If entertainment is provided, do not keep up a running commentary, and do not play the sage at the wrong moment.

⁵₇ A carbuncle seal on a precious stone,
such is a concert of music at a wine feast.

⁶₈ An emerald seal in a golden setting,
such are strains of music with a vintage wine.

- 9-10⁷
11 Speak, young men, if you have to;
but twice at most, and then only if questioned.
- 8
12 Keep to the point, say much in few words;
give the impression of knowing but not wanting to speak.
- 9
13 Among eminent men do not behave as though you were their equal;
do not make frivolous remarks when someone else is speaking.
- 10
14 Lightning comes before the thunder, favor goes ahead of a modest man.
- 11
15 Rise in good time to take your leave, do not bring up the rear;
hurry home without loitering.
- 12
16 There amuse yourself, and do what you have a mind to,
but do not sin by arrogant talk.
- 13
17 And for all this bless him who made you and plies you with his good things.

The fear of God

- 14
18 The man who fears the Lord will accept his correction;
those who eagerly look for him will win his favor.
- 15
19 The man who seeks the Law will be nourished by it,
the hypocrite will find it a stumbling block.
- 16
20 Those who fear the Lord will have justice done them,
and make their good deeds shine like a light.
- 17
21 The sinner waves reproof aside,
he finds excuses to do what he wants.
- 18
22 A sensible man never scorns a suggestion;
a proud and godless man will be immune to fear.
- 19
24 Never act without reflection,
and you will have nothing to regret when you have done it.
- 20
25 Do not venture on a rough road,
for fear of stumbling over the stones.
- 21
Do not be over confident on an even road,
and beware of your own children.
- 22
26 Watch yourself in everything you do,
23 this is what keeping the commandments means.
- 24
28 The man who trusts in the Law pays attention to the commandments, the man who has confidence in the Lord will come to no harm.
- 1
33 If a man fears the Lord, evil will not come his way,
again and again he will be rescued in his trials.
- 2
The man who hates the Law is not wise,
if hypocritical in observance, he is like a ship in a storm.
- 3
A man of understanding will put his faith in the Law,
for him the Law is as dependable as an oracle.
- 4
Prepare what you have to say and you will get a hearing, marshal your information before you answer.
- 5
The feelings of a fool are like a cart wheel,
his thought revolves like a turning axle.
- 6
A rutting stallion is like a sarcastic friend;
he neighs, whoever rides him.

Inequality

- 7
Why is one day better than another, when each day's light throughout the year comes from the sun?
- 8
They have been differentiated in the mind of the Lord,

9 who has diversified the seasons and feasts;
 some he has made more important and hallowed,
 10 others he has made ordinary days.
 All men come from the ground,
 11 Adam himself was formed out of earth;
 in the fullness of his wisdom the Lord has made distinctions between them,
 and diversified their conditions.
 12 Some he has blessed and made more important,
 some he has hallowed and set near him;
 others he has cursed and humiliated
 by degrading them from their positions.
 13 Like clay in the hands of the potter
 to mold as it pleases him,
 so are men in the hands of their Maker
 to reward as he judges right.
 14 Opposite evil stands good,
 opposite death, life;
 so too, opposite the devout man stands the sinner.
 15 This is the way to view all the works of the Most High;
 they go, in pairs, by opposites.
 16 I myself have been the last to keep watch,
 like a gleaner following the vintagers.
 17 By the blessing of the Lord I have come in first,
 and, like a vintager, filled the winepress.
 18 Observe that I have not toiled for myself only,
 but for all who seek instruction.
 19 Listen to me, you princes of the people,
 leaders of the assembly, lend ear.

Independence

20 Neither to son nor wife, brother nor friend,
 give power over yourself during your own lifetime.
 And do not give your property to anyone else,
 in case you regret it and have to ask for it back.
 21 As long as you live and there is breath in your body,
 do not yield power over yourself to anyone;
 22 since it is better for your children to be your suppliants, than for you to have to look to the generosity of your sons.
 23 In all you do be the master,
 and do not spoil the honor that is rightly yours.
 24 The day your life draws to a close, when death is approaching, is the time to distribute your inheritance.

Slaves

25 Fodder, the stick and burdens for a donkey, bread, discipline and work for a slave.
 26 Work your servant hard, and you will know peace of mind:
 leave his hands idle, and he will start thinking of his freedom.
 27 Yoke and harness will bow the neck,
 for a criminal slave there is the rack and torture.
 28 Keep him occupied, or he will idle;
 idleness teaches all sorts of mischief.
 29 Keep him at his duties, where he should be,

- 30 if he is disobedient, clap him in irons.
But do not be overexacting with anyone,
and do nothing contrary to justice.
- 31 You have only one slave? Treat him like yourself,
since you have acquired him with blood.
- 32 You have only one slave? Treat him as a brother, since you need him as you need yourself.
- 33 If you ill-treat him and he runs away,
which way will you go to look for him?

Dreams

- 1 34 Vain and deceptive hopes are for the foolish,
and dreams put fools in a flutter.
- 2 As well clutch at shadows and chase the wind
as put any faith in dreams.
- 3 Mirror and dream are similar things:
confronting a face, the reflection of that face.
- 4 What can be cleansed by uncleanness,
what can be verified by falsehood?
- 5 Divinations, auguries and dreams are nonsense,
like the delirious fancies of a pregnant woman.
- 6 Unless sent as emissaries from the Most High,
do not give them a thought;
- 7 for dreams have led many astray,
and those building their hopes on them have been disappointed.
- 8 Fulfilling the Law requires no such falsehood,
and wisdom is most perfectly expressed by truthful lips.

Traveling

- 9 A much traveled man knows many things,
and a man of great experience will talk sound sense.
- 10 Someone who has never had his trials knows little;
but the traveled man is master of every situation.
- 11 I have seen many things on my travels,
12 I have understood more than I can put into words.
- 13 I have often been in danger of death,
but I have been spared, and this is why:
14 the spirit of those who fear the Lord can survive,
15 for their hope is in someone with power to save them.
- 16 The man who fears the Lord will not be fainthearted, 17 will not be daunted since the Lord is his hope.
- 18 Happy the soul of the man who fears the Lord.
On whom does he rely? Who supports him?
- 19 The eyes of the Lord watch over those who love him,
he is their powerful protection and their strong support, their screen from the desert wind, their shelter from the midday sun,
a guard against stumbling, an assurance against a fall.
- 20 He revives the spirit and brightens the eyes,
17 he gives healing, life and blessing.

Sacrifices

- 18 The sacrifice of an offering unjustly acquired is a mockery;
21 the gifts of impious men are unacceptable.
- 19 The Most High takes no pleasure in offerings from the godless, 23 multiplying sacrifices will not gain his pardon for sin.
- 20 Offering sacrifice from the property of the poor 24 is as bad as slaughtering a son before his father's very eyes.

21
25

A meager diet is the very life of the poor,
he who withholds it is a man of blood.

22
26
27

A man murders his neighbor if he robs him of his livelihood, sheds blood if he withholds an employee's wages.

23
28

If one man builds while another pulls down,
what else do they gain but trouble?

24
29

If one man prays and another calls down a curse, whose voice will the master listen to?

30

If a man washes after touching a corpse, and then touches it again, what is the good of his washing?

26
31

Just so with a man who fasts for his sins,
and then goes off and commits them again.

Who will listen to his prayers?

What is the good of his self-abasement?

The Law and sacrifices

2
3
4

35

A man multiplies offerings by keeping the Law;
he offers communion sacrifices by following the commandments.

By showing gratitude he makes an offering of fine flour,
by giving alms he offers a sacrifice of praise.

Withdraw from wickedness and the Lord will be pleased, withdraw from injustice and you make atonement.

6
7

Do not appear empty-handed in the Lord's presence;
for all these things are due under the commandment.

8

A virtuous man's offering graces the altar,
and its savor rises before the Most High.

9

A virtuous man's sacrifice is acceptable, its memorial will not be forgotten.

10

Honor the Lord with generosity, do not stint the first fruits you bring.

8
11

Add a smiling face to all your gifts,
and be cheerful as you dedicate your tithes.

12

Give to the Most High as he has given to you, generously as your means can afford;

10 13

for the Lord is a good rewarder, he will reward you seven times over.

The justice of God

11

Offer him no bribe, he will not accept it, 12 13

do not put your faith in an unvirtuous sacrifice;
since the Lord is a judge who is no respecter of personages.

13
16

He shows no respect of personages to the detriment of a poor man,
he listens to the plea of the injured party.

17

He does not ignore the orphan's supplication,
nor the widow's as she pours out her story.

15
18

Do the widow's tears not run down her cheeks,
as she cries out against the man who caused them?

20

The man who with his whole heart serves God will be accepted, his petitions will carry to the clouds.

21

The humble man's prayer pierces the clouds,
until it arrives he is inconsolable,

18

nor will he desist until the Most High takes notice of him, acquits the virtuous and delivers judgment.

22

And the Lord will not be slow,

20 nor will he be dilatory on their behalf,
 until he has crushed the loins of the merciless 23 and exacted vengeance on the nations,
 21 until he has eliminated the hordes of the arrogant and broken the scepters of the wicked, 22 until he has repaid each as his deeds deserve
 24 and human actions as their intentions merit, 25 until he has judged the case of his people and made them rejoice in his mercy.
 24 Mercy is welcome in time of trouble,
 26 like rain clouds in time of drought.

Prayer for the deliverance and restoration of Israel

1 36 Have mercy on us, Master, Lord of all, and look on us,
 2 cast the fear of yourself over every nation.
 3 Raise your hand against the foreign nations and let them see your might.
 4 As in their sight you have proved yourself holy before us,
 so now in our sight prove yourself great before them.
 5 Let them acknowledge you, just as we have acknowledged that there is no God but you, Lord.
 6 Send new portents, do fresh wonders,
 7 win glory for your hand and your right arm.
 8 Rouse your fury, pour out your rage,
 9 destroy the opponent, annihilate the enemy.
 7 Hasten the day, remember the oath,
 and let men tell of your mighty deeds.
 8 Let fiery wrath swallow up the survivor,
 11 and destruction overtake those who use your people badly.
 9 Crush the heads of hostile rulers who say, "There is nobody else but us!"
 10 Gather together all the tribes of Jacob,
 13 restore them their inheritance as in the beginning.^a 11 Have mercy, Lord, on the people who have invoked your name, 14 on Israel whom you have treated as a first-born.
 12 Show compassion on your holy city,
 15 on Jerusalem the place of your rest.
 13 Fill Zion with songs of your praise,
 16 and your sanctuary with your glory.
 14 Bear witness to those you created in the beginning,
 17 and bring about what has been prophesied in your name.
 15 Give those who wait for you their reward,
 18 and let your prophets be proved worthy of belief.
 16 Grant, Lord, the prayer of your servants,
 19 in accordance with Aaron's blessing on your people, 17 so that all the earth's inhabitants may acknowledge that you are the Lord, the everlasting God.

Discrimination

18 The stomach takes in all kinds of food
 20 but some foods are better than others.
 19 As the palate discerns the flavor of game,
 21 so a shrewd man detects lying words.

36 a. The situation implied in this Prayer is that of the year 190 B.C., just before the Maccabean revolt.

20 A perverse heart causes sorrow,
22 an experienced man knows how to pay him back.

Choosing

21 A woman will accept any husband,
23 but some daughters are better than others.
22 A woman's beauty delights the beholder,
24 a man likes nothing better.
23 If her tongue is kind and gentle,
25 her husband has no equal among the sons of men.
24 The man who takes a wife has the makings of a fortune, 26 a helper that suits him, and a pillar to lean on.
25 If a property has no fence, it will be plundered.
27 When a man has no wife, he is aimless and querulous.
26 Will anyone trust a man carrying weapons
28 who flits from town to town?
27 So it is with the man who has no nest,
and lodges wherever night overtakes him.

False friends

1 37 Any friend will say, "I am your friend too,"
but some friends are only friends in name.
2 Is it not a deadly sorrow,
when a comrade or a friend turns enemy?
3 O evil inclination, why were you created,
to cover the earth with deceit?
4 One sort of comrade takes advantage of his friend's good fortune,
but in time of trouble turns against him.
5 Another sort of comrade shares his friend's hardships out of concern,
when it comes to a fight, he springs to arms.
6 Do not forget the friend who fought your battles,
do not put him out of mind once you are rich.

Advisers

7 Any adviser will offer advice,
8 but some are governed by self-interest.
8 Beware of a man who offers advice,
9 first find out what he wants himself—
since his advice coincides with his own interest—
10 in case he has designs on you
9 and tells you, "You are on the right road," 11 but stands well clear to see what will happen to you.
10 Do not consult a man who looks at you askance,
12 conceal your plans from people jealous of you.
11 Do not consult a woman about her rival,
or a coward about war,
a merchant about prices,
or a buyer about selling,
a mean man about gratitude, 13 or a selfish man about kindness,
a lazy fellow about any sort of work, 14 or a casual worker about finishing a job,
an idle servant about a major undertaking—
do not rely on these for any advice.
12 But constantly have recourse to a devout man,
15 whom you know to be a keeper of the commandments,

16 whose soul matches your own,
 and who, if you go wrong, will be sympathetic.
 13 Finally, stick to the advice your own heart gives you, 17 no one can be truer to you than that;
 14 since a man's soul often forewarns him better
 18 than seven watchmen perched on a watchtower.
 15 And besides all this beg the Most High 19 to guide your steps in the truth.

True and false wisdom

16 Reason must be the beginning of every activity,
 20 reflection must come before any undertaking.
 17 Thoughts are rooted in the heart,
 21 and this sends out four branches:
 18 good and evil, life and death,
 and always mistress of them all is the tongue.
 19 Think of a clever man who teaches many people,
 22 but does no good at all to himself.
 20 Think of a man, a ready enough speaker, yet he is detested
 23 and will end up by starving,
 24 not having won the favor of the Lord,
 and being destitute of all wisdom.
 22 Think of a man who is wise in his own eyes,
 25 and the fruits of his understanding are, if you take his word for it, certain.
 23 The truly wise will instruct his own people,
 26 the fruits of his understanding are certain.
 24 This wise man will be filled with blessing.
 27 and those who see him will call him happy.
 25 A man's life lasts a number of days,
 28 but the days of Israel are beyond counting.
 26 The wise man will earn confidence among his people,
 29 his name will live for ever.

Moderation

27 My son, in the course of your life test your constitution, 30 and do not allow it what you see is harmful to it;
 28 for everything does not suit everybody,
 31 nor does everybody take pleasure in everything.
 29 Do not be insatiable over any delicacy,
 32 do not be greedy over food,
 30 for overeating leads to sickness,
 33 and gluttony brings on biliousness.
 31 Many have died of gluttony;
 34 beware of this and you will prolong your life.

Medicine and illness

1 38 Honor the doctor with the honor that is his due in return for his services;
 for he too has been created by the Lord.
 2 Healing itself comes from the Most High,
 like a gift from a king.
 3 The doctor's learning keeps his head high,
 he is regarded with awe by potentates.
 4 The Lord has brought medicines into existence from the earth,
 and the sensible man will not despise them.

5 Did not a piece of wood once sweeten the water,
 thus giving proof of its virtue?^a 6 He has also given men learning
 so that they may glory in his mighty works.
 7 He uses them^b to heal and to relieve pain,
 the chemist makes up a mixture from them.
 8 Thus there is no end to his activities,
 and through him health extends across the world.
 9 My son, when you are ill, do not be depressed,
 but pray to the Lord and he will heal you.
 10 Renounce your faults, keep your hands unsoiled,
 and cleanse your heart from all sin.
 11 Offer incense and a memorial of fine flour,
 and make as rich an offering as you can afford.
 12 Then let the doctor take over—the Lord created him too—and do not let him leave you, for you need him.
 13 Sometimes success is in their hands,
 14 since they in turn will beseech the Lord to grant them the grace to relieve and to heal, that life may be saved.
 15 If a man sins in the eyes of his Maker,
 may he fall under the care of the doctor.

Mourning

16 My son, shed tears over a dead man,
 and intone the lament to show your own deep grief;
 bury his body with due ceremonial,
 and do not neglect to honor his grave.
 17 Weep bitterly, wail most fervently;
 18 observe the mourning the dead man deserves,
 one day, or two, to avoid comment,
 and then be comforted in your sorrow;
 18 for grief can lead to death,
 19 a grief-stricken heart undermines your strength.
 20 Let grief end with the funeral;
 20 a life of grief oppresses the mind.
 21 Do not abandon your heart to grief,
 21 drive it away, bear your own end in mind.
 22 Do not forget, there is no going back;
 22 you cannot help the dead, and you will harm yourself.
 23 "Remember my doom, since it will be yours too;
 23 yesterday was my day, today is yours."
 24 Once the dead man is laid to rest, let his memory rest too, 24 do not fret for him, once his spirit departs.

Trades and crafts

24 Leisure is what gives the scribe the opportunity to acquire wisdom;
 25 the man with few business affairs grows wise.
 25 How can the plowman become wise,
 26 whose sole ambition is to wield the goad;
 driving his oxen, engrossed in their work,
 his conversation is of nothing but cattle?
 26 His mind is fixed on the furrows he traces,
 27 and his evenings pass in fattening his heifers.
 27 So it is with every workman and craftsman, 28 toiling day and night;

those who engrave seals,
 always trying to think of new designs:
 they set their heart on producing a good likeness,
 and stay up perfecting the work.
 28 So it is with the blacksmith sitting by his anvil;
 29 he considers what to do with the pig iron,
 the breath of the fire scorches his skin,
 as he contends with the heat of the furnace; 30 he batters his ear with the din of the hammer,
 his eyes are fixed on the pattern;
 31 he sets his heart on completing his work,
 and stays up putting the finishing touches.
 29 So it is with the potter, sitting at his work, 32 turning the wheel with his feet;
 constantly on the alert over his work,
 each flick of the finger premeditated;
 30 he pummels the clay with his arm,
 33 and puddles it with his feet;
 34 he sets his heart on perfecting the glaze,
 and stays up cleaning the kiln.
 31 All these put their trust in their hands,
 35 and each is skilled at his own craft.
 32 A town could not be built without them,
 36 there would be no settling, no traveling.
 37 But they are not required at the council,
 33 they do not hold high rank in the assembly.
 38 They do not sit on the judicial bench,
 and have no grasp of the law.
 34 They are not remarkable for culture or sound judgment,
 and are not found among the inventors of maxims.
 39 But they give solidity to the created world, while their prayer is concerned with what pertains to their trade.

The scholar

1 39 It is otherwise with the man who devotes his soul to reflecting on the Law of the Most High.
 1 He researches into the wisdom of all the Ancients,
 he occupies his time with the prophecies.
 2 He preserves the discourses of famous men,
 he is at home with the niceties of parables.
 3 He researches into the hidden sense of proverbs,
 he ponders the obscurities of parables.
 4 He enters the service of princes,
 he is seen in the presence of rulers.
 5 He travels in foreign countries,
 he has experienced human good and human evil.
 5 At dawn and with all his heart
 6 he resorts to the Lord who made him;
 he pleads in the presence of the Most High,
 7 he opens his mouth in prayer and makes entreaty for his sins.
 6 If it is the will of the great Lord,
 8 he will be filled with the spirit of understanding,
 9 he will shower forth words of wisdom,

and in prayer give thanks to the Lord.
 7 He will grow upright in purpose and learning,
 10 he will ponder the Lord's hidden mysteries.
 8 He will display the instruction he has received,
 11 taking his pride in the Law of the Lord's covenant.
 9 Many will praise his understanding,
 12 and it will never be forgotten.
 13 His memory will not disappear,
 generation after generation his name will live.
 10 Nations will proclaim his wisdom,
 14 the assembly will celebrate his praises.
 11 If he lives long, his name will be more glorious than a thousand others, 15 and if he dies, that will satisfy him just as well.

Invitation to praise God

12 I wish to develop my reflections further,
 16 they fill me as full as the moon at the full.
 13 Listen to me, devout children, and blossom
 17 like the rose that grows on the bank of a watercourse.
 14 Give off a sweet smell like incense,
 18 flower like the lily, spread your fragrance abroad,
 19 sing a song of praise blessing the Lord for all his works.
 15 Declare the greatness of his name, 20 proclaim his praise
 with song and with lyre,
 and this is how you must sing his praises:
 16 how wonderful they are, all the works of the Lord!
 21 All that he orders is promptly carried out.
 You must not say, "What is this? Why is that?"
 All will be studied in due time.
 17 At his word water stops running and piles up,
 22 waters are stored at a word from his mouth.
 18 At his bidding, all his pleasure is accomplished,
 23 no one can diminish his power to save.
 19 The actions of every creature are before him,
 24 there is no hiding from his eyes;
 20 his gaze stretches from eternity to eternity,
 25 and nothing can astonish him.
 21 You must not say, "What is this? Why is that?"
 26 All things have been created for their proper functions.
 22 As his blessing covers the dry land like a river
 27 and soaks it like a flood,
 28 so wrath is his legacy to the nations,
 23 just as he has turned fresh waters to salt.
 (29)
 24 His ways are as smooth for devout men,
 as they are full of obstacles for the wicked.
 25 Good things were created from the beginning for good men,
 30 as evils were for sinners.
 26 The prime needs of mankind for living 31 are water and fire, iron and salt, wheat flour, milk and honey,
 the juice of the grape, oil and clothing.
 27 All these things are good for people who are good,
 32 just as they turn into bad for sinners.

28 Some winds were created to punish;
 33 he has made them the scourge of his anger;
 34 on the day of doom they unleash their force,
 and appease the anger of him who made them.
 29 Fire and hail, famine and death,
 35 all these were created to punish.
 30 The teeth of savage animals, scorpions, adders,
 36 and the avenging sword to destroy the godless, 37 all these exult in obeying his orders,
 they are ready on earth when he requires,
 and when the time comes they will not disobey his order.
 32 That is why I was determined from the outset,
 38 I have pondered and I have written it down,
 33 "All the works of the Lord are good,
 39 and he will supply every want in due time.
 34 You must not say, 'This is worse than that,'
 40 for everything will prove its value in its time.
 35 So now, sing with all your heart and voice,
 41 and bless the name of the Lord!"

The wretchedness of man

1 40 Much hardship has been made for every man, a heavy yoke lies on the sons of Adam from the day they come out of their mother's womb, till the day they return to the mother of them all.
 2 What fills them with brooding and their hearts with fear is dread of the day of death.
 3 From the man who sits on a glorious throne
 to the wretch on dust and ashes, 4 from the man who wears purple and a crown to the man clothed in sackings,
 all is fury and jealousy, turmoil and unrest,
 fear of death, rivalry, strife.
 5 And even at night while he rests on his bed
 his sleep only gives a new twist to his worries:
 6 scarcely has he lain down to rest,
 than in his sleep, as if in broad daylight,
 he is shaken by terrible sights
 like a man running away from a battle.
 7 At the moment of rescue he awakens, astonished that his fear was imaginary.
 8 For all creatures, from men to animals—
 and seven times more for sinners—9 there is death and blood and strife and the sword, disasters, famine, affliction, plague.
 10 All these were created for the godless,
 through them came the Flood.
 11 All that comes from the earth returns to the earth,
 what comes from the water returns to the sea.

Various maxims

12 All bribery and injustice will be blotted out,
 but good faith will stand for ever.
 13 The wealth of wrongdoers will dry up like a torrent,
 will crash like a clap of thunder in a downpour.

- 14 When he opens his hands he rejoices,
by the same token defaulters will come to utter ruin.
- 15 The offshoots of the godless will not have many branches,
unclean roots only find hard rock.
- 16 The reeds by every lake and river's edge
will be pulled up before any other grass.
- 17 Graciousness is like a paradise of blessing,
and generosity stands firm for ever.

Comparisons

- 18 For the man of private means and the man who works hard,
life is pleasant,
better off than either, he who finds a treasure.
- 19 Children and the building of a city make a man's reputation;
better than either, the discovery of wisdom.
Cattle and vineyards make you well known;
better valued than either, a perfect wife.
- 20 Wine and music cheer the heart;
better than either, the love of wisdom.
- 21 Flute and harp add sweetness to a song;
better than either, a sweet voice.
- 22 The eye longs for grace and beauty;
better than either, the green of spring corn.
- 23 Friend or comrade—it is always well met;
better than either, a wife and husband.
- 24 Brothers and allies are good in times of trouble;
better than either, generosity to the rescue.
- 25 Gold and silver will steady your feet;
better valued than either, good advice.
- 26 Money and strength make a confident heart;
better than either, the fear of the Lord.
- 27 With the fear of the Lord a man lacks nothing;
with that he need seek no ally.
- 27
28 The fear of the Lord is like a paradise of blessing,
it clothes a man with more than glory.

On begging

- 28
29 My son, do not live by begging from others,
better be dead than a beggar.
- 29
30 The life of a man ever eyeing the table of another cannot be reckoned as a life at all.
He defiles his gullet with other people's food;
a man of culture and breeding will never do this.
- 31
30
32 Begging comes easily to the lips of the shameless man, but eventually it will set fire to his belly.

Death

- 1 41 O death, how bitter it is to remember you for a man at peace among his goods,
- 2 to a man without worries, who prospers in everything,
and still has the strength to feed himself.
- 3 O death, your sentence is welcome to a man in want, whose strength is failing,
- 4 to a man worn out with age, worried about everything,
disaffected and beyond endurance.

3 Do not dread death's sentence;
 remember those who came before you and those who will come after.
 4 This is the sentence passed on all living creatures by the Lord,
 6 so why object to what seems good to the Most High?
 7 Whether your life lasts ten or a hundred or a thousand years,
 its length will not be held against you in Sheol.

The fate of the wicked

5 Hateful brats, such are the children of sinners, who forgather in the haunts of the godless.
 6 The inheritance of sinners' children is doomed to perish,
 9 their posterity will endure lasting reproach.
 7 A godless father will be blamed by his children
 10 for the reproach he has brought on them.
 8 A bad outlook for you, godless men,
 11 who have forsaken the Law of God Most High.
 9 When you were born, you were born to be accursed,
 12 and when you die, that curse will be your portion.
 10 All that comes from the earth returns to the earth,
 13 so too the wicked proceed from curse to destruction.
 11 Men go into mourning for their dead,
 14 but the worthless name of sinners will be blotted out.
 12 Be careful of your reputation, for it will last you longer 15 than a thousand great hoards of gold.
 13 A good life lasts a certain number of days,
 16 but a good reputation lasts for ever.

A sense of shame

14 Keep my instructions and be at peace, my children.
 17
 Wisdom hidden away and treasure undisplayed,
 what use are either of these?
 15 Better a man who hides his folly
 18 than one who hides his wisdom.
 16 Now, keep your sense of shame with respect to what I am going to say,
 19 for not every kind of shame is right to harbor,
 20 nor is every situation correctly appraised by all.
 17 Be ashamed, before father and mother, of licentious behavior,
 21 and before prince or potentate of telling lies;
 18 of wrongdoing before judge or magistrate,
 22 and of impiety before the assembly of the people;
 19 of sharp practice before your companion and your friend, 23 and of theft before the neighborhood you live in.
 24 Before the truth and covenant of God,
 20 be ashamed of leaning elbows on the table,
 21 of making gifts before those who despise them,
 22 and of ignoring those who greet you:
 26 of gazing at a loose woman
 23 and of turning your back on a relation,
 27 of misappropriating another's portion or gift,
 24 of paying court to another man's wife,
 25 of carrying on with his servant girl
 28 —do not go near her bed—
 25 of words of abuse before your friends
 28 —do not follow up a gift with a taunt—

26 of repeating and retailing gossip and of betraying confidences.
27 Then you will know what true shame is,
and you will find yourself in every man's graces.

1 42

2 These are the things you should not be ashamed of,
and do not sin from fear of what others think:
3 of the Law of the Most High and the covenant,
of a verdict that acquits the godless,
4 of keeping strict accounts with a traveling companion,
of settling property on your friends,
5 of being accurate over scales and weights,
of making small and large profits,
6 of gaining from commercial transactions,
of disciplining your children strictly,
7 of lashing a wicked slave till you draw blood.
8 With an interfering wife, it is as well to use your seal,
and where there are many hands, lock things up.
9 Whatever stores you issue, do it by number and weight,
10 spendings and takings, put everything in writing.
11 Do not be ashamed to correct a stupid man or a fool,
or an old dotard who bickers with young people.
12 Then you will show yourself really educated and win the approval of everyone.

The cares of a father over his daughter

9 Unknown to her, a daughter keeps her father awake,
the worry she gives him drives away his sleep:
10 in her youth, in case she never marries,
married, in case she should be disliked, 11 as a virgin, in case she should be defiled
and found with child in her father's house,
having a husband, in case she goes astray,
married, in case she should be barren.
12 Your daughter is headstrong? Keep a sharp lookout that she does not make you the laughingstock of your enemies, 13 the talk of the town, the object of common gossip,
and put you to public shame.

Women

12 Do not stare at any man for his good looks,
do not sit down with the women;
13 for moth comes out of clothes,
and woman's spite out of woman.
14 A man's spite is preferable to a woman's kindness;
women give rise to shame and reproach.

II. THE GLORY OF GOD

A. IN NATURE

15 Next, I will remind you of the works of the Lord,
and tell of what I have seen.
16 By the words of the Lord his works come into being and all creation obeys his will.
17 As the sun in shining looks on all things,
so the work of the Lord is full of his glory.

17 The Lord has not granted to the holy ones^a to tell of all his marvels which the Almighty Lord has solidly constructed for the universe to stand firm in his glory.
 18 He has fathomed the deep and the heart,
 and seen into their devious ways;
 for the Most High knows all the knowledge there is,
 and has observed the signs of the times.
 19 He declares what is past and what will be,
 and uncovers the traces of hidden things.
 20 Not a thought escapes him,
 not a single word is hidden from him.
 21 He has imposed an order on the magnificent works of his wisdom,
 he is from everlasting to everlasting, 22 nothing can be added to him, nothing taken away,
 he needs no one's advice.
 22 How desirable are all his works,
 23 how dazzling to the eye!
 23 They all live and last for ever,
 24 whatever the circumstances all obey him.
 24 All things go in pairs, by opposites,
 25 and he has made nothing defective;
 25 the one consolidates the excellence of the other,
 26 who could ever be sated with gazing at his glory?

The sun

1 43 Pride of the heights, shining vault,
 so, in a glorious spectacle, the sky appears.
 2 The sun, as he emerges, proclaims at his rising,
 "A thing of wonder is the work of the Most High!"
 3 At his zenith he parches the land,
 who can withstand his blaze?
 4 A man must blow a furnace to produce any heat,
 the sun burns the mountains three times as much;
 breathing out blasts of fire,
 flashing his rays he dazzles the eyes.
 5 Great is the Lord who made him,
 and whose word speeds him on his course.

The moon

6 And then the moon, always punctual,
 to mark the months and make division of time:
 7 the moon it is that signals the feasts,
 a luminary that wanes after her full.
 8 The month derives its name from hers,
 she waxes wonderfully in her phases, 9 banner of the hosts on high,
 shining in the vault of heaven.

The stars

9 The glory of the stars makes the beauty of the sky,
 10 a brilliant decoration to the heights of the Lord.
 10 At the words of the Holy One they stand as he decrees, 11 and never grow slack at their watch.

The rainbow

- 11 See the rainbow and praise its maker,
12 so superbly beautiful in its splendor.
13 Across the sky it forms a glorious arc
13 drawn by the hands of the Most High.

The wonders of nature

- 13 By his command he sends the snow,
14 he speeds the lightning as he orders.
15 In the same way, his treasures open
14 and the clouds fly out like birds.
15 In his great might he banks up the clouds,
16 and shivers them into fragments of hail.
16a At sight of him the mountains rock,
17a at the roar of his thunder the earth writhes in labor.
18a At his will the south wind blows,
17b or the storm from the north and the whirlwind.
17b He sprinkles snow like birds alighting,
18 it comes down like locusts settling.
19 20 The eye marvels at the beauty of its whiteness,
and the mind is amazed at its falling.
19 Over the earth, like salt, he also pours hoarfrost,
21 which, when it freezes, bristles like thorns.
20 The cold wind blows from the north,
22 and ice forms on the water,
settling on every watery expanse,
and water puts it on like a breastplate.
21 He swallows up the mountains and scorches the desert,
23 like a fire he consumes the vegetation.
22 But the mist heals everything in good time,
24 after the heat falls the reviving dew.
23 By his own resourcefulness he has tamed the abyss,
25 and planted it with islands.
24 Those who sail the sea tell of its dangers,
26 their accounts fill our ears with amazement:
25 for there too there are strange and wonderful works,
27 animals of every kind and huge sea creatures.
26 Thanks to him all ends well,
28 and all things hold together by means of his word.
27 We could say much more and still fall short;
29 to put it concisely, "He is all."
28 Where shall we find sufficient power to glorify him,
30 since he is the Great One, above all his works,
29 the awe-inspiring Lord, stupendously great,
31 and wonderful in his power?
30 Exalt the Lord in your praises
32 as high as you may—still he surpasses you.
33 Exert all your strength when you exalt him,
34 do not grow tired—you will never come to the end.
31 Who has ever seen him to give a description?
35 Who can glorify him as he deserves?
32 Many mysteries remain even greater than these,
36 for we have seen only a few of his works,
33 the Lord himself having made all things—
37 and having given wisdom to devout men.

B. IN HISTORY

Eulogy of the ancestors

1 44 Next let us praise illustrious men,
 our ancestors in their successive generations.
 2 The Lord has created an abundance of glory,
 and displayed his greatness from earliest times.
 3 Some wielded authority as kings and were renowned for their strength;
 others were intelligent advisers
 and uttered prophetic oracles.
 4 Others directed the people by their advice,
 by their understanding of the popular mind,
 and by the wise words of their teaching;
 5 others composed musical melodies,
 and set down ballads;
 6 others were rich and powerful,
 living peacefully in their homes.
 7 All these were honored by their contemporaries,
 and were the glory of their day.
 8 Some of them left a name behind them,
 so that their praises are still sung.
 9 While others have left no memory,
 and disappeared as though they had not existed,
 they are now as though they had never been,
 and so too, their children after them.
 10 But here is a list of generous men whose good works have not been forgotten.
 11 In their descendants there remains a rich inheritance born of them.
 12 Their descendants stand by the covenants and, thanks to them, so do their children's children.
 13 Their offspring will last for ever,
 their glory will not fade.
 14 Their bodies have been buried in peace,
 and their name lives on for all generations.
 15 The peoples will proclaim their wisdom,
 the assembly will celebrate their praises.

Enoch

16 Enoch pleased the Lord and was taken up,
 an example for the conversion of all generations.

Noah

17 Noah was found perfectly virtuous,
 in the time of wrath he became the scion: 18 because of him a remnant was preserved for the earth
 at the coming of the Flood.
 18 }
 19 Everlasting covenants were made with him
 that never again should every living creature perish by flood.

Abraham

19 } 20 Abraham, the great forefather of a host of nations,
 no one was ever his equal in glory.

20 He observed the Law of the Most High,
and entered into a covenant with him.
21 He confirmed the covenant in his own flesh,
and proved himself faithful under ordeal.
21 The Lord therefore promised him on oath
22 to bless the nations through his descendants, to multiply him like the dust on the ground, 23 to exalt his descendants like the stars,
and give them the land for their inheritance,
from sea to sea,
from the River to the ends of the earth.

Isaac and Jacob

22 To Isaac too, for the sake of Abraham his father, 23 he assured the blessing of all mankind;
24 he caused the covenant to rest on the head of Jacob.
25 He confirmed him in his blessings
26 and gave him the land for his inheritance;
he divided it into portions,
and shared it out among the twelve tribes.

Moses

1 27 45 From him he produced a generous man who found favor in the eyes of all mankind,^a 1 beloved by God and men,
Moses, of blessed memory.
2 He made him the equal of the holy ones in glory
and made him strong, to the terror of his enemies.
3 At the word of Moses he made the miracles stop,
he raised him high in the respect of kings;
he gave him commandments for his people,
and showed him something of his glory.
4 For his loyalty and gentleness he sanctified him,
choosing him alone out of all mankind;
5 he allowed him to hear his voice,
and led him into the darkness;
6 he gave him the commandments face to face,
the law of life and knowledge,
to teach Jacob his ordinances and Israel his decrees.

Aaron

6 7 He raised up Aaron, a holy man man like Moses,
his brother, of the tribe of Levi.
7 He made an everlasting covenant with him,
8 and gave him the priesthood of the people.
He adorned him with impressive vestments,
9 he dressed him in a robe of glory.
8 He clothed him in glorious perfection
and invested him with emblems of authority:
10 the breeches, the long robe, the ephod.
9 To go around the robe he gave him pomegranates,
and many gold bells all around 11 to chime at every step,
for their sound to be heard in the Temple
as a reminder to the sons of his people;

10 and a sacred vest of gold and purple, violet shade 12 and red, the work of an embroiderer;
 the pectoral of judgment, the Urim and Thummim,^b 13 of plaited crimson, the work of a craftsman;
 11 precious stones cut like seals mounted in gold, the work of a jeweler,
 as a reminder with their engraved inscriptions
 of the number of the tribes of Israel;
 12 and a golden diadem on his turban, 14 engraved with the seal of consecration;
 superb ornamentation, magnificent work,
 adornment to delight the eye.
 13 There had never been such lovely things before him, 16 and no one else has ever put them on,
 but only his own sons,
 and his descendants for all time.
 14 His sacrifices were to be burned entirely,
 17 twice each day and for ever.
 15 Moses consecrated him
 18 and anointed him with holy oil;
 19 and this was an everlasting covenant for him,
 and for his descendants as long as the heavens endure,
 that he should preside over worship, act as priest,
 and bless his people in the name of the Lord, 16 who chose him out of all the living
 20 to offer sacrifice to the Lord, incense and an appeasing fragrance as a memorial to make atonement for the people.
 17 he entrusted him with his commandments,
 21 committed to him the statutes of the Law
 to teach Jacob his decrees,
 and enlighten Israel on his Law.
 18 Others joined forces against him,
 22 they were jealous of him in the wilderness,
 Dathan and Abiram and their men,
 Korah and his crew in fury and rage.
 19 The Lord saw it and was displeased,
 23 his raging fury made an end of them;
 24 he overwhelmed them with miracles
 and consumed them with his flaming fire.
 20 And he added to Aaron's glory,
 25 he gave him an inheritance;
 he allotted him the prime of the first fruits,
 before all else insured him bread in abundance.
 26 Thus they eat the sacrifices of the Lord
 21 which he gave to him and his posterity.
 22 But of the people's territory he inherits nothing, 27 he alone of all the people has no share,
 the Lord is his share and inheritance.

Phinehas

23 Phinehas son of Eleazar is third in glory
 28 because of his zeal in the fear of the Lord,

45 a. In the text as preserved, these two lines refer to Moses: possibly they referred originally to Joseph. b. See note a of Dt. 33; also Ex. 28:30, Lv. 8:8.

29 because he stood firm when the people revolted, with a staunch and courageous heart;
 and in this way atoned for Israel.

24
30 Hence a covenant of peace was sealed with him,
 making him governor of both sanctuary and people,
 and securing to him and his descendants
 the high priestly dignity for ever.

25
31 There was also a covenant with David son of Jesse, of the tribe of Judah,
 a royal succession from father to one son exclusively,
 but the succession of Aaron passes to all his descendants.

26 May God endow your hearts with wisdom^c
 to judge his people virtuously,
 so that the virtues of your ancestors may never fade,
 and their glory may pass to all their descendants.

Joshua

1 46 Mighty in war was Joshua son of Nun, successor to Moses in the prophetic office,
 who well deserved his name,^a

2 and was a great savior of the Chosen People, wreaking vengeance on the enemies who opposed him,
 and so bringing Israel into its inheritance.

3
3 How splendid he was when he raised his arms
 to brandish his sword against cities!

4 Who had ever shown such determination as his?
 He himself waged the wars of the Lord.

5 5 Was not the sun held back by his hand,
 and one day drawn out into two?

6
6 He called on God the Most High,
 as he pressed the enemy on every side;
 and the great Lord answered him
 with hard and violent hailstones.

7
7 He fell on that enemy nation,
 and at the Descent he destroyed all resistance;

8 that the nations might acknowledge his warlike prowess and know that their foe was the Lord.

Caleb

7 For he was a follower of the Mighty One,
 9 and in the time of Moses he did devoted service,
 he and Caleb son of Jephunneh,
 by opposing the whole community,
 by preventing the people from sinning,
 and by silencing the mutters of rebellion.

8
8 Hence these two alone were preserved
 10 out of six hundred thousand men on the march,
 and brought into their inheritance,
 into a land where milk and honey flow.

9
9 The Lord gave Caleb the strength—11 which he retained right into old age—
 to tread the highlands of the country which his descendants still hold as their inheritance, 10
10 for all the sons of Israel to see
 12 that it is good to follow the Lord.

The judges

11 The judges too, each when he was called,
 13 all men whose hearts were never disloyal,
 who never turned their backs on the Lord—14 may their memory be blessed!
 12 May their bones flower again from the tomb,
 15 and may the names of those illustrious men
 15 and may the names of those illustrious men live again in their sons.

Samuel

13 Samuel was the beloved of his Lord;
 16 prophet of the Lord, he instituted the kingdom,
 and anointed rulers over his people.
 14 In the Law of the Lord he judged the assembly,
 17 and the Lord watched over Jacob.
 15 By his loyalty he was recognized as a prophet,
 18 by his words he was known to be a trustworthy seer.
 16 He called on the Lord, the Mighty One, 19 when his enemies pressed him on every side,
 by offering a sucking lamb.
 17 And the Lord thundered from heaven,
 20 and made his voice heard in a rolling peal;
 18 he massacred the leaders of the enemy,
 21 and all the rulers of the Philistines.
 19 Before the time of his everlasting rest
 22 he bore witness before the Lord and his anointed,
 "Of no property, not even a pair of sandals,
 have I ever deprived a soul."
 Nor did anyone accuse him.
 20 And after he fell asleep he prophesied again,
 23 warning the king of his death;
 he lifted up his voice from the earth in prophecy,
 to blot out the wickedness of the people.

Nathan

1 47 After him arose Nathan, to prophesy in the time of David.

David

2 As the fat is set apart from the communion sacrifice, so David was chosen out of all the sons of Israel.
 3 He played with lions as though with kids,
 and with bears as though with lambs of the flock.
 4 While still a boy, did he not slay the giant,
 and relieve the people of their shame,
 5 by putting out a hand to sling a stone which brought down the arrogance of Goliath?
 5 For he called on the Lord Most High,
 6 who gave strength to his right arm
 to put a mighty warrior to death,
 and lift up the horn of his people.
 6 Hence they gave him credit for ten thousand,
 7 and praised him while they blessed the Lord,

c. Addressed to the contemporary "succession of Aaron."

46 a. Joshua means "Yahweh-saves." The Greek form of the same name is Jesus.

7 by offering him a crown of glory;
 for he massacred enemies on every side,
 8 he annihilated his foes the Philistines,
 and crushed their horn to this very day.
 9 In all his activities he gave thanks to the Holy One, the Most High, in words of glory^a; 10 he put all his heart into his songs
 out of love for his Maker.
 11 He placed harps before the altar
 to make the singing sweeter with their music; 12 he gave the feasts their splendor,
 the festivals their solemn pomp,
 causing the Lord's holy name to be praised
 and the sanctuary to resound from dawn.
 13 The Lord took away his sins,
 and exalted his horn for ever;
 he gave him a royal covenant,
 and a glorious throne in Israel.

Solomon

12 A wise son succeeded him,
 who lived spaciously, thanks to him.
 13 Solomon reigned in a time of peace,
 15 and God gave him peace all around so that he could raise a house to his name and prepare an everlasting sanctuary.
 14 How wise you were in your youth,
 16 brimming over with understanding like a river!
 15 Your mind ranged the earth,
 17 you filled it with mysterious sayings.
 16 Your name reached the distant islands,
 and you were loved for your peace.^b
 17 Your songs, your proverbs, your sayings
 18 and your retorts made you the wonder of the world.
 19 In the name of the Lord God,
 20 of him who is called the God of Israel,
 you amassed gold like so much tin,
 and made silver as common as lead.
 19 You abandoned your body to women,
 21 you became the slave of your appetites.
 20 You stained your honor, 22 you profaned your stock,
 so bringing wrath on your children
 and grief on your posterity:
 21 the sovereignty was split in two,
 23 from Ephraim arose a rebel kingdom.
 22 But the Lord would not go back on his mercy,
 24 or undo any of his words,
 he would not obliterate the issue of his elect,
 nor destroy the stock of the man who loved him;
 25 and so he granted a remnant to Jacob,
 and to David a root springing from him.

Rehoboam

23 Solomon rested with his ancestors,
 26 leaving one of his stock as his successor,
 27

28 the stupidest member of the nation, brainless Rehoboam, whose policy drove the nation to rebel.

Jeroboam

24 Next, Jeroboam son of Nebat, who made Israel sin, 29 and set Ephraim on the way of evil;
 from then on their sins multiplied so excessively 30 as to drive them out of their country;
 25 for they tried out every kind of wickedness,
 31 until vengeance overtook them.

Elijah

1 48 Then the prophet Elijah arose like a fire,
 his word flaring like a torch.
 2 It was he who brought famine on them,
 and who decimated them in his zeal.
 3 By the word of the Lord, he shut up the heavens,
 he also, three times, brought down fire.
 4 How glorious you were in your miracles, Elijah!
 Has anyone reason to boast as you have?— 5 rousing a corpse from death,
 from Sheol by the word of the Most High;
 6 dragging kings down to destruction,
 and high dignitaries from their beds;
 7 hearing reproof on Sinai,
 and decrees of punishment on Horeb;
 8 anointing kings as avengers,
 and prophets to succeed you;
 9 taken up in the whirlwind of fire,
 in a chariot with fiery horses;
 10 designated in the prophecies of doom
 to allay God's wrath before the fury breaks, to turn the hearts of fathers toward their children,^a
 and to restore the tribes of Jacob.
 11 Happy shall they be who see you,
 and those who have fallen asleep in love;
 12 for we too will have life.

Elisha

12 Elijah was shrouded in the whirlwind,
 13 and Elisha was filled with his spirit;
 throughout his life no ruler could shake him,
 and no one could subdue him.
 13 No task was too hard for him,
 and even in death his body prophesied.
 14 In his lifetime he performed wonders,
 13 and in death his works were marvelous.

Infidelity and punishment

15 Despite all this the people did not repent, 16 nor did they give up their sins,
 until they were herded out of their country
 and scattered all over the earth;

47 a. The Psalms. b. Solomon means "man of peace."

48 a. Mt. 3:24.

16 only a few of the people were left,
 17 with a ruler of the House of David.
 18 Some of them did what pleased the Lord,
 others piled sin on sin.

Hezekiah

17 Hezekiah fortified his city, 19 and laid on a water supply inside it;
 with iron he tunneled through the rock
 and constructed cisterns.
 18 In his days Sennacherib invaded 20 and sent Rabshakeh^b;
 he lifted his hand against Zion,
 and boasted loudly in his arrogance.
 19 Then their hearts and hands trembled,
 21 they felt the pangs of a woman in labor, 22 but they called on the merciful Lord,
 stretching out their hands toward him.
 Swiftly the Holy One heard them from heaven,
 23 and delivered them by the hand of Isaiah,
 24 he struck the camp of the Assyrians and his angel massacred them.

Isaiah

22 For Hezekiah did what is pleasing to the Lord, 25 and was steadfast in the ways of David his father, enjoyed on him by the prophet Isaiah,
 a great man trustworthy in his vision.
 23 In his days the sun moved back;
 26 he prolonged the life of the king.
 24 In the power of the spirit he saw the last things,
 27 he comforted the mourners of Zion,
 25 he revealed the future to the end of time,
 28 and hidden things long before they happened.

Josiah

1 49 The memory of Josiah is like blended incense prepared by the perfumer's art;
 2 it is as sweet as honey to all mouths,
 and like music at a wine feast.
 2 He took the right course, of converting the people,
 3 he rooted out the iniquitous abominations,
 4 he set his heart on the Lord,
 in godless times he upheld the cause of religion.

The last kings and prophets

4 Apart from David, Hezekiah and Josiah,
 5 they all heaped wrong on wrong;
 6 since they disregarded the Law of the Most High,
 the kings of Judah disappeared;
 5 since they gave their strength to others
 and their honor to a foreign nation.
 6 The holy, chosen city was burned down,
 8 her streets were left deserted,
 7 as Jeremiah had predicted; for they had ill-treated him
 9 though consecrated a prophet in his mother's womb

to tear up and afflict and destroy,
but also to build up and to plant.^a

⁸
¹⁰ Ezekiel it was who saw a vision of glory which God showed to him above the chariot of the Cherubs, ⁹
¹¹ for he remembered the enemies with torrential rain^b
to the advantage of those who follow the right way.

¹⁰
¹² As for the twelve prophets,
may their bones flower again from the tomb,
since they have comforted Jacob and redeemed him in faith and hope.

Zerubbabel and Jeshua

¹¹
¹³ How shall we extol Zerubbabel?
He was like a signet ring on the right hand,
¹²
¹⁴ so too was Jeshua son of Jozadak;
they who in their days built the Temple,
and raised to the Lord a holy people,
destined to everlasting glory.

Nehemiah

¹³
¹⁵ Great too is the memory of Nehemiah, who rebuilt our walls which lay in ruins,
erected the gates and bars
and rebuilt our houses.

Retrospect

¹⁴
¹⁶ No one else has ever been created on earth to equal Enoch,
for he was taken up from earth.
¹⁵
¹⁷ And no one else ever born has been like Joseph,
the leader of his brothers, the prop of his people;
¹⁸ his bones were honored.
¹⁶
¹⁹ Shem and Seth were honored among men,
but above every living creature is Adam.

Simon the high priest

¹ 50 It was the High Priest Simon son of Onias who repaired the Temple during his lifetime
and in his day fortified the sanctuary.
² He laid the foundations of the double height,
the high buttresses of the Temple precincts.
³ In his day the water cistern was excavated,
a reservoir as huge as the sea.
⁴ Anxious to save the people from ruin,
he fortified the city against siege.
⁵ How splendid he was with the people thronging around him, when he emerged from the curtained shrine,^a ⁶ like the morning star among the clouds,
like the moon at the full,
⁷ like the sun shining on the Temple of the Most High,
⁸ like the rainbow gleaming against brilliant clouds,
⁸ like roses in the days of spring,
like lilies by a freshet of water,

b. Ben Sira's translator has made a proper name out of rab shakeh ("the chief cupbearer").

49 a. Jr. 1:10. b. Possibly an allusion to Ezk. 38:22.

50 a. At the ceremonies of the feast of the Atonement.

like a sprig of frankincense in summertime, 9 like fire and incense in the censer,
 10 like a vessel of beaten gold encrusted with every kind of precious stone, 10 like an olive tree loaded with fruit,
 11 like a cypress soaring to the clouds;
 when he put on his splendid vestments,
 and clothed himself in glorious perfection, 12 when he went up to the holy altar,
 and filled the sanctuary precincts with his grandeur;
 12 when he received the portions from the hands of the priests, 13 himself standing by the altar hearth,
 surrounded by a crowd of his brothers,
 like a youthful cedar of Lebanon
 as though surrounded by the trunks of palm trees.
 13 When all the sons of Aaron in their glory,
 15 with the offerings of the Lord in their hands,
 stood before the whole assembly of Israel, 14 while he completed the rites at the altars, presenting in due order the offering for the Most High, the Almighty, 15 reaching out his hand to the cup,^b and pouring a libation of the juice of the grape, 17 pouring it at the foot of the altar,
 an appeasing fragrance to the Most High, the King of all, 16 then the sons of Aaron would shout
 18 and blow their trumpets of beaten metal, making a mighty sound ring out as a reminder before the Most High;
 17 and immediately the people all together 19 would fall on their faces to the ground,
 in adoration of their Lord,
 the Almighty, God Most High,
 18 and with the cantors chanting their hymns of praise:
 20 sweet was the melody of all these voices,
 19 as the people pleaded with the Lord Most High,
 21 and prayed in the presence of the Merciful, until the service of the Lord was completed and the ceremony at an end.
 20 Then he would come down and raise his hands
 22 over the whole concourse of the sons of Israel,
 to give them the Lord's blessing from his lips,
 being privileged to pronounce his name^c;
 21 and once again the people would bow low
 23 to receive the blessing from the Most High.

Exhortation

22 And now bless the God of all things,
 the doer of great deeds everywhere,
 who has exalted our days from the womb
 and acted toward us in his mercy.
 23 May he grant us cheerful hearts
 and bring peace in our time,
 in Israel for ages on ages.
 24 May his mercy be faithfully with us,
 26 may he redeem us in our time.

Numerical proverb

25
27 There are two nations that my soul detests,
the third is not a nation at all:
26
28 the inhabitants of Mount Scir, and the Philistines, and the stupid people living at Shechem.^d

Conclusion

27
29 Instruction in wisdom and knowledge has been committed to writing in this book
by Jesus son of Sira, Eleazar, of Jerusalem, who has rained down wisdom from his heart.
28
30 Happy is he who busies himself with these things,
and grows wise by taking them to heart.
29
31 If he practices them he will be strong enough for anything, since the light of the Lord is his path.

APPENDICESA hymn of thanksgiving

1 51 I will give thanks to you, Lord and King,
and praise you, God my savior,
2
2 I give thanks to your name;
2 for you have been protector and support to me,
3 and redeemed my body from destruction,
from the snare of the lying tongue,
from lips that fabricate falsehood;
and in the presence of those around me
you have been my support, you have redeemed me, 3 4 true to the greatness of your mercy and of your name,
from the fangs of those who would devour me,
5 from the hands of those seeking my life,
from the many ordeals which I have endured, 4 6 from the stifling heat which hemmed me in,
from the heart of a fire which I had not kindled, 5 7 from deep in the belly of Sheol,
from the unclean tongue and the lying word—
6 the perjured tongue slandering me to the king.
8 My soul has been close to death,
9 my life had gone down to the brink of Sheol.
7
10 They were surrounding me on every side, there was no one to support me;
I looked for someone to help—in vain.
8
11 Then I remembered your mercy, Lord,
and your deeds from earliest times, 12 how you deliver those who wait for you patiently,
and save them from the clutches of their enemies.
9
13 And I sent up my plea from the earth,
I begged to be delivered from death, 10
14 I called on the Lord, the father of my Lord, “Do not desert me in the days of ordeal,
in the time of my helplessness against the proud.

b. A libation not described in Lv. c. The holy name was pronounced only at the feast of the Atonement, as a blessing over the people. d. The Samaritans.

15 I will praise your name unceasingly, and gratefully sing its praises."
 11 And my plea was heard, 16 for you saved me from destruction,
 you delivered me from that time of evil.
 12 And therefore I will thank you and praise you,
 17 and bless the name of the Lord.

A poem on the quest for wisdom^a 13 When I was still a youth, before I went traveling,

 18 in my prayers I asked outright for wisdom.
 14 Outside the sanctuary I would pray for her,
 19 and to the last I will continue to seek her.
 15 From her blossoming to the ripening of her grape
 20 my heart has taken its delight in her.
 My foot has pursued a straight path,
 I have been following her steps ever since my youth.
 16 By bowing my ear a little I have received her,
 21 and have found much instruction.
 22 Thanks to her I have advanced;
 17 the glory be to him who has given me wisdom!
 23 For I am determined to put her into practice,
 18 I have earnestly pursued what is good, I will not be put to shame.
 24 My soul has fought to possess her,
 19 I have been scrupulous in keeping the Law;
 25 I have stretched out my hands to heaven
 26 and bewailed my ignorance of her;
 27 I have directed my soul toward her,
 27 and in purity have found her;
 28 having my heart fixed on her from the outset,
 I shall never be deserted;
 21 my very core having yearned to discover her,
 29 I have now acquired a good possession.
 22 In reward the Lord has given me a tongue
 30 with which I shall sing his praises.
 23 Come close to me, you uninstructed,
 31 take your place in my school.
 24 Why complain about lacking these things
 32 when your souls are so thirsty for them?
 25 I have opened my mouth and spoken:
 33 "Buy her without money,
 26 put your necks under her yoke,
 34 and let your souls receive instruction;
 she is not far to seek.
 27 See for yourselves: how slight my efforts have been 35 to win so much peace.
 28 Buy instruction with a large sum of silver,
 36 thanks to her you will gain much gold.
 29 May your souls rejoice in the mercy of the Lord,
 37 may you never be ashamed of praising him.
 30 Do your work before the appointed time
 38 and he in his time will give you your reward."

INTRODUCTION TO THE PROPHETS

The nature of prophecy

The prophet in Israel is a mouthpiece; he has no doubt that “the word of God” has come to him and that he must pass it on to others. In whatever way the divine message comes to him, and whatever method he uses to convey it, he is a man to whom the holiness and the will of God have been revealed. He contemplates present and future through the eyes of God and is a man sent to remind the nation of its duty to God and to bring them back to obedience and love.

Moses is accounted the father of them all, and prophets play a part in the whole history of the nation, whether in confraternities or singly as influential persons. At times the prophet may be powerful enough to reprove a king or direct national policy; at other times he may be in lonely opposition and his message takes the form of a tissue of menaces and reproaches against the ruling powers.

The prophetic books

Great prophets can be found in the historical books, but the men of whom we know most are those whose prophecies were collected into separate books bearing their names and sometimes including biographical incidents, and these books are grouped together in the Hebrew Scriptures. Traditionally, they are arranged without regard for chronological order: the four “Major Prophets” (distinguished only for the great length of their books)—Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel and Daniel—coming before the rest, who are called “Minor Prophets.” With Jeremiah, the Greek Bible added Lamentations and Baruch as associated works, though the Hebrew Bible put Lamentations with “the Writings” and did not include Baruch; it is the order of the Greek which is followed here.

The great age of prophecy lasted less than two centuries, from the mid-eighth century to the Exile; it is dominated by the figures of Isaiah and Jeremiah, though it also saw the works of Amos, Hosea, Nahum, Zephaniah and Habakkuk. With Ezekiel, the prophet of Exile, spontaneity and verve decline, interest in “the last days” increases, and apocalyptic literary form is beginning to make its appearance. The great tradition of Isaiah is continued for a while by his disciples, but the other prophets of the Return from Exile are prepossessed by the rebuilding of the Temple. In later prophets, we find a greater literary freedom: there is apocalyptic writing and the parabolic teaching style known as midrash; there is also a growing note of messianic hope. In Daniel, images of past and future come together in one great vision, and at this point it seems that the high inspiration of the prophets is exhausted and Israel must await a new outpouring of the Spirit.

Introductions

Separate introductions to the four longer books of the "Major Prophets" are included in this edition of the Bible. Before the book of Hosea, there are short introductions to each of the books included in the "Minor Prophets."

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOK OF ISAIAH

Isaiah the prophet belongs to the last years of the kingdom of Judah. His vocation to prophecy came "in the year that King Uzziah died," 740 B.C., and it was his mission to announce the fall of Israel and of Judah as the due punishment for the whole nation's unfaithfulness. At this time, the kingdom of Judah, living under the threat of Assyrian invasion, was looking for military alliances to preserve its independence; Isaiah resisted all such human expedients as showing a lack of faith in God and his purposes. When eventually the armies under Sennacherib reached the walls of Jerusalem and called for the surrender of the city, Isaiah advised the king not to capitulate and in fact the city was saved without a battle. This is the background to the prophecies in the first part of the book, which ends with a history of the period written by his disciples, at chapter 39. The prophecies show Isaiah as a man of lofty vision with a strong sense of the transcendence of God; beyond the destined fall of his nation he sees a coming age in which a remnant of the people will survive to rebuild peace and justice under a future descendant of David.

In the same part of the book, some prophecies from the time of the Exile, about a hundred years later, have been included. These include oracles against Babylon (ch.13-14), an apocalypse (ch.24-27) and some poems (ch.33-35).

Toward the end of Exile, some very fine and profound prophecies were made by an unnamed writer with a new depth of theology, looking forward to the coming time when God would comfort his people and restore them to Jerusalem. These prophecies in a collection known as "the Book of the Consolation of Israel," form chapters 40 to 55 of the book, and embedded in them are the four "Songs of the Servant of Yahweh" who suffers to atone for the sins of his people.

Chapters 56-66 contain prophecies which appear to date from different times throughout the whole age, from the call of Isaiah to the restoration in Jerusalem after the Exile.

ISAIAH

I. THE FIRST PART OF ISAIAH

A. ORACLES BEFORE THE SYRO-EPHRAIMITE WAR

Title

¹ I The vision of Isaiah son of Amoz concerning Judah and Jerusalem, which he saw in the reigns of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, kings of Judah.

Against a thoughtless people

² Listen, you heavens; earth, attend
for Yahweh is speaking,
"I reared sons, I brought them up,
but they have rebelled against me."
³ The ox knows its owner
and the ass its master's crib, Israel knows nothing,
my people understands nothing."

The punishment of Judah

⁴ A sinful nation, a people weighed down with guilt,
a breed of wrongdoers, perverted sons.
They have abandoned Yahweh, despised the Holy One of Israel,
they have turned away from him.
⁵ Where shall I strike you next,
since you heap one betrayal on another?
The whole head is sick, the whole heart grown faint;
⁶ from the sole of the foot to the head there is not a sound spot:
wounds, bruises, open sores
not dressed, not bandaged, not soothed with oil.
⁷ Your land is desolate, your towns burned down,
your fields—strangers lay them waste before your eyes;
all is desolation, as after the fall of Sodom.^a ⁸ The daughter of Zion is left like a shanty in a vineyard,
like a shed in a melon patch,
like a besieged city.
⁹ Had Yahweh not left us a few survivors,
we should be like Sodom,
we should now be like Gomorrah.

¹ a. The occasion of this prophecy is probably the siege of Jerusalem, 735.

Against religious hypocrisy

- 10 Hear the word of Yahweh,
you rulers of Sodom;
listen to the command of our God,
you people of Gomorrah.
- 11 "What are your endless sacrifices to me?
says Yahweh.
I am sick of holocausts of rams and the fat of calves.
The blood of bulls and of goats revolts me.
12 When you come to present yourselves before me,
who asked you to trample over my courts?
13 Bring me your worthless offerings no more,
the smoke of them fills me with disgust.
New Moons, sabbaths, assemblies—
I cannot endure festival and solemnity.
14 Your New Moons and your pilgrimages
I hate with all my soul.
They lie heavy on me,
I am tired of bearing them.
15 When you stretch out your hands
I turn my eyes away.
You may multiply your prayers,
I shall not listen.
Your hands are covered with blood,
16 wash, make yourselves clean.
- "Take your wrongdoing out of my sight.
Cease to do evil.
17 Learn to do good,
search for justice,
help the oppressed,
be just to the orphan,
plead for the widow.
- 18 "Come now, let us talk this over,
says Yahweh.
Though your sins are like scarlet,
they shall be as white as snow;
though they are red as crimson,
they shall be like wool.
- 19 "If you are willing to obey,
you shall eat the good things of the earth.
20 But if you persist in rebellion,
the sword shall eat you instead."
The mouth of Yahweh has spoken.

Lament for Jerusalem

- 21 What a harlot she has become,
the faithful city,
Zion, that was all justice!
Once integrity lived there,
but now assassins.
- 22 Your silver has turned into dross,
your wine is watered.

- 23 Your princes are rebels,
accomplices of thieves.
All are greedy for profit
and chase after bribes.
They show no justice to the orphan,
the cause of the widow is never heard.
- 24 Therefore—it is the Lord Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks,
the Mighty One of Israel, “Ah, I will outdo my enemies,
avenge myself on my foes.
- 25 “I will turn my hand against you,
I will smelt away your dross in the furnace,
I will remove all your base metal from you.
- 26 “I will restore your judges as of old,
your counselors as in bygone days.
Then you will be called City of Integrity, Faithful City.”
- 27 Zion will be redeemed by justice,
and her penitents by integrity.
- 28 Rebels and sinners together will be shattered,
and those who abandon Yahweh will perish.

Against tree worship^b

- 29 Yes, you will be ashamed of the terebinths
which give you such pleasure;
you will blush for the gardens
that charm you.
30 Since you will be like a terebinth
with faded leaves,
like a garden
without water.
- 31 The man of high estate will be tinder,
his handiwork a spark.
Both will burn together
and no one put them out.

Everlasting peace

- 1 2 The vision of Isaiah son of Amoz, concerning Judah and Jerusalem.
- 2 In the days to come
the mountain of the Temple of Yahweh
shall tower above the mountains
and be lifted higher than the hills.
All the nations will stream to it,
3 peoples without number will come to it; and they will say:
“Come, let us go up to the mountain of Yahweh,
to the Temple of the God of Jacob
that he may teach us his ways
so that we may walk in his paths;
since the Law will go out from Zion,
and the oracle of Yahweh from Jerusalem.”
- 4 He will wield authority over the nations

b. A pagan practice; possibly the prophecy is against Samaria.

and adjudicate between many peoples;
 these will hammer their swords into plowshares,
 their spears into sickles.
 Nation will not lift sword against nation,
 there will be no more training for war.

5 O House of Jacob, come, let us walk in the light of Yahweh.

The coming of Yahweh

6 Yes, you have cast off your people,
 the House of Jacob;
 the land is full of soothsayers,
 full of sorcerers like the Philistines;
 they clap foreigners by the hand.
 7 His land is full of silver and gold and treasures beyond counting;
 his land is full of horses
 and chariots without number;
 8 his land is full of idols . . .
 They bow down before the work of their hands,
 before the thing their fingers have made.

9 The mortal will be humbled, man brought low;
 do not forgive them.
 10 Get among the rocks, hide in the dust,
 at the sight of the terror of Yahweh,
 at the brilliance of his majesty,
 when he arises
 to make the earth quake.

11 Human pride will lower its eyes,
 the arrogance of men will be humbled.
 Yahweh alone shall be exalted,
 on that day.

12 Yes, that will be the day of Yahweh Sabaoth against all pride and arrogance, against all that is great, to bring it down, 13 against all the cedars of Lebanon
 and all the oaks of Bashan, 14 against all the high mountains
 and all the soaring hills, 15 against all the lofty towers and all the sheer walls, 16 against all the ships of Tarshish^a and all things of price . . .

17 Human pride will be humbled,
 the arrogance of men will be brought low.
 Yahweh alone will be exalted,
 on that day,
 18 and all idols thrown down.

19 Go into the hollows of the rocks,
 into the caverns of the earth,
 at the sight of the terror of Yahweh,
 at the brilliance of his majesty,

when he arises
to make the earth quake.

20 That day man will fling to moles and bats the idols of silver and the idols of gold that he made for worship.

21 and go into the crevices of the rocks
and the rifts of the crag,
at the sight of the terror of Yahweh,
at the brilliance of his majesty,
when he arises
to make the earth quake.

22 Trust no more in man,
he has but a breath in his nostrils.
How much is he worth?

Anarchy in Jerusalem

1 3 Yes, see how the Lord Yahweh Sabaoth is taking from Jerusalem and Judah support of every kind (support of bread and support of water):
2 hero, man-at-arms, judge, prophet,
3 diviner, elder, captain, noble, counselor, sorcerer, soothsayer.
4 "I give them boys for princes,
raw lads to rule over them."
5 The people bully each other,
neighbor and neighbor;
a youth can insult his elder,
a lout abuse a noble,
6 so that everyone tries to catch his brother
in their father's house, to say,
"You have a cloak, so you be leader,
and rule this heap of ruins."
7 When that day comes the other will protest,
"I am no doctor,
in my house is neither bread nor cloak;
do not make me leader of the people." 8 Yes, Jerusalem is falling into ruins and Judah is in collapse,
since their words and their deeds affront the Lord,
insulting his glory.
9 Their insolent airs bear witness against them,
they parade their sin like Sodom.
To their own undoing, they do not hide it,
they are preparing their own downfall.
10 Tell them, "Happy is the virtuous man,
for he will feed on the fruit of his deeds;
11 woe to the wicked, evil is on him,
he will be treated as his actions deserve."
12 O my people, oppressed by a lad,

2 a. Tarshish is Tartessos in Spain—"the ends of the earth." "Ships of Tarshish" means "great ocean-going vessels."

ruled by women.^a

O my people, your rulers mislead you and destroy the road you walk on.

13 Yahweh rises from his judgment seat,
he stands up to arraign his people.

14 Yahweh calls to judgment
the elders and the princes of his people:

“You are the ones who destroy the vineyard and conceal what you have stolen from the poor.

15 By what right do you crush my people and grind the faces of the poor?”

It is the Lord Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.

A warning to the women of Jerusalem

16 Yahweh said: Because of the haughtiness of the daughters of Zion,
the way they walk with their heads held high
and enticing eyes,

the way they mince along,
tinkling the bangles on their feet,
17 the Lord will give the daughters of Zion itching heads and uncover their nakedness.

18 That day the Lord will take away the ankle ornaments, tiaras, pendants 19 and bracelets, the veils, headbands, foot chains and belts, the scent bottles and 20 amulets, signet rings and nose rings, the expensive dresses, mantles, cloaks 21 and purses, the mirrors, linen garments, turbans and mantillas.
22
23

24 Instead of scent, a stink;
instead of belt, a rope;
instead of hair elaborately done, a shaven scalp,
and instead of gorgeous dress, a sack;
and brand marks instead of beauty.

The widows of Jerusalem

25 Your men will fall by the sword, your heroes in the fight.

26 The gates will moan and mourn;
you will sit on the ground desolate.

1 4 And seven women will fight over a single man that day^a:
“We will eat our own food,
and wear our own clothing,” they will say, “let us just bear your name;
take our disgrace away.”

The remnant of Jerusalem

2 That day, the branch of Yahweh shall be beauty and glory,
and the fruit of the earth shall be the pride and adornment of Israel's survivors.

3 Those who are left of Zion and remain of Jerusalem shall be called holy and those left in Jerusalem, noted down for survival.

The future restoration

4 When the Lord has washed away
 the filth of the daughter of Zion and cleansed Jerusalem of the blood shed in her with the blast of judgment and the blast of destruction, 5 Yahweh will come and rest on the whole stretch of Mount Zion and on those who are gathered there,
 a cloud by day, and smoke,
 and by night the brightness of a flaring fire.
 For, over all, the glory of Yahweh
 6 will be a canopy and a tent
 to give shade by day from the heat, refuge and shelter from the storm and the rain.

The song of the vineyard

1 5 Let me sing to my friend
 the song of his love for his vineyard.
 My friend had a vineyard
 on a fertile hillside.
 2 He dug the soil, cleared it of stones,
 and planted choice vines in it.
 In the middle he built a tower,
 he dug a press there too.
 He expected it to yield grapes,
 but sour grapes were all that it gave.
 3 And now, inhabitants of Jerusalem and men of Judah,
 I ask you to judge
 between my vineyard and me.
 4 What could I have done for my vineyard that I have not done?
 I expected it to yield grapes.
 Why did it yield sour grapes instead?
 5 Very well, I will tell you what I am going to do to my vineyard:
 I will take away its hedge for it to be grazed on,
 and knock down its wall for it to be trampled on.
 6 I will lay it waste, unpruned, undug;
 overgrown by the briar and the thorn.
 I will command the clouds
 to rain no rain on it.
 7 Yes, the vineyard of Yahweh Sabaoth is the House of Israel, and the men of Judah
 that chosen plant.
 He expected justice, but found bloodshed,
 integrity, but only a cry of distress.

3 a. The "lad" is possibly the young king Ahaz, at the start of his reign, 736.

4 a. The army has been destroyed; the circumstances are those of the first or second siege of Jerusalem, 735 or 701.

Curses

- 8 Woe to those who add house to house
and join field to field
until everywhere belongs to them and they are the sole inhabitants of the land.
- 9 Yahweh Sabaoth has sworn this in my hearing, “Many houses shall be brought to ruin,
great and fine, but left untenanted;
10 ten acres of vineyard will yield only one barrel,
ten bushel of seed will yield only one bushel.”
- 11 Woe to those who from early morning
chase after strong drink,
and stay up late at night
inflamed with wine.
- 12 Nothing but harp and lyre,
tambourine and flute,
and wine for their drinking bouts.
- Never a thought for the works of Yahweh,
never a glance for what his hands have done.
- 13 My people will go into exile,
for want of perception;
her dignitaries dying of hunger,
her populace parched with thirst.
- 14 ^a. . . Yes, Sheol opens wide his throat and gapes with measureless jaw to swallow up her thronging nobility
as they are shouting for joy.
- 15 The mortal humbled, man brought low,
proud eyes will be cast down.
- 16 Yahweh Sabaoth will increase his glory by his sentence,
the holy God will display his holiness by his integrity.
- 17 Lambs will graze as at pasture,
fatlings and kids browse in the ruins.
- 18 Woe to those who draw down punishment on themselves with an ox’s halter,
and sin
as with a chariot’s traces:
- 19 and to those who say, “Quick! Let him hurry his work
so that we can see it;
these plans of the Holy One of Israel,
let them happen and come true
so that we can know what they are.”
- 20 Woe to those who call evil good, and good evil,
who substitute darkness for light
and light for darkness,
who substitute bitter for sweet and sweet for bitter.
- 21 Woe to those who think themselves wise
and believe themselves cunning.
- 22 Woe to the heroes of drinking bouts,

- to the champions at preparing strong drinks.
 23 Woe to those who for a bribe acquit the guilty and cheat the good man of his due.
 24 For this, as stubble is prey for the flames and as straw vanishes in the fire,
 so their root will rot,
 their blossom be carried off like dust,
 for rejecting the Law of Yahweh Sabaoth, and despising the word of the Holy One of Israel.

The anger of Yahweh

- 25 So, Yahweh aflame with anger against his people
 has raised his hand to strike them;
 he has killed the princes, their corpses lie
 like dung in the streets.
 Yet his anger is not spent,
 still his hand is raised to strike.

The Assyrian invasion

- 26 He hoists a signal for a distant nation,
 he whistles it up from the ends of the earth;
 and look, it comes, swiftly, promptly.
 27 None of them faint or weary,
 none sleeping or drowsy,
 none of them with belt loose,
 none with sandal straps broken.
 28 Its arrows are sharpened,
 its bows all bent,
 the hoofs of its horses are like flint,
 its chariot wheels like tornadoes.
 29 Its roar is the roar of a lioness,
 like a lion cub it roars,
 it growls and seizes its prey,
 it bears it off, and no one can snatch it back.
 30 Growling against it, that day,
 like the growling of the sea.
 Only look at the country: darkness and distress,
 and the light flickers out in shadows.

B. THE BOOK OF IMMANUEL

The call of Isaiah

- 1 6 In the year of King Uzziah's death^a I saw the Lord Yahweh seated on a high 2 throne; his train filled the sanctuary; above him stood seraphs, each one with six wings: two to cover its face, two to cover its feet and two for flying.
 3 And they cried out one to another in this way,
 "Holy, holy, holy is Yahweh Sabaoth.
 His glory fills the whole earth."
 4 The foundations of the threshold shook with the voice of the one who cried out,
 5 and the Temple was filled with smoke. I said:

5 a. Vv. 14-16 are out of place and should perhaps be read with 2:6-22.

6 a. 740 B.C.

"What a wretched state I am in! I am lost, for I am a man of unclean lips
and I live among a people of unclean lips,
and my eyes have looked at the King, Yahweh Sabaoth."

6 Then one of the seraphs flew to me, holding in his hand a live coal which he 7 had taken from the altar with a pair of tongs. With this he touched my mouth and said:

"See now, this has touched your lips,
your sin is taken away,
your iniquity is purged."

8 Then I heard the voice of the Lord saying:

"Whom shall I send? Who will be our messenger?"

9 I answered, "Here I am, send me." He said:

"Go, and say to this people,
'Hear and hear again, but do not understand;
see and see again, but do not perceive.' 10 Make the heart of this people gross,
its ears dull;
shut its eyes,
so that it will not see with its eyes,
hear with its ears,
understand with its heart,
and be converted and healed."

11 Then I said, "Until when, Lord?" He answered:

"Until towns have been laid waste and deserted, houses left untenanted,
countryside made desolate,
12 and Yahweh drives the people out.
There will be a great emptiness in the country 13 and, though a tenth of the people remain, it will be stripped like a terebinth of which, once felled, only the stock remains.
The stock is a holy seed."

The first warning to Ahaz

1 7 In the reign of Ahaz son of Jotham, son of Uzziah, king of Judah, Razon the king of Aram went up against Jerusalem with Pekah son of Remaliah, king of Israel, to lay siege to it; but he was unable to capture it.

2 The news was brought to the House of David. "Aram," they said, "has reached Ephraim." Then the heart of the king and the hearts of the people shuddered 3 as the trees of the forest shudder in front of the wind. Yahweh said to Isaiah,
"Go with your son Shear-jashub,^a and meet Ahaz at the end of the conduit of 4 the upper pool on the Fuller's Field road, and say to him:

'Pay attention, keep calm, have no fear,
do not let your heart sink
because of these two smoldering stumps of firebrands,^b 5 or because Aram, Ephraim and the son of Remaliah have plotted to ruin you, and have said:
6 Let us invade Judah and terrorize it and seize it for ourselves,
and set up a king there,
the son of Tabeel.

- 7 The Lord Yahweh says this:
It shall not come true; it shall not be.
- 8a The capital of Aram is Damascus,
the head of Damascus, Razon;
- 9a the capital of Ephraim, Samaria,
the head of Samaria, the son of Remaliah.
- 8b Six or five years more and a shattered Ephraim shall no longer be a people.
- 9b But if you do not stand by me,
you will not stand at all.’”

The second warning to Ahaz. The sign of Immanuel

- 10 Once again Yahweh spoke to Ahaz and said, “Ask Yahweh your God for 11 a sign for yourself coming either from the depths of Sheol or from the heights 12 above.” “No,” Ahaz answered, “I will not put Yahweh to the test.”
- 13 Then he said:
- Listen now, House of David:
are you not satisfied with trying the patience of men without trying the patience of my God, too?
- 14 The Lord himself, therefore,
will give you a sign.
It is this: the maiden is with child
and will soon give birth to a son whom she will call Immanuel.
- 15 On curds and honey will he feed
until he knows how to refuse evil
and choose good.
- 16 For before this child knows how to refuse evil
and choose good,
the land whose two kings terrify you will be deserted.
- 17 Yahweh will bring times for you and your people and your father’s House,
such as have not come since Ephraim broke away from Judah
(the king of Assyria).
- 18 That day Yahweh will whistle up mosquitoes
from the Delta of the Egyptian Niles, and bees from the land of Assyria,
to come and settle
on the steep ravine, on the rocky cleft,
on the thorn bush and on every pasture.
- 20 On that day the Lord will shave
with a blade hired from beyond the River^c
(the king of Assyria), the head and hairs of the body,
and take off the beard, too.
- 21 That day each man will raise
one heifer and two sheep, 22 and because of the abundance of milk they give,
all who are left in the country will feed on curds and honey.
- 23 That day, where a thousand vines used to be,

7 a. The name means “a remnant will return.” b. The kings of Damascus and Israel.
c. Euphrates.

worth one thousand pieces of silver,
 all will be briar and thorn.
 24 Men will enter it with arrows and bow,
 since the whole country will revert to briar and thorn.
 25 On any hillside hoed with the hoe
 no one will come
 for fear of briars and thorns;
 it will be pasture for cattle and grazing for sheep.

The birth of a son to Isaiah

1 8 Yahweh said to me, "Take a large seal and scratch on it in ordinary writing
 2 MAHER-SHALAL-HASH-BAZ.^a Then find me reliable witnesses, Uriah the priest and Zechariah son of Jeberechiah."
 3 I went to the prophetess, she conceived and gave birth to a son. Yahweh 4 said to me, "Call him Maher-shalal-hash-baz, for before the child knows how to say father or mother, the wealth of Damascus and the booty of Samaria will be carried off before the king of Assyria."

Shiloah and the Euphrates

5 Yahweh spoke to me again and said:
 6 Because this people has refused the waters of Shiloah^b which flow in tranquility, and trembles before Razon
 and the son of Remaliah, 7 the Lord will bring up against you
 the mighty and deep waters of the River
 (the king of Assyria and all his glory),
 and it will overflow out of its bed
 bursting all its banks;
 8 it will inundate Judah, flow over, pour out,
 flooding it up to the neck,
 and its wings will be spread over the whole breadth of your country, O Immanuel.

Terror for the invaders

9 Know this, peoples, you will be crushed;
 listen, far-off nations,
 arm yourselves, yet you will be crushed.
 10 Devise a plan, it is thwarted;
 put forward an argument, there is no substance in it,
 for God is with us.^c

Yahweh a stone in the way

11 Yes, Yahweh spoke to me like this when his hand seized hold of me to turn me from walking in the path
 that this people follows.
 12 Do not call conspiracy
 all that this people calls conspiracy;
 do not fear what they fear,
 do not be afraid of them.
 13 It is Yahweh Sabaoth,
 whom you must hold in veneration,
 him you must fear,
 him you must dread.
 14 He is the sanctuary and the stumbling stone and the rock that brings down

 the two Houses of Israel;
 a trap and a snare
 for the inhabitants of Jerusalem.
 15 By it many will be brought down,
 many fall and be broken,
 be trapped and made captive.

Isaiah addresses his disciples

16 I bind up this testimony,
 I seal this revelation,
 in the heart of my disciples.
 17 I wait for Yahweh who hides his face from the House of Jacob;
 in him I hope.
 18 I and the children whom Yahweh has given me are signs and portents in Israel
 from Yahweh Sabaoth
 who dwells on Mount Zion.
 19 And should men say to you, "Consult ghosts and wizards that whisper and mutter"—
 by all means a people must consult its gods
 and, on behalf of the living, consult the dead.
 20 To obtain a revelation and a testimony,
 without doubt this is how they will talk,
 since there is no dawn for them.

Wandering in the night

21 Distressed and starving he will wander through the country and, starving, he will become frenzied, blaspheming his king and his God;
 turning his gaze upward, 22 then down to the earth,
 he will find only distress and darkness,
 the blackness of anguish,
 and will see nothing but night.
 23 Is not all blackness where anguish is?

Epiphany

1 In days past he humbled the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, but in days to come he will confer glory on the Way of the Sea on the far side of Jordan, province of the nations.

1 9 The people that walked in darkness
 has seen a great light;
 on those who live in a land of deep shadow
 a light has shone.
 2 You have made their gladness greater,
 you have made their joy increase;
 they rejoice in your presence
 as men rejoice at harvest time,
 as men are happy when they are dividing the spoils.
 3 4 For the yoke that was weighing on him,

the bar across his shoulders,
 the rod of his oppressor,
 these you break as on the day of Midian.

4 5 For all the footgear of battle,
 every cloak rolled in blood,
 is burned,
 and consumed by fire.

5 6 For there is a child born for us, a son given to us
 and dominion is laid on his shoulders;
 and this is the name they give him:
 Wonder Counselor, Mighty God,
 Eternal Father, Prince of Peace.
 6 7 Wide is his dominion
 in a peace that has no end,
 for the throne of David
 and for his royal power, which he establishes and makes secure
 in justice and integrity.
 From this time onward and for ever,
 the jealous love of Yahweh Sabaoth will do this.

The vengeance of Yahweh

7 8 The Lord hurls a word against Jacob,
 it falls on Israel.
 8
 9 All the people of Ephraim and all the inhabitants of Samaria know it.
 In their pride they have said,
 speaking in the arrogance of their heart, 9 10 "The bricks have fallen down, then we will build with dressed stone;
 the sycamores have been cut down, we will put cedars in their place." 10 11 But Yahweh is marshaling his people's enemies against them,
 he is stirring up their foes:
 11 12 to the east, Aram, to the west, the Philistines devour Israel with gaping jaw.
 Yet his anger is not spent,
 still his hand is raised to strike.
 12
 13 But the people have not come back to him who struck them, they have not come looking for Yahweh Sabaoth;
 13
 14 hence Yahweh has cut head and tail from Israel, palm branch and reed in a single day.
 14
 15 (The "head" is the elder and the man of rank;
 the "tail," the prophet with lying vision.) 15 16 This people's leaders have taken the wrong turning,
 and those who are led are lost.
 16
 17 And so the Lord will not spare their young men,
 will have no pity for their orphans and widows.
 Since the whole people is godless and evil,
 its speech is madness.
 Yet his anger is not spent,
 still his hand is raised to strike.
 17 18 Yes, wickedness burns like a fire:
 it consumes briar and thorn,
 it sets the forest thickets alight
 and columns of smoke go rolling upward.

- 18 The land is set aflame by the wrath of Yahweh Sabaoth 19 and the people are food for the fire.
Not one spares his brother,
19b each devours the flesh of his neighbor.
On the right side they carve and still are hungry,
on the left they devour and are not satisfied.
19a Manasseh devours Ephraim, Ephraim Manasseh,
20 and both hurl themselves on Judah.
21 Yet his anger is not spent,
still his hand is raised to strike.
- 1 10 Woe to the legislators of infamous laws,
to those who issue tyrannical decrees,
2 who refuse justice to the unfortunate and cheat the poor among my people of their rights, who make widows their prey
and rob the orphan.
3 What will you do on the day of punishment,
when, from far off, destruction comes?
To whom will you run for help?
Where will you leave your riches?
4 Nothing for it but to crouch with the captives
and to fall with the slain.
Yet his anger is not spent,
still his hand is raised to strike.

Against a king of Assyria^a

- 5 Woe to Assyria, the rod of my anger,
the club brandished by me in my fury!
6 I sent him against a godless nation;
I gave him commission against a people that provokes me,
to pillage and to plunder freely
and to stamp down like the mud in the streets.
7 But he did not intend this,
his heart did not plan it so.
No, in his heart was to destroy,
to go on cutting nations to pieces without limit.
8 He said, "Are not my officers all kings?
9 Is not Calno like Carchemish, Hamath like Arpad,^b
Samaria like Damascus?
10 As my hand has reached out to the kingdoms of the idols, richer in sculptured images than Jerusalem and Samaria, 11 as I have dealt with Samaria and her idols, shall I not treat Jerusalem and her images the same?" 12 When the Lord has completed all his work on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem, he will punish what comes from the king of Assyria's boastful heart, and his arrogant insolence.
13 For he has said:

"By the strength of my own arm I have done this
and by my own intelligence, for understanding is mine;

10 a. Probably Sennacherib at the end of his invasion, 701. b. Calno (N. Syria) captured by Tiglath-pileser, 738; Carchemish (Hittite) taken by Sargon, 717; Hamath (Syria) captured by Sargon, 720; Arpad (near Aleppo) captured, 728.

- I have pushed back the frontiers of peoples and plundered their treasures.
I have brought their inhabitants down to the dust.
14 As if they were a bird's nest, my hand has seized the riches of the peoples.
As people pick up deserted eggs
I have picked up the whole earth,
with not a wing fluttering,
not a beak opening, not a chirp."
- 15 Does the ax claim more credit than the man who wields it,
or the saw more strength than the man who handles it?
It would be like the cudgel controlling the man who raises it,
or the club moving what is not made of wood!
- 16 And so Yahweh Sabaoth is going to send a wasting sickness on his stout warriors;
beneath his plenty, a burning will burn
like a consuming fire.
- 17 The light of Israel will become a fire
and its Holy One a flame burning and devouring thorns
and briars in a single day.
- 18 He will destroy the luxuriance of his forest
and his orchard, soul and body too;
that will be like a sick man passing away;
- 19 the remnant of his forest trees will be so easy to count that a child could make the list.

The name Shear-jashub^c

- 20 That day,
the remnant of Israel and the survivors of the House of Jacob will stop relying on the man who strikes them and will truly rely on Yahweh,
the Holy One of Israel.
- 21 A remnant will return, the remnant of Jacob,
to the mighty God.

A prophecy of destruction

- 22 Israel, your people may be like the sand on the seashore, but only a remnant will return. A destruction has been decreed that will bring inexhaustible integrity.
- 23 Yes, throughout the country the Lord Yahweh Sabaoth will carry out the destruction he has decreed.

Oracle

- 24 And so Yahweh Sabaoth says this:
My people who live in Zion,
do not be afraid of Assyria who strikes you with the club and lifts up the rod against you.
- 25 A little longer, a very little,
and fury will come to an end,
my anger will destroy them.
- 26 Yahweh Sabaoth will whirl the whip against him,
like the time he struck Midian at the Rock of Oreb,
like the time he stretched out his rod against the sea and raised it over the road from Egypt.

27 That day,
his burden will fall from your shoulder,
his yoke will cease to weigh on your neck.

The invader^d

28 He advances from the district of Rimmon, he reaches Aiath,
he passes through Migron,
he leaves his baggage train at Michmash.
29 They file through the defile,
they bivouac at Geba.
Ramah quakes,
Gibeah of Saul takes flight.
30 Bath-gallim, cry aloud!
Laishah, hear her!
Anathoth, answer her!
31 Madmenah is running away,
the inhabitants of Gebim are fleeing.
32 This very day he will halt at Nob.
He will shake his fist against the mount of the daughter of Zion, against the hill of Jerusalem.
33 See, the Lord Yahweh Sabaoth
hews down the boughs with a crash.
The topmost heights are cut off,
the proudest are brought down.
34 The forest thickets fall beneath the ax.
Lebanon and its splendor collapse.

The coming of the virtuous king

1 11 A shoot springs from the stock of Jesse,
a scion thrusts from his roots:
2 on him the spirit of Yahweh rests,
a spirit of wisdom and insight,
a spirit of counsel and power,
a spirit of knowledge and of the fear of Yahweh.
(The fear of Yahweh is his breath.)
3 He does not judge by appearances,
he gives no verdict on hearsay, 4 but judges the wretched with integrity,
and with equity gives a verdict for the poor of the land.
His word is a rod that strikes the ruthless,
his sentences bring death to the wicked.
5 Integrity is the loincloth around his waist,
faithfulness the belt about his hips.
6 The wolf lives with the lamb,
the panther lies down with the kid,
calf and lion cub feed together with a little boy to lead them.
7 The cow and the bear make friends,
their young lie down together.
The lion eats straw like the ox.
8 The infant plays over the cobra's hole;

c. See 7:3. d. The invasion route of this Assyrian enemy is not actually the way taken by Sennacherib in 701; the towns are chosen because their names suggest appropriate puns or recall past battles.

into the viper's lair
 the young child puts his hand.
 9 They do no hurt, no harm,
 on all my holy mountain,
 for the country is filled with the knowledge of Yahweh
 as the waters swell the sea.

The return of the exiles

10 That day, the root of Jesse shall stand as a signal to the peoples.
 It will be sought out by the nations
 and its home will be glorious.
 11 That day, the Lord will raise his hand once more to ransom the remnant of his people, left over from the exile of Assyria, of Egypt,
 of Pathros, of Cush, of Elam, of Shinar, of Hamath, of the islands of the sea.^a 12 He will hoist a signal for the nations and assemble the outcasts of Israel;
 he will bring back the scattered people of Judah
 from the four corners of the earth.
 13 Then Ephraim's jealousy will come to an end and Judah's enemies be put down;
 Ephraim will no longer be jealous of Judah
 nor Judah any longer the enemy of Ephraim.
 14 They will sweep down westward on the Philistine slopes, together they will pillage the sons of the East,
 extend their sway over Edom and Moab,
 and make the Ammonites their subjects.
 15 And Yahweh will dry up the gulf of the Sea of Egypt with the heat of his breath,
 and stretch out his hand over the River,
 and divide it into seven streams,
 for men to cross dry-shod,
 16 to make a pathway for the remnant of his people left over from the exile of Assyria, as there was for Israel
 when it came up out of Egypt.

Two hymns of thanksgiving

1 12 That day, you will say:
 I give thanks to you, Yahweh,
 you were angry with me
 but your anger is appeased
 and you have given me consolation.
 2 See now, he is the God of my salvation
 I have trust now and no fear,
 for Yahweh is my strength, my song,
 he is my salvation.
 3 And you will draw water joyfully
 from the springs of salvation.
 4 That day, you will say:
 Give thanks to Yahweh,
 call his name aloud.
 Proclaim his deeds to the people,

declare his name sublime.

5 Sing of Yahweh, for he has done marvelous things,
let them be made known to the whole world.

6 Cry out for joy and gladness,
you dwellers in Zion,
for great in the midst of you is the Holy One of Israel.

C. ORACLES ON FOREIGN NATIONS

Against Babylon

1 13 Oracle on Babylon, seen by Isaiah son of Amoz.

2 On a bare hill hoist a signal, sound the war cry.

Beckon them to come to the Nobles' Gate.

3 I, for my part, issue orders
to my sacred warriors,
I summon my knights to serve my anger,
my proud champions.

4 Listen! A rumbling in the mountains like a great crowd.

Listen! The din of kingdoms, of nations mustering.

It is Yahweh Sabaoth
marshaling the troops for battle.

5 They come from a distant country,
from the far horizons,
Yahweh and the instruments of his fury
to lay the whole earth waste.

6 How! For the day of Yahweh is near, bringing devastation from Shaddai.

7 At this, every arm falls limp . . .
The heart of each man fails him,
they are terrified,

8 pangs and pains seize them,
they writhe like a woman in labor.

They look at one another with feverish faces.

9 The day of Yahweh is coming, merciless, with wrath and fierce anger,
to reduce the earth to desert

and root out the sinners from it.

10 For the stars of the sky and Orion shall not let their light shine;
the sun shall be dark when it rises,
and the moon not shed her light.

11 I will punish the world for its evil-doing,
and the wicked for their crimes,
to put an end to the pride of arrogant men
and humble the pride of despots.

12 I will make men scarcer than pure gold,

11 a. The places to which the inhabitants of the Jerusalem area had dispersed after the destruction of the city.

- human life scarcer than the gold of Ophir.
 13 This is why I am going to shake the heavens—
 and make the earth reel from its place,
 before the wrath of Yahweh Sabaoth,
 the day when his anger flares.
- 14 Then like a startled gazelle,
 like sheep that no one shepherds,
 each man will return to his people,
 each take flight to his native land.
- 15 All those caught are slaughtered,
 all those captured fall by the sword, 16 their babies are dashed to pieces before their eyes,
 their houses plundered,
 their wives raped.
- 17 See now, I stir up against them the Medes,
 who think nothing of silver,
 who take no pleasure in gold.
- 18 The baby boys all cut to pieces,
 the baby girls all crushed.
 They have no mercy on the fruit of the womb,
 no pity in their eyes for children.
- 19 Babylon, that pearl of kingdoms,
 the jewel and boast of Chaldaeans,
 like Sodom and Gomorrah shall be overthrown by God.
- 20 Never more will anyone live there or be born there from generation to generation.
 No Arab will pitch his tent there,
 nor shepherds feed their flocks.
- 21 But beasts of the desert will lie there,
 and owls fill its houses.
 Ostriches will make their home there and satyrs have their dances there.
- 22 Hyenas will call to each other in its keeps,
 jackals in the luxury of its palaces . . .
 Its time is almost up,
 its days will not last long.

The return from the Exile

- 1 14 Yes, Yahweh will have pity on Jacob, he will choose Israel once more and settle them in their own country. The foreigner will join them and 2 attach himself to the House of Jacob. Nations will take them and lead them to the place they came from, and the House of Israel will adopt them in the land of Yahweh as slaves and slave girls. They will capture those who captured them and master their oppressors.

A satire on the death of a tyrant

- 3 The day Yahweh gives you rest after your suffering and torment and the 4 grim servitude to which you were forcibly enslaved, you are to recite this satire on the king of Babylon:

- What was the end of the tyrant?
 What was the end of his arrogance?
 5 Yahweh has broken the staff of the wicked
 and the scepter of tyrants—
 6 which angrily thrashed the peoples

with blow after blow,
which furiously tyrannized over the nations,
persecuting without respite.

7 The whole earth is at rest, it is calm, shouting for joy.

8 The cypresses, the cedars of Lebanon
rejoice at your fate, “Now that you have been laid low,
no one comes up to fell us.”

9 On your account Sheol beneath us is astir to greet your arrival.

To honor you he rouses the ghosts
of all the rulers of the world.
He makes all the kings of the nations
get up from their thrones.

10 Each has something to say and what they will say to you is this,
“So you too have been brought to nothing, like ourselves.
You, too, have become like us.

11 Your magnificence has been flung down to Sheol with the music of your harps;
underneath you a bed of maggots,
and over you a blanket of worms.

12 How did you come to fall from the heavens,
Daystar, son of Dawn?

How did you come to be thrown to the ground,
you who enslaved the nations?

13 You who used to think to yourself,
‘I will climb up to the heavens;
and higher than the stars of God
I will set my throne.

I will sit on the Mount of Assembly
in the recesses of the north.

14 I will climb to the top of thunderclouds,
I will rival the Most High.’

15 What! Now you have fallen to Sheol to the very bottom of the abyss!”

16 All who see you will gaze at you,
will stare at you,

“Is this the man who made the earth tremble,
and overthrew kingdoms,

17 who made the world a desert
and leveled cities,

who never to his captives
opened the prison gates?”

18 All the kings of the nations lie honorably, each in his tomb.

19 But you, you have been expelled from your grave
like loathsome dung,

buried under the slaughtered,
under those cut down by the sword,
and thrown on the stones of the ditch
like a mangled carcass.

20 You are never going to rejoin them in the grave,
for you have brought your country to ruin and destroyed your people.

 The offspring of the wicked
 will leave no name behind them.
 21 Start slaughtering the sons
 for the guilt of their fathers!
 Never again must they rise to conquer the earth and spread across the face of the world.

Oracle against Babylon

22 I will rise against them—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks—and wipe out name and remnant from Babylon. No offspring, no posterity—it is Yahweh 23 who speaks. 'I will turn it into marshland, into a place for hedgehogs. I will sweep it with the broom of destruction—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.

Assyria will be destroyed

24 Yahweh Sabaoth has sworn it, saying: Yes,
 what I have planned shall happen,
 what I have decided shall be fulfilled—25 to break Assyria in my country,
 to crush him on my mountains.
 His yoke will slip from them,
 his burden from their shoulder.
 26 This is the decision taken against the whole world;
 this, the hand stretched out against all the nations.
 27 When Yahweh Sabaoth has made a decision,
 who would dare cancel it?
 When he stretches out his hand,
 who can make him withdraw it?

A warning to the Philistines

28 In the year Ahaz died^a this oracle was pronounced:
 29 Do not rejoice, whole country of Philistia,
 because the rod that beat you has broken,
 since the serpent's stock can still produce a basilisk
 and the offspring of that will be a flying dragon.
 30 But the poor are going to feed in my pastures
 and beggars rest in safety,
 while I let your posterity die out through hunger,
 killing off any that survive.
 31 Howl, Gate; cry, City;
 shudder, whole country of Philistia!
 For a smoke is coming from the north,
 and there are no deserters in those battalions.
 32 What reply will be given then to the messengers of that nation?
 "Yahweh has laid the foundations of Zion,
 and there the poor of his people shall find refuge."

Lament for Moab

The night when Ar was ravaged Moab collapsed.
The night when Kir was ravaged
Moab collapsed.

² People climb to the temple of Dibon, climb high places to weep;
on Nebo and in Medeba Moab laments.

Every head shaven,
every beard clipped;
³ they wear sackcloth in the streets,
and wail on the housetops.

All in the squares are lamenting and bursting into tears.
⁴ Heshbon and Elealeh are howling,
their noise can be heard as far as Jahaz.
That is why the loins of Moab are shivering,
why its soul is shuddering;
⁵ why the heart of Moab is groaning,
why its fugitives are as far afield as Zoar (Eglath Shelishiyah).

Ah, slopes of Luhith,
they climb them weeping.
On the road to Horonaim
they utter heart-rending cries.

⁶ Ah, the waters of Nimrim
are a waste land,
the grass dried up, the turf all withered,
nothing green any more.

⁷ That is why they are busily preparing . . .
And they transport their possessions
across the wadi of the Willows.

⁸ Ah, the shrieking rings around the whole territory of Moab;
its wailing resounds right to Eglaim,
echoes as far as Beer-elim.

⁹ Ah, the waters of Dibon are swollen with blood, and worse disasters are still in store for Dibon,
a lion to pounce on anyone who escapes from Moab,
and on the few survivors of that country.

The Moabites take refuge in Judah

to the king of the country
from Sela, by way of the desert,
to the mountain of the daughter of Zion.

² Flying backward and forward
like bewildered nestlings,

14 a. In spite of this heading, "the rod that beat" Philistia must have been Sargon II (died 705).

such are the daughters of Moab
at the ford of the Arnon.

3 "Advise us what to do, decide for us.

"Spread your shadow as if it were night
at the height of noon.
Hide those who have been driven out,
do not let the refugee be seen.

4 "Let those who have been driven out of Moab stay with you;
be their refuge
against the destroyer."

Once the oppression is over,
and the destroyer is no more,
and those now trampling the country underfoot have gone away, 5 the throne will be made secure in gentleness,
and on it there will sit in all fidelity,
within the tent of David,
a judge careful for justice
and eager for integrity.

Lament for Moab

6 We have heard of the pride of Moab,
an excessive pride—
of his conceit, his pride, his arrogance;
his pretensions are empty.

7 And so the Moabites must mourn for Moab,
all of them lamenting together.
For the raisin cakes of Kir-hareseth
they mourn, in their utter bewilderment.

8 For blighted are the fields of Heshbon, and the vine of Sibmah whose clusters proved too strong for the overlords of the nations;
it once reached all the way to Jazer,
had even wound its way into the desert,
and its shoots had spread even beyond the sea.

9 And so I weep, as Jazer weeps,
for the vine of Sibmah.
I water you with my tears,
Heshbon and Elealeh.

For over your fruit and your vintage
a cheer has been heard;
10 joy and gladness
have vanished from the orchards.

No more revelry in the vineyards,
no more happy shouting;
no more wine trodden out in the presses,
the shouting all silenced.

11 And so for Moab my whole being quivers like lyre strings,
my inmost self, for Kir-hareseth.

12 In vain may Moab go to wear himself out at high places,
to come and pray in his temple;
he can do nothing.

Oracle on Moab

¹³₁₄ Such was the sentence once pronounced against Moab by Yahweh. Now Yahweh proclaims, "Within three years, as a wage earner reckons them, the glorious power of Moab, despite his teeming population, will cease to command respect, and what remains of him will be slight, feeble, impotent."

Oracle on Damascus

1 17 Oracle against Damascus:

Damascus is going to cease to be a city,
she will become a heap of ruins.
2 Her towns, abandoned for ever,
will be pastures for flocks.
There they will rest with no one to frighten them away.
3 Ephraim^a will lose his defenses and Damascus her sovereignty;
the remnant of Aram will be treated in the same way as the glory of the Israelites.
It is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.

4 That day, the glory of Jacob will be diminished,
from being fat he will grow lean;
5 as when a reaper hugs an armful of standing corn
and slices off the ears,
or when they glean the ears in the Valley of Rephaim:
6 nothing remains but gleanings;
or when an olive tree is beaten:
two or three berries left on the topmost bough,
four or five on the branches of the tree.
It is Yahweh, the God of Israel, who speaks.

An end to idolatry

7 That day, man will look to his creator and his eyes will turn to the Holy 8 One of Israel. He will no longer look after the altars, his own handiwork, nor gaze at what his hands have made: the sacred poles and the solar pillars.

Against the gardens of Adonis

9 That day, your cities will be abandoned as were those of the Amorites and the Hivites
in the path of the children of Israel.
They will be a desert
10 because you have forgotten the God of your salvation, and failed to keep in remembrance the Rock of your strength.
For you are planting plants for Adonis,
you put in sprigs of foreign gods, 11 you make them flower the same day as you plant them,
as soon as it is light your seedlings blossom,

17 a. The kingdom of Israel.

but all that you pick will vanish on the day of trouble,
and the evil will be incurable.

The upsurge of the nations

- 12 Vast hordes thundering,
with thunder like thundering seas,
the roaring of nations roaring
like the roar of mighty waters.
13 (Nations roaring like the roar of many waters.)
He rebukes them
and far away they flee, driven off
like chaff on the mountains before the wind,
like an eddy of dust before the storm.
- 14 At evening all was terror;
before morning comes they are no more.
Such was the lot of our plunderers,
such, the fate of our despoilers.

Oracle against Cush^a

- 1 18 Country of whirring wings
beyond the rivers of Cush, 2 who send ambassadors by sea,
in papyrus skiffs over the waters.
- Go, swift messengers
to a people tall and bronzed,
to a nation always feared,
a people mighty and masterful,
in the country crisscrossed with rivers.
- 3 All you who inhabit the world,
you who people the earth,
the signal is being hoisted on the mountains, look!
The horn is being sounded, listen!
- 4 For thus Yahweh speaks to me:
From where I am I gaze, untroubled,
like the clear heat produced by light,
like a dewy mist in the heat of harvest.
- 5 For, before the vintage, once the flowering is over and blossom turns into ripening grape,
the tendrils are cut back with a pruning knife,
the shoots taken off, cut away.
- 6 They will all be abandoned together
to the birds of prey in the mountains and to the beasts of the earth.
The birds of prey will summer on them,
and all the beasts of the earth winter on them.
- 7 At that time, offerings will be brought to Yahweh Sabaoth on behalf of the tall and bronzed nation, on behalf of the nation always feared, on behalf of the mighty and masterful people in the country crisscrossed with rivers, to the place where the name of Yahweh Sabaoth dwells, on Mount Zion.

Against Egypt^a

- 1 19 Oracle against Egypt:
See! Yahweh, riding a swift cloud, comes to Egypt.

The idols of Egypt tremble before him,
and the hearts of the Egyptians sink within them.

2 I will stir up the Egyptians against each other and they shall fight every man against his brother, friend against friend, city against city,
kingdom against kingdom.

3 Egypt is going to be demoralized,
for I shall confound all their wits.
They will consult idols and wizards,
necromancers and sorcerers.

4 I mean to hand the Egyptians over to a hard master;
a cruel king will rule them.
It is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.

5 The waters will ebb from the Nile,
the river bed be parched and dry, 6 the canals grow foul,
the Niles of Egypt sink and dry up.

Rush and reed will droop,
7 the plants on the banks of the Nile;
all the Nile vegetation will dry up,
blow away, and be seen no more.

8 The fishermen will groan,
all who cast hook in the Nile will mourn;
those who throw nets on the waters
will lament.

9 The flax workers will be baffled,
the carders too, and weavers of white cloth.
10 The weavers will be dismayed and all the workmen dejected.

11 The princes of Zoan are utter fools,
and Pharaoh's wisest counselors are stupid;
how can you say to Pharaoh,
"I am a disciple of the sages,
a disciple of bygone kings?"

12 Where are these sages of yours?
Let them come forward now,
let them explain to you what Yahweh Sabaoth has decided to do with Egypt.

13 The princes of Zoan are fools,
the princes of Noph,^b self-deceivers;
Egypt is led astray
by the governors of her provinces.

14 On them Yahweh has poured out

18 a. Egypt, denounced under the ancient name for Ethiopia.

19 a. Isaiah preached against Egypt probably at the time (718-701) when Egypt was seeking an alliance against Assyria. b. Memphis.

a spirit of giddiness.

They have Egypt slithering in all she undertakes
as a drunkard slithers in his vomit.

- 15 And Egypt will never succeed in anything undertaken by head or by tail, by palm or reed.

The conversion of Egypt and Assyria

- 16 That day, the Egyptians will become like women, fearful, terrified, when they 17 see the uplifted hand that Yahweh Sabaoth will raise against them. The land of Judah will become the terror of Egypt. Whenever Egypt is reminded of this, she will be terrified, because of the fate Yahweh Sabaoth has prepared for her.
18 That day, in the land of Egypt there will be five towns speaking the language of Canaan and swearing oaths in the name of Yahweh Sabaoth; Ir Haheres 19 will be one of them. That day, there will be an altar to Yahweh in the center 20 of the land of Egypt and, close to the frontier, a pillar to Yahweh, which will be both sign and witness of Yahweh Sabaoth in the land of Egypt. When in oppression the Egyptians cry to Yahweh he will send them a savior to protect 21 and deliver them. Yahweh will reveal himself to them, and that day the Egyptians will acknowledge Yahweh and worship him with sacrifices and offerings. They 22 will make vows to Yahweh and perform them. Then, though Yahweh has struck the Egyptians harshly, he will heal them. They will turn to Yahweh who 23 will listen to them and heal them. That day, there will be a road from Egypt to Assyria. Assyria will have access to Egypt and Egypt have access to Assyria.
Egypt will serve Assyria.
24 That day, Israel, making the third with Egypt and Assyria, will be blessed 25 in the center of the world. Yahweh Sabaoth will give his blessing in the words, "Blessed be my people Egypt, Assyria my creation, and Israel my heritage."

Prophecy of the capture of Ashdod^a

- 1 20 The year the cupbearer-in-chief, sent by Sargon king of Assyria, came to 2 Ashdod and stormed and captured it: at that time Yahweh had spoken through Isaiah son of Amoz. He had said to him, "Go and undo the sackcloth around your waist and take the sandals off your feet." The latter had done so, and 3 walked about, naked and barefoot. Yahweh then said, "As my servant Isaiah has been walking about naked and barefoot for the last three years—a sign and portent 4 for Egypt and Cush—so will the king of Assyria lead away captives from Egypt and exiles from Cush, young and old, naked and barefoot, their buttocks
5 bared, to the shame of Egypt. You will be frightened and ashamed about 6 Cush in which you trusted, and about Egypt of which you boasted. And the inhabitants of this coast will say, 'Look what has happened to those in whom we trusted and to whom we fled for help and safety from the king of Assyria!
And now, how are we going to escape?'"

The fall of Babylon

- 1 21 Oracle on the maritime plain:
As whirlwinds
sweeping over the Negeb
come from the desert,
from a land of horror
2 —a harsh vision has been shown me—
the plunderer plunders,
the destroyer destroys.
"Go up, Elam,
lay siege, Media.

I am putting an end
to groaning.”

3 This is why my loins
are wracked with shuddering;
I am seized with pains
like the pains of a woman in labor;
I am too distressed to hear,
too afraid to see.

4 My heart flutters,
dread makes me tremble,
the twilight I longed for has become my horror.

5 They spread the table,
cover it with a cloth;
they eat, they drink . . .
Up, captains,
grease the shield!

6 For this is what the Lord has said to me, “Go and post the watchman,
and let him report what he sees.

7 “If he sees cavalry,
horsemen two by two,
men mounted on donkeys,
men mounted on camels,
let him observe,
closely observe.”

8 The lookout shouts,
“On a watchtower, Lord,
I stand all day;
and at my post
I keep guard all night.”

9 Look, here come the cavalry,
horsemen two by two.
They spoke to me; they said, “Fallen, fallen is Babylon, and all the images of her gods are shattered on the ground.”

10 You who are threshed, you who are winnowed,
what I have learned
from Yahweh Sabaoth,
from the God of Israel,
I am telling you now.

Answer to the Edomites

11 Oracle on Edom:

Someone shouts to me from Seir,
“Watchman, what time of night?
Watchman, what time of night?”

12 The watchman answers, “Morning is coming, then night again.

If you want to, why not ask,
turn around, come back?"

Oracle on the Arabs

13 Oracle in the wastelands.

You who pass the night in the scrublands, in the wastelands, you caravans of Dedanites,^a 14 bring water for the thirsty.

You inhabitants of Tema
go and meet the fugitive
and give him bread;

15 since these are fleeing from the swords,
from biting swords,
from bent bows,
from the stress of battle.

Against Kedar

16 Yes, the Lord said this to me, "In one year's time as a wage earner reckons 17 it; all the glorious power of Kedar will be finished. Of the bowmen, of the hardest sons of Kedar, hardly any will be left, for Yahweh God of Israel has decreed this."

Against untimely rejoicing in Jerusalem

1 22 Oracle against the Valley of Hinnom:

What is the matter now that you are all climbing with one accord to the housetops,
2 you the uproarious, the boisterous town, the joyful city?
Your slain were not slain by the sword,
your dead have not fallen in battle;
3 your rulers have all fled away
and been captured before bending their bows;
and the bravest among you have been taken prisoner,
they have fled far away.
4 That is why I say, "Turn your eyes away from me,
let me weep bitterly;
do not try to comfort me
over the destruction of the daughter of my people."

5 For this, a day of panic and rout, is from the Lord Yahweh Sabaoth.
In the Valley of Hinnom a wall is thrown down,
they are shouting for help on the mountains.
6 Elam takes up his quiver, Aram mounts his horse
and Kir^a fetches out his shield.
7 Your fairest valleys
are filled with chariots
and the horsemen take up positions at the gates;
8 thus falls the defense of Judah.

Against military preparations

You turned your gaze that day to the armory of the House of the Forest.
9 You saw how many breaches there were in the Citadel of David.

You collected the waters of the lower pool.
 10 You counted
 the houses of Jerusalem,
 and you pulled down houses
 to strengthen the wall.
 11 In the middle you made a reservoir between the two walls for the waters of the old pool.
 But you had no thought for the Maker,
 no eyes for him who shaped everything long ago.
 12 The Lord Yahweh Sabaoth called you
 that day
 to weep and mourn,
 to shave your heads, to put on sackcloth;
 13 instead, there is joy and amusement,
 killing of oxen, slaughtering of sheep,
 eating of meat, drinking of wine,
 "Let us eat and drink,
 for tomorrow we may be dead."
 14 My ears have had this revelation
 from Yahweh Sabaoth:
 "Most certainly this sin will not be atoned for,
 until you die,"
 says the Lord Yahweh Sabaoth.

Against Shebna

15 Thus says the Lord Yahweh Sabaoth:
 Now go to this steward,
 to Shebna, the master of the palace, 16 who is hewing a tomb for himself high up, carving out a room for himself in the rock,
 "What right have you here, and what relatives have you here for you to hew yourself a tomb in this place?" 17 See, Yahweh hurls you down,
 down with a single throw;
 then with a strong grip he grips you, 18 and he winds you up into a ball
 and hurls you into an immense country.
 There you will die,
 and there will be sent the chariots you were so proud of,
 you, the disgrace of your master's palace."

Another oracle against Shebna

19 I dismiss you from your office,
 I remove you from your post,
 20 and the same day I call on my servant
 Eliakim son of Hilkiyah.
 21 I invest him with your robe,
 gird him with your sash,
 entrust him with your authority;
 and he shall be a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and to the House of Judah.

21 a. A tribe of Bedouin.

22 a. Three nations defeated by Sennacherib are now providing soldiers for his army.

- 22 I place the key of the House of David
on his shoulder;
should he open, no one shall close,
should he close, no one shall open.
- 23 I drive him like a peg
into a firm place;
he will become a throne of glory
for his father's house.

The calamity of the family of Eliakim

- 24 On it they will hang all the glory of his father's house, offspring and issue, 25 all the least of vessels from cups to pitchers. That day—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks—the peg driven into a firm place will give way. It will be torn out and will fall. And the whole load hanging on it will be shattered, for Yahweh has spoken.

On Tyre and Sidon

- 1 23 Oracle on Tyre:

- Howl, ships of Tarshish,^a
for your fortress has been destroyed.
They learn the news
on their way from the land of Kittim.^b
- 2 Be struck dumb, you inhabitants of the coast,
you merchants of Sidon,
whose goods traveled over the sea,
3 over wide oceans.
The grain of Nile, the harvest of the river,
formed her revenues,
as she marketed it throughout the world.
- 4 Blush, Sidon,
for thus speaks the sea,
“I have not labored nor given birth,
not reared young men
nor brought up young girls.”
- 5 When the Egyptians learn the fate of Tyre,
they will be appalled.
- 6 Take ship for Tarshish, howl,
you inhabitants of the coast.
- 7 Is this your joyful city
founded far back in the past?
Whose footsteps led her abroad
to found her own colonies?
- 8 Who took this decision against imperial Tyre,
whose traders were princes,
whose merchants, the great ones of the world?
- 9 Yahweh Sabaoth took this decision to humble the pride of all her beauty and humiliate the great ones of the world.
- 10 Till the soil, daughter of Tarshish,
the harbor is no more.
- 11 He has stretched his hand over the sea
to overthrow its kingdoms;
Yahweh has ordained the destruction of the fortresses of Canaan.

- 12 He has said: Rejoice no more,
ravished one,
virgin daughter of Sidon.
Get up and take ship for Kittim;
no respite for you there, either.
- 13 Look at the land of Kittim . . .
They have set up towers.
They have demolished its bastions
and reduced it to ruins.
- 14 Howl, ships of Tarshish,
for your fortress has been destroyed.

The subjection of Tyre

- 15 That day, Tyre will be forgotten for seventy years. But in the reign of another king, at the end of the seventy years, Tyre will become like the whore in the song:
- 16 Take your lyre, walk the town,
forgotten whore.
Play your sweetest, sing your songs again,
to make them remember you.
- 17 At the end of the seventy years Yahweh will visit Tyre. Once again she will begin to receive the pay for her whoring. She will play the whore with all the
- 18 kingdoms on the surface of the earth. But her profits and wages will be dedicated to Yahweh and not stored or hoarded. Her profits will go to buy abundant food and splendid clothes for those who live in the presence of Yahweh.

D. APOCALYPSE

The sentence

- 1 24 See how Yahweh lays the earth waste,
makes it a desert, buckles its surface,
scatters its inhabitants,
- 2 priest and people alike, master and slave,
mistress and maid, seller and buyer,
lender and borrower, creditor and debtor.
- 3 Ravaged, ravaged the earth,
despoiled, despoiled,
as Yahweh has said.
- 4 The earth is mourning, withering,
the world is pining, withering,
the heavens are pining away with the earth.
- 5 The earth is defiled
under its inhabitants' feet,
for they have transgressed the law, violated the precept, broken the everlasting covenant.
- 6 So a curse consumes the earth and its inhabitants suffer the penalty, that is why the inhabitants of the earth are burned up and few men are left.

The city in ruins

- 7 The wine is mourning, the vine is pining away,
all glad hearts are sighing.

8 The merry tambourines are silent,
 the sound of reveling is over,
 the merry lyre is silent.

9 They no longer sing over their wine,
 the drunkard finds strong drink revolting.

10 The city of emptiness is in ruins,
 the entrance to every house is shut.

11 There is lamentation in the streets: no wine,
 joy quite gone,
 gladness banished from the country.

12 Nothing but rubble in the city,
 the gate smashed to pieces;

13 and so it will be on earth,
 among the peoples,
 as at the beating of the olive trees,
 as at the gleaning of the grapes
 when the grape harvest is over.

14 They lift up their voices, singing for joy;
 they acclaim the majesty of Yahweh from the sea.

15 Therefore in the islands they give glory to Yahweh, in the islands of the sea, to the name of Yahweh, the God of Israel.

16 From remotest earth we hear songs, "Honor to the upright one."

But "Enough, enough!" I say.
 "Woe to the traitors who betray,
 to the traitors who treacherously betray!"

17 Terror, the pit, the snare
 for you, inhabitants of the earth:
 the man who runs away at the city of terror
 shall fall into the pit,
 and the man who climbs out of the pit
 shall be caught in the snare.

Continuation of the poem on the sentence

19 Yes, the sluice gates above will open,
 and the foundations of the earth will rock.
 The earth will split into fragments,
 the earth will be riven and rent.

20 The earth will shiver and shake,
 the earth will stagger like a drunkard,
 sway like a shanty;
 so heavy will be its sin on it, it will fall
 never to rise again.

21 That day, Yahweh will punish above, the armies of the sky,
 below, the kings of the earth;
 they will be herded together,
 shut up in a dungeon,
 confined in a prison
 and, after long years, punished.

22 The moon will hide her face, the sun be ashamed, for Yahweh Sabaoth will be king
 on Mount Zion, in Jerusalem, and his glory will shine in the presence of his elders.

23

A prayer of thanksgiving

1 25 Yahweh, you are my God,
 I extol you, I praise your name;
 for you have carried out your excellent design,
 long planned, trustworthy, true.
 2 For you have made the town a heap of stones,
 the fortified city a ruin.
 The citadel of the proud is a city no longer,
 it will never be rebuilt.
 3 Hence a mighty people gives you glory,
 the city of pitiless nations holds you in awe;
 4 for you are a refuge for the poor,
 a refuge for the needy in distress,
 a shelter from the storm,
 a shade from the heat;
 while the breath of pitiless men
 is like the winter storm.
 5 Like drought in a dry land
 you will repress the clamor of the proud;
 like heat by the shadow of a cloud
 the singing of the despots will be subdued.

The messianic banquet

6 On this mountain, Yahweh Sabaoth will prepare for all peoples
 a banquet of rich food, a banquet of fine wines,
 of food rich and juicy, of fine strained wines.
 7 On this mountain he will remove the mourning veil covering all peoples,
 and the shroud enwrapping all nations,
 8 he will destroy Death for ever.
 The Lord Yahweh will wipe away
 the tears from every cheek;
 he will take away his people's shame
 everywhere on earth,
 for Yahweh has said so.
 9 That day, it will be said: See, this is our God
 in whom we hoped for salvation;
 Yahweh is the one in whom we hoped.
 We exult and we rejoice
 that he has saved us;
 10 for the hand of Yahweh
 rests on this mountain.
 Moab is trodden down where he stands
 as straw is trodden in the dung pit; 11 and there he stretches out his hands
 like a swimmer stretching out his hands to swim.
 But Yahweh curbs his pride and whatever his hands attempt.
 12 Your arrogant, lofty walls
 he destroys, he overthrows,
 he flings them in the dust.

Song of victory

1 26 That day, this song will be sung in the land of Judah:
 We have a strong city;

to guard us he has set
wall and rampart about us.
2 Open the gates! Let the upright nation come in,
she, the faithful one 3 whose mind is steadfast, who keeps the peace,
because she trusts in you.
4 Trust in Yahweh for ever,
for Yahweh is the everlasting Rock;
5 he has brought low those who lived high up in the steep citadel;
he brings it down, brings it down to the ground,
flings it down in the dust:
6 the feet of the lowly, the footsteps of the poor trample on it.

A psalm

7 The path of the upright man is straight,
you smooth the way of the upright.
8 Following the path of your judgments,
we hoped in you, Yahweh,
your name, your memory are all my soul desires.
9 At night my soul longs for you and my spirit in me seeks for you;
when your judgments appear on earth
the inhabitants of the world learn the meaning of integrity.
10 If favor is shown to the wicked,
he does not learn the meaning of integrity.
He does evil in the land of uprightness,
he fails to see the majesty of Yahweh.
11 Yahweh, your hand is raised,
but they do not see it.
Let them see your jealous love for this people and be ashamed,
let the fire prepared for your enemies consume them.
12 Yahweh, you are giving us peace, since you treat us
as our deeds deserve.
13 Yahweh our God,
other lords than you have ruled us,
but we acknowledge no one other than you,
no other name than yours.
14 The dead will not come to life,
their ghosts will not rise,
for you have punished them, annihilated them,
and wiped out their memory.
15 Enlarge the nation, Yahweh, enlarge it,
to the nation grant glory,
extend all the frontiers of the country.
16 Distressed, we search for you, Yahweh;
the misery of oppression was your punishment for us.
17 As a woman with child near her time
writhes and cries out in her pangs,

- 18 so are we, Yahweh, in your presence:
 we have conceived, we writhe
 as if we were giving birth;
 we have not given the spirit of salvation to the earth,
 no more inhabitants of the world are born.
- 19 Your dead will come to life,
 their corpses will rise;
 awake, exult,
 all you who lie in the dust,
 for your dew is a radiant dew
 and the land of ghosts will give birth.

Oracle

- 20 Go into your rooms, my people,
 shut your doors behind you.
 Hide yourselves a little while until the wrath has passed.
- 21 For, see, Yahweh will soon come out of his dwelling, to punish all the inhabitants of earth for their crimes.
 The earth will reveal its blood and no longer hide its slain.
- 1 27 That day, Yahweh will punish,
 with his hard sword, massive and strong,
 Leviathan the fleeing serpent,
 Leviathan the twisting serpent:
 he will kill the sea dragon.

The vineyard of Yahweh

- 2 That day,
 sing of the delightful vineyard!
 3 I, Yahweh, am its keeper;
 every moment I water it
 for fear its leaves should fall;
 night and day I watch over it.
- 4 I am angry no longer.
 If thorns and briars come
 I will declare war on them,
 I will burn them every one.
- 5 Or if they would shelter under my protection,
 let them make their peace with me,
 let them make their peace with me.

Pardon for Jacob; punishment for the oppressor

- 6 In the days to come, Jacob will put out shoots, Israel will bud and blossom
 and fill the whole world with fruit.
- 7 Has he beaten her as he beat those who beat her?
 Has he murdered her as he murdered those who murdered her?
- 8 You have punished it with expulsion and exile;
 he pursued it with a blast as fierce as the wind from the east.
- 9 Now here is how Jacob's guilt will be atoned for,
 here is the ransom for its sin:
 he treats all the altar stones
 like lumps of chalk that are ground to powder.

10 Sacred poles and solar pillars stand no longer,
 for the fortified city is abandoned now,
 it lies deserted,
 forsaken as a wilderness.
 There the herd grazes,
 there it rests and browses on the branches.
 11 The boughs are dry and broken,
 women come and use them for firewood;
 for this is a nation without understanding and so its Maker will have no pity for it,
 he that shaped it will show it no favor.

Oracle

12 That day, Yahweh will start his threshing from the course of the River to the wadi of Egypt, and you will be gathered one by one,
 sons of Israel.
 13 That day, the great trumpet will be sounded,
 and those lost in the land of Assyria will come,
 and those exiled to the land of Egypt,
 and they will worship Yahweh
 on the holy mountain, in Jerusalem.

E. POEMS ON ISRAEL AND JUDAH

A warning to Samaria

1 28 Woe to the haughty crown of Ephraim's drunkards, to the fading flower of its proud splendor
 overlooking the lush valley,
 to those prostrated by wine!
 2 See, a strong and mighty one, sent by the Lord,
 like a storm of hail, a destroying tempest,
 like a storm of torrential, overflowing waters;
 with his hand he throws them to the ground.
 3 There will be trampled underfoot
 the haughty crown of Ephraim's drunkards, 4 and the faded flower of its proud splendor
 overlooking the lush valley.
 Just like a fig before summer comes:
 whoever notices it, picks it,
 no sooner in the hand than swallowed.
 5 That day, Yahweh Sabaoth will be a crown of glory and a diadem of splendor
 for the remnant of his people, 6 a spirit of justice
 for him who sits in judgment,
 and a spirit of courage
 for him who thrusts back the attacker to the gate.

Against the priests and the false prophets

7 These, too, are reeling with wine, staggering from strong drink.
 Priest and prophet are reeling
 from strong drink,

they are muddled with wine;
 strong drink makes them stagger,
 they totter when they are having visions,
 they stumble when they are giving judgment.
 8 Yes, all the tables are covered with vomit,
 not a place left clean.

9 "Who does he think he is lecturing?
 Who does he think his message is for?
 Babies just weaned?
 Babies just taken from the breast?
 10 With his
sav lasav, sav lasav,
kav lakav, kav lakav,
zeer sham, zeer sham!"^a

11 Yes, certainly with stammering lips
 and in a foreign language,
 he will talk to this nation, 12 he who once told them: Here is rest;
 let the weary rest.
 Here is repose.

—But they would not listen.
 13 That is why Yahweh now says:

kav lakav, kav lakav,
sav lasav, sav lasav,
zeer sham, zeer sham.

So that when they walk they may fall over backward
 and be broken, snared and made captive.

Against evil counselors

14 Listen to the word of Yahweh,
 you scoffers,
 rulers of this people
 in Jerusalem.
 15 You say, "We have made a covenant with Mot,^b and with Sheol
 we have made a pact.
 The destructive whip, as it goes by,
 will not catch us,
 for we have made lies our refuge,
 and falsehood our shelter."

Oracle

16 That is why the Lord Yahweh says this:
 See how I lay in Zion
 a stone of witness,
 a precious cornerstone, a foundation stone:
 The believer shall not stumble.
 17 And I will make justice the measure,
 integrity the plumb line.

28 a. Described in the next verse as "stammering and in a foreign language": the impression made by Isaiah's preaching on his hearers. b. Phoenician god, known to the Egyptians as Osiris.

Continuation of the poem against evil counselors

18 But hail will sweep away the refuge of lies and floods overwhelm the shelter;
 your covenant with Mot will be broken and your pact with Sheol annulled.
 When the destructive whip goes by
 it will crush you;
 19 each time it goes by,
 it will seize you.
 It will go by, morning after morning,
 both day and night;
 what panic there would be
 if you were to understand what it meant!
 20 The bed is too short to stretch in,
 the blanket too narrow for covering.
 21 Yes, as Yahweh did on Mount Perazim, he is going to rise, as he did in the Valley of Gibeon he is going to stir himself to do the deed, his extraordinary deed,
 to work the work, his mysterious work.
 22 Stop scoffing, then,
 or your bonds will be tightened further;
 for I have listened to the warrant of destruction issued against the whole country
 by the Lord Yahweh Sabaoth.

The parable of the farmer

23 Listen closely to my words,
 be attentive and understand what I am saying.
 24 Does the plowman do nothing but plow
 and turn the soil and harrow it?
 25 Will he not, after he has leveled it, scatter fennel, sow cummin,
 put in wheat and barley
 and, on the edges, spelt?
 26 He has been taught this discipline
 by his God who instructs him.
 27 For fennel must not be crushed,
 nor a drag be rolled over cummin;
 fennel must be beaten with a stick,
 and cummin with a flail.
 28 Does a man crush wheat? No;
 he does not thresh it endlessly.
 When he has rolled the drag over it
 he winnows it without crushing it.
 29 This too comes from Yahweh Sabaoth, whose advice is always admirable,
 whose deeds are very great.

Oracle on Ariel^a

1 29 Woe, Ariel, Ariel, city where David encamped.
 Let a year or two pass,
 let the feasts make their full round
 2 then I will lay siege to Ariel, and there will be moaning and bemoaning.

3 You will be an Ariel for me,
like David I will encamp against you,
I will blockade you with palisades,
and mount siegeworks against you.

4 Thrown down—you will speak from the ground,
your words will come muffled by dust.
Your voice will rise from the earth like a ghost's,
you will speak from the dust in a whisper.

5c Suddenly, unexpectedly,
6 you shall be visited by Yahweh Sabaoth with thunder, earthquake, mighty din, hurricane, tempest, flame of devouring fire.

5ab The horde of your enemies shall be scattered like fine dust,
the tyrant horde like flying chaff;
the horde of all the nations at war with Ariel
7 shall vanish like a dream, like a vision at night.

8 And all those fighting against her,
the entrenchments besieging her,
shall be like the hungry man who dreams he eats,
and wakes with an empty belly,

like the thirsty man who dreams he drinks
and wakes exhausted, his throat parched;
so shall it be with the horde of all the nations making war on Mount Zion.

9 Be stupefied and stunned,
go blind, unseeing,
drunk but not on wine,
staggering but not through liquor.

10 For on you has Yahweh poured a spirit of lethargy,
he has closed your eyes (the prophets),
he has veiled your heads (the seers).

Secrecy of the revelation

11 For you every vision has become like the words of a sealed book. You give it to someone able to read and say, "Read that." He replies, "I cannot, because 12 the book is sealed." Or else you give the book to someone who cannot read, and say, "Read that." He replies, "I cannot read."

Oracle

13 Yahweh has said: Because this people approaches me only in words, honors me only with lip service
while its heart is far from me,
and my religion, as far as it is concerned,
is nothing but human commandment, a lesson memorized, 14 very well, I shall have to go on being prodigal of prodigious prodigies with this people.
The wisdom of its sages shall decay,
the intelligence of its intelligent men shall be shrouded.

Against evil counselors

- 15 Woe to those who hide from Yahweh
to conceal their plans,
who scheme in the dark and say, "Who can see us? Who can recognize us?"
- 16 What perversity this is!
Is the potter no better than the clay?
Can something that was made say of its maker,
"He did not make me?"
Or a pot say of the potter,
"He is a fool?"
- 17 In a short time, a very short time,
shall not Lebanon become fertile land
and fertile land turn into forest?
- 18 The deaf, that day,
will hear the words of a book
and, after shadow and darkness,
the eyes of the blind will see.
- 19 But the lowly will rejoice in Yahweh even more and the poorest exult in the Holy One of Israel; 20 for tyrants shall be no more, and scoffers vanish,
and all be destroyed who are disposed to do evil:
- 21 those who gossip to incriminate others,
those who try at the gate to trip the arbitrator
and get the upright man's case dismissed for groundless reasons.
- 22 Therefore Yahweh speaks,
the God of the House of Jacob, Abraham's redeemer:
No longer shall Jacob be ashamed,
no more shall his face grow pale, 23 for he shall see what my hands have done in his midst,
he shall hold my name holy.
They will hallow the Holy One of Jacob,
stand in awe of the God of Israel.
- 24 Erring spirits will learn wisdom and murmurers accept instruction.

Against the embassy to Egypt

- 1 30 Woe to those rebellious sons!
—it is Yahweh who speaks.
They carry out plans that are not mine
and make alliances not inspired by me,
and so add
sin to sin.
- 2 They have left for Egypt,
without consulting me,
to take refuge in Pharaoh's protection,
to shelter in Egypt's shadow.
- 3 Pharaoh's protection will be your shame,
the shelter of Egypt's shadow your confounding.
- 4 For his ministers have gone to Zoan,
his ambassadors have already reached Hanes.^a
- 5 All are carrying gifts

to a nation that will be of no use to them,
that will bring them neither aid, nor help,
nothing but shame and disgrace.

A second oracle against the embassy

- 6 Oracle on the beasts of the Negeb.
Through the land of distress and of anguish,
of lioness and roaring lion,
of viper and flying serpent,
they bear their riches on donkeys' backs,
their treasures on camels' humps,
to a nation that is of no use to them,
7 to Egypt who will prove futile and empty to them;
and so I call her Rahab-do-nothing.

The testament of Isaiah

- 8 Now go and inscribe this on a tablet,
write it in a book,
that it may serve in the time to come
as a witness for ever:
9 This is a rebellious people,
they are lying sons,
sons who will not listen to Yahweh's orders.
10 To the seers they say,
"See no visions";
to the prophets,
"Do not prophesy the truth to us,
"tell us flattering things;
have illusory visions;
11 turn aside from the way, leave the path,
take the Holy One out of our sight." 12 So the Holy One of Israel says:
Since you reject this warning and prefer to trust in wile and guile
and to rely on these, 13 then your guilt will prove to be for you
a breach on the point of collapse,
the bulge at the top of the city wall which suddenly and all at once comes crashing down,
irretrievably shattered,
14 smashed like an earthenware pot
—so that of the fragments not one shard remains big enough to carry a cinder from the hearth or scoop water from the cistern.
15 For thus says the Lord Yahweh, the Holy One of Israel:
Your salvation lay in conversion and tranquillity,
your strength, in complete trust;

30 a. Zoan and Hanes are Tanis and Anusis, in the Egyptian delta.

and you would have none of it.

16 "No," you said, "we will flee on horses."
So be it, flee then!
And you add, "In swift chariots."
So be it, your pursuers will be swift too.

17 A thousand will flee at the threat of one and when five threaten you will flee, until what is left of you will be like a flagstaff on a mountain top,
like a signal on a hill.

18 But Yahweh is waiting to be gracious to you,
to rise and take pity on you,
for Yahweh is a just God;
happy are all who hope in him.

The coming prosperity

19 Yes, people of Zion, you will live in Jerusalem and weep no more. He will 20 be gracious to you when he hears your cry; when he hears he will answer. When the Lord has given you the bread of suffering and the water of distress, he who is your teacher will hide no longer, and you will see your teacher with your own 21 eyes. Whether you turn to right or left, your ears will hear these words 22 behind you, "This is the way, follow it." You will regard your silvered idols and gilded images as unclean. You will throw them away like the polluted things 23 they are, shouting after them, "Good riddance!" He will send rain for the seed you sow in the ground, and the bread that the ground provides will be rich and 24 nourishing. Your cattle will graze, that day, in wide pastures. Oxen and donkeys that till the ground will eat a salted fodder, winnowed with shovel and fork.
25 On every lofty mountain, on every high hill there will be streams and watercourses, 26 on the day of the great slaughter when the strongholds fall. Then moonlight will be bright as sunlight and sunlight itself be seven times brighter—like the light of seven days in one—on the day Yahweh dresses the wound of his people and heals the bruises his blows have left.

Assyria will be sacrificed

27 See, the name of Yahweh comes from afar, blazing is his anger, heavy his exaction.
His lips brim with fury,
his tongue is like a devouring fire.
28 His breath is like a river in spate coming up to the neck.
He comes to sift the nations with the sieve of destruction,
to put the bit of his bridle between the jaws of the nations.
30 Yahweh will make his majestic voice be heard and display his arm falling to strike, in the ferocity of his anger, in the glare of a devouring fire,
in cloudburst, downpour, hailstones.

31 For at the voice of Yahweh Assyria will be battered and beaten with the rod.

32a Each time he will feel the punishing rod that Yahweh will lay on him.

29 The song you sing will be like that on a festal night
when hearts are gay,
or when to the sound of flute men make

32b a pilgrimage to the mountain of Yahweh, to the rock of Israel,
 with music of tambourine and harp
 and with dancing . . .
 33 For in Topheth there has been prepared beforehand,^b
 yes, made ready for Molech,
 a pit deep and wide
 with straw and wood in plenty.
 The breath of Yahweh, like a stream of brimstone,
 will set fire to it.

Against Egypt

1 31 Woe to those who go down to Egypt
 to seek help there,
 who build their hopes on cavalry,
 who rely on the number of chariots
 and on the strength of mounted men, but never look to the Holy One of Israel
 nor consult Yahweh.
 2 Yet he too is skilled in working disaster,
 and he has not gone back on his word;
 he will rise against the house of the wicked,
 and against the protectors of evil men.
 3 The Egyptian is a man, not a god,
 his horses are flesh, not spirit;
 Yahweh will stretch out his hand
 to make the protector stumble;
 the protected will fall
 and all will perish together.

Yahweh wages war against Assyria

4 Yes, this is what Yahweh has said to me:
 As a lion or lion cub growls over its prey,
 and even when a whole band of shepherds
 gathers against him,
 he is not frightened by their shouting or alarmed by the noise they make,
 just so will Yahweh Sabaoth descend to fight
 on Mount Zion and on its hill.
 5 Like hovering birds
 so will Yahweh Sabaoth protect Jerusalem,
 he will protect it, rescue it,
 spare it and save it.
 6 Come back to the one you have so wickedly betrayed,
 sons of Israel.
 7 Yes, that day, every one of you will throw away the silver idols and gold idols which you have made with your guilty hands.
 8 Assyria will fall by a sword that is not man's,
 will be devoured by a sword that is more than human,
 he will flee before the sword

b. Topheth is the place where human sacrifice was offered to Molech.

and his young warriors will be enslaved.
 9 In his terror he will abandon his rock,
 and his panic-stricken leaders desert their standard.
 It is Yahweh who speaks, whose fire is in Zion,
 and his furnace in Jerusalem.

The integrity of the king

1 32 A king reigns by integrity and princes rule by law;
 2 each is like a shelter from the wind,
 a refuge from the storm,
 like streams of water in dry places,
 like the shade of a great rock in a thirsty land.
 3 The eyes of those who see will no longer be closed,
 the ears of those who hear will be alert,
 4 the heart of the hasty will learn to judge,
 the tongue of stammerers will speak clearly,
 5 the fool will no more be called noble,
 nor the villain be styled honorable.

Contrasts between fool and noble

6 For the fool speaks folly,
 and his heart meditates wickedness,
 that he may practice godlessness
 and speak wild words about Yahweh,
 and leave the hungry man's craving unsatisfied,
 and refuse drink to the thirsty.
 7 And the villain—his villainies are evil;
 he devises wicked plots
 to ruin the poor with lies even when the cause of these lowly ones is just;
 8 but the noble man plans only noble things and bears himself nobly.

A warning to idle women

9 Stand up, you idle women,
 listen to my words;
 you overconfident daughters,
 pay attention to what I say.
 10 Within one year and a few days
 you will tremble, you overconfident women;
 the grape harvest will be over,
 gathering will not come again.
 11 Shudder, you idle women,
 tremble, you overconfident women;
 strip, undress,
 put sackcloth around your waists.
 12 Beat your breasts,
 for the pleasant fields,
 for the fruitful vine,
 for the soil of my people
 where thorns and briars grow, 13 for all the happy houses,
 for the gay city.

- 14 Since the palace has been abandoned
and the noisy city deserted, Ophel and Keep become caverns for ever,
the playground of wild asses
and the pasture of flocks.

Salvation from Yahweh

- 15 Once more there will be poured on us
the spirit from above;
then shall the wilderness be fertile land
and fertile land become forest.
- 16 In the wilderness justice will come to live
and integrity in the fertile land; 17 integrity will bring peace,
justice give lasting security.
- 18 My people will live in a peaceful home,
in safe houses,
in quiet dwellings
19 —the forest shall be beaten down and the city laid low.
20 Happy will you be, sowing by every stream, letting ox and donkey roam free.

Psalms of hope in Yahweh

- 1 33 Woe to you, ravager never ravaged,
plunderer never plundered!
When your ravaging is over, you shall be ravaged;
when your plundering is done, you shall be plundered.
- 2 Yahweh, have pity on us,
we hope in you.
Be our strong arm each morning,
our salvation in time of distress.
- 3 At the sound of your threat peoples flee,
when you rise nations scatter,
4 they gather loot as the grasshopper gathers,
they leap on it as locusts leap.
- 5 Yahweh is exalted, for he is enthroned above,
and fills Zion with justice and integrity.
- 6 Your continuance is assured;
wisdom and knowledge are riches that save,
the fear of Yahweh is his treasure.

The intervention of Yahweh

- 7 Look, Ariel is lamenting in the streets,
the ambassadors of peace weep bitterly.
- 8 The highways are deserted,
no travelers use the roads.
Treaties are broken, witnesses despised,
there is respect for no one.
- 9 The land mourns, it pines away,
Lebanon is withered with shame,
Sharon is a desert,
Bashan and Carmel are stripped bare.

- 10 "Now I stand up," says Yahweh
 "now I rise to my full height.
 11 You have conceived chaff, you will give birth to straw,
 my breath shall devour you like fire.
 12 "The peoples will be reduced to lime,
 like cut thorns they will be burned in the fire.
 13 You who are far away, listen to what I have done,
 and you who are near, realize my strength." 14 Sinners in Zion are struck with horror and fear seizes on the godless.
 Which of us can live with this devouring fire,
 which of us exist in everlasting flames?
 15 —He who acts with integrity, who speaks sincerely
 and rejects extortionate profit,
 who waves away bribes from his hands,
 shuts suggestions of murder out of his ears
 and closes his eyes against crime; 16 this man will dwell in the heights,
 he will find refuge in a citadel built on rock,
 bread will be given him, he shall not want for water.

The glorious future

- 17 Your eyes are going to look on a king in his beauty,
 they will see an immense country;
 18 your heart will look back on its fears:
 where is he who counted,
 where is he who weighed out,
 where is he who counted the precious stones?
 19 You will no longer see the overweening people,
 the people of obscure, unintelligible speech,
 of barbarous, senseless tongue.
 20 Look on Zion, city of our feasts,
 your eyes will see Jerusalem
 as a home that is secure,
 a tent not to be moved:
 its pegs not pulled out,
 not one of its ropes broken.
 21 There Yahweh is princely to us,
 on the banks of broad-spreading rivers,
 where there rows no galley,
 there passes no majestic ship:
 23a its tackle hangs loose,
 it supports the mast no longer,
 it does not hoist the pennon.
 22 For Yahweh is our judge, Yahweh our lawgiver, Yahweh our King and our savior.
 23b Then immense booty shall be shared out,
 even the lame fall to plundering, 24 no one living there shall say, "I am sickly";
 the people who live there will be forgiven all their faults.

The end of Edom

1 34

Come near and listen all you races,
pay attention all you nations,
listen, earth and all that you hold,
world and all that comes from you.

2 Yahweh is angry with all the nations,
enraged with all their hordes.
He has vowed them to destruction,
and marked them down for slaughter.

3 Their dead are thrown into the streets,
a stench comes up from their corpses,
the mountains run with their blood,
4 the armies of heaven rot.

The heavens are rolled up like a scroll and their armies all drop like leaves,
like vine leaves falling,
like falling fig leaves.

5 For my sword has drunk deep in the heavens . . .
See now how it slashes through Edom,
through the people I have condemned to be punished.

6 The sword of Yahweh is gorged with blood,
it is glutted with fat,
the blood of lambs and goats,
the fat of the saddle of rams.

For Yahweh has a sacrifice in Bozrah,
a great slaughter in the land of Edom.
7 But instead of wild oxen, nations fall,
in place of bulls, a race of mighty men.

Their land is drenched with blood,
its dust is sodden with fat,
8 for this is the day of Yahweh's vengeance,
the year of revenge for the defender of Zion.

9 Its streams turn into pitch,
its dust into brimstone,
its land becomes blazing pitch . . .

10 Never quenched night or day,
its smoke goes up for ever,
it shall lie waste age after age,
no one will pass through it.

11 It will be the haunt of pelican and hedgehog,
the owl and the raven will live there;
over it Yahweh will stretch the measuring line of chaos
and the plumb line of emptiness.

12 The satyrs will make their home there,
its nobles will be no more,
kings will not be proclaimed there,
all its princes will be brought to nothing.

13 Thorns will grow in the palaces there, thistles and nettles in its fortresses,
it will be a lair for jackals,

a lodging for ostriches.

14 Wild cats will meet hyenas there,
the satyrs will call to each other,
there too will Lilith take cover seeking rest.

15 The viper will nest and lay eggs there,
will brood and hatch its eggs;
kites will gather there

16c and make it their meeting place.

16ab Search in the book of Yahweh, and read,
not one of these is missing;
for his mouth has ordained it,
and his spirit has brought them together.

17 He has drawn lots for the share of each,
his hand has divided the land with the line.
They shall possess it for ever,
and live there age after age.

The judgment of God

1 35 Let the wilderness and the dry lands exult,
let the wasteland rejoice and bloom,
2 let it bring forth flowers like the jonquil,
let it rejoice and sing for joy.

The glory of Lebanon is bestowed on it,
the splendor of Carmel and Sharon;
they shall see the glory of Yahweh,
the splendor of our God.

3 Strengthen all weary hands, steady all trembling knees
4 and say to all faint hearts,
"Courage! Do not be afraid.

"Look, your God is coming,
vengeance is coming,
the retribution of God;
he is coming to save you."

5 Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened,
the ears of the deaf unsealed,
6 then the lame shall leap like a deer
and the tongues of the dumb sing for joy;

for water gushes in the desert,
streams in the wasteland,

7 the scorched earth becomes a lake,
the parched land springs of water.

The lairs where the jackals used to live become thickets of reed and papyrus . . .

8 And through it will run a highway undefiled which shall be called the Sacred Way;
the unclean may not travel by it,
nor fools stray along it.

9 No lion will be there
nor any fierce beast roam about it,
but the redeemed will walk there,
10 for those Yahweh has ransomed shall return.

They will come to Zion shouting for joy,
everlasting joy on their faces;
joy and gladness will go with them
and sorrow and lament be ended.

APPENDIX

Sennacherib's invasion

1 36 In the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, Sennacherib king of Assyria
2 attacked all the fortified towns of Judah and captured them. From Lachish the king of Assyria sent the cupbearer-in-chief with a large force to King Hezekiah in Jerusalem. The cupbearer-in-chief took up a position near the conduit of the 3 upper pool on the road to the Fuller's Field. The master of the palace, Eliakim son of Hilkiyah, Shebna the secretary and the herald Joah son of Asaph went 4 out to him. The cupbearer-in-chief said to them, "Say to Hezekiah, 'The great 5 king, the king of Assyria, says to you: What makes you so confident? Do you think empty words are as good as strategy and military strength? Who are you 6 relying on, to dare to rebel against me? We know you are relying on that broken reed—Egypt—which pricks and pierces the hand of the man who leans on it.
7 —That is what Pharaoh, king of Egypt, is like to all who rely on him.—You may say to me: We rely on Yahweh our God, but are they not his high places and altars that Hezekiah has suppressed, saying to the people of Judah and 8 Jerusalem: Here is the altar before which you must worship? Come, make a wager with my lord the king of Assyria: I will give you two thousand horses 9 if you can find horsemen to ride them. How could you repulse a single one of the least of my master's servants? And yet you have relied on Egypt for chariots 10 and horsemen. And lastly, have I come up against this country to lay it waste without warrant from Yahweh? Yahweh himself said to me: March against this country and lay it waste.'"

11 Eliakim, Shebna and Joah said to the cupbearer-in-chief, "Please speak to your servants in Aramaic, for we understand it; do not speak to us in the 12 Judaeen language within earshot of the people on the ramparts." But the cupbearer-in-chief said, "Do you think my lord sent me here to say these things to your master or to you? On the contrary. It was to the people sitting on the ramparts who, like you, are doomed to eat their own dung and drink their own urine."

13 Then the cupbearer-in-chief stood erect and, shouting loudly in the Judaeen language, called out, "Listen to the words of the great king, the king of Assyria.
14 The king says to you: 'Do not let Hezekiah delude you! He will be powerless to save you. Do not let Hezekiah persuade you to rely on Yahweh by saying: 15 Yahweh is sure to save us; this city will not fall into the power of the king of Assyria.' Do not listen to Hezekiah, for the king of Assyria says: Make 16 peace with me, surrender to me, and every one of you will eat the fruit of his own vine and of his own fig tree and drink the water of his own cistern until 17 I come and deport you to a country like your own, a land of corn and good wine, 18 a land of bread and of vineyards. Do not let Hezekiah delude you by saying: Yahweh will save you. Has any god of any nation saved his country from 19 the power of the king of Assyria? Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad?
Where are the gods of Sepharvaim? Where are the gods of the land of Samaria?
20 Did they save Samaria from me? Tell me which of all the gods of these countries have saved their countries from my hands, for Yahweh to be able to save Jerusalem?"

- 21 They kept silence and said nothing in reply, since this was the king's order:
 22 "Do not answer him," he had said. "The master of the palace, Eliakim son of Hilkiah, Shebna the secretary and the herald Joah son of Asaph, with their garments torn, went to Hezekiah and reported what the cupbearer-in-chief had said.

The prophet Isaiah is consulted

- 1 37 On hearing this, King Hezekiah tore his garments, covered himself with 2 sackcloth and went to the Temple of Yahweh. "He sent the master of the palace, Eliakim, Shebna the secretary and the elders of the priests, covered
 3 in sackcloth, to the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz. "They said to him, "This is what Hezekiah says, 'Today is a day of suffering, of punishment, of disgrace.
 4 Children come to birth and there is no strength to bring them forth. "May Yahweh your God hear the words of the cupbearer-in-chief whom his master, the king of Assyria, has sent to insult the living God, and may Yahweh your God punish the words he has heard! Offer your prayer for the remnant that is left.'"
 5 When the ministers of King Hezekiah had come to Isaiah, "he replied, "Say
 6 to your master, 'Yahweh says this: Do not be afraid of the words you have heard or the blasphemies the minions of the king of Assyria have uttered against 7 me. "I am going to put a spirit in him, and when he hears a rumor he will return to his own country and in that country I will bring him down with the sword.'"

The cupbearer returns to his master

- 8 The cupbearer went back and rejoined the king of Assyria at Libnah, which he was attacking. The cupbearer had already learned that the king of Assyria had left 9 Lachish, "since he had received this news about Tirhakah king of Cush: "He has set out to fight you."

Second account of Sennacherib's activities

- 10 Sennacherib sent messengers to Hezekiah again, saying, "Tell this to Hezekiah king of Judah, 'Do not let your God on whom you are relying deceive you when he says: Jerusalem shall not fall into the power of the king of Assyria.
 11 You have learned by now what the kings of Assyria have done to every country, putting them all under the ban. Are you likely to be spared? "What power to help did the gods have of those nations my fathers destroyed, Gozen, Haran, Rezech and the Edenites who were in Tel Basar? "Where are the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, the kings of Sepharvaim, of Hena, of Ivvah?" "
 14 Hezekiah took the letter from the hands of the messengers and read it; he then went up to the Temple of Yahweh and spread it out before Yahweh.
 15 Hezekiah said this prayer in the presence of Yahweh, "Yahweh Sabaoth, God of Israel, enthroned on the cherubs, you alone are God of all the kingdoms of the earth, you have made heaven and earth.
 17 "Give ear, Yahweh, and listen.
 Open your eyes, Yahweh, and see.
 Hear the words of Sennacherib
 who has sent to insult the living God.

- 18 "It is true, Yahweh, that the kings of Assyria have exterminated all the nations and their countries, "they have thrown their gods on the fire, for these were not gods but the work of men's hands, wood and stone, and hence they have destroyed them. "But now, Yahweh our God, save us from his hand, and let 20 all the kingdoms of the earth know that you alone are God, Yahweh."

Isaiah intervenes

21 Then Isaiah son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah. "This," he said, "is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, says in answer to the prayer you have addressed to me about 22 Sennacherib king of Assyria. Here is the oracle that Yahweh has pronounced against him:

23 'She despises you, she scorns you,
the virgin, daughter of Zion;
she tosses her head behind you,
the daughter of Jerusalem.
Whom have you insulted, whom did you blaspheme?
Against whom raised your voice
and lifted your insolent eyes?
Against the Holy One of Israel.
24 Through your minions you have insulted the Lord;
you have said: With my many chariots
I have climbed the tops of mountains,
the utmost peaks of Lebanon.
I have felled its tall forest of cedars,
its finest cypresses.
I have reached its furthest recesses,
its forest garden.
25 Yes I have dug wells and drunk
of alien waters;
I have put down my feet, and have dried up
all the rivers of Egypt.
26 'Do you hear? Long ago
I planned for it,
from days of old I designed it,
now I carry it out.
Your part was to bring down in heaps of ruins fortified cities.
27 Their inhabitants, hands feeble,
dismayed, discomfited,
were like plants of the field,
like tender grass,
like grass of housetop and meadow,
under the east wind.
28 I know whenever you rise and whenever you sit,
your going out, your coming in.
29 Because you have raved against me
and your insolence has come to my ears,
I will put my ring through your nostrils,
my bit between your lips,
to make you return by the road
on which you came.

A sign for Hezekiah

30 'This shall be the sign for you:
This year will be eaten the self-sown grain,
next year what sprouts in the fallow,
but in the third year sow and reap,
plant vineyards and eat their fruit.
31 The surviving remnant of the House of Judah shall bring forth new roots below and fruits above.
32 For a remnant shall go out from Jerusalem, and survivors from Mount Zion.

The jealous love of Yahweh Sabaoth will accomplish this.

An oracle on Assyria

33 "This, then, is what Yahweh says about the king of Assyria:

'He will not enter this city,
he will let fly no arrow against it,
confront it with no shield,
throw up no earthwork against it.

34 By the road that he came on he will return;
he shall not enter this city. It is Yahweh who speaks.

35 I will protect this city and save it for my own sake and for the sake of my servant David.'

Sennacherib is punished

36 That same night the angel of Yahweh went out and struck down a hundred and eighty-five thousand men in the Assyrian camp. In the early morning, when it was time to get up, there they lay, so many corpses.

37 Sennacherib struck camp and left; he returned home and stayed in Nineveh.

38 One day when he was worshiping in the temple of his god Nisroch, his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer struck him down with the sword and escaped into the land of Ararat. His son Esarhaddon succeeded him.

The illness and cure of Hezekiah

1 38 In those days Hezekiah fell ill and was at the point of death. The prophet
2 Isaiah son of Amoz came and said to him, "Yahweh says this, 'Put your 3 affairs in order, for you are going to die, you will not live.'" Hezekiah turned 4 his face to the wall and addressed this prayer to Yahweh, "Ah, Yahweh, remember, 5 I beg you, how I have behaved faithfully and with sincerity of heart in your 6 presence and done what is right in your eyes." And Hezekiah shed many tears.

7 Then the word of Yahweh came to Isaiah, "Go and say to Hezekiah,
8 'Yahweh, the God of David your ancestor, says this: I have heard your prayer 9 and seen your tears. I will cure you: in three days' time you shall go up to the 10 Temple of Yahweh. I will add fifteen years to your life. 'I will save you from the 11 hands of the king of Assyria, I will protect this city.'"

12 "Bring a fig poultice," Isaiah said, "apply it to the ulcer and he will recover."
13 Hezekiah said, "What is the sign to tell me that I shall be going up to the Temple
14 of Yahweh?" "Here," Isaiah replied, "is the sign from Yahweh that he will do 15 what he has said. Look, I shall make the shadow cast by the declining sun 16 go back ten steps on the steps of Ahaz." And the sun went back the ten steps 17 by which it had declined.

The canticle of Hezekiah

9 Cantic of Hezekiah king of Judah after his illness and recovery.

10 I said: In the noon of my life
I have to depart
for the gates of Sheol,
I am deprived of the rest of my years.

11 I said: I shall never see Yahweh again
in the land of the living,
never again look on any man
of those who inhabit the earth.

12 My tent is pulled up, and thrown away
like the tent of a shepherd;

like a weaver you roll up my life
to cut it from the loom.

13 From dawn to night you are compassing my end,
I cry aloud until the morning;
like a lion he crushes all my bones,
from dawn to night you are compassing my end.

14 I am twittering like a swallow,
I am moaning like a dove,
my eyes turn to the heights,
take care of me, be my safeguard.

15 What can I say? Of what can I speak to him?
It is he who is at work;
I will give glory to you all the years of my life
for my sufferings.

16 Lord, my heart will live for you,
my spirit will live for you alone.
You will cure me and give me life,
17 my suffering will turn to health.

It is you who have kept my soul
from the pit of nothingness,
you have thrust all my sins
behind your back.

18 For Sheol does not praise you,
Death does not extol you;
those who go down to the pit do not go on trusting in your faithfulness.

19 The living, the living are the ones who praise you,
as I do today.
Fathers tell their sons
about your faithfulness.

20 Yahweh, come to my help and we will make our harps resound
all the days of our life
in front of the Temple of Yahweh.

The Babylonian embassy

1 39 At that time, the king of Babylon, Merodach-baladan son of Baladan, sent letters and a gift to Hezekiah, for he had heard of his illness and recovery.

2 Hezekiah was delighted at this and showed the messengers his treasure house, the silver, gold, spices, precious oil, his armory too, and everything there was in his storehouses. There was nothing Hezekiah did not show them in his palace or in his whole domain.

3 Then the prophet Isaiah came to King Hezekiah and asked him, "What have these men said, and where have they come from?" Hezekiah answered, "They have come from a faraway country, from Babylon." Isaiah said, "What have they seen in your palace?" "They have seen everything in my palace," Hezekiah answered. "There is nothing in my storehouses that I have not shown them."

5 Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Listen to the word of Yahweh Sabaoth, 'The days are coming when everything in your palace, everything that your ancestors have amassed until now, will be carried off to Babylon. Not a thing will be left,' says Yahweh. 'Sons sprung from you, sons begotten by you, will be chosen to be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.'" Hezekiah said to Isaiah,

“This word of Yahweh that you announce is reassuring,” for he was thinking,
 “There is going to be peace and security during my own lifetime.”

II. THE BOOK OF THE CONSOLATION OF ISRAEL

The calling of the prophet

- 1 40 “Console my people, console them,”
 says your God.
 2 “Speak to the heart of Jerusalem and call to her that her time of service is ended,
 that her sin is atoned for,
 that she has received from the hand of Yahweh double punishment for all her crimes.” 3 A voice cries, “Prepare in the wilderness a way for Yahweh.
 Make a straight highway for our God
 across the desert.
 4 Let every valley be filled in,
 every mountain and hill be laid low,
 let every cliff become a plain,
 and the ridges a valley;
 5 then the glory of Yahweh shall be revealed and all mankind shall see it;
 for the mouth of Yahweh has spoken.”
 6 A voice commands: “Cry!”
 and I answered, “What shall I cry?”
 —“All flesh is grass
 and its beauty like the wild flower’s.
 7 The grass withers, the flower fades
 when the breath of Yahweh blows on them.
 (The grass is without doubt the people.)
 8 The grass withers, the flower fades,
 but the word of our God remains for ever.”

Prophecy of the theophany

- 9 Go up on a high mountain,
 joyful messenger to Zion.
 Shout with a loud voice,
 joyful messenger to Jerusalem.
 Shout without fear,
 say to the towns of Judah, “Here is your God.”
 10 Here is the Lord Yahweh coming with power,
 his arm subduing all things to him.
 The prize of his victory is with him,
 his trophies all go before him.
 11 He is like a shepherd feeding his flock,
 gathering lambs in his arms,
 holding them against his breast and leading to their rest the mother ewes.

The majesty of God

- 12 Who was it measured the water of the sea in the hollow of his hand and calculated the dimensions of the heavens, gauged the whole earth to the bushel,
weighed the mountains in scales,
the hills in a balance?
- 13 Who could have advised the spirit of Yahweh,
what counselor could have instructed him?
- 14 Whom has he consulted to enlighten him,
and to learn the path of justice and discover the most skillful ways?
- 15 See, the nations are like a drop on the pail's rim,
they count as a grain of dust on the scales.
See, the islands weigh no more than fine powder.
Lebanon is not enough for the fires
nor its beasts for the holocaust.
- 17 All the nations are as nothing in his presence,
for him they count as nothingness and emptiness.
- 18 To whom could you liken God?
What image could you contrive of him?
- 19 A craftsman casts the figure,
a goldsmith plates it with gold and casts silver chains for it.
- 20c For it a clever sculptor seeks 20a precious palm wood,
20b selects wood that will not decay
20d to set up a sturdy image.
- 21 Did you not know,
had you not heard?
Was it not told you from the beginning?
Have you not understood how the earth was founded?
- 22 He lives above the circle of the earth,
its inhabitants look like grasshoppers.
He has stretched out the heavens like a cloth, spread them like a tent for men to live in.
- 23 He reduces princes to nothing,
he annihilates the rulers of the world.
- 24 Scarcely are they planted, scarcely sown, scarcely has their stem taken root in the earth,
than he blows on them. Then they wither and the storm carries them off like straw.
- 25 "To whom could you liken me and who could be my equal?" says the Holy One.
- 26 Lift your eyes and look.
Who made these stars
if not he who drills them like an army,
calling each one by name?
So mighty is his power, so great his strength,
that not one fails to answer.

The might of Providence

- 27 How can you say, Jacob,
how can you insist, Israel,

28 "My destiny is hidden from Yahweh, my rights are ignored by my God?"
Did you not know?
Had you not heard?

Yahweh is an everlasting God,
he created the boundaries of the earth.
He does not grow tired or weary,
his understanding is beyond fathoming.
29 He gives strength to the wearied,
he strengthens the powerless.
30 Young men may grow tired and weary,
youths may stumble,
31 but those who hope in Yahweh renew their strength,
they put out wings like eagles.
They run and do not grow weary,
walk and never tire.

The calling of Cyrus^a

1 41 Islands, keep silence before me,
let the people renew their strength.
Let them come forward and speak,
let us appear together for judgment.

2 "Who roused from the east
him that victory hails at every step?
Who presents him with nations,
subdues kings to him?

"His sword makes dust of them
and his bow scatters them like straw.
3 He pursues them and advances unhindered,
his feet scarcely touching the road.

4 "Who is the author of this deed
if not he who calls the generations from the beginning?
I, Yahweh, who am the first and shall be with the last."

5 The islands see him and take fright,
the limits of the earth tremble:
they approach, they are here.

6 Men help one another,
they say to each other, "Take heart!"
7 The craftsman encourages the goldsmith, the man who beats out with the hammer encourages the man who strikes the anvil.
Of the soldering he says, "It is sound,"
and fastens the idol with nails to keep it steady.^b

God is with Israel

8 You, Israel, my servant,
Jacob whom I have chosen, descendant of Abraham my friend.

9 You whom I brought from the confines of the earth and called from the ends of the world;

you to whom I said, "You are my servant,
I have chosen you, not rejected you,"

10 do not be afraid, for I am with you;
stop being anxious and watchful, for I am your God.
I give you strength, I bring you help,
I uphold you with my victorious right hand.

11 Yes, all those who raged against you,
shall be put to shame and confusion;
they who fought against you shall be destroyed, and perish.

12 You will seek but never find them,
those enemies of yours.
They shall be destroyed and brought to nothing,
those who made war on you.

13 For I, Yahweh, your God,
I am holding you by the right hand;
I tell you, "Do not be afraid,
I will help you."

14 Do not be afraid, Jacob, poor worm,
Israel, puny mite.
I will help you—it is Yahweh who speaks—
the Holy One of Israel is your redeemer.

15 See, I turn you into a threshing sled,
new, with doubled teeth;
you shall thresh and crush the mountains,
and turn the hills to chaff.

16 You shall winnow them and the wind will blow them away,
the gale will scatter them.
But you yourself will rejoice in Yahweh,
and glory in the Holy One of Israel.

Miracles of the new Exodus

17 The poor and needy ask for water, and there is none, their tongue is parched with thirst.
I, Yahweh, will answer them,
I, the God of Israel, will not abandon them.

18 I will make rivers well up on barren heights,
and fountains in the midst of valleys;
turn the wilderness into a lake,
and dry ground into waterspring.

19 In the wilderness I will put cedar trees,
acacias, myrtles, olives.
In the desert I will plant juniper,
plane tree and cypress side by side;

20 so that men may see and know,
may all observe and understand that the hand of Yahweh has done this,
that the Holy One of Israel has created it.

41 a. The king who freed the people of Judah from their captivity in the Babylonian exile.
b. V. 6 and 7 are in interpolation, and belong with 40:19–20.

Yahweh is the only God

- 21 "Produce your defense," says Yahweh,
 "present your case," says Jacob's king.
- 22 "Let them come forward and tell us
 what is going to happen next.
 What could they tell us of the past
 to make it worth our notice?
 Or will you discourse to us of future things
 and let us know their outcome?"
- 23 Tell us what is to happen in the future,
 and so convince us you are gods.
 Do something at least
 so that we can note it and all see it.
- 24 No, you are nothing and your works are nothingness;
 to choose you would be an outrage."

Yahweh foretells victory for Cyrus

- 25 I roused him from the north to come, from the rising sun I summoned him by name.
 He has trampled the satraps like mortar,
 like a potter treading clay.
- 26 Who predicted this from the beginning so we might know it, who foretold it long ago so we might say, "It is right?"
 No one predicted it,
 no, no one proclaimed it,
 no, no one heard you speak.
- 27 I had said in Zion beforehand, "Here they come!"
 I had sent a bearer of good news to Jerusalem.
- 28 I looked, but there was no one,
 there was not a single counselor among them who, if I asked, could give an answer.
- 29 Taken altogether they are nothing;
 their works are nothingness,
 their images wind and emptiness.

First song of the servant of Yahweh: part one

- 1 42 Here is my servant whom I uphold,
 my chosen one in whom my soul delights.
 I have endowed him with my spirit that he may bring true justice to the nations.
- 2 He does not cry out or shout aloud,
 or make his voice heard in the streets.
- 3 He does not break the crushed reed,
 nor quench the wavering flame.
- 4 Faithfully he brings true justice;
 he will neither waver, nor be crushed
 until true justice is established on earth,
 for the islands are awaiting his law.

Part two

- 5 Thus says God, Yahweh,
 he who created the heavens and spread them out,
 who gave shape to the earth and what comes from it,

who gave breath to its people
and life to the creatures that move in it:

6 I, Yahweh, have called you to serve the cause of right;
I have taken you by the hand and formed you;
I have appointed you as a covenant of the people and light of the nations,

7 to open the eyes of the blind,
to free captives from prison,
and those who live in darkness from the dungeon.

8 My name is Yahweh,
I will not yield my glory to another,
nor my honor to idols.

9 See how former predictions have come true.
Fresh things I now foretell;
before they appear I tell you of them.

Hymn of triumph

10 Sing a new hymn to Yahweh!
Let his praise resound from the ends of the earth,
let the sea and all that it holds sing his praises,
the islands and those who inhabit them.

11 Let the desert and its cities raise their voice,
the camp where Kedar lives.
Let the inhabitants of Sela cry aloud
and shout from the mountain tops.
12 Let them give glory to Yahweh
and let the people of the islands voice his praise.

13 Yahweh advances like a hero,
his fury is stirred like a warrior's.
He gives the war shout, raises the hue and cry,
marches valiantly against his foes.

14 "From the beginning I have been silent,
I have kept quiet, held myself in check.
I groan like a woman in labor,
I suffocate, I stifle.

15 "I will turn mountain and hill to desert, wither all their greenery,
turn rivers to pools
and dry up lakes.

16 "But I will make the blind walk along the road
and lead them along paths.
I will turn darkness into light before them
and rocky places into level tracks.

"These things I will do,
and not leave them undone."

17 All who trust in idols shall withdraw in shame,
all those who say to images of cast metal,
"You are our gods."

The blinding of the people

- 18 Listen, you deaf!
Look and see, you blind!
- 19 Who so blind as my servant,
so deaf as the messenger I send?
(Who so blind as my envoy,
so deaf as the servant of Yahweh?)
- 20 You have seen many things but not observed them;
your ears are open but you do not hear.
- 21 It is Yahweh's will, for the sake of his integrity, to make his Law great and glorious.
- 22 But this is a people all pillaged and plundered,
trapped in caves,
hidden in dungeons.
They are looted, with no one to rescue them,
robbed, with no one to say, "Give it back!"
- 23 Which of you listening to this,
will pay attention and mark it, against the time to come?
- 24 Who handed Jacob over to the robber,
Israel to the pillagers?
Was it not Yahweh? We had sinned against him, we had refused to follow his ways or obey his Law.
- 25 On him he poured out the blaze of his anger
and the furies of war.
It enveloped him in flames and he did not notice,
it burned him up, and he gave it no thought.

The liberation of Israel

- 1 43 But now, thus says Yahweh,
who created you, Jacob,
who formed you, Israel:
- Do not be afraid, for I have redeemed you;
I have called you by your name, you are mine.
- 2 Should you pass through the sea, I will be with you;
or through rivers, they will not swallow you up.
Should you walk through fire, you will not be scorched and the flames will not burn you.
- 3 For I am Yahweh, your God,
the Holy One of Israel, your savior.
- I give Egypt for your ransom,
and exchange Cush and Seba for you.
- 4 Because you are precious in my eyes,
because you are honored and I love you,
I give men in exchange for you,
peoples in return for your life.
- 5 Do not be afraid, for I am with you.
- I will bring your offspring from the east,
and gather you from the west.
- 6 To the north I will say, "Give them up,"
and to the south, "Do not hold them."
Bring back my sons from far away,
my daughters from the end of the earth,

7 all those who bear my name,
whom I have created for my glory, whom I have formed, whom I have made.

Yahweh alone is God

8 Bring forward the people that is blind, yet has eyes, that is deaf and yet has ears.
9 Let all the nations muster and assemble with every race.
Which of them ever declared this or foretold this in the past?
Let them bring their witnesses to prove them right,
let men hear them so that they may say, "It is true."
10 You yourselves are my witnesses—it is Yahweh who speaks—my servants whom I have chosen,
that men may know and believe me
and understand that it is I.
No god was formed before me,
nor will be after me.
11 I, I am Yahweh,
there is no other savior but me.
12 It is I who have spoken, have saved, have made the proclamation, not any strangers among you.
You are my witnesses—it is Yahweh who speaks—
13 and I, I am your God, I am he from eternity.
No one can deliver from my hand,
I act and no one can reverse it.

Babylon will be destroyed

14 Thus says Yahweh,
your redeemer, the Holy One of Israel:
For your sake I send an army against Babylon;
I will knock down the prison bars
and the Chaldaeans will break into laments.
15 I am Yahweh, your Holy One,
the creator of Israel, your king.

Miracles of the new Exodus

16 Thus says Yahweh,
who made a way through the sea,
a path in the great waters;
17 who put chariots and horse in the field
and a powerful army,
which lay there never to rise again,
snuffed out, put out like a wick:
18 No need to recall the past,
no need to think about what was done before.
19 See, I am doing a new deed,
even now it comes to light; can you not see it?
Yes, I am making a road in the wilderness,
paths in the wilds.
20 The wild beasts will honor me,
jackals and ostriches,
because I am putting water in the wilderness (rivers in the wild)

- 21 to give my chosen people drink.
The people I have formed for myself will sing my praises.

The ingratitude of Israel

- 22 Jacob, you have not invoked me,
you have not troubled yourself, Israel, on my behalf.
23 You have not brought me your sheep for holocausts,
nor honored me with sacrifices.
I have never burdened you with oblations,
nor troubled you for incense.
24 You have spent no money on fragrant cane for me,
you have not filled me with the fat of your sacrifices.
Instead you have burdened me with your sins, troubled me with your iniquities.
25 I it is, I it is, who must blot out everything and not remember your sins.
26 Cast your mind back, let us judge this together;
state your own case and prove your innocence.
27 Your first father^a sinned,
your mediators have rebelled against me.
28 Your princes have profaned my sanctuary.
So I have handed Jacob over to the ban,
and Israel to insults.

The blessing for Israel

- 1 44 But now listen, Jacob my servant,
2 Israel whom I have chosen.
Thus says Yahweh who made you,
who formed you from the womb, who is your help:
Do not be afraid, Jacob my servant,
Jeshurun whom I have chosen.
3 For I will pour out water on the thirsty soil,
streams on the dry ground.
I will pour my spirit on your descendants,
my blessing on your children.
4 They shall grow like grass where there is plenty of water,
like poplars by running streams.
5 One man will say, "I belong to Yahweh," another will call himself by Jacob's name.
On his hand another will write "Yahweh"
and be surnamed "Israel."

Monotheism without compromise

- 6 Thus says Israel's king
and his redeemer, Yahweh Sabaoth:
I am the first and the last;
there is no other God besides me.
7 Who is like me? Let him stand up and speak, let him show himself and argue it out before me.
Who from the very beginning foretold the future?
Let them tell us what is yet to come.
8 Have no fear, do not be afraid;
have I not told you and revealed it long ago?

You are my witnesses, is there any other God besides me?
There is no Rock; I know of none.

A satire on idolatry

- 9 They are all makers of idols; they are nothing and the works they prize are useless. Their servants see nothing, they understand nothing, and so they will 10 be put to shame. •Who ever fashioned a god or cast an image without hope of 11 gain? •Watch how its devotees will be put to shame, how its sculptors will blush. Let them all come together, let them appear in court. They will be both terrified and ashamed.
- 12 The blacksmith works on it over the fire and beats it into shape with a hammer. He works on it with his strong arm till he is hungry and tired; drinking no water, he is exhausted.
- 13 The wood carver takes his measurements, outlines the image with chalk, carves it with chisels, following the outline with dividers. He shapes it to human 14 proportions, and gives it a human face, for it to live in a temple. •He cut down a cedar, or else took a cypress or an oak which he selected from the trees in the 15 forest, or maybe he planted a cedar and the rain made it grow. •For the common man it is so much fuel; he uses it to warm himself, he also burns it to bake his bread. But this fellow makes a god of it and worships it; he makes an idol of it
16 and bows down before it. •Half of it he burns in the fire, on the live embers he roasts meat, eats it and is replete. He warms himself too. “Ah!” says he, “I am 17 warm; I have a fire here!” •With the rest he makes his god, his idol; he bows down before it and worships it and prays to it. “Save me,” he says, “because you are my god.”
- 18 They know nothing, understand nothing. Their eyes are shut to all seeing, 19 their heart to all reason. •They never think, they lack the knowledge and wit to say, “I burned half of it on the fire, I baked bread on the live embers, I roasted meat and ate it, and am I to make some abomination of what remains? Am I to bow down before a block of wood?”
- 20 A man who hankers after ashes has a deluded heart and is led astray. He will never free his soul, or say, “What I have in my hand is nothing but a lie!”

Oracle

- 21 Remember these things, Jacob,
and that you are my servant, Israel.
I have formed you, you are my servant;
Israel, I will not forget you.
- 22 I have dispelled your faults like a cloud,
your sins like a mist.
Come back to me, for I have redeemed you.

Song of joy

- 23 Shout for joy, you heavens, for Yahweh has been at work!
Shout aloud, you earth below!
Shout for joy, you mountains,
and you, forest and all your trees!
For Yahweh has redeemed Jacob and displayed his glory in Israel.

The might of Yahweh

- 24 Thus says Yahweh, your redeemer,
he who formed you in the womb:
I, myself, Yahweh, made all things,

I alone spread out the heavens.
When I gave the earth shape, did anyone help me?

25 I am he who foils the omens of wizards and makes fools of diviners, who makes sages recant
and shows the nonsense of their knowledge, 26 who confirms the word of my servant
and makes the plans of my envoys succeed.

I am he who says of Jerusalem, "Let her be inhabited,"
of the towns of Judah, "Let them be rebuilt,"
and I will raise their ruins once more.

27 I am he who says to the ocean, "Be dry.
I will dry up your rivers."

28 I am he who says of Cyrus, "My shepherd—
he will fulfill my whole purpose, saying of Jerusalem, 'Let her be rebuilt,'
and of the Temple, 'Let your foundation be laid.'"

Oracle in favor of Cyrus

1 45 Thus says Yahweh to his anointed, to Cyrus, whom he has taken by his right hand
to subdue nations before him and strip the loins of kings,⁴ to force gateways before him
that their gates be closed no more:

2 I will go before you leveling the heights.
I will shatter the bronze gateways,
smash the iron bars.
3 I will give you the hidden treasures,
the secret hoards,
that you may know that I am Yahweh,
the God of Israel, who calls you by your name.

4 It is for the sake of my servant Jacob,
of Israel my chosen one,
that I have called you by your name,
conferring a title though you do not know me.

5 I am Yahweh, unrivaled;
there is no other God besides me.
Though you do not know me, I arm you 6 that men may know from the rising to the setting of the sun that, apart from me, all is nothing.

Oracle of salvation

7 I am Yahweh, unrivaled,
I form the light and create the dark.
I make good fortune and create calamity,
it is I, Yahweh, who do all this.

8 Send victory like a dew, you heavens,
and let the clouds rain it down.
Let the earth open
for salvation to spring up.
Let deliverance, too, bud forth which I, Yahweh, shall create.

The supreme power of Yahweh

- 9 Can it argue with the man who fashioned it,
one vessel among earthen vessels?
Does the clay say to its fashioner, "What are you making?"
does the thing he shaped say, "You have no skill?"
- 10 Woe to him who says to a father, "What have you begotten?"
or to a woman, "To what have you given birth?"
- 11 Thus says Yahweh,
the Holy One, he who fashions Israel:
Is it for you to question me about my children
and to dictate to me what my hands should do?
- 12 I it was who made the earth,
and created man who is on it.
I it was who spread out the heavens with my hands
and now give orders to their whole array.
- 13 I it was who roused him to victory,
I leveled the way for him.
He will rebuild my city,
will bring my exiles back without ransom or indemnity,
so says Yahweh Sabaoth.

The heathen will rally to Yahweh

- 14 Thus says Yahweh:
The peasants of Egypt and the traders of Cush,
and the tall men of Seba,
will submit to you and be yours;
they will follow you in chains.
They will bow down before you,
they will pray to you:
"With you alone is God, and he has no rival;
there is no other god."
- 15 Truly, God is hidden with you,
the God of Israel, the savior.
- 16 Those who opposed you will be disgraced and humiliated;
the makers of idols will go away confounded.
- 17 Israel will be saved by Yahweh, saved everlastingly.
You will never be disgraced or humiliated
for ever and ever.

Evidence of the work of Yahweh

- 18 Yes, thus says Yahweh,
creator of the heavens,
who is God,
who formed the earth and made it,
who set it firm,
created it no chaos,
but a place to be lived in:
- 19 "I am Yahweh, unrivaled,
I have not spoken in secret
in some corner of a darkened land.
I have not said to Jacob's descendants,

'Seek me in chaos.'
 I, Yahweh, speak with directness
 I express myself with clarity."

Yahweh is the God of all

- 20 Assemble, come, gather together,
 survivors of the nations.
 They are ignorant, those who carry about their idol of wood,
 those who pray to a god
 that cannot save.
- 21 Speak up, present your case, consult with each other.
 "Who foretold this
 and revealed it in the past?
 Am I not Yahweh?
 There is no other god besides me,
 a God of integrity and a savior;
 there is none apart from me.
- 22 Turn to me and be saved,
 all the ends of the earth,
 for I am God unrivaled.
- 23 "By my own self I swear it;
 what comes from my mouth is truth,
 a word irrevocable:
 before me every knee shall bend,
 by me every tongue shall swear,
- 24 saying, 'From Yahweh alone
 come victory and strength.'
 To him shall come, ashamed,
 all who raged against him.
- 25 Victorious and glorious through Yahweh shall be all the descendants of Israel."

The fall of Bel

- 1 46 Bel is crouching. Nebo cringing.^a
 Their idols are being loaded on animals, on beasts of burden, carried off like bundles on weary beasts.
- 2 They are cringing and crouching together,
 powerless to save the ones who carry them,
 as they themselves go off into captivity.
- 3 "Listen to me, House of Jacob,
 all you who remain of the House of Israel,
 you who have been carried since birth,
 whom I have carried since the time you were born.
- 4 "In your old age I shall be still the same,
 when your hair is gray I shall still support you.
 I have already done so, I have carried you,
 I shall still support and deliver you."

Yahweh is without equal

- 5 To whom can you compare me, equate me,
 to whom claim I am similar, or comparable?
- 6 These prodigals weigh out gold from their purses
 and silver on the scales.

They engage a goldsmith to make a god
 then worship and prostrate themselves before it.
 They lift it on their shoulders and carry it,
 and put it where it is meant to stand.
 It never moves from the spot.
 You may invoke it, it never replies,
 it never saves anyone in trouble.

Yahweh is lord of the future

Remember this and be dismayed,
 stir your memories again, you sinners,
 remember things long past.
 I am God unrivaled
 God who has no like.
 From the beginning I foretold the future,
 and predicted beforehand what is to be.
 I say: My purpose shall last;
 I will do whatever I choose.
 I call a bird of prey from the east,
 my man of destiny from a far country.
 No sooner is it said than done,
 no sooner planned than performed.
 Listen to me, faint hearts,
 who feel far from victory.
 I bring my victory near, already it is close,
 my salvation will not be late.
 I will give salvation to Zion,
 my glory shall be for Israel.

Lament for Babylon

47 Down with you! Sit in the dust, virgin, daughter of Babylon.
 Sit on the ground, dethroned,
 daughter of the Chaldeans.
 Never again will you be called tender and delicate.
 Take the millstones, grind the meal.
 Remove your veil,
 tie up your skirt, uncover your legs.
 Wade through rivers.
 Let your nakedness be seen,
 and your shame exposed.
 I am going to take vengeance
 and no one can stop me.
 Our redeemer, Yahweh Sabaoth his name,
 the Holy One of Israel, says:
 Sit in silence and creep into shadows,
 daughter of the Chaldeans,
 for you will no longer be called sovereign lady of the kingdoms.
 I was angry with my people,
 I had profaned my heritage.
 I had surrendered it into your hands,

but you showed them no mercy.
On the aged you laid
your crushing yoke.
7 You said, "For ever
I shall be sovereign lady."
You never took these things to heart or pondered on their outcome.

8 So listen now, voluptuous woman, lolling at ease
and saying to yourself,
"I, and none besides me.
I shall never be widowed,
never know loss of children."

9 Yet both these things shall happen to you both suddenly and on the same day.
Loss of children, widowhood, at once
will come to you;
in spite of all your witchcraft
and the power of all your spells.

10 You were bold in your wickedness and said,
"There is no one to see me."
That wisdom and knowledge of yours led you astray.

You said to yourself,
"I, and none besides me."
11 A calamity shall fall on you which you will not be able to charm away,
a disaster shall overtake you which you will not be able to avert, unforeseen ruin
will suddenly descend on you.

12 Keep to your spells then,
and all your sorceries,
for which you have worn yourself out since your youth.
Do you think they will help you?

Do you think they will make anyone nervous?
13 You have spent weary hours with your many advisers.
Let them come forward now
and save you, these who analyze the heavens, who study the stars
and announce month by month
what will happen to you next.

14 Oh, they will be like wisps of straw and the fire will burn them.
They will not save their lives
from the power of the flame.
No embers these, for baking,
no fireside to sit by.

15 This is what your wizards will be for you,
those men for whom you have worn yourself out since your youth.
They will all go off, each his own way,
powerless to save you.

Yahweh acts alone and is sole master of the future

1 48 Listen to this, House of Jacob,
 you who bear the name of Israel,
 and have sprung from the seed of Judah;
 you who swear by the name of Yahweh
 and invoke the God of Israel
 though not in good faith or uprightness—2 calling yourselves after the holy city and bolstering yourselves on the God of Israel,
 whose name is Yahweh Sabaoth.

3 Things now past I once revealed long ago,
 they went out from my mouth and I proclaimed them;
 then suddenly I acted and they happened.
 4 For I knew you to be obstinate,
 your neck an iron bar,
 your forehead bronze.
 5 And so I revealed things beforehand,
 before they happened I announced them to you,
 so that you could not say, "My idol was the one that performed them, it was my carved image, my image of cast metal, that decreed them." 6 You have heard and seen all this,
 will you not admit it?

Now I am revealing new things to you,
 things hidden and unknown to you,
 7 created just now, this very moment,
 of these things you have heard nothing until now,
 so that you cannot say, "Oh yes, I knew all this."

8 You had never heard,
 you did not know,
 I had not opened your ear beforehand;
 for I knew how treacherous you were,
 and that you have deserved the name of rebel from your birth.

9 For the sake of my name I deferred my anger, for the sake of my honor I curbed it; I did not destroy you.
 10 And now I have put you in the fire like silver,
 I have tested you in the furnace of distress.
 11 For my sake and my sake only have I acted—is my name to be profaned?
 Never will I yield my glory to another.

Cyrus is the beloved of Yahweh

12 Listen to me, Jacob,
 Israel whom I have called:
 I am the first,
 I am also the last.
 13 My hand laid the foundations of earth
 and my right hand spread out the heavens.
 I summon them
 and they all come forward together.
 14 Assemble, all of you, and listen;
 which of them has foretold this?
 "My beloved will perform my pleasure with Babylon and the offspring of the Chaldaeans." 15 I, yes I myself, have spoken and summoned him,

brought him and prospered his plans.

- 16 Come near and listen to this:
 from the beginning I have never spoken to you obscurely, and all the time these things have been happening, I have been present.
 —And now the Lord Yahweh, with his spirit,
 sends me.

What Yahweh had intended for Israel

- 17 Thus says Yahweh, your redeemer, the Holy One of Israel:
 I, Yahweh, your God, teach you what is good for you,
 I lead you in the way that you must go.
 18 If only you had been alert to my commandments,
 your happiness would have been like a river,
 your integrity like the waves of the sea.
 19 Your children would have been numbered like the sand,
 your descendants as many as its grains.
 Never would your name have been cut off or blotted out before me.

A song of departure from Babylon

- 20 Go away from Babylon! Flee from the Chaldeans!
 Declare this with cries of joy and proclaim it,
 send it out to the ends of the earth.
 Say, "Yahweh has redeemed his servant Jacob." 21 Those he led through the deserts never went thirsty;
 he made water spring for them from the rock,
 he split the rock and water flowed.
 22 There is no happiness, says Yahweh, for the wicked.

Second song of the servant of Yahweh

- 1 49 Islands, listen to me,
 pay attention, remotest peoples.
 Yahweh called me before I was born,
 from my mother's womb he pronounced my name.
 2 He made my mouth a sharp sword,
 and hid me in the shadow of his hand.
 He made me into a sharpened arrow,
 and concealed me in his quiver.
 3 He said to me, "You are my servant (Israel)
 in whom I shall be glorified";
 4 while I was thinking, "I have toiled in vain,
 I have exhausted myself for nothing";
 and all the while my cause was with Yahweh,
 my reward with my God.
 5b I was honored in the eyes of Yahweh,
 my God was my strength.
 5a And now Yahweh has spoken,
 he who formed me in the womb to be his servant,
 to bring Jacob back to him,
 to gather Israel to him:
 6 "It is not enough for you to be my servant,
 to restore the tribes of Jacob and bring back the survivors of Israel;
 I will make you the light of the nations
 so that my salvation may reach to the ends of the earth."

The marvelous epic of the return

7 Thus says Yahweh,
the redeemer of Israel and his Holy One,
to him whose life is despised, whom the nations loathe,
to the slave of despots:
Kings will stand up when they see you,
and princes will bow,
for the sake of Yahweh who has been faithful,
the Holy One of Israel who has chosen you.

8 Thus says Yahweh:
At the favorable time I will answer you,
on the day of salvation I will help you.
(I have formed you and have appointed you as covenant of the people.)
I will restore the land
and assign you the estates that lie waste.
9 I will say to the prisoners, "Come out,"
to those who are in darkness, "Show yourselves."

10 On every roadway they will graze,
and each bare height shall be their pasture.
They will never hunger or thirst,
scorching wind and sun shall never plague them;
for he who pities them will lead them
and guide them to springs of water.
11 I will make a highway of all the mountains,
and the high roads shall be banked up.

12 Some are on their way from afar,
others from the north and the west,
others from the land of Sinim.^a 13 Shout for joy, you heavens; exult, you earth!
You mountains, break into happy cries!
For Yahweh consoles his people and takes pity on those who are afflicted.

14 For Zion was saying, "Yahweh has abandoned me,
the Lord has forgotten me."
15 Does a woman forget her baby at the breast,
or fail to cherish the son of her womb?
Yet even if these forget,
I will never forget you.

16 See, I have branded you on the palms of my hands,
your ramparts are always under my eye.
17 Your rebuilders make haste,
and your destroyers and despoilers depart.

18 Look around about you, look,
All are assembling, coming to you.
By my life—it is Yahweh who speaks—
you will wear these as your jewels,
they will adorn you as brides are adorned;
19 for your desolate places and your ruins and your devastated country will now be too small for all your inhabitants,

49 a. Assuan in southern Egypt.

20 now that your devourers are far away.
 Once more they will speak in your hearing,
 those sons you thought were lost,
 "This place is too small for me,
 give me more space to live in." 21 You will then say in your heart,
 "Who has borne me these?
 I was childless and barren,
 who has brought these up?
 I was left all alone,
 and now, where do these come from?"
 22 Thus speaks the Lord Yahweh:
 I beckon to the nations
 and hoist my signal for the peoples.
 They will bring back your sons in the cloak,
 they will take your daughters on their shoulders.
 23 Kings will be your fosterfathers,
 their queens your nursing mothers.
 They will fall prostrate before you, faces to the ground,
 and lick the dust at your feet.
 You shall then know that I am Yahweh;
 and that those who hope in me will not be put to shame.
 24 Can spoil be snatched from heroes,
 or captives escape from a soldier?
 25 Yes, thus says Yahweh:
 The hero's captive will be snatched away,
 the soldier's spoil escape.
 I myself will fight with those who fight you,
 and I myself will save your children.
 26 I will make your oppressors eat their own flesh,
 they shall get as drunk on their own blood as on new wine.
 Then all mankind shall know that I, Yahweh, am your savior
 and that your redeemer is the Mighty One of Jacob.

The offer of salvation remains open

1 50 Thus says Yahweh:
 Where is your mother's writ of divorce
 by which I dismissed her?
 Or to which of my creditors
 have I sold you?
 You were sold for your own crimes,
 for your own faults your mother was dismissed.
 2 Why did I find no one when I came?
 Why did no one answer when I called?
 Is my hand too short to redeem?
 Have I not strength to save?
 With one threat I can dry the sea,
 and turn rivers to desert;
 so that their fish shrivel up for want of water and die of thirst.
 3 I dress the heavens in black,
 make sackcloth their covering.

Third song of the servant of Yahweha. The servant speaks

- 4 The Lord Yahweh has given me
a disciple's tongue.
So that I may know how to reply to the wearied
he provides me with speech.
Each morning he wakes me to hear,
to listen like a disciple.
- 5 The Lord Yahweh has opened my ear.

For my part, I made no resistance
neither did I turn away.
- 6 I offered my back to those who struck me,
my cheeks to those who tore at my beard;
I did not cover my face against insult and spittle.
- 7 The Lord Yahweh comes to my help,
so that I am untouched by the insults.
So, too, I set my face like flint;
I know I shall not be shamed.
- 8 My vindicator is here at hand. Does anyone start proceedings against me?
Then let us go to court together.
Who thinks he has a case against me?
Let him approach me.
- 9 The Lord Yahweh is coming to my help,
who dare condemn me?
They shall all go to pieces like a garment devoured by moths.

b. Exhortation to follow the servant

- 10 Let anyone who fears Yahweh among you listen to the voice of his servant!
Whoever walks in darkness,
and has no light shining for him,
let him trust in the name of Yahweh,
let him lean on his God.
- 11 But you, you are all setting light to a fire,
and fanning embers.
Then in with you to the flames of your fire,
to the embers that you are lighting.
So will my hand deal with you and you shall lie down in torments.

The salvation of the sons of Abraham

- 1 51 Listen to me, you who pursue integrity, who seek Yahweh.
 Consider the rock you were hewn from,
 the quarry from which you were cut.
- 2 Consider Abraham your father and Sarah who gave you birth.
 For he was all alone when I called him,
 but I blessed and increased him.

- 3 Yes, Yahweh has pity on Zion,
has pity on all her ruins;
turns her desolation into an Eden,
her wasteland into the garden of Yahweh.
Joy and gladness shall be found in her,
thanksgiving and the sound of music.

Yahweh will soon judge the world

- 4 Pay attention to me, you peoples,
listen to me, you nations.
For from me comes the Law
and my justice shall be the light of the peoples, 5 I will establish my integrity speedily,
my salvation shall come like the light,
my arm shall judge the peoples.
The islands put their hope in me,
put their trust in my strength.
- 6 Lift up your eyes to the heavens,
look down at the earth.
The heavens will vanish like smoke,
the earth wear out like a garment,
and its inhabitants die like vermin,
but my salvation shall last for ever
and my justice have no end.
- 7 Listen to me, you who know what integrity means,
people who take my laws to heart:
do not fear the taunts of men,
nor be dismayed by their insults,
8 for the moth shall eat them like garments,
the grub devour them like wool,
but my integrity will remain for ever,
and my salvation for all generations.

The awakening of Yahweh

- 9 Awake, awake! Clothe yourself in strength, arm of Yahweh.
Awake, as in the past,
in times of generations long ago.
Did you not split Rahab in two,
and pierce the Dragon through?
10 Did you not dry up the sea,
the waters of the great Abyss,
to make the seabed a road
for the redeemed to cross?
- 11 Those whom Yahweh has ransomed return,
they come to Zion shouting for joy,
everlasting joy in their faces;
joy and gladness go with them,
sorrow and lament are ended.

Yahweh is the all-powerful consoler

- 12 I, I am your consoler.
How then can you be afraid of mortal man, of son of man, whose fate is the fate of grass?

- 13 You have forgotten Yahweh who made you,
 who spread out the heavens and laid the earth's foundations,
 why still go in daily dread
 of the oppressor's fury,
 when he sets out to destroy you?
 What has happened to the fury of oppressors?

Salvation

- 14 The captive is soon to be set free; he will not die in a deep dungeon nor will 15 his bread run out. 'I am Yahweh your God who stirs the sea, making its waves 16 roar, my name is Yahweh Sabaoth. 'I put my words into your mouth, I hid you in the shadow of my hand, when I spread out the heavens and laid the earth's foundations and said to Zion, "You are my people."

The awakening of Jerusalem

- 17 Awake, awake!
 To your feet, Jerusalem!
 You who from Yahweh's hand have drunk
 the cup of his wrath.
 The chalice of stupor
 you have drained to the dregs.
- 18 She has not one to guide her
 of all the sons she has borne,
 not one to take her by the hand
 of all the sons she has reared.
- 19 These two calamities have befallen you
 —who is there to mourn for you?
 Devastation and ruin, famine and sword
 —who is there to console you?
- 20 Your sons lie helpless (at every street corner)
 like an antelope trapped in a net,
 sodden with the wrath of Yahweh,
 with the threats of your God.
- 21 Listen then to this, prostrated one,
 drunk, though not with wine.
 22 Thus says your Lord Yahweh,
 your God, defender of your people.
- See, I take out of your hand
 the cup of stupor,
 the chalice of my wrath;
 you shall drink it no longer.
- 23 I will put it into the hand of your tormentors,
 of those who said to you,
 "Bow down that we may walk over you";
 while of your back you made a pavement,
 a street for them to walk on.
- 1 52 Awake, awake!
 Clothe yourself in strength, Zion.
 Put on your richest clothes,
 Jerusalem, holy city;
 since no longer shall there enter you either the uncircumcised or the unclean.

- 2 Shake off your dust; to your feet,
captive Jerusalem!
Free your neck from its fetters,
captive daughter of Zion.

The nation in captivity

- 3 Yes, Yahweh says this: You were sold for nothing and you will be redeemed
4 without money. ·Yes, Yahweh says this: Once my people went to Egypt to 5 settle there, then Assyria bitterly oppressed them. ·But now what is there for me here?—it is Yahweh who speaks—now that my people have been carried off for nothing, and their masters shout their triumph—it is Yahweh who speaks—6 all day long my name is constantly blasphemed. ·My people will therefore know my name; that day they will understand that it is I who say, “I am here.”

The awakening of Yahweh and of Jerusalem

- 7 How beautiful on the mountains,
are the feet of one who brings good news,
who heralds peace, brings happiness,
proclaims salvation,
and tells Zion,
“Your God is king!”
- 8 Listen! Your watchmen raise their voices, they shout for joy together,
for they see Yahweh face to face,
as he returns to Zion.
- 9 Break into shouts of joy together,
you ruins of Jerusalem;
for Yahweh is consoling his people,
redeeming Jerusalem.
- 10 Yahweh bares his holy arm
in the sight of all the nations, and all the ends of the earth shall see
the salvation of our God.
- 11 “Go away, go away, leave that place,
touch nothing unclean.
Get out of her,^a purify yourselves,
you who carry the vessels of Yahweh.
- 12 “But you are not to hurry away,
you are not to leave like fugitives.
No, Yahweh will go in front of you,
and the God of Israel will be your rearguard.”

Fourth song of the servant of Yahweh

- 13 See, my servant will prosper,
he shall be lifted up, exalted, rise to great heights.
- 14 As the crowds were appalled on seeing him
—so disfigured did he look that he seemed no longer human—15 so will the crowds be astonished at him,
and kings stand speechless before him;
for they shall see something never told
and witness something never heard before:
- 1 “Who could believe what we have heard,
and to whom has the power of Yahweh been revealed?”

- 2 Like a sapling he grew up in front of us,
like a root in arid ground.
Without beauty, without majesty (we saw him),
no looks to attract our eyes;
- 3 a thing despised and rejected by men,
a man of sorrows and familiar with suffering,
a man to make people screen their faces;
he was despised and we took no account of him.
- 4 And yet ours were the sufferings he bore,
ours the sorrows he carried.
But we, we thought of him as someone punished,
struck by God, and brought low.
- 5 Yet he was pierced through for our faults,
crushed for our sins.
On him lies a punishment that brings us peace,
and through his wounds we are healed.
- 6 We had all gone astray like sheep,
each taking his own way,
and Yahweh burdened him
with the sins of all of us.
- 7 Harshly dealt with, he bore it humbly,
he never opened his mouth,
like a lamb that is led to the slaughterhouse,
like a sheep that is dumb before its shearers never opening its mouth.
- 8 By force and by law he was taken;
would anyone plead his cause?
Yes, he was torn away from the land of the living;
for our faults struck down in death.
- 9 They gave him a grave with the wicked,
a tomb with the rich,
though he had done no wrong
and there had been no perjury in his mouth.
- 10 Yahweh has been pleased to crush him with suffering.
If he offers his life in atonement,
he shall see his heirs, he shall have a long life
and through him what Yahweh wishes will be done.
- 11 His soul's anguish over
he shall see the light and be content.
By his sufferings shall my servant justify many,
taking their faults on himself.
- 12 Hence I will grant whole hordes for his tribute,
he shall divide the spoil with the mighty,
for surrendering himself to death
and letting himself be taken for a sinner, while he was bearing the faults of many
and praying all the time for sinners.

The fertility of Jerusalem

- 1 54 Shout for joy, you barren women who bore no children!
Break into cries of joy and gladness, you who were never in labor!

52 a. Babylon; the returning exiles are to be ritually purified because they will carry with them the sacred vessels of the Temple, restored to them by Cyrus, Ezr. 1:7f.

For the sons of the forsaken one are more in number than the sons of the wedded wife, says Yahweh.

2 Widen the space of your tent,
stretch out your hangings freely,
lengthen your ropes, make your pegs firm;
3 for you will burst out to right and to left.
Your race will take possession of the nations,
and people the abandoned cities.

The love of Yahweh

4 Do not be afraid, you will not be put to shame,
do not be dismayed, you will not be disgraced;
for you will forget the shame of your youth
and no longer remember the curse of your widowhood.

5 For now your creator will be your husband,
his name, Yahweh Sabaoth;
your redeemer will be the Holy One of Israel,
he is called the God of the whole earth.

6 Yes, like a forsaken wife, distressed in spirit,
Yahweh calls you back.

Does a man cast off the wife of his youth?
says your God.

7 I did forsake you for a brief moment,
but with great love will I take you back.

8 In excess of anger, for a moment
I hid my face from you.

But with everlasting love I have taken pity on you,
says Yahweh, your redeemer.

9 I am now as I was in the days of Noah
when I swore that Noah's waters should never flood the world again.

So now I swear concerning my anger with you and the threats I made against you;

10 for the mountains may depart,
the hills be shaken,
but my love for you will never leave you
and my covenant of peace with you will never be shaken, says Yahweh who takes pity on you.

The new Jerusalem

11 Unhappy creature, storm-tossed, disconsolate, see, I will set your stones on carbuncles
and your foundations on sapphires.

12 I will make rubies your battlements,
your gates crystal,
and your entire wall precious stones.

13 Your sons will all be taught by Yahweh.
The prosperity of your sons will be great.

14 You will be founded on integrity;
remote from oppression, you will have nothing to fear;
remote from terror, it will not approach you.

15 Should anyone attack you, that will not be my doing,
and whoever attacks you, for your sake will fall.

16 I it was created the smith

who blows on the coal fire
 and from it takes the weapons to work on.
 But I also created the destroyer who renders them useless.
 17 Not a weapon forged against you will succeed.
 Every tongue that accuses you in judgment will be refuted.
 Such will be the lot of the servants of Yahweh,
 the triumphs I award them—it is Yahweh who speaks.

The food of the poor

1 55 Oh, come to the water all you who are thirsty;
 though you have no money, come!
 Buy corn without money, and eat,
 and, at no cost, wine and milk.
 2 Why spend money on what is not bread,
 your wages on what fails to satisfy?
 Listen, listen to me, and you will have good things to eat and rich food to enjoy.
 3 Pay attention, come to me;
 listen, and your soul will live.

The covenant

With you I will make an everlasting covenant out of the favors promised to David.
 4 See, I have made of you a witness to the peoples,
 a leader and a master of the nations.
 5 See, you will summon a nation you never knew,
 those unknown will come hurrying to you,
 for the sake of Yahweh your God,
 of the Holy One of Israel who will glorify you.

The nearness and remoteness of Yahweh

6 Seek Yahweh while he is still to be found,
 call to him while he is still near.
 7 Let the wicked man abandon his way,
 the evil man his thoughts.
 Let him turn back to Yahweh who will take pity on him,
 to our God who is rich in forgiving;
 8 for my thoughts are not your thoughts,
 my ways not your ways—it is Yahweh who speaks.
 9 Yes, the heavens are as high above earth
 as my ways are above your ways,
 my thoughts above your thoughts.

The word of Yahweh cannot fail

10 Yes, as the rain and the snow come down from the heavens and do not return without watering the earth, making it yield and giving growth to provide seed 11 for the sower and bread for the eating, so the word that goes from my mouth does not return to me empty, without carrying out my will and succeeding in what it was sent to do.

Conclusion of the Book of Consolation

12 Yes, you will leave with joy and be led away in safety.
 Mountains and hills will break into joyful cries before you and all the trees of the countryside clap their hands.
 13 Cypress will grow instead of thorns,

myrtle instead of briars.
 And this will make Yahweh famous,
 a sign for ever, ineffaceable.

III. THIRD PART OF THE BOOK OF ISAIAH

Yahweh welcomes converts from paganism

- 1 56 Thus says Yahweh: Have a care for justice, act with integrity, for soon my salvation will come and my integrity be manifest.
- 2 Blessed is the man who does this and the son of man who clings to it: observing the sabbath, not profaning it, and keeping his hand from every evil deed.
- 3 Let no foreigner who has attached himself to Yahweh say, "Yahweh will surely exclude me from his people." Let no eunuch say, "And I, I am a dried-up tree."
- 4 For Yahweh says this: To the eunuchs who observe my sabbaths, and 5 resolve to do what pleases me and cling to my covenant, I will give, in my house and within my walls, a monument and a name better than sons and daughters; I will give them an everlasting name that shall never be effaced.
- 6 Foreigners who have attached themselves to Yahweh to serve him and to love his name and be his servants—all who observe the sabbath, not profaning 7 it, and cling to my covenant—these I will bring to my holy mountain. I will make them joyful in my house of prayer. Their holocausts and their sacrifices will be accepted on my altar, for my house will be called a house of prayer for all the peoples.
- 8 It is the Lord Yahweh who speaks, who gathers the outcasts of Israel: there are others I will gather besides those already gathered.

The unworthiness of the leaders of Judah

- 9 Come and gorge, all you wild beasts,
 all you beasts of the forest.
- 10 Our watchmen are all blind,
 they notice nothing.
- Dumb watchdogs all,
 unable to bark,
 they dream, lie down,
 and love to sleep.
- 11 Greedy dogs that are never satisfied.
 Shepherds who know nothing.
 They all go their own way,
 each after his own interest.
- 12 "Come, let me fetch wine;
 we will get drunk on strong drink,
 tomorrow will be just as wonderful as today
 and even more so!"

- 1 57 The upright perish
 and no one cares.
 Devout men are taken off
 and no one gives it a thought.

- 2 Yes, on account of evil the upright man is taken off
 to enter peace.
 They lie on their beds
 those who followed the right way.

3 But you, you sons of a witch, come here,
offspring of the adulterer and the whore.

4 At whom are you jeering, and making faces,
and sticking out your tongue?
Are you not the spawn of sin,
children of lies?

5 Lusting among the terebinths,
and under every spreading tree,
sacrificing children in the wadis
and in rocky clefts.

Prophetic elegy against idolatry

6 The smooth stones of the wadis, these are your share, these, these your portion.
To these you pour libations,
bring oblations.

Can all this appease me?
7 On a mountain high and lofty
you have put your bed.
Thither, too, you have climbed to offer sacrifice.

8 Behind door and doorpost
you have set up your sign.^a Yes, far removed from me, you unroll your bedding, climb into it and spread it wide.

You have struck a pact with those whose bed you love, whoring with them often
with your eyes on the sacred symbol.

9 With oil you made yourself look your best for Molech, lavishing your scents;
you sent your envoys far afield,
down to Sheol itself.^b

10 Tired with so much journeying, you never said, "I give up."
Finding your strength revived,
you never weakened.

11 Who was it you dreaded, and feared,
that you should disown me
and not remember me,
and refuse me a place in your heart?

Meanwhile I kept silent and shut my eyes, did I not?
So you cannot have been afraid of me.

12 But now I will expose this integrity of yours and your futile actions.

13 When you cry, let your hateful idols save you!
The wind will carry them all away,
a breath will take them off.

But whoever trusts in me shall inherit the land and own my holy mountain.

A poem of consolation

- 14 It shall be said:
Open up, open up, clear the way,
remove all obstacles from the way of my people.
- 15 For thus speaks the Most High,
whose home is in eternity,
whose name is holy:
- "I live in a high and holy place,
but I am also with the contrite and humbled spirit,
to give the humbled spirit new life,
to revive contrite hearts.
- 16 "For I will not quarrel for ever nor be always angry,
for then the spirit would give way before me,
the very souls I have made.
- 17 "Angered by his wicked brutality,
I hid my face and struck him in anger.
Like a rebel he went the way of his choice;
18 but I have seen the way he went.
- "But I will heal him, and console him,
I will comfort him to the full,
both him and his afflicted fellows,
19 bringing praise to their lips.
Peace, peace to far and near,
I will indeed heal him," says Yahweh.
- 20 The wicked however are like the restless sea that cannot be still,
and washes up mud and slime.
- 21 "No peace," says my God, "for the wicked."

Fasting

- 1 58 Shout for all you are worth,
raise your voice like a trumpet.
Proclaim their faults to my people,
their sins to the House of Jacob.
- 2 They seek me day after day,
they long to know my ways,
like a nation that wants to act with integrity and not ignore the law of its God.
- They ask me for laws that are just,
they long for God to draw near:
- 3 "Why should we fast if you never see it,
why do penance if you never notice?"
- Look, you do business on your fast days,
you oppress all your workmen;
- 4 look, you quarrel and squabble when you fast
and strike the poor man with your fist.
- Fasting like yours today
will never make your voice heard on high.

5 Is that the sort of fast that pleases me,
a truly penitential day for men?

Hanging your head like a reed,
lying down on sackcloth and ashes?
Is that what you call fasting,
a day acceptable to Yahweh?

6 Is not this the sort of fast that pleases me
—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—
to break unjust fetters
and undo the thongs of the yoke,

to let the oppressed go free,
and break every yoke,

7 to share your bread with the hungry,
and shelter the homeless poor,

to clothe the man you see to be naked
and not turn from your own kin?

8 Then will your light shine like the dawn and your wound be quickly healed over.

Your integrity will go before you and the glory of Yahweh behind you.

9 Cry, and Yahweh will answer;
call, and he will say, "I am here."

If you do away with the yoke,
the clenched fist, the wicked word,
if you give your bread to the hungry,
and relief to the oppressed,

10 your light will rise in the darkness,
and your shadows become like noon.

11 Yahweh will always guide you,
giving you relief in desert places.

He will give strength to your bones
and you shall be like a watered garden,
like a spring of water
whose waters never run dry.

12 You will rebuild the ancient ruins,
build up on the old foundations.
You will be called "Breach-mender,"
"Restorer of ruined houses."

The sabbath

13 If you refrain from trampling the sabbath,
and doing business on the holy day,
if you call the sabbath "Delightful,"
and the day sacred to Yahweh "Honorable,"
if you honor it by abstaining from travel,
from doing business and from gossip,

14 then shall you find your happiness in Yahweh and I will lead you triumphant over the heights of the land.
I will feed you on the heritage of Jacob your father.
For the mouth of Yahweh has spoken.

A psalm

- 1 59 No, the hand of Yahweh is not too short to save,
nor his ear too dull to hear.
- 2 But your iniquities have made a gulf between you and your God.
Your sins have made him veil his face
so as not to hear you,
- 3 since your hands are stained with blood,
your fingers with crime,
your lips utter lies,
your tongues murmur treachery.
- 4 No one makes just accusations or pleads sincerely.
All rely on nothingness, utter falsehood,
conceive harm and give birth to misery.
- 5 They are hatching adders' eggs
and weaving a spider's web;
eat one of their eggs and you die,
crush one and a viper emerges.
- 6 Their webs are no good for clothing,
their plots no use for covering.
Their plans are sinful plots,
violence is their only method.
- 7 Their feet run to do evil,
are quick to shed innocent blood.
Their thoughts are sinful thoughts,
wherever they go there is havoc and ruin.
- 8 They know nothing of the way of peace,
there is no equity in their paths.
Twisty trails they clear for themselves and no one who follows them knows any peace.
- 9 So justice is removed far away from us,
and integrity keeps its distance.
We looked for light and all is darkness,
for brightness and we walk in the dark.
- 10 Like the blind we feel our way along walls
and hesitate like men without eyes.
We stumble as though noon were twilight
and dwell in the dark like the dead.
- 11 We growl, all of us, like bears,
and moan like doves,
waiting for the justice that never comes,
for salvation that is removed far away from us.
- 12 For our faults in your sight have been many
and our sins are a witness against us.
And indeed our faults are present to our minds,
and we know our iniquities:
- 13 rebellion and denial of Yahweh,
turning our back on our God,
talking treachery and revolt,
murmuring lies in our heart.
- 14 Justice is withheld
and integrity stands aloof;
in the public square sincerity is brought to its knees
and uprightness forbidden to enter.

Fragments of an apocalypse

- 15 Sincerity is missing
and he who avoids evil is robbed.
Yahweh has seen this, and is indignant that there is no justice to be seen.
- 16 He saw there was no one
and wondered there was no one to intervene.
So he made his own arm his mainstay,
his own integrity his support.
- 17 He put integrity on like a breastplate,
and on his head the helmet of salvation.
He put vengeance on like a tunic
and wrapped himself in ardor like a cloak.
- 18 To each he will pay his due,
wrath to his enemies, reprisals on his foes.
- 19 In the west men will see the name of Yahweh
and in the east his glory;
for he shall come like a pent-up stream impelled by the breath of Yahweh.
- 20 But for Zion he will come as Redeemer,
for those of Jacob who turn from their faults.
It is Yahweh who speaks.

Oracle

- 21 For my part, this is my covenant with them, says Yahweh. My spirit with which I endowed you, and my words that I have put in your mouth, will not disappear from your mouth, nor from the mouths of your children, nor from the mouths of your children's children for ever and ever, says Yahweh.

The glorious resurrection of Jerusalem

- 1 60 Arise, shine out, for your light has come,
the glory of Yahweh is rising on you,
2 though night still covers the earth and darkness the peoples.
- Above you Yahweh now rises and above you his glory appears.
- 3 The nations come to your light and kings to your dawning brightness.
- 4 Lift up your eyes and look around:
all are assembling and coming toward you,
your sons from far away
and your daughters being tenderly carried.
- 5 At this sight you will grow radiant,
your heart throbbing and full;
since the riches of the sea will flow to you,
the wealth of the nations come to you;
- 6 camels in throngs will cover you,
and dromedaries of Midian and Ephah;
everyone in Sheba will come,
bringing gold and incense
and singing the praise of Yahweh.
- 7 All the flocks of Kedar will gather inside you,

the rams of Nebaioth^a will be at your service.
They will come up, for acceptance, to my altar,
to adorn the Temple of my glory.

8 Who are these flying like a cloud,
like doves to their cote?
9 Yes, for me the ships are assembling,
vessels of Tarshish in the front,

to bring your sons from far away,
and their silver and gold with them,
for the sake of the name of Yahweh your God,
for the sake of the Holy One of Israel who has made you glorious.

10 Foreigners will rebuild your walls and their kings will be your servants.
For though I struck you in anger,
in mercy I have pitied you.

11 And your gates will lie open continually, shut neither by day nor by night,
for men to bring you the wealth of the nations
with their kings leading them;
12 for the nation and kingdom that refuses to serve you shall perish, such nations shall be utterly ruined.

13 The glory of Lebanon^b will come to you,
with cypress and plane and box,
to adorn the site of my sanctuary,
to glorify the resting place of my feet.

14 The sons of your oppressors will come to you bowing,
at your feet shall fall all who despised you.
They will call you "City of Yahweh,"
"Zion of the Holy One of Israel."

15 Though you have been abandoned,
and hated and shunned,
I will make you an eternal pride, a joy for ever and ever.

16 You will be suckled on the milk of nations,
suckled on the riches of kings,
and you shall know that I, Yahweh, am your savior,
that your redeemer is the Mighty One of Jacob.

17 For bronze I will bring gold;
for iron, silver;
and bronze for wood;
and iron for stone;
I will put Peace in as magistrate,
and Integrity as the government.

18 Violence will no longer be heard of in your country,
nor devastation and ruin within your frontiers.
You will call your walls "Salvation,"
and your gates "Praise."

19 No more will the sun give you daylight,
nor moonlight shine on you,
but Yahweh will be your everlasting light,
your God will be your splendor.

- 20 Your sun will set no more nor your moon wane,
but Yahweh will be your everlasting light
and your days of mourning will be ended.
- 21 Your people will all be upright, possessing the land for ever;
a shoot that Yahweh has planted,
my handiwork, designed for beauty.
- 22 The least among you will become a clan
and the smallest a mighty nation.
I, Yahweh, have spoken;
in due time I shall act with speed.

The mission of the prophet

- 1 61 The spirit of the Lord Yahweh has been given to me, for Yahweh has anointed me.
He has sent me to bring good news to the poor,
to bind up hearts that are broken;
to proclaim liberty to captives,
freedom to those in prison;
- 2 to proclaim a year of favor from Yahweh,
a day of vengeance for our God,
3 to comfort all those who mourn and to give them
for ashes a garland;
for mourning robe the oil of gladness,
for despondency, praise.
They are to be called "terebinths of integrity," planted by Yahweh to glorify him.
- 4 They will rebuild the ancient ruins,
they will raise what has long lain waste,
they will restore the ruined cities,
all that has lain waste for ages past.
- 5 Strangers will be there to feed your flocks,
foreigners as your plowmen and vinedressers;
6 but you, you will be named "priests of Yahweh,"
they will call you "ministers of our God."
You will feed on the wealth of nations and array yourselves in their magnificence.
- 7 For their shame was twofold,
disgrace and spitting their lot.
Twofold therefore shall they possess in their land,
everlasting joy is theirs.
- 8 For I, Yahweh, love justice,
I hate robbery and all that is wrong.
I reward them faithfully
and make an everlasting covenant with them.
- 9 Their race will be famous throughout the nations,
their descendants throughout the peoples.
All who see them will admit that they are a race whom Yahweh has blessed.

- 10 "I exult for joy in Yahweh,
 my soul rejoices in my God,
 for he has clothed me in the garments of salvation,
 he has wrapped me in the cloak of integrity,
 like a bridegroom wearing his wreath,
 like a bride adorned in her jewels.
- 11 "For as the earth makes fresh things grow,
 as a garden makes seeds spring up,
 so will the Lord Yahweh make both integrity and praise
 spring up in the sight of the nations."

Second poem on the glorious resurrection of Jerusalem

- 1 62 About Zion I will not be silent, about Jerusalem I will not grow weary,
 until her integrity shines out like the dawn
 and her salvation flames like a torch.
- 2 The nations then will see your integrity,
 all the kings your glory,
 and you will be called by a new name,
 one which the mouth of Yahweh will confer.
- 3 You are to be a crown of splendor in the hand of Yahweh,
 a princely diadem in the hand of your God;
 4 no longer are you to be named "Forsaken," nor your land "Abandoned," but you shall be called "My Delight,"
 and your land "The Wedded";
 for Yahweh takes delight in you and your land will have its wedding.
- 5 Like a young man marrying a virgin,
 so will the one who built you wed you,
 and as the bridegroom rejoices in his bride,
 so will your God rejoice in you.
- 6 On your walls, Jerusalem,
 I set watchmen.
 Day or night
 they must never be silent.
- You who keep Yahweh mindful must take no rest.
- 7 Nor let him take rest
 till he has restored Jerusalem, and made her
 the boast of the earth.
- 8 Yahweh has sworn it by his right hand
 and by his mighty arm:
 Never again shall I give your corn
 to feed your enemies.
 Never again will foreigners drink your wine that you labored for.
- 9 But those who gather the harvest will eat it and praise Yahweh.
 Those who gathered the grapes will drink
 in the courts of my sanctuary.

Conclusion

- 10 Pass through, pass through the gates.
 Make a way for the people.
 Bank up, bank up the highway,
 clear it of stones.
 Hoist the signal for the peoples.
- 11 This Yahweh proclaims
 to the ends of the earth:
- Say to the daughter of Zion, "Look,
 your savior comes,
 the prize of his victory with him,
 his trophies before him."
- 12 They shall be called "The Holy People,"
 "Yahweh's Redeemed."
 And you shall be called "The-sought-after,"
 "City-not-forsaken."

An apocalyptic poem on the vengeance of Yahweh

- 1 63 Who is this coming from Edom, from Bozrah in garments stained with crimson,
 so richly clothed,
 marching so full of strength?
 —It is I, who speak of integrity and am powerful to save.
- 2 —Why are your garments red,
 your clothes as if you had trodden the winepress?
- 3 —I have trodden the winepress alone.
 Of the men of my people not one was with me.
 In my anger I trod them down,
 trampled them in my wrath.
 Their juice spattered my garments,
 and all my clothes are stained.
- 4 For in my heart was a day of vengeance,
 my year of redemption had come.
- 5 I looked: there was no one to help;
 aghast: not one could I find to support me.
 My own arm then was my mainstay,
 my wrath my support.
- 6 I crushed the people in my fury,
 trampled them in my anger,
 and made the juice of them run all over the ground.

A psalm

- 7 Let me sing the praises of Yahweh's goodness,
 and of his marvelous deeds,
 in return for all that he has done for us
 and for the great kindness
 he has shown us in his mercy
 and in his boundless goodness.
- 8 He said, "Truly they are my people, sons and no rogues."
 He proved himself their savior

9 in all their troubles.
 It was neither messenger nor angel
 but his Presence that saved them.
 In his love and pity
 he redeemed them himself,
 he lifted them up, carried them,
 throughout the days of old.
 10 But they rebelled, they grieved his holy spirit.
 Then he turned enemy,
 and himself waged war on them.
 11 They remembered the days of old,
 of Moses his servant.
 Where is he who brought out of the sea
 the shepherd of his flock?
 Where is he who endowed him
 with his holy spirit, 12 who at the right hand of Moses set to work with his glorious arm, who divided the waters before them
 to win himself everlasting renown, 13 who made them walk through the ocean
 as easily as a horse through the desert?
 14 They stumbled as little as an ox
 going down to the plain.
 The spirit of Yahweh led them to rest.
 This is how you guided your people
 to win yourself glorious renown.
 15 Look down from heaven, look down
 from your holy and glorious dwelling.
 Where is your ardor, your might,
 the yearning of your inmost heart?
 Do not let your compassion go unmoved,
 16 for you are our Father.
 For Abraham does not own us and Israelⁿ does not acknowledge us;
 you, Yahweh, yourself are our Father,
 Our Redeemer is your ancient name.
 17 Why, Yahweh, leave us to stray from your ways
 and harden our hearts against fearing you?
 Return, for the sake of your servants,
 the tribes of your inheritance.
 18 Why have the wicked set foot in your sanctuary,
 why are our enemies trampling your sanctuary?
 19 We have long been like people you do not rule,
 people who do not bear your name.
 1 Oh, that you would tear the heavens open and come down
 2 —at your Presence the mountains would melt,
 1 64 as fire sets brushwood alight,
 as fire causes water to boil—
 to make known your name to your enemies,
 and make the nations tremble at your Presence, working unexpected miracles
 such as no one has ever heard of before.
 2
 4

No ear has heard,

no eye has seen
 any god but you act like this
 for those who trust him.
 4 5 You guide those who act with integrity
 and keep your ways in mind.
 You were angry when we were sinners;
 we had long been rebels against you.
 5 6 We were all like men unclean,
 all that integrity of ours like filthy clothing.
 We have all withered like leaves
 and our sins blew us away like the wind.
 6 7 No one invoked your name
 or roused himself to catch hold of you.
 For you hid your face from us
 and gave us up to the power of our sins.
 7 8 And yet, Yahweh, you are our Father;
 we the clay, you the potter,
 we are all the work of your hand.
 8 9 Do not let your anger go too far, Yahweh,
 or go on thinking of our sins for ever.
 See, see, we are all your people;
 9 10 your holy cities are a wilderness,
 Zion a wilderness,
 Jerusalem a desolation,
 10 11 our holy and glorious Temple,
 in which our fathers prayed to you,
 is burned to the ground;
 all that gave us pleasure lies in ruins.
 11 12 Yahweh, can you go unmoved by all of this,
 oppressing us beyond measure by your silence?

A diatribe against idolatry; eschatological discourse

1 65 I was ready to be approached by those who did not consult me, ready to be found by those who did not seek me. I said, "I am here, I am here," 2 to a nation that did not invoke my name. Each day I stretched out my hand to 3 a rebellious people who went by evil ways, following their own whims, a people who provoked me to my face incessantly, sacrificing in gardens, burning incense 4 on bricks, living in tombs, spending nights in dark corners, eating the meat
 5 of pigs, using unclean foods in their kitchens. "Keep off," they say, "do not come near me, or I might sanctify you." Such men are smoke in my nostrils, 6 an ever burning fire. See, it is inscribed in front of me; I will not be silent until 7 I have settled my account with them for their sins and their fathers' sins, says Yahweh, those men who burned incense on the mountains and insulted me on the hills. I will pay them back in full all they deserve.
 8 Yahweh says this: When new wine is found in a bunch of grapes people say, "Do not destroy it, it contains a blessing." I shall do the same for the sake 9 of those who serve me. I refuse to destroy the whole. I will create a race from Jacob, and heirs to my mountains from Judah. My chosen shall inherit them, 10 my servants live in them. Sharon will be a pasture for flocks, the Valley of Achor a feeding ground for oxen, for those of my people who have sought me.
 11 But you who have abandoned Yahweh,
 and forgotten my holy mountain,
 who lay the table for Gad,
 who fill a cup for Meni,^a

63 a. The patriarch Jacob.

65 a. Gad and Meni are pagan gods.

- 12 I commit you to the sword,
all of you to fall in the slaughter.
For I called and you would not answer,
I spoke and you would not listen.
You did what I consider evil,
you chose to do what displeases me.
- 13 Therefore, thus speaks
the Lord Yahweh:
You shall see my servants eat
while you go hungry.
You shall see my servants drink
while you go thirsty.
You shall see my servants rejoice
while you are put to shame.
- 14 You shall hear my servants sing
for joy of heart,
while you will moan
for sadness of heart;
you will wail for distress of spirit.
- 15 My chosen ones will use as a curse the name you leave behind: May the Lord Yahweh strike you dead. But my servants are to be given a new name.
- 16 Whoever asks to be blessed on earth will ask to be blessed by the God of truth, and whoever takes oath on earth will take oath by the God of truth, for 17 past troubles will be forgotten and hidden from my eyes. For now I create new heavens and a new earth, and the past will not be remembered, and will come 18 no more to men's minds. Be glad and rejoice for ever and ever for what I am 19 creating, because I now create Jerusalem "Joy" and her people "Gladness." I shall rejoice over Jerusalem and exult in my people. No more will the sound of weeping 20 or the sound of cries be heard in her; in her, no more will be found the infant living a few days only, or the old man not living to the end of his days. To die at the age of a hundred will be dying young; not to live to be a hundred will be the 21 sign of a curse. They will build houses and inhabit them, plant vineyards and eat their fruit. They will not build for others to live in, or plant so that others 22 can eat. For my people shall live as long as trees, and my chosen ones wear out what their hands have made. They will not toil in vain or beget children to 23 their own ruin, for they will be a race blessed by Yahweh, and their children with them. Long before they call I shall answer; before they stop speaking 24 I shall have heard. The wolf and the young lamb will feed together, the lion eat straw like the ox, and dust will be the serpent's food. They will do no hurt, no harm on all my holy mountain, says Yahweh.^b

Oracle

- 1 66 Thus says Yahweh:
With heaven my throne
and earth my footstool,
what house could you build me,
what place could you make for my rest?
- 2 All of this was made by my hand and all of this is mine—it is Yahweh who speaks.
But my eyes are drawn to the man of humbled and contrite spirit,
who trembles at my word.

Against the intrusion of idolatrous practice

- 3 Some immolate an ox, some slaughter a man,
some sacrifice a lamb, some strangle a dog.

Some offer oblations of pig's blood,
 some burn memorial incense, some consecrate idols.
 Since they elect to follow their own ways
 and their souls delight in their abominations, 4 I in my turn will select hardships for them
 and bring them what they dread;
 for I called and no one would answer,
 I spoke and they would not listen.
 They did what I consider evil,
 they chose to do what displeases me.

An apocalyptic poem

- 5 Listen to the word of Yahweh,
 you who tremble at his word.
 Your brothers say, who hate you,
 who reject you because of my name,
 "Let Yahweh show his glory,
 let us witness your joy!"
 But they shall be put to shame.
- 6 Listen. An uproar from the city!
 A voice from the Temple!
 The voice of Yahweh bringing retribution on his enemies.
- 7 Long before being in labor
 she has given birth.
 Before being overtaken by birth pangs,
 she has been delivered of a boy.
- 8 Who ever heard of such a thing,
 who ever saw anything like this?
 Is a country born
 in one day?
 Is a nation brought forth
 all at once,
 that Zion only just in labor should bring forth sons?
- 9 Am I to open the womb and not bring to birth?
 says Yahweh.
 Or I, who bring to birth, am I to close it?
 says your God.
- 10 Rejoice, Jerusalem,
 be glad for her, all you who love her!
 Rejoice, rejoice for her,
 all you who mourned her!
- 11 That you may be suckled, filled,
 from her consoling breast,
 that you may savor with delight
 her glorious breasts.
- 12 For thus says Yahweh:
 Now toward her I send flowing peace, like a river,
 and like a stream in spate
 the glory of the nations.

b. The quotations from the poem which is ch. 11.

- At her breast will her nurslings be carried and fondled in her lap.
13 Like a son comforted by his mother will I comfort you.
(And by Jerusalem you will be comforted.)
- 14 At the sight your heart will rejoice,
and your bones flourish like the grass.
To his servants Yahweh will reveal his hand,
but to his enemies his fury.
- 15 For see how Yahweh comes in fire,
his chariots like the tempest,
to assuage his anger with burning,
his threats with flaming fire.
- 16 For by fire will Yahweh execute judgment,
and by his sword, against all mankind.
The victims of Yahweh will be many.

A fragment condemning pagan mysteries

- 17 As for those who sanctify themselves and purify themselves to enter the gardens,
following the one in the center,
who eat the flesh of pigs, reptiles, rats:
their deeds and their thoughts shall end all at once
—it is Yahweh who speaks.

An eschatological discourse

- 18 I am coming to gather the nations of every language. They shall come to 19 witness my glory. I will give them a sign and send some of their survivors to the nations: to Tarshish, Put, Lud, Moshech, Rosh, Tubal, and Javan, to the distant islands^a that have never heard of me or seen my glory. They will proclaim 20 my glory to the nations. As an offering to Yahweh they will bring all your brothers, on horses, in chariots, in litters, on mules, on dromedaries, from all the nations to my holy mountain in Jerusalem, says Yahweh, like Israelites 21 bringing oblations in clean vessels to the Temple of Yahweh. And of some of them I will make priests and Levites, says Yahweh.
- 22 For as the new heavens and the new earth I shall make will endure before me—it is Yahweh who speaks—
so will your race and name endure.
- 23 From New Moon to New Moon,
from sabbath to sabbath,
all mankind will come to bow down
in my presence, says Yahweh.
- 24 And on their way out they will see the corpses of men who have rebelled against me.
Their worm will not die
nor their fire go out;
they will be loathsome to all mankind.

66 a. Of these distant places, Rosh is unknown; the other names represent: Tartessos (Spain), Somaliland, Libya, two regions of Asia Minor and Ionia.

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOKS OF JEREMIAH, LAMENTATIONS AND BARUCH

Jeremiah

Jeremiah, a man of peace, was called to prophesy strife and disaster. In the years which saw the ruin and the end of the kingdom of Judah, he contended against kings, priests, false prophets and the nation itself, maintaining that resistance to the Chaldaean invader was vain resistance to the inexorable will of Yahweh. As the biographical anecdotes included in the book show, he was not a popular figure in his own time and barely escaped the death penalty.

However the prophecies collected by his secretary Baruch continued to be studied, meditated and interpreted; and after his death he grew steadily in stature. The truth of his message was eventually proved by history; his book reflects a warm personal religion and a confidence that there will be a covenant written in the heart; and by the Maccabean period, we find Jeremiah considered a protector of the nation, almost a patron saint.

The various oracles in the book are not in their chronological order and they include certain prophecies of a later date altogether. Nevertheless, the body of the work is undoubtedly made up of the oracles dictated to Baruch in 605 (as recounted in the book) and rewritten and supplemented afterward, when the king had ordered the burning of the first scroll.

Lamentations

The subject matter of this short book certainly reflects the lifetime of Jeremiah, to whom the Lamentations have traditionally been ascribed. Chapters 1, 2 and 4 take the form of a dirge for the dead, and were written in Palestine after the fall of Jerusalem in 587.

However, the conscious literary forms seem foreign to the direct sincerity of Jeremiah in his prophecies, and the poems contain judgments which contradict some of his decided views. The book remains a classic of repentance with a striking pathos.

Baruch

This short collection testifies to the enduring reputation of Jeremiah. Commended under the name of Baruch, it actually contains a prayer, a "wisdom" poem, a prophetic passage, and a letter setting out the argument against idolatry. The letter is of the Greek period; the other sections are difficult to date and may be as late as the second or first century B.C.

JEREMIAH

Title

¹ 1 The words of Jeremiah son of Hilkiah, of a priestly family living at Anathoth^a ² in the territory of Benjamin. The word of Yahweh was addressed to him in the days of Josiah son of Amon, king of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his ³ reign^b; then in the days of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, until the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah son of Josiah, king of Judah, until the deportation of Jerusalem which occurred in the fifth month.^c

I. ORACLES AGAINST JUDAH AND JERUSALEM

A. IN THE REIGN OF JOSIAH

The call of Jeremiah

⁴ The word of Yahweh was addressed to me, saying,

⁵ "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you;
before you came to birth I consecrated you;
I have appointed you as a prophet to the nations."

⁶ I said, "Ah, Lord Yahweh; look, I do not know how to speak: I am a child!"

⁷ But Yahweh replied,
"Do not say, 'I am a child.'
Go now to those to whom I send you and say whatever I command you.
⁸ Do not be afraid of them,
for I am with you to protect you—
it is Yahweh who speaks!"

⁹ Then Yahweh put out his hand and touched my mouth and said to me:

¹⁰ "There! I am putting my words into your mouth.
Look, today I am setting you over nations and over kingdoms,
to tear up and to knock down,
to destroy and to overthrow,
to build and to plant."

¹¹ The word of Yahweh was addressed to me asking, "Jeremiah, what do you ¹² see?" "I see a branch of the Watchful Tree,"^d I answered. Then Yahweh said, "Well seen! I too watch over my word to see it fulfilled."

¹³ A second time the word of Yahweh was spoken to me, asking, "What do you see?" "I see a cooking pot on the boil," I answered, "with its contents tilting from ¹⁴ the North." Then Yahweh said:

1 a. Near Jerusalem. b. 626 B.C. c. That is, from 608 to July 587. d. The almond, the earliest to flower.

- 15 “The North is where disaster is boiling over for all who live in this land;
 since I am now going to summon all the kingdoms of the North—
 it is Yahweh who speaks.
 They are going to come, and each will set his throne
 in front of the gates of Jerusalem,
 all around outside its walls,
 and outside all the towns of Judah.
 16 I am going to pronounce my judgments against them for all their wickedness; since they have abandoned me to offer incense to other gods
 and worship what their own hands have made.
- 17 “So now brace yourself for action.
 Stand up and tell them
 all I command you.
 Do not be dismayed at their presence,
 or in their presence I will make you dismayed.
 18 I, for my part, today will make you into a fortified city,
 a pillar of iron,
 and a wall of bronze
 to confront all this land:
 the kings of Judah, its princes,
 its priests and the country people.
 19 They will fight against you
 but shall not overcome you,
 for I am with you to deliver you—
 it is Yahweh who speaks.”

The earliest preaching of Jeremiah: the apostasy of Israel

- ¹/₂ 2 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me, saying, “Go and shout this in the hearing of Jerusalem:

- ‘Yahweh says this:
 I remember the affection of your youth,
 the love of your bridal days:
 you followed me through the wilderness,
 through a land unsown.
 3 Israel was sacred to Yahweh,
 the first fruits of his harvest;
 anyone who ate of this had to pay for it, misfortune came to them—
 it is Yahweh who speaks.’
 4 Listen to the word of Yahweh, House of Jacob, and all you families of the House of Israel.
 5 Thus says Yahweh,
 “What shortcoming did your fathers find in me
 that led them to desert me?
 Vanity they pursued,
 vanity they became.
 6 They never said, ‘Where is Yahweh, who brought us out of the land of Egypt
 and led us through the wilderness, through a land arid and scored,
 a land of drought and darkness,
 a land where no one passes,

and no man lives?'

- 7 I brought you to a fertile country
to enjoy its produce and good things;
but no sooner had you entered than you defiled my land,
and made my heritage detestable.
- 8 The priests have never asked, 'Where is Yahweh?'
Those who administer the Law have no knowledge of me.
The shepherds^a have rebelled against me;
the prophets have prophesied in the name of Baal,
following things with no power in them.
- 9 So I must put you on trial once more
—it is Yahweh who speaks—
and your children's children too.
- 10 Now take ship for the islands of Kittim^b or send to Kedar to inquire.
Take careful notice and observe
if anything like this has happened.
- 11 Does a nation change its gods?
—and these are not gods at all!
Yet my people have exchanged their Glory
for what has no power in it.
- 12 You heavens, stand aghast at this,
stand stupefied, stand utterly appalled
—it is Yahweh who speaks.
- 13 Since my people have committed a double crime:
they have abandoned me,
the fountain of living water,
only to dig cisterns for themselves,
leaky cisterns
that hold no water.
- 14 "Is Israel then a slave,
or born to serfdom,
for him to be preyed on like this?
Lions have roared at him,
loudly they have roared.
They have reduced his land to a desert;
his towns lie burned and desolate.
- 16 The people of Noph and Tahpanhes have even shaved your skull!^c
Have you not brought this on yourself,
by abandoning Yahweh your God?
- 18 What is the good of going to Egypt now
to drink the water of the Nile?
What is the good of going to Assyria to drink the water of the river?
- 19 Your own wickedness is punishing you,
your own apostasies are rebuking you:
consider carefully
how evil and bitter it is for you to abandon Yahweh your God
and not to stand in awe of me
—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.

2 a. The rulers. b. Probably Cyprus; but here the term must include the coasts and islands of the Mediterranean, to the west of Palestine. Kedar, in the next line, a Transjordanian tribe, represents the East. c. Allusion to Egyptian intervention, 608–605; the two towns are Egyptian.

- 20 "It is long ago now since you broke your yoke, burst your bonds
and said, 'I will not serve!'
Yet on every high hill
and under every spreading tree
you have lain down like a harlot.
- 21 Yet I had planted you, a choice vine, a shoot of soundest stock.
How is it you have become a degenerate plant,
you bastard Vine?
- 22 Should you launder yourself with potash
and put in quantities of lye,
I should still detect the stain of your guilt
—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.
- 23 How dare you say, 'I am not defiled,
I have not run after the Baals?'
Look at your footprints in the Valley,
and acknowledge what you have done.
A frantic she-camel running in all directions
bolts for the desert,
snuffing the breeze in desire;
who can control her when she is on heat?
Whoever looks for her will have no trouble,
he will find her with her mate!
- 25 Beware! Your own foot may soon go unshod, your own throat may grow dry.
But 'Who cares?' you said.
'For I am in love with strangers and they are the ones I follow.'
- 26 "Like a thief in the disgrace of being caught,
so will the House of Israel be:
they, their kings, their princes,
their priests and their prophets,
- 27 who say to a piece of wood, 'You are my father,'
to a stone, 'You have begotten me.'
They turn their backs to me,
never their faces;
but when trouble comes they shout,
'Get up! Save us!'
- 28 Where are those gods of yours you made for yourself?
Let them get up to save you when trouble comes!
For you have as many gods
as you have towns, Judah,
as many altars for Baal
as Jerusalem has streets.
- 29 What case can you make against me?
You have all apostatized from me
—it is Yahweh who speaks.
- 30 In vain I have struck down your sons,
you did not accept correction:
your sword devoured your prophets like a destructive lion.
- 31 What a brood you are! Listen, this is the word of Yahweh:
Have I been a desert for Israel
or a land of deepest gloom?
Then why do my people say,

- 32 'We will go our own way,
 we will no longer come to you?'
 Does a girl forget her ornaments,
 a bride her sash?
 And yet my people have forgotten me,
 for days beyond number.
- 33 "How well you know the way
 in pursuit of love!
 Yes, you have even accustomed your steps
 to walk with crime,
- 34 to the point when your hands display
 the stains from the blood of innocent men.
 —You never caught them trying to break and enter!
 Yes, for all these you will have to answer.
- 35 You say, 'I am blameless,
 his anger has turned away from me.'
 And here I am passing sentence on you because you say, 'I have not sinned.'
- 36 "How frivolously you undertake a change of course!
 But you will be disappointed by Egypt
 just as you were by Assyria.
- 37 You will have to leave there too
 with your hands on your head,
 for Yahweh has rejected those that you rely on,
 you will come to no good with them."

The conversion

- 1 3 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me saying:

"If a man divorces his wife and she leaves him
 to marry someone else,
 may she still go back to him?
 Has not that piece of land
 been totally polluted?
 And you, who have prostituted yourself with so many lovers,
 you would come back to me?—it is Yahweh who speaks.

- 2 "Lift your eyes to the bare heights and look!
 Is there a single place where you have not offered your body?
 You waited by the roadside for clients
 like an Arab in the desert.
 You have polluted the country
 with your prostitution and your vices:
- 3 this is why the showers have been withheld,
 the late rains have not come.

- "And you maintained a prostitute's bold front,
 never thinking to blush.
- 4 Even then did you not cry to me, 'My father!
 You, the friend of my youth!
 Will he keep his resentment for ever,
 will he maintain his wrath to the end?'
- 5 That was what you said, and still you went on sinning, you were so obstinate."

The Northern Kingdom urged to repent

- 6 In the days of King Josiah, Yahweh said to me, "Have you seen what disloyal Israel has done? How she has made her way up every high hill and to every 7 spreading tree, and has prostituted herself there? I thought: After doing all this she will come back to me. But she did not come back. Her faithless sister
8 Judah saw this. She also saw that I had repudiated disloyal Israel for all her adulteries and given her her divorce papers. Her faithless sister Judah, however,
9 was not afraid: she too went and played the whore. So shameless was her whoring that at last she polluted the country; she committed adultery with lumps
10 of stone and pieces of wood. Worse than all this: Judah, her faithless sister, has not come back to me in sincerity, but only in pretense—it is Yahweh who speaks."
11 And Yahweh said to me, "Besides faithless Judah, disloyal Israel seems virtuous.
12 So go and shout these words toward the North:

'Come back, disloyal Israel—it is Yahweh who speaks—
I shall frown on you no more,
since I am merciful—it is Yahweh who speaks.
I shall not keep my resentment for ever.
13 Only acknowledge your guilt:
how you have apostatized from Yahweh your God,
how you have flirted with strangers
and have not listened to my voice—it is Yahweh who speaks.

Zion in the messianic age

- 14 'Come back, disloyal children—it is Yahweh who speaks—for I alone am your Master. I will take one from a town, two from a clan, and bring you to 15 Zion. I will give you shepherds after my own heart, and these shall feed you on 16 knowledge and discretion. And when you have increased and become many in the land, then—it is Yahweh who speaks—no one will ever say again: Where 17 is the ark of the covenant of Yahweh? There will be no thought of it, no memory of it, no regret for it, no making of another.^a When that time comes, Jerusalem shall be called: The Throne of Yahweh; all the nations will gather there in the name of Yahweh and will no longer follow the dictates of their own stubborn 18 hearts.
18 In those days the House of Judah will unite with the House of Israel; together they will come from the land of the North to the land I gave your ancestors for a heritage.

Continuation of the poem on the conversion^b

- 19 'And I was thinking:
How I wanted to rank you with my sons,
and give you a country of delights,
the fairest heritage of all the nations!
I had thought you would call me: My father,
and would never cease to follow me.
20 But like a woman betraying her lover,
the House of Israel has betrayed me—
it is Yahweh who speaks.'"
21 A noise is heard on the bare heights:
the weeping and entreaty of the sons of Israel,
because they have gone so wildly astray,
and forgotten Yahweh their God.
22 "Come back, disloyal sons,
I want to heal your disloyalty."
"We are here, we are coming to you,
for you are Yahweh our God.

23 The heights are a delusion after all,
so is the tumult of the mountains.

“Yahweh our God is, after all,
the saving of Israel.

24 The Thing of Shame^c has devoured what our ancestors worked for since our youth
(their flocks and herds, their sons and daughters).

25 Let us lie down in our shame, let our dishonor be our covering, for we have sinned against Yahweh our God

(“we and our ancestors since our youth until today; and we have not listened to the voice of Yahweh our God.”)

1 4 “If you wish to come back, Israel—it is Yahweh who speaks—it is to me you must return.

Do away with your abominations
and you will have no need to avoid me.

2 If you swear, ‘As Yahweh lives!’
truthfully, justly, honestly,
the nations will bless themselves by you,
and glory in you.

3 For thus speaks Yahweh
to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem:
Clean your ground thoroughly,
sow nothing among thorns.

4 Circumcise yourselves for Yahweh; off with the foreskin of your hearts (men of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem), lest my wrath should leap out like a fire,
and burn with no one to quench it,
in return for the wickedness of your deeds.”

Invasion from the North

5 Announce it in Judah, proclaim it in Jerusalem!
Sound the trumpet in the countryside,
shout the message aloud: Mobilize!

6 Take to the fortified towns!
Signpost the way to Zion;
Run! Do not delay!
I am bringing you disaster from the North,
an immense calamity.

7 The lion is up from his thicket,
the destroyer of nations is on his way,
he has come from his home
to reduce your land to a desert;
your towns will be in ruins, deserted.

8 So wrap yourselves in sackcloth, lament and wail,
since the burning anger of Yahweh
has not turned away from us.

9 “That day—it is Yahweh who speaks—
the king’s heart will fail him,

the princes' hearts will fail them too,
the priests will stand aghast,
the prophets stupefied.

10 People will say, 'Ah, Lord Yahweh, how utterly you deceived us
by saying: You will have peace,^a—even when the sword is at our throats!' 11
When that time comes, this will be said
to this people and to Jerusalem:
From the bare heights a scorching wind blows from the desert on the daughter of my people
—and not to winnow or to cleanse!
12 A wind, full of threats, comes at my command.
Now I myself am going to pronounce sentence on them!

13 'Look, he is advancing like the clouds,
his chariots like a hurricane,
his horses swifter than eagles.
Trouble is coming! We are lost!' 14
Wash your heart clean of wickedness, Jerusalem,
and so be saved.
How long will you harbor in your breast
your pernicious thoughts?
15 For a voice from Dan shouts the news,
proclaims disaster from the highlands of Ephraim.
16 Give warning of it, announce it in Judah,
proclaim it to Jerusalem:
'Enemies are coming from a distant country,
shouting their war cry against the towns of Judah;
17 they surround Jerusalem like watchmen around a field
because she has apostatized from me—it is Yahweh who speaks.
18 Your own behavior and actions
have brought this on you.
This is your fate! How bitter!
How it pierces your heart!'"

19 I am in anguish! I writhe with pain!
Walls of my heart!
My heart is throbbing!
I cannot keep quiet,
for I have heard the trumpet call
and the cry of war.
20 Ruin on ruin is the news:
the whole land is laid waste,
my tents are suddenly destroyed,
in one moment all that sheltered me is gone.
21 How long must I see the standard and hear the trumpet call?
22 "This is because my people are stupid,
they do not know me,
they are slow-witted children,
they have no understanding:
they are clever enough at doing wrong,
but do not know how to do right."

23 I looked to the earth, to see a formless waste;
to the heavens, and their light had gone.

- 24 I looked to the mountains, to see them quaking
and all the heights astir.
- 25 I looked, to see no man at all,
the very birds of heaven had fled.
- 26 I looked, to see the wooded country a wilderness,
all its towns in ruins,
at the presence of Yahweh,
at the presence of his burning anger.
- 27 Yes, thus speaks Yahweh,
"The whole land shall be laid waste,
I will make an end of it once for all;
at which the earth will go into mourning,
and the heavens above grow dark.
For I have spoken and will not change my mind,
I have decided and will not go back on it."
- 29 At the cry "Horsemen and bowmen!"
the whole country takes flight:
some plunge into the thickets,
others scale the rocks;
every town is abandoned,
no one is left there.
- 30 And you, what are you going to do?
You may dress yourself in scarlet,
put on ornaments of gold,
enlarge your eyes with paint
but you make yourself pretty in vain.
Your lovers disdain you,
your life is what they are seeking.
- 31 Yes, I hear screams like those of a woman in labor, anguish like that of a woman giving birth to her first child;
they are the screams of the daughter of Zion, gasping,
hands outstretched,
"Ah, I despair! I am fainting away with murderers surrounding me."

The invasion well deserved

- 1 5 "Rove to and fro through the streets of Jerusalem, look, now, and learn,
search her squares;
if you can find a man,
one man who does right
and seeks the truth,
then I will pardon her,
says Yahweh."
- 3a Yahweh, do not your eyes desire to look on truth?
2 But though they say, "As Yahweh lives," they are, in fact, uttering a false oath.
- 3b You have struck them; they have not felt it.
You have crushed them; they have ignored the lesson.
They have set their faces harder than rock,
they have refused to repent.
- 4 "Only the ordinary people," I thought, "behave stupidly, because they do not know what Yahweh requires,
nor the ruling of their God.

- 5 I will approach the men in power
and speak to them,
for these will know what Yahweh requires,
and the ruling of their God.”
But these, too, had broken the yoke,
had burst the bonds.
- 6 And this is why a lion from the forest strikes them down,
a desert wolf makes havoc of them,
a leopard lurks around their towns:
whoever goes out is torn to pieces—
because of their countless crimes,
their ever increasing apostasies.
- 7 “Why should I pardon you?
Your sons have abandoned me,
to swear by gods that are not gods at all.
I fed them full, and they became adulterers,
they haunted the brothel.
- 8 They were well-fed, lusty stallions,
each neighing for his neighbor’s wife.
- 9 And am I not to punish them for such things
—it is Yahweh who speaks—
or from such a nation
exact my vengeance?
- 10 Scale her terraces! Destroy!
Make an end of her!
Strip off her branches,
Yahweh does not own them.
- 11 Treacherously indeed has she betrayed me,
this House of Israel—it is Yahweh who speaks.
- 12 “They have disowned Yahweh:
they have said, “He is nothing;
no evil will overtake us,
we shall not see sword or famine.
- 13a And the prophets? Nothing but wind;
the word is not in them!”
- 14a Hence—so says Yahweh,
the God of Sabaoth—
- 13b this is what is going to happen to them
- 14b for saying this:
now I will make my words
a fire in your mouth,
and make this people wood,
for the fire to devour.
- 15 Now I will bring on you all a nation from afar, House of Israel
—it is Yahweh who speaks—
an invincible nation,
an ancient nation,
a nation whose tongue you do not know,
whose language you cannot understand.
- 16 Their quiver is an open tomb;
heroes all of them.
- 17 They will devour your harvest and your food,
devour your sons and daughters,
devour your flocks and herds,

devour your vines and fig trees,
bring down your fortified towns
in which you put your trust.

Two supplementary paragraphs

18 "Yet even in those days—it is Yahweh who speaks—I shall not completely destroy you.

19 "And when they ask, 'Why has Yahweh our God done all this to us?' you are to give them this answer, 'As you abandoned me to serve alien gods in your own land, so you must serve aliens in a land that is not your own.'

In a time of famine (?)

20 "Announce this in the House of Jacob, proclaim it in Judah, and say:
21 'Now listen to this,
stupid and thoughtless people
—they have eyes and do not see,
they have ears and do not hear!
22 Have you no fear of me?—it is Yahweh who speaks—
Will you not tremble at my presence, who set the sands as limit to the sea,
as an everlasting barrier it can not pass?
It storms but can do nothing,
its waves may roar but do not pass beyond.
23 But this people
has a rebellious, unruly heart;
they have rebelled—being good at this!
24 They have not said in their hearts:
Come, we must fear Yahweh our God who gives the rain, the early rain
and the later, at the right time of year,
who assures us
of weeks appointed for harvest.
25 Your crimes have made all this go wrong,
your sins have deprived you of these favors.

Resumption of the theme of the invasion

26 'Yes, there are wicked men among my people who spread their nets;
like fowlers they set snares,
but it is men they catch.
27 Like a cage full of birds
so are their houses full of loot;
they have grown rich and powerful because of it,
fat and sleek.
28 Yes, in wickedness they go to any lengths,
they have no respect for rights,
for orphans' rights, to support them;
they do not uphold the cause of the poor.
29 And must I not punish them for such things
—it is Yahweh who speaks—
or from such a nation
exact my vengeance?
30 Monstrous, horrible things
are happening in the land:
31 the prophets prophesy falsely,

the priests teach whatever they please.
 And my people love it!
 But when the end comes, what will you do?

More about the invasion

- 1 6 'Save yourselves, men of Benjamin,
 from the heart of Jerusalem!
 Sound the trumpet in Tekoa!^a Set up a standard on Beth-hac-cherem!
 For disaster threatens from the North,
 an immense calamity.
- 2 Shall we compare the daughter of Zion
 to a tender pasture?
- 3 Shepherds advance on her
 with their flocks.
 They have pitched their tents all around her,
 each grazes the part he chooses.
- 4 Prepare for battle against her!
 To arms! We will launch the attack in broad daylight.
 Despair! The daylight is fading already,
 the evening shadows lengthen.
- 5 To arms! We will launch the attack under cover of dark and destroy her palaces.
- 6 For thus says Yahweh Sabaoth:
 Cut down the trees,
 throw up an earthwork outside Jerusalem:
 she is the City of Falsehood,
 with nothing but oppression in her.
- 7 As a well keeps its water fresh
 so she keeps her wickedness fresh.
 Violence and ruin are what you hear in her,
 diseases and wounds are always before me.
- 8 Be warned, Jerusalem,
 lest I should turn away from you,
 and reduce you to a desert,
 a land without people.
- 9 'Yahweh Sabaoth says this:
 Glean, glean, as a vine is gleaned,
 what is left of Israel;
 like a grape picker pass your hand again
 over the branches! "
- 10 To whom am I to speak,
 whom can I urge to hear?
 Plainly their ears are uncircumcised,
 they cannot listen.
 Plainly the word of Yahweh is for them something contemptible,
 they have no taste for it.
- 11 But I am full of the wrath of Yahweh,
 I am weary of holding it in.
 "Then pour it on the children in the streets,
 and where young men gather, too.
 All shall be taken: husband and wife,
 the graybeard and the man weighed down with years.
- 12 Their houses shall pass to other men,
 so also their fields and their wives.
 Yes, I will stretch my hand

- 13 over those living in this land—it is Yahweh who speaks.
For all, least no less than greatest,
all are out for dishonest gain;
prophet no less than priest,
all practice fraud.
- 14 They dress my people's wound
without concern: 'Peace! Peace!' they say,
but there is no peace.
- 15 They should be ashamed of their abominable deeds
But not they! They feel no shame,
they have forgotten how to blush.
And so as others fall, they too shall fall;
they shall be thrown down when I come to deal with them
—says Yahweh.
- 16 "Yahweh says this:
Put yourselves on the ways of long ago
inquire about the ancient paths:
which was the good way? Take it then,
and you shall find rest.
Instead they have said, 'We will not take it.'
- 17 I posted lookouts on their behalf:
Listen to the sound of the trumpet!
But they answered, 'We will not listen.'
- 18 Then hear, you nations,
and know, assembly,
what I will do to them.
Hear, earth!
- 19 I am bringing a disaster
on this people:
it is the fruit of their apostasy,
since they have not listened to my words and, as for my Law, they have rejected that.
- 20 What do I care about incense imported from Sheba,
or fragrant cane
from a distant country?
Your holocausts are not acceptable,
your sacrifices do not please me.
- 21 Therefore—thus says Yahweh:
In front of this people I will now lay blocks
for them to stumble over;
father as well as son,
neighbor and friend, all shall perish.
- 22 "Yahweh says this:
Now a people is coming from the land of the North,
from the far ends of the earth a mighty nation stirs:
- 23 they are armed with bow and spear,
they are cruel and pitiless;
their noise is like the roaring of the sea;
they are riding horses,
each man equipped for war
on you, daughter of Zion!
- 24 We have heard the news,
our hands fall limp,

anguish has gripped us,
 pain like a woman's labor.
 25 Do not go out into the countryside,
 do not venture on the roads,
 for the enemy's sword is there,
 there is terror on every side.
 26 Wrap yourself in sackcloth, daughter of my people,
 roll in ashes;
 mourn as for an only son,
 a very bitter dirge.
 For on us suddenly
 the destroyer is coming.
 27 "I have appointed you as assayer of my people,
 to learn and to assay how they behave.
 28 They are apostates, all of them, promiscuous slanderers,
 all of them corrupt.
 29 The bellows blast away
 to make the fire burn away the lead.
 In vain: the smelter does his work,
 but the dross is not purged out.
 30 Silver reject, men call them,
 and indeed Yahweh has rejected them!"

B. ORACLES MAINLY IN THE REIGN OF JEHOIAKIM

True worship

a. Against the Temple

1 7 The word that was addressed to Jeremiah by Yahweh, "Go and stand at the 2 gate of the Temple of Yahweh and there proclaim this message. Say, 'Listen to the word of Yahweh, all you men of Judah who come in by these gates to 3 worship Yahweh. 'Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this: Amend your behavior and your actions and I will stay with you here in this place.
 4 Put no trust in delusive words like these: This is the sanctuary of Yahweh, the 5 sanctuary of Yahweh, the sanctuary of Yahweh! 'But if you do amend your 6 behavior and your actions, if you treat each other fairly, 'if you do not exploit the stranger, the orphan and the widow (if you do not shed innocent blood 7 in this place), and if you do not follow alien gods, to your own ruin, 'then here in this place I will stay with you, in the land that long ago I gave to your 8 fathers for ever. 'Yet here you are, trusting in delusive words, to no purpose!
 9 Steal, would you, murder, commit adultery, perjure yourselves, burn incense 10 to Baal, follow alien gods that you do not know?—and then come presenting yourselves in this Temple that bears my name, saying: Now we are safe—safe 11 to go on committing all these abominations! 'Do you take this Temple that bears my name for a robbers' den? I, at any rate, am not blind—it is Yahweh who speaks.
 12 Now go to my place in Shiloh^a where at first I gave my name a home; see 13 what I have done to it because of the wickedness of my people Israel! 'And now, since you have committed all these sins—it is Yahweh who speaks—and have refused to listen when I spoke so urgently, so persistently, or to answer 14 when I called you, 'I will treat this Temple that bears my name, and in which you put your trust, and the place I have given to you and your ancestors, just as 15 I treated Shiloh. 'I will drive you out of my sight, as I drove all your kinsmen, the entire race of Ephraim.'

b. Alien gods

16 "You, for your part, must not intercede for this people, nor raise either plea or 17 prayer on their behalf; do not plead with me, for I will not listen to you. 'Cannot you see what they are doing in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem?
 18 The children collect the wood, the fathers light the fire, the women knead the dough, to make cakes for the Queen of Heaven^b; and, to spite me, they pour 19 libations to alien gods. 'Is it really me they spite—it is Yahweh who speaks—
 20 is it not in fact themselves, to their own confusion? 'Therefore, the Lord Yahweh says this: My anger and my wrath shall be poured out on this place, over man and beast, trees of the countryside, fruits of the soil; it shall burn, and not be quenched.

c. Worship without sincerity

21 "Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this: Add your holocausts to 22 your sacrifices and eat all the meat. 'For when I brought your ancestors out of the land of Egypt, I said nothing to them, gave them no orders, about holocaust 23 and sacrifice. 'These were my orders: Listen to my voice, then I will be your God and you shall be my people. Follow right to the end the way that I mark 24 out for you, and you will prosper. 'But they did not listen, they did not pay attention; they followed the dictates of their own evil hearts, refused to face me, 25 and turned their backs on me. 'From the day your ancestors came out of the land of Egypt until today, day after day I have persistently sent you all my servants 26 the prophets. 'But they have not listened to me, have not paid attention; they 27 have grown stubborn and behaved worse than their ancestors. 'You may say all these words to them: they will not listen to you; you may call them: they will 28 not answer. 'So tell them this, 'Here is the nation that will not listen to the voice of Yahweh its God nor take correction. Sincerity is no more, it has vanished from their mouths.

d. More about idolatrous worship: a threat of exile

29 'Cut off your tresses, throw them down.
 On the bare heights raise a dirge.
 For Yahweh has rejected, has abandoned,
 a brood that he detests.'

30 "Yes, the sons of Judah have done what displeases me—it is Yahweh who speaks. They have put their abominations in the Temple that bears my name, 31 to defile it; 'they have built the high place of Topheth in the Valley of Benhinnom, to burn their sons and daughters; a thing I never commanded, a thing 32 that never entered my thoughts. 'So now the days are coming—it is Yahweh who speaks—when people will no longer talk of Topheth or of the Valley of Ben-hinnom, but of the Valley of Slaughter. Topheth will become a burial ground, 33 for lack of other space; 'the corpses of this people will feed the birds of heaven and the beasts of the earth, and there shall be no one to drive them away. 'I will 34 silence the shouts of rejoicing and mirth, the voices of bridegroom and bride, in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, for the whole land will be 1 reduced to desert. 8 When that time comes—it is Yahweh who speaks—the bones of the kings of Judah, and of the princes, of the priests, of the prophets, 2 of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, will be taken from their tombs. 'They will be spread out before the sun, the moon, the whole array of heaven, whom they have loved and served, followed, consulted and worshiped.^a They will not be 3 gathered or reburied but stay lying on the surface like dung. 'And death will

7 a. The shrine at Shiloh had been destroyed by Philistines. b. Ishtar, the Assyrian goddess of fertility.

seem preferable to life to all the survivors of this wicked race, wherever I have driven them—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.

Threats, lamentations, advice. The perversity of Israel

- 4 "You are to tell them, 'Yahweh says this:
If you fall, can you not stand up again,
if you stray can you never find your way back?
5 Why does this people persist in apostasy,
in continuous apostasy?
They cling to illusion,
they refuse to come back.
6 I have listened attentively, they are not saying what they ought to:
not one repents of his wickedness saying: What have I done?
All go astray as they pursue their course
like a horse charging into battle.
7 Even the stork in the sky knows the appropriate season;
turtledove, swallow, crane,
observe their time of migration.
And my people do not know
the ruling of Yahweh!

The Law as administered by the priests

- 8 'How dare you say: We are wise,
and we possess the Law of Yahweh?
But look how it has been falsified
by the lying pen of the scribes!
9 The wise shall be shamed, caught out, confounded.
Look how they have rejected the word of Yahweh!
So what use is their wisdom to them?

Repetition of an earlier threat

- 10 'So I will give their wives to other men,
their fields to new masters,
for all, least no less than greatest,
all are out for dishonest gain;
prophet no less than priest,
all practice fraud.
11 They dress my people's wound
without concern: Peace! Peace! they say,
but there is no peace.
12 They should be ashamed of their abominable deeds.
But not they! They feel no shame,
they have forgotten how to blush.
And so as others fall, they too shall fall;
they shall be thrown down when I come to deal with them
—says Yahweh.

Threats against Judah the Vine

- 13 'I would like to go harvesting there, says Yahweh.
But there are no grapes on the vine,
no figs on the fig tree:
even the leaves are withered.

This is because I have brought them
ravagers to ravage them.’”

- 14 “Why do we sit still?
Mobilize!
Let us take to the fortified towns
and perish there,
since Yahweh our God wants us to perish:
giving us poisoned water to drink
because we have sinned against him.
- 15 We were hoping for peace—no good came of it!
For the time of healing—nothing but terror!
- 16 From Dan you can hear
the snorting of their horses;
at the sound of their stallions’ neighing
the whole countryside quakes:
they come to devour the land and all it holds,
the town and those that live in it.”
- 17 “Yes, now I send you serpents, adders,
against which no charm exists;
they will bite you—it is Yahweh who speaks—
- 18 incurably.

A lamentation of the prophet during a famine

- “Sorrow overtakes me,
my heart fails me.
- 19 Listen, the cry of the daughter of my people
sounds throughout the land, ‘Yahweh no longer in Zion?
Her King no longer in her?’
(Why have they provoked me with their carved images, with these Nothings from foreign countries?)
- 20 ‘The harvest is over, summer at an end,
and we have not been saved!’
- 21 The wound of the daughter of my people wounds me too,
all looks dark to me, terror grips me.
- 22 Is there not balm in Gilead any more?
Is there no doctor there?
Then why does it make no progress,
this cure of the daughter of my people?
- 23 Who will turn my head into a fountain,
and my eyes into a spring for tears,
so that I may weep all day, all night,
for all the dead out of the daughter of my people?

The moral corruption of Judah

- $\frac{1}{2}$ 9 “Who will find me, a wayfarer’s shelter in the desert,
for me to quit my people,
and leave them far behind?
For all of them are adulterers,
a conspiracy of traitors.
- $\frac{2}{3}$ They bend their tongue like a bow;
not truth but falsehood
predominates in the land;
yes, they go from crime to crime.

3 But Yahweh, they do not acknowledge him.
 4 Let each be on his guard against his friend,
 be mistrustful of your brother,
 for every brother is a very Jacob,
 and every friend a diligent slanderer.
 5 Each deceives the other,
 they do not speak the truth,
 they have accustomed their tongues to lying,
 6 they are corrupt, incapable of repentance.
 Fraud after fraud! Deceit after deceit!
 They refuse to acknowledge Yahweh.
 7 And so—Yahweh Sabaoth says this:
 Look, I will now test them in the crucible
 —but how am I to deal with their wickedness?
 8 Their tongue is a deadly arrow,
 the words they utter are deceitful;
 'Peace!' each says to his neighbor,^a while in his heart plotting a trap for him.
 9 And am I not to punish them for such things
 —it is Yahweh who speaks—
 or from such a nation
 exact my vengeance?

Lamentation in Zion

9 "Raise the wail and lamentation for the mountains, 10 the dirge for the desert pastures,
 for they have been burned: no one passes there,
 the sound of flocks is heard no more.
 Birds of the sky and animals,
 all have fled, all are gone.
 10 I mean to make Jerusalem a heap of ruins, 11 a jackal's lair,
 and the towns of Judah
 an uninhabited wasteland."

11 Who is wise enough to understand this? Who has been charged by Yahweh's 12 own mouth to tell.

why the land lies in ruins,
 burned like the desert where no one passes?

12 Yahweh has said, "This is because they have forsaken my Law which I put 13 before them and have not listened to my voice or followed it, but have followed
 14 the dictates of their own stubborn hearts, followed the Baals as their ancestors
 15 taught them. And so this is what Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel says:
 16 Now I am going to give this people wormwood for their food and poisoned water to drink. I am going to scatter them throughout nations unknown to their ancestors or to them; and I am going to pursue them with the sword until I have exterminated them."

16 You, there! Call the mourning women! Let them come!
 17 Send for those who are best at it! Let them come!
 18 Let them lose no time in raising the lament for us!
 Let our eyes rain tears,
 our eyelids run with weeping!
 19 Yes, the wail is to be heard from Zion,
 "What ruin is ours,
 what utter shame!"

For we must leave the land,
abandon our homes!"

19 And you, women, now hear the word of Yahweh,
20 let your ears take in the word his own mouth speaks.
Teach your daughters how to wail,
teach one another what dirge to sing,
20 "Death has climbed in at our windows,
21 and made its way into our palaces;
it has cut down the children in the street,
the youths in the square.
21 Men's corpses lie
22 like dung in the open field, like sheaves left by the reaper,
with no one to gather them."

True wisdom

22 Thus says Yahweh,
23 "Let the sage boast no more of his wisdom,
nor the valiant of his valor,
nor the rich man of his riches!
23 But if anyone wants to boast, let him boast of this:
of understanding and knowing me.
For I am Yahweh, I rule with kindness,
justice and integrity on earth;
yes, these are what please me
—it is Yahweh who speaks."

Circumcision, a false guarantee

24 "See, the days are coming—it is Yahweh who speaks—when I am going to 25 punish all who are circumcised only in the flesh: ^aEgypt, Judah, the sons of 26 Ammon, Moab, and all the Crop-Heads^b who live in the desert. For all these nations, and the whole House of Israel too, are uncircumcised at heart."

Idols and the true God

¹/₂ 10 Listen, House of Israel, to the word that Yahweh addresses to you. ¹ Thus
says Yahweh:

"Do not adopt the ways of the nations
or take alarm at the heavenly signs, alarmed though the nations may be at them.
3 Yes, the Dread of the peoples is a nothing,
wood, nothing more, cut out of a forest,
worked with a blade by a carver's hand,
4a then embellished with silver and gold 9 —silver leaf from Tarshish, and gold from Ophir—
work of a carver and a goldsmith's hand:
all some craftsman's work;
they dress them up in violet and purple;
4b they fix them with nail and hammer to prevent them from falling.
5 Scarecrows in a melon patch, and dumb as these,
they have to be carried, cannot walk themselves.
Have no fear of them: they can do no harm
—nor any good either!"

- 6 Yahweh, there is no one like you,
so great are you,
so great your mighty name.
- 7 Who would not revere you, King of nations?
Yes, this is your due.
Since of all the wise among the nations,
and in all their kingdoms,
there is not a single one like you.
- 8 The whole lot of them are brutish and stupid:
the teaching given by these Nothings is void of sense.
- 10 But Yahweh is the true God.
He is the living God,
the everlasting King.
The earth quakes when he is wrathful,
the nations cannot endure his fury.
- 11 (“Tell them this, ‘The gods who did not make the heavens and the earth, will vanish from the earth and from under the heavens.’”)
- 12 By his power he made the earth,
by his wisdom set the world firm,
by his discernment spread out the heavens.
- 13 When he thunders
there is a tumult of water in the heavens;
he raises clouds from the boundaries of earth,
makes the lightning flash for the downpour,
and brings the wind from his storehouse.
- 14 At this all men stand stupefied, uncomprehending,
every goldsmith blushes for the idol he has made,
since his images are nothing but delusion,
with no breath in them.
- 15 They are a Nothing, a laughable production;
when the time comes for them to be punished, they will vanish.
- 16 “The Portion of Jacob” is not like these,
for he is the maker of everything,
and Israel is the tribe that is his heritage.
His name is Yahweh Sabaoth.

Panic in the country

- 17 Pack up! Flee the country, you the besieged!
- 18 For Yahweh says this,
“Now I will throw out
the inhabitants of the land
this time,
and bring distress on them,
to see if they will find me then!”
- 19 I despair for this wound of mine!
My injury is incurable!
I told myself
this was an affliction that could be borne,
but now my tent is destroyed,
all my ropes are snapped,
my sons have left me and are no more;
no one is left to put my tent up again,
or to hang the side cloths.
- 20

- 21 The shepherds are the ones who have been stupid:
they have not searched for Yahweh.
This is why they have not prospered and why their whole flock has been dispersed.
- 22 News! News has come!
A mighty uproar coming from the land of the North to reduce the towns of Judah to desert, to a jackal's lair.

A prayer of Jeremiah

- 23 Well you know, Yahweh,
the course of man is not in his control,
nor is it in man's power as he goes his way to guide his steps.
- 22 Correct us, Yahweh, gently,
not in your anger or you will reduce us to nothing.
- 25 Pour out your anger on the pagans,
who do not acknowledge you,
and on those races
that do not call on your name,
for they have devoured Jacob and made an end of him,
and reduced his home to desolation.

Jeremiah and observance of the covenant

- ¹/₂ 1 The word that was addressed to Jeremiah by Yahweh, "Speak to the men ³ of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem. Tell them, 'Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this: Cursed be the man who will not listen to the words
⁴ of this covenant which I ordained for your ancestors when I brought them out of the furnace of iron, out of the land of Egypt. Listen to my voice, I told them, carry out all my orders, then you shall be my people and I will be your God, ⁵ to confirm the oath I swore to your fathers, that I would give them a land where ⁶ milk and honey flow—as it still does today.'" I replied, "Yahweh, I will." Then Yahweh said to me, "Proclaim all this in the towns of Judah and in the streets ⁷ of Jerusalem: 'Listen to the words of this covenant and obey them. For when I brought your ancestors out of the land of Egypt, I solemnly warned them, ⁸ and have persistently warned them until today: Listen to my voice. But they did not listen, did not pay attention; everyone followed the dictates of his own evil heart. So, I fulfilled against them all the words of this covenant which I had ordained for them to obey and which they had not obeyed.'"
- ⁹ Yahweh said to me, "Plainty there is conspiracy among the men of Judah ¹⁰ and the citizens of Jerusalem. They have reverted to the crimes of their ancestors who refused to listen to my words: they too are following alien gods and serving them. The House of Israel and the House of Judah have broken ¹¹ my covenant which I made with their ancestors. And so—Yahweh says this—
I will now bring them a disaster which they cannot escape; if they invoke me ¹² I will not listen to them. The towns of Judah and the citizens of Jerusalem can go and invoke the gods to whom they burn incense, but these will be no help at all to them in the time of their distress.
- ¹³ "For you have as many gods
as you have towns, O Judah.
You have built as many incense altars to Baal
as Jerusalem has streets.
- ¹⁴ "You, for your part, must not intercede for this people, nor raise either plea or prayer on their behalf, for I will not listen when they call to me in the time of their distress.

Rebuke to the frequenters of the Temple

- 15 "What is my beloved doing in my house?
She is playing the hypocrite!
Can vows and consecrated meat rid you of your guilt?
Am I to make you clean because of this?
- 16 A spreading olive tree so fair, so sturdy,
was Yahweh's name for you.
With the roar of a great wind
he sets its foliage on fire;
its branches burn.
- 17 "And Yahweh Sabaoth, who planted you, has decreed disaster for you because of the crime the House of Israel and the House of Judah have committed, provoking me by burning incense to Baal."

Jeremiah persecuted in his own town

- 18 Yahweh revealed it to me; I was warned. Yahweh, that was when you opened 6 my eyes to their scheming. 12 "Yes, even your own brothers and your own family play you false. Behind your back, they too criticize you openly. Put no 19 reliance on them when they seem to be friendly." 11 I for my part was like a trustful lamb being led to the slaughterhouse, not knowing the schemes they were plotting against me, "Let us destroy the tree in its strength, let us cut him off from the land of the living, so that his name may be quickly forgotten!"
- 20 But you, Yahweh Sabaoth, who pronounce a just sentence,
who probe the loins and heart,
let me see the vengeance you will take on them,
for I have committed my cause to you.
- 21 This is how Yahweh has spoken against the men of Anathoth who are determined to kill me and have warned me, "Do not prophesy in the name of 22 Yahweh or you will die at our hands!" "This is how I will punish them. Their 23 young men shall die by the sword, their sons and daughters by famine. No one will be left when I bring disaster on the men of Anathoth, when the year comes for their punishment."

The prosperity of the wicked

- 1 12 You have right on your side, Yahweh,
when I complain about you.
But I would like to debate a point of justice with you.
Why is it that the wicked live so prosperously?
Why do scoundrels enjoy peace?
- 2 You plant them, they take root,
and flourish, and even bear fruit.
You are always on their lips,
yet so far from their hearts.
- 3 You know me, Yahweh, you see me,
you probe my heart, it is in your hands.
Drag them off like sheep for the slaughterhouse,
reserve them for the day of butchery.
- 4 (How long will the land be in mourning, and the grass wither all over the countryside? The animals and birds are dying as a result of the wickedness of the inhabitants.)

For they say,
"God does not see our behavior."

- 5 If you find it exhausting to race against men on foot,
 how will you compete against horses?
 If you are not secure in a peaceful country,
 how will you manage in the thickets along the Jordan?

Yahweh laments his ravaged inheritance

- 7 "I have abandoned my house,
 left my heritage,
 I have delivered what I dearly loved
 into the hands of its enemies.
 8 For me my heritage has become a lion in the forest,
 it roars at me ferociously:
 so I now hate it.
 9 Or is my heritage a speckled bird
 for the birds to flock on her thus from all directions?
 Come on, all you wild beasts, gather around,
 fall on the quarry!
 10 Many shepherds have laid my vineyard waste,
 have trampled down my inheritance, reducing my pleasant inheritance
 to a deserted wilderness.
 11 They have made it a mournful, desolate place,
 desolate before me.
 The whole land has been devastated
 and no one takes it to heart.
 12 The devastators have arrived on all the bare heights of the desert (for Yahweh wields a sword that devours):
 from end to end of the land
 there is no peace for any living thing.
 13 Wheat they have sown, thorns they reap:
 they have worn themselves out, to no profit.
 They are disappointed in their harvests,
 through the fury of Yahweh.

The neighboring peoples: their judgment and salvation

- 14 "Thus says Yahweh: As for all my evil neighbors who have laid hands on the heritage I granted my people Israel I will now tear them from their countries.
 15 (But I will tear the House of Judah out of their hands.) •But, once torn out, I will take pity on them again and bring them back each to his heritage, each to his own 16 country. •And if they take care to learn my people's way and to swear by my name, 'As Yahweh lives,' as my people learned from them to swear by Baal, 17 then they shall have a place among my people. •But if any nation refuses to listen, I will tear it up by the roots and destroy it—it is Yahweh who speaks."

The symbol of the loincloth

- 1 13 Yahweh said this to me, 'Go and buy a linen loincloth and put it around 2 your waist. But do not dip it in water.' •And so, as Yahweh had ordered, 3 I bought a loincloth and put it around my waist. •A second time the word of 4 Yahweh was spoken to me, "Take the loincloth that you have bought and are wearing around your waist; up! Go to the Euphrates and hide it in a hole in the 5 rock." •So I went and hid it near the Euphrates as Yahweh had ordered me.
 6 Many days afterward Yahweh said to me, "Get up and go to the Euphrates and fetch 7 the loincloth I ordered you to hide there." •So I went to Euphrates, and I searched, and I took the loincloth from the place where I had hidden it. The 8 loincloth was spoiled, good for nothing. Then the word of Yahweh was addressed 9 to me, "Thus says Yahweh: In the same way I will spoil the arrogance of 10 Judah and Jerusalem. This evil people who refuse to listen to my words, who follow the dictates of their own hard hearts, who have followed alien gods, and served them and worshiped them, let them become like this loincloth, good 11 for nothing. For just as a loincloth clings to a man's waist, so I had intended the whole House of Judah to cling to me—it is Yahweh who speaks—to be my people, my glory, my honor and my boast. But they have not listened.

The symbol of the shattered wine jugs

12 "Tell this people, 'Any jug can be filled with wine.' And if they answer you, 13 'Do you think we do not know that any jug can be filled with wine?' you are to say, 'Thus says Yahweh: I am now going to fill all the inhabitants of this land with drunkenness, the kings who occupy the throne of David, the priests 14 and the prophets, and all the citizens of Jerusalem. And I will smash them one against the other, father and son together—it is Yahweh who speaks.
 Mercilessly, relentlessly, pitilessly, I will destroy them.'"

A vision of exile

15 Listen, pay attention, away with pride—
 Yahweh is speaking!
 16 Give glory to Yahweh our God before he brings darkness down and your feet stumble
 on the darkened mountains.
 You hope for light,
 but he will turn it into deep shadow,
 change it into gloom.
 17 If you do not listen to this warning,
 I will bewail your pride in secret,
 tears will flood my eyes,
 for Yahweh's flock is led into captivity.

Jehoiachin threatened

18 Tell the king and the queen mother,
 "Sit in a lower place,
 since your glorious crown
 has fallen from your head."
 19 The towns of the Negeb are shut off^a with no one to give access to them.
 All Judah has been deported,
 deported wholesale.

An admonition to impenitent Jerusalem

20 "Raise your eyes, Jerusalem, and look at these now coming from the North.
 Where is the flock once entrusted to you,
 the flock that was your boast?
 21 What will you say when they descend on you as conquerors,
 those you yourself taught
 to be your friends?
 Will not anguish grip you
 like a woman in labor?
 You may ask yourself,
 22 'Why has all this happened to me?'

Because of your great wickedness your skirts have been pulled up,^b and you have been manhandled.
 23 Can the Ethiopian change his skin,
 or the leopard his spots?
 And you, can you do what is right,
 you so accustomed to wrong?
 24 I will scatter you like chaff driven by the desert wind.
 25 This is your share, the wage of your apostasy.
 This comes from me—it is Yahweh who speaks—
 because you have forgotten me
 and put your trust in a Delusion.
 26 I will also pull your skirts up as high as your face and let your shame be seen.
 27 Oh! Your adulteries, your shrieks of pleasure, your vile prostitution!
 On the hills, in the countryside,
 I have seen your Abominations.
 Woe to you, Jerusalem, unclean still!
 How much longer will you go on like this?"

The great drought

1 14 The word of Yahweh that was addressed to Jeremiah on the occasion of the drought.
 2 "Judah is in mourning,
 her towns are disconsolate,
 they sink to the ground;
 a cry goes up from Jerusalem.
 3 The nobles send the lesser men for water,
 they come to the cisterns,
 and find no water,
 and return with their pitchers empty.
 4 The ground refuses its yield,
 for the country has had no rain;
 in dismay the plowmen cover their heads.^a 5 Even the doe abandons her newborn fawn in open country,
 for there is no grass;
 6 the wild donkeys standing on the bare heights
 gasp for air like jackals:
 their eyes grow dim
 for lack of pasture."
 7 If our crimes are witness against us,
 then, Yahweh, for your name's sake act!
 Yes, our apostasies have been many,
 we have sinned against you!
 8 Yahweh, hope of Israel,
 its savior in time of distress,
 why are you like a stranger in this land,
 like a traveler who stays only for a night?
 9 Why are you like someone bemused,

13 a. Probably by the Edomites. b. Men were led naked into captivity, women with their skirts above their knees.

14 a. Sign of mourning.

like a warrior who has no power to rescue?
 Yet, Yahweh, you are in our midst,
 we are called by your name.
 Do not desert us!

10 Yahweh says this regarding this people, "They take such pleasure in wandering, they cannot control their feet!" But Yahweh accepts them no longer;
 11 now he recalls their crime and will punish their sins. ·Yahweh said to me,
 12 "Do not intercede for this people or their welfare. ·If they fast, I will not listen to their plea; if they offer holocaust and oblation, I will not accept them. Rather, I mean to exterminate them by sword, famine and pestilence."

13 "Ah, Lord Yahweh," I answered, "here are the prophets telling them, 'You will not see the sword, famine will not touch you; I promise you unbroken peace in this place.'"

14 Then Yahweh said to me, "The prophets are prophesying lies in my name; I have not sent them, I gave them no orders, I never spoke to them. Delusive visions, hollow predictions, daydreams of their own, that is what they prophesy
 15 to you. ·Therefore, Yahweh says this: The prophets who prophesy in my name when I have not sent them, and tell you there will be no sword or famine in this land, these same prophets are doomed to perish by sword and famine.
 16 And as for the people to whom they prophesy, they will be tossed into the streets of Jerusalem, victims of famine and the sword, with not a soul to bury them: neither them nor their wives, nor their sons, nor their daughters. I will pour down on them their own wickedness.

17 "Say this word to them,
 'Tears flood my eyes
 night and day, unceasingly,
 since a crushing blow falls on the daughter of my people,
 a most grievous injury.

18 If I go into the countryside,
 there lie men killed by the sword;
 if I go into the city,
 I see people sick with hunger;
 even prophets and priests
 plow the land: they are at their wit's end.'"

19 "Have you rejected Judah altogether?
 Does your very soul revolt at Zion?
 Why have you struck us down without hope of cure?
 We were hoping for peace—no good came of it!
 For the moment of cure—nothing but terror!

20 Yahweh, we do confess our wickedness
 and our fathers' guilt:

we have indeed sinned against you.
 21 For your name's sake do not reject us,
 do not dishonor the throne of your glory.
 Remember us; do not break your covenant with us.

22 Can any of the pagan Nothings make it rain?
 Can the heavens produce showers?
 No, it is you, Yahweh.

O our God, you are our hope,
 since it is you who do all this."

¹ 15 Yahweh said to me, "Even if Moses and Samuel were standing in my presence I could not warm to this people! Drive them out of my sight;
² away with them! ·And if they ask you, 'Where shall we go?' tell them this, 'Yahweh says this:

Those for the plague, to the plague;
 those for the sword, to the sword;
 those for famine, to famine;
 those for captivity, into captivity!

³ Four kinds of doom I consign them to: the sword to kill, the dogs to drag away,
⁴ the birds of heaven and beasts of earth to devour and to destroy. I will make them an object of horror to all the kingdoms of the earth, because of Manasseh son of Hezekiah, king of Judah, for his misdeeds in Jerusalem.

The horrors of war

⁵ "Who is there to pity you, Jerusalem, who to grieve for you,
 who to pause
 and ask how you are?
⁶ You yourself have rejected me—it is Yahweh who speaks—
 you have turned your back on me;
 so I have stretched my hand over you to destroy you.
 I am tired of relenting.
⁷ And so I have winnowed them with a fork
 in the towns of their land.
 I deprive my people of children, I exterminate them
 since they refuse to leave their ways.
⁸ Their widows have become more than the sand of the seas.
 On the mothers of young warriors
 I bring the destroyer in broad daylight.
 Suddenly I bring down anguish and terror on them.
⁹ The mother of seven sons grows faint,
 and breathes her last.
 It is still day, but already her sun has set,
 shame and disgrace are hers . . .
 And the remainder of them I shall hand over to their enemies to be cut to pieces—it is Yahweh who speaks."

The call of Jeremiah renewed

¹⁰ Woe is me, my mother, for you have borne me to be a man of strife and of dissension for all the land.
 I neither lend nor borrow,
 yet all of them curse me.
¹¹ Truthfully, Yahweh, have I not done my best to serve you, interceded with you for my enemy
 in the time of his disaster, his distress?
^{15a} You know I have!
¹² Can a man break iron,
 iron from the north, or bronze?
¹³ "Your wealth and your treasures
 I will hand over to plunder,
 as payment for all your sins
 throughout your territory.
¹⁴ I will enslave you to your enemies
 in a country which you do not know,
 for my anger has kindled a fire
 that will burn you up."
^{15b} Yahweh, remember me, take care of me,

and avenge me on my persecutors.
 Your anger is very slow: do not let me be snatched away.
 Realize that I suffer insult for your sake.
 16 When your words came, I devoured them:
 your word was my delight
 and the joy of my heart;
 for I was called by your name,
 Yahweh, God of Sabaoth.
 17 I never took pleasure in sitting in scoffers' company;
 with your hand on me I held myself aloof,
 since you had filled me with indignation.
 18 Why is my suffering continual,
 my wound incurable, refusing to be healed?
 Do you mean to be for me a deceptive stream with inconstant waters?

19 To which Yahweh replied,
 "If you come back,
 I will take you back into my service;
 and if you utter noble, not despicable, thoughts,
 you shall be as my own mouth.
 They will come back to you,
 but you must not go back to them.
 20 I will make you
 a bronze wall fortified against this people.
 They will fight against you
 but they will not overcome you, because I am with you to save you and to deliver you
 —it is Yahweh who speaks.
 21 I mean to deliver you from the hands of the wicked and redeem you from the clutches of the violent."

The prophet's life is itself symbolic

- 1 16 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows:
 2 "You must not take a wife or have son or daughter in this place. •For 3 Yahweh says this regarding the sons and daughters to be born in this place, about 4 the mothers who give birth to them, and about the fathers who beget them in this land: •They will die of deadly diseases, unlamented and unburied; they will be like dung spread on the ground; they will meet their end by sword and famine, and their corpses will be food for the birds of heaven and the beasts of earth.
 5 "Yes, Yahweh says this: Go into no house where there is mourning, do not go to lament or grieve with them; for I have withdrawn my peace from 6 this people—it is Yahweh who speaks—have withdrawn love and pity. •High or low, they will die in this land, without burial or lament; there will be no gashing, 7 no shaving of the head for them. •No bread will be broken for the mourner to comfort him for the dead; no cup of consolation will be offered him for father or for mother.
 8 "And do not enter a house where there is feasting, to sit with them and 9 eat and drink. •For Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this: Now before your eyes, in your own days, I will silence the shouts of rejoicing and mirth, and the voices of bridegroom and bride.
 10 "When you tell this people all these words and they ask you, 'Why has Yahweh decreed this appalling disaster for us? What is our crime? What sin have 11 we committed against Yahweh our God?' •then you are to answer, 'It is because your ancestors abandoned me—it is Yahweh who speaks—and followed alien gods, and served and worshiped them. They abandoned me and did not keep my Law.

 12 And you for your part have behaved even worse than your ancestors. Look, each of you follows the dictates of his hardened, wicked heart and will not listen to 13 me. ‘And so, I am going to eject you from this land into a country unknown to you and to your ancestors; there you will serve alien gods, day and night, for I shall show you no more favor.’

The return of the scattered Israelites 14 “See, then, that the days are coming—it is Yahweh who speaks—when people will no longer say, ‘As Yahweh lives who brought the sons of Israel out of 15 the land of Egypt!’ ‘but, ‘As Yahweh lives who brought the sons of Israel out of the land of the North and back from all the countries to which he had dispersed them.’ I will bring them back to the very soil I gave their ancestors.

The invasion foretold

16 “I will now send many fishermen—it is Yahweh who speaks—and these will fish them up; next, I will send many huntsmen, and these will hunt them
 17 out of every mountain, every hill, out of the holes in the rocks. ‘For my eyes watch all their ways, these are not hidden from me, and their guilt does not 18 escape my gaze. ‘I will requite their guilt and their sin twice over, since they have polluted my land with the corpses of their Horrors, and filled my heritage with their Abominations.”

The conversion of the nations

19 Yahweh, my strength, my stronghold,
 my refuge in the day of distress!
 To you the nations will come from the confines of earth and say,
 “Our fathers inherited nothing but Delusion, Nothings void of all power.
 20 Can man make his own gods?
 If so, these are not gods!”
 21 “Now listen, I am going to make them acknowledge, this time I am going to make them acknowledge my hand and my might;
 and then they will know that Yahweh is my name.

Judah's contaminated worship

1 17 “The sin of Judah is written with an iron pen,
 engraved with a diamond point
 on the tablet of their heart and on the horns of their altars,
 2 as evidence against them
 (their altars and their sacred poles, by every spreading tree, on the high hills, 3 on the mountains, in the open countryside).

“Your wealth and your treasures
 I will hand over to plunder
 as payment for all your sins
 throughout your territory.
 You will have to relinquish your heritage
 which I gave you;
 4 I will enslave you to your enemies
 in a country which you do not know,
 for my anger has kindled a fire
 that will burn for ever.

A group of wisdom sayings

- 5 "Yahweh says this:
"A curse on the man who puts his trust in man,
who relies on things of flesh,
whose heart turns from Yahweh.
6 He is like dry scrub in the wastelands:
if good comes, he has no eyes for it,
he settles in the parched places of the wilderness,
a salt land, uninhabited.
7 "A blessing on the man who puts his trust in Yahweh,
with Yahweh for his hope.
8 He is like a tree by the waterside that thrusts its roots to the stream:
when the heat comes it feels no alarm,
its foliage stays green;
it has no worries in a year of drought,
and never ceases to bear fruit.
9 "The heart is more devious than any other thing,
perverse too: who can pierce its secrets?
10 I, Yahweh, search to the heart,
I probe the loins,
to give each man what his conduct
and his actions deserve.
11 "The partridge will hatch eggs it has not laid.
Similarly, the man who wins his wealth unjustly:
his days half done, he must leave it, proving a fool after all."

Confidence in the Temple and in Yahweh

- 12 A glorious throne, set high from the beginning,
such is our Holy Place.
13 Hope of Israel, Yahweh!
All who abandon you will be put to shame,
those who turn from you will be uprooted from the land,
since they have abandoned the fountain of living water.

A prayer for vengeance

- 14 Heal me, Yahweh, and I shall be really healed,
save me, and I shall be saved,
for you alone are my hope.
15 Look, they keep saying to me,
"Where is the word of Yahweh? Let it come true then!" 16 But I, I have never urged you to do evil,
the day of disaster was no desire of mine,
this you know;
what came from my lips was not concealed from you.
17 Do not be a terror to me,
you, my refuge in the day of disaster.
18 Let my persecutors be confounded, not I,
let them, not me, be terrified.
On them bring the day of disaster,
destroy them, destroy them twice over!

Observance of the sabbath

19 Yahweh said this to me, "Go and stand at the Gate of the Sons of the 20 People by which the kings of Judah go in and out—and at all the gates of 21 Jerusalem. 'Say to them, 'Listen to the word of Yahweh, you kings of Judah, 22 all you people of Judah too, and all you citizens of Jerusalem who pass
 23 through these gates. 'Yahweh says this: As you value your lives, on no 24 account carry a burden on the sabbath day or bring it in through the gates of 25 Jerusalem. 'Bring no burden out of your houses on the sabbath day, and do no 26 work. Keep the sabbath day holy, as I commanded your ancestors. 'They would 27 not hear, would not pay attention, grew so stubborn they would not listen, and would not accept instruction. 'But if you listen carefully to me—it is Yahweh who speaks—and bring no burden in through the gates of this city on that day, 'then, through the gates of this city, kings occupying the throne of David will continue to make their entry, mounted on chariots and horses, they and their ministers, with the men of Judah and the citizens of Jerusalem. And this city will be inhabited for ever. 'They will come from the towns of Judah, from the districts around Jerusalem, from the land of Benjamin, from the lowlands, from the highlands, from the Negeb, to offer holocaust and sacrifice, oblation, incense and thanksgiving sacrifice in the Temple of Yahweh. 'But if you do not listen to my command to keep the sabbath day holy, and not to enter the gates of Jerusalem with burdens on the sabbath day, then I will set fire to its gates; it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem and not be quenched.'"

Jeremiah visits the potter

1 18 The word that was addressed to Jeremiah by Yahweh, "Get up and make 2 your way down to the potter's house; there I shall let you hear what I have 3 to say." 'So I went down to the potter's house; and there he was, working at the 4 wheel. 'And whenever the vessel he was making came out wrong, as happens with the clay handled by potters, he would start afresh and work it into another vessel, 5 as potters do. 'Then this word of Yahweh was addressed to me, "House of Israel, 6 can not I do to you what this potter does?—it is Yahweh who speaks. Yes, as 7 the clay is in the potter's hand, so you are in mine, House of Israel. 'On occasion,
 I decree for some nation, for some kingdom, that I will tear up, knock down, 8 destroy; 'but if this nation, against which I have pronounced sentence, abandons its wickedness, I then change my mind about the evil which I had intended to 9 inflict on it. 'On another occasion, I decree for some nation, for some kingdom, 10 that I will build up and plant; 'but if that nation does what displeases me, refusing to listen to my voice, I then change my mind about the good which 11 I had intended to confer on it. 'So now, say this to the men of Judah and the citizens of Jerusalem, 'Yahweh says this: Listen, I have been preparing a disaster for you, I have been working out a plan against you. So now, each one of you, turn back from your evil ways, amend your conduct and actions.' 12 They, however, will say, 'What is the use of talking? We prefer to do as we please; we mean to behave, each of us, as his wicked heart dictates.'

Israel repudiates Yahweh

13 "Therefore—Yahweh says this:
 Ask, if you will, among the nations
 if anyone has heard anything like this.
 She has done a deed of horror,
 the Virgin of Israel.
 14 Does the snow of Lebanon
 vanish from the lofty crag?
 Do the proud waters run dry,
 so coolly flowing?

- 15 And yet my people have forgotten me!
They burn their incense to a Nothing!
They have lost their footing in their ways,
on the roads of former times,
to walk in tortuous paths,
a way unmarked.
- 16 They will make their country desolate,
everlastingly derided:
every passer-by will be appalled at it and shake his head.
- 17 Like the east wind, I will scatter them
before the enemy.
I will turn my back to them and not my face
on the day of their disaster."

A plot against Jeremiah

- 18 "Come on," they said, "let us concoct a plot against Jeremiah; the priest will not run short of instruction without him, nor the sage of advice, nor the prophet of the word. Come on, let us hit at him with his own tongue; let us listen carefully to every word he says."
- 19 Listen to me, Yahweh,
hear what my adversaries are saying.
20 Should evil be returned for good?
(For they are digging a pit for me.)
Remember how I stood in your presence to plead on their behalf,
to turn your wrath away from them.
- 21 Then hand their sons over to famine,
abandon them to the edge of the sword.
May their wives become childless and widowed.
May their husbands die of plague,
their young men be cut down by the sword in battle.
- 22 Let cries re-echo from their houses
as you bring raiders suddenly on them.
For they have dug a pit to catch me,
they have laid snares to trap my feet.
- 23 But you, Yahweh,
know all their murderous plots against me.
Do not forgive their crime,
do not efface their sin from your sight.
Keep their destruction always in mind,
when the time for your anger comes deal with them.

The broken jug and the altercation with Pashhur

- 1 19 Then Yahweh said to Jeremiah, "Go and buy an earthenware jug. Take 2 some of the elders of the people and some priests with you. 'Go out toward the Valley of Ben-hinnom, as far as the entry of the Gate of the 3 Potsherd. There proclaim the words I shall speak to you. 'You are to say, 'Kings of Judah, citizens of Jerusalem! Listen to the word of Yahweh!
Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this: I am bringing down such a disaster 4 on this place that the ears of every one who hears of it will ring. 'This is because they have abandoned me, have profaned this place, have offered incense here to alien gods which neither they, nor their ancestors, nor the kings of Judah, ever 5 knew before. They have filled this place with the blood of the innocent. 'They have built high places for Baal to burn their sons there, which I had never

6 ordered or decreed; which had never entered my thoughts. ·So now the days are coming—it is Yahweh who speaks—when people will no longer call this place Topheth, or the Valley of Ben-hinnom, but Valley of Slaughter.
 7 Because of this place, I mean to drain^a Judah and Jerusalem of sound advice; I will make them fall by the sword before their enemies, fall by the hand of people determined to kill them; I will give their corpses as food to the birds of heaven
 8 and the beasts of earth. ·And I will make this city a desolation, a derision; every passer-by will be appalled at it, and whistle in amazement at such calamity.
 9 I will make them eat the flesh of their own sons and daughters: they shall eat each other during the siege, in the shortage to which their enemies, in their determination to kill them, will reduce them.’

10 “You are to break this jug in front of the men who are with you, ·and say
 11 to them, ‘Yahweh Sabaoth says this: I am going to break this people and this city just as one breaks a potter’s pot, irreparably.

12 “‘Topheth will become a burial ground, for lack of other space. ·That is how I will treat this place—it is Yahweh who speaks. And I mean to make this city
 13 like Topheth; ·the houses of Jerusalem and those of the kings of Judah will be unclean,^b like this place Topheth: all these houses on the roofs of which they offered incense to the whole array of heaven and poured their libations to alien gods.’”

14 When Jeremiah came back from Topheth where Yahweh had sent him to prophesy, he went and stood in the court of the Temple of Yahweh and addressed
 15 all the people. ·“Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this, ‘Yes, I am going to bring down every disaster I have threatened on this city and on all its outlying towns, since they have grown so stubborn and refused to listen to my words.’”

1 20 Now the priest Pashhur son of Immer, who was in charge of the police in
 2 the Temple of Yahweh, heard Jeremiah making this prophecy. ·Pashhur had Jeremiah the prophet beaten and then put in the stocks at the Gate of Benjamin,
 3 the upper gate leading into the Temple of Yahweh. ·Next day, Pashhur had Jeremiah taken out of the stocks; Jeremiah said to him, “Not Pashhur but Terror
 4 is Yahweh’s name for you. ·For Yahweh says this, ‘I am going to hand you over to terror, you and all your friends; they shall fall by the sword of their enemies; your own eyes shall see it. The whole of Judah, too, I will hand over to the king of Babylon; he will carry them off captives to Babylon and put them
 5 to the sword. ·And all the wealth of this city, all its stores, all its valuables, all the treasures of the kings of Judah, I will hand over to their enemies who will
 6 plunder them, round them up and carry them off to Babylon. ·As for you, Pashhur, and your whole household, you shall go into captivity; you shall go to Babylon; there you will die, and there be buried, you and all your friends to whom you have prophesied lies.’”

Selections from the “Confessions” of Jeremiah

7 You have seduced me, Yahweh, and I have let myself be seduced;
 you have overpowered me: you were the stronger.
 I am a daily laughingstock,
 everybody’s butt.
 8 Each time I speak the word, I have to howl and proclaim: “Violence and ruin!”
 The word of Yahweh has meant for me insult, derision, all day long.
 9 I used to say, “I will not think about him,
 I will not speak in his name any more.”
 Then there seemed to be a fire burning in my heart,

19 a. In Hebrew “drain” has a similar sound to “jug”; this is another association of the jug parable. b. Polluted by the presence of corpses.

imprisoned in my bones.
 The effort to restrain it wearied me,
 I could not bear it.
 10 I hear so many disparaging me,
 "Terror from every side!"
 Denounce him! Let us denounce him!"
 All those who used to be my friends watched for my downfall,
 "Perhaps he will be seduced into error.
 Then we will master him
 and take our revenge!"
 11 But Yahweh is at my side, a mighty hero;
 my opponents will stumble, mastered,
 confounded by their failure;
 everlasting, unforgettable disgrace will be theirs.
 12 But you, Yahweh Sabaoth, you who probe with justice,
 who scrutinize the loins and heart,
 let me see the vengeance you will take on them,
 for I have committed my cause to you.
 13 Sing to Yahweh,
 praise Yahweh,
 for he has delivered the soul of the needy
 from the hands of evil men.
 14 A curse on the day when I was born,
 no blessing on the day my mother bore me!
 15 A curse on the man who brought my father the news,
 "A son, a boy has been born to you!"
 making him overjoyed.
 16 May this man be like the towns that Yahweh overthrew without mercy;
 may he hear alarms in the morning,
 the war cry in broad daylight, 17 since he did not kill me in the womb;
 my mother would have been my tomb
 while her womb was swollen with me.
 18 Why ever did I come out of the womb
 to live in toil and sorrow
 and to end my days in shame!

C. ORACLES MAINLY LATER THAN THE REIGN OF JEHOIAKIM

Jeremiah answers the envoys of Zedekiah^a

1 21 The word that was addressed to Jeremiah by Yahweh when King Zedekiah sent Pashhur son of Malchiah to him, with the priest Zephaniah son of Ma-2 aseiah, to say this, "Please consult Yahweh for us, since Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon is making war on us: perhaps Yahweh will work all his wonders on 3 our behalf, so that the enemy will have to withdraw." Jeremiah said to them, 4 "Take this answer to Zedekiah, 'Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this: I am going to bring back the weapons of war which you are now carrying, and with which you are fighting the king of Babylon and the Chaldaeans now besieging 5 your walls; I am going to stack them in the center of this city. 'And I am going to fight against you myself with outstretched hand and mighty arm, in anger, 6 fury and great wrath. 'I am going to strike the inhabitants of this city, man
 7 and beast, with a frightful plague: they will die. 'After which—it is Yahweh who speaks—I am going to deliver Zedekiah king of Judah with his servants and the people of this city who escape the plague, the sword, or the famine, into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, into the hands of their enemies and of those determined to kill them; mercilessly, relentlessly, pitilessly, he will put them to the sword.’

8 “And you are to say to this people, ‘Yahweh says this: Look, I now set 9 in front of you the way of life and the way of death. Those who stay in this city will die by sword, by famine, or by plague; but anyone who leaves it and surrenders to the Chaldeans now besieging it will live; he shall escape with 10 his life. For I have turned my face against this city for its ruin, not for its prosperity—it is Yahweh who speaks. It is to be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he will burn it down.’”

Address to the royal family of Judah

11 To the royal House of Judah. Listen to the word of Yahweh, House of 12 David! Yahweh says this:

“Each morning give sound judgment, rescue the man who has been wronged
from the hands of his oppressor, or else my wrath will leap out like a fire,
it will burn and no one will be able to quench it.

13 My quarrel is with you,
you that have gone to live at Rock-in-the-Plain^b
—it is Yahweh who speaks—
with you that say, ‘Who would dare attack us and penetrate our fastness?’ 14 (I will punish you as your actions deserve
—it is Yahweh who speaks.)
I will set fire to its forest;
it will devour the whole district.”

1 22 Yahweh said this, “Go down to the palace of the king of Judah and there
2 deliver this message, ‘Listen to the word of Yahweh, king of Judah sitting on the throne of David, you, your servants too, and your people who go 3 through these gates. Yahweh says this: Practice honesty and integrity; rescue the man who has been wronged from the hands of his oppressor; do not exploit the stranger, the orphan, the widow; do no violence; shed no innocent blood 4 in this place. For if you are scrupulous in obeying this command, then kings occupying the throne of David will continue to make their entry through the gates of this palace mounted on chariots and horses, they, their servants and 5 their people. But if you do not listen to these words, then I swear by myself
—it is Yahweh who speaks—this palace shall become a ruin!’”

6 “Yes, this is what Yahweh says about the royal palace of Judah:

‘You were like a Gilead to me,
like a peak of Lebanon.
All the same, I will reduce you to a desert,
to an uninhabited town.

7 I have dedicated men to destroy you,
each man with his ax;
they will cut down your finest cedars
and throw them on the fire.

8 “When the hordes of the nations pass this city, they will say to each other:
9 Why has Yahweh treated such a great city like this? And the answer will be:

Because they abandoned the covenant of Yahweh their God to worship alien gods and serve them.' ”

Oracles against various kings: against Jehohaz

10 Do not weep for the man who is dead,^a do not raise the dirge for him.
Weep bitterly for the man who has gone away,
since he will never come back,
never see his native land again.

11 For this is what Yahweh has said about Shallum son of Josiah, king of Judah, who succeeded Josiah his father and was forced to leave this place, “He will never 12 come back to it but will die in the place to which he has been taken captive;
and he will never see this country again.

Against Jehoiakim

13 “Doom for the man who founds his palace on anything but integrity, his upstairs rooms on anything but honesty,
who makes his fellow man work for nothing,
without paying him his wages, 14 who says, ‘I will build myself an imposing palace with spacious rooms upstairs,’
who pierces lights in it,
panels it with cedar, and paints it vermilion.
15 Are you more of a king
for outrivaling others with cedar?
Your father ate and drank, like you,
but he practiced honesty and integrity,
so all went well for him.
16 He used to examine the cases of poor and needy,
then all went well.
Is not that what it means to know me?—it is Yahweh who speaks.
17 You on the other hand have eyes and heart for nothing but your own interests,
for shedding innocent blood
and perpetrating violence and oppression.”

18 So Yahweh has said this about Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah:

“Doom for that man!
Raise no dirge for him,
‘Mourn for my brother! Mourn for my sister!’
Raise no dirge for him,
‘Mourn for his highness. Mourn for his majesty’ 19 He will receive the funeral honors of a donkey,
—dragged away and thrown out of the gates of Jerusalem.

Against Jehoiachin

20 “Go up to Lebanon and shriek, let your voice be heard on Bashan, shriek from Abarim,^b
for all your lovers^c have been ruined!
21 I spoke to you in your prosperity,
but you said, ‘I will not listen!’

- from your youth this has been how you behaved, refusing to listen to my voice.
- 22 The wind will blow all your shepherds away to other pastures,
 your lovers will go into captivity.
 Yes, now you may well be ashamed and confounded at the thought of all your wickedness.
- 23 You who made Lebanon your home,
 who made your nest among the cedars,
 how you will groan when anguish overtakes you,
 and pain like that of a woman in labor!
- 24 "As I live—it is Yahweh who speaks—even if Coniah son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, were the signet ring on my right hand, I would still wrench him off.
 25 I will deliver you into the hands of those determined to kill you, into the hands of those you dread, the hands of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, the hands 26 of the Chaldeans. You and the mother who bore you, I will thrust you both out into another country; you were not born there but you will both die there.
 27 They will not return to the country to which they so long to return."
- 28 Is he a shoddy broken pot,
 this man Coniah,
 a crock that no one wants?
 Why are they ejected, he and his descendants, thrown into a country
 they know nothing of?
- 29 O land, land, land,
 listen to the word of Yahweh!
- 30 Yahweh says this,
 "List this man as: Childless;
 a man who made a failure of his life,
 since none of his descendants will have the fortune to sit on the throne of David,
 or to rule in Judah again.

Messianic oracles. The future king

- 1 23 "Doom for the shepherds who allow the flock of my pasture to be destroyed 2 and scattered—it is Yahweh who speaks! This, therefore, is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, says about the shepherds in charge of my people: You have let my flock be scattered and go wandering and have not taken care of them.
 Right, I will take care of you for your misdeeds—it is Yahweh who speaks!
 3 But the remnant of my flock I myself will gather from all the countries where I have dispersed them, and will bring them back to their pastures: they shall 4 be fruitful and increase in numbers. I will raise up shepherds to look after them and pasture them; no fear, no terror for them any more; not one shall be lost—it is Yahweh who speaks!
- 5 "See, the days are coming—it is Yahweh who speaks—
 when I will raise a virtuous Branch for David,
 who will reign as true king and be wise,
 practicing honesty and integrity in the land.
 6 In his days Judah will be saved
 and Israel dwell in confidence.
 And this is the name he will be called:
 Yahweh-our-integrity.

22 a. Josiah; "the man who has gone away" is Jehoahaz, summoned by the Pharaoh Neco, and exiled in Egypt. b. The mountain range to the east of Jordan. c. The kings and leaders of Judah are the "lovers" of Jerusalem.

7 "So, then, the days are coming—it is Yahweh who speaks—when people will no longer say, 'As Yahweh lives who brought the sons of Israel out of the 8 land of Egypt!' ·but, 'As Yahweh lives who led back and brought home the descendants of the House of Israel out of the land of the North and from all the countries to which he had dispersed them, to live on their own soil.'"

A tract against the false prophets

9 On the prophets.

My heart is broken within me,
I tremble in all my bones
I am like a drunken man,
a man overcome with wine—
because of Yahweh
and his holy words,
10 "The land is full of adulterers

(yes, because of these men the land is in mourning and the desert pastures have dried up);

"they are quick only at doing wrong
and powerful only in crime.
11 Yes, even prophet and priest are godless,
I have found their wickedness even in my own House
—it is Yahweh who speaks.
12 Because of this their way will prove treacherous going for them;
in the darkness where they are driven,
there they will fall.
For I will bring disaster down on them when the year comes for me to deal with them—
it is Yahweh who speaks.
13 "In the prophets of Samaria
I have seen nauseating things:
they prophesied in the name of Baal
and led my people Israel astray.
14 But in the prophets of Jerusalem
I have seen horrors:
adultery, persistent lying,
such abetting of evil men,
that no one renounces his evil-doing;
to me they are all like Sodom,
its inhabitants all like Gomorrah.
15 So this is what Yahweh Sabaoth says about the prophets:
Now I will give them wormwood for their food,
and poisoned water to drink,
since from the prophets of Jerusalem
godlessness has spread throughout the land.
16 "Yahweh Sabaoth says this:
Do not listen to what those prophets say:
they are deluding you,
they retail visions of their own,
and not what comes from the mouth of Yahweh;
to those who reject the word of Yahweh they say, 17 'Peace will be yours,'

and to those who follow the dictates of a hardened heart,
 'No misfortune will touch you.'"

18 (But who has been present at the council of Yahweh? Who has seen it and heard his word? Who has paid attention to his word in order to proclaim it?)

19 Now a storm of Yahweh breaks,
 a tempest whirls,
 it bursts over the head of the wicked;
 20 the anger of Yahweh will not turn aside
 until he has performed, and has carried out,
 the decision of his heart.

You will understand this clearly in the days to come.

21 "I have not sent those prophets,
 yet they are running;
 I have not spoken to them,
 yet they are prophesying.
 22 Have they been present at my council?
 If so, let them proclaim my words to my people and turn them from their evil way
 and from the wickedness of their deeds!

23 "Am I a God when near—it is Yahweh who speaks—
 and not one when far away?
 24 Can anyone hide in a dark corner
 without my seeing him?—it is Yahweh who speaks.
 Do I not fill
 heaven and earth?—it is Yahweh who speaks.

25 "I have heard what the prophets say who make their lying prophecies in my 26 name. 'I have had a dream,' they say, 'I have had a dream!' How long will they retain this notion in their hearts, these prophets prophesying lies, who 27 announce their private delusions as prophetic? They hope, by means of the dreams that they keep telling each other, to make my people forget my name, 28 just as their fathers forgot my name in favor of Baal. Let the prophet who has had a dream tell his dream as his own! And let him who receives a word from me, deliver it accurately!

"What have straw and wheat in common?
 —it is Yahweh who speaks.
 29 Does not my word burn like fire
 —it is Yahweh who speaks—
 is it not like a hammer shattering a rock?

30 "So, then, I have a quarrel with the prophets—it is Yahweh who speaks—31 that steal my words from one another. I have a quarrel with the prophets—it is Yahweh who speaks—who have only to move their tongues to utter oracles.
 32 I have a quarrel with the prophets who make prophecies out of lying dreams
 —it is Yahweh who speaks—who recount them, and lead my people astray with their lies and their pretensions. I certainly never sent them or commissioned them, and they serve no good purpose for this people—it is Yahweh who speaks.

33 "And when these people, either a prophet or a priest, ask you, 'What is the Burden of Yahweh?' you are to answer, 'You, you are the burden of Yahweh;
 yes, you, and I mean to be rid of you! It is Yahweh who speaks.'

34 "And the prophet, priest, or anyone else, who says, 'Burden of Yahweh,' 35 I will punish that man, and his household too. 'This is the way you ought to talk, neighbor to neighbor, brother to brother, 'What answer has Yahweh 36 given?' or 'What has Yahweh said?' 'But do not go on using the expression burden of Yahweh or, for the man who uses it, burdensome it will certainly prove, since you twist the words of the living God, of Yahweh Sabaoth, our 37 God. 'This is the way to speak to a prophet, 'What answer has Yahweh given?' 38 or 'What has Yahweh said?' 'But if you say, 'Burden of Yahweh,' then thus speaks Yahweh: Since you use these words, 'Burden of Yahweh,' when I have 39 warned you to stop saying, 'Burden of Yahweh,' 'I myself will pick you up and fling you out of my sight, both you and the city I gave to you and to your 40 ancestors. 'I will bring down everlasting shame on you, everlasting and unforgettable disgrace."

The two baskets of figs

1 24 Yahweh gave me a vision: placed in front of the Temple of Yahweh stood two baskets of figs.^a This was after Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had led away Jeconiah son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, into exile from Jerusalem, with all the nobles of Judah, and the blacksmiths and metalworkers, and had taken 2 them to Babylon. 'One basket contained excellent figs, like those that ripen
 3 first; the other contained very bad figs, so bad they were uneatable. 'Yahweh said to me, "What do you see, Jeremiah?" "Figs," I answered, "the good ones 4 excellent, the bad ones very bad, so bad as to be uneatable." 'Then the word
 5 of Yahweh was addressed to me, "'Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this:
 As these figs are good, so I mean to concern myself with the welfare of the exiles 6 of Judah whom I have sent from this place to the land of the Chaldaeans 'My eyes will watch over them for their good, to bring them back to this land, to build them up and not to break them down, to plant them and not to tear them 7 up. 'I will give them a heart to acknowledge that I am Yahweh. They shall be my people and I will be their God, for they will return to me with all their 8 heart. 'As for the bad figs, the figs so bad as to be uneatable—yes, Yahweh says this—that is how I will treat Zedekiah king of Judah, his nobles and the remnant of Jerusalem: those who have stayed in this land, as also those living in 9 the land of Egypt. 'I will make them an object of horror to all the kingdoms of the earth, a thing of shame, a byword, a laughingstock, a curse in every place 10 where I shall disperse them. 'Sword, famine and plague I will send against them until they have vanished from the soil I gave to them and to their ancestors."

D. BABYLON THE SCOURGE OF YAHWEH^a

1 25 The word that was addressed to Jeremiah about all the people of Judah in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah (that is to 2 say the first year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon). 'The prophet Jeremiah proclaimed it before all the people of Judah and all the citizens of Jerusalem:
 3 "For twenty-three years, from the thirteenth year of Josiah son of Amon, king of Judah, until today, the word of Yahweh has been addressed to me and 4 I have persistently spoken to you (but you have not listened. 'Furthermore, Yahweh has persistently sent you all his servants the prophets, but you have not 5 listened, or paid attention). 'The message was this, 'Turn back, each of you, from your evil behavior and your evil actions, and you will stay on the soil Yahweh 6 long ago gave to you and to your ancestors for ever. '(And do not follow alien gods to serve and worship them, do not provoke me by what your own hands 7 have made; then I will not harm you.) 'But you have not listened to me (it is Yahweh who speaks—so that you have now provoked me by what your own hands have made, and thus harmed yourselves).

8 'So—this is what Yahweh Sabaoth says: Since you have not listened to my 9 words, 'I will now send for all the clans of the North (it is Yahweh who speaks—referring to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, my servant) and bring them down on this land and its inhabitants (and on all these surrounding nations):
 I will lay the ban on them and make them an object of horror, of scorn, of 10 lasting shame. 'I will put an end for them to the shouts of rejoicing and mirth, to the voices of bridegroom and bride, to the sound of the millstone and 11 to the light of the lamp. 'The whole land shall be devastated and reduced to a desert, while they will stay in slavery among the nations for seventy years.
 12 (But when the seventy years are over, I will punish the king of Babylon and that nation—it is Yahweh who speaks—for the wrong they have done; and 13 punish the land of the Chaldeans too, and make it a desert for ever.) 'I will bring down on that country all the words I have pronounced against it, all that is written in this book.' "

II. ORACLES AGAINST THE NATIONS

A. INTRODUCTION

The vision of the cup

(LXX 33:13-38)

What Jeremiah prophesied against all the nations.

14 ("For these in their turn are to be enslaved to powerful nations and great kings, and I will pay them back as their deeds and their handiwork deserve.")

15 Yahweh the God of Israel said this to me, "Take this cup of wine from 16 my hand and make all the nations to whom I send you drink it, 'let them drink 17 and reel and lose their wits at the sword I am sending among them.'" 'I took the cup from the hand of Yahweh and made all the nations to whom Yahweh sent 18 me drink it '(Jerusalem and the towns of Judah, its kings and its nobles, to make them into a desolation and a waste, a thing of scorn, a curse, as is so today):
 19 Pharaoh king of Egypt, with his servants, his nobles, and all his people, 'the 20 whole crowd of foreigners besides (all the kings of the land of Uz); all the kings of the country of the Philistines, Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron and what still remains 21 of Ashdod; 'Edom, Moab and the sons of Ammon; '(all) the kings of Tyre, 22 (all) the kings of Sidon, the kings of the islands across the sea; 'Dedan, Tema, 23 Buz, all the Crop-Heads, 'all the kings of Arabia who live in the desert; '(all 24 the kings of Zimri) and all the kings of Elam, and all the kings of Media; 'all 25 the kings of the north, near and far, one after another; and all the kingdoms 26 that are on the face of the earth. (As for the king of Sheshak, he shall drink last of all.)

27 "You are to say to them, 'Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this:
 Drink! Get drunk! Vomit! Fall, never to rise, at the sword that I am sending 28 among you!' 'If they refuse to take the cup from your hand and drink, you are 29 to say to them, 'Yahweh Sabaoth says this: You must drink! 'Since I am now making a beginning of disaster with the city that bears my name, do you think you are likely to go unpunished? You certainly shall not, for I will next summon a sword against all the inhabitants of the earth—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.'

30 "Let your prophecy to them contain all these words, and tell them:

'Yahweh roars from on high,
 he makes his voice heard from his holy dwelling place,
 he roars loud against his sheepfold,

- he shouts aloud like those who tread the grape.
The sound reaches all the inhabitants of the earth,
31 to the far end of the world.
For Yahweh is indicting the nations,
arraigning all flesh for judgment;
the wicked he abandons to the sword
—it is Yahweh who speaks.
32 Yahweh Sabaoth says this:
See! The disaster spreads from nation to nation,
a mighty tempest rises
from the far ends of the world.
- 33 'Those slaughtered by Yahweh that day will be scattered across the world from end to end. No dirge will be raised for them; no one will gather them or bury them; they will stay lying on the surface like dung.
- 34 'Howl, shepherds, shriek,
roll on the ground, you lords of the flock,
for the days have arrived for your slaughter,
like the finest rams you will fall.
35 No refuge now for the shepherds,
no escape for the lords of the flock!
36 Listen! A shout from the shepherds, a howl from the lords of the flock!
For Yahweh has laid their pastures waste,
37 their quiet sheepfolds are in ruins.
38 The lion has left his lair,
their land is a wasteland now,
thanks to the destroying sword,
and the fierce anger of Yahweh.' "

III. PROPHECIES OF HAPPINESS

A. INTRODUCTION: JEREMIAH THE TRUE PROPHET

Jeremiah's discourse against the Temple: his arrest and condemnation (LXX 33)

- 1 26 At the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, 2 this word was addressed to Jeremiah by Yahweh, "Yahweh says this:
Stand in the court of the Temple of Yahweh. To all the people of the towns of Judah who come to worship in the Temple of Yahweh you must speak all the 3 words I have commanded you to tell them; do not omit one syllable. Perhaps they will listen and each turn from his evil way: if so, I shall relent and not bring 4 the disaster on them which I intended for their misdeeds. Say to them, 'Yahweh says this: If you will not listen to me by following my Law which I put 5 before you, by paying attention to the words of my servants the prophets 6 whom I send so persistently to you, without your ever listening to them, I will treat this Temple as I treated Shiloh, and make this city a curse for all the nations of the earth.' "
- 7 The priests and prophets and all the people heard Jeremiah say these words
8 in the Temple of Yahweh. When Jeremiah had finished saying everything that Yahweh had ordered him to say to all the people, the priests and prophets 9 seized hold of him and said, "You shall die! Why have you made this prophecy in the name of Yahweh, 'This Temple will be like Shiloh, and this city will be desolate, and uninhabited?' " And the people were all crowding around Jeremiah in 10 the Temple of Yahweh. Hearing of this, the officials of Judah went up from the royal palace to the Temple of Yahweh and took their seats at the entry of the New Gate of the Temple of Yahweh.

11 The priests and prophets then addressed the officials and all the people, "This man deserves to die, since he has prophesied against this city, as you have 12 heard with your own ears." Jeremiah, however, replied to the people as follows, "Yahweh himself sent me to say all the things you have heard against 13 this Temple and this city. 'So now amend your behavior and actions, listen to the voice of Yahweh your God: if you do, he will relent and not bring down
14 on you the disaster he has pronounced against you. 'For myself, I am as you see in your hands. Do whatever you please or think right with me. 'But be sure 15 of this, that if you put me to death, you will be bringing innocent blood on yourselves, on this city and on its citizens, since Yahweh has truly sent me to you to say all these words in your hearing."

16 The officials and all the people then said to the priests and prophets, "This man does not deserve to die: he has spoken to us in the name of Yahweh our 17 God." Some of the elders of the land had risen to address all the assembled 18 people. "Micah of Moresheth," they said, "who prophesied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, had this to say to all the people of Judah, 'Yahweh says this:

*Zion will become plowland,
Jerusalem a heap of rubble,
and the mountain of the Temple a wooded height.^a* 19 "Did Hezekiah king of Judah and all of Judah put him to death for this? Did they not rather, fearing Yahweh, entreat his favor, to make him relent and not bring the disaster on them which he had pronounced against them? Are we now to burden our souls with such a crime?"

20 There was another man, too, who used to prophesy in the name of Yahweh, Uriah son of Shemaiah, from Kiriath-jearim. He prophesied exactly the same 21 things against this city and this land as Jeremiah. When King Jehoiakim with all his ministers and officials heard what he said, he wished to put him to death.
22 Learning this, Uriah took fright and escaped to Egypt. King Jehoiakim, however, sent Elnathan son of Achbor to Egypt with others, who brought Uriah back 23 from Egypt and took him to King Jehoiakim, who had him put to the sword and his body thrown into the common burying ground. But Jeremiah had a 24 protector in Ahikam son of Shaphan,^b so he was not handed over to the people to be put to death.

B. THE PAMPHLET FOR THE EXILES

The symbolic yoke and the message to the kings of the west

1 27 (At the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah son of Josiah, king of Judah,
2 this word was addressed to Jeremiah by Yahweh: 'Yahweh said this to me, "Make yourself ropes and a yoke and put them on your neck. 'Then send
3 word to the king of Edom, the king of Moab, the king of the Ammonites, the king of Tyre, and the king of Sidon, through their envoys accredited
4 to Zedekiah king of Judah in Jerusalem. 'Give them the following message for their masters, 'Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this: You must tell
5 your masters this: 'I by my great power and outstretched arm made the earth, man and the animals that are on earth. And I can give it to whom I please. 'For 6 the present, I have handed all these countries over to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, my servant; I have even put the wild animals at his service. '(All the nations will be subject to him, to his son and to his grandson, until the time for his own country comes in its turn, when mighty nations and great kings will enslave him.) Any nation or kingdom that will not submit to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and will not bow its neck to the yoke of the king of Babylon, I shall punish with sword, famine and plague—it is Yahweh who speaks—until I have delivered it into his power. For your own part, do not listen to your prophets, your diviners, dreamers, soothsayers, or sorcerers, who tell you: You will not be subjects of the king of Babylon. They prophesy lies to you, the result of which will be that you will be banished from your soil, that I shall expel you, and you will perish. The nation, however, that bends its neck to the yoke of the king of Babylon and submits to him, I shall leave in peace on its own soil—it is Yahweh who speaks—to farm it and stay in it.”

To Zedekiah king of Judah I had the same to say. “Bend your necks,” I told him, “to the yoke of the king of Babylon; submit to him and to his people and you will live. (Why so anxious to die, you and your people, by sword, famine and plague, with which Yahweh has threatened the nation that will not submit to the king of Babylon?) Do not listen to the words the prophets say to you, ‘You will not be subjects of the king of Babylon.’ They prophesy lies to you, since I have not sent them—it is Yahweh who speaks—they prophesy untruths in my name. The result will be that I shall expel you, you will perish, and so will the prophets who prophesy to you.”

Next I spoke to the priests and all the people as follows, “Yahweh says this, ‘Do not listen to the words of your prophets who prophesy to you as follows: Look, the vessels of the Temple of Yahweh will (soon) be brought back from Babylon: they prophesy lies to you. (Do not listen to them; submit to the king of Babylon and you will live; why should this city become a waste?) If they were prophets, if they had the word of Yahweh, they would now be praying to Yahweh Sabaoth that the remaining vessels in the Temple of Yahweh, in the royal palace of Judah and in Jerusalem should not go to Babylon. For this is what Yahweh Sabaoth says about (the pillars, the Sea, the stands and) the other vessels still remaining in this city, those not carried off by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon when he led away Jeconiah son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon (with all the leading men of Judah and Jerusalem). Yes, this is what Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says about the vessels still remaining in the Temple of Yahweh, in the royal palace of Judah, and in Jerusalem: They will be carried off to Babylon (and stay there until the day I fetch them)—it is Yahweh who speaks. (Then I shall bring them back and restore them to this place.)”

The dispute with Hananiah

28 That same year, at the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah in the fifth month of the fourth year, the prophet Hananiah son of Azzur, a Gibeonite, spoke as follows to Jeremiah in the Temple of Yahweh in the presence of the priests and of all the people. “Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this, ‘I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon. In two years’ time I will bring back all the vessels of the Temple of Yahweh which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon carried off from this place and took to Babylon. And I will also bring back Jeconiah son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, and all the exiles of Judah who have gone to Babylon—it is Yahweh who speaks. Yes, I am going to break the yoke of the king of Babylon.’”

The prophet Jeremiah then replied to the prophet Hananiah in front of the priests and all the people there in the Temple of Yahweh. “I hope so,” the prophet Jeremiah said. “May Yahweh do so. May he fulfill the words that you have prophesied and bring the vessels of the Temple of Yahweh and all the exiles back to this place from Babylon. Listen carefully, however, to this word that I am now going to say for you and all the people to hear: From remote times, the prophets who preceded you and me prophesied war, famine and plague for many countries and for great kingdoms; but the prophet who prophesies peace can only be recognized as one truly sent by Yahweh when his word comes true."

The prophet Hananiah then took the yoke off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah and broke it. In front of all the people Hananiah then said, "Yahweh says this, 'This is how, two years hence, I will break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and take it off the necks of all the nations.'" At this, the prophet Jeremiah went away.

After the prophet Hananiah had broken the yoke which he had taken off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah the word of Yahweh was addressed to Jeremiah, "Go to Hananiah and tell him this, 'Yahweh says this: You can break wooden yokes? Right, I will make them iron yokes instead! For Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this: An iron yoke is what I now lay on the necks of all these nations to subject them to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. (They will be subject to him; I have even given him the wild animals.)'"

The prophet Jeremiah said to the prophet Hananiah, "Listen carefully, Hananiah: Yahweh has not sent you; and thanks to you this people are now relying on what is false. Hence—Yahweh says this, 'I am going to throw you off the face of the earth: you are going to die this year (since you have preached apostasy from Yahweh).'"

The prophet Hananiah died the same year, in the seventh month.

The letter to the exiles

(LXX 36:1-23)

29 This is the text of the letter that the prophet Jeremiah sent from Jerusalem to those elders carried off into exile, to the priests, the prophets and all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had led away into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon.

This was after King Jeconiah had left Jerusalem with the queen mother, the eunuchs, the nobility of Judah and Jerusalem, and the blacksmiths and metalworkers. The letter was entrusted to Elasah son of Shaphan and to Gemariah son of Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah king of Judah had sent to Babylon, to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. The letter said:

"Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this to all the exiles deported from Jerusalem to Babylon, 'Build houses, settle down; plant gardens and eat what they produce; take wives and have sons and daughters; choose wives for your sons, find husbands for your daughters so that these can bear sons and daughters in their turn; you must increase there and not decrease. Work for the good of the country to which I have exiled you; pray to Yahweh on its behalf, since on its welfare yours depends. For Yahweh says this: Only when the seventy years granted to Babylon are over, will I visit you and fulfill my promise in your favor by bringing you back to this place. I know the plans I have in mind for you—it is Yahweh who speaks—plans for peace, not disaster, reserving a future full of hope for you. Then when you call to me, and come to plead with me, I will listen to you. When you seek me you shall find me, when you seek me with all your heart; I will let you find me (—it is Yahweh who speaks. I will restore your fortunes and gather you from all the nations and all the places where I have dispersed you—it is Yahweh who speaks. I will bring you back to the place from which I exiled you).

'You may say: Yahweh has raised up prophets for us in Babylon, but thus says Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel: Do not be deceived by the prophets among you or by your diviners; do not listen to the dreams they dream, since they prophesy lies to you in my name. I have not sent them—it is Yahweh who speaks.

'For this is what Yahweh says about the king now seated on the throne of David and all the people who live in this city, your brothers who did not go

17 with you into exile: 'Thus says Yahweh Sabaoth: I am now going to send them sword, famine and plague; I will make them like rotten figs, so bad as 18 to be uneatable. I will pursue them with sword, famine and plague, and make them an object of horror to all the kingdoms of the earth, a curse, a thing of wonder, scorn, derision, for all the nations where I have dispersed them;
19 because they have refused to listen to my words—it is Yahweh who speaks—although I have persistently sent them all my servants the prophets. However,
20 they would not listen—it is Yahweh who speaks. But all you exiles, whom I have sent from Jerusalem to Babylon, listen to the word of Yahweh.

21 'This is what Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says about Ahab son of Kolaiah, and Zedekiah son of Maaseiah, who prophesy lies to you in my name: I shall hand them over now to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon who will strike
22 them before your eyes. This curse, based on their fate, will be used by all the exiles of Judah in Babylon: May Yahweh treat you like Zedekiah and Ahab, 23 roasted alive by the king of Babylon! Such is the fate of those who perpetrate infamies in Israel, committing adultery with other men's wives, speaking words in my name without orders from me. I know all the same; I see—it is Yahweh who speaks.'

An exile objects to Jeremiah's letter

(LXX 36:24–32)

24 Shemaiah of Nehelam sent a letter of his own (to all the people in Jerusalem)
25 to the priest Zephaniah son of Maaseiah (and to all the priests), which said:
26 "Yahweh has appointed you priest in succession to Jehoiada to keep order in the Temple of Yahweh; in the case of a madman who acts the prophet, your 27 duty is to put him in the stocks and iron collar. This being the case, why have you not disciplined Jeremiah of Anathoth, who poses as a prophet to you?
28 —since on the strength of this pretension he has sent a message to us in Babylon to say, 'It will be a long time. Build houses, settle down; plant gardens and eat what they produce.'"

29 The priest Zephaniah read this letter aloud to the prophet Jeremiah. The 30 word of Yahweh, however, was addressed to Jeremiah, "Send this message to all
31 the exiles, 'This is what Yahweh says about Shemaiah of Nehelam: Since Shemaiah has prophesied to you without my sending him, and since it is due 32 to him that you are now relying on what is false, now therefore—thus says Yahweh—I will punish Shemaiah of Nehelam and his descendants; no male member of his family shall survive among this people to see the happiness that I will bestow on my people (—it is Yahweh who speaks—since he has preached apostasy from Yahweh).'

C. THE BOOK OF CONSOLATION

Promise of recovery for the northern kingdom of Israel

(LXX 37:1–38:22)

1 30 The word addressed to Jeremiah by Yahweh: 'Yahweh, the God of Israel
2 says this: Write all the words I have spoken to you in a book. For see,
3 the days are coming—it is Yahweh who speaks—when I will restore the fortunes of my people Israel (and Judah), Yahweh says, and bring them back to possess the land I gave to their ancestors.

4 These are the words Yahweh spoke about Israel (and Judah):

5 Yahweh says this:
I have heard a cry of panic,
of terror, not of peace.
6 Now ask, consider:
can men bear children?
Then why do I see each man

with his hands on his loins like a woman in labor?
Why has every face changed,
turned pale?

7 This is indeed a great day,
no other like it:
a time of distress for Jacob;
but he will be freed from it.

8 On that day—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks—I will break the yoke on their necks, and snap their chains. They will be no longer the servants of 9 aliens, but will serve Yahweh their God, and David their king whom I will raise up for them.

10 So do not be afraid, my servant Jacob
—it is Yahweh who speaks—
Israel, do not be alarmed:
look, I will rescue you from distant countries
and your descendants from the country where they are captive.
Jacob will have quiet again
and live at ease, with no one to trouble him.
11 For I am with you to save you:
I will make an end of all the nations
where I have scattered you;
I will not make an end of you,
only discipline you in moderation,
so as not to let you go entirely unpunished.

12 Yes, Yahweh says this:
Your wound is incurable,
your injury past healing.
13 There is no one to care for your sore,
no medicine to make you well again.
14 All your lovers have forgotten you,
they look for you no more.
Yes, I have struck you as an enemy strikes,
with harsh punishment
(so great is your guilt, so many your sins).
15 Why bother to complain about your wound?
Your pain is incurable.
So great is your guilt, so many your sins,
that I have done all this to you.
16 But all those who devoured you shall themselves be devoured,
all your oppressors go into captivity,
those who despoiled you shall be despoiled,
and all who preyed on you I will make into prey.
17b For they used to call you "The Outcast,"
"Our booty whom no one cares about!"
17a But I will restore you to health and heal your wounds—it is Yahweh who speaks.

18 Yahweh says this:
Now I will restore the tents of Jacob,
and take pity on his dwellings:
the city shall be rebuilt on its ruins,
the citadel restored on its site.
19 From them will come thanksgiving and shouts of joy.
I will make them increase, and not diminish them,

make them honored, and not disdained.

20 Their sons shall be as once they were,
their community fixed firm in my presence,
and I will punish all their oppressors.

21 Their prince will be one of their own,
their ruler come from their own people.

I will let him come freely into my presence and he can come close to me;
who else, indeed, would risk his life
by coming close to me?—it is Yahweh who speaks.

22 And you shall be my people and I will be your God.

23 Now a storm of Yahweh breaks,
a tempest whirls,

24 it bursts over the head of the wicked;
the anger of Yahweh will not turn aside
until he has performed and carried out,
the decision of his heart.

You will understand this in the days to come.

1 31 When that time comes—it is Yahweh who speaks—I will be the God of all the clans of Israel: they shall be my people.

2 Yahweh says this:

They have found pardon in the wilderness,
those who have survived the sword.

Israel is marching to his rest.

3 Yahweh has appeared to him from afar:

I have loved you with an everlasting love,
so I am constant in my affection for you.

4 I build you once more; you shall be rebuilt, virgin of Israel.

Adorned once more, and with your tambourines,
you will go out dancing gaily.

5 You will plant vineyards once more on the mountains of Samaria

(the planters have done their planting: they will gather the fruit).

6 Yes, a day will come when the watchmen shout
on the mountains of Ephraim,

“Up! Let us go up to Zion, to Yahweh our God!”

7 For Yahweh says this:

Shout with joy for Jacob!

Hail the chief of nations!

Proclaim! Praise! Shout:

“Yahweh has saved his people,
the remnant of Israel!”

8 See, I will bring them back from the land of the North and gather them from the far ends of earth;

all of them: the blind and the lame,

women with child, women in labor:

a great company returning here.

9 They had left in tears,

I will comfort them as I lead them back;

I will guide them to streams of water,

by a smooth path where they will not stumble.

For I am a father to Israel,
and Ephraim is my first-born son.

- 10 Listen, nations, to the word of Yahweh.
Tell this to the distant islands,
"He who scattered Israel gathers him,
he guards him as a shepherd guards his flock." 11 For Yahweh has ransomed Jacob, rescued him from a hand stronger than his own.
12 They will come and shout for joy on the heights of Zion, they will throng toward the good things of Yahweh:
corn and oil and wine,
sheep and oxen;
their soul will be like a watered garden,
they will sorrow no more.
13 The virgin will then take pleasure in the dance,
young men and old will be happy;
I will change their mourning into gladness,
comfort them, give them joy after their troubles, 14 refresh my priests with rich food,
and see my people have their fill of my good things
—it is Yahweh who speaks.
15 Thus speaks Yahweh:
A voice is heard in Ramah,
lamenting and weeping bitterly:
it is Rachel^a weeping for her children,
refusing to be comforted for her children,
because they are no more.
16 Yahweh says this:
Stop your weeping,
dry your eyes,
your hardships will be redressed:
they shall come back from the enemy country.
17 There is hope for your descendants:
your sons will come home to their own lands.
18 I plainly hear the grieving of Ephraim,
"You have disciplined me, I accepted the discipline
like a young bull untamed.
Bring me back, let me come back,
for you are Yahweh my God!
19 Yes, I turned away, but have since repented;
I understood, I beat my breast.
I was deeply ashamed, covered with confusion;
yes, I still bore the disgrace of my youth." 20 Is Ephraim, then, so dear a son to me,
a child so favored,
that after each threat of mine
I must still remember him,
still be deeply moved for him,
and let my tenderness yearn over him?
It is Yahweh who speaks.
21 Set up signposts,
raise landmarks;
mark the road well,
the way by which you went.

31 a. The grandmother of Ephraim and Manasseh; her tomb was at Bethlehem, Gn. 35:19.

- Come home, virgin of Israel,
 come home to these towns of yours.
 22 How long will you hesitate, disloyal daughter?
 For Yahweh is creating something new on earth:
 the Woman sets out to find her Husband again.

Promise of restoration to Judah

- 23 Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this: In the land of Judah and in its towns, they will use these words again, once I have restored their fortunes:

“Yahweh grant you his blessing,
 you pasture of justice,
 you holy mountain!”

- 24 Judah and all his towns, the farmers and those who tend the flock will live 25 in this land. For I refresh the wearied soul and satisfy every sorrowing soul.
 26 And hence:^b

I awoke and was refreshed,
 and my sleep was peaceful.

Israel and Judah

(LXX 38:27–28)

- 27 See, the days are coming—it is Yahweh who speaks—when I am going to sow the seed of men and cattle on the House of Israel and on the House of Judah.
 28 And as I once watched them to tear up, to knock down, to overthrow, destroy and bring disaster, so now I shall watch over them to build and to plant. It is Yahweh who speaks.

Individual retribution

- 29 In those days people will no longer say:

“The fathers have eaten unripe grapes;
 the children’s teeth are set on edge.”

- 30 But each is to die for his own sin. Every man who eats unripe grapes is to have his own teeth set on edge.

The new covenant

(LXX 38:31–34)

- 31 See, the days are coming—it is Yahweh who speaks—when I will make a new 32 covenant with the House of Israel (and the House of Judah), but not a covenant like the one I made with their ancestors on the day I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt. They broke that covenant of mine, so 33 I had to show them who was master. It is Yahweh who speaks. No, this is the covenant I will make with the House of Israel when those days arrive—it is Yahweh who speaks. Deep within them I will plant my Law, writing it on 34 their hearts. Then I will be their God and they shall be my people. There will be no further need for neighbor to try to teach neighbor, or brother to say to brother, “Learn to know Yahweh!” No, they will all know me, the least no less than the greatest—it is Yahweh who speaks—since I will forgive their iniquity and never call their sin to mind.

Israel will endure

(LXX 38:35–37)

- 35 Yahweh who provides the sun for light by day,
 the moon and stars for light by night,
 who stirs the sea, making its waves roar,
 he whose name is Yahweh Sabaoth, says this:
 36 Were this established order ever to pass away from my presence—it is Yahweh who speaks—only then would the race of Israel also cease to be a nation in my presence for ever.

- 37 Were the heavens above ever to be measured,
the foundations of the earth below ever to be fathomed,
only then would I reject the race of Israel for all that they have done. It is Yahweh who speaks.

Jerusalem magnificently rebuilt

- 38 See, the days are coming—it is Yahweh who speaks—when the city of Yahweh will be rebuilt from the Tower of Hananel to the Gate of the Corner.
39 Then once again the measuring line will stretch straight to the Hill of Gareb, 40 turning then to Goah. And the whole valley, with its dead and its ashes, and all the fields beside the wadi Kidron as far as the corner of the Horse Gate, eastward, will be consecrated to Yahweh. It shall never again be destroyed, or laid under the ban.

D. ADDITIONS TO THE BOOK OF CONSOLATION

Jeremiah buys a field in token of his confidence in the future of Judah (LXX 39)

- 1 32 The word that was addressed to Jeremiah by Yahweh in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, which was the eighteenth year of 2 Nebuchadnezzar. The army of the king of Babylon was at that time besieging Jerusalem, and the prophet Jeremiah was confined to the Court of the Guard
3 in the royal palace of Judah, where Zedekiah king of Judah had imprisoned him. "Why," he had asked, "do you make a prophecy like this, 'Yahweh says this: I am now going to deliver this city into the hands of the king of Babylon, 4 for him to capture it; and Zedekiah king of Judah will not escape the power of the Chaldaeans, but will inevitably be delivered into the hands of the king of 5 Babylon, speak to him personally and see him face to face. He will take Zedekiah to Babylon and he will stay there (until I visit him—it is Yahweh who speaks. If you fight the Chaldaeans you will not succeed!)"?" 6 Jeremiah said, "The word of Yahweh has been addressed to me as follows,
7 'Look, Hanamel the son of your uncle Shallum will come to you and say:
Buy my field at Anathoth, for you have the right of redemption^a to purchase it.' 8 And, as Yahweh had said, my cousin Hanamel came to me, in the Court of the Guard. He said to me, 'Buy my field at Anathoth, for you have the right of inheritance and redemption; buy it.' I knew then that this was 9 Yahweh's order. Accordingly, I bought the field from my cousin Hanamel of 10 Anathoth and paid him the price: seventeen silver shekels. I drew up the deed and sealed it, called in witnesses and weighed out the money on the scales.
11 I then took both the sealed deed of purchase and its open copy, in accordance 12 with the requirements of the law, and handed over the deed of purchase to Baruch son of Neriah, son of Mahseiah, in the presence of my cousin Hanamel, of the witnesses who had signed the deed of purchase, and of all the Jews who 13 then happened to be in the Court of the Guard. In their presence I gave 14 Baruch these instructions: Take these deeds, the sealed deed of purchase and its open copy, and put them in an earthenware pot, so that they may be 15 preserved for a long time. For Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this,
'People will buy fields and vineyards in this land again.'
16 "After I had entrusted the deed of purchase to Baruch son of Neriah, I prayed 17 thus to Yahweh: Ah, Lord Yahweh, you have made the heavens and the earth with your great power and outstretched arm. To you nothing is 18 impossible. You show kindness to thousands but repay the fathers' guilt in

b. A quotation, probably from a song. c. The same measurements of those of the old city destroyed by the Chaldaeans.

full to their children after them. Great and mighty God, whose name is Yahweh 19 Sabaoth! ·Great in purpose, mighty in execution, whose eyes are open on all the ways of men, rewarding each man as his ways and the results of his actions 20 deserve! ·You performed signs and wonders in the land of Egypt and do the same today, in Israel and among mankind. You have won the name that is yours 21 today. ·You brought your people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signs and wonders, with mighty hand and outstretched arm and fearsome terror;
22 then you gave them this land which you promised on oath to their ancestors, 23 a land where milk and honey flow; ·and in due course they entered it and took possession. But they would not listen to your voice or follow your Law: they would do nothing you ordered them to do; and so you made all these 24 disasters happen to them. ·See how the earthworks grow nearer to the city for the assault! Sword, famine, and plague will deliver the city into the hands of the attacking Chaldeans. What you have said is now fulfilled, as you see.
25 Yet you yourself, Lord Yahweh, told me, ‘Buy the field with money in front of witnesses’—and even now the city is falling into the hands of the Chaldeans!
26 “The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, ‘See, I am Yahweh, 27 the God of all mankind: is anything impossible to me?
28 ‘Therefore—Yahweh says this: I am now putting this city into the power of the Chaldeans, into the power of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he will 29 capture it; ·the Chaldeans attacking this city will come and set fire to it;
they will burn the houses on the roofs of which incense was offered to Baal and 30 libations were poured to alien gods, to provoke me. ·For the sons of Israel and of Judah have done nothing but displease me from their youth up (the sons of Israel in fact have done nothing but provoke me by their actions—it is 31 Yahweh who speaks). ·Yes, from the day when it was built until today, this city has been such cause of anger and of wrath to me that I mean to remove 32 it from my sight, ·because of all the wickedness the sons of Israel and the sons of Judah have committed to provoke me: they, their kings, their nobles, their priests and their prophets, the men of Judah and the citizens of Jerusalem.
33 They turned their backs to me, never their faces; and though I taught them 34 so urgently, so persistently, they would not listen and learn the lesson. ·They have put their abominations in the Temple that bears my name to defile it.
35 They have built the high places of Baal in the Valley of Ben-hinnom, there to make their sons and daughters pass through fire in honor of Molech—something I never ordered, for it never entered my thoughts that they would do such detestable things—and so they have led Judah into sin.
36 ‘But now, and for the same reason, this is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, says about this city of which you say: Sword, famine and plague will deliver 37 it into the hands of the king of Babylon: ·I mean to gather them from all the countries where I have driven them in my anger, my fury and great wrath.
38 I will bring them back to this place and make them live in safety. ·Then they 39 shall be my people, and I will be their God. ·I will give them a different heart and different behavior so that they will always fear me, for the good of themselves 40 and their children after them. ·I will make an everlasting covenant with them; I will not cease in my efforts for their good, and I will put respect for me into their 41 hearts, so that they turn from me no more. ·It will be my pleasure to bring about their good, and I will plant them firmly in this land, with all my heart and 42 soul. ·For Yahweh says this: As I have brought this great disaster on this 43 people, so I am going to bring them all the good I promise them. ·People will buy fields in this land of which you say: It is a wasteland without man or beast, 44 it is given over into the power of the Chaldeans. ·People will buy fields, pay money, draw up deeds and seal them, and witness them in the land of Benjamin, in the districts around Jerusalem, in the towns of Judah, of the highlands, of the Lowlands and of the Negeb. For I am going to restore their fortunes—it is Yahweh who speaks.’”

Another promise of recovery for Jerusalem and Judah

(LXX 40)

- 1 33 Jeremiah was still confined to the Court of the Guard when the word
 2 of Yahweh was addressed to him a second time, "Yahweh, who made
 3 the earth, who formed it and set it firm—Yahweh is his name—says this,
 4 Call to me and I will answer you; I will tell you great mysteries of which you 5 know nothing. For this is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, says about the 6 houses of this city and the royal palaces of Judah which are to be destroyed.
 7 Against the earthworks and the palisades they will join battle with the 8 Chaldeans, only to fill the city with the corpses of those I strike down in my 9 anger and my wrath, of those from whom I turned my face because of all their 10 wickedness.
 11 "But look, I will hasten their recovery and their cure; I will cure them
 12 and let them know peace and security in full measure. I will restore the fortunes 13 of Judah and Jerusalem, and build them again as they were before. I will 14 cleanse them of every sin they have committed against me; the sins by which 15 they offended me and apostatized from me, all these I will forgive. And 16 Jerusalem shall be my theme of joy, my honor and my boast, before all the 17 nations of the earth: these, when they hear of all the prosperity that I shall 18 grant, will be seized with fear and trembling at all the prosperity and the peace
 19 that I provide for it.
 20 "Yahweh says this: In this place of which you say, 'It is a waste without 21 man or beast,' in the towns of Judah and in the ruined streets of Jerusalem 22 where there is neither man nor beast, once more will be heard shouts of rejoicing and mirth, the voices of bridegroom and bride, and the singing of those who bring thanksgiving sacrifices to the Temple of Yahweh, 'Give thanks to Yahweh Sabaoth, for Yahweh is good, for his love is everlasting.' For I will restore the fortunes of this land as they were before. Yahweh declares it!
 "Yahweh Sabaoth says this: In this place, this waste without man or beast, and in all its towns, once again there will be pastures for the shepherds to rest their flocks. In all the towns of the highlands, of the Lowlands and the Negeb, in the land of Benjamin, in the districts around Jerusalem and in the towns of Judah, once again the flocks shall pass under the hand of him who counts them. Yahweh declares it!

The institutions of the future

- 14 "See, the days are coming—it is Yahweh who speaks—when I am going 15 to fulfill the promise I made to the House of Israel and the House of Judah:
 16 "In those days and at that time,
 17 I will make a virtuous Branch grow for David,
 18 who shall practice honesty and integrity in the land.
 19 In those days Judah shall be saved
 20 and Israel shall dwell in confidence.
 21 And this is the name the city will be called:
 22 Yahweh-our-integrity.
 23 For Yahweh says this: David shall never lack a male descendant to sit on 24 the throne of the House of Israel. And the levitical priests shall never lack 25 a male descendant to stand in my presence and offer holocaust, to burn the 26 oblation and offer sacrifice every day."
 27 The word of Yahweh was addressed to Jeremiah, "Yahweh says this:
 28 If you could break my covenant with the day and my covenant with the night
 29 so that day and night do not come at their due time, then my covenant with 30 David my servant might also be broken and he would have no son to reign on his 31 throne, and so might my covenant with the levitical priests, who are my ministers.
 32 As the array of heaven is past counting, the sand on the seashore beyond all reckoning, so will I increase the heirs of David my servant and the Levites, who, with these heirs, minister to me."

²³₂₄ The word of Yahweh was addressed to Jeremiah, "Have you not noticed what these people say, 'The two families which Yahweh chose he has now rejected?' So they despise my people, whom they no longer think of as a nation. ²⁵ Yahweh says this: If I have not created day and night and have not laid down ²⁶ laws for the heavens and the earth, why, then I reject the descendants of Jacob and of David my servant and cease to choose rulers from his descendants for the heirs of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob! For I mean to restore their fortunes and take pity on them."

E. MISCELLANEOUS PASSAGES

The fate of Zedekiah

(LXX 41:1-7)

¹ 34 The word addressed to Jeremiah by Yahweh when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and his whole army, with all the kingdoms of the earth under his dominion and all the peoples, were waging war on Jerusalem and its outlying ² towns, "Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this: Go and speak to Zedekiah king of Judah. Say this to him, 'Yahweh says this: I am now handing over this ³ city into the power of the king of Babylon, and he will burn it down. And you yourself will not escape his power but will inevitably be captured and delivered into his hands. You will see the king of Babylon face to face and speak to him ⁴ personally. Then you will go to Babylon. Even so, listen to the word of ⁵ Yahweh, Zedekiah king of Judah, and you will not die by the sword; you will die in peace. And as spices were burned for your fathers, the kings who in times past preceded you, so they will also burn spices for you and raise this dirge for you: Mourn for his highness! I myself declare it—it is Yahweh who speaks.'"
⁶ The prophet Jeremiah repeated all these words to Zedekiah king of Judah, ⁷ in Jerusalem, while the army of the king of Babylon was attacking Jerusalem and the towns of Judah which still held out, namely Lachish and Azekah, these being the only towns of Judah that still held out, since they were fortified.

The episode of the liberated slaves

⁸ The word addressed to Jeremiah by Yahweh after King Zedekiah had made ⁹ a pact with all the people in Jerusalem to free their slaves: each man was to free his Hebrew slaves, men and women, and no one was any longer to keep a ¹⁰ brother Jew in slavery. All the nobles and all the people who had entered into the pact had agreed that everyone should free his slaves, men or women, and no ¹¹ longer keep them as slaves: they had agreed on this and set them free. Afterward, however, they changed their minds, recovered the slaves, men and women, whom ¹² they had set free, and reduced them to slavery again. So the word of Yahweh ¹³ was addressed to Jeremiah, "Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this: I made a covenant with your ancestors when I brought them out of Egypt, out of the ¹⁴ house of slavery; it said: At the end of seven years each one of you is to free his brother Hebrew who has sold himself to you: he may be your slave for six years, then you must send him away free. But your ancestors did not listen to ¹⁵ me and would not pay attention. Now, today you took a different attitude and did what pleases me by proclaiming freedom for your neighbor; you made a ¹⁶ covenant in my presence in the Temple that bears my name. And then you changed your mind and, profaning my name, each of you has recovered his slaves, men and women, whom you had sent away free to live their own lives, and has forced ¹⁷ them to become your slaves again.
"Therefore—Yahweh says this: You have disobeyed me, by not each granting freedom to his brother and his neighbor. Very well, I in my turn—it is Yahweh who speaks—leave sword, famine and plague free to deal with you;

18 I will make you an object of horror to all the kingdoms of the earth. And these men who have infringed my covenant, who have not observed the terms of the covenant made in my presence, I will treat these men like the calf they cut in 19 two to pass between the parts of it." As for the nobles of Judah and of Jerusalem, the eunuchs and the priests, and all the people of the country who have passed
 20 between the parts of the calf, I will put them into the power of their enemies and into the power of men determined to kill them: their corpses will feed the 21 birds of heaven and the beasts of the earth. As for Zedekiah king of Judah and his nobles, these too I will hand over to their enemies and to men determined to kill them, and to the army of the king of Babylon which has just 22 withdrawn. Listen, I will give the order—it is Yahweh who speaks—and bring them back to this city to attack it and capture it and burn it down. I am going to make an uninhabited desert of the towns of Judah."

The example of the Rechabites

(LXX 42)

1 35 The word addressed to Jeremiah by Yahweh in the days of Jehoiakim
 2 son of Josiah, king of Judah, "Go to the clan of the Rechabites and speak to them; bring them into one of the apartments of the Temple of Yahweh and 3 offer them wine to drink." So I brought Jaazaniah son of Jeremiah, son of Habazziniah, with his brothers and all his sons: the whole Rechabite clan.
 4 I took them to the Temple of Yahweh into the apartment of Ben-johanan son of Igdaliah, a man of God, a room near that of the officials, over the 5 apartment of Maaseiah son of Shallum, guardian of the threshold. I then set pitchers full of wine, and some cups, before the men of the Rechabite clan and said, "Drink some wine."

6 They replied, "We do not drink wine, because our ancestor Jonadab son of Rechab gave us this order: 'You must never drink wine neither you nor your 7 sons; nor must you build houses, sow seed, plant vineyards, or own property; but you must live in tents all your lives, so that you may live long on the soil to 8 which you are alien.' We have punctiliously obeyed the orders of our ancestor, Jonadab son of Rechab, never drinking wine ourselves, nor our wives, our sons
 9 or our daughters, not building houses to live in, owning neither vineyard nor field to sow, living in tents. We have obeyed the orders of our ancestor
 10 Jonadab, respecting them in every particular. However, when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon invaded this country, we decided, 'We must get away! We will go to Jerusalem to escape the army of the Chaldeans and the army of Aram.'
 So here we are, living in Jerusalem."

11 Then the word of Yahweh was addressed to Jeremiah, "Thus says Yahweh
 12 Sabaoth, the God of Israel: Go and say to the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, 'Will you not learn the lesson and listen to my words? It is Yahweh
 14 who speaks. The word of Jonadab son of Rechab ordering his sons to drink no wine has been kept; obedient to their ancestor's command, they drink none even today. But to me, who spoke to you so urgently, so persistently, you 15 have not listened. I have sent you all my servants the prophets so persistently, so often, to say: Each of you turn from your evil way, and amend your actions, do not follow alien gods and serve them; then you will be able to stay on the 16 soil I gave to you and your ancestors. But you would not listen to me. The sons of Jonadab son of Rechab have kept the command their ancestor gave 17 them, but this people has not listened to me. And so—Yahweh, the God of Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this: I will bring down on Judah and the citizens of Jerusalem all the disasters with which I have threatened them, because I spoke to them and they would not listen, called to them and they would not answer.'"

18 Then Jeremiah said to the Rechabite clan, "Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this, 'Because you have obeyed the orders of Jonadab and kept all his rules and done all that he ordered you, for this—thus says Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel—Jonadab son of Rechab shall never lack a male descendant to stand in my presence.'

IV. THE SUFFERINGS OF JEREMIAH

The scroll written in 605–604

(LXX 43)

¹ 36 In the fourth year of Jehoiakim^a son of Josiah, king of Judah, this word
² was addressed to Jeremiah by Yahweh, "Take a scroll and write on it all ³ the words I have spoken to you about Jerusalem and Judah and all the nations, ⁴ from the day I first spoke to you, in the time of Josiah, until today. Perhaps ⁵ when the House of Judah hears of all the evil I have in mind for them, each man
⁶ will turn from his evil way, and then I can forgive their misdeeds and their sin."
⁷ Jeremiah therefore summoned Baruch son of Neriah, who at his dictation wrote
⁸ down on the scroll all the words Yahweh had spoken to him.

⁹ Now in the fifth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, in the ninth
¹⁰ month,^b there was a summons to a fast in the presence of Yahweh for the whole
¹¹ population of Jerusalem and for all the people who could come to Jerusalem ¹² from the towns of Judah. Jeremiah then gave Baruch this order: "As I am ¹³ prevented from entering the Temple of Yahweh, you yourself must go and,
¹⁴ from the scroll you wrote at my dictation, read all the words of Yahweh to the ¹⁵ people in his Temple on the day of the fast; read them also in the hearing of all the ¹⁶ men of Judah who come in from the towns. Perhaps they will offer their prayers
¹⁷ to Yahweh and each one turn from his evil way, for great is the anger and wrath ¹⁸ with which Yahweh has threatened this people." Baruch son of Neriah duly ¹⁹ carried out the order that the prophet Jeremiah had given him, to read all the ²⁰ words of Yahweh from the book in his Temple. He read the words of Jeremiah
²¹ from the book; this happened in the apartment of Gemariah, son of Shaphan ²² the secretary, in the upper court at the entry of the New Gate of the Temple of ²³ Yahweh, where all the people could hear.

²⁴ Micaiah son of Gemariah, son of Shaphan, had heard all the words of Yahweh ²⁵ read from the book, and he went down to the royal palace and into the ²⁶ secretary's room. All the officials were in session there: Elishama the secretary, ²⁷ Delaiah son of Shemaiah, Elnathan son of Achbor, Gemariah son of Shaphan, ²⁸ Zedekiah son of Hananiah and all the other officials. Micaiah reported to them ²⁹ all the words he had heard as Baruch was reading the book to the people. The ³⁰ officials then by common consent sent Jehudi son of Nethaniah to Baruch, with ³¹ Shelemiah son of Cushi, to give him this message, "Come, and bring the scroll ³² with you which you were reading to the people." Bringing the scroll with him, ³³ Baruch son of Neriah appeared before them. "Sit down," they said, "and read ³⁴ it out." So Baruch read it to them. When they had heard all the words they ³⁵ turned to one another in alarm and said, "We must certainly inform the king ³⁶ of all this." They then questioned Baruch: "Tell us," they said, "how you came ³⁷ to write all these words." "Jeremiah dictated them to me," Baruch replied, "and ³⁸ I wrote them down in ink in this book." The officials then said to Baruch, "You ³⁹ and Jeremiah had better go into hiding; and do not tell anyone where you are."
⁴⁰ Whereupon they went off to the king in the palace court, depositing the scroll ⁴¹ in the room of Elishama the secretary. And they informed the king of the ⁴² whole affair.

⁴³ The king sent Jehudi for the scroll, and he brought it from the room of Elishama ⁴⁴ the secretary and read it out to the king and all the officials standing around the ⁴⁵ king. The king was seated in his winter apartments—it was the ninth month—
⁴⁶ with a fire burning in a brazier in front of him. Each time Jehudi had read ⁴⁷ three or four columns, the king cut them off with a scribe's knife and threw them into the fire in the brazier until the whole of the scroll had been burned in the brazier fire. But even after hearing all these words, neither the king nor any of his servants took alarm or tore their garments; and although Elnathan and Delaiah and Gemariah had urged the king not to burn the scroll he would not listen to them. He ordered Prince Jerahmeel and Seraiah son of Azriel and Shelemiah son of Abdeel to arrest the scribe Baruch and the prophet Jeremiah. But Yahweh had hidden them.

And then the word of Yahweh was addressed to Jeremiah, after the king had burned the scroll containing the words Baruch had written at the dictation of Jeremiah, "Take another scroll and write down all the words that were written on the first scroll burned by Jehoiakim king of Judah. And as regards Jehoiakim king of Judah, say, 'Yahweh says this: You have burned this scroll, saying: Why have you written down: The king of Babylon will certainly come and lay this country waste and leave it without man or beast? And so, this is what Yahweh says about Jehoiakim king of Judah: He will have no one to sit on the throne of David, and his corpse will be tossed out to the heat of the day and the frost of the night. I will punish him, his heirs and his servants for their misdeeds; on them, on the citizens of Jerusalem and on the men of Judah I will bring down all the disasters with which I have threatened them, though they have not listened.'"

Jeremiah then took another scroll and gave it to the scribe Baruch son of Neriah, and at the dictation of Jeremiah he wrote down all the words of the book that Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned, with many similar words in addition.

A verdict on Zedekiah

(LXX 44:1-2)

37 Zedekiah son of Josiah became king, succeeding Coniah son of Jehoiakim: Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had made him king of the land of Judah. But neither he nor his servants nor the people of the country paid any attention to the words Yahweh spoke through the prophet Jeremiah.

Zedekiah consults Jeremiah during the respite of 588

King Zedekiah sent Jehucal son of Shelemiah and the priest Zephaniah son of Maaseiah to the prophet Jeremiah with this message, "Intercede for us with Yahweh our God." Now Jeremiah was still moving freely among the people: he had not yet been put in prison. Meanwhile Pharaoh's army was on the move from Egypt and the Chaldaeans besieging Jerusalem had raised the siege when they heard the news.

Then the word of Yahweh was addressed to the prophet Jeremiah, "Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this: To the king of Judah who sent you to consult me make this reply, 'Is Pharaoh's army marching to your aid? It will withdraw to its own country, Egypt. The Chaldaeans will return to attack this city; they will capture it and burn it down. Do not deceive yourselves and say: The Chaldaeans are leaving us for good. They are not leaving. Even if you cut to pieces the whole Chaldaean army now fighting against you until there were only the wounded left, they would stand up again, each man in his tent, to burn this city down.'"

The arrest of Jeremiah. Improvement in his treatment

At the time when the Chaldaean army, threatened by the army of Pharaoh, had raised the siege of Jerusalem, Jeremiah started to leave Jerusalem and go to the land of Benjamin, there among his own people to divide his property. He was at the Benjamin Gate when a sentry on duty there, Irijah son of Shelemiah, son of Hananiah, arrested the prophet Jeremiah. "You are deserting to the Chaldaeans!" he said. "It is a lie!" Jeremiah answered. "I am not deserting to the Chaldaeans." But Irijah would not listen to Jeremiah and took him under arrest to the officials. The officials, furious with Jeremiah, had him beaten and shut up in the house of Jonathan the secretary which had been turned into a prison. Thus Jeremiah found himself in an underground cell. And there for a long time he stayed.

King Zedekiah had him sent for, and he questioned him privately in his palace. "Is there any word from Yahweh?" he asked. "There is," Jeremiah answered. "'You will be handed over,' he said, 'into the power of the king of Babylon.'" Jeremiah then said to King Zedekiah, "What wrong have I done to you or your servants or this people, for you to put me in prison? Where are your prophets now who prophesied, 'The king of Babylon will not attack you or this country?' Let my lord king be pleased to listen to me now; let my request meet your favor. Do not have me taken back to the house of Jonathan the secretary, or I shall die there." King Zedekiah then gave an order, and Jeremiah was confined in the Court of the Guard and given a loaf of bread a day from the Street of the Bakers as long as there was bread left in the city. So Jeremiah stayed in the Court of the Guard.

Jeremiah is thrown into the cistern. Ebed-melech intervenes (LXX 45:1-13)

38 But Shephathiah son of Mattan, Gedaliah son of Pashhur, Jucal son of Shelemiah and Pashhur son of Malchiah heard the words which Jeremiah was saying to all the people. "Yahweh says this, 'Anyone who stays in this city will die by sword, famine or plague; but anyone who leaves it and surrenders to the Chaldaeans will live; he will escape with his life. Yahweh says this: This city will certainly be delivered into the power of the army of the king of Babylon, who will capture it.'"

These leading men accordingly spoke to the king. "Let this man be put to death: he is unquestionably disheartening the remaining soldiers in the city, and all the people too, by talking like this. The fellow does not have the welfare of this people at heart so much as its ruin." "He is in your hands as you know," King Zedekiah answered, "for the king is powerless against you." So they took Jeremiah and threw him into the well of Prince Malchiah in the Court of the Guard, letting him down with ropes. There was no water in the well, only mud, and into the mud Jeremiah sank.

But Ebed-melech the Cushite, a eunuch attached to the palace, heard that Jeremiah had been put into the well. As the king was sitting at the Benjamin Gate, Ebed-melech came out from the palace and spoke to the king. "My lord king," he said, "these men have done a wicked thing by treating the prophet Jeremiah like this: they have thrown him into the well where he will die." At this the king gave Ebed-melech the Cushite the following order: "Take three men with you from here and pull the prophet Jeremiah out of the well before he dies." Ebed-melech took the men with him and went into the palace to the storehouse wardrobe; out of it he took some torn, worn-out rags which he lowered on ropes to Jeremiah in the well. Ebed-melech the Cushite then said to Jeremiah, "These torn, worn-out rags are for you to put under your armpits to pad the ropes." Jeremiah did this. They then hauled Jeremiah up with the ropes and pulled him out of the well. And Jeremiah stayed in the Court of the Guard.

The last conversation between Jeremiah and Zedekiah (LXX 45:14-28)

King Zedekiah had the prophet Jeremiah summoned to him at the third entrance to the Temple of Yahweh. "I want to ask you for a word," the king said to Jeremiah, "keep nothing back from me." Jeremiah answered Zedekiah, "If I tell you, surely you will have me put to death? And if I give you advice, you will not listen to me." King Zedekiah then swore this oath in secret to Jeremiah, "As Yahweh lives, giver of this life of ours, I will neither have you put to death nor handed over into the power of these men who are determined to kill you.” 17 Jeremiah then said to Zedekiah, “Yahweh, the God of Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this, ‘If you go out and surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, your life will be safe and this city will not be burned down; you and 18 your family will survive. ‘But if you do not go out and surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, this city will be handed over into the power of the king of the Chaldaeans who will burn it down; and you yourself will not escape their 19 hands.’” ·King Zedekiah then said to Jeremiah, “I am afraid of the Jews who have already gone over to the Chaldaeans: I might be handed over to them and 20 they would ill-treat me.” “You will not be handed over to them,” Jeremiah replied, “just listen to the voice of Yahweh, in obedience to which I have spoken, and 21 all will go well with you and your life will be safe. ‘But if you refuse to go, 22 this is what Yahweh has shown me: a vision of all the women left in the palace of the king of Judah being led off to the officers of the king of Babylon and singing:

‘They have misled you, they have overreached you,
 your fine friends!
 Are your feet sinking in the mud?
 They are up and away!’

23 Yes, all your wives and children will be led off to the Chaldaeans, and you yourself will not escape their hands, but will be a prisoner in the clutches of the king of Babylon. And as for this city, it will be burned down.”

24 Zedekiah then said to Jeremiah, “Do not let anyone else hear these words or 25 you will die. ‘If the officials hear that I have been talking to you, and come to you and say, ‘Tell us what you said to the king and what the king said to you;
 26 keep nothing back from us, or we will put you to death,’ ·you must reply, ‘I presented this request to the king: that he would not have me sent back to the house of Jonathan to die there.’”

27 All the officials did in fact come to Jeremiah to question him. He told them exactly what the king had ordered him to say. They then left him in peace, since 28 no part of the conversation had been overheard. ·Jeremiah stayed in the Court of the Guard until the day Jerusalem was captured.

The fall of Jerusalem: the treatment Jeremiah received (LXX 45:28; 46:14)

Now when Jerusalem was captured . . .

1 39 In the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month,^a Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came with his whole army to attack Jerusa-2 lem and besieged it. ·In the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month,^b a breach was made in the city wall.

3 . . . all the officers of the king of Babylon marched in and took up their quarters at the Middle Gate: Nergal-sharezer, prince of Sin-magir, the chief officer, Nebushazban, the high official, and all the other officers of the king of Babylon . . .

4 Seeing this, Zedekiah king of Judah fled under cover of dark, with all the fighting men, leaving the city by way of the king’s garden through the gate 5 between the two walls, and making their way toward the Arabah.^c ·The Chaldaean troops pursued them and caught up with Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho. They captured him and took him up to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon at Riblah 6 in the land of Hamath, who passed sentence on him. ·The king of Babylon had the sons of Zedekiah slaughtered before his eyes at Riblah; the king of Babylon
 7 also had all the leading men of Judah put to death. ·He then put out Zedekiah’s 8 eyes and, loading him with chains, carried him off to Babylon. ·The Chaldaeans burned down the royal palace and the private houses, and demolished 9 the walls of Jerusalem. ·Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard, deported the remainder of the population left behind in the city, the deserters who had gone over to him, and the rest of the artisans to Babylon. ·Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard, left some of the humbler people who had nothing, in the land of Judah, at the same time giving them vineyards and fields.

11 Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had given the following orders to 12 Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard, about Jeremiah: “Take him, look after him; do him no harm, but treat him as he wishes.”

13 Whereupon (Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard), Nebushazban, the high official, Nergal-sharezer, the chief officer, and all the officers of the king of Babylon dispatched men.

14 . . . and they dispatched men to take Jeremiah from the Court of the Guard, and allowed him to move about freely. And so he lived among the people.

An oracle assuring the safety of Ebed-melech

15 While Jeremiah was confined in the Court of the Guard, the word of Yahweh
16 was addressed to him, “Go and say to Ebed-melech the Cushite, ‘Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this: See, I am bringing disaster, not prosperity, on this
17 city, as I said I would. That day, when this comes true before your eyes, ·I will rescue you that day—it is Yahweh who speaks—and you will not be delivered 18 into the hands of the men you fear. ·I will see that you escape: you are not going to fall to the sword; you will escape with your life, because you have put your trust in me—it is Yahweh who speaks.’”

Further details about the treatment of Jeremiah

(LXX 47:1-6)

1 40 The word addressed to Jeremiah by Yahweh after Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard, had released him from Ramah; there he had him singled out, chained as he was with all the other captives from Jerusalem
2 and Judah who were being deported to Babylon. ·Then taking Jeremiah aside, the commander of the guard said to him, “Yahweh your God foretold calamity
3 for this country, ·and now he has brought it. He has done what he threatened to do, because you had sinned against Yahweh and would not listen to his
4 voice; so all this has happened to you. ·Look, today I am having your hands unchained. If you like to come with me to Babylon, then come: I will look after you. If you do not want to come with me to Babylon, never mind. Look, you have the whole country to choose from: you may go where you please, wherever 5 you choose. ·You can, for instance, go back to Gedaliah son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon has appointed governor of the towns of Judah, and stay with him and live with the people; or you can go anywhere else you choose.” With that, the commander of the guard provided him with food and 6 gave him a present and sent him on his way. ·Jeremiah went to Mizpah to Gedaliah son of Ahikam and stayed with him, living with the people still left in the country.

Gedaliah the governor; his assassination

7 When all the commanders of the troops, who with their men were still roaming the countryside, heard that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam as governor of the country, making him responsible for the men, women and children, and those humbler people of the country who had
8 not been deported to Babylon, ·they went to Gedaliah at Mizpah: Ishmael son of Nethaniah, Johanan son of Kareah, Seraiah son of Tanhumeth, the sons of Ephai the Netophathite, Jezaniah son of the Maacathite, they and their men.
9 To them and to their men Gedaliah son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan, swore an oath. “Do not be afraid,” he said, “of submitting to the Chaldaeans: but live in the country, and obey the king of Babylon, and all will go well with you.
10 I for my part, as the man answerable to the Chaldaeans when they come to us, am going to live here at Mizpah; but you can harvest your wine, summer fruits and oil, fill your storage jars and settle down in those towns which you care to occupy.”

11 Similarly, when all the Judaeans living in Moab and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant in Judah and had appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan, as their governor, 12 they all came back from all the places to which they had been dispersed. On their return to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah at Mizpah, they harvested an immense quantity of wine and summer fruits.

13 Now Johanan son of Kareah, and all the army leaders still roaming in the countryside, went to Gedaliah at Mizpah and said to him, “Are you aware that Baalis king of the Ammonites has sent Ishmael son of Nethaniah to murder you?” But Gedaliah son of Ahikam would not believe them. Johanan son of Kareah had even told Gedaliah secretly at Mizpah, “Let me go and kill Ishmael son of Nethaniah, and no one will know who did it. Why should he murder you? It would mean that all the Judaeans who have rallied around you would be scattered again. Why should the remnant of Judah perish?” But Gedaliah son of Ahikam replied to Johanan son of Kareah, “You must not do this; what you say about Ishmael is false.”

1 41 But in the seventh month, Ishmael son of Nethaniah, son of Elishama, who was of royal descent, and ten men with him, came to Gedaliah son of Ahikam at Mizpah. And as they were taking their meal together, there at 2 Mizpah, Ishmael son of Nethaniah stood up with his ten men, and attacking Gedaliah son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan, with their swords, murdered the 3 man whom the king of Babylon had made governor of the country. And all the Judaeans who were with him at the feast, and those of the Chaldaeans who happened to be there—they were fighting men—Ishmael killed too.

4 On the day after the murder of Gedaliah, before the news had become 5 known, eighty men arrived from Shechem, Shiloh and Samaria, with their beards shaved off, their garments torn and their bodies gashed; they had 6 oblations and incense with them to take to the Temple of Yahweh. Ishmael son of Nethaniah left Mizpah to meet them as they approached, weeping as they 7 went. When he met them he said, “Come to Gedaliah son of Ahikam.” But once they were well inside the town, Ishmael son of Nethaniah slaughtered them, 8 with the help of his men, and threw them into a cistern. There were ten of them, however, who said to Ishmael, “Do not kill us: we have stocks of wheat and barley, oil and honey, hidden away in the fields.” So he spared them and did 9 not kill them with their brothers. The cistern into which Ishmael threw the corpses of all the men he had killed was a large cistern which King Asa had built as a precaution against Baasha king of Israel. Ishmael son of Nethaniah 10 filled it with the bodies of his victims. Then Ishmael led the entire remnant of the people at Mizpah away, and the royal princesses whom Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard, had left in the care of Gedaliah son of Ahikam. Ishmael son of Nethaniah set out early to cross to the Ammonites.

11 When Johanan son of Kareah and all the army leaders who were with him 12 heard about all the crimes committed by Ishmael son of Nethaniah, mustering all their men, they set out to attack Ishmael son of Nethaniah. They caught up 13 with him at the great Pool of Gibeon. At the sight of Johanan son of Kareah and all the army leaders with him, all the people with Ishmael were beside 14 themselves with joy. All the people whom Ishmael had led away from Mizpah 15 turned about and rallied to Johanan son of Kareah. Ishmael son of Nethaniah escaped from Johanan with eight of his men and fled to the Ammonites. 16 Johanan son of Kareah and all the army leaders with him then rallied the entire remnant of the people whom Ishmael son of Nethaniah had led away from Mizpah after the murder of Gedaliah son of Ahikam: men, women and children, and 17 eunuchs, whom Johanan brought back from Gibeon. They set out, making a halt at Khan Kimham near Bethlehem. Their plan was to make for Egypt, 18 away from the Chaldaeans, of whom they were now terrified because Ishmael son of Nethaniah had killed Gedaliah son of Ahikam whom the king of Babylon had made governor of the country.

The flight to Egypt

42 Then all the army leaders, with Johanan son of Kareah and Azariah son of Hoshaiiah, and all the people from least to greatest, approached the prophet Jeremiah and said, "May it please you to hear our request! Intercede with Yahweh your God for all this remnant—and how few we are who once were so many, your own eyes can now see—so that Yahweh your God may show us the way we are to go and what we must do." The prophet Jeremiah replied, "I hear you; and I will indeed pray to Yahweh your God as you ask; and every word Yahweh your God replies I will tell you, keeping nothing back from you." They in their turn said to Jeremiah, "May Yahweh be a true and faithful witness against us, if we do not follow the instructions that Yahweh your God sends us through you. Whether we like it or not, we mean to obey the voice of Yahweh our God to whom we send you to speak for us, and by thus obeying the voice of Yahweh our God we will prosper."

Ten days later the word of Yahweh was addressed to Jeremiah. He then summoned Johanan son of Kareah and all the army leaders who were with him, and all the people from least to greatest. He said, "Yahweh, the God of Israel, to whom you delegated me to offer your request says this: 'If you are willing to remain peaceably in this country, I will build you and not overthrow you; I will plant you, not tear you up. For I am sorry for the evil I have done to you. Do not be afraid of the king of Babylon any longer; do not fear him—it is Yahweh who speaks—for I am with you to save you and deliver you from his hands. I will take pity on you, and move him to pity you and let you return to your native soil. But if you say: We do not want to stay in this country; if you disobey the voice of Yahweh your God, and say: No, the land of Egypt is where we want to go, where we shall not see war nor hear the sound of trumpet, nor lack for bread; that is where we want to live; in that case, remnant of Judah, listen to the word of Yahweh. Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this: If you are determined to go to Egypt, and if you do go and settle there, the sword you fear will overtake you, there in the land of Egypt; the famine you dread will follow on your heels, right into Egypt; you shall die there. All the men who are determined to go to Egypt and settle there shall die by sword, famine and plague: not one survivor will escape the disaster I mean to bring them. Yes, Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this: Just as my anger and my fury have been poured out on the citizens of Jerusalem, so will my fury be poured out on you if you go to Egypt: you will become an object of execration and horror, a curse, a laughingstock; and you will never see this place again.'"

However, when Jeremiah had finished telling all the people all the words of Yahweh their God, with which Yahweh had entrusted him for them—all the words quoted above—Azariah son of Hoshaiiah, and Johanan son of Kareah, and all those arrogant and apostate men, said to Jeremiah, "You are lying. Yahweh did not instruct you to say, 'Do not go to Egypt and settle there.' It is Baruch son of Neriah who keeps encouraging you to thwart us, to hand us over into the power of the Chaldaeans, who will either put us to death or deport us to Babylon!"

42 "Remnant of Judah!" Jeremiah answered, "Yahweh himself tells you, 'Do not go into Egypt.' Understand this clearly: today I have given you solemn warning. You were playing with your own lives when you made me your envoy to Yahweh your God and said, 'Intercede for us with Yahweh our God; tell us what Yahweh our God orders and we will do it.' And now that I have told you, you have not obeyed the voice of Yahweh your God today, or any part of the message he gave me for you. So understand this clearly: you are going to die by sword, famine and plague in the place where you have been wanting to go and settle."

4 43 Despite this, Johanan son of Kareah and all the army leaders and 5 all the people would not obey the voice of Yahweh and stay in the 6 land of Judah. ·Johanan son of Kareah and all the army leaders led off the entire 7 remnant of Judah, those who had come back from all the nations into which 8 they had been dispersed, to live in the land of Judah: ·men, women, children, 9 the royal princesses too, and every single person entrusted to Gedaliah son of 10 Ahikam, son of Shaphan, by Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard; they also 11 led off the prophet Jeremiah and Baruch son of Neriah. ·And so, disregarding the voice of Yahweh, they reached the land of Egypt and arrived at Tahpanhes.

Jeremiah foretells the invasion of Egypt by Nebuchadnezzar (LXX 50:8-13)

8 At Tahpanhes the word of Yahweh was addressed to Jeremiah, ·“Take 9 some large stones and bury them in the presence of the men of Judah in the 10 cement on the square outside the entrance of Pharaoh’s palace in Tahpanhes.
 11 Then say to them, ‘Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this: I am sending for Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, my servant; he will place his throne over these stones that I have buried, and spread his canopy above them. ·He is coming to strike the land of Egypt:

Those for the plague, to the plague;
 those for captivity, into captivity;
 those for the sword, to the sword!

12 He will set fire to the temples of the gods of Egypt; he will burn these gods or carry them off; as a shepherd picks his cloak clean of vermin, so will he pick 13 Egypt clean and leave without interference.^a ·He will break the obelisks of the temple of the Sun at On^b and burn down the temples of the gods of Egypt.”

The last episode of Jeremiah’s ministry: the Jews and the Queen of Heaven
 (LXX 51:1-30)

1 44 The word that was addressed to Jeremiah for all the Jews living in the 2 land of Egypt with homes in Migdol, Tahpanhes, Noph and the land of Pathros.^a
 3 “Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this: You have seen all the 4 misery I have brought down on Jerusalem and the towns of Judah; today they 5 lie in ruins and uninhabited. ·This was because of the wicked deeds which they 6 committed to provoke me, offering incense and serving alien gods which neither 7 they, nor you, nor your ancestors ever knew. ·I persistently sent you all my 8 servants the prophets; I sent them to say, ‘Do not commit this abomination
 9 that I find so hateful.’ ·But they would not listen, would not pay attention 10 and so turn from their wicked deeds and no longer offer incense to alien gods.
 And so my fury and my anger overflowed, burning down the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem, which were reduced to ruins and wasteland, as they still are today. ·And now, Yahweh, the God of Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this: Why bring the same disaster on yourselves? Do you want to destroy all the men, women, children and babes in arms, out of Judah, and leave yourselves no remnant, ·by provoking me with the work of your own hands, offering incense to alien gods in the land of Egypt where you have come to settle, thus working for your own destruction, to become a curse and a laughingstock for all the nations of the earth? ·Have you forgotten the crimes of your ancestors, of the kings of Judah and of their wives, your own crimes, the crimes of your own wives, committed in the land of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? ·To this day they have felt neither contrition nor fear; they have not observed my Law nor the statutes I proclaimed before you, as before your ancestors. Therefore—Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this: Now I mean to turn my face against you to bring disaster, and exterminate the whole of Judah. The remnant of Judah who resolved to come to the land of Egypt and to settle there, I will remove: they will all perish in the land of Egypt; they will fall to the sword or perish of famine, from least to greatest; by sword and famine they will die; they will be an object of execration and horror, a curse, a laughingstock. I will deal as severely with these who have made their home in the land of Egypt, as I dealt with Jerusalem, with sword, famine and plague. Of the remnant of Judah settled in the land of Egypt, not one survivor is going to escape to return to the land of Judah where they long to live once again. For none of them are going to return, except for a few refugees.”

At this, all the men who knew that their wives offered incense to alien gods, and all the women who were standing there, a large assembly (with all the people living in Pathros in the land of Egypt), answered Jeremiah as follows, “We have no intention of listening to this word you have spoken to us in Yahweh’s name, but intend to go on doing all we vowed to do: offering incense to the Queen of Heaven and pouring libations in her honor, as we used to do, we and our fathers, our kings and our leaders, in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem: we had food in plenty then, we lived well, we suffered no disasters. But since we gave up offering incense to the Queen of Heaven and pouring libations in her honor, we have been destitute and have perished either by sword or by famine.” The women added, “When we offer incense to the Queen of Heaven and pour libations in her honor, do you think we makes cakes for her with her features on them, and pour libations to her, without our husbands’ knowledge?”

To all the people, men and women; all those who had made this answer, Jeremiah retorted, “The incense you offered in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, you, your fathers, your kings, your leaders, and the people of the country—is not this what Yahweh remembered, what came to his mind? Yahweh could no longer endure your misdeeds and your detestable practices; this is why your country has today become a desert, an object of horror and a curse, uninhabited. And this has happened because you offered incense, because you sinned against Yahweh, refusing to listen to the voice of Yahweh, or to observe his Law, his statutes and his decrees; this is the cause of the disaster that has overtaken you—as is the case today.”

Then Jeremiah spoke to all the people, and particularly to all the women, “Listen to the word of Yahweh: Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this, ‘You women, what your mouth promises, your hands should certainly perform! You have said: We will perform the vows we have made without fail and offer incense to the Queen of Heaven and pour libations in her honor. Very well, keep your vows, make your libations! But listen to the word of Yahweh, all you Judaeans living in the land of Egypt: I swear by my great name, Yahweh says, that my name shall be spoken no more by any man of Judah throughout the land of Egypt; not one shall say: As the Lord Yahweh lives.’ Yes, I will watch over them for their ruin, not for their good; all the men of Judah in the land of Egypt shall perish either by the sword or by famine until they are wiped out. Yet, though few in number, those who escape the sword will return to the land of Judah from the land of Egypt. Then the entire remnant of Judah who have come to settle in the land of Egypt will know whose word came true, mine or theirs.

And here is the proof for you—it is Yahweh who speaks—that I mean to deal with you in this place: so that you may know that the words with which I threaten you will come true: Yahweh says this: I will hand the pharaoh Hophra,^c king of Egypt, over to his enemies and to those determined to kill him, just as I handed Zedekiah king of Judah over to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, his enemy who was bent on killing him.”

An oracle of comfort for Baruch

(LXX 51:31-35)

1 45 The word that the prophet Jeremiah addressed to Baruch son of Neriah
2 when the latter wrote these words down in a book at the dictation of 3 Jeremiah in the fourth year of Jehoiakim^a son of Josiah, king of Judah, "This 4 is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, says about you, Baruch! "Since you have 5 said, 'I despair, for Yahweh has added sorrow to my ordeals! I am worn out with groaning, and find no relief!' "Yahweh says this, 'Now I am knocking down what I have built, tearing up what I have planted: I am going to strike the whole earth. "And here you are asking for special treatment! Do not ask, for I am now going to bring down disaster on all mankind—it is Yahweh who speaks. As for you, I will let you escape with your own life, wherever you may go.'"

II (continued). ORACLES AGAINST THE NATIONSB. THE ORACLES IN DETAIL

1 46 The words of Yahweh which were addressed to the prophet Jeremiah against the nations.

Oracles against Egypt. The defeat at Carchemish

(LXX 26, 2-12)

2 On Egypt.

Against the army of Pharaoh Neco, king of Egypt, which took up position near the river Euphrates by Carchemish,^a when it was defeated by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah.

3 Have buckler ready, and shield:
 onward to battle!
4 Harness the horses:
 into the saddle, horsemen!
 To your ranks! On with your helmets!
 Sharpen your spears,
 put on your breastplates! . . .
5 What do I see?
 They are panic-stricken,
 in full retreat!
 Their heroes, beaten back,
 are fleeing headlong
 with not a look behind.
 Terror from every side!
 —it is Yahweh who speaks.
6 The fastest cannot escape,
 nor the bravest save himself:
 there in the north, there by the river Euphrates,
 they have collapsed, have fallen.
7 Who was it rose like the Nile,
 its waters foaming like a torrent?
8 Why, Egypt rose like the Nile,
 its waters foaming like a torrent.
 "I will rise," he said, "and drown the earth;

b. The worshipers of Ishtar, queen of heaven, also made a show of invoking Yahweh.

c. Hophra succeeded Neco in 588; he was dethroned and executed in 569.

45 a. 605 B.C.

46 a. 605 B.C.

- sweep towns and their inhabitants away!
 9 Charge, horses!
 Crash on, chariots!
 Advance, warriors,
 you men from Cush and Put with shield in hand,
 you men from Lud who bend the bow!"^b 10 Now, this is the day of the Lord Yahweh,
 a day of vengeance for his revenge on his enemies:
 his sword will eat them up and have its fill,
 will grow drunk with their blood.
 Yes, the Lord Yahweh Sabaoth has a sacrifice to make in the north country, by the river Euphrates.
- 11 Go up to Gilead in search of balm,
 virgin daughter of Egypt!
 You multiply remedies in vain,
 nothing can cure you.
- 12 The nations have heard of your shame,
 the dirge raised for you fills the earth:
 for warrior has stumbled against warrior,
 and both have fallen.

The invasion of Egypt

(LXX 26:13-28)

- 13 The word that Yahweh addressed to the prophet Jeremiah when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon set out to attack the land of Egypt.
- 14 Publish it in Migdol,
 proclaim it in Noph.
 Say, "To your posts! At the ready!" for the sword is devouring around you.
- 15 What! Has Apis^c fled?
 Has your Strong One not stood firm?
 16 Yes, Yahweh has knocked him flat!
 He tottered, and now he has fallen down!
 Then they said to each other,
 "Up! Let us go back to our own people,
 to the country where we were born,
 far from the destroying sword!"
- 17 Give this name to Pharaoh:
 "Much-noise-but-he-lets-the-chance-slip-by!"
- 18 As I live—it is the King who speaks
 whose name is Yahweh Sabaoth—
 someone will come, a Tabor among mountains,
 a Carmel high above the sea.
- 19 Get your bundle ready for exile,
 daughter of Egypt, so safe in your home!
 Noph will be reduced to a desert,
 desolate, uninhabited.
- 20 Egypt was a splendid heifer,
 but a gadfly from the North has settled on her.
- 21 The mercenaries she had with her, these too were as sleek as fattened calves:
 but they too have taken to their heels,
 they all run at once and cannot hold their ground.
 For on them comes the day of their disaster,
 their time of reckoning.

- 22 Listen: a sound like a serpent hissing!
Yes, they are coming in force to fall on her with their axes,
with woodcutters,
- 23 they will fell her forest—it is Yahweh who speaks.
Yes, they are past counting,
outnumbering the locusts,
innumerable.
- 24 The daughter of Egypt is put to shame,
handed over to a people from the North.
- 25 Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, has said: Now I mean to punish Amon 26 of No,^d with Pharaoh and those who put their trust in him. I will hand him over to those who are determined to kill him, over to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, over to his servants. But in later days, Egypt will be inhabited again as in the past—it is Yahweh who speaks.
- 27 But do not be afraid, my servant Jacob,
Israel, do not be alarmed:
look, I will rescue you from distant countries
and your descendants from the country where they are captive.
Jacob will have quiet again
and live at ease, with no one to trouble him.
- 28 Do not be afraid, my servant Jacob
—it is Yahweh who speaks—for I am with you:
I will make an end of all the nations
where I have scattered you;
I will not make an end of you,
only discipline you in moderation,
so as not to let you go entirely unpunished.

Oracle against the Philistines

(LXX 29:1-7)

- 1 47 The word of Yahweh that was addressed to Jeremiah against the 2 Philistines before Pharaoh took Gaza by storm. Yahweh says this:

- See how the waters rise from the North,
and become an overflowing torrent, overflowing the country and all it contains,
the towns and their inhabitants!
Men shout aloud, and there is wailing from all the inhabitants of the country, 3 at the thunder of his stallions' hoofs,
the crash of his chariots, the grinding of his wheels.
Fathers forget about their children,
their hands fall limp
4 because the day has come on which all the Philistines are to be destroyed, on which Tyre and Sidon are to be stripped to the last of their auxiliaries.
Yes, Yahweh is destroying the Philistines,
the remnant from the Isle of Caphtor.
5 A shaven scalp for Gaza!
Silence over Ashkelon!
Ashdod, all that is left of the Anakim,

b. Cush is Ethiopia; Put is Somaliland and the "men from Lud" are a neighboring African people. c. The sacred bull of Ptah, god of Memphis. d. Thebes, the god of which was Amon.

6 how long will you gash yourselves?^a Oh, sword of Yahweh,
 how long before you rest?
 Back into your scabbard,
 stop, keep still!
 7 Yet how can it rest
 when Yahweh has given it an order?
 Ashkelon and the sea coast,
 these are the targets assigned to it.

Oracles against Moab

(LXX 31)

1 48 On Moab. Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this:

Woe to Nebo, for it has been ravaged, Kiriathaim has been taken,
 all is confusion and alarm in the fortress:
 2 it is no longer the boast of Moab!
 At Heshbon^a they plotted her downfall,
 "Come on! Let us blot her out from the nations!"
 And you too, Madmen, you will be subdued,
 the sword is close on you.
 3 Hark! From the Abarim a shout, "Devastation! Dire calamity!" 4 "Moab is shattered"
 the cry echoes as far as Zoar.
 5 Ah, slopes of Luhith,
 they go up them weeping.
 At the descent of Horonaim
 cries of distress are heard, 6 "Away! Flee for your lives!
 Run like the wild asses in the desert!"
 7 Yes, since you trusted in your strongholds
 you will be captured too.
 Chemosh^b will go into exile,
 with all his priests and his nobles.
 8 The destroyer will descend on every town,
 no one will escape;
 the Valley will be despoiled, the Plain be plundered:
 Yahweh proclaims it!
 9 Give Moab a tomb,
 since she is totally destroyed;
 her towns are in ruins,
 with no one to live in them.

10 (Cursed be he who does the work of Yahweh halfheartedly! Cursed be he who grudges blood to his sword!)

11 From his youth Moab lived at ease,
 he settled on his lees,
 never having been decanted,
 never having gone into exile:
 and so he kept his own flavor,
 his aroma was unchanged.^c

12 And so the days are coming—it is Yahweh who speaks—when I shall send him decanters to decant him; they will empty his storage jars and break his 13 amphorae to bits. Moab will blush for Chemosh then, as the House of Israel blushed for Bethel^d in whom they put their trust.

14 How can you say, "We are heroes, sturdy fighting men?"
15 The destroyer of Moab has advanced on him:
the flower of his youth goes down to the slaughter.
16 Moab's ruin is coming soon,
his downfall comes at top speed.
17 Grieve for him, all you living near him,
all you who knew his name.
Say, "Imagine it being broken, that mighty rod,
that splendid scepter!"

18 Come down from your glory, sit in the dung, daughter of Dibon, so safe in your home:
the destroyer of Moab has advanced on you,
he has stormed your strongholds.
19 Stand by the roadside, keep watch, inhabitants of Aroer.
Question fugitive and runaway,
ask, "What has happened?"
20 Moab is shattered and shamed.
Wail and shriek!
Shout across the Arnon,
"Moab has been laid waste!"

21 Judgment has also come on the land of the Plain, on Holon, Jahzah, Mephaath, 22,24 Dibon, Nebo, Beth-diblathaim, •Kiriathaim, Beth-gamul, Beth-meon, •Kerioth, Bozrah, and all the towns in the land of Moab, far and near.

25 The horn of Moab has been cut off, and his arm broken.

26 Make him drunk! He has set himself up against Yahweh: Moab will wallow 27 in his vomit, become a laughingstock in his turn. •Was not Israel a laughingstock to you? Was he caught red-handed with the thieves, for you to shake your head whenever you mention him?

28 Leave the towns, make the rocks your home, inhabitants of Moab.
Learn from the dove that makes its nest
in the walls of the gaping gorge.

29 We have heard of the pride of Moab,
excessive pride!
What arrogance! What pride! What conceit!
What a haughty heart!
30 —I know all about his presumption—it is Yahweh who speaks—his empty boasting,
those empty deeds of his!
31 —And so I lament for Moab,
for all Moab I cry aloud,
and mourn for the men of Kir-heres.^c 32 More than for Jazer I weep for you, vine of Sibmah:
your shoots stretched beyond the sea,

47 a. Self-inflicted wounds, like the shaven head, were a sign of mourning.

48 a. There are Hebrew puns on the similar sounds of "l'leshbob" and "plotted"; and "Madmen" and "subdued." b. God of Moabites. c. Moab was famous for wine. d. The sanctuary of the Northern Kingdom, a rival to Jerusalem. e. The capital of Moab, now Kerak.

they reached all the way to Jazer.
 On your harvest, on your vintage,
 the destroyer has descended.
 33 Gladness and joy have vanished
 from the land of Moab.
 There is no longer wine in the presses,
 the treader of grapes treads no more,
 no more do shouts of joy ring out.

34 The howling of Heshbon and Elealeh can be heard as far as Jahaz. The shrieks resound from Zoar to Horonaim and Eglath-shelishiyah, for the waters of Nimrim too are now becoming desolation.

35 And I shali make an end—it is Yahweh who speaks—of any man in Moab who offers sacrifice and incense to his god on the high places.

36 That is why my heart sobs like a flute for Moab, sobs like a flute for the 37 men of Kir-heres: that accumulated treasure all lost! •Yes, every head is shorn, every beard cut off, gashes are on the hands of all, sackcloth around all their 38 loins. •On all the housetops of Moab and in its squares there is nothing but lamenting, for I have broken Moab like a crock that no one wants—it is 39 Yahweh who speaks. •What! Broken? What! Moab so shamefully in retreat?
 What! Moab become a laughingstock, a thing of horror to all its neighbors?

40 For Yahweh says this:
 (Here is one who hovers like an eagle, who will spread his wings over Moab.) 41 The towns will be captured,
 the strongholds seized.

(And the heart of Moab's warriors that day will be like the heart of a woman in labor pains.)

42 Moab will be destroyed, no longer a people,
 for setting itself up against Yahweh.
 43 Terror, the pit, the snare,
 are for you, inhabitant of Moab—
 it is Yahweh who speaks:
 44 the man who takes flight from the terror
 shall fall into the pit,
 climbing out of the pit,
 he shall be caught in the snare.
 Yes, these are the scourges I mean to inflict on Moab
 when the year comes to punish them—
 it is Yahweh who speaks.
 45 In the shelter of Heshbon the fugitives have paused, exhausted.
 But a fire has come out from Heshbon,
 a flame from the palace of Sihon, consuming the brows of Moab,
 the head of a turbulent brood.
 46 Woe to you, Moab!
 People of Chemosh, you are lost!
 For your sons have been taken into exile,
 and your daughters into captivity.
 47 But I will restore the fortunes of Moab
 in the days to come. It is Yahweh who speaks.

Thus far the judgment on Moab.

Oracle against Ammon

Yahweh says this:
 Has Israel no sons?
 Has he no heir?
 Why should Milcom have inherited Gad
 and his people have settled in its towns?
² And so the days are coming
 —it is Yahweh who speaks—
 when I will make the war cry ring out for Rabbath-of-the-Ammonites:
 she will become a deserted ruin,
 her daughter towns burned down.
 Israel will then despoil his despoilers,
 Yahweh proclaims.
³ Heshbon lament! The destroyer is on the march.
 Cry aloud, daughters of Rabbah!
 Wrap yourself in sackcloth, raise the dirge,
 walk about with your bodies gashed.
 For Milcom is going into exile,
 with all his priests and his nobles.
⁴ So you boast of your valley,
 thoughtless girl!
 Confident of your resources, you say,
 “Who will dare to attack me?”
⁵ But I will bring down on you
 terror from every side;
 you shall be driven away, each man making his own way,
 with no one to rally the fugitives.

⁶ (But later I will restore the fortunes of the sons of Ammon. It is Yahweh who speaks.)

Oracle against Edom

⁷ On Edom.

Yahweh says this:
 Is there no wisdom left in Teman?
 Have the shrewd run out of commonsense,
 has their wisdom gone stale?
⁸ Away! Take to your heels! Go into hiding, inhabitants of Dedan!
 For I will bring down ruin on Esau,
 at the time when I must punish him.
⁹ If grape gatherers come to you,
 they will leave no gleanings behind them;
 if robbers come at night,
 they will loot to their heart's content.
¹⁰ For I myself am despoiling Esau,
 I lay his hiding places bare until he has no cover left.
 His race is destroyed: it is no more!
 Of his neighbors, not one will say,
¹¹ “Leave your orphans, I will keep them alive,
 your widows can rely on me.”

12 For Yahweh says this: Those who were not bound to drink the cup have to drink it now; so why should you go unpunished? You will not go unpunished: you too must drink! For by my own self I have sworn it—it is Yahweh who speaks: Bozrah^a is to become an object of horror, a laughingstock, a desert, a curse, and all its towns ruins for ever.

14 I have received a message from Yahweh, a herald has been sent throughout the nations, "Muster! March against this people! Prepare for battle!"

15 For now I will reduce you among the nations, make you despised among mankind:

16 your reputation for ferocity, your pride of heart, have led you astray, you whose home is in the holes in the rocks, who cling to the topmost peaks! Though you made your nest high as the eagle, I would still fling you down again—it is Yahweh who speaks.

17 Edom will become a desolation; every passer-by will be appalled at it, and whistle in amazement at such calamity. As at the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah and their neighboring towns, no one will live there any more, Yahweh proclaims, no man will make his home there ever again.

19 See how the lion climbs from the thickets of the Jordan to a perennial pasture!

So shall I chase them suddenly away, and place there whom I please.

For who is there like me?

Who can hale me into court?

Name me the shepherd who can stand up to me.

20 So now hear the plan that Yahweh has made for Edom, the schemes he has in mind for the inhabitants of Teman:

yes, even the weakest of the flock will be dragged away.

At such a sight their pastures will shudder with dread.

21 Earth trembles at the crash of their downfall, the sound of it echoes as far as the Sea of Reeds.

22 Here is someone who soars and hovers like an eagle, who will spread his wings over Bozrah.

And the heart of Edom's warriors that day will be like the heart of a woman in labor pains.

Oracle against the towns of Syria

(LXX 30:29–33)

23 On Damascus:

Hamath is in confusion, so is Arpad^b; they have heard bad news.

Their heart is faint with fear and cannot be calmed.

24 Damascus is unmanned, she prepares for flight, she is seized with trembling (anguish and sorrow have laid hold on her as on a woman in labor).

25 What now! That famous town deserted, that city of gaiety?

26 And so in her squares her young men will fall, and all her fighting men will perish, that day. It is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.

27 I will light a fire inside the walls of Damascus, it shall devour the palaces of Ben-hadad.

Oracle against the Arab tribes

(LXX 30:23-28)

28 On Kedar and the kingdoms of Hazor, which were conquered by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. Yahweh says this:

Up! March on Kedar, destroy the sons of the East!
29 Let their tents and their flocks be captured,
their fabrics, all their gear,
and their camels too.
Let the shout be raised for them: "Terror on every side!"
30 Away! Get into hiding as fast as you can, citizens of Hazor! It is Yahweh who speaks.
For Nebuchadnezzar has made a plan for you,
he has a scheme in mind for you: 31 "Up! March on a nation at its ease, that dwells in confidence,
that has no gates, no bars,
that lives in a remote place!
32 Their camels will be the plunder,
their countless sheep the spoil."
I will scatter them to the winds,
those Crop-Heads,
and bring disaster down on them from every side,
it is Yahweh who speaks.
33 Hazor will become a lair for jackals,
a desert for ever.
No one will live there any more.
no man make his home there ever again.

Oracle against Elam

(LXX 25:14-20)

34 The word of Yahweh that was addressed to the prophet Jeremiah about 35 Elam, at the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah. Yahweh Sabaoth says this:

I am going to break the bow of Elam,
the source of all his might.
36 I will bring four winds down on Elam
from the four corners of the sky,

and I will scatter the Elamites to the winds: there will not be a single nation into which the Elamites have not been driven for refuge.

37 I will make the Elamites tremble before their enemies, before those determined to kill them.
I will bring down disaster on them,
my own fierce anger.
I will pursue them with the sword
until I have destroyed them all.
38 I will set up my throne in Elam,
and purge it of king and nobles.
It is Yahweh who speaks.

49 a. The principal Edomite stronghold, north of Petra. b. Hamath is on the river Orontes, Arpad to the north of Aleppo.

³⁹ But in the days to come I will restore the fortunes of Elam. It is Yahweh who speaks.

Oracle against Babylon

(LXX 27:1)

¹ 50 The word that Yahweh spoke against Babylon, against the country of the Chaldaeans, through the prophet Jeremiah.

The fall of Babylon and the liberation of Israel

(LXX 27:2-20)

² Publish it among the nations, proclaim it;
make no secret of it, say:
"Babylon is captured, Bel disgraced,
Merodach shattered.^a (Her idols are disgraced, her Obscenities shattered.)"

³ For a nation is marching on her from the North,
to turn her country into a desert:
no one will live there any more;
man and beast have fled and gone.

⁴ In those days and at that time
the sons of Israel will return:
they will come weeping
in search of Yahweh their God.

⁵ They will ask the way to Zion,
their faces will turn in that direction:
"Come," they say, "let us bind ourselves to Yahweh
by an everlasting covenant never to be forgotten!"

⁶ Lost sheep, such were my people;
their shepherds led them astray, left them wandering in the mountains;
from mountain to hill they went,
forgetful of their fold.

⁷ Whoever came across them devoured them,
their enemies said, "No blame to us;
it is because they have sinned against Yahweh their true fold and the hope of their fathers."

⁸ Escape out of Babylon, from the country of the Chaldaeans.
Go! Act like the he-goats,
be leaders of the flock.

⁹ See, I am raising a league of mighty nations against Babylon.
They will come from the land of the North, will draw up the battle line against her:
there she will be captured;
their arrows are like a victorious warrior,
never returning empty-handed.

¹⁰ Chaldaeia will be plundered,
all who plunder her will have their fill.

¹¹ Rejoice, if you like! Have your triumph, you plunderers of my heritage!
Be playful like calves let out to grass!
Neigh like stallions!

¹² But your mother is covered with shame,
disgraced is the woman who bore you;
she is the least of nations now;

- a wilderness, a parched land, a desert.
 13 The fury of Yahweh will leave her uninhabited,
 she will become an empty solitude.
 All who pass by Babylon will be appalled at it,
 and whistle in amazement at such calamity.
- 14 Draw yourself up against Babylon, surround her,
 all you who bend the bow.
 Shoot! Do not spare your arrows.
 15 Raise the war cry against her from all sides.
 She surrenders! Her bastions fall!
 Her walls collapse!
 This is the vengeance of Yahweh. Take revenge on her.
 Treat her as she has treated others.
- 16 Deprive Babylon of the man who sows,
 of the man who wields the sickle at harvest.
 Escape from the destroying sword,
 let everyone return to his own people,
 let everyone escape to his own country!
- 17 Israel was a straying sheep hunted by lions.

First, the king of Assyria devoured him; next, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon 18 crunched his bones. Therefore—Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this: Now
 I will punish the king of Babylon and his country as I punished the king of Assyria.

- 19 I will bring Israel back to his pastures
 to browse on Carmel and in Bashan, and on the highlands of Ephraim and in Gilead to eat his fill.
 20 In those days and at that time
 you may look for Israel's iniquity, it will not be there, for Judah's sins, you will not find them.
 For I will pardon the remnant that I leave.

The fall of Babylon proclaimed to Jerusalem

(LXX 27:21–28)

- 21 March up to the land of Merathaim;
 march against it
 and against the inhabitants of Pekod;
 follow them;
 brandish the sword, let their destruction be complete,
 it is Yahweh who speaks.
 Do everything I have ordered!^b
- 22 The din of battle fills the country, immense destruction.
- 23 What! Broken to pieces that hammer of the whole world?
 What! Babylon become a thing of horror,
 throughout the nations?
- 24 A snare was set for you, and you were caught before you knew it.

50 a. Bel and Marduk (Merodach) are two names of the tutelary god of Babylon. b. The orders are addressed to the invaders of Babylon. Merathaim is the Tigris delta region; Pekod a region east of Babylon.

You have been found out and overpowered,
because you defied Yahweh.

- 25 Yahweh has opened his armory
and taken out the weapons of his fury.
For the Lord Yahweh has work to do in the country of the Chaldaeans.
- 26 Fall on her, one and all,
break her granaries open,
pile the plunder up like heaps of grain, put her under the ban until nothing is left of her.
- 27 Slaughter all her bulls,
down to the slaughterhouse with them!
Woe to them, their day has come,
their time of reckoning.
- 28 Listen! Fugitives and runaways come from the land of Babylon to proclaim in Zion
the vengeance of Yahweh our God.

The sin of arrogance

(LXX 27:29–32)

- 29 Call up the archers against Babylon!
All you who bend the bow,
encamp around her:
leave her no way of escape.
Repay her as her deeds deserve;
treat her as she has treated others,
to repay her arrogance against Yahweh,
against the Holy One of Israel.
- 30 And so in her squares her young men will fall, and her fighting men will perish, that day. It is Yahweh who speaks.
- 31 My quarrel is with you, "Arrogance!"
It is the Lord Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks:
your day has come,
the time when I must punish you.
- 32 "Arrogance" will stumble, she will fall,
no one will lift her up:
I will light a fire inside her towns;
it shall devour all her surroundings.

Yahweh the redeemer of Israel

(LXX 27:33–40)

- 33 Yahweh Sabaoth says this:
The sons of Israel are oppressed,
all those who have taken them captive hold them fast,
they will not let them go.
- 34 But their redeemer is strong:
Yahweh Sabaoth is his name.
He has taken up their cause:
he will bring peacefulness to the world
but trembling to the inhabitants of Babylon.
- 35 A sword for the Chaldaeans,
for the inhabitants of Babylon,
for her leaders and her sages!
- 36 A sword for her diviners: may they lose their wits!
A sword for her men of war: may they be discomfited!

- 37 A sword for the whole crowd of foreigners
within her: may they be like women!
A sword for her treasures: may they be plundered!
38 A sword for her waters: may they dry up!
For it is a country of idols: they are mad, they and their bogies.
- 39 Hence wild cats and jackals will live there,
and ostriches make their home there.
She will never be inhabited again,
but remain uninhabited age after age.
- 40 As when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, with their neighboring towns
—it is Yahweh who speaks—
no one will live there any more,
no man will make his home there ever again.

The enemy from the north and the lion of Jordan

(LXX 27:41-46)

- 41 Now a people is coming from the North,
a mighty nation;
from the far ends of the earth
great kings are stirring:
- 42 they fight with bow and spear,
they are cruel and pitiless;
their noise is like the roaring of the sea;
they ride horses,
each man equipped for war
on you, daughter of Babylon.
- 43 But the king of Babylon has heard the news of them,
his hands fall limp,
anguish has seized him,
pain like that of a woman in labor.
- 44 See how the lion climbs from the thickets of the Jordan
to a perennial pasture!
So shall I chase them suddenly away,
and place there whom I please.
For who is there like me?
Who can hale me into court?
Name me the shepherd
who can stand up to me.
- 45 So now hear the plan
that Yahweh has made for Babylon,
the schemes he has in mind
for the country of the Chaldaeans:
yes, even the weakest of the flock will be dragged away.
At such a sight their pastures will shudder with dread.
- 46 Earth trembles at the sound of the capture of Babylon,
the dirge for her is heard throughout the nations.

Yahweh makes war on Babylon

(LXX 28:1-19)

- 1 51 Yahweh says this:
"Against the citizens of Leb-kamai I will rouse
a destroying spirit;
- 2 I will send winnowers to Babylon to winnow her and leave her country bare:

for they will beleaguer her from every side
in the day of disaster.

- 3 Let no archer bend his bow!
Let no man swagger in his coat of mail!
—No quarter for her young warriors!
Vow her whole army to the ban!
- 4 In the country of the Chaldaeans the slaughtered will fall, in the streets of Babylon, those whom the sword runs through.
- 5b This is because their country was full of sin
against the Holy One of Israel.
- 5a But Israel is not bereft
of his God, Yahweh Sabaoth.

- 6 Escape out of Babylon
(save your lives, each one of you);
do not perish yourselves in her punishment,
for this is the time of Yahweh's vengeance:
he is paying her her reward!
- 7 Babylon was a golden cup in Yahweh's hand,
she made the whole world drunk,
the nations drank her wine
and then went mad.
- 8 Babylon has suddenly fallen, is broken:
lament for her!
Go and fetch balm for her wounds,
perhaps she can be cured!
- 9 —“We tried to cure Babylon; she has got no better.
Leave her alone and let us each go to his own country.”
Yes, her sentence reaches to the sky,
rises to the very clouds.
- 10 Yahweh has vindicated our integrity.
Come, let us tell in Zion
what Yahweh our God has done.
- 11 Sharpen the arrows,
fill the quivers!

Yahweh has roused the spirit of the king of the Medes,^b because he has a plan against Babylon to destroy it; this is the vengeance of Yahweh, the revenge for his Temple.

- 12 Against the walls of Babylon display the standard!
Strengthen the guard!
Post the sentries!
Take up concealed positions!

For Yahweh made a plan, and he has treated the citizens of Babylon as he promised he would.

- 13 Enthroned beside abundant waters,
rich in treasures,
you now meet your end,
the finish of your pillaging.
- 14 By his own self Yahweh Sabaoth has sworn: had I filled you with men as plentiful as locusts, the war cry would still have been raised against you!
- 15 By his power he made the earth,
by his wisdom set the world firm,

- by his discernment spread out the heavens.
 16 When he thunders
 there is a tumult of water in the heavens;
 he raises clouds from the boundaries of earth,
 makes the lightning flash for the downpour,
 and brings the wind from his storehouse.
 17 At this all men stand stupefied, uncomprehending,
 every goldsmith blushes for the idol he has made,
 since his images are nothing but delusion,
 with no breath in them.
 18 They are a Nothing, a laughable production,
 when the time comes for them to be punished, they will vanish.
 19 "The portion of Jacob" is not like these,
 for he has formed everything,
 and Israel is the tribe that is his heritage.
 His name is Yahweh Sabaoth.

The hammer of Yahweh and the giant mountain

(LXX 28:20-26)

- 20 You were my mace,
 a weapon of war.
 With you I crushed the nations,
 struck kingdoms down, 21 with you crushed horse and rider,
 chariot and charioteer,
 22 with you crushed man and woman,
 old man and young,
 youth and maid,
 23 with you crushed shepherd and flock,
 plowman and team,
 governors and nobles,
 24 but I will let you see how I make Babylon and all the inhabitants of Chaldaea pay for all the wrongs they have done to Zion. It is Yahweh who speaks.
 25 My quarrel is with you,
 Mountain of destruction
 —it is Yahweh who speaks—
 destroyer of the whole world!
 I will stretch out my hand against you and send you tumbling from the crags
 and make you a mountain scorched.
 26 Never a cornerstone will be taken from you,
 never a foundation stone either,
 for you will be a desert for ever,
 it is Yahweh who speaks.

The end of Babylon is imminent

(LXX 28:27-33)

- 27 Display the standard throughout the world,
 sound the trumpet among the nations!
 Prepare nations to make war on her;
 summon kingdoms against her:
 Ararat, Minni, Ashkenaz^c;
 call the roll of her enemies, officer!
 Bring up the cavalry, bristling like locusts.

b. This later prose gloss names the Medes, meaning Persians; the poem speaks only of an enemy from the North. c. Kingdoms near Armenia.

28 Prepare nations to make war on her: the king of Media with his governors and dignitaries and the whole territory under his rule.

29 Then the earth trembled and writhed,
for Yahweh's plan against Babylon was going forward:
to change the country of Babylon
into an unpopulated desert.

30 The warriors of Babylon have done with fighting, they have taken to their strongholds;
their strength has gone:
they are like women now.
Her houses are on fire,
her gates are shattered.

31 Courier follows close on courier,
messenger on messenger,
to tell the king of Babylon
that his city has been stormed from every side: 32 the fords occupied,
the bastions burned down,
the fighting men thrown into panic.

33 For Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of Israel, says this:
The daughter of Babylon is like a threshing floor
when it is being trodden:
a little while, and there the grain will lie
that has been harvested.

The vengeance of Yahweh

(LXX 28:34-40)

34 "He has devoured, consumed me, that king of Babylon;
he has left me like an empty dish,
like a dragon he has swallowed me whole,
he has filled his belly with my delicacies." 35 "May her violence to me, and all my sufferings, be avenged 'on Babylon!"
say the people of Zion;
"On the inhabitants of Chaldaea be my blood!"
says Jerusalem.

36 Therefore—Yahweh says this:
See, I myself am taking up your cause
to make sure you are avenged.
I will dry her river up,
make her springs run dry, 37 and turn Babylon into a heap of stones,
a lair for jackals,
a thing of horror and of scorn,
with no one living in it.
38 Like lions they roar together,
they growl like lions' whelps.
39 Are they feverish? I will prepare them a drink and make them drink until they grow drowsy and fall into an everlasting sleep,
never to wake up;
it is Yahweh who speaks.
40 I will take them down to the slaughterhouse like lambs,
like rams and he-goats.

An elegy for Babylon

(LXX 28:41-43)

- 41 What! Is she captured and conquered, the admiration of all the world?
What! Babylon become a thing of horror,
throughout the nations?
- 42 The sea has risen over Babylon,
she sinks under its boisterous waves.
- 43 Her towns have been turned into desert,
a parched land, a wilderness:
no one lives in them,
no man goes that way.

Yahweh punishes the idols

(LXX 28:44-57)

- 44 I will punish Bel in Babylon
and take from his mouth what he has swallowed.
In future the nations
will stream to him no more.
The wall of Babylon has fallen.
- 45 Go out of her, my people;
save your lives, each one of you,
from the fierce anger of Yahweh.
- 46 But do not be fainthearted! Do not take fright at rumors hawked around the country: one rumor spreads one year, next year another follows; violence rules on earth and one tyrant cancels out another.
- 47 See, the days are coming
when I am going to punish the idols of Babylon.
Her whole country shall be put to shame,
with all her slaughtered lying in her midst.
- 48 Then heaven and earth and all within them
shall shout for joy over Babylon, because the destroyers from the North are coming against her—it is Yahweh who speaks.
- 49 Babylon in her turn must fall
because of those who were slaughtered in Israel, just as through Babylon there fell men slaughtered over all the world.
- 50 You who have escaped her sword,
get away, do not wait there!
Remember Yahweh in that distant country,
let Jerusalem be in your mind.
- 51 —“We were ashamed when we heard of the outrage,
our face was covered with confusion:
because foreigners had entered the holy places of the Temple of Yahweh.”
- 52 —See, the days are coming,
it is Yahweh who speaks,
when I will punish her idols,
and the stricken shall groan throughout her country.
- 53 Were Babylon to scale the heavens,
or reinforce her towering citadel, destroyers would still fall on her at my command,
it is Yahweh who speaks.
- 54 Listen to the shouting from Babylon,
the mighty crash from the country of the Chaldaeans!

- 55 That is Yahweh as he lays Babylon waste and silences her monstrous din;
well may her waves roar like mighty waters
and their tumultuous voice resound:
- 56 for a destroyer is sweeping down on Babylon,
her warriors are taken captive, their bows are broken.
Yes, Yahweh is a God of retribution,
he pays in full.
- 57 I will make her nobles and her sages drink,
her governors, her officials and her warriors;
they shall fall into an everlasting sleep
and not wake up;
it is the King who speaks,
whose name is Yahweh Sabaoth.

Babylon razed to the ground

(LXX 28, 58)

- 58 Yahweh Sabaoth says this:
The wide ramparts of Babylon will be razed to the ground, and her high gates
will be burned down.
Thus the laboring of the peoples comes to nothing
the toiling of the nations ends in fire.

The written oracle thrown into the Euphrates

(LXX 28:59-64)

- 59 This is the order that the prophet Jeremiah gave to Seraiah son of Mahseiah when the latter left for Babylon at the command of Zedekiah king of Judah, 60 in the fourth year of his reign. Now Jeremiah had written down the entire disaster that was to befall Babylon in a special book, all these words recorded 61 here as regards Babylon. Jeremiah then said to Seraiah, "When you reach 62 Babylon, make a point of reading out every one of these words. Then say, 'Yahweh, you yourself have proclaimed that this place will be destroyed, that no one will live here ever again, neither man nor beast, but that it will remain 63 desolate for ever.' When you have finished reading this book, tie a stone to it 64 and throw it into the middle of the Euphrates, with the words, 'So shall Babylon sink, never to rise again from the disaster with which I am going to overwhelm her.'"

Here end the words of Jeremiah.

V. APPENDIX^aThe destruction of Jerusalem and the pardon of Jehoiachin

- 1 52 Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamital, 2 daughter of Jeremiah, from Libnah. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, 3 just as Jehoiakim had done. That this happened in Jerusalem and Judah was due to the anger of Yahweh, with the result that in the end he cast them away from him.
- 4 Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon. In the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month,^b on the tenth day of the month, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came with his whole army to attack Jerusalem; he pitched 5 camp in front of the city and threw up earthworks around it. The city lay under 6 siege till the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. In the fourth month, on the ninth day of the month, when famine was raging in the city and there was no food 7 for the populace, a breach was made in the city wall. Seeing this, the king fled under cover of dark, with all the fighting men, leaving the city by way of the gate between the two walls, which is near the king's garden—the Chaldaeans 8 had surrounded the city—and making his way toward the Arabah. The Chaldaean troops pursued the king and caught up with Zedekiah in the plains 9 of Jericho, where all his troops deserted. The Chaldaeans captured the king and took him to the king of Babylon at Riblah in the land of Hamath, who 10 passed sentence on him. He had the sons of Zedekiah slaughtered before his 11 eyes; he also had all the leading men of Judah put to death at Riblah. He then put out Zedekiah's eyes. Loading him with chains, the king of Babylon carried him off to Babylon where he kept him prisoner until his dying day.

12 In the fifth month, on the tenth day of the month—it was in the nineteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon—Nebuzaradan, commander of the 13 guard, one of the king's ministers, entered Jerusalem. He burned down the 14 Temple of Yahweh, the royal palace and all the houses in Jerusalem. The Chaldaean troops who accompanied the commander of the guard demolished
 all the walls surrounding Jerusalem.

15 Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard, deported the remainder of the population left behind in the city, the deserters who had gone over to the king 16 of Babylon, and the remainder of the artisans. Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard, left some of the humbler country people as vineyard workers and plowmen.

17 The Chaldaeans broke up the bronze pillars from the Temple of Yahweh, the wheeled stands and the bronze Sea that were in the Temple of Yahweh, 18 and took all the bronze away to Babylon. They also took the ash containers, the scoops, the knives, the sprinkling bowls, the incense boats, and all the bronze 19 furnishings used in worship. The commander of the guard also took the bowls, the censers, the sprinkling bowls, the ash containers, the lampstands, the goblets and the saucers: everything that was made of gold and everything 20 made of silver. As regards the two pillars, the one Sea and the twelve bronze oxen supporting the Sea, and the wheeled stands, which King Solomon had made for the Temple of Yahweh, there was no reckoning the weight of bronze 21 in all these objects. As regards the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteen cubits, its circumference was twelve cubits, it was four fingers thick, and hollow 22 inside; on it stood a capital of bronze, the height of the capital being five cubits; around the capital were filigree and pomegranates, all in bronze. So also 23 for the second pillar. There were ninety-six pomegranates which hung down, making a hundred pomegranates around the filigree in all.

24 The commander of the guard took prisoner Seraiah the chief priest, Zephaniah 25 the priest next in rank, and the three guardians of the threshold. In the city he took prisoner a eunuch who was in command of the fighting men, seven of the king's personal friends who were discovered in the city, the secretary of the army commander, responsible for military conscription, and sixty men of 26 distinction discovered in the city. Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard, 27 took these men and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah, and at Riblah, in the land of Hamath, the king of Babylon had them put to death.

28 Thus Judah was deported from its land. The number of people deported by Nebuchadnezzar was as follows. In the seventh year: three thousand and 29 twenty-three Judeans; in the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar, eight hundred 30 and thirty-two persons were deported from Jerusalem; in the twenty-third year of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard, deported seven hundred and forty-five Judeans. In all: four thousand six hundred persons.

³¹ But in the thirty-seventh year of the exile of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-fifth day of the month, Evil-merodach king of Babylon, in the year he came to the throne,^d pardoned Jehoiachin king of Judah and released him from prison. He treated him kindly and allotted him a seat above those of the other kings who were with him in Babylon. So Jehoiachin laid aside his prisoner's garb, and for the rest of his life always ate at the king's table. And his upkeep was permanently ensured by the king for the rest of his life day after day until his dying day.

FIRST LAMENTATION

- ¹ 1 Aleph Oh, how lonely she sits,
the city once thronged with people,
as if suddenly widowed.
Though once great among the nations,
she, the princess among provinces,
is now reduced to vassalage.
- ² Beth She passes her nights weeping;
the tears run down her cheeks.
Not one of all her lovers
remains to comfort her.
Her friends have all betrayed her
and become her enemies.
- ³ Ghimel Judah is exiled after her downfall
and harsh enslavement.
She dwells among the nations now,
but finds no relief there.
Her pursuers all overtake her
in places where there is no way out.
- ⁴ Daleth The roads to Zion are in mourning;
no one comes to her festivals now.
Her gateways are all deserted;
her priests groan;
her virgins are grief-stricken;
she suffers bitterly.
- ⁵ He Her oppressors now have the upper hand,
her enemies enjoy prosperity;
Yahweh himself has made her suffer
for her many, many sins;
her little children have left her as prisoners driven in front of the oppressor.
- ⁶ Waw From the daughter of Zion
all her glory has departed.
Her leaders were like rams that find no pasture.
Listlessly they took the road,
driven by the drover.
- ⁷ Zain Jerusalem remembers
her days of misery and distress,
when her people fell before the enemy

and no one came to help her.
Her oppressors looked at her
and laughed at her downfall.

- 8 Heth Jerusalem has sinned grievously
and she has become a thing unclean.
All those who used to honor her despise her;
they have seen her nakedness.
While she herself groans
and turns her face away.
- 9 Teth Her filth clings to the hem of her clothes.
She had never thought of ending like this,
sinking as low as this.
She has no one to comfort her.
"Yahweh, look on my degradation;
my enemy is triumphant."
- 10 Yod The oppressor has laid his hands on all she treasured;
she has seen the pagans
enter her sanctuary,
men whom you had forbidden
to attend your Assembly.
- 11 Kaph All her people groan
as they search for bread;
they barter their valuables for food,
to keep life in them.
"Look, Yahweh, and mark
how despised I am."
- 12 Lamed All you who pass this way,
look and see:
is any sorrow like the sorrow
that afflicts me,
with which Yahweh has struck me
on the day of his burning anger?
- 13 Mem He has sent a fire from on high down into my bones;
he has laid a snare underneath my feet;
he has brought me down;
he has left me deserted,
and ill all day long.
- 14 Nun The yoke of my sins weighs down on me,
his, the hand that knotted them;
their yoke is on my neck,
he makes my energy fail.
The Lord has put me at their mercy,
I have no strength left to resist.
- 15 Samek Yahweh has spurned
the bravest fighters I had;
he has summoned a host against me
to destroy the flower of my army.
In his winepress the Lord has trampled
the virgin daughter of Judah.
- 16 Ain And that is why I weep;

my eyes dissolve in tears,
 since the comforter who could revive me
 is far away.
 My sons are in despair,
 the enemy has proved too strong.

17 Pe Zion stretches out her hands;
 no one is there to comfort her.
 Yahweh has summoned against Jacob foes from every side; Jerusalem has become an unclean thing to them.

18 Sade Yahweh is acting rightly,
 for I had rebelled against his order.
 Listen therefore, all you nations,
 and see my sorrow.
 My virgins and my young men
 have gone into exile.

19 Qoph I called for help to my lovers;
 they failed me.
 My priests and my elders
 were perishing inside the city,
 as they searched for food
 to keep life in them.

20 Resh Look, Yahweh. How great my anguish!
 My entrails shudder;
 my heart turns over inside me.
 Alas! I have always been a rebel—and now, outside, the sword has robbed me of my children, and inside, there is death.

21 Shin Listen to my groaning;
 there is no one to comfort me.
 All my enemies gloat over my disaster:
 this is your doing.
 Bring the day you once foretold,
 so that they may be as I am.

22 Tau Let all their wickedness come before you;
 treat them
 as you have treated me
 for all my sins.
 Many indeed are my groans,
 my heart is sick.

SECOND LAMENTATION

 has brought darkness on the daughter of Zion!
 He has flung the glory of Israel
 from heaven to the ground, no more remembering his footstool^a
 on the day of his wrath.

- 2 Beth The Lord has pitilessly destroyed
all the homes of Jacob;
in his displeasure he has shattered
the strongholds of the daughter of Judah;
he has thrown to the ground, he has left accursed
the kingdom and its rulers.
- 3 Ghimel In his burning anger
he has broken every horn in Israel, withdrawn the strength of his right hand
at the coming of the enemy, and kindled in Jacob a fire
that burns up everything near it.
- 4 Daleth Like an enemy he has bent his bow,
holding his right hand steady;
like a foe, he has slaughtered
everything that delights the eye;
on the tent of the daughter of Zion
he has poured his anger out like fire.
- 5 He The Lord has been like an enemy;
he has destroyed Israel;
he has destroyed every one of her palaces,
laid low her strongholds,
and for the daughters of Judah has multiplied wailing on wailing.
- 6 Waw He has wrecked his own domain like a garden,
shattered his own gathering place;
Yahweh has wiped out the memory of festivals and sabbaths in Zion;
in the heat of his wrath he has repudiated
king and priest.
- 7 Zain The Lord has grown weary of his altar,
has come to loathe his sanctuary,
and handed her palace walls
over to the enemy;
from the uproar in the Temple of Yahweh
it might have been a day of festival.
- 8 Heth Yahweh resolved to ruin
the city wall of the daughter of Zion;
with a line he measured it, and did not withdraw his hand
until he had completely overthrown it, bringing mourning on city wall and rampart;
now they are crumbling down together.
- 9 Teth Her gates have sunk into the ground;
he has shattered their bars.
Her king, her nobles, are now with the pagans,
the Law is no more.
Even her prophets receive
no further vision from Yahweh.
- 10 Yod Mutely they sit on the ground,
the elders of the daughter of Zion;
they have put dust on their heads,

and wrapped themselves in sackcloth.
The virgins of Jerusalem hang their heads down to the ground.

- 11 Kaph My eyes wasted away with weeping,
my entrails shuddered,
my liver spilled on the ground
at the ruin of the daughters of my people, as children, mere infants, fainted
in the squares of the Citadel.
- 12 Lamed They kept saying to their mothers,
"Where is the bread?"
as they fainted like wounded men
in the squares of the City,
as they poured out their souls
on their mothers' breasts.
- 13 Mem How can I describe you, to what compare you,
daughter of Jerusalem?
Who can rescue and comfort you,
virgin daughter of Zion?
For huge as the sea is your affliction;
who can possibly cure you?
- 14 Nun The visions your prophets had on your behalf were delusive, tinsel things, they never pointed out your sin,
to ward off your exile.
The visions they proffered you were false,
fallacious, misleading.
- 15 Samek All who pass your way
clap their hands at the sight;
they whistle and shake their heads
over the daughter of Jerusalem.
"Was this the loveliest of all,
this, the joy of the whole world?"
- 16 Pe Your enemies open their mouths
in chorus against you;
they whistle and grind their teeth;
they say, "We have swallowed her up.
This is the day we were waiting for;
now we can touch it, see it."
- 17 Ain Yahweh has accomplished his intention,
he has carried out his word decreed in the days of old;
he has destroyed without pity,
giving your enemy cause to gloat over you and raising his horn.
- 18 Sade Cry aloud, then, to the Lord,
groan, daughter of Zion;
let your tears flow like a torrent,
day and night;
give yourself no relief,
grant your eyes no rest.

- 19 Qoph Up, cry out in the nighttime,
in the early hours of darkness;
pour your heart out like water before Yahweh.
Stretch out your hands to him
for the lives of your children.
- 20 Resh Look, Yahweh, and consider:
whom have you ever treated like this?
Why, women have eaten their little ones,
the children they had nursed in their arms!
Why, priest and prophet have been slaughtered
in the sanctuary of Yahweh!
- 21 Shin Children and old men are lying on the ground in the streets;
my virgins and my young men
have fallen by the sword;
you have killed on the day of your wrath,
you have slaughtered pitilessly.
- 22 Tau As though to a festival you have summoned
terrors from every side;
on the day of your wrath, no one escaped,
no one survived.
Those whom I had nursed and reared,
my enemy has murdered them all.

THIRD LAMENTATION

- 1 3 Aleph I am the man familiar with misery
under the rod of his anger;
2 I am the one he has driven and forced to walk in darkness, and without any light.
3 Against me alone he turns his hand,
again and again, all day long.
- 4 Beth He has wasted my flesh and skin away,
has broken my bones.
5 He has made a yoke for me,
has encircled my head with weariness.
6 He has forced me to dwell in darkness with the dead of long ago.
- 7 Ghimel He has walled me in; I cannot escape;
he has made my chains heavy;
8 and when I call and shout,
he shuts out my prayer.
9 He has blocked my ways with cut stones,
he has obstructed my paths.
- 10 Daleth For me he has been a lurking bear,
a lion on the watch.
11 He has filled my paths with briars and torn me,
he has made me a thing of horror.
12 He has bent his bow and taken aim,
making me the target for his arrows.

- 13 He In my back he has planted his darts,
the children of his quiver.
- 14 I have become the laughingstock of my whole nation,
their butt all day long.
- 15 He has given me my fill of bitterness,
he has made me drunk with wormwood.
- 16 Waw He has broken my teeth with gravel,
he has given me ashes for food.
- 17 My soul is shut out from peace;
I have forgotten happiness.
- 18 And now I say, "My strength is gone,
that hope which came from Yahweh."
- 19 Zain Brooding on my anguish and affliction is gall and wormwood.
- 20 My spirit ponders it continually and sinks within me.
- 21 This is what I shall tell my heart,
and so recover hope:
- 22 Heth the favors of Yahweh are not all past,
his kindnesses are not exhausted;
- 23 every morning they are renewed;
great is his faithfulness.
- 24 "My portion is Yahweh" says my soul
"and so I will hope in him."
- 25 Teth Yahweh is good to those who trust him,
to the soul that searches for him.
- 26 It is good to wait in silence for Yahweh to save.
- 27 It is good for a man to bear the yoke
from youth onwards,
- 28 Yod to sit in solitude and silence
when the Lord fastens it on him,
to put his lips to the dust
—perhaps there still is hope—
- 30 to offer his cheek to the striker, to be overwhelmed with insults.
- 31 Kaph For the Lord does not reject mankind
for ever and ever.
- 32 If he has punished, he has compassion
so great is his kindness;
- 33 since he takes no pleasure in abasing
and afflicting the human race.
- 34 Lamed When all the prisoners in a country
are crushed and trampled underfoot, when a man's rights are overridden
in defiance of the Most High,
when a man is deprived of justice,
does not the Lord see it?
- 37 Mem Who has only to speak to make things exist?
Who commands, if not the Lord?
- 38 From where, if not from the mouth of the Most High,
do evil and good come?

- 39 Why then should man complain?
Better for him to be bold against his sins.
- 40 Nun Let us examine our path, let us ponder it and return to Yahweh.
- 41 Let us stretch out our hearts and hands
to God in heaven.
- 42 We are the ones who have sinned, who have rebelled,
and you have not forgiven.
- 43 Samek You have wrapped yourself in wrath, pursued us, slaughtered us without pity.
- 44 You have wrapped yourself in a cloud too thick for prayer to pierce.
- 45 You have reduced us to rubbish
to the scourings of the nations.
- 46 Pe Our enemies have opened their mouths
in chorus against us.
- 47 Dread and pitfall have been our lot,
ravage and ruin.
- 48 My eyes dissolve in torrents of tears
over the ruin of the daughters of my people.
- 49 Ain My eyes weep ceaselessly, without relief
- 50 until Yahweh looks down
and sees from heaven.
- 51 My eyes have grown sore
over all the daughters of my Citadel.
- 52 Sade They hunted me, harried me like a bird,
they who hate me for no reason.
- 53 They tumbled my life into a pit,
they threw stones down on me.
- 54 The waters went over my head;
I said, "I am lost."
- 55 Qoph Yahweh, I called on your name
from the deep pit.
- 56 You heard me crying, "Do not close your ear to my prayer."
- 57 You came near that day when I called to you;
you said, "Do not be afraid."
- 58 Resh You have defended the cause of my soul,
you have redeemed my life.
- 59 Yahweh, you have seen the wrong done to me;
grant me redress.
- 60 You have seen all their frenzy,
all their plots against me.
- 61 Shin Yahweh, you have heard their insults,
all their plots against me,
my opponents slandering me
under their breath all day long.
- 62 Whether they sit, or whether they stand,
see, I am their butt.

- 64 Tau Yahweh, repay them
as their deeds deserve.
- 65 Give them hardness of heart,
your curse be on them.
- 66 Pursue them in fury, root them out
from underneath your heavens.

FOURTH LAMENTATION

- 1 4 Aleph Oh, how the old gold has tarnished,
that gold so fine!
The sacred stones now lie scattered at the corner of every street.
- 2 Beth The sons of Zion, as precious
as finest gold,
Oh, reckoned now no better than earthenware pots
made by the potter!
- 3 Ghimel The very jackals give the breast,
and suckle their young:
but the daughters of my people have grown cruel
like the ostriches of the desert.
- 4 Daleth The tongue of the baby at the breast sticks to his palate for thirst,
little children go begging for bread;
no one spares a scrap for them.
- 5 He Those who used to eat only the best,
now lie dying in the streets;
those who were reared in the purple claw at the rubbish heaps.
- 6 Waw The crimes of the daughter of my people have outdone the sins of Sodom,
which was overthrown in a moment,
no time for a man to wring his hands.
- 7 Zain Once her young men were brighter than snow,
whiter than milk;
rosier than coral their bodies,
their hue as radiant as sapphire.
- 8 Heth Now with faces darker than blackness itself
they move unrecognizable through the streets.
The skin is shrunken against their bones,
dry as a stick.
- 9 Teth Happy were those killed by the sword, happier than those by hunger,
spent and sinking,
deprived of the fruits of the fields.
- 10 Yod With their own hands, tenderhearted women have boiled their children;
these have been their food
in the disaster that fell on the daughter of my people.

- 11 Kaph Yahweh has indulged his fury,
has poured his anger out.
He has lit a fire in Zion
that has devoured her foundations.
- 12 Lamed The kings of the earth never believed,
nor did all the inhabitants of the world,
that oppressor and enemy would ever penetrate
the gates of Jerusalem.
- 13 Mem It came through the sins of her prophets and the crimes of her priests, who had shed the blood of the upright
in the heart of the city.
- 14 Nun Through the streets like blind men, they roamed polluted with blood, so that no one dared to touch
their clothes.
- 15 Samek "Keep away! Unclean!" people shouted.
"Keep away! Do not touch us!"
If they left and took refuge with the nations,
they were not allowed to shelter there either.
- 16 Pe The face of Yahweh dispersed them;
he never spared a glance for them again.
People respected the priests no longer,
they paid no attention to the prophets.
- 17 Ain And still we wore out our eyes,
watching for help—in vain.
From our towers we watched for a nation^a which could not save us anyway.
- 18 Sade Our enemies eyed our steps,
and barricaded our squares.
Our end was near,
our days were done.
- 19 Qoph Our pursuers were swifter
than eagles in the sky;
they dogged our steps in the mountains,
they ambushed us in the desert.
- 20 Resh The breath of our nostrils, Yahweh's anointed^b,
was captured in their pits,
he of whom we said, "Under his shadow
we shall live among the nations."
- 21 Shin Rejoice, exult, daughter of Edom,
as you dwell in Uz!
To you in turn the cup will pass;
it will make you drunk, and you will show your nakedness.
- 22 Tau Your crime has been atoned for, daughter of Zion;
he will never banish you again.
Your crime he will punish, daughter of Edom;
he will lay bare your sins.

FIFTH LAMENTATION

- 1 5 Yahweh, remember what has happened to us;
look on us and see our degradation.
- 2 Our inheritance has passed to aliens,
our homes to barbarians.
- 3 We are orphans, we are fatherless;
our mothers are like widows.
- 4 We drink our own water—at a price;
we have to pay for what is our own firewood.
- 5 The yoke is on our necks; we are persecuted;
we are worked to death; no relief for us.
- 6 We hold out our hands to Egypt,
or to Assyria, just to get enough bread.
- 7 Our fathers have sinned; they are no more,
and we ourselves bear the weight of their crimes.
- 8 Slaves^a rule us;
no one rescues us from them.
- 9 At peril of our lives we earn our bread,
by risking the sword of the desert.
- 10 Our skin is as hot as the oven,
such is the fever of famine.
- 11 They have raped the women in Zion,
the virgins in the towns of Judah.
- 12 Princes have been hanged at their hands;
the face of the old has not been respected.
- 13 Youths have toiled at the mill;
boys have collapsed under loads of wood.
- 14 The elders have deserted the gateway;
the young men have given up their music.
- 15 Joy has vanished from our hearts;
our dancing has been turned to mourning.
- 16 The garland has fallen from our heads.
Woe to us, because we have sinned!
- 17 This is why our hearts are sick;
this is why our eyes are dim:
- 18 because Mount Zion is desolate;
jackals roam to and fro on it.
- 19 But you, Yahweh, you remain for ever;
your throne endures from age to age.
- 20 You cannot mean to forget us for ever?
You cannot mean to abandon us for good?

4 a. Egypt, ally of Judah in the reign of Zedekiah. b. Zedekiah.

5 a. The Chaldaean officials.

- 21 Make us come back to you, Yahweh, and we will come back.
 Renew our days as in times past,
- 22 unless you have utterly rejected us,
 in an anger that knows no limit.

THE BOOK OF BARUCH

I. INTRODUCTION

Baruch and the Jews in Babylon

¹ 1 These are the words of the book written in Babylon by Baruch son of Neraiah, ² son of Mahseiah, son of Zedekiah, son of Hasadiah, son of Hilkiyah, in the fifth year,^a on the seventh day of the month, at the time when the Chaldeans captured Jerusalem and burned it down.

³ Baruch read the words of this book aloud to Jeconiah son of Jehoiakim, ⁴ king of Judah, and to all the people who had come to hear the reading, to the nobles and the sons of the king, and to the elders; to the whole people, that is, least no less than greatest, to all who lived in Babylon beside the river Sud.
⁵ On hearing it they wept, fasted and prayed before the Lord; and they collected
⁶ as much money as each could afford and sent it to Jerusalem for the priest
⁷ Jehoiakim son of Hilkiyah, son of Shallum, and the other priests, and for as ⁸ many of the people as were with him in Jerusalem. It was Baruch who on the tenth day of Sivan had recovered the utensils of the house of the Lord, which had been removed from the Temple, to take them back to the land of Judah:
these were silver utensils which Zedekiah son of Josiah, king of Judah, had had ⁹ made when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had deported Jeconiah from Jerusalem to Babylon, together with the princes, the metalworkers, the men of rank and the common people.

¹⁰ With this—they wrote—we are sending you money with which to pay for holocausts, offerings for sin, and incense; prepare oblations, and offer them on the altar ¹¹ of the Lord our God. Pray for the long life of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and of his son Belshazzar, and that their days on earth may endure as the ¹² heavens; pray that the Lord may give us strength and clear understanding so that we may lead our lives under the protection of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and of his son Belshazzar, and by our long service win their favor.
¹³ Also pray to the Lord our God for us, because we have sinned against him, and the anger, the fury of the Lord, has still not been turned away from us.
¹⁴ Lastly, you are to read the book aloud which we send you with this and so make public confession in the house of the Lord on the feast day^b and on days ¹⁵ of solemn assembly. You are to say:

II. THE PRAYER OF THE EXILES

Confession of sins

Integrity belongs to the Lord our God; to us the look of shame we wear
¹⁶ today, to us, the people of Judah and the citizens of Jerusalem, to our kings ¹⁷ and princes, our priests, our prophets, as to our ancestors, because we have

¹ a. The year 582, probably on the anniversary of the fall of Jerusalem. b. I.e., the feast of Tabernacles.

18 sinned in the sight of the Lord, have disobeyed him, and have not listened to the voice of the Lord our God telling us to follow the commandments which 19 the Lord had ordained for us. From the day when the Lord brought our ancestors out of the land of Egypt until today we have been disobedient to the Lord our 20 God, we have been disloyal, refusing to listen to his voice. And so the disasters, and the curse which the Lord pronounced through his servant Moses the day he brought our fathers out of Egypt to give us a land where milk and honey 21 flow, have seized on us, disasters we experience today. Despite all the words of those prophets whom he sent us, we have not listened to the voice of the 22 Lord our God, but, each following the dictates of his evil heart, we have taken to serving alien gods, and doing what is displeasing to the Lord our God.

1 2 And so the Lord has carried out the sentence which he passed on us, on our judges who governed Israel, on our kings and leaders, on the men of 2 Israel and of Judah; what he did to Jerusalem has never been paralleled under the wide heavens—all this in conformity with what was written in the Law of 3 Moses; we were all reduced to eating the flesh of our own sons and daughters.
 4 Furthermore, he has handed them over into the power of all the kingdoms that surround us, to be loathed and avoided by all the neighboring nations among 5 whom he scattered them. Instead of being masters, they found themselves enslaved, because we had sinned against the Lord our God by not listening to his voice.

6 Integrity belongs to the Lord our God; to us the look of shame we wear
 7 today, to us, as to our ancestors. All those disasters which the Lord pronounced 8 against us have now happened to us. And yet we have not tried to win the favor of the Lord by each one of us renouncing the dictates of his own 9 wicked heart; and so the Lord has watched for the right moment to bring disaster on us, since the Lord gives a just return for what we do of all that he has 10 ordered us to do, and we have not listened to his voice telling us to follow the commandments which the Lord had ordained for us.

The prayer

11 And now, Lord, God of Israel, who brought your people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, with signs and wonders, with great power and with 12 outstretched arm, to win yourself a name renowned today, we have sinned, we have been irreligious; Lord our God, we have broken all your com-13 mandments. Let your anger turn from us since we are no more than a poor remnant among the nations where you have dispersed us. Listen, Lord, to our 14 prayer, to our entreaty; deliver us for the sake of your honor and grant us 15 your favor for all our captors to see it, so that the whole world may know that 16 you are the Lord our God, since Israel and his descendants bear your name. Look down, Lord, from your holy dwelling place and give a thought to us, take 17 heed of us and listen, look at us, Lord, and consider; the dead down in Sheol, whose breath has been taken from their bodies, are not the ones to give 18 glory and due observance to the Lord; the person overcome with affliction, who goes his way bowed down and frail, with failing eyes and hungering soul, he is the one to give you glory, Lord, and due observance.

19 We do not rely on the merits of our ancestors and of our kings to offer you 20 our humble plea, Lord our God. No. You have sent down your anger and your fury on us, as you promised through your servants the prophets when they said, 21 "The Lord says this: Bend your necks and submit to the king of Babylon, and you 22 will remain in the land which I gave your ancestors. But if you do not listen to 23 the voice of the Lord and submit to the king of Babylon, then I will silence the shouts of rejoicing and mirth and the voices of bridegroom and bride in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, and the whole land will be reduced to desert, 24 without inhabitants." But we did not listen to your voice and submit to the king of Babylon, and so you carried out what you had promised through your servants

the prophets: that the bones of our kings and of our ancestors would be dragged 25 from their resting places. They were indeed tossed out to the heat of the day and the frost of the night. And people died in dreadful agony, from famine, 26 sword and plague. And so, because of the wickedness of the House of Israel and the House of Judah, you have made this House, that bears your name, what it is today.

27 And yet, Lord our God, you have treated us in a way worthy of all 28 your goodness and boundless tenderness, just as you had promised through your servant Moses, the day you told him to write your Law in the presence of the 29 sons of Israel, and said this, "If you do not listen to my voice, this great and innumerable multitude will certainly be reduced to a tiny few among the nations 30 among which I shall disperse them, and I know very well that this people will not listen, it is so stubborn. But in the country of their exile they will take 31 all this to heart and acknowledge that I am the Lord their God. I will give 32 them a heart and an attentive ear. They will sing my praises in the country 33 of their exile, they will remember my name; they will not be stubborn any more, but, remembering what became of their ancestors who sinned in the sight 34 of the Lord, will turn from their evil deeds. Then I will bring them back to the land I promised on oath to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and make them 35 masters in it. I will increase their number: they shall not dwindle. And I will make an everlasting covenant with them; I will be their God and they shall be my people. And I will never again drive my people Israel out of the land that I have given them."

1 3 Almighty Lord, God of Israel, a soul in anguish, a troubled heart now cries
 2 to you: Listen and have pity, Lord, for we have sinned in your sight. You 3 sit enthroned for ever, while we perish continually. Almighty Lord, God of 4 Israel, hear the prayer of the dead of Israel,^a of the sons of those who have sinned against you and have not listened to the voice of the Lord their God, 5 hence the disasters that have seized on us. Do not call to mind the misdeeds
 6 of our ancestors, but remember instead your power and your name. You are 7 indeed the Lord our God and we long to praise you, Lord, since you have put respect for you in our hearts to encourage us to call on your name. We long to praise you in our exile, for we have emptied our hearts of the evil inclin-8 ations of our ancestors who sinned against you. Look on us today, still in exile where you have dispersed us as something execrable, accursed, condemned, in punishment for all the misdeeds of our ancestors who had abandoned the Lord our God.

III. WISDOM, THE PREROGATIVE OF ISRAEL

9 Listen, Israel, to commands that bring life;
 hear, and learn what knowledge means.
 10 Why, Israel, why are you in the country of your enemies, growing older and older in an alien land, 11 sharing defilement with the dead,
 reckoned with those who go to Sheol?
 12 Because you have forsaken the fountain of wisdom.
 13 Had you walked in the way of God,
 you would have lived in peace for ever.
 14 Learn where knowledge is, where strength, where understanding, and so learn where length of days is, where life,
 where the light of the eyes and where peace.

3 a. Hyperbole: those brought near death.

- 15 But who has found out where she lives,
who has entered her treasure house?
- 16 Where now are the leaders of the nations
and those who ruled even the beasts of earth, 17 who had the birds of heaven at their beck and call,
who accumulated silver and gold
on which mankind relies,
and whose possessions had no limits, 18 those who displayed such artistry in silver that their masterpieces beggar imagination?
19 They have vanished, gone down to Sheol.
Others have risen to their places,
20 more recent generations have seen the day and peopled the earth in their turn:
but the way of knowledge is something they had not known, 21 they have not recognized the paths she treads.
Nor have their sons had any grasp of her,
remaining far from her way.
- 22 Nothing has been heard of her in Canaan,
nothing has been seen of her in Teman;
23 the sons of Hagar in search of worldly wisdom,
the merchants of Midian and Tema,
the tale spinners and the philosophers have none of them found the way to wisdom,
or discovered the paths she treads.
- 24 How great, Israel, is the house of God,
how wide his domain.
25 immeasurably wide,
infinitely lofty!
- 26 In it were born the giants, famous to us from antiquity,
immensely tall, expert in war;
27 God's choice did not fall on these,
he did not reveal the way to knowledge to them; 28 they perished for lack of wisdom,
perished in their own folly.
- 29 Who has ever climbed the sky and caught her to bring her down from the clouds?
30 Who has ever crossed the ocean and found her to bring her back in exchange for the finest gold?
31 No one knows the way to her,
no one can discover the path she treads.
- 32 But the One who knows all knows her,
he has grasped her with his own intellect,
he has set the earth firm for ever
and filled it with four-footed beasts, 33 he sends the light—and it goes,
he recalls it—and trembling it obeys;
34 the stars shine joyfully at their set times:
35 when he calls them, they answer, "Here we are";
they gladly shine for their creator.
- 36 It is he who is our God,
no other can compare with him.
- 37 He has grasped the whole way of knowledge,
and confided it to his servant Jacob,

38 to Israel his well-beloved;
so causing her to appear on earth and move among men.

1 4 This is the book of the commandments of God,
the Law that stands for ever;
those who keep her live,
those who desert her die.
2 Turn back, Jacob, seize her,
in her radiance make your way to light:
3 do not yield your glory to another,
your privilege to a people not your own.
4 Israel, blessed are we:
what pleases God has been revealed to us.

IV. THE COMPLAINTS AND HOPES OF JERUSALEM

5 Take courage, my people, constant reminder of Israel.^a 6 You were sold to the nations, but not for extermination.
You provoked God;
and so were delivered to your enemies,
7 since you had angered your creator
by offering sacrifices to demons, not to God.
8 You had forgotten the eternal God who reared you.
You had also grieved Jerusalem who nursed you, 9 for when she saw the anger fall on you from God, she said:

Listen, you neighbors of Zion:
God has sent me great sorrow.
10 I have seen my sons and daughters taken into captivity,
to which they have been sentenced by the Eternal.
11 I had reared them joyfully;
in tears, in sorrow, I watched them go away.
12 Do not, any of you, exult over me,
a widow, deserted by so many;
I suffer loneliness because of the sins of my own children,
who turned away from the Law of God, 13 who did not want to know his injunctions,
and would not follow the ways of his precepts,
or tread the paths of discipline as his justice directed.
14 Let them come here, those neighbors of Zion.
Let me remind you of the captivity of my sons and daughters
to which they have been sentenced by the Eternal:
15 how he brought a distant nation down on them,
a ruthless nation speaking a foreign language,
having neither respect for the aged,
nor pity for the child;
16 they carried off the widow's cherished sons,
they left her quite alone, bereft of her daughters.
17 For my part, how can I help you?
18 He who brought those disasters down on you,

4 a. I.e., of Jacob.

he is the one to deliver you from the hands of your enemies!

- 19 Go, my children, go your way!
I must stay bereft and lonely;
20 I have taken off the clothes of peacetime,
and put on the sackcloth of entreaty;
I will cry to the Eternal all my life.
21 Take courage, my children, call on God:
he will deliver you from tyranny, from the hands of your enemies;
22 for I look to the Eternal for your rescue, and joy has come to me from the Holy One at the mercy soon to reach you from your savior, the Eternal.
23 In sorrow and tears I watched you go away,
but God will give you back to me in joy and gladness for ever.
24 As the neighbors of Zion now witness your captivity,
so will they soon see you rescued by God,
who will intervene, in the great glory and splendor of the Eternal.
25 My children, patiently bear the anger brought on you by God.
Your enemy has persecuted you,
but soon you will witness his destruction
and set your foot on his neck.
26 My favorite children have traveled by rough roads,
carried off like a flock by a marauding enemy.
27 Take courage, my children, call on God:
he who brought disaster on you will remember you.
28 As by your will you first strayed away from God,
so now turn back and search for him ten times as hard;
29 for as he brought down those disasters on you,
so will he rescue you and give you eternal joy.

- 30 Take courage, Jerusalem:
he who gave you that name will console you.
31 Trouble will come to all who have ill-treated you and gloated over your fall.
32 Trouble will come to the cities where your children were slaves;
trouble will come to the city which received your sons, 33 for just as she rejoiced at your fall
and was happy to see you ruined,
so shall she grieve over her own desolation.
34 I will deprive her of that joy known to populous cities,
her boasting shall be turned into mourning, 35 fire from the Eternal will burn in her for many a day and demons will dwell in her for ages.
36 Jerusalem, turn your eyes to the east,
see the joy that is coming to you from God.
37 Look, the sons you watched go away are on their way home;
reassembled from east and west, they are on their way home at the command of the Holy One, jubilant at the glory of God.

- 1 5 Jerusalem, take off your dress of sorrow and distress, put on the beauty of the glory of God for ever,
2 wrap the cloak of the integrity of God around you, put the diadem of the glory of the Eternal on your head:
3 since God means to show your splendor to every nation under heaven, 4 since the name God gives you for ever will be,
"Peace through integrity, and honor through devotedness."
5 Arise, Jerusalem, stand on the heights and turn your eyes to the east:

 see your sons reassembled from west and east at the command of the Holy One, jubilant that God has remembered them.

- 6 Though they left you on foot,
 with enemies for an escort,
 now God brings them back to you like royal princes carried back in glory.
 7 For God has decreed the flattening of each high mountain, of the everlasting hills,
 the filling of the valleys to make the ground level
 so that Israel can walk in safety under the glory of God.
 8 And the forests and every fragrant tree will provide shade for Israel at the command of God;
 9 for God will guide Israel in joy by the light of his glory with his mercy and integrity for escort.

V. THE LETTER OF JEREMIAH

A copy of the letter which Jeremiah sent to those about to be led captive to Babylon by the king of the Babylonians, to inform them of the instructions which God had given him.

- 1 6 Because of the sins you have committed before God you are to be deported
 2 to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar king of the Babylonians. ·Once you have reached Babylon you will stay there for many years, as long as seven generations;
 3 after which I shall bring you home in peace. ·Now in Babylon you will see gods made of silver, of gold, of wood, being carried shoulder-high, and filling 4 the pagans with fear. ·Be on your guard. Do not imitate the foreigners, do not 5 have any fear of their gods ·as you watch their worshipers flocking before and behind them. Instead, say in your hearts, “Master, it is you that we have to 6 worship.” ·For my angel is with you; your lives will be in his care.
 7 Plated with gold and silver, their tongues polished smooth by a craftsman, 8 they are counterfeit and have no power to speak. ·As though for a girl fond of finery, these pagans take gold and make crowns for the heads of their gods.
 9 Sometimes, the priests actually filch gold and silver from their gods to spend 10 themselves, even using it on presents for the temple prostitutes. ·They dress up these gods of silver, gold and wood, in clothes, like human beings, although they cannot protect themselves either from tarnish or woodworm, 11 in spite of the purple cloaks they drape them in. Their faces even have to be 12 dusted, owing to the dust of the temple which settles thick on them. ·One holds a scepter like the governor of a province, yet is powerless to put anyone who 13 offends him to death; ·another holds sword and ax in his right hand, yet is 14 powerless to defend himself against war or thieves. ·From this it is evident that they are not gods; do not be afraid of them.
 15 Just as a pot in common use becomes useless once it is broken, so are these 16 gods enshrined inside their temples. ·Their eyes are full of dust raised by the 17 feet of those who enter. ·Just as the doors are locked on all sides on the man who has offended the king and is under sentence of death, so the priests secure the temples of these gods with gates and bolts and bars for fear of burglary.
 18 They light more lamps than for themselves, and the gods cannot see one of them.
 19 They are like one of the temple beams, gnawed away from within, so they say, by termites which creep out of the ground and eat them, and their fine clothes 20 too. They are unaware ·that their faces are blackened by the smoke that rises
 21 from the temple. ·Bats, swallows, birds of every kind flutter over their bodies

22 and heads, and cats prowl there. From all this you can see for yourselves that they are not gods: do not be afraid of them.

23 The gold with which they are plated is fine enough to look at, but if someone does not rub off the tarnish, these gods will not do much shining on their own.
24 They felt nothing while they were being cast. However much was paid for them, 25 there is still no breath of life in them. Being unable to walk, they have to be carried on men's shoulders, which shows how futile they are. It is humiliating for their 26 worshipers, too, who have to stand them up again if they fall over. Once they have been stood up, they cannot move on their own; if they tilt askew, they cannot right themselves; offerings made to them might as well be made to dead
27 men. Whatever is sacrificed to them, the priests resell and pocket the profit; while their wives salt down part of it, but give nothing to the poor or to the helpless. As to the sacrifices themselves, why, women during their periods and 28 women in childbed are not afraid to touch them! As you can see from these examples that they are not gods, do not be afraid of them.

29 Indeed, how can they even be called gods, when women do the offering 30 to these gods of silver, gold and wood? In their temples, the priests stay sitting down, their garments torn, heads and beard shaved and with heads uncovered;
31 they roar and shriek before their gods as people do at funeral feasts. Whether 32 the priests take the robes of the gods to clothe their own wives and children. Whether 33 these gods are treated badly or well, they are incapable of paying back either 34 treatment; as incapable too of making or unmaking kings, equally incapable of distributing wealth or money. If anyone fails to honor a vow he has made 35 to them, they cannot call him to account. They can neither save a man from 36 death nor rescue the weak from the strong, nor restore sight to the blind, nor 37 save someone in trouble, nor take pity on a widow, nor be generous to an 38 orphan. These wooden gods plated with gold and silver are about as much use as rocks cut out of the mountain side. Humiliation awaits their worshipers.
39 So how can anyone think or say that they are gods?

40 The Chaldaeans themselves do them no honor; if they find someone who is dumb and cannot speak, they present him to Bel, entreating him for the gift 41 of speech, as if he could hear them! And they are incapable of drawing the conclusion and abandoning those gods—such is their lack of commonsense.
42 Women with strings around their waists sit in the streets, burning bran like incense;
43 when one of these has been picked up by a passer-by and been to bed with him, she then twits her neighbor for not being singled out and for not having her 44 string broken. Everything going on anywhere near these gods is spurious. So how can anyone think or say that they are gods?

45 Made by woodworkers and goldsmiths, they are only what those workmen 46 decide to make them. The makers have not long to live themselves, so how can 47 the things they make be gods? Their legacy to their descendants is nothing but 48 illusion and disappointment. If war or disasters occur, the priests discuss where 49 best to hide themselves and these gods; how can anyone fail to realize that they are not gods, if they cannot save themselves from war or from disasters?
50 And since in any case they are only made of wood plated with gold or silver, it must be obvious from all this that they are spurious; and plain to everyone, to nations as to kings, that they are not gods but the work of human hands, and 51 that there is no divine activity in them. Can there be anyone still unconvinced that they are not gods?

52 They can neither appoint a king over a country, nor give rain to mankind, 53 nor regulate their own affairs, nor rescue anyone who suffers a wrong; they are as helpless as crows between sky and ground. If fire falls on the temple of these 54 wooden gods plated with gold or silver, their priests fly to safety while they for their part stay there like beams, to be burned. They cannot put up any resistance 55 to a king or to enemies. So how can anyone think or say that they are gods?
56 These wooden gods plated with gold or silver cannot evade thieves or 57

- marauders; violent men may rob them of their gold and silver and make off with the robes they are dressed in; yet they are powerless to help even themselves.
- 58 Better to be a king displaying his prowess, a household pot of use to its owner, than to be these false gods; or merely the door of a house, protecting what is inside, than these false gods; or a wooden pillar in a palace than these false gods.
- 59 The sun, the moon and the stars, which shine and have been given work to do, 60 are obedient; similarly, the lightning, as it flashes, is a fine sight; in the same
61 way, the wind blows across every country, the clouds execute the order God gives them to pass over the whole earth, and the fire, sent from above to consume 62 mountain and forest, carries out its orders. Now these gods are not their 63 equal, either in beauty or in power. So, no one can think or say that they are 64 gods, powerless as they are to administer justice or to do men any good.
64 Therefore, knowing that they are not gods, do not be afraid of them.
- 65 They can neither curse nor bless kings, nor produce signs in heaven for the 66 nations, nor shine like the sun, nor shed light like the moon. The animals are 67 better off than they are, being able to make for cover and look after themselves.
- 68 There is not the slightest shred of evidence that they are gods; do not be afraid of them!
- 69 Their wooden gods plated with gold and silver are like a scarecrow in a melon 70 patch—protecting nothing. Again, their wooden gods plated with gold and silver are like a thornbush in a garden—any bird may perch on it—or like 71 a corpse thrown into the dark. From the purple and fine linen rotting on their backs you will recognize that they are not gods; and in the end, eaten away 72 themselves, they will be a disgrace to the country. Better, then, a virtuous man who has no idols; disgrace will never come near him.

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOK OF EZEKIEL

According to the dates given inside the book, Ezekiel's ministry as a prophet was among the exiles in Babylon between 593 and 571. Nevertheless we find in chapters 4–24 a number of reproaches and threats addressed to people living in Jerusalem, apparently before the siege; and following these, in chapters 25–32, a series of oracles against "the nations," which belong to the same period. The remaining chapters, 33–48, plainly refer to the siege and the Exile, and indeed look forward to the future re-establishment of the nation in Palestine. Despite a certain amount of supplementary material, most of the prophecies are stamped with Ezekiel's own style and teaching, and the details of the prophet's biography remain a matter of debate and speculation.

Ezekiel was a priest; he was a prophet of action who made himself "a sign" to Israel in elaborate symbolic miming. He was also a visionary, as the four long violently imaginative visions in the book show; these have the power of evoking size and depth and the mysteriousness of God's working. His teaching is centered on inner conversion: a new heart and a new spirit, which will be given by God. By his visions, he stands at the source of the apocalyptic tradition; for his spiritual penetration, he has been called "the father of Judaism."

EZEKIEL

INTRODUCTION

1 In the thirtieth year, on the fifth day of the fourth month, as I was among the exiles on the bank of the river Chebar, heaven opened and I saw visions from God. On the fifth of the month—it was the fifth year of exile for King Jehoiachin—the word of Yahweh was addressed to the priest Ezekiel son of Buzi, in the land of the Chaldeans, on the bank of the river Chebar.^a

The vision of the “Chariot of Yahweh”

4 There the hand of Yahweh came on me. I looked; a stormy wind blew from the north, a great cloud with light around it, a fire from which flashes of lightning darted, and in the center a sheen like bronze at the heart of the fire. In the center I saw what seemed four animals. They looked like this. They were of human form. Each had four faces, each had four wings. Their legs were straight; they had hoofs like oxen, glittering like polished brass. Human hands showed under their wings; the faces of all four were turned to the four quarters.^b Their wings touched each other; they did not turn as they moved; each one went straight forward. As to what they looked like, they had human faces, and all four had a lion's face to the right, and all four had a bull's face to the left, and all four had an eagle's face. Their wings were spread upward; each had two wings that touched, and two wings that covered his body; and they all went straight forward; they went where the spirit urged them; they did not turn as they moved.

13 Between these animals something could be seen like flaming brands or torches, darting between the animals; the fire flashed light, and lightning streaked from the fire. And the creatures ran to and fro like thunderbolts.

15 I looked at the animals; there was a wheel on the ground by each of them, one beside each of the four. The wheels glittered as if made of chrysolite. All four looked alike, and seemed to be made one inside the other. They went forward four ways and kept their course unswervingly. Their rims seemed enormous when I looked at them and all four rims had eyes all the way around. When the animals went forward, the wheels went forward beside them; and when the animals left the ground, the wheels too left the ground. Where the spirit urged them, there the wheels went, since the spirit of the animal was in the wheels. When the animals moved on, they moved on; when the former halted, the latter halted; when the former left the ground, the wheels too left the ground, since the spirit of the animal was in the wheels. Over the heads of the animals a sort of vault, gleaming like crystal, arched above their heads; under this vault their wings stretched out to one another, and each had two covering his body. I heard the noise of their wings as they moved; it sounded like rushing water,

1 a. There seem to be two separate introductions in vv.1–3. The second of them dates Ezekiel's first vision in 593–592 and may be the introduction to the whole book; the other, v.1, is perhaps the introduction to the vision of the Chariot. b. They are like the Assyrian “cherubs” whose effigies could be seen in Babylon.

like the voice of Shaddai, a noise like a storm, like the noise of a camp; when they halted, they folded their wings, and there was a noise.

Above the vault over their heads was something that looked like a sapphire; it was shaped like a throne and high up on this throne was a being that looked like a man. I saw him shine like bronze, and close to and all around him from what seemed his loins upward was what looked like fire; and from what seemed his loins downward I saw what looked like fire, and a light all around like a bow in the clouds on rainy days; that is how the surrounding light appeared. It was something that looked like the glory of Yahweh. I looked, and prostrated myself, and I heard a voice speaking.

The vision of the scroll^a

It said, "Son of man, stand up; I am going to speak to you." As he said these words the spirit came into me and made me stand up, and I heard him speaking to me. He said, "Son of man, I am sending you to the Israelites, to the rebels who have turned against me. Till now they and their ancestors have been in revolt against me. The sons are defiant and obstinate; I am sending you to them, to say, 'The Lord Yahweh says this.' Whether they listen or not, this set of rebels shall know there is a prophet among them. And you, son of man, do not be afraid of them, do not be afraid when they say, 'There are thorns all around you and scorpions under you.' There is no need to be afraid either of their words or of their looks, for they are a set of rebels. You must deliver my words to them whether they listen or not, for they are a set of rebels.

"You, son of man, listen to the words I say; do not be a rebel like that rebellious set. Open your mouth and eat what I am about to give you." I looked. A hand was there, stretching out to me and holding a scroll. He unrolled it in front of me; it was written on back and front; on it was written "lamentations, wailings, moanings." He said, "Son of man, eat what is given to you; eat this scroll, then go and speak to the House of Israel." I opened my mouth; he gave me the scroll to eat and said, "Son of man, feed and be satisfied by the scroll I am giving you." I ate it, and it tasted sweet as honey.

Then he said, "Son of man, go to the House of Israel and tell them what I have said. You are not being sent to a nation that speaks a difficult foreign language; you are being sent to the House of Israel. Not to big nations that speak difficult foreign languages, and whose words you would not understand—if I sent you to them, they would listen to you; but the House of Israel will not listen to you because it will not listen to me. The whole House of Israel is stubborn and obstinate. But now, I will make you as defiant as they are, and as obstinate as they are; I am going to make your resolution as hard as a diamond and diamond is harder than flint. So do not be afraid of them, do not be overawed by them for they are a set of rebels."

Then he said, "Son of man, remember everything I say to you, listen closely, and go to your exiled countrymen and talk to them. Tell them, 'The Lord Yahweh says this,' whether they listen or not."

The spirit lifted me up, and behind me I could hear a tumultuous shouting, "Blessed be the glory of Yahweh in his dwelling place." This was the sound of the animals' wings beating against each other, and the sound of the wheels beside them; a tumultuous shouting. The spirit lifted me up and took me; my heart, as I went, overflowed with bitterness and anger, and the hand of Yahweh lay heavy on me. I came to Tel Abib, to the exiles beside the river Chebar where they were then living; and I stayed with them for seven days like a man stunned.

The prophet as sentry

After seven days the word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, I have appointed you as sentry to the House of Israel. Whenever 18 you hear a word from me, warn them in my Name. 'If I say to a wicked man: You are to die, and you do not warn him; if you do not speak and warn him to renounce his evil ways and so live, then he shall die for his sin, but I will hold you responsible for his death. 'If, however, you do warn a wicked man and he does not renounce his wickedness and his evil ways, then he shall die for his sin, but you yourself will have saved your life. 'When the upright man renounces his integrity to do evil and I set a trap for him, he too shall die; since you failed to warn him, he shall die for his sin and the integrity he practiced will no longer be remembered; but I will hold you responsible for his death. 'If, however, you warn the upright man not to sin and he abstains from sinning, he shall live, thanks to your warning, and you too will have saved your life."

I. BEFORE THE SIEGE OF JERUSALEM

Ezekiel is struck dumb

22 While I was there the hand of Yahweh came on me; he said, "Get up, go out into the valley; I am going to speak to you." 'I got up and went out into the valley; the glory of Yahweh was resting there, like the glory I had seen by the river Chebar, and I prostrated myself. 'The spirit of Yahweh then entered me, and made me stand up, and spoke to me.

25 He said, "Go and shut yourself in your house. 'Son of man, bonds are now about to be laid on you; you will be bound with them and not be able to mix with others. 'I am going to make your tongue stick to the roof of your mouth; you will be dumb; you will stop warning them, for they are a set of rebels. 'When I speak to you, I shall open your mouth and you will tell them, 'The Lord Yahweh says this.' Whoever will listen, let him listen; whoever will not, let him not; for they are a set of rebels.

1 4 "Son of man, take a brick and lay it in front of you; on it scratch a city, 2 Jerusalem. 'You are then to besiege it, trench around it, build earthworks, pitch camps and bring up battering-rams all around. 'Then take an iron pan and place it as if it were an iron wall between you and the city. Then turn to it: it is being besieged and you are besieging it. This is a sign for the House of Israel.

4 "Lie down on your left side and take the sin of the House of Israel on 5 yourself. I am making you bear their sin for as many days as you lie there. 'I myself have set the years they will sin at a hundred and ninety days; during these you 6 are to bear the sin of the House of Israel. 'And at the end of these days, you are to lie down again on your right side and bear the sin of the House of Judah for 7 forty days. I have set the length for you as one day for one year. 'And you are to turn toward the siege of Jerusalem, lift your bare arm and prophesy against it. 8 I have laid bonds on you, and you must not turn over until the period of your seclusion is finished.

9 "You must then take wheat, barley, beans, lentils, millet and spelt; put them all in the same pot and make yourself some bread. You are to eat it for as many 10 days as you have been lying on your side, a hundred and ninety days. 'As regards this food you are to measure out a daily portion of twenty shekels and 11 make it last the whole day. 'And you are to drink water sparingly; your drink 12 is to be the sixth of a hin and to last the whole day. 'Take this food in the shape 13 of a barley cake baked where they can see you, over human dung. 'And say, 'Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this: This is the way the Israelites will have to 14 eat their defiled food, wherever I disperse them among the nations.'" 'I then said, "Lord Yahweh, my soul is not defiled. From my childhood until now, I have never eaten an animal that has died a natural death or been savaged; no unclean 15 flesh has ever entered my mouth.” “Very well,” he said, “I grant you cow’s dung 16 instead of human dung; you are to bake your bread on that.” He then said, “Son of man, I mean to destroy the stock of bread in Jerusalem; in their distress they will eat bread strictly weighed; in terror they will drink water grudgingly 17 measured, since bread and water will be scarce; they will all pine and waste away as a result of their sins.

1 5 “Son of man, take a sharp blade, sharp as a barber’s razor; take it and use it on your head and beard. Then take scales and divide the hair you have cut 2 off. You are to set fire to a third in the center of the city, while the time of the siege is working itself out. Then take another third and toss it by swordpoint all around the city. The last third you are to scatter to the wind, while I unsheathe the 3 sword behind them. Then take a few hairs and wrap them in the folds 4 of your cloak; and of these again take a few, and throw them on the fire and burn them. From them will issue fire, and you are to say to the entire House of 5 Israel, “The Lord Yahweh says this: This is Jerusalem, which I have placed 6 in the middle of the nations, surrounded with foreign countries. She is so perverse that she has rebelled more against my observances than the nations, and more against my laws than the surrounding countries; for she has rejected my observances and refused to keep my laws.

7 Therefore, the Lord Yahweh says this: Since you are more rebellious than the nations around you, since you do not keep my laws or respect my observances, and since you do not even respect the observances of the surrounding 8 nations, so then, the Lord Yahweh says this: I have now set myself against 9 you, I will inflict punishments upon you for all the nations to see. On account of all your filthy practices I will do things to you that I have never done 10 before and that I will never do again. Fathers among you will eat their children, and children eat their fathers. I will inflict punishments on you and 11 disperse what remains of you to the winds. Therefore, as I live—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—as sure as you have defiled my sanctuary with all your horrors and all your filthy practices, I too will reject pitilessly; I will not 12 spare, either. A third of your inhabitants shall die of plague or starve to death inside you; a third shall fall by the sword, outside you; a third I will scatter to 13 every wind, while I unsheathe the sword behind them. My anger will be satisfied; I mean to satisfy my fury against them and be avenged; they will know that I, Yahweh, have spoken in my jealousy, when I have exhausted my fury 14 against them. I mean to reduce you to a ruin, an object of contempt to sur-15 rounding nations, in the eyes of all who pass by. You will become an object of contempt and shame, an example and a thing of horror, to all the surrounding nations, when I execute my judgments on you in anger and fury, with bitter 16 punishments. I, Yahweh, have spoken. Against you I mean to send the deadly arrows of starvation—which will destroy you, since I shall send them to destroy 17 you—and I will destroy your stock of bread. Against you I mean to send famine and wild animals, to rob you of your children; plague and bloodshed shall visit you. I will summon the sword against you. I, Yahweh, have spoken.”

Against the mountains of Israel

1 6 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, turn 2 toward the mountains of Israel and prophesy against them. Say, ‘Mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord Yahweh. The Lord Yahweh says this to mountains and hills and ravines and valleys: Listen; I am going to summon 4 the sword against you and destroy your high places. Your altars will be wrecked, and your incense burners smashed; your inhabitants are going to be cut to pieces 5 and thrown down in front of your idols, and their bones spread all around your 6 altars. Throughout your territory the towns will be destroyed and the high places wrecked, to the ruin and wrecking of your altars, the shattering and abolition of your idols, the smashing of your incense burners and the utter 7 destruction of all your works. Among you men will fall, and be cut to pieces; and so you will learn that I am Yahweh.

8 But I shall spare some of you; they will escape the sword and be dispersed 9 by me among the nations. Your survivors will remember me among the nations where they have been deported. I shall have broken their wanton hearts for having deserted me, and blinded their adulterous eyes for having fawned on idols. They will loathe themselves for all the wrong they have caused by their filthy 10 practices, and so they will learn that I am Yahweh; I have said, and I have meant it, that I am going to inflict all these disasters on them.

The sins of Israel

11 The Lord Yahweh says this: Clap your hands, stamp your feet, and say:
Alas! for all the abominable sins of the House of Israel, which is about to 12 perish by sword, famine and plague. Far off, they will die by plague; near at hand they will fall by the sword; those who are spared and besieged will die of 13 hunger, since I mean to satisfy my fury against them. You will know that I am Yahweh when their corpses, cut to pieces, lie there among their idols, all around their altars, on every high hill, on every mountain top, under every spreading tree, under every leafy oak, in fact wherever they offer an appeasing fragrance to all 14 their idols. I mean to stretch out my hand against them and reduce the country to an empty wasteland from the desert to Riblah,^a the length and breadth of the country; and so they will learn that I am Yahweh.’”

The end is near

1 7 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, say, 2 The Lord Yahweh says this to the land of Israel: Finished! The end is 3 coming for the four quarters of the land. Now all is over with you; I mean to unleash my anger on you, and judge you as your conduct deserves and 4 force you to answer for all your filthy practices. I mean to show you no pity, I will not spare you; I am going to call you to account for your conduct and for the filthy practices that you parade; and so you will learn that I am Yahweh.

5 The Lord Yahweh says this: Now disaster is going to follow on disaster.
6 The end is coming, the end is coming for you; it is coming now. Now, it is 7 your turn, you who live in this country. The time has come, the day is near; no 8 joy now, only tumult, on the mountains. Soon I am going to pour out my fury on you and exhaust my anger at you; I will judge you as your conduct 9 deserves and call you to account for all your filthy practices. I mean to show you neither pity nor mercy, since I am going to call you to account for your conduct and for the filthy practices which you parade; and so you will learn that I am Yahweh, and that I strike.

10 Here is the day! It has come; your turn has come, the scourge is ready, pride 11 is at its peak. Violence has risen to become the scourge of wickedness . . . The 12 time has come and the day is near. Let neither buyer rejoice, nor seller regret, 13 for anger rages against all alike. The seller will not recover what he has sold; 14 they will all carry on sinning and be none the stronger for it. The trumpet will sound, all will be ready; but no one will go into battle, since my anger rages against all alike.

The sins of Israel

15 Outside, the sword; inside, plague and famine. Anyone who is found in the countryside will die by the sword; anyone who is found in the city will 16 be devoured by famine and plague. Their fugitives will run away and make for the mountains; I shall slaughter them all like doves of the valleys, each

6 a. I.e., from the south of Palestine to the most northerly point.

17 for his sin. With limp hands and quaking knees, they will put on sackcloth;
 18 and shudder all over. All their faces will be red with shame and every head 19 will be shaved. They will throw their silver down in the streets and their gold will fill them with horror. Never again will they have enough to eat, never again will they fill their bellies, since this has been the cause of their crimes.
 20 They used to pride themselves on the beauty of their jewelry, out of which they made their loathsome images and idols. That is why I mean to make it an 21 object of horror to them. I intend to hand it over to be the plunder of foreign-22 ers and loot for local brigands, who will profane it. I shall turn my face from them; my treasury will be profaned; barbarians will force their way in and profane it.

23 Forge yourself a chain; for the country is filled with bloody murders, the 24 city is full of violent crime. I am going to summon the cruelest of the nations to seize their houses. I will break the pride of their grandees; their sanctuaries 25 will be profaned. Anguish is on its way: they will look for peace and there 26 will be none. Disaster will follow on disaster, rumor on rumor; they will pester the prophet for a vision; the priest will be at a loss over the law and the 27 elders on how to advise. The king will go into mourning, the prince be plunged in grief, the hands of the country people tremble. I mean to treat them as their conduct deserves, and judge them as their own verdicts merit; and so they will learn that I am Yahweh.'"

A vision of the sins of Jerusalem

1 8 In the sixth year, on the fifth day of the sixth month,^a I was sitting at home and the elders of Judah were sitting with me, when the hand of the Lord Yahweh fell on me.

2 I looked and saw something that looked like a man. Downward from what seemed to be his loins he was fire; and upward from his loins he seemed to shine 3 like polished bronze. He stretched out what seemed to be a hand and took me by the hair; and the spirit lifted me into the air and, in visions from God, took me to Jerusalem, to the entrance of the inner north gate, where the idol of 4 Jealousy stands, provoking jealousy.^b There I saw the glory of the God of 5 Israel, as I had seen it in the valley. He said, "Son of man, raise your eyes to the north." I raised my eyes to the north, and there, to the north of the altar 6 gate, stood this statue of Jealousy at the entrance. He said, "Son of man, do you see what they are doing? Do you see all the filth practiced here by the House of Israel, to drive me out of my sanctuary? You will see filthier practices yet."

7 He next took me to the entrance to the court. I looked; there was a hole
 8 in the wall. He said, "Son of man, break through the wall." I broke through 9 the wall; there was a door. He said, "Go in and look at the filthy things they 10 are doing inside." I went in and looked: all sorts of images of snakes and repulsive animals and all the idols of the House of Israel drawn on the wall all around.
 11 Seventy elders of the House of Israel were standing in front of the idols, among them Jaazaniah son of Shaphan, each one, censer in hand; the fragrance 12 of incense was rising. He said, "Son of man, have you seen what the elders of the House of Israel do in the dark, each in his painted room? They say, 'Yahweh 13 cannot see us; Yahweh has abandoned the country.'" He said, "You will see them at filthier practices still."

14 He next took me to the entrance of the north gate of the Temple of Yahweh 15 where women were sitting, weeping for Tammuz.^c He said, "Son of man, do you see that? You will see even filthier things than that."

16 He then led me to the inner court of the Temple of Yahweh. And there, at the entrance to the sanctuary of Yahweh, between the porch and the altar, there were about twenty-five men, with their backs to the sanctuary of Yahweh and their faces turned to the east. They were bowing to the east, toward the sun.
 17 He said to me, "Son of man, do you see that? Is it not bad enough for the House of Judah to do the filthy things that they are doing here? But they fill the country with violence and provoke my anger further; look at them now putting that 18 branch to their nostrils. "My anger forces me to it; I will show neither pity nor mercy. They may shout as loud as they like; I will not listen to them."

The punishment

1 9 Then as I listened he shouted, "Come here, you scourges of the city, and
 2 bring your weapons of destruction." Immediately six men advanced from the upper north gate, each holding a deadly weapon. In the middle of them was a man in white, with a scribe's ink horn in his belt. They came in and halted
 3 in front of the bronze altar. "The glory of the God of Israel rose off the cherubs where it had been and went up to the threshold of the Temple. He called 4 the man in white with a scribe's ink horn in his belt and said, "Go all through the city, all through Jerusalem, and mark a cross on the foreheads of all who
 5 deplore and disapprove of all the filth practiced in it." I heard him say to the others, "Follow him through the city, and strike. Show neither pity nor mercy;
 6 old men, young men, virgins, children, women, kill and exterminate them all. But do not touch anyone with a cross on his forehead. Begin at my sanctuary."
 7 So they began with the old men in front of the Temple. He said to them, "Defile the Temple; fill the courts with corpses, and go." They went out and hacked their way through the city.

8 While they were hacking them down, I stayed behind; I fell face downward and exclaimed, "Ah, Lord Yahweh, are you going to annihilate all that is left 9 of Israel as you turn your anger on Jerusalem?" He said, "The guilt of the House of Israel and Judah is immense, boundless; the country is full of bloodshed, the city overflows with wickedness, for they say, 'Yahweh has abandoned the country, Yahweh cannot see.' Right, then, I too will show no pity, I too will 10 not spare. I mean to call them to account for all their behavior." The man in white with the scribe's ink horn in his belt then came back and made his report, "I have carried out your orders."

1 10 I looked, and I saw that above the vault over the cherubs' heads there was something that looked like a sapphire, and there showed above them the semblance of a throne. He then said to the man in white, "Go under the chariot, beneath the cherubs; take a handful of burning coal from between the cherubs and scatter it over the city." He went in as I watched.

3 The cherubs were on the right of the Temple as the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court. The glory of Yahweh rose off the cherubs and up to the threshold of the Temple; the Temple was filled with the cloud and 5 the court was filled with the brightness of the glory of Yahweh. The noise of the cherubs' wings could be heard even in the outer court, like the thunder of God Almighty when he speaks.

6 When he ordered the man in white to take the fire from under the chariot, between the cherubs, the man went and stopped by the wheel; one cherub stretched his hand toward the fire which was between the cherubs, took some
 8 and put it into the hands of the man in white, who took it and went off. I then saw that the cherubs had what seemed to be a human hand under their wings.
 9 I looked; there were four wheels at the side of the cherubs, one wheel at the side of each cherub, and the wheels glittered as if made of chrysolite. All four looked 11 alike, and seemed to be one inside the other. They went forward four ways and kept their course unswervingly, moving the way they faced and never swerving 12 off their course. Their bodies, their backs, their hands, their wings, and the 13 wheels—the wheels of all four—were covered in eyes all over. I heard that 14 the wheels were called "galgal." Each cherub had four faces: the first face was the face of the cherub, the second face the face of a man, the third the face 15 of a lion, the fourth the face of an eagle. The cherubs rose; this was the creature 16 I had seen by the river Chebar. As the cherubs went forward, the wheels went forward beside them; and the wheels did not swerve even when the cherubs 17 spread their wings to leave the ground. When the former stopped, the latter stopped; when the former rose, the latter rose with them, since the spirit of the creature was in them.

The glory of Yahweh leaves the Temple

18 The glory of Yahweh came out from the Temple threshold and paused over 19 the cherubs. The cherubs spread their wings and rose from the ground to leave, and as I watched the wheels rose with them. They paused at the entrance to the east gate of the Temple of Yahweh, and the glory of the God of Israel hovered 20 over them. This was the creature that I had seen supporting the God of Israel 21 beside the river Chebar, and I was now certain that these were cherubs. Each had four faces and four wings and what seemed to be human hands under their 22 wings. Their faces were just as I had seen them beside the river Chebar. Each moved straight forward.

The sins of Jerusalem (continued)

1 11 The spirit lifted me up and carried me to the east gate of the Temple of Yahweh, the gate that looks eastward. There at the entrance to the gate stood twenty-five men, among whom I saw Jaazaniah son of Azzur and Pelatiah 2 son of Benaiah, leaders of the people. Yahweh said, "Son of man, these are 3 the wicked schemers who are spreading their bad advice through this city. They say, 'Shall we not soon be building houses? Here is the cooking pot and we are 4 the meat.'^a Therefore prophesy against them, prophesy, son of man." The spirit of Yahweh fell on me, and he said to me, "Say, 'Yahweh says this: I know 6 what you are saying, House of Israel, I know how insolent you are. You have filled this city with more and more corpses of murdered men, you have strewn 7 its streets with your victims. And so, the Lord Yahweh says this: The corpses you have thrown into it are the meat, and the city is the cooking pot; but I mean 8 to drive you out. You are afraid of the sword and I will summon it against you—9 it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. I shall drive you from the city and hand 10 you over to foreigners, and I shall carry out my sentence on you; you will fall by the sword on the soil of Israel; I shall execute justice on you; and so you will 11 learn that I am Yahweh. This city will be no cooking pot for you, and you will never be the meat inside; I am going to execute justice on you on the soil of 12 Israel; and so you will learn that I am Yahweh, whose laws you have not obeyed and whose observances you have not kept; instead, you have adopted the manners of the nations around you.'" 13 Now as I was prophesying, Pelatiah son of Benaiah dropped dead. I prostrated myself and cried aloud, "Ah, Lord Yahweh, are you going to wipe out all that is left of Israel?"

The new covenant promised to the exiles

14 The word of Yahweh was then addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, 15 your brothers, your kinsmen, the whole House of Israel, these are told by the citizens of Jerusalem, 'You have been sent away from Yahweh; it is to us that the 16 land was given as our domain.' Say therefore, 'The Lord Yahweh says this:
 Yes, I have sent them far away among the nations and I have dispersed them to foreign countries; and for a while I have been a sanctuary for them in the 17 country to which they have gone.' Then say, 'The Lord Yahweh says this:
 I will gather you together from the peoples, I will bring you all back from the countries where you have been scattered and I will give you the land of Israel.
 18 They will come and will purge it of all the horrors and the filthy practices. I will

19 give them a single heart and I will put a new spirit in them; •I will remove 20 the heart of stone from their bodies and give them a heart of flesh instead, •so that they will keep my laws and respect my observances and put them into 21 practice. Then they shall be my people and I will be their God. •But those whose hearts are set on their idols and their filthy practices I will call to account for their conduct—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.’”

The glory of Yahweh leaves Jerusalem

22 The cherubs then spread their wings and the wheels began to move with them, 23 while the glory of the God of Israel hovered over them. •And the glory of Yahweh rose to leave the city and paused on the mountain to the east of the city.

24 The spirit lifted me up in vision, in the spirit of God, and took me to 25 the Chaldaeans, away to the exiles, and so the vision I had seen faded; •and then I told the exiles everything that Yahweh had shown me.

The mime of the emigrant

1 12 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “•Son of man, you
 2 are living with that set of rebels who have eyes and never see, ears
 3 and never hear, for they are a set of rebels. •You, son of man, pack an exile’s bundle and emigrate by daylight when they can see you, emigrate from where you are to somewhere else while they watch. Perhaps they will admit 4 then that they are a set of rebels. •You will pack your baggage like an exile’s bundle, by daylight, for them to see, and leave like an exile in the evening, making 5 sure that they are looking. •As they watch, make a hole in the wall, and go 6 out through it. •As they watch, you will shoulder your pack and go out into the dark; you will cover your face so that you cannot see the country, since I have made you a symbol for the House of Israel.”

7 I did as I had been told. I packed my baggage like an exile’s bundle, by daylight; and in the evening I made a hole through the wall with my hand.
 I went out into the dark and shouldered my pack as they watched.

8 The next morning the word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “•Son 9 of man, did not the House of Israel, did not that set of rebels, ask you what 10 you were doing? •Say, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this: This oracle is directed against Jerusalem and the whole House of Israel wherever they are living.’ 11 Say, ‘I am a symbol for you; the thing I have done will be done to them; they 12 will go into exile, into banishment.’ •Their ruler will shoulder his pack in the dark and go out through the wall; a hole will be made to let him out; he will 13 cover his face rather than see the country,^a •I shall throw my net over him and catch him in my mesh; I shall take him to Babylon, to the land of the Chaldaeans, 14 though he will not see it; and there he will die. •And all those who form his court, his guards and all his troops, I shall scatter to all the winds and unsheathe 15 the sword behind them. •They will learn that I am Yahweh, when I scatter 16 them throughout the nations and disperse them in foreign countries. •However,
 I intend to leave some of them unscathed by sword, famine and plague, to describe all their filthy practices to the peoples among whom they will go, so that these too may learn that I am Yahweh.”

17 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “•Son of man, you are 18 to tremble as you eat your bread and to behave restlessly and anxiously as you 19 drink your water, •and you are to say to the people of the country, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this to the citizens of Jerusalem scattered throughout Israel: They are going to eat their bread in anxiety, and drink their water in

11 a. A proverb: “we are as safe inside our walls as meat in a pot is safe from the fire.”

fear, until the country and those who live in it are free of the violence of all its inhabitants. 'The inhabited towns are going to be destroyed and the country will be reduced to desert; and so you will learn that I am Yahweh.'

Popular proverbs

²¹/₂₂ The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, what do you mean by this proverb common throughout the land of Israel: Days go by and visions fade?"

²³ "Very well, tell them, 'The Lord Yahweh says this: I will put an end to this proverb; it shall never be heard in Israel again.' Instead, tell them:

²⁴ 'The day is coming when every vision will come true.' 'From now on there will be no empty vision, no deceitful prophecy in the House of Israel, 'since it is I, Yahweh, who will speak. What I say is said and will soon come true; since what I pronounce I will fulfill in your own lifetime, you set of rebels—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.'

²⁵/₂₆ The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, the House of Israel is saying, 'The vision that this man sees concerns the distant future; he is prophesying for times far ahead.' 'Very well, tell them, 'The Lord Yahweh says this: There will be no further delay in the fulfilling of any of my words. What I say is said and will come true—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.'

Against the false prophets

⁵ Very well, the Lord Yahweh says this: Because of your empty words and lying visions, I have now set myself against you—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. 'I am going to stretch my hand over the prophets who have empty visions and give lying predictions; they will not be admitted to the council of my people, their names will not be entered in the Book of the House of Israel, they will not set foot on the soil of Israel; and you will learn that I am the Lord Yahweh, 'since they have misled my people by saying: Peace! when there is no peace. Instead of my people rebuilding the wall, these men come and slap on plaster. 'Tell these plasterers: It will rain hard, it will hail, it will blow a gale, 'and down will come the wall. Will not people ask: Where is the plaster you slapped on it? Well then, the Lord Yahweh says this: I am going to unleash a stormy wind in my anger, torrential rain in my wrath, hailstones in my destructive fury. 'I mean to shatter the wall you slapped with plaster, to throw it down and lay its foundations bare. It will fall and you will perish under it; and so you will learn that I am Yahweh.

¹⁵ When I have exhausted my anger against the wall and those who plastered it, I shall say to you: The wall is gone, and so are those who slapped it over with plaster, 'these prophets of Israel who prophesy about Jerusalem and have visions of peace for her when there is no peace—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.'

The false prophetesses

17 “And you, son of man, turn to the daughters of your people who make up
18 prophecies out of their own heads; prophesy against them. ‘Say, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this: Trouble is coming to the women who sew frills around wrists,^a who make veils for people of all sizes, the better to ensnare lives! You ensnare 19 the lives of the men of my people while looking after your own. ‘You dishonor me in front of my people for a few handfuls of barley, a few bits of bread, killing those who ought not to die and sparing those who ought not to live, lying to my people who love to listen to lies.

20 Well then, the Lord Yahweh says this. We shall see about these frills you use for snaring lives like birds. I intend to rip them off your arms, and free those 21 lives you try to snare like birds. ‘I am going to rip your veils to pieces and rescue my people from you; they will no longer be fair game for you. And so you will learn that I am Yahweh.

22 Since you distress with lies the heart of the upright man whom I would never distress, and since you encourage the wicked man not to give up his wicked 23 ways and find life again, ‘very well, you will have no more empty visions, and you will not make any more predictions. I mean to rescue my people from you, and then you will learn that I am Yahweh.’”

Against idolatry

¹ 14 When some elders of Israel had come to my house and sat down with me, ³ the word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “‘Son of man, these people have enshrined their own idols in their hearts, they cling to the cause 4 of their sins; am I going to let myself be consulted by them? ‘Well then, speak to them; tell them this, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this: Every member of the House of Israel who enshrines his own idols in his heart, or who, clinging to the cause of his sins, comes looking for the prophet, will get his answer from me, 5 Yahweh, on account of his hundreds of idols; ‘and in this way I hope to touch the heart of the House of Israel who have deserted me in favor of a pack of idols.

6 “Say therefore to the House of Israel, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this: Come 7 back, renounce your idols and give up all your filthy practices; ‘for if any member of the House of Israel—or even any foreigner living in Israel—deserts me to enshrine his own idols in his heart, and, clinging to the cause of his sins, then comes looking for the prophet to consult me, he will get his answer from me, 8 Yahweh. ‘I will turn against this man; I will make him an example and a byword; I will cut him off from my people; and you will learn that I am Yahweh.
9 If the prophet is led astray and speaks, it is I, Yahweh, who have led that prophet astray; I will stretch out my hand against him and will wipe him out 10 from my people Israel. ‘They will bear the weight of their faults, and the fault of the prophet will be as grave as the fault of the man who consults him.
11 So the House of Israel will not desert me any more; it will not defile itself with any more of these sins. They shall be my people, and I will be their God—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.’”

Individual responsibility

12 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “‘Son of man, if a 13 country were to sin against me by faithlessness, and if I were to stretch out my hand against it and destroy its stock of bread and send famine to it to kill its 14 men and beasts, ‘and if in that country there were these three men, Noah, Danel and Job,^a these men would have their lives spared because of their integrity 15 —it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. ‘Were I to unleash wild animals on that country to rob it of its children and reduce it to such a desert that no one would 13 a. Presumably a magical or idolatrous practice.

14 a. Danel, famous for his goodness and wisdom, is known to us from the Ras Shamra texts.

16 dare to cross it because of the animals, and if these three men were in that country, then, as I live—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—they would not be able to save either son or daughter; they alone would be saved, and the country would become a desert. If I were to bring the sword into that country and say: Let the sword pass through the country; I will strike down men and beasts with it, and if these three men were in that country, then, as I live—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—they would not be able to save either son or daughter; they alone would be saved. If I were to send the plague into that country and satisfy my anger with them by bloodshed, cutting off men and beasts, if Noah and Danel and Job were in the country, as I live—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—they would not be able to save either son or daughter, though they would save their own lives because of their integrity.

21 “The Lord Yahweh says this: Now, if I do send my four dreadful scourges against Jerusalem—sword, famine, wild animals and plague—to cut off its men and beasts, and if any survivors are left there to contrive the escape of son and daughter, they will come for you to see their conduct and actions and so be comforted in spite of the scourges I shall have brought on Jerusalem, in spite of everything I shall have brought on her. They will comfort you, when you see their conduct and actions, and so you will learn that I have not done all I have done against her for nothing—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.”

A parable of the vine

1 15 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows:

2 “Son of man, how is the wood of the vine better than wood from the branch of a forest tree?
3 Do people use its wood to carve it into something?
Do they make a peg out of it, and hang things on it?
4 There it is, thrown on the fire for fuel.
The fire burns off both ends;
the middle is charred; is it fit for carving now?
5 While it was intact, it was impossible to carve;
burned and charred, will it be now fit for carving?
6 Therefore, the Lord Yahweh says this:
As the wood of the vine among the forest trees,
which I have thrown on the fire for fuel,
so have I treated the citizens of Jerusalem.
7 I have turned my face against them.
They have escaped the fire, but the fire will devour them yet.
And you will learn that I am Yahweh, when I turn my face against them.
8 I mean to reduce the country to desert, to punish their faithlessness to me
—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.”

An allegorical history of Israel

¹/₂ 16 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man,
3 confront Jerusalem with her filthy crimes. Say, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this: By origin and birth you belong to the land of Canaan. Your father
4 was an Amorite and your mother a Hittite. At birth, the very day you were born, there was no one to cut your navel string, or wash you in cleansing water, 5 or rub you with salt, or wrap you in napkins. No one leaned kindly over you to do anything like that for you. You were exposed in the open fields; you were as unloved as that on the day you were born.
6 I saw you struggling in your blood as I was passing, and I said to you as 7 you lay in your blood: Live, and grow like the grass of the fields. You developed, you grew, you reached marriageable age. Your breasts and your hair both grew,
8 but you were quite naked. Then I saw you as I was passing. Your time had come, the time for love. I spread part of my cloak over you and covered your nakedness; I bound myself by oath, I made a covenant with you—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—and you became mine. I bathed you in water, I washed the blood off you, I anointed you with oil. I gave you embroidered dresses, fine leather shoes, a linen headband and a cloak of silk. I loaded you with jewels, gave you bracelets for your wrists and a necklace for your throat. I gave you nose ring and earrings; I put a beautiful diadem on your head. You were loaded with gold and silver, and dressed in fine linen and embroidered silks. Your food was the finest flour, honey and oil. You grew more and more beautiful; and you rose to be queen. The fame of your beauty spread through the nations, since it was perfect, because I had clothed you with my own splendor—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.

You have become infatuated with your own beauty; you have used your fame to make yourself a prostitute; you have offered your services to all comers. . . . You have taken your clothes to brighten your high places and there you have played the whore. . . . You have taken my presents of gold and silver jewelry and made yourself human images to use in your whorings. You have taken your embroidered clothes and put them on the images, and the oil and incense which are rightly mine you have offered to them. The bread I gave you, the finest flour, oil and honey with which I used to feed you, you have now offered to them as an appeasing fragrance.

You have even—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—taken the sons and daughters you bore me and sacrificed them as food to the images. Was it not enough for you just to be a whore? You have slaughtered my children and handed them over as a burnt offering to them, and in all your filthy practices and your whorings you have never remembered your youth or the time when you were quite naked and struggling in your own blood.

To crown your wickedness—trouble for you, it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—you have built yourself a mound and made a high place at every crossroads. At the beginning of every road you have built a high place to defile your beauty there and to give your body to every comer; you have piled whoring on whoring. You have lain down for those big-membered neighbors, the Egyptians; you have piled whoring on whoring to provoke me, and now I have raised my hand against you. I have rationed your food, I have handed you over to the mercy of your enemies, the daughters of the Philistines, who are sick of your filthy ways. Still unsatisfied, you have prostituted yourself to the Assyrians; you have played the whore and not been satisfied even then.^a You have piled whoring on whoring with Canaanite and Chaldaean, and even then not been satisfied.

How easily led you were—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—to behave no better than a bold-faced whore! When you built yourself a mound at the beginning of every road and made a high place at every crossroads, you were not, like the whore, out for money: an adulteress welcomes strangers instead of her husband; a prostitute is paid. But you, in your whoring, have given your presents away to all your lovers; you have offered them gifts to attract them from everywhere. In your whoring you have done the exact opposite from other women; no one was running after you, so you went and paid them; they did not pay you since your behavior was so outrageous.

Well then, whore, hear the word of Yahweh. The Lord Yahweh says this: For having undressed and let yourself be seen naked while whoring with your lovers and with your filthy idols, and for giving them your children's blood—for all this, I am going to band together all the lovers who have pleased you, both those you liked and those you disliked, I am going to band them together against you from all around; I will strip you in front of them, and let them see you 16 a. Especially in the reign of Manassch, Israel was unfaithful in adopting the foreign gods of her allies.

38 naked. •And I mean to punish you like women who commit adultery and murder;
39 I intend to hand you over to fury and jealousy; I will hand you over to them; they will level your mound and demolish your high places; they will tear your clothes 40 off, take your jewels and leave you completely naked. •They will then whip up the crowd against you; you will be stoned and run through with a sword; 41 they will set your houses on fire and execute justice on you with crowds of women looking on; I will put an end to your whoring: no more paid lovers for you.
42 I will exhaust my fury against you. My jealousy will then leave you; I shall 43 be appeased and my anger will stop. •Since you have never remembered your youth, since in all this you have done nothing but provoke me, I in my turn intend to bring your conduct down on your own head—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. Have you not been disgusting with all your filthy practices?

44 Now all the proverb makers will make up a proverb about you: Like mother, 45 like daughter. •Yes; you are a true daughter of your mother, who hated her husband and her children; a true sister of your sisters, who hated their husbands and their children. Your mother was a Hittite and your father an Amorite.
46 Your elder sister is Samaria, who lives on your left with her daughters. Your 47 younger sister is Sodom, who lives on your right with her daughters. •You have not failed to copy their behavior; throughout your career you have 48 shown yourself more corrupt than they were. •As I live—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—your sister Sodom and her daughters have not been as bad as you 49 and your daughters. •The crime of your sister Sodom was pride, gluttony, arrogance, complacency; such were the sins of Sodom and her daughters. They never 50 helped the poor and needy; •they were proud and engaged in filthy practices in 51 front of me; that is why I have swept them away as you have seen. •And yet Samaria never committed half the crimes that you have.

You have done far filthier things than they did. By your filthy practices 52 you have made your sisters seem almost innocent, •and now you have to bear the shame for all those faults of which you have cleared your sisters;
since the grossness of the sins for which you bear the guilt is more horrible than theirs; they now appear more virtuous than you are. Be ashamed, then;
bear the shame of having put your sisters in the right.

53 I will restore them. I will restore Sodom and her daughters. I will restore Samaria and her daughters; and, after that, I will restore you along with them, 54 that you may bear your shame and be ashamed of all you have done, and so 55 console them. •Your sister Sodom and her daughters will be restored to what they were. Samaria and her daughters will be restored to what they were. You 56 and your daughters will be restored to what you were. •Did you not gloat 57 over your sister Sodom when you were still in your finery, •before you were stripped naked? Now the daughters of Edom and all the women around are jeering at you, and the daughters of the Philistines are treating you like something 58 beneath them, and so are all your neighbors. •You have brought it on yourself by your brazenness and filth—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.

59 For the Lord Yahweh says this: I will treat you as you deserve, you who 60 have despised your oath even to the extent of breaking a covenant, •but I will remember the covenant that I made with you when you were a girl, and I will 61 conclude a covenant with you that shall last for ever. •And you for your part will remember your past behavior and be covered with shame when I take your elder and younger sisters and make them your daughters, although this 62 was not included in this covenant. •I am going to renew my covenant with you; 63 and you will learn that I am Yahweh, •and so remember and be covered with shame, and in your confusion be reduced to silence, when I have pardoned you for all that you have done—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.’”

The allegory of the eagle

¹17 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, ask ² them a riddle; propound a parable to the House of Israel. Say, 'The ³ Lord Yahweh says this:

A large eagle,^a with huge wings
 and a wide span,
 covered with speckled feathers,
 came to Lebanon.

He took hold of the top of the cedar,
 plucked off the top branch,
 carried it off to the land of merchants,
 and set it down in a city of shopkeepers.

Then he carried off a seedling vine,
 and planted it in fertile soil;
 by the side of a wide stream,
 as a border he set it.

The seedling grew, and turned into a vine,
 not tall but well spread out;
 its branches grew up toward the eagle,
 its roots grew down.

It turned into a vine;
 it sent out stems and put out sprays.

There was another large eagle,
 with huge wings and thickly feathered.
 And now the vine twisted its roots toward him,
 stretched its branches toward him away from the bed where it was planted for him to water them.

It was in a fertile field, by the side of a wide stream,
 that the vine had been planted,
 to grow shoots, bear fruit
 and become a noble vine.'

Say, 'The Lord Yahweh says this:
 Will this vine thrive?

Will not the eagle break its roots,
 and snap up the fruit,
 so that all the new leaves will wither when they shoot?

It will take no effort and no strong nation
 to pull it up by the roots.

It is planted there; will it thrive?

Will it not shrivel when the east wind blows?

It will wither on the soil where it was growing.'"

¹¹ The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows:

¹² "Say to that set of rebels, 'Do you not know what this means?' Say this,
¹³ 'Listen; the king of Babylon came to Jerusalem; he carried away the king and the ¹⁴ princes, and took them to where he lives in Babylon. He took a member of the ¹⁵ royal family and made a treaty with him, forcing him to swear loyalty, after having ¹⁶ already deported the chief men of the land, so that the kingdom would remain modest and without ambition and so maintain his treaty faithfully. But the prince rebelled and sent envoys to Egypt, asking for horses and a large number of troops. Is he going to thrive? Will a man who has done this go unpunished?
 Can he break a treaty and go unpunished? As I live, I swear—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks: In Babylon, in the country of the king who put him on the throne, whose oath he has ignored, whose treaty he has broken, there 17 will he die. Despite the pharaoh's great army and hordes of men, he will not be able to save him by fighting, however many earthworks are raised, however 18 many trenches dug to the loss of many lives. He has ignored the oath and broken the treaty by which he was bound. He has done all this and shall not go unpunished.

19 'And so, the Lord Yahweh says this: As I live, I swear: my oath which he has ignored, my treaty which he has broken, I will make them both recoil 20 on his own head. I mean to throw my net over him and catch him in my mesh;
 I mean to take him to Babylon and punish him there for breaking his oath to me.
 21 The pick of his army will fall by the sword, and the survivors be scattered to all the winds. And so you will learn that I, Yahweh, have spoken.
 22 'The Lord Yahweh says this:

From the top of the cedar,
 from the highest branch I will take a shoot
 and plant it myself on a very high mountain.
 23 I will plant it myself on the high mountain of Israel.
 It will sprout branches and bear fruit,
 and become a noble cedar.
 Every kind of bird will live beneath it,
 every winged creature rest in the shade of its branches.
 24 And every tree of the field will learn that I, Yahweh, am the one who stunts tall trees and makes the low ones grow,
 who withers green trees and makes the withered green.
 I, Yahweh, have spoken, and I will do it.'"

Individual responsibility

¹/₂ 18 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Why do you keep repeating this proverb in the land of Israel:

The fathers have eaten unripe grapes;
 and the children's teeth are set on edge?

3 "As I live—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—there will no longer be any 4 reason to repeat this proverb in Israel. See now: all life belongs to me; the father's life and the son's life, both alike belong to me. The man who has sinned, he is the one who shall die.

⁵/₆ "The upright man is law-abiding and honest; he does not eat on the mountains or raise his eyes to the idols of the House of Israel, does not seduce 7 his neighbor's wife or sleep with a woman during her periods. He oppresses no one, returns pledges, never steals, gives his own bread to the hungry, his clothes 8 to the naked. He never charges usury on loans, takes no interest, abstains from 9 evil, gives honest judgment between man and man, keeps my laws and sincerely respects my observances—such a man is truly upright. It is Yahweh who speaks.

10 "But if anyone has a son prone to violence and bloodshed, who commits 11 one of these misdeeds—even though the father never has—a son who dares 12 to eat on the mountains and to seduce his neighbor's wife, who oppresses the poor and needy, steals, fails to return pledges, raises his eyes to idols, engages in 13 filthy practices, charges usury on loans and takes interest, then this son shall certainly not live; having committed all these appalling crimes he will have to die, and his blood be on his own head.

14 "But if he in turn has a son who, in spite of seeing all the sins that his father 15 has committed, does not imitate him, does not eat on the mountains or raise his eyes to the idols of the House of Israel, does not seduce his neighbor's 16 wife, oppresses no one, takes no pledges, never steals, gives his own bread
 17 to the hungry, clothes to the naked, abstains from evil, does not charge usury

or take interest, respects my observances and keeps my laws, he will not die for his father's sins, this son shall certainly live. •Because the father was violent, robbed others and never did good among my people, be sure he shall die for his sins. •But you object, 'Why does the son not suffer for the sins of his father?' The son, however, has been law-abiding and honest, has kept all my laws and followed them, and so he shall certainly live. •The man who has sinned is the one who must die; a son is not to suffer for the sins of his father, nor a father for the sins of his son. To the upright man his integrity will be credited, to the wicked his wickedness.

21 "But if the wicked man renounces all the sins he has committed, respects my laws and is law-abiding and honest, he will certainly live; he will not die. •All the sins he committed will be forgotten from then on; he shall live because of the integrity he has practiced. •What! Am I likely to take pleasure in the death of a wicked man—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—and not prefer to see him renounce his wickedness and live?

24 "But if the upright man renounces his integrity, commits sin, copies the wicked man and practices every kind of filth, is he to live? All the integrity he has practiced shall be forgotten from then on; but this is because he himself has broken faith and committed sin, and for this he shall die. •But you object, 'What the Lord does is unjust.' Listen, you House of Israel: is what I do unjust? Is it not what you do that is unjust? •When the upright man renounces his integrity to commit sin and dies because of this, he dies because of the evil that he himself has committed. •When the sinner renounces sin to become law-abiding and honest, he deserves to live. •He has chosen to renounce all his previous sins; he shall certainly live; he shall not die. •And yet the House of Israel objects, 'What the Lord does is unjust.' Is what I do unjust, you House of Israel? Is it not what you do that is unjust? •House of Israel, in future I mean to judge each of you by what he does—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. Repent, renounce all your sins, avoid all occasions of sin! •Shake off all the sins you have committed against me, and make yourselves a new heart and a new spirit! Why are you so anxious to die, House of Israel? •I take no pleasure in the death of anyone—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. Repent and live!

A lamentation over the rulers of Israel

¹/₂ 19 "As for you, raise a dirge for the princes of Israel. •Say:

'What was your mother? A lioness surrounded by lions;
lying among the cubs
she nursed her whelps.

3 She reared one of her whelps
and it grew into a young lion;
he learned to tear his prey;
he became a man-eater.

4 The nations combined against him;
he was caught in their pit;
they dragged him off with hooks to the land of Egypt.^a

he learned to tear his prey;
 he became a man-eater.
 7 He stormed their palaces,
 and sacked their cities;
 the country and its inhabitants were alarmed
 by the sound of his roars.
 8 The nations marched out against him
 from the surrounding provinces;
 they spread their net for him;
 he was caught in their pit.
 9 They caged him with hooks

 they took him into a fortress,
 so that his voice could never again be heard

 10 'Your mother was like a vine planted beside the water, fruitful and leafy,
 because the water flowed so full.
 11 It put out strong branches that turned to royal scepters;
 they reached up, reached so high
 they touched the clouds;
 men admired them for their height
 and their thick foliage.
 12 But it was rooted up
 and thrown on the ground;
 the east wind dried up its fruit;
 it was broken up;
 its strong branch withered away;
 fire consumed it all.
 13 Now it has been transplanted into the desert,
 the waterless country of drought;
 14 fire has come out of its stem, consumed its branches and fruit.
 No more strong branch for her,
 no more kingly scepter.'''

This is a dirge; it was used as such.

An account of Israel's infidelities

1 20 In the seventh year, on the tenth day of the fifth month,^a some of the elders of Israel came to consult Yahweh and sat down in front of me.
 2 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, speak to 3 the elders of Israel. Say, 'The Lord Yahweh says this: Have you come to consult me?' As I live, I am not going to let myself be consulted by them—it is the 4 Lord Yahweh who speaks. 'Are you ready to judge them? Are you ready to judge
 5 them, son of man? Confront them with the filthy practices of their fathers.
 6 Say, 'The Lord Yahweh says this: On the day when I chose Israel, when I raised my hand over the descendants of the House of Jacob, I told them then in the land of Egypt; I raised my hand over them and said: I am Yahweh your 7 God. 'On that day I raised my hand over them and swore to lead them out of the land of Egypt and bring them into the land I had chosen for them, a land where milk and honey flow, and the noblest of them all. 'I said: Each one of you must reject those horrors that attract you; do not pollute yourselves with

⁸ the idols of Egypt; I am Yahweh, your God. •But they rebelled against me and would not listen to me. Not one of them rejected those horrors that attracted them; they did not give up the idols of Egypt. I resolved to discharge my anger
⁹ on them and exhaust my fury against them in Egypt. •But respect for my own name kept me from allowing it to be profaned in the opinion of the nations among whom they were living, for I had given them my word that in the sight
¹⁰ of those nations I would lead my people out of the land of Egypt. •So I led ¹¹ them out of Egypt and into the wilderness. •I gave them my laws and taught
¹² them my observances, which must be practiced by all who want to live. •I even gave them my sabbaths to be a sign between me and them, so that they
¹³ might learn that I, Yahweh, am the one who sanctifies them. •The House of Israel, however, rebelled against me in the wilderness; they refused to keep my laws, they scorned my observances, which must be practiced by all who wish to live, and they profaned my sabbaths. Then I resolved to discharge my ¹⁴ anger on them in the wilderness and to destroy them. •But respect for my own name kept me from allowing it to be profaned in the opinion of the nations,
¹⁵ in whose sight I had brought them out. •However, I did raise my hand over them in the wilderness and swear that I would not lead them to the land which I had given them, a land where milk and honey flow, the noblest of them all,
¹⁶ since they had scorned my observances, had refused to keep my laws and had
¹⁷ profaned my sabbaths, their hearts being so attached to idols. •In spite of this, I took pity on them; I refrained from destroying them, and I did not kill them all in the wilderness.

¹⁸ I said to their children in the wilderness: Do not live by your ancestors' standards, do not practice the observances they practiced, do not defile
¹⁹ yourselves with their idols. •I am Yahweh your God. Keep my laws, respect my observances and practice them. •Keep my sabbaths holy; let them be a sign ²⁰ between me and you, so that men may learn that I am Yahweh your God. The sons, however, rebelled against me; they refused to keep my laws, they did ²¹ not respect or practice my observances, which must be practiced by all who want to live; they profaned my sabbaths. I then resolved to discharge my anger on ²² them and exhaust my fury against them in the wilderness. •But I restrained my hand; respect for my own name kept me from allowing it to be profaned in the ²³ opinion of the nations, under whose eyes I had brought them out. •Once again, however, I raised my hand over them in the wilderness, swearing to scatter
²⁴ them throughout the nations and disperse them in foreign countries, •because they had not followed my observances but had rejected my laws and profaned my sabbaths, and because they had kept their eyes fastened on their ancestors'
²⁵ idols. •I even gave them laws that were not good and observances by which they ²⁶ could never live; and I polluted them with their own offerings, making them sacrifice all their first-born; which was to punish them, so that they would learn that I am Yahweh.'

²⁷ "For this reason, son of man, speak to the House of Israel. Say to them, 'The Lord Yahweh says this: Here is another way by which your ancestors
²⁸ outraged me, behaving treacherously to me, •even though I led them into the land which I had solemnly sworn to give them. There they saw all sorts of high hills, all kinds of leafy trees, and there they performed their sacrifices and made offerings that provoked my anger; there they laid their appeasing fragrance
²⁹ and poured their libations. •I said to them: What is the name of the high place where you go? And they gave, and still give it, the name of Bamah.'^b
³¹ idols, •by offering your gifts and by burning your children as sacrifices, polluting yourselves with your pack of idols to this very day, how can I let you consult me, House of Israel? As I live—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—I am not going to let myself be consulted by you. And that dream ever haunting your mind will never come true, when you say: We shall be like the nations, like foreign tribes worshiping wood and stone. As I live I swear it—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—I am the one who will reign over you, with a strong hand and outstretched arm, through the discharge of my anger. With a strong hand and outstretched arm, through the discharge of my anger, I will bring you out from the peoples and gather you together from foreign countries among which you have been scattered. I will lead you into the Desert of the Nations^c and condemn you to your face. As I judged your fathers in the desert of the land of Egypt, so will I judge you—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. I mean to make you pass under my crook^d and I will bring a few of you back; I will sort out the rebels who have rebelled against me. I intend to bring them out of the country where they are staying, but they shall not enter the land of Israel, and you will learn that I am Yahweh. House of Israel, the Lord Yahweh says this: Go on, all of you, worship your idols, but I swear that you will hear me in the end. You will stop profaning my Holy Name with your offerings and your idols. For on my holy mountain, on the high mountain of Israel—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—is where the whole House of Israel, resettled in the country, will worship me. There I will welcome you, and there expect your presents, your choicest gifts and all your holy offerings. I will welcome you like an appeasing fragrance when I bring you out from among the peoples; I mean to gather you together from the foreign countries in which you have been scattered; through you I intend to display my holiness for all the nations to see; and you will learn that I am Yahweh, when I bring you back to the soil of Israel, to the land I solemnly swore to give to your fathers. There you will remember your past behavior and all the misdeeds by which you have defiled yourselves, and you will loathe yourselves for all the sins that you have committed. Then you will learn that I am Yahweh, when I treat you as respect for my own name requires, and not as your wicked behavior and corrupt actions deserve, House of Israel. It is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.’”

^{45,46} 21 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, turn to the right; utter your word toward the south, prophesy against the forest land of the Negeb. Say to the forest of the Negeb, ‘Hear the word of Yahweh. The Lord Yahweh says this: Listen; I am about to kindle a fire in you that will burn up every green tree as well as every dry one; it will be an unquenchable blaze and every face will be scorched by it from the Negeb to the North. All mankind will see that it was I, Yahweh, who kindled it, and it will not be put out.’” I said, “Lord Yahweh, they say of me, ‘What a storyteller this man is!’” The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, turn toward Jerusalem, curse their sanctuary and prophesy against the land of Israel. Say to the land of Israel, ‘Yahweh says this: Now I set myself against you; I am about to unsheathe my sword and to kill both upright man and sinner. My sword will leave its sheath to kill upright and sinful alike and turn against all mankind from the Negeb to the North. All mankind is going to learn that I, Yahweh, am the one who has drawn the sword from its sheath; it will not go back again.’”

¹¹ “Son of man, groan as though your heart were breaking. Bitterly utter your groans where they can see you. And if they say, ‘Why these groans?’ reply, ‘The news has made all hearts sink, has numbed hands, troubled spirits, caused knees to tremble. Now it has come, it is here; it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.’”

^{8,9} The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, prophesy. Say, ‘The Lord says this.’ Say:

'The sword, the sword
 sharpened and polished!
 15 Sharpened for slaughter,
 16 polished to flash like lightning . . .
 17 polished only to be wielded, sharpened and polished to fit the slaughterer's hand!
 17 Yes, shout and howl, son of man;
 it is meant for my people,
 for all the princes of Israel, doomed like my people to the sword.
 18 So beat your breast; 'this is no first attempt,
 19 and what would happen, were there no haughty scepter?
 —it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.
 19 Son of man, prophesy and clap your hands.
 Let the sword be twice, three times, as cruel,
 the butcher's sword,
 the great sword of slaughter, menacing all around.
 20 To make hearts sink and to increase the number of victims
 21 I have posted a sword at every gate to flash like lightning, polished for havoc.
 21 Behind! To the right! To the left! In front!
 22 And I too will clap my hands;
 23 I will exhaust my wrath.
 I, Yahweh, have spoken.' ”

The king of Babylon at the crossroads

23.24 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, mark 18:19 out two roads for the sword of the king of Babylon to come along, making both of them begin from the same country. Put up a signpost where they begin, 25 showing the way to a city, 'showing the sword the way to Rabbah of the 26 Ammonites, and the way to Judah, to the fortress of Jerusalem. 'For the king 27 of Babylon has halted at the fork where these two roads diverge, to take the 28 omens. He has shaken the arrows, questioned the teraphim, inspected the liver.
 29 Into his right hand the lot for Jerusalem falls; there he must set up battering-30 rams, give the word for slaughter, raise the war cry, level battering-rams against 31 the gates, cast up earthworks, build entrenchments. 'The citizens believe that 32 these omens are idle, whatever oaths have been sworn. But he is evidence of 33 their crimes, and these will bring about their capture. 'And so, thus says 34 the Lord Yahweh. Since you give evidence of your crimes by parading your 35 sins and flaunting your wickedness in everything you do, and since this evidence 36 is now produced against you, you will be punished. 'As for you, prince of Israel, 37 vile criminal on the last of whose crimes the day is about to dawn, 'the Lord
 Yahweh says this: They will take away your turban and remove your crown; 32 everything will be changed; the low will be high and the high brought low. 'To 33 ruin, and to ruin on ruin, am I going to bring it, to such ruin as was never known before this man came who is appointed to inflict the punishment which I am determined to impose on it.

The punishment of Ammon

33 'Son of man, prophesy and say, 'The Lord Yahweh says this: To the 34 Ammonites with their insults, say: The sword, the sword is drawn for slaughter, 35 polished to destroy, to flash like lightning—while you have empty visions 36 and consult lying omens—to slaughter the vile criminals on the last of whose 37 crimes the day is about to dawn. 'Put it back in the scabbard. In the place where you were created, in the country where you were born, there I will judge you; 'I am going to discharge my anger on you, blow the flames of my fury
 c. The Syrian desert. d. To be counted.

³⁷ against you and hand you over to barbarous men whose trade is destruction. 'You will be fuel to the fire, your blood will flow through the country, you will leave no memory behind you; for I, Yahweh, have spoken.'

The crimes of Jerusalem

¹ 22 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, are you prepared to judge? Are you prepared to judge the murderous city? Confront her with all her filthy crimes! 'Say, 'The Lord Yahweh says this: City shedding blood inside yourself to bring your hour closer, setting up idols on your soil to defile yourself, 'you have incurred guilt by the blood you have shed, you have defiled yourself with the idols you have made, you have brought your hour closer, you have come to the end of your time. And so I have made you an object of scorn to the nations and a laughingstock to every country. Near and far, they will scoff at you, the turbulent city with a tarnished name: where all the princes of Israel live, each one busy shedding blood, and a law to himself; 'where people despise their fathers and mothers; where they ill-treat the settler; where they oppress the widow and the orphan; 'where you have no reverence for my sanctuaries and profane my sabbaths; 'where informers incite to bloodshed; where there are people who eat on the mountains and couple promiscuously; 'where men uncover their father's nakedness; where they force women in their unclean condition; 'where one man engages in filthy practices with his neighbor's wife, another defiles himself with his daughter-in-law, another violates his sister, his own father's daughter; 'where people take bribes for shedding blood; you charge usury and interest, you rob your neighbor by extortion, you forget all about me—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. 'Now I will clap my hands at your acts of banditry and the blood that flows in you. 'Will your heart be able to resist, will your hands be strong on the day I call you to account? I, Yahweh, have spoken, and I will do it.

¹⁷ The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, the House of Israel, as I see it, is base metal; they are all copper, tin, iron, lead, in the melting pot; they are base metal. 'And so, the Lord Yahweh says this: Since you are all base metal, I will collect you inside Jerusalem. 'As silver, copper, iron, lead and tin are thrown into the melting pot together, and the fire is stoked underneath to melt it all down, so I will collect you in my furious anger and melt you down; 'I will collect you and stoke the fire of my fury for you, and melt you down inside the city. 'As silver is melted in the melting pot, so you will be melted down inside the city; and thus you will learn that I, Yahweh, am the one who has discharged my anger on you."

²³ The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, say to her, 'You are a land that has not received rain or shower on the day of anger, and whose princes are like a roaring lion tearing its prey inside her. They have eaten the people, seized wealth and jewels and widowed many inside her. 'Her priests have violated my Law and desecrated my sanctuaries; they have drawn no distinction between sacred and profane, they have not taught people the difference between clean and unclean; they have turned their eyes away from my sabbaths and I have been dishonored by them. 'Her leaders in the city are like wolves tearing their prey, shedding blood and killing people to steal their possessions. 'Her prophets have whitewashed these crimes with their empty visions and lying prophecies. They have said: Yahweh says this; although Yahweh has not spoken. 'The people of the country have taken to extortion and banditry; they have oppressed the poor and needy and ill-treated the settler for no reason. 'I have been looking for someone among them to build a wall and man the breach in front of me, to defend the country and prevent me from ³¹ destroying it; but I have not found anyone. ‘Hence I have discharged my anger on them; I have destroyed them in the fire of my fury. I have made their conduct recoil on their own heads—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.’”

An allegorical history of Jerusalem and Samaria

¹³ 23 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “‘Son of man, there were once two women, daughters of the same mother. They became prostitutes in Egypt, when they were girls. There their nipples were handled, there their virgin breasts were first fondled. Their names were: Oholah the elder, Oholibah her sister. They belonged to me and bore sons and daughters. As regards their names, Samaria is Oholah, Jerusalem Oholibah. Now Oholah played the whore, although she belonged to me; she lusted for her lovers, her neighbors the Assyrians, dressed in purple, governors and nobles, all of them young and desirable, and skillful horsemen. She granted them her favors—they were all the flower of the Assyrians—and she defiled herself with all the idols of all those she lusted for. She did not renounce the whoring begun in Egypt, where men had slept with her from her girlhood, fondling her virgin breasts, debauching her.

¹¹ “Though her sister Oholibah saw all this, her own lust and whorings were even more shameful than her sister’s. She lusted for her neighbors the Assyrians, governor and nobles, dressed in sumptuous clothes, skillful horsemen, all young and desirable. I saw that she was unchaste, that both sisters were as bad as each other. She began whoring worse than ever; no sooner had she seen wall carvings of men, paintings of Chaldaeans colored vermilion, men with sashes around their waists and elaborate turbans on their heads, all so imperious of bearing, portraits of Babylonians from Chaldea, than she fell in love with them at first sight and sent messengers to them in Chaldea. The Babylonians came to her, shared her love bed and defiled her with their debauchery. Once defiled she lost interest in them. She flaunted her whoring, she stripped naked; then I turned away from her as I had turned away from her sister. She began whoring worse than ever, remembering her girlhood, when she had played the whore in the land of Egypt, when she had been infatuated by profligates big-membered as donkeys, ejaculating as violently as stallions.

²¹ “You were hankering for the debauchery of your girlhood, when they used to handle your nipples in Egypt and fondle your young breasts. And so, Oholibah, the Lord Yahweh says this: I intend to call up against you those of your lovers in whom you have lost interest; I will bring them against you from everywhere, the Babylonians and all the Chaldaeans, the men of Pekod and Shoa and Koa,^a and all the Assyrians with them, young and desirable, all governors and nobles, all famous officers and horsemen. They will advance on you from the North, with chariots and wagons, at the head of a horde of peoples. From every side they will arm against you with shield, buckler and helmet. I have told them to pass sentence on you; they will pass sentence on you as they think fit. I shall direct my jealousy against you; they will treat you with fury; they will cut off your nose and ears, and what is left of your family will fall by the sword; they will seize your sons and daughters, and what is left of you will be burned.

²⁶²⁷ They will strip off your garments and rob you of your jewels. I mean to put an end to your debauchery and to the whorings you began in Egypt; you will not look to the Egyptians any more, you will never think of them again. For the Lord Yahweh says this: I now hand you over to those you hate, to those in whom you have lost interest. They will treat you with hatred, they will rob you of the fruit of your labors and leave you completely naked. And thus your shameful 30 whoring will be exposed. Your debauchery and your whorings are the cause of these afflictions, since by playing the whore with the nations you have defiled 31 yourself with their idols. As you have copied your sister's behavior, I will 32 put her cup in your hand. The Lord Yahweh says this:

You will drink your sister's cup,
 a cup that is wide and deep,
 leading to laughter and mockery,
 so ample the draught it holds.

33 You will be filled with drunkenness and sorrow.
 Cup of affliction and devastation,
 the cup of your sister Samaria, 34 you will drink it, you will drain it;
 then it will be shattered to pieces and lacerate your breast.

I have spoken—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.

35 "And so, the Lord Yahweh says this: Since you have forgotten me and have turned your back on me, you too will have to bear the weight of 36 your debauchery and whorings." And Yahweh said to me, "Son of man, are you willing to judge Oholah and Oholibah and charge them with their filthy 37 crimes? They have been adulteresses, their hands are dripping with blood, they have committed adultery with their idols. As for the children they had 38 borne me, they have made them pass through the fire to be consumed. And here is something else they have done to me: they have defiled my sanctuary 39 the same day and have profaned my sabbaths. The same day as sacrificing their children to their idols, they have been to my sanctuary and profaned it. Yes, this is what they have done in my own house.

40 "Worse still, these men summoned from distant countries, invited by 41 messenger, arrived; you bathed and painted your eyes, put on your jewels and sat on a sumptuous bed, by which stood a table on which you had put my incense 42 and my oil. The revelry of a carefree company re-echoed because of the crowd of men brought in from the desert; they put bracelets on the women's 43 arms and magnificent crowns on their heads. I thought: The prostitutes are at work in the house of a woman worn out with adulteries. And she is still playing 44 the whore too, and men keep visiting her just like a prostitute, just as they 45 went to those profligate women Oholah and Oholibah. But upright men will judge them as adulteresses and murderers as judged, since they are adulteresses and their hands are dripping with blood.

46 "The Lord Yahweh says this: Summon an assembly to deal with them, and 47 hand them over to terror and pillage; let the assembly stone them and hack them to death with the sword; let their sons and daughters be slaughtered and 48 their houses be set on fire. I mean to purge the land of debauchery; all the women 49 will thus be warned, and ape your debauchery no more. Your debauchery will recoil on your own heads, and you will bear the weight of your idolatrous sins;
 and so you will learn that I am the Lord Yahweh."

A prophecy of the siege of Jerusalem

1 24 In the ninth year, on the tenth day of the tenth month,^a the word of 2 Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, write down today's 3 date, since this is the very day the king of Babylon has laid siege to Jerusalem. So pronounce a parable for this set of rebels. Say, 'The Lord Yahweh says this:

Put the pot on the fire;
 put it on; pour water into it.

4 Put cuts of meat in too,

the best cuts, leg and shoulder.
 Fill it with the best bones.
 5 Take the best of the flock.
 Then heap wood underneath;
 make the pot boil and bubble
 until even the bones are cooked.

6 For the Lord Yahweh says this:

Trouble for the bloodstained city,
 that rusty cooking pot
 whose rust can never be scoured away!
 Empty it scrap by scrap, drawing no lots.
 7 For her blood is in her;
 she has put it on the naked rock;
 she has not shed it on the ground to hide it in dust.
 8 To make my anger overflow, to take revenge,
 I have put her blood on the naked rock, unhidden.

9 So, the Lord Yahweh says this:

Trouble for the bloodstained city!
 I too plan to build a great fire.
 10 Heap on the wood, light it, cook the meat, prepare the spices,
 let the bones burn.
 11 Set the pot empty to heat on the coals;
 let the bronze glow red-hot,
 the filth inside melt away,
 the rust inside be consumed.

12 But all that rust will not disappear in the flames. 'I have tried to purge you of the filth of your debauchery, but you would not let yourself be purged of your filth. So now you will not be purged until my anger has been exhausted 14 against you. 'I, Yahweh, have spoken; my word will come true; I shall act and not relent; I shall show no pity, no compassion. I intend to judge you as your conduct and actions deserve—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.'

The personal ordeals of the prophet

15 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, I am 16 about to deprive you suddenly of the delight of your eyes. But you are not 17 to lament, not to weep, not to let your tears run down. 'Groan in silence, do not go into mourning for the dead, knot your turban around your head, put your sandals on your feet, do not cover your beard, do not eat common bread.' 18 I told this to the people in the morning, and my wife died in the evening, and the 19 next morning I did as I had been ordered. 'The people then said to me, "Are 20 you not going to explain what meaning these actions have for us?" 'I replied, 21 "The word of Yahweh has been addressed to me as follows, 'Say to the House of Israel: The Lord Yahweh says this. I am about to profane my sanctuary, the pride of your strength, the delight of your eyes, the passion of your souls.
 Those of your sons and daughters whom you have left behind will fall by the 22 sword. 'And you are to do as I have done; you must not cover your beards or 23 eat common bread; 'you must keep your turbans on your heads and your sandals on your feet; you must not lament or weep. You shall waste away owing 24 to your sins and groan among yourselves. 'Ezekiel is to be a sign for you. You are to do just as he has done. And when this happens, you will learn that I am Yahweh.'

25 "And, son of man, on the very day I deprive them of their sons and daughters who are their strength, their pride and glory, the delight of their eyes, the joy 26 of their hearts, 'on that very day a fugitive will come and bring you news of this.
27 On that day your mouth will be opened to speak to the fugitive; you will speak and not be dumb any more; you are to be a sign for them, and they will learn that I am Yahweh."

II. ORACLES AGAINST THE NATIONS

Against the Ammonites

¹/₂ 25 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, turn toward the Ammonites and prophesy against them. Say to the Ammonites, 'Hear the word of the Lord Yahweh. The Lord Yahweh says this:

You cried: Aha! over my sanctuary when it was profaned, and over the land of Israel when it was ravaged, and over the House of Judah when it went 4 into exile, 'and because of that I am going to hand you over to the sons of the East'; they will pitch their camps inside your frontiers, they will settle there.
5 They are going to eat your fruit, and drink your milk. 'I intend to turn Rabbah into a camel yard and the towns of Ammon into sheepfolds. And so you will learn that I am Yahweh.

6 The Lord Yahweh says this: Since you have clapped your hands and 7 danced for joy, inwardly full of malice against the land of Israel, 'I mean to stretch out my hand against you for this; I will hand you over to be looted by the peoples, obliterate you as a nation, wipe you out as a country. I will reduce you to nothing, and so you will learn that I am Yahweh.

Against Moab

8 The Lord Yahweh says this:

Since Moab and Seir^b have said: Look at the House of Judah; it is no different 9 from any other nation; 'very well, I will strip the hillsides of Moab bare and destroy her towns throughout the country, including her pride, Beth-jeshimoth, 10 Baal-meon and Kiriath-aim. 'I shall hand her over to the sons of the East, the enemies of the Ammonites; I shall hand her over so that the Ammonites will 11 not even be remembered as a nation. 'Thus shall I punish Moab, and everyone will learn that I am Yahweh.

Against Edom

12 The Lord Yahweh says this:

Since Edom has taken revenge on the House of Judah and committed great 13 crimes in doing so, 'very well, the Lord Yahweh says this: I will stretch out my hand against Edom too and wipe out all the men and animals in the country. I shall reduce it to desert; people will be put to the sword from Teman 14 to Dedan. 'I shall unleash my revenge on Edom by means of my people Israel. They will treat Edom as my anger and fury dictate, and everyone will learn that this is my vengeance—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.

Against the Philistines

15 The Lord Yahweh says this:

Since the Philistines have acted in revenge and taken revenge maliciously, 16 and with persistent hatred have done their best to destroy, 'very well, thus speaks the Lord Yahweh: I will stretch out my hand against the Philistines; I shall destroy the Cherethites^c and wipe out all the rest of the coastal peoples.
17 I shall perform frightful acts of vengeance and inflict furious punishments on them; and when I exact vengeance on them they will learn that I am Yahweh.'"

Against Tyre

1 26 In the eleventh year, on the first of the month,^a the word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows:

2 "Son of man, since Tyre has jeered at Jerusalem,
'Aha! It is shattered, that gate of nations;
it is opening to me; its wealth is ruined,'
3 very well, the Lord Yahweh says this:
Now, Tyre, I set myself against you.
I mean to cause many nations to surge against you like the sea and its waves.
4 They will destroy the walls of Tyre,
they will demolish her towers;
I will sweep away her dust
and leave her a naked rock.
5 She will be a drying ground in mid-ocean for fishing nets.
For I have spoken—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—
she will be the prey of the nations.
6 As for her daughters on the mainland,
these will be put to the sword,
and everyone will learn that I am Yahweh.
7 For the Lord Yahweh says this.
From the North, I am sending Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, king of kings, against Tyre
with horses and chariots and horsemen,
a horde of many races.
8 He will put your daughters
on the mainland to the sword.
He will build siegeworks against you,
cast up a mound against you,
raise a siege tower against you;
9 he will break down your walls with his battering-rams, and demolish your towers with his siege engines.^b
10 His horses are so many their dust will hide you.
Noise of his horsemen and his chariots and wagons will make your walls tremble as he rides through your gates like a man entering a conquered city.
11 His horses' hoofs will trample through your streets;
he will put your people to the sword,
and throw your massive pillars to the ground.
12 Your wealth will be seized, your merchandise looted,
your walls razed, your luxurious houses shattered,
your stones, your timbers, your very dust, thrown into the sea.
13 I will stop your music and songs;
the sound of your harps will not be heard again.
14 I will reduce you to a naked rock,
and make you into a drying ground for fishing nets,
never to be rebuilt;
for I, Yahweh, have spoken
—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.

15 The Lord Yahweh says this to Tyre: When they hear of your fall, the groans of your wounded and the havoc inside your walls, will not the islands shake?
16 The rulers of the sea will all get off their thrones, lay aside their cloaks and take off their embroidered robes. Dressed in terror they will sit on the ground unable to stop trembling, terrified at your fate.

25 a. The nomadic Arabs. b. Edom. c. Related to, and associated with, the Philistines.

17 "They will raise a dirge and say to you:

'You are destroyed then, swept from the seas,
city of pride,
you who were mighty on the sea,
you and your citizens,
who used to terrorize
the continent far and near.

18 Now the islands are trembling
on the day of your fall;
the islands of the sea are terrified by your end.'

19 "For the Lord Yahweh says this:

"When I make you as desolate as any depopulated city, when I bring up the 20 deep against you and the ocean covers you, 'I will cast you down with those who go down to the pit, down to the men of old; I will make you live in the regions underground, in the eternal solitudes, with those who go down to the pit, so that you can never come back and be restored to the land of the living.
21 I will make you an object of terror; you will not exist. People will look for you and never find you again—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks."

A lamentation over the fall of Tyre

¹/₂ 27 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, ³ raise the dirge over Tyre. Say to Tyre, that city standing at the edge of the sea, doing business with the nations in innumerable islands, 'The Lord
Yahweh says this:

Tyre, you used to say: I am a ship
perfect in beauty.

4 Your frontiers stretched far out to sea;
those who built you made you
perfect in beauty.

5 Cypress from Senir^a they used for all your planking.
They took a cedar from Lebanon
to make you a mast.

6 From the tallest oaks of Bashan
they made your oars.
They built you a deck of cedar inlaid with ivory
from the Kittim^b isles.

7 Embroidered linen of Egypt was used for your sail and for your flag.
Purple and scarlet from the Elishah islands formed your deck tent.

8 Men from Sidon and from Arvad^c were your oarsmen.
Your sages, Tyre, were aboard
serving as sailors.

9 The elders and craftsmen of Gebal^d were there to calk your seams.

All the ships of the sea and the sailors in them visited you to trade with you.
10 Men of Persia and Lud and Put served in your army and were your warriors.
11 They hung up shield and helmet in you. They brought you glory. The sons of Arvad and their army manned your walls all around and kept watch from your bastions. They hung their shields all around your walls and helped to make

12 your beauty perfect. •Tarshish was your client, profiting from your abundant wealth. People paid you in silver and iron, tin and lead for your merchandise.
 13 Javan, Tubal and Meshech^c traded with you. For your merchandise they bartered 14 men and bronze implements. •The people of Beth-togarmah^d traded you horses, 15 chargers, mules. •The sons of Dedan traded with you; many shores were your 16 clients; you were paid in ivory tusks and ebony. •Edom was your client, because of the variety and quantity of your goods; she exchanged carbuncles, purple, 17 embroideries, fine linen, coral and rubies against your goods. •Judah and the land of Israel also traded with you, supplying you with corn from Minnith, wax, 18 honey, tallow and balm. •Damascus was your client, because of the plentifulness of your goods and the immensity of your wealth, furnishing you with wine from 19 Helbon and wool from Zahar. •Dan and Javan, from Uzal onward, supplied
 20 you with wrought iron, cassia and calamus in exchange for your goods. •Dedan 21 traded with you in horsecloths. •Arabia and even the sheikhs of Kedar were 22 all your clients; they paid in lambs, rams and he-goats. •The merchants of Sheba and Raamah traded with you; they supplied you with the best quality 23 spices, precious stones and gold against your goods. •Haran, Canneh and Eden, 24 traders of Sheba, Asshur and Chilmad^e traded with you. •They traded rich clothes, embroidered and purple cloaks, multicolored materials and strong plait-25 ed cords in your markets. •The ships of Tarshish crossed the seas for your trade.

Then you were rich and glorious
surrounded by the seas.

26 Out to the open sea
 your oarsmen rowed you.
 The east wind has shattered you,
 surrounded by the seas.
 27 Your riches, your goods, your cargo,
 your crew, your sailors,
 your calkers, your commercial agents,
 all the soldiers
 you carry with you, the whole host
 who are aboard:
 all will sink surrounded by the seas on the day of your shipwreck.

28 When they hear the cries of your sailors
 the coasts will tremble.
 29 Then the oarsmen will all desert
 their ships.
 The sailors and seafaring people
 will stay ashore.
 30 They will raise their voices for you,
 and weep bitterly.
 They will throw dust on their heads,
 and roll in ashes;
 31 they will shave their heads for you,
 and put sackcloth around their waists.
 They will raise a bitter dirge over you,
 in their despair;
 32 they will raise a dirge and mourn for you,
 they will bewail you:
 Who could compare with haughty Tyre

27 a. Hermon. b. Cyprus; but here it also includes other islands and coastal settlements.
 c. Phoenician coastal towns. d. Byblos. e. Greeks. f. Probably Armenia. g. Towns in the region of the Euphrates.

33 surrounded by the seas?
 When you unloaded your goods
 to satisfy so many peoples,
 you made the kings of the earth rich
 with your excess of wealth and goods.
 34 Now you are shattered by the waves,
 surrounded by the seas.
 Your cargo and all your crew
 have foundered with you.
 35 All those who live in the distant islands have been horrified at your fate.
 Their kings have been panic-stricken,
 their faces quite cast down.
 36 The traders of the nations have whistled at your fate,
 since you have become an object of dread,
 gone for ever.'”

Against the king of Tyre

¹/₂ 28 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, tell the ruler of Tyre, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this:

Being swollen with pride,
 you have said: I am a god;
 I am sitting on the throne of God,
 surrounded by the seas.
 Though you are a man and not a god,
 you consider yourself the equal of God.
 3 You are wiser now than Daniel;
 there is no sage as wise as you.
 4 By your wisdom and your intelligence
 you have amassed great wealth;
 you have piles of gold and silver inside your treasure houses.
 5 Such is your skill in trading,
 your wealth has continued to increase,
 and with this your heart has grown more arrogant.
 6 And so, the Lord Yahweh says this:
 Since you consider yourself the equal of God,
 7 very well, I am going to bring foreigners against you,
 the most barbarous of the nations.
 They will draw sword against your fine wisdom,
 they will defile your glory;
 8 they will throw you down into the pit and you will die a violent death
 surrounded by the seas.
 9 Are you still going to say: I am a god,
 when your murderers confront you?
 No, you are a man and not a god
 in the clutches of your murderers!
 10 You will die like the uncircumcised
 at the hand of foreigners.
 For I have spoken—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.’”

The fall of the king of Tyre

¹¹/₁₂ The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, raise a dirge over the king of Tyre. Say to him, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this:

You were once an exemplar of perfection,
 full of wisdom,
 perfect in beauty;
 13 you were in Eden, in the garden of God.
 A thousand gems formed your mantle.
 Sard, topaz, diamond, chrysolite, onyx,
 jasper, sapphire, carbuncle, emerald,
 the gold of which your flutes and tambourines are made,
 all were prepared on the day of your creation.
 14 I had provided you with a guardian cherub;
 you were on the holy mountain of God;
 you walked amid red-hot coals.
 15 Your behavior was exemplary from the day of your creation until the day when evil was first found in you.
 16 Your busy trading has filled you with violence and sin.
 I have thrown you down from the mountain of God,
 and the guardian cherub has destroyed you from amid the coals.
 17 Your heart has grown swollen with pride
 on account of your beauty.
 You have corrupted your wisdom
 owing to your splendor.
 I have thrown you to the ground;
 I have made you a spectacle for other kings.
 18 By the immense number of your sins,
 by the dishonesty of your trading,
 you have defiled your sanctuaries.
 I have brought fire out of you to consume you.
 I have made you ashes on the ground
 before the eyes of all who saw you.
 19 Of the nations, all who know you are lost in amazement over you.
 You are an object of terror;
 gone for ever.' ”

Against Sidon^a

20 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, turn 21 toward Sidon and prophesy against her. ‘Say, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this:

Sidon, now I set myself against you;
 I will show my glory through you.
 Men shall learn that I am Yahweh, since I will execute sentence on her and display my holiness in her.
 23 I will send the plague to her;
 blood shall flow in her streets,
 and in her the dead will fall
 under the sword raised against her on all sides,
 and so men will learn that I am Yahweh.

Israel delivered from the nations shall any of the hostile nations surrounding her

be a thorn that wounds or a briar that tears;
and so men will learn that I am Lord Yahweh.

- 25 The Lord Yahweh says this. When I gather the House of Israel from the peoples among whom it is dispersed, this is how I am going to display my holiness in the sight of the nations. They shall live on the soil that I gave to my servant
26 Jacob. •They shall live there in confidence, build houses, plant vineyards; they shall live in confidence. When I inflict punishments on all the hostile surrounding nations, then men will learn that I am Yahweh their God.’’

Against Egypt

- 1 29 In the tenth year, on the twelfth day of the tenth month,^a the word of 2 Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, ‘‘Son of man, turn toward Pharaoh king of Egypt and prophesy against him and against the whole of 3 Egypt. •Speak to him and say, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this:

Now I set myself against you, Pharaoh king of Egypt,
you great crocodile wallowing in your Niles,
you have said: My Niles are mine, I made them.

- 4 I am going to put hooks through your jaws,
make your Nile fish stick to your scales,
and pull you out of your Niles with all your Nile fish sticking to your scales.
5 I shall drop you in the desert, with all your Nile fish.
You will fall on open ground
and not be taken up or buried.
I shall give you as food
to the beasts of the earth and the birds of heaven, 6 so that all the inhabitants of Egypt may learn that I am Yahweh, since they have given no more support than a reed to the House of Israel.
7 Whenever they grasped you, you broke in their hands
and cut their hands all over.
Whenever they leaned on you, you broke and left their loins shaking.

- 8 For this reason, the Lord Yahweh says this: I am sending the sword against you, 9 to kill your men and your beasts. •Egypt will be reduced to desert and desolation, and men will learn that I am Yahweh. Since he has said: The Nile is mine, 10 I made it, •very well, now I set myself against you and your Niles. I mean to reduce Egypt to desert and desolation, from Migdol to Syene and beyond to 11 the frontiers of Ethiopia.^b •The feet of men will not pass that way, the feet of animals will not pass that way. For forty years it will remain uninhabited.
12 I intend to reduce the land of Egypt to a waste among wasted countries; for forty years its cities will be a waste among ruined cities. And I shall scatter the 13 Egyptians among the nations, dispersing them throughout the peoples. •And the Lord Yahweh says this: After forty years have passed, I will gather the 14 inhabitants of Egypt from the nations where they have been scattered. •I will bring the Egyptian captives back and reinstall them in the land of Pathros,^c 15 the land they came from. There they will constitute a weak kingdom. •Egypt will be the weakest of kingdoms and no longer dominate other nations; I shall 16 reduce her, and she will not rule any more over the nations. •She will no longer be anything for the House of Israel to trust in, but will be living evidence of the sins of Israel at the time when Israel turned to her for help. And men will learn that I am the Lord Yahweh.’’ 17 In the twenty-seventh year, on the first day of the first month,^d the word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows:

- 18 "Son of man, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon mobilized his army for a great expedition against Tyre. Their heads have all gone bald, their shoulders are all chafed, but even so he has derived no profit from the expedition mounted against Tyre either for himself or for his army. Since this is so, the Lord Yahweh says this: I am going to hand Egypt over to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. He will levy his share of riches there instead, will loot it and carry off the booty to pay his army. In reward for his efforts against Tyre I am handing the land of Egypt over to him, since he has been working for me—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.
- 21 "On that day I will cause the House of Israel to sprout a horn, and I shall allow you to open your mouth for all to hear. And so they will learn that I am Yahweh."

Against Egypt: the day of Yahweh

- 1 30 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, prophesy and say, 'The Lord Yahweh says this: How! Alas, the day! For the day is near, the day of Yahweh is near; it will be a day dark with cloud, the end of an epoch for the nations.
- 4 The sword will come on Egypt, and terror will visit Ethiopia when the slaughtered fall in Egypt, when her riches are carried away, when her foundations are destroyed. Cush and Put and Lud, the whole of Arabia and Cub and the sons of my covenant will fall by the sword along with them.
- 6 Yahweh says this:
The supports of Egypt will fall; the pride of her strength will crumble; people will fall by the sword from Migdol to Syene—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.
- 7 They will be laid waste among wasted countries; her cities will rank with other ruined cities. They will learn that I am Yahweh when I set fire to Egypt and all her supports are shattered.
- 9 On that day messengers dispatched by me will set out in boats to shake the complacency of Ethiopia. Terror will run through her inhabitants on the day of Egypt—it is coming now! The Lord Yahweh says this: I intend to destroy the huge population of Egypt at the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. He and his people, most barbarous of nations, will be sent to ravage the country. They will draw the sword against Egypt and fill the country with corpses. I am going to dry up the arms of the Nile, hand the country over to brigands, and lay the whole country waste and everything in it, at the hand of foreigners. I, Yahweh, have spoken.
- 13 The Lord Yahweh says this: I mean to destroy the idols, and take the rams away from Noph.^a The land of Egypt will be left with a ruler. I shall spread terror through the land of Egypt. I shall lay Pathros waste, set Zoan on fire, inflict my punishments on No. I shall discharge my fury on Sin, the stronghold of Egypt; I shall wipe out the crowding population of No. I shall set fire to Egypt; Sin will be racked with anguish; there will be a flood at No, the waters will inundate it. The young men of On and Pi-beseth will fall by the sword and the cities themselves go into captivity. At Tahpanhes day will turn to darkness when I shatter the yoke of Egypt there, when the pride of her strength ceases. A cloud will cover her, and her daughters will go into captivity. Such will be the punishments that I am going to inflict on Egypt. And so men will learn that I am Yahweh.'"
- 20 In the eleventh year, on the seventh day of the first month,^b the word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, I have broken the arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt; you can see that no one has bound up his wound

29 a. December 588–January 587. b. From Migdol to Syene: i.e., from the north to the south of Egypt. c. Upper Egypt. d. March–April 571.

30 a. Memphis. Three of the Egyptian towns named in the following verses are more recognizable under their Greek names: Zoan as Tanis, No as Thebes, On as Heliopolis. b. March–April 587.

to heal it, given it a bandage or a dressing to make the arm strong enough to wield the sword again. And so, the Lord Yahweh says this: Now I set myself against Pharaoh king of Egypt; I intend to break his arms, the sound one and the broken one, and make the sword drop from his hand. I shall scatter Egypt among the nations and disperse her throughout the countries. I shall strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon and put my sword in his hand. I shall break Pharaoh's arms and, confronted with his enemy, he will groan like a dying man. I shall strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and the arms of Pharaoh will fall. And so men will learn that I am Yahweh, when I put my sword into the hands of the king of Babylon and he wields it against the land of Egypt. I mean to scatter Egypt among the nations and disperse her throughout the countries; and men will learn that I am Yahweh."

The cedar

31 In the eleventh year, on the first day of the third month, the word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, say to Pharaoh king of Egypt and to all his subjects:

'To what shall I compare you in your greatness?

Surely, to a cedar of Lebanon with noble branches, thickset needles and lofty trunk.

Its top pierces the clouds.

The waters have made it grow, the deep has made it tall,

pouring its rivers around the place where it is planted,

sending its streams to all the other trees.

This is why its trunk grew taller than all the other trees;

its branches increased in number, its boughs stretched wide,

because the plentiful waters reached it.

All the birds of heaven used to nest in its branches;

under its boughs all wild animals used to drop their young;

in its shade every kind of people sat.

It was beautiful in its size, in the span of its boughs;

its roots went deep into plentiful waters.

No cedar equaled it in the garden of God,

no cypress had branches such as these;

no plane tree could match its boughs,

no tree in the garden of God could rival its beauty.

I had made it lovely with branching green.

It was the envy of every tree in Eden, in the garden of God.

'Very well then, the Lord Yahweh says this:

Since it has raised itself to its full height, has lifted its top to the clouds, and has grown arrogant in its height, I have handed it over to the prince of the nations,^a to do with it as its wickedness deserves; I have destroyed it. Foreigners, the most barbarous of the nations, have cut it down and felled it. On the mountains, in all the valleys, lie its branches; its broken boughs fill every ravine

throughout the country; everybody in the country has left its shade and deserted

it. On the wreckage perch all the birds of heaven; all the wild animals have made their dens under its branches.

In future let no tree rise in pride beside the waters, none push its top through the clouds, no well-watered tree stretch its whole height toward them. For all of them are doomed to death, to the regions underground, with the common run of mankind, with those who go down to the pit.

The Lord Yahweh says this: On the day it went down to Sheol, I closed the deep over it in sign of mourning. I stopped its rivers, the plentiful waters dried up; I made Lebanon dark for its sake, and all the trees of the fields wilted

16 for its sake. •With the noise when it fell I made the nations quake, as I hurled it down to Sheol, with those who go down to the pit. In the regions underground all the trees of Eden took comfort, all the noble and lovely trees of Lebanon
17 nourished by the waters. •And with it went down to Sheol, to the victims of the sword, all those nations who used to live in its shade.

18 Was any one of all the trees of Eden your equal in glory and size, for you to be hurled with the trees of Eden down to the regions underground? With the uncircumcised there you lie; with the victims of the sword lie Pharaoh and all his subjects—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.’”

The crocodile

1 32 In the twelfth year, on the first day of the twelfth month,^a the word of 2 Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, raise the dirge for Pharaoh king of Egypt. Say to him, ‘Young lion of nations, you have been wiped out.

‘You were like a crocodile in the water;
you snorted through your nostrils,
you churned the water with your feet,
you muddied its streams.

3 ‘The Lord Yahweh says this:

I am going to throw my net over you in a great concourse of nations;
they will drag you ashore in my net.

4 I mean to leave you on land, drop you on the ground;

make all the birds settle on you,
glut all the beasts of the earth with you,

5 lay your carcass on the mountainside,
fill the valleys with your offal.

6 I intend to water the country with what flows from you,
with your blood, on the mountainsides,
and the ravines will be full of it.

7 When I extinguish you I will cover the skies,
and darken the stars.

I will cover the sun with clouds
and the moon will not give its light.

8 I will dim every luminary in heaven for you,
and cover your country in darkness
—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.

9 I shall grieve the heart of many peoples when I lead your captives among 10 the nations, into countries unknown to you. •I shall stun many peoples with shock at your fate; their kings will be panic-stricken at your fate, when I brandish my sword before their eyes. On the day of your fall, each will tremble 11 continuously for his life. •For the Lord Yahweh says this: The sword of the 12 king of Babylon will follow you. •I shall make your throngs of subjects fall at the swords of my warriors, who are the most barbarous of the nations. They will annihilate the pride of Egypt, and her whole population will be destroyed.
13 I shall make all her cattle perish too on the banks of the deep waters. The feet of men will not muddy them again, the feet of animals will not muddy them
14 again. •Then I shall calm her waters; I shall make her rivers glide like oil—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.

15 When I reduce Egypt to desert and the country is stripped of its contents, when I strike all those who live there, they will learn that I am Yahweh.

31 a. Nebuchadnezzar or one of his successors.

32 a. February–March 585.

16 Such is the dirge that the daughters of the nations will raise. They will raise it over Egypt and her huge population. This is the dirge they will raise—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.’”

Egypt goes down to Sheol

17 In the twelfth year, on the fifteenth day of the first month, the word of 18 Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, raise the dirge over the huge population of Egypt; send them down, her and the daughters of the nations in their majesty, to the regions underground, with those who go down to the pit.

20 “With those who have fallen by the sword they too will fall; her strength 21a shall be totally extinguished. In Sheol the greatest heroes will address her, 19 ‘Do you excel anyone in beauty now? Come down, make your bed with the 21b uncircumcised who have fallen by the sword.’

22 “Assyria is there with all her warriors around her tomb; all killed, all victims 23 of the sword; their graves have been made in the deepest part of the pit, with her army around her tomb, all killed, all victims of the sword, yet she once spread terror throughout the land of the living.

24 “Elam is there, with all her troops around her tomb; all killed, all victims of the sword, they have gone down uncircumcised to the regions underground, yet she once spread terror throughout the land of the living. They endure the disgrace of those who go down to the pit. In the middle of the slaughtered a bed has been made for her, with all her troops around her tomb, all of them uncircumcised, put to the sword, yet she once spread terror throughout the land of the living. They endure the disgrace of those who go down to the pit. They have been put among the slaughtered.

26 “Meshech is there, and Tubal, with all her troops around her tomb, all of them uncircumcised, put to the sword for having spread terror throughout the 27 land of the living. They do not lie with the heroes who fell long ago, those who went fully armed down to Sheol, who had their swords laid under their heads and their shields put under their bones, since the heroes inspired the land 28 of the living with terror. Instead, you shall lie with the uncircumcised, with those who have fallen to the sword.

29 “Edom is there, her kings and all her princes who, despite their valor, have been laid with those who have fallen by the sword. They lie with the uncircumcised, with those who go down to the pit.

30 “All the princes of the North and all the Sidonians are there, having gone down with the slaughtered, in spite of the terror their power inspired. Uncircumcised they lie with those who were victims of the sword. They endure the disgrace of those who go down to the pit.

31 “Pharaoh will see them and take comfort at the sight of such a host put to the sword, Pharaoh and his whole army—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.
32 He who once spread terror throughout the land of the living now lies with the uncircumcised, with those who were victims of the sword, Pharaoh and his whole army. It is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.”

III. DURING AND AFTER THE SIEGE OF JERUSALEM

The prophet as sentry

1 33 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, speak to the members of your nation. Say to them, ‘When I send the sword against a country, the people of that country select one of themselves 3 and post him as a sentry; if he sees the sword coming against the country,

4 he sounds his horn to alert the people. If someone hears the sound of the horn, but pays no attention, the sword will overtake him and destroy him; he will have been responsible for his own death. He has heard the sound of the horn and paid no attention; his death will be his own responsibility. But the life of someone who pays attention to the warning will be secure.

6 'If, however, the sentry has seen the sword coming but has not blown his horn, and so the people are not alerted and the sword overtakes them and destroys one of them, the latter shall indeed die for his sin, but I will hold the sentry responsible for his death.'

7 "Son of man, I have appointed you as sentry to the House of Israel. When you hear a word from my mouth, warn them in my name. If I say to a wicked man: Wicked wretch, you are to die, and you do not speak to warn the wicked man to renounce his ways, then he shall die for his sin, but I will hold you responsible for his death. If, however, you do warn a wicked man to renounce his ways and repent, and he does not repent, then he shall die for his sin, but you yourself will have saved your life.

Conversion and perversity

10 "Son of man, say to the House of Israel, 'You are continually saying: Our sins and crimes weigh heavily on us; we are wasting away because of them. How are we to go on living?' Say to them, 'As I live—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—I take pleasure, not in the death of a wicked man, but in the turning back of a wicked man who changes his ways to win life. Come back, come back from your evil ways. Why are you so anxious to die, House of Israel?'

12 "And you, son of man, say to the members of your nation, 'The integrity of an upright man will not save him once he has chosen to sin; the wickedness of a wicked man will no longer condemn him once he renounces wickedness, nor will an upright man live on the strength of his integrity once he has chosen to sin. If I say to an upright man: You are to live, and then, trusting in his own integrity, he turns to evil, all his integrity will no longer be remembered; because he has sinned, he shall die. If, however, I say to a wicked man: You are to die, and he renounces his sins and does what is lawful and right, if he returns pledges, restores what he has stolen, keeps the laws that give life and stops committing sin—he shall live, and will not die. All his previous sins will no longer be remembered—he has done what is lawful and right; he shall live.

17 'The members of your nation object: What the Lord does is unjust; but it is what you do that is unjust. When an upright man renounces his integrity and commits sin, he dies for it. And when a wicked man renounces his wickedness and does what is lawful and right, because of this he lives. You object: What the Lord does is unjust; but I mean to judge each of you by what he does, House of Israel.'

The taking of the city

21 In the twelfth year of our captivity, on the fifth day of the tenth month,^a a fugitive arrived from Jerusalem and said to me, "The city has been taken."
22 Now the hand of the Lord had been on me the evening before the fugitive arrived; he had opened my mouth before the man came to me the next morning; my mouth had been opened and I was dumb no longer.^b

The ravaging of the country

23 The word of Yahweh was then addressed to me as follows, "Son of man, the people living in those ruins in the land of Israel say, 'Abraham was alone when he was given possession of this land. Now we are many and we hold the country as our domain.'

25 "Very well, tell them, 'The Lord Yahweh says this: You eat blood, you 26 raise your eyes to your idols, you shed blood; are you likely to keep possession of the land? You rely on your swords, you engage in filthy practices, you each 27 commit adultery with your neighbor's wife; are you likely to retain possession of the land?' Tell them this, 'The Lord Yahweh says this: As I live, I swear it, 28 those in the ruins will fall to the sword, those in the countryside I will give to wild animals to devour, those in strongholds and caves will die of plague. I intend to 29 reduce the land to desert and desolation and it will no longer take pride in its strength. The mountains of Israel will be deserted and no one will pass that way again. And so men will learn that I am Yahweh, when I reduce the land to desert and desolation on account of all their filthy practices.'

The results of the preaching

30 "Son of man, the members of your nation are talking about you on the ramparts and in doorways. They keep saying, 'Come and hear the word that has 31 come from Yahweh.' They throng toward you; my people sit down in front of you and listen to your words, but they do not act on them. They cannot tell the 32 truth and their hearts are set on dishonest gain. As far as they are concerned, you are like a love song beautifully sung to music. They listen to your words, 33 but no one puts them into practice. When the thing takes place—and it is beginning now—they will learn that there has been a prophet among them."

The shepherds of Israel

1 34 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Son of man,
 2 prophesy against the shepherds of Israel; prophesy and say to them,
 'Shepherds, the Lord Yahweh says this: Trouble for the shepherds of Israel who 3 feed themselves! Shepherds ought to feed their flock, yet you have fed on milk, you have dressed yourselves in wool, you have sacrificed the fattest sheep, 4 but failed to feed the flock. You have failed to make weak sheep strong, or to care for the sick ones, or bandage the wounded ones. You have failed to bring back strays or look for the lost. On the contrary, you have ruled them cruelly and 5 violently. For lack of a shepherd they have scattered, to become the prey of any 6 wild animal; they have scattered far. My flock is straying this way and that, on mountains and on high hills; my flock has been scattered all over the country; no one bothers about them and no one looks for them.

7 "Well then, shepherds, hear the word of Yahweh. As I live, I swear it—it is 8 the Lord Yahweh who speaks—since my flock has been looted and for lack of a shepherd is now the prey of any wild animal, since my shepherds have stopped bothering about my flock, since my shepherds feed themselves rather than my 9 flock, in view of all this, shepherds, hear the word of Yahweh. The Lord 10 Yahweh says this: I am going to call the shepherds to account. I am going to take my flock back from them and I shall not allow them to feed my flock. In this way the shepherds will stop feeding themselves. I shall rescue my sheep from their mouths; they will not prey on them any more.

11 For the Lord Yahweh says this: I am going to look after my flock myself 12 and keep all of it in view. As a shepherd keeps all his flock in view when he stands up in the middle of his scattered sheep, so shall I keep my sheep in view.
 I shall rescue them from wherever they have been scattered during the mist and 13 darkness. I shall bring them out of the countries where they are: I shall gather them together from foreign countries and bring them back to their own land.
 I shall pasture them on the mountains of Israel, in the ravines and in every 14 inhabited place in the land. I shall feed them in good pasturage; the high mountains of Israel will be their grazing ground. There they will rest in good grazing ground; they will browse in rich pastures on the mountains of Israel.
 15 I myself will pasture my sheep, I myself will show them where to rest—it is 16 the Lord Yahweh who speaks. I shall look for the lost one, bring back the stray, bandage the wounded and make the weak strong. I shall watch over the fat and healthy. I shall be a true shepherd to them.

17 As for you, my sheep, the Lord Yahweh says this: I will judge between 18 sheep and sheep, between rams and he-goats. ·Not content to graze in good pastures, you trample down the rest; not content to drink clear water, you 19 muddy the rest with your feet. ·And my sheep must graze on what your feet have 20 trampled, drink what your feet have muddied. ·Very well then, the Lord Yahweh says this: I myself am now about to judge between fat sheep and lean sheep.
21 Since you have butted all the weak sheep with your rump and shoulders and 22 horns, until you have chased them away, ·I am going to come and rescue my sheep from being cheated; I will judge between sheep and sheep.

23 I mean to raise up one shepherd, my servant David, and to put him in charge of them and he will pasture them; he will pasture them and be their shepherd.
24 I, Yahweh, will be their God, and my servant David shall be their ruler. I, Yahweh, 25 have spoken. ·I shall make a covenant of peace with them; I shall rid the country of wild animals. They will be able to live safely in the wilderness and go to sleep 26 in the woods. ·I shall settle them around my hill^a; I shall send rain at the proper 27 time; it will be a fertile rain. ·The trees of the countryside will yield their fruit and the earth its produce; they will feel safe on their own farms. And men will 28 learn that I am Yahweh when I break their yoke straps and release them from their captors. ·No more will they be a prey to foreign countries, no more will they be eaten by wild animals in this country. They will live without fear and 29 no one will disturb them again. ·I shall make splendid vegetation grow for them;
no more will they suffer from famine in this land; no more will they have to bear 30 the insults of other nations. ·And men will learn that I, their God, am with them and that they, the House of Israel, are my people—it is the Lord Yahweh who 31 speaks. ·And you, my sheep, are the flock I shall pasture, and I am your God—
it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.”

Against the mountains of Edom

1 35 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, turn
2 toward the mountain of Seir and prophesy against it. ·Say to it, ‘The 3 Lord Yahweh says this: Now I set myself against you, mountain of Seir; I am stretching out my hand against you; I am going to reduce you to desert and 4 desolation, ·I lay your towns in ruins, and make you a desolation, and so 5 you will learn that I am Yahweh. ·Since, nourishing a long-standing hatred, you betrayed the sons of Israel to the sword during their trouble, at the time of their 6 last crime, ·very well, as I live—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—I mean to hand you over to bloodshed, and bloodshed will pursue you. I swear it; you have 7 sinned by shedding blood, and bloodshed will pursue you. ·I intend to reduce the mountain of Seir to desert and desolation, and I will eliminate everyone 8 who travels up and down the country. ·I shall fill its mountains with corpses; people will fall, struck down by the sword on your hills, in your valleys, in 9 every one of your ravines. ·I am going to reduce you to desolation, for ever your towns will remain uninhabited, and so you will learn that I am Yahweh.

10 Since you said to the two nations, the two countries^a: You belong to me; we 11 are going to take possession here where Yahweh used to be: ·very well, as I live
—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—in anger and fury I will do exactly what you did because you hated them. I shall make it clear that I am punishing you 12 on their behalf; ·then you will know that I, Yahweh, have overheard all the outrageous things you have said about the mountains of Israel, such as: They have 34 a. Zion.

35 a. After 587, Edom attempted to overrun not only the kingdom of Judah but the whole of Palestine.

¹³ been abandoned, they have been left for us to devour. •You have talked arrogantly
¹⁴ about me, too, you have repeatedly slandered me; I have heard! •The Lord ¹⁵ Yahweh says this: To the joy of the whole country, I am going to reduce you to desert. •Since you rejoiced when the domain of the House of Israel became a desert, I will do the same to you, mountain of Seir; you will become a desert, and so will the whole of Edom; and so men will learn that I am Yahweh.’

Oracle on the mountains of Israel

¹ 36 “Son of man, prophesy this to the mountains of Israel. Say, ‘Mountains ² of Israel, hear the word of Yahweh.’ •The Lord Yahweh says this: Since the enemy has insulted you by saying, ‘Aha! These eternal heights have now ³ become our domain,’ •you must prophesy. Say, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this:
 Since you have been ravaged and seized on by surrounding countries, and taken over by the rest of the nations, and made the subject of people’s talk and gossip, ⁴ now, mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord Yahweh: The Lord Yahweh says this to mountains and hills, to ravines and valleys, to abandoned ruins and the empty plundered cities that have become the laughingstock of all the ⁵ surrounding nations. •Yes, the Lord Yahweh says this: I swear it by the fierceness of my jealousy; I am speaking to the rest of the nations and to the whole of Edom who so exultantly and contemptuously took possession of my country and plundered it.’

⁶ “This being so, prophesy this about the land of Israel. Say to the mountains and hills, to the ravines and valleys, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this: I am speaking in my jealousy and rage; because you are enduring the insults of the nations, •very well, the Lord Yahweh says this: I raise my hand and I swear ⁷ that the nations around you shall have their own insults to bear.

⁸ Mountains of Israel, you will grow branches and bear fruit for my people
⁹ Israel, who will soon return. •Yes, I am coming to you, I have turned to you;
¹⁰ you will be tilled and sown. •I shall multiply the men who live on you, the whole House of Israel, yes, all. The cities will be lived in again and the ruins rebuilt.
¹¹ I shall multiply the men and animals that live on you; there will be many of them and they will be fertile. I shall repopulate you as you were before; I shall make you more prosperous than you were before, and so you will learn that I am Yahweh.
¹² Thanks to me, men will tread your soil again, my people Israel; they will have you for their own domain, and never again will you rob them of their children.

¹³ The Lord Yahweh says this: Since people have said of you: You are ¹⁴ a man-eater, you have robbed your nation of its children, •very well, you will eat no more men, never rob your nation of its children again—it is the Lord ¹⁵ Yahweh who speaks. •I shall never again let you hear the insults of the nations, you will never again have to bear the taunts of the foreigners, you will never again rob the nation of its children—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.’”

¹⁶ The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows: “•Son of man, the members of the House of Israel used to live in their own land, but they defiled it by their conduct and actions; to me their conduct was as unclean as a woman’s ¹⁸ menstruation. •I then discharged my fury at them because of the blood they shed ¹⁹ in their land and the idols with which they defiled it. •I scattered them among the nations and dispersed them in foreign countries. I sentenced them as their ²⁰ conduct and actions deserved. •And now they have profaned my holy name among the nations where they have gone, so that people say of them, ‘These are ²¹ the people of Yahweh; they have been exiled from his land.’ •But I have been concerned about my holy name, which the House of Israel has profaned among ²² the nations where they have gone. •And so, say to the House of Israel, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this: I am not doing this for your sake, House of Israel, but for the sake of my holy name, which you have profaned among the nations ²³ where you have gone. •I mean to display the holiness of my great name, which has been profaned among the nations, which you have profaned among them. And the nations will learn that I am Yahweh—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—24 when I display my holiness for your sake before their eyes. ‘Then I am going to take you from among the nations and gather you together from all the foreign 25 countries, and bring you home to your own land. ‘I shall pour clean water over you and you will be cleansed; I shall cleanse you of all your defilement and all 26 your idols. ‘I shall give you a new heart, and put a new spirit in you; I shall remove the heart of stone from your bodies and give you a heart of flesh instead. ‘I shall 27 put my spirit in you, and make you keep my laws and sincerely respect my observances. ‘You will live in the land which I gave your ancestors. You shall be 28 my people and I will be your God. ‘I shall rescue you from all your defilement.

 I shall summon the corn and make it plentiful, and no more bring famines on you.
 30 I shall increase the yield of fruit trees and fields so that you will no longer have 31 the ignominy of famine among the nations. ‘Then you will remember your evil conduct and actions. You will loathe yourselves for your sins and your filthy 32 practices. ‘I assure you that I am not doing this for your sake—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. Be ashamed and blush for your conduct, House of Israel.

33 The Lord Yahweh says this: On the day I cleanse you from all your sins, 34 I will repopulate the cities and cause the ruins to be rebuilt. ‘Waste land, once desolate for every passer-by to see, will now be farmed again. ‘Everyone will say:
 35 This land, so recently a waste, is now like a garden of Eden, and the ruined cities once abandoned and leveled to the ground are now strongholds with people 36 living in them. ‘And the nations left around you will know that I, Yahweh, have rebuilt what was destroyed and replanted what was ruined. I, Yahweh, have spoken, and I will do it.

37 The Lord Yahweh says this: To grant them further favor, I shall encourage the House of Israel to look for me, and shall increase them like a 38 flock of men, ‘like a flock of sacrificial animals, like the flock in Jerusalem on her solemn feasts. And so your ruined cities will be filled with a human flock. And men will learn that I am Yahweh.’”

The dry bones

1 37 The hand of Yahweh was laid on me, and he carried me away by the spirit of Yahweh and set me down in the middle of a valley, a valley full of 2 bones. ‘He made me walk up and down among them. There were vast quantities of these bones on the ground the whole length of the valley; and they were quite 3 dried up. ‘He said to me, “Son of man, can these bones live?” I said, “You know, 4 Lord Yahweh.” ‘He said, “Prophecy over these bones. Say, ‘Dry bones, hear the 5 word of Yahweh. ‘The Lord Yahweh says this to these bones: I am now going to 6 make the breath^a enter you, and you will live. ‘I shall put sinews on you, I shall make flesh grow on you, I shall cover you with skin and give you breath, and you 7 will live; and you will learn that I am Yahweh.’ ” ‘I prophesied as I had been ordered. While I was prophesying, there was a noise, a sound of clattering; and 8 the bones joined together. ‘I looked, and saw that they were covered with sinews;
 flesh was growing on them and skin was covering them, but there was no breath 9 in them. ‘He said to me, “Prophecy to the breath; prophecy, son of man. Say to the breath, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this: Come from the four winds, breath; 10 breathe on these dead; let them live!’ ” ‘I prophesied as he had ordered me, and the breath entered them; they came to life again and stood up on their feet, a great, an immense army.

11 Then he said, “Son of man, these bones are the whole House of Israel. They keep saying, ‘Our bones are dried up. our hope has gone; we are as good as 12 dead.’ ‘So prophecy. Say to them, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this: I am now going to open your graves; I mean to raise you from your graves, my people, and lead you 13 back to the soil of Israel. ‘And you will know that I am Yahweh, when I open

37 a. In Hebrew the one word ruah means “breath” and “spirit.”

14 your graves and raise you from your graves, my people. •And I shall put my spirit in you, and you will live, and I shall resettle you on your own soil; and you will know that I, Yahweh, have said and done this—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.’”

Judah and Israel in one kingdom

15 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, take a 16 stick and write on it, ‘Judah and those Israelites loyal to him.’ Take another stick and write on it, ‘Joseph, the wood of Ephraim, and all the House of Israel loyal to him.’

17 “Join one to the other to make a single piece of wood, a single stick in your 18 hand. •And when the members of your nation say, ‘Tell us what you mean,’
19 say, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this: I am taking the stick of Joseph, now in the hand of Ephraim, and those tribes of Israel loyal to him, and I am going to put the stick of Judah with them. I shall make one stick out of the two, and I shall hold them as one.’

20 “Keep the pieces of wood you have written on in your hand where they 21 can see, •and say, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this: I am going to take the sons of Israel from the nations where they have gone. I shall gather them together
22 from everywhere and bring them home to their own soil. •I shall make them into one nation in my own land and on the mountains of Israel, and one king is to be king of them all; they will no longer form two nations, nor be two 23 separate kingdoms. •They will no longer defile themselves with their idols and their filthy practices and all their sins. I shall rescue them from all the betrayals they have been guilty of; I shall cleanse them; they shall be my people and I will 24 be their God. •My servant David will reign over them, one shepherd for all;
25 they will follow my observances, respect my laws and practice them. •They will live in the land that I gave my servant Jacob, the land in which your ancestors lived. They will live in it, they, their children, their children’s children, for ever.
26 David my servant is to be their prince for ever. •I shall make a covenant of peace with them, an eternal covenant with them. I shall resettle them and increase them; I shall settle my sanctuary among them for ever. •I shall make my home
27 above them; I will be their God, they shall be my people. •And the nations will learn that I am Yahweh the sanctifier of Israel, when my sanctuary is with them 28 for ever.’”

Against Gog, king of Magog^a

1 38 The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “Son of man, turn
2 toward Gog and the country of Magog, the prince of Rosh, Meshech
3 and Tubal, and prophesy against him. •Say, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this:
4 I am against you, Gog, prince of Rosh, Meshech and Tubal. •I will turn you around, fixing hooks in your jaws, and drag you and your troops along, all the horses and well-armored horsemen, and all that great army carrying shields
5 and bucklers, and wielding swords. •Persia and Cush and Put are with them, all 6 with buckler and helmet; •Gomer and all its troops, northernmost Beth-7 togarmah and all its troops,^b and many nations with you. •Be ready, be well prepared, you and all your troops and the others rallying around you, and hold yourself at my service.

8 Many days will pass before you are given orders; in years to come you will march against this country. Its inhabitants will have been living undisturbed, remote from all other peoples, since they escaped the sword and were gathered 9 in from various nations, here in the long-deserted mountains of Israel. •Like a storm you will come up and onward, and cover the land like a cloud, you, your army and many nations with you.

10 The Lord Yahweh says this: On that day, a thought is going to enter your mind 11 and you will work out a wicked plan. •You will say: I will attack this undefended country and march against this peaceful nation living undisturbed.

 12 They all live in towns that have no walls or bars or gates. •To plunder them for loot, I am going to reach out my hand toward the ruins they live in, against this nation gathered out of other nations, these stockbreeders and tradesmen
 13 who live at the navel of the earth.^c •Sheba and Dedan, the traders of Tarshish and all its young lions will ask you: Have you come for plunder? Are you massing your troops with a view to looting? To make off with gold and silver, seize cattle and goods, and come away with unlimited spoil?

14 “And so, son of man, say in prophecy to Gog, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this: Is it not true that you are planning to set out at a time when my people Israel
 15 is living undisturbed? •You plan to leave your home in the far north, you and 16 many nations with you, a great army of countless troops all mounted. •You plan to invade Israel, my people. You will be like a cloud covering the earth. I myself am going to bring you in days to come to attack my country, so that the nations may learn what I am, when I have used you, Gog, to display my holiness to them.

17 The Lord Yahweh says this: it was of you that I spoke in the past through my servants the prophets of Israel, who prophesied and foretold your 18 invasion. •On the day Gog attacks the land of Israel—it is the Lord Yahweh
 19 who speaks—I shall grow angry. In my anger, •my jealousy and the heat of my fury I say it: I swear that on that day there will be a fearful quaking in the 20 land of Israel. •At my presence the fish in the sea and the birds of heaven, the wild beasts and all the reptiles that crawl along the ground, and all men on earth, 21 will quake. Mountains will fall, cliffs crumble, walls collapse, and •I will confront him with every sort of terror—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. His men will 22 turn their swords on each other, •I will punish him with plague and bloodshed and send torrential rain, hailstones, fire and brimstone against him and his 23 hordes and against the many nations with him. •I mean to display my greatness and holiness and to compel the many nations to acknowledge me; this is how they will learn that I am Yahweh.’

1 39 “Son of man, prophesy against Gog. Say, ‘The Lord Yahweh says this: Now I set myself against you, Gog, prince of Rosh, Meshech and Tubal.
 2 I will turn you around, lead you on, and bring you from the farthest north to 3 attack the mountains of Israel. •I will break the bow in your left hand and dash
 4 the arrows out of your right. •You will be killed on the mountains of Israel, you and all your hordes, and the nations with you. I shall make you food for carrion
 5 birds and wild beasts. •You will fall in the open countryside. I have spoken—it is 6 the Lord Yahweh who speaks. •I will send fire to Magog and on those living undisturbed on islands, and they will learn that I am Yahweh. •I am going to see
 7 that my holy name is known among my people Israel, and I will no longer allow my holy name to be profaned; the nations shall learn that I am Yahweh, holy in Israel.

8 All this is going to happen, all this is going to take place—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. This is the day I predicted.

9 The citizens of the towns of Israel will go out and use these arms for firewood: shields and bucklers, bows and arrows, clubs and javelins. For seven 10 years they will feed the fire with them. •Men will stop looking for wood in the countryside or cutting it in the forest; they will be feeding the fire with arms. They will plunder those who plundered them, and take spoil from those who despoiled them—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.

11 On that day, I shall give Gog a famous spot in Israel for his grave—the valley of the Abarim,^a on the east of the Sea—the valley that turns back the traveler—and there Gog and his whole army will be buried, and it shall be called the Valley of Hamon-gog. The House of Israel will take seven months to bury them and cleanse the country. All the people of the country will dig their graves, and be honored for this on the day when I reveal my glory—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. Men will be selected to go continually up and down the country to bury those left on the ground and cleanse it. For seven months they will go searching. If one of them sees any human bones as they go up and down the country he will put a mark beside them until the gravediggers have buried them in the valley of Hamon-gog—the name of the town is to be Hamonah—and so have cleansed the country.

38 a. Gog cannot be identified. Among the countries of which he is called “the prince” in v.3, Meshech and Tubal can be recognized as nations from the far north, on the Black Sea borders, and Gog is perhaps a type of the victorious barbarian from the north. b. Probably the Cimmerians. c. Jerusalem.

“Son of man, the Lord Yahweh says this. Speak to every kind of bird and to all wild beasts, ‘Muster, come here, meet from everywhere around for the sacrifice I am making for you, a great sacrifice on the mountains of Israel; you will eat flesh and drink blood. You will eat the flesh of heroes, you will drink the blood of the princes of the world. They are all rams and lambs, goats and fat bulls of Bashan. You will feed full on fat, drink yourselves drunk with blood, at this sacrifice I am making for you. You will glut yourselves at my table on horses and chargers, on heroes and common soldiers—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.’

Conclusion

“That is how I shall display my glory to the nations, and all nations will feel my sentence when I judge, and feel my hand when I strike them. The House of Israel will know that I am Yahweh their God, from that day forward for ever. And the nations will learn that the House of Israel was exiled for their sin in behaving so treacherously to me that I had to avert my face from them because they had rebelled against me, and to hand them over to their enemies; and they all perished by the sword. I treated them as their filthy sins deserved and hid my face from them. And so, thus says the Lord Yahweh: Now I am going to bring back the captives of Jacob, now I am going to take pity on the whole House of Israel and show myself jealous for my holy name.

“They will forget the disgrace of having so often betrayed me when they were living safely in their own land, with no one to disturb them. When I bring them home from the peoples, when I bring them back from the countries of their enemies, when I reveal my holiness in them for many nations to see, they will know that I am Yahweh their God, when I rescue the captives from the pagans and reunite them in their own country, not leaving a single one behind. I shall never hide my face from them again, since I shall pour out my spirit on the House of Israel—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.”

IV. THE TORAH OF EZEKIEL

The future Temple

40 In the twenty-fifth year of our captivity, at the beginning of the year, on the tenth day of the month, fourteen years after the destruction of the city,^a the hand of Yahweh came on me. In a divine vision he took me away to the land of Israel and put me down on a very high mountain, on the south of which there seemed to be built a city. He took me to it, and there I saw a man who seemed to be made of bronze. He had a flax cord and a measuring rod in his hand and was standing in the gateway. The man said to me, “Son of man, look carefully, listen closely and pay attention to everything I show you, since you have only been brought here for me to show it to you. Tell the House of Israel everything that you see.”

The outer wall

5 The Temple was surrounded with a wall, and the man was holding a measuring rod that was six cubits long, each cubit a forearm and a handbreadth. He measured the thickness of this construction—one rod; and its height—one rod.

The east gate

6 He went to the east gate, climbed the steps and measured its threshold: one 7 rod deep. Each guardroom one rod by one rod; and the walls between the guardrooms five cubits thick; and the threshold of the gate inward from the 9 porch of the gate: one rod. He measured the porch of the gate: eight cubits; its 10 jambs: two cubits; the porch of the gate was at the inner end. There were three guardrooms on each side of the east gate, all three the same size; the walls 11 between them all the same thickness each side. He measured the width of the entrance: ten cubits; and the width all down the gateway: thirteen cubits.
12 There was a rail in front of the guardrooms; each rail on either side was one 13 cubit. And the guardrooms on either side were six cubits square. He measured the width of the gate from the back wall of one guardroom to the back wall of 14 the other; it was twenty-five cubits across from window to window. He measured 15 the porch: twenty cubits; after the porch of the gate came the outer court. From 16 the entrance end of the gate to the porch opposite: fifty cubits. On each side of the gate there were splayed openings both in the guardrooms and in the spaces between, and there were openings all around inside the porch as well, and palm trees decorating the jambs.

The outer court

17 He took me through to the outer court that had rooms and a paved terrace 18 going all the way around; there were thirty rooms on this terrace. This terrace, which came right up to the sides of the gates and matched their depth, is the 19 Lower Terrace. He measured across the outer court from the lower gate to the outside of the inner court: a hundred cubits on the eastern and northern sides.

The north gate

20 He measured the length and breadth of the north gate of the outer court. It 21 had three guardrooms on each side; the thickness of the walls between them, and its porch too, all measured the same as those of the first gate: fifty cubits by 22 twenty-five cubits. Its windows, its porch and its palm-tree decoration all measured the same as those of the east gate. There were seven steps up to it, 23 and its porch was at the inner end. In the inner court there was, opposite the north gate, a gate like the one opposite the east gate. He measured the distance from one gate to the other: a hundred cubits.

The south gate

24 He took me to the south side where there was a south gate; he measured its guardrooms, wall thicknesses and porch; they were of the same dimensions as 25 the others. All around it and its porch were windows, like the other windows; it 26 measured fifty cubits by twenty-five cubits, and it had seven steps up to it; its porch was at the inner end and had palm-tree decoration on its jambs, one on 27 each side. The inner court had a south gate; he measured the distance southward from one gate to the other: a hundred cubits.

The inner court. The south gate

28 He then took me into the inner court by the south gate; he measured the south 29 gate which was the same size as the others. Its guardrooms, wall thicknesses and porch all measured the same as the others. It and its porch had windows 30 all around. It measured fifty cubits by twenty-five cubits. Its porch, measured, 31 in all, all around, was twenty-five cubits by five cubits. The porch gave on to the outer court. It had palm trees on its jambs, each side, and eight steps leading up to it.

The east gate

32 He took me to the east gate and measured it. It was the same size as the 33 others. Its guardrooms, the thickness of its walls, its porch all measured the same as the others. It and its porch had windows all around. Its area was fifty 34 cubits by twenty-five cubits. Its porch gave on to the outer court. There were palm trees on its jambs on either side, and eight steps leading up to it.

The north gate

35 He took me to the north gate and measured it. Its guardrooms, the thickness
 36 of its walls and its porch all measured the same as the others. It had windows 37 all around. Its area was fifty cubits by twenty-five cubits. Its porch gave on to the outer court. There were palm trees on its jambs on either side, and eight steps leading up to it.

Subsidiary buildings at the gate

38 There was a room entered from the porch of the gates. It was here that they 39 washed the holocaust. And on either side of the porch of the gate there were two tables for slaughtering the holocaust, the sacrifice for sin and the sacrifice 40 of reparation. Going northward up to the gate, there were two tables outside 41 and two more tables at the porch end of the gate. Four tables on the inside and four tables on the outside of the porch; in all, eight tables on which the sacrifices 42 were offered. There were also four tables of dressed stone for holocausts, a cubit and a half long, a cubit and a half wide and a cubit high, on which all the 43 things necessary for killing the holocaust and the sacrifices were put. Rims, a handbreadth broad, went all around the top, and on these tables was put the sacrificial flesh.

44 He took me into the inner court; there were two lodges in the inner court, one at the side of the north gate, facing south, the other at the side of the south 45 gate, facing north. He told me, "The lodge looking south is for the priests in 46 charge of the Temple, and the lodge looking north is for the priests who serve the altar. These are the sons of Zadok, those of the sons of Levi who approach Yahweh to serve him."

The inner court

47 He measured the inner court. It was a quadrangle, a hundred cubits by a hundred cubits, with the altar in front of the Temple.

The Temple.^b The Ulam

48 He took me to the Ulam of the Temple and measured its door jambs—five cubits each side; and the width of the entrance was fourteen cubits with a three-49 cubit wall each side. The Ulam was twenty cubits by twelve cubits. There were ten steps leading up to it, and there were columns by the door jambs, one on each side.

The Hekal

1 41 He took me into the Hekal and measured its door jambs: six cubits deep 2 on the one side, six cubits deep on the other. The width of the entrance was ten cubits. The walls each side of the entrance were five cubits on the one side and five cubits on the other. He measured its length: forty cubits; and its width: twenty cubits.

The Debir

³ He went in and measured the door jambs at the entrance: two cubits; then ⁴ the entrance: six cubits; and the walls each side of the entrance: seven cubits. He measured its length: twenty cubits; and its width measured across the end wall of the Hekal: twenty cubits. He then said to me, "This is the most holy place."

The side cells

⁵ He measured the wall of the Temple: six cubits. The width of the side cells
⁶ was four cubits, all around the Temple. The cells were one above the other, thirty of them in three stories. The supports for the surrounding cells were fixed into the Temple wall, so that the cells were not recessed into the wall of the ⁷ Temple. The width of the cells increased, story by story, for they surrounded ⁸ the Temple in the stories that went right around it, and hence . . . Then I saw that there was a paved terrace all around the Temple. The height of this, which ⁹ formed the base of the side cells, was a full rod of six cubits. The outer wall of the side cells was five cubits thick and the pavement formed a verandah outside
¹⁰ the cells of the Temple. Beyond the rooms came an area twenty cubits wide ¹¹ right around the Temple. And for getting from the side cells on to the verandah there was one entrance on the north side and one entrance on the south side. The width of the verandah was five cubits right around.

The building on the west side

¹² The building to the west of this surrounding area was seventy cubits by ninety ¹³ cubits, and the wall of the building was five cubits thick, all around. He measured the length of the Temple: a hundred cubits. The length of the court plus the ¹⁴ building and its walls: a hundred cubits. The breadth of the façade of the ¹⁵ Temple with the quadrangle: a hundred cubits. He measured the length of the building plus the surrounding area at the back, plus the side depth of its door: a hundred cubits.

Particulars of the Temple itself

¹⁶ The inside of the Hekal and the porches of the court, their thresholds, the window screens, the three sets of doors, one at each threshold, were all paneled with wood, from floor to windows, and the windows were screened with lattice-work. From the door to the inner part of the Temple, and right around the ¹⁷ whole wall of the inner room, outside and inside, were carved cherubs and
¹⁸ palm trees, palm trees and cherubs alternating; each cherub had two faces—the face of a man turned toward the palm tree one side and the face of a lion toward ¹⁹ the palm tree the other side, all around the Temple. The cherubs and palm trees were carved from the floor to above the entrance, as also on the wall of the hall.
²⁰ The pillars of the Temple were square.
²¹

The wooden altar

²² In front of the Debir, there appeared to be a wooden altar, three cubits high and two cubits square. Its corners, base and sides were of wood. He said to me, "This is the table in front of Yahweh."

The doors

²³ There was a double door for the Hekal, and a double door for the Debir.
²⁴ These doors had two hinged leaves, two leaves for the one door, two leaves for the other. On them, on the doors of the Hekal, were carved cherubs and palm trees like those carved on the walls. A wooden screen outside went across the ²⁵ front of the Ulam. There were screened windows with flanking palm trees on the walls of the Ulam, and of the cells to the side of the Temple and on the screens.
²⁶

b. The Temple is on the plan of Solomon's Temple, and has three parts: The Ulam or Vestibule, the Hekal or Hall, and the Debir or Sanctuary (the "Holy of Holies").

Outbuildings of the Temple

1 42 He took me northward into the court and led me to the rooms facing the 2 outer court, those to the north of the building. They were one hundred 3 cubits long on the north side and fifty cubits wide. On the sides facing the 4 porches of the inner court and the paving of the outer court was a gallery in front of 5 the triple gallery, and in front of the rooms was a walk, ten cubits broad measured
 6 inward and a hundred cubits long; their doors looked north. The top-floor
 7 rooms were narrow because the galleries took up part of the width, being narrower 8 than those on the ground floor or those on the middle floor of the building, 9 since these were divided into three stories and had no columns such as the court
 10 had. Hence they were narrower than the ground-floor ones or the middle-floor 11 ones below them. The outer wall parallel to the rooms, facing them and giving 12 on to the outer court, was fifty cubits long, the length of the rooms facing the 13 outer court being fifty cubits, while on the side facing the Temple it was a hundred 14 cubits. Beneath the rooms there was an entrance from the east, leading in from 15 the outer court.

16 In the thickness of the wall of the court, on the south side fronting the court
 17 and the building, were rooms. A walk ran in front of them, as with the rooms 18 built on the north side; they were of the same length and breadth, and had 19 similar design and doors in and out. They were like the entrances of the southern 20 rooms; one entrance at the end of each walk, fronting the eastern wall, being the 21 way in. He said to me, "The northern and southern rooms giving on to the court
 22 are the rooms of the Debir, in which the priests who approach Yahweh will eat 23 the most holy things. In them will be placed the most holy things: the oblation, the 24 sacrifice for sin and the sacrifice of reparation, since this is a holy place. Once 25 the priests have entered they will not go out of the holy place into the outer 26 court without leaving their liturgical vestments there, since these vestments are 27 holy; they will put on other clothes before going near places assigned to the 28 people."

Measurements of the court

29 When he had finished measuring the inside of the Temple, he took me out to 30 the east gate and measured the whole area of the court. He measured the east 31 side with his measuring rod: a total of five hundred cubits by the measuring rod.
 32 He then measured the north side: a total of five hundred cubits by the measuring 33 rod. He then measured the south side: five hundred cubits by the measuring 34 rod was the total. On the west side he measured five hundred cubits by the 35 measuring rod. He measured the entire enclosing wall on all four sides: length 36 five hundred, breadth five hundred, separating the sacred from the profane.

The return of Yahweh

37 43 He took me to the gate, the one facing east. I saw the glory of the God of 38 Israel approaching from the east. A sound came with it, like the sound of 39 the ocean, and the earth shone with his glory. This vision was like the one I had 40 seen when I had come for the destruction of the city, and like the one I had seen 41 on the bank of the river Chebar. Then I prostrated myself.

42 The glory of Yahweh arrived at the Temple by the east gate. The spirit
 43 lifted me up and brought me into the inner court; I saw the glory of Yahweh fill 44 the Temple. And I heard someone speaking to me from the Temple while the 45 man stood beside me. The voice said, "Son of man, this is the dais of my throne, 46 the step on which I rest my feet. I shall live here among the sons of Israel for 47 ever; and the House of Israel, they and their kings, will no longer defile my 48 holy name with their whorings and the corpses of their kings, setting their 49 threshold beside my threshold and their pillars beside my pillars, with a party wall
 50 shared by them and me. They used to defile my holy name by their filthy 51 practices, and this is why I destroyed them in my anger. From now on they will banish their whorings and the corpses of their kings from my presence and I shall live among them for ever.

10 "Son of man, describe this Temple to the House of Israel, to shame them out 11 of their filthy practices. Let them draw up the plan, and, if they are ashamed of their behavior, show them the design and plan of the Temple, its exits and entrances, its shape, how all of it is arranged, the entire design and all its principles. Give them all this in writing so that they can see and take note of its 12 design and the way it is all arranged and carry it out. This is the charter of the Temple: all the surrounding area on top of the mountain is a most holy area.
 Such is the charter of the Temple."

The altar

13 Here are the dimensions of the altar, in cubits each of a cubit plus a handbreadth. The base: one cubit high and one cubit wide. The ledge all around 14 it: one span. This is the height of the altar: from the ground level of the base up to the lower plinth, two cubits high and one cubit wide; from the lesser plinth 15 to the greater plinth, four cubits high and one cubit wide. The altar hearth: four 16 cubits high, with four horns projecting from the hearth, the hearth being square:
 17 twelve cubits by twelve cubits; and the square plinth: fourteen cubits by fourteen cubits; and the ledge all around: half a cubit; and the base: one cubit all around.
 The steps were on the east side.

The consecration of the altar

18 He said to me, "Son of man, the Lord Yahweh says this: As regards the altar, this is how things are to be done when it has been built for the offering of 19 the holocaust and for the pouring of blood. To those levitical priests of the race of Zadok who approach me to serve me—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—you 20 must give a young bull as a sacrifice for sin. You are to take some of its blood and put it on the four horns and the four corners of the plinth and the surrounding 21 ledge. In this way you will purify it and make atonement on it. Then take the bull of the sacrifice for sin and burn it in that part of the Temple which is cut off 22 from the sanctuary. On the second day, you must offer an unblemished he-goat 23 as the sacrifice for sin, and the altar is to be purified again as with the bull. When you have finished the purification you must offer a young bull without blemish 24 and an unblemished ram chosen from the flock. You are to present them before Yahweh, and the priests will sprinkle salt on them and offer them as a holocaust
 25 to Yahweh. As a sacrifice for sin, every day for seven days you must offer a 26 he-goat, a bull and an unblemished ram from the flock, for a week. In this way 27 the altar will be atoned for and will be purified and inaugurated. At the end of that time, on the eighth day and afterward, the priest is to offer your holocausts and your communion sacrifices on the altar, and I will look kindly on you—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks."

The use of the east gate

1 44 He brought me back to the outer east gate of the sanctuary. It was shut.
 2 Yahweh said to me, "This gate will be kept shut. No one will open it or go through it, since Yahweh the God of Israel has been through it. And so it must 3 be kept shut. The prince himself, however, may sit there to take his meal in the presence of Yahweh. He is to enter and leave through the porch of the gate."

Rules of admission to the Temple

4 He led me through the north gate to the front of the Temple. I looked; I saw the glory of Yahweh filling the Temple of Yahweh, and I prostrated myself.
 5 Yahweh said to me, "Son of man, pay attention, look carefully and listen closely to everything I explain; these are all the arrangements of the Temple of Yahweh and all its laws. Be careful about which men are admitted to the Temple and 6 which are excluded from the sanctuary. And say to the rebels of the House of Israel, 'The Lord Yahweh says this: You have gone beyond all bounds with all your filthy practices, House of Israel, 'by admitting aliens, uncircumcised in heart and body, to frequent my sanctuary and profane my Temple, while you offer my bread, the fat and the blood, and break my covenant with all your filthy practices. 'Instead of performing your duties to me in the Holy Place, you have deputed someone else to perform your duties in my sanctuary. 'The Lord Yahweh says this: No alien, uncircumcised in heart and body, is to enter my sanctuary, none of those aliens living among the Israelites.

The Levites

As regards the Levites who abandoned me when Israel strayed far from me to follow its idols, they must bear the weight of their own sin. 'They are to be servants in my sanctuary, responsible for guarding the Temple gates and serving the Temple. They will kill the holocaust and the sacrifice for the people, and hold themselves at the service of the people. 'Since they used to be at their service in front of their idols and were an occasion of sin to the House of Israel, very well, I raise my hand against them—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks; they must bear the weight of their sin. 'They are never to approach me again to perform the priestly office in my presence, or to touch my holy things and my most holy things; they must bear the disgrace of their filthy practices. 'I shall give them the responsibility of working in the Temple; I shall make them responsible for serving it and for everything to be done in it.

The priests

As regards the levitical priests, the sons of Zadok, who did their duty to me in the sanctuary when the Israelites strayed far from me, they may still approach me to serve me; they may stand in my presence to offer me the fat and blood—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. 'They may enter my sanctuary and approach my table to serve me; they may perform my liturgy. 'Once they enter the gates of the inner court, they are to wear linen vestments; they are to wear no wool when they serve inside the gates of the inner court and in the Temple. 'They are to wear linen caps on their heads, and linen breeches about their loins; they are not to wear belts of . . . 'When they go out to the people in the outer court, they are to remove the vestments in which they have performed the liturgy and leave them in the rooms of the Holy Place, and put on other clothes, so as not to hallow the people with their vestments. 'They are neither to shave their heads nor to let their hair grow long, but must cut their hair to a reasonable length. 'No priest is to drink wine on the day he enters the inner court. 'They are not to marry widows or divorced women, but only virgins of the race of Israel; they may, however, marry widows, if the widow of a priest. 'They are to teach my people the difference between what is sacred and what is profane and make them understand the difference between what is clean and what is unclean. 'They are to be judges in disputes; they must judge in the spirit of my statutes; they must follow my laws and ordinances at all my feasts and keep my sabbaths holy. 'They are not to go near a dead man, in case they become unclean, except in these permissible cases, that is, for father, mother, daughter, son, brother or unmarried sister. 'After one of them has been purified, seven days must elapse; 'then, on the day when he enters the Holy Place—enters the inner court to minister in the Holy Place—he is to offer his sacrifice for sin—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. 'They are to have no inheritance; I myself will be their inheritance. You are to give them no patrimony in Israel; I myself will be their patrimony. 'Their food is to be the oblation, the sacrifice for sin and the sacrifice of reparation. Everything in Israel put under the ban shall be for them. The best of all your first fruits, of every sort of due and of all that you offer, is to go to the priests; and the best of your dough you are also to give to the priests, so that a blessing may rest on your house. 'Priests are not to eat the flesh of anything that has died a natural death or been savaged, neither of a bird nor of any other creature.

The division of the country. The portion for Yahweh

¹ 45 When you divide the country into portions by lot, you are to allocate the sacred portion of the country to Yahweh: twenty-five thousand cubits long and twenty thousand wide. The whole of this land is to be sacred, and of this an area five hundred by five hundred cubits square is to be for the sanctuary, with a boundary fifty cubits wide right around. Out of this area you are also to measure a section twenty-five thousand by ten thousand cubits, in which there shall stand the sanctuary, the Holy of Holies. This is to be the sacred portion of the country; it shall belong to the priests who officiate in the sanctuary and approach Yahweh to serve him. There they are to have their houses and also a district set apart for the sanctuary. An area twenty-five thousand by ten thousand cubits is to be kept for the Levites serving the Temple to own, with towns to live in. You are to give the city possession of an area five thousand by twenty-five thousand cubits, near the land belonging to the sanctuary; this is to be for the whole House of Israel.

The portion for the prince

⁷ The prince is to have a domain either side of the land belonging to the Holy Place and of the land belonging to the city, and adjacent to the land belonging to the Holy Place and the land belonging to the city, stretching westward from the west and eastward from the east, its size equal to one of the portions between the west and the east frontiers^a of the country. This is to be his possession in Israel. Then my princes will no longer oppress my people; they must leave the rest of the country for the House of Israel, for its tribes.

⁹ The Lord Yahweh says this: Let this be enough for you, princes of Israel! Give up your violence and plundering, practice justice and integrity, crush my people no more with taxation—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. Have scales that are fair, a fair ephah, a fair bath. Let the ephah and bath be equal, let the bath hold one tenth of a homer and the ephah one tenth of a homer. Let the measures be based on the homer. The shekel is to be twenty gerahs. Twenty shekels, twenty-five shekels and fifteen shekels are to make one mina.

Offerings for worship

¹³ “This is the offering that you are to levy: the sixth of an ephah for every homer of wheat, and the sixth of an ephah for every homer of barley. The dues on oil: one bath of oil out of every ten baths or out of every cor (which is equal to ten baths or one homer, since ten baths equal one homer). You are to levy one sheep on every flock of two hundred from the patrimony of Israel for the oblation, the holocaust and the communion sacrifice. This is to form your atonement—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks. Let all the people of the country be subject to this due for the prince of Israel. The prince is to make himself responsible for providing the holocausts, oblation and libation for feasts, New Moons and sabbaths, for all the solemn festivals of the House of Israel. He is to provide the sacrifice for sin, oblation, holocaust and communion sacrifices atoning for the House of Israel.

The feast of the Passover

¹⁸ The Lord Yahweh says this: On the first day of the first month, you must take a young bull without blemish, to purify the sanctuary. The priest is to take blood from the sacrifice for sin and put it on the doorposts of the Temple, on the four corners of the altar plinth and on the doorposts of the gates of the inner court. You must do the same on the seventh of the month, on behalf of anyone who has sinned through inadvertence or ignorance. This is how you are to make atonement for the Temple. On the fourteenth day of the first month, you must celebrate the feast of the Passover. For seven days everyone is to eat unleavened loaves. On that day, the prince must offer a bull as a sacrifice for sin, for himself and all the people in the country. For the seven days of the feast, he must offer Yahweh a holocaust of seven bulls and seven rams without blemish, daily for a week, and one he-goat daily as a sacrifice for sin, offering one ephah for each bull and one ephah for each ram, and a hin of oil for every ephah for the oblation.

45 a. This plan provides an area about seven miles square at Jerusalem for the Temple, its precincts and towns for the priests and Levites; and on each side of it, a strip of the same width for the prince, to the Jordan on the east and to the Mediterranean on the west.

The feast of Tabernacles

For the feast that falls on the fifteenth day of the seventh month, he must do the same for seven days, offering the sacrifice for sin, the holocaust, oblation and the oil.

The sabbath and the New Moon

Thus speaks the Lord Yahweh: The east gate of the inner court must be kept shut for the six working days. On the sabbath day it is to be opened, as also on the day of the New Moon; and the prince is to go in through the porch of the outer gate and take his position by the doorposts of the gate. The priests must then offer his holocaust and his communion sacrifice. He must prostrate himself on the threshold of the gate and go out, and the gate is not to be shut again until the evening. The people of the country are to prostrate themselves in the presence of Yahweh at the entrance to the gate on sabbaths and days of the New Moon. The holocaust offered to Yahweh by the prince on the sabbath day is to consist of six unblemished lambs and one unblemished ram, and an oblation of one ephah for the ram, and such oblation as he pleases for the lambs, and a hin of oil for every ephah. On the day of the New Moon it is to consist of a young bull without blemish, six unblemished lambs and one unblemished ram, when he must make an oblation of one ephah for the bull and one ephah for the ram, and what he pleases for the lambs, and a hin of oil for every ephah.

Miscellaneous regulations

When the prince goes in, he is to enter by the porch of the gate, and he must leave by the same way. When the people of the country come into the presence of Yahweh at the solemn festivals, those who have come in by the north gate to prostrate themselves are to go out by the south gate, and those who have come in by the south gate are to go out by the north gate; no one is to turn back to leave through the gate by which he entered but is to go out on the opposite side. The prince is to come with them, coming in like them and going out like them. On feast days and solemn festivals the oblation must be one ephah for every bull, one ephah for every ram, what he pleases for the lambs, and a hin of oil for every ephah. When the prince offers Yahweh a voluntary holocaust or a voluntary communion sacrifice, the east gate is to be opened for him, and he is to offer his holocaust and his communion sacrifice as he does on the sabbath day; when he has gone out, the gate is to be shut after him. Every day he must offer an unblemished lamb one year old as a holocaust to Yahweh; he must offer this every morning. Every morning in addition he is to offer an oblation of one sixth of an ephah and one third of a hin of oil, for mixing with the flour. This is the oblation to Yahweh, an eternal law fixed in perpetuity. The lamb, the oblation and the oil are to be offered morning after morning for ever. The Lord Yahweh says this: If the prince presents his sons with part of his hereditary portion, the gift is to pass into the ownership of his sons, and become their hereditary property. If, however, he presents part of his hereditary portion to one of his servants, it shall only belong to the man until the year of liberation^a and is then to revert to the prince. Only his sons may retain his hereditary portion. The prince may not take any part of the people's hereditary portion and thus rob them of their rightful possessions; he must provide the patrimony of his sons out of his own property, so that no member of my people is robbed of his rightful possessions.'"

He took me through the entrance at the side of the north gate that leads to the rooms of the Holy Place set apart for the priests. And there before us, to the west, was a space at the end. He said to me, "This is where the priests are to boil the slaughtered animals for the sacrifice for sin and the sacrifice of reparation, and where they are to bake the oblation, without having to carry them into the outer court and so run the risk of hallowing the people." He took me into the outer court and led me to each of its four corners; in each corner of the outer court was a compound; in other words, the four corners of the court contained four small compounds, forty cubits by thirty, all four being the same size. Each of the four was enclosed by a wall, with hearths all around the bottom of the wall. He said, "These are the kitchens where the Temple servants are to boil the sacrifices offered by the people."

The spring in the Temple

47 He brought me back to the entrance of the Temple, where a stream came out from under the Temple threshold and flowed eastward, since the Temple faced east. The water flowed from under the right side of the Temple, south of the altar. He took me out by the north gate and led me right around outside as far as the outer east gate where the water flowed out on the right-hand side. The man went to the east holding his measuring line and measured off a thousand cubits; he then made me wade across the stream; the water reached my ankles. He measured off another thousand and made me wade across the stream again; the water reached my knees. He measured off another thousand and made me wade across again; the water reached my waist. He measured off another thousand; it was now a river which I could not cross; the stream had swollen and was now deep water, a river impossible to cross. He then said, "Do you see, son of man?" He took me further, then brought me back to the bank of the river. When I got back, there were many trees on each bank of the river. He said, "This water flows east down to the Arabah and to the sea; and flowing into the sea it makes its waters wholesome. Wherever the river flows, all living creatures teeming in it will live. Fish will be very plentiful, for wherever the water goes it brings health, and life teems wherever the river flows. There will be fishermen on its banks. Fishing nets will be spread from En-gedi to En-eglain. The fish will be as varied and as plentiful as the fish of the Great Sea." The marshes and lagoons, however, will not become wholesome, but will remain salt. Along the river, on either bank, will grow every kind of fruit tree with leaves that never wither and fruit that never fails; they will bear new fruit every month, because this water comes from the sanctuary. And their fruit will be good to eat and the leaves medicinal.

The frontiers of the land

"The Lord Yahweh says this: Here are the frontiers of the territories to be allotted between the twelve tribes of Israel, with two portions for Joseph. You must share it out equally between you, since I swore to your fathers that I would give them this land which now falls to you as your inheritance. Here are the frontiers of the land. On the north, from the Great Sea by way of Hethlon to the Pass of Hamath and on to Zedad, Berothah, Sibram lying between the territories of Damascus and Hamath—and to Hazer-hat-ticon on the borders of Hauran. The frontier will extend from the sea to Hazer-enon, marching with the frontier of Damascus to the north of it and the frontier of Hamath also on the north; so much for the northern frontier. On the east the Jordan will serve as frontier between Hauran and Damascus, between Gilead and the land of Israel, down to the Eastern Sea^b as far as Tamar; so much for the eastern frontier. On the south, from Tamar southward to the waters of Meribah in Kadesh, to the Wadi and the Great Sea; so much for the southern frontier. On the west the Great Sea will serve as frontier up to the point opposite the Pass of Hamath; so much for the western frontier. You are to share out this land among yourselves, between the tribes of Israel. You are to divide it into inheritances for yourselves and the aliens settled among you who have begotten children with you, since you are to treat them as citizens of Israel. They are to draw lots with you for their inheritance, with the tribes of Israel. You must give the alien his inheritance in the tribe in which he is living—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.

The division of the land

1 48 "This is the list of the tribes. In the far north by way of Hethlon to the Pass of Hamath, to Hazer-enon, with the frontier of Damascus lying to the north, and marching with Hamath—the land from the eastern frontier to the western frontier: Dan, one portion. Bordering Dan, from the eastern frontier to the western frontier: Asher, one portion. Bordering Asher, from the eastern frontier to the western frontier: Naphtali, one portion. Bordering Naphtali, from the eastern frontier to the western frontier: Manasseh, one portion. Bordering Manasseh, from the eastern frontier to the western frontier: Ephraim, one portion. Bordering Ephraim, from the eastern frontier to the western frontier: Reuben, one portion. Bordering Reuben, from the eastern frontier to the western frontier: Judah, one portion. Bordering Judah, from the eastern frontier to the western frontier, is the part you are to set aside, twenty-five thousand cubits wide, and as long as each of the other portions from the eastern frontier to the western frontier. The sanctuary will be in the center of it.

9 "The part you must set aside for Yahweh is to be twenty-five thousand cubits long and ten thousand cubits wide. This consecrated portion is to belong to the priests, being, on the north side, twenty-five thousand cubits; on the west side ten thousand cubits wide, on the east side ten thousand cubits wide and on the south side twenty-five thousand cubits long, and the sanctuary of Yahweh will be in the center of it. This is to belong to the consecrated priests, to those of the sons of Zadok who maintained my liturgy and did not go astray with the straying Israelites, as the Levites went astray. And so their portion is to be taken out of the most holy portion of the land, near the territory of the Levites. The territory of the Levites, like the territory of the priests, is to be twenty-five thousand cubits long and ten thousand wide—the whole length being twenty-five thousand and the width ten thousand. It will be illegal for them to sell or exchange any part of it, and the domain can never be alienated, since it is consecrated to Yahweh. As regards the remainder, an area of five thousand cubits by twenty-five thousand, this is to be for the common use of the city, for houses and pastures. The city is to stand in the center. Here are its measurements: on the north side, four thousand five hundred cubits; on the south side, four thousand five hundred cubits; on the east side, four thousand five hundred cubits; on the west side, four thousand five hundred cubits. And the city pastures are to extend two hundred and fifty cubits to the north, two hundred and fifty to the south, two hundred and fifty to the east, two hundred

18 and fifty to the west. •One strip, contiguous to the consecrated portion, must 19 be left over, consisting of ten thousand cubits to eastward and ten thousand to 20 westward, marching with the consecrated portion; this will bring in a revenue
19 for feeding the municipal workmen. •These municipal workpeople are to be drawn 20 from all the tribes of Israel. •The portion is to have a total area of twenty-five 21 thousand cubits by twenty-five thousand. You are to allocate a quarter of the 21 sacred portion to form the city. •What is left over shall be for the prince, on either side of the sacred portion and of the common land belonging to the city, marching with the twenty-five thousand cubits to eastward to the eastern frontier, and marching with the twenty-five thousand cubits to westward to the western frontier—running parallel with the other portions and belonging to the prince. In the center will be the consecrated portion and the sanctuary of 22 the Temple. •Thus, apart from the property of the Levites and the property of the city which lie inside the prince's portion, everything between the borders of Judah and the borders of Benjamin is to belong to the prince.

23 “Here are the rest of the tribes: from the eastern frontier to the western 24 frontier: Benjamin, one portion. •Bordering Benjamin, from the eastern frontier 25 to the western frontier: Simeon, one portion. •Bordering Simeon, from the 26 eastern frontier to the western frontier: Issachar, one portion. •Bordering Issachar, from the eastern frontier to the western frontier: Zebulun, one portion.
27 Bordering Zebulun, from the eastern frontier to the western frontier: Gad, one 28 portion. •The southern border of Gad will be formed by the southern frontier running through Tamar to the waters of Meribah in Kadesh, to the Wadi and 29 the Great Sea. •This is how you are to divide the land into patrimonies for the tribes of Israel; and these are to be their portions—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.

The gates of Jerusalem

30 “Here are the ways out of the city. On the north side, being four thousand 31 five hundred cubits long, •three gates: the gate of Reuben, the gate of Judah, the gate of Levi; the gates of the city are to be named after the tribes of Israel.
32 On the east side, being four thousand five hundred cubits long, three gates:
33 the gate of Joseph, the gate of Benjamin, the gate of Dan. •On the south side, being four thousand five hundred cubits long, three gates: the gate of Simeon, 34 the gate of Issachar, the gate of Zebulun. •On the west side, being four thousand five hundred cubits long, three gates: the gate of Gad, the gate of Asher, the 35 gate of Naphtali. •Total perimeter: eighteen thousand cubits.

“The name of the city in future is to be: Yahweh-is-there.”

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOK OF DANIEL

The book of Daniel was written between 167 and 164 B.C., during the persecution under Antiochus Epiphanes and before the Maccabean revolt. The first six chapters relate the trials and perils of Daniel's life in the service of Nebuchadnezzar. The last six describe visions granted to Daniel under successors to Nebuchadnezzar in Babylon.

The aim of the book was to sustain faith and hope among the Jews in their persecutions by showing them the triumph of Daniel over his own severe ordeals and temptations of the same kind; and to hold before them the vision of a time to come when the wrath of God would be satisfied; and the kingdom of the saints would begin under a "Son of Man" whose reign would endure for ever.

The historical setting of the story undoubtedly disregards known facts, persons and dates and contains anachronisms in detail; the meaning of the book for its first readers was to be found in its insight into the present and the future in the purposes of God. It is the last expression of messianic prophecy in the Old Testament.

DANIEL

THE YOUNG HEBREWS AT THE COURT OF NEBUCHADNEZZAR

¹ I In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar
² king of Babylon marched on Jerusalem and besieged it. The Lord delivered Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hands, with some of the furnishings of the Temple of God. He took them away to the land of Shinar, and stored the sacred vessels in the treasury of his own gods.

³ The king ordered Ashpenaz, his chief eunuch, to select from the Israelites ⁴ a certain number of boys of either royal or noble descent; they had to be without any physical defect, of good appearance, trained in every kind of wisdom, well informed, quick at learning, suitable for service in the palace of the king.
Ashpenaz himself was to teach them the language and literature of the Chaldeans.
⁵ The king assigned them a daily allowance of food and wine from his own royal table. They were to receive an education lasting for three years, after which they ⁶ were expected to be fit for the king's society. Among them were Daniel, ⁷ Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, who were Judaeans. The chief eunuch gave them other names, calling Daniel Belteshazzar, Hananiah Shadrach, Mishael ⁸ Meshach, and Azariah Abednego. Daniel, who was most anxious not to defile himself with the food and wine from the royal table, begged the chief eunuch to ⁹ spare him this defilement; and by the grace of God Daniel met good will and sympathy on the part of the chief eunuch. But he warned Daniel, "I am afraid ¹⁰ of my lord the king: he has assigned you food and drink, and if he sees you looking thinner in the face than the other boys of your age, my head will be in danger ¹¹ with the king because of you." At this, Daniel turned to the guard whom the chief eunuch had assigned to Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah. He said, ¹² "Please allow your servants a ten days' trial, during which we are given only ¹³ vegetables to eat and water to drink. You can then compare our looks with those of the boys who eat the king's food; go by what you see, and treat your ¹⁴ servants accordingly." The man agreed to do what they asked and put them on ¹⁵ ten days' trial. When the ten days were over they looked and were in better health than any of the boys who had eaten their allowance from the royal table;
¹⁶ so the guard withdrew their allowance of food and the wine they were to drink, ¹⁷ and gave them vegetables. And God favored these four boys with knowledge and intelligence in everything connected with literature, and in wisdom; while ¹⁸ Daniel had the gift of interpreting every kind of vision and dream. When the period stipulated by the king for the boys' training was over, the chief eunuch ¹⁹ presented them to Nebuchadnezzar. The king conversed with them, and among all the boys found none to equal Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah. So ²⁰ they became members of the king's court, and on whatever point of wisdom or information he might question them, he found them ten times better than ²¹ all the magicians and enchanters in his entire kingdom. Daniel remained there until the first year of King Cyrus.

NEBUCHADNEZZAR'S DREAM: THE COMPOSITE STATUE

The king questions his sages

1 2 In the second year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar had a 2 series of dreams; his mind was troubled, sleep deserted him. The king then had magicians and enchanters, sorcerers and Chaldaeans^a summoned to tell the king what his dreams meant. They arrived and stood in the king's presence.
 3 The king said to them, "I have had a dream, and my mind is disturbed by a desire 4 to understand the dream." The Chaldaeans answered the king:
 "O king, live for ever! Tell your servants the dream, and we will reveal 5 its meaning for you." The king answered the Chaldaeans, "This is my firm resolve:
 if you cannot tell me what my dream was, and what it means, I will have you 6 torn limb from limb and your houses razed to the ground. If, on the other hand, you can tell me what I dreamed and what it means, I will give you presents, 7 rewards and high honor. So tell me what I dreamed and what it means." A second time they said, "Let the king tell his dream to his servants, and we will 8 reveal its meaning." But the king retorted, "It is plain to me that you are trying 9 to gain time, knowing my proclaimed and firm resolve. Your intention is not to interpret my dream, but to make me misleading and tortuous speeches while the time goes by. So tell me what my dream was, and I shall know whether 10 you can interpret it or not." The Chaldaeans answered the king, "Nobody in the world could find out the king's trouble; what is more, no other king, governor or chief would think of putting such a question to any magician, enchanter or 11 Chaldaean. The question the king asks is difficult, and no one can find the king an answer to it, except the gods, whose dwelling is not with creatures of flesh." 12 At this the king flew into a rage and ordered all the Babylonian sages to be put 13 to death. On publication of the decree to have the sages killed, search was made for Daniel and his companions to have them put to death:

Daniel intervenes

14 With shrewd and cautious words, however, Daniel approached Arioch, commander of the king's executioners, when he was on his way to kill the Baby-15 lonian sages. He said to Arioch, the royal marshal, "Why has the king issued 16 such an urgent decree?" Arioch explained matters to Daniel, and Daniel went off to ask the king for a stay of execution to give him the opportunity of revealing 17 his interpretation to the king. Daniel then went home and told his friends 18 Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah what had happened, urging them to beg the God of heaven to show his mercy in this mysterious affair, so that Daniel and 19 his friends might be spared the fate of the other Babylonian sages. The mystery was then revealed to Daniel in a night vision, and Daniel blessed the God of 20 heaven. This is what Daniel said:

"May the name of God
 be blessed for ever and ever,
 since wisdom and power are his alone.
 21 His, to control the procession of times and seasons,
 to make and unmake kings,
 to confer wisdom on the wise,
 and knowledge on those with wit to discern; 22 his, to uncover depths and mysteries, to know what lies in darkness;
 and light dwells with him.
 23 To you, God of my fathers, I give thanks and praise
 for having given me wisdom and intelligence:

now you have shown me what we asked you,
you have revealed the king's trouble to us."

24 So Daniel went to see Arioch whom the king had made responsible for putting the Babylonian sages to death. On going in he said, "Do not put the Babylonian sages to death. Take me into the king's presence and I will reveal the meaning to the king." Arioch lost no time in bringing Daniel to the king. "Among the exiles from Judah," he said, "I have discovered a man who can reveal the meaning to the king." The king said to Daniel (who had been given the name Belteshazzar), 26 "Can you tell me what my dream was, and what it means?" Facing the king, Daniel replied, "None of the sages, enchanters, magicians or wizards has been able to tell the king the truth of the mystery which the king propounded; but there is a God in heaven who reveals mysteries, and who has shown King Nebuchadnezzar what is to take place in the days to come. These, then, are the dream and the visions that passed through your head as you lay in bed:

27 "O king, on your bed your thoughts turned to what would happen in the future, and the Revealer of Mysteries disclosed to you what is to take place. This mystery has been revealed to me, not that I am wiser than any other man, but for this sole purpose: that the king should learn what it means, and that you should understand your inmost thoughts.

28 "You have had a vision, O king; this is what you saw: a statue, a great statue of extreme brightness, stood before you, terrible to see. The head of this statue was of fine gold, its chest and arms were of silver, its belly and thighs of bronze, its legs of iron, its feet part iron, part earthenware. While you were gazing, a stone broke away, untouched by any hand, and struck the statue, struck its feet of iron and earthenware and shattered them. And then, iron and earthenware, bronze, silver, gold all broke into small pieces as fine as chaff on the threshing floor in summer. The wind blew them away, leaving not a trace behind. And the stone that had struck the statue grew into a great mountain, filling the whole earth. This was the dream; now we will explain to the king what it means. You, O king, king of kings, to whom the God of heaven has given sovereignty, power, strength and glory—the sons of men, the beasts of the field, the birds of heaven, wherever they live, he has entrusted to your rule, making you king of them all—you are the golden head. And after you another kingdom will rise, not so great as you, and then a third, of bronze, which will rule the whole world. There will be a fourth kingdom, hard as iron, as iron that shatters and crushes all. Like iron that breaks everything to pieces, it will crush and break all the earlier kingdoms. The feet you saw, part earthenware, part iron, are a kingdom which will be split in two, but which will retain something of the strength of iron, just as you saw the iron and the clay of the earthenware mixed together. The feet were part iron, part earthenware: the kingdom will be partly strong and partly weak. And just as you saw the iron and the clay of the earthenware mixed together, so the two will be mixed together in the seed of man^b; but they will not hold together any more than iron will blend with earthenware. In the time of these kings the God of heaven will set up a kingdom which shall never be destroyed, and this kingdom will not pass into the hands of another race: it will shatter and absorb all the previous kingdoms, and itself last for ever—just as you saw the stone untouched by hand break from the mountain and shatter iron, bronze, earthenware, silver and gold. The great God has shown the king what is to take place. The dream is true, the interpretation exact."

The king's profession of faith

46 At this, King Nebuchadnezzar fell prostrate before Daniel; he gave orders for Daniel to be offered an oblation and a fragrant sacrifice. The king said to

2 a. I.e., diviners; the art of divination was believed to have originated in Chaldaea.
b. Probably alluding to the intermarriage of Seleucids and Ptolemies.

Daniel, "Your god must be the God of gods, the master of kings, and the Revealer of Mysteries, since you have been able to reveal this mystery." The king conferred high rank on Daniel and gave him many handsome presents. He also made him governor of the whole province of Babylon and head of all the sages of Babylon. At Daniel's request, however, the king entrusted the affairs of the province of Babylon to Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego; Daniel himself remained at court.

THE ADORATION OF THE GOLDEN STATUE

Nebuchadnezzar erects a golden statue

3 King Nebuchadnezzar had a golden statue made, six cubits tall and three cubits wide, which he erected on the plain of Dura, in the province of Babylon. King Nebuchadnezzar then summoned the satraps, prefects, governors, counselors, treasurers, judges, men of law, and all the provincial authorities to assemble and attend the dedication of the statue erected by King Nebuchadnezzar. Then the satraps, prefects, governors, counselors, treasurers, judges, men of law and all the provincial authorities assembled for the dedication of the statue erected by King Nebuchadnezzar; and they stood there in front of the statue which King Nebuchadnezzar had erected. The herald then made this proclamation: "Men of all peoples, nations, languages! This is required of you: the moment you hear the sound of horn, pipe, lyre, trigon, harp, bagpipe or any other instrument, you must prostrate yourselves and worship the golden statue erected by King Nebuchadnezzar. Those who do not prostrate themselves and worship shall immediately be thrown into the burning fiery furnace." And so, the instant the people heard the sound of horn, pipe, lyre, trigon, harp, bagpipe and all the other instruments, the men of all peoples, nations and languages prostrated themselves and worshiped the statue erected by King Nebuchadnezzar.

The denunciation and condemnation of the Jews

8 Some Chaldaeans then came forward and laid information against the Jews. 9 They said to King Nebuchadnezzar, "O king, live for ever! You have issued a decree, O king, to the effect that everyone on hearing the sound of horn, pipe, lyre, trigon, harp, bagpipe or any other instrument is to prostrate himself and worship the golden statue; and that anyone who does not prostrate himself and worship is to be thrown into the burning fiery furnace. Now there are certain Jews to whom you have entrusted the affairs of the province of Babylon: Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego; these men have ignored your command, O king; they do not serve your gods, and refuse to worship the golden statue you have erected." Furious with rage, Nebuchadnezzar sent for Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. The men were immediately brought before the king. Nebuchadnezzar addressed them, "Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, is it true that you do not serve my gods, and that you refuse to worship the golden statue I have erected? When you hear the sound of horn, pipe, lyre, trigon, harp, bagpipe or any other instrument are you prepared to prostrate yourselves and worship the statue I have made? If you refuse to worship it, you must be thrown straight away into the burning fiery furnace; and where is the God who could save you from my power?" Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego replied to King Nebuchadnezzar, "Your question hardly requires an answer: if our God, the one we serve, is able to save us from the burning fiery furnace and from your power, O king, he will save us; and even if he does not, then you must know, O king, that we will not serve your god or worship the statue you have erected." These words infuriated King Nebuchadnezzar; his expression was very different now as he looked at Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. He gave orders for the furnace to be made seven times hotter than usual, and commanded certain stalwarts from his army to bind Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego and throw them into the burning 21 fiery furnace. They were then bound, fully clothed, cloak, hose and headgear, 22 and thrown into the burning fiery furnace. The king's command was so urgent and the heat of the furnace was so fierce, that the men carrying Shadrach, 23 Meshach, and Abednego were burned to death by the flames from the fire; the three men, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego fell, still bound, into the burning fiery furnace.

The song of Azariah in the furnace

24 And they walked in the heart of the flames, praising God and blessing the Lord.
 25 Azariah stood in the heart of the fire, and he began to pray:

26 "All honor and blessing to you, Lord, God of our ancestors, may your name be held glorious for ever.
 27 In all that you have done your justice is apparent:
 your promises are always faithfully fulfilled,
 your ways never deviate,
 your judgments are always true.
 28 You have given a just sentence in all the disasters you have brought down on us and on Jerusalem, the holy city of our ancestors, since it is for our sins that you have treated us like this,
 fairly and as we deserved.
 29 Yes, we have sinned and committed a crime by deserting you,
 yes, we have sinned gravely;
 we have not listened to the precepts of your Law, 30 we have not observed them,
 we have not done what we were told to do for our own good.
 31 Yes, all the disasters you have brought down on us,
 all that you have done to us,
 you have been fully justified in doing.
 32 You have delivered us into the power of our enemies,
 of a lawless people, the worst of the godless,
 of an unjust king, the worst in the whole world;
 33 today we dare not even open our mouths, shame and dishonor are the lot of those who serve and worship you.
 34 Oh! Do not abandon us for ever,
 for the sake of your name;
 do not repudiate your covenant, 35 do not withdraw your favor from us,
 for the sake of Abraham, your friend,
 of Isaac your servant,
 and of Israel your holy one,
 36 to whom you promised descendants as countless as the stars of heaven and as the grains of sand on the seashore.
 37 Lord, now we are the least of all the nations,
 now we are despised throughout the world, today, because of our sins.
 38 We have at this time no leader, no prophet, no prince,
 no holocaust, no sacrifice, no oblation, no incense,
 no place where we can offer you the first fruits 39 and win your favor.
 But may the contrite soul, the humbled spirit be as acceptable to you 40 as holocausts of rams and bullocks, as thousands of fattened lambs:
 such let our sacrifice be to you today,
 and may it be your will that we follow you wholeheartedly,

since those who put their trust in you will not be disappointed.

41 And now we put our whole heart into following you, into fearing you and seeking your face once more.

42 Do not disappoint us;
treat us gently, as you yourself are gentle and very merciful.

43 Grant us deliverance worthy of your wonderful deeds,
let your name win glory, Lord.

44 Confusion seize those who ill-treat your servants:
may they be covered with shame,
deprived of all their power,
and may their strength be broken.

45 Let them learn that you alone are God and Lord, glorious over the whole earth."

46 All this time the servants of the king who had thrown the men into the furnace
47 had been stoking it with crude oil, pitch, tow and brushwood until the flames
48 rose to a height of forty-nine cubits above the furnace and, leaping out, burned 49 those Chaldaeans to death who were standing around it. But the angel of the Lord came down into the furnace beside Azariah and his companions; he drove 50 the flames of the fire outward, and fanned in to them, in the heart of the furnace, a coolness such as wind and dew will bring, so that the fire did not even touch them or cause them any pain or distress.

The song of the three young men

51 Then all three in unison began to sing, glorifying and blessing God, there in the furnace, in these words:

52 "May you be blessed, Lord, God of our ancestors, be praised and extolled for ever.
Blessed be your glorious and holy name,
praised and extolled for ever.

53 May you be blessed in the Temple of your sacred glory,
exalted and glorified above all else for ever:
54 blessed on the throne of your kingdom,
praised and exalted above all else for ever.

55 Blessed, you fathomer of the great depths, enthroned on the cherubs, praised and glorified above all else for ever; 56 blessed in the vault of heaven,
exalted and glorified above all else for ever.

57 "All things the Lord has made, bless the Lord:

give glory and eternal praise to him.

63 Stars of heaven! bless the Lord:
give glory and eternal praise to him.

64 Showers and dews! all bless the Lord:
give glory and eternal praise to him.

65 Winds! all bless the Lord:

66 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Fire and heat! bless the Lord:
67 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Cold and heat! bless the Lord:
68 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Dews and sleet! bless the Lord:
69 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Frost and cold! bless the Lord:
70 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Ice and snow! bless the Lord:
71 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Nights and days! bless the Lord:
72 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Light and darkness! bless the Lord:
73 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Lightning and clouds! bless the Lord:
74 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Let the earth bless the Lord,
75 give glory and eternal praise to him.

Sea beasts and everything that lives in water! bless the Lord:
80 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Birds of heaven! all bless the Lord:
81 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Animals wild and tame! all bless the Lord:
82 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Sons of men! bless the Lord:
83 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Israel! bless the Lord:
84 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Priests! bless the Lord:
85 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Servants of the Lord! bless the Lord:
86 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Spirits and souls of the virtuous! bless the Lord:
87 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Devout and humblehearted men! bless the Lord:
88 give glory and eternal praise to him.
Ananiah, Azariah, Mishael! bless the Lord:
give glory and eternal praise to him.
For he has snatched us from the underworld,
saved us from the hand of death,
saved us from the burning fiery furnace,
rescued us from the heart of the flame.
89 Give thanks to the Lord, for he is good,
for his love is everlasting.
90 All you who worship him, bless the God of gods,
praise him and give him thanks,
for his love is everlasting.”

The king acknowledges the miracle

24 Then King Nebuchadnezzar sprang to his feet in amazement. He said to his 25 advisers, "Did we not have these three men thrown bound into the fire?" They 26 replied, "Certainly, O king." "But," he went on, "I can see four men walking about 27 freely in the heart of the fire without coming to any harm. And the fourth looks 28 like a son of the gods." "Nebuchadnezzar approached the mouth of the burning 29 fiery furnace and shouted, "Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, servants of the 30 Most High God, come out, come here!" And from the heart of the fire out 31 came Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. The satraps, prefects, governors 32 and advisers of the king crowded around the three men to examine them:
 33 the fire had had no effect on their bodies: not a hair of their heads had been 34 singed, their cloaks were not scorched, no smell of burning hung about them.
 35 Nebuchadnezzar exclaimed, "Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach and 36 Abednego: he has sent his angel to rescue his servants who, putting their trust 37 in him, defied the order of the king, and preferred to forfeit their bodies rather 38 than serve or worship any god but their own. I therefore decree as follows:
 39 Men of all peoples, nations and languages! Let anyone speak disrespectfully 40 of the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, and I will have him torn 41 limb from limb and his house razed to the ground, for there is no other god 42 who can save like this." Then the king showered favors on Shadrach, 43 Meshach and Abednego in the province of Babylon.

THE WARNING DREAM

AND THE MADNESS OF NEBUCHADNEZZAR

31 Nebuchadnezzar the king, to men of all peoples, nations and languages, 32 throughout the world: "May peace be always with you. It is my pleasure to make 33 known the signs and wonders with which the Most High God has favored me.

34 "How great are his signs,
 35 how mighty his wonders!
 36 His sovereignty is an eternal sovereignty,
 37 his empire lasts from age to age.

Nebuchadnezzar describes his dream

1 4 "I, Nebuchadnezzar, was living at ease at home, prosperous in my palace.
 2 I had a dream; it appalled me. Dread assailed me as I lay in bed; the visions
 3 that passed through my head tormented me. So I decreed that all the sages
 4 of Babylon be summoned to explain to me what the dream meant. Magicians, 5 enchanters, Chaldaeans and wizards came, and I told them what I had dreamed,
 6 but they could not interpret it for me. Daniel, renamed Belteshazzar after 7 my own god, and in whom the spirit of God Most Holy resides, then came 8 into my presence. I told him my dream:

9 "Belteshazzar, I said, chief of magicians, I know that the spirit of God Most 10 Holy resides in you and that no mystery puts you at a loss. This is the dream 11 I have had; tell me what it means.

12 "The visions that passed through my head as I lay in bed were these:

13 "I saw a tree
 14 in the middle of the world;
 15 it was very tall.
 16 The tree grew taller and stronger,
 17 until its top reached the sky,
 18 and it could be seen from the ends of the earth.

- 9 Its foliage was beautiful, its fruit abundant,
in it was food for all.
For the wild animals it provided shade,
the birds of heaven nested in its branches,
all living creatures found their food on it.
- 10 I watched the visions passing through my head as I lay in bed.
Next a watcher, a holy one came down from heaven.
- 11 At the top of his voice he shouted,
'Cut the tree down, lop off its branches,
strip off its leaves, throw away its fruit;
let the animals flee from its shelter
and the birds from its branches.
- 12 But leave stump and roots in the ground bound with hoops of iron and bronze in the grass of the field.
Let him be drenched with the dew of heaven,
let him share the grass of the earth with the animals.
- 13 Let his heart turn from mankind,
let a beast's heart be given him
and seven times pass over him!
- 14 Such is the sentence proclaimed by the watchers,
the verdict announced by the holy ones,
that every living thing may learn
that the Most High rules over the kingship of men,
he confers it on whom he pleases,
and raises the lowest of mankind.'
- 15 "This is the dream I had, I, Nebuchadnezzar the king. Now it is for you, Belteshazzar, to pronounce on its meaning, since not one of the sages in my kingdom has been able to interpret it for me; you, however, will be able to, because the spirit of God Most Holy resides in you."

Daniel interprets the dream

- 16 Daniel, known as Belteshazzar, hesitated for a moment in embarrassment. The king said, "Belteshazzar, do not be alarmed at the dream and its meaning." Belteshazzar answered, "My lord, may the dream apply to your enemies, and its 17 meaning to your foes! The tree you saw that grew so tall and strong that it 18 reached the sky and could be seen from the ends of the earth, the tree with beautiful foliage and abundant fruit, with food for all in it, providing shade for 19 the wild animals, with the birds of heaven nesting in its branches, that tree is yourself, O king, for you have grown tall and strong; your stature is now so great that it reaches the sky, and your rule extends to the ends of the earth.
- 20 "And the watcher seen by the king, the holy one coming down from heaven and saying, 'Cut the tree down and destroy it, but leave stump and roots in the ground, bound with hoops of iron and bronze in the grass of the field; let him be drenched with the dew of heaven, let him share with the wild 21 animals until seven times have passed over him': the meaning of this,
O king, this decree of the Most High passed on my lord the king, is this:
- 22 "You are to be driven from human society,
and live with the wild animals;
you will feed on grass like the oxen,
you will be drenched by the dew of heaven;
seven times will pass over you until you have learned

that the Most High rules over the kingship of men,
and confers it on whom he pleases.

- 23 “And the order, ‘Leave the stump and roots of the tree,’ means that your kingdom will be kept for you until you come to understand that heaven 24 rules all. ‘May it please the king to accept my advice: by virtuous actions break with your sins, break with your crimes by showing mercy to the poor, and so live long and peacefully.”

The dream comes true

- 25 This all happened to King Nebuchadnezzar. ‘Twelve months later, while 26 strolling on the roof of the royal palace in Babylon, ‘the king was saying, “Great Babylon! Imperial palace! Was it not built by me alone, by my own 28 might and power to the glory of my majesty?” ‘The boast was not out of his mouth when a voice came down from heaven:

“King Nebuchadnezzar, these words are for you!
Sovereignty is taken from you,
29 you are to be driven from human society,
and live with the wild animals;
you will feed on grass like oxen,
and seven times will pass over you
until you have learned
that the Most High rules over the kingship of men,
and confers it on whom he pleases.”

- 30 The words were immediately fulfilled: Nebuchadnezzar was driven from human society and fed on grass like oxen, and was drenched by the dew of heaven; his hair grew as long as eagles’ feathers, his nails became like birds’ claws.

- 31 “When the time was over, I, Nebuchadnezzar, lifted up my eyes to heaven:
my reason returned. And I blessed the Most High,

“praising and extolling him who lives for ever,
for his sovereignty is an eternal sovereignty,
his empire lasts from age to age.

- 32 The inhabitants of the earth count for nothing:
he does as he pleases with the array of heaven,
and with the inhabitants of the earth.
No one can arrest his hand or ask him, ‘What are you doing?’

- 33 “At that moment my reason returned, and, to the glory of my royal state, my majesty and splendor returned too. My counselors and noblemen acclaimed me; I was restored to my throne, and to my past greatness even 34 more was added. ‘And now I, Nebuchadnezzar,

“praise and extol and glorify the King of heaven,
his promises are always faithfully fulfilled,
his ways are always just,
and he has power to humble those who walk in pride.”

BELSHAZZAR'S FEAST

- 1 5 King Belshazzar^a gave a great banquet for his noblemen; a thousand of 2 them attended, and he drank wine in company with this thousand. ‘As he sipped his wine, Belshazzar gave orders for the gold and silver vessels to be brought which his father Nebuchadnezzar had looted from the sanctuary in Jerusalem, so that the king, his noblemen, his wives and his singing women could 3 drink out of them. The gold and silver vessels looted from the sanctuary of the 4 Temple of God in Jerusalem were brought in, and the king, his noblemen,

5 his wives and his singing women drank out of them. They drank their wine 6 and praised their gods of gold and silver, of bronze and iron, of wood and 7 stone. Suddenly the fingers of a human hand appeared, and began to write
8 on the plaster of the palace wall, directly behind the lampstand; and the king
9 could see the hand as it wrote. The king turned pale with alarm: his thigh joints
10 went slack and his knees began to knock. He shouted for his enchanters, 11 Chaldaeans and wizards. And the king said to the Babylonian sages, "Anyone who 12 can read this writing and tell me what it means shall be dressed in purple, and 13 have a chain of gold put around his neck, and be third in rank in the kingdom."
14 The king's sages all crowded forward, but they could neither read the writing
15 nor explain to the king what it meant. Greatly alarmed, King Belshazzar 16 turned even paler, and his noblemen were equally disturbed. Then the queen, 17 attracted by the noise made by the king and his noblemen, came into the 18 banquet hall. "O king, live for ever!" said the queen. "Do not be alarmed, 19 do not look so pale. In your kingdom there is a man in whom lives the spirit of 20 God Most Holy. In your father's days, he was known for having percipience, 21 intelligence and wisdom comparable to that of the gods. King Nebuchadnezzar, 22 your father, made him head of the magicians, enchanters, Chaldaeans and 23 wizards. Since such a marvelous spirit, and such knowledge and intelligence in interpreting dreams, solving enigmas and unraveling difficult problems, live in this man Daniel, whom the king had renamed Belteshazzar, send for Daniel:
he will be able to tell you what this means."

13 Daniel was brought into the king's presence; the king said to Daniel, "Are you 14 the Daniel who was one of the Judaeans brought by my father the king 15 from Judah? I am told that the spirit of God Most Holy lives in you, and 16 that you are known for your perception, intelligence and marvelous wisdom.
17 The sages and enchanters have already been brought to me to read this writing 18 and tell me what it means, but they have been unable to reveal its meaning.
19 As I am told that you are able to give interpretations and to unravel difficult 20 problems, if you can read the writing and tell me what it means, you shall be 21 dressed in purple, and have a chain of gold put around your neck, and be third 22 in rank in the kingdom."

17 Then Daniel spoke up in the presence of the king. "Keep your gifts for 18 yourself," he said, "and give your rewards to others. I will read the writing to the 19 king without them, and tell him what it means. O king, the Most High God 20 gave Nebuchadnezzar your father sovereignty, greatness, glory, majesty. He 21 made him so great that men of all peoples, nations and languages shook with 22 dread before him: he killed whom he pleased, spared whom he pleased, 23 promoted whom he pleased, degraded whom he pleased. But because his heart grew swollen with pride, and his spirit stiff with arrogance, he was deposed from his sovereign throne and stripped of his glory. He was driven from the society of men, his heart grew completely animal; he lived with the wild asses;
he fed on grass like the oxen; his body was drenched by the dew of heaven, until he had learned that the Most High rules over the empire of men and appoints whom he pleases to rule it. But you, Belshazzar, who are his son, you have not humbled your heart, in spite of knowing all this. You have defied the Lord of heaven, you have had the vessels from his Temple brought to you, and you, your noblemen, your wives and your singing women have drunk your wine out of them. You have praised gods of gold and silver, of bronze and iron, of wood and stone, which cannot either see, hear or understand; but you have given no glory to the God who holds your breath and all your fortunes in his

24 hands. That is why he has sent the hand which, by itself, has written these 25 words. The writing reads: Mene, Mene, Tekel and Parsin.^b The meaning 26 of the words is this: Mene: God has measured your sovereignty and put an end 27 to it; Tekel: you have been weighed in the balance and found wanting; Parsin:
 28 your kingdom has been divided and given to the Medes and the Persians." 29 At Belshazzar's order Daniel was dressed in purple, a chain of gold was put around his neck and he was proclaimed third in rank in the kingdom.
 30.1 That same night, the Chaldaean king Belshazzar was murdered, 6 and 31 Darius the Mede^a received the kingdom, at the age of sixty-two.

DANIEL IN THE LION PIT

The satraps resent Daniel's promotion

2 It pleased Darius to appoint a hundred and twenty satraps over his kingdom 3 for the various parts of the kingdom, and over them three presidents—of whom Daniel was one—to whom the satraps were to be responsible. This was to 4 ensure that no harm should come to the king. This Daniel, by virtue of the marvelous spirit residing in him, was so evidently superior to the presidents and satraps 5 that the king considered appointing him to rule the whole kingdom. The 6 presidents and satraps in consequence started hunting for some affair of state by which they could discredit Daniel; but they could find nothing to his discredit, and no case of negligence; he was so punctilious that they could not find a single 7 instance of maladministration or neglect. These men then thought, "We 8 shall never find a way of discrediting Daniel unless we try something to do with the law of his God." The presidents and satraps then went in a body to 9 the king. "King Darius," they said, "live for ever! We are all agreed, the presidents of the kingdom, the prefects, satraps, counselors and governors, that the king should issue a decree enforcing the following regulation: whoever within the next thirty days prays to anyone, god or man, other than to yourself, O king, is to 10 be thrown into the lions' den. O king, ratify the edict at once by signing this document, making it unalterable, as befits the law of the Medes and the 11 Persians, which cannot be revoked." King Darius accordingly signed the document embodying the edict.

Daniel's prayer

12 When Daniel heard that the document had been signed, he retired to his 13 house. The windows of his upstairs room faced toward Jerusalem. Three times each day he continued to fall on his knees, praying and giving praise to God 14 as he had always done. These men came along in a body and found Daniel 15 praying and pleading with God. They then came to the king and said, "Have you not just signed an edict forbidding any man for the next thirty days to pray to anyone, god or man, other than to yourself, O king, on pain of being thrown into the lions' den?" "The decision stands," the king replied, "as befits the law 16 of the Medes and the Persians, which cannot be revoked." Then they said to the king, "O king, this man Daniel, one of the exiles from Judah, disregards both you and the edict which you have signed: he is at his prayers three times each 17 day." When the king heard these words he was deeply distressed, and determined 18 to save Daniel; he racked his brains until sunset to find some way out. But the men came back in a body to the king and said, "O king, remember that in conformity with the law of the Medes and the Persians, no edict or decree can be altered when once issued by the king."

Daniel is thrown to the lions

19 The king then ordered Daniel to be fetched and thrown into the lion pit.
 The king said to Daniel, "Your God himself, whom you have served so faithfully, 17 will have to save you." A stone was then brought and laid over the mouth of the pit; and the king sealed it with his own signet and with that of his noblemen, so that there could be no going back on the original decision about Daniel.

19 The king returned to his palace, spent the night in fasting and refused to receive 20 any of his concubines. Sleep eluded him, and at the first sign of dawn he was 21 up, and hurried off to the lion pit. As he approached the pit he shouted in 22 anguished tones, "Daniel, servant of the living God! Has your God, whom you 23 serve so faithfully, been able to save you from the lions?" Daniel replied, 24 "O king, live for ever! My God sent his angel who sealed the lions' jaws, they 25 did me no harm, since in his sight I am blameless, and I have never 26 done you any wrong either, O king." The king was overjoyed, and ordered 27 Daniel to be released from the pit. Daniel was released from the pit, and 28 found to be quite unhurt, because he had trusted in his God. The king sent 29 for the men who had accused Daniel and had them thrown into the lion pit, 30 they, their wives and their children: and they had not reached the floor of the 31 pit before the lions had seized them and crushed their bones to pieces.

The king's profession of faith

26 King Darius then wrote to men of all nations, peoples and languages
27 throughout the world, "May peace be always with you! I decree: in every kingdom 28 of my empire let all tremble with fear before the God of Daniel:

"He is the living God, he endures for ever,
his sovereignty will never be destroyed
and his kingship never end.
He saves, sets free, and works signs and wonders
in the heavens and on earth;
he has saved Daniel from the power of the lions."

29 This Daniel flourished in the reign of Darius and the reign of Cyrus the 30 Persian.

DANIEL'S DREAM: THE FOUR BEASTS

The vision of the beasts

1 7 In the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon, Daniel had a dream and visions that passed through his head as he lay in bed. He wrote the dream 2 down, and this is how the narrative began: Daniel said, "I have been seeing visions in the night. I saw that the four winds of heaven were stirring up the great 3 sea; four great beasts emerged from the sea, each different from the other. The 4 first^a was like a lion with eagle's wings; and as I looked its wings were torn off, and it was lifted from the ground and set standing on its feet like a man;
5 and it was given a human heart. The second beast I saw^b was different, like a bear, raised up on one of its sides, with three ribs in its mouth, between its 6 teeth. 'Up!' came the command. 'Eat quantities of flesh!' After this I looked, and saw another beast,^c like a leopard, and with four birds' wings on its flanks;
7 it had four heads, and power was given to it. Next I saw another vision in the visions of the night: I saw a fourth beast,^d fearful, terrifying, very strong; it had great iron teeth, and it ate, crushed and trampled underfoot what remained.
It was different from the previous beasts and had ten horns.

b. The literal meaning of the words is uncertain; possibly they are the names of weights or coins—mina, shekel and para (half a mina) have been suggested.

6 a. He is unknown to history.

7 a. The Babylonian empire. b. The kingdom of the Medes; the author sees the Medes as the immediate successors to the Babylonians. Historically, the Persian Cyrus had already conquered Media before he captured Babylon. c. The Persian empire. d. The empire of Alexander (d.323) and his successors. The ten horns are kings of the Seleucid dynasty.

- 8 "While I was looking at these horns, I saw another horn sprouting among them, a little one"; three of the original horns were pulled out by the roots to make way for it; and in this horn I saw eyes like human eyes, and a mouth that 9 was full of boasts. •As I watched:

The vision of the "Ancient of Days" and of the son of man

- "Thrones were set in place/
and one of great age took his seat.
His robe was white as snow,
the hair of his head as pure as wool.
His throne was a blaze of flames,
its wheels were a burning fire.
10 A stream of fire poured out,
issuing from his presence.
A thousand thousand waited on him,
ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him.
A court was held
and the books were opened.
- 11 "The great things the horn was saying were still ringing in my ears, and as I watched, the beast was killed, and its body destroyed and committed to the 12 flames. •The other beasts were deprived of their power, but received a lease of life for a season and a time.
- 13 "I gazed into the visions of the night.
And I saw, coming on the clouds of heaven,
one like a son of man.
He came to the one of great age
and was led into his presence.
14 On him was conferred sovereignty,
glory and kingship,
and men of all peoples, nations and languages became his servants.
His sovereignty is an eternal sovereignty
which shall never pass away,
nor will his empire ever be destroyed.

The interpretation of the vision

- 15 "I, Daniel, was deeply disturbed and the visions that passed through my 16 head alarmed me. •So I approached one of those who were standing by and asked him to tell me the truth about all this. And in reply he revealed to me what 17 these things meant. •"These four great beasts are four kings who will rise from 18 the earth. •Those who are granted sovereignty are the saints of the Most High, 19 and the kingdom will be theirs for ever, for ever and ever." •Then I asked to know the truth about the fourth beast, different from all the rest, very terrifying, with iron teeth and bronze claws, eating, crushing and trampling underfoot what 20 remained; •and the truth about the ten horns on its head and why the other horn sprouted and the three original horns fell, and why this horn had eyes and a mouth that was full of boasts, and why it made a greater show than the other horns.
21 This was the horn I had watched making war on the saints and proving the 22 stronger, •until the coming of the one of great age who gave judgment in favor of the saints of the Most High, when the time came for the saints to take over the 23 kingdom. •This is what he said:

•The fourth beast
is to be a fourth kingdom on earth,
different from all other kingdoms.
It will devour the whole earth,

- trample it underfoot and crush it.
 24 As for the ten horns: from this kingdom will rise ten kings, and another after them;
 this one will be different from the previous ones
 and will bring down three kings;
 25 he is going to speak words against the Most High,
 and harass the saints of the Most High.
 He will consider changing seasons and the Law,^g
 and the saints will be put into his power for a time, two times, and a half a time.^h 26 But a court will be held and his power will be stripped from him, consumed, and utterly destroyed.
 27 And sovereignty and kingship,
 and the splendors of all the kingdoms under heaven
 will be given to the people of the saints of the Most High.
 His sovereignty is an eternal sovereignty
 and every empire will serve and obey him.’
- 28 “Here the narrative ends.
 “I, Daniel, was greatly disturbed in mind, and I grew pale; but I kept these things to myself.”

DANIEL'S VISION: THE RAM AND THE HE-GOAT

The vision

- 1 8 In the third year of King Belshazzar a vision appeared to me, Daniel, 2 after the one that originally appeared to me. I gazed at the vision, and as I gazed I found myself in Susa,^a the citadel in the province of Elam;
 3 gazing at the vision, I found myself at the Gate of the Ulai. I raised my eyes to look around me, and I saw a ram standing in front of the river. It had two horns; both were tall, but one taller than the other, and the one that rose the higher was the second. I saw the ram thrust westward, northward and southward. No animal could stand up to it, nothing could escape it. It did as it pleased and grew very powerful.
- 5 This is what I observed: a he-goat came from the west, having covered the entire earth but without touching the ground, and between its eyes the goat 6 had one majestic horn. It advanced toward the ram with the two horns, which I had seen standing in front of the river, and charged at it with all the 7 fury of its might. I saw it reach the ram, and it was so enraged with the ram, it knocked it down, breaking both its horns, and the ram had not the strength to resist; it felled it to the ground and trampled it underfoot; no one was there 8 to save the ram. Then the he-goat grew more powerful than ever, but at the height of its strength the great horn snapped, and in its place sprouted four majestic horns, pointing to the four winds of heaven.
- 9 From one of these, the small one, sprang a horn which grew to great size 10 toward south and east and toward the Land of Splendor.^b It grew right up to the armies of heaven and flung armies and stars to the ground, and 11 trampled them underfoot. It even challenged the power of that army's Prince;
 it abolished the perpetual sacrifice and overthrew the foundation of his sanctuary,

Three and a half years, the approximate duration of the persecution under Antiochus Epiphanes; but this period of time, also expressed as forty-two months, stands for “a temporary time of persecution with a limit set by God's providence.”

¹² and the army too; it put iniquity on the sacrifice and flung truth to the ground; the horn was active and successful.

¹³ I heard a holy one speaking, and another who said to the speaker, "How long is this vision to be—of perpetual sacrifice, disastrous iniquity, of sanctuary and army trampled underfoot?" ¹⁴The first replied, "Until two thousand three hundred evenings and mornings have gone by: then the sanctuary shall have its rights restored."

The angel Gabriel interprets the vision

¹⁵ As I, Daniel, gazed at the vision and tried to understand it, I saw someone standing before me who looked like a man. ¹⁶I heard a man's voice cry over the Ulai, "Gabriel, tell him the meaning of the vision!" ¹⁷He approached the place where I was standing; as he approached I was seized with terror, and fell prostrate. "Son of man," he said to me, "understand this: the vision shows the ¹⁸time of the End." ¹⁹He was still speaking, when I fell senseless to the ground. ²⁰He touched me, however, and raised me to my feet. "Come," he said, "I will tell you what is going to happen when the wrath comes to an end; this concerns the appointed End. ²¹As for the ram that you saw, its two horns are the kings of Media and of Persia. ²²The hairy he-goat is the king of Javan, the large horn between its eyes is the first king. ²³The horn that snapped and the four horns that sprouted in its place are four kingdoms rising from his nation but not having his power.

²⁴ "And at the end of their reign, when the measure of their sins is full, a king will arise, a proud-faced, ingenious-minded man. His power will gather strength—but not through power of his own—he will plot incredible schemes, he will succeed in what he undertakes, he will destroy powerful men and the people of the saints. ²⁵Such will be his resourcefulness of mind that all his treacherous activities will succeed. He will grow arrogant of heart, take many unawares and destroy them. He will challenge the power of the Prince of princes but, no hand intervening,^d shall himself be broken. ²⁶This explanation of the vision of the mornings and the evenings is true, but you must keep the vision secret, for there are still many days to go."

²⁷ At this I, Daniel, lost consciousness; I was ill for several days. Then I got up to discharge my duties in the king's service, keeping the vision a secret, and not understanding what it meant.

THE PROPHECY OF THE SEVENTY WEEKS

Daniel's prayer

¹ 9 It was the first year of Darius son of Ahasuerus, who was of Median stock ²and ruled the kingdom of Chaldaeae. ³In the first year of his reign I, Daniel, was perusing the scriptures, counting over the number of years—as revealed by Yahweh to the prophet Jeremiah—that were to pass before the successive ⁴devastations of Jerusalem would come to an end, namely seventy years. ⁵I turned my face to the Lord God begging for time to pray and to plead with fasting, sackcloth and ashes. ⁶I pleaded with Yahweh my God and made this confession: "O Lord, God great and to be feared, you keep the covenant and have kindness for those who love you and keep your commandments: ⁷we have sinned, we have done wrong, we have acted wickedly, we have betrayed your

6 commandments and your ordinances and turned away from them. ·We have not 7 listened to your servants the prophets, who spoke in your name to our kings, 8 our princes, our ancestors and to all the people of the land. ·Integrity, Lord, is 9 yours; ours the look of shame we wear today, we, the people of Judah, the 10 citizens of Jerusalem, the whole of Israel, near and far away, in every country
 11 to which you have dispersed us because of the treason we have committed 12 against you. ·To us, Yahweh, the look of shame belongs, to our kings, our 13 princes, our ancestors, because we have sinned against you. ·To the Lord our God
 14 mercy and pardon belong, because we have betrayed him, ·and have not listened 15 to the voice of Yahweh our God nor followed the laws he has given us through his 16 servants the prophets. ·The whole of Israel has flouted your Law and turned 17 away, unwilling to listen to your voice; and the curse and imprecation written 18 in the Law of Moses, the servant of God, have come pouring down on 19 us—because we have sinned against him. ·He has carried out the threats which 20 he made against us and against the princes who governed us—that he 21 would bring so great a disaster down on us that the fate of Jerusalem would 22 find no parallel in the whole of the world. ·And now all this disaster has 23 happened to us, just as it is written in the Law of Moses; even so, we have not tried 24 to appease Yahweh our God by renouncing our crimes and being guided by 25 your truth. ·Yahweh has watched for the right moment to bring disaster on us, 26 since Yahweh our God is just in all his dealings with us, and we have not 27 listened to his voice. ·And now, Lord our God, who by your mighty hand 28 brought us out of the land of Egypt—the renown you won then endures to 29 this day—we have sinned, we have done wrong. ·Lord, by all your acts of 30 justice turn away your anger and your fury from Jerusalem, your own city, 31 your holy mountain, for as a result of our sins and the crimes of our ancestors, 32 Jerusalem and your own people have become a byword among all around us. ·And 33 now, our God, listen to the prayer and pleading of your servant. For your 34 own sake, Lord, let your face smile again on your desolate sanctuary. ·Listen, 35 my God, listen to us; open your eyes and look on our plight and on the city 36 that bears your name. We are not relying on our own good works but on your 37 great mercy, to commend our humble plea to you. ·Listen, Lord! Lord, forgive!
 38 Hear, Lord, and act! For your own sake, my God, do not delay, because they 39 bear your name, this is your city, this is your people.”

The angel Gabriel explains the prophecy

20 I was still speaking, still at prayer, confessing my own sins and the sins of 21 my people Israel and placing my plea before Yahweh my God for the holy 22 mountain of my God, ·still speaking, still at prayer, when Gabriel, the being 23 I had seen originally in a vision, flew suddenly down to me at the hour of the 24 evening sacrifice. ·He said to me, “Daniel, you see me; I have come down to 25 teach you how to understand. ·When your pleading began, a word was uttered, 26 and I have come to tell you what it is. You are a man specially chosen. Grasp 27 the meaning of the word, understand the vision:

28 “Seventy weeks are decreed^a 29 for your people and your holy city,
 30 for putting an end to transgression,
 31 for placing the seals on sin,
 32 for expiating crime,
 33 for introducing everlasting integrity,
 34 for setting the seal on vision and on prophecy,
 35 for anointing the Holy of Holies.

 from the time this message went out:
 'Return and rebuild Jerusalem'
 to the coming of an anointed Prince, seven weeks
 and sixty-two weeks,
 with squares and ramparts restored and rebuilt,
 but in a time of trouble.
- 26 And after the sixty-two weeks
 an anointed one will be cut off—and . . . will not be for him—
 the city and the sanctuary will be destroyed
 by a prince who will come.
 His end will come in catastrophe and, until the end, there will be war
 and all the devastation decreed.
- 27 He will make a firm covenant with many^b
 for the space of a week;
 and for the space of one half week
 he will put a stop to sacrifice and oblation, and on the wing of the Temple will be the disastrous abomination:
 until the end, until the doom assigned to the devastator."

THE GREAT VISION

THE TIME OF WRATH

The vision of the man dressed in linen

- 1 10 In the third year of Cyrus king of Persia a revelation was made to Daniel known as Belteshazzar, a true revelation of a great conflict. He grasped the meaning of the revelation; what it meant was disclosed to him in a vision.
- 2 At that time, I, Daniel, was doing a three-week penance; I ate no rich
 3 food, touched no meat or wine, and did not anoint myself, until these three 4 weeks were over. On the twenty-fourth day of the first month, as I stood on 5 the bank of that great river, the Tigris, I raised my eyes to look about me, and this is what I saw:

- 6 A man dressed in linen, with a girdle of pure gold around his waist;
 his body was like beryl,
 his face shone like lightning,
 his eyes were like fiery torches,
 his arms and his legs had the gleam of burnished bronze,
 the sound of his voice was like the noise of a crowd.

- 7 I, Daniel, alone saw the apparition; the men who were with me did not see the apparition, but so great a trembling overtook them that they fled to hide.
 8 I was left alone, gazing on this great apparition; I was powerless, my appearance altered out of all recognition, what strength I had deserted me.

The apparition of the angel

- 9 I heard him speak, and at the sound of his voice I fell unconscious to the 10 ground. I felt a hand touching me, setting my knees and my hands trembling.
 11 He said, "Daniel, you are a man specially chosen; listen carefully to the words that I am going to say; stand up; I have been sent to you and here I am." He 12 said this, and I stood up trembling. He said then, "Daniel, do not be afraid:
 from that first day when you resolved to humble yourself before God, the better to understand, your words have been heard; and your words are the reason why

- ¹³ I have come. The prince of the kingdom of Persia has been resisting me for twenty-one days, but Michael,^a one of the leading princes, came to my assistance.
- ¹⁴ I have left him confronting the kings of Persia and have come to tell you what will happen to your people in the days to come. For here is a new vision about those days.”
- ¹⁵ When he had said these things to me I prostrated myself on the ground,
- ¹⁶ without saying a word; then someone looking like a son of man came and touched my lips. I opened my mouth to speak, and I said to the person standing in front of me, “My lord, anguish overcomes me at this vision, and what strength
- ¹⁷ I had deserts me. How can my lord’s servant speak to my lord now that
- ¹⁸ I have no strength left and my breath fails me?” Once again the person like a
- ¹⁹ man touched me; he gave me strength. “Do not be afraid,” he said, “you are a man specially chosen; peace be with you; play the man, be strong!” And as he spoke to me I felt strong again and said, “Let my lord speak, you have given me strength.”

The prelude to the prophecy

- ^{20a} He said then, “Do you know why I have come to you? It is to tell you ^{21a} what is written in the Book of Truth. I must go back to fight against the prince ^{20b} of Persia: when I have done with him, the prince of Javan will come next. In all
¹ this there is no one to lend me support except Michael your prince, 11 on ² whom I rely to give me support and reinforce me. And now I will tell you the truth about these things.

Early struggles between Seleucids and Ptolemies

- “Three more kings are going to rise in Persia; a fourth will come and be richer than all the others, and when, thanks to his wealth, he has grown powerful, he will
- ³ challenge all the kingdoms of Javan. A mighty king will rise and reign over
- ⁴ a vast empire and do whatever he pleases. But once he has come to power his empire will be broken up and parceled out to the four winds of heaven, though not to his descendants: it will not be ruled as he ruled it, for his sovereignty is going to be uprooted and pass to others than his own.
- ⁵ “The king of the South^a will grow powerful, but one of his princes^b will
- ⁶ grow more powerful still with an empire greater than that of the former. Some years later, these will form an alliance and, to ratify the agreement, the daughter of the king of the South will go to the king of the North. Her arm will not, however, retain its strength, nor his posterity endure: she will be handed over, she, her escorts and her child, and he who has had authority over her.^c In due
- ⁷ time a sprig from her roots will rise in his place, will march on the defenses, force the stronghold of the king of the North, and succeed in overcoming them.
- ⁸ He will even carry off all their gods, their statues, their precious gold and silver plate to Egypt. For some years he will leave the king of the North in peace,
- ⁹ but the latter will invade the kingdom of the king of the South, then retire to his own country. His sons^d will next be on the march, mustering a host of powerful forces; and he^e will advance, deploy, break through and march on his stronghold once again. The king of the South will fly into a rage and set out
- ¹⁰ to give battle to the king of the North who will have an immense army on his
- ¹¹ side, and this army will be delivered into his hands. The army will be annihilated;

he will be triumphant; he will overthrow tens of thousands; yet he will have 13 no strength. 'The king of the North will come back, having recruited an even 14 larger army than before, and finally, when the time comes, he will advance with 15 a great army and plentiful supplies. 'In those times many will rebel against 16 the king of the South; men of violence will also rebel from your own people, 17 thus fulfilling the vision; but they will fail. 'The king of the North will then 18 come and throw up siegeworks to capture a strongly fortified city. The forces 19 of the South will not stand their ground, its picked troops will not be strong 20 enough to resist. 'The invader will treat him as he pleases, no one will be able 21 to resist him: he will take his stand in the Land of Splendor, destruction in his 22 hands. 'He will consider conquering his entire kingdom, but will then make 23 a treaty with him and, to overthrow the kingdom, give him a woman's 24 daughter'; but this will not last or be to his advantage. 'He will next turn to 25 the islands and conquer many of them, but a magistrate will put a stop to his 26 outrages in such a way that he will be unable to repay outrage for outrage.⁹
 27 "He will then turn on the strongholds of his own country, but will stumble, 28 fall, and never be seen again. 'In his place there will rise a man^h who will send an 29 extortioner to despoil the royal splendor; in a few days he will be shattered, 30 though neither publicly nor in battle.ⁱ

Antiochus Epiphanes

21 "In his place there will rise a wretch^j: he will not be given royal honors, but will 22 insinuate himself into them in his own time and gain possession of the kingdom
 23 by intrigue. 'Armies will be utterly routed and crushed by him, the prince 24 of the covenant too.^k 'Still conspiring, he will go from treachery to treachery, 25 ever growing stronger despite the smallness of his following. 'In his own time
 26 he will invade the richest provinces, acting as his fathers or his fathers' fathers 27 never acted, distributing plunder, spoil and wealth among them, plotting his 28 stratagems against fortresses—for a time.

29 "He will rouse his strength and his heart against the king of the South with 30 a great army. The king of the South will march to war with a huge and powerful 31 army, but will offer no resistance, since he will be outwitted by trickery. 'Those 32 who shared his food will ruin him; his army will be swept away, many will fall 33 in the slaughter.

34 "The two kings, seated at one table, hearts bent on evil, will tell their lies;
 35 but they will not have their way, for the appointed time is still to come. 'He 36 will return greatly enriched to his own country, his heart set against the holy 37 covenant; he will take action, and next return to his own country. 'In due 38 time he will make his way southward again, but this time the outcome will 39 not be as before. 'The ships of Kittim^l will oppose him, and he will be worsted.
 40 He will retire and take furious action against the holy covenant and, as before, 41 will favor those who forsake that holy covenant.

42 "Forces of his will come and profane the sanctuary citadel; they will 43 abolish the perpetual sacrifice and install the disastrous abomination there.
 44 Those who break the covenant he will corrupt by his flatteries, but the people
 45 who know their God will stand firm and take action. 'Those of the people who 46 are learned will instruct many; for some days, however, they will be brought 47 down by sword and flame, by captivity and by plundering. 'And thus brought 48 down, little help will they receive, though many will be plotting on their side.
 49 Of the learned some will be brought down, as a result of which certain of 50 them will be purged, purified and made white—until the time of the End, for the 51 appointed time is still to come.

52 "The king will do as he pleases, growing more and more arrogant, considering 53 himself greater than all the gods; he will utter incredible blasphemies against 54 the God of gods, and he will thrive until the wrath reaches bursting point; for 55 what has been decreed will certainly be fulfilled. 'Heedless of his fathers' gods, 56

heedless of the one whom women love," heedless of any god whatever, he will 38 consider himself greater than them all. Instead of them, he will honor the god of fortresses, will honor a god unknown to his ancestors with gold and 39 silver, precious stones and valuable presents. He will use the people of an alien god" to defend the fortresses; he will confer great honors on those who will acknowledge him, by giving them wide authority and by farming out the land at a price.

THE TIME OF THE END

The end of the persecutor

40 "When the time comes for the End, the king of the South will try conclusions with him; but the king of the North will come storming down on him with chariots, cavalry, and a large fleet. He will invade countries, overrun 41 them and drive on. He will invade the Land of Splendor, and many will fall; but Edom, Moab, and what remain of the sons of Ammon will escape him.

42 "He will reach out to attack countries: the land of Egypt will not escape him.
 43 The gold and silver treasures and all the valuables of Egypt will lie in his power.
 44 Libyans and Cushites^o will be at his feet: but reports coming from the East and the North will worry him, and in great fury he will set out to bring ruin and 45 complete destruction to many. He will pitch the tents of his royal headquarters between the sea and the mountains of the Holy Splendor. Yet he will come to his end—there will be no help for him.

Resurrection and retribution

1 12 "At that time Michael will stand up, the great prince who mounts guard over your people. There is going to be a time of great distress, unparalleled since nations first came into existence. When that time comes, your own people 2 will be spared, all those whose names are found written in the Book. Of those who lie sleeping in the dust of the earth many will awake, some to everlasting 3 life, some to shame and everlasting disgrace. The learned will shine as brightly as the vault of heaven, and those who have instructed many in virtue, as bright as stars for all eternity.

4 "But you, Daniel, must keep these words secret and the book sealed until the time of the End. Many will wander this way and that, and wickedness will go on increasing."

The sealed prophecy

5 Then I, Daniel, looked on and saw two others standing, one on the near bank 6 of the river, one on the other. One said to the man dressed in linen who was standing further up the stream, "How long until these wonders take place?" 7 I heard the man speak who was dressed in linen, standing further up the stream:
 he raised his right hand and his left to heaven and swore by him who lives for ever, "A time and two times, and half a time; and all these things are going to happen when he who crushes the power of the holy people meets his end." 8 I listened but did not understand. Then I said, "My lord, what is to be the 9 outcome?" "Daniel," he said, "go away: these words are to remain secret and sealed 10 until the time of the End. Many will be cleansed, made white and purged; the

SUSANNA AND THE JUDGMENT OF DANIEL

¹ 13 In Babylon there lived a man named Joakim. He had married Susanna ² daughter of Hilkiyah, a woman of great beauty; and she was God-fearing, ³ because her parents were worthy people and had instructed their daughter in ⁴ the Law of Moses. Joakim was a very rich man, and had a garden attached to his house; the Jews would often visit him since he was held in greater respect ⁵ than any other man. Two elderly men had been selected from the people that year to act as judges. Of such the Lord said, "Wickedness has come to Babylon ⁶ through the elders and judges posing as guides to the people." These men were often at Joakim's house, and all who were engaged in litigation used to ⁷ come to them. At midday, when everyone had gone, Susanna used to take a ⁸ walk in her husband's garden. The two elders, who used to watch her every ⁹ day as she came in to take her walk, gradually began to desire her. They threw reason aside, making no effort to turn their eyes to heaven, and forgetting ¹⁰ its demands of virtue. Both were inflamed by the same passion, but they hid their ¹¹ desire from each other, for they were ashamed to admit the longing to sleep ¹² with her, but they still contrived to see her every day. One day, having parted ¹³ with the words, "Let us go home, it is time for the midday meal," they went off ¹⁴ in different directions, only to retrace their steps and find themselves face to face again. Obligated then to explain, they admitted their desire and agreed to ¹⁵ look for an opportunity of surprising her alone. So they waited for a favorable moment; and one day Susanna came as usual, accompanied only by two young ¹⁶ maidservants. The day was hot and she wanted to bathe in the garden. There was no one about except the two elders, spying on her from their hiding place. ¹⁷ She said to the servants, "Bring me some oil and balsam and shut the garden door while I bathe." They did as they were told, shutting the garden door and going ¹⁸ back to the house by a side entrance to fetch what she had asked for; they knew nothing about the elders, who were hiding.

¹⁹ Hardly were the servants gone than the two elders were there after her. "Look," ²⁰ they said, "the garden door is shut, no one can see us. We want to have you, ²¹ so give in and let us! Refuse, and we will both give evidence that a young ²² man was with you and that was why you sent your maids away." Susanna sighed. "I am trapped," she said, "whatever I do. If I agree, that means my death; ²³ if I resist, I cannot get away from you. But I prefer to fall innocent into your ²⁴ power than to sin in the eyes of the Lord." Then she cried out as loud as ²⁵ she could. The two elders began shouting too, putting the blame on her, and ²⁶ one of them ran to open the garden door. The household, hearing the shouting ²⁷ in the garden, rushed out by the side entrance to see what was happening; once the elders had told their story the servants were thoroughly taken aback, since ²⁸ nothing of this sort had ever been said of Susanna.

²⁹ Next day a meeting was held at the house of her husband Joakim. The two ³⁰ elders arrived, in their vindictiveness determined to have her put to death. They addressed the company: "Summon Susanna daughter of Hilkiyah and wife of ³¹ Joakim." She was sent for, and came accompanied by her parents, her children ³² and all her relations. Susanna was very graceful and beautiful to look at; she ³³ was veiled, so the wretches made her unveil in order to feast their eyes on her beauty. All her own people were weeping, and so were all the others who saw

34 her. The two elders stood up, with all the people around them, and laid their 35 hands on the woman's head.^a Tearfully she turned her eyes to heaven, her 36 heart confident in God. The elders then spoke. "While we were walking by 37 ourselves in the garden, this woman arrived with two servants. She shut the 38 garden door and then dismissed the servants. A young man who had been 39 hiding went over to her and they lay down together. From the end of the 40 garden where we were, we saw this crime taking place and hurried toward 41 them. Though we saw them together we were unable to catch the man: he 42 was too strong for us; he opened the door and took to his heels. We did, 43 however, catch this woman and ask her who the young man was. She refused 44 to tell us. That is our evidence."

45 Since they were elders of the people, and judges, the assembly took their 46 word: Susanna was condemned to death. She cried out as loud as she could, 47 "Eternal God, you know all secrets and everything before it happens; you 48 know that they have given false evidence against me. And now have I to die, 49 innocent as I am of everything their malice has invented against me?"

50 The Lord heard her cry and, as she was being led away to die, he roused 51 the holy spirit residing in a young boy named Daniel who began to shout, 52 "I am innocent of this woman's death!" At which all the people turned to him and 53 asked, "What do you mean by these words?" Standing in the middle of the 54 crowd he replied, "Are you so stupid, sons of Israel, as to condemn a daughter 55 of Israel unheard, and without troubling to find out the truth? Go back to 56 the scene of the trial: these men have given false evidence against her."

57 All the people hurried back, and the elders said to Daniel, "Come and sit 58 with us and tell us what you mean, since God has given you the gifts that elders 59 have." Daniel said, "Keep the men well apart from each other for I want to 60 question them." When the men had been separated, Daniel had one of them 61 brought to him. "You have grown old in wickedness," he said, "and now the 62 sins of your earlier days have overtaken you, you with your unjust judgments, 63 your condemnation of the innocent, your acquittal of guilty men, when the Lord 64 has said, 'You must not put the innocent and the just to death.' Now then, 65 since you saw her so clearly, tell me what tree you saw them lying under?"
66 He replied, "Under a mastic tree." Daniel said, "True enough! Your lie recoils 67 on your own head: the angel of God has already received your sentence from 68 him and will slash you in half." He dismissed the man, ordered the other to be 69 brought and said to him, "Spawn of Canaan, not of Judah, beauty has seduced 70 you, lust has led your heart astray! This is how you have been behaving with 71 the daughters of Israel and they were too frightened to resist; but here is a 72 daughter of Judah who could not stomach your wickedness! Now then, tell 73 me what tree you surprised them under?" He replied, "Under a holm oak." 74 Daniel said, "True enough! Your lie recoils on your own head: the angel of 75 God is waiting, with a sword to drive home and split you, and destroy the pair 76 of you."

77 Then the whole assembly shouted, blessing God, the savior of those who 78 trust in him. And they turned on the two elders whom Daniel had convicted 79 of false evidence out of their own mouths. As prescribed in the Law of Moses, 80 they sentenced them to the same punishment as they had intended to inflict on 81 their neighbor. They put them to death; the life of an innocent woman was spared 82 that day. Hilkiah and his wife gave thanks to God for their daughter Susanna, 83 and so did her husband Joakim and all his relations, because she had been 84 acquitted of anything dishonorable.

85 From that day onward Daniel's reputation stood high with the people.

BEL AND THE DRAGON

Daniel and the priests of Bel

14 When King Astyages joined his ancestors, Cyrus of Persia succeeded him. Daniel was very close to the king who thought more of him than of any other of his friends. Now in Babylon there was an idol called Bel,^a to which twelve bushels of the finest flour, forty sheep and six measures of wine were offered every day. The king took part in this cult and used to go and worship the idol every day. Daniel, however, worshiped his own God. "Why do you not worship Bel?" the king asked Daniel. "I do not worship idols made by the hands of men," Daniel replied. "I worship the living God who made heaven and earth and who has power over all living creatures." "You believe, then," said the king, "that Bel is not a living god? Can you not see how much he eats and drinks every day?" Daniel laughed. "My king," he said, "do not be taken in; he is clay inside, and bronze outside, and has never eaten or drunk anything." This made the king angry; he summoned his priests, "Tell me who eats all this food," he said, "or die. Prove to me that Bel really eats it, and I will have Daniel put to death for blaspheming him." Daniel said to the king, "Let it be as you say."

There were seventy of these priests, to say nothing of their wives and children. The king went to the temple of Bel, taking Daniel with him. The priests of Bel said to him, "We are now withdrawing, as you can see: but we will leave you, O king, to set out food and prepare the wine and leave it there. Then you can shut the door and seal it with your own seal. If, when you return in the morning, you do not find that everything has been eaten by Bel, then let us be put to death; if not, then Daniel, that slanderer!" They were thinking—hence their confidence—of a secret entrance which they had made under the table, by which they came in daily and took the offerings away. When the priests had gone and the king had set out the food for Bel, Daniel made his servants bring ashes and spread them all over the temple floor, with no other witness than the king. Then they left the building, shut the door and, sealing it with the king's seal, went away. That night, as usual, the priests came with their wives and children; they ate and drank everything.

The king was up very early next morning; so was Daniel. "Daniel," said the king, "are the seals intact?" "They are intact, O king," he replied. The king then opened the door and taking one look at the table he exclaimed, "You are great, O Bel! There is no deception in you!" But Daniel laughed. And restraining the king from going further in, he said, "Look at the floor and examine these footprints." "I can see footprints of men, of women and of children," said the king, and angrily ordered the priests to be arrested, with their wives and children. They showed him then the secret door through which they used to come and remove what was on the table. The king had them put to death and handed Bel over to Daniel who destroyed both the idol and its temple.

Daniel kills the dragon

There was a big dragon in Babylon, and this was worshiped too. The king said to Daniel, "You are not going to tell me that this is no more than bronze? Look, it is alive; it eats and drinks; you cannot deny that this is a living god; worship it, then." Daniel replied, "I worship the Lord my God; he is the living God. With your permission, O king, without using either sword or club I will kill this serpent." "You have my permission," said the king. Whereupon Daniel took some pitch, some fat and some hair and boiled them up together, rolled the mixture into balls and fed them to the dragon; the dragon swallowed them and burst. Daniel said, "Now look at the sort of thing you worship!" The Babylonians were furious when they heard about this and began intriguing against the king. "The king has turned Jew," they said, "he has allowed Bel to be overthrown, and the dragon to be killed, and he has put the priests to death." So they went to the king and said, "Hand Daniel over to us or else we will kill you, and your family." They pressed him so hard that the king found himself forced to hand Daniel over to them.

³¹₃₂ They threw Daniel into the lion pit, and there he stayed for six days. In the pit were seven lions, which were given two human bodies and two sheep every day; but for this period they were not given anything, to make sure they would eat Daniel.

³³ Now the prophet Habakkuk was in Judaea: he had been making a stew, and breaking up bread small to put in a basket. He was on his way to the fields, taking this to the harvesters, when the angel of the Lord spoke to him, "Take the meal you are carrying to Babylon and give it to Daniel in the lion pit." "Lord," replied Habakkuk, "I have not even seen Babylon, and know nothing about this pit." The angel of the Lord seized his head and carried him off by the hair to Babylon where, with a great thrust of his spirit, he set Habakkuk down on the edge of the pit. "Daniel, Daniel," Habakkuk shouted, "take the meal that God has sent you." And Daniel said, "You have kept me in mind, O God; you have not deserted those who love you." Rising to his feet he ate the meal, while the angel of God lost no time in returning Habakkuk to his own country.

⁴⁰ On the seventh day the king came to lament over Daniel; on reaching the pit he looked inside, and there was Daniel, quite unperturbed. "You are great, O Lord, God of Daniel," he exclaimed, "there is no god but you!" Then he released Daniel from the pit and had the plotters of Daniel's ruin thrown in instead, where they were instantly eaten before his eyes.

INTRODUCTION TO THE MINOR PROPHETS

The twelve shorter books known as the “Minor Prophets” appear in this edition of the Bible in their traditional order. In these introductory notes, they are treated in what is most probably their true historical order.

Amos

Amos was a shepherd, called to prophesy for a brief period in the reign of Jeroboam II, 783–743. The Northern Kingdom was prosperous, a corrupt city life had developed, and the military power of Assyria was a constant menace; in this background, the prophet from the desert condemned the social injustices of his times and preached the coming “day of Yahweh” as a visitation of wrath from which only a remnant would be spared.

Hosea

Hosea’s ministry began under Jeroboam II and continued under his successors, possibly until the fall of Samaria in 721. A key to his prophecies is Hosea’s own life with his unfaithful wife, from which he was able to describe the love of Yahweh for his people, whose unfaithfulness was plain from their kings’ policies of expedience, their unworthy priests, and their worship of false gods.

Micah

A contemporary of Isaiah, Micah too foresaw the ruin of Israel as the punishment for a life of religious and social corruption. Like other prophetic books, this book contains some oracles which, from their character, appear to be of a later time than that of the prophet named as the author.

Zephaniah

Zephaniah prophesied in the reign of Josiah, before the religious reform of 622 B.C. In his understanding of a “day of retribution,” Zephaniah echoes Amos; in his deep appreciation of sin as an offense against God, he anticipates Jeremiah.

Nahum

The destruction of Nineveh is foretold with great poetic power in a prophecy made shortly before the capture of that city in 612. It is seen as the vindication of God’s justice.

Habakkuk

A poetic dialogue. If the oppressors who are cursed and finally routed are, as seems most likely, the Chaldaeans, the book should be dated between 605 and 597. The problem behind the prophet's questioning is that the God of goodness should choose the savage pagans as his instruments.

Haggai

The first of the postexilic prophets. Haggai's four brief discourses urge the Jews, after the return from Babylon, to resume the work of rebuilding the Temple. They are dated precisely, in 520.

Zechariah

Chapters 1–8 are dated between 520 and 517, and are the work of Zechariah, the prophet of national restoration. The rest of the chapters appear to be of various dates: Greeks appear among the oppressors of Israel together with the traditional Assyrians and Egyptians, and messianic expectation is strong; parts at least can be attributed to the late fourth century.

Obadiah

This short book, half of which is a doublet of a passage in Jr. 49, seems to relate to the Edomite invasion after the destruction of Jerusalem, and should be dated in the fifth century.

Malachi

"The book of my messenger"; six discourses which look forward to "the day of Yahweh." By its contents the book can be dated about the middle of the fifth century.

Joel

The prophet sees a disastrous plague of locusts as a "sign," heralding the Judgment of the nations and the triumph of Yahweh and of Israel. The background is that of the postexilic community, and the book must have been written about 400 B.C.

Jonah

A parable, written in the fourth century, but set in the remote past. It is written with a great freedom of imagination and teaches a clear lesson of God's mercy, his power and his universality.

HOSEA

¹ 1 The word of Yahweh that was addressed to Hosea son of Beeri when Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah were reigning in Judah, and Jeroboam son of Joash in Israel.^a

I. THE MARRIAGE OF HOSEA AND ITS SYMBOLISM

Hosea's marriage: his three children

² When Yahweh first spoke through Hosea, Yahweh said this to him, "Go, marry a whore, and get children with a whore, for the country itself has become nothing but a whore by abandoning Yahweh."

³ So he went; and he took Gomer daughter of Diblaim, who conceived and bore him a son. "Name him Jezreel," Yahweh told him, "for it will not be long before I make the House of Jehu pay for the bloodshed at Jezreel^b and I put an end to the sovereignty of the House of Israel. When that day comes I will break Israel's bow in the Valley of Jezreel."^c

⁶ She conceived a second time and gave birth to a daughter. "Name her Unloved," Yahweh told him. "No more love shall the House of Israel have from me in future, no further forgiveness. (But my love shall go to the House of Judah and through Yahweh their God I mean to save them—but not by bow or sword or battle, horse or horseman.)"

⁸ She weaned Unloved, conceived again and gave birth to a son. "Name him No-People-of-Mine," Yahweh said. "You are not my people and I am not your God."

Yahweh and his unfaithful wife

⁴ 2 Denounce your mother, denounce her,
for she is not my wife
nor am I her husband.
Let her rid her face of her whoring,
and her breasts of her adultery,^a ⁵ or else I will strip her naked, expose her as on the day she was born;
I will make a wilderness of her,
turn her into an arid land,
and leave her to die of thirst.
⁶ I will not love her children,
since they are the children of whoring.
⁷ Yes, their mother has played the whore,
she who conceived them has disgraced herself.
"I am going to court my lovers," she said,
"who give me my bread and water,
my wool, my flax, my oil and my drink."^b ¹⁰ ⁸ She would not acknowledge, not she,

that I was the one who was giving her
the corn, the wine, the oil, and who freely gave her that silver and gold
of which they have made Baals.

¹¹₉ That is why, when the time comes, I mean to withdraw my corn,
and my wine, when the season for it comes.
I will retrieve my wool, my flax,
that were intended to cover her nakedness;
¹²₁₀ so will I display her shame before her lovers' eyes and no one shall rescue her from my power.
¹²₁₂ I will lay her vines and fig trees waste,
those of which she used to say,
"These are the pay my lovers gave me";
I am going to make them into thickets
for the wild beasts to ravage.
¹³₁₁ I will put an end to all her rejoicing,
her feasts, her New Moons, her sabbaths and all her solemn festivals.
¹⁵₁₃ I mean to make her pay for all the days when she burned offerings to the Baals and decked herself with rings and necklaces
to court her lovers,
forgetting me.
It is Yahweh who is speaking.

⁸₆ That is why I am going to block her way with thorns,
and wall her in so that she cannot find her way;
⁹₇ she will chase after her lovers and never catch up with them,
she will search for them and never find them.
Then she will say, "I will go back to my first husband,
I was happier then than I am today."

¹⁶₁₄ That is why I am going to lure her and lead her out into the wilderness
and speak to her heart.
¹⁷₁₅ I am going to give her back her vineyards, and make the Valley of Achor^c a gateway of hope.
There she will respond to me as she did when she was young,
as she did when she came out of the land of Egypt.

¹⁸₁₆ When that day comes—it is Yahweh who speaks—
she will call me "My husband,"
no longer will she call me "My Baal."^d ¹⁹₁₇ I will take the names of the Baals off her lips, their names shall never be uttered again.

²⁰₁₈ When that day comes I will make a treaty on her behalf with the wild animals,
with the birds of heaven and the creeping things of the earth;
I will break bow, sword and battle in the country,

1 a. More accurately, it was under the last four kings of Israel, Menahem to Hoshea (743–724), that Hosea chiefly exercised his prophetic ministry. b. It was here that Jehu massacred the descendants of Omri. c. Another name for Megiddo (Armageddon), one of the great battlefields of Palestine.

2 a. Probably the amulets, tattooing and other distinctive marks of the prostitute. b. The Canaanite baals were gods of fertility. c. "The Valley of Misery," one of the gorges near Jericho. d. Strictly, "my master" or "my husband"; but the word had taken on associations with the Canaanite gods.

and make her sleep secure.

21 I will betroth you to myself for ever, 19 betroth you with integrity and justice,
with tenderness and love;

22 I will betroth you to myself with faithfulness,
20 and you will come to know Yahweh.

23 When that day comes—it is Yahweh who speaks—
21 the heavens will have their answer from me,

24 the earth its answer from them,
22 the grain, the wine, the oil, their answer from the earth, and Jezreel his answer^e from them.

23 I will sow him in the country,

23 I will love Unloved;

24 I will say to No-People-of-Mine, "You are my people,"
and he will answer, "You are my God."

Hosea takes his unfaithful wife back and tests her fidelity. The symbol explained

- 1 3 Yahweh said to me, "Go a second time, give your love to a woman, loved by her husband but an adulteress in spite of it, just as Yahweh gives his love to the sons of Israel though they turn to other gods and love raisin cakes."
2 So I bought her for fifteen silver shekels and a bushel and a half of barley,
3 and said to her, "For many days you must keep yourself quietly for me, not playing the whore or offering yourself to others; and I will do the same for you."
4 For the sons of Israel will be kept for many days without a king, without 5 a leader, without sacrifice or sacred stone, without ephod or teraphim.^a Afterward the sons of Israel will come back; they will seek Yahweh their God and David their king; they will come trembling to Yahweh, come for his good things in those days to come.

The great future

- 1 2 And the number of the sons of Israel will be like the sand
on the seashore,
which cannot be measured or counted.
In the place where they were told, "You are no people of mine,"
they will be called, "The sons of the living God."
2 The sons of Judah and Israel will be one again
and choose themselves one single leader,
and they will spread far beyond their country;
so great will be the day of Jezreel.
3 To your brother say, "People-of-Mine,"
to your sister, "Beloved."

II. THE CRIMES AND PUNISHMENT OF ISRAEL

General corruption

- 1 4 Sons of Israel, listen to the word of Yahweh,
for Yahweh indicts the inhabitants of the country:
2 there is no fidelity, no tenderness,
no knowledge of God in the country,
2 only perjury and lies, slaughter, theft,
adultery and violence, murder after murder.
3 This is why the country is in mourning, and all who live in it pine away, even the wild animals and the birds of heaven;
the fish of the sea themselves are perishing.

Against the priests

4 But let no man denounce, no man rebuke;
it is you, priest, that I denounce.
5 Day and night you stumble along,
the prophet stumbling with you,
and you are the ruin of your people.
6 My people perish for want of knowledge.
As you have rejected knowledge
so do I reject you from my priesthood;
you have forgotten the teaching of your God,
I in my turn will forget your children.
7 Many as they are, all of them have sinned against me,
they have bartered their glory for shame.
8 They feed on the sin of my people,
they are all greedy for their iniquity.
9 But as with the people, so let it be with the priest:
I will make them pay for their conduct,
I will pay them out for their deeds.
10 They will eat but never be satisfied,
they will play the whore but still be sterile,
because they have deserted Yahweh
to give themselves up to whoring.
11

Worship in Israel is not idolatrous and debauched

Wine, new wine addles the wits.
12 My people consult their block of wood,
a rod answers their questions^a;
for a prostituting spirit leads them astray,
they renounce their God to play the whore.
13 They offer sacrifice on the mountaintops,
burn their offerings on the hills,
under oak and poplar and terebinth,
so pleasant is their shade.
So, although your daughters prostitute themselves
and your sons' wives commit adultery, 14 I shall not be hard on your daughters for their whoring or on your sons' wives for their adultery, when everyone else is wandering off with whores
and offering sacrifice with sacred prostitutes.
Thus does a senseless people run to ruin.

A warning to Judah

15 Though you, Israel, play the whore,
there is no need for Judah to sin too.
Do not go to Gilgal,
do not go up to Beth-aven,^b
do not take the oath "As Yahweh lives!"

Israel the stubborn heifer

16 Since Israel is as obstinate as a stubborn heifer,

e. The name Jezreel will no longer recall past crimes, see 1:4. Its true meaning is "God sows."
3 a. I.e., without any visible link with Yahweh: the ephod was the priest's amulet by which he determined the will of Yahweh; the teraphim, a "household god" (of unknown form).
4 a. The reference is to the sacred pole and the rod of a diviner. b. "House of nothing," a contemptuous name for Bethel.

how can Yahweh pasture him
 like a lamb in rolling pastures?
 17 Ephraim is wedded to idols,
 18 they sprawl in the company of drunkards;
 whoring is all they care about,
 they barter their glory for shame.
 19 The wind will carry them off on its wings,
 then all their altars will bring them is disappointment.

Priests, nobles and king are the ruin of the nation

1 5 Listen to this, priests, attend, House of Israel,
 listen, royal household,
 you who are responsible for justice,
 for you have been a snare at Mizpah,
 and a net outspread on Tabor.
 2 They are entrenched in their deceitfulness and so I am going to punish them all.
 3 I know all about Ephraim,
 Israel has no secrets for me;
 yes Ephraim, you have played the whore,
 Israel has defiled himself.
 4 Their deeds do not allow them to return to their God,
 since a prostituting spirit possesses them;
 they do not know Yahweh.
 5 The arrogance of Israel is his own accuser,
 the iniquity of Ephraim knocks him down,
 and down comes Judah with him.
 6 Though they go in search of Yahweh with their sheep and oxen,
 they do not find him;
 for he has withdrawn from them.
 7 They have proved unfaithful to Yahweh,
 they have fathered bastards,
 and now the destroyer will devour them, them and their estates.

The brothers' war

8 Sound the horn in Gibeah,
 the trumpet in Ramah,
 give the alarm at Beth-aven,
 call Benjamin to arms!
 9 Ephraim shall be laid waste when the day comes for punishment;
 I pronounce certain doom for the tribes of Israel.^a 10 The leaders of Judah are like men who displace the boundary mark;
 I mean to pour my anger out on them in a flood.
 11 Ephraim is an oppressor, he tramples on justice,
 so set is he on his pursuit of nothingness.
 12 Very well, I myself will be the moth of Ephraim,
 the canker of the House of Judah.

The folly of foreign alliances

13 Ephraim has seen how sick he is and Judah the extent of his wound,
 so Ephraim has turned to Assyria, Judah has appealed to the Great King^b;
 but he has no power to cure you nor to heal your wound.

- 14 For I mean to be like a lion to Ephraim,
like a young lion to the house of Judah;
I, yes I, will tear to pieces, then go my way,
I will carry off my prey, and no one can snatch it from me.

Yahweh abandons his people

- 15 Yes, I am going to return to my dwelling place
until they confess their guilt and seek my face;
6:1 they will search for me in their misery.

Israel's short-lived and shallow repentance

- 1 "Come, let us return to Yahweh.
2 6 He has torn us to pieces, but he will heal us;
he has struck us down, but he will bandage our wounds;
3 after a day or two he will bring us back to life,
3 on the third day he will raise us and we shall live in his presence.
3a Let us set ourselves to know Yahweh;
that he will come is as certain as the dawn;
5b his judgment will rise like the light,
3b he will come to us as showers come,
like spring rains watering the earth."
4 What am I to do with you, Ephraim?
What am I to do with you, Judah?
This love of yours is like a morning cloud,
like the dew that quickly disappears.
5a This is why I have torn them to pieces by the prophets,
why I slaughtered them with the words from my mouth, 6 since what I want is love, not sacrifice;
knowledge of God, not holocausts.

The past and present sins of Israel

- 7 But they have violated the covenant at Adam,
they have proved unfaithful to me there.
8 Gilead is a town of evildoers,
full of bloody footprints.
9 Like so many robbers in ambush
a band of priests commits murder on the road to Shechem—appalling behavior, indeed!
10 I have seen horrors in Bethel;
that is where Ephraim plays the whore
and Israel defiles himself.
11 Judah, I intend a harvest for you, too,
when I restore the fortunes of my people.
1 7 Whenever I want to heal Israel,
I am confronted by the guilt of Ephraim and the wickedness of Samaria;
deceit is their principle of behavior,
thieves break into houses
and bandits raid outside.
2 They never pause to consider that I know about all their wickedness;

5 a. This prophecy apparently relates to the Syro-Ephraimite war (735–734), 2 K. 16–17.
b. Menahem paid tribute to Tiglath-pileser III of Assyria, 738; Ahaz appealed to the same king for help, 735.

yet their actions are all around them,
they stare me in the face.

Conspiracy the order of the day in Israel

3 Such is their cunning, they beguile the king, and the leaders too, such is their treachery.
4 But they breathe fury, all of them,
as fiery as an oven
which the baker does not need to stoke from the time he has kneaded the dough until it rises.
5 They addle the king and leaders with wine fumes
as he mixes with these scoundrels.
6 Their hearts reach oven heat in the excitement of the plot;
their fury smolders all night
and in the morning blazes like a fierce flame; 7 all burn at oven heat
and they consume the men who rule them.
Thus have all their kings fallen,
not one of them has ever called on me.^a

Israel ruined by relying on foreign powers

8 Ephraim mixes with the nations,
Ephraim is a half-baked cake.
9 Foreigners eat his strength away,
he is unconscious of it;
gray hairs are scattered on his head:
he is unconscious of it.
10 (The arrogance of Israel is his own accuser;
they will not come back to Yahweh their God;
in spite of all this they will not seek him.) 11 Ephraim is like a silly, witless dove, calling on Egypt, turning to Assyria.
12 Wherever they turn, I will spread my net over them,
I mean to bring them down like the birds of heaven,
I will punish them for their perversity.

The ingratitude and punishment of Israel

13 Trouble is coming to them, for they have strayed from me!
Ruin on them, for they have rebelled against me!
I wanted to redeem them, but they tell lies about me.
14 Theirs is no heartfelt cry to me
when they lament on their beds.
They gash themselves for the sake of corn and wine,
yet they rebel against me.
15 I it was who gave strength to their arms,
yet all they do is make wicked plots against me.
16 They turn to Baal,
they are like a treacherous bow.
Their leaders will fall by the sword
because of their arrogant talk,
and how they will be laughed at in the land of Egypt!

Sound the alarm!

1 8 Put the trumpet to your lips
like a watchman on duty at the house of Yahweh, because they have violated my covenant

and rebelled against my Law.
 2 Useless now to shout, "God of Israel, we acknowledge you."
 3 Israel has rejected the good;
 the enemy^a will hunt him down.

Civil anarchy and idolatry

4 They have set up kings, but not with my consent, and appointed princes, but without my knowledge.
 Out of their own silver and gold they have made idols,
 which are doomed to destruction.
 5 I spurn your calf, Samaria,
 my anger blazes against it.
 (How long will it be before they purge themselves of this,
 6 the sons of Israel?)
 A workman made the thing,
 this cannot be God!
 Yes, the calf of Samaria shall go up in flames.
 7 They sow the wind, they will reap the whirlwind;
 their wheat will yield no ear,
 the ear will yield no flour,
 or, if it does, foreigners will swallow it.

Israel ruined by relying on foreign powers

8 Israel himself has been swallowed, and is destined now to stay among the nations
 like a crock that no one wants, 9 for making approaches to Assyria
 —that wild ass living alone.
 Ephraim is renting lovers.
 10 Right; let them rent them among the nations,
 I am going to disperse them this minute;
 that will soon put a stop to their anointing kings and leaders.

Against the outward show of worship

11 Ephraim has built altar after altar,
 they have only served him as occasion for sin.
 12 Were I to write out the thousand precepts of my Law for him, they would be paid no more attention than those of a stranger.
 13 They love sacrificing; right, let them sacrifice!
 They love meat; right, let them eat it!
 Yahweh takes no pleasure in these.
 He is now going to remember their iniquity and punish their sins;
 they will have to go back to Egypt.

Against extravagance in building

14 Israel has forgotten his Maker
 and has built palaces;
 Judah has built fortified town after fortified town;
 right, I will rain fire on his towns,
 it will devour his palaces.

7 a. Seven of the kings of the Northern Kingdom had been murdered by the year 737.

8 a. Assyria.

The sorrows of exile

- 1 9 Let us have no rejoicing, Israel,
no exulting like the other peoples;
for you have deserted God to play the whore,
you have enjoyed the prostitute's pay
on every threshing floor.
- 2 Neither floor nor vat will nourish them,
the new wine will disappoint them.
- 3 They will no longer live in the land of Yahweh, Ephraim will have to go back to Egypt,
and in Assyria they will eat food that is unclean.
- 4 They will pour libations of wine to Yahweh no longer,
nor offer sacrifice to him;
their bread will be like mourners' bread,
all those who eat it will become unclean;
for their bread will serve only for themselves,
it must not enter the house of Yahweh.
- 5 What will you do on the day of solemn festival,
the day of the feast of Yahweh?
- 6 Why, they will have gone, gone from the devastation.
Egypt will receive them, Memphis bury them,
nettles will inherit their treasures of silver,
and brambles invade their tents.

Persecution, the prophet's reward for foretelling the punishment

- 7 Now the days of reckoning have come,
the days of reprisals are here.
"The prophet is mad," Israel protests, "this inspired fellow is raving."
—Ah yes, but only because your iniquity is so great,
your apostasy so grave.
- 8 Ephraim watches the prophet's tent,
traps are set for him on all his paths,
in the house of his God enmity awaits him.
- 9 These men are as steeped in corruption
as in the days of Gibeah; Yahweh will remember their iniquity,
he will punish their sins.

Punishment for the crime at Baal-peor

- 10 It was like finding grapes in the wilderness when I found Israel, like seeing early fruit on the fig tree when I saw your fathers;
but when they reached Baal-peor they devoted themselves to shame and became as hateful as the thing they loved.
- 11 The glory of Ephraim will fly away like a bird:
no giving birth, no pregnancy, no conceiving.
- 12 And if they rear sons, I will take these from them before they come to manhood;
trouble for them indeed when I abandon them.
- 13 Ephraim, I see, has made his sons a prey,
Ephraim must lead his sons to the slaughterhouse.
- 14 Give them, Yahweh—what are you to give?—
give them wombs that miscarry, and dried-up breasts.

Punishment for the crime at Gilgal

- 15 Their wickedness appeared in full at Gilgal,^a there I came to hate them.

Because of their wicked deeds
I will drive them out of my house;
I will love them no longer,
for their leaders are all rebels.

- 16 Ephraim is cut down,
their roots are withered;
they will bear no fruit.
And if they bear children,
I will kill the darlings of their womb.
- 17 Because they have not listened to him, my God will cast them off and they will be wanderers throughout the nations.

The destruction of Israel's cultic objects

- 1 10 Israel was a luxuriant vine
yielding plenty of fruit.
The more his fruit increased,
the more altars he built;
the richer his land became,
the richer he made the sacred stones.
- 2 Their heart is a divided heart;
very well, they must pay for it:
Yahweh is going to break their altars down
and destroy their sacred stones.
- 3 Then they will say,
"We have no king
because we have not feared Yahweh."
But what can a king do for us?
- 4 Words, words! False oaths! Alliances!
And judgment is only a poisonous weed that thrives
in the furrows of the field.
- 5 The inhabitants of Samaria are trembling
for the calf of Beth-aven;
yes, its people mourn for it,
its so-called priests bewail its glory,
now this has vanished.
- 6 The calf itself shall be carried off to Assyria
as tribute to the Great King.
Ephraim will reap the shame,
and Israel blush for his idol.
- 7 Samaria has had her day.
Her king^a is like a straw drifting on the water.
- 8 The idolatrous high places shall be destroyed—
that sin of Israel;
thorn and thistle will grow on their altars.
Then they will say to the mountains, "Cover us!"
and to the hills, "Fall on us!"

Against Gibeah

- 9 Ever since the days at Gibeah, Israel, you have sinned.
Things are still the same.
And will not war overtake the guilty at Gibeah?
- 10 I shall come and punish them.
The nations will muster against them
to punish them for their double crime.

9 a. The monarchy was instituted there, 1 S. 13:7-14; 15:10-23.

10 a. The calf.

Threats and an invitation to repentance

- 11 Ephraim is a well-trained heifer
that loves to tread the threshing floor;
very well, I myself mean to lay the yoke on that fine neck of hers,
I am going to put Ephraim in harness,
Israel will have to plow,
Jacob must draw the harrow.
- 12 Sow integrity for yourselves,
reap a harvest of kindness,
break up your fallow ground:
it is time to go seeking Yahweh
until he comes to rain salvation on you.

The end of Israel

- 13 Why have you plowed iniquity,
reaped injustice,
and eaten the produce, lies?
Because you have trusted in your chariots,
and in your host of warriors,
- 14 turmoil is going to break out in your towns,
and all your fortresses will be laid waste,
as Shalman^b laid Beth-arbel waste
on the day of the battle,
when mothers fell, dashed to pieces, on their children.
- 15 That is what I mean to do to you, House of Israel,
because of your great wickedness;
and in the storm the king of Israel is going to disappear for ever.
- 11:1

God's love despised: his vengeance

- 1 11 When Israel was a child I loved him,
and I called my son out of Egypt.
- 2 But the more I called to them, the further they went from me;
they have offered sacrifice to the Baals
and set their offerings smoking before the idols.
- 3 I myself taught Ephraim to walk,
I took them in my arms;
yet they have not understood that I was the one looking after them.
- 4 I led them with reins of kindness,
with leading strings of love.
I was like someone who lifts an infant close against his cheek;
stooping down to him I gave him his food.
- 5 They will have to go back to Egypt,
Assyria must be their king,
because they have refused to return to me.
- 6 The sword will rage through their towns,
wiping out their children,
glutting itself inside their fortresses.

God's love proves stronger than his vengeance

- 7 My people are diseased through their disloyalty;
they call on Baal,
but he does not cure them.
- 8 Ephraim, how could I part with you?
Israel, how could I give you up?
How could I treat you like Admah, or deal with you like Zeboim?^a

My heart recoils from it,
 my whole being trembles at the thought.
 9 I will not give rein to my fierce anger,
 I will not destroy Ephraim again,
 for I am God, not man:
 I am the Holy One in your midst
 and have no wish to destroy.

The return from exile

10 They will follow behind Yahweh;
 he will be roaring like a lion—
 how he will roar!—
 and his sons will come speeding from the west; 11 they will come speeding from Egypt like a bird, speeding from the land of Assyria like a dove,
 and I will settle them in their homes
 —it is Yahweh who speaks.

Israel's religion and policy both alike perverse

¹/₁₂ 12 All around me are the lies of Ephraim and the deceit of the House of Israel.
 But God still recognizes Judah,
 and he is still called the people of the Holy One.
 2 Ephraim feeds on the wind,
 forever chasing the wind from the East, accumulating falsehood and fraud,
 making treaties with Assyria, sending oil to Egypt.

Against Jacob

³/₂ Yahweh has a case against Israel,
 he will pay Jacob as his conduct merits,
 and will repay him as his deeds deserve.
 4 In the very womb he supplanted his brother,
 3 in maturity he wrestled against God.
 5 He wrestled with the angel and beat him,
 4 he wept and pleaded with him.
 He met him at Bethel
 and there God spoke to him.
 6 Yes, Yahweh God of Sabaoth. Yahweh is his name.
 5 Turn again, then, to your God,
 7 hold fast to love and justice,
 6 and always put your trust in your God.

Greed and the punishment of Israel

⁸/₇ Canaan holds fraudulent scales in his hands,
 to defraud is his delight.
 9 "How rich I have become!" says Ephraim,
 8 "I have amassed a fortune."
 But he will keep nothing of all his profits,
 because of the guilt that he has brought on himself.

b. Probably Salamanu, king of Moab.

11 a. Neighboring towns of Sodom and Gomorrah in Gn. 10:19; presumably overwhelmed by the same fate, according to the tradition followed here.

The prospect of reconciliation between Yahweh and Israel

10 I have been Yahweh, your God, since the days in the land of Egypt.
 I will make you live in tents again
 as on the day of Meeting.^a 11 I will speak to the prophets,
 10 I will increase the visions and through the prophets I will deal out death.

New threats

12 Gilead is nothing but iniquity, 11 they are falsehood, nothing else;
 at Gilgal they sacrifice to bulls;
 their altars shall be reduced to heaps of stones
 in a plowed field.

Against Jacob and Ephraim

13 Jacob fled to the plains of Aram, 12 Israel worked to win a wife,
 to win a wife he looked after sheep.
 14 But Yahweh brought Israel out of Egypt by a prophet,
 13 and a prophet looked after Israel.
 14 Ephraim has given bitter provocation and Yahweh means to bring his bloodshed down on him,
 his Lord will repay him for his insults.

Idolatry punished

1 13 When Ephraim spoke, all trembled,
 so great was he in Israel,
 but through Baal he brought guilt on himself and perished.
 And now they add sin to sin,
 they smelt images from their silver,
 idols of their own manufacture,
 smith's work, all of it.
 "Sacrifice to them," they say.
 Men blow kisses to calves!
 3 Therefore they will be like morning mist,
 like the dew that quickly disappears,
 like the chaff whirled from the threshing floor,
 like smoke escaping through the window.

The punishment for ingratitude

4 Yet I am Yahweh, your God since the days in the land of Egypt;
 you know no God but me,
 there is no other savior.
 5 I pastured you in the wilderness;
 in the land of drought
 6 I pastured them, and they were satisfied;
 once satisfied, their hearts grew proud,
 and so they came to forget me.
 7 Very well, I will be a lion to them,
 a leopard lurking by the way;
 8 like a bear robbed of her cubs I will pounce on them,
 and tear the flesh around their hearts;
 the dogs shall eat their flesh,
 the wild beasts tear them to pieces.

The end of the monarchy

- 9 I mean to destroy you, Israel;
 who can come to your help?
 10 Your king, where is he now, to save you,^a where are your leaders to champion you?
 Those of whom you used to say,
 "Give me a king and leaders."
 11 In my anger I gave you a king and in my wrath I take him away.

The inevitability of ruin

- 12 The iniquity of Ephraim is carefully hoarded,
 his sin is safely stored away.
 13 Pangs as of childbirth overtake him,
 and a stupid child it is,
 its time is up but it does not leave the womb.
 14 And am I to save them from the power of Sheol?
 Am I to rescue them from Death?
 Where is your plague, Death?
 Where are your scourges, Sheol?
 I have no eyes for pity.
 15 Ephraim may flourish among the reeds,
 but the wind from the East will come,
 the breath of Yahweh will rise from the desert
 to dry his water sources, to parch his springs, to strip his land of all its treasures.

- 1 14 Samaria must atone
 for rebelling against her God.
 They shall fall by the sword,
 their little children be dashed to pieces,
 their pregnant women disemboweled.

III. THE REPENTANCE AND RECONCILIATION OF ISRAEL. A PROMISE OF FUTURE HAPPINESS

The sincere conversion of Israel to Yahweh

- 2 Israel, come back to Yahweh your God;
 your iniquity was the cause of your downfall.
 3 Provide yourself with words
 and come back to Yahweh.
 Say to him, "Take all iniquity away
 so that we may have happiness again
 and offer you our words of praise.
 4 Assyria cannot save us,
 we will not ride horses any more,^a or say, 'Our God!' to what our own hands have made,
 for you are the one in whom orphans find compassion."
 5 —I will heal their disloyalty,

12 a. At Sinai, Ex. 5:3.

13 a. Possibly an ironic allusion to Hoshea, whose name means "Yahweh-is-savior." He was imprisoned at the beginning of the siege of Samaria, see 14:1.

14 a. "Ride horses"; possibly "conclude an alliance with Egypt," for the sake of the mounted troops for which Egypt was famous.

I will love them with all my heart,
for my anger has turned from them.
6 I will fall like dew on Israel.
He shall bloom like the lily,
and thrust out roots like the poplar, 7 his shoots will spread far;
he will have the beauty of the olive and the fragrance of Lebanon.
8 They will come back to live in my shade;
they will grow corn that flourishes,
they will cultivate vines
as renowned as the wine of Helbon.
9 What has Ephraim to do with idols any more when it is I who hear his prayer and care for him?
I am like a cypress ever green,
all your fruitfulness comes from me.

Concluding admonition

10 Let the wise man understand these words.
Let the intelligent man grasp their meaning.
For the ways of Yahweh are straight,
and virtuous men walk in them,
but sinners stumble.

JOEL

Title

¹ 1 The word of Yahweh that was addressed to Joel son of Pethuel.

I. THE PLAGUE OF LOCUSTS

A. A LITURGY OF MOURNING AND ENTREATY

a. Lamentation over the ruin of the country

² Listen to this, you elders;
all inhabitants of the country, attend.
Has anything like this ever happened in your day,
or in your fathers' days?
³ Tell it to your sons,
let your sons tell it to their sons,
and their sons to a generation after them.
⁴ What the gnawer has left, the grown locust has devoured,
what the grown locust has left, the hopper has devoured, what the hopper has left, the shearer has devoured.^a ⁵ Awake, drunkards, and weep!
All you who drink wine, lament
for that new wine: it has been dashed from your lips.
⁶ For a nation has invaded my country,
mighty and innumerable;
its teeth are the teeth of lions,
it has the fangs of a lioness.
⁷ It has laid waste my vines
and torn my fig trees to pieces;
it has stripped them clean and cut them down,
their branches have turned white.
⁸ Mourn like a virgin wearing sackcloth for her young man betrothed to her.
⁹ Oblation and libation^b have vanished
from the house of Yahweh.
The priests, the ministers of Yahweh,
are in mourning.
¹⁰ Wasted lie the fields,
the fallow is in mourning.
For the corn has been laid waste,
the wine fails,
the fresh oil dries up.

1 a. The locust invasion has included insects in four distinct stages of growth. b. The daily offerings from the produce of the soil: corn, wine and oil, as listed in v.10.

- 11 Stand dismayed, you farmers,
wail, you vinedressers,
for the wheat, for the barley;
the harvest of the field has been ruined.
- 12 The vine has withered,
the fig tree wilts away;
pomegranate, and palm, and apple,
every tree in the field is drooping.
Yes, gladness has faded
among the sons of men.

b. A call to repentance and prayer

- 13 Priests, put on sackcloth and lament.
Ministers of the altar, wail.
Come, pass the night in sackcloth,
you ministers of my God.
For the house of our God has been deprived of oblation and libation.
- 14 Order a fast,
proclaim a solemn assembly;
elders, call together
all the inhabitants of the country to the house of Yahweh your God.
Cry out to Yahweh,
"Oh, what a day!
For the day of Yahweh is near,
it comes as a devastation from Shaddai."^e
- 16 Has not the food disappeared before our eyes?
Have not joy and gladness vanished
from the house of our God?
- 17 Seeds shrivel
under their clods;
the barns are broken down,
the granaries lie in ruins,
for lack of harvest.
- 18 What mourning from the beasts!
The herds of cattle wander bewildered
because they have no pasture.
Even the flocks of sheep must bear their punishment.
- 19 To you, Yahweh, I cry:
fire has devoured the pastures on the heath,
flame has burned up
every tree in the orchard.
- 20 Even the wild beasts wait anxiously for you,
for the watercourses have run dry,
and fire has devoured the pastures on the heath.

c. The day of Yahweh and the present calamity

The alarm

- 1 2 Sound the trumpet in Zion,
give the alarm on my holy mountain!
Let all the inhabitants of the country tremble,
for the day of Yahweh is coming,
yes, it is near.

2 Day of darkness and gloom,
 day of cloud and blackness.
 Like the dawn there spreads across the mountains
 a vast and mighty host,
 such as has never been before,
 such as will never be again
 to the remotest ages.

The invading army

3 In their van the fire devours,
 in their rear a flame consumes.
 The country is like a garden of Eden ahead of them
 and a desert waste behind them.
 Nothing escapes them.
 4 They look like horses,
 like chargers they gallop on,
 5 with a racket like the clatter of chariots
 they hurtle over the mountain tops, with a crackling like a blazing fire
 devouring the stubble,
 a mighty army in battle array.
 6 At the sight of them the peoples are appalled
 and every face grows pale.
 7 Like fighting men they press forward,
 like warriors scale the walls,
 each marching straight ahead,
 not turning from his path;
 8 they never jostle each other,
 each marches straight ahead:
 arrows fly, they still press forward,
 without breaking ranks.
 9 They hurl themselves at the city,
 they leap on to its walls,
 climb to the housetops,
 and make their way through windows
 like marauders.

A vision of the day of Yahweh

10 As they come on, the earth quakes,
 the skies tremble,
 sun and moon grow dark,
 the stars lose their brilliance.
 11 Yahweh makes his voice heard
 at the head of his army,
 and indeed his regiments are innumerable,
 all powerful is the one that carries out his orders,
 for great is the day of Yahweh,
 and very terrible—who can face it?

d. A call to repentance

12 “But now, now—it is Yahweh who speaks—
 come back to me with all your heart, fasting, weeping, mourning.” 13 Let your hearts be broken, not your garments torn,

c. There is a Hebrew pun on the word for “devastation” and Shaddai (one of the names of God).

turn to Yahweh your God again,
for he is all tenderness and compassion,
slow to anger, rich in graciousness,
and ready to relent.

14 Who knows if he will not turn again, will not relent,
will not leave a blessing as he passes,
oblation and libation
for Yahweh your God?

15 Sound the trumpet in Zion!
Order a fast,
proclaim a solemn assembly,
16 call the people together,
summon the community,
assemble the elders,
gather the children,
even the infants at the breast.

Let the bridegroom leave his bedroom and the bride her alcove.
17 Between vestibule and altar let the priests,
the ministers of Yahweh, lament.
Let them say:
"Spare your people, Yahweh!
Do not make your heritage a thing of shame,
a byword for the nations.
Why should it be said among the nations,
'Where is their God?'"

B. THE PRAYER ANSWERED

18 Then Yahweh, jealous on behalf of his land, took pity on his people.

The plague ceases

19 Yahweh spoke in answer to his people,
"Now I send you
corn and wine and oil,
until you have enough.
Never again shall I make you
a thing of shame for the nations.
20 I will drive the invader from the north far away from you and drive him into an arid, desolate land,
his vanguard to the eastern sea,
his rearguard to the western sea.
He will give off a stench,
give off a foul stink."
(For he has done great things.)

A vision of plenty

21 O soil, do not be afraid;
be glad, rejoice,
for Yahweh has done great things.
22 Beasts of the field, do not be afraid;
the pastures on the heath are green again,
the trees bear fruit,
vine and fig tree yield abundantly.

- 23 Sons of Zion, be glad,
rejoice in Yahweh your God;
for he has given you
the autumn rain, since he is just,
and has poured the rains down for you,
the autumn and spring rain as before.
- 24 The threshing floors will be full of grain,
the vats overflow with wine and oil.
- 25 "I will make up to you for the years devoured by grown locust and hopper
by shearer and young locust,
my great army
which I sent to invade you."
- 26 You will eat to your heart's content, will eat your fill,
and praise the name of Yahweh your God
who has treated you so wonderfully.
(My people will not be disappointed any more.)
- 27 And you will know that I am in the midst of Israel, that I am Yahweh your God, with none to equal me.
My people will not be disappointed any more.

II. THE NEW AGE AND THE DAY OF YAHWEH

A. THE OUTPOURING OF THE SPIRIT

- ¹
28 3 "After this
I will pour out my spirit on all mankind.
Your sons and daughters shall prophesy,
your old men shall dream dreams,
and your young men see visions.
- ²
29 Even on the slaves, men and women,
will I pour out my spirit in those days.
- ³
30 I will display portents in heaven and on earth,
blood and fire and columns of smoke."
- ⁴
31 The sun will be turned into darkness,
and the moon into blood,
before the day of Yahweh dawns,
that great and terrible day.
- ⁵
32 All who call on the name of Yahweh will be saved, for on Mount Zion there will be some who have escaped,^a
as Yahweh has said,
and in Jerusalem some survivors whom Yahweh will call.

B. THE JUDGMENT OF THE NATIONS

The judgment announced

- ¹
3 4 "For in those days and at that time,
when I restore the fortunes of Judah and Jerusalem,
I am going to gather all the nations
and take them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat;
there I intend to put them on trial for all they have done to Israel, my people and my heritage.

For^a they have scattered them among the nations
and have divided up my land among themselves.

They have cast lots for my people;
they have bartered the boys for prostitutes,
have sold the girls for wine and drunk it.”

Charges against the Phoenicians and Philistines

“And you, Tyre and Sidon, what do you expect from me?
You too, regions of Philistia?

Do you want to take revenge on me?

If you were to take revenge on me,
I would make it recoil promptly and swiftly on your own heads.

You who have taken my silver and my gold,
who have carried off my rich treasures to your temples,

you who have sold to the people of Javan^b
the sons of Judah and Jerusalem,

to remove them far from their own frontiers.

Now I mean to summon them from wherever you have sold them, now I intend to make your crime recoil on your own heads.

I am going to sell your sons and daughters
into the hands of the sons of Judah,

and they will sell them to the Sabaeans,^c
to a distant nation;

Yahweh has spoken!”

A summons to the nations

“Proclaim this among the nations.

‘Prepare for war!

Muster the champions!

Warriors, advance,

quick march!

Hammer your plowshares into swords,

your sickles into spears,

let the weakling say, “I am a fighting man.”

Come quickly,

all you surrounding nations,

assemble there!’

(Yahweh, send down your champions!)

“Let the nations rouse themselves, let them march to the Valley of Jehoshaphat,

for I am going to sit in judgment there on all the nations around.

Put the sickle in:

the harvest is ripe;

come and tread:

the winepress is full,

the vats are overflowing,

so great is their wickedness!”

Host on host

in the Valley of Decision!

For the day of Yahweh is near

in the Valley of Decision!

The day of Yahweh

Sun and moon grow dark,

the stars lose their brilliance.

- 16 Yahweh roars from Zion,
makes his voice heard from Jerusalem;
heaven and earth tremble.
- But Yahweh will be a shelter for his people,
a stronghold for the sons of Israel.
- 17 "You will learn then that I am Yahweh your God, dwelling in Zion, my holy mountain.
Jerusalem will be a holy place,
no alien will ever pass through it again."

C. THE GLORIOUS FUTURE OF ISRAEL

- 18 When that day comes,
the mountains will run with new wine
and the hills flow with milk,
and all the river beds of Judah
will run with water.
A fountain will spring from the house of Yahweh
to water the wadi of Acacias.
- 19 Egypt will become a desolation, Edom a desert waste
on account of the violence done to the sons of Judah whose innocent blood they shed in their country.
- 20 But Judah will be inhabited for ever,
Jerusalem from age to age.
- 21 "I will avenge their blood and let none go unpunished," and Yahweh shall make his home in Zion.

AMOS

Title

¹ 1 Words of Amos who was one of the shepherds of Tekoa. The visions he had about Israel in the time of Uzziah king of Judah and of Jeroboam^a son of Joash, king of Israel, two years before the earthquake.

Introduction

² He said:

Yahweh roars from Zion,
and makes his voice heard from Jerusalem;
the shepherds' pastures mourn,
and the crown of Carmel withers.

I. JUDGMENT ON THE NEIGHBORS OF ISRAEL AND ON ISRAEL ITSELF

Damascus

³ Yahweh says this:

For the three crimes, the four crimes,^b of Damascus
I have made my decree and will not relent:
because they have thrashed Gilead with iron threshing sledges,
⁴ I am going to hurl fire on the House of Hazael
⁵ to burn up Ben-hadad's^c palaces;
I am going to break the gate bars of Damascus,
and cut down the one enthroned at Bikath-aven
and the sceptered one at Beth-eden^d;
and the people of Aram shall go captive to Kir, says Yahweh.

Gaza and Philistia

⁶ Yahweh says this:

For the three crimes, the four crimes, of Gaza
I have made my decree and will not relent:
because they have deported entire nations
as slaves to Edom,
⁷ I am going to hurl fire on the walls of Gaza
to burn up her palaces.
⁸ I am going to cut down the one enthroned at Ashdod
and the sceptered one at Ashkelon;
I am going to turn my hand against Ekron
until the last of the Philistines is dead,
says Yahweh.

Tyre and Phoenicia

9 Yahweh says this:

For the three crimes, the four crimes, of Tyre
 I have made my decree and will not relent:
 because they have deported entire nations as slaves to Edom
 and have not remembered the covenant of brotherhood, 10 I am going to hurl fire on the walls of Tyre
 to burn up her palaces.

Edom

11 Yahweh says this:

For the three crimes, the four crimes, of Edom
 I have made my decree and will not relent:
 because he has persecuted his brother with the sword,
 stifling his pity,
 persistently nursing his fury
 and ever cherishing his rage, 12 I am going to hurl fire on Teman^e
 to burn up the palaces of Bozrah.

Ammon

13 Yahweh says this:

For the three crimes, the four crimes, of the sons of Ammon
 I have made my decree and will not relent:
 because they have disemboweled the pregnant women of Gilead in order to extend their own frontiers, 14 I am going to light a fire against the wall of Rabbah
 to burn up her palaces,
 to the sound of war cries on the day of battle,
 amid storms on a day of hurricane;
 15 and their king shall go into exile,
 he and his princes with him,
 says Yahweh.

Moab

1 2 Yahweh says this:

For the three crimes, the four crimes, of Moab
 I have made my decree and will not relent:
 because they have burned the bones of the king^a of Edom for lime, 2 I am going to hurl fire on Moab to burn up the palaces of Kerioth,
 and Moab shall die in tumult,
 to the sound of war cries and the blare of trumpets;
 3 I will cut down the chieftain inside her and slaughter all her princes with him,
 says Yahweh.

Judah

4 Yahweh says this:

1 a. Jeroboam II of Israel, 783–743. b. In the manner of the “numerical proverbs,” the two consecutive numbers indicate an indefinite number. c. King Hazael of Damascus and his son Ben-hadad III were bitter enemies of Israel. d. The two place names (meaning “valley of wickedness” and “house of pleasure”) stand for Damascus. e. A tribal name or place name. 2 a. Thus ensuring the suffering of the soul.

For the three crimes, the four crimes, of Judah
 I have made my decree and will not relent:
 because they have rejected the Law of Yahweh
 and failed to keep his precepts, because the false gods which their ancestors followed have led them astray,
 5 I am going to hurl fire on Judah
 to burn up the palaces of Jerusalem.

Israel

6 Yahweh says this:

For the three crimes, the four crimes, of Israel
 I have made my decree and will not relent:
 because they have sold the virtuous man for silver and the poor man for a pair of sandals, 7 because they trample on the heads of ordinary people and push the poor out of their path, because father and son have both resorted to the same girl,^b profaning my holy name, 8 because they stretch themselves out by the side of every altar on clothes acquired as pledges, and drink the wine of the people they have fined
 in the house of their god . . .

9 Yet it was I who overthrew the Amorites when they attacked, men tall as cedars and strong as oaks,
 I who destroyed them,
 both fruit above ground
 and root below.

10 It was I who brought you out of the land of Egypt and for forty years led you through the wilderness
 to take possession of the Amorite's country.

11 I raised up prophets from your sons and nazirites from your young men.
 Is this not true, sons of Israel?
 —it is Yahweh who speaks.

12 But you have forced the nazirites to drink wine and given orders to the prophets,
 "Do not prophesy."

13 See then how I am going to crush you into the ground
 as the threshing sledge crushes when clogged by straw; 14 flight will not save even the swift,
 the strong man will find his strength useless,
 the mighty man will be powerless to save himself.
 15 The Bowman will not stand his ground,
 the fast runner will not escape,
 the horseman will not save himself,
 16 the bravest warriors will run away naked that day.
 It is Yahweh who speaks.

II. ISRAEL WARNED AND THREATENED

Election and punishment

1 3 Listen, sons of Israel, to this oracle Yahweh speaks against you, against the whole family I brought out of the land of Egypt:

- 2 You alone, of all the families of earth, have I acknowledged,
therefore it is for all your sins that I mean to punish you.

The prophetic call cannot be resisted

- 3 Do two men take the road together
if they have not planned to do so?
4 Does the lion roar in the jungle
if no prey has been found?
Does the young lion growl in his lair
if he has captured nothing?
5 Does the bird fall to the ground
if no trap has been set?
Does the snare spring up from the ground
if nothing has been caught?
6 Does the trumpet sound in the city
without the populace becoming alarmed?
Does misfortune come to a city
if Yahweh has not sent it?
7 No more does the Lord Yahweh do anything without revealing his plans to his servants the prophets.
8 The lion roars: who can help feeling afraid?
The Lord Yahweh speaks: who can refuse to prophesy?

Samaria will perish for her corruption

- 9 Proclaim it in the palaces of Assyria
and in the palaces in the land of Egypt;
saying, "Assemble on Samaria's mountain and see what great disorder there is in that city, what oppression is found inside her." 10 They know nothing of fair dealing
—it is Yahweh who speaks—
they cram their palaces full by harshness and extortion.
11 Therefore, the Lord Yahweh says this:
An enemy^a is going to invade the country,
your power will be brought low,
your palaces looted.
12 Yahweh says this:
Like a shepherd rescuing a couple of legs or a bit of an ear from the lion's mouth,
so will these sons of Israel
be rescued, who now loll in Samaria on the corner pillows of their divans.

Against Bethel and domestic luxury

- 13 Listen, and then testify it against the House of Jacob
—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks, the God of Sabaoth:
14 On the day I punish Israel for his crimes
I will punish the altars of Bethel;
the horns of the altar are going to be broken off
and dropped on the ground.
15 I mean to pull down both winter houses and summer houses,
the houses of ivory will be destroyed,
the houses of ebony will vanish.
It is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.

^b. Sacred prostitution was a feature of Canaanite worship.

^{3 a}. Assyria.

Against the women of Samaria

- 1 4 Listen to this word, you cows of Bashan living in the mountain of Samaria, oppressing the needy, crushing the poor,
 saying to your husbands, "Bring us something to drink!"
- 2 The Lord Yahweh swears this by his holiness:
 The days are coming to you now
 when you will be dragged out with hooks,
 the very last of you with prongs.
- 3 Out you will go, each by the nearest breach in the wall, to be driven all the way to Hermon.^a
 It is Yahweh who speaks.

The self-deception, obstinacy and punishment of Israel

- 4 Go to Bethel, and sin,
 to Gilgal, and sin your hardest!
 Offer your sacrifices each morning
 and your tithes on the third day,
- 5 burn leavened dough as a sacrifice with praise,
 announce your voluntary offerings, make them public,
 for this is what makes you happy, sons of Israel.
 It is the Lord Yahweh who speaks.
- 6 And that is why I left your teeth clean in all your towns,
 left you without bread in all your villages;
 and yet you never came back to me.
 It is Yahweh who speaks.
- 7 I kept your rain back with harvest still three months away;
 I let rain fall on one town and none on another, one field was rained on and the next dried up because I sent it no rain;
 two towns, three towns, went tottering to the next for drinking water,
 but their thirst had to stay unquenched;
 and yet you never came back to me.
 It is Yahweh who speaks.
- 9 I struck you with burning and scorching,
 and withered your gardens and vineyards;
 the locusts devoured your fig trees and olives;
 and yet you never came back to me.
 It is Yahweh who speaks.
- 10 I sent you a plague like Egypt's plague;
 I slaughtered your young men with the sword,
 while your horses were captured for plunder;
 I filled your nostrils with the stench of your camps;
 and yet you never came back to me.
 It is Yahweh who speaks.
- 11 I overthrew you as God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah,^b and you were like a brand snatched from the blaze;
 and yet you never came back to me.
 It is Yahweh who speaks.
- 12 This therefore, Israel, is what I plan to do to you,
 and because I am going to do this to you,
 Israel, prepare to meet your God!

Doxology

- 13 For he it was who formed the mountains, created the wind,
 reveals his mind to man,
 makes both dawn and dark,
 and walks on the top of the heights of the world;
 Yahweh, God of Sabaoth, is his name.

Lament for Israel

- 1 5 Listen to this oracle I speak against you,
 it is a dirge, House of Israel:
 2 She is down and will rise no more,
 the virgin of Israel.
 There she lies all alone on her own soil,
 with no one to lift her up;
 3 for thus says the Lord Yahweh to the House of Israel:
 The town which used to put a thousand in the field
 will be left with a hundred,
 and the one which used to put a hundred will be left with ten.

No salvation without repentance

- 4 For Yahweh says this to the House of Israel.
 Seek me and you shall live.
 5 Do not seek Bethel,
 do not go to Gilgal,
 do not journey to Beersheba,
 since Gilgal is going to be exiled
 and Bethel brought to nothing.
 6 Seek Yahweh and you shall live, or else he will rush like fire on the House of Joseph and burn it up, with none at Bethel able to put out the flames.

Doxology

- 8 It is he who made the Pleiades and Orion,
 who turns the dusk to dawn
 and day to darkest night.
 He summons the waters of the sea
 and pours them over the land.
 Yahweh is his name.
 9 He blazes out ruin on the stronghold
 and brings destruction to the fortress.

Threats

- 7 Trouble for those who turn justice into wormwood,
 throwing integrity to the ground;
 10 who hate the man dispensing justice at the city gate and detest those who speak with honesty.
 11 Well then, since you have trampled on the poor man, extorting levies on his wheat—
 those houses you have built of dressed stone,
 you will never live in them;
 and those precious vineyards you have planted,
 you will never drink their wine.
 12 For I know that your crimes are many,
 and your sins enormous:

persecutors of the virtuous, blackmailers,
 turning away the needy at the city gate.
 13 No wonder the prudent man keeps silent,
 the times are so evil.

Exhortation

14 Seek good and not evil
 so that you may live,
 and that Yahweh, God of Sabaoth, may really be with you
 as you claim he is.
 15 Hate evil, love good,
 maintain justice at the city gate, and it may be that Yahweh, God of Sabaoth, will take pity on the remnant of Joseph.

Impending punishment

16 Therefore Yahweh says this,
 the God of Sabaoth, the Lord.
 In every public square there will be lamentation,
 in every street wails of "Alas! Alas!"
 Peasants will be called on to lament
 as well as the professional mourners 17 and there will be wailing in every vineyard, for I am going to pass through you,
 says Yahweh.

The day of Yahweh

18 Trouble for those who are waiting so longingly for the day of Yahweh!
 What will this day of Yahweh mean for you?
 It will mean darkness, not light, 19 as when a man escapes a lion's mouth,
 only to meet a bear;
 he enters his house and puts his hand on the wall,
 only for a snake to bite him.
 20 Will not the day of Yahweh be darkness, not light?
 It will all be gloom, without a single ray of light.

Against formalism in religion

21 I hate and despise your feasts,
 I take no pleasure in your solemn festivals.
 22 When you offer me holocausts,

 I reject your oblations,
 and refuse to look at your sacrifices of fattened cattle.
 23 Let me have no more of the din of your chanting,
 no more of your strumming on harps.
 24 But let justice flow like water,
 and integrity like an unfailling stream.
 25 Did you bring me sacrifice and oblation in the wilderness for all those forty years, House of Israel?
 26 Now you must shoulder Sakkuth your king and Kaiwan your god,
 those idols you have made for yourselves^a;
 27 for I mean to take you far beyond Damascus into exile, says Yahweh—God of Sabaoth is his name.

Against the self-indulgent and their false sense of security

- 1 6 Woe to those ensconced so snugly in Zion
and to those who feel so safe on the mountain of Samaria, those famous men of this first of nations to whom the House of Israel goes as client.
- 2 Make a journey to Calneh and look,
go on from there to Hamath the great,
then down to Gath in Philistia.^a
Are they any better off than these kingdoms?
Is their territory larger than yours?
- 3 You think to defer the day of misfortune,
but you hasten the reign of violence.
- 4 Lying on ivory beds
and sprawling on their divans,
they dine on lambs from the flock,
and stall-fattened veal;
- 5 they bawl to the sound of the harp,
they invent new instruments of music like David,
they drink wine by the bowlful,
and use the finest oil for anointing themselves,
but about the ruin of Joseph^b they do not care at all.
- 7 That is why they will be the first to be exiled;
the sprawlers' revelry is over.

The punishment and its horrors

- 8 The Lord Yahweh swears it by his own self
—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks, the God of Sabaoth.
I detest the pride of Jacob,
I hate his palaces.
I mean to abandon the city^c and all it contains.
And if ten men are left in a single house, they shall die.
- 9 Only a few will escape
to carry the bones out of the house;
and if a man should say to another one in a corner of the house,
“Is there anyone left with you?”
he will reply, “No! Hush! The name of Yahweh must not be mentioned.”
- 11 For see, Yahweh himself orders it;
as he strikes, the great house falls to pieces,
the small house crumbles.
- 12 Do horses gallop on rocks,
do men plow the sea with oxen,
for you to change justice into poison,
and the fruit of integrity into wormwood?
- 13 You rejoice over Lo-debar,^d
“Was it not by our own strength,” you say, “that we took Karnaim?”
- 14 Now see, you House of Israel, how I am stirring up against you
—it is Yahweh who speaks, the God of Sabaoth—
a nation that will harry you from the Pass of Hamath right down to the wadi of the Arabah.^e

5 a. Presumably the names are those of Babylonian gods.

6 a. Three cities already in ruins. b. The impending collapse of Israel. c. Samaria; possibly standing for all the towns of the Northern Kingdom. d. Lo-debar and Karnaim, in Transjordan, had been reconquered. e. I.e., from the north boundary to the south.

III. THE VISIONS

First vision: the locusts

- 1 7 This is what the Lord Yahweh showed me:
 it was a swarm of locusts
 at the time when the second crop was starting to grow, a swarm of full-grown locusts, when the king's cutting was over.
- 2 They were about to devour all the greenstuff in the land,
 but I said, "Lord Yahweh, forgive, I beg you.
 How can Jacob survive, being so small?"
- 3 And Yahweh relented;
 "This shall not happen," said Yahweh.

Second vision: the drought

- 4 This is what the Lord Yahweh showed me:
 the Lord Yahweh himself summoning fire in punishment;
 it had devoured the great Abyss^a
 and was already encroaching on the land.
- 5 Then I said, "Stop, Lord Yahweh, I beg you.
 How can Jacob survive, being so small?"
- 6 And Yahweh relented;
 "This will not happen either," said the Lord Yahweh.

Third vision: the plumb line

- 7 This is what the Lord Yahweh showed me:
 a man standing by a wall,
 plumb line in hand.
- 8 "What do you see, Amos?" Yahweh asked me.
 "A plumb line," I said.
 Then the Lord said to me,
 "Look, I am going to measure my people Israel by plumb line;
 no longer will I overlook their offenses.
- 9 The high places of Isaac are going to be ruined,
 the sanctuaries of Israel destroyed,
 and, sword in hand, I will attack the House of Jeroboam."

The intervention of Amaziah: Amos expelled from Bethel

- 10 Amaziah the priest of Bethel then sent word to Jeroboam king of Israel as follows. "Amos is plotting against you in the heart of the House of Israel; the country can no longer tolerate what he keeps saying. 'For this is what he says, 'Jeroboam is going to die by the sword, and Israel go into exile far from its country.'" 'To Amos, Amaziah said, "Go away, seer; get back to the land of
- 11 Judah; earn your bread there, do your prophesying there. 'We want no more
- 12 prophesying in Bethel: this is the royal sanctuary, the national temple.'" "I was
- 13 no prophet, neither did I belong to any of the brotherhoods of prophets," Amos
- 14 replied to Amaziah. "I was a shepherd, and looked after sycamores: 'but it was Yahweh who took me from herding the flock, and Yahweh who said, 'Go,
- 15 prophesy to my people Israel.'" 'So listen to the word of Yahweh. You say:

- 'Do not prophesy against Israel,
 utter no oracles against the House of Isaac.'
- 17 Very well, this is what Yahweh says,
 'Your wife will be forced to go on the streets,
 your sons and daughters will fall by the sword,
 your land be parceled out by measuring line,
 and you yourself die on unclean soil and Israel will go into exile far distant from its own land.'"

Fourth vision: the basket of ripe fruit

1 8 This is what the Lord Yahweh showed me:
 a basket of ripe fruit:
 2 "What do you see, Amos?" he asked.
 "A basket of ripe fruit," I said.
 Then Yahweh said,
 "My people Israel is ripe for destruction;
 I will no longer overlook its offenses.
 3 The palace singing girls will wail that day
 —it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—
 so many will be dead,
 all thrown down anywhere. Hush!"

Against swindlers and exploiters

4 Listen to this, you who trample on the needy and try to suppress the poor people of the country, 5 you who say, "When will New Moon be over so that we can sell our corn,
 and sabbath, so that we can market our wheat?
 Then by lowering the bushel, raising the shekel,
 by swindling and tampering with the scales,
 6 we can buy up the poor for money,
 and the needy for a pair of sandals,
 and get a price even for the sweepings of the wheat."
 7 Yahweh swears it by the pride of Jacob,
 "Never will I forget a single thing you have done."
 8 Is this not the reason for the earthquakes,
 for its inhabitants all mourning,
 and all of it heaving, like the Nile,
 then subsiding, like the river of Egypt?

Prediction of a mysterious punishment: darkness and mourning

9 "That day—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—
 I will make the sun go down at noon,
 and darken the earth in broad daylight.
 10 I am going to turn your feasts into funerals,
 all your singing into lamentation;
 I will have your loins all in sackcloth,
 your heads all shaved.
 I will make it a mourning like the mourning for an only son,
 as long as it lasts it will be like a day of bitterness.

Famine and drought of the word of God

11 "See what days are coming—it is the Lord Yahweh who speaks—days when I will bring famine on the country,
 a famine not of bread, a drought not of water,
 but of hearing the word of Yahweh.
 12 They will stagger from sea to sea,
 wander from north to east,
 seeking the word of Yahweh
 and failing to find it.

Fresh prediction of punishment

13 That day, delicate girl and stalwart youth shall faint from thirst.

7 a. "The waters under the earth" from which the rain and rivers come.

- 14 All who swear by Samaria's Ashimah, those who swear, 'By your god's life, Dan!'^a and, 'By your Beloved's life, Beersheba!'
these shall all fall, never to rise again."

Fifth vision: the fall of the sanctuary

- 1 9 I saw the Lord standing at the side of the altar.
"Strike the capitals," he said, "and let the roof tumble down!
I mean to break their heads, every one,
and all who remain I will put to the sword;
not one shall get away,
not one escape.
- 2 Should they burrow their way down to Sheol,
my hand shall haul them out;
should they scale the heavens,
I will drag them down;
- 3 should they hide on Carmel's peak,
there I will track them down and catch them;
should they hide from my sight on the sea bed,
I will tell the Dragon to bite them there;
- 4 should they go into exile driven before their enemies,
I will order the sword to slaughter them there;
and my eyes will be on them
for their misfortune, not their good."

Doxology

- 5 The Lord Yahweh of Sabaoth—
he touches the earth and it melts,
and all its inhabitants mourn;
it all heaves, like the Nile,
and subsides, like the river of Egypt.
- 6 He has built his high dwelling place in the heavens
and supported his vault on the earth;
he summons the waters of the sea
and pours them over the land.
Yahweh is his name.

No special privileges for Israel

- 7 "Are not you and the Cushites^a all the same to me,
sons of Israel?—it is Yahweh who speaks.
Did not I, who brought Israel out of the land of Egypt,
bring the Philistines from Caphtor, and the Aramaeans from Kir?
- 8 Now, my eyes are turned on the sinful kingdom,
to wipe it off the face of the earth.

Only sinners will perish

- "Yet I am not going to destroy the House of Jacob completely—it is Yahweh who speaks.
- 9 For now I will issue orders and shake the House of Israel among all the nations,
as you shake a sieve
so that not one pebble can fall on the ground.
- 10 All the sinners of my people are going to perish by the sword,
all those who say,
'No misfortune will ever touch us, nor even come anywhere near us.'

IV. PROSPECTS OF RESTORATION AND OF IDYLIC PROSPERITY

- 11 "That day I will re-erect the tottering hut of David,
 make good the gaps in it, restore its ruins
 and rebuild it as it was in the days of old, 12 so that they can conquer the remnant of Edom
 and all the nations that belonged to me.
 It is Yahweh who speaks, and he will carry this out.
- 13 "The days are coming now—it is Yahweh who speaks—
 when harvest will follow directly after plowing,
 the treading of grapes soon after sowing,
 when the mountains will run with new wine
 and the hills all flow with it.
- 14 I mean to restore the fortunes of my people Israel;
 they will rebuild the ruined cities and live in them,
 plant vineyards and drink their wine,
 dig gardens and eat their produce.
- 15 I will plant them in their own country,
 never to be rooted up again
 out of the land I have given them, says Yahweh, your God."

OBADIAH

Title and prologue

1a Vision of Obadiah: about Edom.

1c I have received a message from Yahweh,
a herald has been sent throughout the nations, “Up! Let us march against this people.
Into battle!”

Sentence pronounced on Edom

1b The Lord Yahweh says this:

2 Now I am going to reduce you among the nations,
and make you utterly despised.

3 Your pride of heart has led you astray, you whose home is in the holes in the rocks,^a who make the heights your dwelling,
who say in your heart,
“Who will bring me down to the ground?”

4 Though you soared like the eagle,
though you set your nest among the stars,
I would still fling you down again—it is Yahweh who speaks.

The annihilation of Edom

5 If robbers came to you,
or plunderers at night,
they would steal to their heart's content.
If grape gatherers came to you,
they would leave no gleanings behind them.

6 How you have been pillaged!
How Esau has been looted,
his hidden treasures rifled!
7 They have driven you right to the frontiers,
they have misled you, all your allies.
They have deceived you, your fine friends.
Those who ate your bread now set traps for you,
“He has no intelligence now.”

8 When that day comes—it is Yahweh who speaks—
shall I not deprive Edom of sages,
the Mount of Esau of intelligence?

9 Your warriors, Teman,^b will be seized with terror until not a single one is left in the Mount of Esau.

The guilt of Edom

- 10 For the slaughter, ^afor the violence done to your brother Jacob,^c shame will cover you and you will vanish for ever.
- 11 On the day you stood by
as strangers carried off his riches, as barbarians passed through his gate
and cast lots for Jerusalem,
you behaved like the rest of them.
- 12 Do not gloat over your brother
on the day of his misfortune.
Do not exult over the sons of Judah
on the day of their ruin.
Do not play the braggart
on the day of distress.
- 13 Do not pass through the gate of my people
on the day of its misfortune.
Do not, in your turn, gloat over its disaster
on the day of its misfortune.
Do not lay a finger on its treasures
on the day of its misfortune.
- 14 Do not take your stand at the crossroads
to cut off its fugitives.
Do not hand over its survivors
on the day of distress.
- 15 For the day of Yahweh is near
for all the nations.
As you have done, so will it be done to you:
your deeds will recoil on your own head.

The day of Yahweh. Israel revenged on Edom

- 16 ^aYes, as you have drunk on my holy mountain,
so will all the nations drink unsparingly;
they will drink, and drink deep,
and will be as if they had never been.
- 17 But on Mount Zion there will be some who have escaped
—it shall become a holy place—and the House of Jacob will despoil its own despoilers.
- 18 The House of Jacob shall be a fire,
the House of Joseph^e a flame,
the House of Esau stubble.
They will set it alight and burn it up,
and no member of the House of Esau shall survive.
Yahweh has spoken.

a. The capital of Edom was named "the Rock" (Petra). b. Northern district of Edom. c. The land of Judah. d. The rest of the prophecy is addressed to Israel. e. The Northern Kingdom.

The new Israel

- 19 Men from the Negeb will occupy the Mount of Esau,
men from the Lowlands the country of the Philistines;
they will occupy the land of Ephraim and the land of Samaria, and Benjamin will occupy Gilead.
- 20 The exiles from this army, the sons of Israel,
will occupy Canaan' as far as Zarephath;
and the exiles from Jerusalem now in Sepharad will occupy the towns of the Negeb.
- 21 Victorious, they will climb Mount Zion
to judge the Mount of Esau,
and the sovereignty shall belong to Yahweh.

JONAH

Jonah rebels against his mission

¹ 1 The word of Yahweh was addressed to Jonah son of Amittai: “Up!” he said, ² “Go to Nineveh, the great city, and inform them that their wickedness has ³ become known to me.” ·Jonah decided to run away from Yahweh, and to go to Tarshish.^a He went down to Joppa and found a ship bound for Tarshish; he paid his fare and went aboard, to go with them to Tarshish, to get away from ⁴ Yahweh. ·But Yahweh unleashed a violent wind on the sea, and there was such ⁵ a great storm at sea that the ship threatened to break up. ·The sailors took fright, and each of them called on his own god, and to lighten the ship they threw the cargo overboard. Jonah, however, had gone below and lain down in ⁶ the hold and fallen fast asleep. ·The boatswain came upon him and said, “What do you mean by sleeping? Get up! Call on your god! Perhaps he will spare us ⁷ a thought, and not leave us to die.” ·Then they said to each other, “Come on, let us draw lots to find out who is responsible for bringing this evil on us.”
⁸ So they cast lots, and the lot fell to Jonah. ·Then they said to him, “Tell us, what is your business? Where do you come from? What is your country? What ⁹ is your nationality?” ·He replied, “I am a Hebrew, and I worship Yahweh, the ¹⁰ God of heaven, who made the sea and the land.” ·The sailors were seized with terror at this and said, “What have you done?” They knew that he was trying to ¹¹ escape from Yahweh, because he had told them so. ·They then said, “What are we to do with you. to make the sea grow calm for us?” For the sea was growing ¹² rougher and rougher. ·He replied, “Take me and throw me into the sea, and then it will grow calm for you. For I can see it is my fault this violent storm has ¹³ happened to you.” ·The sailors rowed hard in an effort to reach the shore, but ¹⁴ in vain, since the sea grew still rougher for them. ·They then called on Yahweh and said, “O Yahweh, do not let us perish for taking this man’s life; do not hold us guilty of innocent blood; for you, Yahweh, have acted as you have thought ¹⁵ right.” ·And taking hold of Jonah they threw him into the sea; and the sea grew ¹⁶ calm again. ·At this the men were seized with dread of Yahweh; they offered a sacrifice to Yahweh and made vows.

Jonah is saved

¹ 2 Yahweh had arranged that a great fish should be there to swallow Jonah; and Jonah remained in the belly of the fish for three days and three nights.
² From the belly of the fish he prayed to Yahweh, his God; he said:

³ “Out of my distress I cried to Yahweh
 and he answered me;
 from the belly of Sheol I cried,
 and you have heard my voice.
⁴ You cast me into the abyss, into the heart of the sea,
 and the flood surrounded me.
 All your waves, your billows,
 washed over me.

¹ a. “The end of the world”: Tartessos in Spain.

- 5 And I said: I am cast out from your sight.
How shall I ever look again
on your holy Temple?
- 6 The waters surrounded me right to my throat,
the abyss was all around me.
The seaweed was wrapped around my head
- 7 at the roots of the mountains.
I went down into the countries underneath the earth,
to the peoples of the past.
But you lifted my life from the pit,
Yahweh, my God.
- 8 While my soul was fainting within me,
I remembered Yahweh,
and my prayer came before you
into your holy Temple.
- 9 Those who serve worthless idols
forfeit the grace that was theirs.
- 10 "But I, with a song of praise,
will sacrifice to you.
The vow I have made, I will fulfill.
Salvation comes from Yahweh."
- 11 Yahweh spoke to the fish, which then vomited Jonah on to the shore.

The conversion of Nineveh and God's pardon

- ¹/₂ 3 The word of Yahweh was addressed a second time to Jonah: "Up!" he said, ³ "Go to Nineveh, the great city, and preach to them as I told you to." ·Jonah set out and went to Nineveh in obedience to the word of Yahweh. Now Nineveh 4 was a city great beyond compare: it took three days to cross it. ·Jonah went on into the city, making a day's journey. He preached in these words, "Only 5 forty days more and Nineveh is going to be destroyed." ·And the people of Nineveh believed in God; they proclaimed a fast and put on sackcloth, from the 6 greatest to the least. ·The news reached the king of Nineveh, who rose from his 7 throne, took off his robe, put on sackcloth and sat down in ashes. ·A proclamation was then promulgated throughout Nineveh, by decree of the king and his ministers, as follows: "Men and beasts, herds and flocks, are to taste nothing; 8 they must not eat, they must not drink water. ·All are to put on sackcloth and call on God with all their might; and let everyone renounce his evil behavior 9 and the wicked things he has done. ·Who knows if God will not change his mind and relent, if he will not renounce his burning wrath, so that we do not 10 perish?" ·God saw their efforts to renounce their evil behavior. And God relented:
he did not inflict on them the disaster which he had threatened.

The grievance of the prophet and God's answer

- ¹/₂ 4 Jonah was very indignant at this; he fell into a rage. ·He prayed to Yahweh and said, "Ah! Yahweh, is not this just as I said would happen when I was still at home? That was why I went and fled to Tarshish: I knew that you were a God of tenderness and compassion, slow to anger, rich in graciousness, relenting
3 from evil. ·So now Yahweh, please take away my life, for I might as well be dead
4 as go on living." ·Yahweh replied, "Are you right to be angry?" ·Jonah then went out of the city and sat down to the east of the city. There he made himself a shelter and sat under it in the shade, to see what would happen to the city.
6 Then Yahweh God arranged that a castor-oil plant should grow up over Jonah to give shade for his head and soothe his ill-humor; Jonah was delighted with 7 the castor-oil plant. ·But at dawn the next day, God arranged that a worm

⁸ should attack the castor-oil plant—and it withered. •Next, when the sun rose, God arranged that there should be a scorching east wind; the sun beat down so hard on Jonah's head that he was overcome and begged for death, saying,
⁹ "I might as well be dead as go on living." •God said to Jonah, "Are you right to be angry about the castor-oil plant?" He replied, "I have every right to be
¹⁰ angry, to the point of death." •Yahweh replied, "You are only upset about a castor-oil plant which cost you no labor, which you did not make grow,
¹¹ which sprouted in a night and has perished in a night. •And am I not to feel sorry for Nineveh, the great city, in which there are more than a hundred and twenty thousand people who cannot tell their right hand from their left, to say nothing of all the animals?"

MICAH

1 The word of Yahweh that was addressed to Micah of Moresheth in the time of Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, kings of Judah.
His visions of Samaria and Jerusalem.

I. ISRAEL ON TRIAL

THREAT AND CONDEMNATION

The judgment of Samaria^a

2 Listen, you peoples, all of you.
Attend, earth, and everything in it.
Yahweh is going to give evidence against you,
the Lord, as he sets out from his sacred palace.
3 For look, Yahweh sets out from his holy place,
he comes down, he treads the heights of earth.
4 The mountains melt as he goes,
the valleys are torn apart,
like wax before the fire,
like water poured out on a steep place.
5 All this is because of the crime of Jacob,
the sin of the House of Israel.
What is the crime of Jacob?
Is it not Samaria?
What is the sin of the House of Judah?
Is it not Jerusalem?
6 I mean to make Samaria a ruin in the open country,
a place where vines will be planted.
I will set her stones rolling into the valley,
I will lay her foundations bare.
7 All her images are going to be shattered,
all her earnings consumed by fire,
all her idols broken in pieces,
for they have been collected with prostitutes' earnings
and prostitutes' earnings they will be again.

Lament for the lowland cities^b

8 This is why I am going to mourn and lament, go barefoot and naked,
howl like the jackals,
wail like the ostriches.
9 For there is no healing for the blow Yahweh strikes;
it reaches into Judah,
it knocks at the very door of my people,
reaches even into Jerusalem.

- 10 Do not announce it in Gath,^c
 in . . . shed no tears.
 In Beth-leaphrah
 roll in the dust.
- 11 Sound the horn,
 you who live in Shaphir.
 She has not left her city,
 she who lives in Zaanan.
 Beth-ezel is torn from its foundations,
 from its strong supports.
- 12 What hope has she of happiness,
 she who lives in Maroth?
 For doom has come down from Yahweh
 to the very gate of Jerusalem.
- 13 Harness the horse to the chariot,
 you who live in Lachish.
 (This was the beginning of sin for the daughter of Zion, for Israel's crimes were to be found in you.)
- 14 So you must provide a dowry
 for Moresheth-gath.
 Beth-achzib will prove a snare
 for the kings of Israel.
- 15 The plunderer will come to you again,
 you who live in Mareshah.
 . . . to Adullam will go
 the glory of Israel.
- 16 Off with your hair, shave your head,
 for the sons that were your joy.
 Make yourselves bald like the vulture,
 for they have gone from you into exile.

Against the tyranny of the rich

- 1 2 Woe to those who plot evil,
 who lie in bed planning mischief!
 No sooner is it dawn than they do it
 —their hands have the strength for it.
- 2 Seizing the fields that they covet,
 they take over houses as well,
 owner and house they confiscate together,
 taking both man and inheritance.
- 3 So Yahweh says this:
 Now it is I who plot
 such mischief against this breed
 as your necks will not escape;
 nor will you be able to walk proudly,
 so evil will the time be.
- 4 On that day they will make a satire on you,
 sing a dirge and say,
 "We are stripped of everything;
 my people's portion is measured out and shared,
 no one will give it back to them,
 our fields are awarded to our despoiler."

1 a. Before the fall of the city in 721. b. Twelve towns to the southwest of Judah; one is the prophet's home, Moresheth (1:1), and six of the others can be identified; one name is missing from the text. The prophecy about each of the towns is a play on its name, and the whole refers to Sennacherib's invasion of 701. c. 2 S. 1:20

5 Therefore you will have no one to measure out a share in the community of Yahweh.

The prophet of misfortune

6 "Do not rave," they rave,
"do not rave like this.
No shame is going to overtake us.
7 Can the House of Jacob be accursed?
Has Yahweh lost patience?
Is that his way of going to work?
Surely his words are words of kindness
for his people Israel?"
8 It is you who play the enemy to my people.
From the innocent man you snatch his cloak,
on the man who thinks himself safe you inflict the damage of war.
9 The women of my people you drive out from the homes they loved;
their children you rob for ever
of the honor I gave them,
10 "Get up! Be off! There is no resting here."
For a worthless thing, you exact an extortionate pledge.
11 Were there a man of inspiration who would invent this lie,
"I prophesy you wine and strong drink,"
he would be the prophet for a people like this.

Promises of restoration

12 Yes, I am going to gather all Jacob together,
I will gather the remnant of Israel,
bring them together like sheep in the fold;
like a flock in its pasture
they will fear no man.
13 He who walks at their head will lead the way in front of them;
he will walk at their head, they will pass through the gate and go out by it;
their king will go on in front of them,
Yahweh at their head.

Against the rulers who oppress the people

1 3 Then I said:
Listen now, you princes of the House of Jacob,
rulers of the House of Israel.
Are you not the ones who should know what is right,
you, enemies of good and friends of evil?
2 When they have devoured the flesh of my people and torn off their skin
and crushed their bones;
when they have shredded them like flesh in a pot
and like meat in a caldron,
3 then they will cry out to Yahweh.
But he will not answer them.
4 He will hide his face at that time because of all the crimes they have committed.

Against venal prophets

- 5 Yahweh says this against the prophets
 who lead my people astray:
 So long as they have something to eat
 they cry "Peace."
 But on anyone who puts nothing into their mouths
 they declare war.
- 6 And so the night will come to you: an end of vision;
 darkness for you: an end of divination.
 The sun will set for the prophets,
 the day will go black for them.
- 7 Then the seers will be covered with shame,
 the diviners with confusion;
 they will all cover their lips,
 because no answer comes from God.
- 8 Not so with me, I am full of strength (of the breath of Yahweh),
 of justice and courage to declare Jacob's crime to his face and Israel's to his.

To the guilty ones: prophecy of the ruin of Zion

- 9 Now listen to this, you princes of the House of Jacob,
 rulers of the House of Israel,
 you who loathe justice
 and pervert all that is right,
 you who build Zion with blood,
 Jerusalem with crime.
- 11 Her princes pronounce their verdict for bribes,
 her priests take a fee for their rulings,
 her prophets make divinations for money.
 And yet they rely on Yahweh. They say,
 "Is not Yahweh in our midst?
 No evil is going to overtake us."
 Because of this, since the fault is yours,
 Zion will become plowland,
 Jerusalem a heap of rubble,
 and the mountain of the Temple a wooded height.

II. PROMISES TO ZIONThe future reign of Yahweh in Zion^a

- 1 4 In the days to come
 the mountain of the Temple of Yahweh
 will be put on top of the mountains
 and be lifted higher than the hills.
 The peoples will stream to it, nations without number will come to it; and they will say,
 "Come, let us go up to the mountain of Yahweh,
 to the Temple of the God of Jacob
 so that he may teach us his ways
 and we may walk in his paths;
 since from Zion the Law will go out,

4 a. The same oracle as Is. 2:2-4.

and the oracle of Yahweh from Jerusalem.”

3 He will wield authority over many peoples and arbitrate for mighty nations;
they will hammer their swords into plowshares,
their spears into sickles.
Nation will not lift sword against nation,
there will be no more training for war.
4 Each man will sit under his vine and his fig tree,
with no one to trouble him.
The mouth of Yahweh Sabaoth has spoken it.

5 For all the peoples go forward, each in the name of its god;
but we, we go forward in the name of Yahweh, our God,
for ever and evermore.

The gathering of the scattered flock in Zion

6 That day—it is Yahweh who speaks—
I will finally gather in the lame,
and bring together those that have been led astray
and those that have suffered at my hand.

7 Out of the lame I will make a remnant,
and out of the weary a mighty nation.
Then will Yahweh reign over them
on the mountain of Zion
from now and for ever.

8 And you, Tower of the Flock, Ophel of the daughter of Zion,^b
to you shall be given back your former sovereignty, and royal power over the House of Israel.

The siege, exile and liberation of Zion

9 Why are you crying aloud?
Is there no king within you?
Are your counselors lost
that pains should grip you like a woman in labor?
10 Writhe, cry out, daughter of Zion,
like a woman in labor,
for now you have to leave the city
and live in the open country.
To Babylon you must go
and there you will be rescued;
there Yahweh will ransom you out of the power of your enemies.

The pagans crushed on the threshing floor in Zion

11 Now many nations
are mustered against you.
“Let her be desecrated,” they say,
“let our eyes feast on the ruins of Zion.”
12 But they do not know Yahweh’s thoughts,
they have failed to understand his purpose,
he has collected them like sheaves on the threshing floor.
13 Up, daughter of Zion, and thresh;
for I will give you horns of iron,
hoofs of bronze,
for you to trample down many peoples.

You will dedicate their plunder to Yahweh,
their treasures to the Lord of the whole earth.

The distress and glory of the Davidic dynasty

¹⁴₁ Now look to your fortifications, Fortress.
They have laid siege against us;
with a rod they strike on the cheek
the judge of Israel.

¹₂ 5 But you, (Bethlehem) Ephrathah,
the least of the clans of Judah,
out of you will be born for me
the one who is to rule over Israel;
his origin goes back to the distant past,
to the days of old.

²₃ Yahweh is therefore going to abandon them till the time when she who is to give birth^a gives birth.
Then the remnant of his brothers will come back to the sons of Israel.

³₄ He will stand and feed his flock
with the power of Yahweh,
with the majesty of the name of his God.
They will live secure, for from then on he will extend his power to the ends of the land.

^{4a}_{5a} He himself will be peace.

^{5b}_{6b} He will deliver us from Assyria should it invade our country, should it set foot inside our frontiers.

The confidence of the people of Judah

^{4b}_{5b} As for Assyria, should it invade our country, should it set foot on our soil,
we will raise seven shepherds against it,
eight leaders of men;

^{5a}_{6a} they will shepherd Assyria with the sword,
and the land of Nimrod with the sword blade.

The future role of the remnant among the nations

⁶₇ Then among the many peoples,
the remnant of Jacob will be
like a dew from Yahweh,
like raindrops on the grass,
putting no hope in men,
expecting nothing from mankind.

⁷₈ Then among the many peoples,
the remnant of Jacob will be
like a lion among beasts of the forest, like a young lion among flocks of sheep
trampling as he goes,
mangling his prey which no one takes from him.

Yahweh will withdraw the temptation to rely on men

⁸₉ Let your hand be raised against your foes and all your enemies shall be cut off.

⁹₁₀ This is how it will be, that day

b. Ophel is the district where the king lived.

5 a. Probably the "maiden" of Isaiah's prophecy about thirty years earlier, Is. 7:14.

—it is Yahweh who speaks—

I will tear away your horses from you,
and destroy your chariots;
10 11 tear the towns of your country from you,
bring down all your strongholds;
tear the charms from your hands,
and you will have no more soothsayers;
12a tear from you your images
and your pillars;
13 tear from you your sacred poles,
and demolish your idols;
12b and no longer will you bow down
before the work of your hands.
14 I will take revenge in anger and fury
on the nations that would not obey.

III. ISRAEL ON TRIAL

DENUNCIATION AND THREAT

Yahweh puts his people on trial

- 1 6 Now listen to what Yahweh is saying:
Stand up and let the case begin in the hearing of the mountains and let the hills hear what you say.
- 2 Listen, you mountains, to Yahweh's accusation,
give ear, you foundations of the earth,
for Yahweh is accusing his people,
pleading against Israel:
- 3 My people, what have I done to you,
how have I been a burden to you? Answer me.
- 4 I brought you out of the land of Egypt,
I rescued you from the house of slavery;
I sent Moses to lead you,
with Aaron and Miriam.
- 5 My people, remember:
what did Balak plot, that king of Moab?
What did Balaam answer, that son of Beor?
.....
. . . from Shittim to Gilgal,
for you to know the rightness of the ways of Yahweh.
- 6 —“With what gift shall I come into Yahweh's presence and bow down before God on high?
Shall I come with holocausts,
with calves one year old?
- 7 Will he be pleased with rams by the thousand,
with libations of oil in torrents?
Must I give my first-born for what I have done wrong,
the fruit of my body for my own sin?”
- 8 —What is good has been explained to you, man;
this is what Yahweh asks of you:
only this, to act justly,
to love tenderly
and to walk humbly with your God.

Against tricksters in the city

9 The voice of Yahweh. He is calling to the city:
 Listen, tribe, and assembly of the city 12 whose rich men are crammed with violence, whose citizens are liars.
 10 Must I put up with fraudulent measure,
 or that abomination the short-weight bushel?
 11 Must I hold the man honest who measures with false scales and a bag of faked weights?
 13 I have therefore begun to strike you down,
 to bring you to ruin for your sins.
 15 You will sow but never reap,
 press the olive but never rub yourself with oil,
 press the grape but never drink wine from it; 14 you will eat but never be satisfied, store away but never preserve—
 and what is preserved I shall give to the sword.

The example of Samaria

16 You keep the laws of Omri and follow all the practices of the House of Ahab^a;
 you are guided by their standards,
 and they force me to make a terrible example of you,
 and to turn your inhabitants into a laughingstock,
 to suffer the scorn of the peoples.

Universal injustice

1 7 I am in trouble! I have become like a harvester in summertime,
 like a gleaner at the vintage:
 not a single cluster to eat,
 not one of the early figs I so long for.
 2 The devout have vanished from the land:
 there is not one honest man left.
 All are lurking for blood,
 every man hunting down his brother.
 3 Their hands are skilled in evil:
 the official demands . . . ,
 the judge gives judgment for a bribe,
 the man in power pronounces as he pleases.
 5 Put no trust in a neighbor,
 have no confidence in a friend;
 to the woman who shares your bed
 do not open your mouth.
 6 For son insults father,
 daughter defies mother,
 daughter-in-law defies mother-in-law;
 a man's enemies are those of his own household.
 4 . . . among them, the best is like a briar,
 the most honest a hedge of thorn.
 Today will come their ordeal from the North,
 now is the time for their confusion.
 7 For my part, I look to Yahweh,

6 a. Omri and his son Ahab were two of the kings of Israel listed 1 K. among those who led the people into the worship of Canaanite idols.

my hope is in the God who will save me;
my God will hear me.^a

IV. HOPE FOR THE FUTURE

Zion insulted by her enemy

8 Do not gloat over me, my enemy:
though I have fallen, I shall rise;
though I live in darkness,
Yahweh is my light.
9 I must suffer the anger of Yahweh,
for I have sinned against him,
until he takes up my cause
and rights my wrongs;
he will bring me out into the light and I shall rejoice to see the rightness of his ways.
10 When my enemy sees it,
she will be covered with shame,
she who said to me, "Where is Yahweh your God?"
My eyes will gloat over her;
she will be trampled underfoot
like mud in the streets.

An oracle of restoration

11 The day is coming for rebuilding your walls.
Your frontiers will be extended that day,
12 men will come to you that day
from Assyria as far as to Egypt,
from Tyre as far as to the river,
from sea to sea, from mountain to mountain.
13 The earth will become a desert
by reason of its inhabitants, in return for what they have done.

A prayer for the confusion of the pagans

14 With shepherd's crook lead your people to pasture,
the flock that is your heritage,
living confined in a forest
with meadowland all around.
Let them pasture in Bashan and Gilead
as in the days of old.
15 As in the days when you came out of Egypt
grant us to see wonders.
16 The pagans, seeing it, will be confounded for all their power;
they will lay their hands to their mouths,
their ears will be deafened by it.
17 They will lick the dust like serpents,
like things that crawl on the earth.
They will come trembling from their lairs,
in terror and fear before you.

A plea for God's forgiveness

18 What god can compare with you: taking fault away, pardoning crime,
not cherishing anger for ever
but delighting in showing mercy?

- 19 Once more have pity on us,
 tread down our faults,
 to the bottom of the sea
 throw all our sins.
- 20 Grant Jacob your faithfulness,
 and Abraham your mercy,
 as you swore to our fathers
 from the days of long ago.

¹ 1 Oracle on Nineveh. Book of the vision of Nahum of Elkosh.

PRELUDE

Psalm. The wrath of Yahweh

- ² Aleph Yahweh is a jealous and vengeful God,
Yahweh avenges, he is full of wrath;
Yahweh takes vengeance on his foes,
he stores up fury for his enemies.
- ³ Yahweh is slow to anger but immense in power.
Most surely Yahweh will not leave the guilty unpunished.
- Beth* In storm and whirlwind he takes his way,
the clouds are the dust stirred up by his feet.
- ⁴ Ghimel He rebukes the sea and drains it,
he dries up all the rivers.
- Daleth* . . . Bashan and Carmel wither,
the green of Lebanon fades.
- ⁵ He The mountains tremble before him,
the hills reel;
- Waw* the earth collapses before him,
the world and all who live in it.
- ⁶ Zain His fury—who can withstand it?
Who can endure his burning wrath?
- Heth* His anger pours out like fire and the rocks break to pieces before him.
- ⁷ Teth Yahweh is good; he is a stronghold
in the day of distress;
- Yod* he calls to mind those who trust in him
when the flood overtakes them.
- ⁸ Kaph Those who defy him he will destroy utterly,
he will pursue his foes into the darkness.

Prophecies addressed alternately to Judah and Nineveh

- ⁹ to Judah How do you imagine Yahweh?
He it is who utterly destroys:
oppression will not lift its head a second time.
- ¹⁰ They will be consumed like a thicket of thorns,
like dry straw, utterly.
- ¹¹ to Assyria From you has sprung
one who plots evil against Yahweh,
a man with the mind of Belial.^a
- ¹² to Judah Yahweh says this:
Equipped and many though they be,

they are going to be cut down, annihilated.

Though I have disciplined you,

I will discipline you no more.

13 And now I am going to break that yoke of his that weighs you down,
and I will burst your chains.

14 to the king of Nineveh For you, here is Yahweh's decree:
There will be no more offspring to bear your name;
from the temple of your gods I mean to take away
the carved and the cast image, and I intend to make your tomb an object of shame.

¹/₁₅ 2 to Judah See, over the mountains the messenger hurries!
"Peace!" he proclaims.
Judah, celebrate your feasts,
carry out your vows,
for Belial will never pass through you again;
he is utterly annihilated.

³/₂ Yes, Yahweh is restoring the vineyard of Jacob and the vineyard of Israel.
For the plunderers had plundered them,
they had broken off their branches.

THE FALL OF NINEVEH

The assault

2 A destroyer advances against you.
Mount guard on the rampart,
watch the road, tuck up your cloaks;
muster all your forces.

⁴/₃ The shields of his fighting men show red,
his warriors are dressed in scarlet;
all the steel of the chariots flashes
as they are thrown into battle;
the horsemen are impatient for action;

⁵/₄ the chariots storm through the streets,
they hurtle across the squares;
they look like blazing flames,
like lightning they dash to and fro.

⁶/₅ The picked troops are called out;
the columns clash,
they hurl themselves against the rampart,
the mantelet is already in place.

⁷/₆ The gates that give on the river are opened,
in the palace all is panic.

⁸/₇ The Lady^a is carried off, taken into exile,
her handmaids raise the dirge, with sighs
like the moaning of doves,
and beat their breasts.

⁹/₈ Nineveh is like a pool whose waters are draining away.
"Stop! Stop!"
But no one turns back.

1 a. This is probably Sennacherib, 2 K. 18-19.

2 a. Probably the statue of Ishtar.

¹⁰₉ "Plunder the silver! Plunder the gold!"
 There are endless treasures,
 tons of valuables.
¹¹₁₀ Raid and ravage and ruin!
 Heart fails and knees give way, fear is in the loins of all
 and every face grows pale.

The Lion of Assyria threatened

¹²₁₁ Where is the lions' den,
 the cave of the lion's whelps?
 When the lion made his foray the lioness stayed behind,
 the lion's cubs too; and no one molested them.
¹³₁₂ The lion clawed enough for his whelps,
 and tore up prey for his lionesses;
 he filled his caves with his spoil,
 and his dens with the prey.
¹⁴₁₃ I am here! Look to yourself!—It is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.
 I mean to send your chariots up in smoke;
 the sword shall devour your lion's whelps.
 I will wipe the earth clean of your plunder,
 the voice of your envoys shall be heard no more.

Nineveh threatened for its crimes

¹₃ Woe to the city soaked in blood,
 full of lies,
 stuffed with booty,
 whose plunderings know no end!
² The crack of the whip!
 The rumble of wheels!
 Galloping horse,
 jolting chariot,
³ charging cavalry,
 flash of swords,
 gleam of spears . . .
 a mass of wounded,
 hosts of dead,
 countless corpses;
 they stumble over the dead.
⁴ So much for all the whore's debauchery,
 for that wonderful beauty, for that cunning witch who enslaved nations by her debauchery
 and tribes by her spells.
⁵ I am here! Look to yourself! It is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.
 I mean to lift your skirts as high as your face and show your nakedness to nations,
 your shame to kingdoms.
⁶ I am going to pelt you with filth, shame you, make you a public show.
⁷ And all who look on you will turn their backs on you and say,
 "Nineveh is a ruin."
 Could anyone pity her?
 Where can I find anyone to comfort her?

The lesson of Thebes

- 8 Are you mightier than No-amon^a
 who had her throne beside the river,
 who had the sea for outer wall,
 the waters for rampart?
 9 Her strength was Ethiopia,
 Egypt too; she had no boundaries.
 Men of Put and the Libyans were her auxiliaries.
 10 And yet she was forced into exile,
 she went into captivity;
 her little ones, too, were dashed to pieces
 at every crossroad;
 lots were drawn for her nobles,
 all her great men were loaded with chains.
 11 You too will be encircled,
 you will be overwhelmed;
 you too will have to search for a refuge from the enemy.

Nineveh's preparations useless

- 12 Your fortresses are all fig trees laden with early-ripening figs:
 shake, and they fall
 into any mouth that wants to eat them.
 13 Look at your people:
 your inhabitants are women.
 The gates of your country
 stand wide open to the foe;
 fire has burned up your locking beams.
 14 Draw water for the siege,
 strengthen your bulwarks,
 tread the mud, tread down the clay,
 set your hand to the brick mold.
 15 There the fire will burn you up,
 the sword will cut you down.

The locusts fly away

- Increase like the locust,
 increase like the grasshopper;
 16a multiply your traders
 to exceed the stars of heaven; 17a your guards are like grasshoppers,
 your scribes like a cloud of insects.
 They settle on the walls
 when the day is cold.
 The sun appears,
 16b and the locusts spread their wings; they fly away, 17b they are gone, no one knows where.

A funeral lament

- 18 Alas! •Are your shepherds asleep, then,
 king of Assyria?
 Your picked troops slumber,
 your people are scattered on the mountains

3 a. Thebes, "the city of Amon," sacked in 663.

19

with no one to rally them.
There is no remedy for your wound,
your injury is past healing.
All who hear the news of you clap their hands at your downfall.
For who has not felt your unrelenting cruelty?

HABAKKUK

Title

1 The oracle that Habakkuk the prophet received in a vision.

I. DIALOGUE BETWEEN THE PROPHET AND HIS GOD

First complaint of the prophet: lawlessness prevails

2 How long, Yahweh, am I to cry for help
while you will not listen;
to cry "Oppression!" in your ear
and you will not save?

3 Why do you set injustice before me,
why do you look on where there is tyranny?
Outrage and violence, this is all I see,
all is contention, and discord flourishes.

4 And so the law loses its hold,
and justice never shows itself.
Yes, the wicked man gets the better of the upright,
and so justice is seen to be distorted.

First oracle. The Chaldaean the instrument of God's justice

5 Cast your eyes over the nations, look,
and be amazed, astounded.
For I am doing something in your own days
that you would not believe if you were told of it.

6 For now I am stirring up the Chaldaean, that fierce and fiery people who march miles across country to seize the homes of others.

7 A people feared and dreaded,
from their might proceeds their right, their greatness.

8 Their horses are swifter than leopards, fiercer than wolves in the dark;
their horsemen gallop on,
their horsemen advance from afar,
swooping like an eagle to stoop on its prey.

9 They come for plunder, all of them,
their faces scorching like an east wind;
they scoop up prisoners like sand.

10 They are a people that scoff at kings,
and laugh at princes.

They make light of all fortresses:
 they heap up earth and take them.
 11 Then the wind changes and is gone . . .
 Sinful, he who makes his own strength his god.

Second complaint of the prophet: the tyranny of the conqueror

- 12 Are not you, from ancient times Yahweh,
 my God, my Holy One, who never dies?
 Yahweh, you have made this people an instrument of justice,
 set it firm as a rock in order to punish.
- 13 Your eyes are too pure to rest on wickedness,
 you cannot look on at tyranny.
 Why do you look on while men are treacherous, and stay silent while the evil man swallows a better man than he?
- 14 You treat mankind like fishes in the sea,
 like creeping, masterless things.
- 15 A people, these, who catch all on their hook,
 who draw them with their net,
 in their dragnet gather them,
 and so, triumphantly, rejoice.
- 16 At this, they offer a sacrifice to their net,
 and burn incense to their dragnet,
 for providing them with luxury
 and lavish food.
- 17 Are they then to empty their net unceasingly,
 slaughtering nations without pity?

Second oracle: the upright man will live by faithfulness

- 1 2 I will stand on my watchtower,
 and take up my post on my battlements,
 watching to see what he will say to me,
 what answer he will make to my complaints.
- 2 Then Yahweh answered and said,
 "Write the vision down, inscribe it on tablets
 to be easily read,
 3 since this vision is for its own time only:
 eager for its own fulfillment, it does not deceive;
 if it comes slowly, wait,
 for come it will, without fail.
- 4 "See how he flags, he whose soul is not at rights,
 but the upright man will live by his faithfulness."

II. CURSES ON OPPRESSORS

Prelude

- 5 Wealth is indeed a treacherous thing.
 Haughty and unable to rest is he who is as greedy as Sheol,
 who is like death, insatiable,

who assembles all the nations for his own ends,
collects all the peoples to his own advantage.

6 On him, will not all men make satires,
and turn an epigram against him?
They will say:

Five imprecations

I

Trouble is coming to the man who amasses goods that are not his,
(for how long?)

and loads himself with pledges.
7 Will not your creditors suddenly rise,
will not your duns awake?
Then you will be their victim.

8 Since you have plundered many nations,
all that remains of the peoples will plunder you;
for you have shed men's blood and ravished the country,
the city and all who live in it.

II

9 Trouble is coming to the man who grossly exploits others for the sake of his House,
to fix his nest on high
and so evade the hand of misfortune.

10 You have contrived to bring shame on your House;
by making an end of many peoples
you have worked your own ruin.

11 For the stone from the very walls cries out,
and the beam responds from the framework.

III

12 Trouble is coming to the man who builds a town with blood and founds a city on crime.

13 Is it not the will of Yahweh Sabaoth that the laboring of peoples should end in fire,
and the toiling of nations come to nothing?

14 For the country shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of Yahweh as the waters swell the sea.^a

IV

15 Trouble is coming to the man who makes his neighbors drink, who pours his poison until they are drunk,
to look at their nakedness.

16 You are drunk with ignominy, not with glory.

Your turn now to drink and show your foreskin.
The cup from Yahweh's right hand comes around to you,
and disgrace will overshadow your glory.

17 For the violence done to Lebanon is going to overwhelm you,
so will the slaughter of terrified beasts,
for you have shed men's blood and ravished the country,
the city and all who live in it.

V

- 19 Trouble is coming to the man who says to the piece of wood,
 "Wake up!"
 to the dumb stone, "On your feet!"
 (And that is the oracle.)
 Plated it may be with gold and silver,
 but not a breath of life inside it.
- 18 What is the use of a carved image, or for its maker to carve it at all?
 It is a thing of metal, a lying oracle.
 What is the use of its maker trusting this and fashioning dumb idols?
- 20 But Yahweh is in his holy Temple:
 let the whole earth be silent before him.

III. PLEA TO YAHWEH FOR DELIVERANCE

1 3 A prayer^a of Habakkuk the prophet; tone as for dirges.

2 Yahweh, I have heard of your renown,
 your work, Yahweh, inspires me with dread.
 Repeat it in our own time,
 reveal it in our time.
 For all your wrath, remember to be merciful.

3 Eloah is coming from Teman, and the Holy One from Mount Paran.^b
 His majesty veils the heavens,
 the earth is filled with his glory.

Pause

4 His brightness is like the day, rays flash from his hands,
 that is where his power lies hidden.

5 Plague goes in front of him,
 fever follows on his heels.

6 When he stands up he makes the earth tremble,
 with his glance he makes the nations quake.

Then the ancient mountains are dislodged,
 the everlasting hills sink down,
 his pathway from of old.

7 I have seen the tents of Cushan terrified,
 the pavilions of the land of Midian shuddering.^c

8 Yahweh, is your anger blazing against the rivers,
 or your fury against the sea,
 that you come mounted on your horses,
 on your victorious chariots?

9 You uncover your bow,
 you ply its string with arrows.

Pause

10 You trench the soil with torrents;
 the mountains shiver when they see you;
 great floods sweep on their way,

the abyss^d roars aloud,
high it lifts its hands.

11 Sun and moon stay in their houses,
avoiding the flash of your arrows,
the gleam of your glittering spear.

12 Raging, you stride the earth,
in anger you trample the nations.

13 You have marched to save your people,
to save your own anointed;
you have beaten down the wicked man's house,
bared its foundations to the rock.

Pause

14 With your shafts you have pierced the leader of his warriors who stormed out with shouts of joy to scatter us,
as if they meant to devour some poor wretch in their lair.

15 You have trampled the sea with your horses,
the surge of great waters.

16 I have heard. My whole body trembles, my lips quiver at the sound;
decay creeps into my bones,
my steps falter beneath me.

Calmly I await the day of anguish
which is dawning on the people now attacking us.

17 (For the fig tree is not going to blossom,
nor will there be any fruit on the vine,
the yield of the olive will fail,
the fields afford no food;
the sheep will vanish from the fold,
nor will there be any cattle in the stalls.)

18 But I will rejoice in Yahweh,
I will exult in God my savior.

19 Yahweh my Lord is my strength,
he makes my feet as light as a doe's,
he sets my steps on the heights.

For the choirmaster; on stringed instruments.

3 a. The note at the end of this chapter and the three rubrics marking pauses show that this psalm was used in the liturgy. b. Eloah is an ancient name for God. The place names are in Edom, and the coming of Yahweh is described in terms of an advancing storm. c. Midian is to the south of Edom; Cushan appears to be the same region. d. "The waters under the earth" rise to join the rain.

ZEPHANIAH

¹ 1 The word of Yahweh that was addressed to Zephaniah son of Cushi, son of Gedaliah, son of Amariah, son of Hezekiah, in the reign of Josiah son of Amon, king of Judah.

I. THE DAY OF YAHWEH FOR JUDAH

Prelude: judgment on all creation

² I mean to sweep away everything off the face of the earth
—it is Yahweh who speaks.
³ I mean to sweep away men and beasts,
the birds of the air and the fish of the sea,
I mean to send the wicked staggering,
and wipe man off the face of the earth
—it is Yahweh who speaks.

Against the worship of alien gods

⁴ I am going to raise my hand against Judah and against all the inhabitants of Jerusalem,
and from this place I will wipe out Baal,
to the very last vestige of him,
even to the name of his spurious priests,
⁵ those who prostrate themselves on the roofs
before the array of heaven,
those who prostrate themselves before Yahweh
but swear by Milcom,^a ⁶ those who turn aside from Yahweh,
who do not seek Yahweh,
who will not bother with him.
⁷ Silence before the Lord Yahweh!
For the day of Yahweh is near.
Yes, Yahweh has prepared a sacrifice,
he has consecrated his guests.

Against the dignitaries of the court^b

⁸ On the day of Yahweh's sacrifice,
I will punish the ministers,
the royal princes,
and all those who dress themselves
in foreign style.
⁹ On that day I mean to punish all those who are near the throne, those who fill the palace of their lord
with violence and deceit.

Against the merchants of Jerusalem

- 10 On that day—it is Yahweh who speaks—
a shout will be raised from the Fish Gate,
from the new town, howls,
from the hills, a great uproar.
- 11 Men of the Mortar, how!
For the whole brood of Canaan^c has been destroyed,
the weighers of silver are all wiped out.

Against unbelievers

- 12 When that time comes
I will search Jerusalem by torchlight, and punish the men
who are stagnating on their lees,
those who say in their hearts, “Yahweh has no power
for good or for evil.”
- 13 Then their wealth will be given up to looting,
their households to plundering.
They built houses, did they? They will not live in them.
They planted vineyards, did they? They will not drink their wine.

The day of Yahweh

- 14 The great day of Yahweh is near,
near, and coming with all speed.
How bitter the sound of the day of Yahweh,
the day when the warrior shouts his cry of war.
- 15 A day of wrath, that day,
a day of distress and agony,
a day of ruin and of devastation,
a day of darkness and gloom,
a day of cloud and blackness,
a day of trumpet blast and battle cry against fortified town
and high corner tower.
- 17 I am going to bring such distress on men that they will grope like the blind (because they have sinned against Yahweh);
their blood will be scattered like dust,
their corpses like dung.
- 18 Neither their silver nor their gold will have any power to save them.
- On the day of the anger of Yahweh,
in the fire of his jealousy,
all the earth will be consumed.
For he means to destroy, yes, to make an end of all the inhabitants of the earth.

Conclusion: a call to conversion

- 1 2
2 nation without desire,
before you are driven
like chaff that is blown away in a day,

1 a. God of the Ammonites. b. The regents during the minority of King Josiah.
c. “Canaanites” is a term for the merchants.

before there descends on you
 the fierce anger of Yahweh (before there descends on you
 the day of the anger of Yahweh).
 3 Seek Yahweh,
 all you, the humble of the earth,
 who obey his commands.
 Seek integrity,
 seek humility:
 you may perhaps find shelter
 on the day of the anger of Yahweh.

II. AGAINST THE PAGANS

The enemy to the west: the Philistines

4 Yes, Gaza is going to be reduced to desert,
 Ashkelon to waste.
 Ashdod will be stormed in broad daylight,
 and Ekron rooted out.
 5 Woe to the members of the Confederacy of the Sea,
 to the nation of the Cherethites!
 This is the word of Yahweh against you:
 I mean to bring you down, land of the Philistines,
 I am going to ruin you, empty you of inhabitants;
 6 and you will be reduced to pasture land,
 to grazing grounds for the shepherds,
 to folds for the sheep.
 7 It will be included in the property of the remnant of the House of Judah;
 they will lead flocks there to pasture;
 among the houses of Ashkelon they will rest at evening;
 for Yahweh their God is going to deal kindly with them and restore their fortunes.

The enemies to the east: Moab and Ammon

8 I have heard the taunts of Moab and the insults of the sons of Ammon
 as they laughed at my people,
 and boasted of their own domains.
 9 For this, as I live—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks,
 the God of Israel—
 Moab shall become like Sodom
 and the sons of Ammon like Gomorrah:
 a realm of nettles, a heap of salt,
 a desolation for ever.
 What is left of my people will plunder them,
 those of my nation who survive will take their heritage.
 10 This will be the price of their pride, of their taunts, of their boasts against the people of Yahweh Sabaoth.
 11 Full of terror will Yahweh be for them.
 When he has utterly destroyed all the gods of the earth,
 the nations will prostrate themselves before him,
 each on its own soil,
 all the islands of the nations.

The enemy to the south: Ethiopia^a 12 And as for you, Ethiopians:

They will be run through with my sword.

The enemy to the north: Assyria

13 He is going to raise his hand against the north and bring Assyria down in ruins;
he will make Nineveh a waste,
dry as the desert.

14 In the middle of her the flocks will rest;
all the beasts of the valley,
even the pelican and the heron
will roost around her cornices at night;
the owl will hoot at the window
and the raven croak on the doorstep.

15
Is this the joyful city,
so confident on her throne,
who said in her heart,
"Here am I, with none to equal me?"
What a ruin she is now,
a lair for beasts!
All those who pass by her whistle and shake their fists.

III. AGAINST JERUSALEMAgainst the leaders of the people

1 3 Trouble is coming to the rebellious, the defiled, the tyrannical city!
2 She would never listen to the call,
would never learn the lesson;
she has never trusted in Yahweh,
never drawn near to her God.
3 The leaders she harbors are roaring lions,
her judges, wolves at evening
that have had nothing to gnaw that morning; 4 her prophets are braggarts,
they are impostors;
her priests profane the holy things,
they do violence to the Law.
5 Yahweh is in her, he is just and honorable;
he never does wrong;
morning by morning he makes his law known,
each dawn unfailingly;
he knows no injustice.

The pagans punished

6 I have wiped out nations,
their corner towers lie in ruins;
I have emptied their streets,

2 a. In this fragmentary oracle, "Ethiopia" stands for Egypt, where an Ethiopian dynasty had ruled from 715 to 663.

no one walks there;
 their towns have been sacked:
 no one left there, no more inhabitants.
 7 "At least," I used to say, "you will fear me now,
 you will learn the lesson;
 she cannot lose sight of the many times I have punished her."
 But no, it only made them more anxious to see that all they did was corrupt.

8 Therefore, expect me—it is Yahweh who speaks—
 on the day I stand up to make my accusation;
 for I am determined to gather the nations,
 to assemble the kingdoms,
 and to pour out my fury on you,
 the whole heat of my anger.

IV. PROMISES

Conversion of the pagans

9 Yes, I will then give the peoples lips that are clean,
 so that all may invoke the name of Yahweh
 and serve him under the same yoke.
 10 From beyond the banks of the rivers of Ethiopia my suppliants will bring me offerings.

The humble remnant of Israel

11 When that day comes
 you need feel no shame for all the misdeeds
 you have committed against me,
 for I will remove your proud boasters
 from your midst;
 and you will cease to strut
 on my holy mountain.
 12 In your midst I will leave
 a humble and lowly people, 13 and those who are left in Israel will seek refuge in the name of Yahweh.
 They will do no wrong,
 will tell no lies;
 and the perjured tongue will no longer
 be found in their mouths.
 But they will be able to graze and rest
 with no one to disturb them.

Psalms of joy in Zion

14 Shout for joy, daughter of Zion,
 Israel, shout aloud!
 Rejoice, exult with all your heart,
 daughter of Jerusalem!
 15 Yahweh has repealed your sentence;
 he has driven your enemies away.
 Yahweh, the king of Israel, is in your midst;
 you have no more evil to fear.
 16 When that day comes, word will come to Jerusalem:
 Zion, have no fear,

17 do not let your hands fall limp.
Yahweh your God is in your midst,
a victorious warrior.
He will exult with joy over you,
he will renew you by his love;
18 he will dance with shouts of joy for you as on a day of festival.

Return of the exiles

I have taken away your misfortune,
no longer need you bear the disgrace of it.
19 I am taking action here and now against your oppressors.
When that time comes I will rescue the lame,
and gather the strays,
and I will win them praise and renown
when I restore their fortunes.
20 When that time comes, I will be your guide, when that time comes, I will gather you in;
I will give you praise and renown
among all the peoples of the earth
when I restore your fortunes under your own eyes,
says Yahweh.

HAGGAI

The movement to rebuild the Temple

¹ I In the second year of King Darius, on the first day of the sixth month,^a the word of Yahweh was addressed through the prophet Haggai to Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, high commissioner of Judah, and to Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest, as follows, “Yahweh Sabaoth says this, ‘This people says: ² The time has not yet come to rebuild the Temple of Yahweh. (And the word ³ of Yahweh was addressed through the prophet Haggai, as follows:) ‘Is this a time for you to live in your paneled houses, when this House lies in ruins? ⁴ So now, Yahweh Sabaoth says this: Reflect carefully how things have gone ⁵ for you. ‘You have sown much and harvested little; you eat but never have enough, drink but never have your fill, put on clothes but do not feel warm. The ⁶ wage earner gets his wages only to put them in a purse riddled with holes. ‘So go to the hill country, fetch wood, and rebuild the House: I shall then take pleasure ⁷ in it, and be glorified there, says Yahweh. ‘Yahweh Sabaoth says this: Reflect ⁸ carefully how things have gone for you. ‘The abundance you expected proved to be little. When you brought the harvest in, my breath spoiled it. And ⁹ why?—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks. Because while my House lies in ruins you are busy with your own, each one of you. ‘That is why the sky has withheld ¹⁰ the rain and the earth withheld its yield. ‘I have called down drought on land and hills, on wheat, on new wine, on oil and on all the produce of the ground, on man and beast and all their labors.’”

¹¹ Now Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and all the remnant of the people, paid attention to the voice of Yahweh their God and to the words of the prophet Haggai, Yahweh having sent him to them. ¹² And the people were filled with fear before Yahweh. ‘Haggai, the messenger of Yahweh, passed on the message of Yahweh to the people, as follows, “I am ¹³ with you—it is Yahweh who speaks.” ‘And Yahweh roused the spirit of Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, high commissioner of Judah, the spirit of Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people; and they came and set to work on the Temple of Yahweh Sabaoth their God. ¹⁴ This was on the twenty-fourth day of the sixth month.

The glory that is to come to the Temple

¹ In the second year of King Darius, 2 on the twenty-first day of the seventh month,^a the word of Yahweh was addressed through the prophet Haggai, ² as follows, “You are to speak to Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, the high commissioner of Judah, to Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and to all ³ the remnant of the people. Say this, “Who is there left among you that saw this Temple in its former glory? And how does it look to you now? Does it ⁴ seem nothing to you? ‘But take courage now, Zerubbabel—it is Yahweh who speaks. Courage, High Priest Joshua son of Jehozadak! Courage, all you people of the country!—it is Yahweh who speaks. To work! I am with you—it is ⁵ Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks—and my spirit remains among you. Do not ⁶ be afraid! ‘For Yahweh Sabaoth says this: A little while now, and I am going ⁷ to shake the heavens and the earth, the sea and the dry land. ‘I will shake all the nations and the treasures of all the nations shall flow in, and I will fill this Temple with glory, says Yahweh Sabaoth. 'Mine is the silver, mine the gold! —it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks. 'The new glory of this Temple is going to surpass the old, says Yahweh Sabaoth, and in this place I will give peace—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.'"

The prophet consults the priests

On the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius,^b the word of Yahweh was addressed to the prophet Haggai as follows, "Yahweh Sabaoth says this: Ask the priests for a decision on this question, 'If a man carries consecrated meat in the fold of his gown and with this fold touches bread, broth, wine, or food of any kind, does such food become holy?'" The priests answered, "No, it does not." Haggai then said, "If a man made unclean by contact with a corpse touches any of this, does it become unclean?" The priests answered, "Yes, it does." Haggai then spoke out. "It is the same with this people," he said, "the same with this nation as I see it—it is Yahweh who speaks—the same with everything they turn their hands to; and what they offer here is unclean.

A promise of agricultural prosperity

"Reflect carefully from today onward. Before one stone had been laid on another in the sanctuary of Yahweh, what state were you in? A man would come to a twenty-measure heap and there would be ten; he would come to a vat to draw fifty measures and there would be twenty. I struck with blight and mildew and hail everything you turned your hands to. And still you would not return to me—it is Yahweh who speaks. Reflect carefully from today onward (from the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, from the day the foundation of the sanctuary of Yahweh was laid, think carefully) if grain is still short in the barn, and if vine and fig tree, pomegranate and olive, still bear no fruit. From today onward I intend to bless you."

The promise to Zerubbabel

On the twenty-fourth day of the month the word of Yahweh was addressed a second time to Haggai, as follows, "Speak to Zerubbabel, the high commissioner of Judah. Say this, 'I am going to shake the heavens and the earth. I will overturn the thrones of kingdoms and destroy the power of the kings of the nations. I will overthrow the chariots and their charioteers; horses and their riders will be brought down; they shall fall, each to the sword of his fellow. When the day comes—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks—I will take you, Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, my servant—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks—and make you like a signet ring. For I have chosen you—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.'"

ZECHARIAH

FIRST PART

A summons to conversion

¹ In the second year of Darius, in the eighth month,^a the word of Yahweh was addressed to the prophet Zechariah (son of Berechiah),^b son of Iddo, as follows, “Cry out to the remnant of this people and say to them, ‘Yahweh Sabaoth says this: Return to me, and I will return to you, says Yahweh Sabaoth. Do not be like your ancestors, to whom the prophets in the past cried: Yahweh Sabaoth says this: Turn back from your evil ways and evil deeds. But—it is Yahweh who speaks—they would not listen or pay attention to me. Where are your ancestors now? Are those prophets still alive? Did not my words and my orders, with which I charged my servants the prophets, overtake your ancestors?’”² Yahweh was stirred to anger against your ancestors.’”^{6b} This reduced them to such confusion that they said, “Yahweh Sabaoth has treated us as he resolved to do, and as our ways and deeds deserved.”

First vision: the horsemen

⁷ On the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month (the month of Shebat), in the second year of Darius,^c the word of Yahweh was addressed to the prophet Zechariah (son of Berechiah), son of Iddo, as follows, “I saw a vision during the night. It was this: a man was standing among the deep-rooted myrtles; behind him were horses, red and sorrel and black and white. I said: What are these, my lord? (And the angel who was talking to me said, ‘I will explain to you what they are.’) The man standing among the myrtles answered, ‘They are those whom Yahweh has sent to patrol throughout the world.’ They then spoke to the angel of Yahweh standing among the myrtles; they said, ‘We have been patrolling the world, and see, the whole world is at peace and rest.’ The angel of Yahweh then spoke and said, ‘Yahweh Sabaoth, how long will you wait before taking pity on Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, on which you have inflicted your anger for the past seventy years?’ Yahweh then replied with very consoling words to the angel who was talking to me. The angel who was talking to me then said to me, ‘Make this proclamation: Yahweh Sabaoth says this: I feel most jealous love for Jerusalem and Zion, but very bitter anger against the proud nations; for my part I was only a little angry, but they have overstepped all limits. Yahweh, then, says this. I turn again in compassion to Jerusalem; my Temple there shall be rebuilt—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks—and the measuring line will be stretched over Jerusalem. Make this proclamation too: Yahweh Sabaoth says this: My cities are once more going to be very prosperous. Yahweh will again take pity on Zion, again make Jerusalem his very own.’”

Second vision: the horns and the smiths

¹⁸
¹⁹ ² Then, raising my eyes, I saw a vision. It was this: there were four horns. I said to the angel who was talking to me, “What are these horns, my lord?” He said to me, “These are the horns which have scattered Judah (Israel) and Jerusalem.”³⁻⁴ Yahweh then showed me four smiths. And I said, “What are these coming to do?" He said to me, "(Those are the horns which have so scattered Judah that no one has dared to raise his head; but) these have come to lay them low (to strike down the horns of the nations who lifted their hands against the land of Judah, in order to scatter it)."
²⁰⁻²¹

Third vision: the measurer

⁵ Then, raising my eyes, I saw a vision. It was this: there was a man with a ⁶ measuring line in his hand. I asked him, "Where are you going?" He said, "To ⁷ measure Jerusalem, to find out her breadth and her length." And then, while ⁸ the angel who was talking to me stood still, another angel came forward to ⁹ meet him. He said to him, "Run, and tell that young man this, 'Jerusalem is ¹⁰ to remain unwalled, because of the great number of men and cattle there will be ¹¹ in her. But I—it is Yahweh who speaks—I will be a wall of fire for her all ¹² around her, and I will be her glory in the midst of her.'"

Two exhortations to the exiles

¹⁰ Up, up, and leave the land of the North (it is Yahweh who speaks)!
¹¹ (For to the four winds of heaven
¹² I have scattered you—it is Yahweh who speaks.)
¹³ Zion, up! Dweller in Babylon, flee!
¹⁴ For Yahweh Sabaoth says this
¹⁵ (he whose glory has sent me here)
¹⁶ as regards the nations who despoiled you
¹⁷ (for whoever touches you touches the apple of my eye):
¹⁸ See now, I raise my hand over them,
¹⁹ for them to be plunder for their slaves.
²⁰ (And you will know that Yahweh Sabaoth has sent me.)
²¹ Sing, rejoice,
²² daughter of Zion;
²³ for I am coming
²⁴ to dwell in the middle of you
²⁵ —it is Yahweh who speaks.
²⁶ Many nations will join Yahweh,
²⁷ on that day;
²⁸ they will become his people.
²⁹ (But he will remain among you,
³⁰ and you will know that Yahweh Sabaoth has sent me to you.)
³¹ But Yahweh will hold Judah
³² as his portion in the Holy Land,
³³ and again make Jerusalem his very own.
³⁴ Let all mankind be silent before Yahweh!
³⁵ For he is awaking and is coming from his holy dwelling.

Fourth vision: the investiture of Joshua

¹ 3 He^a showed me Joshua the high priest, standing before the angel of Yahweh, ² with Satan standing on his right to accuse him. The angel of Yahweh ³ said to Satan, "May Yahweh rebuke you, Satan, may Yahweh rebuke you, he ⁴ who has made Jerusalem his very own. Is not this man a brand snatched from the ⁵ fire?"^b Now Joshua was dressed in dirty clothes^c as he stood before the angel ⁶ of Yahweh. The angel said these words to those who stood before him, "Take
⁷ off his dirty clothes and clothe him in splendid robes of state, and put a clean
⁸ turban on his head." They clothed him in splendid robes of state and put a clean
⁹ turban on his head.^d The angel of Yahweh was standing there and said to him,

1 a. October–November 520. b. A gloss suggested by Is. 8:2. According to Ezr. 5:1 and Ne. 12:16, Zechariah was the son of Iddo. c. February 519.

3 a. Yahweh. b. The high priest represents the Jewish people. c. Sign of mourning or national calamity. d. The national mourning is over.

^{4b} “Look, I have taken away your iniquity from you.” •The angel of Yahweh then ⁶ proclaimed to Joshua: “Yahweh Sabaoth says this, ‘If you walk in my ways and keep my ordinances, you shall govern my house, you shall watch over my ^{9a} courts, and I will give you free access among those who stand here. •For this is the stone which I am placing before Joshua; on this single stone there are seven eyes; and I myself intend to cut the inscription on it—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.”

The coming of the “Branch”

⁸ •Now listen, High Priest Joshua, you and the friends who sit before you—for ^{9b} you are men of good omen. I now mean to raise my servant Branch, •and ¹⁰ I intend to put aside the iniquity of this land in a single day. •On that day—it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks—you will entertain each other under your vine and fig tree.”

Fifth vision: the lampstand and the olive trees

¹ 4 The angel who was talking to me came back and roused me as a man is ² roused from his sleep. •And he asked me, “What can you see?” I answered, “As I look, this is what I see: there is a lampstand entirely of gold with a bowl
³ on it. •By it are two olive trees, one to the right of it and one to the left.”
⁴ Speaking again, I said to the angel who was talking to me, “What do those things
⁵ mean, my lord?” •The angel who was talking to me replied, “Do you not know ^{6a} what these things mean?” I said, “No, my lord.” •He then gave me this answer, ^{10b} “These seven are the eyes of Yahweh; they cover the whole world.” •In reply
¹¹ to this I asked him, “What is the meaning of these two olive trees, to the right ¹² and to the left of the lampstand?” •(Speaking again, I asked him, “What is the meaning of the two olive branches pouring the oil through the two golden ¹³ pipes?”) •He replied, “Do you not know what these things mean?” I said, “No, ¹⁴ my lord.” •He said, “These are the two anointed ones who stand before the Lord of the whole world.”

Three sayings about Zerubbabel

^{6b} “This is the word of Yahweh with regard to Zerubbabel, ‘Not by might and not by power, but by my spirit, says Yahweh Sabaoth.
⁷ •What are you, you great mountain? Before Zerubbabel, be a plain! He will pull out the keystone to shouts of: Blessings on it, blessings on it!’” ⁸ The word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, “The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundation of this Temple; his hands will finish it.
^{10a} (And you will learn that Yahweh Sabaoth has sent me to you.) •A day for little things, no doubt, but who would dare despise it? People will rejoice when they see the chosen stone in the hands of Zerubbabel.”

Sixth vision: the flying scroll

¹ 5 Again I raised my eyes, and this is what I saw: a flying scroll. •The angel
² who was talking to me said, “What can you see?” I replied, “I can see a flying ³ scroll; it is twenty cubits long and ten cubits broad.” •He then said to me, “This is the Curse sweeping across the face of the whole country. According to what it says, every thief will be banished; according to what it says, everyone ⁴ who swears falsely by my name will be banished. •I am going to let it loose
 —it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks—to enter the house of the thief and the house of anyone who swears falsely by my name, to settle in his house and to consume it, timber, stone and all.”

Seventh vision: the woman in the bushel

5 The angel who was talking to me came forward and said to me, "Raise your 6 eyes, and see what this is, moving forward." I said, "What is it?" He said, "This 7 is a bushel moving forward." He went on, "This is their iniquity throughout 8 the country." At this, a disc of lead was raised, and I saw a Woman sitting 9 inside the bushel. He said, "This is Wickedness." And he forced her back into 10 the bushel and closed its mouth with the mass of lead. I raised my eyes, and 11 this is what I saw: two women appearing. The wind caught their wings—they had wings like a stork's; they raised the bushel midway between earth and heaven. I then said to the angel who was talking to me, "Where are they taking the bushel?" He replied, "They mean to build a temple for it in the land of Shinar, and to make a plinth on which to place it."^a

Eighth vision: the chariots

1 6 Again I raised my eyes, and this is what I saw: four chariots coming out
2 between the two mountains, and the mountains were mountains of bronze.
3 The first chariot had red horses, the second chariot had black horses, the 4 third chariot had white horses and the fourth chariot had (vigorous) piebald
5 horses. I asked the angel who was talking to me, I said, "What is the meaning
6 of these, my lord?" The angel answered, "These are going out to the four winds
7 of heaven after standing before the Lord of the whole world. The red horses
8 are going out to the country of the East; the black horses are going out to the 9 country of the North; the white are going out to the country of the West and 10 the piebald are going out to the country of the South." They came out vigorously, 11 eager to patrol the world. He said to them, "Go and patrol the world." And they 12 patrolled the world. He called me and said to me, "See, those going northward 13 will make the spirit of Yahweh descend on the country of the North."^a And 14 those who are far away will come and rebuild the sanctuary of Yahweh. (And 15 you will learn that Yahweh Sabaoth has sent me to you.) (This will happen if you listen carefully to the voice of Yahweh your God.)^b

The votive crown

9 And the word of Yahweh was addressed to me as follows, "Take the offerings
10 of the captives,^b of Heldai, Tobijah and Jedaiah, and go to the house of Josiah
11 son of Zephaniah, who has arrived from Babylon. Take the silver and gold, 12 make a crown and set it on the head of Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high 13 priest.^c And say this to him, 'Yahweh Sabaoth says this: Here is a man whose 14 name is Branch; where he is, there will be a branching out (and he will rebuild 15 the sanctuary of Yahweh). It is he who is going to rebuild the sanctuary of 16 Yahweh. It is he who is going to wear the royal insignia. He will sit on his throne 17 as ruler. And a priest shall be at his right hand. Perfect peace will reign
18 between these two; while the crown will be a glorious memorial to Heldai, Tobijah 19 and Jedaiah, and to Josiah, son of Zephaniah, in the sanctuary of Yahweh.'"^d

A question on fasting

1 7 In the fourth year of King Darius (the word of Yahweh was addressed to 2 Zechariah), on the fourth day of the ninth month^a (the month of Chislev), 3 Bethel sent Sharezer and his men to entreat the favor of Yahweh and to say to 4 the priests in the Temple of Yahweh Sabaoth, and to his prophets, "Ought I to 4 a. Joshua, the high priest; and Zerubbabel, the High Commissioner, seen as the anointed king.

5 a. Wickedness is banished to Babylon, where it is worshiped.

6 a. Where there are still some exiles. b. Of the captives who have returned from captivity.

c. It is evident that the original text read "Zerubbabel," see vv. 12–13. "Joshua son of Jehozadak" is a "modernization" by a later hand.

7 a. November 518.

go on mourning and fasting in the fifth month as I have been doing for so many years past?"^b

The nation's past surveyed

4 Then the word of Yahweh Sabaoth was addressed to me as follows, "Say
5 to all the people of the country, and to the priests, 'While you have been fasting and mourning in the fifth and seventh months for the past seventy years, was 6 it for my sake you fasted so rigorously? And when you were eating and drinking, 7 were not you the eaters and you the drinkers? Do you not know the words which Yahweh proclaimed through the prophets in the past, when Jerusalem was inhabited and secure, with her surrounding towns, and when the Negeb 8 and the Lowlands were inhabited? (The word of Yahweh was addressed to 9 Zechariah as follows: Yahweh Sabaoth says this.) He said: Apply the law fairly, and practice kindness and compassion toward each other. Do not 10 oppress the widow and the orphan, the settler and the poor man, and do not secretly plan evil against one another. But they would not pay attention; they 11 turned a petulant shoulder; they stopped their ears rather than hear; they made their hearts adamant rather than listen to the teaching and the words that Yahweh Sabaoth had sent by his spirit through the prophets in the past. This aroused 12 great anger on the part of Yahweh Sabaoth. And this is what happened, since he kept calling them and they would not listen (similarly they will call and 13 I shall not listen, says Yahweh Sabaoth): he scattered them throughout nations unknown to them; hence the country was reduced to desolation behind them, and no one came or went. They turned a land of delights into a desert.'"

A prospect of messianic salvation

1 8 The word of Yahweh Sabaoth was addressed to me as follows:

2 "Yahweh Sabaoth says this.
I am burning with jealousy for Zion,
with great anger for her sake.

3 "Yahweh Sabaoth says this.
I am coming back to Zion
and shall dwell in the middle of Jerusalem.
Jerusalem will be called Faithful City and the mountain of Yahweh Sabaoth, the Holy Mountain.

4 "Yahweh Sabaoth says this.
Old men and old women will again sit down in the squares of Jerusalem;
every one of them staff in hand
because of their great age.
5 And the squares of the city will be full of boys and girls
playing in the squares.

6 "Yahweh Sabaoth says this.
If this seems a miracle
to the remnant of this people (in those days),
will it seem one to me?
It is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.
7 "Yahweh Sabaoth says this.
Now I am going to save my people from the countries of the East and from the countries of the West.
8 I will bring them back to live inside Jerusalem.

They shall be my people and I will be their God
in faithfulness and integrity.

- 9 "Yahweh Sabaoth says this. Let your hands be strong, you who here and now listen to these words from the mouths of the prophets who have been prophesying since the day when the Temple of Yahweh Sabaoth had its foundation laid for the rebuilding of the sanctuary. For before the present day men were not paid their wages and nothing was paid for the animals either; and because of the enemy there was no security for a man to go about his business; I had set every man against everyone else. But now, with the remnant of this people, I am not as I was in the past. It is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks. For I mean to spread peace everywhere; the vine will give its fruit, the earth its increase, and heaven its dew. I am going to bestow all these blessings on the remnant of this people. Just as once you were a curse among the nations, you House of Judah (and House of Israel), so I mean to save you for you to become a blessing. Do not be afraid; let your hands be strong.
- 14 For Yahweh Sabaoth says this. Just as I once resolved to inflict evil on you when your ancestors provoked me—says Yahweh Sabaoth—and as I did not then relent, so now I have another purpose, and I intend in the present day to confer benefits on Jerusalem and on the House of Judah. Do not be afraid.
- 16 "These are the things that you must do. Speak the truth to one another; let the judgments at your gates be such as conduce to peace; do not secretly plot evil against one another; do not love false oaths; since all this is what I hate. It is Yahweh who speaks."

The answer to the question on fasting

- 18 The word of Yahweh Sabaoth was addressed to me as follows:
- 19 "Yahweh Sabaoth says this. The fast of the fourth month, the fast of the fifth, the fast of the seventh and the fast of the tenth are to become gladness and happiness and days of joyful feasting for the House of Judah.^a But love the truth and peace!

A prospect of messianic salvation

- 20 "Yahweh Sabaoth says this. There will be other peoples yet, and citizens of great cities. And the inhabitants of one city will go to the next and say, 'Come, let us go and entreat the favor of Yahweh, and seek Yahweh Sabaoth; I am going myself.' And many peoples and great nations will come to seek Yahweh Sabaoth in Jerusalem and to entreat the favor of Yahweh.
- 23 "Yahweh Sabaoth says this. In those days, ten men of nations of every language will take a Jew by the sleeve and say, 'We want to go with you, since we have learned that God is with you.'"

b. The destruction of the Temple in 587 had been commemorated by a fast in the month of July; now rebuilding has begun. The answer to this question is in ch. 8. The oracle which follows in the next paragraph seems to have been attached merely because it too mentions fasting, and the second fast to which it alludes was the commemoration of the murder of Gedaliah, 2 K. 25.

8 a. This answer abolishes the two fasts already mentioned, and those of the fourth and tenth months, which commemorated the breaching of the walls and the beginning of the siege.

SECOND PART

The new promised land^a

Yahweh has passed through the land of Hadrach
and Damascus is his dwelling place;
for the cities of Aram belong to Yahweh
no less than all the tribes of Israel;
² Hamath too, which borders on it,
(Tyre) and Sidon also, despite her acumen.

³ Tyre has built herself a rampart, has heaped up silver like dust
and gold like the dirt of the streets.

⁴ And now the Lord is going to take possession of her;
he will topple her power into the sea;

she herself will be consumed by fire.
⁵ Seeing this, Ashkelon will be terrified, and Gaza be seized with trembling,
so will Ekron, at the ruin of her prospects;

the king will vanish from Gaza
and Ashkelon remain unpeopled,
⁶ but the bastard^b will live in Ashdod!

I mean to destroy the arrogance of the Philistine;

⁷ I intend to take his blood out of his mouth and his abomination from between his teeth.^c

He too will become a remnant for our God and be like a family in Judah:

Ekron shall be like the Jebusite.^d

⁸ Near my house I will take my stand like a watchman on guard against prowlers;
the tyrant shall pass their way no more,
because I have now taken notice of its distress.

The Messiah

⁹ Rejoice heart and soul, daughter of Zion!
Shout with gladness, daughter of Jerusalem!
See now, your king comes to you;
he is victorious, he is triumphant,
humble and riding on a donkey,
on a colt, the foal of a donkey.

¹⁰ He will banish chariots from Ephraim and horses from Jerusalem;
the bow of war will be banished.

He will proclaim peace for the nations.
His empire shall stretch from sea to sea,
from the River to the ends of the earth.

The restoration of Israel

¹¹ As for you, because of the blood of your covenant
I am sending back your prisoners from the pit
(in which there is no water).

¹² To you, daughter of Zion,
the hopeful captives will return.

- In compensation for your days of banishment
 I will give you back double.
 13 For I bend my bow; it is Judah;
 I make Ephraim its arrow.
 I am going to brandish your children, Zion,
 (against your children, Javan)^c;
 I mean to make you like the sword of a hero.
 14 Yahweh will appear above them
 and his arrow will flash out like lightning.
 (The Lord) Yahweh will sound the trumpet and advance in the storms of the south.
 15 Yahweh (Sabaoth) will protect them!
 They will trample sling stones underfoot,
 they will drink blood like wine,
 they will be soaked in it like the horns of an altar.
 16 Yahweh their God will give them victory
 when that day comes;
 he will pasture his people like a flock
 (like the flashing jewels of a diadem)
 on his land.
 17 What joy and what beauty shall be theirs!
 Corn will make the young men flourish,
 and sweet wine the maidens.

Faithfulness to Yahweh

- 10 Ask Yahweh for rain
 at the time of the spring rains.
 For it is Yahweh who sends the lightning and gives the showers of rain;
 he gives bread to man,
 and grass to the cattle.
 2 Because the teraphim utter futile words and the diviners have lying visions^a and publish empty dreams
 and voice misleading nonsense,
 naturally the people stray like sheep;
 they wander because they have no shepherd.

Israel's deliverance and return

- 3 "My anger burns against the shepherds, and I mean to punish the he-goats."
 Yes, Yahweh (Sabaoth) will take care of his flock
 (the House of Judah),
 he will make it his proud steed (in battle).
 4 From him will issue Cornerstone and Tent peg,^b
 from him the Bow of battle,
 from him all the Leaders.
 5 Together they will be like heroes
 trampling the dirt of the streets (in battle);

9 a. The new Promised Land is larger than Israel and includes Aramaean, Phoenician and Philistine cities. A victorious campaign against these territories, probably that of Alexander in 333, is seen as the action of Yahweh. b. A population of mixed races. c. Philistines followed the pagan practice of eating meat with the blood in it, and eating the forbidden meats, such as pork. d. I.e., incorporated into Israel. e. This gloss refers to the conquest of the Persian empire ("Javan"—the Greeks) by Alexander.

10 a. Teraphim, often the word for a household god, here means instruments of divination. b. Future leaders who will rise from the people.

they will fight, since Yahweh is with them,
and the riders of horses will be thrown into confusion.

6 And I will make the House of Judah mighty,
and the House of Joseph victorious.
I am going to restore them, because I have taken pity on them, and they shall be as though I had never cast them off (for I am Yahweh their God and I mean to answer their prayer).

7 Ephraim will be like a hero.
Their hearts will be cheered as though by wine.
Their sons will look on this in gladness,
their hearts will exult in Yahweh.

8 I am going to whistle to them and gather them in (for I have redeemed them);
they will be as numerous as they used to be.
9 I have scattered them among the peoples
but from far away they will remember me (they will teach their sons, and these will return).
10 I mean to bring them back from the land of Egypt,
and gather them from Assyria;
I shall lead them into the land of Gilead (and Lebanon),
and even that will not be large enough for them.
11 They will pass through the sea of Egypt
(and he will strike the waves on the sea);
all the depths of the Nile will be dried up.
The arrogance of Assyria will be cast down and the scepter of Egypt be taken away.

12 Their strength will be in Yahweh;
in his name they will glory:
it is Yahweh who speaks.

1 11 Open your gateways, Lebanon,
and let the fire burn down your cedars.
2 (Wail, cypress,
for felled is the cedar,
the mighty ones have been brought low!) Wail, oaks of Bashan,
for the impenetrable forest has been felled!
3 The wailing of the shepherds is heard;
their glorious pastures have been ruined.
The roaring of the young lions is heard;
the thickets of the Jordan have been laid waste.

The two shepherds

4 This is how Yahweh spoke to me, "Pasture the sheep bred for slaughter, whose 5 buyers kill them and go unpunished, whose sellers say of them, 'Blessed be Yahweh; now I am rich!' and their shepherds handle^a them without kindness.
6 (For no longer am I going to show kindness to the inhabitants of the world—it is Yahweh who speaks. But instead I mean to hand over every man to the next, and to his king. They shall devastate the world and I will not deliver them 7 from their hands.)" Then I began to pasture these sheep bred for slaughter for the sheep dealers. I took two staves: one I called Goodwill, the other Union.
8 And so I began to pasture the sheep. I dismissed the three shepherds in one 9 month.^b But I began to dislike the sheep, and they equally detested me. I then said, "I am going to pasture you no longer; let those that wish to die, die; let those that wish to perish, perish; and let those that are left devour each other's

10 flesh!" ·I then took my staff, Goodwill, and broke it in half, to break the covenant 11 Yahweh had made with all the peoples.^c ·When it was broken, that day the dealers, who were watching me, realized that this had been a word of Yahweh.
 12 I then said to them, "If you think it right, give me my wages; if not, never mind."
 13 And they weighed out my wages: thirty shekels of silver.^d ·But Yahweh told me,
 "Throw it into the treasury, this princely sum at which they have valued me."
 14 Taking the thirty shekels of silver, I threw them into the Temple of Yahweh, into the treasury. ·I then broke my second staff, Union, in half, to break the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.^e

15 Next, Yahweh said to me, "Now take the gear of an incompetent
 16 shepherd. ·For I am now going to raise an incompetent shepherd in this country.
 He will not bother about the lost; he will not look for the stray; he will not heal the wounded; he will not support the weary; but he will only eat the flesh of the fat beasts and tear off their hoofs.

17 "Trouble is coming to the worthless shepherd who deserts the flock!
 May the sword strike his arm
 and his right eye!
 May his arm wither entirely,
 may his eye be totally blinded!"

The deliverance and restoration of Jerusalem

1 12 An oracle. The word of Yahweh about Israel. It is Yahweh who speaks, who spread out the heaven and founded the earth and formed the spirit of man within him:

2 "Look, I am going to make Jerusalem an intoxicating cup to all the surrounding peoples . . .

3 "When that day comes, I mean to make Jerusalem a stone to be lifted by all the peoples; all who try to lift it will hurt themselves severely. (And all the 4 nations of the earth will mass against her.) ·When that day comes—it is Yahweh who speaks—I intend to strike all the horses with confusion and their riders with madness. (But on the House of Judah I will open my eyes.) And I will strike 5 all the horses of the peoples with blindness. ·Then the clans of Judah will say in their hearts, 'Strength for the citizens of Jerusalem is in Yahweh Sabaoth 6 their God.' ·When that day comes I mean to make the clans of Judah like a brazier burning in a pile of wood, like a flaming torch in stubble; and they will consume the peoples around them to right and left. And Jerusalem shall stand 7 firm in her place. ·Yahweh will save the tents of Judah first to forestall the arrogance of the House of David and the arrogance of the citizens of Jerusalem 8 from rising to the detriment of Judah. ·When that day comes, Yahweh will spread his protection over the citizens of Jerusalem; the one among them who was about to fall will be like David on that day, and the House of David will be like God (like the angel of Yahweh) at their head.

9 "When that day comes, I shall set myself to destroy all the nations who 10 advance against Jerusalem. ·But over the House of David and the citizens of Jerusalem I will pour out a spirit of kindness and prayer. They will look on the one whom they have pierced; they will mourn for him as for an only son, and 11 weep for him as people weep for a first-born child. ·When that day comes, there will be great mourning in Judah, like the mourning of Hadad-rimmon in the 12 plain of Megiddo. ·And the country will mourn clan by clan; the clan of the 13 House of David apart, with their wives by themselves; ·the clan of the House

11 a. Buyers and sellers are the Jewish ruling classes; the shepherds are the priests.
 b. Alluding to a succession of high priests deposed. c. Yahweh no longer undertakes to protect the Jewish nation from its neighbors. d. The price of a slave. e. Probably the schism of the Samaritans, who built a rival temple on Mount Gerizim in 328.

of Nathan apart, with their wives by themselves; the clan of the House of Levi apart, with their wives by themselves; the clan of Shimei apart, with their wives by themselves. All the clans that remain, clan by clan, with their wives by themselves. 13 When that day comes, a fountain will be opened for the House of David and the citizens of Jerusalem, for sin and impurity.

2 "When that day comes—it is Yahweh (Sabaoth) who speaks—I am going to root out the names of the idols from the country, and they shall never be mentioned again; and I will also rid the country of the prophets, and of the spirit of impurity. If anyone still wants to prophesy, his father and the mother who gave him birth shall say to him, 'You have no right to live, since you utter lies in the name of Yahweh.' And while he is prophesying, his father and the mother who gave him birth shall run him through. When that day comes, every prophet shall be ashamed of his prophetic vision; they will no longer put on their hair cloaks to utter their lies, but they will all say, 'I am no prophet. I am a peasant; the land has been my living ever since I was a boy.' And if anyone asks him, 'Then what are these wounds on your body?' he will reply, 'These I received in the house of my friends.'

Invocation to the sword; the new people

7 "Awake, sword, against my shepherd and against the man who is my companion—
it is Yahweh Sabaoth who speaks.
I am going to strike the shepherd
so that the sheep may be scattered,
and I will turn my hand against the weak.
8 And it will happen throughout this territory—
it is Yahweh who speaks—
that two thirds in it will be cut off ("will be killed")
and the remaining third will be left.
9 I will lead that third into the fire,
and refine them as silver is refined,
test them as gold is tested.
They will call on my name
and I shall listen;
and I shall say: These are my people;
and each will say, 'Yahweh is my God!'"

The eschatological battle; the splendor of Jerusalem

14 See, a day is coming for Yahweh when the spoils taken from you will be divided among you. Yahweh will gather all the nations to Jerusalem for battle. The city will be taken, the houses plundered, the women ravished. Half the city will go into captivity, but the remnant of the people will not be cut off from the city. Then Yahweh will take the field; he will fight against these nations as he fights in the day of battle. On that day, his feet will rest on the Mount of Olives, which faces Jerusalem from the east. The Mount of Olives will be split in half from east to west, forming a huge gorge; half the Mount will recede northward, the other half southward. And the Vale of Hinnom will be filled up from Goah to Jasol; it will be blocked as it was by the earthquake in the days of Uzziah king of Judah. Yahweh your God will come, and all the holy ones with him.

6 When that day comes, there will be no more cold, no more frost. It will be a day of wonder—Yahweh knows it—with no alternation of day and night; in the evening it will be light. When that day comes, running waters will issue from Jerusalem, half of them to the eastern sea, half of them to the western sea; they will flow summer and winter. And Yahweh will be king of the whole world. When that day comes, Yahweh will be unique and his name unique. The entire country will be transformed into plain, from Geba to Rimmon in the Negeb. And Jerusalem will be raised higher, though still in the same place; from the Gate of Benjamin to the site of the First Gate, that is to say to the Gate of the Corner and from the Tower of Hananel to the king's winepress, 11 people will make their homes. The ban will be lifted; Jerusalem will be safe to live in.

12 And this is the plague with which Yahweh will strike all the nations who have fought against Jerusalem; their flesh will mold while they are still standing on their feet; their eyes will rot in their sockets; their tongues will rot in their mouths. And such will be the plague on the horses and mules,
14 camels and donkeys, and all the animals to be found in that camp. When that day comes, a great terror will fall on them from Yahweh; each man will grab
14 his neighbor's hand and they will hit out at each other. Even Judah will fight against Jerusalem. The wealth of all the surrounding nations will be heaped together: gold, silver, clothing, in vast quantity.

16 All who survive of all the nations that have marched against Jerusalem will go up year by year to worship the King, Yahweh Sabaoth, and to keep the feast
17 of Tabernacles. Should one of the races of the world fail to go up to Jerusalem 18 to worship the King, Yahweh Sabaoth, there will be no rain for that one. Should the race of Egypt fail to go up and pay its visit, on it will fall the plague which Yahweh will inflict on each one of those nations that fail to go up to keep the 19 feast of Tabernacles. Such shall be the punishment for Egypt and for all the 20 nations that fail to go up to keep the feast of Tabernacles. When that day comes, the horse bells will be inscribed with the words, "Sacred to Yahweh," and in the Temple of Yahweh the very cooking pots will be as fine as the sprinkling 21 bowls at the altar. And every cooking pot in Jerusalem and in Judah shall become sacred to Yahweh Sabaoth; all who want to offer sacrifice will come and help themselves from them for their cooking; there will be no more traders in the Temple of Yahweh Sabaoth, when that day comes.

The word of Yahweh to Israel through the ministrations of Malachi.^a

The love of Yahweh for Israel

² I have shown my love for you, says Yahweh. But you ask, "How have you shown your love?" Was not Esau^b Jacob's brother?—it is Yahweh who speaks; yet I showed my love for Jacob and my hatred for Esau. I turned his towns into a wilderness and his heritage into desert pastures. Should Edom say, "We have been struck down but we will rebuild our ruins," this is the reply of Yahweh Sabaoth: Let them build! I will pull down. They shall be known as Unholy Land and Nation-with-which-Yahweh-is-angry-for-ever. Your eyes are going to see this and you will say, "Yahweh is mighty beyond the borders of Israel."

An indictment of the priests

⁶ The son honors his father, the slave respects his master. If I am indeed father, where is my honor? If I am indeed master, where is my respect? Yahweh Sabaoth asks this of you, priests, you who despise my name. You ask, "How have we despised your name?" By putting polluted food on my altar. You ask, "How have we polluted it?" By holding the table of Yahweh in contempt. When you bring blind animals for sacrifice, is that not wrong? When you bring the lame and the diseased, is that not wrong? Try offering them to your high commissioner, and see if he is pleased with this or receives you graciously, says Yahweh Sabaoth. Now try pleading with God to take pity on us (this is your own fault); do you think he will receive you graciously? says Yahweh Sabaoth. Oh, is there no one among you who will shut the doors and stop you from lighting useless fires on my altar? I am not pleased with you, says Yahweh Sabaoth; from your hands I find no offerings acceptable. But from farthest east to farthest west my name is honored among the nations and everywhere a sacrifice of incense is offered to my name, and a pure offering too, since my name is honored among the nations, says Yahweh Sabaoth. But you, you profane it by thinking of the Lord's table as defiled and by holding in contempt the food placed on it. "How tiresome it all is!" you say; and you sniff disdainfully at me, says Yahweh Sabaoth. You bring a stolen, lame or diseased animal, you bring that as an offering! Am I to accept this from your hand? says Yahweh Sabaoth. Cursed be the rogue who owns a male which he has vowed to offer from his flock, and instead sacrifices a blemished animal to me! For I am a great king, says Yahweh Sabaoth, and my name is feared throughout the nations.

⁷ 2 And now, priests, this warning is for you. If you do not listen, if you do not find it in your heart to glorify my name, says Yahweh Sabaoth, I will send the curse on you and curse your very blessing.^a Indeed I have already cursed it, since there is not a single one of you who takes this to heart. Now watch how I am going to paralyze your arm and throw dung in your face—the dung from your very solemnities—and sweep you away with it. Then you shall learn that it is I who have given you this warning of my intention to abolish 5 my covenant with Levi, says Yahweh Sabaoth. ·My covenant was with him:

 it stood for life and peace, and these were what I gave him; it stood for fear 6 and trembling, and he respected me and stood in awe of my name. ·The teaching of truth was in his mouth, falsehood was not to be found on his lips; he walked 7 with me in integrity and virtue; he converted many from sinning. ·The lips of the priest ought to safeguard knowledge; his mouth is where instruction 8 should be sought, since he is the messenger of Yahweh Sabaoth. ·But you, you have strayed from the way; you have caused many to stumble by your teaching. You have destroyed the covenant of Levi, says Yahweh Sabaoth.
 9 And so I in my turn have made you contemptible and vile in the eyes of the whole people in repayment for the way you have not kept to my paths but have shown partiality in your administration.

Mixed marriage and divorce

10 Have we not all one Father? Did not one God create us? Why, then, do we 11 break faith with one another, profaning the covenant of our ancestors? ·Judah has broken faith: a detestable thing has been done (in Israel and) in Jerusalem.
 Yes, Judah has profaned the sanctuary that Yahweh loves. He has married 12 the daughter of an alien god. ·The man who does this—whoever he be—may Yahweh cut him off from the tents of Jacob and from the company of those 13 who present the offering to Yahweh Sabaoth. ·And here is something else you do: you cover the altar of Yahweh with tears, with weeping and wailing, because 14 he now refuses to consider the offering or to accept it from your hands. ·And you ask, “Why?” It is because Yahweh stands as witness between you and the wife of your youth, the wife with whom you have broken faith, even though 15 she was your partner and your wife by covenant. ·Did he not create a single being that has flesh and the breath of life? And what is this single being destined for? God-given offspring. Be careful for your own life, therefore, and do not 16 break faith with the wife of your youth. ·For I hate divorce, says Yahweh the God of Israel, and I hate people to parade their sins on their cloaks, says Yahweh Sabaoth. Respect your own life, therefore, and do not break faith like this.

The day of Yahweh

17 You weary Yahweh with your talk. You ask, “How do we weary him?” When you say, “Any evildoer is good as far as Yahweh is concerned; indeed he likes 1 them best”; or when you say, “Where is the God of justice now?” 3 Look, I am going to send my messenger to prepare a way before me. And the Lord you are seeking will suddenly enter his Temple; and the angel of the covenant 2 whom you are longing for, yes, he is coming, says Yahweh Sabaoth. ·Who will be able to resist the day of his coming? Who will remain standing when he appears?
 3 For he is like the refiner’s fire and the fullers’ alkali. ·He will take his seat as refiner and purifier; he will purify the sons of Levi and refine them like gold and silver, and then they will make the offering to Yahweh as it should be 4 made. ·The offering of Judah and Jerusalem will then be welcomed by Yahweh 5 as in former days, as in the years of old. ·I mean to visit you for the judgment and I am going to be a ready witness against sorcerer, adulterer and perjurer, against those who oppress the wage earner, the widow and the orphan, and who rob the settler of his rights—no need for you to be afraid of me, says Yahweh Sabaoth.

1 a. “Malachi” means “my messenger” and is probably not a proper name. b. The ancestor of Edom.

2 a. The “blessing” of the priests is the levitical revenue.

Temple tithes

6 No; I, Yahweh, do not change; and you, sons of Jacob, you are not ruined 7 yet! ·Since the days of your ancestors you have evaded my statutes and not observed them. Return to me and I will return to you, says Yahweh Sabaoth.
 8 You ask, "How are we to return? ·Can a man cheat God?" Yet you are cheating me. You ask, "How are we cheating you?" In the matter of tithes and 9 dues. ·The curse lies on you because you, yes you the whole nation, are cheating
 10 me. ·Bring the full tithes and dues to the storehouse so that there may be food in my house, and then see if I do not open the floodgates of heaven for you and 11 pour out blessing for you in abundance. ·For your sake I will lay a strict injunction on the locust not to destroy the fruits of your soil nor to make the 12 vine in your fields barren, says Yahweh Sabaoth. ·All the nations will call you blessed, for you will be a land of delights, says Yahweh Sabaoth.

The triumph of the virtuous on the day of Yahweh

13 You say harsh things about me, says Yahweh. You ask, "What have we said 14 against you?" ·You say, "It is useless to serve God; what is the good of keeping 15 his commands or of walking mournfully before Yahweh Sabaoth? ·Now we have reached the point when we call the arrogant blessed; yes, they prosper, 16 these evildoers; they try God's patience and yet go free." ·This is what those who fear Yahweh used to say to one another. But Yahweh took note and heard them: a book of remembrance was written in his presence recording those who 17 fear him and take refuge in his name. ·On the day which I am preparing, says Yahweh Sabaoth, they are going to be my own special possession. I will make allowances for them as a man makes allowances for the son who obeys him.
 18 Then once again you will see the difference between an upright man and a wicked one, between the one who serves God and the one who does not serve him.
 19 For the day is coming now, burning like a furnace; and all the arrogant and 20 the evildoers will be like stubble. The day that is coming is going to burn them 20 up, says Yahweh Sabaoth, leaving them neither root nor stalk. ·But for you who fear my name, the sun of righteousness will shine out with healing in its rays;
 21 you will leap like calves going out to pasture. ·You will trample on the wicked,
 21 who will be like ashes under your feet on the day I am preparing, says Yahweh Sabaoth.

Appendices

22 Remember the Law of my servant Moses to whom at Horeb I prescribed 23 laws and customs for the whole of Israel. ·Know that I am going to send you 23 Elijah the prophet before my day comes, that great and terrible day. ·He shall 24 turn the hearts of fathers toward their children and the hearts of children
 24 toward their fathers, lest I come and strike the land with a curse.

NEW TESTAMENT

INTRODUCTION TO THE SYNOPTIC GOSPELS

The first three gospels are called synoptic ("with the same eye") because their narratives are all built on the same events in the life of Jesus and indeed many passages from all three of them can be placed side by side as evident parallels. From the earliest times, Matthew, Mark and Luke respectively have been named as the writers of them.

According to a tradition dating from the second century, St. Matthew was the first to write a gospel and he wrote "in the Hebrew tongue." Our Greek "Gospel according to St. Matthew" is not identified with this early Aramaic book, which is lost, though there are times when it appears to represent a more primitive text than Mark.

Some parts of the gospel story assumed a fixed and stereotyped pattern in the oral tradition founded on the preaching of the apostles; the similarity of the Passion in all four gospels suggests a common oral tradition very firmly fixed. But the relationships between the three synoptic gospels are too close and too complex to be explained by a common oral tradition underlying all of them. It is clear that Luke depends on Mark, and although it was held for a long time that Mark depends on Matthew, a number of indications now suggest the reverse. Luke and Matthew also have a number of non-Marcian passages common to both, and these probably have a common source or sources; in addition, each of these gospels includes episodes and sayings not found in the other.

Mark, said to have been Peter's interpreter, is mentioned in St. Paul's letters as one of his companions, and described in Acts as a disciple from Jerusalem. Luke is also mentioned in St. Paul's letters and when writing Acts incorporated parts of a first-person travel diary. Mark's gospel can be dated before A.D. 70, perhaps about 64. Our Greek Matthew and Luke are later and probably date from 70-80.

The arrangement and presentation of the historical facts in the synoptic gospels are dictated by the purposes of a written gospel: to convert, to edify, to infuse faith, to enlighten it and defend it against its opponents.

Mark

The shortest of the gospels, it is not concerned with elaborating Christ's teaching and it records few of his sayings; the real point of its message is the manifestation of the crucified Messiah. While on the one hand Jesus is seen by the writer as the Son of God, acknowledged by the Father and vindicating his power and his mission by miracles, on the other hand he chooses to appear to the world under the mysterious title "Son of Man," and the gospel puts great emphasis on his apparent frustration and rejection by the people. The "messianic secret" is a basic idea of Mark's gospel.

Matthew

This gospel is divided into five books, each consisting of a discourse introduced by painstakingly selected narrative matter which follows the same broad outline as in Mark. These are preceded by the story of the Infancy and followed by that of the Passion. The fact that this gospel reports Christ's teaching much more fully than Mark and stresses especially the theme of the "kingdom of heaven" makes it a dramatic account in seven acts of the coming of the kingdom. Matthew, writing for Jewish Christians, makes a special point of demonstrating, by the use of Old Testament quotations, that the scriptures are fulfilled in the person and work of Jesus.

Luke

The plan of this gospel follows Mark's outline as a rule, but the narrative is controlled and edited to bring in much teaching, including the longer parables, and to omit episodes that would not interest Luke's non-Jewish readers. The originality of Luke is in his religious mentality: he is the faithful recorder of Christ's loving-kindness, he emphasizes the necessity for prayer and he is the only one of the synoptic authors to give the Holy Spirit the prominence which we find in Paul and in Acts.

Greek style

Mark's Greek is rough, strongly Aramaic and often faulty, but it is fresh and frank. Matthew's Greek is also rather Aramaic but smoother and more correct than Mark's, though less picturesque. Luke's style is variable: excellent when he is writing independently but at other times incorporating the peculiarities of his sources; as in Acts he suits the style to the subject and occasionally he goes out of his way to give a good imitation of Septuagint Greek.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO SAINT MATTHEW

I. THE BIRTH AND INFANCY OF JESUS

The ancestry of Jesus

1 1 A genealogy of Jesus Christ, son of David, son of Abraham^a:

2 Abraham was the father of Isaac,
Isaac the father of Jacob,
3 Jacob the father of Judah and his brothers,
Judah was the father of Perez and Zerah, Tamar being their mother, Perez was the father of Hezron,
Hezron the father of Ram,
4 Ram was the father of Amminadab,
Amminadab the father of Nahshon,
Nahshon the father of Salmon,
5 Salmon was the father of Boaz, Rahab being his mother,
Boaz was the father of Obed, Ruth being his mother,
Obed was the father of Jesse;
6 and Jesse was the father of King David.

David was the father of Solomon, whose mother had been Uriah's wife,

7 Solomon was the father of Rehoboam,
Rehoboam the father of Abijah, Abijah the father of Asa,
8 Asa was the father of Jehoshaphat,
Jehoshaphat the father of Joram,
Joram the father of Azariah,
9 Azariah was the father of Jotham, Jotham the father of Ahaz,
Ahaz the father of Hezekiah,
10 Hezekiah was the father of Manasseh,
Manasseh the father of Amon,
Amon the father of Josiah;
11 and Josiah was the father of Jechoniah and his brothers.
Then the deportation to Babylon took place.

12 After the deportation to Babylon:
Jechoniah was the father of Shealtiel,
Shealtiel the father of Zerubbabel,
13 Zerubbabel was the father of Abiud,
Abiud the father of Eliakim,
Eliakim the father of Azor,

1 a. Showing the descent of Joseph, legally the father of Jesus, from Abraham and David, to whom the messianic promises were made.

14 Azor was the father of Zadok,
 Zadok the father of Achim,
 Achim the father of Eliud,
 15 Eliud was the father of Eleazar,
 Eleazar the father of Matthan,
 Matthan the father of Jacob;
 16 and Jacob was the father of Joseph the husband of Mary;
 of her was born Jesus who is called Christ.

17 The sum of generations is therefore: fourteen from Abraham to David; fourteen from David to the Babylonian deportation; and fourteen from the Babylonian deportation to Christ.

The virginal conception of Christ

18 This is how Jesus Christ came to be born. His mother Mary was betrothed to Joseph^b; but before they came to live together she was found to be with child 19 through the Holy Spirit. Her husband Joseph, being a man of honor and 20 wanting to spare her publicity, decided to divorce her informally. He had made up his mind to do this when the angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream and said, "Joseph son of David, do not be afraid to take Mary home 21 as your wife, because she has conceived what is in her by the Holy Spirit. She will give birth to a son and you must name him Jesus, because he is the one who 22 is to save^c his people from their sins." Now all this took place to fulfill the words spoken by the Lord through the prophet:

23 The virgin will conceive and give birth to a son and they will call him Immanuel,^d

24 a name which means "God-is-with-us." When Joseph woke up he did what the 25 angel of the Lord had told him to do: he took his wife to his home and, though he had not had intercourse with her, she gave birth to a son; and he named him Jesus.

The visit of the Magi

1 2 After Jesus had been born at Bethlehem in Judaea during the reign of King
 2 Herod,^a some wise men came to Jerusalem from the east. "Where is the infant king of the Jews?" they asked. "We saw his star as it rose^b and have come to do him
 3 homage." When King Herod heard this he was perturbed, and so was the whole
 4 of Jerusalem. He called together all the chief priests and the scribes of the people,
 5 and inquired of them where the Christ was to be born. "At Bethlehem in Judaea," they told him, "for this is what the prophet wrote:

6 *And you, Bethlehem, in the land of Judah,
 you are by no means least among the leaders of Judah,
 for out of you will come a leader who will shepherd my people Israel."^c*

7 Then Herod summoned the wise men to see him privately. He asked them the 8 exact date on which the star had appeared, and sent them on to Bethlehem.
 "Go and find out all about the child," he said, "and when you have found him, 9 let me know, so that I too may go and do him homage." Having listened to what the king had to say, they set out. And there in front of them was the star they had seen rising; it went forward and halted over the place where the child 10 was. The sight of the star filled them with delight, and going into the house 11 they saw the child with his mother Mary, and falling to their knees they did him homage. Then, opening their treasures, they offered him gifts of gold and 12 frankincense and myrrh.^d But they were warned in a dream not to go back to Herod, and returned to their own country by a different way.

The flight into Egypt. The massacre of the Innocents

- 13 After they had left, the angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream and said, "Get up, take the child and his mother with you, and escape into Egypt, and stay there until I tell you, because Herod intends to search for the child and do away with him." 14 So Joseph got up and, taking the child and his mother with him, left that night for Egypt, 15 where he stayed until Herod was dead. This was to fulfill what the Lord had spoken through the prophet:

I called my son out of Egypt.^e

- 16 Herod was furious when he realized that he had been outwitted by the wise men, and in Bethlehem and its surrounding district he had all the male children killed who were two years old or under, reckoning by the date he had been careful to ask the wise men. 17 It was then that the words spoken through the prophet Jeremiah were fulfilled:

- 18 *A voice was heard in Ramah, sobbing and loudly lamenting:
it was Rachel weeping for her children,
refusing to be comforted
because they were no more.^f*

From Egypt to Nazareth

- 19 After Herod's death, the angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt 20 and said, "Get up, take the child and his mother with you and go back to the land of Israel, for those who wanted to kill the child are dead." 21 So Joseph got up and, taking the child and his mother with him, went back to the land of Israel. 22 But when he learned that Archelaus^g had succeeded his father Herod as ruler of Judaea he was afraid to go there, and being warned in a dream he left for the region of Galilee.^h 23 There he settled in a town called Nazareth. In this way the words spoken through the prophets were to be fulfilled:

He will be called a Nazarene.

II. THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN PROCLAIMED

A. NARRATIVE SECTION

The preaching of John the Baptist

- 1 3 In due course John the Baptist appeared; he preached in the wilderness of 2 Judaea and this was his message: "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven^a is 3 close at hand." This was the man the prophet Isaiah spoke of when he said:

*A voice cries in the wilderness:
prepare a way for the Lord,
make his paths straight.^b*

- 4 This man John wore a garment made of camel hair with a leather belt around his 5 waist, and his food was locusts and wild honey. Then Jerusalem and all Judaea 6 and the whole Jordan district made their way to him, and as they were baptized

b. In a Jewish betrothal the man was already called the "husband" of the woman, and he could release himself from the engagement only by an act of repudiation, v. 19. c. "Jesus" (Hebrew Yehoshua) means "Yahweh saves." d. Is. 7:14

2 a. About 5 or 4 B.C. Herod was king of Judaea, Idumaea and Samaria from 37-4 B.C. b. "In the east" is an alternative translation, here and in v. 9. c. Mi. 5:1 d. The wealth and perfumes of Arabia. e. Ho. 11:1 f. Jr. 31:15 g. Ethnarch of Judaea, 4 B.C. to A.D. 6. h. The territory of Herod Antipas.

3 a. "kingdom of God"; Matthew's phrase reflects the Jewish scruple against using the name of God. b. Is. 40:3

7 by him in the river Jordan they confessed their sins. •But when he saw a number of Pharisees and Sadducees^c coming for baptism he said to them,
 8 “Brood of vipers, who warned you to fly from the retribution that is coming?
 9 But if you are repentant, produce the appropriate fruit, •and do not presume to tell yourselves, ‘We have Abraham for our father,’ because, I tell you, God can raise children for Abraham from these stones. •Even now the ax is laid to the roots of the trees, so that any tree which fails to produce good fruit will be cut down and thrown on the fire. •I baptize you in water for repentance, but the one who follows me is more powerful than I am, and I am not fit to carry his sandals; he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire. •His winnowing fan is in his hand; he will clear his threshing floor and gather his wheat into the barn; but the chaff he will burn in a fire that will never go out.”

Jesus is baptized

13 Then Jesus appeared: he came from Galilee to the Jordan to be baptized by 14 John. •John tried to dissuade him. “It is I who need baptism from you,” he said,
 15 “and yet you come to me!” •But Jesus replied, “Leave it like this for the time being; it is fitting that we should, in this way, do all that righteousness demands.” At this, John gave in to him.

16 As soon as Jesus was baptized he came up from the water, and suddenly the heavens opened and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and coming 17 down on him. •And a voice spoke from heaven, “This is my Son, the Beloved; my favor rests on him.”

Temptation in the wilderness

1 4 Then Jesus was led by the Spirit out into the wilderness to be tempted by the 2 devil. •He fasted for forty days and forty nights, after which he was very 3 hungry, •and the tempter came and said to him, “If you are the Son of God, tell 4 these stones to turn into loaves.” •But he replied, “Scripture says:

*Man does not live on bread alone
 but on every word that comes from the mouth of God.”^a*

5 The devil then took him to the holy city and made him stand on the parapet of 6 the Temple. “If you are the Son of God,” he said, “throw yourself down; for Scripture says:

*He will put you in his angels' charge,
 and they will support you on their hands
 in case you hurt your foot against a stone.”^b*

7 Jesus said to him, “Scripture also says:

You must not put the Lord your God to the test.”^c

8 Next, taking him to a very high mountain, the devil showed him all the kingdoms 9 of the world and their splendor. “I will give you all these,” he said, “if you fall at 10 my feet and worship me.” •Then Jesus replied, “Be off, Satan! For Scripture says:

*You must worship the Lord your God,
 and serve him alone.”^d*

11 Then the devil left him, and angels appeared and looked after him.

Return to Galilee

12 Hearing that John had been arrested he went back to Galilee, •and leaving 13 Nazareth he went and settled in Capernaum, a lakeside town on the borders of 14 Zebulun and Naphtali. •In this way the prophecy of Isaiah was to be fulfilled:

15 *Land of Zebulun! Land of Naphtali!
 Way of the sea on the far side of Jordan,*

Galilee of the nations!

- 16 *The people that lived in darkness
has seen a great light;
on those who dwell in the land and shadow of death
a light has dawned.^e*

- 17 From that moment Jesus began his preaching with the message, "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is close at hand."

The first four disciples are called

- 18 As he was walking by the Sea of Galilee he saw two brothers, Simon, who was called Peter, and his brother Andrew; they were making a cast in the lake with their net, for they were fishermen. And he said to them, "Follow me and I will make you fishers of men." And they left their nets at once and followed him.
- 21 Going on from there he saw another pair of brothers, James son of Zebedee and his brother John; they were in their boat with their father Zebedee, mending their nets, and he called them. At once, leaving the boat and their father, they followed him.

Jesus preaches and heals the sick

- 23 He went around the whole of Galilee teaching in their synagogues, proclaiming the Good News of the kingdom and curing all kinds of diseases and sickness among the people. His fame spread throughout Syria,^f and those who were suffering from diseases and painful complaints of one kind or another, the possessed, epileptics, the paralyzed, were all brought to him, and he cured them.
- 25 Large crowds followed him, coming from Galilee, the Decapolis,^g Jerusalem, Judaea and Transjordania.

B. THE SERMON ON THE MOUNT^a

The Beatitudes

- 1 5 Seeing the crowds, he went up the hill. There he sat down and was joined by his disciples. Then he began to speak. This is what he taught them:
- 3 "How happy are the poor in spirit;
theirs is the kingdom of heaven.
- 4 Happy the gentle^b:
they shall have the earth for their heritage.
- 5 Happy those who mourn:
they shall be comforted.
- 6 Happy those who hunger and thirst for what is right:
they shall be satisfied.
- 7 Happy the merciful:
they shall have mercy shown them.
- 8 Happy the pure in heart:
they shall see God.
- 9 Happy the peacemakers:
they shall be called sons of God.
- 10 Happy those who are persecuted in the cause of right:
theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

c. Pharisees: members of a Jewish sect known for its strict observance of the Law as it was interpreted and developed by their rabbis. Sadducees: conservatives who observed the written form of the Law in the Scriptures.

4 a. Dt. 8:3 b. Ps. 91:11-12 c. Dt. 6:16 d. Dt. 6:13 e. Is. 8:23-9:1 f. I.e., Galilee and the districts listed in v. 25. g. The "ten towns," a region southeast of Galilee.

5 a. In this discourse, which occupies three chapters of this gospel, Matthew has included sayings which probably originated on other occasions (cf. their parallels in Luke). b. Or "the lowly"; the word comes from the Greek version of Ps. 37.

11 "Happy are you when people abuse you and persecute you and speak all kinds 12 of calumny against you on my account. Rejoice and be glad, for your reward will be great in heaven; this is how they persecuted the prophets before you.

Salt of the earth and light of the world

13 "You are the salt of the earth. But if salt becomes tasteless, what can make it salty again? It is good for nothing, and can only be thrown out to be trampled underfoot by men.

14 "You are the light of the world. A city built on a hilltop cannot be hidden.
 15 No one lights a lamp to put it under a tub; they put it on the lampstand where 16 it shines for everyone in the house. In the same way your light must shine in the sight of men, so that, seeing your good works, they may give the praise to your Father in heaven.

The fulfillment of the Law

17 "Do not imagine that I have come to abolish the Law or the Prophets. I have 18 come not to abolish but to complete them. I tell you solemnly, till heaven and earth disappear, not one dot, not one little stroke, shall disappear from 19 the Law until its purpose is achieved. Therefore, the man who infringes even one of the least of these commandments and teaches others to do the same will be considered the least in the kingdom of heaven; but the man who keeps them and teaches them will be considered great in the kingdom of heaven.

The new standard higher than the old

20 "For I tell you, if your virtue goes no deeper than that of the scribes and Pharisees, you will never get into the kingdom of heaven.

21 "You have learned how it was said to our ancestors: You must not kill;⁶ and if 22 anyone does kill he must answer for it before the court. But I say this to you:
 anyone who is angry with his brother will answer for it before the court; if a man calls his brother 'Fool'⁷ he will answer for it before the Sanhedrin⁸; and if a man 23 calls him 'Renegade'⁷ he will answer for it in hell fire. So then, if you are bringing your offering to the altar and there remember that your brother has something 24 against you, leave your offering there before the altar, go and be reconciled with 25 your brother first, and then come back and present your offering. Come to terms with your opponent in good time while you are still on the way to the court with him, or he may hand you over to the judge and the judge to the officer, and you 26 will be thrown into prison. I tell you solemnly, you will not get out till you have paid the last penny.

27 "You have learned how it was said: You must not commit adultery.⁹ But I say 28 this to you: if a man looks at a woman lustfully, he has already committed 29 adultery with her in his heart. If your right eye should cause you to sin, tear it out and throw it away; for it will do you less harm to lose one part of you than to 30 have your whole body thrown into hell. And if your right hand should cause you to sin, cut it off and throw it away; for it will do you less harm to lose one part of you than to have your whole body go to hell.

31 "It has also been said: Anyone who divorces his wife must give her a writ of 32 dismissal.^h But I say this to you: everyone who divorces his wife, except for the case of fornication, makes her an adulteress; and anyone who marries a divorced woman commits adultery.

33 "Again, you have learned how it was said to our ancestors: You must not break
 34 your oath, but must fulfill your oaths to the Lord.ⁱ But I say this to you: do not 35 swear at all, either by heaven, since that is God's throne; or by the earth, since 36 that is his footstool; or by Jerusalem, since that is the city of the great king. Do not swear by your own head either, since you cannot turn a single hair white or black.
 37 All you need say is 'Yes' if you mean yes, 'No' if you mean no; anything more than this comes from the evil one.

38 "You have learned how it was said: Eye for eye and tooth for tooth.^j •But I say 39 this to you: offer the wicked man no resistance. On the contrary, if anyone hits 40 you on the right cheek, offer him the other as well; •if a man takes you to law
 41 and would have your tunic, let him have your cloak as well. •And if anyone 42 orders you to go one mile, go two miles with him. •Give to anyone who asks, and if anyone wants to borrow, do not turn away.

43 "You have learned how it was said: You must love your neighbor and hate your 44 enemy.^k •But I say this to you: love your enemies and pray for those who 45 persecute you; •in this way you will be sons of your Father in heaven, for he causes his sun to rise on bad men as well as good, and his rain to fall on honest 46 and dishonest men alike. •For if you love those who love you, what right have 47 you to claim any credit? Even the tax collectors^l do as much, do they not? •And if you save your greetings for your brothers, are you doing anything exceptional?
 48 Even the pagans do as much, do they not? •You must therefore be perfect just as your heavenly Father is perfect.

Almsgiving in secret

1 6 "Be careful not to parade your good deeds before men to attract their notice;
 2 by doing this you will lose all reward from your Father in heaven. •So when you give alms, do not have it trumpeted before you; this is what the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets to win men's admiration. I tell you 3 solemnly, they have had their reward. •But when you give alms, your left hand 4 must not know what your right is doing; •your almsgiving must be secret, and your Father who sees all that is done in secret will reward you.

Prayer in secret

5 "And when you pray, do not imitate the hypocrites: they love to say their prayers standing up in the synagogues and at the street corners for people to see 6 them. I tell you solemnly, they have had their reward. •But when you pray, go to your private room and, when you have shut your door, pray^a to your Father who is in that secret place, and your Father who sees all that is done in secret will reward you.

How to pray. The Lord's Prayer

7 "In your prayers do not babble as the pagans do, for they think that by using 8 many words they will make themselves heard. •Do not be like them; your Father 9 knows what you need before you ask him. •So you should pray like this:

"Our Father in heaven,
 may your name be held holy,
 your kingdom come,
 your will be done,
 on earth as in heaven.
 Give us today our daily bread.
 And forgive us our debts,
 as we have forgiven those who are in debt to us.
 And do not put us to the test,
 but save us from the evil one.

14 Yes, if you forgive others their failings, your heavenly Father will forgive you 15 yours; •but if you do not forgive others, your Father will not forgive your failings either.

 2 K. 4:33.

Fasting in secret

16 “When you fast do not put on a gloomy look as the hypocrites do: they pull long faces to let men know they are fasting. I tell you solemnly, they have 17 had their reward. •But when you fast, put oil on your head and wash your face, 18 so that no one will know you are fasting except your Father who sees all that is done in secret; and your Father who sees all that is done in secret will reward you.

True treasures

19 “Do not store up treasures for yourselves on earth, where moths and 20 woodworms destroy them and thieves can break in and steal. •But store up treasures for yourselves in heaven, where neither moth nor woodworms destroy 21 them and thieves cannot break in and steal. •For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

The eye, the lamp of the body

22 “The lamp of the body is the eye. It follows that if your eye is sound, your 23 whole body will be filled with light. •But if your eye is diseased, your whole body will be all darkness. If then, the light inside you is darkness, what darkness that will be!

God and money

24 “No one can be the slave of two masters: he will either hate the first and love the second, or treat the first with respect and the second with scorn. You cannot be the slave both of God and of money.

Trust in Providence

25 “That is why I am telling you not to worry about your life and what you are to eat, nor about your body and how you are to clothe it. Surely life means more than 26 food, and the body more than clothing! •Look at the birds in the sky. They do not sow or reap or gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you 27 not worth much more than they are? •Can any of you, for all his worrying, add 28 one single cubit to his span of life? •And why worry about clothing? Think of the 29 flowers growing in the fields; they never have to work or spin; •yet I assure you 30 that not even Solomon in all his regalia was robed like one of these. •Now if that is how God clothes the grass in the field which is there today and thrown into the furnace tomorrow, will he not much more look after you, you men of little faith?
31 So do not worry; do not say, ‘What are we to eat? What are we to drink? How 32 are we to be clothed?’ •It is the pagans who set their hearts on all these things.
33 Your heavenly Father knows you need them all. •Set your hearts on his kingdom first, and on his righteousness, and all these other things will be given you as well.
34 So do not worry about tomorrow: tomorrow will take care of itself. Each day has enough trouble of its own.

Do not judge

1/2 7 “Do not judge, and you will not be judged; •because the judgments you give are the judgments you will get, and the amount you measure out is the 3 amount you will be given. •Why do you observe the splinter in your brother’s
4 eye and never notice the plank in your own? •How dare you say to your brother, ‘Let me take the splinter out of your eye,’ when all the time there is a plank in 5 your own? •Hypocrite! Take the plank out of your own eye first, and then you will see clearly enough to take the splinter out of your brother’s eye.

Do not profane sacred things

6 “Do not give dogs what is holy^a; and do not throw your pearls in front of pigs, or they may trample them and then turn on you and tear you to pieces.

Effective prayer

7 "Ask, and it will be given to you; search, and you will find; knock, and the 8 door will be opened to you. •For the one who asks always receives; the one who 9 searches always finds; the one who knocks will always have the door opened to 10 him. •Is there a man among you who would hand his son a stone when he asked 11 for bread? •Or would hand him a snake when he asked for a fish? •If you, then, who are evil, know how to give your children what is good, how much more will your Father in heaven give good things to those who ask him!

The golden rule

12 "So always treat others as you would like them to treat you; that is the meaning of the Law and the Prophets.

The two ways

13 "Enter by the narrow gate, since the road that leads to perdition is wide and 14 spacious, and many take it; •but it is a narrow gate and a hard road that leads to life, and only a few find it.

False prophets

15 "Beware of false prophets^b who come to you disguised as sheep but underneath
16 are ravenous wolves. •You will be able to tell them by their fruits. Can people
17 pick grapes from thorns, or figs from thistles? •In the same way, a sound tree
18 produces good fruit but a rotten tree bad fruit. •A sound tree cannot bear bad
19 fruit, nor a rotten tree bear good fruit. •Any tree that does not produce good 20 fruit is cut down and thrown on the fire. •I repeat, you will be able to tell them by their fruits.

The true disciple

21 "It is not those who say to me, 'Lord, Lord,' who will enter the kingdom of 22 heaven, but the person who does the will of my Father in heaven. •When the day^c comes many will say to me, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, 23 cast out demons in your name, work many miracles in your name?' •Then
I shall tell them to their faces: I have never known you; away from me, you evil men!"

24 "Therefore, everyone who listens to these words of mine and acts on them
25 will be like a sensible man who built his house on rock. •Rain came down, floods rose, gales blew and hurled themselves against that house, and it did not fall;
26 it was founded on rock. •But everyone who listens to these words of mine and does 27 not act on them will be like a stupid man who built his house on sand. •Rain came down, floods rose, gales blew and struck that house, and it fell; and what a fall it had!"

The amazement of the crowds

28 Jesus had now finished what he wanted to say, and his teaching made a deep 29 impression on the people •because he taught them with authority, and not like their own scribes.^d

7 a. The meat of animals which have been offered in sacrifice in the Temple; the application is to the parading of holy beliefs and practices in front of those who cannot understand them.
b. Lying teachers of religion. c. The day of Judgment. d. Doctors of the law, who buttressed their teaching by quotation from the Scriptures and traditions.

III. THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN IS PREACHED

A. NARRATIVE SECTION: TEN MIRACLES

Cure of a leper

1 8 After he had come down from the mountain large crowds followed him.
 2 A leper now came up and bowed low in front of him. "Sir," he said, "if you want 3 to, you can cure me." Jesus stretched out his hand, touched him and said, "Of 4 course I want to! Be cured!" And his leprosy was cured at once. Then Jesus said to him, "Mind you do not tell anyone, but go and show yourself to the priest and make the offering prescribed by Moses, as evidence for them."

Cure of the centurion's servant

5 When he went into Capernaum a centurion came up and pleaded with him.
 6 "Sir," he said, "my servant is lying at home paralyzed, and in great pain." "I will 8 come myself and cure him," said Jesus. The centurion replied, "Sir, I am not worthy to have you under my roof; just give the word and my servant will be 9 cured. For I am under authority myself, and have soldiers under me; and I say to one man: Go, and he goes; to another: Come here, and he comes; to my 10 servant: Do this, and he does it." When Jesus heard this he was astonished and said to those following him, "I tell you solemnly, nowhere in Israel have 11 I found faith like this. And I tell you that many will come from east and west to take their places with Abraham and Isaac and Jacob at the feast in the kingdom 12 of heaven; but the subjects of the kingdom^a will be turned out into the dark, 13 where there will be weeping and grinding of teeth." And to the centurion Jesus said, "Go back, then; you have believed, so let this be done for you." And the servant was cured at that moment.

Cure of Peter's mother-in-law

14 And going into Peter's house Jesus found Peter's mother-in-law in bed with 15 fever. He touched her hand and the fever left her, and she got up and began to wait on him.

A number of cures

16 That evening they brought him many who were possessed by devils. He cast 17 out the spirits with a word and cured all who were sick. This was to fulfill the prophecy of Isaiah:

He took our sicknesses away and carried our diseases for us.^b

Hardships of the apostolic calling

18 When Jesus saw the great crowds all about him he gave orders to leave for the 19 other side.^c One of the scribes then came up and said to him, "Master, I will 20 follow you wherever you go." Jesus replied, "Foxes have holes and the birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay his head." 21 Another man, one of his disciples, said to him, "Sir, let me go and bury my 22 father first." But Jesus replied, "Follow me, and leave the dead to bury their dead."

The calming of the storm

23 Then he got into the boat followed by his disciples. Without warning 24 a storm broke over the lake, so violent that the waves were breaking right over the boat. But he was asleep. So they went to him and woke him saying, "Save us, 25 Lord, we are going down!" And he said to them, "Why are you so frightened, you men of little faith?" And with that he stood up and rebuked the winds and the 26 sea; and all was calm again. The men were astounded and said, "Whatever kind 27 of man is this? Even the winds and the sea obey him."

The demoniacs of Gadara

28 When he reached the country of the Gadarenes on the other side, two demoniacs came toward him out of the tombs—creatures so fierce that no one 29 could pass that way. They stood there shouting, “What do you want with us, 30 Son of God? Have you come here to torture us before the time?”^d Now some 31 distance away there was a large herd of pigs feeding, and the devils pleaded 32 with Jesus, “If you cast us out, send us into the herd of pigs.” And he said to them, “Go then,” and they came out and made for the pigs; and at that the whole herd 33 charged down the cliff into the lake and perished in the water. The swineherds ran off and made for the town, where they told the whole story, including what 34 had happened to the demoniacs. At this the whole town set out to meet Jesus; and as soon as they saw him they implored him to leave the neighborhood.

Cure of a paralytic

2 He got back in the boat, crossed the water and came to his own town.^a Then some people appeared, bringing him a paralytic stretched out on a bed. Seeing their faith, Jesus said to the paralytic, “Courage, my child, your sins are forgiven.” 3 And at this some scribes said to themselves, “This man is blaspheming.” Knowing what was in their minds Jesus said, “Why do you have such wicked thoughts in 4 your hearts? Now, which of these is easier: to say, ‘Your sins are forgiven,’ 5 or to say, ‘Get up and walk?’ But to prove to you that the Son of Man has 6 authority on earth to forgive sins,”—he said to the paralytic—“get up, and pick up 7 your bed and go off home.” And the man got up and went home. A feeling of 8 awe came over the crowd when they saw this, and they praised God for giving such power to men.

The call of Matthew

9 As Jesus was walking on from there he saw a man named Matthew^b sitting by the customs house, and he said to him, “Follow me.” And he got up and followed him.

Eating with sinners

10 While he was at dinner in the house it happened that a number of tax collectors 11 and sinners^c came to sit at the table with Jesus and his disciples. When the Pharisees saw this, they said to his disciples, “Why does your master eat with 12 tax collectors and sinners?” When he heard this he replied, “It is not the healthy 13 who need the doctor, but the sick. Go and learn the meaning of the words:
What I want is mercy, not sacrifice.^d And indeed I did not come to call the virtuous,
but sinners.”

A discussion on fasting

14 Then John’s^e disciples came to him and said, “Why is it that we and the 15 Pharisees fast, but your disciples do not?” Jesus replied, “Surely the bridegroom’s attendants would never think of mourning as long as the bridegroom is still with them? But the time will come for the bridegroom to be taken away from them, 16 and then they will fast. No one puts a piece of unshrunk cloth onto an old 17 cloak, because the patch pulls away from the cloak and the tear gets worse. Nor do people put new wine into old wineskins; if they do, the skins burst, the wine runs out, and the skins are lost. No; they put new wine into fresh skins and both are preserved.”^f

d. The day of Judgment, when the reign of God would banish all demons.

9 a. Capernaum, cf. 4:13. b. Called Levi by Mark and Luke. c. Social outcasts, made “un-the Baptist. f. New devotional exercises, like those which John and the Pharisees add to the religion of the old order, will not preserve it.

Cure of the woman with a hemorrhage. The official's daughter raised to life

18 While he was speaking to them, up came one of the officials, who bowed low 19 in front of him and said, "My daughter has just died, but come and lay your hand on her and her life will be saved." Jesus rose and, with his disciples, followed him.

20 Then from behind him came a woman, who had suffered from a hemorrhage 21 for twelve years, and she touched the fringe of his cloak, for she said to herself, 22 "If I can only touch his cloak I shall be well again." Jesus turned around and saw her and he said to her, "Courage, my daughter, your faith has restored you to health." And from that moment the woman was well again.

23 When Jesus reached the official's house and saw the flute players, with the 24 crowd making a commotion he said, "Get out of here; the little girl is not dead, 25 she is asleep." And they laughed at him. But when the people had been turned 26 out he went inside and took the little girl by the hand; and she stood up. And the news spread all around the countryside.

Cure of two blind men

27 As Jesus went on his way two blind men followed him shouting, "Take pity 28 on us, Son of David." And when Jesus reached the house the blind men came up with him and he said to them, "Do you believe I can do this?" They said, "Sir, 29 we do." Then he touched their eyes saying, "Your faith deserves it, so let this 30 be done for you." And their sight returned. Then Jesus sternly warned them, 31 "Take care that no one learns about this." But when they had gone, they talked about him all over the countryside.

Cure of a dumb demoniac

32 They had only just left when a man was brought to him, a dumb demoniac.
 33 And when the devil was cast out, the dumb man spoke and the people were 34 amazed. "Nothing like this has ever been seen in Israel," they said. But the Pharisees said, "It is through the prince of devils that he casts out devils."

The distress of the crowds

35 Jesus made a tour through all the towns and villages, teaching in their synagogues, proclaiming the Good News of the kingdom and curing all kinds of diseases and sickness.

36 And when he saw the crowds he felt sorry for them because they were harassed
 37 and dejected, like sheep without a shepherd. Then he said to his disciples, 38 "The harvest is rich but the laborers are few, so ask the Lord of the harvest to send laborers to his harvest."

B. THE INSTRUCTION OF THE APOSTLESThe mission of the Twelve

1 10 He summoned his twelve disciples, and gave them authority over unclean spirits with power to cast them out and to cure all kinds of diseases and sickness.

2 These are the names of the twelve apostles: first, Simon who is called Peter,
 3 and his brother Andrew; James the son of Zebedee, and his brother John; Philip and Bartholomew; Thomas, and Matthew the tax collector; James the son of 4 Alphaeus, and Thaddaeus; Simon the Zealot and Judas Iscariot, the one who 5 was to betray him. These twelve Jesus sent out, instructing them as follows:

"Do not turn your steps to pagan territory, and do not enter any Samaritan
 6 town; go rather to the lost sheep of the House of Israel. And as you go, 8 proclaim that the kingdom of heaven is close at hand. Cure the sick, raise the dead, cleanse the lepers, cast out devils. You received without charge, give without 9 charge. Provide yourselves with no gold or silver, not even with a few coppers

10 for your purses, with no haversack for the journey or spare tunic or footwear or a staff, for the workman deserves his keep.

11 "Whatever town or village you go into, ask for someone trustworthy and stay 12 with him until you leave. As you enter his house, salute it, and if the house
13 deserves it, let your peace descend upon it; if it does not, let your peace come back 14 to you. And if anyone does not welcome you or listen to what you have to say, 15 as you walk out of the house or town shake the dust from your feet. I tell you 16 solemnly, on the day of Judgment it will not go as hard with the land of Sodom and Gomorrah as with that town. Remember, I am sending you out like sheep among wolves; so be cunning as serpents and yet as harmless as doves.

The missionaries will be persecuted^a 17 "Beware of men: they will hand you over to Sanhedrins and scourge you in 18 their synagogues. You will be dragged before governors and kings for my sake, 19 to bear witness before them and the pagans. But when they hand you over, do 20 not worry about how to speak or what to say; what you are to say will be given to you when the time comes; because it is not you who will be speaking; the Spirit of your Father will be speaking in you.

21 "Brother will betray brother to death, and the father his child; children will 22 rise against their parents and have them put to death. You will be hated by all men on account of my name; but the man who stands firm to the end will be saved.
23 If they persecute you in one town, take refuge in the next; and if they persecute you in that, take refuge in another. I tell you solemnly, you will not have gone the round of the towns of Israel before the Son of Man comes.

24 "The disciple is not superior to his teacher, nor the slave to his master. It is 25 enough for the disciple that he should grow to be like his teacher, and the slave like his master. If they have called the master of the house Beelzebul, what will they not say of his household?

Open and fearless speech

26 "Do not be afraid of them therefore. For everything that is now covered will 27 be uncovered, and everything now hidden will be made clear. What I say to you in the dark, tell in the daylight; what you hear in whispers, proclaim from the housetops.

28 "Do not be afraid of those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul; fear him 29 rather who can destroy both body and soul in hell. Can you not buy two sparrows for a penny? And yet not one falls to the ground without your Father 30 knowing. Why, every hair on your head has been counted. So there is no 31 need to be afraid; you are worth more than hundreds of sparrows.

32 "So if anyone declares himself for me in the presence of men, I will declare my-33 self for him in the presence of my Father in heaven. But the one who disowns me in the presence of men, I will disown in the presence of my Father in heaven.

Jesus, the cause of dissension

34 "Do not suppose that I have come to bring peace to the earth: it is not peace I 35 have come to bring, but a sword. For I have come to set a man against his father, a daughter against her mother, a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law.
36 A man's enemies will be those of his own household.^b

Renouncing self to follow Jesus

37 "Anyone who prefers father or mother to me is not worthy of me. Anyone 38 who prefers son or daughter to me is not worthy of me. Anyone who does not

g. The loud wailing of the oriental mourner.

10 a. The conditions described in vv. 17-39 are those of a later time than this first mission of the Twelve. b. Mi. 7:6

39 take his cross and follow in my footsteps is not worthy of me. 'Anyone who finds his life will lose it; anyone who loses his life for my sake will find it.

Conclusion

40 "Anyone who welcomes you welcomes me; and those who welcome me welcome the one who sent me.

41 "Anyone who welcomes a prophet because he is a prophet will have a prophet's reward; and anyone who welcomes a holy man because he is a holy man will have a holy man's reward.

42 "If anyone gives so much as a cup of cold water to one of these little ones because he is a disciple, then I tell you solemnly, he will most certainly not lose his reward."

IV. THE MYSTERY OF THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN

A. NARRATIVE SECTION

1 11 When Jesus had finished instructing his twelve disciples he moved on from there to teach and preach in their towns.^a

The Baptist's question. Jesus commends him

2 Now John in his prison had heard what Christ was doing and he sent his 3 disciples to ask him, "Are you the one who is to come, or have we got to wait for 4 someone else?" Jesus answered, "Go back and tell John what you hear and see;
5 the blind see again, and the lame walk, lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear,
6 and the dead are raised to life and the Good News is proclaimed to the poor^b;
7 and happy is the man who does not lose faith in me."

7 As the messengers were leaving, Jesus began to talk to the people about John:
"What did you go out into the wilderness to see? A reed swaying in the breeze?
8 No? Then what did you go out to see? A man wearing fine clothes? Oh no, those 9 who wear fine clothes are to be found in palaces. Then what did you go out for?
10 To see a prophet? Yes, I tell you, and much more than a prophet: he is the one of whom scripture says:

*Look, I am going to send my messenger before you;
he will prepare your way before you.^c*

11 "I tell you solemnly, of all the children born of women, a greater than John the Baptist has never been seen; yet the least in the kingdom of heaven is 12 greater than he is. Since John the Baptist came, up to this present time, the kingdom of heaven has been subjected to violence and the violent are taking it 13 by storm. Because it was toward John that all the prophecies of the prophets 14 and of the Law were leading; and he, if you will believe me, is the Elijah who 15 was to return.^d If anyone has ears to hear, let him listen!

Jesus condemns his contemporaries

16 "What description can I find for this generation? It is like children shouting to each other as they sit in the market place:

17 'We played the pipes for you,
and you wouldn't dance;
we sang dirges,
and you wouldn't be mourners.'

18 "For John came, neither eating nor drinking, and they say, 'He is possessed.' 19 The Son of Man came, eating and drinking, and they say, 'Look, a glutton and a drunkard, a friend of tax collectors and sinners.' Yet wisdom has been proved right by her actions."

Lament over the lake towns

- 20 Then he began to reproach the towns in which most of his miracles had been worked, because they refused to repent.
- 21 "Alas for you, Chorazin! Alas for you, Bethsaida! For if the miracles done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes. And still, I tell you that it will not go as hard on Judgment day with Tyre and Sidon as with you. And as for you, Capernaum, did you want to be exalted as high as heaven? You shall be thrown down to hell.^c For if the miracles done in you had been done in Sodom, it would have been standing yet.
- 24 And still, I tell you that it will not go as hard with the land of Sodom on Judgment day as with you."

The Good News revealed to the simple. The Father and the Son

- 25 At that time Jesus exclaimed, "I bless you, Father, Lord of heaven and of earth, for hiding these things from the learned and the clever and revealing them to mere children. Yes, Father, for that is what it pleased you to do. Everything has been entrusted to me by my Father; and no one knows the Son except the Father, just as no one knows the Father except the Son and those to whom the Son chooses to reveal him.

The gentle mastery of Christ

- 28 "Come to me, all you who labor and are overburdened, and I will give you rest. Shoulder my yoke and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls.^f Yes, my yoke is easy and my burden light."

Picking corn on the sabbath

- 1 12 At that time Jesus took a walk one sabbath day through the cornfields. His disciples were hungry and began to pick ears of corn and eat them.
- 2 The Pharisees noticed it and said to him, "Look, your disciples are doing something that is forbidden on the sabbath." But he said to them, "Have you not read what David did when he and his followers were hungry—how he went into the house of God and how they ate the loaves of offering which neither he nor his followers were allowed to eat, but which were for the priests alone? Or again, have you not read in the Law that on the sabbath day the Temple priests break the sabbath without being blamed for it? Now here, I tell you, is something greater than the Temple. And if you had understood the meaning of the words: What I want is mercy, not sacrifice, you would not have condemned the blameless. For the Son of Man is master of the sabbath."

Cure of the man with a withered hand

- 9 He moved on from there and went to their synagogue, and a man was there at the time who had a withered hand. They asked him, "Is it against the law to cure a man on the sabbath day?" hoping for something to use against him. But he said to them, "If any one of you here had only one sheep and it fell down a hole on the sabbath day, would he not get hold of it and lift it out? Now a man is far more important than a sheep, so it follows that it is permitted to do good on the sabbath day." Then he said to the man, "Stretch out your hand." He stretched it out and his hand was better, as sound as the other one. At this the Pharisees went out and began to plot against him, discussing how to destroy him.

Jesus the "servant of Yahweh"

- 15 Jesus knew this and withdrew from the district. Many followed him and he cured them all, but warned them not to make him known. This was to fulfill the prophecy of Isaiah:

11 a. I.e., the Jews' towns. b. These are signs of the messianic age in the prophecies of Isaiah. c. Mt. 3:1 d. According to the last of the prophets, Mi. 3:23. e. Is. 14 f. Jr. 6:16

18 *Here is my servant whom I have chosen,
my beloved, the favorite of my soul.
I will endow him with my spirit,
and he will proclaim the true faith to the nations.*

19 *He will not brawl or shout,
nor will anyone hear his voice in the streets.*

20 *He will not break the crushed reed, nor put out the smoldering wick
till he has led the truth to victory:
in his name the nations will put their hope.^a*

Jesus and Beelzebul

22 Then they brought to him a blind and dumb demoniac; and he cured him, 23 so that the dumb man could speak and see. All the people were astounded and 24 said, "Can this be the Son of David?" But when the Pharisees heard this they 25 said, "The man casts out devils only through Beelzebul,^b the prince of devils."

26 Knowing what was in their minds he said to them, "Every kingdom divided 27 against itself is heading for ruin; and no town, no household divided against 28 itself can stand. Now if Satan casts out Satan, he is divided against himself;
29 so how can his kingdom stand? And if it is through Beelzebul that I cast out 30 devils, through whom do your own experts cast them out? Let them be your 31 judges, then. But if it is through the Spirit of God that I cast devils out, then 32 know that the kingdom of God has overtaken you.

33 "Or again, how can anyone make his way into a strong man's house and 34 burgle his property unless he has tied up the strong man first? Only then can he 35 burgle his house.

36 "He who is not with me is against me, and he who does not gather with me 37 scatters. And so I tell you, every one of men's sins and blasphemies will be for-38 given, but blasphemy against the Spirit will not be forgiven. And anyone who 39 says a word against the Son of Man will be forgiven; but let anyone speak against 40 the Holy Spirit and he will not be forgiven either in this world or in the next.

Words betray the heart

41 "Make a tree sound and its fruit will be sound; make a tree rotten and its 42 fruit will be rotten. For the tree can be told by its fruit. Brood of vipers, how 43 can your speech be good when you are evil? For a man's words flow out of what 44 fills his heart. A good man draws good things from his store of goodness; a bad 45 man draws bad things from his store of badness. So I tell you this, that for 46 every unfounded word men utter they will answer on Judgment day, since it 47 is by your words you will be acquitted, and by your words condemned."

The sign of Jonah

48 Then some of the scribes and Pharisees spoke up. "Master," they said, "we 49 should like to see a sign^c from you." He replied, "It is an evil and unfaithful 50 generation that asks for a sign! The only sign it will be given is the sign of the 51 prophet Jonah. For as Jonah was in the belly of the sea monster for three 52 days and three nights,^d so will the Son of Man be in the heart of the earth for 53 three days and three nights. On Judgment day the men of Nineveh will stand 54 up with this generation and condemn it, because when Jonah preached they 55 repented; and there is something greater than Jonah here. On Judgment day 56 the Queen of the South will rise up with this generation and condemn it, because 57 she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and there 58 is something greater than Solomon here.

The return of the unclean spirit

59 "When an unclean spirit goes out of a man it wanders through waterless 60 country looking for a place to rest, and cannot find one. Then it says, 'I will return to the home I came from.' But on arrival, finding it unoccupied, swept and 45 tidied, 'it then goes off and collects seven other spirits more evil than itself, and they go in and set up house there, so that the man ends up by being worse than he was before. That is what will happen to this evil generation.'

The true kinsmen of Jesus

46 He was still speaking to the crowds when his mother and his brothers^e appeared; they were standing outside and were anxious to have a word with 48 him./ 'But to the man who told him this Jesus replied, "Who is my mother?
 49 Who are my brothers?" 'And stretching out his hand toward his disciples he said, 50 "Here are my mother and my brothers. 'Anyone who does the will of my Father in heaven, he is my brother and sister and mother."

B. THE SERMON OF PARABLES

Introduction

1 13 That same day, Jesus left the house and sat by the lakeside, 'but such 2 crowds gathered around him that he got into a boat and sat there. The people
 3 all stood on the beach, 'and he told them many things in parables.

Parable of the sower

4 He said, "Imagine a sower going out to sow. 'As he sowed, some seeds fell 5 on the edge of the path, and the birds came and ate them up. 'Others fell on patches of rock where they found little soil and sprang up straight away, because 6 there was no depth of earth; 'but as soon as the sun came up they were scorched 7 and, not having any roots, they withered away. 'Others fell among thorns, and 8 the thorns grew up and choked them. 'Others fell on rich soil and produced their 9 crop, some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty. 'Listen, anyone who has ears!"

Why Jesus speaks in parables

10 Then the disciples went up to him and asked, "Why do you talk to them in 11 parables?" "Because," he replied, "the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven are 12 revealed to you, but they are not revealed to them. 'For anyone who has will be given more, and he will have more than enough; but from anyone who has not, 13 even what he has will be taken away. 'The reason I talk to them in parables is 14 that they look without seeing and listen without hearing or understanding. 'So in their case this prophecy of Isaiah is being fulfilled:

*You will listen and listen again, but not understand,
 see and see again, but not perceive.*

15 *For the heart of this nation has grown coarse,
 their ears are dull of hearing, and they have shut their eyes,
 for fear they should see with their eyes,
 hear with their ears,
 understand with their heart,
 and be converted
 and be healed by me.^a*

16 "But happy are your eyes because they see, your ears because they hear!
 17 I tell you solemnly, many prophets and holy men longed to see what you see, and never saw it; to hear what you hear, and never heard it.

12 a. Is. 42:1-4. b. "Prince Baal," often contemptuously changed (e.g., 2 K. 1:2f) to "Beel-zebub," "Lord of the flies." c. A miracle to prove his authority. d. Jon. 2:1 e. In Hebrew and Aramaic (and many other languages), "brothers" is the word used for cousins or even more distant relations of the same generation. f. V. 47 ("someone said to him: your mother and brothers are standing outside and want to speak to you") is omitted by some important textual witnesses. It is probably a restatement of v. 46 modeled on Mk. and Lk.

13 a. Is. 6:9-10

The parable of the sower explained

18 "You, therefore, are to hear the parable of the sower. ·When anyone hears 19 the word of the kingdom without understanding, the evil one comes and carries off what was sown in his heart: this is the man who received the seed on the edge 20 of the path. ·The one who received it on patches of rock is the man who hears 21 the word and welcomes it at once with joy. ·But he has no root in him, he does not last; let some trial come, or some persecution on account of the word, and he 22 falls away at once. ·The one who received the seed in thorns is the man who hears the word, but the worries of this world and the lure of riches choke the word 23 and so he produces nothing. ·And the one who received the seed in rich soil is the man who hears the word and understands it; he is the one who yields a harvest and produces now a hundredfold, now sixty, now thirty."

Parable of the darnel

24 He put another parable before them, "The kingdom of heaven may be 25 compared to a man who sowed good seed in his field. ·While everybody was 26 asleep his enemy came, sowed darnel all among the wheat, and made off. ·When 27 the new wheat sprouted and ripened, the darnel appeared as well. ·The owner's servants went to him and said, 'Sir, was it not good seed that you sowed in your 28 field? If so, where does the darnel come from?' ·'Some enemy has done this,' he answered. And the servants said, 'Do you want us to go and weed it out?' 29 But he said, 'No, because when you weed out the darnel you might pull up the 30 wheat with it. ·Let them both grow till the harvest; and at harvest time I shall say to the reapers: First collect the darnel and tie it in bundles to be burned, then gather the wheat into my barn.'"

Parable of the mustard seed

31 He put another parable before them, "The kingdom of heaven is like a mustard 32 seed which a man took and sowed in his field. ·It is the smallest of all the seeds, but when it has grown it is the biggest shrub of all and becomes a tree so that the birds of the air come and shelter in its branches."

Parable of the yeast

33 He told them another parable, "The kingdom of heaven is like the yeast a woman took and mixed in with three measures of flour till it was leavened all through."

The people are taught only in parables

34 In all this Jesus spoke to the crowds in parables; indeed, he would never speak 35 to them except in parables. ·This was to fulfil the prophecy:

I will speak to you in parables and expound things hidden since the foundation of the world.^b

The parable of the darnel explained

36 Then, leaving the crowds, he went to the house; and his disciples came to 37 him and said, "Explain the parable about the darnel in the field to us." ·He said 38 in reply, "The sower of the good seed is the Son of Man. ·The field is the world;
the good seed is the subjects of the kingdom; the darnel, the subjects of the evil 39 one; ·the enemy who sowed them, the devil; the harvest is the end of the world;
40 the reapers are the angels. ·Well then, just as the darnel is gathered up and burned
41 in the fire, so it will be at the end of time. ·The Son of Man will send his angels and they will gather out of his kingdom all things that provoke offenses and all 42 who do evil, ·and throw them into the blazing furnace, where there will be 43 weeping and grinding of teeth. ·Then the virtuous will shine like the sun in the kingdom of their Father.^c Listen, anyone who has ears!

Parables of the treasure and of the pearl

44 "The kingdom of heaven is like treasure hidden in a field which someone has found; he hides it again, goes off happy, sells everything he owns and buys the field.

45 "Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant looking for fine pearls;
46 when he finds one of great value he goes and sells everything he owns and buys it.

Parable of the dragnet

47 "Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet cast into the sea that brings 48 in a haul of all kinds. When it is full, the fishermen haul it ashore; then, sitting 49 down, they collect the good ones in a basket and throw away those that are no 50 use. This is how it will be at the end of time: the angels will appear and separate the wicked from the just to throw them into the blazing furnace where there will be weeping and grinding of teeth.

Conclusion

51 "Have you understood all this?" They said, "Yes." And he said to them, 52 "Well then, every scribe who becomes a disciple of the kingdom of heaven is like a householder who brings out from his storeroom things both new and old."^d

V. THE CHURCH, FIRST FRUITS OF THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN

A. NARRATIVE SECTION

A visit to Nazareth

53 When Jesus had finished these parables he left the district; and, coming 54 to his home town,^c he taught the people in their synagogue in such a way that they were astonished and said, "Where did the man get this wisdom and these 55 miraculous powers? This is the carpenter's son, surely? Is not his mother the woman called Mary, and his brothers James and Joseph and Simon and Jude?
56 His sisters, too, are they not all here with us? So where did the man get it all?"
57 And they would not accept him. But Jesus said to them, "A prophet is only 58 despised in his own country and in his own house," and he did not work many miracles there because of their lack of faith.

Herod and Jesus

1 14 At that time Herod the tetrarch heard about the reputation of Jesus, and 2 said to his court, "This is John the Baptist himself; he has risen from the dead, and that is why miraculous powers are at work in him."

John the Baptist beheaded

3 Now it was Herod who had arrested John, chained him up and put him in 4 prison because of Herodias, his brother Philip's^a wife. For John had told him, 5 "It is against the Law for you to have her." He had wanted to kill him but 6 was afraid of the people, who regarded John as a prophet. Then, during the 7 celebrations for Herod's birthday, the daughter of Herodias^b danced before the 8 company, and so delighted Herod that he promised on oath to give her anything 9 she asked. Prompted by her mother she said, "Give me John the Baptist's head, here, on a dish." The king was distressed but, thinking of the oaths he had 14 a. Philip, Herod's half brother, was still alive. b. According to Josephus, the girl's name was Salome.

10 sworn and of his guests, he ordered it to be given her, and sent and had John 11 beheaded in the prison. The head was brought in on a dish and given to the girl 12 who took it to her mother. John's disciples came and took the body and buried it; then they went off to tell Jesus.

First miracle of the loaves

13 When Jesus received this news he withdrew by boat to a lonely place where they could be by themselves. But the people heard of this and, leaving the towns, 14 went after him on foot. So as he stepped ashore he saw a large crowd; and he took pity on them and healed their sick.

15 When evening came, the disciples went to him and said, "This is a lonely place, and the time has slipped by; so send the people away, and they can go to the 16 villages to buy themselves some food." Jesus replied, "There is no need for them 17 to go: give them something to eat yourselves." But they answered, "All we have 18 with us is five loaves and two fish." "Bring them here to me," he said. He gave 19 orders that the people were to sit down on the grass; then he took the five loaves and the two fish, raised his eyes to heaven and said the blessing. And breaking 20 the loaves he handed them to his disciples who gave them to the crowds. They all ate as much as they wanted, and they collected the scraps remaining, 21 twelve baskets full. Those who ate numbered about five thousand men, to say nothing of women and children.

Jesus walks on the water and, with him, Peter

22 Directly after this he made the disciples get into the boat and go on ahead
 23 to the other side while he would send the crowds away. After sending the crowds away he went up into the hills by himself to pray. When evening came, he was there 24 alone, while the boat, by now far out on the lake, was battling with a heavy 25 sea, for there was a head wind. In the fourth watch of the night^e he went toward 26 them, walking on the lake, and when the disciples saw him walking on the lake
 27 they were terrified. "It is a ghost," they said, and cried out in fear. But at once 28 Jesus called out to them, saying, "Courage! It is I! Do not be afraid." It was Peter who answered. "Lord," he said, "if it is you, tell me to come to you across the water." 29 "Come," said Jesus. Then Peter got out of the boat and started walking toward 30 Jesus across the water, but as soon as he felt the force of the wind, he took fright 31 and began to sink. "Lord! Save me!" he cried. Jesus put out his hand at once and 32 held him. "Man of little faith," he said, "why did you doubt?" And as they got into 33 the boat the wind dropped. The men in the boat bowed down before him and said, "Truly, you are the Son of God."

Cures at Gennesaret

34 Having made the crossing, they came to land at Gennesaret. When the local 35 people recognized him they spread the news through the whole neighborhood 36 and took all that were sick to him, begging him just to let them touch the fringe of his cloak. And all those who touched it were completely cured.

The traditions of the Pharisees

1 15 Pharisees and scribes from Jerusalem then came to Jesus and said, "Why
 2 do your disciples break away from the tradition of the elders?^a They do not
 3 wash their hands when they eat food." "And why do you," he answered, "break
 4 away from the commandment of God for the sake of your tradition? For God said: Do your duty to^b your father and mother and: Anyone who curses father or 5 mother must be put to death.^c But you say, 'If anyone says to his father or mother:
 6 Anything I have that I might have used to help you is dedicated to God,' he is rid of his duty to father or mother.^d In this way you have made God's word 7 null and void by means of your tradition. Hypocrites! It was you Isaiah meant when he so rightly prophesied:

8 This people honors me only with lip service,
 while their hearts are far from me.
 9 The worship they offer me is worthless;
the doctrines they teach are only human regulations.”^e

On clean and unclean

10 He called the people to him and said, “Listen, and understand. What goes 11 into the mouth does not make a man unclean; it is what comes out of the mouth that makes him unclean.”

12 Then the disciples came to him and said, “Do you know that the Pharisees 13 were shocked when they heard what you said?” He replied, “Any plant my 14 heavenly Father has not planted will be pulled up by the roots. Leave them alone. They are blind men leading blind men; and if one blind man leads another, both will fall into a pit.”

15 At this, Peter said to him, “Explain the parable for us.” Jesus replied, “Do 16 even you not yet understand? Can you not see that whatever goes into the 17 mouth passes through the stomach and is discharged into the sewer? But the 18 things that come out of the mouth come from the heart, and it is these that make 19 a man unclean. For from the heart come evil intentions: murder, adultery, 20 fornication, theft, perjury, slander. These are the things that make a man unclean. But to eat with unwashed hands does not make a man unclean.”

The daughter of the Canaanite woman healed

21 Jesus left that place and withdrew to the region of Tyre and Sidon. Then 22 out came a Canaanite woman from that district and started shouting, “Sir, Son 23 of David, take pity on me. My daughter is tormented by a devil.” But he answered her not a word. And his disciples went and pleaded with him. “Give 24 her what she wants,” they said, “because she is shouting after us.” He said in 25 reply, “I was sent only to the lost sheep of the House of Israel.” But the woman 26 had come up and was kneeling at his feet. “Lord,” she said, “help me.” He replied, 27 “It is not fair to take the children’s food and throw it to the house dogs.” She retorted, “Ah yes, sir; but even house dogs can eat the scraps that fall from their 28 master’s table.” Then Jesus answered her, “Woman, you have great faith. Let your wish be granted.” And from that moment her daughter was well again.

Cures near the lake

29 Jesus went on from there and reached the shores of the Sea of Galilee, and 30 he went up into the hills. He sat there, and large crowds came to him bringing the lame, the crippled, the blind, the dumb and many others; these they put 31 down at his feet, and he cured them. The crowds were astonished to see the dumb speaking, the cripples whole again, the lame walking and the blind with their sight, and they praised the God of Israel.

Second miracle of the loaves

32 But Jesus called his disciples to him and said, “I feel sorry for all these people; they have been with me for three days now and have nothing to eat. I do not 33 want to send them off hungry, they might collapse on the way.” The disciples said to him, “Where could we get enough bread in this deserted place 34 to feed such a crowd?” Jesus said to them, “How many loaves have you?” “Seven,” 35 they said, “and a few small fish.” Then he instructed the crowd to sit down on the 36 ground, and he took the seven loaves and the fish, and he gave thanks and broke them and handed them to the disciples who gave them to the crowds.

15 a. The traditional teaching, including many additions to and extensions of the Law.
 b. Often translated “honor,” but the word implies a respect expressed in practical ways,

37 They all ate as much as they wanted, and they collected what was left of the 38 scraps, seven baskets full. Now four thousand men had eaten, to say nothing 39 of women and children. And when he had sent the crowds away he got into the boat and went to the district of Magadan.

The Pharisees ask for a sign from heaven

1 16 The Pharisees and Sadducees came, and to test him they asked if he would
 2 show them a sign from heaven. He replied, "In the evening you
 3 say, "It will be fine; there is a red sky,' and in the morning, 'Stormy weather
 4 today; the sky is red and overcast.' You know how to read the face of the sky,
 5 but you cannot read the signs of the times. It is an evil and unfaithful generation
 6 that asks for a sign! The only sign it will be given is the sign of Jonah." And leaving 7 them standing there, he went away.

The yeast of the Pharisees and Sadducees

8 The disciples, having crossed to the other shore, had forgotten to take any food.
 9 Jesus said to them, "Keep your eyes open, and be on your guard against the yeast 10 of the Pharisees and Sadducees." And they said to themselves, "It is because we 11 have not brought any bread." Jesus knew it, and he said, "Men of little faith, 12 why are you talking among yourselves about having no bread? Do you not yet 13 understand? Do you not remember the five loaves for the five thousand and the 14 number of baskets you collected? Or the seven loaves for the four thousand 15 and the number of baskets you collected? How could you fail to understand 16 that I was not talking about bread? What I said was: Beware of the yeast of the 17 Pharisees and Sadducees." Then they understood that he was telling them to be 18 on their guard, not against the yeast for making bread, but against the teaching 19 of the Pharisees and Sadducees.^a

Peter's profession of faith; his pre-eminence

20 When Jesus came to the region of Caesarea Philippi he put this question to 21 his disciples, "Who do people say the Son of Man is?" And they said, "Some 22 say he is John the Baptist, some Elijah, and others Jeremiah or one of the 23 prophets." "But you," he said, "who do you say I am?" Then Simon Peter spoke 24 up, "You are the Christ," he said, "the Son of the living God." Jesus replied, 25 "Simon son of Jonah, you are a happy man! Because it was not flesh and blood 26 that revealed this to you but my Father in heaven. So I now say to you: You 27 are Peter^b and on this rock I will build my Church. And the gates of the under-28 world^c can never hold out against it. I will give you the keys of the kingdom 29 of heaven: whatever you bind on earth shall be considered bound in heaven; 30 whatever you loose on earth shall be considered loosed in heaven."^d Then he gave the disciples strict orders not to tell anyone that he was the Christ.

First prophecy of the Passion

31 From that time Jesus began to make it clear to his disciples that he was 32 destined to go to Jerusalem and suffer grievously at the hands of the elders and 33 chief priests and scribes, to be put to death and to be raised up on the third day.
 34 Then, taking him aside, Peter started to remonstrate with him. "Heaven preserve 35 you, Lord"; he said, "this must not happen to you." But he turned and said to 36 Peter, "Get behind me, Satan! You are an obstacle in my path, because the way you think is not God's way but man's."

The condition of following Christ

37 Then Jesus said to his disciples, "If anyone wants to be a follower of mine, 38 let him renounce himself and take up his cross and follow me. For anyone who 39 wants to save his life will lose it; but anyone who loses his life for my sake will 40 find it. What, then, will a man gain if he wins the whole world and ruins his 41 life? Or what has a man to offer in exchange for his life?"

- 27 "For the Son of Man is going to come in the glory of his Father with his angels, and, when he does, he will reward each one according to his behavior.
28 I tell you solemnly, there are some of these standing here who will not taste death before they see the Son of Man coming with his kingdom."^e

The transfiguration

- 1 17 Six days later, Jesus took with him Peter and James and his brother John 2 and led them up a high mountain where they could be alone. There in 3 their presence he was transfigured: his face shone like the sun and his clothes
4 became as white as the light. Suddenly Moses and Elijah^a appeared to them;
5 they were talking with him. Then Peter spoke to Jesus. "Lord," he said, "it is 6 wonderful for us to be here; if you wish, I will make three tents here, one for 7 you, one for Moses and one for Elijah." He was still speaking when suddenly
8 a bright cloud covered them with shadow, and from the cloud there came a voice
9 which said, "This is my Son, the Beloved; he enjoys my favor. Listen to him."
10 When they heard this, the disciples fell on their faces, overcome with fear. But 11 Jesus came up and touched them. "Stand up," he said, "do not be afraid." And 12 when they raised their eyes they saw no one but only Jesus.

The question about Elijah

- 9 As they came down from the mountain Jesus gave them this order, "Tell 10 no one about the vision until the Son of Man has risen from the dead." And the 11 disciples put this question to him, "Why do the scribes say then that Elijah has 12 to come first?" "True," he replied, "Elijah is to come to see that everything is 13 once more as it should be; however, I tell you that Elijah has come already and 14 they did not recognize him but treated him as they pleased; and the Son of Man 15 will suffer similarly at their hands." The disciples understood then that he had 16 been speaking of John the Baptist.

The epileptic demoniac

- 14 As they were rejoicing the crowd a man came up to him and went down on 15 his knees before him. "Lord," he said, "take pity on my son: he is a lunatic and 16 in a wretched state; he is always falling into the fire or into the water. I took 17 him to your disciples and they were unable to cure him." "Faithless and perverse 18 generation!" Jesus said in reply. "How much longer must I be with you? How much 19 longer must I put up with you? Bring him here to me." And when Jesus rebuked 20 it the devil came out of the boy who was cured from that moment.
21 Then the disciples came privately to Jesus. "Why were we unable to cast it
22 out?" they asked. He answered, "Because you have little faith. I tell you 23 solemnly, if your faith were the size of a mustard seed you could say to this 24 mountain, 'Move from here to there,' and it would move; nothing would be 25 impossible for you."^b

Second prophecy of the Passion

- 22 One day when they were together in Galilee, Jesus said to them, "The Son 23 of Man is going to be handed over into the power of men; they will put him to 24 death, and on the third day he will be raised to life again." And a great sadness 25 came over them.

The gates symbolize the power of the underworld to hold captives. d. The keys have become the traditional insignia of Peter. e. The Temple tax paid by Jesus and Peter

24 When they reached Capernaum, the collectors of the half shekel^c came to 25 Peter and said, "Does your master not pay the half shekel?" "Oh yes," he replied, and went into the house. But before he could speak, Jesus said, "Simon, what is your opinion? From whom do the kings of the earth take toll or tribute? From 26 their sons or from foreigners?" And when he replied, "From foreigners," Jesus 27 said, "Well then, the sons are exempt. However, so as not to offend these people, go to the lake and cast a hook; take the first fish that bites, open its mouth and there you will find a shekel; take it and give it to them for me and for you."

B. THE DISCOURSE ON THE CHURCH

Who is the greatest?

1 18 At this time the disciples came to Jesus and said, "Who is the greatest in 2 the kingdom of heaven?" So he called a little child to him and set the child 3 in front of them. Then he said, "I tell you solemnly, unless you change and become 4 like little children you will never enter the kingdom of heaven. And so, the one who makes himself as little as this little child is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

On leading others astray

5 "Anyone who welcomes a little child like this in my name welcomes me.
 6 But anyone who is an obstacle to bring down one of these little ones who have faith in me would be better drowned in the depths of the sea with a great 7 millstone around his neck. Alas for the world that there should be such obstacles!
 Obstacles indeed there must be, but alas for the man who provides them!
 8 "If your hand or your foot should cause you to sin, cut it off and throw it away: it is better for you to enter into life crippled or lame, than to have two 9 hands or two feet and be thrown into eternal fire. And if your eye should cause you to sin, tear it out and throw it away: it is better for you to enter into life with one eye, than to have two eyes and be thrown into the hell of fire.
 10 "See that you never despise any of these little ones, for I tell you that their angels in heaven are continually in the presence of my Father in heaven."^a

The lost sheep

12 "Tell me. Suppose a man has a hundred sheep and one of them strays; will 13 he not leave the ninety-nine on the hillside and go in search of the stray? I tell you solemnly, if he finds it, it gives him more joy than do the ninety-nine that did 14 not stray at all. Similarly, it is never the will of your Father in heaven that one of these little ones should be lost.

Brotherly correction

15 "If your brother does something wrong, go and have it out with him alone, between your two selves. If he listens to you, you have won back your brother.
 16 If he does not listen, take one or two others along with you: the evidence of two 17 or three witnesses is required to sustain any charge. But if he refuses to listen to these, report it to the community^b; and if he refuses to listen to the community, treat him like a pagan or a tax collector.
 18 "I tell you solemnly, whatever you bind on earth shall be considered bound in heaven; whatever you loose on earth shall be considered loosed in heaven.

Prayer in common

19 "I tell you solemnly once again, if two of you on earth agree to ask anything 20 at all, it will be granted to you by my Father in heaven. For where two or three meet in my name, I shall be there with them."

Forgiveness of injuries

21 Then Peter went up to him and said, "Lord, how often must I forgive my 22 brother if he wrongs me? As often as seven times?" Jesus answered, "Not seven,
I tell you, but seventy-seven times.

Parable of the unforbearing debtor

23 "And so the kingdom of heaven may be compared to a king who decided 24 to settle his accounts with his servants. When the reckoning began, they 25 brought him a man who owed ten thousand talents^c; but he had no means of paying, so his master gave orders that he should be sold, together with his wife 26 and children and all his possessions, to meet the debt. At this, the servant threw himself down at his master's feet. 'Give me time,' he said, 'and I will pay the 27 whole sum.' And the servant's master felt so sorry for him that he let him go 28 and canceled the debt. Now as this servant went out, he happened to meet a fellow servant who owed him one hundred denarii^d; and he seized him by the throat 29 and began to throttle him. 'Pay what you owe me,' he said. 'His fellow servant fell at his feet and implored him, saying, 'Give me time and I will pay you.'
30 But the other would not agree; on the contrary, he had him thrown into prison 31 till he should pay the debt. His fellow servants were deeply distressed when they saw what had happened, and they went to their master and reported the 32 whole affair to him. Then the master sent for him. 'You wicked servant,' he 33 said, 'I canceled all that debt of yours when you appealed to me. Were you not bound, then, to have pity on your fellow servant just as I had pity on you?'
34 And in his anger the master handed him over to the torturers till he should pay 35 all his debt. And that is how my heavenly Father will deal with you unless you each forgive your brother from your heart."

VI. THE APPROACHING ADVENT OF THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN

A. NARRATIVE SECTION

The question about divorce

1 19 Jesus had now finished what he wanted to say, and he left Galilee and 2 came into the part of Judaea which is on the far side of the Jordan. Large crowds followed him and he healed them there.

3 Some Pharisees approached him, and to test him they said, "Is it against the 4 Law for a man to divorce his wife on any pretext whatever?" He answered, "Have 5 you not read that the creator from the beginning made them male and female and that he said: This is why a man must leave father and mother, and cling to his wife, 6 and the two become one body? They are no longer two, therefore, but one body.
So then, what God has united, man must not divide."

7 They said to him, "Then why did Moses command that a writ of dismissal
8 should be given in cases of divorce?" "It was because you were so unteachable," he said, "that Moses allowed you to divorce your wives, but it was not like this 9 from the beginning. Now I say this to you: the man who divorces his wife—
I am not speaking of fornication—and marries another, is guilty of adultery."

c. A tax for the upkeep of the Temple.

18 a. V. 11, at the time when verse numbers were added, consisted of a sentence which is not now accepted as part of the original text. b. The community of the brothers (the Church).

c. "Millions of dollars"—about $7,000,000. d. Under $12.

Continnence

10 The disciples said to him, "If that is how things are between husband and wife, 11 it is not advisable to marry." But he replied, "It is not everyone who can accept 12 what I have said, but only those to whom it is granted. There are eunuchs born that way from their mother's womb, there are eunuchs made so by men and there are eunuchs who have made themselves that way for the sake of the kingdom of heaven. Let anyone accept this who can."

Jesus and the children

13 People brought little children to him, for him to lay his hands on them and 14 say a prayer. The disciples turned them away, but Jesus said, "Let the little children alone, and do not stop them coming to me; for it is to such as these that 15 the kingdom of heaven belongs." Then he laid his hands on them and went on his way.

The rich young man

16 And there was a man who came to him and asked, "Master, what good deed 17 must I do to possess eternal life?" Jesus said to him, "Why do you ask me about what is good? There is one alone who is good. But if you wish to enter into 18 life, keep the commandments." He said, "Which?" "These": Jesus replied, "You must not kill. You must not commit adultery. You must not steal. You must not 19 bring false witness. Honor your father and mother, and: you must love your 20 neighbor as yourself."^a The young man said to him, "I have kept all these. What 21 more do I need to do?" Jesus said, "If you wish to be perfect, go and sell what you own and give the money to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; 22 then come, follow me." But when the young man heard these words he went away sad, for he was a man of great wealth.

The danger of riches

23 Then Jesus said to his disciples, "I tell you solemnly, it will be hard for a 24 rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven. Yes, I tell you again, it is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the 25 kingdom of heaven." When the disciples heard this they were astonished.
26 "Who can be saved, then?" they said. Jesus gazed at them. "For men," he told them, "this is impossible; for God everything is possible."

The reward of renunciation

27 Then Peter spoke. "What about us?" he said to him. "We have left everything 28 and followed you. What are we to have, then?" Jesus said to him, "I tell you solemnly, when all is made new and the Son of Man sits on his throne of glory, you will yourselves sit on twelve thrones to judge^b the twelve tribes of Israel.
29 And everyone who has left houses, brothers, sisters, father, mother, children or land for the sake of my name will be repaid a hundred times over, and also inherit eternal life.
30 "Many who are first will be last, and the last, first.

Parable of the vineyard laborers

1 20 "Now the kingdom of heaven is like a landowner going out at daybreak
2 to hire workers for his vineyard. He made an agreement with the workers
3 for one denarius a day, and sent them to his vineyard. Going out at about the 4 third hour he saw others standing idle in the market place and said to them, 5 'You go to my vineyard too and I will give you a fair wage.' So they went. At about the sixth hour and again at about the ninth hour, he went out and did the 6 same. Then at about the eleventh hour he went out and found more men standing around, and he said to them, 'Why have you been standing here idle all day?'
7 'Because no one has hired us,' they answered. He said to them, 'You go into

8 my vineyard too.' In the evening, the owner of the vineyard said to his bailiff, 'Call the workers and pay them their wages, starting with the last arrivals and ending with the first.' So those who were hired at about the eleventh hour came forward and received one denarius each. When the first came, they expected to get more, but they too received one denarius each. They took it, but grumbled at the landowner. 'The men who came last,' they said, 'have done only one hour, and you have treated them the same as us, though we have done a heavy day's work in all the heat.' He answered one of them and said, 'My friend, I am not being unjust to you; did we not agree on one denarius?' Take your earnings and go. I choose to pay the last comer as much as I pay you. Have I no right to do what I like with my own? Why be envious because I am generous?' Thus the last will be first, and the first, last."

Third prophecy of the Passion

17 Jesus was going up to Jerusalem, and on the way he took the Twelve to one side and said to them, "Now we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man is about to be handed over to the chief priests and scribes. They will condemn him to death and will hand him over to the pagans to be mocked and scourged and crucified; and on the third day he will rise again."

The mother of Zebedee's sons makes her request

20 Then the mother of Zebedee's sons came with her sons to make a request of him, and bowed low; and he said to her, "What is it you want?" She said to him, "Promise that these two sons of mine may sit one at your right hand and the other at your left in your kingdom." "You do not know what you are asking," Jesus answered. "Can you drink the cup that I am going to drink?" They replied, "We can." "Very well," he said, "you shall drink my cup,^a but as for seats at my right hand and my left, these are not mine to grant; they belong to those to whom they have been allotted by my Father."

Leadership with service

24 When the other ten heard this they were indignant with the two brothers. 25 But Jesus called them to him and said, "You know that among the pagans the rulers lord it over them, and their great men make their authority felt. This is not to happen among you. No; anyone who wants to be great among you must be your servant, and anyone who wants to be first among you must be your slave, just as the Son of Man came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many."

The two blind men of Jericho

29 As they left Jericho a large crowd followed him. Now there were two blind men sitting at the side of the road. When they heard that it was Jesus who was passing by, they shouted, "Lord! Have pity on us, Son of David." And the crowd scolded them and told them to keep quiet, but they only shouted more loudly, "Lord! Have pity on us, Son of David." Jesus stopped, called them over and said, "What do you want me to do for you?" They said to him, "Lord, let us have our sight back." Jesus felt pity for them and touched their eyes, and immediately their sight returned and they followed him.

The Messiah enters Jerusalem

1 21 When they were near Jerusalem and had come in sight of Bethphage on the Mount of Olives, Jesus sent two disciples, saying to them, "Go to the village facing you, and you will immediately find a tethered donkey and a colt with her.

19 a. Ex. 20:12-16; Dt. 5:16-20 b. I.e., to govern.

20 a. Perhaps a prophecy of the martyrdom of James and John; James was certainly put to death by Herod Agrippa about 44 A.D., Ac. 12:2.

3 Untie them and bring them to me. 'If anyone says anything to you, you are to 4 say, 'The Master needs them and will send them back directly.''' 'This took place to fulfill the prophecy:

5 *Say to the daughter of Zion:
Look, your king comes to you;
he is humble, he rides on a donkey and on a colt, the foal of a beast of burden.^a*

6 So the disciples went out and did as Jesus had told them. 'They brought the donkey and the colt, then they laid their cloaks on their backs and he sat on 8 them. 'Great crowds of people spread their cloaks on the road, while others 9 were cutting branches from the trees and spreading them in his path. 'The crowds who went in front of him and those who followed were all shouting:

*"Hosanna^b to the Son of David!
Blessings on him who comes in the name of the Lord!^c Hosanna in the highest heavens!"*

10 And when he entered Jerusalem, the whole city was in turmoil. "Who is this?"
11 people asked, 'and the crowds answered, "This is the prophet Jesus from Nazareth in Galilee."

The expulsion of the dealers from the Temple

12 Jesus then went into the Temple and drove out all those who were selling and buying there; he upset the tables of the money changers and the chairs of those 13 who were selling pigeons.^d "According to scripture," he said, "my house will be called 14 a house of prayer"; but you are turning it into a robbers' den."^f 'There were also blind
15 and lame people who came to him in the Temple, and he cured them. 'At the sight of the wonderful things he did and of the children shouting, "Hosanna to the 16 Son of David" in the Temple, the chief priests and the scribes were indignant. "Do you hear what they are saying?" they said to him. "Yes," Jesus answered, "have you never read this:

*By the mouths of children, babes in arms,
you have made sure of praise?"^g*

17 With that he left them and went out of the city to Bethany where he spent the night.

The barren fig tree withers. Faith and prayer

18 As he was returning to the city in the early morning, he felt hungry. 'Seeing 19 a fig tree by the road, he went up to it and found nothing on it but leaves.
And he said to it, "May you never bear fruit again"; and at that instant the fig tree 20 withered. 'The disciples were amazed when they saw it. "What happened to the 21 tree," they said, "that it withered there and then?" 'Jesus answered, "I tell you solemnly, if you have faith and do not doubt at all, not only will you do what I have done to the fig tree, but even if you say to this mountain, 'Get up and throw 22 yourself into the sea,' it will be done. 'And if you have faith, everything you ask for in prayer you will receive."

The authority of Jesus is questioned

23 He had gone into the Temple and was teaching, when the chief priests and the elders of the people came to him and said, "What authority have you for acting 24 like this? And who gave you this authority?" "And I," replied Jesus, "will ask you a question, only one; if you tell me the answer to it, I will then tell you my 25 authority for acting like this. 'John's baptism: where did it come from: heaven or man?" And they argued it out this way among themselves, "If we say from 26 heaven, he will retort, 'Then why did you refuse to believe him?'; 'but if we say from man, we have the people to fear, for they all hold that John was a prophet."

27 So their reply to Jesus was, "We do not know." And he retorted, "Nor will I tell you my authority for acting like this.

Parable of the two sons

28 "What is your opinion? A man had two sons. He went and said to the first,
29 'My boy, you go and work in the vineyard today.' He answered, 'I will not go,' 30 but afterward thought better of it and went. The man then went and said the 31 same thing to the second who answered, 'Certainly, sir,' but did not go. Which of the two did the father's will?" "The first," they said. Jesus said to them, "I tell you solemnly, tax collectors and prostitutes are making their way into 32 the kingdom of God before you. For John came to you, a pattern of true righteousness, but you did not believe him, and yet the tax collectors and prostitutes did. Even after seeing that, you refused to think better of it and believe in him.

Parable of the wicked husbandmen

33 "Listen to another parable. There was a man, a landowner, who planted a vineyard; he fenced it around, dug a winepress in it and built a tower; then he 34 leased it to tenants and went abroad. When vintage time drew near he sent his 35 servants to the tenants to collect his produce. But the tenants seized his servants, 36 thrashed one, killed another and stoned a third. Next he sent some more servants, 37 this time a larger number, and they dealt with them in the same way. Finally 38 he sent his son to them. 'They will respect my son,' he said. But when the tenants saw the son, they said to each other, 'This is the heir. Come on, let us kill him and 39 take over his inheritance.' So they seized him and threw him out of the vineyard 40 and killed him. Now when the owner of the vineyard comes, what will he do 41 to those tenants?" They answered, "He will bring those wretches to a wretched end and lease the vineyard to other tenants who will deliver the produce to him when 42 the season arrives." Jesus said to them, "Have you never read in the scriptures:

*It was the stone rejected by the builders
that became the keystone.
This was the Lord's doing
and it is wonderful to see?h*

43 I tell you, then, that the kingdom of God will be taken from you and given to 44 a people who will produce its fruit."

45 When they heard his parables, the chief priests and the scribes realized he was 46 speaking about them, but though they would have liked to arrest him they were afraid of the crowds, who looked on him as a prophet.

Parable of the wedding feast

1 22 Jesus began to speak to them in parables once again, "The kingdom of 2 heaven may be compared to a king who gave a feast for his son's wedding.
3 He sent his servants to call those who had been invited, but they would not come.
4 Next he sent some more servants. 'Tell those who have been invited,' he said, 'that I have my banquet all prepared, my oxen and fattened cattle have been 5 slaughtered, everything is ready. Come to the wedding.' But they were not 6 interested: one went off to his farm, another to his business, and the rest seized 7 his servants, maltreated them and killed them. The king was furious. He 8 dispatched his troops, destroyed those murderers and burned their town. Then he said to his servants, 'The wedding is ready; but as those who were invited 9 proved to be unworthy, go to the crossroads in the town and invite everyone 10 you can find to the wedding.' So these servants went out on to the roads and

21 a. Is. 62:11; Zc. 9:9 b. Conventional shout of acclaim, like a cheer. c. Ps. 118:26
d. Money changers provided Temple currency, and the traders the animals, for making sacrificial offerings. e. Is. 56:7 f. Jr. 7:11 g. Ps. 8:2 (LXX); Ws. 10:21 h. Ps. 118:22-23 collected together everyone they could find, bad and good alike; and the wedding hall was filled with guests. When the king came in to look at the guests he noticed one man who was not wearing a wedding garment, and said to him, 'How did you get in here, my friend, without a wedding garment?' And the man was silent. Then the king said to the attendants, 'Bind him hand and foot and throw him out into the dark, where there will be weeping and grinding of teeth.' For many are called, but few are chosen."

On tribute to Caesar

Then the Pharisees went away to work out between them how to trap him in what he said. And they sent their disciples to him, together with the Herodians,^a to say, "Master, we know that you are an honest man and teach the way of God in an honest way, and that you are not afraid of anyone, because a man's rank means nothing to you. Tell us your opinion, then. Is it permissible to pay taxes to Caesar or not?" But Jesus was aware of their malice and replied, "You hypocrites! Why do you set this trap for me? Let me see the money you pay the tax with." They handed him a denarius, and he said, "Whose head is this? Whose name?" "Caesar's," they replied. He then said to them, "Very well, give back to Caesar what belongs to Caesar—and to God what belongs to God." This reply took them by surprise, and they left him alone and went away.

The resurrection of the dead

That day some Sadducees—who deny that there is a resurrection—approached him and they put this question to him, "Master, Moses said that if a man dies childless, his brother is to marry the widow, his sister-in-law, to raise children for his brother. Now we had a case involving seven brothers; the first married and then died without children, leaving his wife to his brother; the same thing happened with the second and third and so on to the seventh, and then last of all the woman herself died. Now at the resurrection to which of those seven will she be wife, since she had been married to them all?" Jesus answered them, "You are wrong, because you understand neither the scriptures nor the power of God. For at the resurrection men and women do not marry; no, they are like the angels in heaven. And as for the resurrection of the dead, have you never read what God himself said to you: I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob?^b God is God, not of the dead, but of the living." And his teaching made a deep impression on the people who heard it.

The greatest commandment of all

But when the Pharisees heard that he had silenced the Sadducees they got together and, to disconcert him, one of them put a question, "Master, which is the greatest commandment of the Law?" Jesus said, "You must love the Lord your God with all your Heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind." This is the greatest and the first commandment. The second resembles it: You must love your neighbor as yourself. On these two commandments hang the whole Law, and the Prophets also."

Christ not only son but also Lord of David

While the Pharisees were gathered around, Jesus put to them this question, "What is your opinion about the Christ? Whose son is he?" "David's," they told him. "Then how is it," he said, "that David, moved by the Spirit, calls him Lord, where he says:

*The Lord said to my Lord:
Sit at my right hand
and I will put your enemies
under your feet?*^c

45 “If David can call him Lord, then how can he be his son?” •Not one could think 46 of anything to say in reply, and from that day no one dared to ask him any further questions.

The scribes and Pharisees: their hypocrisy and vanity

¹/₂ 23 Then addressing the people and his disciples Jesus said, “The scribes and 3 the Pharisees occupy the chair of Moses. •You must therefore do what they tell you and listen to what they say; but do not be guided by what they do: since
4 they do not practice what they preach. •They tie up heavy burdens and lay them
5 on men’s shoulders, but will they lift a finger to move them? Not they! •Everything they do is done to attract attention, like wearing broader phylacteries and longer
6 tassels,^a •like wanting to take the place of honor at banquets and the front
7 seats in the synagogues, •being greeted obsequiously in the market squares and having people call them Rabbi.

8 “You, however, must not allow yourselves to be called Rabbi, since you have 9 only one Master, and you are all brothers. •You must call no one on earth your 10 father, since you have only one Father, and he is in heaven. •Nor must you allow yourselves to be called teachers, for you have only one Teacher, the Christ.
11 The greatest among you must be your servant. •Anyone who exalts himself will 12 be humbled, and anyone who humbles himself will be exalted.

The sevenfold indictment of the scribes and Pharisees

13 “Alas for you, scribes and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You who shut up the kingdom of heaven in men’s faces, neither going in yourselves nor allowing others to go in^b who want to.

15 “Alas for you, scribes and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You who travel over sea and land to make a single proselyte, and when you have him you make him twice as fit for hell as you are.

16 “Alas for you, blind guides! You who say, ‘If a man swears by the Temple, it has no force; but if a man swears by the gold of the Temple, he is bound.’
17 Fools and blind! For which is of greater worth, the gold or the Temple that makes the gold sacred? •Or else, ‘If a man swears by the altar it has no force; but if a man swears by the offering that is on the altar, he is bound.’ •You blind men! For which is of greater worth, the offering or the altar that makes the offering sacred? •Therefore, when a man swears by the altar he is swearing by that and by everything on it. •And when a man swears by the Temple he is swearing by that and by the One who dwells in it. •And when a man swears by heaven he is swearing by the throne of God and by the One who is seated there.

23 “Alas for you, scribes and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You who pay your tithes of mint and dill and cummin^c and have neglected the weightier matters of the Law—justice, mercy, good faith! These you should have practiced, without neglecting the others. •You blind guides! Straining out gnats and swallowing camels!

25 “Alas for you, scribes and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You who clean the outside of cup and dish and leave the inside full of extortion and intemperance.
26 Blind Pharisee! Clean the inside of cup and dish first so that the outside may become clean as well.

27 “Alas for you, scribes and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You who are like whitewashed tombs that look handsome on the outside, but inside are full of dead

22 a. Supporters of the ruling family, hoping to find a cause for denouncing Jesus to the Romans. b. Ex. 3:6 c. Ps. 110:1

23 a. Phylacteries: containers for short texts taken from the Law; they were worn on the arm or the forehead in obedience to Ex. 13:9,16 and Dt. 6:8. The tassels were sewn to the corners of the cloak. b. By interpreting the Law so strictly that nobody could obey all of it. c. The law of paying tithes on crops was extended to include herbs and plants grown for flavoring.

28 men's bones and every kind of corruption. •In the same way you appear to people from the outside like good honest men, but inside you are full of hypocrisy and lawlessness.

29 "Alas for you, scribes and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You who build the 30 sepulchers of the prophets and decorate the tombs of holy men, •saying, 'We would never have joined in shedding the blood of the prophets, had we lived in 31 our fathers' day.' •So! Your own evidence tells against you! You are the sons of 32 those who murdered the prophets! •Very well then, finish off the work that your fathers began.

Their crimes and approaching punishment

33 "Serpents, brood of vipers, how can you escape being condemned to hell?
34 This is why, in my turn, I am sending you prophets and wise men and scribes: some you will slaughter and crucify, some you will scourge in your synagogues
35 and hunt from town to town; •and so you will draw down on yourselves the blood of every holy man that has been shed on earth, from the blood of Abel the Holy to the blood of Zechariah son of Barachiah^d whom you murdered between the 36 sanctuary and the altar. •I tell you solemnly, all of this will recoil on this generation.

Jerusalem admonished

37 "Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you that kill the prophets and stone those who are sent to you! How often have I longed to gather your children, as a hen gathers 38 her chicks under her wings, and you refused! •So be it! Your house will be left to you desolate, •for, I promise, you shall not see me any more until you say:

Blessings on him who comes in the name of the Lord!"^e

B. THE SERMON ON THE END

Introduction

1 24 Jesus left the Temple, and as he was going away his disciples came up to 2 draw his attention to the Temple buildings. •He said to them in reply, "You see all these? I tell you solemnly, not a single stone here will be left
3 on another: everything will be destroyed." •And when he was sitting on the Mount of Olives the disciples came and asked him privately, "Tell us, when is this going to happen, and what will be the sign of your coming and of the end of the world?"

The beginning of sorrows

4 And Jesus answered them, "Take care that no one deceives you; •because 5 many will come using my name and saying, 'I am the Christ,' and they will 6 deceive many. •You will hear of wars and rumors of wars; do not be alarmed, for this is something that must happen, but the end will not be yet.
7 For nation will fight against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will 8 be famines and earthquakes here and there. •All this is only the beginning of the birth pangs.

9 "Then they will hand you over to be tortured and put to death; and you will 10 be hated by all the nations on account of my name. •And then many will fall
11 away; men will betray one another and hate one another. •Many false prophets 12 will arise; they will deceive many, •and with the increase of lawlessness, love in 13 most men will grow cold; •but the man who stands firm to the end will be saved 14 "This Good News of the kingdom will be proclaimed to the whole world^a as a witness to all the nations. And then the end^b will come.

The great tribulation of Jerusalem

15 "So when you see the disastrous abomination, of which the prophet Daniel 16 spoke, set up in the Holy Place (let the reader understand), then those in 17 Judaea must escape to the mountains; if a man is on the housetop, he must not 18 come down to collect his belongings; if a man is in the fields, he must not 19 turn back to fetch his cloak. Alas for those with child, or with babies at the 20 breast, when those days come! Pray that you will not have to escape in winter 21 or on a sabbath. For then there will be great distress such as, until now, since 22 the world began, there never has been, nor ever will be again. And if that time had not been shortened, no one would have survived; but shortened that time shall be, for the sake of those who are chosen.

23 "If anyone says to you then, 'Look, here is the Christ' or, 'He is there,' 24 do not believe it; for false Christs and false prophets will arise and produce great signs and portents, enough to deceive even the chosen, if that were possible.
 25 There; I have forewarned you.

The coming of the Son of Man will be evident

26 "If, then, they say to you, 'Look, he is in the desert,' do not go there;
 27 'Look, he is in some hiding place,' do not believe it; because the coming of the Son of Man will be like lightning striking in the east and flashing far into the 28 west. Wherever the corpse is, there will the vultures gather.

The universal significance of this coming

29 "Immediately after the distress of those days^c the sun will be darkened, the moon will lose its brightness, the stars will fall from the sky and the powers of 30 heaven will be shaken. And then the sign of the Son of Man will appear in heaven; then too all the peoples of the earth will beat their breasts; and they will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and great 31 glory.^d And he will send his angels with a loud trumpet to gather his chosen from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.

The time of this coming

32 "Take the fig tree as a parable: as soon as its twigs grow supple and its leaves 33 come out, you know that summer is near. So with you when you see all these 34 things: know that he is near, at the very gates. I tell you solemnly, before 35 this generation has passed away all these things will have taken place.^e Heaven 36 and earth will pass away, but my words will never pass away. But as for that day and hour, nobody knows it, neither the angels of heaven, nor the Son, no one but the Father only.

Be on the alert

37 "As it was in Noah's day, so will it be when the Son of Man comes. For in 38 those days before the Flood people were eating, drinking, taking wives, taking 39 husbands, right up to the day Noah went into the ark, and they suspected nothing till the Flood came and swept all away. It will be like this when the Son of Man 40 comes. Then of two men in the fields one is taken, one left; of two women at 41 the millstone grinding, one is taken, one left.

42 "So stay awake, because you do not know the day when your master is coming.
 43 You may be quite sure of this that if the householder had known at what time of the night the burglar would come, he would have stayed awake and would 44 not have allowed anyone to break through the wall of his house. 'Therefore, you too must stand ready because the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect.

Parable of the conscientious steward

45 "What sort of servant, then, is faithful and wise enough for the master to place him over his household to give them their food at the proper time?
46 Happy that servant if his master's arrival finds him at this employment. 'I tell 47 you solemnly, he will place him over everything he owns. 'But as for the 48 dishonest servant who says to himself, 'My master is taking his time,' and sets 49 about beating his fellow servants and eating and drinking with drunkards, 'his 50 master will come on a day he does not expect and at an hour he does not know.
51 The master will cut him off and send him to the same fate as the hypocrites, where there will be weeping and grinding of teeth.

Parable of the ten bridesmaids

1 25 "Then the kingdom of heaven will be like this: Ten bridesmaids took their 2 lamps and went to meet the bridegroom. 'Five of them were foolish and five 3 were sensible: 'the foolish ones did take their lamps, but they brought no oil,
4 whereas the sensible ones took flasks of oil as well as their lamps. 'The bride-
5 groom was late, and they all grew drowsy and fell asleep. 'But at midnight there 6 was a cry, 'The bridegroom is here! Go out and meet him.' 'At this, all those 7 bridesmaids woke up and trimmed their lamps, 'and the foolish ones said to 8 the sensible ones, 'Give us some of your oil: our lamps are going out.' 'But 9 they replied, 'There may not be enough for us and you; you had better go
10 to those who sell it and buy some for yourselves.' 'They had gone off to buy 11 it when the bridegroom arrived. Those who were ready went in with him to the 12 wedding hall and the door was closed. 'The other bridesmaids arrived later.
13 'Lord, Lord,' they said, 'open the door for us.' 'But he replied, 'I tell you solemnly, I do not know you.' 'So stay awake, because you do not know either the day or the hour.

Parable of the talents

14 "It is like a man on his way abroad who summoned his servants and entrusted 15 his property to them. 'To one he gave five talents, to another two, to a third 16 one; each in proportion to his ability. Then he set out. 'The man who had received 17 the five talents promptly went and traded with them and made five more. 'The 18 man who had received two made two more in the same way. 'But the man who 19 had received one went off and dug a hole in the ground and hid his master's 20 money. 'Now a long time after, the master of those servants came back and went 21 through his accounts with them. 'The man who had received the five talents came 22 forward bringing five more. 'Sir,' he said, 'you entrusted me with five talents;
23 here are five more that I have made.' 'His master said to him, 'Well done, good 24 and faithful servant; you have shown you can be faithful in small things, I will 25 trust you with greater; come and join in your master's happiness.' 'Next the man
26 with the two talents came forward. 'Sir,' he said, 'you entrusted me with two 27 talents; here are two more that I have made.' 'His master said to him, 'Well done, good and faithful servant; you have shown you can be faithful in small things, I will trust you with greater; come and join in your master's happiness.'
Last came forward the man who had the one talent. 'Sir,' said he, 'I had heard you were a hard man, reaping where you have not sown and gathering where you have not scattered; so I was afraid, and I went off and hid your talent in the ground. Here it is; it was yours, you have it back.' 'But his master answered him, 'You wicked and lazy servant! So you knew that I reap where I have not sown and gather where I have not scattered? 'Well then, you should have deposited my money with the bankers, and on my return I would have recovered my capital

28 with interest. ·So now, take the talent from him and give it to the man who has 29 the five talents. ·For to everyone who has will be given more, and he will have more than enough; but from the man who has not, even what he has will be taken away.
 30 As for this good-for-nothing servant, throw him out into the dark, where there will be weeping and grinding of teeth.'

The Last Judgment

31 "When the Son of Man comes in his glory, escorted by all the angels, then 32 he will take his seat on his throne of glory. ·All the nations will be assembled before him and he will separate men one from another as the shepherd separates 33 sheep from goats. ·He will place the sheep on his right hand and the goats on his left. ·Then the King will say to those on his right hand, 'Come, you whom 34 my Father has blessed, take for your heritage the kingdom prepared for you 35 since the foundation of the world. ·For I was hungry and you gave me food;
 I was thirsty and you gave me drink; I was a stranger and you made me welcome;
 36 naked and you clothed me, sick and you visited me, in prison and you came to see me.' ·Then the virtuous will say to him in reply, 'Lord, when did we see 37 you hungry and feed you; or thirsty and give you drink? ·When did we see you 38 a stranger and make you welcome; naked and clothe you; ·sick or in prison and 39 go to see you?' ·And the King will answer, 'I tell you solemnly, in so far 40 as you did this to one of the least of these brothers of mine, you did it to me.'
 41 Next he will say to those on his left hand, 'Go away from me, with your curse 42 upon you, to the eternal fire prepared for the devil and his angels. ·For I was hungry and you never gave me food; I was thirsty and you never gave me anything 43 to drink; ·I was a stranger and you never made me welcome, naked and you 44 never clothed me, sick and in prison and you never visited me.' ·Then it will be their turn to ask, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry or thirsty, a stranger or 45 naked, sick or in prison, and did not come to your help?' ·Then he will answer,
 'I tell you solemnly, in so far as you neglected to do this to one of the least 46 of these, you neglected to do it to me.' ·And they will go away to eternal punishment, and the virtuous to eternal life."

VII. PASSION AND RESURRECTION

The conspiracy against Jesus

1 26 Jesus had now finished all he wanted to say, and he told his disciples,
 2 "It will be Passover, as you know, in two days' time, and the Son of Man will be handed over to be crucified."

3 Then the chief priests and the elders of the people assembled in the palace of 4 the high priest, whose name was Caiaphas, ·and made plans to arrest Jesus by 5 some trick and have him put to death. ·They said, however, "It must not be during the festivities; there must be no disturbance among the people."

The anointing at Bethany

6 Jesus was at Bethany in the house of Simon the leper, when ·a woman came 7 to him with an alabaster jar of the most expensive ointment, and poured it on his 8 head as he was at table. ·When they saw this, the disciples were indignant. "Why
 9 this waste?" they said. "·This could have been sold at a high price and the money 10 given to the poor." ·Jesus noticed this. "Why are you upsetting the woman?" he said to them. "What she has done for me is one of the good works^a indeed!
 11 You have the poor with you always, but you will not always have me. ·When she 12 poured this ointment on my body, she did it to prepare me for burial. ·I tell you 13 solemnly, wherever in all the world this Good News is proclaimed, what she has done will be told also, in remembrance of her."

^a 26 a. As "good works," charitable deeds were reckoned superior to almsgiving.

Judas betrays Jesus

14 Then one of the Twelve, the man called Judas Iscariot, went to the chief 15 priests and said, "What are you prepared to give me if I hand him over to you?" 16 They paid him thirty silver pieces,^b and from that moment he looked for an opportunity to betray him.

Preparations for the Passover supper

17 Now on the first day of Unleavened Bread^c the disciples came to Jesus to say, "Where do you want us to make the preparations for you to eat the 18 passover?" "Go to so-and-so in the city," he replied, "and say to him, 'The Master says: My time is near. It is at your house that I am keeping Passover with my 19 disciples.'" The disciples did what Jesus told them and prepared the passover.

The treachery of Judas foretold

20 When evening came he was at table with the twelve disciples. And while they 21 were eating he said, "I tell you solemnly, one of you is about to betray 22 me." They were greatly distressed and started asking him in turn, "Not I, Lord, 23 surely?" He answered, "Someone, who has dipped his hand into the dish with me, 24 will betray me. The Son of Man is going to his fate, as the scriptures say he will, but alas for that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! Better for that 25 man if he had never been born!" Judas, who was to betray him, asked in his turn, "Not I, Rabbi, surely?" "They are your own words," answered Jesus.

The institution of the Eucharist

26 Now as they were eating,^d Jesus took some bread, and when he had said the blessing he broke it and gave it to the disciples. "Take it and eat"; he said, "this is 27 my body." Then he took a cup, and when he had returned thanks he gave it 28 to them. "Drink all of you from this," he said, "for this is my blood, the blood of the covenant, which is to be poured out for many for the forgiveness of 29 sins. From now on, I tell you, I shall not drink wine until the day I drink the new wine with you in the kingdom of my Father."

Peter's denial foretold

30 After psalms had been sung^e they left for the Mount of Olives. Then Jesus said 31 to them, "You will all lose faith in me this night,^f for the scripture says:
 32 I shall strike the shepherd and the sheep of the flock will be scattered,^g but after my 33 resurrection I shall go before you to Galilee." At this, Peter said, "Though all 34 lose faith in you, I will never lose faith." Jesus answered him, "I tell you solemnly, this very night, before the cock crows, you will have disowned 35 me three times." Peter said to him, "Even if I have to die with you, I will never disown you." And all the disciples said the same.

Gethsemane

36 Then Jesus came with them to a small estate called Gethsemane; and he said 37 to his disciples, "Stay here while I go over there to pray." He took Peter and the two sons of Zebedee with him. And sadness came over him, and great distress.
 38 Then he said to them, "My soul is sorrowful to the point of death. Wait here and 39 keep awake with me." And going on a little further he fell on his face and prayed.
 "My Father," he said, "if it is possible, let this cup pass me by. Nevertheless, let it 40 be as you, not I, would have it." He came back to the disciples and found them sleeping, and he said to Peter, "So you had not the strength to keep awake with 41 me one hour? You should be awake, and praying not to be put to the test. The 42 spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak." Again, a second time, he went away and prayed: "My Father," he said, "if this cup cannot pass by without my drinking it, 43 your will be done!" And he came back again and found them sleeping, their eyes 44 were so heavy. Leaving them there, he went away again and prayed for the

45 third time, repeating the same words. Then he came back to the disciples and said to them, "You can sleep on now and take your rest. Now the hour has 46 come when the Son of Man is to be betrayed into the hands of sinners. Get up! Let us go! My betrayer is already close at hand."

The arrest

47 He was still speaking when Judas, one of the Twelve, appeared, and with him a large number of men armed with swords and clubs, sent by the chief priests and 48 elders of the people. Now the traitor had arranged a sign with them. "The one 49 I kiss," he had said, "he is the man. Take him in charge." So he went straight up to 50 Jesus and said, "Greetings, Rabbi," and kissed him. Jesus said to him, "My friend, do what you are here for." Then they came forward, seized Jesus and took him in 51 charge. At that, one of the followers of Jesus grasped his sword and drew it; he 52 struck out at the high priest's servant, and cut off his ear. Jesus then said, "Put your 53 sword back, for all who draw the sword will die by the sword. Or do you think that I cannot appeal to my Father who would promptly send more than twelve 54 legions of angels to my defense? But then, how would the scriptures be fulfilled
55 that say this is the way it must be?" It was at this time that Jesus said to the crowds, "Am I a brigand, that you had to set out to capture me with swords and clubs? I sat teaching in the Temple day after day and you never laid hands 56 on me." Now all this happened to fulfill the prophecies in scripture. Then all the disciples deserted him and ran away.

Jesus before the Sanhedrin

57 The men who had arrested Jesus led him off to Caiaphas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were assembled. Peter followed him at a distance, and when he reached the high priest's palace, he went in and sat down with the attendants to see what the end would be.

59 The chief priests and the whole Sanhedrin were looking for evidence against Jesus, however false, on which they might pass the death sentence. But they could not find any, though several lying witnesses came forward. Eventually two 60 stepped forward and made a statement, "This man said, 'I have power to destroy the Temple of God and in three days build it up.'" The high priest then stood up and said to him, "Have you no answer to that? What is this evidence 61 these men are bringing against you?" But Jesus was silent. And the high priest said to him, "I put you on oath by the living God to tell us if you are the Christ, the Son of God."
62 "The words are your own," answered Jesus. "Moreover, I tell you that from this time onward you will see the Son of Man seated at the right hand of the Power and coming in the clouds of heaven." At this, the high priest tore his clothes and said, "He has blasphemed. What need of witnesses have 63 we now? There! You have just heard the blasphemy. What is your opinion?" They answered, "He deserves to die."

67 Then they spat in his face and hit him with their fists; others said as they struck him, "Play the prophet, Christ! Who hit you then?"

Peter's denials

69 Meanwhile Peter was sitting outside in the courtyard, and a servant girl came up to him and said, "You too were with Jesus the Galilean." But he denied it in 70 front of them all. "I do not know what you are talking about," he said. When he went out to the gateway another servant girl saw him and said to the people there,

 73 it, "I do not know the man." A little later the bystanders came up and said to 74 Peter, "You are one of them for sure! Why, your accent gives you away." Then he started calling down curses on himself and swearing, "I do not know the man."
 75 At that moment the cock crew, and Peter remembered what Jesus had said, "Before the cock crows you will have disowned me three times." And he went outside and wept bitterly.

Jesus is taken before Pilate

1 27 When morning came, all the chief priests and the elders of the people met 2 in council to bring about the death of Jesus. They had him bound, and led him away to hand him over to Pilate^a the governor.

The death of Judas

3 When he found that Jesus had been condemned, Judas his betrayer was filled with remorse and took the thirty silver pieces back to the chief priests and elders.
 4 "I have sinned"; he said, "I have betrayed innocent blood." "What is that to us?"
 5 they replied. "That is your concern." And flinging down the silver pieces in the 6 sanctuary he made off, and went and hanged himself. The chief priests picked up the silver pieces and said, "It is against the Law to put this into the treasury;
 7 it is blood money." So they discussed the matter and bought the potter's field
 8 with it as a graveyard for foreigners, and this is why the field is called the Field 9 of Blood today. The words of the prophet Jeremiah^b were then fulfilled: And they took the thirty silver pieces, the sum at which the precious One was priced 10 by the children of Israel, and they gave them for the potter's field, just as the Lord directed me.

Jesus before Pilate

11 Jesus, then, was brought before the governor, and the governor put to him this question, "Are you the king of the Jews?" Jesus replied, "It is you who say 12 it." But when he was accused by the chief priests and the elders he refused to 13 answer at all. Pilate then said to him, "Do you not hear how many charges they 14 have brought against you?" But to the governor's complete amazement, he offered no reply to any of the charges.

15 At festival time it was the governor's practice to release a prisoner for the 16 people, anyone they chose. Now there was at that time a notorious prisoner 17 whose name was Barabbas. So when the crowd gathered, Pilate said to them,
 "Which do you want me to release for you: Barabbas, or Jesus who is called 18 Christ?" For Pilate knew it was out of jealousy that they had handed him over.

19 Now as he was seated in the chair of judgment, his wife sent him a message,
 "Have nothing to do with that man; I have been upset all day by a dream I had about him."

20 The chief priests and the elders, however, had persuaded the crowd to demand 21 the release of Barabbas and the execution of Jesus. So when the governor spoke and asked them, "Which of the two do you want me to release for you?" they 22 said, "Barabbas." "But in that case," Pilate said to them, "what am I to do with Jesus 23 who is called Christ?" They all said, "Let him be crucified!" "Why?" he asked. "What harm has he done?" But they shouted all the louder, "Let him be crucified!" 24 Then Pilate saw that he was making no impression, that in fact a riot was imminent. So he took some water, washed his hands in front of the crowd and 25 said, "I am innocent of this man's blood. It is your concern." And the people 26 to a man, shouted back, "His blood be on us and on our children!" Then he released Barabbas for them. He ordered Jesus to be first scourged^c and then handed over to be crucified.

Jesus is crowned with thorns

27 The governor's soldiers took Jesus with them into the Praetorium and 28 collected the whole cohort around him. Then they stripped him and made 29 him wear a scarlet cloak, and having twisted some thorns into a crown they put this on his head and placed a reed in his right hand. To make fun of him they 30 knelt to him saying, "Hail, king of the Jews!" And they spat on him and took 31 the reed and struck him on the head with it. And when they had finished making fun of him, they took off the cloak and dressed him in his own clothes and led him away to crucify him.

The crucifixion

32 On their way out, they came across a man from Cyrene, Simon by name, 33 and enlisted him to carry his cross. When they had reached a place called 34 Golgotha,^d that is, the place of the skull, they gave him wine to drink mixed 35 with gall, which he tasted but refused to drink. When they had finished 36 crucifying him they shared out his clothing by casting lots, and then sat down and stayed there keeping guard over him.
 37 Above his head was placed the charge against him; it read: "This is Jesus, 38 the King of the Jews." At the same time two robbers were crucified with him, one on the right and one on the left.

The crucified Christ is mocked

39 The passers-by jeered at him; they shook their heads and said, "So you 40 would destroy the Temple and rebuild it in three days! Then save yourself! If 41 you are God's son, come down from the cross!" The chief priests with the 42 scribes and elders mocked him in the same way. "He saved others," they said, "he cannot save himself. He is the king of Israel; let him come down from the 43 cross now, and we will believe in him. He puts his trust in God; now let God 44 rescue him if he wants him. For he did say, 'I am the son of God.'" Even the robbers who were crucified with him taunted him in the same way.

The death of Jesus

45 From the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land until the ninth hour.^e
 46 And about the ninth hour, Jesus cried out in a loud voice, "Eli, Eli, lama sabach-47 thani?" that is, "My God, my God, why have you deserted me?"^f When some of those who stood there heard this, they said, "The man is calling on Elijah," 48 and one of them quickly ran to get a sponge which he dipped in vinegar^g and,
 49 putting it on a reed, gave it him to drink. "Wait!" said the rest of them, "and 50 see if Elijah will come to save him." But Jesus, again crying out in a loud voice, yielded up his spirit.
 51 At that, the veil of the Temple^h was torn in two from top to bottom; the earth
 52 quaked; the rocks were split; the tombs opened and the bodies of many holy men 53 rose from the dead, and these, after his resurrection, came out of the tombs, 54 entered the Holy City and appeared to a number of people. Meanwhile the centurion, together with the others guarding Jesus, had seen the earthquake and all that was taking place, and they were terrified and said, "In truth this was a son of God."
 55 And many women were there, watching from a distance, the same

56 women who had followed Jesus from Galilee and looked after him. 'Among them were Mary of Magdala, Mary the mother of James and Joseph, and the mother of Zebedee's sons.

The burial

57 When it was evening, there came a rich man of Arimathaea, called Joseph, 58 who had himself become a disciple of Jesus. 'This man went to Pilate and asked 59 for the body of Jesus. Pilate thereupon ordered it to be handed over. 'So Joseph 60 took the body, wrapped it in a clean shroud and put it in his own new tomb which he had hewn out of the rock. He then rolled a large stone across the entrance 61 of the tomb and went away. 'Now Mary of Magdala and the other Mary were there, sitting opposite the sepulcher.

The guard at the tomb

62 Next day, that is, when Preparation Day⁴ was over, the chief priests and the 63 Pharisees went in a body to Pilate and said to him, "Your Excellency, we recall that this impostor said, while he was still alive, 'After three days I shall 64 rise again.' 'Therefore give the order to have the sepulcher kept secure until the third day, for fear his disciples come and steal him away and tell the people, 'He has risen from the dead.' This last piece of fraud would be worse than what 65 went before." "You may have your guard," said Pilate to them. "Go and make 66 all as secure as you know how." 'So they went and made the sepulcher secure, putting seals on the stone and mounting a guard.

The empty tomb. The angel's message

1 28 After the sabbath, and toward dawn on the first day of the week, Mary of 2 Magdala and the other Mary went to visit the sepulcher. 'And all at once there was a violent earthquake, for the angel of the Lord, descending from 3 heaven, came and rolled away the stone and sat on it. 'His face was like lightning, 4 his robe white as snow. 'The guards were so shaken, so frightened of him, that 5 they were like dead men. 'But the angel spoke; and he said to the women, "There is no need for you to be afraid. I know you are looking for Jesus, who was 6 crucified. 'He is not here, for he has risen, as he said he would. Come and see 7 the place where he lay, then go quickly and tell his disciples, 'He has risen from the dead and now he is going before you to Galilee; it is there you will 8 see him.' Now I have told you." 'Filled with awe and great joy the women came quickly away from the tomb and ran to tell the disciples.

Appearance to the women

9 And there, coming to meet them, was Jesus. "Greetings," he said. And the 10 women came up to him and, falling down before him, clasped his feet. 'Then Jesus said to them, "Do not be afraid; go and tell my brothers that they must leave for Galilee; they will see me there."

Precautions taken by the leaders of the people

11 While they were on their way, some of the guard went off into the city to tell 12 the chief priests all that had happened. 'These held a meeting with the elders and, after some discussion, handed a considerable sum of money to the soldiers 13 with these instructions, "This is what you must say, 'His disciples came during the night and stole him away while we were asleep.' 'And should the governor 14 come to hear of this, we undertake to put things right with him ourselves and 15 to see that you do not get into trouble." 'The soldiers took the money and carried out their instructions, and to this day that is the story among the Jews.

Appearance in Galilee. The mission to the world

16 Meanwhile the eleven disciples set out for Galilee, to the mountain where 17 Jesus had arranged to meet them. 'When they saw him they fell down before

¹⁸ him, though some hesitated. Jesus came up and spoke to them. He said, "All ¹⁹ authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Go, therefore, make disciples of all the nations; baptize them in the name of the Father and of the ²⁰ Son and of the Holy Spirit,^a and teach them to observe all the commands I gave you. And know that I am with you always; yes, to the end of time."

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO SAINT MARK

I. PRELUDE TO THE PUBLIC MINISTRY OF JESUS

The preaching of John the Baptist

¹
² 1 The beginning of the Good News about Jesus Christ, the Son of God. ·It is written in the book of the prophet Isaiah:

*Look, I am going to send my messenger before you;
he will prepare your way.*

³ *A voice cries in the wilderness:
Prepare a way for the Lord,
make his paths straight,^a*

⁴ and so it was that John the Baptist appeared in the wilderness, proclaiming ⁵ a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins. ·All Judaea and all the people of Jerusalem made their way to him, and as they were baptized by him in the river ⁶ Jordan they confessed their sins. ·John wore a garment of camel skin, and ⁷ he lived on locusts and wild honey. ·In the course of his preaching he said, “Someone is following me, someone who is more powerful than I am, and I am
⁸ not fit to kneel down and undo the strap of his sandals. ·I have baptized you with water, but he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit.”

Jesus is baptized

⁹ It was at this time that Jesus came from Nazareth in Galilee and was baptized ¹⁰ in the Jordan by John. ·No sooner had he come up out of the water than he saw the heavens torn apart and the Spirit, like a dove, descending on him.
¹¹ And a voice came from heaven, “You are my Son, the Beloved; my favor rests on you.”

Temptation in the wilderness

¹² ¹³ Immediately afterward the Spirit drove him out into the wilderness ·and he remained there for forty days, and was tempted by Satan. He was with the wild beasts, and the angels looked after him.

II. THE GALILEAN MINISTRY

Jesus begins to preach

¹⁴ After John had been arrested, Jesus went into Galilee. There he proclaimed ¹⁵ the Good News from God. ·“The time has come,” he said, “and the kingdom of God is close at hand. Repent, and believe the Good News.”

The first four disciples are called

16 As he was walking along by the Sea of Galilee he saw Simon and his brother 17 Andrew casting a net in the lake—for they were fishermen. And Jesus said to 18 them, “Follow me and I will make you into fishers of men.” And at once they left their nets and followed him.

19 Going on a little further, he saw James son of Zebedee and his brother John; 20 they too were in their boat, mending their nets. He called them at once and, leaving their father Zebedee in the boat with the men he employed, they went after him.

Jesus teaches in Capernaum and cures a demoniac

21 They went as far as Capernaum, and as soon as the sabbath came he went 22 to the synagogue and began to teach. And his teaching made a deep impression on them because, unlike the scribes, he taught them with authority.

23 In their synagogue just then there was a man possessed by an unclean spirit, 24 and it shouted, “What do you want with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come 25 to destroy us? I know who you are: the Holy One of God.” But Jesus said 26 sharply, “Be quiet! Come out of him!” And the unclean spirit threw the man into 27 convulsions and with a loud cry went out of him. The people were so astonished that they started asking each other what it all meant. “Here is a teaching that is new,” they said, “and with authority behind it: he gives orders even to unclean 28 spirits and they obey him.” And his reputation rapidly spread everywhere, through all the surrounding Galilean countryside.

Cure of Simon’s mother-in-law

29 On leaving the synagogue, he went with James and John straight to the house
30 of Simon and Andrew. Now Simon’s mother-in-law had gone to bed with fever, 31 and they told him about her straightaway. He went to her, took her by the hand and helped her up. And the fever left her and she began to wait on them.

A number of cures

32 That evening, after sunset, they brought to him all who were sick and those 33 who were possessed by devils. The whole town came crowding around the door, 34 and he cured many who were suffering from diseases of one kind or another;
he also cast out many devils, but he would not allow them to speak, because they knew who he was.^b

Jesus quietly leaves Capernaum and travels through Galilee

35 In the morning, long before dawn, he got up and left the house, and went 36 off to a lonely place and prayed there. Simon and his companions set out in 37 search for him, and when they found him they said, “Everybody is looking for 38 you.” He answered, “Let us go elsewhere, to the neighboring country towns, 39 so that I can preach there too, because that is why I came.” And he went all through Galilee, preaching in their synagogues and casting out devils.

Cure of a leper

40 A leper came to him and pleaded on his knees: “If you want to,” he said, “you 41 can cure me.” Feeling sorry for him, Jesus stretched out his hand and touched 42 him. “Of course I want to!” he said. “Be cured!” And the leprosy left him at once 43 and he was cured. Jesus immediately sent him away and sternly ordered him, 44 “Mind you say nothing to anyone, but go and show yourself to the priest, and make the offering for your healing prescribed by Moses as evidence of your 45 recovery.” The man went away, but then started talking about it freely and

1 a. Is. 40:3 b. Throughout this gospel, Jesus never explicitly claims to be the Messiah and he forbids others to speak of the fact.

telling the story everywhere, so that Jesus could no longer go openly into any town, but had to stay outside in places where nobody lived. Even so, people from all around would come to him.

Cure of a paralytic

1 2 When he returned to Capernaum some time later, word went around that he
 2 was back; and so many people collected that there was no room left, even 3 in front of the door. He was preaching the word to them when some people 4 came bringing him a paralytic carried by four men, but as the crowd made it impossible to get the man to him, they stripped the roof over the place where Jesus was; and when they had made an opening, they lowered the stretcher on 5 which the paralytic lay. Seeing their faith, Jesus said to the paralytic, "My child, 6 your sins are forgiven." Now some scribes were sitting there, and they thought 7 to themselves, "How can this man talk like that? He is blaspheming. Who can 8 forgive sins but God?" Jesus, inwardly aware that this was what they were thinking, said to them, "Why do you have these thoughts in your hearts?
 9 Which of these is easier: to say to the paralytic, 'Your sins are forgiven' or to 10 say, 'Get up, pick up your stretcher and walk?' But to prove to you that the 11 Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins,"—he said to the paralytic—12 "I order you: get up, pick up your stretcher, and go off home." And the man got up, picked up his stretcher at once and walked out in front of everyone, so that they were all astounded and praised God saying, "We have never seen anything like this."

The call of Levi

13 He went out again to the shore of the lake^a; and all the people came to him, 14 and he taught them. As he was walking on he saw Levi the son of Alphaeus, sitting by the customs house, and he said to him, "Follow me." And he got up and followed him.

Eating with sinners

15 When Jesus was at dinner in his house, a number of tax collectors and sinners 16 were also sitting at the table with Jesus and his disciples; for there were many of them among his followers. When the scribes of the Pharisee party saw him eating with sinners and tax collectors, they said to his disciples, "Why does he eat with 17 tax collectors and sinners?" When Jesus heard this he said to them, "It is not the healthy who need the doctor, but the sick. I did not come to call the virtuous, but sinners."

A discussion on fasting

18 One day when John's disciples and the Pharisees were fasting, some people came and said to him, "Why is it that John's disciples and the disciples of the 19 Pharisees fast, but your disciples do not?" Jesus replied, "Surely the bridegroom's attendants would never think of fasting while the bridegroom is still with them?
 As long as they have the bridegroom with them, they could not think of fasting.
 20 But the time will come for the bridegroom to be taken away from them, and then,
 21 on that day, they will fast. No one sews a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old cloak; if he does, the patch pulls away from it, the new from the old, and the tear 22 gets worse. And nobody puts new wine into old wineskins; if he does, the wine will burst the skins, and the wine is lost and the skins too. No! New wine, fresh skins!"

Picking corn on the sabbath

23 One sabbath day he happened to be taking a walk through the cornfields, and 24 his disciples began to pick ears of corn as they went along. And the Pharisees said to him, "Look, why are they doing something on the sabbath day that is 25 forbidden?" And he replied, "Did you never read what David did in his time of

26 need when he and his followers were hungry—how he went into the house of God when Abiathar^b was high priest, and ate the loaves of offering which only the priests are allowed to eat, and how he also gave some to the men with him?”

27 And he said to them, “The sabbath was made for man, not man for the sabbath; so the Son of Man is master even of the sabbath.”

Cure of the man with a withered hand

1 3 He went again into a synagogue, and there was a man there who had a withered hand. And they were watching him to see if he would cure him on the sabbath day, hoping for something to use against him. He said to the man with the withered hand, “Stand up out in the middle!” Then he said to them, “Is it against the law on the sabbath day to do good, or to do evil; to save life, or to kill?” But they said nothing. Then, grieved to find them so obstinate, he looked angrily around at them, and said to the man, “Stretch out your hand.” He stretched it out and his hand was better. The Pharisees went out and at once began to plot with the Herodians against him, discussing how to destroy him.

The crowds follow Jesus

7 Jesus withdrew with his disciples to the lakeside, and great crowds from Galilee followed him. From Judaea, Jerusalem, Idumaea, Transjordan and the region of Tyre and Sidon, great numbers who had heard of all he was doing came to him. And he asked his disciples to have a boat ready for him because of the crowd, to keep him from being crushed. For he had cured so many that all who were afflicted in any way were crowding forward to touch him. And the unclean spirits, whenever they saw him, would fall down before him and shout, “You are the Son of God!” But he warned them strongly not to make him known.

The appointment of the Twelve

13 He now went up into the hills and summoned those he wanted. So they came to him and he appointed twelve; they were to be his companions and to be sent out to preach, with power to cast out devils. And so he appointed the Twelve: Simon to whom he gave the name Peter, James the son of Zebedee and John the brother of James, to whom he gave the name Boanerges or “Sons of Thunder”; then Andrew, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus, Thaddeus, Simon the Zealot and Judas Iscariot, the man who was to betray him.

His relatives are concerned about Jesus

20 He went home again, and once more such a crowd collected that they could not even have a meal. When his relatives heard of this, they set out to take charge of him, convinced he was out of his mind.

Allegations of the scribes

22 The scribes who had come down from Jerusalem were saying, “Beelzebul is in him” and, “It is through the prince of devils that he casts devils out.” So he called them to him and spoke to them in parables. “How can Satan cast out Satan? If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot last. And if a household is divided against itself, that household can never stand. Now if Satan has rebelled against himself and is divided, he cannot stand either—it is the end of him. But no one can make his way into a strong man’s house and burgle his property unless he has tied up the strong man first. Only then can he burgle his house.

28 “I tell you solemnly, all men’s sins will be forgiven, and all their blasphemies; but let anyone blaspheme against the Holy Spirit and he will never ³⁰ have forgiveness: he is guilty of an eternal sin.” •This was because they were saying, “An unclean spirit is in him.”

The true kinsmen of Jesus

³¹ His mother and brothers now arrived and, standing outside, sent in a message
³² asking for him. •A crowd was sitting around him at the time the message was passed to him, “Your mother and brothers and sisters are outside asking for you.”
³³ He replied, “Who are my mother and my brothers?” •And looking around at those sitting in a circle about him, he said, “Here are my mother and my brothers.
³⁴ Anyone who does the will of God, that person is my brother and sister and mother.”

Parable of the sower

¹ 4 Again he began to teach by the lakeside, but such a huge crowd gathered ² around him that he got into a boat on the lake and sat there. The people were all along the shore, at the water’s edge. •He taught them many things in parables, ³ and in the course of his teaching he said to them, “Listen! Imagine a sower
⁴ going out to sow. •Now it happened that, as he sowed, some of the seed fell on the edge of the path, and the birds came and ate it up. •Some seed fell on rocky ⁵ ground where it found little soil and sprang up straightaway, because there was ⁶ no depth of earth: •and when the sun came up it was scorched and, not having
⁷ any roots, it withered away. •Some seed fell into thorns, and the thorns
⁸ grew up and choked it, and it produced no crop. •And some seeds fell into rich soil and, growing tall and strong, produced crop; and yielded thirty, sixty,
⁹ even a hundredfold.” •And he said, “Listen, anyone who has ears to hear!”

Why Jesus speaks in parables

¹⁰ When he was alone, the Twelve, together with the others who formed his ¹¹ company, asked what the parables meant. •He told them, “The secret of the kingdom of God is given to you, but to those who are outside everything comes ¹² in parables, •so that they may see and see again, but not perceive; may hear and hear again, but not understand; otherwise they might be converted and be forgiven.”^a

The parable of the sower explained

¹³ He said to them, “Do you not understand this parable? Then how will you
¹⁴ understand any of the parables? •What the sower is sowing is the word. •Those ¹⁵ on the edge of the path where the word is sown are people who have no sooner heard it than Satan comes and carries away the word that was sown in them.
¹⁶ Similarly, those who receive the seed on patches of rock are people who, when ¹⁷ first they hear the word, welcome it at once with joy. •But they have no root in them, they do not last; should some trial come, or some persecution on ¹⁸ account of the word, they fall away at once. •Then there are others who receive the seed in thorns. These have heard the word, •but the worries of this world, the lure of riches and all the other passions come in to choke the word, and so ¹⁹ it produces nothing. •And there are those who have received the seed in rich soil: they hear the word and accept it and yield a harvest, thirty and sixty and a hundredfold.”

Parable of the lamp

²¹ He also said to them, “Would you bring in a lamp to put it under a tub or ²² under the bed? Surely you will put it on the lampstand? •For there is nothing hidden but it must be disclosed, nothing kept secret except to be brought to light.
²³ If anyone has ears to hear, let him listen to this.”

Parable of the measure

²⁴ He also said to them, “Take notice of what you are hearing. The amount you
²⁵ measure out is the amount you will be given—and more besides; •for the man who has will be given more; from the man who has not, even what he has will be taken away."

Parable of the seed growing by itself

26 He also said, "This is what the kingdom of God is like. A man throws seed on 27 the land. Night and day, while he sleeps, when he is awake, the seed is sprouting 28 and growing; how, he does not know. Of its own accord the land produces first 29 the shoot, then the ear, then the full grain in the ear. And when the crop is ready, he loses no time: he starts to reap because the harvest has come."

Parable of the mustard seed

30 He also said, "What can we say the kingdom of God is like? What parable can 31 we find for it? It is like a mustard seed which at the time of its sowing in the 32 soil is the smallest of all the seeds on earth; yet once it is sown it grows into the biggest shrub of them all and puts out big branches so that the birds of the air can shelter in its shade."

The use of parables

33 Using many parables like these, he spoke the word to them, so far as they were 34 capable of understanding it. He would not speak to them except in parables, but he explained everything to his disciples when they were alone.

The calming of the storm

35 With the coming of evening that same day, he said to them, "Let us cross over 36 to the other side." And leaving the crowd behind they took him, just as he was,
37 in the boat; and there were other boats with him. Then it began to blow a gale 38 and the waves were breaking into the boat so that it was almost swamped. But 39 he was in the stern, his head on the cushion, asleep. They woke him and said to him, "Master, do you not care? We are going down!" And he woke up and rebuked the wind and said to the sea, "Quiet now! Be calm!" And the wind 40 dropped, and all was calm again. Then he said to them, "Why are you so 41 frightened? How is it that you have no faith?" They were filled with awe and said to one another, "Who can this be? Even the wind and the sea obey him."

The Gerasene demoniac

1 5 They reached the country of the Gerasenes^a on the other side of the lake, and 2 no sooner had he left the boat than a man with an unclean spirit came out
3 from the tombs toward him. The man lived in the tombs and no one could 4 secure him any more, even with a chain; because he had often been secured with fetters and chains but had snapped the chains and broken the fetters, and no 5 one had the strength to control him. All night and all day, among the tombs
6 and in the mountains, he would howl and gash himself with stones. Catching 7 sight of Jesus from a distance, he ran up and fell at his feet and shouted at the top of his voice, "What do you want with me, Jesus, son of the Most High God?
8 Swear by God you will not torture me!" —For Jesus had been saying to him, 9 "Come out of the man, unclean spirit." "What is your name?" Jesus asked. "My 10 name is legion," he answered, "for there are many of us." And he begged him 11 earnestly not to send them out of the district. Now there was there on the 12 mountainside a great herd of pigs feeding, and the unclean spirits begged 13 him, "Send us to the pigs, let us go into them." So he gave them leave. With that, the unclean spirits came out and went into the pigs, and the herd of about two thousand pigs charged down the cliff into the lake, and there they were drowned.
14 The swineherds ran off and told their story in the town and in the country around 15 about; and the people came to see what had really happened. They came to

4 a. Is. 6:9-10

5 a. "Gadarenes" in some versions.

Jesus and saw the demoniac sitting there, clothed and in his full senses—the very man who had had the legion in him before—and they were afraid. •And those who had witnessed it reported what had happened to the demoniac and what had become of the pigs. •Then they began to implore Jesus to leave the neighborhood. As he was getting into the boat, the man who had been possessed begged to be allowed to stay with him. •Jesus would not let him but said to him, “Go home to your people and tell them all that the Lord in his mercy has done for you.” So the man went off and proceeded to spread throughout the Decapolis all that Jesus had done for him. And everyone was amazed.

Cure of the woman with a hemorrhage. The daughter of Jairus raised to life

When Jesus had crossed again in the boat to the other side, a large crowd gathered around him and he stayed by the lakeside. •Then one of the synagogue officials came up, Jairus by name, and seeing him, fell at his feet •and pleaded with him earnestly, saying, “My little daughter is desperately sick. Do come and lay your hands on her to make her better and save her life.” •Jesus went with him and a large crowd followed him; they were pressing all around him.

Now there was a woman who had suffered from a hemorrhage for twelve years; •after long and painful treatment under various doctors, she had spent all she had without being any the better for it, in fact, she was getting worse. •She had heard about Jesus, and she came up behind him through the crowd and touched his cloak. “If I can touch even his clothes,” she had told herself, “I shall be well again.” •And the source of the bleeding dried up instantly, and she felt in herself that she was cured of her complaint. •Immediately aware that power had gone out from him, Jesus turned around in the crowd and said, “Who touched my clothes?” •His disciples said to him, “You see how the crowd is pressing around you and yet you say, ‘Who touched me?’” •But he continued to look all around to see who had done it. •Then the woman came forward, frightened and trembling^b because she knew what had happened to her, and she fell at his feet and told him the whole truth. “My daughter,” he said, “your faith has restored you to health; go in peace and be free from your complaint.”

While he was still speaking some people arrived from the house of the synagogue official to say, “Your daughter is dead: why put the Master to any further trouble?” •But Jesus had overheard this remark of theirs and he said to the official, “Do not be afraid; only have faith.” •And he allowed no one to go with him except Peter and James and John the brother of James. •So they came to the official’s house and Jesus noticed all the commotion, with people weeping and wailing unrestrainedly. •He went in and said to them, “Why all this commotion and crying? The child is not dead, but asleep.” •But they laughed at him. So he turned them all out and, taking with him the child’s father and mother and his own companions, he went into the place where the child lay. And taking the child by the hand he said to her, “Talitha, kumi!” which means, “Little girl, I tell you to get up.” •The little girl got up at once and began to walk about, for she was twelve years old. At this they were overcome with astonishment, and he ordered them strictly not to let anyone know about it, and told them to give her something to eat.

A visit to Nazareth

6 Going from that district, he went to his home town and his disciples accompanied him. •With the coming of the sabbath he began teaching in the synagogue and most of them were astonished when they heard him. They said, “Where did the man get all this? What is this wisdom that has been granted him, and these miracles that are worked through him? •This is the carpenter, surely, the son of Mary, the brother of James and Joset^c and Jude and Simon? His sisters, too, are they not here with us?” And they would not accept him. •And Jesus said to them, “A prophet is only despised in his own country, among his own relations and

5 in his own house"; and he could work no miracle there, though he cured a few 6 sick people by laying his hands on them. He was amazed at their lack of faith.

The mission of the Twelve

7 He made a tour around the villages, teaching. Then he summoned the Twelve and began to send them out in pairs giving them authority over the unclean spirits.
8 And he instructed them to take nothing for the journey except a staff—no bread, 9 no haversack, no coppers for their purses. They were to wear sandals but, he 10 added, "Do not take a spare tunic." And he said to them, "If you enter a house 11 anywhere, stay there until you leave the district. And if any place does not welcome you and people refuse to listen to you, as you walk away shake off 12 the dust from under your feet as a sign to them." So they set off to preach 13 repentance; and they cast out many devils, and anointed many sick people with oil and cured them.

Herod and Jesus

14 Meanwhile King Herod had heard about him, since by now his name was well-known. Some were saying, "John the Baptist has risen from the dead, and that 15 is why miraculous powers are at work in him." Others said, "He is Elijah"; 16 others again, "He is a prophet, like the prophets we used to have." But when Herod heard this he said, "It is John whose head I cut off; he has risen from the dead."

John the Baptist beheaded

17 Now it was this same Herod who had sent to have John arrested, and had him chained up in prison because of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife whom he 18 had married. For John had told Herod, "It is against the law for you to have 19 your brother's wife." As for Herodias, she was furious with him and wanted to 20 kill him; but she was not able to, because Herod was afraid of John, knowing him to be a good and holy man, and gave him his protection. When he had heard him speak he was greatly perplexed, and yet he liked to listen to him.
21 An opportunity came on Herod's birthday when he gave a banquet for the nobles of his court, for his army officers and for the leading figures in Galilee.
22 When the daughter of this same Herodias came in and danced, she delighted Herod and his guests; so the king said to the girl, "Ask me anything you like 23 and I will give it you." And he swore her an oath, "I will give you anything you 24 ask, even half my kingdom." She went out and said to her mother, "What shall 25 I ask for?" She replied, "The head of John the Baptist." The girl hurried straight back to the king and made her request, "I want you to give me John the Baptist's 26 head, here and now, on a dish." The king was deeply distressed but, thinking of the oaths he had sworn and of his guests, he was reluctant to break his word 27 to her. So the king at once sent one of the bodyguard with orders to bring 28 John's head. The man went off and beheaded him in prison; then he brought the head on a dish and gave it to the girl, and the girl gave it to her mother.
29 When John's disciples heard about this, they came and took his body and laid it in a tomb.

First miracle of the loaves

30 The apostles rejoined Jesus and told him all they had done and taught.
31 Then he said to them, "You must come away to some lonely place all by yourselves and rest for a while"; for there were so many coming and going that the apostles 32 had no time even to eat. So they went off in a boat to a lonely place where they 33 could be by themselves. But people saw them going, and many could guess where;
and from every town they all hurried to the place on foot and reached it before

34 them. •So as he stepped ashore he saw a large crowd; and he took pity on them because they were like sheep without a shepherd, and he set himself to teach them
 35 at some length. •By now it was getting very late, and his disciples came up to him
 36 and said, "This is a lonely place and it is getting very late, •so send them away, and they can go to the farms and villages around about, to buy themselves 37 something to eat." •He replied, "Give them something to eat yourselves." They answered, "Are we to go and spend two hundred denarii on bread for them to 38 eat?" "How many loaves have you?" he asked. "Go and see." And when they had 39 found out they said, "Five, and two fish." •Then he ordered them to get all the 40 people together in groups on the green grass, •and they sat down on the ground
 41 in squares of hundreds and fifties. •Then he took the five loaves and the two fish, raised his eyes to heaven and said the blessing; then he broke the loaves and handed them to his disciples to distribute among the people. He also shared out 42 the two fish among them all. •They all ate as much as they wanted. •They 44 collected twelve basketfuls of scraps of bread and pieces of fish. •Those who had eaten the loaves numbered five thousand men.

Jesus walks on the water

45 Directly after this he made his disciples get into the boat and go on ahead to 46 Bethsaida, while he himself sent the crowd away. •After saying good-by to 47 them he went off into the hills to pray. •When evening came, the boat was far out
 48 on the lake, and he was alone on the land. •He could see they were worn out with rowing, for the wind was against them; and about the fourth watch of the night he came toward them, walking on the lake. He was going to pass them by, but when they saw him walking on the lake they thought it was a ghost and cried 49 out; •for they had all seen him and were terrified. But he at once spoke to them,
 50 and said, "Courage! It is I! Do not be afraid." •Then he got into the boat with them, 52 and the wind dropped. They were utterly and completely dumfounded, •because they had not seen what the miracle of the loaves meant; their minds were closed.

Cures at Gennesaret

53 Having made the crossing, they came to land at Gennesaret and tied up. •No
 54 sooner had they stepped out of the boat than people recognized him, •and started 55 hurrying all through the countryside and brought the sick on stretchers to wherever they heard he was. •And wherever he went, to village, or town, or farm, they laid down the sick in the open spaces, begging him to let them touch even the fringe of his cloak. And all those who touched him were cured.

The traditions of the Pharisees

1 7 The Pharisees and some of the scribes who had come from Jerusalem gathered
 2 around him, •and they noticed that some of his disciples were eating with 3 unclean hands, that is, without washing them. •For the Pharisees, and the Jews in general, follow the tradition of the elders and never eat without washing their
 4 arms as far as the elbow; •and on returning from the market place they never eat without first sprinkling themselves. There are also many other observances which have been handed down to them concerning the washing of cups and pots
 5 and bronze dishes. •So these Pharisees and scribes asked him, "Why do your disciples not respect the tradition of the elders but eat their food with unclean
 6 hands?" •He answered, "It was of you hypocrites that Isaiah so rightly prophesied in this passage of scripture:

*This people honors me only with lip-service,
 while their hearts are far from me.*

7 *The worship they offer me is worthless,
 the doctrines they teach are only human regulations.^a*

8 You put aside the commandment of God to cling to human traditions." •And 9 he said to them, "How ingeniously you get around the commandment of God

10 in order to preserve your own tradition! For Moses said: Do your duty to your father and your mother, and, Anyone who curses father or mother must be put to death. But you say, 'If a man says to his father or mother: Anything I have that I might have used to help you is Corban^b (that is, dedicated to God), then he is forbidden from that moment to do anything for his father or mother.' 13 In this way you make God's word null and void for the sake of your tradition which you have handed down. And you do many other things like this."

On clean and unclean

14 He called the people to him again and said, "Listen to me, all of you, and understand. Nothing that goes into a man from outside can make him unclean; it is the things that come out of a man that make him unclean. If anyone has ears to hear, let him listen to this."

17 When he had gone back into the house, away from the crowd, his disciples questioned him about the parable. He said to them, "Do you not understand either? Can you not see that whatever goes into a man from outside cannot make him unclean, because it does not go into his heart but through his stomach and passes out into the sewer?" (Thus he pronounced all foods clean.) And he went on, "It is what comes out of a man that makes him unclean. For it is from within, from men's hearts, that evil intentions emerge: fornication, theft, murder, adultery, avarice, malice, deceit, indecency, envy, slander, pride, folly. All these evil things come from within and make a man unclean."

III. JOURNEYS OUTSIDE GALILEE

The daughter of the Syrophenician woman healed

24 He left that place and set out for the territory of Tyre. There he went into a house and did not want anyone to know he was there but he could not pass unrecognized. A woman whose little daughter had an unclean spirit heard about him straightaway and came and fell at his feet. Now the woman was a pagan, by birth a Syrophenician, and she begged him to cast the devil out of her daughter. And he said to her, "The children should be fed first, because it is not fair to take the children's food and throw it to the house dogs." But she spoke up: "Ah yes, sir," she replied, "but the house dogs under the table can eat the children's scraps." And he said to her, "For saying this, you may go home happy: the devil has gone out of your daughter." So she went off to her home and found the child lying on the bed and the devil gone.

Healing of the deaf man

31 Returning from the district of Tyre he went by way of Sidon toward the Sea of Galilee, right through the Decapolis region. And they brought him a deaf man who had an impediment in his speech; and they asked him to lay his hand on him. He took him aside in private, away from the crowd, put his fingers into the man's ears and touched his tongue with spittle. Then looking up to heaven he sighed; and he said to him, "Ephphatha," that is, "Be opened." And his ears were opened, and the ligament of his tongue was loosened and he spoke clearly. And Jesus ordered them to tell no one about it, but the more he insisted, the more widely they published it. Their admiration was unbounded. "He has done all things well," they said, "he makes the deaf hear and the dumb speak."

Second miracle of the loaves

1 8 And now once again a great crowd had gathered, and they had nothing to eat.
 2 So he called his disciples to him and said to them, "I feel sorry for all these people; they have been with me for three days now and have nothing to eat."

3 If I send them off home hungry they will collapse on the way; some have come
 4 a great distance." His disciples replied, "Where could anyone get bread to feed
 5 these people in a deserted place like this?" He asked them, "How many loaves 6 have you?" "Seven," they said. Then he instructed the crowd to sit down on the ground, and he took the seven loaves, and after giving thanks he broke them and handed them to his disciples to distribute; and they distributed them among the 7 crowd. They had a few small fish as well, and over these he said a blessing and 8 ordered them to be distributed also. They ate as much as they wanted, and they 9 collected seven basketfuls of the scraps left over. Now there had been about four 10 thousand people. He sent them away and immediately, getting into the boat with his disciples, went to the region of Dalmanutha.

The Pharisees ask for a sign from heaven

11 The Pharisees came up and started a discussion with him; they demanded 12 of him a sign from heaven, to test him. And with a sigh that came straight from the heart he said, "Why does this generation demand a sign? I tell you solemnly, 13 no sign shall be given to this generation." And leaving them again and re-embarking he went away to the opposite shore.

The yeast of the Pharisees and of Herod

14 The disciples had forgotten to take any food and they had only one loaf with 15 them in the boat. Then he gave them this warning, "Keep your eyes open; be 16 on your guard against the yeast of the Pharisees and the yeast of Herod." And 17 they said to one another, "It is because we have no bread." And Jesus knew it, and he said to them, "Why are you talking about having no bread? Do you not 18 yet understand? Have you no perception? Are your minds closed? Have you 19 eyes that do not see, ears that do not hear?" Or do you not remember? When I broke the five loaves among the five thousand, how many baskets full of scraps 20 did you collect?" They answered, "Twelve." "And when I broke the seven loaves for the four thousand, how many baskets full of scraps did you collect?" 21 And they answered, "Seven." Then he said to them, "Are you still without perception?"

Cure of a blind man at Bethsaida

22 They came to Bethsaida, and some people brought to him a blind man whom 23 they begged him to touch. He took the blind man by the hand and led him outside the village. Then putting spittle on his eyes and laying his hands on him, he asked, 24 "Can you see anything?" The man, who was beginning to see, replied, "I can see 25 people; they look like trees to me, but they are walking about." Then he laid his hands on the man's eyes again and he saw clearly; he was cured, and he could 26 see everything plainly and distinctly. And Jesus sent him home, saying, "Do not even go into the village."

Peter's profession of faith

27 Jesus and his disciples left for the villages around Caesarea Philippi. On the 28 way he put this question to his disciples, "Who do people say I am?" And they told him. "John the Baptist," they said, "others Elijah; others again, one of the 29 prophets." "But you," he asked, "who do you say I am?" Peter spoke up and said 30 to him, "You are the Christ." And he gave them strict orders not to tell anyone about him.

First prophecy of the Passion

31 And he began to teach them that the Son of Man was destined to suffer grievously, to be rejected by the elders and the chief priests and the scribes, and 32 to be put to death, and after three days to rise again; and he said all this quite 33 openly. Then, taking him aside, Peter started to remonstrate with him. But, turning and seeing his disciples, he rebuked Peter and said to him, "Get behind me Satan! Because the way you think is not God's way but man's."

The condition of following Christ

34 He called the people and his disciples to him and said, "If anyone wants to be 35 a follower of mine, let him renounce himself and take up his cross and follow 36 me. For anyone who wants to save his life will lose it; but anyone who loses his 37 life for my sake, and for the sake of the gospel, will save it. What gain, then, is 38 it for a man to win the whole world and ruin his life? And indeed what can a man offer in exchange for his life? For if anyone in this adulterous and sinful generation is ashamed of me and of my words, the Son of Man will also be ashamed of him when he comes in the glory of his Father with the holy angels." 1 And he said to them, "I tell you solemnly, there are some standing here who will not taste death before they see the kingdom of God come with power."

The transfiguration

2 Six days later, Jesus took with him Peter and James and John and led them up a high mountain where they could be alone by themselves. There in 3 their presence he was transfigured: his clothes became dazzlingly white, whiter 4 than any earthly bleacher could make them. Elijah appeared to them with 5 Moses; and they were talking with Jesus. Then Peter spoke to Jesus: "Rabbi," he said, "it is wonderful for us to be here; so let us make three tents, one for 6 you, one for Moses and one for Elijah." He did not know what to say; they were 7 so frightened. And a cloud came, covering them in shadow; and there came 8 a voice from the cloud, "This is my Son, the Beloved. Listen to him." Then suddenly, when they looked around, they saw no one with them any more but only Jesus.

The question about Elijah

9 As they came down from the mountain he warned them to tell no one what they had seen, until after the Son of Man had risen from the dead.
 10 They observed the warning faithfully, though among themselves they discussed 11 what "rising from the dead" could mean. And they put this question to him, 12 "Why do the scribes say that Elijah has to come first?" "True," he said, "Elijah is to come first and to see that everything is as it should be; yet how is it that the scriptures say about the Son of Man that he is to suffer grievously and be treated 13 with contempt? However, I tell you that Elijah has come and they have treated him as they pleased, just as the scriptures say about him."

The epileptic demoniac

14 When they rejoined the disciples they saw a large crowd around them and 15 some scribes arguing with them. The moment they saw him the whole crowd 16 were struck with amazement and ran to greet him. "What are you arguing about 17 with them?" he asked. A man answered him from the crowd, "Master, I have 18 brought my son to you; there is a spirit of dumbness in him, and when it takes hold of him it throws him to the ground, and he foams at the mouth and grinds his teeth and goes rigid. And I asked your disciples to cast it out and 19 they were unable to." "You faithless generation," he said to them in reply. "How much longer must I be with you? How much longer must I put up with you?
 20 Bring him to me." They brought the boy to him, and as soon as the spirit saw Jesus it threw the boy into convulsions, and he fell to the ground and 21 lay writhing there, foaming at the mouth. Jesus asked the father, "How 22 long has this been happening to him?" "From childhood," he replied, "and it has often thrown him into the fire and into the water, in order to destroy him.
 23 But if you can do anything, have pity on us and help us." "If you can?" retorted 24 Jesus. "Everything is possible for anyone who has faith." Immediately the 25 father of the boy cried out, "I do have faith. Help the little faith I have!" And when Jesus saw how many people were pressing around him, he rebuked the unclean spirit. "Deaf and dumb spirit," he said, "I command you: come out of him and never enter him again." Then throwing the boy into violent convulsions it came out shouting, and the boy lay there so like a corpse that most of them said, "He is dead." But Jesus took him by the hand and helped him up, and he was able to stand. When he had gone indoors his disciples asked him privately, "Why were we unable to cast it out?" "This is the kind," he answered, "that can only be driven out by prayer."

Second prophecy of the Passion

After leaving that place they made their way through Galilee; and he did not want anyone to know, because he was instructing his disciples; he was telling them, "The Son of Man will be delivered into the hands of men; they will put him to death; and three days after he has been put to death he will rise again." But they did not understand what he said and were afraid to ask him.

Who is the greatest?

They came to Capernaum, and when he was in the house he asked them, "What were you arguing about on the road?" They said nothing because they had been arguing which of them was the greatest. So he sat down, called the Twelve to him and said, "If anyone wants to be first, he must make himself last of all and servant of all." He then took a little child, set him in front of them, put his arms around him, and said to them, "Anyone who welcomes one of these little children in my name, welcomes me; and anyone who welcomes me welcomes not me but the one who sent me."

On using the name of Jesus

John said to him, "Master, we saw a man who is not one of us casting out devils in your name; and because he was not one of us we tried to stop him." But Jesus said, "You must not stop him: no one who works a miracle in my name is likely to speak evil of me. Anyone who is not against us is for us."

Charity shown to Christ's disciples

"If anyone gives you a cup of water to drink just because you belong to Christ, then I tell you solemnly, he will most certainly not lose his reward."

On leading others astray

"But anyone who is an obstacle to bring down one of these little ones who have faith, would be better thrown into the sea with a great millstone around his neck. And if your hand should cause you to sin, cut it off; it is better for you to enter into life crippled, than to have two hands and go to hell, into the fire that cannot be put out.^a And if your foot should cause you to sin, cut it off; it is better for you to enter into life lame, than to have two feet and be thrown into hell. And if your eye should cause you to sin, tear it out; it is better for you to enter into the kingdom of God with one eye, than to have two eyes and be thrown into hell where their worm does not die nor fire go out.^b For everyone will be salted with fire. Salt is a good thing, but if salt has become insipid, how can you season it again? Have salt in yourselves and be at peace with one another."

The question about divorce

10 Leaving there, he came to the district of Judaea and the far side of the Jordan. And again crowds gathered around him, and again he taught them, as his custom was. Some Pharisees approached him and asked, "Is it against the law for a man to divorce his wife?" They were testing him. He answered them, "What did Moses command you?" "Moses allowed us," they said, "to draw up a writ of dismissal and so to divorce." Then Jesus said to them, "It was

⁶ because you were so unteachable that he wrote this commandment for you.
⁸ But from the beginning of creation God made them male and female. This is why
⁹ a man must leave father and mother, and the two become one body.^a They are no longer two, therefore, but one body. So then, what God has united, man must not ¹⁰ divide.” Back in the house the disciples questioned him again about this, and ¹¹ he said to them, “The man who divorces his wife and marries another is guilty of ¹² adultery against her. And if a woman divorces her husband and marries another she is guilty of adultery too.”

Jesus and the children

¹³ People were bringing little children to him, for him to touch them. The ¹⁴ disciples turned them away, but when Jesus saw this he was indignant and said to them, “Let the little children come to me; do not stop them; for it is to such as ¹⁵ these that the kingdom of God belongs. I tell you solemnly, anyone who does not welcome the kingdom of God like a little child will never enter it.”
¹⁶ Then he put his arms around them, laid his hands on them and gave them his blessing.

The rich young man

¹⁷ He was setting out on a journey when a man ran up, knelt before him and put this question to him, “Good master, what must I do to inherit eternal life?”
¹⁸ Jesus said to him, “Why do you call me good? No one is good but God alone.
¹⁹ You know the commandments: You must not kill; You must not commit adultery;
You must not steal; You must not bring false witness; You must not defraud;
²⁰ Honor your father and mother.” And he said to him, “Master, I have kept all ²¹ these from my earliest days.” Jesus looked steadily at him and loved him, and he said, “There is one thing you lack. Go and sell everything you own and give the money to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; then come, follow ²² me.” But his face fell at these words and he went away sad, for he was a man of great wealth.

The danger of riches

²³ Jesus looked around and said to his disciples, “How hard it is for those who ²⁴ have riches to enter the kingdom of God!” The disciples were astounded by these words, but Jesus insisted, “My children,” he said to them, “how hard it is to ²⁵ enter the kingdom of God! It is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of ²⁶ a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God.” They were more astonished than ever. “In that case,” they said to one another, “who can be saved?”
²⁷ Jesus gazed at them. “For men,” he said, “it is impossible, but not for God: because everything is possible for God.”

The reward of renunciation

²⁸ Peter took this up. “What about us?” he asked him. “We have left everything ²⁹ and followed you.” Jesus said, “I tell you solemnly, there is no one who has left house, brothers, sisters, father, children or land for my sake and for the sake of ³⁰ the gospel who will not be repaid a hundred times over, houses, brothers, sisters, mothers, children and land—not without persecutions—now in this present time and in the world to come, eternal life.
³¹ “Many who are first will be last, and the last first.”

Third prophecy of the Passion

³² They were on the road, going up to Jerusalem; Jesus was walking on ahead of them; they were in a daze, and those who followed were apprehensive. Once more taking the Twelve aside he began to tell them what was going to happen ³³ to him: “Now we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man is about ⁹ a. In the best MSS, vv. 44 and 46 (Vulg.) are omitted; merely repetitious of v. 48.

to be handed over to the chief priests and the scribes. They will condemn him 34 to death and will hand him over to the pagans, who will mock him and spit at him and scourge him and put him to death; and after three days he will rise again."

The sons of Zebedee make their request

35 James and John, the sons of Zebedee, approached him. "Master," they said 36 to him, "we want you to do us a favor." He said to them, "What is it you want 37 me to do for you?" They said to him, "Allow us to sit one at your right hand 38 and the other at your left in your glory." "You do not know what you are asking," Jesus said to them. "Can you drink the cup that I must drink, or be baptized 39 with the baptism with which I must be baptized?" They replied, "We can."
 Jesus said to them, "The cup that I must drink you shall drink, and with the 40 baptism with which I must be baptized you shall be baptized, but as for seats at my right hand or my left, these are not mine to grant; they belong to those to whom they have been allotted."

Leadership with service

41 When the other ten heard this they began to feel indignant with James and 42 John, so Jesus called them to him and said to them, "You know that among the pagans their so-called rulers lord it over them, and their great men make their 43 authority felt. This is not to happen among you. No; anyone who wants to become 44 great among you must be your servant, and anyone who wants to be first 45 among you must be slave to all. For the Son of Man himself did not come to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many."

The blind man of Jericho

46 They reached Jericho; and as he left Jericho with his disciples and a large crowd, Bartimaeus (that is, the son of Timaeus), a blind beggar, was sitting at 47 the side of the road. When he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to shout 48 and to say, "Son of David, Jesus, have pity on me." And many of them scolded him and told him to keep quiet, but he only shouted all the louder, "Son of David, 49 have pity on me." Jesus stopped and said, "Call him here." So they called the 50 blind man. "Courage," they said, "get up; he is calling you." So throwing off his 51 cloak, he jumped up and went to Jesus. Then Jesus spoke, "What do you want me to do for you?" "Rabbuni,"^b the blind man said to him, "Master, let me see 52 again." Jesus said to him, "Go; your faith has saved you." And immediately his sight returned and he followed him along the road.

IV. THE JERUSALEM MINISTRY

The Messiah enters Jerusalem

1 11 When they were approaching Jerusalem, in sight of Bethphage and Bethany,
 2 close by the Mount of Olives, he sent two of his disciples and said to them,
 "Go off to the village facing you, and as soon as you enter it you will find a tethered 3 colt that no one has yet ridden. Untie it and bring it here. If anyone says to you, 'What are you doing?' say, 'The Master needs it and will send 4 it back here directly.'" They went off and found a colt tethered near a door in 5 the open street. As they untied it, some men standing there said, "What are you 6 doing, untying that colt?" They gave the answer Jesus had told them, and the 7 men let them go. Then they took the colt to Jesus and threw their cloaks on its 8 back, and he sat on it. Many people spread their cloaks on the road, others green-9 ery which they had cut in the fields. And those who went in front and those who followed were all shouting, "Hosanna! Blessings on him who comes in the name of the Lord!"^a "Blessings on the coming kingdom of our father David! Hosanna in the highest heavens!"^b He entered Jerusalem and went into the Temple. He looked all around him, but as it was now late, he went out to Bethany with the Twelve.

The barren fig tree

¹² Next day as they were leaving Bethany, he felt hungry. "Seeing a fig tree in leaf some distance away, he went to see if he could find any fruit on it, but when he came up to it he found nothing but leaves; for it was not the season for figs." ¹³ And he addressed the fig tree. "May no one ever eat fruit from you again," he said. And his disciples heard him say this.

The expulsion of the dealers from the Temple

¹⁵ So they reached Jerusalem and he went into the Temple and began driving out those who were selling and buying there; he upset the tables of the money changers and the chairs of those who were selling pigeons. "Nor would he allow anyone to carry anything through the Temple." ¹⁶ And he taught them and said, "Does not scripture say: My house will be called a house of prayer for all the peoples?"^b But you have turned it into a robbers' den."^c ¹⁷ This came to the ears of the chief priests and the scribes, and they tried to find some way of doing away with him; they were afraid of him because the people were carried away ¹⁸ by his teaching. And when evening came he went out of the city.

The fig tree withered. Faith and prayer

²⁰ Next morning, as they passed by, they saw the fig tree withered to the roots. ²¹ Peter remembered. "Look, Rabbi," he said to Jesus, "the fig tree you cursed has ²² withered away." ²³ Jesus answered, "Have faith in God. 'I tell you solemnly, if anyone says to this mountain, 'Get up and throw yourself into the sea,' with no hesitation in his heart but believing that what he says will happen, it will be done for him. 'I tell you therefore: everything you ask and pray for, believe that you have it already, and it will be yours. 'And when you stand in prayer, forgive whatever you have against anybody, so that your Father in heaven may forgive your failings too.'"^d

The authority of Jesus is questioned

²⁷ They came to Jerusalem again, and as Jesus was walking in the Temple, the chief priests and the scribes and the elders came to him, "and they said to him, ²⁸ "What authority have you for acting like this? Or who gave you authority to do these things?" ²⁹ Jesus said to them, "I will ask you a question, only one; answer me and I will tell you my authority for acting like this. ³⁰ John's baptism: did it come from heaven, or from man? Answer me that." ³¹ And they argued it out this way among themselves: "If we say from heaven, he will say, 'Then why did you refuse to believe him?' ³² But dare we say from man?"—they had the people to fear, for everyone held that John was a real prophet. ³³ So their reply to Jesus was, "We do not know." And Jesus said to them, "Nor will I tell you my authority for acting like this."

Parable of the wicked husbandmen

¹ 12 He went on to speak to them in parables, "A man planted a vineyard; he fenced it around, dug out a trough for the winepress and built a tower; then ² he leased it to tenants and went abroad. When the time came, he sent a servant to the tenants to collect from them his share of the produce from the vineyard.

b. Aramaic: "My master."

11 a. Ps. 118:25-26 b. Is. 56:7 c. Jr. 7:11 d. Add v. 26 "But if you do not forgive, your Father in heaven will not forgive your failings either." Cf. Mt. 6:15

3 But they seized the man, thrashed him and sent him away empty-handed. •Next
 4 he sent another servant to them; him they beat about the head and treated 5 shamefully. •And he sent another and him they killed; then a number of others,
 6 and they thrashed some and killed the rest. •He had still someone left: his beloved 7 son. He sent him to them last of all. •They will respect my son,' he said. •But 8 those tenants said to each other, 'This is the heir. Come on, let us kill him, and the 9 inheritance will be ours.' •So they seized him and killed him and threw him out 10 of the vineyard. •Now what will the owner of the vineyard do? He will come and make an end of the tenants and give the vineyard to others. •Have you not read this text of scripture:

*It was the stone rejected by the builders
 that became the keystone.*

11 This was the Lord's doing and it is wonderful to see?^a

12 And they would have liked to arrest him, because they realized that the parable was aimed at them, but they were afraid of the crowds. So they left him alone and went away.

On tribute to Caesar

13 Next they sent to him some Pharisees and some Herodians to catch him out 14 in what he said. •These came and said to him, "Master, we know you are an honest man, that you are not afraid of anyone, because a man's rank means nothing to you, and that you teach the way of God in all honesty. Is it permissible to 15 pay taxes to Caesar or not? Should we pay, yes or no?" •Seeing through their hypocrisy he said to them, "Why do you set this trap for me? Hand me a 16 denarius and let me see it." •They handed him one and he said, "Whose head 17 is this? Whose name?" "Caesar's," they told him. •Jesus said to them, "Give back to Caesar what belongs to Caesar—and to God what belongs to God." This reply took them completely by surprise.

The resurrection of the dead

18 Then some Sadducees—who deny that there is a resurrection—came to 19 him and they put this question to him, "•Master, we have it from Moses in writing, if a man's brother dies leaving a wife but no child, the man must 20 marry the widow to raise up children for his brother. •Now there were seven 21 brothers. The first married a wife and then died leaving no children. •The second married the widow, and he too died leaving no children; with the third it was 22 the same, •and none of the seven left any children. Last of all the woman herself 23 died. •Now at the resurrection, when they rise again, whose wife will she be, since she had been married to all seven?"

24 Jesus said to them, "Is not the reason why you go wrong, that you understand 25 neither the scriptures nor the power of God? •For when they rise from the dead, 26 men and women do not marry; no, they are like the angels in heaven. •Now about the dead rising again, have you never read in the Book of Moses, in the passage about the Bush, how God spoke to him and said: I am the God of 27 Abraham, the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob?^b •He is God, not of the dead, but of the living. You are very much mistaken."

The greatest commandment of all

28 One of the scribes who had listened to them debating and had observed how well Jesus had answered them, now came up and put a question to him, "Which 29 is the first of all the commandments?" •Jesus replied, "This is the first: Listen, 30 Israel, the Lord our God is the one Lord, and you must love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind and with all your strength.^c 31 The second is this: You must love your neighbor as yourself.^d There is no com-
 32 mandment greater than these." •The scribe said to him, "Well spoken, Master;

- 33 what you have said is true: that he is one and there is no other. •To love him with all your heart, with all your understanding and strength, and to love your neighbor as yourself, this is far more important than any holocaust or sacrifice.”
- 34 Jesus, seeing how wisely he had spoken, said, “You are not far from the kingdom of God.” And after that no one dared to question him any more.

Christ not only son but also Lord of David

- 35 Later, while teaching in the Temple, Jesus said, “How can the scribes maintain 36 that the Christ is the son of David? •David himself, moved by the Holy Spirit, said:

*The Lord said to my Lord:
Sit at my right hand
and I will put your enemies
under your feet.^e*

- 37 David himself calls him Lord, in what way then can he be his son?” And the great majority of the people heard this with delight.

The scribes condemned by Jesus

- 38 In his teaching he said, “Beware of the scribes who like to walk about 39 in long robes, to be greeted obsequiously in the market squares, •to take 40 the front seats in the synagogues and the places of honor at banquets; •these are the men who swallow the property of widows, while making a show of lengthy prayers. The more severe will be the sentence they receive.”

The widow's mite

- 41 He sat down opposite the treasury and watched the people putting money
42 into the treasury, and many of the rich put in a great deal. •A poor widow came 43 and put in two small coins, the equivalent of a penny. •Then he called his disciples and said to them, “I tell you solemnly, this poor widow has 44 put more in than all who have contributed to the treasury; •for they have all put in money they had over, but she from the little she had has put in everything she possessed, all she had to live on.”

The eschatological discourse: introduction

- 1 13 As he was leaving the Temple one of his disciples said to him, “Look at the 2 size of those stones, Master! Look at the size of those buildings!” •And Jesus said to him, “You see these great buildings? Not a single stone will be left on another: everything will be destroyed.”
- 3 And while he was sitting facing the Temple, on the Mount of Olives, Peter,
4 James, John and Andrew questioned him privately, “•Tell us when is this going to happen and what sign will there be that all this is about to be fulfilled?”

The beginning of sorrows

- 5 Then Jesus began to tell them, “Take care that no one deceives you. •Many will 6 come using my name and saying, ‘I am he,’ and they will deceive many. •When 7 you hear of wars and rumors of wars, do not be alarmed, this is something that 8 must happen, but the end will not be yet. •For nation will fight against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be earthquakes here and there; there will be famines. This is the beginning of the birth pangs.
- 9 “Be on your guard: they will hand you over to sanhedrins; you will be beaten in synagogues; and you will stand before governors and kings for my sake, 10 to bear witness before them, •since the Good News must first be proclaimed to all the nations.

11 "And when they lead you away to hand you over, do not worry beforehand about what to say; no, say whatever is given to you when the time comes, because 12 it is not you who will be speaking: it will be the Holy Spirit. Brother will betray brother to death, and the father his child; children will rise against their parents 13 and have them put to death. You will be hated by all men on account of my name; but the man who stands firm to the end will be saved.

The great tribulation of Jerusalem

14 "When you see the disastrous abomination^a set up where it ought not to be (let the reader understand), then those in Judaea must escape to the mountains;
 15 if a man is on the housetop, he must not come down to go into the house to 16 collect any of his belongings; if a man is in the fields, he must not turn back 17 to fetch his cloak. Alas for those with child, or with babies at the breast, when 18 those days come! Pray that this may not be in winter. For in those days there 19 will be such distress as, until now, has not been^b equaled since the beginning when 20 God created the world, nor ever will be again. And if the Lord had not shortened that time, no one would have survived; but he did shorten the time, for the sake of the elect whom he chose.

21 "And if anyone says to you then, 'Look, here is the Christ' or, 'Look, he 22 is there,' do not believe it; for false Christs and false prophets will arise and 23 produce signs and portents to deceive the elect, if that were possible. You therefore must be on your guard. I have forewarned you of everything.

The coming of the Son of Man

24 "But in those days, after that time of distress, the sun will be darkened, the 25 moon will lose its brightness, the stars will come falling from heaven and the 26 powers in the heavens will be shaken. And then they will see the Son of Man 27 coming in the clouds with great power and glory; then too he will send the angels to gather his chosen from the four winds, from the ends of the world to the ends of heaven.

The time of this coming

28 "Take the fig tree as a parable: as soon as its twigs grow supple and its leaves
 29 come out, you know that summer is near. So with you when you see these things 30 happening: know that he is near, at the very gates. I tell you solemnly, before this generation has passed away all these things will have taken 31 place. Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will not pass away.
 32 "But as for that day or hour, nobody knows it, neither the angels of heaven, nor the Son; no one but the Father.

Be on the alert

33 "Be on your guard, stay awake, because you never know when the time will 34 come. It is like a man traveling abroad: he has gone from home, and left his servants in charge, each with his own task; and he has told the doorkeeper to 35 stay awake. So stay awake, because you do not know when the master of the 36 house is coming, evening, midnight, cockcrow, dawn; if he comes unexpectedly 37 he must not find you asleep. And what I say to you I say to all: Stay awake!"

V. PASSION AND RESURRECTION

The conspiracy against Jesus

1 14 It was two days before the Passover and the feast of Unleavened Bread, and 2 the chief priests and the scribes were looking for a way to arrest Jesus by some trick and have him put to death. For they said, "It must not be during the festivities, or there will be a disturbance among the people."

The anointing at Bethany

3 Jesus was at Bethany in the house of Simon the leper; he was at dinner when 4 a woman came in with an alabaster jar of very costly ointment, pure nard. She 5 broke the jar and poured the ointment on his head. Some who were there said
 6 to one another indignantly, "Why this waste of ointment? Ointment like this 7 could have been sold for over three hundred denarii and the money given to the 8 poor"; and they were angry with her. But Jesus said, "Leave her alone. Why 9 are you upsetting her? What she has done for me is one of the good works.
 10 You have the poor with you always, and you can be kind to them whenever you 11 wish, but you will not always have me. She has done what was in her power to 12 do: she has anointed my body beforehand for its burial. I tell you solemnly, 13 wherever throughout all the world the Good News is proclaimed, what she has 14 done will be told also, in remembrance of her."

Judas betrays Jesus

10 Judas Iscariot, one of the Twelve, approached the chief priests with an offer 11 to hand Jesus over to them. They were delighted to hear it, and promised to 12 give him money; and he looked for a way of betraying him when the opportunity 13 should occur.

Preparations for the Passover supper

12 On the first day of Unleavened Bread, when the Passover lamb was sacrificed, 13 his disciples said to him, "Where do you want us to go and make the preparations 14 for you to eat the passover?" So he sent two of his disciples, saying to them, 15 "Go into the city and you will meet a man carrying a pitcher of water. Follow him, 16 and say to the owner of the house which he enters, 'The Master says: Where 17 is my dining room in which I can eat the passover with my disciples?' He will 18 show you a large upper room furnished with couches, all prepared. Make the 19 preparations for us there." The disciples set out and went to the city and 20 found everything as he had told them, and prepared the passover.

The treachery of Judas foretold

17 When evening came he arrived with the Twelve. And while they were at 18 table eating, Jesus said, "I tell you solemnly, one of you is about to betray 19 me, one of you eating with me." They were distressed and asked him, one after 20 another, "Not I, surely?" He said to them, "It is one of the Twelve, one who is 21 dipping into the same dish with me. Yes, the Son of Man is going to his fate, as the scriptures say he will, but alas for that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! Better for that man if he had never been born!"

The institution of the Eucharist

22 And as they were eating he took some bread, and when he had said the blessing 23 he broke it and gave it to them. "Take it," he said, "this is my body." Then he took 24 a cup, and when he had returned thanks he gave it to them, and all drank from 25 it, and he said to them, "This is my blood, the blood of the covenant, which is to be poured out for many. I tell you solemnly, I shall not drink any more wine until the day I drink the new wine in the kingdom of God."

Peter's denial foretold

26 After psalms had been sung they left for the Mount of Olives. And Jesus 27 said to them, "You will all lose faith, for the scripture says: I shall strike 28 the shepherd and the sheep will be scattered," however after my resurrection I shall 29 go before you to Galilee." Peter said, "Even if all lose faith, I will not." And 30 Jesus said to him, "I tell you solemnly, this day, this very night, before

13 a. Dn. 9:27, and ch. 11, 12 b. Dn. 12:1

14 a. Zc. 13:7

31 the cock crows twice, you will have disowned me three times." But he repeated still more earnestly, "If I have to die with you, I will never disown you." And they all said the same.

Gethsemane

32 They came to a small estate called Gethsemane, and Jesus said to his disciples, 33 "Stay here while I pray." Then he took Peter and James and John with him.
34 And a sudden fear came over him, and great distress. And he said to them, "My 35 soul is sorrowful to the point of death. Wait here, and keep awake." And going on a little further he threw himself on the ground and prayed that, if it were 36 possible, this hour might pass him by. "Abba (Father)!" he said. "Everything is possible for you. Take this cup away from me. But let it be as you, not I, would 37 have it." He came back and found them sleeping, and he said to Peter, "Simon, 38 are you asleep? Had you not the strength to keep awake one hour? You should be awake, and praying not to be put to the test. The spirit is willing, but the flesh 39 is weak." Again he went away and prayed, saying the same words. And 40 once more he came back and found them sleeping, their eyes were so heavy; and they could find no answer for him. He came back a third time and said to them, 41 "You can sleep on now and take your rest. It is all over. The hour has come. Now 42 the Son of Man is to be betrayed into the hands of sinners. Get up! Let us go!
My betrayer is close at hand already."

The arrest

43 Even while he was still speaking, Judas, one of the Twelve, came up with a number of men armed with swords and clubs, sent by the chief priests and 44 the scribes and the elders. Now the traitor had arranged a signal with them.
"The one I kiss," he had said, "he is the man. Take him in charge, and see he is 45 well guarded when you lead him away." So when the traitor came, he went 46 straight up to Jesus and said, "Rabbi!" and kissed him. The others seized him 47 and took him in charge. Then one of the bystanders drew his sword and struck out at the high priest's servant, and cut off his ear.

48 Then Jesus spoke. "Am I a brigand," he said, "that you had to set out to 49 capture me with swords and clubs? I was among you teaching in the Temple day after day and you never laid hands on me. But this is to fulfill the scriptures."
50 And they all deserted him and ran away. A young man who followed him had 51 nothing on but a linen cloth. They caught hold of him, but he left the cloth 52 in their hands and ran away naked.

Jesus before the Sanhedrin

53 They led Jesus off to the high priest; and all the chief priests and the elders 54 and the scribes assembled there. Peter had followed him at a distance, right into the high priest's palace, and was sitting with the attendants warming himself at the fire.

55 The chief priests and the whole Sanhedrin were looking for evidence against Jesus on which they might pass the death sentence. But they could not find any.
56 Several, indeed, brought false evidence against him, but their evidence was 57 conflicting. Some stood up and submitted this false evidence against him, 58 "We heard him say, 'I am going to destroy this Temple made by human hands, 59 and in three days build another, not made by human hands.'" But even on 60 this point their evidence was conflicting. The high priest then stood up before the whole assembly and put this question to Jesus, "Have you no answer to that?
61 What is this evidence these men are bringing against you?" But he was silent and made no answer at all. The high priest put a second question to him, "Are 62 you the Christ," he said, "the Son of the Blessed One?" "I am," said Jesus, "and 63 you will see the Son of Man seated at the right hand of the Power and coming with the clouds of heaven."b The high priest tore his robes, "What need of witnesses have 64 we now?" he said. "You heard the blasphemy. What is your finding?" And they all gave their verdict: he deserved to die.

65 Some of them started spitting at him and, blindfolding him, began hitting him with their fists and shouting, "Play the prophet!" And the attendants rained blows on him.

Peter's denials

66 While Peter was down below in the courtyard, one of the high priest's 67 servant girls came up. She saw Peter warming himself there, stared at him and 68 said, "You too were with Jesus, the man from Nazareth." But he denied it.
"I do not know, I do not understand, what you are talking about," he said. And 69 he went out into the forecourt. The servant girl saw him and again started 70 telling the bystanders, "This fellow is one of them." But again he denied it.

A little later the bystanders themselves said to Peter, "You are one of them for 71 sure! Why, you are a Galilean." But he started calling down curses on himself 72 and swearing, "I do not know the man you speak of." At that moment the cock crew for the second time, and Peter recalled how Jesus had said to him,
"Before the cock crows twice, you will have disowned me three times." And he burst into tears.

Jesus before Pilate

1 15 First thing in the morning, the chief priests together with the elders and scribes, in short the whole Sanhedrin, had their plan ready. They had Jesus bound and took him away and handed him over to Pilate.

2 Pilate questioned him, "Are you the king of the Jews?" "It is you who say it,"
3 he answered. And the chief priests brought many accusations against him.
4 Pilate questioned him again, "Have you no reply at all? See how many accusations 5 they are bringing against you!" But, to Pilate's amazement, Jesus made no further reply.

6 At festival time Pilate used to release a prisoner for them, anyone they asked 7 for. Now a man called Barabbas was then in prison with the rioters who had 8 committed murder during the uprising. When the crowd went up and began to 9 ask Pilate the customary favor, Pilate answered them, "Do you want me to 10 release for you the king of the Jews?" For he realized it was out of jealousy that 11 the chief priests had handed Jesus over. The chief priests, however, had incited 12 the crowd to demand that he should release Barabbas for them instead. Then Pilate spoke again. "But in that case," he said to them, "what am I to do with the 13 man you call king of the Jews?" They shouted back, "Crucify him!" "Why?" Pilate 14 asked them. "What harm has he done?" But they shouted all the louder, "Crucify 15 him!" So Pilate, anxious to placate the crowd, released Barabbas for them and, having ordered Jesus to be scourged, handed him over to be crucified.

Jesus crowned with thorns

16 The soldiers led him away to the inner part of the palace, that is, the Prae-17 torium, and called the whole cohort together. They dressed him up in purple, 18 twisted some thorns into a crown and put it on him. And they began saluting 19 him, "Hail, king of the Jews!" They struck his head with a reed and spat on him; 20 and they went down on their knees to do him homage. And when they had finished making fun of him, they took off the purple and dressed him in his own clothes.

The way of the cross

21 They led him out to crucify him. They enlisted a passer-by, Simon of Cyrene, father of Alexander and Rufus,^a who was coming in from the country, to carry

b. Dn. 7:13; Ps. 110:1

15 a. Alexander and Rufus were doubtless known to the Roman circle in which Mark wrote his gospel. Cf. Rm. 16:13.

22 his cross. They brought Jesus to the place called Golgotha, which means the place of the skull.

The crucifixion

23 They offered him wine mixed with myrrh, but he refused it. Then they crucified him, and shared out his clothing, casting lots to decide what each should 24 get. It was the third hour^b when they crucified him. The inscription giving the 25 charge against him read: "The King of the Jews." And they crucified two robbers 26 with him, one on his right and one on his left.^c

The crucified Christ is mocked

29 The passers-by jeered at him; they shook their heads and said, "Aha! So you 30 would destroy the Temple and rebuild it in three days! Then save yourself:
31 come down from the cross!" The chief priests and the scribes mocked him among 32 themselves in the same way. "He saved others," they said, "he cannot save 33 himself. Let the Christ, the king of Israel, come down from the cross now, for 34 us to see it and believe." Even those who were crucified with him taunted him.

The death of Jesus

33 When the sixth hour came there was darkness over the whole land until the 34 ninth hour. And at the ninth hour Jesus cried out in a loud voice, "Eloi, Eloi, 35 lamasabachthani?" which means, "My God, my God, why have you deserted me?"^d 36 When some of those who stood by heard this, they said, "Listen, he is calling on 37 Elijah." Someone ran and soaked a sponge in vinegar and, putting it on a reed, 38 gave it him to drink saying, "Wait and see if Elijah will come to take him down."
39 But Jesus gave a loud cry and breathed his last. And the veil of the Temple was 40 torn in two from top to bottom. The centurion, who was standing in front of 41 him, had seen how he had died, and he said, "In truth this man was a son of 42 God."

The women on Calvary

40 There were some women watching from a distance. Among them were Mary 41 of Magdala, Mary who was the mother of James the younger and Joset, and 42 Salome. These used to follow him and look after him when he was in Galilee.
43 And there were many other women there who had come up to Jerusalem with 44 him.

The burial

42 It was now evening, and since it was Preparation Day (that is, the vigil of the 43 sabbath), there came Joseph of Arimathaea, a prominent member of the 44 Council, who himself lived in the hope of seeing the kingdom of God, and he 45 boldly went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. Pilate, astonished that 46 he should have died so soon, summoned the centurion and inquired if he was 47 already dead. Having been assured of this by the centurion, he granted the 48 corpse to Joseph who bought a shroud, took Jesus down from the cross, 49 wrapped him in the shroud and laid him in a tomb which had been hewn out 50 of the rock. He then rolled a stone against the entrance to the tomb. Mary of 51 Magdala and Mary the mother of Joset were watching and took note of where 52 he was laid.

The empty tomb. The angel's message

1 16 When the sabbath was over, Mary of Magdala, Mary the mother of James,
2 and Salome, bought spices with which to go and anoint him. And very early 3 in the morning on the first day of the week they went to the tomb, just as the 4 sun was rising.

5 They had been saying to one another, "Who will roll away the stone for us

4 from the entrance to the tomb?" •But when they looked they could see that the 5 stone—which was very big—had already been rolled back. •On entering the 6 tomb they saw a young man in a white robe seated on the right-hand side, and 7 they were struck with amazement. •But he said to them, "There is no need for 8 alarm. You are looking for Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified: he has risen, 9 he is not here. See, here is the place where they laid him. •But you must go and 10 tell his disciples and Peter, 'He is going before you to Galilee; it is there 11 you will see him, just as he told you.'" •And the women came out and ran away
12 from the tomb because they were frightened out of their wits; and they said 13 nothing to a soul, for they were afraid . . .

Appearances of the risen Christ^a 9 Having risen in the morning on the first day of the week, he appeared first to 10 Mary of Magdala from whom he had cast out seven devils. •She then went to those 11 who had been his companions, and who were mourning and in tears, and told 12 them. •But they did not believe her when they heard her say that he was alive 13 and that she had seen him.

12 After this, he showed himself under another form to two of them as they 13 were on their way into the country. •These went back and told the others, who 14 did not believe them either.

14 Lastly, he showed himself to the Eleven themselves while they were at table.
He reproached them for their incredulity and obstinacy, because they had refused 15 to believe those who had seen him after he had risen. •And he said to them, 16 "Go out to the whole world; proclaim the Good News to all creation. •He who 17 believes and is baptized will be saved; he who does not believe will be condemned.
18 These are the signs that will be associated with believers: in my name they will cast 19 out devils; they will have the gift of tongues; •they will pick up snakes in their 20 hands, and be unharmed should they drink deadly poison; they will lay their 21 hands on the sick, who will recover."

19 And so the Lord Jesus, after he had spoken to them, was taken up into heaven:
20 there at the right hand of God he took his place, •while they, going out, preached
21 everywhere, the Lord working with them and confirming the word by the signs 22 that accompanied it.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO SAINT LUKE

Prologue

1 1 Seeing that many others have undertaken to draw up accounts of the events
2 that have taken place among us, exactly as these were handed down to us by 3 those who from the outset were eyewitnesses and ministers of the word, I in my 4 turn, after carefully going over the whole story from the beginning, have decided to write an ordered account for you, Theophilus, so that your Excellency may learn how well founded the teaching is that you have received.

I. THE BIRTH AND HIDDEN LIFE OF JOHN THE BAPTIST AND OF JESUS

The birth of John the Baptist foretold

5 In the days of King Herod of Judaea there lived a priest called Zechariah who belonged to the Abijah section of the priesthood, and he had a wife, 6 Elizabeth by name, who was a descendant of Aaron. Both were worthy in the sight of God, and scrupulously observed all the commandments and observances 7 of the Lord. But they were childless: Elizabeth was barren and they were both getting on in years.

8 Now it was the turn of Zechariah's section^a to serve, and he was exercising
9 his priestly office before God when it fell to him by lot, as the ritual custom 10 was, to enter the Lord's sanctuary and burn incense there.^b And at the hour of incense the whole congregation was outside, praying.

11 Then there appeared to him the angel of the Lord, standing on the right 12 of the altar of incense. The sight disturbed Zechariah and he was overcome with 13 fear. But the angel said to him, "Zechariah, do not be afraid, your prayer has been heard. Your wife Elizabeth is to bear you a son and you must name 14 him John.^c He will be your joy and delight and many will rejoice at his birth, 15 for he will be great in the sight of the Lord; he must drink no wine, no strong 16 drink.^d Even from his mother's womb he will be filled with the Holy Spirit, and 17 he will bring back many of the sons of Israel to the Lord their God. With the spirit and power of Elijah, he will go before him to turn the hearts of fathers toward their children^e and the disobedient back to the wisdom that the virtuous 18 have, preparing for the Lord a people fit for him." Zechariah said to the angel, 19 "How can I be sure of this? I am an old man and my wife is getting on in years."
The angel replied, "I am Gabriel who stand in God's presence, and I have been 20 sent to you and bring you this good news. Listen! Since you have not believed my words, which will come true at their appointed time, you will be 21 silenced and have no power of speech until this has happened." Meanwhile the people were waiting for Zechariah and were surprised that he stayed in the 22 sanctuary so long. When he came out he could not speak to them, and they realized that he had received a vision in the sanctuary. But he could only make signs to them, and remained dumb.

23 When his time of service came to an end he returned home. 24 Some time later
25 his wife Elizabeth conceived, and for five months she kept to herself. "The Lord has done this for me," she said, "now that it has pleased him to take away the humiliation I suffered among men."

The annunciation

26 In the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent by God to a town in Galilee
27 called Nazareth, to a virgin betrothed to a man named Joseph, of the House
28 of David; and the virgin's name was Mary. He went in and said to her, "Rejoice, 29 so highly favored! The Lord is with you." She was deeply disturbed by these 30 words and asked herself what this greeting could mean, but the angel said 31 to her, "Mary, do not be afraid; you have won God's favor. Listen! You are 32 to conceive and bear a son, and you must name him Jesus. He will be great and will be called Son of the Most High. The Lord God will give him the throne 33 of his ancestor David; he will rule over the House of Jacob for ever and his reign 34 will have no end." Mary said to the angel, "But how can this come about, since 35 I am a virgin?" "The Holy Spirit will come upon you," the angel answered, "and the power of the Most High will cover you with its shadow. And so the child 36 will be holy and will be called Son of God. Know this too: your kinswoman Elizabeth has, in her old age, herself conceived a son, and she whom people called 37 barren is now in her sixth month, for nothing is impossible to God."^g "I am the 38 handmaid of the Lord," said Mary, "let what you have said be done to me."
And the angel left her.

The visitation

39 Mary set out at that time and went as quickly as she could to a town in the 40 hill country of Judah. She went into Zechariah's house and greeted Elizabeth.
41 Now as soon as Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, the child leaped in her womb 42 and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit. She gave a loud cry and said,
"Of all women you are the most blessed, and blessed is the fruit of your womb.
43 Why should I be honored with a visit from the mother of my Lord? For the 44 moment your greeting reached my ears, the child in my womb leaped for joy.
45 Yes, blessed is she who believed that the promise made her by the Lord would be fulfilled."

The Magnificat

46 And Maryⁱ said:

"My soul proclaims the greatness of the Lord
47 and my spirit exults in God my savior;
48 because he has looked upon his lowly handmaid.
Yes, from this day forward all generations will call me blessed,
49 for the Almighty has done great things for me.
Holy is his name,
50 and his mercy reaches from age to age for those who fear him.
51 He has shown the power of his arm,
he has routed the proud of heart.
52 He has pulled down princes from their thrones and exalted the lowly.
53 The hungry he has filled with good things, the rich sent empty away.

54 He has come to the help of Israel his servant, mindful of his mercy
 55 —according to the promise he made to our ancestors— of his mercy to Abraham and to his descendants for ever.”

56 Mary stayed with Elizabeth about three months and then went back home.

The birth of John the Baptist and visit of the neighbors

57 Meanwhile the time came for Elizabeth to have her child, and she gave birth 58 to a son; and when her neighbors and relations heard that the Lord had shown her so great a kindness, they shared her joy.

The circumcision of John the Baptist

59 Now on the eighth day they came to circumcise the child; they were going 60 to call^j him Zechariah after his father, but his mother spoke up. “No,” she 61 said, “he is to be called John.” They said to her, “But no one in your family has 62 that name,” and made signs to his father to find out what he wanted him called.
 63 The father asked for a writing tablet and wrote, “His name is John.” And they 64 were all astonished. At that instant his power of speech returned and he spoke 65 and praised God. All their neighbors were filled with awe and the whole affair 66 was talked about throughout the hill country of Judaea. All those who heard of it treasured it in their hearts. “What will this child turn out to be?”
 they wondered. And indeed the hand of the Lord was with him.

The Benedictus

67 His father Zechariah was filled with the Holy Spirit and spoke this prophecy:

68 “Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel,^k
 for he has visited his people, he has come to their rescue 69 and he has raised up for us a power for salvation in the House of his servant David, 70 even as he proclaimed,
 by the mouth of his holy prophets from ancient times, 71 that he would save us from our enemies
 and from the hands of all who hate us.
 72 Thus he shows mercy to our ancestors,
 thus he remembers his holy covenant,^l 73 the oath he swore to our father Abraham 74 that he would grant us, free from fear,
 to be delivered from the hands of our enemies, 75 to serve him in holiness and virtue in his presence, all our days.
 76 And you, little child,
 you shall be called Prophet of the Most High,
 for you will go before the Lord
 to prepare the way for him.
 77 To give his people knowledge of salvation
 through the forgiveness of their sins;
 78 this by the tender mercy of our God who from on high will bring the rising Sun to visit us, 79 to give light to those who live in darkness and the shadow of death,^m and to guide our feet
 into the way of peace.”

The hidden life of John the Baptist

80 Meanwhile the child grew up and his spirit matured. And he lived out in the wilderness until the day he appeared openly to Israel.

The birth of Jesus and visit of the shepherds

1 2 Now at this time Caesar Augustus^a issued a decree for a census of the whole
 2 world to be taken. This census—the first^b—took place while Quirinius was 3 governor of Syria, and everyone went to his own town to be registered. So Joseph 4 set out from the town of Nazareth in Galilee and traveled up to Judaea, to the 5 town of David called Bethlehem, since he was of David's House and line, in 6 order to be registered together with Mary, his betrothed, who was with child.
 7 While they were there the time came for her to have her child, and she gave birth
 8 to a son, her first-born.^c She wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a 9 manger because there was no room for them at the inn. In the countryside
 10 close by there were shepherds who lived in the fields and took it in turns to watch 11 their flocks during the night. The angel of the Lord appeared to them and 12 the glory of the Lord shone around them. They were terrified, but the angel 13 said, "Do not be afraid. Listen, I bring you news of great joy, a joy to be shared 14 by the whole people. Today in the town of David a savior has been born to 15 you; he is Christ the Lord. And here is a sign for you: you will find a baby 16 wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger." And suddenly with the 17 angel there was a great throng of the heavenly host, praising God and singing:

18 "Glory to God in the highest heaven,
 19 and peace to men who enjoy his favor."

20 Now when the angels had gone from them into heaven, the shepherds said
 21 to one another, "Let us go to Bethlehem and see this thing that has happened 22 which the Lord has made known to us." So they hurried away and found 23 Mary and Joseph, and the baby lying in the manger. When they saw the child 24 they repeated what they had been told about him, and everyone who heard 25 it was astonished at what the shepherds had to say. As for Mary, she treasured 26 all these things and pondered them in her heart. And the shepherds went 27 back glorifying and praising God for all they had heard and seen; it was exactly 28 as they had been told.

The circumcision of Jesus

29 When the eighth day came and the child was to be circumcised, they gave 30 him the name Jesus, the name the angel had given him before his conception.

Jesus is presented in the Temple

31 And when the day came for them to be purified^d as laid down by the Law
 32 of Moses, they took him up to Jerusalem to present him to the Lord—observing 33 what stands written in the Law of the Lord: Every first-born male must be con-
 34 secrated to the Lord^e—also to offer in sacrifice, in accordance with what 35 is said in the Law of the Lord, a pair of turtledoves or two young pigeons! Now 36 in Jerusalem there was a man named Simeon. He was an upright and devout 37 man; he looked forward to Israel's comforting and the Holy Spirit rested on 38 him. It had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not see death 39 until he had set eyes on the Christ of the Lord.^f Prompted by the Spirit he 40 came to the Temple; and when the parents brought in the child Jesus to do for 41 him what the Law required, he took him into his arms and blessed God; and he 42 said:

j. The name was normally given at the time of circumcision. k. Ps. 41:13 l. Lv. 26:42
 m. Is. 9:1

2 a. Emperor of Rome 30 B.C. to 14 A.D. b. About 8–6 B.C. c. The term does not necessarily imply younger brothers. d. The mother needed to be "purified"; the child had to be "redeemed." e. Ex. 13:2 f. The offering of the poor, Lv. 5:7. g. "The anointed one of God."

The Nunc Dimittis

29 "Now, Master, you can let your servant go in peace,
just as you promised;
30 because my eyes have seen the salvation
31 which you have prepared for all the nations to see,
32 a light to enlighten the pagans and the glory of your people Israel."

The prophecy of Simeon

33 As the child's father and mother stood there wondering at the things that 34 were being said about him, Simeon blessed them and said to Mary his mother,
"You see this child: he is destined for the fall and for the rising of many in Israel, 35 destined to be a sign that is rejected—and a sword will pierce your own soul too—so that the secret thoughts of many may be laid bare."

The prophecy of Anna

36 There was a prophetess also, Anna the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher. She was well on in years. Her days of girlhood over, she had been 37 married for seven years before becoming a widow. She was now eighty-four years old and never left the Temple, serving God night and day with fasting 38 and prayer. She came by just at that moment and began to praise God; and she spoke of the child to all who looked forward to the deliverance of Jerusalem.^a

The hidden life of Jesus at Nazareth

39 When they had done everything the Law of the Lord required, they went back 40 to Galilee, to their own town of Nazareth. Meanwhile the child grew to maturity, and he was filled with wisdom; and God's favor was with him.

Jesus among the doctors of the Law

41 Every year his parents used to go to Jerusalem for the feast of the Passover.
42 When he was twelve years old, they went up for the feast as usual. When they 43 were on their way home after the feast, the boy Jesus stayed behind in Jerusalem without his parents knowing it. They assumed he was with the caravan, and 44 it was only after a day's journey that they went to look for him among their 45 relations and acquaintances. When they failed to find him they went back to Jerusalem looking for him everywhere.

46 Three days later, they found him in the Temple, sitting among the doctors, 47 listening to them, and asking them questions; and all those who heard him 48 were astounded at his intelligence and his replies. They were overcome when they saw him, and his mother said to him, "My child, why have you done this to us? See how worried your father and I have been, looking for 49 you." "Why were you looking for me?" he replied. "Did you not know that I must 50 be busy with my Father's affairs?" But they did not understand what he meant.

The hidden life at Nazareth resumed

51 He then went down with them and came to Nazareth and lived under their 52 authority. His mother stored up all these things in her heart. And Jesus increased in wisdom, in stature, and in favor with God and men.

II. PRELUDE TO THE PUBLIC MINISTRY OF JESUS

The preaching of John the Baptist

1 3 In the fifteenth year of Tiberius Caesar's reign,^a when Pontius Pilate^b was governor of Judaea, Herod^c tetrarch of Galilee, his brother Philip^d tetrarch 2 of the lands of Ituraea and Trachonitis, Lysanias tetrarch of Abilene, during the pontificate of Annas and Caiaphas,^e the word of God came to John son of ³ Zechariah, in the wilderness. •He went through the whole Jordan district proclaiming a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins, •as it is written in the book of the sayings of the prophet Isaiah:

A voice cries in the wilderness:

*Prepare a way for the Lord,
make his paths straight.*

⁵ *Every valley will be filled in,
every mountain and hill be laid low,
winding ways will be straightened and rough roads made smooth.*

⁶ And all mankind shall see the salvation of God!

⁷ He said, therefore, to the crowds who came to be baptized by him, “Brood of vipers, who warned you to fly from the retribution that is coming? •But if you are repentant, produce the appropriate fruits, and do not think of telling yourselves, ‘We have Abraham for our father,’ because, I tell you, God can raise children for Abraham from these stones. •Yes, even now the ax is laid to the roots of the trees, so that any tree which fails to produce good fruit will be cut down and thrown on the fire.”

¹⁵ A feeling of expectancy had grown among the people, who were beginning to think that John might be the Christ, •so John declared before them all, “I baptize you with water, but someone is coming, someone who is more powerful than I am, and I am not fit to undo the strap of his sandals; he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire. •His winnowing fan is in his hand to clear his threshing floor and to gather the wheat into his barn; but the chaff he will burn in a fire that will never go out.” •As well as this, there were many other things he said to exhort the people and to announce the Good News to them.

John the Baptist imprisoned

¹⁹ But Herod the tetrarch, whom he criticized for his relations with his brother’s wife Herodias and for all the other crimes Herod had committed, •added a further crime to all the rest by shutting John up in prison.

Jesus is baptized

²¹ Now when all the people had been baptized and while Jesus after his own baptism was at prayer, heaven opened •and the Holy Spirit descended on him in bodily shape, like a dove. And a voice came from heaven, “You are my Son, the Beloved; my favor rests on you.”

The ancestry of Jesus

²³ When he started to teach, Jesus was about thirty years old, being the son, as it was thought, of Joseph son of Heli, son of Matthat, son of Levi, son

Temptation in the wilderness

1 4 Filled with the Holy Spirit, Jesus left the Jordan and was led by the Spirit
 2 through the wilderness, being tempted there by the devil for forty days.
 3 During that time he ate nothing and at the end he was hungry. Then the devil
 4 said to him, "If you are the Son of God, tell this stone to turn into a loaf." But 5 Jesus replied, "Scripture says: Man does not live on bread alone."^a 6 Then leading him to a height, the devil showed him in a moment of time all 7 the kingdoms of the world and said to him, "I will give you all this power and 8 the glory of these kingdoms, for it has been committed to me and I give it to anyone I choose. Worship me, then, and it shall all be yours." But Jesus answered him, "Scripture says:

*You must worship the Lord your God,
 and serve him alone.*"^b

9 Then he led him to Jerusalem and made him stand on the parapet of the Temple. "If you are the Son of God," he said to him, "throw yourself down from 10 here, for scripture says:

*He will put his angels in charge of you
 to guard you,*

and again:

11 *They will hold you up on their hands
 in case you hurt your foot against a stone.*"^c

12 But Jesus answered him, "It has been said:

You must not put the Lord your God to the test."^d

13 Having exhausted all these ways of tempting him, the devil left him, to return at the appointed time.

III. THE GALILEAN MINISTRY

Jesus begins to preach

14 Jesus, with the power of the Spirit in him, returned to Galilee; and his 15 reputation spread throughout the countryside. He taught in their synagogues and everyone praised him.

Jesus at Nazareth

16 He came to Nazara, where he had been brought up, and went into the 17 synagogue on the sabbath day as he usually did. He stood up to read,^e and they handed him the scroll of the prophet Isaiah. Unrolling the scroll he found the place where it is written:

18 *The spirit of the Lord has been given to me,
for he has anointed me.
He has sent me to bring the good news to the poor,
to proclaim liberty to captives
and to the blind new sight,
to set the downtrodden free,
19 to proclaim the Lord's year of favor!*

20 He then rolled up the scroll, gave it back to the assistant and sat down. And all 21 eyes in the synagogue were fixed on him. Then he began to speak to them, "This 22 text is being fulfilled today even as you listen." And he won the approval of all, and they were astonished by the gracious words that came from his lips.

23 They said, "This is Joseph's son, surely?" But he replied, "No doubt you will quote me the saying, 'Physician, heal yourself,' and tell me, 'We have heard all that happened in Capernaum, do the same here in your own countryside.'" 24 And he went on, "I tell you solemnly, no prophet is ever accepted in his own country.

25 "There were many widows in Israel, I can assure you, in Elijah's day, when heaven remained shut for three years and six months and a great famine raged 26 throughout the land, but Elijah was not sent to any of these: he was sent 27 to a widow at Zarephath, a Sidonian town.^a And in the prophet Elisha's time there were many lepers in Israel, but none of these was cured, except the Syrian, Naaman."

28 When they heard this everyone in the synagogue was enraged. They sprang 29 to their feet and hustled him out of the town; and they took him up to the brow 30 of the hill their town was built on, intending to throw him down the cliff, but he slipped through the crowd and walked away.

Jesus teaches in Capernaum and cures a demoniac

31 He went down to Capernaum, a town in Galilee, and taught them on the 32 sabbath. And his teaching made a deep impression on them because he spoke with authority.

33 In the synagogue there was a man who was possessed by the spirit of an 34 unclean devil, and it shouted at the top of its voice, "Ha! What do you want with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are:
35 the Holy One of God." But Jesus said sharply, "Be quiet! Come out of him!"
And the devil, throwing the man down in front of everyone, went out of him 36 without hurting him at all. Astonishment seized them and they were all saying to one another, "What teaching! He gives orders to unclean spirits with authority 37 and power and they come out." And reports of him went all through the surrounding countryside.

Cure of Simon's mother-in-law

38 Leaving the synagogue he went to Simon's house. Now Simon's mother-in-law was suffering from a high fever and they asked him to do something for her.
39 Leaning over her he rebuked the fever and it left her. And she immediately got up and began to wait on them.

A number of cures

40 At sunset all those who had friends suffering from diseases of one kind or 41 another brought them to him, and laying his hands on each he cured them. Devils

4 a. Dt. 8:3 b. Dt. 6:13 c. Ps. 91:11-12 d. Dt. 6:16 e. Any adult man could be permitted by the president to read the scriptures. f. Is. 61:1-2 g. 1 K. 17:9.

too came out of many people, howling, "You are the Son of God." But he rebuked them and would not allow them to speak because they knew that he was the Christ.

Jesus quietly leaves Capernaum and travels through Judaea

42 When daylight came he left the house and made his way to a lonely place. The crowds went to look for him, and when they had caught up with him they 43 wanted to prevent him leaving them, but he answered, "I must proclaim the Good News of the kingdom of God to the other towns too, because that is what 44 I was sent to do." And he continued his preaching in the synagogues of Judaea.

The first four disciples are called

1 S Now he was standing one day by the Lake of Gennesaret, with the crowd
2 pressing around him listening to the word of God, when he caught sight of two 3 boats close to the bank. The fishermen had gone out of them and were washing 4 their nets. He got into one of the boats—it was Simon's—and asked him to put 5 out a little from the shore. Then he sat down and taught the crowds from the boat.
6 When he had finished speaking he said to Simon, "Put out into deep water 7 and pay out your nets for a catch." "Master," Simon replied, "we worked hard all 8 night long and caught nothing, but if you say so, I will pay out the nets." And 9 when they had done this they netted such a huge number of fish that their nets
10 began to tear, so they signaled to their companions in the other boat to come 11 and help them; when these came, they filled the two boats to sinking point.
12 When Simon Peter saw this he fell at the knees of Jesus saying, "Leave me, 13 Lord; I am a sinful man." For he and all his companions were completely 14 overcome by the catch they had made; so also were James and John, sons of 15 Zebedee, who were Simon's partners. But Jesus said to Simon, "Do not be afraid; 16 from now on it is men you will catch." Then, bringing their boats back to land, 17 they left everything and followed him.

Cure of a leper

12 Now Jesus was in one of the towns when a man appeared, covered with 13 leprosy. Seeing Jesus he fell on his face and implored him. "Sir," he said, "if you 14 want to, you can cure me." Jesus stretched out his hand, touched him and said, 15 "Of course I want to! Be cured!" And the leprosy left him at once. He ordered 16 him to tell no one, "But go and show yourself to the priest and make the offering 17 for your healing as Moses prescribed it, as evidence for them."
18 His reputation continued to grow, and large crowds would gather to hear him 19 and to have their sickness cured, but he would always go off to some place where 20 he could be alone and pray.

Cure of a paralytic

17 Now he was teaching one day, and among the audience there were Pharisees
18 and doctors of the Law who had come from every village in Galilee, from Judaea 19 and from Jerusalem. And the Power of the Lord was behind his works of 20 healing. Then some men appeared, carrying on a bed a paralyzed man whom 21 they were trying to bring in and lay down in front of him. But as the crowd
22 made it impossible to find a way of getting him in, they went up on to the flat 23 roof and lowered him and his stretcher down through the tiles into the middle of 24 the gathering, in front of Jesus. Seeing their faith he said, "My friend, your sins 25 are forgiven you." The scribes and the Pharisees began to think this over. "Who is 26 this man talking blasphemy? Who can forgive sins but God alone?" But Jesus, 27 aware of their thoughts, made them this reply, "What are these thoughts you have 28 in your hearts? Which of these is easier: to say, 'Your sins are forgiven you'
29 or to say, 'Get up and walk?' But to prove to you that the Son of Man has 30 authority on earth to forgive sins,"—he said to the paralyzed man—"I order you:
31 get up, and pick up your stretcher and go home." And immediately before their very eyes he got up, picked up what he had been lying on and went home praising God.

26 They were all astounded and praised God, and were filled with awe, saying, "We have seen strange things today."

The call of Levi

27 When he went out after this, he noticed a tax collector, Levi by name, sitting 28 by the customs house, and said to him, "Follow me." And leaving everything he got up and followed him.

Eating with sinners in Levi's house

29 In his honor Levi held a great reception in his house, and with them at table
30 was a large gathering of tax collectors and others. The Pharisees and their scribes complained to his disciples and said, "Why do you eat and drink with tax collectors 31 and sinners?" Jesus said to them in reply, "It is not those who are well who need 32 the doctor, but the sick. I have not come to call the virtuous, but sinners to repentance."

Discussion on fasting

33 They then said to him, "John's disciples are always fasting and saying prayers, and the disciples of the Pharisees too, but yours go on eating and drinking."
34 Jesus replied, "Surely you cannot make the bridegroom's attendants fast while 35 the bridegroom is still with them? But the time will come, the time for the bridegroom to be taken away from them; that will be the time when they will fast."

36 He also told them this parable, "No one tears a piece from a new cloak to put it on an old cloak; if he does, not only will he have torn the new one, but the piece taken from the new will not match the old.

37 "And nobody puts new wine into old skins; if he does, the new wine will burst 38 the skins and then run out, and the skins will be lost. No; new wine must be put 39 into fresh skins. And nobody who has been drinking old wine wants new. The old is good," he says."

Picking corn on the sabbath

1 6 Now one sabbath he happened to be taking a walk through the cornfields, and his disciples were picking ears of corn, rubbing them in their hands and eating them. Some of the Pharisees said, "Why are you doing something that is forbidden on the sabbath day?" Jesus answered them, "So you have not
4 read what David did when he and his followers were hungry—how he went into the house of God, took the loaves of offering and ate them and gave them to his 5 followers, loaves which only the priests are allowed to eat?" And he said to them, "The Son of Man is master of the sabbath."

Cure of the man with a withered hand

6 Now on another sabbath he went into the synagogue and began to teach, and 7 a man was there whose right hand was withered. The scribes and the Pharisees were watching him to see if he would cure a man on the sabbath, hoping to 8 find something to use against him. But he knew their thoughts; and he said to the man with the withered hand, "Stand up! Come out into the middle." And he came 9 out and stood there. Then Jesus said to them, "I put it to you: is it against the 10 law on the sabbath to do good, or to do evil; to save life, or to destroy it?" Then he looked around at them all and said to the man, "Stretch out your hand." He did 11 so, and his hand was better. But they were furious, and began to discuss the best way of dealing with Jesus.

The choice of the Twelve

12 Now it was about this time that he went out into the hills to pray; and he spent 13 the whole night in prayer to God. When day came he summoned his disciples

14 and picked out twelve of them; he called them "apostles": ·Simon whom he called Peter, and his brother Andrew; James, John, Philip, Bartholomew, 15 Matthew, Thomas, James son of Alphaeus, Simon called the Zealot, ·Judas son
 16 of James,^a and Judas Iscariot who became a traitor.

The crowds follow Jesus

17 He then came down with them and stopped at a piece of level ground where there was a large gathering of his disciples with a great crowd of people from all parts of Judaea and from Jerusalem and from the coastal region of Tyre and Sidon 18 who had come to hear him and to be cured of their diseases. People tormented 19 by unclean spirits were also cured, and everyone in the crowd was trying to touch him because power came out of him that cured them all.

The inaugural discourse. The Beatitudes

20 Then fixing his eyes on his disciples he said:

"How happy are you who are poor: yours is the kingdom of God.

21 Happy you who are hungry now: you shall be satisfied.

Happy you who weep now: you shall laugh.

22 "Happy are you when people hate you, drive you out, abuse you, denounce 23 your name as criminal, on account of the Son of Man. ·Rejoice when that day comes and dance for joy, then your reward will be great in heaven. This was the way their ancestors treated the prophets.

The curses

24 "But alas for you who are rich: you are having your consolation now.

25 Alas for you who have your fill now: you shall go hungry.

Alas for you who laugh now: you shall mourn and weep.

26 "Alas for you when the world speaks well of you! This was the way their ancestors treated the false prophets.

Love of enemies

27 "But I say this to you who are listening: Love your enemies, do good to those 28 who hate you, ·bless those who curse you, pray for those who treat you badly.
 29 To the man who slaps you on one cheek, present the other cheek too; to the man 30 who takes your cloak from you, do not refuse your tunic. ·Give to everyone who asks you, and do not ask for your property back from the man who robs you.
 31 Treat others as you would like them to treat you. ·If you love those who love 32 you, what thanks can you expect? Even sinners love those who love them. ·And if 33 you do good to those who do good to you, what thanks can you expect? For even 34 sinners do that much. ·And if you lend to those from whom you hope to receive, what thanks can you expect? Even sinners lend to sinners to get back the same 35 amount. ·Instead, love your enemies and do good, and lend without any hope of return. You will have a great reward, and you will be sons of the Most High, for he himself is kind to the ungrateful and the wicked.

Compassion and generosity

36 "Be compassionate as your Father is compassionate. ·Do not judge, and you will not be judged yourselves; do not condemn, and you will not be condemned 37 yourselves; grant pardon, and you will be pardoned. ·Give, and there will be 38 gifts for you: a full measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over, will be poured into your lap; because the amount you measure out is the amount you will be given back."

Integrity

39 He also told a parable to them, "Can one blind man guide another? Surely 40 both will fall into a pit? ·The disciple is not superior to his teacher; the fully

41 trained disciple will always be like his teacher. •Why do you observe the splinter
42 in your brother's eye and never notice the plank in your own? •How can you say to your brother, 'Brother, let me take out the splinter that is in your eye,' when you cannot see the plank in your own? Hypocrite! Take the plank out of your own eye first, and then you will see clearly enough to take out the splinter that is in your brother's eye.

43 "There is no sound tree that produces rotten fruit, nor again a rotten tree that 44 produces sound fruit. •For every tree can be told by its own fruit: people do not 45 pick figs from thorns, nor gather grapes from brambles. •A good man draws what is good from the store of goodness in his heart; a bad man draws what is bad from the store of badness. For a man's words flow out of what fills his heart.

The true disciple

46 "Why do you call me, 'Lord, Lord' and not do what I say?

47 "Everyone who comes to me and listens to my words and acts on them—I will 48 show you what he is like. •He is like the man who when he built his house dug, and dug deep, and laid the foundations on rock; when the river was in flood it 49 bore down on that house but could not shake it. it was so well built. •But the one who listens and does nothing is like the man who built his house on soil, with no foundations: as soon as the river bore down on it, it collapsed; and what a ruin that house became!"

Cure of the centurion's servant

1 7 When he had come to the end of all he wanted the people to hear, he went into 2 Capernaum. •A centurion there had a servant, a favorite of his, who was 3 sick and near death. •Having heard about Jesus he sent some Jewish elders
4 to him to ask him to come and heal his servant. •When they came to Jesus they 5 pleaded earnestly with him. "He deserves this of you," they said, "because he is friendly toward our people; in fact, he is the one who built the synagogue." 6 So Jesus went with them, and was not very far from the house when the centurion sent word to him by some friends: "Sir," he said, "do not put yourself to trouble;
7 because I am not worthy to have you under my roof; •and for this same reason
I did not presume to come to you myself; but give the word and let my servant
8 be cured. •For I am under authority myself, and have soldiers under me; and I say to one man: Go, and he goes; to another: Come here, and he comes; to my 9 servant: Do this, and he does it." •When Jesus heard these words he was astonished at him and, turning around, said to the crowd following him, "I tell 10 you, not even in Israel have I found faith like this." •And when the messengers got back to the house they found the servant in perfect health.

The son of the widow of Nain restored to life

11 Now soon afterward he went to a town called Nain, accompanied by his 12 disciples and a great number of people. •When he was near the gate of the town it happened that a dead man was being carried out for burial, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow. And a considerable number of the townspeople 13 were with her. •When the Lord^a saw her he felt sorry for her. "Do not cry," he 14 said. •Then he went up and put his hand on the bier and the bearers stood still,
15 and he said, "Young man, I tell you to get up." •And the dead man sat up and 16 began to talk, and Jesus gave him to his mother.^b •Everyone was filled with awe and praised God saying, "A great prophet has appeared among us; God has 17 visited his people." •And this opinion of him spread throughout Judaea and all over the countryside.

The Baptist's question. Jesus commends him

18 The disciples of John gave him all this news, and John, summoning two of his 19 disciples, 'sent them to the Lord to ask, "Are you the one who is to come, or must 20 we wait for someone else?"' When the men reached Jesus they said, "John the 21 Baptist has sent us to you, to ask, 'Are you the one who is to come or have we 22 to wait for someone else?'" It was just then that he cured many people of 23 diseases and afflictions and of evil spirits, and gave the gift of sight to many who 24 were blind. Then he gave the messengers their answer, "Go back and tell John 25 what you have seen and heard: the blind see again, the lame walk, lepers are 26 cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised to life, the Good News is pro-27 claimed to the poor and happy is the man who does not lose faith in me."

28 When John's messengers had gone he began to talk to the people about John,
 29 "What did you go out into the wilderness to see? A reed swaying in the breeze?
 30 No? Then what did you go out to see? A man dressed in fine clothes?
 Oh no, those who go in for fine clothes and live luxuriously are to be found at 31 court! Then what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I tell you, and much 32 more than a prophet: he is the one of whom scripture says:

*See, I am going to send my messenger before you;
 he will prepare the way before you.^e*

28 "I tell you, of all the children born of women, there is no one greater than John;
 29 yet the least in the kingdom of God is greater than he is." All the people who 30 heard him, and the tax collectors too, acknowledged God's plan by accepting 31 baptism from John; but by refusing baptism from him the Pharisees and the 32 lawyers had thwarted what God had in mind for them.

Jesus condemns his contemporaries

31 "What description, then, can I find for the men of this generation? What are 32 they like? They are like children shouting to one another while they sit in the market place:

'We played the pipes for you,
 and you wouldn't dance;
 we sang dirges,
 and you wouldn't cry.'

33 "For John the Baptist comes, not eating bread, not drinking wine, and you 34 say, 'He is possessed.' The Son of Man comes, eating and drinking, and you 35 say, 'Look, a glutton and a drunkard, a friend of tax collectors and sinners.'
 Yet Wisdom has been proved right by all her children."

The woman who was a sinner

36 One of the Pharisees invited him to a meal. When he arrived at the Pharisee's 37 house and took his place at table, a woman came in, who had a bad name in the town. She had heard he was dining with the Pharisee and had brought with her 38 an alabaster jar of ointment. She waited behind him at his feet, weeping, and her tears fell on his feet, and she wiped them away with her hair; then she covered his feet with kisses and anointed them with the ointment.

39 When the Pharisee who had invited him saw this, he said to himself, "If this man were a prophet, he would know who this woman is that is touching him and 40 what a bad name she has." Then Jesus took him up and said, "Simon, I have 41 something to say to you." "Speak, Master," was the reply. "There was once a creditor who had two men in his debt; one owed him five hundred denarii, the 42 other fifty. They were unable to pay, so he pardoned them both. Which of them
 43 will love him more?" "The one who was pardoned more, I suppose," answered Simon. Jesus said, "You are right."

44 Then he turned to the woman. "Simon," he said, "you see this woman? I came into your house, and you poured no water over my feet, but she has poured out her 45 tears over my feet and wiped them away with her hair. •You gave me no kiss, but 46 she has been covering my feet with kisses ever since I came in. •You did not 47 anoint my head with oil, but she has anointed my feet with ointment. •For this reason I tell you that her sins, her many sins, must have been forgiven her, or she would not have shown such great love. It is the man who is forgiven little who 48 shows little love.” •Then he said to her, “Your sins are forgiven.” •Those who 49 were with him at table began to say to themselves, “Who is this man, that he even 50 forgives sins?” •But he said to the woman, “Your faith has saved you; go in peace.”

The women accompanying Jesus

1 8 Now after this he made his way through towns and villages preaching, and proclaiming the Good News of the kingdom of God. With him went the 2 Twelve, •as well as certain women who had been cured of evil spirits and ailments:
 Mary surnamed the Magdalene, from whom seven demons had gone out, 3 Joanna the wife of Herod’s steward Chuza, Susanna, and several others who provided for them out of their own resources.

Parable of the sower

4 With a large crowd gathering and people from every town finding their way to him, he used this parable:
 5 “A sower went out to sow his seed. As he sowed, some fell on the edge of the 6 path and was trampled on; and the birds of the air ate it up. •Some seed fell on 7 rock, and when it came up it withered away, having no moisture. •Some seed fell 8 among thorns and the thorns grew with it and choked it. •And some seed fell into rich soil and grew and produced its crop a hundredfold.” Saying this he cried, “Listen, anyone who has ears to hear!”

Why Jesus speaks in parables

9 His disciples asked him what this parable might mean, •and he said, “The 10 mysteries of the kingdom of God are revealed to you; for the rest there are only parables, so that they may see but not perceive, listen but not understand.^a

The parable of the sower explained

11 “This, then, is what the parable means: the seed is the word of God. •Those 12 on the edge of the path are people who have heard it, and then the devil comes and carries away the word from their hearts in case they should believe and be 13 saved. •Those on the rock are people who, when they first hear it, welcome the word with joy. But these have no root; they believe for a while, and in time of 14 trial they give up. •As for the part that fell into thorns, this is people who have heard, but as they go on their way they are choked by the worries and riches and 15 pleasures of life and do not reach maturity. •As for the part in the rich soil, this is people with a noble and generous heart who have heard the word and take it to themselves and yield a harvest through their perseverance.

Parable of the lamp

16 “No one lights a lamp to cover it with a bowl or to put it under a bed. No, he puts it on a lampstand so that people may see the light when they come in.
 17 For nothing is hidden but it will be made clear, nothing secret but it will be 18 known and brought to light. •So take care how you hear; for anyone who has will be given more; from anyone who has not, even what he thinks he has will be taken away.”

c. Mt. 3:1
 8 a. Is. 6:9

The true kinsmen of Jesus

19 His mother and his brothers came looking for him, but they could not get to 20 him because of the crowd. He was told, "Your mother and brothers are standing 21 outside and want to see you." But he said in answer, "My mother and my brothers are those who hear the word of God and put it into practice."

The calming of the storm

22 One day, he got into a boat with his disciples and said to them, "Let us cross 23 over to the other side of the lake." So they put to sea, and as they sailed he fell asleep. When a squall came down on the lake the boat started taking in water and 24 they found themselves in danger. So they went to rouse him saying, "Master!
Master! We are going down!" Then he woke up and rebuked the wind and the 25 rough water; and they subsided and it was calm again. He said to them, "Where is your faith?" They were awestruck and astonished and said to one another,
"Who can this be, that gives orders even to winds and waves and they obey
him?"

The Gerasene demoniac

26 They came to land in the country of the Gerasenes,^b which is opposite Galilee.
27 He was stepping ashore when a man from the town who was possessed by devils came toward him; for a long time the man had worn no clothes, nor did he live in a house, but in the tombs.

28 Catching sight of Jesus he gave a shout, fell at his feet and cried out at the top of his voice, "What do you want with me, Jesus, son of the Most High God?
29 I implore you, do not torture me." —For Jesus had been telling the unclean spirit to come out of the man. It was a devil that had seized on him a great many times, and then they used to secure him with chains and fetters to restrain him, but he would always break the fastenings, and the devil would drive him out into 30 the wilds. "What is your name?" Jesus asked. "Legion," he said—because 31 many devils had gone into him. And these pleaded with him not to order them to depart into the Abyss.^c

32 Now there was a large herd of pigs feeding there on the mountain, and the 33 devils pleaded with him to let them go into these. So he gave them leave. The devils came out of the man and went into the pigs, and the herd charged down the cliff into the lake and were drowned.

34 When the swineherds saw what had happened they ran off and told their story 35 in the town and in the country around about; and the people went out to see what had happened. When they came to Jesus they found the man from whom the devils had gone out sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed and in his full 36 senses; and they were afraid. Those who had witnessed it told them how the 37 man who had been possessed came to be healed. The entire population of the Gerasene territory was in a state of panic and asked Jesus to leave them. So he got into the boat and went back.

38 The man from whom the devils had gone out asked to be allowed to stay with 39 him, but he sent him away. "Go back home," he said, "and report all that God has done for you." So the man went off and spread throughout the town all that Jesus had done for him.

Cure of the woman with a hemorrhage. Jairus' daughter raised to life

40 On his return Jesus was welcomed by the crowd, for they were all there waiting 41 for him. And now there came a man named Jairus, who was an official of the synagogue. He fell at Jesus' feet and pleaded with him to come to his house, 42 because he had an only daughter about twelve years old, who was dying. And the crowds were almost stifling Jesus as he went.

43 Now there was a woman suffering from a hemorrhage for twelve years, 44 whom no one had been able to cure. She came up behind him and touched

45 the fringe of his cloak; and the hemorrhage stopped at that instant. •Jesus said, “Who touched me?” When they all denied that they had, Peter and his companions
 46 said, “Master, it is the crowds around you, pushing.” •But Jesus said, “Somebody 47 touched me. I felt that power had gone out from me.” •Seeing herself discovered, the 48 woman came forward trembling, and falling at his feet explained in front of all the 48 people why she had touched him and how she had been cured at that very moment.
 “My daughter,” he said, “your faith has restored you to health; go in peace.”
 49 While he was still speaking, someone arrived from the house of the synagogue official to say, “Your daughter has died. Do not trouble the Master any further.” 50 But Jesus had heard this, and he spoke to the man, “Do not be afraid, only have 51 faith and she will be safe.” •When he came to the house he allowed no one to go in with him except Peter and John and James, and the child’s father and mother.
 52 They were all weeping and mourning for her, but Jesus said, “Stop crying; she is 53 not dead, but asleep.” •But they laughed at him, knowing she was dead. •But 54 taking her by the hand he called to her, “Child, get up.” •And her spirit returned and 55 she got up at once. Then he told them to give her something to eat. •Her parents 56 were astonished, but he ordered them not to tell anyone what had happened.

The mission of the Twelve

1 9 He called the Twelve together and gave them power and authority over all
 2 devils and to cure diseases, •and he sent them out to proclaim the kingdom of 3 God and to heal. •He said to them, “Take nothing for the journey; neither staff, 4 nor haversack, nor bread, nor money; and let none of you take a spare tunic.
 4 Whatever house you enter, stay there; and when you leave, let it be from there.
 5 As for those who do not welcome you, when you leave their town shake the 6 dust from your feet as a sign to them.” •So they set out and went from village to village proclaiming the Good News and healing everywhere.

Herod and Jesus

7 Meanwhile Herod the tetrarch had heard about all that was going on; and he was puzzled, because some people were saying that John had risen from the 8 dead, •others that Elijah had reappeared, still others that one of the ancient 9 prophets had come back to life. •But Herod said, “John? I beheaded him. So who is this I hear such reports about?” And he was anxious to see him.

The return of the apostles. Miracles of the loaves

10 On their return the apostles gave him an account of all they had done. Then he took them with him and withdrew to a town called Bethsaida where they 11 could be by themselves. •But the crowds got to know and they went after him.
 He made them welcome and talked to them about the kingdom of God; and he cured those who were in need of healing.
 12 It was late afternoon when the Twelve came to him and said, “Send the people away, and they can go to the villages and farms around about to find lodging 13 and food; for we are in a lonely place here.” •He replied, “Give them something to eat yourselves.” But they said, “We have no more than five loaves and two 14 fish, unless we are to go ourselves and buy food for all these people.” •For there were about five thousand men. But he said to his disciples, “Get them to sit down 15 in parties of about fifty.” •They did so and made them all sit down. •Then he took 16 the five loaves and the two fish, raised his eyes to heaven, and said the blessing over them; then he broke them and handed them to his disciples to distribute 17 among the crowd. •They all ate as much as they wanted, and when the scraps remaining were collected they filled twelve baskets.

Peter’s profession of faith

18 Now one day when he was praying alone in the presence of his disciples he 19 put this question to them, “Who do the crowds say I am?” •And they answered,

b. “Gadarenes” in some versions. c. The underworld.

“John the Baptist; others Elijah; and others say one of the ancient prophets come 20 back to life.” “But you,” he said, “who do you say I am?” It was Peter who spoke 21 up. “The Christ of God,” he said. “But he gave them strict orders not to tell anyone anything about this.

First prophecy of the Passion

22 “The Son of Man,” he said, “is destined to suffer grievously, to be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes and to be put to death, and to be raised up on the third day.”

The condition of following Christ

23 Then to all he said, “If anyone wants to be a follower of mine, let him renounce 24 himself and take up his cross every day and follow me. “For anyone who wants to save his life will lose it; but anyone who loses his life for my sake, that man 25 will save it. “What gain, then, is it for a man to have won the whole world and to 26 have lost or ruined his very self? “For if anyone is ashamed of me and of my words, of him the Son of Man will be ashamed when he comes in his own glory and in the glory of the Father and the holy angels.

The kingdom will come soon

27 “I tell you truly, there are some standing here who will not taste death before they see the kingdom of God.”

The transfiguration

28 Now about eight days after this had been said, he took with him Peter and 29 John and James and went up the mountain to pray. “As he prayed, the aspect of 30 his face was changed and his clothing became brilliant as lightning. “Suddenly 31 there were two men there talking to him; they were Moses and Elijah “appearing in glory, and they were speaking of his passing which he was to accomplish in 32 Jerusalem. Peter and his companions were heavy with sleep, but they kept awake 33 and saw his glory and the two men standing with him. “As these were leaving him, Peter said to Jesus, “Master, it is wonderful for us to be here; so let us make three tents, one for you, one for Moses and one for Elijah.”—He did not know 34 what he was saying. “As he spoke, a cloud came and covered them with shadow;
 35 and when they went into the cloud the disciples were afraid. “And a voice came 36 from the cloud saying, “This is my Son, the Chosen One. Listen to him.” “And after the voice had spoken, Jesus was found alone. The disciples kept silence and, at that time, told no one what they had seen.

The epileptic demoniac

37 Now on the following day when they were coming down from the mountain 38 a large crowd came to meet him. “Suddenly a man in the crowd cried out, “Master,” 39 he said, “I implore you to look at my son: he is my only child. “All at once a spirit will take hold of him, and give a sudden cry and throw the boy into convulsions with foaming at the mouth; it is slow to leave him, but when it does it leaves the 40 boy worn out. “I begged your disciples to cast it out, and they could not.”
 41 “Faithless and perverse generation!” Jesus said in reply. “How much longer must I be 42 among you and put up with you? Bring your son here.” “The boy was still moving toward Jesus when the devil threw him to the ground in convulsions. But Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit and cured the boy and gave him back to his father, 43 and everyone was awestruck by the greatness of God.

Second prophecy of the Passion

At a time when everyone was full of admiration for all he did, he said to 44 his disciples, “For your part, you must have these words constantly in your mind: The Son of Man is going to be handed over into the power of men.”

45 But they did not understand him when he said this; it was hidden from them so that they should not see the meaning of it, and they were afraid to ask him about what he had just said.

Who is the greatest?

46 An argument started between them about which of them was the greatest.
47 Jesus knew what thoughts were going through their minds, and he took a 48 little child and set him by his side, and then said to them, "Anyone who welcomes this little child in my name welcomes me; and anyone who welcomes me welcomes the one who sent me. For the least among you all, that is the one who is great."

On using the name of Jesus

49 John spoke up. "Master," he said, "we saw a man casting out devils in your 50 name, and because he is not with us we tried to stop him." But Jesus said to him, "You must not stop him: anyone who is not against you is for you."

IV. THE JOURNEY TO JERUSALEM

A Samaritan village is inhospitable

51 Now as the time drew near for him to be taken up to heaven, he resolutely 52 took the road for Jerusalem and sent messengers ahead of him. These set out, 53 and they went into a Samaritan village to make preparations for him, but the 54 people would not receive him because he was making for Jerusalem.^a Seeing 55 this, the disciples James and John said, "Lord, do you want us to call down fire 56 from heaven to burn them up?" But he turned and rebuked them, and they went off to another village.

Hardships of the apostolic calling

57 As they traveled along they met a man on the road who said to him, "I will 58 follow you wherever you go." Jesus answered, "Foxes have holes and the birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay his head." 59 Another to whom he said, "Follow me," replied, "Let me go and bury my 60 father first." But he answered, "Leave the dead to bury their dead; your duty is to go and spread the news of the kingdom of God." 61 Another said, "I will follow you, sir, but first let me go and say good-by 62 to my people at home." Jesus said to him, "Once the hand is laid on the plow, no one who looks back is fit for the kingdom of God."

The mission of the seventy-two disciples

1 10 After this the Lord appointed seventy-two others and sent them out ahead of him, in pairs, to all the towns and places he himself was to visit.
2 He said to them, "The harvest is rich but the laborers are few, so ask the Lord
3 of the harvest to send laborers to his harvest. Start off now, but remember,
4 I am sending you out like lambs among wolves. Carry no purse, no haversack, 5 no sandals. Salute no one on the road. Whatever house you go into, let your 6 first words be, 'Peace to this house!' And if a man of peace lives there, your 7 peace will go and rest on him: if not, it will come back to you. Stay in the same house, taking what food and drink they have to offer, for the laborer deserves 8 his wages; do not move from house to house. Whenever you go into a town where 9 they make you welcome, eat what is set before you. Cure those in it who are 10 sick, and say, 'The kingdom of God is very near to you.' But whenever you enter

^{9 a.} The hatred of Samaritans for Jews would show itself particularly toward those who were on pilgrimage to Jerusalem.

- 11 a town and they do not make you welcome, go out into the streets and say, 'We wipe off the very dust of your town that clings to our feet, and leave it with you.
 12 Yet be sure of this: the kingdom of God is very near.' 'I tell you, on that day it will not go as hard with Sodom as with that town.
 13 "Alas for you, Chorazin! Alas for you, Bethsaida! For if the miracles done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago, sitting 14 in sackcloth and ashes. 'And still, it will not go as hard with Tyre and Sidon at the 15 Judgment as with you. 'And as for you, Capernaum, did you want to be exalted high as heaven? You shall be thrown down to hell.^a 16 "Anyone who listens to you listens to me; anyone who rejects you rejects me, and those who reject me reject the one who sent me."

True cause for the apostles to rejoice

- 17 The seventy-two came back rejoicing. "Lord," they said, "even the devils
 18 submit to us when we use your name." 'He said to them, "I watched Satan fall like lightning from heaven. 'Yes, I have given you power to tread underfoot serpents and scorpions and the whole strength of the enemy; nothing shall ever 20 hurt you. 'Yet do not rejoice that the Spirits submit to you; rejoice rather that your names are written in heaven."

The Good News revealed to the simple. The Father and the Son

- 21 It was then that, filled with joy by the Holy Spirit, he said, "I bless you, Father, Lord of heaven and of earth, for hiding these things from the learned and the clever and revealing them to mere children. Yes, Father, for that is what 22 it pleased you to do. 'Everything has been entrusted to me by my Father; and no one knows who the Son is except the Father, and who the Father is except the Son and those to whom the Son chooses to reveal him."

The privilege of the disciples

- 23 Then turning to his disciples he spoke to them in private, "Happy the eyes 24 that see what you see, 'for I tell you that many prophets and kings wanted to see what you see, and never saw it; to hear what you hear, and never heard it."

The great commandment

- 25 There was a lawyer who, to disconcert him, stood up and said to him, "Master, 26 what must I do to inherit eternal life?" 'He said to him, "What is written in the 27 Law? What do you read there?" 'He replied, "You must love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your strength, and with all your 28 mind, and your neighbor as yourself."^b "You have answered right," said Jesus, "do this and life is yours."

Parable of the good Samaritan

- 29 But the man was anxious to justify himself and said to Jesus, "And who is 30 my neighbor?" 'Jesus replied, "A man was once on his way down from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell into the hands of brigands; they took all he had, beat him
 31 and then made off, leaving him half dead. 'Now a priest happened to be traveling down the same road, but when he saw the man, he passed by on the other side.
 32 In the same way a Levite who came to the place saw him, and passed by on the 33 other side. 'But a Samaritan traveler who came upon him was moved with 34 compassion when he saw him. 'He went up and bandaged his wounds, pouring oil and wine on them. He then lifted him on to his own mount, carried him to the 35 inn and looked after him. 'Next day, he took out two denarii and handed them to the innkeeper. 'Look after him,' he said, 'and on my way back I will make 36 good any extra expense you have.' 'Which of these three, do you think, proved 37 himself a neighbor to the man who fell into the brigands' hands?' "The one who took pity on him," he replied. Jesus said to him, "Go, and do the same yourself."

Martha and Mary

38 In the course of their journey he came to a village, and a woman named 39 Martha welcomed him into her house. She had a sister called Mary, who sat 40 down at the Lord's feet and listened to him speaking. Now Martha who was 41 distracted with all the serving said, "Lord, do you not care that my sister is leaving me to do the serving all by myself? Please tell her to help me." But the Lord 42 answered: "Martha, Martha," he said, "you worry and fret about so many things, and yet few are needed, indeed only one. It is Mary who has chosen the better part; it is not to be taken from her."

The Lord's prayer

1 11 Now once he was in a certain place praying, and when he had finished 2 one of his disciples said, "Lord, teach us to pray, just as John taught his disciples." He said to them, "Say this when you pray:

'Father, may your name be held holy,
 Your kingdom come;
 3 give us each day our daily bread,
 and forgive us our sins,
 4 for we ourselves forgive each one who is in debt to us.
 And do not put us to the test.'

The importunate friend

5 He also said to them, "Suppose one of you has a friend and goes to him in 6 the middle of the night to say, 'My friend, lend me three loaves, because a friend of mine on his travels has just arrived at my house and I have nothing to offer 7 him'; and the man answers from inside the house, 'Do not bother me. The door is bolted now, and my children and I are in bed; I cannot get up to give 8 it you.' I tell you, if the man does not get up and give it him for friendship's sake, persistence will be enough to make him get up and give his friend all he wants.

Effective prayer

9 "So I say to you: Ask, and it will be given to you; search, and you will find;
 10 knock, and the door will be opened to you. For the one who asks always receives;
 the one who searches always finds; the one who knocks will always have the door 11 opened to him. What father among you would hand his son a stone when he 12 asked for bread? Or hand him a snake instead of a fish? Or hand him a 13 scorpion if he asked for an egg? If you then, who are evil, know how to give your children what is good, how much more will the heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask him!"

Jesus and Beelzebul

14 He was casting out a devil and it was dumb; but when the devil had gone
 15 out the dumb man spoke, and the people were amazed. But some of them
 16 said, "It is through Beelzebul, the prince of devils, that he casts out devils." Others 17 asked him, as a test, for a sign from heaven; but, knowing what they were thinking, he said to them, "Every kingdom divided against itself is heading for 18 ruin, and a household divided against itself collapses. So too with Satan: if he is divided against himself, how can his kingdom stand?—Since you assert that 19 it is through Beelzebul that I cast out devils. Now if it is through Beelzebul that I cast out devils, through whom do your own experts cast them out? Let 20 them be your judges, then. But if it is through the finger of God that I cast 21 out devils, then know that the kingdom of God has overtaken you. So long as a strong man fully armed guards his own palace, his goods are undisturbed;

22 but when someone stronger than he is attacks and defeats him, the stronger man takes away all the weapons he relied on and shares out his spoil.

No compromise

23 “He who is not with me is against me; and he who does not gather with me scatters.

Return of the unclean spirit

24 “When an unclean spirit goes out of a man it wanders through waterless country looking for a place to rest, and not finding one it says, ‘I will go back to the home I came from.’
25
26 “But on arrival, finding it swept and tidied, it then goes off and brings seven other spirits more wicked than itself, and they go in and set up house there, so that the man ends up by being worse than he was before.”

The truly happy

27 Now as he was speaking, a woman in the crowd raised her voice and said, 28 “Happy the womb that bore you and the breasts you sucked!”
“But he replied, “Still happier those who hear the word of God and keep it!”

The sign of Jonah

29 The crowds got even bigger and he addressed them, “This is a wicked generation; it is asking for a sign. The only sign it will be given is the sign of Jonah.
30 For just as Jonah became a sign to the Ninevites, so will the Son of Man be to this 31 generation. “On Judgment day the Queen of the South will rise up with the men of this generation and condemn them, because she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and there is something greater than 32 Solomon here. “On Judgment day the men of Nineveh will stand up with this generation and condemn it, because when Jonah preached they repented; and there is something greater than Jonah here.

The parable of the lamp repeated

33 “No one lights a lamp and puts it in some hidden place or under a tub, but 34 on the lampstand so that people may see the light when they come in. “The lamp of your body is your eye. When your eye is sound, your whole body too is filled with 35 light; but when it is diseased your body too will be all darkness. “See to it then that 36 the light inside you is not darkness. “If, therefore, your whole body is filled with light, and no trace of darkness, it will be light entirely, as when the lamp shines on you with its rays.”

The Pharisees and the lawyers attacked

37 He had just finished speaking when a Pharisee invited him to dine at his 38 house. He went in and sat down at the table. “The Pharisee saw this and was 39 surprised that he had not first washed before the meal. “But the Lord said to him, “Oh, you Pharisees! You clean the outside of cup and plate, while inside yourselves 40 you are filled with extortion and wickedness. “Fools! Did not he who made the 41 outside make the inside too? “Instead, give alms from what you have and then 42 indeed everything will be clean for you. “But alas for you Pharisees! You who pay your tithe of mint and rue and all sorts of garden herbs and overlook justice and the love of God! These you should have practiced, without leaving the others 43 undone. “Alas for you Pharisees who like taking the seats of honor in the 44 synagogues and being greeted obsequiously in the market squares! “Alas for you, because you are like the unmarked tombs that men walk on without knowing it!^a 45 A lawyer then spoke up. “Master,” he said, “when you speak like this you 46 insult us too.” “Alas for you lawyers also,” he replied, “because you load on men burdens that are unendurable, burdens that you yourselves do not move a finger to lift.

47 "Alas for you who build the tombs of the prophets, the men your ancestors 48 killed! In this way you both witness what your ancestors did and approve it; they did the killing, you do the building.

49 "And that is why the Wisdom of God said, 'I will send them prophets and 50 apostles; some they will slaughter and persecute, so that this generation will have to answer for every prophet's blood that has been shed since the foundation 51 of the world, from the blood of Abel to the blood of Zechariah, who was murdered between the altar and the sanctuary.' Yes, I tell you, this generation will have to answer for it all.

52 "Alas for you lawyers who have taken away the key of knowledge! You have not gone in yourselves, and have prevented others going in who wanted to."

53 When he left the house, the scribes and the Pharisees began a furious attack 54 on him and tried to force answers from him on innumerable questions, setting traps to catch him out in something he might say.

Open and fearless speech

1 12 Meanwhile the people had gathered in their thousands so that they were treading on one another. And he began to speak, first of all to his disciples.
"Be on your guard against the yeast of the Pharisees—that is, their hypocrisy.
2 Everything that is now covered will be uncovered, and everything now hidden 3 will be made clear. For this reason, whatever you have said in the dark will be heard in the daylight, and what you have whispered in hidden places will be proclaimed on the housetops.

4 "To you my friends I say: Do not be afraid of those who kill the body and 5 after that can do no more. I will tell you whom to fear: fear him who, after he 6 has killed, has the power to cast into hell. Yes, I tell you, fear him. Can you not buy five sparrows for two pennies? And yet not one is forgotten in God's 7 sight. Why, every hair on your head has been counted. There is no need to be afraid: you are worth more than hundreds of sparrows.

8 "I tell you, if anyone openly declares himself for me in the presence of men, the 9 Son of Man will declare himself for him in the presence of God's angels. But the man who disowns me in the presence of men will be disowned in the presence of God's angels.

10 "Everyone who says a word against the Son of Man will be forgiven, but he who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit will not be forgiven.

11 "When they take you before synagogues and magistrates and authorities, 12 do not worry about how to defend yourselves or what to say, because when the time comes, the Holy Spirit will teach you what you must say."

On hoarding possessions

13 A man in the crowd said to him, "Master, tell my brother to give me a share 14 of our inheritance." "My friend," he replied, "who appointed me your judge, or 15 the arbitrator of your claims?" Then he said to them, "Watch, and be on your guard against avarice of any kind, for a man's life is not made secure by what he owns, even when he has more than he needs."

16 Then he told them a parable: "There was once a rich man who, having had 17 a good harvest from his hand, thought to himself, 'What am I to do? I have 18 not enough room to store my crops.' Then he said, 'This is what I will do:
I will pull down my barns and build bigger ones, and store all my grain and my 19 goods in them, and I will say to my soul: My soul, you have plenty of good things laid by for many years to come; take things easy, eat, drink, have a good 20 time.' But God said to him, 'Fool! This very night the demand will be made 21 for your soul; and this hoard of yours, whose will it be then?' So it is when a man stores up treasure for himself in place of making himself rich in the sight of God."

Trust in Providence

22 Then he said to his disciples, "That is why I am telling you not to worry 23 about your life and what you are to eat, nor about your body and how you are 24 to clothe it. For life means more than food, and the body more than clothing.
 25 Think of the ravens. They do not sow or reap; they have no storehouses and 26 no barns; yet God feeds them. And how much more are you worth than the 27 birds! Can any of you, for all his worrying, add a single cubit to his span of 28 life? If the smallest things, therefore, are outside your control, why worry 29 about the rest? Think of the flowers; they never have to spin or weave; yet, 30 I assure you, not even Solomon in all his regalia was robed like one of these.
 31 Now if that is how God clothes the grass in the field which is there today and 32 thrown into the furnace tomorrow, how much more will he look after you, you 29 men of little faith! But you, you must not set your hearts on things to eat and 30 things to drink; nor must you worry. It is the pagans of this world who set their 31 hearts on all these things. Your Father well knows you need them. No; set your hearts on his kingdom, and these other things will be given you as well.
 32 "There is no need to be afraid, little flock, for it has pleased your Father to give you the kingdom.

On almsgiving

33 "Sell your possessions and give alms. Get yourselves purses that do not wear 34 out, treasure that will not fail you, in heaven where no thief can reach it and no moth destroy it. For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

On being ready for the Master's return

35 "See that you are dressed for action and have your lamps lit. Be like men 36 waiting for their master to return from the wedding feast, ready to open the 37 door as soon as he comes and knocks. Happy those servants whom the master finds awake when he comes. I tell you solemnly, he will put on an apron, sit 38 them down at table and wait on them. It may be in the second watch he comes, 39 or in the third, but happy those servants if he finds them ready. You may be quite sure of this, that if the householder had known at what hour the burglar would come, he would not have let anyone break through the wall of his house.
 40 You too must stand ready, because the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect."

41 Peter said, "Lord, do you mean this parable for us, or for everyone?" The 42 Lord replied, "What sort of steward,^a then, is faithful and wise enough for the master to place him over his household to give them their allowance of food at 43 the proper time? Happy that servant if his master's arrival finds him at this 44 employment. I tell you truly, he will place him over everything he owns. But 45 as for the servant who says to himself, 'My master is taking his time coming,' and sets about beating the menservants and the maids, and eating and drinking 46 and getting drunk, his master will come on a day he does not expect and at an hour he does not know. The master will cut him off and send him to the same fate as the unfaithful.

47 "The servant who knows what his master wants, but has not even started to 48 carry out those wishes, will receive very many strokes of the lash. The one who did not know, but deserves to be beaten for what he has done, will receive fewer strokes. When a man has had a great deal given him, a great deal will be demanded of him; when a man has had a great deal given him on trust, even more will be expected of him.

Jesus and his Passion

49 "I have come to bring fire to the earth, and how I wish it were blazing 50 already! There is a baptism I must still receive, and how great is my distress till it is over!

Jesus the cause of dissension

51 “Do you suppose that I am here to bring peace on earth? No, I tell you, but 52 rather division. For from now on a household of five will be divided: three 53 against two and two against three; the father divided against the son, son against father, mother against daughter, daughter against mother, mother-in-law against daughter-in-law, daughter-in-law against mother-in-law.”

On reading the signs of the times

54 He said again to the crowds, “When you see a cloud looming up in the west 55 you say at once that rain is coming, and so it does. And when the wind is from 56 the south you say it will be hot, and it is. Hypocrites! You know how to interpret the face of the earth and the sky. How is it you do not know how to interpret these times?

57 “Why not judge for yourselves what is right? For example: when you go 58 to court with your opponent, try to settle with him on the way, or he may drag you before the judge and the judge hand you over to the bailiff and the bailiff 59 have you thrown into prison. I tell you, you will not get out till you have paid the very last penny.”

Examples inviting repentance

1 13 It was just about this time that some people arrived and told him about the Galileans whose blood Pilate had mingled with that of their sacrifices.^a 2 At this he said to them, “Do you suppose these Galileans who suffered like that 3 were greater sinners than any other Galileans? They were not, I tell you. No; 4 but unless you repent you will all perish as they did. Or those eighteen on whom the tower at Siloam fell and killed them? Do you suppose that they were more 5 guilty than all the other people living in Jerusalem? They were not, I tell you.
No; but unless you repent you will all perish as they did.”

Parable of the barren fig tree

6 He told this parable: “A man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard, and he 7 came looking for fruit on it but found none. He said to the man who looked after the vineyard, ‘Look here, for three years now I have been coming to look for fruit on this fig tree and finding none. Cut it down: why should it be taking 8 up the ground?’ ‘Sir,’ the man replied, ‘leave it one more year and give me 9 time to dig around it and manure it: it may bear fruit next year; if not, then you can cut it down.’”

Healing of the crippled woman on a sabbath

10 One sabbath day he was teaching in one of the synagogues, and a woman 11 was there who for eighteen years had been possessed by a spirit that left her 12 enfeebled: she was bent double and quite unable to stand upright. When Jesus saw her he called her over and said, “Woman, you are rid of your infirmity,” 13 and he laid his hands on her. And at once she straightened up, and she glorified God.

14 But the synagogue official was indignant because Jesus had healed on the sabbath, and he addressed the people present. “There are six days,” he said, “when work is to be done. Come and be healed on one of those days and not on the 15 sabbath.” But the Lord answered him. “Hypocrites!” he said. “Is there one of you who does not untie his ox or his donkey from the manger on the sabbath 16 and take it out for watering? And this woman, a daughter of Abraham whom Satan has held bound these eighteen years—was it not right to untie her bonds

17 on the sabbath day?" When he said this, all his adversaries were covered with confusion, and all the people were overjoyed at all the wonders he worked.

Parable of the mustard seed

18 He went on to say, "What is the kingdom of God like? What shall I compare 19 it with? It is like a mustard seed which a man took and threw into his garden:
it grew and became a tree, and the birds of the air sheltered in its branches."

Parable of the yeast

20 Another thing he said, "What shall I compare the kingdom of God with?
21 It is like the yeast a woman took and mixed in with three measures of flour till it was leavened all through."

The narrow door; rejection of the Jews, call of the Gentiles

22 Through towns and villages he went teaching, making his way to Jerusalem.
23 Someone said to him, "Sir, will there be only a few saved?" He said to them, 24 "Try your best to enter by the narrow door, because, I tell you, many will try to enter and will not succeed.

25 "Once the master of the house has got up and locked the door, you may find yourself knocking on the door, saying, 'Lord, open to us,' but he will answer, 26 'I do not know where you come from.' Then you will find yourself saying, 27 'We once ate and drank in your company; you taught in our streets,' but he will reply, 'I do not know where you come from. Away from me, all you wicked men!'^b

28 "Then there will be weeping and grinding of teeth, when you see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God, and yourselves 29 turned outside. And men from east and west, from north and south, will come to take their places at the feast in the kingdom of God.

30 "Yes, there are those now last who will be first, and those now first who will be last."

Herod the fox

31 Just at this time some Pharisees came up. "Go away," they said. "Leave this 32 place, because Herod means to kill you." He replied, "You may go and give that fox this message: Learn that today and tomorrow I cast out devils and on 33 the third day^c attain my end. But for today and tomorrow and the next day
I must go on, since it would not be right for a prophet to die outside Jerusalem.

Jerusalem admonished

34 "Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you that kill the prophets and stone those who are sent to you! How often have I longed to gather your children, as a hen gathers 35 her brood under her wings, and you refused! So be it! Your house will be left to you. Yes, I promise you, you shall not see me till the time comes when you say:

Blessings on him who comes in the name of the Lord!^d

Healing of a dropsical man on the sabbath

1 14 Now on a sabbath day he had gone for a meal to the house of one of the 2 leading Pharisees; and they watched him closely. There in front of him was 3 a man with dropsy, and Jesus addressed the lawyers and Pharisees. "Is it 4 against the law," he asked, "to cure a man on the sabbath, or not?" But they 5 remained silent, so he took the man and cured him and sent him away. Then he said to them, "Which of you here, if his son falls into a well, or his ox, will 6 not pull him out on a sabbath day without hesitation?" And to this they could find no answer.

On choosing places at table

7 He then told the guests a parable, because he had noticed how they 8 picked the places of honor. He said this, "When someone invites you to a 9 wedding feast, do not take your seat in the place of honor. A more distinguished 10 person than you may have been invited, and the person who invited you both 11 may come and say, 'Give up your place to this man.' And then, to your em-
 12 barrassment, you would have to go and take the lowest place. 'No; when you 13 are a guest, make your way to the lowest place and sit there, so that, when your 14 host comes, he may say, 'My friend, move up higher.' In that way, everyone 15 with you at the table will see you honored. 'For everyone who exalts himself 16 will be humbled, and the man who humbles himself will be exalted."

On choosing guests to be invited

12 Then he said to his host, "When you give a lunch or a dinner, do not ask 13 your friends, brothers, relations or rich neighbors, for fear they repay your 14 courtesy by inviting you in return. 'No; when you have a party, invite the poor, 15 the crippled, the lame, the blind; that they cannot pay you back means that 16 you are fortunate, because repayment will be made to you when the virtuous 17 rise again."

The invited guests who made excuses

15 On hearing this, one of those gathered around the table said to him, "Happy 16 the man who will be at the feast in the kingdom of God!" But he said to him, 17 "There was a man who gave a great banquet, and he invited a large number of 18 people. When the time for the banquet came, he sent his servant to say to those 19 who had been invited, 'Come along: everything is ready now.' But all alike 20 started to make excuses. The first said, 'I have bought a piece of land and must 21 go and see it. Please accept my apologies.' Another said, 'I have bought five 22 yoke of oxen and am on my way to try them out. Please accept my apologies.'
 23 Yet another said, 'I have just got married and so am unable to come.'
 24 "The servant returned and reported this to his master. Then the householder, 25 in a rage, said to his servant, 'Go out quickly into the streets and alleys of the 26 town and bring in here the poor, the crippled, the blind and the lame.' 'Sir,' 27 said the servant, 'your orders have been carried out and there is still room.'
 28 Then the master said to his servant, 'Go to the open roads and the hedgerows
 29 and force people to come in to make sure my house is full; because, I tell you, 30 not one of those who were invited shall have a taste of my banquet.'"

Renouncing all that one holds dear

25 Great crowds accompanied him on his way and he turned and spoke to 26 them. "If any man comes to me without hating^a his father, mother, wife, children, 27 brothers, sisters, yes and his own life too, he cannot be my disciple. Anyone 28 who does not carry his cross and come after me cannot be my disciple.

Renouncing possessions

28 "And indeed, which of you here, intending to build a tower, would not first 29 sit down and work out the cost to see if he had enough to complete it? Otherwise, 30 if he laid the foundation and then found himself unable to finish the work, the 31 onlookers would all start making fun of him and saying, 'Here is a man who 32 started to build and was unable to finish.' Or again, what king marching to 33 war against another king would not first sit down and consider whether with 34 ten thousand men he could stand up to the other who advanced against him with 35 twenty thousand? If not, then while the other king was still a long way off, he 33 would send envoys to sue for peace. 'So in the same way, none of you can be my disciple unless he gives up all his possessions.

On loss of enthusiasm in a disciple

34 "Salt is a useful thing. But if the salt itself loses its taste, how can it be 35 seasoned again? 'It is good for neither soil nor manure heap. People throw it out. Listen, anyone who has ears to hear!"

The three parables of God's mercy

1 15 The tax collectors and the sinners, meanwhile, were all seeking his company
2 to hear what he had to say, and the Pharisees and the scribes complained.
3 "This man," they said, "welcomes sinners and eats with them." 'So he spoke this parable to them:

The lost sheep

4 "What man among you with a hundred sheep, losing one, would not leave the ninety-nine in the wilderness and go after the missing one till he found it?
5 And when he found it, would he not joyfully take it on his shoulders and then,
6 when he got home, call together his friends and neighbors? 'Rejoice with me,'
7 he would say, 'I have found my sheep that was lost.' 'In the same way, I tell you, there will be more rejoicing in heaven over one repentant sinner than over ninety-nine virtuous men who have no need of repentance.

The lost drachma

8 "Or again, what woman with ten drachmas would not, if she lost one, light 9 a lamp and sweep out the house and search thoroughly till she found it? 'And then, when she had found it, call together her friends and neighbors? 'Rejoice 10 with me,' she would say, 'I have found the drachma I lost.' 'In the same way,
I tell you, there is rejoicing among the angels of God over one repentant sinner."

The lost son (the "prodigal") and the dutiful son

11 He also said, "A man had two sons. 'The younger said to his father, 'Father, 12 let me have the share of the estate that would come to me.' So the father divided 13 the property between them. 'A few days later, the younger son got together everything he had and left for a distant country where he squandered his money on a life of debauchery.

14 "When he had spent it all, that country experienced a severe famine, and now
15 he began to feel the pinch, so he hired himself out to one of the local inhabitants 16 who put him on his farm to feed the pigs. 'And he would willingly have filled his belly with the husks the pigs were eating but no one offered him anything.
17 Then he came to his senses and said, 'How many of my father's paid servants
18 have more food than they want, and here am I dying of hunger! 'I will leave this place and go to my father and say: Father, I have sinned against heaven and 19 against you; 'I no longer deserve to be called your son; treat me as one of your 20 paid servants.' 'So he left the place and went back to his father.

"While he was still a long way off, his father saw him and was moved with pity.
21 He ran to the boy, clasped him in his arms and kissed him tenderly. 'Then his son said, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and against you. I no longer 22 deserve to be called your son.' 'But the father said to his servants, 'Quick!
Bring out the best robe and put it on him; put a ring on his finger and sandals 23 on his feet. 'Bring the calf we have been fattening, and kill it; we are going to 24 have a feast, a celebration, 'because this son of mine was dead and has come back to life; he was lost and is found.' And they began to celebrate.

25 "Now the elder son was out in the fields, and on his way back, as he drew 26 near the house, he could hear music and dancing. 'Calling one of the servants
27 he asked what it was all about. 'Your brother has come,' replied the servant,

'and your father has killed the calf we had fattened because he has got him back safe and sound.' He was angry then and refused to go in, and his father came out to plead with him; but he answered his father, 'Look, all these years I have slaved for you and never once disobeyed your orders, yet you never offered me so much as a kid for me to celebrate with my friends. But, for this son of yours, when he comes back after swallowing up your property—he and his women—you kill the calf we had been fattening.'

"The father said, 'My son, you are with me always and all I have is yours. But it was only right we should celebrate and rejoice, because your brother here was dead and has come to life; he was lost and is found.'"

The crafty steward

1 16 He also said to his disciples, "There was a rich man and he had a steward who was denounced to him for being wasteful with his property. He called for the man and said, 'What is this I hear about you? Draw me up an account of your stewardship because you are not to be my steward any longer.' Then the steward said to himself, 'Now that my master is taking the stewardship from me, what am I to do? Dig? I am not strong enough. Go begging? I should be too ashamed. Ah, I know what I will do to make sure that when I am dismissed from office there will be some to welcome me into their homes.'

"Then he called his master's debtors one by one. To the first he said, 'How much do you owe my master?' 'One hundred measures of oil,' was the reply. The steward said, 'Here, take your bond; sit down straightaway and write fifty.' To another he said, 'And you, sir, how much do you owe?' 'One hundred measures of wheat,' was the reply. The steward said, 'Here, take your bond and write eighty.'

"The master praised the dishonest steward for his astuteness.^a For the children of this world are more astute in dealing with their own kind than are the children of light."

The right use of money

"And so I tell you this: use money, tainted as it is, to win you friends, and thus make sure that when it fails you, they will welcome you into the tents of eternity. The man who can be trusted in little things can be trusted in great; the man who is dishonest in little things will be dishonest in great. If then you cannot be trusted with money, that tainted thing, who will trust you with genuine riches? And if you cannot be trusted with what is not yours, who will give you what is your very own?"

"No servant can be the slave of two masters: he will either hate the first and love the second, or treat the first with respect and the second with scorn. You cannot be the slave both of God and of money."

Against the Pharisees and their love of money

14 15 The Pharisees, who loved money, heard all this and laughed at him. He said to them, "You are the very ones who pass yourselves off as virtuous in people's sight, but God knows your hearts. For what is thought highly of by men is loathsome in the sight of God."

The kingdom stormed

16 "Up to the time of John it was the Law and the Prophets; since then, the kingdom of God has been preached, and by violence everyone is getting in."

The Law remains

17 "It is easier for heaven and earth to disappear than for one little stroke to drop out of the Law."

16 a. Not for his dishonesty.

Marriage indissoluble

18 “Everyone who divorces his wife and marries another is guilty of adultery, and the man who marries a woman divorced by her husband commits adultery.

The rich man and Lazarus

19 “There was a rich man who used to dress in purple and fine linen and feast magnificently every day. And at his gate there lay a poor man called Lazarus, covered with sores, who longed to fill himself with the scraps that fell from the rich man’s table. Dogs even came and licked his sores. Now the poor man died and was carried away by the angels to the bosom of Abraham. The rich man also died and was buried.

23 “In his torment in Hades he looked up and saw Abraham a long way off with Lazarus in his bosom. So he cried out, ‘Father Abraham, pity me and send Lazarus to dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue, for I am in agony in these flames.’ ‘My son,’ Abraham replied, ‘remember that during your life good things came your way, just as bad things came the way of Lazarus. Now he is being comforted here while you are in agony. But that is not all: between us and you a great gulf has been fixed, to stop anyone, if he wanted to, crossing from our side to yours, and to stop any crossing from your side to ours.’

27 “The rich man replied, ‘Father, I beg you then to send Lazarus to my father’s house, since I have five brothers, to give them warning so that they do not come to this place of torment too.’ ‘They have Moses and the prophets,’ said Abraham, ‘let them listen to them.’ ‘Ah no, father Abraham,’ said the rich man, ‘but if someone comes to them from the dead, they will repent.’ Then Abraham said to him, ‘If they will not listen either to Moses or to the prophets, they will not be convinced even if someone should rise from the dead.’”

On leading others astray

1 17 He said to his disciples, “Obstacles are sure to come, but alas for the one who provides them! It would be better for him to be thrown into the sea with a millstone put around his neck than that he should lead astray a single one of these little ones. Watch yourselves!

Brotherly correction

4 “If your brother does something wrong, reprove him and, if he is sorry, forgive him. And if he wrongs you seven times a day and seven times comes back to you and says, ‘I am sorry,’ you must forgive him.”

The power of faith

5 The apostles said to the Lord, “Increase our faith.” The Lord replied, “Were your faith the size of a mustard seed you could say to this mulberry tree, ‘Be uprooted and planted in the sea,’ and it would obey you.

Humble service

7 “Which of you, with a servant plowing or minding sheep, would say to him when he returned from the fields, ‘Come and have your meal immediately?’ Would he not be more likely to say, ‘Get my supper laid; make yourself tidy and wait on me while I eat and drink. You can eat and drink yourself afterward?’ Must he be grateful to the servant for doing what he was told? So with you: when you have done all you have been told to do, say, ‘We are merely servants: we have done no more than our duty.’”

The ten lepers

11 Now on the way to Jerusalem he traveled along the border between Samaria and Galilee.^a As he entered one of the villages, ten lepers came to meet him.

13 They stood some way off and called to him, "Jesus! Master! Take pity on us."
 14 When he saw them he said, "Go and show yourselves to the priests." Now as they 15 were going away they were cleansed. Finding himself cured, one of them
 16 turned back praising God at the top of his voice and threw himself at the feet
 17 of Jesus and thanked him. The man was a Samaritan. This made Jesus say, 18 "Were not all ten made clean? The other nine, where are they? It seems that no 19 one has come back to give praise to God, except this foreigner." And he said to the man, "Stand up and go on your way. Your faith has saved you."

The coming of the kingdom of God

20 Asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God was to come, he gave them this answer, "The coming of the kingdom of God does not admit of observation 21 and there will be no one to say, 'Look here! Look there!' For, you must know, the kingdom of God is among you."

The day of the Son of Man

22 He said to the disciples, "A time will come when you will long to see one of 23 the days of the Son of Man and will not see it. They will say to you, 'Look 24 there!' or, 'Look here!' Make no move; do not set off in pursuit; for as the lightning flashing from one part of heaven lights up the other, so will be the Son 25 of Man when his day comes. But first he must suffer grievously and be rejected by this generation.

"As it was in Noah's day, so will it also be in the days of the Son of Man.
 27 People were eating and drinking, marrying wives and husbands, right up to the 28 day Noah went into the ark, and the Flood came and destroyed them all. It will be the same as it was in Lot's day: people were eating and drinking, buying 29 and selling, planting and building, but the day Lot left Sodom, God rained fire 30 and brimstone from heaven and it destroyed them all. It will be the same when the day comes for the Son of Man to be revealed.

31 "When that day comes, anyone on the housetop, with his possessions in the house, must not come down to collect them, nor must anyone in the fields turn 32 back either. Remember Lot's wife. Anyone who tries to preserve his life will lose 33 it; and anyone who loses it will keep it safe. I tell you, on that night two will be 34 in one bed: one will be taken, the other left; two women will be grinding corn 35 together: one will be taken, the other left."^b The disciples interrupted. "Where, 37 Lord?" they asked. He said, "Where the body is, there too will the vultures gather."

The unscrupulous judge and the importunate widow

1 18 Then he told them a parable about the need to pray continually and never 2 lose heart. "There was a judge in a certain town," he said, "who had neither 3 fear of God nor respect for man. In the same town there was a widow who kept on coming to him and saying, 'I want justice from you against my enemy!'
 4 For a long time he refused, but at last he said to himself, 'Maybe I have neither 5 fear of God nor respect for man, but since she keeps pestering me I must give this widow her just rights, or she will persist in coming and worry me to death.'"

6 And the Lord said, "You notice what the unjust judge has to say? Now will not God see justice done to his chosen who cry to him day and night even when 8 he delays to help them? I promise you, he will see justice done to them, and done speedily. But when the Son of Man comes, will he find any faith on earth?"

The Pharisee and the publican

9 He spoke the following parable to some people who prided themselves on being 10 virtuous and despised everyone else, "Two men went up to the Temple to pray, 11 one a Pharisee, the other a tax collector. The Pharisee stood there and said this

17 a. Making for the Jordan valley and Jericho; from there he goes up to Jerusalem. b. Add
 v. 36 "There will be two men in the fields; one will be taken, the other left," cf. Mt. 24:40

prayer to himself, 'I thank you, God, that I am not grasping, unjust, adulterous like the rest of mankind, and particularly that I am not like this tax collector here. I fast twice a week; I pay tithes on all I get.' The tax collector stood some distance away, not daring even to raise his eyes to heaven; but he beat his breast and said, 'God, be merciful to me, a sinner.' This man, I tell you, went home again at rights with God; the other did not. For everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but the man who humbles himself will be exalted."

Jesus and the children

People even brought little children to him, for him to touch them; but when the disciples saw this they turned them away. But Jesus called the children to him and said, "Let the little children come to me, and do not stop them; for it is to such as these that the kingdom of God belongs. I tell you solemnly, anyone who does not welcome the kingdom of God like a little child will never enter it."

The rich aristocrat

A member of one of the leading families put this question to him, "Good Master, what have I to do to inherit eternal life?" Jesus said to him, "Why do you call me good? No one is good but God alone. You know the commandments: You must not commit adultery; You must not kill; You must not steal; You must not bring false witness; Honor your father and mother." He replied, "I have kept all these from my earliest days till now." And when Jesus heard this he said, "There is still one thing you lack. Sell all that you own and distribute the money to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; then come, follow me." But when he heard this he was filled with sadness, for he was very rich.

The danger of riches

Jesus looked at him and said, "How hard it is for those who have riches to make their way into the kingdom of God! Yes, it is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God." "In that case," said the listeners, "who can be saved?" "Things that are impossible for men," he replied, "are possible for God."

The reward of renunciation

Then Peter said, "What about us? We left all we had to follow you." He said to them, "I tell you solemnly, there is no one who has left house, wife, brothers, parents or children for the sake of the kingdom of God who will not be given repayment many times over in this present time and, in the world to come, eternal life."

Third prophecy of the Passion

Then taking the Twelve aside he said to them, "Now we are going up to Jerusalem, and everything that is written by the prophets about the Son of Man is to come true. For he will be handed over to the pagans and will be mocked, maltreated and spat on, and when they have scourged him they will put him to death; and on the third day he will rise again." But they could make nothing of this; what he said was quite obscure to them, they had no idea what it meant.

Entering Jericho: the blind man

Now as he drew near to Jericho there was a blind man sitting at the side of the road begging. When he heard the crowd going past he asked what it was all about, and they told him that Jesus the Nazarene was passing by. So he called out, "Jesus, Son of David, have pity on me." The people in front scolded him and told him to keep quiet, but he shouted all the louder, "Son of David, have pity on me." Jesus stopped and ordered them to bring the man to him, and when he came up,

41 asked him, "What do you want me to do for you?" "Sir," he replied, "let me see 42 again." Jesus said to him, "Receive your sight. Your faith has saved you." 43 And instantly his sight returned and he followed him praising God, and all the people who saw it gave praise to God for what had happened.

Zacchaeus

1/2 19 He entered Jericho and was going through the town when a man whose name was Zacchaeus made his appearance; he was one of the senior tax 3 collectors and a wealthy man. He was anxious to see what kind of man Jesus
4 was, but he was too short and could not see him for the crowd; so he ran ahead and climbed a sycamore tree to catch a glimpse of Jesus who was to pass that 5 way. When Jesus reached the spot he looked up and spoke to him: "Zacchaeus, 6 come down. Hurry, because I must stay at your house today." And he hurried 7 down and welcomed him joyfully. They all complained when they saw what 8 was happening. "He has gone to stay at a sinner's house," they said. But Zacchaeus stood his ground and said to the Lord, "Look, sir, I am going to give half my property to the poor, and if I have cheated anybody I will pay him back four 9 times the amount."^a And Jesus said to him, "Today salvation has come to this 10 house, because this man too is a son of Abraham^b; for the Son of Man has come to seek out and save what was lost."

Parable of the pounds

11 While the people were listening to this he went on to tell a parable, because he was near Jerusalem and they imagined that the kingdom of God was going 12 to show itself then and there. Accordingly he said, "A man of noble birth went 13 to a distant country to be appointed king and afterward return.^c He summoned ten of his servants and gave them ten pounds. 'Do business with these,' he told 14 them, 'until I get back.' But his compatriots detested him and sent a delegation to follow him with this message, 'We do not want this man to be our king.' 15 "Now on his return, having received his appointment as king, he sent for those servants to whom he had given the money, to find out what profit each had made.
16 The first came in and said, 'Sir, your one pound has brought in ten.' 'Well done, 17 my good servant!' he replied. 'Since you have proved yourself faithful in a very 18 small thing, you shall have the government of ten cities.' Then came the second 19 and said, 'Sir, your one pound has made five.' To this one also he said, 'And 20 you shall be in charge of five cities.' Next came the other and said, 'Sir, here 21 is your pound. I put it away safely in a piece of linen because I was afraid of you; for you are an exacting man: you pick up what you have not put down and reap 22 what you have not sown.' 'You wicked servant!' he said. 'Out of your own mouth I condemn you. So you knew I was an exacting man, picking up what 23 I have not put down and reaping what I have not sown? Then why did you not put my money in the bank? On my return I could have drawn it out with 24 interest.' And he said to those standing by, 'Take the pound from him and 25 give it to the man who has ten pounds.' And they said to him, 'But, sir, he has 26 ten pounds . . .' 'I tell you, to everyone who has will be given more; but from the man who has not, even what he has will be taken away.
27 'But as for my enemies who did not want me for their king, bring them here and execute them in my presence.'"

19 a. I.e., at the highest rate known to Jewish law (Ex. 21:37) or the rate imposed by Roman law on convicted thieves. b. Although he belongs to a profession generally ranked with pagans. c. Probably alluding to the journey of Archelaus to Rome in 4 B.C. to have the will of Herod the Great confirmed in his favor. A deputation of Jews followed him there to contest his claim.

V. THE JERUSALEM MINISTRY

The Messiah enters Jerusalem

28 When he had said this he went on ahead, going up to Jerusalem. Now when 29 he was near Bethphage and Bethany, close by the Mount of Olives as it is called, 30 he sent two of the disciples, telling them, "Go off to the village opposite, and as you enter it you will find a tethered colt that no one has yet ridden. Untie it 31 and bring it here. If anyone asks you, 'Why are you untying it?' you are to say 32 this, 'The Master needs it.'" The messengers went off and found everything just 33 as he had told them. As they were untying the colt, its owner said, "Why are 34 you untying that colt?" and they answered, "The Master needs it."
35 So they took the colt to Jesus, and throwing their garments over its back they 36 helped Jesus onto it. As he moved off, people spread their cloaks in the road, 37 and now, as he was approaching the downward slope of the Mount of Olives, the whole group of disciples joyfully began to praise God at the top of their 38 voices for all the miracles they had seen. They cried out:

*"Blessings on the King who comes,
in the name of the Lord!
Peace in heaven
and glory in the highest heavens!"*

Jesus defends his disciples for acclaiming him

39 Some Pharisees in the crowd said to him, "Master, check your disciples," 40 but he answered, "I tell you, if these keep silence the stones will cry out."

Lament for Jerusalem

41 As he drew near and came in sight of the city he shed tears over it and said, 42 "If you in your turn had only understood on this day the message of peace!
43 But, alas, it is hidden from your eyes! Yes, a time is coming when your enemies will raise fortifications all around you, when they will encircle you and hem you 44 in on every side; they will dash you and the children inside your walls to the ground; they will leave not one stone standing on another within you—and all because you did not recognize your opportunity when God offered it!"

The expulsion of the dealers from the Temple

45 Then he went into the Temple and began driving out those who were selling.
46 "According to scripture," he said, "my house will be a house of prayer.^d But you have turned it into a robbers' den."^e

Jesus teaches in the Temple

47 He taught in the Temple every day. The chief priests and the scribes, with 48 the support of the leading citizens, tried to do away with him, but they did not see how they could carry this out because the people as a whole hung on his words.

The Jews question the authority of Jesus

1 20 Now one day while he was teaching the people in the Temple and proclaiming the Good News, the chief priests and the scribes came up, 2 together with the elders, and spoke to him. "Tell us," they said, "what authority
3 have you for acting like this? Or who is it that gave you this authority?" "And 4 I," replied Jesus, "will ask you a question. Tell me: John's baptism: did it come 5 from heaven, or from man?" And they argued it out this way among themselves, 6 "If we say from heaven, he will say, 'Why did you refuse to believe him?'; and if we say from man, the people will all stone us, for they are convinced that John 7 was a prophet." So their reply was that they did not know where it came from.
8 And Jesus said to them, "Nor will I tell you my authority for acting like this."

Parable of the wicked husbandmen

- 9 And he went on to tell the people this parable: "A man planted a vineyard 10 and leased it to tenants, and went abroad for a long while. When the time came, he sent a servant to the tenants to get his share of the produce of the vineyard from them. But the tenants thrashed him, and sent him away 11 empty-handed. But he persevered and sent a second servant; they thrashed 12 him too and treated him shamefully and sent him away empty-handed. He still persevered and sent a third; they wounded this one also, and threw him out.
13 Then the owner of the vineyard said, 'What am I to do? I will send them my 14 dear son. Perhaps they will respect him.' But when the tenants saw him they put their heads together. 'This is the heir,' they said, 'let us kill him so that 15 the inheritance will be ours.' So they threw him out of the vineyard and killed him.
16 "Now what will the owner of the vineyard do to them? He will come and make an end of these tenants and give the vineyard to others." Hearing this they 17 said, "God forbid!" But he looked hard at them and said, "Then what does this text in the scriptures mean:

*It was the stone rejected by the builders
that became the keystone?^a*

- 18 Anyone who falls on that stone will be dashed to pieces; anyone it falls on will be crushed."
19 But for their fear of the people, the scribes and the chief priests would have liked to lay hands on him that very moment, because they realized that this parable was aimed at them.

On tribute to Caesar

- 20 So they waited their opportunity and sent agents to pose as men devoted to the Law, and to fasten on something he might say and so enable them to hand 21 him over to the jurisdiction and authority of the governor. They put to him this question, "Master, we know that you say and teach what is right; you favor 22 no one, but teach the way of God in all honesty. Is it permissible for us to pay 23 taxes to Caesar or not?" But he was aware of their cunning and said, "Show 24 me a denarius. Whose head and name are on it?" "Caesar's," they said. "Well 25 then," he said to them, "give back to Caesar what belongs to Caesar—and to God what belongs to God."
26 As a result, they were unable to find fault with anything he had to say in public; his answer took them by surprise and they were silenced.

The resurrection of the dead

- 27 Some Sadducees—those who say that there is no resurrection—approached 28 him and they put this question to him, "Master, we have it from Moses in writing, that if a man's married brother dies childless, the man must marry the 29 widow to raise up children for his brother. Well then, there were seven brothers.
30 The first, having married a wife, died childless. The second and then the third 31 married the widow. And the same with all seven, they died leaving no children.
32 Finally the woman herself died. Now, at the resurrection, to which of them 33 will she be wife since she had been married to all seven?"
34 Jesus replied, "The children of this world take wives and husbands, but 35 those who are judged worthy of a place in the other world and in the resurrection 36 from the dead do not marry because they can no longer die, for they are the same as the angels, and being children of the resurrection they are sons of 37 God. And Moses himself implies that the dead rise again, in the passage about the bush where he calls the Lord the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac 38 and the God of Jacob.^b Now he is God, not of the dead, but of the living; for to him all men are in fact alive."

39 Some scribes^c then spoke up. "Well put, Master," they said —because they 40 would not dare to ask him any more questions.

Christ, not only son but also Lord of David

41 He then said to them, "How can people maintain that the Christ is son of 42 David? Why, David himself says in the Book of Psalms:

*The Lord said to my Lord:
 Sit at my right hand
 and I will make your enemies
 a footstool for you.*^d

44 David here calls him Lord; how then can he be his son?"

The scribes condemned by Jesus

45 While all the people were listening he said to the disciples, "Beware of the 46 scribes who like to walk about in long robes and love to be greeted obsequiously in the market squares, to take the front seats in the synagogues and the places 47 of honor at banquets, who swallow the property of widows, while making a show of lengthy prayers. The more severe will be the sentence they receive."

The widow's mite

1 21 As he looked up he saw rich people putting their offerings into the 2 treasury; then he happened to notice a poverty-stricken widow putting 3 in two small coins, and he said, "I tell you truly, this poor widow has put in 4 more than any of them; for these have all contributed money they had over, but she from the little she had has put in all she had to live on."

Discourse on the destruction of Jerusalem^e: Introduction

5 When some were talking about the Temple, remarking how it was adorned 6 with fine stonework and votive offerings, he said, "All these things you are staring at now—the time will come when not a single stone will be left on another: 7 everything will be destroyed." And they put to him this question: "Master," they said, "when will this happen, then, and what sign will there be that this is about to take place?"

The warning signs

8 "Take care not to be deceived," he said, "because many will come using my name and saying, 'I am he,' and, 'The time is near at hand.' Refuse to join them.
 9 And when you hear of wars and revolutions, do not be frightened, for this is some-10 thing that must happen but the end is not so soon." Then he said to them, "Nation 11 will fight against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be great earthquakes and plagues and famines here and there; there will be fearful sights and great signs from heaven.

12 "But before all this happens, men will seize you and persecute you; they will hand you over to the synagogues and to imprisonment, and bring you before 13 kings and governors because of my name —and that will be your opportunity 14 to bear witness. Keep this carefully in mind: you are not to prepare your defense, 15 because I myself shall give you an eloquence and a wisdom that none of your 16 opponents will be able to resist or contradict. You will be betrayed even by parents and brothers, relations and friends; and some of you will be put to death.
 17 You will be hated by all men on account of my name, but not a hair of your 18 head will be lost. Your endurance will win you your lives.

The siege

20 “When you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, you must realize that she will 21 soon be laid desolate. Then those in Judaea must escape to the mountains, those inside the city must leave it, and those in country districts must not take refuge 22 in it. For this is the time of vengeance when all that scripture says^b must be 23 fulfilled. Alas for those with child, or with babies at the breast, when those days come!

The disaster and the age of the pagans

24 “For great misery will descend on the land and wrath on this people. They will fall by the edge of the sword and be led captive to every pagan country; and Jerusalem will be trampled down by the pagans until the age of the pagans is completely over.

Cosmic disasters and the coming of the Son of Man

25 “There will be signs in the sun and moon and stars; on earth nations in agony, 26 bewildered by the clamor of the ocean and its waves; men dying of fear as they 27 await what menaces the world, for the powers of heaven will be shaken. And then they will see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and great glory.
 28 When these things begin to take place, stand erect, hold your heads high, because your liberation^c is near at hand.”

The time of this coming

29 And he told them a parable, “Think of the fig tree and indeed every tree. As 30 soon as you see them bud, you know that summer is now near. So with you 31 when you see these things happening: know that the kingdom of God is near.
 32 I tell you solemnly, before this generation has passed away all will have 33 taken place. Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will never pass away.

Be on the alert

34 “Watch yourselves, or your hearts will be coarsened with debauchery and drunkenness and the cares of life, and that day will be sprung on you suddenly, 35 like a trap. For it will come down on every living man on the face of the earth.
 36 Stay awake, praying at all times for the strength to survive all that is going to happen, and to stand with confidence before the Son of Man.”

The last days of Jesus

37 In the daytime he would be in the Temple teaching, but would spend the night 38 on the hill called the Mount of Olives. And from early morning the people would gather around him in the Temple to listen to him.

VI. THE PASSION

The conspiracy against Jesus: Judas betrays him

1 22 The feast of Unleavened Bread, called the Passover, was now drawing near,
 2 and the chief priests and the scribes were looking for some way of doing away with him, because they mistrusted the people.
 3 Then Satan entered into Judas, surnamed Iscariot, who was numbered among

b. Ex. 3:6 c. Most scribes were Pharisees and believed in the resurrection of the dead.
 d. Ps. 110:1

21 a. This passage on the End Time also includes some elements of a prophecy of the destruction of Jerusalem. b. Possibly alluding to Dn. 9:27. c. Or “redemption.”

4 the Twelve. He went to the chief priests and the officers of the guard^a to discuss 5 a scheme for handing Jesus over to them. They were delighted and agreed to give 6 him money. He accepted, and looked for an opportunity to betray him to them without the people knowing.

Preparation for the Passover supper

7 The day of Unleavened Bread came around, the day on which the passover 8 had to be sacrificed, and he sent Peter and John, saying, "Go and make the 9 preparations for us to eat the passover." "Where do you want us to prepare it?"
10 they asked. "Listen," he said, "as you go into the city you will meet a man 11 carrying a pitcher of water. Follow him into the house he enters and tell the 12 owner of the house, 'The Master has this to say to you: Where is the dining room 13 in which I can eat the passover with my disciples?' The man will show you a large upper room furnished with couches. Make the preparations there." They set off and found everything as he had told them, and prepared the passover.

The supper

14 When the hour came he took his place at table, and the apostles with him.
15 And he said to them, "I have longed to eat this passover with you before I suffer;
16 because, I tell you, I shall not eat it again until it is fulfilled in the kingdom of God."

17 Then, taking a cup,^b he gave thanks and said, "Take this and share it among 18 you, because from now on, I tell you, I shall not drink wine until the kingdom of God comes."

The institution of the Eucharist

19 Then he took some bread and when he had given thanks, broke it and gave it to them, saying, "This is my body which will be given for you; do this as a memorial 20 of me." He did the same with the cup after supper, and said, "This cup is the new covenant in my blood which will be poured out for you.

The treachery of Judas foretold

21 "And yet, here with me on the table is the hand of the man who betrays me.
22 The Son of Man does indeed go to his fate even as it has been decreed, but alas for 23 that man by whom he is betrayed!" And they began to ask one another which of them it could be who was to do this thing.

Who is the greatest?

24 A dispute arose also between them about which should be reckoned the 25 greatest, but he said to them, "Among pagans it is the kings who lord it over them, 26 and those who have authority over them are given the title Benefactor. This must not happen with you. No; the greatest among you must behave as if he were the 27 youngest, the leader as if he were the one who serves. For who is the greater: the one at table or the one who serves? The one at table, surely? Yet here am I among you as one who serves!

The reward promised to the apostles

28 "You are the men who have stood by me faithfully in my trials; and now 29 I confer a kingdom on you, just as my Father conferred one on me: you will 30 eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and you will sit on thrones to judge the twelve tribes of Israel.

Peter's denial and repentance foretold

31 "Simon, Simon! Satan, you must know, has got his wish to sift you all like 32 wheat; but I have prayed for you, Simon, that your faith may not fail, and once 33 you have recovered, you in your turn must strengthen your brothers." "Lord,"

34 he answered, "I would be ready to go to prison with you, and to death." Jesus replied, "I tell you, Peter, by the time the cock crows today you will have denied three times that you know me."

A time of crisis

35 He said to them, "When I sent you out without purse or haversack or sandals, 36 were you short of anything?" "No," they said. He said to them, "But now if you have 37 a purse, take it; if you have a haversack, do the same; if you have no sword, sell 38 your cloak and buy one, because I tell you these words of scripture have to be fulfilled in me: He let himself be taken for a criminal.^c Yes, what scripture says about me is even now reaching its fulfillment." "Lord," they said, "there are two swords here now." He said to them, "That is enough!"

The Mount of Olives

39 He then left to make his way as usual to the Mount of Olives, with the 40 disciples following. When they reached the place he said to them, "Pray not to be put to the test."

41 Then he withdrew from them, about a stone's throw away, and knelt down 42 and prayed. "Father," he said, "if you are willing, take this cup away from me.
43 Nevertheless, let your will be done, not mine." Then an angel appeared to 44 him, coming from heaven to give him strength. In his anguish he prayed even more earnestly, and his sweat fell to the ground like great drops of blood.

45 When he rose from prayer he went to the disciples and found them sleeping 46 for sheer grief. "Why are you asleep?" he said to them. "Get up and pray not to be put to the test."

The arrest

47 He was still speaking when a number of men appeared, and at the head of them the man called Judas, one of the Twelve, who went up to Jesus to kiss him.
48 Jesus said, "Judas, are you betraying the Son of Man with a kiss?" His followers, 49 seeing what was happening, said, "Lord, shall we use our swords?" And one of 50 them struck out at the high priest's servant and cut off his right ear. But at 51 this Jesus spoke. "Leave off!" he said. "That will do!" And touching the man's ear he healed him.

52 Then Jesus spoke to the chief priests and captains of the Temple guard and elders who had come for him. "Am I a brigand," he said, "that you had to set out 53 with swords and clubs? When I was among you in the Temple day after day you never moved to lay hands on me. But this is your hour; this is the reign of darkness."

Peter's denials

54 They seized him then and led him away, and they took him to the high 55 priest's house. Peter followed at a distance. They had lit a fire in the middle of 56 the courtyard and Peter sat down among them, and as he was sitting there by the blaze a servant girl saw him, peered at him, and said, "This person was with 57 him too." But he denied it. "Woman," he said, "I do not know him." Shortly 58 afterward someone else saw him and said, "You are another of them." But Peter 59 replied, "I am not, my friend." About an hour later another man insisted, 60 saying, "This fellow was certainly with him. Why, he is a Galilean." "My friend," said Peter, "I do not know what you are talking about." At that instant, 61 while he was still speaking, the cock crew, and the Lord turned and looked straight at Peter, and Peter remembered what the Lord had said to him, "Before 62 the cock crows today, you will have disowned me three times." And he went outside and wept bitterly.

Jesus mocked by the guards

63 Meanwhile the men who guarded Jesus were mocking and beating him.
64 They blindfolded him and questioned him. "Play the prophet," they said. "Who 65 hit you then?" And they continued heaping insults on him.

Jesus before the Sanhedrin

66 When day broke there was a meeting of the elders of the people, attended 67 by the chief priests and scribes. He was brought before their council, and they said to him, "If you are the Christ, tell us." "If I tell you," he replied, "you will not 68 believe me, and if I question you, you will not answer. But from now on, the 69 Son of Man will be seated at the right hand of the Power of God."^a Then they 70 all said, "So you are the Son of God then?" He answered, "It is you who say I am."
71 "What need of witnesses have we now?" they said. "We have heard it for ourselves
1 from his own lips." 23 The whole assembly then rose, and they brought him before Pilate.

Jesus before Pilate

2 They began their accusation by saying, "We found this man inciting our people to revolt, opposing payment of the tribute to Caesar, and claiming to be 3 Christ, a king." Pilate put to him this question, "Are you the king of the Jews?"
4 "It is you who say it," he replied. Pilate then said to the chief priests and the crowd, 5 "I find no case against this man." But they persisted, "He is inflaming the people with his teaching all over Judaea; it has come all the way from Galilee, where he 6 started, down to here." When Pilate heard this, he asked if the man were a 7 Galilean; and finding that he came under Herod's jurisdiction he passed him over to Herod who was also in Jerusalem at that time.

Jesus before Herod

8 Herod was delighted to see Jesus; he had heard about him and had been wanting for a long time to set eyes on him; moreover, he was hoping to see 9 some miracle worked by him. So he questioned him at some length; but without 10 getting any reply. Meanwhile the chief priests and the scribes were there, violently 11 pressing their accusations. Then Herod, together with his guards, treated him with contempt and made fun of him; he put a rich cloak^a on him and sent him 12 back to Pilate. And though Herod and Pilate had been enemies before, they were reconciled that same day.

Jesus before Pilate again

13 Pilate then summoned the chief priests and the leading men and the people.
14 "You brought this man before me," he said, "as a political agitator. Now I have gone into the matter myself in your presence and found no case against the man 15 in respect of all the charges you bring against him. Nor has Herod either, since he has sent him back to us. As you can see, the man has done nothing that 16 deserves death, so I shall have him flogged and then let him go."^b But as one 17 man they howled, "Away with him! Give us Barabbas!" (This man had been thrown into prison for causing a riot in the city and for murder.)

20 Pilate was anxious to see Jesus free and addressed them again, but they 21 shouted back, "Crucify him! Crucify him!" And for the third time he spoke to them, "Why? What harm has this man done? I have found no case against 23 him that deserves death, so I shall have him punished and then let him go." But they kept on shouting at the top of their voices, demanding that he should be crucified. And their shouts were growing louder.

24 Pilate then gave his verdict: their demand was to be granted. He released 25 the man they asked for, who had been imprisoned for rioting and murder, and handed Jesus over to them to deal with as they pleased.

The way to Calvary

26 As they were leading him away they seized on a man, Simon from Cyrene, who was coming in from the country, and made him shoulder the cross and 27 carry it behind Jesus. Large numbers of people followed him, and of women 28 too,^c who mourned and lamented for him. But Jesus turned to them and said, 29 "Daughters of Jerusalem, do not weep for me; weep rather for yourselves and for your children. For the days will surely come when people will say, 'Happy are those who are barren, the wombs that have never borne, the breasts that have 30 never suckled!' Then they will begin to say to the mountains, 'Fall on us!'; to the 31 hill, 'Cover us!'^d For if men use the green wood like this, what will happen 32 when it is dry?" Now with him they were also leading out two other criminals to be executed.

The crucifixion

33 When they reached the place called The Skull, they crucified him there and the 34 two criminals also, one on the right, the other on the left. Jesus said, "Father, forgive them; they do not know what they are doing." Then they cast lots to share out his clothing.

The crucified Christ is mocked

35 The people stayed there watching him. As for the leaders, they jeered at him.
 "He saved others," they said, "let him save himself if he is the Christ of God, the 36 Chosen One." The soldiers mocked him too, and when they approached to offer 37 him vinegar they said, "If you are the king of the Jews, save yourself." Above 38 him there was an inscription: "This is the King of the Jews."

The good thief

39 One of the criminals hanging there abused him. "Are you not the Christ?"
 40 he said. "Save yourself and us as well." But the other spoke up and rebuked him.
 "Have you no fear of God at all?" he said. "You got the same sentence as he did, 41 but in our case we deserved it: we are paying for what we did. But this man has 42 done nothing wrong. Jesus," he said, "remember me when you come into your 43 kingdom." "Indeed, I promise you," he replied, "today you will be with me in paradise."

The death of Jesus

44 It was now about the sixth hour and, with the sun eclipsed, a darkness came 45 over the whole land until the ninth hour. The veil of the Temple was torn right 46 down the middle; and when Jesus had cried out in a loud voice, he said, "Father, into your hands I commit my spirit."^e With these words he breathed his last.

After the death

47 When the centurion saw what had taken place, he gave praise to God and 48 said, "This was a great and good man." And when all the people who had gathered for the spectacle saw what had happened, they went home beating their breasts.

49 All his friends stood at a distance; so also did the women who had accompanied him from Galilee, and they saw all this happen.

The burial

50 Then a member of the council arrived, an upright and virtuous man named 51 Joseph. He had not consented to what the others had planned and carried out.
 He came from Arimathaea, a Jewish town, and he lived in the hope of seeing the 53 He then took it down, wrapped it in a shroud and put him in a tomb which was 54 hewn in stone in which no one had yet been laid. •It was Preparation Day and the sabbath was imminent.

55 Meanwhile the women who had come from Galilee with Jesus were following behind. They took note of the tomb and of the position of the body.

56 Then they returned and prepared spices and ointments. And on the sabbath day they rested, as the Law required.

VII. AFTER THE RESURRECTION

The empty tomb. The angel's message

1 24 On the first day of the week, at the first sign of dawn, they went to the 2 tomb with the spices they had prepared. •They found that the stone had 3 been rolled away from the tomb, •but on entering discovered that the body of the 4 Lord Jesus was not there. •As they stood there not knowing what to think, two 5 men in brilliant clothes suddenly appeared at their side. •Terrified, the women lowered their eyes. But the two men said to them, “Why look among the dead 6 for someone who is alive? •He is not here; he has risen. Remember what he told 7 you when he was still in Galilee: •that the Son of Man had to be handed over into the power of sinful men and be crucified, and rise again on the third day.”
 8 And they remembered his words.

The apostles refuse to believe the women

9 When the women returned from the tomb they told all this to the Eleven and 10 to all the others. •The women were Mary of Magdala, Joanna, and Mary the 11 mother of James. The other women with them also told the apostles, •but this story of theirs seemed pure nonsense, and they did not believe them.

Peter at the tomb

12 Peter, however, went running to the tomb. He bent down and saw the binding cloths but nothing else; he then went back home, amazed at what had happened.

The road to Emmaus

13 That very same day, two of them were on their way to a village called Emmaus, 14 seven miles^a from Jerusalem, •and they were talking together about all that had 15 happened. •Now as they talked this over, Jesus himself came up and walked by 16 their side; •but something prevented them from recognizing him. •He said to 17 them, “What matters are you discussing as you walk along?” They stopped short, their faces downcast.

18 Then one of them, called Cleopas, answered him, “You must be the only person staying in Jerusalem who does not know the things that have been 19 happening there these last few days.” •“What things?” he asked. “All about Jesus of Nazareth,” they answered, “who proved he was a great prophet by the things 20 he said and did in the sight of God and of the whole people; •and how our chief priests and our leaders handed him over to be sentenced to death, and had him 21 crucified. •Our own hope had been that he would be the one to set Israel free.
 22 And this is not all: two whole days have gone by since it all happened; •and some women from our group have astounded us: they went to the tomb in the early 23 morning, •and when they did not find the body, they came back to tell us they 24 had seen a vision of angels who declared he was alive. •Some of our friends went to the tomb and found everything exactly as the women had reported, but of him they saw nothing.”

25 Then he said to them, “You foolish men! So slow to believe the full message
 26 of the prophets! •Was it not ordained that the Christ should suffer and so enter

27 into his glory?" Then, starting with Moses and going through all the prophets, he explained to them the passages throughout the scriptures that were about himself.

28 When they drew near to the village to which they were going, he made as if 29 to go on; but they pressed him to stay with them. "It is nearly evening," they said, 30 "and the day is almost over." So he went in to stay with them. Now while he was with them at table, he took the bread and said the blessing; then he broke it and 31 handed it to them. And their eyes were opened and they recognized him; but he 32 had vanished from their sight. Then they said to each other, "Did not our hearts burn within us as he talked to us on the road and explained the scriptures to us?"

33 They set out that instant and returned to Jerusalem. There they found the 34 Eleven assembled together with their companions, who said to them, "Yes, it is 35 true. The Lord has risen and has appeared to Simon." Then they told their story of what had happened on the road and how they had recognized him at the breaking of bread.

Jesus appears to the apostles

36 They were still talking about all this when he himself stood among them
37 and said to them, "Peace be with you!" In a state of alarm and fright, they thought 38 they were seeing a ghost. But he said, "Why are you so agitated, and why are 39 these doubts rising in your hearts? Look at my hands and feet; yes, it is I indeed.
Touch me and see for yourselves; a ghost has no flesh and bones as you can see 40 I have." And as he said this he showed them his hands and feet. Their joy 41 was so great that they still could not believe it, and they stood there dumfounded;
42 so he said to them, "Have you anything here to eat?" And they offered him a piece 43 of grilled fish, which he took and ate before their eyes.

Last instructions to the apostles

44 Then he told them, "This is what I meant when I said, while I was still with you, that everything written about me in the Law of Moses, in the Prophets and 45 in the Psalms, has to be fulfilled." He then opened their minds to understand the 46 scriptures, and he said to them, "So you see how it is written that the Christ would 47 suffer and on the third day rise from the dead, and that, in his name, repentance for the forgiveness of sins would be preached to all the nations, beginning 48 from Jerusalem. You are witnesses to this.

49 "And now I am sending down to you what the Father has promised. Stay in the city then, until you are clothed with the power from on high."

The ascension

50 Then he took them out as far as the outskirts of Bethany, and lifting up his 51 hands he blessed them. Now as he blessed them, he withdrew from them and 52 was carried up to heaven. They worshiped him and then went back to 53 Jerusalem full of joy; and they were continually in the Temple praising God.

INTRODUCTION TO THE GOSPEL AND LETTERS OF SAINT JOHN

Date, authorship and form of the gospel

Tradition almost unanimously names John the apostle, the son of Zebedee, as the author. Before A.D. 150 the book was known and used by Ignatius of Antioch, Papias, Justin and the author of the Odes of Solomon, and the first explicit testimony is by Irenaeus, c. 180: "Last of all John, too, the disciple of the Lord who leaned against his breast, himself brought out a gospel while he was in Ephesus." The gospel itself has much supporting evidence, apart from its claim to be the work of an eyewitness who was a beloved disciple of the Lord: its vocabulary and style betray its Semitic origin, it is familiar with Jewish customs and with the topography of Palestine, and its author is evidently a close friend of Peter.

It was published not by John himself but by his disciples after his death, and it is possible that in this gospel we have the end stage of a slow process that has brought together not only component parts of different ages but also corrections, additions and sometimes more than one revision of the same discourse. The arrangement of the gospel is not always easy to explain, but it is clear that the author attaches special importance to the Jewish liturgical feasts which punctuate his narrative; the following analysis can be made:

Prologue (1:1–18)

- I. First week of the messianic ministry, ending with the first miracle at Cana (1:19–2:11)
- II. First Passover with accompanying events, ending with the second miracle at Cana (2:12–4:54)
- III. Sabbath "of the paralytic" (5:1–47)
- IV. The Passover "of the bread of life" and its discourse (6:1–71)
 - v. The feast of Tabernacles and the man born blind (7:1–10:21)
 - vi. The feast of Dedication and the raising of Lazarus (10:22–11:54)
- VII. Week of the Passion and the crucifixion Passover (11:55–19:42)
- VIII. The resurrection and week of appearances (20:1–29)
- IX. Appendix: the Church and Christ's return (ch. 21)

This division suggests that Christ not only fulfilled the Jewish liturgy but in doing so brought it to an end.

Special characteristics of the gospel

The fourth gospel is concerned to bring out the significance of all that Christ did and said. The things that he did were "signs," and the meaning of them, hidden at first, could be understood only after his glorification; the things he said had a deeper meaning not perceived at the time but understood only after the Spirit who spoke in the name of the risen Christ had come to "lead" his disciples "into all truth." The gospel is revelation at this stage of development.

The whole of John's thought is dominated by the mystery of the Incarnation, from the Prologue with which the book opens. Here the revelation of Christ's glory, which in the synoptic gospels is associated primarily with his return at the end of time, has a new interpretation: judgment is working here and now in the soul, and eternal life (John's counterpart to the "kingdom" of the synoptic gospels) is made to be something actually present, already in the possession of those who have faith. God's victory over evil, his salvation of the world, is already guaranteed by Christ's resurrection in glory.

The letters

The three letters are like the gospel in style and doctrine. The first, an encyclical letter to the Christian communities of "Asia," summarizes the whole content of John's religious experience and develops themes from the gospel, for churches threatened with disintegration under the impact of the early heresies. The second letter was written to a church in answer to some who had denied the reality of the Incarnation. The third, which is probably the earliest in date, was written to settle a dispute on jurisdiction in one of the churches acknowledging John's authority.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO SAINT JOHN

PROLOGUE

- 1 1 In the beginning was the Word:
the Word was with God
and the Word was God.
- 2 He was with God in the beginning.
3 Through him all things came to be,
not one thing had its being but through him.
4 All that came to be had life in him
and that life was the light of men, 5 a light that shines in the dark,
a light that darkness could not overpower.^a
- 6 A man came, sent by God.
His name was John.
7 He came as a witness,
as a witness to speak for the light,
so that everyone might believe through him.
8 He was not the light,
only a witness to speak for the light.
- 9 The Word was the true light
that enlightens all men;
and he was coming into the world.
10 He was in the world
that had its being through him,
and the world did not know him.
11 He came to his own domain
and his own people did not accept him.
12 But to all who did accept him
he gave power to become children of God,
to all who believe in the name of him 13 who was born not out of human stock or urge of the flesh or will of man
but of God himself.
- 14 The Word was made flesh,
he lived among us,^b
and we saw his glory,
the glory that is his as the only Son of the Father,
full of grace and truth.
- 15 John appears as his witness. He proclaims:

"This is the one of whom I said:
He who comes after me ranks before me
because he existed before me."

16 Indeed, from his fullness we have, all of us, received—yes, grace in return for grace, 17 since, though the Law was given through Moses, grace and truth have come through Jesus Christ.
18 No one has ever seen God;
it is the only Son, who is nearest to the Father's heart,
who has made him known.

I. THE FIRST PASSOVER

A. THE OPENING WEEK

The witness of John

19 This is how John appeared as a witness. When the Jews^c sent priests and 20 Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, "Who are you?" he not only declared, but 21 he declared quite openly, "I am not the Christ." "Well then," they asked, "are you 22 Elijah?"^d "I am not," he said. "Are you the Prophet?"^e He answered, "No." "So they said to him, "Who are you? We must take back an answer to those who sent us.
23 What have you to say about yourself?" "So John said, "I am, as Isaiah prophesied:

*a voice that cries in the wilderness:
Make a straight way for the Lord.*^f

24 Now these men had been sent by the Pharisees, and they put this further 25 question to him, "Why are you baptizing if you are not the Christ, and not Elijah, 26 and not the prophet?" John replied, "I baptize with water; but there stands 27 among you—unknown to you—the one who is coming after me; and I am 28 not fit to undo his sandal strap." This happened at Bethany, on the far side of the Jordan, where John was baptizing.

29 The next day, seeing Jesus coming toward him, John said, "Look, there is 30 the lamb of God that takes away the sin of the world. This is the one I spoke of when I said: A man is coming after me who ranks before me because he 31 existed before me. I did not know him myself, and yet it was to reveal him to 32 Israel that I came baptizing with water." John also declared, "I saw the Spirit 33 coming down on him from heaven like a dove and resting on him. I did not know him myself, but he who sent me to baptize with water had said to me,
'The man on whom you see the Spirit come down and rest is the one who is 34 going to baptize with the Holy Spirit.' Yes, I have seen and I am the witness that he is the Chosen One of God."

The first disciples

35 On the following day as John stood there again with two of his disciples, 36 Jesus passed, and John stared hard at him and said, "Look, there is the lamb of 37 God." Hearing this, the two disciples followed Jesus. Jesus turned around, saw 38 them following and said, "What do you want?" They answered, "Rabbi,"—which 39 means Teacher—"where do you live?" "Come and see," he replied; so they went

1 a. Or "grasp," in the sense of "enclose" or "understand." b. "pitched his tent among us."
c. In Jn. this usually indicates the Jewish religious authorities who were hostile to Jesus; but occasionally the Jews as a whole. d. Whose return was expected, Mt. 3:23-24. e. The

f. Is. 40:3

and saw where he lived, and stayed with him the rest of that day. It was about the tenth hour.⁹

One of these two who became followers of Jesus after hearing what John had said was Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter. Early next morning, Andrew met his brother and said to him, "We have found the Messiah"—which means the Christ—and he took Simon to Jesus. Jesus looked hard at him and said, "You are Simon son of John; you are to be called Cephas"—meaning Rock.

The next day, after Jesus had decided to leave for Galilee, he met Philip and said, "Follow me." Philip came from the same town, Bethsaida, as Andrew and Peter. Philip found Nathanael¹⁰ and said to him, "We have found the one Moses wrote about in the Law, the one about whom the prophets wrote: he is Jesus son of Joseph, from Nazareth." "From Nazareth?" said Nathanael. "Can anything good come from that place?" "Come and see," replied Philip. When Jesus saw Nathanael coming he said of him, "There is an Israelite who deserves the name, incapable of deceit." "How do you know me?" said Nathanael. "Before Philip came to call you," said Jesus, "I saw you under the fig tree." Nathanael answered, "Rabbi, you are the Son of God, you are the King of Israel." Jesus replied, "You believe that just because I said: I saw you under the fig tree. You will see greater things than that." And then he added, "I tell you most solemnly, you will see heaven laid open and, above the Son of Man, the angels of God ascending and descending."

The wedding at Cana

Two days later there was a wedding at Cana in Galilee. The mother of Jesus was there, and Jesus and his disciples had also been invited. When they ran out of wine, since the wine provided for the wedding was all finished, the mother of Jesus said to him, "They have no wine." Jesus said, "Woman, why turn to me? My hour has not come yet." His mother said to the servants, "Do whatever he tells you."¹¹ There were six stone water jars standing there, meant for the ablutions that are customary among the Jews: each could hold twenty or thirty gallons. Jesus said to the servants, "Fill the jars with water," and they filled them to the brim. "Draw some out now," he told them, "and take it to the steward." They did this; the steward tasted the water, and it had turned into wine. Having no idea where it came from—only the servants who had drawn the water knew—the steward called the bridegroom and said, "People generally serve the best wine first, and keep the cheaper sort till the guests have had plenty to drink; but you have kept the best wine till now."

This was the first of the signs given by Jesus: it was given at Cana in Galilee. He let his glory be seen, and his disciples believed in him. After this he went down to Capernaum with his mother and the brothers, but they stayed there only a few days.

B. THE PASSOVER

The cleansing of the Temple

Just before the Jewish Passover Jesus went up to Jerusalem, and in the Temple he found people selling cattle and sheep and pigeons, and the money-changers sitting at their counters there. Making a whip out of some cord, he drove them all out of the Temple, cattle and sheep as well, scattered the money-changers' coins, knocked their tables over and said to the pigeon sellers, "Take all this out of here and stop turning my Father's house into a market." Then his disciples remembered the words of scripture: *Zeal for your house will devour me.*¹² The Jews intervened and said, "What sign can you show us to justify what you have done?" Jesus answered, "Destroy this sanctuary, and in three days I will raise it up." The Jews replied, "It has taken forty-six years to build this 21 sanctuary: are you going to raise it up in three days?" But he was speaking of 22 the sanctuary that was his body, and when Jesus rose from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this, and they believed the scripture and the words he had said.

23 During his stay in Jerusalem for the Passover many believed in his name
 24 when they saw the signs that he gave, but Jesus knew them all and did not trust 25 himself to them; he never needed evidence about any man; he could tell what a man had in him.

C. THE MYSTERY OF THE SPIRIT REVEALED TO A MASTER IN ISRAEL

The conversation with Nicodemus

1 3 There was one of the Pharisees called Nicodemus, a leading Jew, who came 2 to Jesus by night and said, "Rabbi, we know that you are a teacher who comes from God; for no one could perform the signs that you do unless God were with 3 him." Jesus answered:

"I tell you most solemnly,
 unless a man is born from above,
 he cannot see the kingdom of God."

4 Nicodemus said, "How can a grown man be born? Can he go back into his 5 mother's womb and be born again?" Jesus replied:

"I tell you most solemnly,
 unless a man is born through water and the Spirit,
 he cannot enter the kingdom of God:
 6 what is born of the flesh is flesh;
 what is born of the Spirit is spirit.
 7 Do not be surprised when I say:
 You must be born from above.
 8 The wind blows wherever it pleases;
 you hear its sound,
 but you cannot tell where it comes from or where it is going.
 That is how it is with all who are born of the Spirit."

9 "How can that be possible?" asked Nicodemus. "You, a teacher in Israel, 10 and you do not know these things!" replied Jesus.

11 "I tell you most solemnly,
 we speak only about what we know
 and witness only to what we have seen and yet you people reject our evidence.
 12 If you do not believe me
 when I speak about things in this world,
 how are you going to believe me
 when I speak to you about heavenly things?
 13 No one has gone up to heaven except the one who came down from heaven,
 the Son of Man who is in heaven;
 and the Son of Man must be lifted up 14 as Moses lifted up the serpent in the desert,

15 so that everyone who believes may have eternal life in him.
 16 Yes, God loved the world so much that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him may not be lost
 but may have eternal life.
 17 For God sent his Son into the world
 not to condemn the world,
 but so that through him the world might be saved.
 18 No one who believes in him will be condemned;
 but whoever refuses to believe is condemned already,
 because he has refused to believe in the name of God's only Son.
 19 On these grounds is sentence pronounced:
 that though the light has come into the world
 men have shown they prefer darkness to the light
 because their deeds were evil.
 20 And indeed, everybody who does wrong
 hates the light and avoids it,
 for fear his actions should be exposed;
 21 but the man who lives by the truth
 comes out into the light,
 so that it may be plainly seen that what he does is done in God."

II. JOURNEYS IN SAMARIA AND GALILEE

John bears witness for the last time

22 After this, Jesus went with his disciples into the Judæan countryside and 23 stayed with them there and baptized. At the same time John was baptizing at Aenon^a near Salim, where there was plenty of water, and people were going 24 there to be baptized. This was before John had been put in prison.
 25 Now some of John's disciples had opened a discussion with a Jew about 26 purification, so they went to John and said, "Rabbi, the man who was with you on the far side of the Jordan, the man to whom you bore witness, is baptizing 27 now; and everyone is going to him." John replied:

"A man can lay claim
 only to what is given him from heaven.

28 "You yourselves can bear me out: I said: I myself am not the Christ; I am the one who has been sent in front of him.

29 "The bride is only for the bridegroom;
 and yet the bridegroom's friend,
 who stands there and listens,
 is glad when he hears the bridegroom's voice.
 This same joy I feel, and now it is complete.
 30 He must grow greater,
 I must grow smaller.
 31 He who comes from above
 is above all others;
 he who is born of the earth
 is earthly himself and speaks in an earthly way.
 He who comes from heaven
 32 bears witness to the things he has seen and heard,
 even if his testimony is not accepted;
 33 though all who do accept his testimony

34 are attesting the truthfulness of God, since he whom God has sent speaks God's own words:
 God gives him the Spirit without reserve.
 35 The Father loves the Son and has entrusted everything to him.
 36 Anyone who believes in the Son has eternal life, but anyone who refuses to believe in the Son will never see life:
 the anger of God stays on him."

The savior of the world revealed to the Samaritans

1 4 When Jesus heard that the Pharisees had found out that he was making
 2 and baptizing more disciples than John—though in fact it was his disciples
 3 who baptized, not Jesus himself—he left Judaea and went back to Galilee.
 4 This meant that he had to cross Samaria.

5 On the way he came to the Samaritan town called Sychar,^a near the land 6 that Jacob gave to his son Joseph. Jacob's well is there and Jesus, tired by the 7 journey, sat straight down by the well. It was about the sixth hour.^b When a Samaritan woman came to draw water, Jesus said to her, "Give me a drink." 8 His disciples had gone into the town to buy food. The Samaritan woman said to him, "What? You are a Jew and you ask me, a Samaritan, for a drink?"—Jews, 10 in fact, do not associate with Samaritans. Jesus replied:

"If you only knew what God is offering
 and who it is that is saying to you:
 Give me a drink,
 you would have been the one to ask,
 and he would have given you living water."

11 "You have no bucket, sir," she answered, "and the well is deep: how could 12 you get this living water? Are you a greater man than our father Jacob who 13 gave us this well and drank from it himself with his sons and his cattle?" Jesus replied:

"Whoever drinks this water
 will get thirsty again;
 14 but anyone who drinks the water that I shall give will never be thirsty again:
 the water that I shall give will turn into a spring inside him, welling up to eternal life."

15 "Sir," said the woman, "give me some of that water, so that I may never get 16 thirsty and never have to come here again to draw water." "Go and call your 17 husband," said Jesus to her, "and come back here." The woman answered, "I have 18 no husband." He said to her, "You are right to say, 'I have no husband'; for although you have had five, the one you have now is not your husband. You 19 spoke the truth there." "I see you are a prophet, sir," said the woman. "Our 20 fathers worshiped on this mountain,^c while you say that Jerusalem is the place 21 where one ought to worship." Jesus said:

"Believe me, woman, the hour is coming when you will worship the Father neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem.
 22 You worship what you do not know;
 we worship what we do know;

3 a. A tradition locates Aenon ("Springs") in the Jordan valley seven miles from Scythopolis.
 4 a. Either Shechem (Aramaic: Sichara), or Askar at the foot of Mount Ebal. "Jacob's Well" is not mentioned in Gn. b. Noon. c. Gerizim, the mountain on which the Samaritans built a rival to the Jerusalem Temple; it was destroyed by Hyrcanus, 129 B.C.

for salvation comes from the Jews.

- 23 But the hour will come—in fact it is here already—when true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and truth:
that is the kind of worshiper
the Father wants.
- 24 God is spirit,
and those who worship
must worship in spirit and truth.”

- 25 The woman said to him, “I know that Messiah—that is, Christ—is coming; 26 and when he comes he will tell us everything.” “I who am speaking to you,”
said Jesus, “I am he.”

- 27 At this point his disciples returned, and were surprised to find him speaking to a woman, though none of them asked, “What do you want from her?” or, 28 “Why are you talking to her?” The woman put down her water jar and hurried 29 back to the town to tell the people, “Come and see a man who has told me 30 everything I ever did; I wonder if he is the Christ?” This brought people out of the town and they started walking toward him.

- 31 Meanwhile, the disciples were urging him, “Rabbi, do have something to 32 eat”; but he said, “I have food to eat that you do not know about.” So the 33 disciples asked one another, “Has someone been bringing him food?” But Jesus 34 said:

“My food
is to do the will of the one who sent me,
and to complete his work.

35 Have you not got a saying:
Four months and then the harvest?
Well, I tell you:
Look around you, look at the fields;
already they are white, ready for harvest!
36 Already the reaper is being paid his wages,
already he is bringing in the grain for eternal life,
and thus sower and reaper rejoice together.

37 For here the proverb holds good:
one sows, another reaps;
38 I sent you to reap
a harvest you had not worked for.
Others worked for it;
and you have come into the rewards of their trouble.”

- 39 Many Samaritans of that town had believed in him on the strength of the 40 woman's testimony when she said, “He told me all I have ever done,” so, when the Samaritans came up to him, they begged him to stay with them. He stayed 41 for two days, and when he spoke to them many more came to believe; and 42 they said to the woman, “Now we no longer believe because of what you told us;
we have heard him ourselves and we know that he really is the savior of the world.”

The cure of the nobleman's son

- 43 When the two days were over Jesus left for Galilee. He himself had declared 44 that there is no respect for a prophet in his own country, but on his arrival the Galileans received him well, having seen all that he had done at Jerusalem during the festival which they too had attended.
- 46 He went again to Cana in Galilee, where he had changed the water into wine.
47 Now there was a court official there whose son was ill at Capernaum and, hearing that Jesus had arrived in Galilee from Judaea, he went and asked him 48 to come and cure his son as he was at the point of death. Jesus said, “So you will

49 not believe unless you see signs and portents!" "Sir," answered the official, "come 50 down before my child dies." "Go home," said Jesus, "your son will live." The man 51 believed what Jesus had said and started on his way; and while he was still on 52 the journey back his servants met him with the news that his boy was alive. He 53 asked them when the boy had begun to recover. "The fever left him yesterday," 54 they said, "at the seventh hour." The father realized that this was exactly the time when Jesus had said, "Your son will live"; and he and all his household believed.
 This was the second sign given by Jesus, on his return from Judaea to Galilee.

III. THE SECOND FEAST AT JERUSALEM

The cure of a sick man at the Pool of Bethzatha

1 Some time after this there was a Jewish festival, and Jesus went up to Jeru-2 salem. Now at the Sheep Pool in Jerusalem there is a building, called Beth-3 zatha in Hebrew, consisting of five porticoes; and under these were crowds of 4 sick people—blind, lame, paralyzed—waiting for the water to move; for at intervals the angel of the Lord came down into the pool, and the water was 5 disturbed, and the first person to enter the water after this disturbance was cured of any ailment he suffered from. One man there had an illness which had lasted 6 thirty-eight years, and when Jesus saw him lying there and knew he had been in 7 this condition for a long time, he said, "Do you want to be well again?" "Sir," replied the sick man, "I have no one to put me into the pool when the water is 8 disturbed; and while I am still on the way, someone else gets there before me."
 9 Jesus said, "Get up, pick up your sleeping mat and walk." The man was cured at once, and he picked up his mat and walked away.

10 Now that day happened to be the sabbath, so the Jews said to the man who had been cured, "It is the sabbath; you are not allowed to carry your sleeping 11 mat." He replied, "But the man who cured me told me, 'Pick up your mat and 12 walk.'" They asked, "Who is the man who said to you, 'Pick up your mat and 13 walk?'" The man had no idea who it was, since Jesus had disappeared into the 14 crowd that filled the place. After a while Jesus met him in the Temple and said, "Now you are well again, be sure not to sin any more, or something worse may 15 happen to you." The man went back and told the Jews that it was Jesus who 16 had cured him. It was because he did things like this on the sabbath that the 17 Jews began to persecute Jesus. His answer to them was, "My Father goes on 18 working, and so do I." But that only made the Jews even more intent on killing him, because, not content with breaking the sabbath, he spoke of God as his own Father, and so made himself God's equal.

19 To this accusation Jesus replied:

"I tell you most solemnly,
 the Son can do nothing by himself;
 he can do only what he sees the Father doing:
 and whatever the Father does the Son does too.

20 For the Father loves the Son and shows him everything he does himself, and he will show him even greater things than these,
 works that will astonish you.

21 Thus, as the Father raises the dead and gives them life, so the Son gives life to anyone he chooses;

22 for the Father judges no one;
 he has entrusted all judgment to the Son,
 so that all may honor the Son

23 as they honor the Father.

Whoever refuses honor to the Son refuses honor to the Father who sent him.

24 I tell you most solemnly,
whoever listens to my words,
and believes in the one who sent me,
has eternal life;
without being brought to judgment
he has passed from death to life.

25 I tell you most solemnly,
the hour will come—in fact it is here already—when the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God,
and all who hear it will live.

26 For the Father, who is the source of life,
has made the Son the source of life;
27 and, because he is the Son of Man,
has appointed him supreme judge.

28 Do not be surprised at this,
for the hour is coming when the dead will leave their graves
at the sound of his voice:
29 those who did good will rise again to life;
and those who did evil, to condemnation.

30 I can do nothing by myself;
I can only judge as I am told to judge,
and my judging is just,
because my aim is to do not my own will,
but the will of him who sent me.

31 “Were I to testify on my own behalf,
my testimony would not be valid;
32 but there is another witness who can speak on my behalf,
and I know that his testimony is valid.

33 You sent messengers to John,
and he gave his testimony to the truth:
34 not that I depend on human testimony;
no, it is for your salvation that I speak of this.

35 John was a lamp alight and shining and for a time you were content to enjoy the light that he gave.

36 But my testimony is greater than John’s:
the works my Father has given me to carry out,
these same works of mine
testify that the Father has sent me.

37 Besides, the Father who sent me
bears witness to me himself.
You have never heard his voice,
you have never seen his shape, 38 and his word finds no home in you because you do not believe in the one he has sent.

39 “You study the scriptures,
believing that in them you have eternal life;
now these same scriptures testify to me,
and yet you refuse to come to me for life!

40 As for human approval, this means nothing to me.

41 Besides, I know you too well:
42 you have no love of God in you.

43 I have come in the name of my Father and you refuse to accept me;

if someone else comes in his own name
you will accept him.

- 44 How can you believe,
since you look to one another for approval
and are not concerned with the approval that comes from the one God?
- 45 Do not imagine that I am going to accuse you before the Father:
you place your hopes on Moses,
and Moses will be your accuser.
- 46 If you really believed him
you would believe me too,
since it was I that he was writing about;
- 47 but if you refuse to believe what he wrote,
how can you believe what I say?"

IV. ANOTHER PASSOVER, THE BREAD OF LIFE

The miracle of the loaves

- 1 6 Some time after this, Jesus went off to the other side of the Sea of Galilee—
2 or of Tiberias—and a large crowd followed him, impressed by the signs he 3 gave by curing the sick. Jesus climbed the hillside, and sat down there with his 4 disciples. It was shortly before the Jewish feast of Passover.
- 5 Looking up, Jesus saw the crowds approaching and said to Philip, "Where 6 can we buy some bread for these people to eat?" He only said this to test Philip;
7 he himself knew exactly what he was going to do. Philip answered, "Two hundred 8 denarii would only buy enough to give them a small piece each." One of his 9 disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, said, "There is a small boy here
10 with five barley loaves and two fish; but what is that between so many?" Jesus 11 said to them, "Make the people sit down." There was plenty of grass there, and 12 as many as five thousand men sat down. Then Jesus took the loaves, gave 13 thanks, and gave them out to all who were sitting ready; he then did the same with 14 the fish, giving out as much as was wanted. When they had eaten enough he 15 said to the disciples, "Pick up the pieces left over, so that nothing gets wasted." 16 So they picked them up, and filled twelve hampers with scraps left over from the 17 meal of five barley loaves. The people, seeing this sign that he had given, said, 18 "This really is the prophet who is to come into the world." Jesus, who could see 19 they were about to come and take him by force and make him king, escaped 20 back to the hills by himself.

Jesus walks on the waters

- 16 17 That evening the disciples went down to the shore of the lake and got into 18 a boat to make for Capernaum on the other side of the lake. It was getting 19 dark by now and Jesus had still not rejoined them. The wind was strong, and 20 the sea was getting rough. They had rowed three or four miles when they saw 21 Jesus walking on the lake and coming toward the boat. This frightened them, 22 but he said, "It is I. Do not be afraid." They were for taking him into the boat, 23 but in no time it reached the shore at the place they were making for.

The discourse in the synagogue at Capernaum

- 22 Next day, the crowd that had stayed on the other side saw that only one boat 23 had been there, and that Jesus had not got into the boat with his disciples, but 24 that the disciples had set off by themselves. Other boats, however, had put in 25 from Tiberias, near the place where the bread had been eaten. When the people saw that neither Jesus nor his disciples were there, they got into those 25 boats and crossed to Capernaum to look for Jesus. "When they found him on 26 the other side, they said to him, "Rabbi, when did you come here?" "Jesus answered:

"I tell you most solemnly,
you are not looking for me because you have seen the signs
but because you had all the bread you wanted to eat.
27 Do not work for food that cannot last,
but work for food that endures to eternal life,
the kind of food the Son of Man is offering you,
for on him the Father, God himself, has set his seal."

28 Then they said to him, "What must we do if we are to do the works that God 29 wants?" "Jesus gave them this answer, "This is working for God: you must 30 believe in the one he has sent." "So they said, "What sign will you give to show us 31 that we should believe in you? What work will you do? "Our fathers had manna to eat in the desert; as scripture says: He gave them bread from heaven to eat." 32 Jesus answered:

"I tell you most solemnly,
it was not Moses who gave you bread from heaven,
it is my Father who gives you the bread from heaven,
the true bread;
33 for the bread of God
is that which comes down from heaven
and gives life to the world."

34 "Sir," they said, "give us that bread always." "Jesus answered:

"I am the bread of life.
He who comes to me will never be hungry;
he who believes in me will never thirst.
36 But, as I have told you,
you can see me and still you do not believe.
37 All that the Father gives me will come to me,
and whoever comes to me
I shall not turn him away;
38 because I have come from heaven,
not to do my own will,
but to do the will of the one who sent me.
39 Now the will of him who sent me is that I should lose nothing of all that he has given to me, and that I should raise it up on the last day.
40 Yes, it is my Father's will that whoever sees the Son and believes in him
shall have eternal life,
and that I shall raise him up on the last day."

41 Meanwhile the Jews were complaining to each other about him, because he 42 had said, "I am the bread that came down from heaven." "Surely this is Jesus son of Joseph," they said. "We know his father and mother. How can he now say, 43 'I have come down from heaven?'" "Jesus said in reply, "Stop complaining to each other.

44 "No one can come to me
unless he is drawn by the Father who sent me,
and I will raise him up at the last day.

45 It is written in the prophets:
They will all be taught by God,^b and to hear the teaching of the Father,
 and learn from it,
 is to come to me.

46 Not that anybody has seen the Father, except the one who comes from God:
 he has seen the Father.

47 I tell you most solemnly,
 everybody who believes has eternal life.

48 I am the bread of life.

49 Your fathers ate the manna in the desert
 and they are dead;

50 but this is the bread that comes down from heaven,
 so that a man may eat it and not die.

51 I am the living bread which has come down from heaven.
 Anyone who eats this bread will live for ever;
 and the bread that I shall give is my flesh, for the life of the world.”

52 Then the Jews started arguing with one another: “How can this man give 53 us his flesh to eat?” they said. Jesus replied:

“I tell you most solemnly,
 if you do not eat the flesh of the Son of Man
 and drink his blood,
 you will not have life in you.

54 Anyone who does eat my flesh and drink my blood
 has eternal life,
 and I shall raise him up on the last day.

55 For my flesh is real food and my blood is real drink.

56 He who eats my flesh and drinks my blood lives in me
 and I live in him.

57 As I, who am sent by the living Father, myself draw life from the Father,
 so whoever eats me will draw life from me.

58 This is the bread come down from heaven;
 not like the bread our ancestors ate:
 they are dead,
 but anyone who eats this bread will live for ever.”

59 He taught this doctrine at Capernaum, in the synagogue. After hearing it, 60 many of his followers said, “This is intolerable language. How could anyone 61 accept it?” Jesus was aware that his followers were complaining about it and 62 said, “Does this upset you? What if you should see the Son of Man ascend to where he was before?”

63 “It is the spirit that gives life,
 the flesh has nothing to offer.
 The words I have spoken to you are spirit and they are life.

64 “But there are some of you who do not believe.” For Jesus knew from the outset 65 those who did not believe, and who it was that would betray him. He went on,

“This is why I told you that no one could come to me unless the Father allows him.” After this, many of his disciples left him and stopped going with him.

Peter's profession of faith

67 Then Jesus said to the Twelve, “What about you, do you want to go away too?” 68 Simon Peter answered, “Lord, who shall we go to? You have the message of 69 eternal life, and we believe; we know that you are the Holy One of God.”
 70 Jesus replied, “Have I not chosen you, you Twelve? Yet one of you is a devil.”
 71 He meant Judas son of Simon Iscariot, since this was the man, one of the Twelve, who was going to betray him.

V. THE FEAST OF TABERNACLES

Jesus goes up to Jerusalem for the feast and teaches there

1 7 After this Jesus stayed in Galilee; he could not stay in Judaea, because the 2 Jews were out to kill him.
 3 As the Jewish feast of Tabernacles drew near, his brothers^a said to him,
 4 “Why not leave this place and go to Judaea, and let your disciples^b see the works
 5 you are doing; if a man wants to be known he does not do things in secret; since 6 in fact, had faith in him. Jesus answered, “The right time for me has not come yet, 7 but any time is the right time for you. The world cannot hate you, but it does 8 hate me, because I give evidence that its ways are evil. Go up to the festival
 9 yourselves: I am not going to this festival, because for me the time is not ripe
 10 yet.” Having said that, he stayed behind in Galilee.
 11 However, after his brothers had left for the festival, he went up as well, but 12 quite privately, without drawing attention to himself. At the festival the Jews 13 were on the lookout for him: “Where is he?” they said. People stood in groups 14 whispering^c about him. Some said, “He is a good man”; others, “No, he is leading 15 the people astray.” Yet no one spoke about him openly, for fear of the Jews.
 16 When the festival was half over, Jesus went to the Temple and began to 17 teach. The Jews were astonished and said, “How did he learn to read? He has 18 not been taught.” Jesus answered them:

“My teaching is not from myself:
 it comes from the one who sent me;
 17 and if anyone is prepared to do his will,
 he will know whether my teaching is from God
 or whether my doctrine is my own.
 18 When a man's doctrine is his own
 he is hoping to get honor for himself;
 but when he is working for the honor of one who sent him, then he is sincere
 and by no means an impostor.
 19 Did not Moses give you the Law?
 And yet not one of you keeps the Law!
 20 “Why do you want to kill me?” The crowd replied, “You are mad! Who wants 21 to kill you?” Jesus answered, “One work I did, and you are all surprised by it.
 22 Moses ordered you to practice circumcision—not that it began with him, it goes 23 back to the patriarchs—and you circumcise on the sabbath. Now if a man can be circumcised on the sabbath so that the Law of Moses is not broken, why are you angry with me for making a man whole and complete on a sabbath?
 24 Do not keep judging according to appearances; let your judgment be according to what is right.”

The people discuss the origin of the Messiah

25 Meanwhile some of the people of Jerusalem were saying, "Isn't this the man 26 they want to kill?" And here he is, speaking freely, and they have nothing to say to him! Can it be true the authorities have made up their minds that he is 27 the Christ? Yet we all know where he comes from, but when the Christ appears no one will know where he comes from."^d

28 Then, as Jesus taught in the Temple, he cried out:

"Yes, you know me and you know where I came from.
Yet I have not come of myself:
no, there is one who sent me and I really come from him,
and you do not know him,
29 but I know him
because I have come from him
and it was he who sent me."

30 They would have arrested him then, but because his time had not yet come no one laid a hand on him.

Jesus foretells his approaching departure

31 There were many people in the crowds, however, who believed in him; they were saying, "When the Christ comes, will he give more signs than this man?" 32 Hearing that rumors like this about him were spreading among the people, the Pharisees sent the Temple police to arrest him.

33 Then Jesus said:

"I shall remain with you for only a short time now;
then I shall go back to the one who sent me.
34 You will look for me and will not find me:
where I am
you cannot come."

35 The Jews then said to one another, "Where is he going that we shan't be able to find him? Is he going abroad to the people who are dispersed among 36 the Greeks and will he teach the Greeks? What does he mean when he says:

'You will look for me and will not find me:
where I am,
you cannot come?'"

The promise of living water

37 On the last day and greatest day of the festival, Jesus stood there and cried out:

"If any man is thirsty, let him come to me!
38 Let the man come and drink who believes in me!"

As scripture says: From his breast shall flow fountains of living water.^e

39 He was speaking of the Spirit which those who believed in him were to receive;
for there was no Spirit as yet because Jesus had not yet been glorified.

Fresh discussions on the origin of the Messiah

40 Several people who had been listening said, "Surely he must be the prophet," 41 and some said, "He is the Christ," but others said, "Would the Christ be from

7 a. In the wide sense, as in Mt. 12:46: relations of his own generation. b. Those in Jerusalem and Judaea. c. Or "In the crowds there was whispering about him." d. Although the prophecy that the Messiah would be born in Bethlehem was well known, it was commonly believed that he would appear suddenly from some secret place. e. Life-giving water for Zion was a theme of the readings from scripture on the feast of Tabernacles (Zc. 14:8, Ezk. 47:1f); the liturgy included prayers for rain and the commemoration of the miracle of Moses and the water, Ex. 17.

42 Galilee? ·Does not scripture say that the Christ must be descended from David 43 and come from the town of Bethlehem?" ·So the people could not agree about 44 him. ·Some would have liked to arrest him, but no one actually laid hands on him.

45 The police went back to the chief priests and Pharisees who said to them, 46 "Why haven't you brought him?" ·The police replied, "There has never been 47 anybody who has spoken like him." "·So," the Pharisees answered, "you have been 48 led astray as well? ·Have any of the authorities believed in him? Any of the 49 Pharisees? ·This rabble knows nothing about the Law—they are damned."
50 One of them, Nicodemus—the same man who had come to Jesus earlier—said to 51 them, "·But surely the Law does not allow us to pass judgment on a man without 52 giving him a hearing and discovering what he is about?" ·To this they answered, "Are you a Galilean too? Go into the matter, and see for yourself: prophets do not come out of Galilee."

The adulterous woman/

53 They all went home, 8 and Jesus went to the Mount of Olives.

1/2 At daybreak he appeared in the Temple again; and as all the people came to him, he sat down and began to teach them.

3 The scribes and Pharisees brought a woman along who had been caught committing adultery; and making her stand there in full view of everybody, 4 they said to Jesus, "Master, this woman was caught in the very act of committing 5 adultery, ·and Moses has ordered us in the Law to condemn women like this to 6 death by stoning. What have you to say?" ·They asked him this as a test, looking for something to use against him. But Jesus bent down and started writing on 7 the ground with his finger. ·As they persisted with their question, he looked up and said, "If there is one of you who has not sinned, let him be the first to 8 throw a stone at her." ·Then he bent down and wrote on the ground again.
9 When they heard this they went away one by one, beginning with the eldest,
10 until Jesus was left alone with the woman, who remained standing there. ·He looked up and said, "Woman, where are they? Has no one condemned you?" 11 "No one, sir," she replied. "Neither do I condemn you," said Jesus, "go away and don't sin any more."

Jesus, the light of the world

12 When Jesus spoke to the people again, he said:

"I am the light of the world;
anyone who follows me will not be walking in the dark;
he will have the light of life."

A discussion on the testimony of Jesus to himself

13 At this the Pharisees said to him, "You are testifying on your own behalf;
14 your testimony is not valid." ·Jesus replied:

"It is true that I am testifying on my own behalf,
but my testimony is still valid,
because I know
where I came from and where I am going;
but you do not know where I come from or where I am going.
You judge by human standards;
I judge no one,
but if I judge,
my judgment will be sound,
because I am not alone:
the one who sent me is with me;
and in your Law it is written

that the testimony of two witnesses is valid.

18 I may be testifying on my own behalf,
but the Father who sent me is my witness too.”

19 They asked him, “Where is your Father?” Jesus answered:

“You do not know me, nor do you know my Father;
if you did know me, you would know my Father as well.”

20 He spoke these words in the Treasury, while teaching in the Temple. No one arrested him, because his time had not yet come.

The unbelieving Jews warned

21 Again he said to them:

“I am going away; you will look for me
and you will die in your sin.
Where I am going, you cannot come.”

22 The Jews said to one another, “Will he kill himself? Is that what he means by 23 saying, ‘Where I am going, you cannot come?’” •Jesus went on:

“You are from below;
I am from above.
You are of this world;
I am not of this world.

24 I have told you already: You will die in your sins.
Yes, if you do not believe that I am He,
you will die in your sins.”

25 So they said to him, “Who are you?” Jesus answered:

“What I have told you from the outset.
26 About you I have much to say and much to condemn;
but the one who sent me is truthful,
and what I have learned from him
I declare to the world.”

27 They failed to understand that he was talking to them about the Father.
28 So Jesus said:

“When you have lifted up the Son of Man, then you will know that I am He and that I do nothing of myself:
what the Father has taught me
is what I preach;
29 he who sent me is with me,
and has not left me to myself,
for I always do what pleases him.”

30 As he was saying this, many came to believe in him.

Jesus and Abraham

31 To the Jews who believed in him Jesus said:

“If you make my word your home
you will indeed be my disciples, 32 you will learn the truth
and the truth shall make you free.”

f. The author of this passage is not John; the oldest MSS do not include it or place it elsewhere. The style is that of the Synoptics.

33 They answered, "We are descended from Abraham and we have never been 34 the slaves of anyone, what do you mean, 'You will be made free?'" Jesus replied:

"I tell you most solemnly,
everyone who commits sin is a slave.
35 Now the slave's place in the house is not assured,
but the son's place is assured.
36 So if the Son makes you free,
you will be free indeed.
37 I know that you are descended from Abraham;
but in spite of that you want to kill me
because nothing I say has penetrated into you.
38 What I, for my part, speak of is what I have seen with my Father;
but you, you put into action
the lessons learned from your father."

39 They repeated, "Our father is Abraham." Jesus said to them:

"If you were Abraham's children,
you would do as Abraham did.
40 As it is, you want to kill me when I tell you the truth
as I have learned it from God;
that is not what Abraham did.
41 What you are doing is what your father does."

"We were not born of prostitution,"^a they went on, "we have one father: God."
42 Jesus answered:

"If God were your father, you would love me,
since I have come here from God; yes, I have come from him;
not that I came because I chose,
no, I was sent, and by him.
43 Do you know why you cannot take in what I say?
It is because you are unable to understand my language.
44 The devil is your father,
and you prefer to do
what your father wants.
He was a murderer from the start;
he was never grounded in the truth;
there is no truth in him at all:
when he lies
he is drawing on his own store,
because he is a liar, and the father of lies.
45 But as for me, I speak the truth
and for that very reason,
you do not believe me.
46 Can one of you convict me of sin?
If I speak the truth, why do you not believe me?
47 A child of God
listens to the words of God;
if you refuse to listen,
it is because you are not God's children."

48 The Jews replied. "Are we not right in saying that you are a Samaritan and possessed by a devil?" Jesus answered:

49 "I am not possessed;
no, I honor my Father,
but you want to dishonor me.

50 Not that I care for my own glory,
there is someone who takes care of that and is the judge of it.
51 I tell you most solemnly,
whoever keeps my word
will never see death."

52 The Jews said, "Now we know for certain that you are possessed. Abraham is dead, and the prophets are dead, and yet you say, 'Whoever keeps my word 53 will never know the taste of death.' 'Are you greater than our father Abraham, 54 who is dead? The prophets are dead too. Who are you claiming to be?' 'Jesus answered:

"If I were to seek my own glory
that would be no glory at all;
my glory is conferred by the Father,
by the one of whom you say, 'He is our God,' 55 although you do not know him.
But I know him,
and if I were to say: I do not know him,
I should be a liar, as you are liars yourselves.
But I do know him, and I faithfully keep his word.
56 Your father Abraham rejoiced to think that he would see my Day;
he saw it and was glad."

57 The Jews then said, "You are not fifty yet, and you have seen Abraham!"
58 Jesus replied:

"I tell you most solemnly,
before Abraham ever was,
I Am."

59 At this they picked up stones to throw at him^b; but Jesus hid himself and left the Temple.

The cure of the man born blind

1 9 As he went along, he saw a man who had been blind from birth. His disciples
2 asked him, "Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, for him to have been 3 born blind?" "Neither he nor his parents sinned," Jesus answered, "he was born blind so that the works of God might be displayed in him.

4 "As long as the day lasts
I must carry out the work of the one who sent me;
the night will soon be here when no one can work.
5 As long as I am in the world
I am the light of the world."

6 Having said this, he spat on the ground, made a paste with the spittle, put 7 this over the eyes of the blind man, and said to him, "Go and wash in the Pool of Siloam^a (a name that means "sent"). So the blind man went off and washed himself, and came away with his sight restored.

8 His neighbors and people who earlier had seen him begging said, "Isn't 9 this the man who used to sit and beg?" Some said, "Yes, it is the same one."
Others said, "No, he only looks like him." The man himself said, "I am the man."
10 So they said to him, "Then how do your eyes come to be open?" "The man called 11 Jesus" he answered, "made a paste, daubed my eyes with it and said to me, 'Go

^a By "prostitution" the prophets often mean religious infidelity, cf. Ho. 1:2. ^b Stoning was the penalty for blasphemy. Cf. 10:33.

^{9 a} Water from this pool was drawn during the feast of Tabernacles to symbolize the waters of blessing.

¹² and wash at Siloam'; so I went, and when I washed I could see." •They asked, "Where is he?" "I don't know," he answered.

¹³ They brought the man who had been blind to the Pharisees. •It had been a ¹⁴ sabbath day when Jesus made the paste and opened the man's eyes, •so when ¹⁵ the Pharisees asked him how he had come to see, he said, "He put a paste on ¹⁶ my eyes, and I washed, and I can see." •Then some of the Pharisees said, "This man cannot be from God: he does not keep the sabbath." Others said, "How could a sinner produce signs like this?" And there was disagreement among them.
¹⁷ So they spoke to the blind man again, "What have you to say about him yourself, now that he has opened your eyes?" "He is a prophet," replied the man.

¹⁸ However, the Jews would not believe that the man had been blind and had ¹⁹ gained his sight, without first sending for his parents and •asking them, "Is this man really your son who you say was born blind? If so, how is it that he is now ²⁰ able to see?" •His parents answered, "We know he is our son and we know he ²¹ was born blind, •but we don't know how it is that he can see now, or who ²² opened his eyes. He is old enough: let him speak for himself." •His parents spoke like this out of fear of the Jews, who had already agreed to expel from the ²³ synagogue anyone who should acknowledge Jesus as the Christ. •This was why his parents said, "He is old enough: ask him."

²⁴ So the Jews again sent for the man and said to him, "Give glory to God!^b ²⁵ For our part, we know that this man is a sinner." •The man answered, "I don't ²⁶ know if he is a sinner; I only know that I was blind and now I can see." •They ²⁷ said to him, "What did he do to you? How did he open your eyes?" •He replied, "I have told you once and you wouldn't listen. Why do you want to hear it all ²⁸ again? Do you want to become his disciples too?" •At this they hurled abuse ²⁹ at him: "You can be his disciple," they said, "we are disciples of Moses: •we know that God spoke to Moses, but as for this man, we don't know where he ³⁰ comes from." •The man replied, "Now here is an astonishing thing! He has ³¹ opened my eyes, and you don't know where he comes from! •We know that God doesn't listen to sinners, but God does listen to men who are devout and do his ³² will. •Ever since the world began it is unheard of for anyone to open the eyes
³³ of a man who was born blind; •if this man were not from God, he couldn't do ³⁴ a thing." •"Are you trying to teach us," they replied, "and you a sinner through and through, since you were born!" And they drove him away.

³⁵ Jesus heard they had driven him away, and when he found him he said to ³⁶ him, "Do you believe in the Son of Man?" •"Sir," the man replied, "tell me who ³⁷ he is so that I may believe in him." •Jesus said, "You are looking at him; he is ³⁸ speaking to you." •The man said, "Lord, I believe," and worshiped him.

³⁹ Jesus said:

"It is for judgment
that I have come into this world,
so that those without sight may see and those with sight turn blind."

⁴⁰ Hearing this, some Pharisees who were present said to him, "We are not blind, ⁴¹ surely?" •Jesus replied:

"Blind? If you were,
you would not be guilty,
but since you say, 'We see,'
your guilt remains.

The good shepherd

¹ 10 "I tell you most solemnly, anyone who does not enter the sheepfold through the gate, but gets in some other way is a thief and a brigand.
² The one who enters through the gate is the shepherd of the flock; •the ³ gatekeeper lets him in, the sheep hear his voice, one by one he calls his

4 own sheep and leads them out. ·When he has brought out his flock, he goes 5 ahead of them, and the sheep follow because they know his voice. ·They never follow a stranger but run away from him: they do not recognize the voice of strangers.”

6 Jesus told them^a this parable but they failed to understand what he meant by telling it to them.

7 So Jesus spoke to them again:

“I tell you most solemnly,
I am the gate of the sheepfold.

8 All others who have come
are thieves and brigands;
but the sheep took no notice of them.

9 I am the gate.

Anyone who enters through me will be safe:
he will go freely in and out
and be sure of finding pasture.

10 The thief comes only to steal and kill and destroy.

I have come
so that they may have life
and have it to the full.

11 I am the good shepherd:

the good shepherd is one who lays down his life for his sheep.

12 The hired man, since he is not the shepherd and the sheep do not belong to him, abandons the sheep and runs away
as soon as he sees a wolf coming,
and then the wolf attacks and scatters the sheep;
13 this is because he is only a hired man
and has no concern for the sheep.

14 I am the good shepherd;

I know my own
and my own know me, 15 just as the Father knows me
and I know the Father;
and I lay down my life for my sheep.

16 And there are other sheep I have
that are not of this fold,
and these I have to lead as well.
They too will listen to my voice,
and there will be only one flock,
and one shepherd.

17 The Father loves me, because I lay down my life
in order to take it up again.

18 No one takes it from me;
I lay it down of my own free will,
and as it is in my power to lay it down,
so it is in my power to take it up again;
and this is the command I have been given by my Father.”

19 These words caused disagreement among the Jews. ·Many said, “He is 20 possessed, he is raving; why bother to listen to him?” ·Others said, “These are 21 not the words of a man possessed by a devil: could a devil open the eyes of the blind?”

VI. THE FEAST OF DEDICATION

Jesus claims to be the Son of God

22 It was the time when the feast of Dedication was being celebrated in Jerusalem.
 23 It was winter, and Jesus was in the Temple walking up and down in the Portico 24 of Solomon. The Jews gathered around him and said, "How much longer are 25 you going to keep us in suspense? If you are the Christ, tell us plainly." Jesus replied:

"I have told you, but you do not believe.
 The works I do in my Father's name are my witness;
 26 but you do not believe,
 because you are no sheep of mine.
 27 The sheep that belong to me listen to my voice;
 I know them and they follow me.
 28 I give them eternal life;
 they will never be lost
 and no one will ever steal them from me.
 29 The Father who gave them to me is greater than anyone,
 and no one can steal from the Father.
 30 The Father and I are one."

31 The Jews fetched stones to stone him, so Jesus said to them, "I have done 32 many good works for you to see, works from my Father; for which of these 33 are you stoning me?" The Jews answered him, "We are not stoning you for doing a good work but for blasphemy: you are only a man and you claim to be God."
 34 Jesus answered:

"Is it not written in your Law:
I said, you are gods?^b
 35 So the Law uses the word gods of those to whom the word of God was addressed,
 and scripture cannot be rejected.
 36 Yet you say to someone the Father has consecrated and sent into the world,
 'You are blaspheming,'
 because he says, 'I am the Son of God.'
 37 If I am not doing my Father's work,
 there is no need to believe me;
 38 but if I am doing it,
 then even if you refuse to believe in me,
 at least believe in the work I do;
 then you will know for sure that the Father is in me and I am in the Father."

39 They wanted to arrest him then, but he eluded them.

Jesus withdraws to the other side of the Jordan

40 He went back again to the far side of the Jordan to stay in the district where 41 John had once been baptizing. Many people who came to him there said, "John 42 gave no signs, but all he said about this man was true"; and many of them believed in him.

The resurrection of Lazarus

1 11 There was a man named Lazarus who lived in the village of Bethany with 2 the two sisters, Mary and Martha, and he was ill.—It was the same Mary, the sister of the sick man Lazarus, who anointed the Lord with 3 ointment and wiped his feet with her hair. The sisters sent this message to 4 Jesus, "Lord, the man you love is ill." "On receiving the message, Jesus said, "The sickness will end not in death but in God's glory, and through it the Son of God will be glorified."

5 Jesus loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus, yet when he heard that 6 Lazarus was ill he stayed where he was for two more days before saying to the 7 disciples, "Let us go to Judaea." "The disciples said, "Rabbi, it is not long since 8 the Jews wanted to stone you; are you going back again?" "Jesus replied:

"Are there not twelve hours in the day?
A man can walk in the daytime without stumbling because he has the light of this world to see by;
but if he walks at night he stumbles,
because there is no light to guide him."

11 He said that and then added, "Our friend Lazarus is resting, I am going to 12 wake him." "The disciples said to him, "Lord, if he is able to rest he is sure to get 13 better." "The phrase Jesus used referred to the death of Lazarus, but they thought 14 that by "rest" he meant "sleep," so "Jesus put it plainly, "Lazarus is dead; and 15 for your sake I am glad I was not there because now you will believe. But let 16 us go to him." "Then Thomas—known as the Twin—said to the other disciples,
"Let us go too, and die with him."

17 On arriving, Jesus found that Lazarus had been in the tomb for four days 18 already. "Bethany is only about two miles from Jerusalem, and many Jews had 19 come to Martha and Mary to sympathize with them over their brother. "When 20 Martha heard that Jesus had come she went to meet him. Mary remained sitting 21 in the house. "Martha said to Jesus, "If you had been here, my brother would 22 not have died, but I know that, even now, whatever you ask of God, he will 23 grant you." "Your brother," said Jesus to her, "will rise again." "Martha said, 24 "I know he will rise again at the resurrection on the last day." "Jesus said:

"I am the resurrection.
If anyone believes in me, even though he dies he will live,
and whoever lives and believes in me
will never die.
Do you believe this?"

27 "Yes, Lord," she said, "I believe that you are the Christ, the Son of God, the one who was to come into this world."

28 When she had said this, she went and called her sister Mary, saying in a low 29 voice, "The Master is here and wants to see you." "Hearing this, Mary got up 30 quickly and went to him. "Jesus had not yet come into the village; he was still 31 at the place where Martha had met him. "When the Jews who were in the house sympathizing with Mary saw her get up so quickly and go out, they followed her, thinking that she was going to the tomb to weep there.

32 Mary went to Jesus, and as soon as she saw him she threw herself at his 33 feet, saying, "Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died." At 34 the sight of her tears, and those of the Jews who followed her, Jesus said in great 35 distress, with a sigh that came straight from the heart, "Where have you put 36 him?" They said, "Lord, come and see." "Jesus wept; and the Jews said, "See 37 how much he loved him!" "But there were some who remarked, "He opened the 38 eyes of the blind man, could he not have prevented this man's death?" "Still sighing, Jesus reached the tomb: it was a cave with a stone to close the opening.
39 Jesus said, "Take the stone away." Martha said to him, "Lord, by now he will 40 smell; this is the fourth day." "Jesus replied, "Have I not told you that if you 41 believe you will see the glory of God?" "So they took away the stone. Then Jesus lifted up his eyes and said:

42 "Father, I thank you for hearing my prayer.
I knew indeed that you always hear me,
but I speak
for the sake of all these who stand around me,
so that they may believe it was you who sent me."

43 When he had said this, he cried in a loud voice, "Lazarus, here! Come out!"
44 The dead man came out, his feet and hands bound with bands of stuff and a cloth around his face. Jesus said to them, "Unbind him, let him go free."

The Jewish leaders decide on the death of Jesus

45 Many of the Jews who had come to visit Mary and had seen what he did 46 believed in him, but some of them went to tell the Pharisees what Jesus had 47 done. Then the chief priests and Pharisees called a meeting. "Here is this man 48 working all these signs," they said, "and what action are we taking? If we let him go on in this way everybody will believe in him, and the Romans will come 49 and destroy the Holy Place and our nation." One of them, Caiaphas, the high priest that year, said, "You don't seem to have grasped the situation at all; 50 you fail to see that it is better for one man to die for the people, than for the 51 whole nation to be destroyed." He did not speak in his own person, it was as high priest that he made this prophecy that Jesus was to die for the nation—52 and not for the nation only, but to gather together in unity the scattered children
53 of God. From that day they were determined to kill him. So Jesus no longer 54 went about openly among the Jews, but left the district for a town called Ephraim, in the country bordering on the desert, and stayed there with his disciples.

VII. THE LAST PASSOVER

A. BEFORE THE PASSION

The Passover draws near

55 The Jewish Passover drew near, and many of the country people who had 56 gone up to Jerusalem to purify themselves looked out for Jesus, saying to one another as they stood about in the Temple, "What do you think? Will he come 57 to the festival or not?" The chief priests and Pharisees had by now given their orders: anyone who knew where he was must inform them so that they could arrest him.

The anointing at Bethany

1 12 Six days before the Passover, Jesus went to Bethany, where Lazarus
2 was, whom he had raised from the dead. They gave a dinner for him
3 there; Martha waited on them and Lazarus was among those at table. Mary brought in a pound of very costly ointment, pure nard, and with it anointed the 4 feet of Jesus, wiping them with her hair; the house was full of the scent of the ointment. Then Judas Iscariot—one of his disciples, the man who was to betray 5 him—said, "Why wasn't this ointment sold for three hundred denarii, and the 6 money given to the poor?" He said this, not because he cared about the poor, but because he was a thief; he was in charge of the common fund and used to 7 help himself to the contributions. So Jesus said, "Leave her alone; she had to 8 keep this scent for the day of my burial. You have the poor with you always, you will not always have me."

9 Meanwhile a large number of Jews heard that he was there and came not only on account of Jesus but also to see Lazarus whom he had raised from the 10 dead. Then the chief priests decided to kill Lazarus as well, since it was on his 11 account that many of the Jews were leaving them and believing in Jesus.

The Messiah enters Jerusalem

12 The next day the crowds who had come up for the festival heard that Jesus 13 was on his way to Jerusalem. They took branches of palm and went out to meet him, shouting, "Hosanna! Blessings on the King of Israel, who comes in the 14 name of the Lord."^a Jesus found a young donkey and mounted it—as scripture 15 says: "Do not be afraid, daughter of Zion; see, your king is coming, mounted on 16 the colt of a donkey."^b At the time his disciples did not understand this, but later, after Jesus had been glorified, they remembered that this had been written 17 about him and that this was in fact how they had received him. All who had been with him when he called Lazarus out of the tomb and raised him from the 18 dead were telling how they had witnessed it; it was because of this, too, that the crowd came out to meet him: they had heard that he had given this sign.
 19 Then the Pharisees said to one another, "You see, there is nothing you can do;
 look, the whole world is running after him!"

Jesus foretells his death and subsequent glorification

20 Among those who went up to worship at the festival were some Greeks.^c 21 These approached Philip, who came from Bethsaida in Galilee, and put this 22 request to him, "Sir, we should like to see Jesus." Philip went to tell Andrew, and Andrew and Philip together went to tell Jesus.
 23 Jesus replied to them:

"Now the hour has come for the Son of Man to be glorified.
 24 I tell you, most solemnly,
 unless a wheat grain falls on the ground and dies,
 it remains only a single grain;
 but if it dies,
 it yields a rich harvest.
 25 Anyone who loves his life loses it;
 anyone who hates his life in this world
 will keep it for the eternal life.
 26 If a man serves me, he must follow me,
 wherever I am, my servant will be there too.
 If anyone serves me, my Father will honor him.
 27 Now my soul is troubled.
 What shall I say:
 Father, save me from this hour?
 But it was for this very reason that I have come to this hour.
 28 Father, glorify your name!"

A voice came from heaven, "I have glorified it, and I will glorify it again."
 29 People standing by, who heard this, said it was a clap of thunder; others 30 said, "It was an angel speaking to him." Jesus answered, "It was not for my sake that this voice came, but for yours.

31 "Now sentence is being passed on this world;
 now the prince of this world is to be overthrown.^d 32 And when I am lifted up from the earth,
 I shall draw all men to myself."

33 By these words he indicated the kind of death he would die. The crowd 34 answered, "The Law has taught us that the Christ will remain for ever. How can 35 you say, 'The Son of Man must be lifted up?' Who is this Son of Man?" Jesus then said:

12 a. Ps. 118:26 b. Zc. 9:9f c. The "God-fearing men" of Ac. 10:2: converts who observed certain specific Mosaic observances. d. Satan.

36 “The light will be with you only a little longer now.
 Walk while you have the light,
 or the dark will overtake you;
 he who walks in the dark does not know where he is going.
 While you still have the light,
 believe in the light
 and you will become sons of light.”

Having said this, Jesus left them and kept himself hidden.

Conclusion: the unbelief of the Jews

37 Though they had been present when he gave so many signs, they did not 38 believe in him; this was to fulfill the words of the prophet Isaiah: Lord, who could believe what we have heard said, and to whom has the power of the Lord 39 been revealed?^c Indeed, they were unable to believe because, as Isaiah says 40 again: He has blinded their eyes, he has hardened their heart, for fear they should see with their eyes and understand with their heart, and turn to me for healing.^f 41 Isaiah said this when he saw his glory,^g and his words referred to Jesus.
 42 And yet there were many who did believe in him, even among the leading men, but they did not admit it, through fear of the Pharisees and fear of being 43 expelled from the synagogue: they put honor from men before the honor that comes from God.

44 Jesus declared publicly:

“Whoever believes in me
 believes not in me
 but in the one who sent me, 45 and whoever sees me,
 sees the one who sent me.
 46 I, the light, have come into the world,
 so that whoever believes in me
 need not stay in the dark any more.
 47 If anyone hears my words and does not keep them faithfully,
 it is not I who shall condemn him,
 since I have come not to condemn the world,
 but to save the world:
 48 he who rejects me and refuses my words
 has his judge already:
 the word itself that I have spoken
 will be his judge on the last day.
 49 For what I have spoken does not come from myself;
 no, what I was to say, what I had to speak,
 was commanded by the Father who sent me,
 50 and I know that his commands mean eternal life.
 And therefore what the Father has told me is what I speak.”

B. THE LAST SUPPER

Jesus washes his disciples' feet

1 13 It was before the festival of the Passover, and Jesus knew that the hour had come for him to pass from this world to the Father. He had always loved those who were his in the world, but now he showed how perfect his love was.
 2 They were at supper, and the devil had already put it into the mind of 3 Judas Iscariot son of Simon, to betray him. Jesus knew that the Father had put everything into his hands, and that he had come from God and was returning

4 to God, and he got up from table, removed his outer garment and, taking a 5 towel, wrapped it around his waist; he then poured water into a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet and to wipe them with the towel he was wearing.

6 He came to Simon Peter, who said to him, "Lord, are you going to wash my 7 feet?" Jesus answered, "At the moment you do not know what I am doing, but 8 later you will understand." "Never!" said Peter. "You shall never wash my feet."
Jesus replied, "If I do not wash you, you can have nothing in common with me."
9 "Then, Lord," said Simon Peter, "not only my feet, but my hands and my head
10 as well!" Jesus said, "No one who has taken a bath needs washing, he is clean 11 all over. You too are clean, though not all of you are." He knew who was going to betray him, that was why he said, "though not all of you are."

12 When he had washed their feet and put on his clothes again he went back 13 to the table. "Do you understand," he said, "what I have done to you? You call 14 me Master and Lord, and rightly; so I am. If I, then, the Lord and Master, 15 have washed your feet, you should wash each other's feet. I have given you an example so that you may copy what I have done to you.

16 "I tell you most solemnly,
no servant is greater than his master,
no messenger is greater than the man who sent him.

17 "Now that you know this, happiness will be yours if you behave accordingly.
18 I am not speaking about all of you: I know the ones I have chosen; but what scripture says must be fulfilled: Someone who shares my table rebels against me.^b

19 "I tell you this now, before it happens, so that when it does happen
you may believe that I am He.
20 I tell you most solemnly,
whoever welcomes the one I send welcomes me,
and whoever welcomes me welcomes the one who sent me."

The treachery of Judas foretold

21 Having said this, Jesus was troubled in spirit and declared, "I tell you most 22 solemnly, one of you will betray me." The disciples looked at one another, 23 wondering which he meant. The disciple Jesus loved was reclining next 24 to Jesus; Simon Peter signed to him and said, "Ask who it is he means," so 25 leaning back on Jesus' breast he said, "Who is it, Lord?" "It is the one," replied
26 Jesus, "to whom I give the piece of bread that I shall dip in the dish." He dipped 27 the piece of bread and gave it to Judas son of Simon Iscariot. At that instant, after Judas had taken the bread, Satan entered him. Jesus then said, "What you 28 are going to do, do quickly." None of the others at table understood the reason 29 he said this. Since Judas had charge of the common fund, some of them thought Jesus was telling him, "Buy what we need for the festival," or telling him to give 30 something to the poor. As soon as Judas had taken the piece of bread he went out. Night had fallen.

31 When he had gone Jesus said:

"Now has the Son of Man been glorified,
and in him God has been glorified.
32 If God has been glorified in him,
God will in turn glorify him in himself,^c
and will glorify him very soon.

Farewell discourses

33 "My little children,
I shall not be with you much longer.
You will look for me,
and, as I told the Jews,
where I am going,
you cannot come.
34 I give you a new commandment:
love one another;
just as I have loved you,
you also must love one another.
35 By this love you have for one another,
everyone will know that you are my disciples."

36 Simon Peter said, "Lord, where are you going?" Jesus replied, "Where I am 37 going you cannot follow me now; you will follow me later." Peter said to him, 38 "Why can't I follow you now? I will lay down my life for you." "Lay down your life for me?" answered Jesus. "I tell you most solemnly, before the cock crows you will have disowned me three times.

1 14 "Do not let your hearts be troubled.
Trust in God still, and trust in me.
2 There are many rooms in my Father's house;
if there were not, I should have told you.
I am going now to prepare a place for you,
3 and after I have gone and prepared you a place,
I shall return to take you with me;
so that where I am
you may be too.
4 You know the way to the place where I am going."

5 Thomas said, "Lord, we do not know where you are going, so how can we 6 know the way?" Jesus said:

"I am the Way, the Truth and the Life.
No one can come to the Father except through me.
7 If you know me, you know my Father too.
From this moment you know him and have seen him."

8 Philip said, "Lord, let us see the Father and then we shall be satisfied."
9 "Have I been with you all this time, Philip," said Jesus to him, "and you still do not know me?

"To have seen me is to have seen the Father,
so how can you say, 'Let us see the Father?'
10 Do you not believe that I am in the Father and the Father is in me?
The words I say to you I do not speak as from myself:
it is the Father, living in me, who is doing this work.
11 You must believe me when I say that I am in the Father and the Father is in me;
believe it on the evidence of this work, if for no other reason.
12 I tell you most solemnly,
whoever believes in me
will perform the same works as I do myself,
he will perform even greater works,
because I am going to the Father.
13 Whatever you ask for in my name I will do,
so that the Father may be glorified in the Son.

- 14 If you ask for anything in my name,
I will do it.
- 15 If you love me you will keep my commandments.
- 16 I shall ask the Father, and he will give you another Advocate^a
to be with you for ever, 17 that Spirit of truth whom the world can never receive since it neither sees nor knows him;
but you know him,
because he is with you, he is in you.
- 18 I will not leave you orphans;
I will come back to you.
- 19 In a short time the world will no longer see me;
but you will see me,
because I live and you will live.
- 20 On that day
you will understand that I am in my Father and you in me and I in you.
- 21 Anybody who receives my commandments and keeps them
will be one who loves me;
and anybody who loves me will be loved by my Father,
and I shall love him and show myself to him.”
- 22 Judas^b—this was not Judas Iscariot—said to him, “Lord, what is all this 23 about? Do you intend to show yourself to us and not to the world?” Jesus replied:

- “If anyone loves me he will keep my word,
and my Father will love him,
and we shall come to him
and make our home with him.
- 24 Those who do not love me do not keep my words.
And my word is not my own:
it is the word of the one who sent me.
- 25 I have said these things to you
while still with you;
26 but the Advocate, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name,
will teach you everything
and remind you of all I have said to you.
- 27 Peace^c I bequeath to you,
my own peace I give you,
a peace the world cannot give, this is my gift to you.
Do not let your hearts be troubled or afraid.
- 28 You heard me say:
I am going away, and shall return.
If you loved me you would have been glad to know that I am going to the Father,
for the Father is greater than I.
- 29 I have told you this now before it happens,
so that when it does happen you may believe.
- 30 I shall not talk with you any longer,
because the prince of this world is on his way.

31 He has no power over me, but the world must be brought to know that I love the Father and that I am doing exactly what the Father told me.
 Come now, let us go.

The true vine

1 15 "I am the true vine,
 and my Father is the vinedresser.
 2 Every branch in me that bears no fruit
 he cuts away,
 and every branch that does bear fruit he prunes
 to make it bear even more.
 3 You are pruned already,
 by means of the word that I have spoken to you.
 4 Make your home in me, as I make mine in you.
 As a branch cannot bear fruit all by itself,
 but must remain part of the vine,
 neither can you unless you remain in me.
 5 I am the vine,
 you are the branches.
 Whoever remains in me, with me in him,
 bears fruit in plenty;
 for cut off from me you can do nothing.
 6 Anyone who does not remain in me is like a branch that has been thrown away
 —he withers;
 these branches are collected and thrown on the fire,
 and they are burned.
 7 If you remain in me
 and my words remain in you,
 you may ask what you will
 and you shall get it.
 8 It is to the glory of my Father that you should bear much fruit,
 and then you will be my disciples.
 9 As the Father has loved me,
 so I have loved you.
 Remain in my love.
 10 If you keep my commandments
 you will remain in my love, just as I have kept my Father's commandments
 and remain in his love.
 11 I have told you this so that my own joy may be in you and your joy be complete.
 12 This is my commandment:
 love one another,
 as I have loved you.
 13 A man can have no greater love
 than to lay down his life for his friends.
 14 You are my friends,
 if you do what I command you.
 15 I shall not call you servants any more,
 because a servant does not know
 his master's business;
 I call you friends,
 because I have made known to you everything I have learned from my Father.

- 16 You did not choose me,
no, I chose you;
and I commissioned you
to go out and to bear fruit,
fruit that will last;
and then the Father will give you anything you ask him in my name.
17 What I command you
is to love one another.

The hostile world

- 18 "If the world hates you,
remember that it hated me before you.
19 If you belonged to the world,
the world would love you as its own;
but because you do not belong to the world,
because my choice withdrew you from the world,
therefore the world hates you.
20 Remember the words I said to you:
A servant is not greater than his master.
If they persecuted me,
they will persecute you too;
if they kept my word,
they will keep yours as well.
21 But it will be on my account that they will do all this,
because they do not know the one who sent me.
22 If I had not come,
if I had not spoken to them,
they would have been blameless;
but as it is they have no excuse for their sin.
23 Anyone who hates me hates my Father.
24 If I had not performed such works among them
as no one else has ever done,
they would be blameless;
but as it is, they have seen all this,
and still they hate both me and my Father.
25 But all this was only to fulfill the words written in their Law:
They hated me for no reason.^a 26 When the Advocate comes, whom I shall send to you from the Father,
the Spirit of truth who issues from the Father,
he will be my witness.
27 And you too will be witnesses,
because you have been with me from the outset.

- 1 16 "I have told you all this
so that your faith may not be shaken.
2 They will expel you from the synagogues, and indeed the hour is coming when anyone who kills you will think he is doing a holy duty for God.
3 They will do these things
because they have never known either the Father or myself.
4 But I have told you all this,
so that when the time for it comes you may remember that I told you.

The coming of the Advocate

4 "I did not tell you this from the outset,
 because I was with you;
 5 but now I am going to the one who sent me.
 Not one of you has asked, 'Where are you going?'
 6 Yet you are sad at heart because I have told you this.
 7 Still, I must tell you the truth:
 it is for your own good that I am going because unless I go,
 the Advocate will not come to you;
 but if I do go,
 I will send him to you.
 8 And when he comes,
 he will show the world how wrong it was,
 about sin,
 and about who was in the right,
 and about judgment:
 9 about sin:
 proved by their refusal to believe in me;
 10 about who was in the right:
 proved by my going to the Father and your seeing me no more; 11 about judgment:
 proved by the prince of this world being already condemned.
 12 I still have many things to say to you but they would be too much for you now.
 13 But when the Spirit of truth comes he will lead you to the complete truth,
 since he will not be speaking as from himself
 but will say only what he has learned;
 and he will tell you of the things to come.
 14 He will glorify me,
 since all he tells you will be taken from what is mine.
 15 Everything the Father has is mine;
 that is why I said:
 All he tells you
 will be taken from what is mine.

Jesus to return very soon

16 "In a short time you will no longer see me, and then a short time later you will see me again." 17 Then some of his disciples said to one another, "What does he mean, 'In a short time you will no longer see me, and then a short time later you will see me 18 again' and, 'I am going to the Father'? 'What is this 'short time'? We don't 19 know what he means." Jesus knew that they wanted to question him, so he said, "You are asking one another what I meant by saying: In a short time you will no longer see me, and then a short time later you will see me again.
 20 "I tell you most solemnly,
 you will be weeping and wailing
 while the world will rejoice;
 you will be sorrowful,
 but your sorrow will turn to joy.
 21 A woman in childbirth suffers,
 because her time has come;

but when she has given birth to the child she forgets the suffering in her joy that a man has been born into the world.

22 So it is with you: you are sad now, but I shall see you again, and your hearts will be full of joy,
and that joy no one shall take from you.

23 When that day comes,
you will not ask me any questions.
I tell you most solemnly,
anything you ask for from the Father
he will grant in my name.

24 Until now you have not asked for anything in my name.
Ask and you will receive,
and so your joy will be complete.

25 I have been telling you all this in metaphors,
the hour is coming
when I shall no longer speak to you in metaphors;
but tell you about the Father in plain words.

26 When that day comes
you will ask in my name;
and I do not say that I shall pray to the Father for you, because the Father himself loves you for loving me
and believing that I came from God.

28 I came from the Father and have come into the world and now I leave the world to go to the Father."

29 His disciples said, "Now you are speaking plainly and not using metaphors!
30 Now we see that you know everything, and do not have to wait for questions to 31 be put into words; because of this we believe that you came from God." •Jesus answered them:

32 "Do you believe at last?
Listen; the time will come—in fact it has come already—when you will be scattered, each going his own way and leaving me alone.
And yet I am not alone,
because the Father is with me.
33 I have told you all this
so that you may find peace in me.
In the world you will have trouble,
but be brave:
I have conquered the world."

The priestly prayer of Christ

17 After saying this, Jesus raised his eyes to heaven and said:

1 "Father, the hour has come:
glorify your Son
so that your Son may glorify you;
2 and, through the power over all mankind^a that you have given him, let him give eternal life to all those you have entrusted to him.
3 And eternal life is this:
to know you,
the only true God,
and Jesus Christ whom you have sent.

17 a. Literally, "all flesh."

4 I have glorified you on earth and finished the work
that you gave me to do.

5 Now, Father, it is time for you to glorify me with that glory I had with you before ever the world was.

6 I have made your name known to the men you took from the world to give me.
They were yours and you gave them to me,
and they have kept your word.

7 Now at last they know that all you have given me comes indeed from you;
8 for I have given them
the teaching you gave to me,
and they have truly accepted this, that I came from you,
and have believed that it was you who sent me.

9 I pray for them;
I am not praying for the world
but for those you have given me,
because they belong to you:
10 all I have is yours
and all you have is mine,
and in them I am glorified.

11 I am not in the world any longer,
but they are in the world,
and I am coming to you.
Holy Father,
keep those you have given me true to your name,
so that they may be one like us.

12 While I was with them,
I kept those you had given me true to your name.
I have watched over them and not one is lost except the one who chose to be lost,^b and this was to fulfill the scriptures.

13 But now I am coming to you and while still in the world I say these things to share my joy with them to the full.

14 I passed your word on to them,
and the world hated them,
because they belong to the world
no more than I belong to the world.

15 I am not asking you to remove them from the world,
but to protect them from the evil one.

16 They do not belong to the world
any more than I belong to the world.

17 Consecrate them in the truth;
your word is truth.

18 As you sent me into the world,
I have sent them into the world,
19 and for their sake I consecrate myself
so that they too may be consecrated in truth.

20 I pray not only for these,
but for those also
who through their words will believe in me.
21 May they all be one.
Father, may they be one in us,

as you are in me and I am in you,
 so that the world may believe it was you who sent me.
 22 I have given them the glory you gave to me,
 that they may be one as we are one.
 23 With me in them and you in me,
 may they be so completely one that the world will realize that it was you who sent me and that I have loved them as much as you loved me.
 24 Father,
 I want those you have given me
 to be with me where I am,
 so that they may always see the glory
 you have given me
 because you loved me
 before the foundation of the world.
 25 Father, Righteous One,
 the world has not known you,
 but I have known you,
 and these have known
 that you have sent me.
 26 I have made your name known to them
 and will continue to make it known,
 so that the love with which you loved me may be in them,
 and so that I may be in them."

C. THE PASSION

The arrest of Jesus

1 18 After he had said all this Jesus left with his disciples and crossed the 2 Kedron valley. There was a garden there, and he went into it with his 3 disciples. Judas the traitor knew the place well, since Jesus had often met his 4 disciples there, and he brought the cohort^a to this place together with a detach-5 ment of guards sent by the chief priests and the Pharisees, all with lanterns and 6 torches and weapons. Knowing everything that was going to happen to him, 7 Jesus then came forward and said, "Who are you looking for?" They answered,
 8 "Jesus the Nazarene." He said, "I am he." Now Judas the traitor was standing 9 among them. When Jesus said, "I am he," they moved back and fell to the ground.
 10 He asked them a second time, "Who are you looking for?" They said, "Jesus the 11 Nazarene." "I have told you that I am he," replied Jesus. "If I am the one you 12 are looking for, let these others go." This was to fulfill the words he had spoken,
 "Not one of those you gave me have I lost."

13 Simon Peter, who carried a sword, drew it and wounded the high priest's ser-14 vant, cutting off his right ear. The servant's name was Malchus. Jesus said to 15 Peter, "Put your sword back in its scabbard; am I not to drink the cup that the 16 Father has given me?"

Jesus before Annas and Caiaphas. Peter disowns him

17 The cohort and its captain and the Jewish guards seized Jesus and bound 18 him. They took him first to Annas, because Annas was the father-in-law of 19 Caiaphas, who was high priest that year. It was Caiaphas who had suggested 20 to the Jews, "It is better for one man to die for the people."

21 Simon Peter, with another disciple, followed Jesus. This disciple, who was 22 known to the high priest, went with Jesus into the high priest's palace, but

b. Literally, "the son of perdition."

18 a. A detachment from the Roman garrison in Jerusalem.

Peter stayed outside the door. So the other disciple, the one known to the high priest, went out, spoke to the woman who was keeping the door and brought Peter in. The maid on duty at the door said to Peter, "Aren't you another of that man's disciples?" He answered, "I am not." Now it was cold, and the servants and guards had lit a charcoal fire and were standing there warming themselves; so Peter stood there too, warming himself with the others.

The high priest questioned Jesus about his disciples and his teaching. Jesus answered, "I have spoken openly for all the world to hear; I have always taught in the synagogue and in the Temple where all the Jews meet together: I have said nothing in secret. But why ask me? Ask my hearers what I taught: they know what I said." At these words, one of the guards standing by gave Jesus a slap in the face, saying, "Is that the way to answer the high priest?" Jesus replied, "If there is something wrong in what I said, point it out; but if there is no offense in it, why do you strike me?" Then Annas sent him, still bound, to Caiaphas the high priest.

As Simon Peter stood there warming himself, someone said to him, "Aren't you another of his disciples?" He denied it saying, "I am not." One of the high priest's servants, a relation of the man whose ear Peter had cut off, said, "Didn't I see you in the garden with him?" Again Peter denied it; and at once a cock crew.

Jesus before Pilate

They then led Jesus from the house of Caiaphas to the Praetorium.^b It was now morning. They did not go into the Praetorium themselves or they would be defiled^c and unable to eat the passover. So Pilate came outside to them and said, "What charge do you bring against this man?" They replied, "If he were not a criminal, we should not be handing him over to you." Pilate said, "Take him yourselves, and try him by your own Law." The Jews answered, "We are not allowed to put a man to death." This was to fulfill the words Jesus had spoken indicating the way he was going to die.

So Pilate went back into the Praetorium and called Jesus to him, "Are you the king of the Jews?" he asked. Jesus replied, "Do you ask this of your own accord, or have others spoken to you about me?" Pilate answered, "Am I a Jew? It is your own people and the chief priests who have handed you over to me: what have you done?" Jesus replied, "Mine is not a kingdom of this world; if my kingdom were of this world, my men would have fought to prevent my being surrendered to the Jews. But my kingdom is not of this kind." "So you are a king then?" said Pilate. "It is you who say it," answered Jesus. "Yes, I am a king. I was born for this, I came into the world for this: to bear witness to the truth; and all who are on the side of truth listen to my voice." "Truth?" said Pilate, "What is that?"; and with that he went out again to the Jews and said, "I find no case against him. But according to a custom of yours I should release one prisoner at the Passover; would you like me, then, to release the king of the Jews?" At this they shouted: "Not this man," they said, "but Barabbas." Barabbas was a brigand.

19 Pilate then had Jesus taken away and scourged; and after this, the soldiers twisted some thorns into a crown and put it on his head, and dressed him in a purple robe. They kept coming up to him and saying, "Hail, king of the Jews!"; and they slapped him in the face.

Pilate came outside again and said to them, "Look, I am going to bring him out to you to let you see that I find no case." Jesus then came out wearing the crown of thorns and the purple robe. Pilate said, "Here is the man." When they saw him the chief priests and the guards shouted, "Crucify him! Crucify him!" Pilate said, "Take him yourselves and crucify him: I can find no case against him." "We have a Law," the Jews replied, "and according to that Law he ought to die, because he has claimed to be the Son of God."

8 When Pilate heard them say this his fears increased. Re-entering the Praetorium, he said to Jesus, "Where do you come from?" But Jesus made no answer.
 10 Pilate then said to him, "Are you refusing to speak to me? Surely you know I 11 have power to release you and I have power to crucify you?" "You would have no power over me," replied Jesus, "if it had not been given you from above; that is why the one who handed me over to you has the greater guilt."

Jesus is condemned to death

12 From that moment Pilate was anxious to set him free, but the Jews shouted,
 "If you set him free you are no friend of Caesar's; anyone who makes himself 13 king is defying Caesar." Hearing these words, Pilate had Jesus brought out, and seated himself on the chair of judgment at a place called the Pavement, in 14 Hebrew Gabbatha. It was Passover Preparation Day, about the sixth hour.^a 15 "Here is your king," said Pilate to the Jews. "Take him away, take him away!"
 they said. "Crucify him!" "Do you want me to crucify your king?" said Pilate.
 16 The chief priests answered, "We have no king except Caesar." So in the end Pilate handed him over to them to be crucified.

The crucifixion

17 They then took charge of Jesus, and carrying his own cross he went out of the city to the place of the skull or, as it was called in Hebrew, Golgotha, 18 where they crucified him with two others, one on either side with Jesus in the middle. Pilate wrote out a notice and had it fixed to the cross; it ran: "Jesus 19 the Nazarene, King of the Jews." The notice was read by many of the Jews, because the place where Jesus was crucified was not far from the city, and the 20 writing was in Hebrew, Latin and Greek. So the Jewish chief priests said to Pilate, "You should not write 'King of the Jews,' but 'This man said: I am King 21 of the Jews.'" Pilate answered, "What I have written, I have written."

Christ's garments divided

23 When the soldiers had finished crucifying Jesus they took his clothing and divided it into four shares, one for each soldier. His undergarment was seamless, 24 woven in one piece from neck to hem; so they said to one another, "Instead of tearing it, let's throw dice to decide who is to have it." In this way the words of scripture were fulfilled:

*They shared out my clothing among them.
 They cast lots for my clothes.^b*

This is exactly what the soldiers did.

Jesus and his mother

25 Near the cross of Jesus stood his mother and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary of Magdala. Seeing his mother and the disciple 26 he loved standing near her, Jesus said to his mother, "Woman, this is your son." 27 Then to the disciple he said, "This is your mother." And from that moment the disciple made a place for her in his home.

The death of Jesus

28 After this, Jesus knew that everything had now been completed, and to fulfill the scripture perfectly he said:

"I am thirsty."^c

 Cf. Lk. 7:6.

19 a. On Preparation Day, the Passover supper was made ready for eating after sunset. The sixth hour is midday, by which time all leaven had to be removed from the house; during the feast only unleavened bread was eaten. b. Ps. 22:18 c. Ps. 22:15

29 A jar full of vinegar stood there, so putting a sponge soaked in the vinegar on 30 a hyssop stick they held it up to his mouth. After Jesus had taken the vinegar he said, "It is accomplished"; and bowing his head he gave up his spirit.

The pierced Christ

31 It was Preparation Day, and to prevent the bodies remaining on the cross during the sabbath—since that sabbath was a day of special solemnity—the Jews 32 asked Pilate to have the legs broken^d and the bodies taken away. Consequently the soldiers came and broke the legs of the first man who had been crucified with 33 him and then of the other. When they came to Jesus, they found he was already 34 dead, and so instead of breaking his legs one of the soldiers pierced his side 35 with a lance; and immediately there came out blood and water. This is the evidence of one who saw it—trustworthy evidence, and he knows he speaks the 36 truth—and he gives it so that you may believe as well. Because all this happened to fulfill the words of scripture:

Not one bone of his will be broken,^e

37 and again, in another place scripture says:

They will look on the one whom they have pierced.^f

The burial

38 After this, Joseph of Arimathaea, who was a disciple of Jesus—though a secret one because he was afraid of the Jews—asked Pilate to let him remove the body of Jesus. Pilate gave permission, so they came and took it away.
39 Nicodemus came as well—the same one who had first come to Jesus at nighttime —and he brought a mixture of myrrh and aloes, weighing about a hundred 40 pounds. They took the body of Jesus and wrapped it with the spices in linen 41 cloths, following the Jewish burial custom. At the place where he had been crucified there was a garden, and in this garden a new tomb in which no one 42 had yet been buried. Since it was the Jewish Day of Preparation and the tomb was near at hand, they laid Jesus there.

VIII. THE DAY OF CHRIST'S RESURRECTION

The empty tomb

1 20 It was very early on the first day of the week and still dark, when Mary of Magdala came to the tomb. She saw that the stone had been moved 2 away from the tomb and came running to Simon Peter and the other disciple, the one Jesus loved. "They have taken the Lord out of the tomb," she said, "and we don't know where they have put him."

3 So Peter set out with the other disciple to go to the tomb. They ran together,
4 but the other disciple, running faster than Peter, reached the tomb first; he bent
5 down and saw the linen cloths lying on the ground, but did not go in. Simon
6 Peter who was following now came up, went right into the tomb, saw the linen 7 cloths on the ground, and also the cloth that had been over his head; this was 8 not with the linen cloths but rolled up in a place by itself. Then the other disciple 9 who had reached the tomb first also went in; he saw and he believed. Till this 10 moment they had failed to understand the teaching of scripture, that he must rise from the dead. The disciples then went home again.

The appearance to Mary of Magdala

11 Meanwhile Mary stayed outside near the tomb, weeping. Then, still weeping, 12 she stooped to look inside, and saw two angels in white sitting where the body
13 of Jesus had been, one at the head, the other at the feet. They said, "Woman, why are you weeping?" "They have taken my Lord away," she replied, "and I don't know where they have put him." As she said this she turned around and saw Jesus standing there, though she did not recognize him. Jesus said, "Woman, why are you weeping? Who are you looking for?" Supposing him to be the gardener, she said, "Sir, if you have taken him away, tell me where you have put him, and I will go and remove him." Jesus said, "Mary!" She knew him then and said to him in Hebrew, "Rabbuni!"—which means Master. Jesus said to her, "Do not cling to me, because I have not yet ascended to the Father. But go and find the brothers, and tell them: I am ascending to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God." So Mary of Magdala went and told the disciples that she had seen the Lord and that he had said these things to her.

Appearances to the disciples

In the evening of that same day, the first day of the week, the doors were closed in the room where the disciples were, for fear of the Jews. Jesus came and stood among them. He said to them, "Peace be with you," and showed them his hands and his side. The disciples were filled with joy when they saw the Lord, and he said to them again, "Peace be with you.

"As the Father sent me,
so am I sending you."

After saying this he breathed on them and said:

"Receive the Holy Spirit.
For those whose sins you forgive,
they are forgiven;
for those whose sins you retain,
they are retained."

Thomas, called the Twin, who was one of the Twelve, was not with them when Jesus came. When the disciples said, "We have seen the Lord," he answered, "Unless I see the holes that the nails made in his hands and can put my finger into the holes they made, and unless I can put my hand into his side, I refuse to believe." Eight days later the disciples were in the house again and Thomas was with them. The doors were closed, but Jesus came in and stood among them. "Peace be with you," he said. Then he spoke to Thomas, "Put your finger here; look, here are my hands. Give me your hand; put it into my side. Doubt no longer but believe." Thomas replied, "My Lord and my God!" Jesus said to him:

"You believe because you can see me.
Happy are those who have not seen and yet believe."

CONCLUSION

There were many other signs that Jesus worked and the disciples saw, but they are not recorded in this book. These are recorded so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the son of God, and that believing this you may have life through his name.

d. To hasten death. e. Two texts are here combined: Ps. 34:20 and Ex. 12:46. The allusion is both to God protecting the good man, and to the ritual for preparing the Passover lamb. f. Zc. 12:10

APPENDIX^cThe appearance on the shore of Tiberias

21 Later on, Jesus showed himself again to the disciples. It was by the Sea of Tiberias, and it happened like this: Simon Peter, Thomas called the Twin, Nathanael from Cana in Galilee, the sons of Zebedee and two more of his disciples were together. Simon Peter said, "I'm going fishing." They replied, "We'll come with you." They went out and got into the boat but caught nothing that night.

It was light by now and there stood Jesus on the shore, though the disciples did not realize that it was Jesus. Jesus called out, "Have you caught anything, friends?" And when they answered, "No," he said, "Throw the net out to starboard and you'll find something." So they dropped the net, and there were so many fish that they could not haul it in. The disciple Jesus loved said to Peter, "It is the Lord." At these words "It is the Lord," Simon Peter, who had practically nothing on, wrapped his cloak around him and jumped into the water. The other disciples came on in the boat, towing the net and the fish; they were only about a hundred yards from land.

As soon as they came ashore they saw that there was some bread there, and a charcoal fire with fish cooking on it. Jesus said, "Bring some of the fish you have just caught." Simon Peter went aboard and dragged the net to the shore, full of big fish, one hundred and fifty-three of them; and in spite of there being so many the net was not broken. Jesus said to them, "Come and have breakfast." None of the disciples was bold enough to ask, "Who are you?"; they knew quite well it was the Lord. Jesus then stepped forward, took the bread and gave it to them, and the same with the fish. This was the third time that Jesus showed himself to the disciples after rising from the dead.

After the meal Jesus said to Simon Peter, "Simon son of John, do you love me more than these others do?" He answered, "Yes Lord, you know I love you." Jesus said to him, "Feed my lambs." A second time he said to him, "Simon son of John, do you love me?" He replied, "Yes, Lord, you know I love you." Jesus said to him, "Look after my sheep." Then he said to him a third time, "Simon son of John, do you love me?" Peter was upset that he asked him the third time, "Do you love me?" and said, "Lord, you know everything; you know I love you." Jesus said to him, "Feed my sheep.

18 "I tell you most solemnly,
when you were young
you put on your own belt
and walked where you liked;
but when you grow old
you will stretch out your hands,
and somebody else will put a belt around you and take you where you would rather not go."

19 In these words he indicated the kind of death by which Peter would give glory to God. After this he said, "Follow me."

20 Peter turned and saw the disciple Jesus loved following them—the one who had leaned on his breast at the supper and had said to him, "Lord, who is it that will betray you?" Seeing him, Peter said to Jesus, "What about him, Lord?" Jesus answered, "If I want him to stay behind till I come, what does it matter to you? You are to follow me." The rumor then went out among the brothers that this disciple would not die. Yet Jesus had not said to Peter, "He will not die," but, "If I want him to stay behind till I come."

Conclusion

- ²⁴ This disciple is the one who vouches for these things and has written them down, and we know that his testimony is true.
- ²⁵ There were many other things that Jesus did; if all were written down, the world itself, I suppose, would not hold all the books that would have to be written.

INTRODUCTION TO THE ACTS OF THE APOSTLES

St. Luke's Gospel and The Acts of the Apostles are the two volumes of a single work that today we should call "a history of the rise of Christianity." The two books are inseparably linked by their Prologues and by their style. From the text of Acts it is evident that the author was a Christian of the apostolic age, either a thoroughly Hellenized Jew or more probably a well-educated "Greek" with a thorough knowledge of the Septuagint and of Jewish culture and traditions. No other name has ever been suggested than that of Luke, the close friend of Paul, who according to an ancient tradition was a Syrian from Antioch, a doctor and a convert from paganism.

Acts is in the form of a single continuous narrative. It begins with the birth and growth of the primitive Christian community in Jerusalem and tells of the founding of the community in Antioch by Hellenist Jews and the conversion of St. Paul; it goes on to show the spread of the Church outside Palestine through the missionary travels of Paul and ends with his captivity in Rome in A.D. 61-63. The narrative can be seen to be made up of separate episodes of varying lengths, all containing a great deal of circumstantial detail and commonly joined to each other by editorial formulae.

For the later journeys of Paul, Luke appears to have his own notes; the rest of the book confirms the claim made in the Prologue of the first volume (Lk. 1:1-4) that the author collected a large quantity of evidence from a variety of sources. In the editing of this, and the chronological arranging of it, a certain amount of repetition, fusion and anomalies in the order of incidents was unavoidable, but the basic reliability of the work may be seen by checking Luke's account of Paul's missionary activities with Paul's own letters, which were not among his sources. The historical worth of Acts is high, since it not only includes a major section which is an eye-witness account of the events described, but gives much detailed factual information which we should otherwise lack. Although Luke, like any other classical historian, took the freedom to reconstruct speeches which he had not himself heard, there is every evidence that he went back to true sources and treated them with respect: notice, for instance, the archaisms and Semitisms left in the reported speeches of Peter and Stephen, and the remarkable distinction between the simple theological background of the earliest Christian sermons and that of Paul's later teaching. It is also to be noticed that he can include a speech which failed to convince its hearers.

Thus Acts is a principal source for much of our knowledge of life in the earliest Christian communities, of the first impact made by the Christian faith on pagan nations, of the primitive beginnings of church organization, of the early developments of Christology, of the personalities of the apostolic age. Luke is, however, not interested in presenting a formal history of the spread of Christianity. What he is interested in is: 1. The spiritual energy inside Christianity that motivates its expansion, and 2. the spiritual doctrine that he can show by object lessons with the facts at his disposal.

THE ACTS OF THE APOSTLES

Prologue

¹/₂ 1 In my earlier work,^a Theophilus, I dealt with everything Jesus had done and taught from the beginning until the day he gave his instructions to the apostles he had chosen through the Holy Spirit, and was taken up to heaven. ³ He had shown himself alive to them after his Passion by many demonstrations: for forty days he had continued to appear to them and tell them about the kingdom of God. ⁴ When he had been at table with them, he had told them not to leave Jerusalem, but to wait there for what the Father had promised. “It is,” ⁵ he had said, “what you have heard me speak about: John baptized with water but you, not many days from now, will be baptized with the Holy Spirit.”

⁶ Now having met together,^b they asked him, “Lord, has the time come? Are ⁷ you going to restore the kingdom to Israel?” He replied, “It is not for you to ⁸ know times or dates that the Father has decided by his own authority, but you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you, and then you will be my witnesses not only in Jerusalem but throughout Judaea and Samaria, and indeed to the ends of the earth.”

⁹ As he said this he was lifted up while they looked on, and a cloud took him ¹⁰ from their sight. They were still staring into the sky when suddenly two men ¹¹ in white were standing near them and they said, “Why are you men from Galilee standing here looking into the sky? Jesus who has been taken up from you into heaven, this same Jesus will come back in the same way as you have seen him go there.”

I. THE JERUSALEM CHURCH

The group of apostles

¹² So from the Mount of Olives, as it is called, they went back to Jerusalem, ¹³ a short distance away, no more than a sabbath walk; and when they reached the city they went to the upper room where they were staying; there were Peter and John, James and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Matthew, ¹⁴ James son of Alphaeus and Simon the Zealot, and Jude son of James.^c All these joined in continuous prayer, together with several women, including Mary the mother of Jesus, and with his brothers.^d

The election of Matthias

¹⁵ One day Peter stood up to speak to the brothers^e—there were about a ¹⁶ hundred and twenty persons in the congregation: “Brothers, the passage of scripture had to be fulfilled in which the Holy Spirit, speaking through David, foretells the fate of Judas, who offered himself as a guide to the men who 17 arrested Jesus—after having been one of our number and actually sharing this 18 ministry of ours. As you know, he bought a field with the money he was paid for his crime. He fell headlong and burst open, and all his entrails poured out.

 19 Everybody in Jerusalem heard about it and the field came to be called the Bloody 20 Acre, in their language Hakeldama. Now in the Book of Psalms it says:

*Let his camp be reduced to ruin,
 Let there be no one to live in it!*

And again:

Let someone else take his office.⁹

21 “We must therefore choose someone who has been with us the whole time that 22 the Lord Jesus was traveling around with us, someone who was with us right from the time when John was baptizing until the day when he was taken up from us—and he can act with us as a witness to his resurrection.”

23 Having nominated two candidates, Joseph known as Barsabbas, whose 24 surname was Justus, and Matthias, they prayed, “Lord, you can read everyone’s 25 heart; show us therefore which of these two you have chosen to take over this ministry and apostolate which Judas abandoned to go to his proper place.” 26 They then drew lots for them, and as the lot fell to Matthias, he was listed as one of the twelve apostles.

Pentecost

1 2 When Pentecost day came around, they had all met in one room, when 2 suddenly they heard what sounded like a powerful wind from heaven, the 3 noise of which filled the entire house in which they were sitting; and something 4 appeared to them that seemed like tongues of fire; these separated and came to rest on the head of each of them. They were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and began to speak foreign languages as the Spirit gave them the gift of speech.

5 Now there were devout men living in Jerusalem from every nation under 6 heaven, and at this sound they all assembled, each one bewildered to hear these 7 men speaking his own language. They were amazed and astonished. “Surely,”
 8 they said, “all these men speaking are Galileans? How does it happen that each 9 of us hears them in his own native language? Parthians, Medes and Elamites;
 10 people from Mesopotamia, Judaea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia, Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Libya around Cyrene; as well as visitors 11 from Rome—Jews and proselytes^a alike—Cretans and Arabs; we hear them 12 preaching in our own language about the marvels of God.” Everyone was amazed and unable to explain it; they asked one another what it all meant.
 13 Some, however, laughed it off. “They have been drinking too much new wine,” they said.

Peter’s address to the crowd

14 Then Peter stood up with the Eleven and addressed them in a loud voice:
 “Men of Judaea, and all you who live in Jerusalem, make no mistake about 15 this, but listen carefully to what I say. These men are not drunk, as you 16 imagine; why, it is only the third hour of the day.^b On the contrary, this is what the prophet^c spoke of:

17 In the days to come—it is the Lord who speaks—
 I will pour out my spirit on all mankind.

1 a. The gospel according to Luke. b. This verse takes up the narrative broken off in Lk. 24:49. c. “Son” (of Alphaeus, of James) is not in the Greek. This Jude is not the Jude “brother” of Jesus, Mt. 13:55 and Mk. 6:3, and brother of James (Jude 1). Nor is it likely that “James of Alphaeus” was James brother of the Lord. d. Cousins, as in the gospels. e. The term for Christians, usually the laity as distinct from apostles and elders. f. Ps. 69:25 g. Ps. 109:8

2 a. Converts from paganism. b. About 9 A.M. c. Joel. See Jl. 3:1–5.

Their sons and daughters shall prophesy,
 your young men shall see visions,
 your old men shall dream dreams.

18 Even on my slaves, men and women,
 in those days, I will pour out my spirit.

19 I will display portents in heaven above
 and signs on earth below.

20 The sun will be turned into darkness
 and the moon into blood

before the great Day of the Lord dawns.

21 All who call on the name of the Lord will be saved.

22 "Men of Israel, listen to what I am going to say: Jesus the Nazarene was a man commended to you by God by the miracles and portents and signs that 23 God worked through him when he was among you, as you all know. "This man, who was put into your power by the deliberate intention and foreknowledge of God, you took and had crucified by men outside the Law.^d You killed him, 24 but God raised him to life, freeing him from the pangs of Hades; for it was 25 impossible for him to be held in its power since, "as David says of him:

*I saw the Lord before me always.
 for with him at my right hand nothing can shake me.*

26 So my heart was glad

*and my tongue cried out with joy;
 my body, too, will rest in the hope*

27 *that you will not abandon my soul to Hades
 nor allow your holy one to experience corruption.*

28 *You have made known the way of life to me,
 you will fill me with gladness through your presence.^e*

29 "Brothers, no one can deny that the patriarch David himself is dead and 30 buried: his tomb is still with us. "But since he was a prophet, and knew that God had sworn him an oath to make one of his descendants succeed him on the 31 throne,^f "what he foresaw and spoke about was the resurrection of the Christ:
 he is the one who was not abandoned to Hades, and whose body did not experience 32 corruption. "God raised this man Jesus to life, and all of us are witnesses to that.
 33 Now raised to the heights by God's right hand, he has received from the Father the Holy Spirit, who was promised, and what you see and hear is the outpouring 34 of that Spirit. "For David himself never went up to heaven; and yet these words are his:

The Lord said to my Lord:

*Sit at my right hand
 until I make your enemies
 a footstool for you.^g*

36 "For this reason the whole House of Israel can be certain that God has made this Jesus whom you crucified both Lord and Christ."

The first conversions

37 Hearing this, they were cut to the heart and said to Peter and the apostles, 38 "What must we do, brothers?" "You must repent," Peter answered, "and every one of you must be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of 39 your sins, and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. "The promise that was made is for you and your children, and for all those who are far away, for all 40 those whom the Lord our God will call to himself."^h "He spoke to them for a long time using many arguments, and he urged them, "Save yourselves from this 41 perverse generation." "They were convinced by his arguments, and they accepted what he said and were baptized. That very day about three thousand were added to their number.

The early Christian community

- 42 These remained faithful to the teaching of the apostles, to the brotherhood, to the breaking of bread and to the prayers.
- 43 The many miracles and signs worked through the apostles made a deep impression on everyone.
- 44 The faithful all lived together and owned everything in common; they sold their goods and possessions and shared out the proceeds among themselves according to what each one needed.
- 45
- 46 They went as a body to the Temple every day but met in their houses for the
- 47 breaking of bread; they shared their food gladly and generously; they praised God and were looked up to by everyone. Day by day the Lord added to their community those destined to be saved.

The cure of a lame man

- 1 3 Once, when Peter and John were going up to the Temple for the prayers at
- 2 the ninth hour,^a it happened that there was a man being carried past. He was a cripple from birth; and they used to put him down every day near the Temple entrance called the Beautiful Gate so that he could beg from the people
- 3 going in. When this man saw Peter and John on their way into the Temple he
- 4 begged from them. Both Peter and John looked straight at him and said, "Look
- 5 at us." He turned to them expectantly, hoping to get something from them,
- 6 but Peter said, "I have neither silver nor gold, but I will give you what I have:
- 7 in the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene, walk!" Peter then took him by
- 8 the hand and helped him to stand up. Instantly his feet and ankles became firm,
- 9 he jumped up, stood, and began to walk, and he went with them into the Temple,
- 10 walking and jumping and praising God. Everyone could see him walking and
- 11 praising God, and they recognized him as the man who used to sit begging at the Beautiful Gate of the Temple. They were all astonished and unable to explain what had happened to him.

Peter's address to the people

- 11 Everyone came running toward them in great excitement, to the Portico of Solomon, as it is called, where the man was still clinging to Peter and John.
- 12 When Peter saw the people he addressed them, "Why are you so surprised at this? Why are you staring at us as though we had made this man walk by our
- 13 own power or holiness? You are Israelites, and it is the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, the God of our ancestors, who has glorified his servant^b Jesus, the same
- 14 Jesus you handed over and then disowned in the presence of Pilate after Pilate had decided to release him. It was you who accused the Holy One, the Just
- 15 One, you who demanded the reprieve of a murderer while you killed the prince of life. God, however, raised him from the dead, and to that fact we are the
- 16 witnesses; and it is the name of Jesus which, through our faith in it, has brought back the strength of this man whom you see here and who is well known to you. It is faith in that name that has restored this man to health, as you can all see.
- 17 "Now I know, brothers, that neither you nor your leaders had any idea what
- 18 you were really doing; this was the way God carried out what he had foretold,
- 19 when he said through all his prophets that his Christ would suffer. Now you must repent and turn to God, so that your sins may be wiped out, and so
- 20 that the Lord may send the time of comfort. Then he will send you the Christ
- 21 he has predestined, that is Jesus, whom heaven must keep till the universal restoration comes which God proclaimed, speaking through his holy prophets.

22 Moses, for example, said: The Lord God will raise up a prophet like myself for you, 23 from among your own brothers; you must listen to whatever he tells you. The 24 man who does not listen to that prophet is to be cut off from the people.^c In fact, all the prophets that have ever spoken, from Samuel onward, have predicted these days.

25 “You are the heirs of the prophets, the heirs of the covenant God made with our ancestors when he told Abraham: in your offspring all the families of the earth 26 will be blessed.^d It was for you in the first place that God raised up his servant and sent him to bless you by turning every one of you from your wicked ways.”

Peter and John before the Sanhedrin

1 4 While they were still talking to the people the priests came up to them, accom-2 panied by the captain of the Temple and the Sadducees.^a They were extremely annoyed at their teaching the people the doctrine of the resurrection from the 3 dead by proclaiming the resurrection of Jesus. They arrested them, but as it 4 was already late, they held them till the next day. But many of those who had listened to their message became believers, the total number of whom had now risen to something like five thousand.

5 The next day the rulers, elders and scribes^b had a meeting in Jerusalem with 6 Annas the high priest, Caiaphas, Jonathan, Alexander and all the members 7 of the high-priestly families. They made the prisoners stand in the middle and began to interrogate them, “By what power, and by whose name have you men 8 done this?” Then Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit, addressed them, “Rulers of 9 the people, and elders! If you are questioning us today about an act of kindness 10 to a cripple, and asking us how he was healed, then I am glad to tell you all, and would indeed be glad to tell the whole people of Israel, that it was by the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene, the one you crucified, whom God raised from the dead, by this name and by no other that this man is able to stand up 11 perfectly healthy, here in your presence, today. This is the stone rejected by you 12 the builders, but which has proved to be the keystone.^c For of all the names in the world given to men, this is the only one by which we can be saved.”

13 They were astonished at the assurance shown by Peter and John, considering they were uneducated laymen; and they recognized them as associates of Jesus; 14 but when they saw the man who had been cured standing by their side, they could 15 find no answer. So they ordered them to stand outside while the Sanhedrin had 16 a private discussion. “What are we going to do with these men?” they asked.
 “It is obvious to everybody in Jerusalem that a miracle has been worked through 17 them in public, and we cannot deny it. But to stop the whole thing spreading any further among the people, let us caution them never to speak to anyone in this name again.”

18 So they called them in and gave them a warning on no account to make 19 statements or to teach in the name of Jesus. But Peter and John retorted, “You 20 must judge whether in God’s eyes it is right to listen to you and not to God. We 21 cannot promise to stop proclaiming what we have seen and heard.” The court repeated the warnings and then released them; they could not think of any way to punish them, since all the people were giving glory to God for what 22 had happened. The man who had been miraculously cured was over forty years old.

The apostles’ prayer under persecution

23 As soon as they were released they went to the community and told them 24 everything the chief priests and elders had said to them. When they heard it they lifted up their voice to God all together. “Master,” they prayed, “it is you 25 who made heaven and earth and sea, and everything in them; you it is who said through the Holy Spirit and speaking through our ancestor David, your servant:

*Why this arrogance among the nations,
these futile plots among the peoples?*

26 *Kings on earth setting out to war,
princes making an alliance,
against the Lord and against his Anointed.^d*

27 “This is what has come true: in this very city Herod and Pontius Pilate made 28 an alliance with the pagan nations and the peoples of Israel, against your holy 28 servant Jesus whom you anointed,^e but only to bring about the very thing that you 29 in your strength and your wisdom had predetermined should happen. And now, Lord, take note of their threats and help your servants to proclaim your 30 message with all boldness, by stretching out your hand to heal and to work 31 miracles and marvels through the name of your holy servant Jesus.” As they prayed, the house where they were assembled rocked; they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to proclaim the word of God boldly.

The early Christian community

32 The whole group of believers was united, heart and soul; no one claimed for his own use anything that he had, as everything they owned was held in common.

33 The apostles continued to testify to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus with great power, and they were all given great respect.

34 None of their members was ever in want, as all those who owned land or 35 houses would sell them, and bring the money from them, to present it to the apostles; it was then distributed to any members who might be in need.

The generosity of Barnabas

36 There was a Levite of Cypriot origin called Joseph whom the apostles surnamed 37 Barnabas (which means “son of encouragement”). He owned a piece of land and he sold it and brought the money, and presented it to the apostles.

The fraud of Ananias and Sapphira

1 5 There was another man, however, called Ananias. He and his wife, Sapphira, 2 agreed to sell a property; but with his wife’s connivance he kept back part of 3 the proceeds, and brought therestand presented it to the apostles. “Ananias,” Peter said, “how can Satan have so possessed you that you should lie to the Holy Spirit 4 and keep back part of the money from the land? While you still owned the land, wasn’t it yours to keep, and after you had sold it wasn’t the money yours to do with as you liked? What put this scheme into your mind? It is not to men that 5 you have lied, but to God.” When he heard this Ananias fell down dead. This 6 made a profound impression on everyone present. The younger men got up, wrapped the body in a sheet, carried it out and buried it.

7 About three hours later his wife came in, not knowing what had taken place.
8 Peter challenged her, “Tell me, was this the price you sold the land for?” “Yes,” 9 she said, “that was the price.” Peter then said, “So you and your husband have agreed to put the Spirit of the Lord to the test! What made you do it? You hear those footsteps? They have just been to bury your husband; they will carry you out, 10 too.” Instantly she dropped dead at his feet. When the young men came in they found she was dead, and they carried her out and buried her by the side of her 11 husband. This made a profound impression on the whole Church and on all who heard it.

c. Dt. 18:18,19 d. Gn. 12:3

4 a. The Sadducees (see note on Mt. 3:7) are always represented as denying the doctrine of the resurrection, e.g., Ac. 23. b. I.e., the Sanhedrin, explained for the non-Jewish reader. c. Ps. 118:22 d. Ps. 2:1-2 e. I.e., made the Christ, the anointed Messiah.

The general situation

12b They all used to meet by common consent in the Portico of Solomon. •No one 13 else ever dared to join them, but the people were loud in their praise •and the 14 numbers of men and women who came to believe in the Lord increased steadily.
12a So many signs and wonders were worked among the people at the hands of the 15 apostles •that the sick were even taken out into the streets and laid on beds and sleeping mats in the hope that at least the shadow of Peter might fall across some 16 of them as he went past. •People even came crowding in from the towns around about Jerusalem, bringing with them their sick and those tormented by unclean spirits, and all of them were cured.

The apostles' arrest and miraculous deliverance

17 Then the high priest intervened with all his supporters from the party of the 18 Sadducees. Prompted by jealousy, •they arrested the apostles and had them put in the common jail.

19 But at night the angel of the Lord opened the prison gates and said as he led 20 them out, “Go and stand in the Temple, and tell the people all about this new 21 Life.” •They did as they were told; they went into the Temple at dawn and began to preach.

A summons to appear before the Sanhedrin

When the high priest arrived, he and his supporters convened the Sanhedrin
—this was the full Senate of Israel—and sent to the jail for them to be brought.
22 But when the officials arrived at the prison they found they were not inside, so 23 they went back and reported, “We found the jail securely locked and the warders on duty at the gates, but when we unlocked the door we found no one inside.” 24 When the captain of the Temple and the chief priests heard this news they 25 wondered what this could mean. •Then a man arrived with fresh news.
“At this very moment,” he said, “the men you imprisoned are in the Temple.
26 They are standing there preaching to the people.” •The captain went with his men and fetched them. They were afraid to use force in case the people stoned them.

27 When they had brought them in to face the Sanhedrin, the high priest 28 demanded an explanation. “We gave you a formal warning,” he said, “not to preach in this name, and what have you done? You have filled Jerusalem with your teaching, and seem determined to fix the guilt of this man’s death on us.”
29 In reply Peter and the apostles said, “Obedience to God comes before obedience 30 to men; it was the God of our ancestors who raised up Jesus, but it was you 31 who had him executed by hanging on a tree.^a •By his own right hand God has now raised him up to be leader and savior, to give repentance and forgiveness 32 of sins through him to Israel. •We are witnesses to all this, we and the Holy 33 Spirit whom God has given to those who obey him.” •This so infuriated them that they wanted to put them to death.

Gamaliel's intervention

34 One member of the Sanhedrin, however, a Pharisee called Gamaliel, who was a doctor of the Law and respected by the whole people,^b stood up and asked 35 to have the men taken outside for a time. •Then he addressed the Sanhedrin, 36 “Men of Israel, be careful how you deal with these people. •There was Theudas who became notorious not so long ago. He claimed to be someone important, and he even collected about four hundred followers; but when he was killed, 37 all his followers scattered and that was the end of them. •And then there was Judas the Galilean, at the time of the census, who attracted crowds of supporters; 38 but he got killed too, and all his followers dispersed. •What I suggest, therefore, is that you leave these men alone and let them go. If this enterprise, this movement 39 of theirs, is of human origin it will break up of its own accord; •but if it does in fact come from God you will not only be unable to destroy them, but you might find yourselves fighting against God.”

40 His advice was accepted; and they had the apostles called in, gave orders for them to be flogged, warned them not to speak in the name of Jesus and 41 released them. And so they left the presence of the Sanhedrin glad to have had the honor of suffering humiliation for the sake of the name.

42 They preached every day both in the Temple and in private houses, and their proclamation of the Good News of Christ Jesus was never interrupted.

II. THE EARLIEST MISSIONS

The institution of the Seven

1 6 About this time, when the number of disciples was increasing, the Hellenists made a complaint against the Hebrews^a: in the daily distribution their own
2 widows were being overlooked. So the Twelve called a full meeting of the disciples and addressed them, “It would not be right for us to neglect the word
3 of God so as to give out food; you, brothers, must select from among yourselves seven men of good reputation, filled with the Spirit and with wisdom; we will 4 hand over this duty to them, and continue to devote ourselves to prayer and 5 to the service of the word.” The whole assembly approved of this proposal and elected Stephen, a man full of faith and of the Holy Spirit, together with Philip, Prochorus, Nicanor, Timon, Parmenas, and Nicolaus of Antioch, a convert to 6 Judaism. They presented these to the apostles, who prayed and laid their hands on them.^b

7 The word of the Lord continued to spread: the number of disciples in Jerusalem was greatly increased, and a large group of priests made their submission to the faith.

Stephen's arrest

8 Stephen was filled with grace and power and began to work miracles and 9 great signs among the people. But then certain people came forward to debate with Stephen, some from Cyrene and Alexandria who were members of the synagogue called the Synagogue of Freedmen,^c and others from Cilicia and Asia.
10 They found they could not get the better of him because of his wisdom, and 11 because it was the Spirit that prompted what he said. So they procured some men to say, “We heard him using blasphemous language against Moses and against 12 God.” Having in this way turned the people against him as well as the elders and scribes, they took Stephen by surprise, and arrested him and brought him 13 before the Sanhedrin. There they put up false witnesses to say, “This man 14 is always making speeches against this Holy Place and the Law. We have heard him say that Jesus the Nazarene is going to destroy this Place and alter the 15 traditions that Moses handed down to us.” The members of the Sanhedrin all looked intently at Stephen, and his face appeared to them like the face of an angel.

Stephen's speech

1 7 The high priest asked, “Is this true?” He replied, “My brothers, my fathers, 2 listen to what I have to say. The God of glory appeared to our ancestor Abraham,
3 while he was in Mesopotamia before settling in Haran, and said to him, ‘Leave

5 a. The phrase recalls Dt. 21:23. b. Gamaliel I, a Pharisee of the school of Hillel; he was Paul's teacher.

6 a. “Hellenists”: Jews from outside Palestine; they had their own synagogues in Jerusalem, where the scriptures were read in Greek. The “Hebrews” were Palestinian Jews and in their synagogues scriptures were read in Hebrew. b. “and they prayed and laid their hands on them”; probably meaning the apostles, handing over their duties as in v. 3. c. Probably the descendants of Jews carried off to Rome, 63 B.C. and sold as slaves but later released.

4 your country and your family and go to the land I will show you.^a So he left Chaldea and settled in Haran; and after his father died God made him leave 5 Haran and come to this land where you are living today. God did not give him a single square foot of this land to call his own, yet he promised to give it to him 6 and after him to his descendants, childless^b though he was. The actual words God used when he spoke to him are that his descendants would be exiles in a foreign land, 7 where they would be slaves and oppressed for four hundred years. 'But I will pass judgment on the nation that enslaves them,' God said, 'and after this they will leave 8 and worship me in this place.'^c Then he made the covenant of circumcision: so when his son Isaac was born he circumcised him on the eighth day. Isaac did the same for Jacob, and Jacob for the twelve patriarchs.

9 "The patriarchs were jealous of Joseph and sold him into slavery in Egypt.^d But 10 God was with him,^e and rescued him from all his miseries by making him wise enough to attract the attention of Pharaoh king of Egypt, who made him governor 11 of Egypt^f and put him in charge of the royal household. Then a famine came that caused much suffering throughout Egypt and Canaan, and our ancestors could 12 find nothing to eat. When Jacob heard that there was grain for sale in Egypt, 13 he sent our ancestors there on a first visit, but it was on the second that Joseph 14 made himself known to his brothers, and told Pharaoh about his family. Joseph then sent for his father Jacob and his whole family, a total of seventy-five people.
15 Jacob went down into Egypt and after he and our ancestors had died there, 16 their bodies were brought back to Shechem and buried in the tomb that Abraham had bought and paid for from the sons of Hamor, the father of Shechem.

17 "As the time drew near for God to fulfill the promise he had solemnly made 18 to Abraham, our nation in Egypt grew larger and larger, until a new king came 19 to power in Egypt who knew nothing of^g Joseph. He exploited our race, and ill-treated our ancestors, forcing them to expose their babies to prevent their 20 surviving. It was at this period that Moses was born, a fine child and favored 21 by God. He was looked after for three months in his father's house, and after he had been exposed, Pharaoh's daughter adopted him and brought him up 22 as her own son. So Moses was taught all the wisdom of the Egyptians and became a man with power both in his speech and his actions.

23 "At the age of forty he decided to visit his countrymen, the sons of Israel. When 24 he saw one of them being ill-treated he went to his defense and rescued the man by 25 killing the Egyptian. He thought his brothers realized that through him God 26 would liberate them, but they did not. The next day, when he came across some of them fighting, he tried to reconcile them. 'Friends,' he said, 'you are 27 brothers; why are you hurting each other?' But the man who was attacking his fellow countryman pushed him aside. 'And who appointed you,' he said, 'to be our 28 leader and judge?' Do you intend to kill me as you killed the Egyptian yesterday?
29 Moses fled when he heard this^h and he went to stay in the land of Midian, where he became the father of two sons.

30 "Forty years later, in the wilderness near Mount Sinai, an angel appeared to him
31 in the flames of a bush that was on fire. Moses was amazed by what he saw.
32 As he went nearer to look at it the voice of the Lord was heard, 'I am the God of your ancestors, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.' Moses trembled and did not 33 dare to look any more. The Lord said to him, 'Take off your shoes; the place where 34 you are standing is holy ground. I have seen the way my people are ill-treated in Egypt, I have heard their groans, and I have come down to liberate them. So come here and let me send you into Egypt.'

35 "It was the same Moses that they had disowned when they said, 'Who appointed you to be our leader and judge?' who was now sent to be both leader 36 and redeemer through the angel who had appeared to him in the bush. It was Moses who, after performing miracles and signs in Egypt, led them out across the 37 Red Sea and *through the wilderness for forty years.*ⁱ It was Moses who told the sons of Israel, 'God will raise up a prophet like myself for you from among

38 your own brothers.^j When they held the assembly in the wilderness it was only through Moses that our ancestors could communicate with the angel who had spoken to him on Mount Sinai; it was he who was entrusted with words of life
 39 to hand on to us. This is the man that our ancestors refused to listen to: they 40 pushed him aside, turned back to Egypt in their thoughts, and said to Aaron, 'Make some gods to be our leaders; we do not understand what has come over this 41 Moses who led us out of Egypt.'^k It was then that they made a bull calf and offered sacrifice to the idol. They were perfectly happy with something they had made 42 for themselves. God turned away from them and abandoned them to the worship of the army of heaven,^l as scripture says in the book of the prophets:

Did you bring me victims and sacrifices in the wilderness for all those forty years, you House of Israel?

43 No, you carried the tent of Moloch on your shoulders and the star of the god Rephan, those idols that you had made to adore. So now I will exile you even further than Babylon.^m

44 "While they were in the desert our ancestors possessed the Tent of Testimony that had been constructed according to the instructions God gave Moses, telling 45 him to *make an exact copy of the pattern*ⁿ he had been shown. It was handed down from one ancestor of ours to another until Joshua brought it into the country we had conquered from the nations which were driven out by God as 46 we advanced. Here it stayed until the time of David. He won God's favor and asked permission to have a temple built for the House of Jacob, though it was 47 Solomon who actually built God's house^o for him. Even so the Most High does not live in a house that human hands have built: for as the prophet says:

49 With heaven my throne and earth my footstool, what house could you build me, what place could you make for my rest?
 50 Was not all this made by hand?^p

51 "You stubborn people, with your pagan hearts and pagan ears. You are always 52 resisting the Holy Spirit, just as your ancestors used to do. Can you name a single prophet your ancestors never persecuted? In the past they killed those who foretold the coming of the Just One, and now you have become his 53 betrayers, his murderers. You who had the Law brought to you by angels are the very ones who have not kept it."

54 They were infuriated when they heard this, and ground their teeth at him.

The stoning of Stephen. Saul as persecutor

55 But Stephen, filled with the Holy Spirit, gazed into heaven and saw the glory
 56 of God, and Jesus standing at God's right hand. "I can see heaven thrown open,"
 57 he said, "and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God." At this all the members of the council shouted out and stopped their ears with their hands; then 58 they all rushed at him, sent him out of the city and stoned him. The witnesses^q put down their clothes at the feet of a young man called Saul. As they were stoning him, Stephen said in invocation, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit."
 60 Then he knelt down and said aloud, "Lord, do not hold this sin against them";
 1 and with these words he fell asleep. 8 Saul entirely approved of the killing.

That day a bitter persecution started against the church in Jerusalem and everyone^a except the apostles fled to the country districts of Judaea and Samaria.

² There were some devout people, however, who buried Stephen and made great mourning for him.

³ Saul then worked for the total destruction of the Church; he went from house to house arresting both men and women and sending them to prison.

Philip in Samaria

⁴ Those who had escaped went from place to place preaching the Good News.

⁵ One of them was Philip who went to a Samaritan town and proclaimed the

⁶ Christ to them. The people united in welcoming the message Philip preached, either because they had heard of the miracles he worked or because they saw

⁷ them for themselves. There were, for example, unclean spirits that came shrieking out of many who were possessed, and several paralytics and cripples were cured.

⁸ As a result there was great rejoicing in that town.

Simon the magician

⁹ Now a man called Simon had already practiced magic arts in the town and astounded the Samaritan people. He had given it out that he was someone

¹⁰ momentous, and everyone believed what he said; eminent citizens and ordinary

¹¹ people alike had declared, "He is the divine power that is called Great." They

¹² had only been won over to him because of the long time he had spent working on them with his magic. But when they believed Philip's preaching of the Good

¹³ News about the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women, and even Simon himself became a believer.

After his baptism Simon, who went around constantly with Philip, was astonished ¹⁴ when he saw the wonders and great miracles that took place.

¹⁵ When the apostles in Jerusalem heard that Samaria had accepted the word of God, they sent Peter and John to them, and they went down there, and ¹⁶ prayed for the Samaritans to receive the Holy Spirit, for as yet he had not come down on any of them: they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.

¹⁷ Then they laid hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit.

¹⁸ When Simon saw that the Spirit was given through the imposition of hands

¹⁹ by the apostles, he offered them some money. "Give me the same power," he said,

²⁰ "so that anyone I lay my hands on will receive the Holy Spirit." Peter answered, "May your silver be lost forever, and you with it, for thinking that money could

²¹ buy what God has given for nothing! You have no share, no rights, in this: God can see how your heart is warped. Repent of this wickedness of yours, and

²² pray to the Lord; you may still be forgiven for thinking as you did; it is plain to me that you are trapped in the bitterness of gall and the chains of sin."

²³ "Pray to the Lord for me yourselves," Simon replied, "so that none of the things you have spoken about may happen to me."

²⁴ Having given their testimony and proclaimed the word of the Lord, they went back to Jerusalem, preaching the Good News to a number of Samaritan villages.

Philip baptizes a eunuch

²⁶ The angel of the Lord spoke to Philip saying, "Be ready to set out at noon

²⁷ along the road that goes from Jerusalem down to Gaza, the desert road." So he set off on his journey. Now it happened that an Ethiopian had been on pilgrimage

²⁸ to Jerusalem; he was a eunuch and an officer at the court of the kandake, or queen, of Ethiopia, and was in fact her chief treasurer. He was now on his way

²⁹ home; and as he sat in his chariot he was reading the prophet Isaiah. The ³⁰ Spirit said to Philip, "Go up and meet that chariot." When Philip ran up, he

³¹ heard him reading Isaiah the prophet and asked, "Do you understand what you

³² are reading?" "How can I," he replied, "unless I have someone to guide me?" So he invited Philip to get in and sit by his side. Now the passage of scripture he was reading was this:

*Like a sheep that is led to the slaughterhouse,
like a lamb that is dumb in front of its shearers,
like these he never opens his mouth.*

33 *He has been humiliated and has no one to defend him.
Who will ever talk about his descendants,
since his life on earth has been cut short!*^b

34 The eunuch turned to Philip and said, "Tell me, is the prophet referring to 35 himself or someone else?" Starting, therefore, with this text of scripture Philip proceeded to explain the Good News of Jesus to him.

36 Further along the road they came to some water, and the eunuch said, "Look, 38 there is some water here; is there anything to stop me being baptized?" He ordered the chariot to stop, then Philip and the eunuch both went down into 39 the water and Philip baptized him. But after they had come up out of the water again Philip was taken away by the Spirit of the Lord, and the eunuch never 40 saw him again but went on his way rejoicing. Philip found that he had reached Azotus and continued his journey proclaiming the Good News in every town as far as Caesarea.

The conversion of Saul

1 9 Meanwhile Saul was still breathing threats to slaughter the Lord's disciples.
2 He had gone to the high priest and asked for letters addressed to the synagogues in Damascus, that would authorize him to arrest and take to Jerusalem any followers of the Way, men or women, that he could find.

3 Suddenly, while he was traveling to Damascus and just before he reached 4 the city, there came a light from heaven all around him. He fell to the ground, and then he heard a voice saying, "Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?"
5 "Who are you, Lord?" he asked, and the voice answered, "I am Jesus, and you
6 are persecuting me. Get up now and go into the city, and you will be told what 7 you have to do." The men traveling with Saul stood there speechless, for 8 though they heard the voice they could see no one. Saul got up from the ground, but even with his eyes wide open he could see nothing at all, and they had to lead 9 him into Damascus by the hand. For three days he was without his sight, and took neither food nor drink.

10 A disciple called Ananias who lived in Damascus had a vision in which he 11 heard the Lord say to him, "Ananias!" When he replied, "Here I am, Lord," the Lord said, "You must go to Straight Street and ask at the house of Judas for someone called Saul, who comes from Tarsus. At this moment he is praying, 12 having had a vision of a man called Ananias coming in and laying hands on him to give him back his sight."

13 When he heard that, Ananias said, "Lord, several people have told me about 14 this man and all the harm he has been doing to your saints in Jerusalem. He has only come here because he holds a warrant from the chief priests to arrest 15 everybody who invokes your name." The Lord replied, "You must go all the same, because this man is my chosen instrument to bring my name before pagans 16 and pagan kings and before the people of Israel; I myself will show him how 17 much he himself must suffer for my name." Then Ananias went. He entered the house, and at once laid his hands on Saul and said, "Brother Saul, I have been sent by the Lord Jesus who appeared to you on your way here so that you may 18 recover your sight and be filled with the Holy Spirit." Immediately it was as though scales fell away from Saul's eyes and he could see again. So he was 19 baptized there and then, and after taking some food he regained his strength.

8 a. The persecution seems to have been directed principally against the Hellenists.
b. Is. 53:7-8, quoted from the LXX version. c. At the time when verse numbers were introduced, there was a gloss, numbered v. 37, at this point.

Saul's preaching at Damascus

20 After he had spent only a few days with the disciples in Damascus, he began 21 preaching in the synagogues, "Jesus is the Son of God." All his hearers were amazed. "Surely," they said, "this is the man who organized the attack in Jerusalem against the people who invoke this name, and who came here for the sole 22 purpose of arresting them to have them tried by the chief priests?" Saul's power increased steadily, and he was able to throw the Jewish colony at Damascus into complete confusion by the way he demonstrated that Jesus was the Christ.

23 Some time passed,^a and the Jews worked out a plot to kill him, but news of 24 it reached Saul. To make sure of killing him they kept watch on the gates day 25 and night, but when it was dark the disciples took him and let him down from the top of the wall, lowering him in a basket.

Saul's visit to Jerusalem

26 When he got to Jerusalem he tried to join the disciples, but they were all 27 afraid of him: they could not believe he was really a disciple. Barnabas, however, took charge of him, introduced him to the apostles, and explained how the Lord had appeared to Saul and spoken to him on his journey, and how he 28 had preached boldly at Damascus in the name of Jesus. Saul now started to go around with them in Jerusalem, preaching fearlessly in the name of the Lord.
 29 But after he had spoken to the Hellenists, and argued with them, they became 30 determined to kill him. When the brothers knew, they took him to Caesarea, and sent him off from there to Tarsus.

A lull

31 The churches throughout Judaea, Galilee and Samaria were now left in peace, building themselves up, living in the fear of the Lord, and filled with the consolation of the Holy Spirit.

Peter cures a paralytic at Lydda

32 Peter visited one place after another and eventually came to the saints living 33 down in Lydda. There he found a man called Aeneas, a paralytic who had been 34 bedridden for eight years. Peter said to him, "Aeneas, Jesus Christ cures you:
 35 get up and fold up your sleeping mat." Aeneas got up immediately; everybody who lived in Lydda and Sharon saw him, and they were all converted to the Lord.

Peter raises a woman to life at Jaffa

36 At Jaffa there was a woman disciple called Tabitha, or Dorcas in Greek,^b 37 who never tired of doing good or giving in charity. But the time came when she 38 got ill and died, and they washed her and laid her out in a room upstairs. Lydda is not far from Jaffa, so when the disciples heard that Peter was there, they sent two men with an urgent message for him, "Come and visit us as soon as possible."

39 Peter went back with them straightaway, and on his arrival they took him to the upstairs room, where all the widows stood around him in tears, showing 40 him tunics and other clothes Dorcas had made when she was with them. Peter sent them all out of the room and knelt down and prayed. Then he turned to the dead woman and said, "Tabitha, stand up." She opened her eyes, looked at 41 Peter and sat up. Peter helped her to her feet, then he called in the saints and 42 widows and showed them she was alive. The whole of Jaffa heard about it and many believed in the Lord.

43 Peter stayed on some time in Jaffa, lodging with a leather tanner called Simon.

Peter visits a Roman centurion

1 10 One of the centurions of the Italica cohort stationed in Caesarea was 2 called Cornelius. He and the whole of his household were devout and God-fearing, and he gave generously to Jewish causes and prayed constantly to God.

3 One day at about the ninth hour he had a vision in which he distinctly saw 4 the angel of God come into his house and call out to him, "Cornelius!" He stared 5 at the vision in terror and exclaimed, "What is it, Lord?" "Your offering of prayers
 6 and alms," the angel answered, "has been accepted by God. Now you must send 7 someone to Jaffa and fetch a man called Simon, known as Peter, who is lodging
 8 with Simon the tanner whose house is by the sea." When the angel who said
 9 this had gone, Cornelius called two of the slaves and a devout soldier of his staff, 10 told them what had happened, and sent them off to Jaffa.

11 Next day, while they were still on their journey and had only a short distance
 12 to go before reaching Jaffa, Peter went to the housetop at about the sixth hour 13 to pray. He felt hungry and was looking forward to his meal, but before it was 14 ready he fell into a trance and saw heaven thrown open and something like a big 15 sheet being let down to earth by its four corners; it contained every possible
 16 sort of animal and bird, walking, crawling or flying ones. A voice then said 17 to him, "Now, Peter; kill and eat!" But Peter answered, "Certainly not, Lord; 18 I have never yet eaten anything profane or unclean." Again, a second time, the 19 voice spoke to him, "What God has made clean, you have no right to call 20 profane." This was repeated three times, and then suddenly the container was 21 drawn up to heaven again.

22 Peter was still worrying over the meaning of the vision he had seen, when the 23 men sent by Cornelius arrived. They had asked where Simon's house was and 24 they were now standing at the door, calling out to know if the Simon known as 25 Peter was lodging there. Peter's mind was still on the vision and the Spirit had 26 to tell him, "Some men have come to see you. Hurry down, and do not hesitate 27 about going back with them; it was I who told them to come." Peter went down 28 and said to them, "I am the man you are looking for; why have you come?" They 29 said, "The centurion Cornelius, who is an upright and God-fearing man, highly 30 regarded by the entire Jewish people, was directed by a holy angel to send for you 31 and bring you to his house and to listen to what you have to say." So Peter 32 asked them in and gave them lodging.

33 Next day, he was ready to go off with them, accompanied by some of the 34 brothers from Jaffa. They reached Caesarea the following day, and Cornelius 35 was waiting for them. He had asked his relations and close friends to be there, 36 and as Peter reached the house Cornelius went out to meet him, knelt at his feet 37 and prostrated himself. But Peter helped him up. "Stand up," he said, "I am only 38 a man after all!" Talking together they went in to meet all the people assembled 39 there, and Peter said to them, "You know it is forbidden for Jews to mix with 40 people of another race and visit them, but God has made it clear to me that 41 I must not call anyone profane or unclean. That is why I made no objection
 42 to coming when I was sent for; but I should like to know exactly why you 43 sent for me." Cornelius replied, "Three days ago I was praying in my house 44 at the ninth hour, when I suddenly saw a man in front of me in shining robes.
 45 He said, 'Cornelius, your prayer has been heard and your alms have been 46 accepted as a sacrifice in the sight of God; so now you must send to Jaffa and 47 fetch Simon known as Peter who is lodging in the house of Simon the tanner, by 48 the sea.' So I sent for you at once, and you have been kind enough to come.
 49 Here we all are, assembled in front of you to hear what message God has given 50 you for us."

Peter's address in the house of Cornelius

51 Then Peter addressed them: "The truth I have now come to realize," he said, 52 "is that God does not have favorites, but that anybody of any nationality who 53 fears God and does what is right is acceptable to him.

54 "It is true, God sent his word to the people of Israel, and it was to them that the good news of peace was brought^a by Jesus Christ—but Jesus Christ is Lord of all men. •You must have heard about the recent happenings in Judaea; about Jesus of Nazareth and how he began in Galilee, after John had been preaching baptism. •God had anointed him with the Holy Spirit^b and with power, and because God was with him, Jesus went about doing good and curing all who had fallen into the power of the devil. •Now I, and those with me, can witness to everything he did throughout the countryside of Judaea and in Jerusalem itself: and also to the fact that they killed him by hanging him on a tree, •yet three days afterward God raised him to life and allowed him to be seen, •not by the whole people but only by certain witnesses God had chosen beforehand. Now we are those witnesses—we have eaten and drunk with him after his resurrection from the dead—and he has ordered us to proclaim this to his people and to tell them that God has appointed him to judge everyone, alive or dead. •It is to him that all the prophets bear this witness: that all who believe in Jesus will have their sins forgiven through his name.”

Baptism of the first pagans

44 While Peter was still speaking the Holy Spirit came down on all the listeners. 45 Jewish believers who had accompanied Peter were all astonished that the gift of the Holy Spirit should be poured out on the pagans too, •since they could hear them speaking strange languages and proclaiming the greatness of God. 46 Peter himself then said, “•Could anyone refuse the water of baptism to these people, now they have received the Holy Spirit just as much as we have?” •He then gave orders for them to be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ. Afterward they begged him to stay on for some days.

Jerusalem: Peter justifies his conduct

1 11 The apostles and the brothers in Judaea heard that the pagans too had 2 accepted the word of God, •and when Peter came up to Jerusalem the 3 Jews criticized him •and said, “•So you have been visiting the uncircumcised and eating with them, have you?” •Peter in reply gave them the details point by 4 point: “•One day, when I was in the town of Jaffa,” he began, “I fell into a trance as I was praying and had a vision of something like a big sheet being let down from heaven by its four corners. This sheet reached the ground quite close to me. 5 I watched it intently and saw all sorts of animals and wild beasts—everything 6 possible that could walk, crawl or fly. •Then I heard a voice that said to me, ‘Now, 7 Peter; kill and eat!’ •But I answered: Certainly not, Lord; nothing profane or 8 unclean has ever crossed my lips. •And a second time the voice spoke from 9 heaven, ‘What God has made clean, you have no right to call profane.’ •This 10 was repeated three times, before the whole of it was drawn up to heaven again. 11 “•Just at that moment, three men stopped outside the house where we were 12 staying; they had been sent from Caesarea to fetch me, •and the Spirit told me to have no hesitation about going back with them. The six brothers here came 13 with me as well, and we entered the man’s house. •He told us he had seen an angel standing in his house who said, ‘Send to Jaffa and fetch Simon known as Peter; 14 he has a message for you that will save you and your entire household.’ 15 “I had scarcely begun to speak when the Holy Spirit came down on them 16 in the same way as it came on us at the beginning, •and I remembered that the Lord had said, ‘John baptized with water, but you will be baptized with the Holy 17 Spirit.’ •I realized then that God was giving them the identical thing he gave to us when we believed in the Lord Jesus Christ; and who was I to stand in God’s way?” 18 This account satisfied them, and they gave glory to God. “God,” they said, “can evidently grant even the pagans the repentance that leads to life.”

Foundation of the church of Antioch

19 Those who had escaped during the persecution that happened because of Stephen traveled as far as Phoenicia and Cyprus and Antioch,^a but they usually

20 proclaimed the message only to Jews. Some of them, however, who came from Cyprus and Cyrene, went to Antioch where they started preaching to the Greeks, proclaiming the Good News of the Lord Jesus to them as well. The Lord helped them, and a great number believed and were converted to the Lord.

22 The church in Jerusalem heard about this and they sent Barnabas to Antioch. There he could see for himself that God had given grace, and this pleased him, and he urged them all to remain faithful to the Lord with heartfelt devotion; for he was a good man, filled with the Holy Spirit and with faith. And a large number of people were won over to the Lord.

25 Barnabas then left for Tarsus to look for Saul, and when he found him he brought him to Antioch. As things turned out they were to live together in that church a whole year, instructing a large number of people. It was at Antioch that the disciples were first called "Christians."

Barnabas and Saul sent as deputies to Jerusalem

27 While they were there some prophets^b came down to Antioch from Jerusalem, and one of them whose name was Agabus, seized by the Spirit, stood up and predicted that a famine would spread over the whole empire. This in fact happened before the reign of Claudius came to an end.^c The disciples decided to send relief, each to contribute what he could afford, to the brothers living in Judaea. They did this and delivered their contributions to the elders in the care of Barnabas and Saul.

Peter's arrest and miraculous deliverance^a

¹12 It was about this time that King Herod started persecuting certain members of the Church. He beheld James the brother of John, and when he saw that this pleased the Jews he decided to arrest Peter as well. This was during the days of Unleavened Bread, and he put Peter in prison, assigning four squads of four soldiers each to guard him in turns. Herod meant to try Peter in public after the end of Passover week. All the time Peter was under guard the Church prayed to God for him unremittingly.

6 On the night before Herod was to try him, Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, fastened with double chains, while guards kept watch at the main entrance to the prison. Then suddenly the angel of the Lord stood there, and the cell was filled with light. He tapped Peter on the side and woke him. "Get up!" he said, "Hurry!"—and the chains fell from his hands. The angel then said, "Put on your belt and sandals." After he had done this, the angel next said, "Wrap your cloak around you and follow me." Peter followed him, but had no idea that what the angel did was all happening in reality; he thought he was seeing a vision. They passed through two guard posts one after the other, and reached the iron gate leading to the city. This opened of its own accord; they went through it and had walked the whole length of one street when suddenly the angel left him. It was only then that Peter came to himself. "Now I know it is all true," he said. "The Lord really did send his angel and has saved me from Herod and from all that the Jewish people were so certain would happen to me."

12 As soon as he realized this he went straight to the house of Mary the mother of John Mark,^b where a number of people had assembled and were praying. He knocked at the outside door and a servant called Rhoda came to answer it. She recognized Peter's voice and was so overcome with joy that, instead of opening

Then they said, "It must be his angel!" Peter, meanwhile, was still knocking, so they opened the door and were amazed to see that it really was Peter himself. With a gesture of his hand he stopped them talking, and described to them how the Lord had led him out of prison. He added, "Tell James and the brothers." Then he left and went to another place.

When daylight came there was a great commotion among the soldiers, who could not imagine what had become of Peter. Herod put out an unsuccessful search for him; he had the guards questioned, and before leaving Judaea to take up residence in Caesarea he gave orders for their execution.

The death of the persecutor

Now Herod was on bad terms with the Tyrians and Sidonians. However, they sent a joint deputation which managed to enlist the support of Blastus, the king's chamberlain, and through him negotiated a treaty, since their country depended for its food supply on King Herod's territory. A day was fixed, and Herod, wearing his robes of state and enthroned on a dais, made a speech to them. The people acclaimed him with, "It is a god speaking, not a man!", and at that moment the angel of the Lord struck him down, because he had not given the glory to God. He was eaten away with worms and died.

Barnabas and Saul return to Antioch

The world of God continued to spread and to gain followers. Barnabas and Saul completed their task and came back from Jerusalem, bringing John Mark with them.

III. THE MISSION OF BARNABAS AND PAUL THE COUNCIL OF JERUSALEM

The mission sent out

13 In the church at Antioch the following were prophets and teachers: Barnabas, Simeon called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, Manaen, who had been brought up with Herod the tetrarch, and Saul. One day while they were offering worship to the Lord and keeping a fast, the Holy Spirit said, "I want Barnabas and Saul set apart for the work to which I have called them." So it was that after fasting and prayer they laid their hands on them and sent them off.

Cyprus: the magician Elymas

So these two, sent on their mission by the Holy Spirit, went down to Seleucia and from there sailed to Cyprus. They landed at Salamis and proclaimed the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews; John acted as their assistant.

They traveled the whole length of the island, and at Paphos they came in contact with a Jewish magician called Bar-jesus. This false prophet was one of the attendants of the proconsul Sergius Paulus who was an extremely intelligent man. The proconsul summoned Barnabas and Saul and asked to hear the word of God, but Elymas Magos—as he was called in Greek—tried to stop them so as to prevent the proconsul's conversion to the faith. Then Saul, whose other name is Paul, looked him full in the face and said, "You utter fraud, you impostor, you son of the devil, you enemy of all true religion, why don't you stop twisting the straightforward ways of the Lord? Now watch how the hand of the Lord will strike you: you will be blind, and for a time you will not see the sun." That instant, everything went misty and dark for him, and he groped about to find someone to lead him by the hand. The proconsul, who had watched everything, became a believer, being astonished by what he had learned about the Lord.

They arrive at Antioch in Pisidia

13 Paul and his friends went by sea from Paphos to Perga in Pamphylia where 14 John left them to go back to Jerusalem. •The others carried on from Perga till they reached Antioch in Pisidia. Here they went to synagogue on the sabbath and took 15 their seats. •After the lessons from the Law and the Prophets had been read, the presidents of the synagogue sent them a message: “Brothers, if you would like to address some words of encouragement to the congregation, please do so.” 16 Paul stood up, held up a hand for silence and began to speak:

Paul's preaching before the Jews

17 “Men of Israel, and fearers of God, listen! •The God of our nation Israel chose our ancestors, and made our people great when they were living as foreigners in Egypt; then by divine power he led them out, •and for about forty years took 18 care of them in the wilderness. •When he had destroyed seven nations in Canaan,
 19 he put them in possession^a of their land •for about four hundred and fifty years.
 20 After this he gave them judges, down to the prophet Samuel. •Then they demanded a king, and God gave them Saul son of Kish, a man of the tribe of 21 Benjamin. After forty years, he deposed him and made David their king, of whom he approved in these words, ‘I have selected David son of Jesse, a man after 22 my own heart, who will carry out my whole purpose.’^b •To keep his promise, God 23 has raised up for Israel one of David’s descendants, Jesus, as Savior, •whose coming was heralded by John when he proclaimed a baptism of repentance for the 24 whole people of Israel. •Before John ended his career he said, ‘I am not the one you imagine me to be; that one is coming after me and I am not fit to undo his 25 sandal.’

26 “My brothers, sons of Abraham’s race, and all you who fear God, this message 27 of salvation is meant for you. •What the people of Jerusalem and their rulers did, though they did not realize it, was in fact to fulfill the prophecies read on every 28 sabbath. •Though they found nothing to justify his death, they condemned him
 29 and asked Pilate to have him executed. •When they had carried out everything that scripture foretells about him they took him down from the tree and buried 30 him in a tomb. •But God raised him from the dead, •and for many days he 31 appeared to those who had accompanied him from Galilee to Jerusalem: and it is these same companions of his who are now his witnesses before our people.

32 “We have come here to tell you the Good News. It was to our ancestors that 33 God made the promise but •it is to us, their children, that he has fulfilled it, by raising Jesus from the dead. As scripture says in the first psalm: You are my 34 son: today I have become your father. •The fact that God raised him from the dead, never to return to corruption, is no more than what he had declared: To 35 you I shall give the sure and holy things promised to David.^c •This is explained by 36 another text: You will not allow your holy one to experience corruption.^d •Now when David in his own time had served God’s purposes he died; he was buried with 37 his ancestors and has certainly experienced corruption. •The one whom God has raised up, however, has not experienced corruption.

38 “My brothers, I want you to realize that it is through him that forgiveness of your sins is proclaimed. Through him justification from all sins which the Law 39 of Moses was unable to justify •is offered to every believer.

40 “So be careful—or what the prophets say will happen to you.

41 *Cast your eyes around you, mockers;
 be amazed, and perish!
 For I am doing something in your own days
 that you would not believe if you were to be told of it.”^e*

42 As they left they were asked to preach on the same theme the following 43 sabbath. When the meeting broke up many Jews and devout converts joined Paul and Barnabas, and in their talks with them Paul and Barnabas urged them to remain faithful to the grace God had given them.

Paul and Barnabas preach to the pagans

44 The next sabbath almost the whole town assembled to hear the word of God.
45 When they saw the crowds, the Jews, prompted by jealousy, used blasphemies 46 and contradicted everything Paul said. Then Paul and Barnabas spoke out boldly. "We had to proclaim the word of God to you first, but since you have rejected it, since you do not think yourselves worthy of eternal life, we must turn 47 to the pagans. For this is what the Lord commanded us to do when he said:

*I have made you a light for the nations,
so that my salvation may reach the ends of the earth."*^f

48 It made the pagans very happy to hear this and they thanked the Lord for his 49 message; all who were destined for eternal life became believers. Thus the word of the Lord spread through the whole countryside.

50 But the Jews worked upon some of the devout women of the upper classes and the leading men of the city and persuaded them to turn against Paul 51 and Barnabas and expel them from their territory. So they shook the dust 52 from their feet in defiance and went off to Iconium; but the disciples were filled with joy and the Holy Spirit.

Iconium evangelized

1 14 At Iconium they went to the Jewish synagogue, as they had at Antioch, and they spoke so effectively that a great many Jews and Greeks became believers.

2 Some of the Jews, however, refused to believe, and they poisoned the minds of the pagans against the brothers.^a

3 Accordingly Paul and Barnabas stayed on for some time, preaching fearlessly for the Lord; and the Lord supported all they said about his gift of grace, allowing signs and wonders to be performed by them.

4 The people in the city were divided, some supported the Jews, others the 5 apostles, but eventually with the connivance of the authorities a move was made by pagans as well as Jews to make attacks on them and to stone them.

6 When the apostles came to hear of this, they went off for safety to Lycaonia where,
7 in the towns of Lystra and Derbe and in the surrounding country, they preached the Good News.

Healing of a cripple

8 A man sat there^b who had never walked in his life, because his feet were 9 crippled from birth; and as he listened to Paul preaching, he managed to catch 10 his eye. Seeing that the man had the faith to be cured, Paul said in a loud voice, "Get to your feet—stand up," and the cripple jumped up and began to walk.

11 When the crowd saw what Paul had done they shouted in the language of Lycaonia, "These people are gods who have come down to us disguised as men."

12 They addressed Barnabas as Zeus, and since Paul was the principal speaker they 13 called him Hermes.^c The priests of Zeus-outside-the-Gate, proposing that all the people should offer sacrifice with them, brought garlanded oxen to the gates.

14 When the apostles Barnabas and Paul heard what was happening they tore their 15 clothes,^d and rushed into the crowd, shouting, "Friends, what do you think you are doing? We are only human beings like you. We have come with good news to make you turn from these empty idols to the living God who made heaven 16 and earth and the sea and all that these hold. In the past he allowed each nation

17 to go its own way; but even then he did not leave you without evidence of himself in the good things he does for you: he sends you rain from heaven, he makes your crops grow when they should, he gives you food and makes you happy.” Even this speech, however, was scarcely enough to stop the crowd offering them sacrifice.

The mission is disrupted

19 Then some Jews arrived from Antioch and Iconium, and turned the people against the apostles. They stoned Paul and dragged him outside the town, thinking he was dead. The disciples came crowding around him but, as they did so, he stood up and went back to the town. The next day he and Barnabas went off to Derbe.

21 Having preached the Good News in that town and made a considerable number of disciples, they went back through Lystra and Iconium to Antioch. They put fresh heart into the disciples, encouraging them to persevere in the faith. “We all have to experience many hardships,” they said, “before we enter the kingdom of God.” In each of these churches they appointed elders, and with prayer and fasting they commended them to the Lord in whom they had come to believe.

24 They passed through Pisidia and reached Pamphylia. Then after proclaiming the word at Perga they went down to Attalia and from there sailed for Antioch, where they had originally been commended to the grace of God for the work they had now completed.

27 On their arrival they assembled the church and gave an account of all that God had done with them, and how he had opened the door of faith to the pagans. They stayed there with the disciples for some time.

Controversy at Antioch

1 15 Then some men came down from Judaea^a and taught the brothers, “Unless you have yourselves circumcised in the tradition of Moses you cannot be saved.” This led to disagreement, and after Paul and Barnabas had had a long argument with these men it was arranged that Paul and Barnabas and others of the church should go up to Jerusalem and discuss the problem with the apostles and elders.

3 All the members of the church saw them off, and as they passed through Phoenicia and Samaria they told how the pagans had been converted, and this news was received with the greatest satisfaction by the brothers. When they arrived in Jerusalem they were welcomed by the church and by the apostles and elders, and gave an account of all that God had done with them.

Controversy at Jerusalem

5 But certain members of the Pharisees’ party who had become believers objected, insisting that the pagans should be circumcised and instructed to keep the Law of Moses. The apostles and elders met to look into the matter, and after the discussion had gone on a long time, Peter stood up and addressed them.

Peter’s speech

“My brothers,” he said, “you know perfectly well that in the early days God made his choice among you: the pagans were to learn the Good News from me and so become believers. In fact God, who can read everyone’s heart, showed his approval of them by giving the Holy Spirit to them just as he had to us. God made no distinction between them and us, since he purified their hearts by faith. It would only provoke God’s anger now, surely, if you imposed on the disciples the very burden that neither we nor our ancestors were strong enough to support?”

f. Is. 49:6, quoted freely from the LXX.

14 a. This sentence is a parenthesis. V.3 continues from v.1. b. In Lystra. c. Mercury, the messenger or herald of the gods. d. Conventional sign of despair.

15 a. In the allusion to this incident in Galatians, they are said to have come “from James,” Ga. 2:12.

11 Remember, we believe that we are saved in the same way as they are: through the grace of the Lord Jesus.”

12 This silenced the entire assembly, and they listened to Barnabas and Paul describing all the signs and wonders God had worked through them among the pagans.

James' speech

13 When they had finished it was James who spoke. “My brothers,” he said, 14 “listen to me. Simeon^b has described how God first arranged to enlist a people 15 for his name out of the pagans. This is entirely in harmony with the words of the prophets, since the scriptures say:

16 *After that I shall return and rebuild the fallen House of David;
I shall rebuild it from its ruins
and restore it.*

17 *Then the rest of mankind,
all the pagans who are consecrated to my name,
will look for the Lord,*

18 says the Lord who made this known so long ago.^c

19 “I rule, then, that instead of making things more difficult for pagans who 20 turn to God, we send them a letter telling them merely to abstain from anything 21 polluted by idols,^d from fornication,^e from the meat of strangled animals and 22 from blood. For Moses has always had his preachers in every town, and is 23 read aloud in the synagogues every sabbath.”

The apostolic letter

24 Then the apostles and elders decided to choose delegates to send to Antioch 25 with Paul and Barnabas; the whole church concurred with this. They chose 26 Judas known as Barsabbas and Silas,^f both leading men in the brotherhood, 27 and gave them this letter to take with them:

28 “The apostles and elders, your brothers, send greetings to the brothers of pagan 29 birth in Antioch, Syria and Cilicia. We hear that some of our members have 30 disturbed you with their demands and have unsettled your minds. They acted 31 without any authority from us, and so we have decided unanimously to elect 32 delegates and to send them to you with Barnabas and Paul, men we highly respect 33 who have dedicated their lives to the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. Accord- 34 ingly we are sending you Judas and Silas, who will confirm by word of mouth 35 what we have written in this letter. It has been decided by the Holy Spirit and by 36 ourselves not to saddle you with any burden beyond these essentials: you 37 are to abstain from food sacrificed to idols, from blood, from the meat of 38 strangled animals and from fornication. Avoid these, and you will do what is 39 right. Farewell.”

The delegates at Antioch

40 The party left and went down to Antioch, where they summoned the whole 41 community and delivered the letter. The community read it and were delighted 42 with the encouragement it gave them. Judas and Silas, being themselves prophets, 43 spoke for a long time, encouraging and strengthening the brothers. These two 44 spent some time there, and then the brothers wished them peace and they went 45 back to those who had sent them.^g Paul and Barnabas, however, stayed on in 46 Antioch, and there with many others they taught and proclaimed the Good News, 47 the word of the Lord.

IV. PAUL'S MISSIONS

Paul separates from Barnabas and recruits Silas

³⁶ On a later occasion Paul said to Barnabas, "Let us go back and visit all the towns where we preached the word of the Lord, so that we can see how ³⁷ the brothers are doing." Barnabas suggested taking John Mark, but Paul was not ³⁸ in favor of taking along the very man who had deserted them in Pamphylia and had refused to share in their work.

³⁹ After a violent quarrel they parted company, and Barnabas sailed off with ⁴⁰ Mark to Cyprus. Before Paul left, he chose Silas to accompany him and was commended by the brothers to the grace of God.

Lycaonia: Paul recruits Timothy

⁴¹ He traveled through Syria and Cilicia, consolidating the churches.

¹ 16 From there he went to Derbe, and then on to Lystra. Here there was a
² disciple called Timothy, whose mother was a Jewess who had become a ³ believer; but his father was a Greek. The brothers at Lystra and Iconium spoke ⁴ well of Timothy, and Paul, who wanted to have him as a traveling companion,
⁵ had him circumcised. This was on account of the Jews in the locality where everyone knew his father was a Greek.

⁶ As they visited one town after another, they passed on the decisions reached by the apostles and elders in Jerusalem, with instructions to respect them.

⁷ So the churches grew strong in the faith, as well as growing daily in numbers.

The crossing into Asia Minor

⁸ They traveled through Phrygia and the Galatian country, having been told ⁹ by the Holy Spirit not to preach the word in Asia. When they reached the frontier of Mysia they thought to cross it into Bithynia, but as the Spirit of Jesus would ¹⁰ not allow them, they went through Mysia and came down to Troas.

¹¹ One night Paul had a vision: a Macedonian appeared and appealed to him
¹² in these words, "Come across to Macedonia and help us." Once he had seen this vision we lost no time in arranging a passage to Macedonia, convinced that God ¹³ had called us to bring them the Good News.

Arrival at Philippi

¹⁴ Sailing from Troas we made a straight run for Samothrace; the next day for ¹⁵ Neapolis, and from there for Philippi, a Roman colony and the principal city of that particular district of Macedonia. After a few days in this city we went ¹⁶ along the river outside the gates as it was the sabbath and this was a customary place for prayer.^a We sat down and preached to the women who had come to the ¹⁷ meeting. One of these women was called Lydia, a devout woman from the town of Thyatira who was in the purple-dye trade. She listened to us, and the Lord ¹⁸ opened her heart to accept what Paul was saying. After she and her household had been baptized she sent us an invitation: "If you really think me a true believer in the Lord," she said, "come and stay with us"; and she would take no refusal.

Imprisonment of Paul and Silas

¹⁹ One day as we were going to prayer, we met a slave girl who was a soothsayer ²⁰ and made a lot of money for her masters by telling fortunes. This girl started following Paul and the rest of us and shouting, "Here are the servants of the Most ²¹ High God; they have come to tell you how to be saved!" She did this every day afterward until Paul lost his temper one day and turned around and said to the spirit, "I order you in the name of Jesus Christ to leave that woman." The spirit went out of her then and there.

19 When her masters saw that there was no hope of making any more money out of her, they seized Paul and Silas and dragged them to the law courts in the 20 market place where they charged them before the magistrates and said, "These 21 people are causing a disturbance in our city. They are Jews and are advocating 22 practices which it is unlawful for us as Romans to accept or follow."b The crowd joined in and showed its hostility to them, so the magistrates had them stripped 23 and ordered them to be flogged. They were given many lashes and then thrown 24 into prison, and the jailer was told to keep a close watch on them. So, following his instructions, he threw them into the inner prison and fastened their feet in the stocks.

The miraculous deliverance of Paul and Silas

25 Late that night Paul and Silas were praying and singing God's praises, while 26 the other prisoners listened. Suddenly there was an earthquake that shook the prison to its foundations. All the doors flew open and the chains fell from all the 27 prisoners. When the jailer woke and saw the doors wide open he drew his sword 28 and was about to commit suicide, presuming that the prisoners had escaped. But Paul shouted at the top of his voice, "Don't do yourself any harm; we are all here."

29 The jailer called for lights, then rushed in, threw himself trembling at the 30 feet of Paul and Silas, and escorted them out, saying, "Sirs, what must I do to be 31 saved?" They told him, "Become a believer in the Lord Jesus, and you will be 32 saved, and your household too." Then they preached the word of the Lord to 33 him and to all his family. Late as it was, he took them to wash their wounds, 34 and was baptized then and there with all his household. Afterward he took them home and gave them a meal, and the whole family celebrated their conversion to belief in God.

35 When it was daylight the magistrates sent the officers with the order: "Release 36 those men." The jailer reported the message to Paul, "The magistrates have 37 sent an order for your release; you can go now and be on your way." "What!" Paul replied, "They flog Roman citizens in public and without trial and throw us into prison, and then think they can push us out on the quiet! Oh no! They must come and escort us out themselves."

38 The officers reported this to the magistrates, who were horrified to hear the 39 men were Roman citizens. They came and begged them to leave the town.
40 From the prison they went to Lydia's house where they saw all the brothers and gave them some encouragement; then they left.

Thessalonika: difficulties with the Jews

1 17 Passing through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they eventually reached 2 Thessalonika, where there was a Jewish synagogue. Paul as usual introduced himself and for three consecutive sabbaths developed the arguments from 3 scripture for them, explaining and proving how it was ordained that the Christ should suffer and rise from the dead. "And the Christ," he said, "is this Jesus who 4 I am proclaiming to you." Some of them were convinced and joined Paul and Silas, and so did a great many God-fearing people and Greeks, as well as a number of rich women.

5 The Jews, full of resentment, enlisted the help of a gang from the market place, stirred up a crowd, and soon had the whole city in an uproar. They made for Jason's house, hoping to find them there and drag them off to the People's 6 Assembly; however, they only found Jason and some of the brothers, and these they dragged before the city council, shouting, "The people who have been 7 turning the whole world upside down have come here now; they have been staying at Jason's. They have broken every one of Caesar's edicts by claiming 8 that there is another emperor, Jesus.” This accusation alarmed the citizens 9 and the city councilors and they made Jason and the rest give security before setting them free.

Fresh difficulties at Beroea

10 When it was dark the brothers immediately sent Paul and Silas away to Beroea, 11 where they visited the Jewish synagogue as soon as they arrived. Here the Jews were more open-minded than those in Thessalonika, and they welcomed the word very readily; every day they studied the scriptures to check whether it was true.
12 Many Jews became believers, and so did many Greek women from the upper classes and a number of the men.

13 When the Jews of Thessalonika heard that the word of God was being preached by Paul in Beroea as well, they went there to make trouble and stir up the people.
14 So the brothers arranged for Paul to go immediately as far as the coast, leaving 15 Silas and Timothy behind. Paul’s escort took him as far as Athens, and went back with instructions for Silas and Timothy to rejoin Paul as soon as they could.

Paul in Athens

16 Paul waited for them in Athens and there his whole soul was revolted at the 17 sight of a city given over to idolatry. In the synagogue he held debates with the Jews and the God-fearing, but in the market place he had debates every day with 18 anyone who would face him. Even a few Epicurean and Stoic philosophers argued with him. Some said, “Does this parrot know what he’s talking about?”
And, because he was preaching about Jesus and the resurrection, others said, “He sounds like a propagandist for some outlandish gods.”^a

19 They invited him to accompany them to the Council of the Areopagus, where they said to him, “How much of this new teaching you were speaking about are 20 we allowed to know? Some of the things you said seemed startling to us and we 21 would like to find out what they mean.” The one amusement the Athenians and the foreigners living there seem to have, apart from discussing the latest ideas, is listening to lectures about them.

22 So Paul stood before the whole Council of the Areopagus and made this speech:

Paul’s speech before the Council of the Areopagus

“Men of Athens, I have seen for myself how extremely scrupulous you are 23 in all religious matters, because I noticed, as I strolled around admiring your sacred monuments, that you had an altar inscribed: To An Unknown God. Well, the God whom I proclaim is in fact the one whom you already worship without knowing it.

24 “Since the God who made the world and everything in it is himself Lord of heaven and earth, he does not make his home in shrines made by human hands.
25 Nor is he dependent on anything that human hands can do for him, since he can never be in need of anything; on the contrary, it is he who gives everything—26 including life and breath—to everyone. From one single stock he not only created the whole human race so that they could occupy the entire earth, but he decreed how long each nation should flourish and what the boundaries of its 27 territory should be. And he did this so that all nations might seek the deity and, by feeling their way toward him, succeed in finding him. Yet in fact he is not 28 far from any of us, since it is in him that we live, and move, and exist,^b as indeed some of your own writers have said:

‘We are all his children.’^c

b. The Jews had no right to proselytize Romans.

29 "Since we are the children of God, we have no excuse for thinking that the deity looks like anything in gold, silver or stone that has been carved and designed by a man.

30 "God overlooked that sort of thing when men were ignorant, but now he is 31 telling everyone everywhere that they must repent, because he has fixed a day when the whole world will be judged, and judged in righteousness, and he has appointed a man to be the judge. And God has publicly proved this by raising this man from the dead."

32 At this mention of rising from the dead, some of them burst out laughing;
33 others said, "We would like to hear you talk about this again." After that Paul left them, but there were some who attached themselves to him and became believers, among them Dionysius the Areopagite and a woman called Damaris, and others besides.

Foundation of the church of Corinth

¹/₂ 18 After this Paul left Athens and went to Corinth, where he met a Jew called Aquila whose family came from Pontus. He and his wife Priscilla^a had recently left Italy because an edict of Claudius had expelled all the Jews from Rome.^b Paul went to visit them, and when he found they were tentmakers, of the same trade as himself, he lodged with them, and they worked together. Every sabbath he used to hold debates in the synagogues, trying to convert Jews as well as Greeks.

5 After Silas and Timothy had arrived from Macedonia, Paul devoted all his time to preaching, declaring to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ. When they turned against him and started to insult him, he took his cloak and shook it out in front of them, saying, "Your blood be on your own heads; from now on I can go to the pagans with a clear conscience." Then he left the synagogue and moved to the house next door that belonged to a worshiper of God called Justus.
8 Crispus, president of the synagogue, and his whole household, all became believers in the Lord. A great many Corinthians who had heard him became believers and were baptized. One night the Lord spoke to Paul in a vision, "Do not be afraid to speak out, nor allow yourself to be silenced: I am with you. I have so many people on my side in this city that no one will even attempt to hurt you." So Paul stayed there preaching the word of God among them for eighteen months.

The Jews take Paul to court

12 But while Gallio was proconsul of Achaia,^c the Jews made a concerted attack on Paul and brought him before the tribunal. "We accuse this man," they said, 14 "of persuading people to worship God in a way that breaks the Law." Before Paul could open his mouth, Gallio said to the Jews, "Listen, you Jews. If this were a misdemeanor or a crime, I would not hesitate to attend to you; but if it is only quibbles about words and names, and about your own Law, then you must deal with it yourselves—I have no intention of making legal decisions about things like that." Then he sent them out of the court, and at once they all turned on Sosthenes, the synagogue president, and beat him in front of the courthouse. Gallio refused to take any notice at all.

Return to Antioch and departure for the third journey

18 After staying on for some time, Paul took leave of the brothers and sailed for Syria,^d accompanied by Priscilla and Aquila. At Cenchreae he had his hair cut off, because of a vow he had made.

19 When they reached Ephesus, he left them, but first he went alone to the synagogue to debate with the Jews. They asked him to stay longer but he declined, though when he left he said, "I will come back another time, God willing." Then he sailed from Ephesus.

22 He landed at Caesarea, and went up to greet the church. Then he came down

²³ to Antioch where he spent a short time before continuing his journey through the Galatian country and then through Phrygia, encouraging all the followers.

Apollos

²⁴ An Alexandrian Jew named Apollos now arrived in Ephesus. He was an ²⁵ eloquent man, with a sound knowledge of the scriptures, and yet, though he had been given instruction in the Way of the Lord and preached with great spiritual earnestness and was accurate in all the details he taught about Jesus, he had only ²⁶ experienced the baptism of John. When Priscilla and Aquila heard him speak boldly in the synagogue, they took an interest in him and gave him further instruction about the Way.

²⁷ When Apollos thought of crossing over to Achaia, the brothers encouraged him and wrote asking the disciples to welcome him. When he arrived there he was ²⁸ able by God's grace to help the believers considerably by the energetic way he refuted the Jews in public and demonstrated from the scriptures that Jesus was the Christ.

The disciples of John at Ephesus

¹ 19 While Apollos was in Corinth, Paul made his way overland as far as ² Ephesus, where he found a number of disciples. When he asked, "Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you became believers?" they answered, "No, ³ we were never even told there was such a thing as a Holy Spirit." "Then how ⁴ were you baptized?" he asked. "With John's baptism," they replied. "John's baptism," said Paul, "was a baptism of repentance; but he insisted that the people should believe in the one who was to come after him—in other words Jesus."
⁵ When they heard this, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus, and ⁶ the moment Paul had laid hands on them the Holy Spirit came down on them, ⁷ and they began to speak with tongues and to prophesy. There were about twelve of these men.

Foundation of the church of Ephesus

⁸ He began by going to the synagogue, where he spoke out boldly and argued ⁹ persuasively about the kingdom of God. He did this for three months, till the attitude of some of the congregation hardened into unbelief. As soon as they began attacking the Way in front of the others, he broke with them and took his ¹⁰ disciples apart to hold daily discussions in the lecture room of Tyrannus. This went on for two years, with the result that people from all over Asia,^a both Jews and Greeks, were able to hear the word of the Lord.

The Jewish exorcists

¹¹ So remarkable were the miracles worked by God at Paul's hands that ¹² handkerchiefs or aprons which had touched him were taken to the sick, and they were cured of their illnesses, and the evil spirits came out of them.

¹³ But some itinerant Jewish exorcists tried pronouncing the name of the Lord Jesus over people who were possessed by evil spirits; they used to say, "I command ¹⁴ you by the Jesus whose spokesman is Paul." Among those who did this were ¹⁵ seven sons of Sceva, a Jewish chief priest. The evil spirit replied, "Jesus
¹⁶ I recognize, and I know who Paul is, but who are you?" and the man with the evil spirit hurled himself at them and overpowered first one and then another, and handled them so violently that they fled from that house naked and badly ¹⁷ mauled. Everybody in Ephesus, both Jews and Greeks, heard about this episode;

they were all greatly impressed, and the name of the Lord Jesus came to be held in great honor.

18 Some believers, too, came forward to admit in detail how they had used spells 19 and a number of them who had practiced magic collected their books and made of bonfire of them in public. The value of these was calculated to be fifty thousand silver pieces.

20 In this impressive way the word of the Lord spread more and more widely and successfully.

V. A PRISONER FOR CHRIST

Paul's plans

21 When all this was over Paul made up his mind to go back to Jerusalem through Macedonia and Achaia. "After I have been there," he said, "I must go on to see 22 Rome as well." So he sent two of his helpers, Timothy and Erastus, ahead of him to Macedonia, while he remained for a time in Asia.

Ephesus: the silversmiths' riot

23 It was during this time that a rather serious disturbance broke out in connection 24 with the Way. A silversmith called Demetrius, who employed a large number 25 of craftsmen making silver shrines of Diana, called a general meeting of his own men with others in the same trade. "As you men know," he said, "it is on this 26 industry that we depend for our prosperity. Now you must have seen and heard how, not just in Ephesus but nearly everywhere in Asia, this man Paul has persuaded and converted a great number of people with his argument that gods made 27 by hand are not gods at all. This threatens not only to discredit our trade, but also to reduce the sanctuary of the great goddess Diana to unimportance. It could end up by taking away all the prestige of a goddess venerated all over Asia, yes, 28 and everywhere in the civilized world." This speech roused them to fury, and they 29 started to shout, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!" The whole town was in an uproar and the mob rushed to the theater dragging along two of Paul's 30 Macedonian traveling companions, Gaius and Aristarchus. Paul wanted to 31 make an appeal to the people, but the disciples refused to let him; in fact, some of the Asiarchs,^b who were friends of his, sent messages imploring him not to take the risk of going into the theater.

32 By now everybody was shouting different things till the assembly itself had no idea what was going on; most of them did not even know why they had been 33 summoned. The Jews pushed Alexander to the front, and when some of the crowd shouted encouragement he raised his hand for silence in the hope of being 34 able to explain things to the people. When they realized he was a Jew, they all started shouting in unison, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!" and they kept this 35 up for two hours. When the town clerk eventually succeeded in calming the crowd, he said, "Citizens of Ephesus! Is there anybody alive who does not know that the city of the Ephesians is the guardian of the temple of great Diana and of her statue that fell from heaven? Nobody can contradict this and there is no 36 need for you to get excited or do anything rash. These men you have brought 37 here are not guilty of any sacrilege or blasphemy against our goddess. If Demetrius and the craftsmen he has with him want to complain about anyone, there are 39 the assizes and the proconsuls; let them take the case to court. And if you want 40 to ask any more questions you must raise them in the regular assembly. We could easily be charged with rioting for today's happenings: there was no ground for it 41 all, and we can give no reason for this gathering." When he had finished this speech he dismissed the assembly.

Paul leaves Ephesus

¹ 20 When the disturbance was over, Paul sent for the disciples and, after speaking words of encouragement to them, said good-bye and set out for Macedonia. ² On his way through those areas he said many words of encouragement to them and then made his way into Greece, where he spent three months. ³ He was leaving by ship for Syria^a when a plot organized against him by the Jews made him decide to go back by way of Macedonia. ⁴ He was accompanied by Sopater, son of Pyrrhus, who came from Beroea; Aristarchus and Secundus who came from Thessalonika; Gaius from Doberus, and Timothy, as well as Tychicus and Trophimus who were from Asia. ⁵ They all went on to Troas where they waited for us. ⁶ We ourselves left Philippi by ship after the days of Unleavened Bread and met them five days later at Troas, where we stopped for a week.

Troas: Paul raises a dead mantolife

⁷ On the first day of the week^b we met to break bread. Paul was due to leave the next day, and he preached a sermon that went on till the middle of the night. ⁸ A number of lamps were lit in the upstairs room where we were assembled, and as Paul went on and on, a young man called Eutychus who was sitting on the window sill grew drowsy and was overcome by sleep and fell to the ground three floors below. He was picked up dead. ⁹ Paul went down and stooped to clasp the boy to him. "There is no need to worry," he said, "there is still life in him." ¹⁰ Then he went back upstairs where he broke bread and ate and carried on talking till he left at daybreak. ¹¹ They took the boy away alive, and were greatly encouraged. ¹²

From Troas to Miletus

¹³ We were now to go on ahead by sea, so we set sail for Assos, where we were to take Paul on board; this was what he had arranged, for he wanted to go by road. ¹⁴ When he rejoined us at Assos we took him aboard and went on to Mitylene. ¹⁵ The next day we sailed from there and arrived opposite Chios. The second day we touched at Samos and, after stopping at Trogyllium, made Miletus the next day. ¹⁶ Paul had decided to pass wide of Ephesus so as to avoid spending time in Asia, since he was anxious to be in Jerusalem, if possible, for the day of Pentecost.

Farewell to the elders of Ephesus

¹⁷ From Miletus he sent for the elders of the church of Ephesus. ¹⁸ When they arrived he addressed these words to them:

"You know what my way of life has been ever since the first day I set foot among you in Asia, how I have served the Lord in all humility, with all the sorrows and trials that came to me through the plots of the Jews. ¹⁹ I have not hesitated to do anything that would be helpful to you; I have preached to you, and instructed you both in public and in your homes, urging both Jews and Greeks to turn to God and to believe in our Lord Jesus. ²⁰

"And now you see me a prisoner already in spirit; I am on my way to Jerusalem, but have no idea what will happen to me there, except that the Holy Spirit, in town after town, has made it clear enough that imprisonment and persecution await me. ²¹ But life to me is not a thing to waste words on, provided that when I finish my race I have carried out the mission the Lord Jesus gave me—and that was to bear witness to the Good News of God's grace. ²²

"I now feel sure that none of you among whom I have gone about proclaiming the kingdom will ever see my face again. ²³ And so here and now I swear that my

27 conscience is clear as far as all of you are concerned, •for I have without faltering put before you the whole of God's purpose.

28 "Be on your guard for yourselves and for all the flock of which the Holy Spirit has made you the overseers, to feed the Church of God which he bought with his own blood. •I know quite well that when I have gone fierce wolves will invade
29 you and will have no mercy on the flock. •Even from your own ranks there will be men coming forward with a travesty of the truth on their lips to induce the 30 disciples to follow them. •So be on your guard, remembering how night and day for three years I never failed to keep you right, shedding tears over each one of 31 you. •And now I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace that has power to build you up and to give you your inheritance among all the sanctified.

32 "I have never asked anyone for money or clothes; •you know for yourselves
33 that the work I did earned enough to meet my needs and those of my compan-
34 ions. •I did this to show you that this is how we must exert ourselves to support the weak, remembering the words of the Lord Jesus, who himself said, "There is more happiness in giving than in receiving."

35 When he had finished speaking he knelt down with them all and prayed. •By 36 now they were all in tears; they put their arms around Paul's neck and kissed him;
37 what saddened them most was his saying they would never see his face again.
38 Then they escorted him to the ship.

The journey to Jerusalem

1 21 When we had at last torn ourselves away from them and put to sea, we set 2 a straight course and arrived at Cos; the next day we reached Rhodes, and 3 from there went on to Patara. •Here we found a ship bound for Phoenicia, so we 4 went on board and sailed in her. •After sighting Cyprus and leaving it to port,
5 we sailed to Syria and put in at Tyre, since the ship was to unload her cargo there.
6 We sought out the disciples and stayed there a week. Speaking in the Spirit,
7 they kept telling Paul not to go on to Jerusalem, •but when our time was up we set 8 off. Together with the women and children they all escorted us on our way till we 9 were out of the town. When we reached the beach, we knelt down and prayed;
10 then, after saying good-bye to each other, we went aboard and they returned 11 home.

12 The end of our voyage from Tyre came when we landed at Ptolemais, where 13 we greeted the brothers and stayed one day with them. •The next day we left and 14 came to Caesarea. Here we called on Philip the evangelist, one of the Seven, and 15 stayed with him. •He had four virgin daughters who were prophets. •When we 16 had been there several days a prophet called Agabus arrived from Judaea •to see 17 us. He took Paul's girdle, and tied up his own feet and hands, and said, "This 18 is what the Holy Spirit says, 'The man this girdle belongs to will be bound like 19 this by the Jews in Jerusalem, and handed over to the pagans.'" •When we heard 20 this, we and everybody there implored Paul not to go on to Jerusalem. •To 21 this he replied, "What are you trying to do—weaken my resolution by your tears?
For my part, I am ready not only to be tied up but even to die in Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus." •And so, as he would not be persuaded, we gave up the attempt, saying, "The Lord's will be done."

Paul's arrival in Jerusalem

15 After this we packed and went on up to Jerusalem. •Some of the disciples 16 from Caesarea accompanied us and took us to the house of a Cypriot with whom we were to lodge; he was called Mnason and had been one of the earliest disciples.

17 On our arrival in Jerusalem the brothers gave us a very warm welcome. •The 18 next day Paul went with us to visit James, and all the elders were present. •After 19 greeting them he gave a detailed account of all that God had done among the 20 pagans through his ministry. •They gave glory to God when they heard this.
"But you see, brother," they said, "how thousands of Jews have now become

- 21 believers, all of them staunch upholders of the Law, and they have heard that you instruct all Jews living among the pagans to break away from Moses, authorizing them not to circumcise their children or to follow the customary practices. What is to be done? Inevitably there will be a meeting of the whole body, since they are bound to hear that you have come. So do as we suggest.
- 22 We have four men here who are under a vow; take these men along and be purified with them and pay all the expenses connected with the shaving of their heads.^a This will let everyone know there is no truth in the reports they have heard about you and that you still regularly observe the Law. The pagans who have become believers, as we wrote when we told them our decisions, must abstain from things sacrificed to idols, from blood, from the meat of strangled animals and from fornication.”
- 23 So the next day Paul took the men along and was purified with them, and he visited the Temple to give notice of the time when the period of purification would be over and the offering would have to be presented on behalf of each of them.

Paul's arrest

- 27 The seven days were nearly over when some Jews from Asia caught sight of him in the Temple and stirred up the crowd and seized him, shouting, “Men of Israel, help! This is the man who preaches to everyone everywhere against our people, against the Law and against this place. Now he has profaned this Holy Place by bringing Greeks into the Temple.” They had, in fact, previously seen Trophimus the Ephesian in the city with him, and thought that Paul had brought him into the Temple.
- 28 This roused the whole city; people came running from all sides; they seized Paul and dragged him out of the Temple, and the gates were closed behind them. They would have killed him if a report had not reached the tribune of the cohort^b that there was rioting all over Jerusalem. He immediately called out soldiers and centurions, and charged down on the crowd, who stopped beating Paul when they saw the tribune and the soldiers. When the tribune came up he arrested Paul, had him bound with two chains and inquired who he was and what he had done. People in the crowd called out different things, and since the noise made it impossible for him to get any positive information, the tribune ordered Paul to be taken into the fortress. When Paul reached the steps, the crowd became so violent that he had to be carried by the soldiers; and indeed the whole mob was after them, shouting, “Kill him!”
- 29 Just as Paul was being taken into the fortress, he asked the tribune if he could have a word with him. The tribune said, “You speak Greek, then? So you are not the Egyptian who started the recent revolt and led those four thousand cut-throats^c out into the desert?” “I?” said Paul. “I am a Jew and a citizen of the well-known city of Tarsus in Cilicia. Please give me permission to speak to the people.” The man gave his consent and Paul, standing at the top of the steps, gestured to the people with his hand. When all was quiet again he spoke to them in Hebrew.^d

Paul's address to the Jews of Jerusalem

- 1 22 “My brothers, my fathers, listen to what I have to say to you in my defense.”
- 2 When they realized he was speaking in Hebrew, the silence was even greater than before. “I am a Jew,” Paul said, “and was born at Tarsus in Cilicia. I was brought up here in this city. I studied under Gamaliel and was taught the exact observance of the Law of our ancestors. In fact, I was as full of duty toward God as you are today. I even persecuted this Way to the death, and sent women as well as men to prison in chains as the high priest and the whole councils of elders can testify, since they even sent me with letters to their brothers in Damascus.

10 me.' 'The people with me saw the light but did not hear his voice as he spoke 11 to me. 'I said: What am I to do Lord? The Lord answered, 'Stand up and go

13 The light had been so dazzling that I was blind and my companions had to take 14 me by the hand; and so I came to Damascus.

12 "Someone called Ananias, a devout follower of the Law and highly thought 13 of by all the Jews living there, 'came to see me; he stood beside me and said, 14 'Brother Saul, receive your sight.' Instantly my sight came back and I was able 15 to see him. 'Then he said, 'The God of our ancestors has chosen you to know
16 his will, to see the Just One and hear his own voice speaking, 'because you are 17 to be his witness before all mankind, testifying to what you have seen and heard.
18 And now why delay? It is time you were baptized and had your sins washed away 19 while invoking his name.'

17 "Once, after I had got back to Jerusalem, when I was praying in the Temple, 18 I fell into a trance and then I saw him. 'Hurry,' he said, 'leave Jerusalem at 19 once; they will not accept the testimony you are giving about me.' 'Lord, 20 I answered, it is because they know that I used to go from synagogue to syna-21 gogue, imprisoning and flogging those who believed in you; and that when the 22 blood of your witness^a Stephen was being shed, I was standing by in full agreement
23 with his murderers, and minding their clothes. 'Then he said to me, 'Go! I am 24 sending you out to the pagans far away.'"

Paul the Roman citizen

22 So far they had listened to him, but at these words they began to shout, "Rid 23 the earth of the man! He is not fit to live!" 'They were yelling, waving their 24 cloaks and throwing dust into the air, and so the tribune had him brought into 25 the fortress and ordered him to be examined under the lash, to find out the reason
26 for the outcry against him. 'But when they had strapped him down Paul said
27 to the centurion on duty, "Is it legal for you to flog a man who is a Roman citizen 28 and has not been brought to trial?" 'When he heard this the centurion went and 29 told the tribune; "Do you realize what you are doing?" he said. "This man
30 is a Roman citizen." 'So the tribune came and asked him, "Tell me, are you a 31 Roman citizen?" "I am," Paul said. 'The tribune replied, "It cost me a large sum to 32 acquire this citizenship." "But I was born to it," said Paul. 'Then those who were 33 about to examine him hurriedly withdrew, and the tribune himself was alarmed 34 when he realized that he had put a Roman citizen in chains.

His appearance before the Sanhedrin

30 The next day, since he wanted to know what precise charge the Jews were bringing, he freed Paul and gave orders for a meeting of the chief priests and the entire Sanhedrin; then he brought Paul down and stood him in front of them.

1 23 Paul looked steadily at the Sanhedrin and began to speak, "My brothers,
2 to this day I have conducted myself before God with a perfectly clear con-
3 science." 'At this the high priest Ananias ordered his attendants to strike him
4 on the mouth. 'Then Paul said to him, "God will surely strike you, you 5 whitewashed wall! How can you sit there to judge me according to the Law, and 6 then break the Law by ordering a man to strike me?" 'The attendants said, "It is 7 God's high priest you are insulting!" 'Paul answered, "Brothers, I did not realize 8 it was the high priest, for scripture says: You must not curse a ruler of your 9 people."^a

6 Now Paul was well aware that one section was made up of Sadducees and the other of Pharisees, so he called out in the Sanhedrin, "Brothers, I am a Pharisee and the son of Pharisees. It is for our hope in the resurrection of the dead that I am on trial." As soon as he said this a dispute broke out between the Pharisees and Sadducees, and the assembly was split between the two parties. For the Sadducees say there is neither resurrection, nor angel, nor spirit, while the Pharisees accept all three. The shouting grew louder, and some of the scribes from the Pharisees' party stood up and protested strongly, "We find nothing wrong with this man. Suppose a spirit has spoken to him, or an angel?" Feeling was running high, and the tribune, afraid that they would tear Paul to pieces, ordered his troops to go down and haul him out and bring him into the fortress.

11 Next night, the Lord appeared to him and said, "Courage! You have borne witness for me in Jerusalem, now you must do the same in Rome."

The conspiracy of the Jews against Paul

12 When it was day, the Jews held a secret meeting at which they made a vow not to eat or drink until they had killed Paul. There were more than forty who took part in this conspiracy, and they went to the chief priests and elders, and told them, "We have made a solemn vow to let nothing pass our lips until we have killed Paul. Now it is up to you and the Sanhedrin together to apply to the tribune to bring him down to you, as though you meant to examine his case more closely; we, on our side, are prepared to dispose of him before he reaches you."

16 But the son of Paul's sister heard of the ambush they were laying and made his way into the fortress and told Paul, who called one of the centurions and said, "Take this young man to the tribune; he has something to tell him." So the man took him to the tribune, and reported, "The prisoner Paul summoned me and requested me to bring this young man to you; he has something to tell you." Then the tribune took him by the hand and drew him aside and asked, "What is it you have to tell me?" He replied, "The Jews have made a plan to ask you to take Paul down to the Sanhedrin tomorrow, as though they meant to inquire more closely into his case. Do not let them persuade you. There are more than forty of them lying in wait for him, and they have vowed not to eat or drink until they have got rid of him. They are ready now and only waiting for your order to be given." The tribune let the young man go with this caution, "Tell no one that you have given me this information."

Paul transferred to Caesarea

23 Then he summoned two of the centurions and said, "Get two hundred soldiers ready to leave for Caesarea by the third hour of the night with seventy cavalry and two hundred auxiliaries; provide horses for Paul, and deliver him unharmed to Felix the governor."^b He also wrote a letter in these terms: "Claudius Lysias to his Excellency the governor Felix, greetings. This man had been seized by the Jews and would have been murdered by them but I came on the scene with my troops and got him away, having discovered that he was a Roman citizen. Wanting to find out what charge they were making against him, I brought him before their Sanhedrin. I found that the accusation concerned disputed points of their Law, but that there was no charge deserving death or imprisonment. My information is that there is a conspiracy against the man, so I hasten to send him to you, and have notified his accusers that they must state their case against him in your presence."

31 The soldiers carried out their orders; they took Paul and escorted him by night to Antipatris. Next day they left the mounted escort to go on with him and returned to the fortress. On arriving at Caesarea the escort delivered the letter to the governor and handed Paul over to him. The governor read the letter and asked him what province he came from. Learning that he was from Cilicia he said, "I will hear your case as soon as your accusers are here too." Then he ordered him to be held in Herod's praetorium.

The case before Felix

1 24 Five days later the high priest Ananias came down with some of the 2 elders and an advocate named Tertullus, and they laid information against 3 Paul before the governor. "Paul was called, and Tertullus opened for the 4 prosecution, "Your Excellency, Felix, the unbroken peace we enjoy and 5 the reforms this nation owes to your foresight are matters we accept, always 6 and everywhere, with all gratitude. "I do not want to take up too much of your 7 time, but I beg you to give us a brief hearing. "The plain truth is that we find
 8 this man a perfect pest; he stirs up trouble among Jews the world over, and is a 9 ringleader of the Nazarene sect. "He has even attempted to profane the Temple.
 10 We placed him under arrest, intending to judge him according to our Law, but 11 the tribune Lysias intervened and took him out of our hands by force, ordering 12 his accusers to appear before you; if you ask him^a you can find out for yourself
 13 the truth of all our accusations against this man." "The Jews supported him, 14 asserting that these were the facts.

15 When the governor motioned him to speak, Paul answered:

Paul's speech before the Roman governor

16 "I know that you have administered justice over this nation for many years, 17 and I can therefore speak with confidence in my defense. "As you can verify for 18 yourself, it is no more than twelve days since I went up to Jerusalem on 19 pilgrimage, and it is not true that they ever found me arguing with anyone or 20 stirring up the mob, either in the Temple, in the synagogues, or about the town;
 21 neither can they prove any of the accusations they are making against me now.

22 "What I do admit to you is this: it is according to the Way which they describe
 23 as a sect that I worship the God of my ancestors, retaining my belief in all points
 24 of the Law and in what is written in the prophets; and I hold the same hope
 25 in God as they do that there will be a resurrection of good men and bad men
 26 alike. "In these things, I, as much as they, do my best to keep a clear conscience 27 at all times before God and man.

28 "After several years I came to bring alms to my nation and to make offerings;
 29 it was in connection with these that they found me in the Temple; I had been 30 purified, and there was no crowd involved, and no disturbance. "But some Jews 31 from Asia . . . —these are the ones who should have appeared before you and 32 accused me of whatever they had against me. "At least let those who are present 33 say what crime they found me guilty of when I stood before the Sanhedrin, unless 34 it were to do with this single outburst, when I stood up among them and called 35 out: It is about the resurrection of the dead that I am on trial before you today."

Paul's captivity at Caesarea

36 At this Felix, who knew more about the Way than most people, adjourned 37 the case, saying, "When Lysias the tribune has come down I will go into your 38 case." "He then gave orders to the centurion that Paul should be kept under arrest
 39 but free from restriction, and that none of his own people should be prevented 40 from seeing to his needs.

41 Some days later Felix came with his wife Drusilla who was a Jewess.^b He sent 42 for Paul and gave him a hearing on the subject of faith in Christ Jesus. "But when 43 he began to treat of righteousness, self-control and the coming Judgment, Felix 44 took fright and said, "You may go for the present; I will send for you when I find 45 it convenient." "At the same time he had hopes of receiving money from Paul, 46 and for this reason he sent for him frequently and had talks with him.

47 When the two years^c came to an end, Felix was succeeded by Porcius Festus 48 and, being anxious to gain favor with the Jews, Felix left Paul in custody.

Paul appeals to Caesar

1 25 Three days after his arrival in the province, Festus went up to Jerusalem
2 from Caesarea. The chief priests and leaders of the Jews informed him of 3 the case against Paul, urgently asking him to support them rather than Paul,
4 and to have him transferred to Jerusalem. They were, in fact, preparing an ambush
5 to murder him on the way. But Festus replied that Paul would remain in custody
6 in Caesarea, and that he would be going back there shortly himself. "Let your 7 authorities come down with me," he said, "and if there is anything wrong about 8 the man, they can bring a charge against him."

9 After staying with them for eight or ten days at the most, he went down to 10 Caesarea and the next day he took his seat on the tribunal and had Paul brought 11 in. As soon as Paul appeared, the Jews who had come down from Jerusalem 12 surrounded him, making many serious accusations which they were unable to 13 substantiate. Paul's defense was this, "I have committed no offense whatever 14 against either Jewish law, or the Temple, or Caesar." Festus was anxious to gain 15 favor with the Jews, so he said to Paul, "Are you willing to go up to Jerusalem
16 and be tried on these charges before me there?" But Paul replied, "I am standing 17 before the tribunal of Caesar and this is where I should be tried. I have done the 18 Jews no wrong, as you very well know. If I am guilty of committing any capital 19 crime, I do not ask to be spared the death penalty. But if there is no substance 20 in the accusations these persons bring against me, no one has a right to surrender 21 me to them. I appeal to Caesar." Then Festus conferred with his advisers and 22 replied, "You have appealed to Caesar; to Caesar you shall go."

Paul appears before King Agrippa

23 Some days later King Agrippa and Bernice^a arrived in Caesarea and paid 24 their respects to Festus. Their visit lasted several days, and Festus put Paul's 25 case before the king. "There is a man here," he said, "whom Felix left behind in 26 custody, and while I was in Jerusalem the chief priests and elders of the Jews
27 laid information against him, demanding his condemnation. But I told them 28 that Romans are not in the habit of surrendering any man, until the accused 29 confronts his accusers and is given an opportunity to defend himself against the 30 charge. So they came here with me, and I wasted no time but took my seat on 31 the tribunal the very next day and had the man brought in. When confronted 32 with him, his accusers did not charge him with any of the crimes I had expected;
33 but they had some argument or other with him about their own religion and about 34 a dead man called Jesus whom Paul alleged to be alive. Not feeling qualified 35 to deal with questions of this sort, I asked him if he would be willing to go to 36 Jerusalem to be tried there on this issue. But Paul put in an appeal for his case 37 to be reserved for the judgment of the august emperor, so I ordered him to be 38 remanded until I could send him to Caesar." Agrippa said to Festus, "I should 39 like to hear the man myself." "Tomorrow," he answered, "you shall hear him."

40 So the next day Agrippa and Bernice arrived in great state and entered the 41 audience chamber attended by the tribunes and the city notables; and Festus 42 ordered Paul to be brought in. Then Festus said, "King Agrippa, and all here 43 present with us, you see before you the man about whom the whole Jewish 44 community has petitioned me, both in Jerusalem and here, loudly protesting 45 that he ought not to be allowed to remain alive. For my own part I am satisfied 46 that he has committed no capital crime, but when he himself appealed to the 47 august emperor I decided to send him. But I have nothing definite that I can 48 write to his Imperial Majesty about him; that is why I have produced him before
49 you all, and before you in particular, King Agrippa, so that after the examination

27 I may have something to write. ·It seems to me pointless to send a prisoner without indicating the charges against him.”

1 26 Then Agrippa said to Paul, “You have leave to speak on your own behalf.” And Paul held up his hand and began his defense:

Paul’s speech before King Agrippa

2 “I consider myself fortunate, King Agrippa, in that it is before you I am to 3 answer today all the charges made against me by the Jews, ·the more so because you are an expert in matters of custom and controversy among the Jews. So I beg you to listen to me patiently.

4 “My manner of life from my youth, a life spent from the beginning among
5 my own people and in Jerusalem, is common knowledge among the Jews. ·They have known me for a long time and could testify, if they would, that I followed
6 the strictest party in our religion and lived as a Pharisee. ·And now it is for my 7 hope in the promise made by God to our ancestors that I am on trial, ·the promise that our twelve tribes, constant in worship night and day, hope to attain. For 8 that hope, Sire, I am actually put on trial by Jews! ·Why does it seem incredible to you that God should raise the dead?

9 “As for me, I once thought it was my duty to use every means to oppose the 10 name of Jesus the Nazarene. ·This I did in Jerusalem; I myself threw many of the saints into prison, acting on authority from the chief priests, and when they were 11 sentenced to death I cast my vote against them. ·I often went around the synagogues inflicting penalties, trying in this way to force them to renounce their 12 faith; my fury against them was so extreme that I even pursued them into foreign cities.

12 “On one such expedition I was going to Damascus, armed with full powers
13 and a commission from the chief priests, ·and at midday as I was on my way, your Majesty, I saw a light brighter than the sun come down from heaven. It
14 shone brilliantly around me and my fellow travelers. ·We all fell to the ground, and I heard a voice saying to me in Hebrew, “Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting 15 me? It is hard for you, kicking like this against the goad.”^a ·Then I said: Who are you, Lord? And the Lord answered, ‘I am Jesus, and you are persecuting
16 me. ·But get up and stand on your feet, for I have appeared to you for this reason: to appoint you as my servant and as witness of this vision in which you
17 have seen me, and of others in which I shall appear to you. ·I shall deliver you from the people and from the pagans, to whom I am sending you ·to open their eyes, so that they may turn from darkness to light,^b from the dominion of Satan
18 to God, and receive, through faith in me, forgiveness of their sins and a share in the inheritance of the sanctified.’

19 “After that, King Agrippa, I could not disobey the heavenly vision. ·On the 20 contrary I started preaching first to the people of Damascus, then to those of Jerusalem and all the countryside of Judaea, and also to the pagans, urging them
21 to repent and turn to God, proving their change of heart by their deeds. ·This was why the Jews laid hands on me in the Temple and tried to do away with me.
22 But I was blessed with God’s help, and so I have stood firm to this day, testifying to great and small alike, saying nothing more than what the prophets and Moses 23 himself said would happen: ·that the Christ was to suffer and that, as the first to rise from the dead, he was to proclaim that light now shone for our people and for the pagans too.”

His hearers’ reactions

24 He had reached this point in his defense when Festus shouted out, “Paul, you
25 are out of your mind; all that learning of yours is driving you mad.” ·“Festus, your Excellency,” answered Paul, “I am not mad: I am speaking nothing but the 26 sober truth. ·The king understands these matters, and to him I now speak with assurance, confident that nothing of all this is lost on him; after all, these things
27 were not done in a corner. ·King Agrippa, do you believe in the prophets? I know

28 you do." At this Agrippa said to Paul, "A little more, and your arguments would 29 make a Christian of me." "Little or more," Paul replied, "I wish before God that not only you but all who have heard me today would come to be as I am —except for these chains."

30 At this the king rose to his feet, with the governor and Bernice and those who 31 sat there with them. When they had retired they talked together and agreed, 32 "This man is doing nothing that deserves death or imprisonment." And Agrippa remarked to Festus, "The man could have been set free if he had not appealed to Caesar."

The departure for Rome

1 27 When it had been decided that we should sail for Italy, Paul and some other prisoners were handed over to a centurion called Julius, of the 2 Augustan cohort. We boarded a vessel from Adramyttium bound for ports on the Asiatic coast, and put to sea; we had Aristarchus with us, a Macedonian of 3 Thessalonika. Next day we put in at Sidon, and Julius was considerate enough to allow Paul to go to his friends to be looked after.

4 From there we put to sea again, but as the winds were against us we sailed
5 under the lee of Cyprus, then across the open sea off Cilicia and Pamphylia, 6 taking a fortnight to reach Myra in Lycia. There the centurion found an Alexandrian ship leaving for Italy and put us aboard.

7 For some days we made little headway, and we had difficulty in making Cnidus. The wind would not allow us to touch there, so we sailed under the lee 8 of Crete off Cape Salmone and struggled along the coast until we came to a place called Fair Havens, near the town of Lasea.

Storm and shipwreck

9 A great deal of time had been lost, and navigation was already hazardous since it was now well after the time of the Fast,^a so Paul gave them this warning, 10 "Friends, I can see this voyage will be dangerous and that we run the risk of losing 11 not only the cargo and the ship but also our lives as well." But the centurion took more notice of the captain and the ship's owner than of what Paul was 12 saying; and since the harbor was unsuitable for wintering, the majority were for putting out from there in the hope of wintering at Phoenix—a harbor in Crete, facing southwest and northwest.

13 A southerly breeze sprang up and, thinking their objective as good as reached, 14 they weighed anchor and began to sail past Crete, close inshore. But it was not long before a hurricane, the "northeaster" as they call it, burst on them from across 15 the island. The ship was caught and could not be turned head on to the wind, 16 so we had to give way to it and let ourselves be driven. We ran under the lee of a small island called Cauda and managed with some difficulty to bring the ship's 17 boat under control. They hoisted it aboard and with the help of tackle bound cables around the ship; then, afraid of running aground on the Syrtis banks, they 18 floated out the sea anchor and so let themselves drift. As we were making very 19 heavy weather of it, the next day they began to jettison the cargo, and the third 20 day they threw the ship's gear overboard with their own hands. For a number of days both the sun and the stars were invisible and the storm raged unabated until at last we gave up all hope of surviving.

21 Then, when they had been without food for a long time, Paul stood up among the men. "Friends," he said, "if you had listened to me and not put out from Crete, 22 you would have spared yourselves all this damage and loss. But now I ask you not to give way to despair. There will be no loss of life at all, only of the ship.
23 Last night there was standing beside me an angel of the God to whom I belong

24 and whom I serve, and he said, 'Do not be afraid, Paul. You are destined to appear before Caesar, and for this reason God grants you the safety of all who 25 are sailing with you.' 'So take courage, friends; I trust in God that things will 26 turn out just as I was told; but we are to be stranded on some island.'

27 On the fourteenth night we were being driven one way and another in the Adriatic,^b when about midnight the crew sensed that land of some sort was near.
28 They took soundings and found twenty fathoms; after a short interval they 29 sounded again and found fifteen fathoms. 'Then, afraid that we might run aground somewhere on a reef, they dropped four anchors from the stern and 30 prayed for daylight. 'When some of the crew tried to escape from the ship and lowered the ship's boat into the sea as though to lay out anchors from the bows, 31 Paul said to the centurion and his men, "Unless those men stay on board you 32 cannot hope to be saved." 'So the soldiers cut the boat's ropes and let it drop away.

33 Just before daybreak Paul urged them all to have something to eat. "For fourteen days," he said, "you have been in suspense, going hungry and eating 34 nothing. 'Let me persuade you to have something to eat; your safety is not in 35 doubt. Not a hair of your heads will be lost.'" 'With these words he took some 36 bread, gave thanks to God in front of them all, broke it and began to eat. 'Then 37 they all plucked up courage and took something to eat themselves. 'We were 38 in all two hundred and seventy-six souls on board that ship. 'When they had eaten what they wanted they lightened the ship by throwing the corn overboard into the sea.

39 When day came they did not recognize the land, but they could make out a kind of bay with a beach; they planned to run the ship aground on this if they 40 could. 'They slipped the anchors and left them to the sea, and at the same time loosened the lashings of the rudders; then, hoisting the foresail to the wind, they 41 headed for the beach. 'But the crosscurrents carried them into a shoal and the vessel ran aground. The bows were wedged in and stuck fast, while the stern began to break up with the pounding of the waves.

42 The soldiers planned to kill the prisoners for fear that any should swim off 43 and escape. 'But the centurion was determined to bring Paul safely through, and would not let them do what they intended. He gave orders that those who could 44 swim should jump overboard first and so get ashore, and the rest follow either on planks or on pieces of wreckage. In this way all came safe and sound to land.

Waiting in Malta

1 28 Once we had come safely through, we discovered that the island was 2 called Malta. 'The inhabitants treated us with unusual kindness. They made us all welcome, and they lit a huge fire because it had started to rain and 3 the weather was cold. 'Paul had collected a bundle of sticks and was putting them on the fire when a viper brought out by the heat attached itself to his hand.
4 When the natives saw the creature hanging from his hand they said to one another, "That man must be a murderer; he may have escaped the sea, but divine 5 vengeance would not let him live." 'However, he shook the creature off into the 6 fire and came to no harm, although they were expecting him at any moment to swell up or drop dead on the spot. After they had waited a long time without seeing anything out of the ordinary happen to him, they changed their minds and began to say he was a god.

7 In that neighborhood there were estates belonging to the prefect of the island, whose name was Publius. He received us and entertained us hospitably 8 for three days. 'It so happened that Publius' father was in bed, suffering from feverish attacks and dysentery. Paul went in to see him, and after a prayer he laid 9 his hands on the man and healed him. 'When this happened, the other sick 10 people on the island came as well and were cured; they honored us with many marks of respect, and when we sailed they put on board the provisions we needed.

From Malta to Rome

11 At the end of three months we set sail in a ship that had wintered in the 12 island; she came from Alexandria and her figurehead was the Twins. We put in 13 at Syracuse and spent three days there; from there we followed the coast up to Rhegium. After one day there a south wind sprang up and on the second day we 14 made Puteoli,^a where we found some brothers and were much rewarded by staying a week with them. And so we came to Rome.

15 When the brothers there heard of our arrival they came to meet us, as far as the Forum of Appius and the Three Taverns. When Paul saw them he thanked 16 God and took courage. On our arrival in Rome Paul was allowed to stay in lodgings of his own with the soldier who guarded him.

Paul makes contact with the Roman Jews

17 After three days he called together the leading Jews. When they had assembled, he said to them, "Brothers, although I have done nothing against our people or the customs of our ancestors, I was arrested in Jerusalem and handed over to 18 the Romans. They examined me and would have set me free, since they found 19 me guilty of nothing involving the death penalty; but the Jews lodged an objection, and I was forced to appeal to Caesar, not that I had any accusation to make 20 against my own nation. That is why I have asked to see you and talk to you, for it is on account of the hope of Israel that I wear this chain."

21 They answered, "We have received no letters from Judaea about you, nor has any countryman of yours arrived here with any report or story of anything to 22 your discredit. We think it would be as well to hear your own account of your position; all we know about this sect is that opinion everywhere condemns it."

Paul's declaration to the Roman Jews

23 So they arranged a day with him and a large number of them visited him at his lodgings. He put his case to them, testifying to the kingdom of God and trying to persuade them about Jesus, arguing from the Law of Moses and the prophets.
 24 This went on from early morning until evening, and some were convinced by 25 what he said, while the rest were skeptical. So they disagreed among themselves and, as they went away, Paul had one last thing to say to them, "How aptly the Holy Spirit spoke when he told your ancestors through the prophet Isaiah:

26 *Go to this nation and say:
 You will hear and hear again but not understand,
 see and see again, but not perceive.
 27 For the heart of this nation has grown coarse,
 their ears are dull of hearing and they have shut their eyes,
 for fear they should see with their eyes,
 hear with their ears,
 understand with their heart,
 and be converted
 and be healed by me.^b*

28 "Understand, then, that this salvation of God has been sent to the pagans;
 they will listen to it."^c

Epilogue

30 Paul spent the whole of the two years^d in his own rented lodging. He welcomed 31 all who came to visit him, proclaiming the kingdom of God and teaching the truth about the Lord Jesus Christ with complete freedom and without hindrance from anyone.

INTRODUCTION TO THE LETTERS OF SAINT PAUL

Paul was born about A.D. 10, of a Jewish family living among "the Greeks" at Tarsus, a Roman municipality in Cilicia. He was educated as a Pharisee in Jerusalem. He was converted to belief in Christ about A.D. 34, and many particulars of his life as an apostle can be found in his letters and in Acts. The letters may be dated from A.D. 50–65. Paul was imprisoned in Rome, A.D. 61–63, and set free for want of evidence; a second imprisonment in Rome ended, according to a very ancient tradition, in martyrdom by execution, probably in the year 67.

Paul's letters show him as a man of sensitive temperament and warm emotions, completely dedicated to the spreading of the "Good News" that Christ by his death and resurrection was proved to be the one universal savior of Jew and "Greek" alike. Crises and controversies led him to explain the message of the gospel in ways adapted to the needs of his readers and so to bring into play his remarkable powers of theological analysis and his grasp of profundities. His letters, in a fluent Greek which was his second mother tongue, were generally a response to a particular situation in a particular church, and although some passages in them were obviously written after long and careful thought, more often the style suggests spontaneity and urgency. The letters were usually dictated, and then signed by Paul with a short personal greeting.

The order in which the letters are printed in this Bible is the traditional one which arranges them in order of diminishing length. If they are read in the order in which they were written, the development in Paul's theological thinking can be seen as he finds expression for further depths and implications in the gospel.

1 and 2 Thessalonians. A.D. 50–51

1 Thessalonians was written from Corinth, when Paul's companion Timothy had come back from a second visit to Thessalonika and reported to Paul on the state of the church there. Besides a series of practical recommendations, it includes Paul's teaching on death and the "second coming" of Christ, expressed in the terms of contemporary apocalyptic writing.

2 Thessalonians, written about a year later, shows that Paul's thought on the same subject had deepened. Parts of the two letters show some close correspondences, and some critics have doubted the authenticity of 2 Thessalonians. However, the earliest authorities accepted them as both by Paul.

1 and 2 Corinthians. A.D. 57

Corinth, a great and populous port, was a magnet to every sort of philosophy and religion and was also a notorious center of immorality. Paul's converts in the city were particularly in need of instruction and guidance, both about the Good News itself and about the Christian life which it implied. Paul appears to have written four letters to the church in Corinth, of which we now have only two.

His first letter to Corinth has not survived, and the earliest we have was written from Ephesus sometime near Easter, 57. Shortly afterward, Paul had to pay a brief visit to Corinth in which he had to take painful disciplinary measures, and when later he sent a representative to Corinth instead of going himself, the Corinthians did not accept his authority, and Paul wrote a third letter which was very severe. In Macedonia, toward the end of 57, Paul heard from Titus that the "severe letter" had had the desired effect, and then he wrote the letter which we know as 2 Corinthians.

However, 2 Corinthians is not a single consistent letter; it has been suggested that it includes part of the lost first letter (2 Co. 6:14-7:1) and part of the "severe letter" (2 Co. 10-13).

The two letters to the Corinthians contain much information about urgent problems that faced the church and the important decisions which were made to meet them: questions of morality, about the liturgy and the holding of assemblies, the recognition of spiritual gifts and the avoidance of contamination from pagan religions. It was Paul's religious genius to turn what might have remained textbook cases of conscience into the means of exploring the profound doctrines of Christian liberty, the sanctification of the body, the supremacy of love, and union with Christ.

Galatians. Romans. A.D. 57-58

These two letters analyze the same problem, but while Galatians is Paul's immediate response to a particular situation, Romans is more like a systematic treatise and gives a methodical arrangement to all the new ideas that had emerged from the argument.

Paul had not himself founded the church at Rome. It was a mixed community in which there was a danger that Jewish and non-Jewish converts might look down on each other, and Paul, before visiting the church, sent this considered examination of how Judaism and Christianity were related to one another, using the ideas which he had developed in the Galatian crisis and further refining them. In both these letters we can see Paul correcting the unbalance of the Greek outlook which relied too exclusively on human reason, just as in earlier letters he had corrected the unbalance of the Jewish outlook which relied too heavily on the Law.

Philippians. A.D. 56-57

This is a letter without a lot of doctrinal exposition in it, giving some news to his converts at Philippi and warning them of some enemies who had worked against Paul elsewhere and might turn to them next. At the time of writing, Paul was under arrest, but it is unlikely that his letter was written from Rome during his imprisonment there in 61-63 and it may have been written from Ephesus.

Ephesians. Colossians. Philemon. A.D. 61-63

All three letters are closely related and were written while Paul was under arrest in Rome. It appears that the relation between Ephesians and Colossians is like that between Romans and Galatians. The news of a crisis at Colossae led Paul to write a letter to the Christians there against the growing belief and trust in celestial and cosmic powers. Paul accepts these powers as the angels of Jewish tradition, but he shows that in the great scheme of salvation they have only a preparatory and subordinate part and now there is a new order in which Christ is all. About the same time, he wrote a fuller and more systematic treatment of the same ideas and this is the letter that we know as "Ephesians" though it was probably written for circulation through all the churches.

Some critics have questioned the authorship of both these letters, and particularly of Ephesians, since it seems to borrow ideas from Colossians and not always to digest them smoothly. But we know nothing of any other person capable of writing them; in parts of them, Paul is at his most personal and characteristic, and they represent a further reconsideration of themes which he had already explored in his earlier letters.

The short letter to Philemon is a personal message which was written in Paul's own handwriting.

1 Timothy. Titus. 2 Timothy. A.D. 65

These are letters of advice and instruction to two of Paul's most loyal followers in their work of organizing and leading the communities to which he had sent them. It is possible that 1 Timothy and Titus were written from Macedonia about A.D. 65, but by the time he wrote 2 Timothy, Paul was a prisoner in Rome awaiting death. From the details of his recent movements given in this letter, this must have been a second imprisonment, and not that of 61-63.

Hebrews. A.D. 67

The question who wrote this letter to Jewish Christians has been a subject of debate from the earliest times. It is ranked with Paul's letters in importance, its doctrine has Pauline overtones, and it was written from Italy, perhaps from Rome; but while there may be a strong presumption that its author had come under the influence of Paul, the letter can hardly be attributed to Paul himself.

It is a sustained argument from Old Testament texts, to keep its readers firm under persecution. The theme is that the ineffectual sacrifices of the levitical priests are replaced by the one uniquely efficacious sacrifice of Christ, and that his priesthood is of an altogether higher order than that of the Jewish priests, derived from Aaron.

ROMANS

THE LETTER OF PAUL TO THE CHURCH IN ROME

Address

¹ I From Paul, a servant of Christ Jesus who has been called to be an apostle, ² and specially chosen to preach the Good News that God promised long ago through his prophets in the scriptures.

³ This news is about the Son of God who, according to the human nature he
⁴ took, was a descendant of David: it is about Jesus Christ our Lord who, in the order of the spirit, the spirit of holiness that was in him, was proclaimed Son
⁵ of God in all his power through his resurrection from the dead. Through him we received grace and our apostolic mission to preach the obedience of faith
⁶ to all pagan nations in honor of his name. You are one of these nations, and ⁷ by his call belong to Jesus Christ. To you all, then, who are God's beloved in Rome, called to be saints, may God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ send grace and peace.

Thanksgiving and prayer

⁸ First I thank my God through Jesus Christ for all of you and for the way in ⁹ which your faith is spoken of all over the world. The God I worship spiritually by preaching the Good News of his Son knows that I never fail to mention you
¹⁰ in my prayers, and to ask to be allowed at long last the opportunity to visit ¹¹ you, if he so wills. For I am longing to see you either to strengthen you by ¹² sharing a spiritual gift with you, or what is better, to find encouragement
¹³ among you from our common faith. I want you to know, brothers, that I have often planned to visit you—though until now I have always been prevented—in the hope that I might work as fruitfully among you as I have done among the ¹⁴ other pagans. I owe a duty to Greeks^a just as much as to barbarians, to the ¹⁵ educated just as much as to the uneducated, and it is this that makes me want to bring the Good News to you too in Rome.

SALVATION BY FAITH

I. JUSTIFICATION

The theme stated

¹⁶ For I am not ashamed of the Good News: it is the power of God saving all
¹⁷ who have faith—Jews first, but Greeks as well—since this is what reveals the justice of God to us: it shows how faith leads to faith, or as scripture says: The upright man finds life through faith.^b

1 a. When contrasted with "barbarians" (as here), "Greeks" means the inhabitants of the Hellenic world, including the Romans; when contrasted with "Jews," it means the pagans in general. b. Hab. 2:4

A. GOD'S ANGER AGAINST PAGAN AND JEW

God's anger against the pagans

18 The anger of God is being revealed from heaven against all the impiety and 19 depravity of men who keep truth imprisoned in their wickedness. For what can be known about God is perfectly plain to them since God himself has made it 20 plain. Ever since God created the world his everlasting power and deity—however invisible—have been there for the mind to see in the things he has 21 made. That is why such people are without excuse: they knew God and yet refused to honor him as God or to thank him; instead, they made nonsense 22 out of logic and their empty minds were darkened. The more they called 23 themselves philosophers, the more stupid they grew, until they exchanged the glory^c of the immortal God for a worthless imitation, for the image of mortal man, 24 of birds, of quadrupeds and reptiles. That is why God left them to their filthy enjoyments and the practices with which they dishonor their own bodies, 25 since they have given up divine truth for a lie and have worshiped and served creatures instead of the creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen!

26 That is why God has abandoned them to degrading passions: why their women 27 have turned from natural intercourse to unnatural practices and why their menfolk have given up natural intercourse to be consumed with passion for each other, men doing shameful things with men and getting an appropriate reward for their perversion.

28 In other words, since they refused to see it was rational to acknowledge God,
 God has left them to their own irrational ideas and to their monstrous behavior.
 29 And so they are steeped in all sorts of depravity, rottenness, greed and malice, 30 and addicted to envy, murder, wrangling, treachery and spite. Libelers, slanderers, enemies of God, rude, arrogant and boastful, enterprising in sin, 31 rebellious to parents, without brains, honor, love or pity. They know what 32 God's verdict is: that those who behave like this deserve to die—and yet they do it; and what is worse, encourage others to do the same.

The Jews are not exempt from God's anger

1 2 So no matter who you are, if you pass judgment you have no excuse.
 In judging others you condemn yourself, since you behave no differently
 2 from those you judge. We know that God condemns that sort of behavior
 3 impartially: and when you judge those who behave like this while you are 4 doing exactly the same, do you think you will escape God's judgment? Or are you abusing his abundant goodness, patience and toleration, not realizing that 5 this goodness of God is meant to lead you to repentance? Your stubborn refusal to repent is only adding to the anger God will have toward you on that day of 6 anger when his just judgments will be made known. He will repay each one as 7 his works deserve.^a For those who sought renown and honor and immortality 8 by always doing good there will be eternal life; for the unsubmitive who refused to take truth for their guide and took depravity instead, there will be 9 anger and fury. Pain and suffering will come to every human being who employs 10 himself in evil—Jews first, but Greeks as well; renown, honor and peace will 11 come to everyone who does good—Jews first, but Greeks as well. God has no favorites.

The Law will not save them

12 Sinners who were not subject to the Law will perish all the same, without that Law; sinners who were under the Law will have that Law to judge them.
 13 It is not listening to the Law but keeping it that will make people holy in the 14 sight of God. For instance, pagans who never heard of the Law but are led by reason to do what the Law commands, may not actually "possess" the Law, 15 but they can be said to "be" the Law. They can point to the substance of the Law engraved on their hearts—they can call a witness, that is, their own conscience—they have accusation and defense, that is, their own inner mental dialogue.^b . . . on the day when, according to the Good News I preach, God, through Jesus Christ, judges the secrets of mankind.

If you call yourself a Jew, if you really trust in the Law and are proud of your God, if you know God's will through the Law and can tell what is right, if you are convinced you can guide the blind and be a beacon to those in the dark, if you can teach the ignorant and instruct the unlearned because your Law embodies all knowledge and truth, then why not teach yourself as well as the others? You preach against stealing, yet you steal; you forbid adultery, yet you commit adultery; you despise idols, yet you rob their temples. By boasting about the Law and then disobeying it, you bring God into contempt. As scripture says: It is your fault that the name of God is blasphemed among the pagans.

Circumcision will not save them

It is a good thing to be circumcised if you keep the Law; but if you break the Law, you might as well have stayed uncircumcised. If a man who is not circumcised obeys the commandments of the Law, surely that makes up for not being circumcised? More than that, the man who keeps the Law, even though he has not been physically circumcised, is a living condemnation of the way you disobey the Law in spite of being circumcised and having it all written down. To be a Jew is not just to look like a Jew, and circumcision is more than a physical operation. The real Jew is the one who is inwardly a Jew, and the real circumcision is in the heart—something not of the letter but of the spirit. A Jew like that may not be praised by man, but he will be praised by God.

God's promises will not save them

Well then, is a Jew any better off? Is there any advantage in being circumcised? A great advantage in every way. First, the Jews are the people to whom God's message was entrusted. What if some of them were unfaithful? Will their lack of fidelity cancel God's fidelity? That would be absurd. God will always be true even though everyone proves to be false^a; so scripture says: In all you say your justice shows, and when you are judged you win your case.^b But if our lack of holiness makes God demonstrate his integrity, how can we say God is unjust when—to use a human analogy—he gets angry with us in return? That would be absurd, it would mean God could never judge the world. You might as well say that since my untruthfulness makes God demonstrate his truthfulness and thus gives him glory, I should not be judged to be a sinner at all. That would be the same as saying: Do evil as a means to good. Some slanderers have accused us of teaching this, but they are justly condemned.

All are guilty

Well: are we any better off? Not at all: as we said before, Jews and Greeks are all under sin's dominion. As scripture says:

*There is not a good man left, no, not one:
there is not one who understands,
not one who looks for God.
All have turned aside, tainted all alike;
there is not one good man left, not a single one.
Their throats are yawning graves;
their tongues are full of deceit.
Vipers' venom is on their lips,
bitter curses fill their mouths.*

c. Ps. 106:20.

2 a. Ps. 6:12 b. This verse follows on from v. 13.

3 a. Ps. 116:11 b. Ps. 51:4 (LXX)

15 Their feet are swift when blood is to be shed,
 16 wherever they go there is havoc and ruin.
 17 They know nothing of the way of peace,
 18 there is no fear of God before their eyes.^c

19 Now all this that the Law says is said, as we know, for the benefit of those who are subject to the Law, but it is meant to silence everyone and to lay the whole world open to God's judgment; and this is because no one can be justified in the sight of^d God by keeping the Law: all that law does is to tell us what is sinful.

B. FAITH AND THE JUSTICE OF GOD

The revelation of God's justice

21 God's justice that was made known through the Law and the Prophets has 22 now been revealed outside the Law, since it is the same justice of God that comes through faith to everyone, Jew and pagan alike, who believes in Jesus 23 Christ. Both Jew and pagan sinned and forfeited God's glory, and both are 24 justified through the free gift of his grace by being redeemed in Christ Jesus 25 who was appointed by God to sacrifice his life so as to win reconciliation through faith. In this way God makes his justice known; first, for the past, when sins went 26 unpunished because he held his hand, then, for the present age, by showing positively that he is just, and that he justifies everyone who believes in Jesus.

What faith does

27 So what becomes of our boasts? There is no room for them. What sort of law excludes them? The sort of law that tells us what to do? On the contrary, 28 it is the law of faith, since, as we see it, a man is justified by faith and not 29 by doing something the Law tells him to do. Is God the God of Jews alone and 30 not of the pagans too? Of the pagans too, most certainly, since there is only one
 God, and he is the one who will justify the circumcised because of their faith 31 and justify the uncircumcised through their faith. Do we mean that faith makes the Law pointless? Not at all: we are giving the Law its true value.

C. THE EXAMPLE OF ABRAHAM

Abraham justified by faith

1 4 Apply this to Abraham, the ancestor from whom we are all descended.
 2 If Abraham was justified as a reward for doing something, he would really
 3 have had something to boast about, though not in God's sight because scripture says: Abraham put his faith in God, and this faith was considered as justifying him.^a 4 If a man has work to show, his wages are not considered as a favor but as his 5 due; but when a man has nothing to show except faith in the one who justifies 6 sinners, then his faith is considered as justifying him. And David says the same:
 a man is happy if God considers him righteous, irrespective of good deeds:

7 Happy those whose crimes are forgiven,
whose sins are blotted out;
 8 happy the man whom the Lord considers sinless.^b

Justified before circumcision

9 Is this happiness meant only for the circumcised, or is it meant for others as well? Think of Abraham again: his faith, we say, was considered as justifying him, 10 but when was this done? When he was already circumcised or before he had been

11 circumcised? It was before he had been circumcised, not after; and when he was circumcised later it was only as a sign and guarantee that the faith he had before his circumcision justified him. In this way Abraham became the ancestor of all 12 uncircumcised believers, so that they too might be considered righteous; and ancestor, also, of those who though circumcised do not rely on that fact alone, but follow our ancestor Abraham along the path of faith he trod before he had been circumcised.

Not justified by obedience to the Law

13 The promise of inheriting the world was not made to Abraham and his descendants on account of any law but on account of the righteousness which 14 consists in faith. If the world is only to be inherited by those who submit to 15 the Law, then faith is pointless and the promise worth nothing. Law involves the possibility of punishment for breaking the law—only where there 16 is no law can that be avoided. That is why what fulfills the promise depends on faith, so that it may be a free gift and be available to all of Abraham's descendants, not only those who belong to the Law but also those who belong 17 to the faith of Abraham who is the father of all of us. As scripture says: I have made you the ancestor of many nations^c—Abraham is our father in the eyes of God, in whom he put his faith, and who brings the dead to life and calls into being what does not exist.

Abraham's faith, a model of Christian faith

18 Though it seemed Abraham's hope could not be fulfilled, he hoped and he believed, and through doing so he did become the father of many nations exactly 19 as he had been promised: Your descendants will be as many as the stars.^d Even the thought that his body was past fatherhood—he was about a hundred years 20 old—and Sarah too old to become a mother, did not shake his belief. Since God had promised it, Abraham refused either to deny it or even to doubt it, but drew 21 strength from faith and gave glory to God, convinced that God had power 22 to do what he had promised. This is the faith that was "considered as justifying him." Scripture however does not refer only to him but to us as well 24 when it says that his faith was thus "considered"; our faith too will be "considered" 25 if we believe in him who raised Jesus our Lord from the dead, Jesus who was put to death for our sins^e and raised to life to justify us.

II. SALVATION

Faith guarantees salvation

1 5 So far then we have seen that, through our Lord Jesus Christ, by faith we are 2 judged righteous and at peace with God, since it is by faith and through Jesus that we have entered this state of grace in which we can boast about 3 looking forward to God's glory. But that is not all we can boast about; we can 4 boast about our sufferings. These sufferings bring patience, as we know, and 5 patience brings perseverance, and perseverance brings hope, and this hope is not deceptive, because the love of God has been poured into our hearts by the 6 Holy Spirit which has been given us. We were still helpless when at his appointed 7 moment Christ died for sinful men. It is not easy to die even for a good man—though of course for someone really worthy, a man might be prepared to die—
 8 but what proves that God loves us is that Christ died for us while we were still 9 sinners. Having died to make us righteous, is it likely that he would now fail 10 to save us from God's anger? When we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, we were still enemies; now that we have been reconciled, surely we may 11 count on being saved by the life of his Son? ·Not merely because we have been reconciled but because we are filled with joyful trust in God, through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have already gained our reconciliation.

A. DELIVERANCE FROM SIN AND DEATH AND LAW

Adam and Jesus Christ

12 Well then, sin entered the world through one man, and through sin death, and thus death has spread through the whole human race because everyone has 13 sinned. ·Sin existed in the world long before the Law was given. There was no 14 law and so no one could be accused of the sin of "lawbreaking," ·yet death reigned over all from Adam to Moses, even though their sin, unlike that of Adam, was not a matter of breaking a law.

15 Adam prefigured the One to come, ·but the gift itself considerably outweighed the fall. If it is certain that through one man's fall so many died, it is even more certain that divine grace, coming through the one man, Jesus Christ, came to so 16 many as an abundant free gift. ·The results of the gift also outweigh the results of one man's sin: for after one single fall came judgment with a verdict of condem-17 nation, now after many falls comes grace with its verdict of acquittal. ·If it is certain that death reigned over everyone as the consequence of one man's fall, it is even more certain that one man, Jesus Christ, will cause everyone to reign in life who receives the free gift that he does not deserve, of being made righteous.
 18 Again, as one man's fall brought condemnation on everyone, so the good act of 19 one man brings everyone life and makes them justified. ·As by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by one man's obedience many will be made 20 righteous. ·When law came, it was to multiply the opportunities of falling, 21 but however great the number of sins committed, grace was even greater; ·and so, just as sin reigned wherever there was death, so grace will reign to bring eternal life thanks to the righteousness that comes through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Baptism

1 6 Does it follow that we should remain in sin so as to let grace have greater
 2 scope? ·Of course not. We are dead to sin, so how can we continue to live
 3 in it? ·You have been taught that when we were baptized in Christ Jesus we were 4 baptized in his death; ·in other words, when we were baptized we went into the tomb with him and joined him in death, so that as Christ was raised from the dead by the Father's glory, we too might live a new life.

5 If in union with Christ we have imitated his death, we shall also imitate him
 6 in his resurrection. ·We must realize that our former selves have been crucified 7 with him to destroy this sinful body and to free us from the slavery of sin. ·When a man dies, of course, he has finished with sin.

8 But we believe that having died with Christ we shall return to life with him:
 9 Christ, as we know, having been raised from the dead will never die again. Death
 10 has no power over him any more. ·When he died, he died, once for all, to sin, 11 so his life now is life with God; ·and in that way, you too must consider yourselves to be dead to sin but alive for God in Christ Jesus.

Holiness, not sin, to be the master

12 That is why you must not let sin reign in your mortal bodies or command 13 your obedience to bodily passions, ·why you must not let any part of your body turn into an unholy weapon fighting on the side of sin; you should, instead, offer yourselves to God, and consider yourselves dead men brought back to life;
 you should make every part of your body into a weapon fighting on the side of 14 God; ·and then sin will no longer dominate your life, since you are living by grace and not by law.

The Christian is freed from the slavery of sin

¹⁵ Does the fact that we are living by grace and not by law mean that we are ¹⁶ free to sin? Of course not. •You know that if you agree to serve and obey a master you become his slaves. You cannot be slaves of sin that leads to death ¹⁷ and at the same time slaves of obedience that leads to righteousness. •You were once slaves of sin, but thank God you submitted without reservation to the ¹⁸ creed you were taught. •You may have been freed from the slavery of sin, but only ¹⁹ to become “slaves” of righteousness. •If I may use human terms to help your natural weakness: as once you put your bodies at the service of vice and immorality, so now you must put them at the service of righteousness for your sanctification.

The reward of sin and the reward of holiness

²⁰ When you were slaves of sin, you felt no obligation to righteousness, •and ²¹ what did you get from this? Nothing but experiences that now make you blush, ²² since that sort of behavior ends in death. •Now, however, you have been set free from sin, you have been made slaves of God, and you get a reward leading ²³ to your sanctification and ending in eternal life. •For the wage paid by sin is death; the present given by God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.

The Christian is not bound by the Law

¹ 7 Brothers, those of you who have studied law will know that laws affect ² a person only during his lifetime. •A married woman, for instance, has legal obligations to her husband while he is alive, but all these obligations come to ³ an end if the husband dies. •So if she gives herself to another man while her husband is still alive, she is legally an adulteress; but after her husband is dead her legal obligations come to an end, and she can marry someone else without ⁴ becoming an adulteress. •That is why you, my brothers, who through the body of Christ are now dead to the Law, can now give yourselves to another husband, ⁵ to him who rose from the dead to make us productive for God. •Before our conversion^a our sinful passions, quite unsubdued by the Law, fertilized our ⁶ bodies to make them give birth to death. •But now we are rid of the Law, freed by death from our imprisonment, free to serve in the new spiritual way and not the old way of a written law.

The function of the Law

⁷ Does it follow that the Law itself is sin? Of course not. What I mean is that I should not have known what sin was except for the Law. I should not for instance have known what it means to covet if the Law had not said You shall ⁸ not covet. •But it was this commandment that sin took advantage of to produce all kinds of covetousness in me, for when there is no Law, sin is dead.
⁹ Once, when there was no Law, I^b was alive; but when the commandment
¹⁰ came, sin came to life •and I died: the commandment was meant to lead me to ¹¹ life but it turned out to mean death for me, •because sin took advantage of the commandment to mislead me, and so sin, through that commandment, killed me.
¹² The Law is sacred, and what it commands is sacred, just and good. •Does ¹³ that mean that something good killed me? Of course not. But sin, to show itself in its true colors, used that good thing to kill me; and thus sin, thanks to the commandment, was able to exercise all its sinful power.

The inward struggle

¹⁴ The Law, of course, as we all know, is spiritual; but I am unspiritual; I have ¹⁵ been sold as a slave to sin. •I cannot understand my own behavior. I fail to carry ¹⁶ out the things I want to do, and I find myself doing the very things I hate. •When

⁷ a. “While we were in the flesh.” b. Rhetorical figure; Paul speaks in the person of mankind.

I act against my own will, that means I have a self that acknowledges that the Law is good, and so the thing behaving in that way is not my self but sin living in me. The fact is, I know of nothing good living in me—living, that is, in my unspiritual self—for though the will to do what is good is in me, the performance is not, with the result that instead of doing the good things I want to do, I carry out the sinful things I do not want. When I act against my will, then, it is not my true self doing it, but sin which lives in me.

In fact, this seems to be the rule, that every single time I want to do good it is something evil that comes to hand. In my inmost self I dearly love God's Law, but I can see that my body follows a different law that battles against the law which my reason dictates. This is what makes me a prisoner of that law of sin which lives inside my body.

What a wretched man I am! Who will rescue me from this body doomed to death? Thanks be to God through Jesus Christ our Lord!

In short, it is I who with my reason serve the Law of God, and no less I who serve in my unspiritual self the law of sin.

B. THE CHRISTIAN'S SPIRITUAL LIFE

The life of the spirit

The reason, therefore, why those who are in Christ Jesus are not condemned, is that the law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus has set you free from the law of sin and death. God has done what the Law, because of our unspiritual nature,^a was unable to do. God dealt with sin by sending his own Son in a body as physical as any sinful body, and in that body God condemned sin. He did this in order that the Law's just demands might be satisfied in us, who behave not as our unspiritual nature but as the spirit dictates.

The unspiritual are interested only in what is unspiritual, but the spiritual are interested in spiritual things. It is death to limit oneself to what is unspiritual; life and peace can only come with concern for the spiritual. That is because to limit oneself to what is unspiritual is to be at enmity with God: such a limitation never could and never does submit to God's law. People who are interested only in unspiritual things can never be pleasing to God. Your interests, however, are not in the unspiritual, but in the spiritual, since the Spirit of God has made his home in you. In fact, unless you possessed the Spirit of Christ you would not belong to him. Though your body may be dead it is because of sin, but if Christ is in you then your spirit is life itself because you have been justified; and if the Spirit of him who raised Jesus from the dead is living in you, then he who raised Jesus from the dead will give life to your own mortal bodies through his Spirit living in you.

So then, my brothers, there is no necessity for us to obey our unspiritual selves or to live unspiritual lives. If you do live in that way, you are doomed to die; but if by the Spirit you put an end to the misdeeds of the body you will live.

Children of God

Everyone moved by the Spirit is a son of God. The spirit you received is not the spirit of slaves bringing fear into your lives again; it is the spirit of sons, and it makes us cry out, "Abba, Father!"^b The Spirit himself and our spirit bear united witness that we are children of God. And if we are children we are heirs as well: heirs of God and coheirs with Christ, sharing his sufferings so as to share his glory.

Glory as our destiny

I think that what we suffer in this life can never be compared to the glory, as yet unrevealed, which is waiting for us. The whole creation is eagerly

20 waiting for God to reveal his sons. It was not for any fault on the part of 21 creation that it was made unable to attain its purpose, it was made so by God; 22 but creation still retains the hope of being freed, like us, from its slavery to 23 decadence, to enjoy the same freedom and glory as the children of God. From 24 the beginning till now the entire creation, as we know, has been groaning in 25 one great act of giving birth; and not only creation, but all of us who possess
 26 the first fruits of the Spirit, we too groan inwardly as we wait for our bodies 27 to be set free. For we must be content to hope that we shall be saved—our 28 salvation is not in sight, we should not have to be hoping for it if it were—but,
 29 as I say, we must hope to be saved since we are not saved yet—it is something 30 we must wait for with patience.

31 The Spirit too comes to help us in our weakness. For when we cannot choose 32 words in order to pray properly, the Spirit himself expresses our plea in a way 33 that could never be put into words, and God who knows everything in our 34 hearts knows perfectly well what he means, and that the pleas of the saints expressed by the Spirit are according to the mind of God.

God has called us to share his glory

28 We know that by turning everything to their good God co-operates with all 29 those who love him, with all those that he has called according to his purpose.
 30 They are the ones he chose specially long ago and intended to become true 31 images of his Son, so that his Son might be the eldest of many brothers. He 32 called those he intended for this; those he called he justified, and with those he 33 justified he shared his glory.

A hymn to God's love

31 After saying this, what can we add? With God on our side who can be against 32 us? Since God did not spare his own Son, but gave him up to benefit us all, 33 we may be certain, after such a gift, that he will not refuse anything he can give.

34 Could anyone accuse those that God has chosen? When God acquits, could 35 anyone condemn? Could Christ Jesus? No! He not only died for us—he rose 36 from the dead, and there at God's right hand he stands and pleads for us.

37 Nothing therefore can come between us and the love of Christ, even if we are 38 troubled or worried, or being persecuted, or lacking food or clothes, or being 39 threatened or even attacked. As scripture promised: For your sake we are being 40 massacred daily and reckoned as sheep for the slaughter.^c These are the trials 41 through which we triumph, by the power of him who loved us.

42 For I am certain of this: neither death nor life, no angel, no prince, nothing 43 that exists, nothing still to come, not any power, or height or depth,^d nor any 44 created thing, can ever come between us and the love of God made visible in Christ Jesus our Lord.

C. THE PLACE OF ISRAEL

The privileges of Israel

1 9 What I want to say now is no pretense; I say it in union with Christ—it is 2 the truth—my conscience in union with the Holy Spirit assures me of it too.
 3 What I want to say is this: my sorrow is so great, my mental anguish so endless, 4 I would willingly be condemned^a and be cut off from Christ if it could help my 5 brothers of Israel, my own flesh and blood. They were adopted as sons, they 6 were given the glory and the covenants; the Law and the ritual were drawn up

8 a. "flesh." b. The prayer of Christ in Gethsemane. c. Ps. 44:11 d. "powers," "heights" and "depths" are probably cosmic forces hostile to mankind.

9 a. Anathema, cursed and excommunicated.

5 for them, and the promises were made to them. •They are descended from the patriarchs and from their flesh and blood came Christ who is above all, God for ever blessed! Amen.

God has kept his promise

6 Does this mean that God has failed to keep his promise? Of course not.
 7 Not all those who descend from Israel are Israel; •not all the descendants of Abraham are his true children. Remember: It is through Isaac that your name will
 8 be carried on,^b •which means that it is not physical descent that decided who are the children of God; it is only the children of the promise who will count as the true descendants. •The actual words in which the promise was made were: I shall
 9 visit you at such and such a time, and Sarah will have a son.^c •Even more to the point is what was said to Rebecca when she was pregnant by our ancestor Isaac,
 10 but before her twin children were born and before either had done good or evil.
 11 In order to stress that God's choice is free, •since it depends on the one who calls, not on human merit, Rebecca was told: the elder shall serve the younger.^d
 12 or scripturesayselsewhere: I showed my love for Jacob and my hatred for Esau.^e

God is not unjust

14 Does it follow that God is unjust? Of course not. •Take what God said to 15 Moses: I have mercy on whom I will, and I show pity to whom I please.^f •In other words, the only thing that counts is not what human beings want or try to do,
 16 but the mercy of God. •For in scripture he says to Pharaoh: It was for this I raised you up, to use you as a means of showing my power and to make my name known
 17 throughout the world.^g •In other words, when God wants to show mercy he does, and when he wants to harden someone's heart he does so.

18 You will ask me, "In that case, how can God ever blame anyone, since no one
 19 can oppose his will?" •But what right have you, a human being, to cross-examine God? The pot has no right to say to the potter: Why did you make me this shape?^h
 20 Surely a potter can do what he likes with the clay? It is surely for him to decide whether he will use a particular lump of clay to make a special pot or an ordinary one?

21 Or else imagine that although God is ready to show his anger and display his power, yet he patiently puts up with the people who make him angry,
 22 however much they deserve to be destroyed. •He puts up with them for the sake of those other people, to whom he wants to be merciful, to whom he wants to reveal the richness of his glory, people he had prepared for this glory long ago.
 23 Well, we are those people; whether we were Jews or pagans we are the ones he has called.

All has been foretold in the Old Testament

24 That is exactly what God says in Hosea: I shall say to a people that was not
 25 mine, "You are my people," and to a nation I never loved, "I love you." •Instead of being told, "You are no people of mine," they will now be called the sons of the living
 26 *God.*ⁱ •Referring to Israel Isaiah had this to say: Though Israel should have as many descendants as there are grains of sand on the seashore, only a remnant will 27 be saved, •for without hesitation or delay the Lord will execute his sentence on the earth.^j •As Isaiah foretold: Had the Lord of hosts not left us some descendants we 28 should now be like Sodom, we should be like Gomorrah.^k

29 From this it follows that the pagans who were not looking for righteousness
 30 found it all the same, a righteousness that comes of faith, •while Israel, looking 31 for a righteousness derived from law failed to do what that law required. •Why did they fail? Because they relied on good deeds instead of trusting in faith. In 32 other words, they stumbled over the stumbling stone^l •mentioned in scripture: See how I lay in Zion a stone to stumble over, a rock to trip men up—only those 33 who believe in him will have no cause for shame.^m

Israel fails to see that it is God who makes us holy

1 10 Brothers, I have the very warmest love for the Jews, and I pray to God for 2 them to be saved. I can swear to their fervor for God, but their zeal is 3 misguided. Failing to recognize the righteousness that comes from God, they 4 try to promote their own idea of it, instead of submitting to the righteousness of 5 God. But now the Law has come to an end with Christ, and everyone who has 6 faith may be justified.

The testimony of Moses

7 When Moses refers to being justified by the Law, he writes: those who keep
8 the Law will draw life from it.^a But the righteousness that comes from faith says 9 this: Do not tell yourself you have to bring Christ down—as in the text: Who 10 will go up to heaven?^b or that you have to bring Christ back from the dead—as 11 in the text: Who will go down to the underworld? On the positive side it says:
12 The word, that is the faith we proclaim, is very near to you, it is on your lips and 13 in your heart. If your lips confess that Jesus is Lord and if you believe in your 14 heart that God raised him from the dead, then you will be saved. By believing 15 from the heart you are made righteous; by confessing with your lips you are 16 saved. When scripture says: those who believe in him will have no cause for shame.^c 17 it makes no distinction between Jew and Greek: all belong to the same Lord who 18 is rich enough, however many ask his help, for everyone who calls on the name
19 of the Lord will be saved.^d

Israel has no excuse

20 But they will not ask his help unless they believe in him, and they will not 21 believe in him unless they have heard of him, and they will not hear of him unless 22 they get a preacher, and they will never have a preacher unless one is sent, but 23 as scripture says: The footsteps of those who bring good news is a welcome sound.^e 24 Not everyone, of course, listens to the Good News. As Isaiah says: Lord, how many 25 believed what we proclaimed?^f So faith comes from what is preached, and what is 26 preached comes from the word of Christ.
27 Let me put the question: is it possible that they did not hear? Indeed they 28 did; in the words of the psalm, their voice has gone out through all the earth, and 29 their message to the ends of the world.^g A second question: is it possible that Israel 30 did not understand? Moses answered this long ago: I will make you jealous of 31 people who are not even a nation; I will make you angry with an irreligious people.^h 32 Isaiah said more clearly: I have been found by those who did not seek me, and have 33 revealed myself to those who did not consult me! and referring to Israel he goes 34 on: Each day I stretched out my hand to a disobedient and rebellious people.

The remnant of Israel

1 11 Let me put a further question then: is it possible that God has rejected his
2 people?^a Of course not. I, an Israelite, descended from Abraham through 3 the tribe of Benjamin, could never agree that God had rejected his people, the 4 people he chose specially long ago. Do you remember what scripture says of 5 Elijah—how he complained to God about Israel's behavior? Lord, they have 6 killed your prophets and broken down your altars. I, and I only, remain, and they
7 want to kill me.^b What did God say to that? I have kept for myself seven
8 thousand men who have not bent the knee to Baal.^c Today the same thing
9 has happened: there is a remnant, chosen by grace. By grace, you notice, nothing 10 therefore to do with good deeds, or grace would not be grace at all!

11 What follows? It was not Israel as a whole that found what it was seeking,

b. Gn. 21:12 c. Gn. 18:10 d. Gn. 25:23 e. Mt. 1:2-3 f. Ex. 33:19 g. Ex. 9:16

⁸ but only the chosen few. The rest were not allowed to see the truth; 'as scripture says: God has given them a sluggish spirit, unseeing eyes and inattentive ears, and ⁹ they are still like that today.^d 'And David says: May their own table prove a trap
¹⁰ for them, a snare and a pitfall—let that be their punishment; 'may their eyes be struck incurably blind, their backs bend for ever.^e

The Jews to be restored in the future

¹¹ Let me put another question then: have the Jews fallen for ever, or have they just stumbled? Obviously they have not fallen for ever: their fall, though, has ¹² saved the pagans in a way the Jews may now well emulate. 'Think of the extent to which the world, the pagan world, has benefited from their fall and defection—
¹³ then think how much more it will benefit from the conversion of them all. 'Let me tell you pagans' this: I have been sent to the pagans as their apostle, and I am
¹⁴ proud of being sent, 'but the purpose of it is to make my own people envious of you, and in this way save some of them. 'Since their rejection meant the ¹⁵ reconciliation of the world, do you know what their admission will mean? Nothing less than a resurrection from the dead!

The Jews are still the chosen people

¹⁶ A whole batch of bread is made holy if the first handful of dough is made
¹⁷ holy; all the branches are holy if the root is holy. 'No doubt some of the branches have been cut off, and, like shoots of wild olive, you have been grafted among ¹⁸ the rest to share with them the rich sap provided by the olive tree itself, 'but still, even if you think yourself superior to the other branches, remember that you do
¹⁹ not support the root; it is the root that supports you. 'You will say, "Those ²⁰ branches were cut off on purpose to let me be grafted in!" True, 'they were cut off, but through their unbelief; if you still hold firm, it is only thanks to your faith.
²¹ Rather than making you proud, that should make you afraid. 'God did not spare the natural branches, and he is not likely to spare you. 'Do not forget
²² that God can be severe as well as kind: he is severe to those who fell, and he is kind to you, but only for as long as he chooses to be, otherwise you will find
²³ yourself cut off too, 'and the Jews, if they give up their unbelief, grafted back in your place. God is perfectly able to graft them back again; 'after all, if you were ²⁴ cut from your natural wild olive to be grafted unnaturally on to a cultivated olive, it will be much easier for them, the natural branches, to be grafted back on the tree they came from.

The conversion of the Jews

²⁵ There is a hidden reason for all this, brothers, of which I do not want you to be ignorant, in case you think you know more than you do. One section of Israel has become blind, but this will last only until the whole pagan world has ²⁶ entered, 'and then after this the rest of Israel will be saved as well. As scripture says: The liberator will come from Zion, he will banish godlessness from Jacob.
²⁷ And this is the covenant I will make with them when I take their sins away.^f
²⁸ The Jews are enemies of God only with regard to the Good News, and enemies only for your sake; but as the chosen people, they are still loved by God, ²⁹ loved for the sake of their ancestors. 'God never takes back his gifts or revokes his choice.

³⁰ Just as you changed from being disobedient to God, and now enjoy mercy
³¹ because of their disobedience, 'so those who are disobedient now—and only ³² because of the mercy shown to you—will also enjoy mercy eventually. 'God has imprisoned all men in their own disobedience only to show mercy to all mankind.

A hymn to God's mercy and wisdom

³³ How rich are the depths of God—how deep his wisdom and knowledge—and how impossible to penetrate his motives or understand his methods!

³⁴ Who could ever know the mind of the Lord? Who could ever be his counselor? Who ³⁵ could ever give him anything or lend him anything?^h All that exists comes from him;
 all is by him and for him. To him be glory for ever! Amen.

EXHORTATION

Spiritual worship

¹ 12 Think of God's mercy, my brothers, and worship him, I beg you, in a way that is worthy of thinking beings, by offering your living bodies as a holy ² sacrifice, truly pleasing to God. Do not model yourselves on the behavior of the world around you, but let your behavior change, modeled by your new mind. This is the only way to discover the will of God and know what is good, what it is that God wants, what is the perfect thing to do.

Humility and charity

³ In the light of the grace I have received I want to urge each one among you not to exaggerate his real importance. Each of you must judge himself soberly by ⁴ the standard of the faith God has given him. Just as each of our bodies has ⁵ several parts and each part has a separate function, so all of us, in union with ⁶ Christ, form one body, and as parts of it we belong to each other. Our gifts differ according to the grace given us. If your gift is prophecy, then use it as your ⁷ faith suggests; if administration, then use it for administration; if teaching, ⁸ then use it for teaching. Let the preachers deliver sermons, the almsgivers give freely, the officials be diligent, and those who do works of mercy do them cheerfully.

⁹ Do not let your love be a pretense, but sincerely prefer good to evil. Love
¹⁰ each other as much as brothers should, and have a profound respect for each ¹¹ other. Work for the Lord with untiring effort and with great earnestness of ¹² spirit. If you have hope, this will make you cheerful. Do not give up if trials ¹³ come; and keep on praying. If any of the saints are in need you must share with them; and you should make hospitality your special care.

Charity to everyone, including enemies

¹⁴ Bless those who persecute you: never curse them, bless them. Rejoice with ¹⁵ those who rejoice and be sad with those in sorrow. Treat everyone with equal kindness; never be condescending but make real friends with the poor. Do not ¹⁷ allow yourself to become self-satisfied. Never repay evil with evil but let everyone ¹⁸ see that you are interested only in the highest ideals. Do all you can to live at ¹⁹ peace with everyone. Never try to get revenge; leave that, my friends, to God's anger. As scripture says: Vengeance is mine—I will pay them back,^a the Lord ²⁰ promises. But there is more: If your enemy is hungry, you should give him food, ²¹ and if he is thirsty, let him drink. Thus you heap red-hot coals on his head.^b Resist evil and conquer it with good.

Submission to civil authority

¹ 13 You must all obey the governing authorities. Since all government comes ² from God, the civil authorities were appointed by God, and so anyone who resists authority is rebelling against God's decision, and such an act is bound ³ to be punished. Good behavior is not afraid of magistrates; only criminals have anything to fear. If you want to live without being afraid of authority, you ⁴ must live honestly and authority may even honor you. The state is there to serve God for your benefit. If you break the law, however, you may well have fear: the bearing of the sword has its significance. The authorities are there to serve God: they carry out God's revenge by punishing wrongdoers. ⁵ You must obey, therefore, not only because you are afraid of being punished, but also ⁶ for conscience' sake. This is also the reason why you must pay taxes, since all government officials are God's officers. They serve God by collecting taxes. ⁷ Pay every government official what he has a right to ask—whether it be direct tax or indirect, fear or honor.

Love and law

⁸ Avoid getting into debt, except the debt of mutual love. If you love your fellow ⁹ men you have carried out your obligations. All the commandments: You shall not commit adultery, you shall not kill, you shall not steal, you shall not covet,^a and so on, are summed up in this single command: You must love your neighbor as yourself.^b Love is the one thing that cannot hurt your neighbor; that is why it is the answer to every one of the commandments.

Children of the light

¹¹ Besides, you know "the time" has come: you must wake up now: our salvation ¹² is even nearer than it was when we were converted. The night is almost over, it will be daylight soon—let us give up all the things we prefer to do under cover ¹³ of the dark; let us arm ourselves and appear in the light. Let us live decently as people do in the daytime: no drunken orgies, no promiscuity or licentiousness, ¹⁴ and no wrangling or jealousy. Let your armor be the Lord Jesus Christ; forget about satisfying your bodies with all their cravings.

Charity toward the scrupulous

¹ 14 If a person's faith is not strong enough, welcome him all the same without ² starting an argument. People range from those who believe they may eat any sort of meat to those whose faith is so weak they dare not eat anything ³ except vegetables. Meat eaters must not despise the scrupulous. On the other hand, the scrupulous must not condemn those who feel free to eat anything they ⁴ choose, since God has welcomed them. It is not for you to condemn someone else's servant: whether he stands or falls it is his own master's business; he will ⁵ stand, you may be sure, because the Lord has power to make him stand. If one man keeps certain days as holier than others, and another considers all days ⁶ to be equally holy, each must be left free to hold his own opinion. The one who observes special days does so in honor of the Lord. The one who eats meat also does so in honor of the Lord, since he gives thanks to God; but then the man ⁷ who abstains does that too in honor of the Lord, and so he also gives God thanks. ⁸ The life and death of each of us has its influence on others; if we live, we live for the Lord; and if we die, we die for the Lord, so that alive or dead we belong ⁹ to the Lord. This explains why Christ both died and came to life, it was so that he might be Lord both of the dead and of the living. This is also why you should ¹⁰ never pass judgment on a brother or treat him with contempt, as some of you have done. We shall have to stand before the judgment seat of God; as ¹¹ scripture says: By my life—it is the Lord who speaks—every knee shall bend before me, and every tongue shall praise God.^a It is to God, therefore, that each of us ¹² must give an account of himself.

¹³ Far from passing judgment on each other, therefore, you should make up ¹⁴ your mind never to be the cause of your brother tripping or falling. Now I am perfectly well aware, of course, and I speak for the Lord Jesus, that no food is unclean in itself; however, if someone thinks that a particular food is unclean, ¹⁵ then it is unclean for him. And indeed if your attitude to food is upsetting your brother, then you are hardly being guided by charity. You are certainly not free to eat what you like if that means the downfall of someone for whom Christ died.

¹⁶ In short, you must not compromise your privilege, because the kingdom of God does not mean eating or drinking this or that, it means righteousness and peace and joy brought by the Holy Spirit. If you serve Christ in this way you will please God and be respected by men. So let us adopt any custom that leads to peace and our mutual improvement; do not wreck God's work over a question of food. Of course all food is clean, but it becomes evil if by eating it you make somebody else fall away. In such cases the best course is to abstain from meat and wine and anything else that would make your brother trip or fall or weaken in any way.

Hold on to your own belief, as between yourself and God—and consider the man fortunate who can make his decision without going against his conscience. But anybody who eats in a state of doubt is condemned, because he is not in good faith; and every act done in bad faith is a sin.

15 We who are strong have a duty to put up with the qualms of the weak without thinking of ourselves. Each of us should think of his neighbors and help them to become stronger Christians. Christ did not think of himself: the words of scripture—the insults of those who insult you fall on me^a—apply to him. And indeed everything that was written long ago in the scriptures was meant to teach us something about hope from the examples scripture gives of how people who did not give up were helped by God. And may he who helps us when we refuse to give up, help you all to be tolerant with each other, following the example of Christ Jesus, so that united in mind and voice you may give glory to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

An appeal for unity

It can only be to God's glory, then, for you to treat each other in the same friendly way as Christ treated you. The reason Christ became the servant of circumcised Jews was not only so that God could faithfully carry out the promises made to the patriarchs, it was also to get the pagans to give glory to God for his mercy, as scripture says in one place: For this I shall praise you among the pagans and sing to your name.^b And in another place: Rejoice, pagans, with his people,^c and in a third place: Let all the pagans praise the Lord, let all the peoples sing his praises.^d Isaiah too has this to say: The root of Jesse will appear, rising up to rule the pagans, and in him the pagans will put their hope.^e

May the God of hope bring you such joy and peace in your faith that the power of the Holy Spirit will remove all bounds to hope.

EPILOGUE

Paul's ministry

It is not because I have any doubts about you, my brothers; on the contrary I am quite certain that you are full of good intentions, perfectly well instructed and able to advise each other. The reason why I have written to you, and put some things rather strongly, is to refresh your memories, since God has given me this special position. He has appointed me as a priest of Jesus Christ, and I am to carry out my priestly duty by bringing the Good News from God to the pagans, and so make them acceptable as an offering, made holy by the Holy Spirit.

I think I have some reason to be proud of what I, in union with Christ Jesus, have been able to do for God. What I am presuming to speak of, of course, is only what Christ himself has done to win the allegiance of the pagans, using what I have said and done by the power of signs and wonders, by the power of the Holy Spirit. Thus, all the way along, from Jerusalem to Illyricum,^f I have

²⁰ preached Christ's Good News to the utmost of my capacity. •I have always, however, made it an unbroken rule never to preach where Christ's name has already been heard. The reason for that was that I had no wish to build on other men's foundations; •on the contrary, my chief concern has been to fulfill the text: *Those who have never been told about him will see him, and those who have never heard about him will understand.*⁹

²²²³ That is the reason why I have been kept from visiting you so long, •though for many years I have been longing to pay you a visit. Now, however, having ²⁴ no more work to do here, •I hope to see you on my way to Spain and, after enjoying a little of your company, to complete the rest of the journey with your ²⁵ good wishes. •First, however, I must take a present of money to the saints in ²⁶ Jerusalem, •since Macedonia and Achaia have decided to send a generous contribution to the poor among the saints at Jerusalem. •A generous contribution ²⁷ as it should be, since it is really repaying a debt: the pagans who share the spiritual possessions of these poor people have a duty to help them with temporal posses- ²⁸ sions. •So when I have done this and officially handed over what has been raised, ²⁹ I shall set out for Spain and visit you on the way. •I know that when I reach you I shall arrive with rich blessings from Christ.

³⁰ But I beg you, brothers, by our Lord Jesus Christ and the love of the Spirit, ³¹ to help me through my dangers by praying to God for me. •Pray that I may escape the unbelievers in Judaea, and that the aid I carry to Jerusalem may be ³² accepted by the saints. •Then, if God wills, I shall be feeling very happy when ³³ I come to enjoy a period of rest among you. •May the God of peace be with you all! Amen.

Greetings and good wishes

³ My greetings to Prisca and Aquila, my fellow workers in Christ Jesus, •who ⁴ risked death to save my life^b: I am not the only one to owe them a debt of gratitude, all the churches among the pagans do as well. •My greetings also ⁵ to the church that meets at their house.

⁶ Greetings to my friend Epaenetus, the first of Asia's gifts to Christ; greetings ⁷ to Mary who worked so hard for you; •to those outstanding apostles Andronicus and Junias, my compatriots and fellow prisoners who became Christians before ⁸ me; •to Ampliatus, my friend in the Lord; •to Urban, my fellow worker in ⁹ Christ; to my friend Stachys; •to Apelles who has gone through so much for ¹⁰ Christ; to everyone who belongs to the household of Aristobulus; •to my ¹¹ compatriot Herodion; to those in the household of Narcissus who belong to the ¹² Lord; •to Tryphaena and Tryphosa, who work hard for the Lord; to my friend ¹³ Persis who has done so much for the Lord; •to Rufus, a chosen servant of ¹⁴ the Lord, and to his mother who has been a mother to me too. •Greetings to ¹⁵ Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermes, Patrobas, Hermas, and all the brothers who are with them; •to Philologus and Julia, Nereus and his sister, and Olympas and all ¹⁶ the saints who are with them. •Greet each other with a holy kiss. All the churches of Christ send greetings.

¹⁷ I implore you, brothers, be on your guard against anybody who encourages trouble or puts difficulties in the way of the doctrine you have been taught. Avoid ¹⁸ them. •People like that are not slaves of Jesus Christ, they are slaves of their own appetites, confusing the simple-minded with their pious and persuasive ¹⁹ arguments. •Your fidelity to Christ, anyway, is famous everywhere, and that 20 makes me very happy about you. I only hope that you are also wise in what is good and innocent of what is bad. ·The God of peace will soon crush Satan beneath your feet. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

Last greetings and second postscript

21 Timothy, who is working with me, sends his greetings; so do my compatriots, 22 Jason and Sosipater. ·I, Tertius, who wrote out this letter, greet you in the Lord.
23 Greetings from Gaius, who is entertaining me and from the whole church that meets in his house. Erastus, the city treasurer, sends his greetings; so does our brother Quartus.

Doxology

25 Glory to him who is able to give you the strength to live according to the Good News I preach, and in which I proclaim Jesus Christ, the revelation of a 26 mystery kept secret for endless ages, ·but now so clear that it must be broadcast to pagans everywhere to bring them to the obedience of faith. This is only what scripture has predicted, and it is all part of the way the eternal God wants things 27 to be. ·He alone is wisdom; give glory therefore to him through Jesus Christ for ever and ever. Amen.

1 CORINTHIANS

THE FIRST LETTER OF PAUL TO THE CHURCH AT CORINTH

INTRODUCTION

Address and greetings. Thanksgiving

¹ I, Paul, appointed by God to be an apostle, together with brother Sosthenes, ² send greetings to the church of God in Corinth, to the holy people of Jesus Christ, who are called to take their place among all the saints everywhere who ³ pray to our Lord Jesus Christ; for he is their Lord no less than ours. May God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ send you grace and peace.

⁴ I never stop thanking God for all the graces you have received through ⁵ Jesus Christ. I thank him that you have been enriched in so many ways, especial-
⁶ ly in your teachers and preachers; the witness to Christ has indeed been strong ⁷ among you so that you will not be without any of the gifts of the Spirit while ⁸ you are waiting for our Lord Jesus Christ to be revealed; and he will keep you steady and without blame until the last day, the day of our Lord Jesus Christ, ⁹ because God by calling you has joined you to his Son, Jesus Christ; and God is faithful.

I. DIVISIONS AND SCANDALS

A. FACTIONS IN THE CORINTHIAN CHURCH

Dissensions among the faithful

¹⁰ All the same, I do appeal to you, brothers, for the sake of our Lord Jesus Christ, to make up the differences between you, and instead of disagreeing ¹¹ among yourselves, to be united again in your belief and practice. From what Chloe's people have been telling me, my dear brothers, it is clear that there are ¹² serious differences among you. What I mean are all these slogans that you have, like: "I am for Paul," "I am for Apollos," "I am for Cephas,"^a "I am for Christ."
¹³ Has Christ been parceled out? Was it Paul that was crucified for you? Were you baptized in the name of Paul? I am thankful that I never baptized any of you ¹⁴ after Crispus and Gaius so none of you can say he was baptized in my name.
¹⁵ Then there was the family of Stephanas, of course, that I baptized too, but no one ¹⁶ else as far as I can remember.

The true wisdom and the false

¹⁷ For Christ did not send me to baptize, but to preach the Good News, and not to preach that in the terms of philosophy^b in which the crucifixion of Christ ¹⁸ cannot be expressed. The language of the cross may be illogical to those who are not on the way to salvation, but those of us who are on the way see it as God's power to save. ¹⁹As scripture says: I shall destroy the wisdom of the wise and bring to nothing all the learning of the learned. ²⁰*Where are the philosophers now? Where are the scribes?*^c Where are any of our thinkers today? Do you see now how God ²¹has shown up the foolishness of human wisdom? ²²If it was God's wisdom that human wisdom should not know God, it was because God wanted to save those who have faith through the foolishness of the message that we preach. ²³And so, while the Jews demand miracles and the Greeks look for wisdom, ²⁴here are we preaching a crucified Christ; to the Jews an obstacle that they cannot get over, to the pagans madness, ²⁵but to those who have been called, whether they are Jews or Greeks, a Christ who is the power and the wisdom of God. ²⁶For God's foolishness is wiser than human wisdom, and God's weakness is stronger than human strength.

²⁶ Take yourselves for instance, brothers, at the time when you were called: how many of you were wise in the ordinary sense of the word, how many were ²⁷influential people, or came from noble families? ²⁸No, it was to shame the wise that God chose what is foolish by human reckoning, and to shame what is strong that he chose what is weak by human reckoning; ²⁹those whom the world thinks common and contemptible are the ones that God has chosen—those who are nothing at all to show up those who are everything. ³⁰The human race has nothing to boast about to God, ³¹but God has made you members of Christ Jesus and by God's doing he has become our wisdom, and our virtue, and our holiness, and our freedom. ³²As scripture says: if anyone wants to boast, let him boast about the Lord.^d

⁶ But still we have a wisdom to offer those who have reached maturity: not a philosophy of our age, it is true, still less of the masters of our age, which ⁷are coming to their end. ⁸The hidden wisdom of God which we teach in our mysteries is the wisdom that God predestined to be for our glory before the ages began. ⁹It is a wisdom that none of the masters of this age have ever known, or they would not have crucified the Lord of Glory; ¹⁰we teach what scripture calls: the things that no eye has seen and no ear has heard, things beyond the mind of man, all that God has prepared for those who love him.^b

¹⁰ These are the very things that God has revealed to us through the Spirit, for ¹¹the Spirit reaches the depths of everything, even the depths of God. ¹²After all, the depths of a man can only be known by his own spirit, not by any other man, and in the same way the depths of God can only be known by the Spirit of God. ¹³Now instead of the spirit of the world, we have received the Spirit that comes from God, to teach us to understand the gifts that he has given us. ¹⁴Therefore we teach, not in the way in which philosophy is taught, but in the way that the Spirit teaches us: we teach spiritual things spiritually. ¹⁵An unspiritual person is one who does not accept anything of the Spirit of God: he sees it all as nonsense; ¹⁶it is beyond his understanding because it can only be understood by means of the Spirit. ¹⁷A spiritual man, on the other hand, is able to judge the value of everything, and his own value is not to be judged by other men. ¹⁸As scripture says: Who can know the mind of the Lord, so who can teach him?^c But we are those who have the mind of Christ.

3 Brothers, I myself was unable to speak to you as people of the Spirit: I treated you as sensual men, still infants in Christ. •What I fed you with was milk, not solid food, for you were not ready for it; and indeed, you are still not ready for it •since you are still unspiritual. Isn't that obvious from all the jealousy and wrangling that there is among you, from the way that you go on behaving like ordinary people? •What could be more unspiritual than your slogans, "I am for Paul" and "I am for Apollos?"

The place of the Christian preacher

5 After all, what is Apollos and what is Paul? They are servants who brought the faith to you. Even the different ways in which they brought it were assigned to them by the Lord. •I did the planting, Apollos did the watering, but God made things grow. •Neither the planter nor the waterer matters: only God, who makes things grow. •It is all one who does the planting and who does the watering, and each will duly be paid according to his share in the work. •We are fellow workers with God; you are God's farm, God's building.

10 By the grace God gave me, I succeeded as an architect and laid the foundations, on which someone else is doing the building. Everyone doing the building must work carefully. •For the foundation, nobody can lay any other than the one which has already been laid, that is Jesus Christ. •On this foundation you can build in gold, silver and jewels, or in wood, grass and straw, •but whatever the material, the work of each builder is going to be clearly revealed when the day comes. That day will begin with fire, and the fire will test the quality of each man's work. •If his structure stands up to it, he will get his wages; •if it is burned down, he will be the loser, and though he is saved himself, it will be as one who has gone through fire.

16 Didn't you realize that you were God's temple and that the Spirit of God was living among you? •If anybody should destroy the temple of God, God will destroy him, because the temple of God is sacred; and you are that temple.

Conclusions

18 Make no mistake about it: if any one of you thinks of himself as wise, in the ordinary sense of the word, then he must learn to be a fool before he really can be wise. •Why? Because the wisdom of this world is foolishness to God. As scripture says: The Lord knows wise men's thoughts: he knows how useless they are^a: or again: God is not convinced by the arguments of the wise.^b •So there is nothing to boast about in anything human: •Paul, Apollos, Cephas, the world, life and death, the present and the future, are all your servants; •but you belong to Christ and Christ belongs to God.

4 People must think of us as Christ's servants, stewards entrusted with the mysteries of God. •What is expected of stewards is that each one should be found worthy of his trust. •Not that it makes the slightest difference to me whether you, or indeed any human tribunal, find me worthy or not. I will not even pass judgment on myself. •True, my conscience does not reproach me at all; but that does not prove that I am acquitted: the Lord alone is my judge. 5 There must be no passing of premature judgment. Leave that until the Lord comes: he will light up all that is hidden in the dark and reveal the secret intentions of men's hearts. Then will be the time for each one to have whatever praise he deserves from God.

6 Now in everything I have said here, brothers, I have taken Apollos and myself as an example (remember the maxim: "Keep to what is written"); it is not for you, so full of your own importance, to go taking sides for one man against another. •In any case, brother, has anybody given you some special right? What do you have that was not given to you? And if it was given, how can you boast

8 as though it were not? 'Is it that you have everything you want—that you are rich already, in possession of your kingdom, with us left outside? Indeed I wish 9 you were really kings, and we could be kings with you! 'But instead, it seems to me, God has put us apostles at the end of his parade, with the men sentenced to death; it is true—we have been put on show in front of the whole universe,
10 angels as well as men. 'Here we are, fools for the sake of Christ, while you are the learned men in Christ; we have no power, but you are influential; you are celebrities, we are nobodies. 'To this day, we go without food and drink and clothes; we are beaten and have no homes; 'we work for our living with our own hands. When we are cursed, we answer with a blessing; when we are hounded, 11 we put up with it; 'we are insulted and we answer politely. We are treated as the offal of the world, still to this day, the scum of the earth.

An appeal

14 I am saying all this not just to make you ashamed but to bring you, as my 15 dearest children, to your senses. 'You might have thousands of guardians in Christ, but not more than one father and it was I who begot you in Christ Jesus
16 by preaching the Good News. 'That is why I beg you to copy me 'and why I have 17 sent you Timothy, my dear and faithful son in the Lord: he will remind you of the way that I live in Christ, as I teach it everywhere in all the churches.

18 When it seemed that I was not coming to visit you, some of you became self-19 important, 'but I will be visiting you soon, the Lord willing, and then I shall want to know not what these self-important people have to say, but what they 20 can do, 'since the kingdom of God is not just words, it is power. 'It is for you 21 to decide: do I come with a stick in my hand or in a spirit of love and good will?

B. INCEST IN CORINTH

1 5 I have been told as an undoubted fact that one of you is living with his father's
2 wife.^a This is a case of sexual immorality among you that must be unparalleled even among pagans. 'How can you be so proud of yourselves? You should be in mourning. A man who does a thing like that ought to have been expelled
3 from the community. 'Though I am far away in body, I am with you in spirit, and have already condemned the man who did this thing as if I were actually
4 present. 'When you are assembled together in the name of the Lord Jesus, and I am spiritually present with you, then with the power of our Lord Jesus
5 he is to be handed over to Satan so that his sensual body may be destroyed and his spirit saved on the day of the Lord.

6 The pride that you take in yourselves is hardly to your credit. You must know
7 how even a small amount of yeast is enough to leaven all the dough, 'so get rid of all the old yeast, and make yourselves into a completely new batch of bread, unleavened as you are meant to be. Christ, our passover, has been sacrificed;
8 let us celebrate the feast, then, by getting rid of all the old yeast of evil and wickedness, having only the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.^b

9 When I wrote in my letter to you not to associate with people living immoral
10 lives, 'I was not meaning to include all the people in the world who are sexually immoral, any more than I meant to include all usurers and swindlers or idol worshippers. To do that, you would have to withdraw from the world altogether.
11 What I wrote was that you should not associate with a brother Christian who is leading an immoral life, or is a usurer, or idolatrous, or a slanderer, or a drunkard, or is dishonest; you should not even eat a meal with people like that. 'It is not my business to pass judgment on those outside. Of those who are inside, 13 you can surely be the judges. •But of those who are outside, God is the judge.

You must drive out this evildoer from among you.^c

C. RECOURSE TO THE PAGAN COURTS

1 6 How dare one of your members take up a complaint against another in the 2 law courts of the unjust^a instead of before the saints? •As you know, it is the 3 saints who are to “judge the world”; and if the world is to be judged by you, how 4 can you be unfit to judge trifling cases? •Since we are also to judge angels, it follows
 5 that we can judge matters of everyday life; •but when you have had cases of that 6 kind, the people you appointed to try them were not even respected in the 7 Church. •You should be ashamed: is there really not one reliable man among 8 you to settle differences between brothers •and so one brother brings a court 9 case against another in front of unbelievers? •It is bad enough for you to have 10 lawsuits at all against one another: oughtn’t you to let yourselves be wronged, 11 and let yourselves be cheated? •But you are doing the wronging and the cheating, 12 and to your own brothers.
 13 You know perfectly well that people who do wrong will not inherit the 14 kingdom of God: people of immoral lives, idolaters, adulterers, catamites, 15 sodomites, •thieves, usurers, drunkards, slanderers and swindlers will never 16 inherit the kingdom of God. •These are the sort of people some of you were 17 once, but now you have been washed clean, and sanctified, and justified through 18 the name of the Lord Jesus Christ and through the Spirit of our God.

D. FORNICATION

12 “For me there are no forbidden things”^b; maybe, but not everything does good.
 13 I agree there are no forbidden things for me, but I am not going to let anything
 14 dominate me. •Food is only meant for the stomach, and the stomach for food;
 15 yes, and God is going to do away with both of them. But the body—this is not 16 meant for fornication; it is for the Lord, and the Lord for the body. •God, 17 who raised the Lord from the dead, will by his power raise us up too.
 18 You know, surely, that your bodies are members making up the body of 19 Christ; do you think I can take parts of Christ’s body and join them to the body 20 of a prostitute? Never! •As you know, a man who goes with a prostitute is one 21 body with her, since the two, as it is said, become one flesh. •But anyone who is 22 joined to the Lord is one spirit with him.
 23 Keep away from fornication. All the other sins are committed outside the 24 body; but to fornicate is to sin against your own body. •Your body, you know, 25 is the temple of the Holy Spirit, who is in you since you received him from God.
 26 You are not your own property; •You have been bought and paid for. That is 27 why you should use your body for the glory of God.

II. ANSWERS TO VARIOUS QUESTIONS

A. MARRIAGE AND VIRGINITY

1 7 Now for the questions about which you wrote. Yes, it is a good thing for 2 a man not to touch a woman; •but since sex is always a danger, let each 3 man have his own wife and each woman her own husband. •The husband must 4 give his wife what she has the right to expect, and so too the wife to the husband.
 5 The wife has no rights over her own body; it is the husband who has them. In the 6 same way, the husband has no rights over his body; the wife has them. •Do not 7 refuse each other except by mutual consent, and then only for an agreed time, to 8 leave yourselves free for prayer; then come together again in case Satan should

6 take advantage of your weakness to tempt you. 'This is a suggestion, not a rule:
7 I should like everyone to be like me, but everybody has his own particular gifts from God, one with a gift for one thing and another with a gift for the opposite.

8 There is something I want to add for the sake of widows and those who are 9 not married: it is a good thing for them to stay as they are, like me, 'but if they cannot control the sexual urges, they should get married, since it is better to be married than to be tortured.

10 For the married I have something to say, and this is not from me but from 11 the Lord: a wife must not leave her husband—or if she does leave him, she must either remain unmarried or else make it up with her husband—nor must a husband send his wife away.

12 The rest is from me and not from the Lord. If a brother has a wife who is an unbeliever, and she is content to live with him, he must not send her away;
13 and if a woman has an unbeliever for her husband, and he is content to live with 14 her, she must not leave him. 'This is because the unbelieving husband is made one with the saints through his wife, and the unbelieving wife is made one with the saints through her husband. If this were not so, your children would be 15 unclean, whereas in fact they are holy. 'However, if the unbelieving partner does not consent, they may separate; in these circumstances, the brother or 16 sister is not tied: God has called you to a life of peace. 'If you are a wife, it may be your part to save your husband, for all you know; if a husband, for all you know, it may be your part to save your wife.

17 For the rest, what each one has is what the Lord has given him and he should continue as he was when God's call reached him. This is the ruling that I give 18 in all the churches. 'If anyone had already been circumcised at the time of his call, he need not disguise it, and anyone who was uncircumcised at 19 the time of his call need not be circumcised; 'because to be circumcised or uncircumcised means nothing: what does matter is to keep the commandments 20 of God. 'Let everyone stay as he was at the time of his call. 'If, when you were 21 called, you were a slave, do not let this bother you; but if you should have the 22 chance of being free, accept it. 'A slave, when he is called in the Lord, becomes the Lord's freedman, and a freeman called in the Lord becomes Christ's slave.
23 You have all been bought and paid for; do not be slaves of other men. 'Each 24 one of you, my brothers, should stay as he was before God at the time of his call.

25 About remaining celibate, I have no directions from the Lord but give my own opinion as one who, by the Lord's mercy, has stayed faithful. 'Well then, 26 I believe that in these present times of stress this is right: that it is good for a man to stay as he is. 'If you are tied to a wife, do not look for freedom; if you are 27 free of a wife, then do not look for one. 'But if you marry, it is no sin, and it is not a sin for a young girl to get married. They will have their troubles, though, 28 in their married life, and I should like to spare you that.

29 Brothers, this is what I mean: our time is growing short. Those who have 30 wives should live as though they had none, 'and those who mourn should live as though they had nothing to mourn for; those who are enjoying life should live as though there were nothing to laugh about; those whose life is buying things 31 should live as though they had nothing of their own; 'and those who have to deal with the world should not become engrossed in it. I say this because the world as we know it is passing away.

32 I would like to see you free from all worry. An unmarried man can devote 33 himself to the Lord's affairs, all he need worry about is pleasing the Lord; 'but a married man has to bother about the world's affairs and devote himself to

c. Dt. 13:6

6 a. The pagan magistrates of Corinth. b. Probably one of Paul's own sayings which has been misapplied by false teachers: this section of the letter is directed against the libertines, who had been teaching that sexual intercourse was as necessary for the body as food and drink.

34 pleasing his wife: •he is torn two ways. In the same way an unmarried woman, like a young girl, can devote herself to the Lord's affairs; all she need worry about is being holy in body and spirit. The married woman, on the other hand, has to worry about the world's affairs and devote herself to pleasing her husband.
 35 I say this only to help you, not to put a halter around your necks, but simply to make sure that everything is as it should be, and that you give your undivided attention to the Lord.

36 Still, if there is anyone who feels that it would not be fair to his daughter to let her grow too old for marriage, and that he should do something about it, he is free to do as he likes: he is not sinning if there is a marriage. •On the other hand, if someone has firmly made his mind up, without any compulsion and in complete freedom of choice, to keep his daughter as she is, he will be doing
 37 a good thing. •In other words, the man who sees that his daughter is married has done a good thing but the man who keeps his daughter unmarried has done something even better.^a

38 A wife is tied as long as her husband is alive. But if the husband dies, she is 40 free to marry anybody she likes, only it must be in the Lord. •She would be happier, in my opinion, if she stayed as she is—and I too have the Spirit of God, I think.

B. FOOD OFFERED TO IDOLS

General principles

1 8 Now about food sacrificed to idols. "We all have knowledge"; yes, that is so,
 2 but knowledge gives self-importance—it is love that makes the building grow.
 3 A man may imagine he understands something, but still not understand anything
 4 in the way that he ought to. •But any man who loves God is known by him.
 5 Well then, about eating food sacrificed to idols^a: we know that idols do not really 6 exist in the world and that there is no god but the One. •And even if there were 7 things called gods, either in the sky or on earth—where there certainly seem to 8 be "gods" and "lords" in plenty—still for us there is one God, the Father, from 9 whom all things come and for whom we exist; and there is one Lord, Jesus Christ, 10 through whom all things come and through whom we exist.

The claims of love

7 Some people, however, do not have this knowledge. There are some who 8 have been so long used to idols that they eat this food as though it really 9 had been sacrificed to the idol, and their conscience, being weak, is defiled
 10 by it. •Food, of course, cannot bring us in touch with God: we lose nothing
 11 if we refuse to eat, we gain nothing if we eat. •Only be careful that you 12 do not make use of this freedom in a way that proves a pitfall for the weak.
 13 Suppose someone sees you, a man who understands, eating in some temple
 14 of an idol; his own conscience, even if it is weak, may encourage him
 15 to eat food which has been offered to idols. •In this way your knowledge
 16 could become the ruin of someone weak, of a brother for whom Christ
 17 died. •By sinning in this way against your brothers, and injuring their weak 18 consciences, it would be Christ against whom you sinned. •That is why, 19 since food can be the occasion of my brother's downfall, I shall never eat meat 20 again in case I am the cause of a brother's downfall.

Paul invokes his own example

1 9 I, personally, am free: I am an apostle and I have seen Jesus our Lord. You
 2 are all my work in the Lord. •Even if I were not an apostle to others, I should 3 still be an apostle to you who are the seal of my apostolate in the Lord. •My 4 answer to those who want to interrogate me is this: •Have we not every right
 5 to eat and drink?^a •And the right to take a Christian woman around with us,
 6 like all the other apostles and the brothers of the Lord and Cephas?

7 Are Barnabas and I the only ones who are not allowed to stop working? ·Nobody ever paid money to stay in the army, and nobody ever planted a vineyard and refused to eat the fruit of it. Who has there ever been that kept a flock and did not feed on the milk from his flock?

8 These may be only human comparisons, but does not the Law itself say the same thing? ·It is written in the Law of Moses: You must not put a muzzle on the ox when it is treading out the corn.^b Is it about oxen that God is concerned, ·or is there not an obvious reference to ourselves? Clearly this was written for our sake to show that the plowman ought to plow in expectation, and the thresher to thresh in the expectation of getting his share. ·If we have sown spiritual things for you, why should you be surprised if we harvest your material things? ·Others are allowed these rights over you and our right is surely greater? In fact we have never exercised this right. On the contrary we have put up with anything rather than obstruct the Good News of Christ in any way. ·Remember that the ministers serving in the Temple get their food from the Temple and those serving at the altar can claim their share from the altar itself. ·In the same sort of way the Lord directed that those who preach the gospel should get their living from the gospel.

15 However, I have not exercised any of these rights, and I am not writing all this to secure this treatment for myself. I would rather die than let anyone take away something that I can boast of. ·Not that I do boast of preaching the gospel, since it is a duty which has been laid on me; I should be punished if I did not preach it! ·If I had chosen this work myself, I might have been paid for it, but as I have not, it is a responsibility which has been put into my hands. ·Do you know what my reward is? It is this: in my preaching, to be able to offer the Good News free, and not insist on the rights which the gospel gives me.

19 So though I am not a slave of any man I have made myself the slave of everyone so as to win as many as I could. ·I made myself a Jew to the Jews, to win the Jews; that is, I who am not a subject of the Law made myself a subject of the Law to those who are the subjects of the Law, to win those who are subject to the Law. ·To those who have no Law, I was free of the Law myself (though not free from God's law, being under the law of Christ) to win those who have no Law. ·For the weak I made myself weak. I made myself all things to all men in order to save some at any cost; ·and I still do this, for the sake of the gospel, to have a share in its blessings.

24 All the runners at the stadium are trying to win, but only one of them gets the prize. You must run in the same way, meaning to win. ·All the fighters at the games go into strict training; they do this just to win a wreath that will wither away, but we do it for a wreath that will never wither. ·That is how I run, intent on winning; that is how I fight, not beating the air. ·I treat my body hard and make it obey me, for, having been an announcer myself, I should not want to be disqualified.

A warning, and the lessons of Israel's history

1 10 I want to remind you, brothers, how our fathers were all guided by a cloud
2 above them and how they all passed through the sea. ·They were all
3 baptized into Moses in this cloud and in this sea; ·all ate the same spiritual 4 food ·and all drank the same spiritual drink, since they all drank from the 5 spiritual rock that followed them as they went, and that rock was Christ. ·In spite of this, most of them failed to please God and their corpses littered the desert.

7 a. "daughter" is not the only possible word; this passage has been read as alluding to the practice of a man and a woman living together under vows of chastity, a practice for which there is evidence from a later date.

8 a. At feasts and public ceremonies, portions of the food were "sacrificed" and went to the gods, the priests and the donors; the whole of the food was regarded as dedicated, whether it was eaten at a ceremonial meal or part of it sold in the markets.

9 a. At the expense of the Christian congregations. b. Dt. 25:4

6 These things all happened as warnings^a for us, not to have the wicked lusts
7 for forbidden things that they had. ·Do not become idolaters as some of them
8 did, for scripture says: After sitting down to eat and drink, the people got up to 9 amuse themselves.^b ·We must never fall into sexual immorality: some of them did, 10 and twenty-three thousand met their downfall in one day. ·We are not to put 11 the Lord to the test: some of them did, and they were killed by snakes. ·You 12 must never complain: some of them did, and they were killed by the Destroyer.

13 All this happened to them as a warning, and it was written down to be a lesson 14 for us who are living at the end of the age. ·The man who thinks he is safe must 15 be careful that he does not fall. ·The trials that you have had to bear are no
16 more than people normally have. You can trust God not to let you be tried 17 beyond your strength, and with any trial he will give you a way out of it and the 18 strength to bear it.

Sacrificial feasts. No compromise with idolatry

19 This is the reason, my dear brothers, why you must keep clear of idolatry.
20 I say to you as sensible people: judge for yourselves what I am saying. ·The 21 blessing cup that we bless is a communion with the blood of Christ, and the 22 bread that we break is a communion with the body of Christ. ·The fact that there 23 is only one loaf means that, though there are many of us, we form a single body
24 because we all have a share in this one loaf. ·Look at the other Israel, the race, 25 where those who eat the sacrifices are in communion with the altar. ·Does this 26 mean that the food sacrificed to idols has a real value, or that the idol itself is 27 real? ·Not at all. It simply means that the sacrifices that they offer they sacrifice to 28 demons who are not God.^c I have no desire to see you in communion with 29 demons. ·You cannot drink the cup of the Lord and the cup of demons. You 30 cannot take your share at the table of the Lord and at the table of demons. ·Do 31 we want to make the Lord angry; are we stronger than he is?

Food sacrificed to idols. Practical solutions

32 “For me there are no forbidden things,” but not everything does good. True, 33 there are no forbidden things, but it is not everything that helps the building to 34 grow. ·Nobody should be looking for his own advantage, but everybody for the 35 other man’s. ·Do not hesitate to eat anything that is sold in butchers’ shops:
36 there is no need to raise questions of conscience; for the earth and everything
37 that is in it belong to the Lord.^d ·If an unbeliever invites you to his house, go if 38 you want to, and eat whatever is put in front of you, without asking questions
39 just to satisfy conscience. ·But if someone says to you, “This food was offered 40 in sacrifice,” then, out of consideration for the man that told you, you should 41 not eat it, for the sake of his scruples; his scruples, you see, not your own. Why 42 should my freedom depend on somebody else’s conscience? ·If I take my share 43 with thankfulness, why should I be blamed for food for which I have thanked 44 God?

Conclusion

45 Whatever you eat, whatever you drink, whatever you do at all, do it for the 46 glory of God. ·Never do anything offensive to anyone—to Jews or Greeks or to 47 the Church of God; just as I try to be helpful to everyone at all times, not 48 anxious for my own advantage but for the advantage of everybody else, so that

1 11 they may be saved.
2 Take me for your model, as I take Christ.

C. DECORUM IN PUBLIC WORSHIP

Women’s behavior at services

3 You have done well in remembering me so constantly and in maintaining 4 the traditions just as I passed them on to you. ·However, what I want you to understand is that Christ is the head of every man, man is the head of woman, 4 and God is the head of Christ. For a man to pray or prophesy with his head

 5 covered is a sign of disrespect to his head.^a For a woman, however, it is a sign of disrespect to her head^b if she prays or prophesies unveiled; she might as well 6 have her hair shaved off. In fact, a woman who will not wear a veil ought to have her hair cut off. If a woman is ashamed to have her hair cut off or shaved, she ought to wear a veil.

7 A man should certainly not cover his head, since he is the image of God and 8 reflects God's glory; but woman is the reflection of man's glory. For man did 9 not come from woman; no, woman came from man; and man was not created 10 for the sake of woman, but woman was created for the sake of man. That is the argument for women's covering their heads with a symbol of the authority 11 over them, out of respect for the angels.^c However, though woman cannot do 12 without man, neither can man do without woman, in the Lord; woman may come from man, but man is born of woman—both come from God.

13 Ask yourselves if it is fitting for a woman to pray to God without a veil;
 14 and whether nature itself does not tell you that long hair on a man is nothing 15 to be admired, while a woman, who was given her hair as a covering, thinks long hair her glory?

16 To anyone who might still want to argue: it is not the custom with us, nor in the churches of God.

The Lord's Supper

17 Now that I am on the subject of instructions, I cannot say that you have done
 18 well in holding meetings that do you more harm than good. In the first place,
 I hear that when you all come together as a community, there are separate 19 factions among you, and I half believe it—since there must no doubt be separate 20 groups among you, to distinguish those who are to be trusted. The point is, when you hold these meetings, it is not the Lord's Supper^d that you are eating, 21 since when the time comes to eat, everyone is in such a hurry to start his own 22 supper that one person goes hungry while another is getting drunk. Surely you have homes for eating and drinking in? Surely you have enough respect for the community of God not to make poor people embarrassed? What am I to say to you? Congratulate you? I cannot congratulate you on this.

23 For this is what I received from the Lord, and in turn passed on to you: that 24 on the same night that he was betrayed, the Lord Jesus took some bread, and thanked God for it and broke it, and he said, "This is my body, which is for you; 25 do this as a memorial of me." In the same way he took the cup after supper, and said, "This cup is the new covenant in my blood. Whenever you drink it, do 26 this as a memorial of me." Until the Lord comes, therefore, every time you eat 27 this bread and drink this cup, you are proclaiming his death, and so anyone who eats the bread or drinks the cup of the Lord unworthily will be behaving unworthily toward the body and blood of the Lord.

28 Everyone is to recollect himself before eating this bread and drinking this 29 cup; because a person who eats and drinks without recognizing the Body
 30 is eating and drinking his own condemnation. In fact that is why many of you 31 are weak and ill and some of you have died. If only we recollected ourselves, 32 we should not be punished like that. But when the Lord does punish us like that, it is to correct us and stop us from being condemned with the world.

33 So to sum up, my dear brothers, when you meet for the Meal, wait for one 34 another. Anyone who is hungry should eat at home, and then your meeting will not bring your condemnation. The other matters I shall adjust when I come.

Spiritual gifts

1 12 Now my dear brothers, I want to clear up a wrong impression about 2 spiritual gifts. •You remember that, when you were pagans, whenever 3 you felt irresistibly drawn, it was toward dumb idols? •It is for that reason that I want you to understand that on the one hand no one can be speaking under the influence of the Holy Spirit and say, “Curse Jesus,” and on the other hand, no one can say, “Jesus is Lord,” unless he is under the influence of the Holy Spirit.

The variety and the unity of gifts

4 There is a variety of gifts but always the same Spirit; •there are all sorts of 5 service to be done, but always to the same Lord; •working in all sorts of different 6 ways in different people, it is the same God who is working in all of them. •The 7 particular way in which the Spirit is given to each person is for a good purpose.
 8 One may have the gift of preaching with wisdom given him by the Spirit; another 9 may have the gift of preaching instruction given him by the same Spirit; •and another the gift of faith given by the same Spirit; another again the gift of healing, 10 through this one Spirit; •one, the power of miracles; another, prophecy;
 another the gift of recognizing spirits; another the gift of tongues and another 11 the ability to interpret them. •All these are the work of one and the same Spirit, who distributes different gifts to different people just as he chooses.

The analogy of the body

12 Just as a human body, though it is made up of many parts, is a single unit 13 because all these parts, though many, make one body, so it is with Christ. •In the one Spirit we were all baptized, Jews as well as Greeks, slaves as well as citizens, and one Spirit was given to us all to drink.

14 Nor is the body to be identified with any one of its many parts. •If the foot
 15 were to say, “I am not a hand and so I do not belong to the body,” would that 16 mean that it stopped being part of the body? •If the ear were to say, “I am not an eye, and so I do not belong to the body,” would that mean that it was not a part 17 of the body? •If your whole body was just one eye, how would you hear anything?
 If it was just one ear, how would you smell anything?

18 Instead of that, God put all the separate parts into the body on purpose. •If 19 all the parts were the same, how could it be a body? •As it is, the parts are many 20 but the body is one. •The eye cannot say to the hand, “I do not need you,” nor can the head say to the feet, “I do not need you.”

22 What is more, it is precisely the parts of the body that seem to be the weakest 23 which are the indispensable ones; •and it is the least honorable parts of the body that we clothe with the greatest care. So our more improper parts get 24 decorated •in a way that our more proper parts do not need. God has arranged 25 the body so that more dignity is given to the parts which are without it, •and so that there may not be disagreements inside the body, but that each part may be 26 equally concerned for all the others. •If one part is hurt, all parts are hurt with it. If one part is given special honor, all parts enjoy it.

27 Now you together are Christ’s body; but each of you is a different part of it.
 28 In the Church, God has given the first place to apostles, the second to prophets, the third to teachers; after them, miracles, and after them the gift of healing;
 29 helpers, good leaders, those with many languages. •Are all of them apostles, or all of them prophets; or all of them teachers? Do they all have the gift of 30 miracles, •or all have the gift of healing? Do all speak strange languages, and all interpret them?

The order of importance in spiritual gifts. Love

31 Be ambitious for the higher gifts. And I am going to show you a way that is better than any of them.

¹ 13 If I have all the eloquence of men or of angels, but speak without love, ² I am simply a gong booming or a cymbal clashing. If I have the gift of prophecy, understanding all the mysteries there are, and knowing everything, and if I have faith in all its fullness, to move mountains, but without love, then ³ I am nothing at all. If I give away all that I possess, piece by piece, and if I even let them take my body to burn it, but am without love, it will do me no good whatever.

⁴ Love is always patient and kind; it is never jealous; love is never boastful
⁵ or conceited; it is never rude or selfish; it does not take offense, and is not ⁶ resentful. Love takes no pleasure in other people's sins but delights in the truth;
⁷ it is always ready to excuse, to trust, to hope, and to endure whatever comes.

⁸ Love does not come to an end. But if there are gifts of prophecy, the time will come when they must fail; or the gift of languages, it will not continue for ever; and knowledge—for this, too, the time will come when it must fail.

⁹ For our knowledge is imperfect and our prophesying is imperfect; but once
¹⁰ perfection comes, all imperfect things will disappear. When I was a child, I used
¹¹ to talk like a child, and think like a child, and argue like a child, but now I am ¹² a man, all childish ways are put behind me. Now we are seeing a dim reflection in a mirror; but then we shall be seeing face to face. The knowledge that I have now is imperfect; but then I shall know as fully as I am known.

¹³ In short, there are three things that last: faith, hope and love; and the greatest of these is love.

Spiritual gifts: their respective importance in the community

¹ 14 You must want love more than anything else; but still hope for the spiritual ² gifts as well, especially prophecy. Anybody with the gift of tongues speaks to God, but not to other people; because nobody understands him when he ³ talks in the spirit about mysterious things. On the other hand, the man who prophesies does talk to other people, to their improvement, their encouragement ⁴ and their consolation. The one with the gift of tongues talks for his own benefit, but the man who prophesies does so for the benefit of the community.
⁵ While I should like you all to have the gift of tongues, I would much rather you could prophesy, since the man who prophesies is of greater importance than the man with the gift of tongues, unless of course the latter offers an interpretation so that the church may get some benefit.

⁶ Now suppose, my dear brothers, I am someone with the gift of tongues, and I come to visit you, what use shall I be if all my talking reveals nothing new, tells ⁷ you nothing, and neither inspires you nor instructs you? Think of a musical instrument, a flute or a harp: if one note on it cannot be distinguished ⁸ from another, how can you tell what tune is being played? Or if no one can be sure which call the trumpet has sounded, who will be ready for the attack?
⁹ It is the same with you: if your tongue does not produce intelligible speech, how ¹⁰ can anyone know what you are saying? You will be talking to the air. There are any number of different languages in the world, and not one of them is meaning-¹¹ less, but if I am ignorant of what the sounds mean, I am a savage to the man ¹² who is speaking, and he is a savage to me. It is the same in your own case: since you aspire to spiritual gifts, concentrate on those which will grow to benefit the community.

¹³ That is why anybody who has the gift of tongues must pray for the power
¹⁴ of interpreting them. For if I use this gift in my prayers, my spirit may be praying ¹⁵ but my mind is left barren. What is the answer to that? Surely I should pray not only with the spirit but with the mind as well? And sing praises not only with ¹⁶ the spirit but with the mind as well? Any uninitiated person will never be able to say Amen to your thanksgiving, if you only bless God with the spirit, for he ¹⁷ will have no idea what you are saying. However well you make your thanks-¹⁸ giving, the other gets no benefit from it. I thank God that I have a greater gift

19 of tongues than all of you, 'but when I am in the presence of the community I would rather say five words that mean something than ten thousand words in a tongue.

20 Brothers, you are not to be childish in your outlook. You can be babies as far as wickedness is concerned, but mentally you must be adult. 'In the written Law it says: Through men speaking strange languages and through the lips of foreigners, I shall talk to the nation, and still they will not listen to me, says the Lord.^a 'You see then, that the strange languages are meant to be a sign not for believers but for unbelievers, while on the other hand, prophecy is a sign not for unbelievers but for believers. 'So that any uninitiated people or unbelievers, coming into a meeting of the whole church where everybody was speaking in tongues, would say you were all mad; 'but if you were all prophesying and an unbeliever or uninitiated person came in, he would find himself analyzed and judged by everyone speaking; 'he would find his secret thoughts laid bare, and then fall on his face and worship God, declaring that God is among you indeed.^b

Regulating spiritual gifts

26 So, my dear brothers, what conclusion is to be drawn? At all your meetings, let everyone be ready with a psalm or a sermon or a revelation, or ready to use his gift of tongues or to give an interpretation; but it must always be for the common good. 'If there are people present with the gift of tongues, let only two or three, at the most, be allowed to use it, and only one at a time, and there must be someone to interpret. 'If there is no interpreter present, they must keep quiet in church and speak only to themselves and to God. 'As for prophets, let two or three of them speak, and the others attend to them. 'If one of the listeners receives a revelation, then the man who is already speaking should stop. 'For you can all prophesy in turn, so that everybody will learn something and everybody will be encouraged. 'Prophets can always control their prophetic spirits, 'since God is not a God of disorder but of peace.

34 As in all the churches of the saints, 'women are to remain quiet at meetings since they have no permission to speak; they must keep in the background as the Law itself lays it down. 'If they have any questions to ask, they should ask their husbands at home: it does not seem right for a woman to raise her voice at meetings.

36 Do you think the word of God came out of yourselves? Or that it has come only to you? 'Anyone who claims to be a prophet or inspired ought to recognize that what I am writing to you is a command from the Lord. 'Unless he recognizes this, you should not recognize him.

39 And so, my dear brothers, by all means be ambitious to prophesy, do not suppress the gift of tongues, 'but let everything be done with propriety and in order.

III. THE RESURRECTION OF THE DEAD

The fact of the resurrection

1 15 Brothers, I want to remind you of the gospel I preached to you, the gospel that you received and in which you are firmly established; 'because the gospel will save you only if you keep believing exactly what I preached to you—believing anything else will not lead to anything.

3 Well then, in the first place, I taught you what I had been taught myself, namely that Christ died for our sins, in accordance with the scriptures; 'that he was buried; and that he was raised to life on the third day, in accordance with the scriptures; 'that he appeared first to Cephas and secondly to the Twelve. 6 Next he appeared to more than five hundred of the brothers at the same time, 7 most of whom are still alive, though some have died; 'then he appeared to

8 James, and then to all the apostles; and last of all he appeared to me too; it was as though I was born when no one expected it.

9 I am the least of the apostles; in fact, since I persecuted the Church of God, 10 I hardly deserve the name apostle; but by God's grace that is what I am, and the grace that he gave me has not been fruitless. On the contrary, I, or rather 11 the grace of God that is with me, have worked harder than any of the others; but what matters is that I preach what they preach, and this is what you all believed.

12 Now if Christ raised from the dead is what has been preached, how can 13 some of you be saying that there is no resurrection of the dead? If there is no 14 resurrection of the dead, Christ himself cannot have been raised, and if Christ has not been raised then our preaching is useless and your believing it is useless;
15 indeed, we are shown up as witnesses who have committed perjury before God, 16 because we swore in evidence before God that he raised Christ to life. For 17 if the dead are not raised, Christ has not been raised, and if Christ has not been 18 raised, you are still in your sins. And what is more serious, all who have died in 19 Christ have perished. If our hope in Christ has been for this life only, we are the most unfortunate of all people.

20 But Christ has in fact been raised from the dead, the first fruits of all who 21 have fallen asleep. Death came through one man and in the same way the 22 resurrection of the dead has come through one man. Just as all men die in Adam,
23 so all men will be brought to life in Christ; but all of them in their proper order:
Christ as the first fruits and then, after the coming of Christ, those who belong 24 to him. After that will come the end, when he hands over the kingdom to God the Father, having done away with every sovereignty, authority and power.
25 For he must be king until he has put all his enemies under his feet^a and the last 26 of the enemies to be destroyed is death, for everything is to be put under his feet.
27 —Though when it is said that everything is subjected, this clearly cannot include 28 the One who subjected everything to him. And when everything is subjected to him, then the Son himself will be subject in his turn to the One who subjected all things to him, so that God may be all in all.

29 If this were not true, what do people hope to gain by being baptized for the dead? If the dead are not ever going to be raised, why be baptized on their 30 behalf? What about ourselves? Why are we living under a constant threat?
31 I face death every day, brothers, and I can swear it by the pride that I take in you 32 in Christ Jesus our Lord. If my motives were only human ones, what good would 33 it do me to fight the wild animals at Ephesus? You say: Let us eat and drink today; tomorrow we shall be dead.^b You must stop being led astray: "Bad friends 34 ruin the noblest people."^c Come to your senses, behave properly, and leave sin alone; there are some of you who seem not to know God at all; you should be ashamed.

The manner of the resurrection

35 Someone may ask, "How are dead people raised, and what sort of body do they 36 have when they come back?" They are stupid questions. Whatever you sow in the 37 ground has to die before it is given new life and the thing that you sow is not what is going to come; you sow a bare grain, say of wheat or something like that, 38 and then God gives it the sort of body that he has chosen: each sort of seed gets its own sort of body.

39 Everything that is flesh is not the same flesh: there is human flesh, animals' 40 flesh, the flesh of birds and the flesh of fish. Then there are heavenly bodies and there are earthly bodies; but the heavenly bodies have a beauty of their own and 41 the earthly bodies a different one. The sun has its brightness, the moon a different brightness, and the stars a different brightness, and the stars differ from each

14. a. A free version of Is. 28:11–12. b. Is. 45:14

15 a. Ps. 110:1 b. Is. 22:13 c. This quotation from Menander's Thais may have become a proverb.

42 other in brightness. ·It is the same with the resurrection of the dead: the thing 43 that is sown is perishable but what is raised is imperishable; ·the thing that is sown is contemptible but what is raised is glorious; the thing that is sown is weak 44 but what is raised is powerful; ·when it is sown it embodies the soul, when it is raised it embodies the spirit.

If the soul has its own embodiment, so does the spirit have its own embodiment.
45 The first man, Adam, as scripture says, became a living soul; but the last Adam 46 has become a life-giving spirit. ·That is, first the one with the soul, not the spirit, 47 and after that, the one with the spirit. ·The first man, being from the earth, is 48 earthly by nature; the second man is from heaven. ·As this earthly man was, so 49 are we on earth; and as the heavenly man is, so are we in heaven. ·And we, who have been modeled on the earthly man, will be modeled on the heavenly man.

50 Or else, brothers, put it this way: flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom 51 of God: and the perishable cannot inherit what lasts for ever. ·I will tell you something that has been secret: that we are not all going to die, but we shall all 52 be changed. ·This will be instantaneous, in the twinkling of an eye, when the last trumpet sounds. It will sound, and the dead will be raised, imperishable, 53 and we shall be changed as well, ·because our present perishable nature must put on imperishability and this mortal nature must put on immortality.

A hymn of triumph. Conclusion

54 When this perishable nature has put on imperishability, and when this mortal nature has put on immortality, then the words of scripture will come 55 true: Death is swallowed up in victory. ·Death, where is your victory? Death, where 56 is your sting?^a ·Now the sting of death is sin, and sin gets its power from the Law.
57 So let us thank God for giving us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

58 Never give in then, my dear brothers, never admit defeat; keep on working at the Lord's work always, knowing that, in the Lord, you cannot be laboring in vain.

CONCLUSION

Commendations. Greetings

1 16 Now about the collection made for the saints: you are to do as I told the 2 churches in Galatia to do. ·Every Sunday, each one of you must put aside what he can afford, so that collections need not be made after I have come.
3 When I am with you, I will send your offering to Jerusalem by the hand
4 of whatever men you give letters of reference to; ·if it seems worth while for me to go too, they can travel with me.

5 I shall be coming to you after I have passed through Macedonia—and I am 6 doing no more than pass through Macedonia—and I may be staying with you, perhaps even passing the winter, to make sure that it is you who send me on my 7 way wherever my travels take me. ·As you see, I do not want to make it only a passing visit to you and I hope to spend some time with you, the Lord permit-8 ting. ·In any case I shall be staying at Ephesus until Pentecost ·because a big 9 and important door has opened for my work and there is a great deal of opposition.

10 If Timothy comes, show him that he has nothing to be afraid of in you: like 11 me, he is doing the Lord's work, ·and nobody is to be scornful of him. Send him happily on his way to come back to me; the brothers and I are waiting for 12 him. ·As for our brother Apollos, I begged him to come to you with the brothers but he was quite firm that he did not want to go yet and he will come as soon as he can.

13 Be awake to all the dangers; stay firm in the faith; be brave and be strong.
14 Let everything you do be done in love.

- 15 There is something else to ask you, brothers. You know how the Stephanas family, who were the first fruits of Achaia, have really worked hard to help the saints. Well, I want you in your turn to put yourselves at the service of people like this, and anyone who helps and works with them. I am delighted that Stephanas, Fortunatus and Achaicus have arrived; they make up for your absence. They have settled my mind, and yours too; I hope you appreciate men like this.
- 19 All the churches of Asia send you greetings. Aquila and Prisca, with the church that meets at their house, send you their warmest wishes, in the Lord. All the brothers send you their greetings. Greet one another with a holy kiss.
- 21 This greeting is in my own hand—Paul.
- 22 If anyone does not love the Lord, a curse on him. "Maran atha."^a
- 23 The grace of the Lord Jesus be with you.
- 24 My love is with you all in Christ Jesus.

2 CORINTHIANS

THE SECOND LETTER OF PAUL TO THE CHURCH AT CORINTH

INTRODUCTION

Address and greetings. Thanksgiving

¹ From Paul, appointed by God to be an apostle of Christ Jesus, and from ² Timothy, one of the brothers, to the church of God at Corinth and to all the saints in the whole of Achaia. ·Grace and peace to you from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

³ Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, a gentle Father and ⁴ the God of all consolation, ·who comforts us in all our sorrows, so that we can offer others, in their sorrows, the consolation that we have received from God ⁵ ourselves. ·Indeed, as the sufferings of Christ overflow to us, so, through Christ, ⁶ does our consolation overflow. ·When we are made to suffer, it is for your consolation and salvation. When, instead, we are comforted, this should be a consolation to you, supporting you in patiently bearing the same sufferings as ⁷ we bear. ·And our hope for you is confident, since we know that, sharing our sufferings, you will also share our consolations.

⁸ For we should like you to realize, brothers, that the things we had to undergo in Asia were more of a burden than we could carry, so that we despaired of ⁹ coming through alive. ·Yes, we were carrying our own death warrant with us, and it has taught us not to rely on ourselves but only on God, who raises the ¹⁰ dead to life. ·And he saved us from dying, as he will save us again; yes, that is our ¹¹ firm hope in him, that in the future he will save us again. ·You must all join in the prayers for us; the more people there are asking for help for us, the more will be giving thanks when it is granted to us.

I. SOME RECENT EVENTS REVIEWED

Why Paul changed his plans

¹² There is one thing we are proud of, and our conscience tells us it is true: that we have always treated everybody, and especially you, with the reverence and sincerity which come from God, and by the grace of God we have done this ¹³ without ulterior motives. ·There are no hidden meanings in our letters besides ¹⁴ what you can read for yourselves and understand. ·And I hope that, although you do not know us very well yet, you will have come to recognize, when the day of our Lord Jesus comes, that you can be as proud of us as we are of you.

¹⁵ Because I was so sure of this, I had meant to come to you first, so that you
¹⁶ would benefit doubly; ·staying with you before going to Macedonia and coming back to you again on the way back from Macedonia, for you to see me on my way ¹⁷ to Judaea. ·Do you think I was not sure of my own intentions when I planned

this? Do you really think that when I am making my plans, my motives are ordinary human ones, and that I say Yes, yes, and No, no, at the same time? I swear by God's truth, there is no Yes and No about what we say to you. The Son of God, the Christ Jesus that we proclaimed among you—I mean Silvanus and Timothy and I—was never Yes and No: with him it was always Yes, and however many the promises God made, the Yes to them all is in him. That is why it is "through him" that we answer Amen to the praise of God. Remember it is God himself who assures us all, and you, of our standing in Christ, and has anointed us, marking us with his seal and giving us the pledge, the Spirit, that we carry in our hearts.

By my life, I call God to witness that the reason why I did not come to Corinth after all was to spare your feelings. We are not dictators over your faith, but are fellow workers with you for your happiness; in the faith you are steady enough. Well then, I made up my mind not to pay you a second distressing visit. I may have hurt you, but if so I have hurt the only people who could give me any pleasure. I wrote as I did to make sure that, when I came, I should not be distressed by the very people who should have made me happy. I am sure you all know that I could never be happy unless you were. When I wrote to you, in deep distress and anguish of mind, and in tears, it was not to make you feel hurt but to let you know how much love I have for you.

Someone has been the cause of pain; and the cause of pain not to me, but to some degree—not to overstate it—to all of you. The punishment already imposed by the majority on the man in question is enough; and the best thing now is to give him your forgiveness and encouragement, or he might break down from so much misery. So I am asking you to give some definite proof of your love for him. What I really wrote for, after all, was to test you and see whether you are completely obedient. Anybody that you forgive, I forgive; and as for my forgiving anything—if there has been anything to be forgiven, I have forgiven it for your sake in the presence of Christ. And so we will not be outwitted by Satan—we know well enough what his intentions are.

From Troas to Macedonia. The apostolate: its importance

When I went up to Troas to preach the Good News of Christ, and the door was wide open for my work there in the Lord, I was so continually uneasy in mind at not meeting brother Titus there, I said good-by to them and went on to Macedonia.

Thanks be to God who, wherever he goes, makes us, in Christ, partners of his triumph,^a and through us is spreading the knowledge of himself, like a sweet smell, everywhere. We are Christ's incense to God for those who are being saved and for those who are not; for the last, the smell of death that leads to death, for the first the sweet smell of life that leads to life. And who could be qualified for work like this? At least we do not go around offering the word of God for sale, as many other people do. In Christ, we speak as men of sincerity, as envoys of God and in God's presence.

Does this sound like a new attempt to commend ourselves to you? Unlike other people, we need no letters of recommendation either to you or from you, because you are yourselves our letter, written in our hearts, that anybody can see and read, and it is plain that you are a letter from Christ, drawn up by us, and written not with ink but with the Spirit of the living God, not on stone tablets but on the tablets of your living hearts.

Before God, we are confident of this through Christ: not that we are qualified in ourselves to claim anything as our own work: all our qualifications come from God. He is the one who has given us the qualifications to be the administrators of this new covenant, which is not a covenant of written letters but of the Spirit:

2 a. Like a victorious general making his ceremonial entry into Rome.

7 the written letters bring death, but the Spirit gives life. ·Now if the administering of death, in the written letters engraved on stones, was accompanied by such a brightness that the Israelites could not bear looking at the face of Moses, though
8 it was a brightness that faded, ·then how much greater will be the brightness that 9 surrounds the administering of the Spirit! ·For if there was any splendor in administering condemnation, there must be very much greater splendor in administering justification. ·In fact, compared with this greater splendor, the 10 thing that used to have such splendor now seems to have none; ·and if what was so temporary had any splendor, there must be much more in what is going to last for ever.

11 Having this hope, we can be quite confident; ·not like Moses, who put a veil
12 over his face so that the Israelites would not notice the ending of what had to 13 fade.^a ·And anyway, their minds had been dulled; indeed, to this very day, that same veil is still there when the old covenant is being read, a veil never lifted, since 14 Christ alone can remove it. ·Yes, even today, whenever Moses is read, the veil is 15 over their minds. ·It will not be removed until they turn to the Lord. ·Now this 16 Lord is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom. ·And 17 we, with our unveiled faces reflecting like mirrors the brightness of the Lord, all 18 grow brighter and brighter as we are turned into the image that we reflect; this is the work of the Lord who is Spirit.

1 4 Since we have by an act of mercy been entrusted with this work of adminis-
2 tration, there is no weakening on our part. ·On the contrary, we will have none of the reticence of those who are ashamed, no deceitfulness or watering down the word of God; but the way we commend ourselves to every human
3 being with a conscience is by stating the truth openly in the sight of God. ·If our gospel does not penetrate the veil, then the veil is on those who are not on the
4 way to salvation; ·the unbelievers whose minds the god of this world has blinded, to stop them seeing the light shed by the Good News of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God. ·For it is not ourselves that we are preaching, but Christ
5 Jesus as the Lord, and ourselves as your servants for Jesus' sake. ·It is the same God that said, "Let there be light shining out of darkness," who has shone in our minds to radiate the light of the knowledge of God's glory, the glory on the face of Christ.

The trials and hopes of the apostolate

7 We are only the earthenware jars that hold this treasure, to make it clear
8 that such an overwhelming power comes from God and not from us. ·We are in difficulties on all sides, but never cornered; we see no answer to our problems,
9 but never despair; ·we have been persecuted, but never deserted; knocked down,
10 but never killed; ·always, wherever we may be, we carry with us in our body the death of Jesus, so that the life of Jesus, too, may always be seen in our body.
11 Indeed, while we are still alive, we are consigned to our death every day, for the sake of Jesus, so that in our mortal flesh the life of Jesus, too, may be openly 12 shown. ·So death is at work in us, but life in you.

13 But as we have the same spirit of faith that is mentioned in scripture—I believed, and therefore I spoke^a—we too believe and therefore we too speak,
14 knowing that he who raised the Lord Jesus to life will raise us with Jesus in our turn, and put us by his side and you with us. ·You see, all this is for your benefit, so that the more grace is multiplied among people, the more thanksgiving there will be, to the glory of God.

16 That is why there is no weakening on our part, and instead, though this outer man of ours may be falling into decay, the inner man is renewed day by day.
17 Yes, the troubles which are soon over, though they weigh little, train us for the carrying of a weight of eternal glory which is out of all proportion to them. ·And so we have no eyes for things that are visible, but only for things that are invisible; for visible things last only for a time, and the invisible things are eternal.

1 5 For we know that when the tent that we live in on earth is folded up, there
 2 is a house built by God for us, an everlasting home not made by human hands,
 3 in the heavens. In this present state, it is true, we groan as we wait with longing
 4 to put on our heavenly home over the other; we should like to be found wearing 5 clothes and not without them. Yes, we groan and find it a burden being still 6 in this tent, not that we want to strip it off, but to put the second garment over it 7 and to have what must die taken up into life. This is the purpose for which 8 God made us, and he has given us the pledge of the Spirit.

9 We are always full of confidence, then, when we remember that to live in the 10 body means to be exiled from the Lord, going as we do by faith and not by sight
 11 —we are full of confidence, I say, and actually want to be exiled from the body
 12 and make our home with the Lord. Whether we are living in the body or exiled 13 from it, we are intent on pleasing him. For all the truth about us will be brought 14 out in the law court of Christ, and each of us will get what he deserves for the 15 things he did in the body, good or bad.

The apostolate in action

16 And so it is with the fear of the Lord in mind that we try to win people over.
 17 God knows us for what we really are, and I hope that in your consciences you 18 know us too. This is not another attempt to commend ourselves to you: we are 19 simply giving you reasons to be proud of us, so that you will have an answer ready 20 for the people who can boast more about what they seem than what they are.
 21 If we seemed out of our senses, it was for God; but if we are being reasonable 22 now, it is for your sake. And this is because the love of Christ overwhelms us 23 when we reflect that if one man has died for all, then all men should be dead;
 24 and the reason he died for all was so that living men should live no longer for 25 themselves, but for him who died and was raised to life for them.

26 From now onward, therefore, we do not judge anyone by the standards of the 27 flesh. Even if we did once know Christ in the flesh, that is not how we know him 28 now. And for anyone who is in Christ, there is a new creation; the old creation 29 has gone, and now the new one is here. It is all God's work. It was God who 30 reconciled us to himself through Christ and gave us the work of handing on this 31 reconciliation. In other words, God in Christ was reconciling the world to 32 himself, not holding men's faults against them, and he has entrusted to us the 33 news that they are reconciled. So we are ambassadors for Christ; it is as though 34 God were appealing through us, and the appeal that we make in Christ's name 35 is: be reconciled to God. For our sake God made the sinless one into sin, so 36 that in him we might become the goodness of God. 6 As his fellow workers, we 37 beg you once again not to neglect the grace of God that you have received. For 38 he says: At the favorable time, I have listened to you; on the day of salvation
 39 I came to your help.^a Well, now is the favorable time; this is the day of salvation.

40 We do nothing that people might object to, so as not to bring discredit on our 41 function as God's servants. Instead, we prove we are servants of God by great 42 fortitude in times of suffering: in times of hardship and distress; when we are 43 flogged, or sent to prison, or mobbed; laboring, sleepless, starving. We prove 44 we are God's servants by our purity, knowledge, patience and kindness; by a 45 spirit of holiness, by a love free from affectation; by the word of truth and by 46 the power of God; by being armed with the weapons of righteousness in the right
 47 hand and in the left, prepared for honor or disgrace, for blame or praise; taken 48 for impostors while we are genuine; obscure yet famous; said to be dying and 49 here are we alive; rumored to be executed before we are sentenced; thought 50 most miserable and yet we are always rejoicing; taken for paupers though we make 51 others rich, for people having nothing though we have everything.

3 a. See Ex. 34:33.

4 a. Ps. 116:10

6 a. Is. 49:8

Paul opens his heart. A warning

11 Corinthians, we have spoken to you very frankly; our mind has been opened 12 in front of you. Any constraint that you feel is not on our side; the constraint 13 is in your own selves. I speak as if to children of mine: as a fair exchange, open your minds in the same way.

14 Do not harness yourselves in an uneven team with unbelievers. Virtue is no 15 companion for crime. Light and darkness have nothing in common. Christ is not the ally of Beliar, nor has a believer anything to share with an unbeliever.
 16 The temple of God has no common ground with idols, and that is what we are—the temple of the living God. We have God's word for it: I will make my home among them and live with them; I will be their God and they shall be my people.^b Then come away from them and keep aloof, says the Lord. Touch nothing 17 that is unclean,^c and I will welcome you and be your father, and you shall be my 18 sons and daughters, says the Almighty Lord.^d

1 7 With promises like these made to us, dear brothers, let us wash off all that can soil either body or spirit, to reach perfection of holiness in the fear of God.

2 Keep a place for us in your hearts. We have not injured anyone, or ruined
 3 anyone, or exploited anyone. I am not saying this to put any blame on you;
 as I have already told you, you are in our hearts—together we live or together 4 we die. I have the very greatest confidence in you, and I am so proud of you that in all our trouble I am filled with consolation and my joy is overflowing.

Paul in Macedonia; he is joined by Titus

5 Even after we had come to Macedonia, however, there was no rest for this body of ours. Far from it; we found trouble on all sides: quarrels outside, mis-6 givings inside. But God comforts the miserable, and he comforted us, by the 7 arrival of Titus, and not only by his arrival but also by the comfort which he had gained from you. He has told us all about how you want to see me, how sorry you were, and how concerned for me, and so I am happier now than I was before.

8 But to tell the truth, even if I distressed you by my letter, I do not regret it.
 I did regret it before, and I see that that letter did distress you, at least for a time;
 9 but I am happy now—not because I made you suffer, but because your suffering led to your repentance. Yours has been a kind of suffering that God approves, 10 and so you have come to no kind of harm from us. To suffer in God's way means changing for the better and leaves no regrets, but to suffer as the world 11 knows suffering brings death. Just look at what suffering in God's way has brought you: what keenness, what explanations, what indignation, what alarm!
 Yes, and what aching to see me, what concern for me, and what justice done!
 12 In every way you have shown yourselves blameless in this affair. So then, though
 I wrote the letter to you, it was not written for the sake either of the offender or of the one offended; it was to make you realize, in the sight of God, your own 13 concern for us. That is what we have found so encouraging.

With this encouragement, too, we had the even greater happiness of finding 14 Titus so happy; thanks to you all, he has no more worries; I had rather boasted to him about you, and now I have not been made to look foolish; in fact, our boasting to Titus has proved to be as true as anything that we ever said to you.
 15 His own personal affection for you is all the greater when he remembers how 16 willing you have all been, and with what deep respect you welcomed him. I am very happy knowing that I can rely on you so completely.

II. ORGANIZATION OF THE COLLECTIONWhy the Corinthians should be generous

1 8 Now here, brothers, is the news of the grace of God which was given in the 2 churches in Macedonia; and of how, throughout great trials by suffering, their constant cheerfulness and their intense poverty have overflowed in a wealth

³ of generosity. ·I can swear that they gave not only as much as they could afford,
⁴ but far more, and quite spontaneously, ·begging and begging us for the favor ⁵ of sharing in this service to the saints ·and, what was quite unexpected, they offered their own selves first to God and, under God, to us.

⁶ Because of this, we have asked Titus, since he has already made a beginning,
⁷ to bring this work of mercy to the same point of success among you. ·You always have the most of everything—of faith, of eloquence, of understanding, of keenness for any cause, and the biggest share of our affection—so we expect ⁸ you to put the most into this work of mercy too. ·It is not an order that I am giving you; I am just testing the genuineness of your love against the keenness of ⁹ others. ·Remember how generous the Lord Jesus was: he was rich, but he ¹⁰ became poor for your sake, to make you rich out of his poverty. ·As I say, I am only making a suggestion; it is only fair to you, since you were the first, a year ¹¹ ago, not only in taking action but even in deciding to. ·So now finish the work and let the results be worthy, as far as you can afford it, of the decision you made ¹² so promptly. ·As long as the readiness is there, a man is acceptable with whatever ¹³ he can afford; never mind what is beyond his means. ·This does not mean that to give relief to others you ought to make things difficult for yourselves: it is ¹⁴ a question of balancing ·what happens to be your surplus now against their present need, and one day they may have something to spare that will supply ¹⁵ your own need. That is how we strike a balance: ·as scripture says: The man who gathered much had none too much, the man who gathered little did not go short.^a

The delegates recommended to the Corinthians

¹⁶ I thank God for putting into Titus' heart the same concern for you that I have ¹⁷ myself. ·He did what we asked him; indeed he is more concerned than ever, and ¹⁸ is visiting you on his own initiative. ·As his companion we are sending the ¹⁹ brother who is famous in all the churches for spreading the gospel. ·More than that, he happens to be the same brother who has been elected by the churches to be our companion on this errand of mercy that, for the glory of God, we have ²⁰ undertaken to satisfy our impatience to help. ·We hope that in this way there ²¹ will be no accusations made about our administering such a large fund; ·for we are trying to do right not only in the sight of God but also in the sight of men.^b ·To ²² accompany these, we are sending a third brother, of whose keenness we have often had proof in many different ways, and who is particularly keen about this, ²³ because he has great confidence in you. ·Titus, perhaps I should add, is my own colleague and fellow worker in your interests; the other two brothers, who are ²⁴ delegates of the churches, are a real glory to Christ. ·So then, in front of all the churches, give them a proof of your love, and prove to them that we are right to be proud of you.

¹ 9 There is really no need for me to write to you on the subject of offering ² your services to the saints, ·since I know how anxious you are to help; in fact, I boast about you to the Macedonians, telling them, “Achaia has been ready ³ since last year.” So your zeal has been a spur to many more. ·I am sending the brothers all the same, to make sure that our boasting about you does not prove to have been empty this time, and that you really are ready as I said you would ⁴ be. ·If some of the Macedonians who are coming with me found you unprepared, we should be humiliated—to say nothing of yourselves—after being so confident.
⁵ That is why I have thought it necessary to ask these brothers to go on to you ahead of us, and make sure in advance that the gift you promised is all ready, and that it all comes as a gift out of your generosity and not by being extorted from you.

Blessings to be expected from the collection

6 Do not forget: thin sowing means thin reaping; the more you sow, the more 7 you reap. Each one should give what he has decided in his own mind, not 8 grudgingly or because he is made to, for God loves a cheerful giver.^a And there is no limit to the blessings which God can send you—he will make sure that you will always have all you need for yourselves in every possible circumstance, and 9 still have something to spare for all sorts of good works. As scripture says: He was free in almsgiving, and gave to the poor: his gooddeeds will never be forgotten.^b 10 “The one who provides seed for the sower and bread for food will provide you with 11 all the seed you want and make the harvest of your good deeds a larger one, and, made richer in every way, you will be able to do all the generous things which, 12 through us, are the cause of thanksgiving to God. For doing this holy service is not only supplying all the needs of the saints, but it is also increasing the 13 amount of thanksgiving that God receives. By offering this service, you show them what you are, and that makes them give glory to God for the way you accept and profess the gospel of Christ, and for your sympathetic generosity to them 14 and to all. And their prayers for you, too, show how they are drawn to you on 15 account of all the grace that God has given you. Thanks be to God for his inexpressible gift!

III. PAUL'S APOLOGIA

Paul's reply to accusations of weakness

1 10 This is a personal matter; this is Paul himself appealing to you by the gentleness and patience of Christ—I, the man who is so humble when he 2 is facing you, but bullies you when he is at a distance. I only ask that I do not have to bully you when I come, with all the confident assurance I mean to show when I come face to face with people I could name who think we go by ordinary 3 human motives. We live in the flesh, of course, but the muscles that we fight 4 with are not flesh. Our war is not fought with weapons of flesh, yet they are strong enough, in God's cause, to demolish fortresses. We demolish sophistries, 5 and the arrogance that tries to resist the knowledge of God; every thought is our prisoner, captured to be brought into obedience to Christ. Once you have given your complete obedience, we are prepared to punish any disobedience.
 7 Face plain facts. Anybody who is convinced that he belongs to Christ must 8 go on to reflect that we all belong to Christ no less than he does. Maybe I do boast rather too much about our authority, but the Lord gave it to me for building 9 you up and not for pulling you down, and I shall not be ashamed of it. I do not 10 want you to think of me as someone who only frightens you by letter. Someone said, “He writes powerful and strongly worded letters but when he is with you 11 you see only half a man and no preacher at all.” The man who said that can remember this: whatever we are like in the words of our letters when we are absent, that is what we shall be like in our actions when we are present.

His reply to the accusation of ambition

12 We are not being so bold as to rank ourselves, or invite comparison, with certain people who write their own references. Measuring themselves against themselves, and comparing themselves to themselves, they are simply foolish.
 13 We, on the other hand, are not going to boast without a standard to measure against: taking for our measure the yardstick which God gave us to measure 14 with, which is long enough to reach to you. We are not stretching further than we ought; otherwise we should not have reached you, as we did come all the 15 way to you with the gospel of Christ. So we are not boasting without any measure, about work that was done by other people; in fact, we trust that, as your faith 16 grows, we shall get taller and taller, when judged by our own standard. I mean, we shall be carrying the gospel to places far beyond you, without encroaching on anyone else's field, not boasting of the work already done. If anyone wants to boast, let him boast of the Lord.^a It is not the man who commends himself that can be accepted, but the man who is commended by the Lord.

Paul is driven to sound his own praises

1 I only wish you were able to tolerate a little foolishness from me. But of course: you are tolerant toward me. You see, the jealousy that I feel for you is God's own jealousy: I arranged for you to marry Christ so that I might give you away as a chaste virgin to this one husband. But the serpent, with his cunning, seduced Eve, and I am afraid that in the same way your ideas may get corrupted and turned away from simple devotion to Christ. Because any newcomer has only to proclaim a new Jesus, different from the one that we preached, or you have only to receive a new spirit, different from the one you have already received, or a new gospel, different from the one you have already accepted—and you welcome it with open arms: As far as I can tell, these archapostles have nothing more than I have. I may not be a polished speechmaker, but as for knowledge, that is a different matter; surely we have made this plain, speaking on every subject in front of all of you.

Or was I wrong, lowering myself so as to lift you high, by preaching the gospel of God to you and taking no fee for it? I was robbing other churches, living on them so that I could serve you. When I was with you and ran out of money, I was no burden to anyone; the brothers who came from Macedonia provided me with everything I wanted. I was very careful, and I always shall be, not to be a burden to you in any way, and by Christ's truth in me, this cause of boasting will never be taken from me in the regions of Achaia. Would I do that if I did not love you? God knows I do. I intend to go on doing what I am doing now—leaving no opportunity for those people who are looking for an opportunity to claim equality with us in what they boast of. These people are counterfeit apostles, they are dishonest workmen disguised as apostles of Christ. There is nothing unexpected about that; if Satan himself goes disguised as an angel of light, there is no need to be surprised when his servants, too, disguise themselves as the servants of righteousness. They will come to the end that they deserve.

As I said before, let no one take me for a fool; but if you must, then treat me as a fool and let me do a little boasting of my own. What I am going to say now is not prompted by the Lord, but said as if in a fit of folly, in the certainty that I have something to boast about. So many others have been boasting of their worldly achievements, that I will boast myself. You are all wise men and can cheerfully tolerate fools, yes, even to tolerating somebody who makes slaves of you, makes you feed him, imposes on you, orders you about and slaps you in the face. I hope you are ashamed of us for being weak with you instead!

But if anyone wants some brazen speaking—I am still talking as a fool—then I can be as brazen as any of them, and about the same things. Hebrews, are they? So am I. Israelites? So am I. Descendants of Abraham? So am I. The servants of Christ? I must be mad to say this, but so am I, and more than they: more, because I have worked harder, I have been sent to prison more often, and whipped so many times more, often almost to death. Five times I had the thirty-nine lashes from the Jews; three times I have been beaten with sticks; once I was stoned; three times I have been shipwrecked and once adrift in the open sea for a night and a day. Constantly traveling, I have been in danger from rivers and in danger from brigands, in danger from my own people and in danger from pagans; in danger in the towns, in danger in the open country, danger at sea and danger from so-called brothers. I have worked and labored, often without sleep; I have been hungry and thirsty and often starving; I have been in the cold

28 without clothes. •And, to leave out much more, there is my daily preoccupation:
29 my anxiety for all the churches. •When any man has had scruples, I have had scruples with him; when any man is made to fall, I am tortured.

30 If I am to boast, then let me boast of my own feebleness. •The God and Father of 31 the Lord Jesus—bless him for ever—knows that I am not lying. •When I was 32 in Damascus, the ethnarch of King Aretas put guards around the city to catch me, •and I had to be let down over the wall in a hamper, through a window, in 33 order to escape.

1 12 Must I go on boasting, though there is nothing to be gained by it? But I will move on to the visions and revelations I have had from the Lord.
2 I know a man in Christ who, fourteen years ago, was caught up—whether still in the body or out of the body, I do not know; God knows—right into the third 3 heaven.^a •I do know, however, that this same person—whether in the body or 4 out of the body, I do not know; God knows—was caught up into paradise and 5 heard things which must not and cannot be put into human language. •I will boast about a man like that, but not about anything of my own except my weak-6 nesses. •If I should decide to boast, I should not be made to look foolish, because I should only be speaking the truth; but I am not going to, in case anyone should begin to think I am better than he can actually see and hear me to be.

7 In view of the extraordinary nature of these revelations, to stop me from getting too proud I was given a thorn in the flesh, an angel of Satan to beat me 8 and stop me from getting too proud! •About this thing, I have pleaded with the 9 Lord three times for it to leave me, •but he has said, “My grace is enough for you: my power is at its best in weakness.” So I shall be very happy to make my 10 weaknesses my special boast so that the power of Christ may stay over me, •and that is why I am quite content with my weaknesses, and with insults, hardships, persecutions, and the agonies I go through for Christ’s sake. For it is when I am weak that I am strong.

11 I have been talking like a fool, but you forced me to do it: you are the ones who should have been commending me. Though I am a nobody, there is not 12 a thing these archapostles have that I do not have as well. •You have seen done among you all the things that mark the true apostle, unfailingly produced: the 13 signs, the marvels, the miracles. •Is there anything of which you have had less than the other churches have had, except that I have not myself been a burden on 14 you? For this unfairness, please forgive me. •I am all prepared now to come to you for the third time, and I am not going to be a burden on you: it is you I want, not your possessions. Children are not expected to save up for their parents, but 15 parents for children. •I am perfectly willing to spend what I have, and to be expended, in the interests of your souls. Because I love you more, must I be loved the less?

16 All very well, you say: I personally put no pressure on you, but like the cunning
17 fellow that I am, I took you in by a trick. •So we exploited you, did we, through 18 one of the men that I have sent to you? •Well, Titus went at my urging, and I sent the brother that came with him. Can Titus have exploited you? You know that he and I have always been guided by the same spirit and trodden in the same tracks.

Paul’s fears and anxieties

19 All this time you have been thinking that our defense is addressed to you, but it is before God that we, in Christ, are speaking; and it is all, my dear 20 brothers, for your benefit. •What I am afraid of is that when I come I may find you different from what I want you to be, and you may find that I am not as you would like me to be; and then there will be wrangling, jealousy, and tempers 21 roused, intrigues and backbiting and gossip, obstinacies and disorder. •I am afraid that on my next visit, my God may make me ashamed on your account and I shall be grieving over all those who sinned before and have still not repented of the impurities, fornication and debauchery they committed.

- 1 13 This will be the third time I have come to you. The evidence of three, or at 2 least two, witnesses is necessary to sustain the charge.^a ·I gave warning when I was with you the second time and I give warning now, too, before I come, to those who sinned before and to any others, that when I come again, I shall have 3 no mercy. ·You want proof, you say, that it is Christ speaking in me: you have 4 known him not as a weakling, but as a power among you? ·Yes, but he was crucified through weakness, and still he lives now through the power of God.
 So then, we are weak, as he was, but we shall live with him, through the power of God, for your benefit.
- 5 Examine yourselves to make sure you are in the faith; test yourselves. Do you acknowledge that Jesus Christ is really in you? If not, you have failed the 6 test, ·but we, as I hope you will come to see, have not failed it. ·We pray to God
 7 that you will do nothing wrong: not that we want to appear as the ones who have 8 been successful—we would rather that you did well even though we failed. ·We 9 have no power to resist the truth; only to further it. ·We are only too glad to be weak provided you are strong. What we ask in our prayers is for you to be made 10 perfect. ·That is why I am writing this from a distance, so that when I am with you I shall not need to be strict, with the authority which the Lord gave me for building up and not for destroying.

CONCLUSION

Recommendations. Greetings. Final good wishes

- 11 In the meantime, brothers, we wish you happiness; try to grow perfect; help one another. Be united; live in peace, and the God of love and peace will be with you.
- 12 Greet one another with the holy kiss. All the saints send you greetings.
- 13 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with you all.

GALATIANS

THE LETTER OF PAUL TO THE CHURCH IN GALATIA

Address

¹ I From Paul to the churches of Galatia, and from all the brothers who are here
² with me, an apostle who does not owe his authority to men or his appointment to any human being but who has been appointed by Jesus Christ and by God the ³ Father who raised Jesus from the dead. ·We wish you the grace and peace of ⁴ God our Father and of the Lord Jesus Christ, ·who in order to rescue us from this present wicked world sacrificed himself for our sins, in accordance with ⁵ the will of God our Father, ·to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

A warning

⁶ I am astonished at the promptness with which you have turned away from the one who called you and have decided to follow a different version of the Good ⁷ News. ·Not that there can be more than one Good News; it is merely that some ⁸ troublemakers among you want to change the Good News of Christ; ·and let me warn you that if anyone preaches a version of the Good News different from the one we have already preached to you, whether it be ourselves or an angel ⁹ from heaven, he is to be condemned. ·I am only repeating what we told you before: if anyone preaches a version of the Good News different from the one ¹⁰ you have already heard, he is to be condemned. ·So now whom am I trying to please—man, or God? Would you say it is men's approval I am looking for?^a If I still wanted that, I should not be what I am—a servant of Christ.

I. PAUL'S APOLOGIA

God's call

¹¹ The fact is, brothers, and I want you to realize this, the Good News I
¹² preached is not a human message ·that I was given by men, it is something ¹³ I learned only through a revelation of Jesus Christ. ·You must have heard of my career as a practicing Jew, how merciless I was in persecuting the Church of ¹⁴ God, how much damage I did to it, ·how I stood out among other Jews of my generation, and how enthusiastic I was for the traditions of my ancestors.

¹⁵ Then God, who had specially chosen me while I was still in my mother's ¹⁶ womb,^b called me through his grace and chose ·to reveal his Son in me, so that I might preach the Good News about him to the pagans. I did not stop to discuss ¹⁷ this with any human being, ·nor did I go up to Jerusalem to see those who were already apostles before me, but I went off to Arabia^c at once and later went ¹⁸ straight back from there to Damascus. ·Even when after three years I went up
¹⁹ to Jerusalem to visit Cephas and stayed with him for fifteen days, ·I did not see ²⁰ any of the other apostles; I only saw James, the brother of the Lord, ·and I

21 swear before God that what I have just written is the literal truth. •After that 22 I went to Syria and Cilicia, •and was still not known by sight to the churches of 23 Christ in Judaea, •who had heard nothing except that their onetime persecutor 24 was now preaching the faith he had previously tried to destroy; •and they gave glory to God for me.

The meeting at Jerusalem

1 2 It was not till fourteen years had passed that I went up to Jerusalem again.
 2 I went with Barnabas and took Titus with me. •I went there as the result of a revelation, and privately I laid before the leading men the Good News as I proclaim it among the pagans; I did so for fear the course I was adopting or had 3 already adopted would not be allowed. •And what happened? Even though Titus 4 who had come with me is a Greek, he was not obliged to be circumcised. •The question came up only because some who do not really belong to the brotherhood have furtively crept in to spy on the liberty we enjoy in Christ Jesus, and want 5 to reduce us all to slavery. •I was so determined to safeguard for you the true meaning of the Good News, that I refused even out of deference to yield to 6 such people for one moment. •As a result, these people who are acknowledged leaders—not that their importance matters to me, since God has no favorites—7 these leaders, as I say, had nothing to add to the Good News as I preach it. •On the contrary, they recognized that I had been commissioned to preach the Good News to the uncircumcised just as Peter had been commissioned to preach it to 8 the circumcised. •The same person whose action had made Peter the apostle of 9 the circumcised had given me a similar mission to the pagans. •So, James, Cephas and John, these leaders, these pillars, shook hands with Barnabas and me as a sign of partnership: we were to go to the pagans and they to the 10 circumcised.^a •The only thing they insisted on was that we should remember to help the poor, as indeed I was anxious to do.

Peter and Paul at Antioch

11 When Cephas came to Antioch, however, I opposed him to his face, since 12 he was manifestly in the wrong. •His custom had been to eat with the pagans,^b but after certain friends of James arrived he stopped doing this and kept away 13 from them altogether for fear of the group that insisted on circumcision. •The other Jews joined him in this pretense, and even Barnabas felt himself obliged to copy their behavior.
 14 When I saw they were not respecting the true meaning of the Good News,
 I said to Cephas in front of everyone, “In spite of being a Jew, you live like the pagans and not like the Jews, so you have no right to make the pagans copy Jewish ways.”

The Good News as proclaimed by Paul

15 16 Though we were born Jews and not pagan sinners, •we acknowledge that what makes a man righteous is not obedience to the Law, but faith in Jesus Christ. We had to become believers in Christ Jesus no less than you had, and now we hold that faith in Christ rather than fidelity to the Law is what justifies 17 us, and that no one can be justified^c by keeping the Law. •Now if we were to admit that the result of looking to Christ to justify us is to make us sinners like the rest, it would follow that Christ had induced us to sin, which would be 18 absurd. •If I were to return to a position I had already abandoned, I should be 19 admitting I had done something wrong. •In other words, through the Law I am

1 a. Probably a rejoinder to an accusation by the Judaizers that Paul was trying to make the pagans' conversion easy by not insisting on circumcision. b. Is. 49:1 c. Probably the kingdom of the Nabataean Arabs, to the south of Damascus.

2 a. The distinction is geographical rather than racial; when Paul went among the Gentiles the resident Jews were his first concern. b. Converts from paganism. c. Ps. 143:2

dead to the Law, so that now I can live for God. I have been crucified with 20 Christ, and I live now not with my own life but with the life of Christ who lives in me. The life I now live in this body I live in faith: faith in the Son of 21 God who loved me and who sacrificed himself for my sake. I cannot bring myself to give up God's gift: if the Law can justify us, there is no point in the death of Christ.

II. DOCTRINAL MATTERS

Justification by faith

1 3 Are you people in Galatia mad? Has someone put a spell on you, in spite of the plain explanation you have had of the crucifixion of Jesus Christ?
 2 Let me ask you one question: was it because you practiced the Law that you
 3 received the Spirit, or because you believed what was preached to you? Are you foolish enough to end in outward observances what you began in the Spirit?
 4 Have all the favors you received been wasted? And if this were so, they would 5 most certainly have been wasted. Does God give you the Spirit so freely and work miracles among you because you practice the Law, or because you believed what was preached to you?

6 Take Abraham for example: he out his faith in God, and this faith was 7 considered as justifying him.^a Don't you see that it is those who rely on faith who 8 are the sons of Abraham? Scripture foresaw that God was going to use faith to justify the pagans, and proclaimed the Good News long ago when Abraham 9 was told: In you all the pagans will be blessed.^b Those therefore who rely on faith receive the same blessing as Abraham, the man of faith.

The curse brought by the Law

10 On the other hand, those who rely on the keeping of the Law are under a curse, since scripture says: Cursed be everyone who does not persevere in observing 11 everything prescribed in the book of the Law.^c The Law will not justify anyone in the sight of God, because we are told: the righteous man finds life through faith.^d 12 The Law is not even based on faith, since we are told: The man who practices
 13 these precepts finds life through practicing them.^e Christ redeemed us from the curse of the Law by being cursed for our sake, since scripture says: Cursed be 14 everyone who is hanged on a tree! This was done so that in Christ Jesus the blessing of Abraham might include the pagans, and so that through faith we might receive the promised Spirit.

The Law did not cancel the promise

15 Compare this, brothers, with what happens in ordinary life. If a will has 16 been drawn up in due form, no one is allowed to disregard it or add to it. Now the promises were addressed to Abraham and to his descendants—notice, in passing, that scripture does not use a plural word as if there were several 17 descendants, it uses the singular: to his posterity, which is Christ. But my point is this: once God had expressed his will in due form, no law that came four hundred and thirty years later could cancel that and make the promise 18 meaningless. If you inherit something as a legal right, it does not come to you as the result of a promise, and it was precisely in the form of a promise that God made his gift to Abraham.

The purpose of the Law

19 What then was the purpose of adding the Law? This was done to specify crimes, until the posterity came to whom the promise was addressed. The Law 20 was promulgated by angels,^g assisted by an intermediary. Now there can only 21 be an intermediary between two parties, yet God is one. Does this mean that there is opposition between the Law and the promises of God? Of course not.

We could have been justified by the Law if the Law we were given had been capable of giving life, but it is not: scripture makes no exceptions when it says that sin is master everywhere. In this way the promise can only be given through faith in Jesus Christ and can only be given to those who have this faith.

The coming of faith

Before faith came, we were allowed no freedom by the Law; we were being looked after till faith was revealed. The Law was to be our guardian until the Christ came and we could be justified by faith. Now that that time has come we are no longer under that guardian, and you are, all of you, sons of God through faith in Christ Jesus. All baptized in Christ, you have all clothed yourselves in Christ, and there are no more distinctions between Jew and Greek, slave and free, male and female, but all of you are one in Christ Jesus. Merely by belonging to Christ you are the posterity of Abraham, the heirs he was promised.

Sons of God

Let me put this another way: an heir, even if he has actually inherited everything, is no different from a slave for as long as he remains a child. He is under the control of guardians and administrators until he reaches the age fixed by his father. Now before we came of age we were as good as slaves to the elemental principles of this world,^a but when the appointed time came, God sent his Son, born of a woman, born a subject of the Law, to redeem the subjects of the Law and to enable us to be adopted as sons. The proof that you are sons is that God has sent the Spirit of his Son into our hearts: the Spirit that cries, "Abba, Father," and it is this that makes you a son, you are not a slave any more; and if God has made you son, then he has made you heir. Once you were ignorant of God, and enslaved to "gods" who are not really gods at all; but now that you have come to acknowledge God—or rather, now that God has acknowledged you—how can you want to go back to elemental things like these, that can do nothing and give nothing, and be their slaves? You and your special days and months and seasons and years! You make me feel I have wasted my time with you.

A personal appeal

Brothers, all I ask is that you should copy me as I copied you. You have never treated me in an unfriendly way before; even at the beginning, when that illness gave me the opportunity to preach the Good News to you, you never showed the least sign of being revolted or disgusted by my disease that was such a trial to you; instead you welcomed me as an angel of God, as if I were Christ Jesus himself. What has become of this enthusiasm you had? I swear that you would even have gone so far as to pluck out your eyes and give them to me. Is it telling you the truth that has made me your enemy? The blame lies in the way they have tried to win you over: by separating you from me, they want to win you over to themselves. It is always a good thing to win people over—and I do not have to be there with you—but it must be for a good purpose, my children! I must go through the pain of giving birth to you all over again, until Christ is formed in you. I wish I were with you now so that I could know exactly what to say; as it is, I have no idea what to do for the best.

The two covenants: Hagar and Sarah

You want to be subject to the Law? Then listen to what the Law says. It says, if you remember, that Abraham had two sons, one by the slave girl, and one

3 a. Gn. 15:6 b. Gn. 12:3 c. Dt. 27:26 d. Hab. 2:4 e. Lv. 18:5 f. Dt. 21:23 g. In Jewish tradition angels were present at Sinai; the "intermediary" is Moses.

4 a. The principles that make up the physical universe; Paul has related the Law to "outward observances," 3:3.

23 by his freeborn wife. The child of the slave girl was born in the ordinary way; 24 the child of the free woman was born as the result of a promise. This can be regarded as an allegory: the women stand for the two covenants. The first who 25 comes from Mount Sinai, and whose children are slaves, is Hagar—since Sinai is in Arabia—and she corresponds to the present Jerusalem that is a slave like 26 her children. The Jerusalem above, however, is free and is our mother, since 27 scripture says: Shout for joy, you barren women who bore no children! Break into shouts of joy and gladness, you who were never in labor. For there are more sons of 28 the forsaken one than sons of the wedded wife.^b Now you, my brothers, like Isaac, 29 are children of the promise, and as at that time the child born in the ordinary 30 way persecuted the child born in the Spirit's way, so also now. Does not scripture say: Drive away that slave girl and her son; this slave girl's son is not to 31 share the inheritance with the son^c of the free woman? So, my brothers, we are the children, not of the slave girl, but of the freeborn wife.

III. EXHORTATION

Christian liberty

1 S When Christ freed us, he meant us to remain free. Stand firm, therefore,
 2 and do not submit again to the yoke of slavery. It is I, Paul, who tell you this: if you allow yourselves to be circumcised, Christ will be of no benefit to 3 you at all. With all solemnity I repeat my warning: Everyone who accepts 4 circumcision is obliged to keep the whole Law. But if you do look to the Law to make you justified, then you have separated yourselves from Christ, and have 5 fallen from grace. Christians are told by the Spirit to look to faith for those 6 rewards that righteousness hopes for, since in Christ Jesus whether you are circumcised or not makes no difference—what matters is faith that makes its power felt through love.

7 You began your race well: who made you less anxious to obey the truth?
 8 You were not prompted by him who called you! The yeast seems to be spreading 9 through the whole batch of you. I feel sure that, united in the Lord, you will 10 agree with me, and anybody who troubles you in future will be condemned, 11 no matter who he is. As for me, my brothers, if I still preach circumcision,^a why am I still persecuted? If I did that now, would there be any scandal of the 12 cross? Tell those who are disturbing you I would like to see the knife slip.

Liberty and charity

13 My brothers, you were called, as you know, to liberty; but be careful, or this liberty will provide an opening for self-indulgence. Serve one another, rather, in 14 works of love, since the whole of the Law is summarized in a single command:
 15 Love your neighbor as yourself.^b If you go snapping at each other and tearing each other to pieces, you had better watch or you will destroy the whole community.

16 Let me put it like this: if you are guided by the Spirit you will be in no danger
 17 of yielding to self-indulgence, since self-indulgence is the opposite of the Spirit, the Spirit is totally against such a thing, and it is precisely because the two are 18 so opposed that you do not always carry out your good intentions. If you are 19 led by the Spirit, no law can touch you. When self-indulgence is at work the results are obvious: fornication, gross indecency and sexual irresponsibility; 20 idolatry and sorcery; feuds and wrangling, jealousy, bad temper and quarrels;
 21 disagreements, factions, envy; drunkenness, orgies and similar things. I warn you now, as I warned you before: those who behave like this will not inherit the 22 kingdom of God. What the Spirit brings is very different: love, joy, peace, 23 patience, kindness, goodness, trustfulness, gentleness and self-control. There

²⁴ can be no law against things like that, of course. •You cannot belong to Christ Jesus unless you crucify all self-indulgent passions and desires.

²⁵
²⁶ Since the Spirit is our life, let us be directed by the Spirit. •We must stop being conceited, provocative and envious.

On kindness and perseverance

¹ 6 Brothers, if one of you misbehaves, the more spiritual of you who set him right should do so in a spirit of gentleness, not forgetting that you may be ² tempted yourselves. •You should carry each other's troubles and fulfill the ³ law of Christ. •It is the people who are not important who often make the ⁴ mistake of thinking that they are. •Let each of you examine his own conduct; if you find anything to boast about, it will at least be something of your own, not ⁵ just something better than your neighbor has. •Everyone has his own burden to carry.

⁶ People under instruction should always contribute something to the support of the man who is instructing them.

⁷ Don't delude yourself into thinking God can be cheated: where a man sows, ⁸ there he reaps: •if he sows in the field of self-indulgence he will get a harvest of corruption out of it; if he sows in the field of the Spirit he will get from it a
⁹ harvest of eternal life. •We must never get tired of doing good because if we ¹⁰ don't give up the struggle we shall get our harvest at the proper time. •While we have the chance, we must do good to all, and especially to our brothers in the faith.

Epilogue

¹¹ Take good note of what I am adding in my own handwriting and in large ¹² letters. •It is only self-interest that makes them want to force circumcision on ¹³ you—they want to escape persecution for the cross of Christ—they accept circumcision but do not keep the Law themselves; they only want you to be ¹⁴ circumcised so that they can boast of the fact. •As for me, the only thing I can boast about is the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom the world is ¹⁵ crucified to me, and I to the world. •It does not matter if a person is circumcised
¹⁶ or not; what matters is for him to become an altogether new creature. •Peace and mercy to all who follow this rule, who form the Israel of God.

¹⁷ I want no more trouble from anybody after this; the marks on my body are ¹⁸ those of Jesus. •The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, my brothers. Amen.

EPHESIANS

THE LETTER OF PAUL TO THE CHURCH AT EPHESUS

Address and Greetings

¹ 1 From Paul, appointed by God to be an apostle of Christ Jesus, to the saints
² who are faithful to Christ Jesus: ·Grace and peace to you from God our Father and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

I. THE MYSTERY OF SALVATION AND OF THE CHURCH

God's plan of salvation

³ Blessed be God the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us with all the spiritual blessings of heaven in Christ.
⁴ Before the world was made, he chose us, chose us in Christ, to be holy and spotless, and to live through love in his presence, ⁵ determining that we should become his adopted sons, through Jesus Christ
for his own kind purposes,
⁶ to make us praise the glory of his grace,
his free gift to us in the Beloved,
⁷ in whom, through his blood, we gain our freedom, the forgiveness of our sins.
Such is the richness of the grace
⁸ which he has showered on us
in all wisdom and insight.
⁹ He has let us know the mystery of his purpose, the hidden plan he so kindly made in Christ from the beginning ¹⁰ to act upon when the times had run their course to the end:
that he would bring everything together under Christ, as head,
everything in the heavens and everything on earth.
¹¹ And it is in him that we were claimed as God's own, chosen from the beginning,
under the predetermined plan of the one who guides all things as he decides by his own will;
¹² chosen to be,
for his greater glory,
the people who would put their hopes in Christ before he came.
¹³ Now you too, in him, have heard the message of the truth and the good news of your salvation,
and have believed it;

and you too have been stamped with the seal of the Holy Spirit of the Promise, 14 the pledge of our inheritance which brings freedom for those whom God has taken for his own,
 to make his glory praised.

The triumph and the supremacy of Christ

15 That will explain why I, having once heard about your faith in the Lord Jesus, 16 and the love that you show toward all the saints, have never failed to remember 17 you in my prayers and to thank God for you. May the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, give you a spirit of wisdom and perception 18 of what is revealed, to bring you to full knowledge of him. May he enlighten the eyes of your mind so that you can see what hope his call holds for you, what 19 rich glories he has promised the saints will inherit and how infinitely great is the power that he has exercised for us believers. This you can tell from the strength 20 of his power at work in Christ, when he used it to raise him from the dead and 21 to make him sit at his right hand, in heaven, far above every Sovereignty, Authority, Power, or Domination,^a or any other name that can be named, not 22 only in this age but also in the age to come. He has put all things under his feet,^b
 23 and made him, as the ruler of everything, the head of the Church; which is his body, the fullness of him who fills the whole creation.

Salvation in Christ a free gift

1 2 And you were dead, through the crimes and the sins in which you used to live when you were following the way of this world, obeying the ruler who governs 3 the air,^a the spirit who is at work in the rebellious. We all were among them too in the past, living sensual lives, ruled entirely by our own physical desires and our own ideas; so that by nature we were as much under God's anger as the 4 rest of the world. But God loved us with so much love that he was generous 5 with his mercy: when we were dead through our sins, he brought us to life
 6 with Christ—it is through grace that you have been saved—and raised us up with him and gave us a place with him in heaven, in Christ Jesus.
 7 This was to show for all ages to come, through his goodness toward us in 8 Christ Jesus, how infinitely rich he is in grace. Because it is by grace that you have been saved, through faith; not by anything of your own, but by a gift from 9 God; not by anything that you have done, so that nobody can claim the credit.
 10 We are God's work of art, created in Christ Jesus to live the good life as from the beginning he had meant us to live it.

Reconciliation of the Jews and the pagans with each other and with God

11 Do not forget, then, that there was a time when you who were pagans physically, termed the Uncircumcised by those who speak of themselves as the 12 Circumcision by reason of a physical operation, do not forget, I say, that you had no Christ and were excluded from membership of Israel, aliens with no part in the covenants with their Promise; you were immersed in this world, 13 without hope and without God. But now in Christ Jesus, you that used to be so far apart from us have been brought very close, by the blood of Christ.
 14 For he is the peace between us, and has made the two into one and broken down the barrier which used to keep them apart, actually destroying in his 15 own person the hostility caused by the rules and decrees of the Law. This was to create one single New Man in himself out of the two of them and by 16 restoring peace through the cross, to unite them both in a single Body and 17 reconcile them with God. In his own person he killed the hostility. Later he came to bring the good news of peace, peace to you who were far away and peace

2 a. Satan.

18 to those who were near at hand.^b Through him, both of us have in the one Spirit our way to come to the Father.

19 So you are no longer aliens or foreign visitors: you are citizens like all the saints, and part of God's household. You are part of a building that has the apostles and prophets^c for its foundations, and Christ Jesus himself for its main cornerstone. As every structure is aligned on him, all grow into one holy temple in the Lord; and you too, in him, are being built into a house where God lives, in the Spirit.

Paul, a servant of the mystery

1 3 So I, Paul, a prisoner of Christ Jesus for the sake of you pagans . . . You have probably heard how I have been entrusted by God with the grace he meant for you, and that it was by a revelation that I was given the knowledge of the mystery, as I have just described it very shortly. If you read my words, you will have some idea of the depths that I see in the mystery of Christ. This mystery that has now been revealed through the Spirit to his holy apostles and prophets was unknown to any men in past generations; it means that pagans now share the same inheritance, that they are parts of the same body, and that the same promise has been made to them; in Christ Jesus, through the gospel. I have been made the servant of that gospel by a gift of grace from God who gave it to me by his own power. I, who am less than the least of all the saints, have been entrusted with this special grace, not only of proclaiming to the pagans the infinite treasure of Christ but also of explaining how the mystery is to be dispensed. Through all the ages, this has been kept hidden in God, the creator of everything. Why? So that the Sovereignities and Powers should learn only now, through the Church, how comprehensive God's wisdom really is, exactly according to the plan which he had had from all eternity in Christ Jesus our Lord. This is why we are bold enough to approach God in complete confidence, through our faith in him; so, I beg you, never lose confidence just because of the trials that I go through on your account: they are your glory.

Paul's prayer

14 This, then, is what I pray, kneeling before the Father, from whom every family,^a whether spiritual or natural, takes its name:

16 Out of his infinite glory, may he give you the power through his Spirit for your hidden self to grow strong, so that Christ may live in your hearts through faith, and then, planted in love and built on love, you will with all the saints have strength to grasp the breadth and the length, the height and the depth; until, knowing the love of Christ, which is beyond all knowledge, you are filled with the utter fullness of God.

20 Glory be to him whose power, working in us, can do infinitely more than we can ask or imagine; glory be to him from generation to generation in the Church and in Christ Jesus for ever and ever. Amen.

II. EXHORTATION

A call to unity

1 4 I, the prisoner in the Lord, implore you therefore to lead a life worthy of your vocation. Bear with one another charitably, in complete selflessness, gentleness and patience. Do all you can to preserve the unity of the Spirit by the peace that binds you together. There is one Body, one Spirit, just as you were all called into one and the same hope when you were called. There is one Lord, one faith, one baptism, and one God who is Father of all, over all, through all and within all.

7 Each one of us, however, has been given his own share of grace, given as Christ allotted it. It was said that he would:

*When he ascended to the height, he captured prisoners,
he gave gifts to men.^a*

9 When it says, "he ascended," what can it mean if not that he descended right 10 down to the lower regions of the earth? •The one who rose higher than all the 11 heavens to fill all things is none other than the one who descended. •And to 12 some, his gift was that they should be apostles; to some, prophets; to some,
13 evangelists; to some, pastors and teachers; •so that the saints together make 14 a unity in the work of service, building up the body of Christ. •In this way we 15 are all to come to unity in our faith and in our knowledge of the Son of God, until 16 we become the perfect Man, fully mature with the fullness of Christ himself.

17 Then we shall not be children any longer, or tossed one way and another and 18 carried along by every wind of doctrine, at the mercy of all the tricks men play 19 and their cleverness in practicing deceit. •If we live by the truth and in love, we 20 shall grow in all ways into Christ, who is the head •by whom the whole body
21 is fitted and joined together, every joint adding its own strength, for each 22 separate part to work according to its function. So the body grows until it has 23 built itself up, in love.

The new life in Christ

24 In particular, I want to urge you in the name of the Lord, not to go on living 25 the aimless kind of life that pagans live. •Intellectually they are in the dark, 26 and they are estranged from the life of God, without knowledge because they 27 have shut their hearts to it. •Their sense of right and wrong once dulled, they 28 have abandoned themselves to sexuality and eagerly pursue a career of indecency 29 of every kind. •Now that is hardly the way you have learned from Christ, •unless 30 you failed to hear him properly when you were taught what the truth is in Jesus.
31 You must give up your old way of life; you must put aside your old self, which 32 gets corrupted by following illusory desires. •Your mind must be renewed by a 33 spiritual revolution •so that you can put on the new self that has been created in 34 God's way, in the goodness and holiness of the truth.

35 So from now on, there must be no more lies: You must speak the truth to one 36 another,^b since we are all parts of one another. •Even if you are angry, you must not 37 sin^c: never let the sun set on your anger •or else you will give the devil a foothold.
38 Anyone who was a thief must stop stealing; he should try to find some useful 39 manual work instead, and be able to do some good by helping others that are 40 in need. •Guard against foul talk; let your words be for the improvement of 41 others, as occasion offers, and do good to your listeners, •otherwise you will 42 only be grieving the Holy Spirit of God who has marked you with his seal for 43 you to be set free when the day comes. •Never have grudges against others, or 44 lose your temper, or raise your voice to anybody, or call each other names, 45 or allow any sort of spitefulness. •Be friends with one another, and kind, 46 forgiving each other as readily as God forgave you in Christ.

1 5 Try, then, to imitate God, as children of his that he loves, •and follow Christ
2 by loving as he loved you, giving himself up in our place *as a fragrant offering 3 and a sacrifice to God.^a •Among you there must be not even a mention of 4 fornication or impurity in any of its forms, or promiscuity: this would 5 hardly become the saints! •There must be no coarseness or salacious talk and 6 jokes—all this is wrong for you; raise your voices in thanksgiving instead. •For 7 you can be quite certain that nobody who actually indulges in fornication
8 or impurity or promiscuity—which is worshiping a false god—can inherit 9 anything of the kingdom of God. •Do not let anyone deceive you with empty* arguments: it is for this loose living that God's anger comes down on those who rebel against him. ·Make sure that you are not included with them. ·You were darkness once, but now you are light in the Lord; be like children of light, ·for the effects of the light are seen in complete goodness and right living and truth. Try to discover what the Lord wants of you, ·having nothing to do with the futile works of darkness but exposing them by contrast. ·The things which are done in secret are things that people are ashamed even to speak of; ·but anything exposed by the light will be illuminated ·and anything illuminated turns into light. That is why it is said^b:

Wake up from your sleep,
rise from the dead,
and Christ will shine on you.

So be very careful about the sort of lives you lead, like intelligent and not like senseless people. ·This may be a wicked age, but your lives should redeem it. And do not be thoughtless but recognize what is the will of the Lord. ·Do not drug yourselves with wine; this is simply dissipation; be filled with the Spirit. Sing the words and tunes of the psalms and hymns when you are together, and go on singing and chanting to the Lord in your hearts, ·so that always and everywhere you are giving thanks to God who is our Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

The morals of the home

Give way to one another in obedience to Christ. ·Wives should regard their husbands as they regard the Lord, ·since as Christ is head of the Church and saves the whole body, so is a husband the head of his wife; ·and as the Church submits to Christ, so should wives to their husbands, in everything. ·Husbands should love their wives just as Christ loved the Church and sacrificed himself for her ·to make her holy. He made her clean by washing her in water with a form of words, ·so that when he took her to himself she would be glorious, with no speck or wrinkle or anything like that, but holy and faultless. ·In the same way, husbands must love their wives as they love their own bodies; for a man to love his wife is for him to love himself. ·A man never hates his own body, but he feeds it and looks after it; and that is the way Christ treats the Church, ·because it is his body—and we are its living parts. ·For this reason, a man must leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two will become one body.^c ·This mystery has many implications; but I am saying it applies to Christ and the Church. ·To sum up; you too, each one of you, must love his wife as he loves himself; and let every wife respect her husband.

6 Children, be obedient to your parents in the Lord—that is your duty. ·The first commandment that has a promise attached to it is: Honor your father and mother, ·and the promise is: and you will prosper and have a long life in the land.^a And parents, never drive your children to resentment but in bringing them up correct them and guide them as the Lord does.

Slaves, be obedient to the men who are called your masters in this world, with deep respect and sincere loyalty, as you are obedient to Christ: ·not only when you are under their eye, as if you had only to please men, but because you are slaves of Christ and wholeheartedly do the will of God. ·Work hard and willingly, but do it for the sake of the Lord and not for the sake of men. ·You can be sure that everyone, whether a slave or a free man, will be properly rewarded by the Lord for whatever work he has done well. ·And those of you who are employers, treat your slaves in the same spirit; do without threats, remembering that they and you have the same Master in heaven and he is not impressed by one person more than by another.

The spiritual war

10 Finally, grow strong in the Lord, with the strength of his power. •Put God's 11 armor on so as to be able to resist the devil's tactics. •For it is not against human 12 enemies that we have to struggle, but against the Sovereignities and the Powers who originate the darkness in this world, the spiritual army of evil in the heavens.
 13 That is why you must rely on God's armor, or you will not be able to put up any resistance when the worst happens, or have enough resources to hold your ground.

14 So stand your ground, with truth buckled around your waist, and integrity 15 for a breastplate,^b •wearing for shoes on your feet the eagerness to spread the 16 gospel of peace^c •and always carrying the shield of faith so that you can use it to 17 put out the burning arrows of the evil one. •And then you must accept salvation from God to be your helmet and receive the word of God from the Spirit to use as a sword.

18 Pray all the time, asking for what you need, praying in the Spirit on every possible occasion. Never get tired of staying awake to pray for all the saints; 19 and pray for me to be given an opportunity to open my mouth and speak 20 without fear and give out the mystery of the gospel •of which I am an ambassador in chains; pray that in proclaiming it I may speak as boldly as I ought to.

Personal news and final salutation

21 I should like you to know, as well, what is happening to me and what I am doing; my dear brother Tychicus, my loyal helper in the Lord, will tell you 22 everything. •I am sending him to you precisely for this purpose, to give you news about us and reassure you.

23 May God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ grant peace, love and faith to 24 all the brothers. •May grace and eternal life be with all who love our Lord Jesus Christ.

PHILIPPIANS

THE LETTER OF PAUL TO THE CHURCH AT PHILIPPI

Address

¹ 1 From Paul and Timothy, servants of Christ Jesus, to all the saints in Christ ² Jesus, together with their presiding elders and deacons. •We wish you the grace and peace of God our Father and of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thanksgiving and prayer

³ I thank my God whenever I think of you; and •every time I pray for all of you, I
⁴ pray with joy, •remembering how you have helped to spread the Good News
⁶ from the day you first heard it right up to the present. •I am quite certain that the One who began this good work in you will see that it is finished when the Day ⁷ of Christ Jesus comes. •It is only natural that I should feel like this toward you all, since you have shared the privileges which have been mine: both my chains and my work defending and establishing the gospel. You have a permanent ⁸ place in my heart, •and God knows how much I miss you all, loving you as Christ
⁹ Jesus loves you. •My prayer is that your love for each other may increase more and more and never stop improving your knowledge and deepening your ¹⁰ perception •so that you can always recognize what is best. This will help you to ¹¹ become pure and blameless, and prepare you for the Day of Christ, •when you will reach the perfect goodness which Jesus Christ produces in us for the glory and praise of God.

Paul's own circumstances

¹² I am glad to tell you, brothers, that the things that happened to me have actually been a help to the Good News.

¹³ My chains, in Christ, have become famous not only all over the Praetorium but ¹⁴ everywhere, •and most of the brothers have taken courage in the Lord from these chains of mine and are getting more and more daring in announcing the Message ¹⁵ without any fear. •It is true that some of them are doing it just out of rivalry ¹⁶ and competition, but the rest preach Christ with the right intention, •out of nothing but love, as they know that this is my invariable way of defending the ¹⁷ gospel. •The others, who proclaim Christ for jealous or selfish motives, do not ¹⁸ mind if they make my chains heavier to bear. •But does it matter? Whether from dishonest motives or in sincerity, Christ is proclaimed; and that makes me ¹⁹ happy; •and I shall continue being happy, because I know this will help to save me,^a thanks to your prayers and to the help which will be given to me by the ²⁰ Spirit of Jesus. •My one hope and trust is that I shall never have to admit defeat, but that now as always I shall have the courage for Christ to be glorified in my ²¹ body, whether by my life or by my death. •Life to me, of course, is Christ, but ²² then death would bring me something more; •but then again, if living in this body means doing work which is having good results—I do not know what I should choose. I am caught in this dilemma: I want to be gone and be with Christ, which would be very much the better, but for me to stay alive in this body is a more urgent need for your sake. This weighs with me so much that I feel sure I shall survive and stay with you all, and help you to progress in the faith and even increase your joy in it; and so you will have another reason to give praise to Christ Jesus on my account when I am with you again.

Fight for the faith

Avoid anything in your everyday lives that would be unworthy of the gospel of Christ, so that, whether I come to you and see for myself, or stay at a distance and only hear about you, I shall know that you are unanimous in meeting the attack with firm resistance, united by your love for the faith of the gospel and quite unshaken by your enemies. This would be the sure sign that they will lose and you will be saved. It would be a sign from God that he has given you the privilege not only of believing in Christ, but of suffering for him as well. You and I are together in the same fight as you saw me fighting before and, as you will have heard, I am fighting still.

Preserve unity in humility

If our life in Christ means anything to you, if love can persuade at all, or the Spirit that we have in common, or any tenderness and sympathy, then be united in your convictions and united in your love, with a common purpose and a common mind. That is the one thing which would make me completely happy. There must be no competition among you, no conceit; but everybody is to be self-effacing. Always consider the other person to be better than yourself, so that nobody thinks of his own interests first but everybody thinks of other people's interest instead. In your minds you must be the same as Christ Jesus^a:

His state was divine,
yet he did not cling
to his equality with God
but emptied himself
to assume the condition of a slave,
and became as men are;
and being as all men are,
he was humbler yet,
even to accepting death,
death on a cross.
But God raised him high and gave him the name which is above all other names
so that all beings
in the heavens, on earth and in the underworld, should bend the knee^b at the name of Jesus
and that every tongue should acclaim Jesus Christ as Lord,
to the glory of God the Father.

Work for salvation

So then, my dear friends, continue to do as I tell you, as you always have; not only as you did when I was there with you, but even more now that I am no longer there; and work for your salvation "in fear and trembling." It is God,

² a. Vv. 6–11 are a hymn, though whether composed or only quoted by Paul is uncertain.
^b Is. 45:23

for his own loving purpose, who puts both the will and the action into you.
 14 Do all that has to be done without complaining or arguing and then you will 15 be innocent and genuine, perfect children of God among a deceitful and underhand
 16 brood,^c and you will shine in the world like bright stars because you are offering it the word of life. This would give me something to be proud of for the Day of Christ, and would mean that I had not run in the race and exhausted myself 17 for nothing. And then, if my blood has to be shed as part of your own sacrifice and offering—which is your faith^d—I shall still be happy and rejoice with all of 18 you, and you must be just as happy and rejoice with me.

The mission of Timothy and Epaphroditus

19 I hope, in the Lord Jesus, to send Timothy to you soon, and I shall be 20 reassured by having news of you. I have nobody else like him here, as whole-21 heartedly concerned for your welfare: all the rest seem more interested in 22 themselves than in Jesus Christ. But you know how he has proved himself by working with me on behalf of the Good News like a son helping his father.
 23 That is why he is the one that I am hoping to send you, as soon as 24 I know something definite about my fate. But I continue to trust, in the Lord, that I shall be coming soon myself.

25 It is essential, I think, to send brother Epaphroditus back to you. He was sent as your representative to help me when I needed someone to be my companion 26 in working and battling, but he misses you all and is worried because you heard 27 about his illness. It is true that he has been ill, and almost died, but God took pity on him, and on me as well as him, and spared me what would have been one 28 grief on top of another. So I shall send him back as promptly as I can; you will 29 be happy to see him again, and that will make me less sorry. Give him a most 30 hearty welcome, in the Lord; people like him are to be honored. It was for Christ's work that he came so near to dying, and he risked his life to give me the 1 help that you were not able to give me yourselves.

3 Finally, my brothers, rejoice in the Lord.^a

The true way of Christian salvation

2 It is no trouble to me to repeat what I have already written to you, and as far 3 as you are concerned, it will make for safety. Beware of dogs! Watch out for the people who are making mischief. Watch out for the cutters.^b We are the 4 real people of the circumcision, we who worship in accordance with the Spirit of God; we have our own glory from Christ Jesus without having to rely on a physical operation. If it came to relying on physical evidence, I should be fully 5 qualified myself. Take any man who thinks he can rely on what is physical: I am even better qualified. I was born of the race of Israel and of the tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew born of Hebrew parents, and I was circumcised when I was eight days 6 old. As for the Law, I was a Pharisee; as for working for religion, I was a persecutor of the Church; as far as the Law can make you perfect, I was faultless.
 7 But because of Christ, I have come to consider all these advantages that I had 8 as disadvantages. Not only that, but I believe nothing can happen that will outweigh the supreme advantage of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord. For him I have 9 accepted the loss of everything, and I look on everything as so much rubbish if only I can have Christ and be given a place in him. I am no longer trying for perfection by my own efforts, the perfection that comes from the Law, but I want only the perfection that comes through faith in Christ, and is from God and 10 based on faith. All I want is to know Christ and the power of his resurrection 11 and to share his sufferings by reproducing the pattern of his death. That is the 12 way I can hope to take my place in the resurrection of the dead. Not that I have become perfect yet: I have not yet won, but I am still running, trying to capture 13 the prize for which Christ Jesus captured me. I can assure you my brothers, I am far from thinking that I have already won. All I can say is that I forget the 14 past and I strain ahead for what is still to come; ·I am racing for the finish, for 15 the prize to which God calls us upward to receive in Christ Jesus. ·We who are called “perfect” must all think in this way. If there is some point on which you 16 see things differently, God will make it clear to you; ·meanwhile, let us go forward on the road that has brought us to where we are.

17 My brothers, be united in following my rule of life. Take as your models everybody who is already doing this and study them as you used to study us.
 18 I have told you often, and I repeat it today with tears, there are many who are 19 behaving as the enemies of the cross of Christ. ·They are destined to be lost.
 They make foods into their god and they are proudest of something they ought 20 to think shameful; the things they think important are earthly things. ·For us, our homeland is in heaven, and from heaven comes the Savior we are waiting 21 for, the Lord Jesus Christ, ·and he will transfigure these wretched bodies of ours into copies of his glorious body. He will do that by the same power with which he can subdue the whole universe.

1 4 So then, my brothers and dear friends, do not give way but remain faithful in the Lord. I miss you very much, dear friends; you are my joy and my crown.

Last advice

2 I appeal to Evodia and I appeal to Syntyche to come to agreement with each 3 other, in the Lord; ·and I ask you, Syzygus,^a to be truly a “companion” and to help them in this. These women were a help to me when I was fighting to defend the Good News—and so, at the same time, were Clement and the others who worked with me. Their names are written in the book of life.

4 I want you to be happy, always happy in the Lord; I repeat, what I want is 5 your happiness. ·Let your tolerance be evident to everyone: the Lord is very 6 near. ·There is no need to worry; but if there is anything you need, pray for it, 7 asking God for it with prayer and thanksgiving, ·and that peace of God, which is so much greater than we can understand, will guard your hearts and your 8 thoughts, in Christ Jesus. ·Finally, brothers, fill your minds with everything that is true, everything that is noble, everything that is good and pure, everything that we love and honor, and everything that can be thought virtuous or worthy 9 of praise. ·Keep doing all the things that you learned from me and have been taught by me and have heard or seen that I do. Then the God of peace will be with you.

Thanks for help received

10 It is a great joy to me, in the Lord, that at last you have shown some concern for me again; though of course you were concerned before, and only lacked an 11 opportunity. ·I am not talking about shortage of money: I have learned to manage 12 on whatever I have, ·I know how to be poor and I know how to be rich too.
 I have been through my initiation and now I am ready for anything anywhere:
 13 full stomach or empty stomach, poverty or plenty. ·There is nothing I cannot 14 master with the help of the One who gives me strength. ·All the same, it was 15 good of you to share with me in my hardships. ·In the early days of the Good News, as you people of Philippi well know, when I left Macedonia, no other 16 church helped me with gifts of money. You were the only ones; ·and twice 17 since my stay in Thessalonika you have sent me what I needed. ·It is not your gift that I value; what is valuable to me is the interest that is mounting up in 18 your account. ·Now for the time being I have everything that I need and more:
 I am fully provided now that I have received from Epaphroditus the offering

Greetings and final wish

21 My greetings to every one of the saints in Christ Jesus. The brothers who are

COLOSSIANS

THE LETTER OF PAUL TO THE CHURCH AT COLOSSAE

PREFACE

Address

¹ I From Paul, appointed by God to be apostle of Christ Jesus, and from our ² brother Timothy to the saints in Colossae, our faithful brothers in Christ:
Grace and peace to you from God our Father.

Thanksgiving and prayer

³ We have never failed to remember you in our prayers and to give thanks for ⁴ you to God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, ever since we heard about
⁵ your faith in Christ Jesus and the love that you show toward all the saints
⁶ because of the hope which is stored up for you in heaven. It is only recently that ⁷ you heard of this, when it was announced in the message of the truth. The Good ⁸ News which has reached you is spreading all over the world and producing the ⁹ same results as it has among you ever since the day when you heard about God's ¹⁰ grace and understood what this really is. Epaphras, who taught you, is one of ¹¹ our closest fellow workers and a faithful deputy for us as Christ's servant, and ¹² it was he who told us all about your love in the Spirit.

¹³ That will explain why, ever since the day he told us, we have never failed to ¹⁴ pray for you, and what we ask God is that through perfect wisdom and spiritual ¹⁵ understanding you should reach the fullest knowledge of his will. So you will ¹⁶ be able to lead the kind of life which the Lord expects of you, a life acceptable to him in all its aspects; showing the results in all the good actions you do and increasing your knowledge of God. You will have in you the strength, based on his own glorious power, never to give in, but to bear anything joyfully, thanking the Father who has made it possible for you to join the saints and with them to inherit the light.

¹⁷ Because that is what he has done: he has taken us out of the power of darkness
¹⁸ and created a place for us in the kingdom of the Son that he loves, and in him, we gain our freedom, the forgiveness of our sins.

I. FORMAL INSTRUCTION

Christ is the head of all creation

¹⁹ He is the image of the unseen God
²⁰ and the first-born of all creation,
²¹ for in him were created

all things in heaven and on earth:
 everything visible and everything invisible, Thrones, Dominations, Sovereignties, Powers—
 all things were created through him and for him.
 17 Before anything was created, he existed,
 and he holds all things in unity.
 18 Now the Church is his body,
 he is its head.

As he is the Beginning,
 he was first to be born from the dead,
 so that he should be first in every way;
 19 because God wanted all perfection to be found in him
 20 and all things to be reconciled through him and for him, everything in heaven and everything on earth,
 when he made peace
 by his death on the cross.

The Colossians have their share in salvation

21 Not long ago, you were foreigners and enemies, in the way that you used to 22 think and the evil things that you did; but now he has reconciled you, by his death and in that mortal body. Now you are able to appear before him holy, 23 pure and blameless—as long as you persevere and stand firm on the solid base of the faith, never letting yourselves drift away from the hope promised by the Good News, which you have heard, which has been preached to the whole human race, and of which I, Paul, have become the servant.

Paul's labors in the service of the pagans

24 It makes me happy to suffer for you, as I am suffering now, and in my own body to do what I can to make up all that has still to be undergone by Christ for 25 the sake of his body, the Church. I became the servant of the Church when God 26 made me responsible for delivering God's message to you, the message which was a mystery hidden for generations and centuries and has now been revealed to 27 his saints. It was God's purpose to reveal it to them and to show all the rich glory of this mystery to pagans. The mystery is Christ among you, your hope of glory:
 28 this is the Christ we proclaim, this is the wisdom in which we thoroughly train 29 everyone and instruct everyone, to make them all perfect in Christ. It is for this I struggle wearily on, helped only by his power driving me irresistibly.

Paul's concern for the Colossians' faith

1 2 Yes, I want you to know that I do have to struggle hard for you, and for those in Laodicea, and for so many others who have never seen me face to 2 face. It is all to bind you together in love and to stir your minds, so that your understanding may come to full development, until you really know God's 3 secret in which all the jewels of wisdom and knowledge are hidden.
 4 I say this to make sure that no one deceives you with specious arguments.
 5 I may be absent in body, but in spirit I am there among you, delighted to find you all in harmony and to see how firm your faith in Christ is.

II. A WARNING AGAINST SOME ERRORS

Live according to the true faith in Christ, not according to false teaching

6 You must live your whole life according to the Christ you have received—7 Jesus the Lord; you must be rooted in him and built on him and held firm by the faith you have been taught, and full of thanksgiving.

- 8 Make sure that no one traps you and deprives you of your freedom by some secondhand, empty, rational philosophy based on the principles of this world instead of on Christ.

Christ alone is the true head of men and angels

- 9 In his body lives the fullness of divinity, and in him you too find your own fulfillment, in the one who is the head of every Sovereignty and Power.^a
- 10 In him you have been circumcised, with a circumcision not performed by human hand, but by the complete stripping of your body of flesh. This is circumcision according to Christ. You have been buried with him, when you were baptized; and by baptism, too, you have been raised up with him through your belief in the power of God who raised him from the dead. You were dead, because you were sinners and had not been circumcised: he^b has brought you to life with him, he has forgiven us all our sins.
- 14 He has overridden the Law, and canceled every record of the debt that we had to pay; he has done away with it by nailing it to the cross^c; and so he got rid of the Sovereignties and the Powers, and paraded them in public, behind him in his triumphal procession.^d

Against the false asceticism based on "the principles of this world"

- 16 From now onward, never let anyone else decide what you should eat or drink, or whether you are to observe annual festivals, New Moons or sabbaths. These were only pale reflections of what was coming: the reality is Christ. Do not be taken in by people who like groveling to angels and worshiping them; people like that are always going on about some vision they have had, inflating themselves to a false importance with their worldly outlook. A man of this sort is not united to the head, and it is the head that adds strength and holds the whole body together, with all its joints and sinews—and this is the only way in which it can reach its full growth in God.
- 20 If you have really died with Christ to the principles of this world, why do you still let rules dictate to you, as though you were still living in the world? "It is forbidden to pick up this, it is forbidden to taste that, it is forbidden to touch something else"; all these prohibitions are only concerned with things that perish by their very use—an example of human doctrines and regulations!^e
- 23 It may be argued that true wisdom is to be found in these, with their self-imposed devotions, their self-abasement, and their severe treatment of the body; but once the flesh starts to protest, they are no use at all.

Life-giving union with the glorified Christ

- 3 Since you have been brought back to true life with Christ, you must look for the things that are in heaven, where Christ is, sitting at God's right hand.
- 2 Let your thoughts be on heavenly things, not on the things that are on the earth, because you have died, and now the life you have is hidden with Christ in God.
- 4 But when Christ is revealed—and he is your life—you too will be revealed in all your glory with him.

III. EXHORTATION

General rules of Christian behavior

- 5 That is why you must kill everything in you that belongs only to earthly life: fornication, impurity, guilty passion, evil desires and especially greed, which is the same thing as worshiping a false god; all this is the sort of behavior that

2 a. I.e., over the highest orders of angels. b. God the Father. c. Destroying our death warrant. d. The tradition was that the Law was brought down to Moses by angels. e. Is. 29:13

7 makes God angry. •And it is the way in which you used to live when you were 8 surrounded by people doing the same thing, •but now you, of all people, must 9 give all these things up: getting angry, being bad-tempered, spitefulness, abusive
10 language and dirty talk; •and never tell each other lies. You have stripped off 11 your old behavior with your old self, •and you have put on a new self which will 12 progress toward true knowledge the more it is renewed in the image of its 13 creator; •and in that image there is no room for distinction between Greek 14 and Jew, between the circumcised or the uncircumcised, or between barbarian 15 and Scythian, slave and free man. There is only Christ: he is everything and he 16 is in everything.

17 You are God's chosen race, his saints; he loves you, and you should be clothed
18 in sincere compassion, in kindness and humility, gentleness and patience. •Bear 19 with one another; forgive each other as soon as a quarrel begins. The Lord has 20 forgiven you; now you must do the same. •Over all these clothes, to keep them
21 together and complete them, put on love. •And may the peace of Christ reign 22 in your hearts, because it is for this that you were called together as parts of one 23 body. Always be thankful.

24 Let the message of Christ, in all its richness, find a home with you. Teach 25 each other, and advise each other, in all wisdom. With gratitude in your hearts
26 sing psalms and hymns and inspired songs to God; •and never say or do anything
27 except in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through 28 him.

The morals of the home and household

29 Wives, give way to your husbands, as you should in the Lord. •Husbands, 30 love your wives and treat them with gentleness. •Children, be obedient to your 31 parents always, because that is what will please the Lord. •Parents, never drive 32 your children to resentment or you will make them feel frustrated.

33 Slaves, be obedient to the men who are called your masters in this world;
34 not only when you are under their eye, as if you had only to please men, but 35 wholeheartedly, out of respect for the Master. •Whatever your work is, put 36 your heart into it as if it were for the Lord and not for men, •knowing that the 37 Lord will repay you by making you his heirs. It is Christ the Lord that you are 38 serving; •anyone who does wrong will be repaid in kind and he does not favor
39 one person more than another. 4 Masters, make sure that your slaves are given 40 what is just and fair, knowing that you too have a Master in heaven.

The apostolic spirit

41 Be persevering in your prayers and be thankful as you stay awake to pray.
42 Pray for us especially, asking God to show us opportunities for announcing the 43 message and proclaiming the mystery of Christ, for the sake of which I am in 44 chains; •pray that I may proclaim it as clearly as I ought.

45 Be tactful with those who are not Christians and be sure you make the best 46 use of your time with them. •Talk to them agreeably and with a flavor of wit, 47 and try to fit your answers to the needs of each one.

Personal news

48 Tychicus will tell you all the news about me. He is a brother I love very much,
49 and a loyal helper and companion in the service of the Lord. •I am sending him
50 to you precisely for this purpose: to give you news about us and to reassure you.
51 With him I am sending Onesimus, that dear and faithful brother who is a fellow 52 citizen of yours. They will tell you everything that is happening here.

Greetings and final wishes

53 Aristarchus, who is here in prison with me, sends his greetings, and so does 54 Mark, the cousin of Barnabas—you were sent some instructions about him;

¹¹ if he comes to you, give him a warm welcome—and Jesus Justus adds his greetings. Of all those who have come over from the Circumcision, these are the only ones actually working with me for the kingdom of God. They have been a great
¹² comfort to me. •Epaphras, your fellow citizen, sends his greetings; this servant of Christ Jesus never stops battling for you, praying that you will never lapse but ¹³ always hold perfectly and securely to the will of God. •I can testify for him that ¹⁴ he works hard for you, as well as for those at Laodicea and Hierapolis. •Greetings from my dear friend Luke, the doctor, and also from Demas.

¹⁵ Please give my greetings to the brothers at Laodicea and to Nympha and the ¹⁶ church which meets in her house. •After this letter has been read among you, send it on to be read in the church of the Laodiceans; and get the letter from ¹⁷ Laodicea for you to read yourselves. •Give Archippus this message, “Remember the service that the Lord wants you to do, and try to carry it out.”

¹⁸ Here is a greeting in my own handwriting—PAUL. Remember the chains I wear. Grace be with you.

1 THESSALONIANS

THE FIRST LETTER OF PAUL

TO THE CHURCH IN THESSALONIKA

Address

¹ 1 From Paul, Silvanus and Timothy, to the Church in Thessalonika which is in God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ; wishing you grace and peace.

Thanksgiving and congratulations

² We always mention you in our prayers and thank God for you all, and constantly remember before God our Father how you have shown your faith in action, worked for love and persevered through hope, in our Lord Jesus Christ.

⁴ We know, brothers, that God loves you and that you have been chosen, because when we brought the Good News to you, it came to you not only as words, but as power and as the Holy Spirit and as utter conviction. And you observed the sort of life we lived when we were with you, which was for your instruction, and you were led to become imitators of us, and of the Lord; and it was with the joy of the Holy Spirit that you took to the gospel, in spite of the great opposition all around you. This has made you the great example to all believers in Macedonia and Achaia since it was from you that the word of the Lord started to spread—and not only throughout Macedonia and Achaia, for the news of your faith in God has spread everywhere. We do not need to tell other people about it: other people tell us how we started the work among you, how you broke with idolatry when you were converted to God and became servants of the real, living God; and how you are now waiting for Jesus, his Son, whom he raised from the dead, to come from heaven to save us from the retribution which is coming.

Paul's example in Thessalonika

² We had, as you know, been given rough treatment and been grossly insulted at Philippi, and it was our God who gave us the courage to proclaim his Good News to you in the face of great opposition. We have not taken to preaching because we are deluded or immoral or trying to deceive anyone; it was God who decided that we were fit to be entrusted with the Good News, and when we are speaking, we are not trying to please men but God, who can read our inmost thoughts.^a You know very well, and we can swear it before God, that never at any time have our speeches been simply flattery or a cover for trying to get money; nor have we ever looked for any special honor from men, either from you or anybody else, when we could have imposed ourselves on you with full weight, as apostles of Christ.

Instead, we were unassuming. Like a mother feeding and looking after her own children, we felt so devoted and protective toward you, and had come to love you so much, that we were eager to hand over to you not only the Good News but our whole lives as well. Let me remind you, brothers, how hard we used to work, slaving night and day so as not to be a burden on any one of you while we were proclaiming God's Good News to you. You are witnesses, and so is God, that our treatment of you, since you became believers, has been impeccably right and fair. You can remember how we treated every one of you as a father treats his children, teaching you what was right, encouraging you and appealing to you to live a life worthy of God, who is calling you to share the glory of his kingdom.

The faith and the patience of the Thessalonians

Another reason why we constantly thank God for you is that as soon as you heard the message that we brought you as God's message, you accepted it for what it really is, God's message and not some human thinking; and it is still a living power among you who believe it. For you, my brothers, have been like the churches of God in Christ Jesus which are in Judaea, in suffering the same treatment from your own countrymen as they have suffered from the Jews, the people who put the Lord Jesus to death, and the prophets too. And now they have been persecuting us, and acting in a way that cannot please God and makes them the enemies of the whole human race, because they are hindering us from preaching to the pagans and trying to save them. They never stop trying to finish off the sins they have begun,^b but retribution is overtaking them at last.

Paul's anxiety

A short time after we had been separated from you—in body but never in thought, brothers—we had an especially strong desire and longing to see you face to face again, and we tried hard to come and visit you; I, Paul, tried more than once, but Satan prevented us. What do you think is our pride and our joy? You are; and you will be the crown of which we shall be proudest in the presence of our Lord Jesus when he comes; you are our pride and our joy.

Timothy's mission to Thessalonika

3 When we could not bear the waiting any longer, we decided it would be best to be left without a companion at Athens, and sent our brother Timothy, who is God's helper in spreading the Good News of Christ, to keep you firm and strong in the faith and prevent any of you from being unsettled by the present troubles. As you know, these are bound to come our way: when we were with you, we warned you that we must expect to have persecutions to bear, and that is what has happened now, as you have found out. That is why, when I could not stand waiting any longer, I sent to assure myself of your faith: I was afraid the Tempter^a might have tried you too hard, and all our work might have been wasted.

Paul thanks God for good reports of the Thessalonians

6 However, Timothy is now back from you and he has given us good news of your faith and your love, telling us that you always remember us with pleasure and want to see us quite as much as we want to see you. And so, brothers, your faith has been a great comfort to us in the middle of our own troubles and sorrows; now we can breathe again, as you are still holding firm in the Lord. How can we thank God enough for you, for all the joy we feel before our God on your account? We are earnestly praying night and day to be able to see you face to face again and make up any shortcomings in your faith.

May God our Father himself, and our Lord Jesus Christ, make it easy for us

2 a. Jr. 11:20 b. 2 M. 6:14

3 a. I.e., "the one who puts you to the test."

12 to come to you. •May the Lord be generous in increasing your love and make you 13 love one another and the whole human race as much as we love you. •And may he so confirm your hearts in holiness that you may be blameless in the sight of our God and Father when our Lord Jesus Christ comes with all his saints.

Live in holiness and charity

1 4 Finally, brothers, we urge you and appeal to you in the Lord Jesus to make
2 more and more progress in the kind of life that you are meant to live: the life
3 that God wants, as you learned from us, and as you are already living it. •You
4 have not forgotten the instructions we gave you on the authority of the Lord Jesus.

5 What God wants is for you all to be holy. He wants you to keep away from 6 fornication, •and each one of you to know how to use the body that belongs to 7 him^a in a way that is holy and honorable, •not giving way to selfish lust like the 8 pagans who do not know God.^b •He wants nobody at all ever to sin by taking advantage 9 of a brother in these matters; the Lord always punishes sins of that sort, as 10 we told you before and assured you. •We have been called by God to be holy,
11 not to be immoral; •in other words, anyone who objects is not objecting to a 12 human authority, but to God, who gives you his Holy Spirit.^c

13 As for loving our brothers, there is no need for anyone to write to you about 14 that, since you have learned from God yourselves to love one another, •and in fact 15 this is what you are doing with all the brothers throughout the whole of 16 Macedonia. However, we do urge you, brothers, to go on making even greater 17 progress •and to make a point of living quietly, attending to your own business 18 and earning your living, just as we told you to, •so that you are seen to be respectable by those outside the Church, though you do not have to depend on them.

The dead and the living at the time of the Lord's coming

13 We want you to be quite certain, brothers, about those who have died,^d to make 14 sure that you do not grieve about them, like the other people who have no hope.
15 We believe that Jesus died and rose again, and that it will be the same for those 16 who have died in Jesus: God will bring them with him. •We can tell you this from 17 the Lord's own teaching, that any of us who are left alive until the Lord's coming 18 will not have any advantage over those who have died. •At the trumpet of God, the voice of the archangel will call out the command and the Lord himself will come down from heaven; those who have died in Christ will be the first to rise, and then those of us who are still alive will be taken up in the clouds, together with them, to meet the Lord in the air. So we shall stay with the Lord for ever.
With such thoughts as these you should comfort one another.

Watchfulness while awaiting the coming of the Lord

1 5 You will not be expecting us to write anything to you, brothers, about “times
2 and seasons,” •since you know very well that the Day of the Lord is going to 3 come like a thief in the night. •It is when people are saying, “How quiet and 4 peaceful it is” that the worst suddenly happens, as suddenly as labor pains come 5 on a pregnant woman; and there will be no way for anybody to evade it.

6 But it is not as if you live in the dark, my brothers, for that Day to overtake
7 you like a thief. •No, you are all sons of light and sons of the day: we do not belong
8 to the night or to darkness, •so we should not go on sleeping, as everyone else 9 does, but stay wide awake and sober. •Night is the time for sleepers to sleep and 10 drunkards to be drunk, •but we belong to the day and we should be sober; let us 11 put on faith and love for a breastplate, and the hope of salvation for a helmet.
God never meant us to experience the Retribution, but to win salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ, •who died for us so that, alive or dead, we should still live united to him. •So give encouragement to each other, and keep strengthening one another, as you do already.

Some demands made by life in community

¹² We appeal to you, my brothers, to be considerate to those who are working ¹³ among you and are above you in the Lord as your teachers. •Have the greatest respect and affection for them because of their work.

¹⁴ Be at peace among yourselves. •And this is what we ask you to do, brothers: warn the idlers, give courage to those who are apprehensive, care for the weak and ¹⁵ be patient with everyone. •Make sure that people do not try to take revenge;
¹⁶ you must all think of what is best for each other and for the community. •Be ¹⁷ happy at all times; •pray constantly; •and for all things give thanks to God, ¹⁸ because this is what God expects you to do in Christ Jesus.

¹⁹ Never try to suppress the Spirit •or treat the gift of prophecy with contempt;
²⁰
²¹ think before you do anything—hold on to what is good •and avoid every form of ²² evil.

Closing prayer and farewell

²³ May the God of peace make you perfect and holy; and may you all be kept safe and blameless, spirit, soul and body, for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

²⁴ God has called you and he will not fail you.

²⁵ Pray for us, my brothers.

²⁶ Greet all the brothers with the holy kiss. •My orders, in the Lord's name, ²⁷ are that this letter is to be read to all the brothers.

²⁸ The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

2 THESSALONIANS

THE SECOND LETTER OF PAUL TO THE CHURCH IN THESSALONIKA

Address

¹ 1 From Paul, Silvanus and Timothy, to the Church in Thessalonika which is in ² God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ; ·wishing you grace and peace from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thanksgiving and encouragement. The Last Judgment

³ We feel we must be continually thanking God for you, brothers; quite rightly, because your faith is growing so wonderfully and the love that you have for one another never stops increasing; ·and among the churches of God we can take special pride in you for your constancy and faith under all the persecutions and ⁴ troubles you have to bear. ·It all shows that God's judgment is just, and the purpose of it is that you may be found worthy of the kingdom of God; it is for the sake of this that you are suffering now.

⁵ God will very rightly repay with injury those who are injuring you, ·and reward you, who are suffering now, with the same peace as he will give us, when the Lord
⁶ Jesus appears from heaven with the angels of his power. ·He will come in flaming fire to impose the penalty on all who do not acknowledge God^a and refuse to accept
⁷ the Good News of our Lord Jesus. ·It will be their punishment to be lost eternally, excluded from the presence of the Lord and from the glory of his strength
⁸ on that day when he comes to be glorified among his saints and seen in his glory^b
⁹ by all who believe in him; and you are believers, through our witness.

¹⁰ Knowing this, we pray continually that our God will make you worthy of his call, and by his power fulfill all your desires for goodness and complete all that ¹¹ you have been doing through faith; ·because in this way the name of our Lord Jesus Christ will be glorified in you and you in him, by the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ.

The coming of the Lord and the prelude to it

¹ 2 To turn now, brothers, to the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and how we ² shall all be gathered around him: ·please do not get excited too soon or alarmed by any prediction or rumor or any letter claiming to come from us,
³ implying that the Day of the Lord has already arrived. ·Never let anyone deceive you in this way.

It cannot happen until the Great Revolt has taken place and the Rebel, the ⁴ Lost One, has appeared. ·This is the Enemy, the one who claims to be so much greater than all that men call "god," so much greater than anything that is worshipped, that he enthrones himself in God's sanctuary and claims that he is God.
⁵ Surely you remember me telling you about this when I was with you? ·And you know, too, what is still holding him back from appearing before his appointed
⁶ time. ·Rebellion is at its work already, but in secret, and the one who is holding ⁷ it back has first to be removed ·before the Rebel appears openly. The Lord will kill him with the breath of his mouth^a and will annihilate him with his glorious appearance at his coming.

⁹ But when the Rebel comes, Satan will set to work: there will be all kinds of ¹⁰ miracles and a deceptive show of signs and portents, and everything evil that can deceive those who are bound for destruction because they would not grasp ¹¹ the love of the truth which could have saved them. The reason why God ¹² is sending a power to delude them and make them believe what is untrue is to condemn all who refused to believe in the truth and chose wickedness instead.

Encouragement to persevere

¹³ But we feel that we must be continually thanking God for you, brothers whom the Lord loves, because God chose you from the beginning to be saved by the ¹⁴ sanctifying Spirit and by faith in the truth. Through the Good News that we brought he called you to this so that you should share the glory of our Lord Jesus ¹⁵ Christ. Stand firm, then, brothers, and keep the traditions that we taught you, ¹⁶ whether by word of mouth or by letter. May our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and God our Father who has given us his love and, through his grace, such inexhaust-¹⁷ ible comfort and such sure hope, comfort you and strengthen you in everything good that you do or say.

¹ 3 Finally, brothers, pray for us; pray that the Lord's message may spread ² quickly and be received with honor as it was among you; and pray that we may be preserved from the interference of bigoted and evil people, for faith is not ³ given to everyone. But the Lord is faithful, and he will give you strength and ⁴ guard you from the evil one, and we, in the Lord, have every confidence that ⁵ you are doing and will go on doing all that we tell you. May the Lord turn your hearts toward the love of God and the fortitude of Christ.

Against idleness and disunity

⁶ In the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, we urge you, brothers, to keep away from any of the brothers who refuses to work or to live according to the tradition we passed on to you.

⁷ You know how you are supposed to imitate us: now we were not idle when ⁸ we were with you, nor did we ever have our meals at anyone's table without paying for them; no, we worked night and day, slaving and straining, so as not to ⁹ be a burden on any of you. This was not because we had no right to be, but in order to make ourselves an example for you to follow.

¹⁰ We gave you a rule when we were with you: not to let anyone have any food if ¹¹ he refused to do any work. Now we hear that there are some of you who are living in idleness, doing no work themselves but interfering with everyone else's.
¹² In the Lord Jesus Christ, we order and call on people of this kind to go on quietly working and earning the food that they eat.

¹³ My brothers, never grow tired of doing what is right. If anyone refuses to obey
¹⁴ what I have written in this letter, take note of him and have nothing to do with ¹⁵ him, so that he will feel that he is in the wrong; though you are not to regard him as an enemy but as a brother in need of correction.

Prayer and farewell wishes

¹⁶ May the Lord of peace himself give you peace all the time and in every way.
 The Lord be with you all.

¹⁷ From me, PAUL, these greetings in my own handwriting, which is the mark
¹⁸ of genuineness in every letter; this is my own writing. May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.

1 TIMOTHY

THE FIRST LETTER

FROM PAUL TO TIMOTHY

Address

¹ I From Paul, apostle of Christ Jesus appointed by the command of God our ² savior and of Christ Jesus our hope, to Timothy, true child of mine in the faith; wishing you grace, mercy and peace from God the Father and from Christ Jesus our Lord.

Suppress the false teachers

³ As I asked you when I was leaving for Macedonia, please stay at Ephesus, to ⁴ insist that certain people stop teaching strange doctrines and taking notice of myths and endless genealogies; these things are only likely to raise irrelevant doubts instead of furthering the design of God which are revealed in faith.
⁵ The only purpose of this instruction is that there should be love, coming out
⁶ of a pure heart, a clear conscience and a sincere faith. There are some people who have gone off the straight course and taken a road that leads to empty ⁷ speculation; they claim to be doctors of the Law but they understand neither the arguments they are using nor the opinions they are upholding.

The purpose of the Law

⁸ We know, of course, that the Law is good, but only provided it is treated ⁹ like any law, in the understanding that laws are not framed for people who are good. On the contrary, they are for criminals and revolutionaries, for the irreligious and the wicked, for the sacrilegious and the irreverent; they are for ¹⁰ people who kill their fathers or mothers and for murderers, for those who are immoral with women or with boys or with men, for liars and for perjurers—and ¹¹ for everything else that is contrary to the sound teaching that goes with the Good News of the glory of the blessed God, the gospel that was entrusted to me.

Paul on his own calling

¹² I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who has given me strength, and who judged ¹³ me faithful enough to call me into his service even though I used to be a blasphemer and did all I could to injure and discredit the faith. Mercy, however, was shown me, because until I became a believer I had been acting in ignorance;
¹⁴ and the grace of our Lord filled me with faith and with the love that is in Christ
¹⁵ Jesus. Here is a saying that you can rely on and nobody should doubt: that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners. I myself am the greatest of them;
¹⁶ and if mercy has been shown to me, it is because Jesus Christ meant to make me the greatest evidence of his inexhaustible patience for all the other people ¹⁷ who would later have to trust in him to come to eternal life. To the eternal King, the undying, invisible and only God, be honor and glory for ever and ever. Amen.

Timothy's responsibility

18 Timothy, my son, these are the instructions that I am giving you: I ask you
 19 to remember the words once spoken over you by the prophets, and taking them 20 to heart to fight like a good soldier with faith and a good conscience for your weapons. Some people have put conscience aside and wrecked their faith in consequence. I mean men like Hymenaeus and Alexander, whom I have handed over to Satan to teach them not to be blasphemous.

Liturgical prayer

1 2 My advice is that, first of all, there should be prayers offered for everyone
 2 —petitions, intercessions and thanksgiving—and especially for kings and others in authority, so that we may be able to live religious and reverent lives 3 in peace and quiet. To do this is right, and will please God our Savior: he 4 wants everyone to be saved and reach full knowledge of the truth. For there
 5 is only one God, and there is only one mediator between God and mankind, 6 himself a man, Christ Jesus, who sacrificed himself as a ransom for them all.
 7 He is the evidence of this, sent at the appointed time, and I have been named a herald and apostle of it and—I am telling the truth and no lie—a teacher of the faith and the truth to the pagans.
 8 In every place, then, I want the men to lift their hands up reverently in prayer, with no anger or argument.

Women in the assembly

9 Similarly, I direct that women are to wear suitable clothes and to be dressed quietly and modestly, without braided hair or gold and jewelry or expensive 10 clothes; their adornment is to do the sort of good works that are proper for 11 women who profess to be religious. During instruction, a woman should be 12 quiet and respectful. I am not giving permission for a woman to teach or to 13 tell a man what to do. A woman ought not to speak, because Adam was 14 formed first and Eve afterward, and it was not Adam who was led astray but 15 the woman who was led astray and fell into sin. Nevertheless, she will be saved by childbearing, provided she lives a modest life and is constant in faith and love and holiness.

The elder in charge

1 3 Here is a saying that you can rely on: To want to be a presiding elder^a is to 2 want to do a noble work. That is why the president must have an impeccable character. He must not have been married more than once, and he must be 3 temperate, discreet and courteous, hospitable and a good teacher; not a heavy drinker, not hot-tempered, but kind and peaceable. He must not be a lover of 4 money. He must be a man who manages his own family well and brings his 5 children up to obey him and be well-behaved: how can any man who does not understand how to manage his own family have responsibility for the church 6 of God? He should not be a new convert, in case pride might turn his head 7 and then he might be condemned as the devil was condemned. It is also necessary that people outside the Church should speak well of him, so that he never gets a bad reputation and falls into the devil's trap.

8 In the same way, deacons must be respectable men whose word can be trusted, moderate in the amount of wine they drink and with no squalid greed 9 for money. They must be conscientious believers in the mystery of the faith.
 10 They are to be examined first, and only admitted to serve as deacons if there 11 is nothing against them. In the same way, the women must be respectable,

3 a. The word episcopos used here by Paul had not yet acquired the same meaning as "bishop."

12 not gossips but sober and quite reliable. •Deacons must not have been married more than once, and must be men who manage their children and families well. •Those of them who carry out their duties well as deacons will earn a high standing for themselves and be rewarded with great assurance in their work for the faith in Christ Jesus.

The Church and the mystery of the spiritual life

14 At the moment of writing to you, I am hoping that I may be with you soon; 15 but in case I should be delayed, I wanted you to know how people ought to behave in God's family—that is, in the Church of the living God, which upholds the truth and keeps it safe. •Without any doubt, the mystery of our religion is very deep indeed:

He was made visible in the flesh,
attested by the Spirit,
seen by angels,
proclaimed to the pagans,
believed in by the world,
taken up in glory.

False teachers

1 4 The Spirit has explicitly said that during the last times there will be some 2 who will desert the faith and choose to listen to deceitful spirits and doctrines 3 that come from the devils; •and the cause of this is the lies told by hypocrites 4 whose consciences are branded as though with a red-hot iron^a: •they will say 5 marriage is forbidden, and lay down rules about abstaining from foods which 6 God created to be accepted with thanksgiving by all who believe and who know 7 the truth.^b •Everything God has created is good, and no food is to be rejected, 8 provided grace is said for it: •the word of God and the prayer make it holy. 9 If you put all this to the brothers, you will be a good servant of Christ Jesus and 10 show that you have really digested the teaching of the faith and the good doctrine 11 which you have always followed. •Have nothing to do with godless myths and 12 old wives' tales. Train yourself spiritually. •“Physical exercises are useful enough, 13 but the usefulness of spirituality is unlimited, since it holds out the reward of 14 life here and now and of the future life as well”; •that is a saying that you can 15 rely on and nobody should doubt it. •I mean that the point of all our toiling and 16 battling is that we have put our trust in the living God and he is the savior of 17 the whole human race but particularly of all believers. •This is what you are to 18 enforce in your teaching.

12 Do not let people disregard you because you are young, but be an example 13 to all the believers in the way you speak and behave, and in your love, your faith 14 and your purity. •Make use of the time until I arrive by reading to the people, 15 preaching and teaching. •You have in you a spiritual gift which was given to 16 you when the prophets spoke and the body of elders laid their hands on you; 17 do not let it lie unused. •Think hard about all this, and put it into practice, and 18 everyone will be able to see how you are advancing. •Take great care about what 19 you do and what you teach; always do this, and in this way you will save both 20 yourself and those who listen to you.

Pastoral practice

1 5 Do not speak harshly to a man older than yourself, but advise him as you 2 would your own father; treat the younger men as brothers •and older women 3 as you would your mother. Always treat young women with propriety, as if they 4 were sisters.

Widows

3 4 Be considerate to widows; I mean those who are truly widows. •If a widow 4 has children or grandchildren, they are to learn first of all to do their duty to their own families and repay their debt to their parents, because this is what pleases God. ⁵ But a woman who is really widowed and left without anybody can give herself up to God and consecrate all her days and nights to petitions and prayer. ⁶ The one who thinks only of pleasure is already dead while she is still alive: ⁷ remind them of all this, too, so that their lives may be blameless. ⁸ Anyone who does not look after his own relations, especially if they are living with him, has rejected the faith and is worse than an unbeliever.

⁹ Enrollment as a widow is permissible only for a woman at least sixty years old who has had only one husband. ¹⁰ She must be a woman known for her good works and for the way in which she has brought up her children, shown hospitality to strangers and washed the saints' feet, helped people who are in trouble and been active in all kinds of good work. ¹¹ Do not accept young widows because if their natural desires get stronger than their dedication to Christ, they want to marry again, ¹² and then people condemn them for being unfaithful to their original promise. ¹³ Besides, they learn how to be idle and go around from house to house; and then, not merely idle, they learn to be gossips and meddlers in other people's affairs, and to chatter when they would be better keeping quiet. ¹⁴ I think it is best for young widows to marry again and have children and a home to look after, and not give the enemy any chance to raise a scandal about them; ¹⁵ there are already some who have left us to follow Satan. ¹⁶ If a Christian woman has widowed relatives, she should support them and not make the Church bear the expense but enable it to support those who are genuinely widows.

The elders

¹⁷ The elders who do their work well while they are in charge are to be given double consideration, especially those who are assiduous in preaching and ¹⁸ teaching. ¹⁹ As scripture says: You must not muzzle an ox when it is treading out the corn^a; and again: The worker deserves his pay.^b ²⁰ Never accept any accusation brought against an elder unless it is supported by two or three witnesses. ²¹ If any of them are at fault, reprimand them publicly, as a warning to the rest. ²² Before God, and before Jesus Christ and the angels he has chosen, I put it to you as a duty to keep these rules impartially and never to be influenced by favoritism. ²³ Do not be too quick to lay hands on any man, and never make yourself an accomplice in anybody else's sin; keep yourself pure.

²⁴ You should give up drinking only water and have a little wine for the sake of your digestion and the frequent bouts of illness that you have.

²⁵ The faults of some people are obvious long before anyone makes any complaint about them, while others have faults that are not discovered until afterward. ²⁶ In the same way, the good that people do can be obvious; but even when it is not, it cannot be hidden for ever.

Slaves

¹ 6 All slaves "under the yoke" must have unqualified respect for their masters, so that the name of God and our teaching are not brought into disrepute. ² Slaves whose masters are believers are not to think any the less of them because they are brothers; on the contrary, they should serve them all the better, since those who have the benefit of their services are believers and dear to God.

The true teacher and the false teacher

³ This is what you are to teach them to believe and persuade them to do. ⁴ Anyone who teaches anything different, and does not keep to the sound teaching

⁴ a. Like runaway slaves. b. The rejection of marriage was to be one of the hallmarks of Gnosticism; dietary regulations were more specifically Jewish.

⁵ a. Dt. 25:4 b. Not traceable in the Old Testament; but this is also to be found in Lk. 10:7 where, again, it may be a quotation.

which is that of our Lord Jesus Christ, the doctrine which is in accordance with true religion, is simply ignorant and must be full of self-conceit—with a craze for questioning everything and arguing about words. All that can come of this is jealousy, contention, abuse and wicked mistrust of one another; and unending disputes by people who are neither rational nor informed and imagine that religion is a way of making a profit. Religion, of course, does bring large profits, but only to those who are content with what they have. We brought nothing into the world, and we can take nothing out of it; but as long as we have food and clothing, let us be content with that. People who long to be rich are a prey to temptation; they get trapped into all sorts of foolish and dangerous ambitions which eventually plunge them into ruin and destruction. “The love of money is the root of all evils” and there are some who, pursuing it, have wandered away from the faith, and so given their souls any number of fatal wounds.

Timothy's vocation recalled

But, as a man dedicated to God, you must avoid all that. You must aim to be saintly and religious, filled with faith and love, patient and gentle. Fight the good fight of the faith and win for yourself the eternal life to which you were called when you made your profession and spoke up for the truth in front of many witnesses. Now, before God the source of all life and before Jesus Christ, who spoke up as a witness for the truth in front of Pontius Pilate, I put to you the duty of doing all that you have been told, with no faults or failures, until the Appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ, who at the due time will be revealed

by God, the blessed and only Ruler of all,
the King of kings and the Lord of lords,
who alone is immortal,
whose home is in inaccessible light,
whom no man has seen and no man is able to see:
to him be honor and everlasting power. Amen.

Rich Christians

Warn those who are rich in this world's goods that they are not to look down on other people; and not to set their hopes on money, which is untrustworthy, but on God who, out of his riches, gives us all that we need for our happiness. Tell them that they are to do good, and be rich in good works, to be generous and willing to share—this is the way they can save up a good capital sum for the future if they want to make sure of the only life that is real.

Final warning and conclusion

My dear Timothy, take great care of all that has been entrusted to you. Have nothing to do with the pointless philosophical discussions and antagonistic beliefs of the “knowledge” which is not knowledge at all; by adopting this, some have gone right away from the faith. Grace be with you.

2 TIMOTHY

THE SECOND LETTER FROM PAUL TO TIMOTHY

Greeting and thanksgiving

¹ I From Paul, appointed by God to be an apostle of Christ Jesus in his design
² to promise life in Christ Jesus; to Timothy, dear child of mine, wishing you grace, mercy and peace from God the Father and from Christ Jesus our Lord.
³ Night and day I thank God, keeping my conscience clear and remembering my duty to him as my ancestors did, and always I remember you in my prayers;
⁴ I remember your tears and long to see you again to complete my happiness.
⁵ Then I am reminded of the sincere faith which you have; it came first to live in your grandmother Lois, and your mother Eunice, and I have no doubt that it is the same faith in you as well.

The gifts that Timothy has received

⁶ This is why I am reminding you now to fan into a flame the gift that God
⁷ gave you when I laid my hands on you. God's gift was not a spirit of timidity, ⁸ but the Spirit of power and love and self-control. So you are never to be ashamed of witnessing to the Lord or ashamed of me for being his prisoner; but with me bear the hardships for the sake of the Good News, relying on the ⁹ power of God who has saved us and called us to be holy—not because of anything we ourselves have done but for his own purpose and by his own grace.
This grace had already been granted to us, in Christ Jesus, before the beginning
¹⁰ of time, but it has only been revealed by the Appearing of our Savior Christ Jesus. He abolished death, and he has proclaimed life and immortality through ¹¹ the Good News; and I have been named its herald, its apostle and its teacher.
¹² It is only on account of this that I am experiencing fresh hardships here now^a; but I have not lost confidence, because I know who it is that I have put my trust in, and I have no doubt at all that he is able to take care of all that I have entrusted to him until that Day.
¹³ Keep as your pattern the sound teaching you have heard from me, in the ¹⁴ faith and love that are in Christ Jesus. You have been trusted to look after something precious; guard it with the help of the Holy Spirit who lives in us.
¹⁵ As you know, Phygelus and Hermogenes and all the others from Asia refuse ¹⁶ to have anything more to do with me. I hope the Lord will be kind to all the family of Onesiphorus, because he has often been a comfort to me and has never ¹⁷ been ashamed of my chains. On the contrary, as soon as he reached Rome, he ¹⁸ really searched hard for me and found out where I was. May it be the Lord's will that he shall find the Lord's mercy on that Day. You know better than anyone else how much he helped me at Ephesus.

1 a. The second imprisonment at Rome.

How Timothy should face hardships

1 2 Accept the strength, my dear son, that comes from the grace of Christ Jesus.
 2 You have heard everything that I teach in public; hand it on to reliable people so that they in turn will be able to teach others.

3 Put up with your share of difficulties, like a good soldier of Christ Jesus.
 4 In the army, no soldier gets himself mixed up in civilian life, because he must be at the disposal of the man who enlisted him; or take an athlete—he cannot win any crown unless he has kept all the rules of the contest; and again, it is the working farmer who has the first claim on any crop that is harvested. Think over what I have said, and the Lord will show you how to understand it all.

8 Remember the Good News that I carry, “Jesus Christ risen from the dead, sprung from the race of David”; it is on account of this that I have my own hardships to bear, even to being chained like a criminal—but they cannot chain up God’s news. So I bear it all for the sake of those who are chosen, so that in the end they may have the salvation that is in Christ Jesus and the eternal glory that comes with it.

11 Here is a saying that you can rely on:

If we have died with him, then we shall live with him.

12 If we hold firm, then we shall reign with him.

If we disown him, then he will disown us.

13 We may be unfaithful, but he is always faithful,
 for he cannot disown his own self.

The struggle against the immediate danger from false teachers

14 Remind them of this; and tell them in the name of God that there is to be no wrangling about words: all that this ever achieves is the destruction of those who are listening. Do all you can to present yourself in front of God as a man who has come through his trials, and a man who has no cause to be ashamed of his life’s work and has kept a straight course with the message of the truth. Have nothing to do with pointless philosophical discussions—they only lead further and further away from true religion. Talk of this kind corrodes like gangrene, as in the case of Hymenaeus and Philetus, the men who have gone right away from the truth and claim that the resurrection has already taken place. Some people’s faith cannot stand up to them.

19 However, God’s solid foundation stone is still in position, and this is the inscription on it: “The Lord knows those who are his own”^a and “All who call on the name of the Lord”^b must avoid sin.”

20 Not all the dishes in a large house are made of gold and silver; some are made of wood or earthenware: some are kept for special occasions and others are for ordinary purposes. Now, to avoid these faults that I am speaking about is the way for anyone to become a vessel for special occasions, fit for the Master himself to use, and kept ready for any good work.

22 Instead of giving in to your impulses like a young man, fasten your attention on holiness, faith, love and peace, in union with all those who call on the Lord with pure minds. Avoid these futile and silly speculations, understanding that they only give rise to quarrels; and a servant of the Lord is not to engage in quarrels, but has to be kind to everyone, a good teacher, and patient. He has to be gentle when he corrects people who dispute what he says, never forgetting that God may give them a change of mind so that they recognize the truth and come to their senses, once out of the trap where the devil caught them and kept them enslaved.

The dangers of the last days

1 3 You may be quite sure that in the last days there are going to be
 2 some difficult times. People will be self-centered and grasping; boastful, 3 arrogant and rude; disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, irreligious; heartless and unappeasable; they will be slanderers, profligates, savages and enemies of everything that is good; they will be treacherous and reckless and demented by pride, preferring their own pleasure to God. They will keep up the outward appearance of religion but will have rejected the inner power of it. Have nothing to do with people like that.

Of the same kind, too, are those men who insinuate themselves into families in order to get influence over silly women who are obsessed with their sins and follow one craze after another in the attempt to educate themselves, but can never come to knowledge of the truth. Men like this defy the truth just as Jannes and Jambres defied Moses^a: their minds are corrupt and their faith spurious. But they will not be able to go on any longer: their foolishness, like that of the other two, must become obvious to everybody.

You know, though, what I have taught, how I have lived, what I have aimed at; you know my faith, my patience and my love; my constancy and the persecutions and hardships that came to me in places like Antioch, Iconium and Lystra—all the persecutions I have endured; and the Lord has rescued me from every one of them. You are well aware, then, that anybody who tries to live in devotion to Christ is certain to be attacked; while these wicked impostors will go from bad to worse, deceiving others and deceived themselves.

You must keep to what you have been taught and know to be true; remember who your teachers were, and how, ever since you were a child, you have known the holy scriptures—from these you can learn the wisdom that leads to salvation through faith in Christ Jesus. All scripture is inspired by God and can profitably be used for teaching, for refuting error, for guiding people's lives and teaching them to be holy. This is how the man who is dedicated to God becomes fully equipped and ready for any good work.

A solemn charge

4 Before God and before Christ Jesus who is to be judge of the living and the dead, I put this duty to you, in the name of his Appearing and of his kingdom: proclaim the message and, welcome or unwelcome, insist on it. Refute falsehood, correct error, call to obedience—but do all with patience and with the intention of teaching. The time is sure to come when, far from being content with sound teaching, people will be avid for the latest novelty and collect themselves a whole series of teachers according to their own tastes; and then, instead of listening to the truth, they will turn to myths. Be careful always to choose the right course; be brave under trials; make the preaching of the Good News your life's work, in thoroughgoing service.

Paul in the evening of his life

As for me, my life is already being poured away as a libation, and the time has come for me to be gone. I have fought the good fight to the end: I have run the race to the finish; I have kept the faith; all there is to come now is the crown of righteousness reserved for me, which the Lord, the righteous judge, will give to me on that Day; and not only to me but to all those who have longed for his Appearing.

Final advice

9 Do your best to come and see me as soon as you can. As it is, Demas has deserted me for love of this life and gone to Thessalonika, Crescens has gone to Galatia and Titus to Dalmatia; only Luke is with me. Get Mark to come and bring him with you; I find him a useful helper in my work. I have sent Tychicus to Ephesus. When you come, bring the cloak I left with Carpus in

- ¹⁵ Be on your guard against him yourself, because he has been bitterly contesting everything that we say.
- ¹⁶ The first time I had to present my defense, there was not a single witness to support me. Every one of them deserted me—may they not be held accountable

- ²² The Lord be with your spirit. Grace be with you.

TITUS

THE LETTER FROM PAUL TO TITUS

Address

¹ 1 From Paul, servant of God, an apostle of Jesus Christ to bring those whom
² God has chosen to faith and to the knowledge of the truth that leads to true
³ religion; and to give them the hope of the eternal life that was promised so long ⁴ ago by God. He does not lie and so, at the appointed time, he revealed his decision, and, by the command of God our savior, I have been commissioned to proclaim it. To Titus, true child of mine in the faith that we share, wishing you grace and peace from God the Father and from Christ Jesus our Savior.

The appointment of elders

⁵ The reason I left you behind in Crete was for you to get everything organized ⁶ there and appoint elders in every town, in the way that I told you: that is, each of them must be a man of irreproachable character; he must not have been married more than once, and his children must be believers and not uncontrollable or ⁷ liable to be charged with disorderly conduct. Since, as president, he will be God's representative, he must be irreproachable: never an arrogant or hot-tempered ⁸ man, nor a heavy drinker or violent, nor out to make money; but a man who is hospitable and a friend of all that is good; sensible, moral, devout and ⁹ self-controlled; and he must have a firm grasp of the unchanging message of the tradition, so that he can be counted on for both expounding the sound doctrine and refuting those who argue against it.

Opposing the false teachers

¹⁰ And in fact you have there a great many people who need to be disciplined, who talk nonsense and try to make others believe it, particularly among those ¹¹ of the Circumcision. They have got to be silenced: men of this kind ruin whole families, by teaching things that they ought not to, and doing it with the vile motive ¹² of making money. It was one of themselves, one of their own prophets, who ¹³ said,^a "Cretans were never anything but liars, dangerous animals and lazy": and that is a true statement. So you will have to be severe in correcting them, and ¹⁴ make them sound in the faith so that they stop taking notice of Jewish myths and doing what they are told to do by people who are no longer interested in the truth.

¹⁵ To all who are pure themselves, everything is pure; but to those who have been corrupted and lack faith, nothing can be pure—the corruption is both in their ¹⁶ minds and in their consciences. They claim to have knowledge of God but the things they do are nothing but a denial of him; they are outrageously rebellious and quite incapable of doing good.

¹ a. Attributed to the Cretan poet Epimenides of Knossos.

Some specific moral instruction

1 2 It is for you, then, to preach the behavior which goes with healthy doctrine.
 2 The older men should be reserved, dignified, moderate, sound in faith and 3 love and constancy. Similarly, the older women should behave as though they 4 were religious, with no scandalmongering and no habitual wine drinking—they 5 are to be the teachers of the right behavior and show the younger women how 6 they should love their husbands and love their children, how they are to be 7 sensible and chaste, and how to work in their homes, and be gentle and do as 8 their husbands tell them, so that the message of God is never disgraced. In the 9 same way, you have got to persuade the younger men to be moderate and in 10 everything you do make yourself an example to them of working for good: when 11 you are teaching, be an example to them in your sincerity and earnestness and 12 in keeping all that you say so wholesome that nobody can make objections to it;
 13 and then any opponent will be at a loss, with no accusation to make against us.
 14 Tell the slaves that they are to be obedient to their masters and always do what 15 they want without any argument; and there must be no petty thieving—they must show complete honesty at all times, so that they are in every way a credit to the teaching of God our savior.

The basis of the Christian moral life

11 You see, God's grace has been revealed, and it has made salvation possible for 12 the whole human race and taught us that what we have to do is to give up every-13 thing that does not lead to God, and all our worldly ambitions; we must be 14 self-restrained and live good and religious lives here in this present world, while 15 we are waiting in hope for the blessing which will come with the Appearing of the glory of our great God and Savior Christ Jesus.^a He sacrificed himself for us in order to set us free from all wickedness^b and to purify a people so that it could be his very own^c and would have no ambition except to do good.
 Now this is what you are to say, whether you are giving instruction or correcting errors; you can do so with full authority, and no one is to question it.

General instruction for believers

1 3 Remind them that it is their duty to be obedient to the officials and represent-
 2 atives of the government; to be ready to do good at every opportunity; not 3 to go slandering other people or picking quarrels, but to be courteous and always 4 polite to all kinds of people. Remember, there was a time when we too were 5 ignorant, disobedient, and misled and enslaved by different passions and luxuries;
 6 we lived then in wickedness and ill-will, hating each other and hateful ourselves.
 7 But when the kindness and love of God our savior for mankind were revealed, 8 it was not because he was concerned with any righteous actions we might have done ourselves; it was for no reason except his own compassion that he saved us, by means of the cleansing water of rebirth and by renewing us with the Holy Spirit which he has so generously poured over us through Jesus Christ our Savior.
 He did this so that we should be justified by his grace, to become heirs looking forward to inheriting eternal life. This is doctrine that you can rely on.

Personal advice to Titus

I want you to be quite uncompromising in teaching all this, so that those who now believe in God may keep their minds constantly occupied in doing good 9 works. All this is good, and will do nothing but good to everybody. But avoid 10 pointless speculations, and those genealogies, and the quibbles and disputes about the Law—these are useless and can do no good to anyone. If a man disputes what you teach, then after a first and a second warning, have no more to do with 11 him: you will know that any man of that sort has already lapsed and condemned himself as a sinner.

Practical recommendations, farewells and good wishes

- ¹² As soon as I have sent Artemas or Tychicus to you, lose no time in joining ¹³ me at Nicopolis, where I have decided to spend the winter. See to all the traveling arrangements for Zenas the lawyer and Apollos, and make sure they have every-¹⁴ thing they need. All our people are to learn to occupy themselves in doing good works for their practical needs as well, and not to be entirely unproductive.
¹⁵ All those who are with me send their greetings. Greetings to those who love us in the faith. Grace be with you all.

PHILEMON

THE LETTER FROM PAUL TO PHILEMON

Address

1 From Paul, a prisoner of Christ Jesus and from our brother Timothy; to our
2 dear fellow worker Philemon, our sister Apphia, our fellow soldier Archippus
3 and the church that meets in your house; wishing you the grace and the peace of God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thanksgiving and prayer

4 I always mention you in my prayers and thank God for you, because I hear
5 of the love and the faith which you have for the Lord Jesus and for all the saints.
6 I pray that this faith will give rise to a sense of fellowship that will show you all 7 the good things that we are able to do for Christ. I am so delighted, and comforted, to know of your love; they tell me, brother, how you have put new heart into the saints.

The request about Onesimus

8 Now, although in Christ I can have no diffidence about telling you to do 9 whatever is your duty, I am appealing to your love instead, reminding you that this is Paul writing, an old man now and, what is more, still a prisoner of Christ 10 Jesus. I am appealing to you for a child of mine, whose father I became while 11 wearing these chains: I mean Onesimus. He was of no use to you before, but he 12 will be useful^a to you now, as he has been to me. I am sending him back to you, 13 and with him—I could say—a part of my own self. I should have liked to keep him with me; he could have been a substitute for you, to help me while I am in the 14 chains that the Good News has brought me. However, I did not want to do anything without your consent; it would have been forcing your act of kindness, 15 which should be spontaneous. I know you have been deprived of Onesimus for 16 a time, but it was only so that you could have him back for ever, not as a slave any more, but something much better than a slave, a dear brother; especially dear to me, but how much more to you, as a blood brother as well as a brother 17 in the Lord. So if all that we have in common means anything to you, welcome
18 him as you would me; but if he has wronged you in any way or owes 19 you anything, then let me pay for it. I am writing this in my own handwriting:
I, Paul, shall pay it back—I will not add any mention of your own debt to me, 20 which is yourself. Well then, brother, I am counting on you, in the Lord; put 21 new heart into me, in Christ. I am writing with complete confidence in your compliance, sure that you will do even more than I ask.

A personal request. Good wishes

22 There is another thing: will you get a place ready for me to stay in? I am hoping through your prayers to be restored to you.

23 Epaphras, a prisoner with me in Christ Jesus, sends his greetings; so do my 24 colleagues Mark, Aristarchus, Demas and Luke.

25 May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit.

a. A pun—"Onesimus" means "useful."

THE LETTER TO THE HEBREWS

A LETTER ADDRESSED TO A JEWISH-CHRISTIAN COMMUNITY

PROLOGUE

The greatness of the incarnate Son of God

¹ I At various times in the past and in various different ways, God spoke to our ² ancestors through the prophets; but ·in our own time, the last days, he has spoken to us through his Son, the Son that he has appointed to inherit everything ³ and through whom he made everything there is. ·He is the radiant light of God's glory and the perfect copy of his nature, sustaining the universe by his powerful command; and now that he has destroyed the defilement of sin, he has gone to ⁴ take his place in heaven at the right hand of divine Majesty. ·So he is now as far above the angels as the title which he has inherited is higher than their own name.

I. THE SON IS GREATER THAN THE ANGELS

Proof from the scriptures

⁵ God as never said to any angel: You are my Son, today I have become your ⁶ father^a; or: I will be a father to him and he a son to me.^b ·Again, when he brings the ⁷ First-born into the world, he says: Let all the angels of God worship him.^c ·About ⁸ the angels, he says: He makes his angels winds and his servants flames of fire,^d ·but to his Son he says: God, your throne shall last for ever and ever; and: his royal ⁹ scepter is the scepter of virtue; ·virtue you love as much as you hate wickedness.
This is why God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness, above all your ¹⁰ rivals.^e ·And again: It is you, Lord, who laid earth's foundations in the beginning,
¹¹ the heavens are the work of your hands; ·all will vanish, though you remain, all
¹² wear out like a garment; ·you will roll them up like a cloak, and like a garment they will be changed. But yourself, you never change and your years are unending.^f ¹³ God has never said to any angel: Sit at my right hand and I will make your enemies
¹⁴ a footstool for you.^g ·The truth is they are all spirits whose work is service, sent to help those who will be the heirs of salvation.

An exhortation

¹ 2 We ought, then, to turn our minds more attentively than before to what we ² have been taught, so that we do not drift away. ·If a promise that was made through angels^a proved to be so true that every infringement and disobedience

1 a. Ps. 2:7 b. 2 S. 7:14 c. Dt. 32:43 d. Ps. 104:4 e. Ps. 45:6-7 f. Ps. 102:25-27
g. Ps. 110:1
2 a. The Law.

- 3 brought its own proper punishment, 'then we shall certainly not go unpunished if we neglect this salvation that is promised to us. The promise was first announced by the Lord himself, and is guaranteed to us by those who heard him;
4 God himself confirmed their witness with signs and marvels and miracles of all kinds, and by freely giving the gifts of the Holy Spirit.

Redemption brought by Christ, not by angels

- 5 He did not appoint angels to be rulers of the world to come, and that world is 6 what we are talking about. 'Somewhere there is a passage that shows us this. It runs: *What is man that you should spare a thought for him, the son of man that you
7 should care for him? 'For a short while you made him lower than the angels; you
8 crowned him with glory and splendor. 'You have put him in command of everything.*^b Well then, if he has put him in command of everything, he has left nothing which is not under his command. At present, it is true, we are not able to see that 9 everything has been put under his command, 'but we do see in Jesus one who was for a short while made lower than the angels and is now crowned with glory and splendor because he submitted to death; by God's grace he had to experience death for all mankind.

- 10 As it was his purpose to bring a great many of his sons into glory, it was appropriate that God, for whom everything exists and through whom everything exists, should make perfect, through suffering, the leader who would take them to their salvation. 'For the one who sanctifies, and the ones who are sanctified, are of the 11 same stock; that is why he openly calls them brothers 'in the text: I shall announce 12 your name to my brothers, praise you in full assembly^c; or the text: 'In him I hope;
13 or the text: Here I am with the children whom God has given me.^d

- 14 Since all the children share the same blood and flesh, he too shared equally in it, so that by his death he could take away all the power of the devil, who had 15 power over death, 'and set free all those who had been held in slavery all their 16 lives by the fear of death. 'For it was not the angels that he took to himself; he 17 took to himself descent from Abraham.^e 'It was essential that he should in this way become completely like his brothers so that he could be a compassionate and 18 trustworthy high priest of God's religion, able to atone for human sins. 'That is, because he has himself been through temptation he is able to help others who are tempted.

II. JESUS THE FAITHFUL AND MERCIFUL HIGH PRIEST

Christ higher than Moses

- 1 3 That is why all you who are holy brothers and have had the same heavenly 2 call should turn your minds to Jesus, the apostle and the high priest of our 3 religion. 'He was faithful to the one who appointed him, just like Moses, who 4 stayed faithful in all his house; 'but he has been found to deserve a greater glory
5 than Moses. It is the difference between the honor given to the man that built 6 the house and to the house itself. 'Every house is built by someone, of course;
7 but God built everything that exists. 'It is true that Moses was faithful in the 8 house of God, as a servant, acting as witness to the things which were to be 9 divulged later; 'but Christ was faithful as a son, and as the master in the house.
10 And we are his house, as long as we cling to our hope with the confidence that we 11 glory in.

How to reach God's land of rest

- 7 The Holy Spirit says: If only you would listen to him today; 'do not harden 8 your hearts, as happened in the Rebellion, on the Day of Temptation in the 9 wilderness, 'when your ancestors challenged me and tested me, though they had 10 seen what I could do 'for forty years. That was why I was angry with that generation

11 and said: How unreliable these people who refuse to grasp my ways! And so, in 12 anger, I swore that not one would reach the place of rest I had for them.^a Take care, brothers, that there is not in any one of your community a wicked mind, so unbe-13 lieving as to turn away from the living God. Every day, as long as this "today" lasts, keep encouraging one another so that none of you is hardened by the lure of 14 sin, because we shall remain co-heirs with Christ only if we keep a grasp on our 15 first confidence right to the end. In this saying: If only you would listen to him 16 today; do not harden your hearts, as happened in the Rebellion, those who rebelled after they had listened were all the people who were brought out of Egypt 17 by Moses. And those who made God angry for forty years were the ones who 18 sinned and whose dead bodies were left lying in the wilderness.^b Those that he swore would never reach the place of rest he had for them were those who had been 19 disobedient. We see, then, that it was because they were unfaithful that they were not able to reach it.

1 4 Be careful, then: the promise of reaching the place of rest he had for them still 2 holds good, and none of you must think that he has come too late for it. We received the Good News exactly as they did; but hearing the message did them no 3 good because they did not share the faith of those who listened. We, however, who have faith, shall reach a place of rest, as in the text: And so, in anger, I swore 4 that not one would reach the place of rest I had for them. God's work was undoubt-
 5 edly all finished at the beginning of the world; as one text says, referring to the 6 seventh day: After all his work God rested on the seventh day.^a The text we are 7 considering says: They shall not reach the place of rest I had for them. It is estab-
 8 lished, then, that there would be some people who would reach it, and since those 9 who first heard the Good News failed to reach it through their disobedience, God fixed another day when, much later, he said "today" through David in the text already quoted: If only you would listen to him today; do not harden your hearts.
 10 If Joshua had led them into this place of rest, God would not later on have spoken 11 so much of another day. There must still be, therefore, a place of rest reserved for God's people, the seventh-day rest, since to reach the place of rest is to rest 12 after your work, as God did after his. We must therefore do everything we can to reach this place of rest, or some of you might copy this example of disobedience and be lost.

The word of God and Christ the priest

12 The word of God is something alive and active: it cuts like any double-edged sword but more finely: it can slip through the place where the soul is divided from the spirit, or joints from the marrow; it can judge the secret emotions and 13 thoughts. No created thing can hide from him; everything is uncovered and open to the eyes of the one to whom we must give account of ourselves.

14 Since in Jesus, the Son of God, we have the supreme high priest who has gone through to the highest heaven, we must never let go of the faith that we have 15 professed. For it is not as if we had a high priest who was incapable of feeling our weaknesses with us; but we have one who has been tempted in every way that 16 we are, though he is without sin. Let us be confident, then, in approaching the throne of grace, that we shall have mercy from him and find grace when we are in need of help.

Jesus the compassionate high priest

1 5 Every high priest has been taken out of mankind and is appointed to act for 2 men in their relations with God, to offer gifts and sacrifices for sins; and so he can sympathize with those who are ignorant or uncertain because he too lives

3 in the limitations of weakness. •That is why he has to make sin offerings for 4 himself as well as for the people. •No one takes this honor on himself, but each 5 one is called by God, as Aaron was. •Nor did Christ give himself the glory of 6 becoming high priest, but he had it from the one who said to him: You are my 7 son, today I have become your father,^a and in another text: You are a priest of 8 the order of Melchizedek, and for ever.^b •During his life on earth, he offered up 9 prayer and entreaty, aloud and in silent tears, to the one who had the power to 10 save him out of death, and he submitted so humbly that his prayer was heard.
 11 Although he was Son, he learned to obey through suffering; •but having been 12 made perfect, he became for all who obey him the source of eternal salvation
 13 and was acclaimed by God with the title of high priest of the order of Melchizedek.

III. THE AUTHENTIC PRIESTHOOD OF JESUS CHRIST

Christian life and theology

11 On this subject we have many things to say, and they are difficult to explain 12 because you have grown so slow at understanding. •Really, when you should by 13 this time have become masters, you need someone to teach you all over again the 14 elementary principles of interpreting God's oracles; you have gone back to needing 15 milk and not solid food. •Truly, anyone who is still living on milk cannot digest
 16 the doctrine of righteousness because he is still a baby. •Solid food is for mature 17 men with minds trained by practice to distinguish between good and bad.

The author explains his intention

1 6 Let us leave behind us then all the elementary teaching about Christ and 2 concentrate on its completion, without going over the fundamental doctrines
 3 again: the turning away from dead actions and toward faith in God; •the teaching
 4 about baptisms and the laying on of hands; the teaching about the resurrection
 5 of the dead and eternal judgment. •This, God willing, is what we propose to do.
 6 As for those people who were once brought into the light, and tasted the gift
 7 from heaven, and received a share of the Holy Spirit, •and appreciated the good 8 message of God and the powers of the world to come •and yet in spite of this 9 have fallen away—it is impossible for them to be renewed a second time. They 10 cannot be repentant if they have willfully crucified the Son of God and openly 11 mocked him. •A field that has been well watered by frequent rain, and gives the 12 crops that are wanted by the owners who grew them, is given God's blessing;
 13 but one that grows brambles and thistles is abandoned, and practically cursed.
 14 It will end by being burned.

Words of hope and encouragement

9 But you, my dear people, in spite of what we have just said, we are sure you
 10 are in a better state and on the way to salvation. •God would not be so unjust
 11 as to forget all you have done, the love that you have for his name or the services 12 you have done, and are still doing, for the saints.^a •Our one desire is that every 13 one of you should go on showing the same earnestness to the end, to the perfect 14 fulfillment of our hopes, •never growing careless, but imitating those who have the 15 faith and the perseverance to inherit the promises.

16 When God made the promise to Abraham, he swore by his own self, since it 17 was impossible for him to swear by anyone greater: 'I will shower blessings on 18 you and give you many descendants.^b •Because of that, Abraham persevered and 19 saw the promise fulfilled. •Men, of course, swear an oath by something greater 20 than themselves, and between men, confirmation by an oath puts an end to all 21 dispute. •In the same way, when God wanted to make the heirs to the promise 22 thoroughly realize that his purpose was unalterable, he conveyed this by an oath;
 23 so that there would be two unalterable things in which it was impossible for God to be lying, and so that we, now we have found safety, should have a strong 19 encouragement to take a firm grip on the hope that is held out to us. Here we have an anchor for our soul, as sure as it is firm, and reaching right through 20 beyond the veil^c where Jesus has entered before us and on our behalf, to become a high priest of the order of Melchizedek, and for ever.

A. CHRIST'S PRIESTHOOD HIGHER THAN LEVITICAL PRIESTHOOD

Melchizedek^a

1 7 You remember that Melchizedek, king of Salem, a priest of God Most High, went to meet Abraham who was on his way back after defeating the kings, and 2 blessed him; and also that it was to him that Abraham gave a tenth of all that he had. By the interpretation of his name, he is, first, "king of righteousness" and 3 also king of Salem, that is, "king of peace"; he has no father, no mother or ancestry, and his life has no beginning or ending; he is like the Son of God. He remains a priest for ever.

Melchizedek accepted tithes from Abraham

4 Now think how great this man must have been, if the patriarch Abraham paid
 5 him a tenth of the treasure he had captured.^b We know that any of the descendants of Levi who are admitted to the priesthood are obliged by the Law to take tithes from the people, and this is taking them from their own brothers although they 6 too are descended from Abraham. But this man, who was not of the same descent, took his tenth from Abraham, and he gave his blessing to the holder of 7 the promises. Now it is indisputable that a blessing is given by a superior to an 8 inferior. Further, in the one case it is ordinary mortal men who receive the 9 tithes, and in the other, someone who is declared to be still alive. It could be said that Levi himself, who receives tithes, actually paid them, in the person of 10 Abraham, because he was still in the loins of his ancestor when Melchizedek came to meet him.

From levitical priesthood to the priesthood of Melchizedek

11 Now if perfection had been reached through the levitical priesthood because the Law given to the nation rests on it, why was it still necessary for a new priesthood to arise, one of the same order as Melchizedek^c not counted as being 12 "of the same order as" Aaron? But any change in the priesthood must mean a change in the Law as well.

13 So our Lord, of whom these things were said, belonged to a different tribe, 14 the members of which have never done service at the altar; everyone knows he came from Judah, a tribe which Moses did not even mention when dealing with priests.

The abrogation of the old Law

15 This^d becomes even more clearly evident when there appears a second 16 Melchizedek, who is a priest not by virtue of a law about physical descent, but 17 by the power of an indestructible life. For it was about him that the prophecy 18 was made: You are a priest of the order of Melchizedek, and for ever. The

5 a. Ps. 2:7 b. Ps. 110:4

6 a. The same phrase is used in Rm. and 2 Co. about a collection of money made for the church in Jerusalem. b. Gn. 22 c. Lv. 16:2

7 a. Gn. 14, from which the following quotation is made, is silent about any ancestors or descendants of Melchizedek, and about "the beginning and ending" of his life. b. The regular tithe paid to levitical priests was a tenth. c. Ps. 110:4 d. What has been said in v. 12.

earlier commandment is thus abolished, because it was neither effective nor useful, since the Law could not make anyone perfect; but now this commandment is replaced by something better—the hope that brings us nearer to God.

Christ's priesthood is unchanging

What is more, this was not done without the taking of an oath. The others, indeed, were made priests without any oath; but he with an oath sworn by the one who declared to him: The Lord has sworn an oath which he will never retract: you are a priest, and for ever.^c And it follows that it is a greater covenant for which Jesus has become our guarantee. Then there used to be a great number of those other priests, because death put an end to each one of them; but this one, because he remains for ever, can never lose his priesthood. It follows, then, that his power to save is utterly certain, since he is living for ever to intercede for all who come to God through him.

The perfection of the heavenly high priest

To suit us, the ideal high priest would have to be holy, innocent and uncontaminated, beyond the influence of sinners, and raised up above the heavens; one who would not need to offer sacrifices every day, as the other high priests do for their own sins and then for those of the people, because he has done this once and for all by offering himself. The Law appoints high priests who are men subject to weakness; but the promise on oath, which came after the Law, appointed the Son who is made perfect for ever.

B. THE SUPERIORITY OF THE WORSHIP, THE SANCTUARY AND THE MEDIATION PROVIDED BY CHRIST THE PRIEST

The new priesthood and the new sanctuary

The great point of all that we have said is that we have a high priest of exactly this kind. He has his place at the right of the throne of divine Majesty in the heavens, and he is the minister of the sanctuary and of the true Tent of Meeting which the Lord, and not any man, set up.^a It is the duty of every high priest to offer gifts and sacrifices, and so this one too must have something to offer. In fact, if he were on earth, he would not be a priest at all, since there are others who make the offerings laid down by the Law and these only maintain the service of a model or a reflection of the heavenly realities. For Moses, when he had the Tent to build, was warned by God who said: See that you make everything according to the pattern shown you on the mountain.^b

Christ is the mediator of a greater covenant

We have seen that he has been given a ministry of a far higher order, and to the same degree it is a better covenant of which he is the mediator, founded on better promises. If that first covenant had been without a fault, there would have been no need for a second one to replace it. And in fact God does find fault with them; he says:

*See, the days are coming—it is the Lord who speaks—
when I will establish a new covenant with the House of Israel and the House of Judah, but not a covenant like the one I made with their ancestors on the day I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt.
They abandoned that covenant of mine,
and so I on my side deserted them. It is the Lord who speaks.
No, this is the covenant I will make*

*with the House of Israel
when those days arrive—it is the Lord who speaks.
I will put my laws into their minds and write them on their hearts.
Then I will be their God
and they shall be my people.
11 There will be no further need for neighbor to try to teach neighbor, or brother to say to brother,
“Learn to know the Lord.”
No, they will all know me,
the least no less than the greatest,
since I will forgive their iniquities and never call their sins to mind.^e*

¹³ By speaking of a new covenant, he implies that the first one is already old. Now anything old only gets more antiquated until in the end it disappears.

Christ enters the heavenly sanctuary

¹ 9 The first covenant also had its laws governing worship, and its sanctuary,
² a sanctuary on this earth. There was a tent which comprised two ³ compartments: the first, in which the lampstand, the table and the presentation
⁴ loaves were kept, was called the Holy Place; then beyond the second veil, an ⁵ innermost part which was called the Holy of Holies to which belonged the gold altar of incense, and the ark of the covenant, plated all over with gold. In this were kept the gold jar containing the manna, Aaron's branch that grew the buds, ⁶ and the stone tablets of the covenant. On top of it was the throne of mercy, and outspread over it were the glorious cherubs. This is not the time to go into greater detail about this.

⁷ Under these provisions, priests are constantly going into the outer tent to carry out their acts of worship, but the second tent is entered only once a year, and then only by the high priest who must go in by himself and take the blood to ⁸ offer for his own faults and the people's. By this, the Holy Spirit is showing that no one has the right to go into the sanctuary as long as the outer tent remains ⁹ standing; it is a symbol for this present time. None of the gifts and sacrifices offered under these regulations can possibly bring any worshiper to perfection ¹⁰ in his inner self; they are rules about the outward life, connected with foods and drinks and washing at various times, intended to be in force only until it should be time to reform them.

¹¹ But now Christ has come, as the high priest of all the blessings which were to come. He has passed through the greater, the more perfect tent, which is better ¹² than the one made by men's hands because it is not of this created order; and he has entered the sanctuary once and for all, taking with him not the blood of goats and bull calves, but his own blood, having won an eternal redemption for us.
¹³ The blood of goats and bulls and the ashes of a heifer are sprinkled on those who have incurred defilement and they restore the holiness of their outward lives;
¹⁴ how much more effectively the blood of Christ, who offered himself as the perfect sacrifice to God through the eternal Spirit, can purify our inner self from dead actions so that we do our service to the living God.

Christ seals the new covenant with his blood

¹⁵ He brings a new covenant, as the mediator, only so that the people who were called to an eternal inheritance may actually receive what was promised: his death ¹⁶ took place to cancel the sins that infringed the earlier covenant. Now wherever ¹⁷ a will is in question, the death of the testator must be established; indeed, it only

^e. Ps. 110:4

⁸ a. Nb. 24:6 (LXX) b. Ex. 25:40 c. Jr. 31:31–34

becomes valid with that death, since it is not meant to have any effect while the testator is still alive. That explains why even the earlier covenant needed something to be killed in order to take effect, and why, after Moses had announced all the commandments of the Law to the people, he took the calves' blood, the goats' blood and some water, and with these he sprinkled the book itself and all the people, using scarlet wool and hyssop; saying as he did so: This is the blood of the covenant that God has laid down for you.^a After that, he sprinkled the tent and all the liturgical vessels with blood in the same way. In fact, according to the Law almost everything has to be purified^b with blood; and if there is no shedding of blood, there is no remission. Obviously, only the copies of heavenly things can be purified in this way, and the heavenly things themselves have to be purified by a higher sort of sacrifice than this. It is not as though Christ had entered a man-made sanctuary which was only modeled on the real one; but it was heaven itself, so that he could appear in the actual presence of God on our behalf. And he does not have to offer himself again and again, like the high priest going into the sanctuary year after year with the blood that is not his own, or else he would have had to suffer over and over again since the world began. Instead of that, he has made his appearance once and for all, now at the end of the last age, to do away with sin by sacrificing himself. Since men only die once, and after that comes judgment, so Christ, too, offers himself only once to take the faults of many on himself,^c and when he appears a second time, it will not be to deal with sin but to reward with salvation those who are waiting for him.

SUMMARY: CHRIST'S SACRIFICE SUPERIOR TO THE SACRIFICES OF THE MOSAIC LAW

The old sacrifices ineffective

10 So, since the Law has no more than a reflection of these realities, and no finished picture of them, it is quite incapable of bringing the worshipers to perfection, with the same sacrifices repeatedly offered year after year. Otherwise, the offering of them would have stopped, because the worshipers, when they had been purified once, would have no awareness of sins. Instead of that, the sins are recalled year after year in the sacrifices. Bulls' blood and goats' blood are useless for taking away sins, and this is what he said, on coming into the world:

*You who wanted no sacrifice or oblation,
prepared a body for me.*

*You took no pleasure in holocausts or sacrifices for sin;
then I said,
just as I was commanded in the scroll of the book,
"God, here I am! I am coming to obey your will."^a*

Notice that he says first: You did not want what the Law lays down as the things to be offered, that is: the sacrifices, the oblations, the holocausts and the sacrifices for sin, and you took no pleasure in them; and then he says: Here I am! I am coming to obey your will. He is abolishing the first sort to replace it with the second. And this will was for us to be made holy by the offering of his body made once and for all by Jesus Christ.

The efficacy of Christ's sacrifice

All the priests stand at their duties every day, offering over and over again the same sacrifices which are quite incapable of taking sins away. He, on the other hand, has offered one single sacrifice for sins, and then taken his place for ever, at the right hand of God, where he is now waiting until his enemies are made into a footstool for him.^b By virtue of that one single offering, he has achieved

15 the eternal perfection of all whom he is sanctifying. •The Holy Spirit assures us of this; for he says, first:

16 *This is the covenant I will make with them
when those days arrive^c;*

and the Lord then goes on to say:

*I will put my laws into their hearts
and write them on their minds.*

17 *I will never call their sins to mind,
or their offenses.*

18 When all sins have been forgiven, there can be no more sin offerings.

IV. PERSEVERING FAITH

The Christian opportunity

19 In other words, brothers, through the blood of Jesus we have the right to enter 20 the sanctuary, •by a new way which he has opened for us, a living opening
21 through the curtain, that is to say, his body. •And we have the supreme high priest
22 over all the house of God. •So as we go in, let us be sincere in heart and filled with faith, our minds sprinkled and free from any trace of bad conscience and our 23 bodies washed with pure water. •Let us keep firm in the hope we profess, because 24 the one who made the promise is faithful. •Let us be concerned for each other,
25 to stir a response in love and good works. •Do not stay away from the meetings of the community, as some do, but encourage each other to go; the more so as you see the Day drawing near.

The danger of apostasy

26 If, after we have been given knowledge of the truth, we should deliberately 27 commit any sins, then there is no longer any sacrifice for them. •There will be left only the dread prospect of judgment and of the raging fire that is to burn 28 rebels.^d •Anyone who disregards the Law of Moses is ruthlessly put to death on the 29 word of two witnesses or three^e; •and you may be sure that anyone who tramples on the Son of God, and who treats the blood of the covenant which sanctified him as if it were not holy, and who insults the Spirit of grace, will be condemned to a 30 far severer punishment. •We are all aware who it was that said: Vengeance is 31 mine; I will repay!^f And again: The Lord will judge his people. •It is a dreadful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.

Motives for perseverance

32 Remember all the sufferings that you had to meet after you received the 33 light, in earlier days; •sometimes by being yourselves publicly exposed to insults and violence, and sometimes as associates of others who were treated in the same 34 way. •For you not only shared in the sufferings of those who were in prison, but you happily accepted being stripped of your belongings, knowing that you owned 35 something that was better and lasting. •Be as confident now, then, since the reward 36 is so great. •You will need endurance to do God's will and gain what he has promised.

37 *Only a little while now, a very little while,
and the one that is coming will have come; he will not delay.^g* 38 The righteous man will live by faith, but if he draws back, my soul will take no pleasure in him.^h

9 a. Ex. 24:8 b. Many instances are given in Lv. c. Is. 53:12

10 a. Ps. 40:6–8 (LXX) b. Ps. 110 c. From the long quotation from Jr. 31 made in ch. 8.
d. Is. 26:11 (LXX) e. Dt. 17:6 f. Dt. 32:35–36 g. Is. 26:20 (LXX) h. Hab. 2:3–4 (LXX)

39 You and I are not the sort of people who draw back, and are lost by it; we are the sort who keep faithful until our souls are saved.

The exemplary faith of our ancestors

1 11 Only faith can guarantee the blessings that we hope for, or prove the 2 existence of the realities that at present remain unseen. ·It was for faith that our ancestors were commended.

3 It is by faith that we understand that the world was created by one word from God, so that no apparent cause can account for the things we can see.

4 It was because of his faith that Abel offered God a better sacrifice than Cain, and for that he was declared to be righteous when God made acknowledgment of his offerings. Though he is dead, he still speaks by faith.

5 It was because of his faith that Enoch was taken up and did not have to experience death: he was not to be found because God had taken him.^a This was
6 because before his assumption it is attested that he had pleased God. ·Now it is impossible to please God without faith, since anyone who comes to him must believe that he exists and rewards those who try to find him.

7 It was through his faith that Noah, when he had been warned by God of something that had never been seen before, felt a holy fear and built an ark to save his family. By his faith the world was convicted, and he was able to claim the righteousness which is the reward of faith.

8 It was by faith that Abraham obeyed the call to set out for a country that was the inheritance given to him and his descendants, and that he set out without 9 knowing where he was going. ·By faith he arrived, as a foreigner, in the Promised Land, and lived there as if in a strange country, with Isaac and Jacob, who were 10 heirs with him of the same promise. ·They lived there in tents while he looked forward to a city founded, designed and built by God.

11 It was equally by faith that Sarah, in spite of being past the age, was made able to conceive, because she believed that he who had made the promise would be 12 faithful to it. ·Because of this, there came from one man, and one who was already as good as dead himself, more descendants than could be counted, as many as the stars of heaven or the grains of sand on the seashore.^b

13 All these died in faith, before receiving any of the things that had been promised, but they saw them in the far distance and welcomed them, recognizing 14 that they were only strangers and nomads on earth. ·People who use such terms about themselves make it quite plain that they are in search of their real homeland. They can hardly have meant the country they came from, since they had the 15 opportunity to go back to it; ·but in fact they were longing for a better homeland, their heavenly homeland. That is why God is not ashamed to be called their God, since he has founded the city for them.

17 It was by faith that Abraham, when put to the test, offered up Isaac.^c He offered 18 to sacrifice his only son even though the promises had been made to him ·and he 19 had been told: It is through Isaac that your name will be carried on.^d ·He was confident that God had the power even to raise the dead; and so, figuratively speaking, he was given back Isaac from the dead.

20 It was by faith that this same Isaac gave his blessing to Jacob and Esau for the 21 still distant future. ·By faith Jacob, when he was dying, blessed each of Joseph's
22 sons, leaning on the end of his stick as though bowing to pray.^e ·It was by faith that, when he was about to die, Joseph recalled the Exodus of the Israelites and made the arrangements for his own burial.

23 It was by faith that Moses, when he was born, was hidden by his parents for three months; they defied the royal edict when they saw he was such a fine child.
24 It was by faith that, when he grew to manhood, Moses refused to be known as the 25 son of Pharaoh's daughter ·and chose to be ill-treated in company with God's 26 people rather than to enjoy for a time the pleasures of sin. ·He considered that the insults offered to the Anointed were something more precious than all the

27 treasures of Egypt, because he had his eyes fixed on the reward. •It was by faith that he left Egypt and was not afraid of the king's anger; he held to his purpose
28 like a man who could see the Invisible. •It was by faith that he kept the Passover and sprinkled the blood to prevent the Destroyer from touching any of the first-
29 born sons of Israel. •It was by faith they crossed the Red Sea as easily as dry land, while the Egyptians, trying to do the same, were drowned.

30 It was through faith that the walls of Jericho fell down when the people had 31 been around them for seven days. •It was by faith that Rahab the prostitute welcomed the spies and so was not killed with the unbelievers.

32 Is there any need to say more? There is not time for me to give an account of Gideon, Barak, Samson, Jephthah, or of David, Samuel and the prophets.
33 These were men who through faith conquered kingdoms, did what is right and 34 earned the promises. They could keep a lion's mouth shut, •put out blazing fires and emerge unscathed from battle. They were weak people who were given 35 strength, to be brave in war and drive back foreign invaders. •Some came back to their wives from the dead, by resurrection; and others submitted to torture,
36 refusing release so that they would rise again to a better life. •Some had to bear
37 being pilloried and flogged, or even chained up in prison. •They were stoned, or sawn in half,^f or beheaded; they were homeless, and dressed in the skins of sheep and goats; they were penniless and were given nothing but ill-treatment.
38 They were too good for the world and they went out to live in deserts and 39 mountains and in caves and ravines. •These are all heroes of faith, but they did 40 not receive what was promised, •since God had made provision for us to have something better, and they were not to reach perfection except with us.

The example of Jesus Christ

1 12With so many witnesses in a great cloud on every side of us, we too, then,
2 should throw off everything that hinders us, especially the sin that clings
3 so easily, and keep running steadily in the race we have started. •Let us not lose
4 sight of Jesus, who leads us in our faith and brings it to perfection: for the sake of the joy which was still in the future, he endured the cross, disregarding the 5 shamefulfulness of it, and from now on has taken his place at the right of God's throne.
6 Think of the way he stood such opposition from sinners and then you will not 7 give up for want of courage. •In the fight against sin, you have not yet had to 8 keep fighting to the point of death.

God's fatherly instruction

9 Have you forgotten that encouraging text in which you are addressed as sons?
10 My son, when the Lord corrects you, do not treat it lightly; but do not get discouraged
11 when he reprimands you. •For the Lord trains the ones that he loves and he punishes
12 all those that he acknowledges as his sons.^a •Suffering is part of your training;
13 God is treating you as his sons. Has there ever been any son whose father did not 14 train him? •If you were not getting this training, as all of you are, then you would 15 not be sons but bastards. •Besides, we have all had our human fathers who 16 punished us, and we respected them for it; we ought to be even more willing to 17 submit ourselves to our spiritual Father, to be given life. •Our human fathers 18 were thinking of this short life when they punished us, and could only do what 19 they thought best; but he does it all for our own good, so that we may share his 20 own holiness. •Of course, any punishment is most painful at the time, and far
21 from pleasant; but later, in those on whom it has been used, it bears fruit in peace
22 and goodness. •So hold up your limp arms and steady your trembling knees^b •and 23 smooth out the path you tread^c; then the injured limb will not be wrenched, it will 24 grow strong again.

12 a. Ps. 3:11–12 (LXX) b. Is. 35:3 c. Pr. 4:26 (LXX)

Unfaithfulness is punished

14 Always be wanting peace^d with all people, and the holiness without which no
 15 one can ever see the Lord. •Be careful that no one is deprived of the grace of God and that no root of bitterness should begin to grow and make trouble^e; this can poison 16 a whole community. •And be careful that there is no immorality, or that any of you does not degrade religion like Esau, who sold his birthright for one single 17 meal. •As you know, when he wanted to obtain the blessing afterward, he was rejected and, though he pleaded for it with tears, he was unable to elicit a change of heart.

The two covenants

18 What you have come to is nothing known to the senses: not a blazing fire,^f 19 or a gloom turning to total darkness, or a storm; or trumpeting thunder or the great voice speaking which made everyone that heard it beg that no more should 20 be said to them. •They were appalled at the order that was given: If even an animal touches the mountain, it must be stoned. •The whole scene was so terrible that 22 Moses said: I am afraid,^g and was trembling with fright. •But what you have come to is Mount Zion and the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem where the 23 millions of angels have gathered for the festival, •with the whole Church in which everyone is a “first-born son” and a citizen of heaven. You have come to God himself, the supreme Judge, and been placed with the spirits of the saints who have 24 been made perfect; •and to Jesus, the mediator who brings a new covenant and a 25 blood for purification which pleads more insistently than Abel’s. •Make sure that you never refuse to listen when he speaks. The people who refused to listen to the warning from a voice on earth could not escape their punishment, and how shall 26 we escape if we turn away from a voice that warns us from heaven? •That time his voice made the earth shake, but now he has given us this promise: I shall make 27 the earth shake once more and not only the earth but heaven as well.^h •The words once more show that since the things being shaken are created things, they are 28 going to be changed, so that the unshakable things will be left. •We have been given possession of an unshakable kingdom. Let us therefore hold on to the grace that we have been given and use it to worship God in the way that he finds 29 acceptable, in reverence and fear. •For our God is a consuming fire.ⁱ

APPENDIX

Final recommendations

1 13 Continue to love each other like brothers, •and remember always to 2 welcome strangers, for by doing this, some people have entertained angels
 3 without knowing it. •Keep in mind those who are in prison, as though you were in prison with them; and those who are being badly treated, since you too are in 4 the one body. •Marriage is to be honored by all, and marriages are to be kept undefiled, because fornicators and adulterers will come under God’s judgment.
 5 Put greed out of your lives and be content with whatever you have; God himself
 6 has said: I will not fail you or desert you,^a •and so we can say with confidence:
With the Lord to help me, I fear nothing: what can man do to me?^b

Faithfulness

7 Remember your leaders, who preached the word of God to you, and as you
 8 reflect on the outcome of their lives, imitate their faith. •Jesus Christ is the same 9 today as he was yesterday and as he will be for ever. •Do not let yourselves be led astray by all sorts of strange doctrines: it is better to rely on grace for inner strength than on dietary laws which have done no good to those who kept them.
 10 We have our own altar from which those who serve the tabernacle have no right 11 to eat. •The bodies of the animals whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the

¹² high priest for the atonement of sin are burned outside the camp,^c and so Jesus too ¹³ suffered outside the gate to sanctify the people with his own blood. Let us go to ¹⁴ him, then, outside the camp, and share his degradation. For there is no eternal ¹⁵ city for us in this life but we look for one in the life to come. Through him, let us offer God an unending sacrifice of praise,^d a verbal sacrifice that is offered ¹⁶ every time we acknowledge his name. Keep doing good works and sharing your resources, for these are sacrifices that please God.

Obedience to religious leaders

¹⁷ Obey your leaders and do as they tell you, because they must give an account of the way they look after your souls; make this a joy for them to do, and not a ¹⁸ grief—you yourselves would be the losers. We are sure that our own conscience is clear and we are certainly determined to behave honorably in everything we ¹⁹ do; pray for us. I ask you very particularly to pray that I may come back to you all the sooner.

EPILOGUE

News, good wishes and greetings

²⁰ I pray that the God of peace, who brought our Lord Jesus back^e from the dead to become the great Shepherd of the sheep^f by the blood that sealed an eternal ²¹ covenant,^g may make you ready to do his will in any kind of good action; and turn us all into whatever is acceptable to himself through Jesus Christ, to whom be glory for ever and ever, Amen.

²² I do ask you, brothers, to take these words of advice kindly; that is why I have written to you so briefly.

²³ I want you to know that our brother Timothy has been set free. If he arrives ²⁴ in time, he will be with me when I see you. Greetings to all your leaders and to ²⁵ all the saints. The saints of Italy send you greetings. Grace be with you all.

INTRODUCTION TO THE LETTERS TO ALL CHRISTIANS

Seven letters not written by Paul are included in the New Testament and these, because they were addressed to the Church at large, have been known as "the catholic epistles." The three of them attributed to John have been briefly introduced in the introductory note to John's Gospel.

James

The traditional attribution of this letter to "James, the brother of the Lord," is supported by internal evidence. Though it was written in Greek, the letter is full of hebraisms and its style of argument is characteristically Semitic, and it was clearly intended for Jewish converts so familiar with the Old Testament that they would understand allusions to it without direct quotation. It is more a sermon than a letter and consists largely of moral exhortations, laying particular stress on the practical "good works" expected of Christians and re-presenting much of the Jewish Wisdom tradition. It takes a different point of view from Paul's on the problem of relating faith to works, and may either be earlier than Galatians-Romans and written as early as A.D. 49, or it may be a rejoinder to what Paul had written and be placed at 57 or 58.

Jude

This is also a letter to Jewish Christians, probably written between A.D. 70 and 80. It denounces certain false teachers and threatens them with the punishments promised by Jewish tradition, and it quotes from apocryphal Jewish writings.

1 Peter. 2 Peter

1 Peter has from the earliest times been accepted as written by the apostle, though it may not have been first composed as a single letter. It is addressed to Christian churches largely made up of converts from paganism, and is in quite good Greek, perhaps through the help of the disciple Silvanus mentioned in it as secretary. The letter reflects a time of trial through which the churches were passing and contains much practical teaching under the dominating theme of fortitude in persecution.

2 Peter seems to date from later than Peter's death, though the writer may have had some claim to represent Peter and was possibly a disciple of his. One possibility is that he filled out one of Peter's writings by adopting the letter of Jude to make a chapter (ch. 2).

THE LETTER OF JAMES

Address and greetings

¹ 1 From James, servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ. Greetings to the twelve tribes of the Dispersion.^a

Trials a privilege

² My brothers, you will always have your trials but, when they come, try to treat
³ them as a happy privilege^b; you understand that your faith is only put to the ⁴ test to make you patient, but patience too is to have its practical results so that you will become fully developed, complete, with nothing missing.

⁵ If there is any one of you who needs wisdom, he must ask God, who ⁶ gives to all freely and ungrudgingly; it will be given to him. But he must ask with faith, and no trace of doubt, because a person who has doubts is like the ⁷ waves thrown up in the sea when the wind drives. That sort of person, in two ⁸ minds, wavering between going different ways, must not expect that the Lord will give him anything.

⁹ It is right for the poor brother to be proud of his high rank, and the rich
¹⁰ one to be thankful that he has been humbled, because riches last no longer than ¹¹ the flowers in the grass; the scorching sun comes up, and the grass withers, the flower falls; what looked so beautiful now disappears. It is the same with the rich man: his business goes on; he himself perishes.

¹² Happy the man who stands firm^d when trials come. He has proved himself, and will win the prize of life, the crown that the Lord has promised to those who love him.

Temptation

¹³ Never, when you have been tempted, say, "God sent the temptation"; God cannot be tempted to do anything wrong, and he does not tempt anybody.
¹⁴ Everyone who is tempted is attracted and seduced by his own wrong desire.
¹⁵ Then the desire conceives and gives birth to sin, and when sin is fully grown, it too has a child, and the child is death.

¹⁶ ¹⁷ Make no mistake about this, my dear brothers: it is all that is good, everything that is perfect, which is given us from above; it comes down from the Father of all light; with him there is no such thing as alteration, no shadow of a ¹⁸ change. By his own choice he made us his children by the message of the truth so that we should be a sort of first fruits of all that he had created.

1 a. In Old Testament days the "Dispersion" (diaspora) meant the Jews who had emigrated from their own country. The writer is using it here to mean the Jewish Christians, living in the Graeco-Roman world. b. "happy privilege" is a pun on the greeting formula in v.1. c. Is. 40:6-7 d. Dn. 12:12

True religion

19 Remember this, my dear brothers: be quick to listen^e but slow to speak and 20 slow to rouse your temper; •God's righteousness is never served by man's anger;
 21 so do away with all the impurities and bad habits that are still left in you—accept 22 and submit to the word which has been planted in you and can save your souls.
 23 But you must do what the word tells you, and not just listen to it and deceive
 24 yourselves. •To listen to the word and not obey is like looking at your own features 25 in a mirror and then, •after a quick look, going off and immediately forgetting 26 what you looked like. •But the man who looks steadily at the perfect law of 27 freedom and makes that his habit—not listening and then forgetting, but actively 28 putting it into practice—will be happy in all that he does.

Nobody must imagine that he is religious while he still goes on deceiving himself and not keeping control over his tongue; anyone who does this has the wrong idea of religion. •Pure, unspoiled religion, in the eyes of God our Father is this: coming to the help of orphans and widows when they need it, and keeping oneself uncontaminated by the world.

Respect for the poor

1 2 My brothers, do not try to combine faith in Jesus Christ, our glorified Lord,
 2 with the making of distinctions between classes of people. •Now suppose a man
 3 comes into your synagogue,^g beautifully dressed and with a gold ring on, and at 4 the same time a poor man comes in, in shabby clothes, •and you take notice of the 5 well-dressed man, and say, “Come this way to the best seats”; then you tell the 6 poor man, “Stand over there” or “You can sit on the floor by my footrest.” •Can't 7 you see that you have used two different standards in your mind, and turned 8 yourselves into judges, and corrupt judges at that?

Listen, my dear brothers: it was those who are poor according to the world that God chose, to be rich in faith and to be the heirs to the kingdom which he promised to those who love him. •In spite of this, you have no respect for anybody who is poor. Isn't it always the rich who are against you? Isn't it always their doing when you are dragged before the court? •Aren't they the ones who insult the honorable name to which you have been dedicated? •Well, the right thing to do is to keep the supreme law of scripture: you must love your neighbor as 9 yourself^h; •but as soon as you make distinctions between classes of people, you are 10 committing sin, and under condemnation for breaking the Law.

You see, if a man keeps the whole of the Law, except for one small point at which he fails, he is still guilty of breaking it all. •It was the same person who said, “You must not commit adultery” and “you must not kill.”^c Now if you commit murder, you do not have to commit adultery as well to become a breaker of the Law. •Talk and behave like people who are going to be judged by the law of freedom, •because there will be judgment without mercy for those who have not been merciful themselves; but the merciful need have no fear of judgment.

Faith and good works

14 Take the case, my brothers, of someone who has never done a single good 15 act but claims that he has faith. Will that faith save him? •If one of the brothers 16 or one of the sisters is in need of clothes and has not enough food to live on,
 17 and one of you says to them, “I wish you well; keep yourself warm and 18 eat plenty,” without giving them these bare necessities of life, then what good is 19 that? •Faith is like that: if good works do not go with it, it is quite dead.

This is the way to talk to people of that kind: “You say you have faith and I have good deeds; I will prove to you that I have faith by showing you my good deeds—now you prove to me that you have faith without any good deeds to show.
 19 You believe in the one God—that is creditable enough, but the demons have the 20 same belief, and they tremble with fear. •Do realize, you senseless man, that faith
 21 without good deeds is useless. •You surely know that Abraham our father was

22 justified by his deed, because he offered his son Isaac on the altar?^d There you see it: faith and deeds were working together; his faith became perfect by what he did.
 23 This is what scripture really means when it says: Abraham put his faith in God, and this was counted as making him justified; and that is why he was called "the friend of God."

24 You see now that it is by doing something good, and not only by believing, 25 that a man is justified. There is another example of the same kind: Rahab the prostitute, justified by her deeds because she welcomed the messengers and 26 showed them a different way to leave. A body dies when it is separated from the spirit, and in the same way faith is dead if it is separated from good deeds.

Uncontrolled language

1 3 Only a few of you, my brothers, should be teachers, bearing in mind that those of us who teach can expect a stricter judgment.

2 After all, every one of us does something wrong, over and over again; the only man who could reach perfection would be someone who never said anything
 3 wrong—he would be able to control every part of himself. Once we put a bit into the horse's mouth, to make it do what we want, we have the whole animal
 4 under our control. Or think of ships: no matter how big they are, even if a gale is driving them, the man at the helm can steer them anywhere he likes by 5 controlling a tiny rudder. So is the tongue only a tiny part of the body, but it can proudly claim that it does great things. Think how small a flame can set fire to a 6 huge forest; the tongue is a flame like that. Among all the parts of the body, the tongue is a whole wicked world in itself: it infects the whole body; catching fire
 7 itself from hell, it sets fire to the whole wheel of creation. Wild animals and birds, 8 reptiles and fish can all be tamed by man, and often are; but nobody can tame the 9 tongue—it is a pest that will not keep still, full of deadly poison. We use it to bless the Lord and Father, but we also use it to curse men who are made in God's 10 image: the blessing and the curse come out of the same mouth. My brothers, 11 this must be wrong—does any water supply give a flow of fresh water and salt
 12 water out of the same pipe? Can a fig tree give you olives, my brothers, or a vine give figs? No more can sea water give you fresh water.

Real wisdom and its opposite

13 If there are any wise or learned men among you, let them show it by their good 14 lives, with humility and wisdom in their actions. But if at heart you have the bitterness of jealousy, or a self-seeking ambition, never make any claims for 15 yourself or cover up the truth with lies—principles of this kind are not the wisdom that comes down from above: they are only earthly, animal and 16 devilish. Wherever you find jealousy and ambition, you find disharmony, and 17 wicked things of every kind being done; whereas the wisdom that comes down from above is essentially something pure; it also makes for peace, and is kindly and considerate; it is full of compassion and shows itself by doing good; nor is 18 there any trace of partiality or hypocrisy in it. Peacemakers, when they work for peace, sow the seeds which will bear fruit in holiness.

Disunity among Christians

1 4 Where do these wars and battles between yourselves first start? Isn't it precisely
 2 in the desires fighting inside your own selves? You want something and you haven't got it; so you are prepared to kill. You have an ambition that you cannot satisfy; so you fight to get your way by force. Why you don't have what you
 3 want is because you don't pray for it; when you do pray and don't get it, it is because you have not prayed properly, you have prayed for something to indulge your own desires.

4 You are as unfaithful as adulterous wives; don't you realize that making the world your friend is making God your enemy? Anyone who chooses the world
5 for his friend turns himself into God's enemy. 'Surely you don't think scripture is wrong when it says: the spirit which he sent to live in us wants us for himself
6 alone? 'But he has been even more generous to us, as scripture says: *God opposes
7 the proud but he gives generously to the humble.*^a 'Give in to God, then; resist the 8 devil, and he will run away from you. 'The nearer you go to God, the nearer he will come to you. Clean your hands, you sinners, and clear your minds, you
9 waverers. 'Look at your wretched condition, and weep for it in misery; be 10 miserable instead of laughing, gloomy instead of happy. 'Humble yourselves before the Lord and he will lift you up.

11 Brothers, do not slander one another. Anyone who slanders a brother, or condemns him, is speaking against the Law and condemning the Law. But if you condemn the Law, you have stopped keeping it and become a judge over it.
12 There is only one lawgiver and he is the only judge and has the power to acquit or to sentence. Who are you to give a verdict on your neighbor?

A warning for the rich and self-confident

13 Here is the answer for those of you who talk like this: "Today or tomorrow, we are off to this or that town; we are going to spend a year there, trading, and 14 make some money." 'You never know what will happen tomorrow: you are no 15 more than a mist that is here for a little while and then disappears. 'The most you should ever say is: "If it is the Lord's will, we shall still be alive to do this or 16 that." 'But how proud and sure of yourselves you are now! Pride of this kind is 17 always wicked. 'Everyone who knows what is the right thing to do and doesn't do it commits a sin.

1 5 Now an answer for the rich. Start crying, weep for the miseries that are 2 coming to you. 'Your wealth is all rotting, your clothes are all eaten up by 3 moths. 'All your gold and your silver are corroding away, and the same corrosion will be your own sentence, and eat into your body. It was a burning fire that you
4 stored up as your treasure for the last days. 'Laborers mowed your fields, and you cheated them—listen to the wages that you kept back, calling out; realize
5 that the cries of the reapers have reached the ears of the Lord of hosts. 'On earth you have had a life of comfort and luxury; in the time of slaughter you went 6 on eating to your heart's content. 'It was you who condemned the innocent and killed them; they offered you no resistance.

A final exhortation

7 Now be patient, brothers, until the Lord's coming. Think of a farmer: how 8 patiently he waits for the precious fruit of the ground until it has had the autumn rains and the spring rains! 'You too have to be patient; do not lose heart,
9 because the Lord's coming will be soon. 'Do not make complaints against one another, brothers, so as not to be brought to judgment yourselves; the Judge is 10 already to be seen waiting at the gates. 'For your example, brothers, in submitting with patience, take the prophets who spoke in the name of the Lord:
11 remember it is those who had endurance that we say are the blessed ones. You have heard of the patience of Job, and understood the Lord's purpose, realizing
12 that the Lord is kind and compassionate.^a

12 Above all, my brothers, do not swear by heaven or by the earth, or use any oaths at all. If you mean "yes," you must say "yes"; if you mean "no," say "no." Otherwise you make yourselves liable to judgment.

13 If any one of you is in trouble, he should pray; if anyone is feeling happy, he 14 should sing a psalm. 'If one of you is ill, he should send for the elders of the church, and they must anoint him with oil in the name of the Lord and 15 pray over him. 'The prayer of faith will save the sick man and the Lord will raise

¹⁶ him up again; and if he has committed any sins, he will be forgiven. ·So confess your sins to one another, and pray for one another, and this will cure you; the ¹⁷ heartfelt prayer of a good man works very powerfully. ·Elijah was a human being like ourselves—he prayed hard for it not to rain, and no rain fell for ¹⁸ three and a half years; ·then he prayed again and the sky gave rain and the earth gave crops.

¹⁹ My brothers, if one of you strays away from the truth, and another brings
²⁰ him back to it, ·he may be sure that anyone who can bring back a sinner from the wrong way that he has taken will be saving a soul from death and covering up a great number of sins.^b

THE FIRST LETTER OF PETER

Address. Greetings

¹ 1 Peter, apostle of Jesus Christ, sends greetings to all those living among foreigners in the Dispersion of Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia, who have been chosen, by the provident purpose of God the Father, to be made holy by the Spirit, obedient to Jesus Christ and sprinkled with his blood. Grace and peace be with you more and more.

Introduction. The salvation of Christians

³ Blessed be God the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who in his great mercy has given us a new birth as his sons, by raising Jesus Christ from the dead, so that we have a sure hope and the promise of an inheritance that can never be spoiled or soiled and never fade away, because it is being kept for you in the heavens. Through your faith, God's power will guard you until the salvation which has been prepared is revealed at the end of time. This is a cause of great joy for you, even though you may for a short time have to bear being plagued by all sorts of trials; so that, when Jesus Christ is revealed, your faith will have been tested and proved like gold—only it is more precious than gold, which is corruptible even though it bears testing by fire—and then you will have praise and glory and honor. You did not see him, yet you love him; and still without seeing him, you are already filled with a joy so glorious that it cannot be described, because you believe; and you are sure of the end to which your faith looks forward, that is, the salvation of your souls.

The hope of the prophets

¹⁰ It was this salvation that the prophets were looking and searching so hard for; their prophecies were about the grace which was to come to you. The Spirit of Christ which was in them foretold the sufferings of Christ and the glories that would come after them, and they tried to find out at what time and in what circumstances all this was to be expected. It was revealed to them that the news they brought of all the things which have now been announced to you, by those who preached to you the Good News through the Holy Spirit sent from heaven, was for you and not for themselves. Even the angels long to catch a glimpse of these things.

A call to sanctity and watchfulness

¹³ Free your minds, then, of encumbrances; control them, and put your trust in nothing but the grace that will be given you when Jesus Christ is revealed. Do not behave in the way that you liked to before you learned the truth; make a habit of obedience: be holy in all you do, since it is the Holy One who has called you, and scripture says: Be holy, for I am holy.^a

¹⁷ If you are acknowledging as your Father one who has no favorites and judges everyone according to what he has done, you must be scrupulously careful as long

18 as you are living away from your home. Remember, the ransom that was paid to free you^b from the useless way of life your ancestors handed down was not paid
19 in anything corruptible, neither in silver nor gold, but in the precious blood of a 20 lamb without spot or stain, namely Christ; who, though known since before the world was made, has been revealed only in our time, the end of the ages, for 21 your sake. Through him you now have faith in God, who raised him from the dead and gave him glory for that very reason—so that you would have faith and hope in God.

Love

22 You have been obedient to the truth and purified your souls until you can love like brothers, in sincerity; let your love for each other be real and from the 23 heart—your new birth was not from any mortal seed but from the everlasting
24 word of the living and eternal God. All flesh is grass and its glory like the wild 25 flower's. The grass withers, the flower falls, but the word of the Lord remains for ever.^c What is this word? It is the Good News that has been brought to you.

Integrity

1 2 Be sure, then, you are never spiteful, or deceitful, or hypocritical, or envious 2 and critical of each other. You are newborn, and, like babies, you should be hungry for nothing but milk—the spiritual honesty which will help you to 3 grow up to salvation—now that you have tasted the goodness of the Lord.^a

The new priesthood

4 He is the living stone, rejected by men but chosen by God and precious to him;
5 set yourselves close to him so that you too, the holy priesthood that offers the spiritual sacrifices which Jesus Christ has made acceptable to God, may be living 6 stones making a spiritual house. As scripture says: *See how I lay in Zion a precious
7 cornerstone that I have chosen and the man who rests his trust on it will not be disap-8 pointed.*^b That means that for you who are believers, it is precious; but for unbelievers, the stone rejected by the builders has proved to be the keystone,^c a stone to stumble over, a rock to bring men down.^d They stumble over it because they do not believe in the word; it was the fate in store for them.

9 But you are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a consecrated nation, a people set 10 apart^e to sing the praises of God who called you out of the darkness into his wonderful light. Once you were not a people^f at all and now you are the People of God; once you were outside the mercy and now you have been given mercy.

The obligations of Christians: toward pagans

11 I urge you, my dear people, while you are visitors and pilgrims^g to keep your-12 selves free from the selfish passions that attack the soul. Always behave honorably among pagans so that they can see your good works for themselves and, when the day of reckoning comes, give thanks to God for the things which now make them denounce you as criminals.

Toward civil authority

13 For the sake of the Lord, accept the authority of every social institution: the 14 emperor, as the supreme authority, and the governors as commissioned by him
15 to punish criminals and praise good citizenship. God wants you to be good 16 citizens, so as to silence what fools are saying in their ignorance. You are slaves of no one except God, so behave like free men, and never use your freedom as an 17 excuse for wickedness. Have respect for everyone and love for our community; fear God and honor the emperor.

other quotations in this sentence are allusive references to Ho. 2. g. Ps. 39:12

Toward masters

18 Slaves must be respectful and obedient to their masters, not only when they 19 are kind and gentle but also when they are unfair. •You see, there is some merit in putting up with the pains of unearned punishment if it is done for the sake of 20 God •but there is nothing meritorious in taking a beating patiently if you have done something wrong to deserve it. The merit, in the sight of God, is in bearing it patiently when you are punished after doing your duty.

21 This, in fact, is what you were called to do, because Christ suffered for you
22 and left an example for you to follow the way he took. •He had not done anything 23 wrong, and there had been no perjury in his mouth.^b •He was insulted and did not retaliate with insults; when he was tortured he made no threats but he put his 24 trust in the righteous judge. •He was bearing our faults in his own body on the cross, so that we might die to our faults and live for holiness; through his wounds 25 you have been healed. •You had gone astray like sheep but now you have come back to the shepherd and guardian^c of your souls.

In marriage

1 3 In the same way, wives should be obedient to their husbands. Then, if there are some husbands who have not yet obeyed the word, they may find them-2 selves won over, without a word spoken, by the way their wives behave, •when 3 they see how faithful and conscientious they are. •Do not dress up for show:
4 doing up your hair, wearing gold bracelets and fine clothes; •all this should be inside, in a person's heart, imperishable: the ornament of a sweet and gentle 5 disposition—this is what is precious in the sight of God. •That was how the holy women of the past dressed themselves attractively—they hoped in God and were 6 tender and obedient to their husbands; •like Sarah, who was obedient to Abraham, and called him her lord. You are now her children, as long as you live good lives and do not give way to fear or worry.

7 In the same way, husbands must always treat their wives with consideration in their life together, respecting a woman as one who, though she may be the weaker partner, is equally an heir to the life of grace. This will stop anything from coming in the way of your prayers.

Toward the brothers

8 Finally: you should all agree among yourselves and be sympathetic; love the 9 brothers, have compassion and be self-effacing. •Never pay back one wrong with another, or an angry word with another one; instead, pay back with a blessing. That is what you are called to do, so that you inherit a blessing yourself.
10 Remember: Anyone who wants to have a happy life and to enjoy prosperity must 11 banish malice from his tongue, deceitful conversation from his lips; •he must never 12 yield to evil but must practice good; he must seek peace and pursue it. •Because the face of the Lord frowns on evil men, but the eyes of the Lord are turned toward the virtuous, his ears to their cry.^a

In persecution

13 No one can hurt you if you are determined to do only what is right; •if you 14 do have to suffer for being good, you will count it a blessing. There is no need to 15 be afraid or to worry about them.^b •Simply reverence the Lord^c Christ in your hearts, and always have your answer ready for people who ask you the reason for 16 the hope that you all have. •But give it with courtesy and respect and with a clear conscience, so that those who slander you when you are living a good life in Christ 17 may be proved wrong in the accusations that they bring. •And if it is the will of God that you should suffer, it is better to suffer for doing right than for doing wrong.

The resurrection and "the descent into hell"

18 Why, Christ himself, innocent though he was, had died once for sins, died for 19 the guilty, to lead us to God. In the body he was put to death, in the spirit he was 20 raised to life, and, in the spirit, he went to preach to the spirits in prison.
 21 Now it was long ago, when Noah was still building that ark which saved only a 22 small group of eight people "by water," and when God was still waiting patiently, 23 that these spirits refused to believe. That water is a type of the baptism which 24 saves you now, and which is not the washing off of physical dirt but a pledge 25 made to God from a good conscience, through the resurrection of Jesus Christ, 26 who has entered heaven and is at God's right hand, now that he has made the 27 angels and Dominations and Powers his subjects.

1 4 Think of what Christ suffered in this life, and then arm yourselves with the 2 same resolution that he had: anyone who in this life has bodily suffering has 3 broken with sin, because for the rest of his life on earth he is not ruled by human 4 passions but only by the will of God. You spent quite long enough in the past 5 living the sort of life that pagans live, behaving indecently, giving way to your 6 passions, drinking all the time, having wild parties and drunken orgies and 7 degrading yourselves by following false gods. So people cannot understand why 8 you no longer hurry off with them to join this flood which is rushing down to 9 ruin, and then they begin to spread libels about you. They will have to answer 10 for it in front of the judge who is ready to judge the living and the dead. And 11 because he is their judge too, the dead had to be told the Good News as well, so 12 that though, in their life on earth, they had been through the judgment that 13 comes to all humanity, they might come to God's life in the spirit.

The revelation of Christ is close

7 Everything will soon come to an end, so, to pray better, keep a calm and sober
 8 mind. Above all, never let your love for each other grow insincere, since love
 9 covers over many a sin.^a Welcome each other into your houses without grumbling.
 10 Each one of you has received a special grace, so, like good stewards responsible 11 for all these different graces of God, put yourselves at the service of others. If 12 you are a speaker, speak in words which seem to come from God; if you are a 13 helper, help as though every action was done at God's orders; so that in 14 everything God may receive the glory, through Jesus Christ, since to him alone 15 belong all glory and power for ever and ever. Amen.

Recapitulation

12 My dear people, you must not think it unaccountable that you should be tested 13 by fire. There is nothing extraordinary in what has happened to you. If you can 14 have some share in the sufferings of Christ, be glad, because you will enjoy a much 15 greater gladness when his glory is revealed. It is a blessing for you when they 16 insult you for bearing the name of Christ, because it means that you have the 17 Spirit of glory, the Spirit of God resting on you. None of you should ever deserve
 18 to suffer for being a murderer, a thief, a criminal or an informer; but if anyone 19 of you should suffer for being a Christian, then he is not to be ashamed of it; he 20 should thank God that he has been called one. The time has come for the judg-21 ment to begin at the household of God; and if what we know now is only the 22 beginning, what will it be when it comes down to those who refuse to believe God's 23 Good News? If it is hard for a good man to be saved, what will happen to the wicked
 24 and to sinners?^b So even those whom God allows to suffer must trust themselves 25 to the constancy of the creator and go on doing good.

Instructions: to the elders

¹ 5 Now I have something to tell your elders: I am an elder myself, and a witness to the sufferings of Christ, and with you I have a share in the glory that is to be revealed. •Be the shepherds of the flock of God that is entrusted to you: watch over it, not simply as a duty but gladly, because God wants it; not for ² sordid money, but because you are eager to do it. •Never be a dictator over any group that is put in your charge, but be an example that the whole flock can ³ follow. •When the chief shepherd appears, you will be given the crown of unfading glory.

To the faithful

⁵ To the rest of you I say: do what the elders tell you, and all wrap yourselves in humility to be servants of each other, because God refuses the proud and will always favor the humble.^a •Bow down, then, before the power of God now, and he ⁶ will raise you up on the appointed day; •unload all your worries on to him,^b since ⁷ he is looking after you. •Be calm but vigilant, because your enemy the devil is ⁸ prowling around like a roaring lion, looking for someone to eat. •Stand up to him, strong in faith and in the knowledge that your brothers all over the world are ⁹ suffering the same things. •You will have to suffer only for a little while: the God of all grace who called you to eternal glory in Christ will see that all is well again: he ¹⁰ will confirm, strengthen and support you. •His power lasts for ever and ever. Amen.

Last words. Greetings

¹² I write these few words to you through Silvanus, who is a brother I know I can trust, to encourage you never to let go this true grace of God to which I bear witness.

¹³ Your sister in Babylon, who is with you among the chosen, sends you greetings; so does my son, Mark.

¹⁴ Greet one another with a kiss of love.
Peace to you all who are in Christ.

THE SECOND LETTER OF PETER

Greetings

¹ 1 From Simeon Peter, servant and apostle of Jesus Christ; to all who treasure the same faith as ourselves, given through the righteousness of our God and ² Savior Jesus Christ. •May you have more and more grace and peace as you come to know our Lord more and more.

A call to Christian living, and its reward

³ By his divine power, he has given us all the things that we need for life and for true devotion, bringing us to know God himself, who has called us by his own ⁴ glory and goodness. •In making these gifts, he has given us the guarantee of something very great and wonderful to come: through them you will be able to share the divine nature and to escape corruption in a world that is sunk in vice. ⁵ But to attain this, you will have to do your utmost yourselves, adding goodness ⁶ to the faith that you have, understanding to your goodness, •self-control to your understanding, patience to your self-control, true devotion to your patience, ⁷ kindness toward your fellow men to your devotion, and, to this kindness, love. ⁸ If you have a generous supply of these, they will not leave you ineffectual or unproductive: they will bring you to a real knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. ⁹ But without them a man is blind or else shortsighted; he has forgotten how ¹⁰ his past sins were washed away. •Brothers, you have been called and chosen: work all the harder to justify it. If you do all these things there is no danger that you will ¹¹ ever fall away. •In this way you will be granted admittance into the eternal kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

The apostolic witness

¹² That is why I am continually recalling the same truths to you, even though you ¹³ already know them and firmly hold them. •I am sure it is my duty, as long as ¹⁴ I am in this tent, to keep stirring you up with reminders, •since I know the time for taking off this tent is coming soon, as our Lord Jesus Christ foretold to me. ¹⁵ And I shall take great care that after my own departure you will still have a means to recall these things to memory. ¹⁶ It was not any cleverly invented myths that we were repeating when we brought you the knowledge of the power and the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ; ¹⁷ we had seen his majesty for ourselves. •He was honored and glorified by God the Father, when the Sublime Glory itself spoke to him and said, “This is my Son, ¹⁸ the Beloved; he enjoys my favor.” •We heard this ourselves, spoken from heaven, when we were with him on the holy mountain.^a

The value of prophecy

¹⁹ So we have confirmation of what was said in prophecies; and you will be right to depend on prophecy and take it as a lamp for lighting a way through the dark until the dawn comes and the morning star rises in your minds.

 20 At the same time, we must be most careful to remember that the interpretation 21 of scriptural prophecy is never a matter for the individual. •Why? Because no prophecy ever came from man's initiative. When men spoke for God it was the Holy Spirit that moved them.

False teachers

1 2 As there were false prophets in the past history of our people, so you too will have your false teachers, who will insinuate their own disruptive views and disown the Master who purchased their freedom. They will destroy themselves 2 very quickly; •but there will be many who copy their shameful behavior and the 3 Way of Truth will be brought into disrepute on their account. •They will eagerly try to buy you for themselves with insidious speeches, but for them the Condemnation, pronounced so long ago, is at its work already, and Destruction is not 4 asleep. •When angels sinned, God did not spare them: he sent them down to the underworld and consigned them to the dark underground caves to be held there 5 till the day of Judgment. •Nor did he spare the world in ancient times: it was only Noah he saved, the preacher of righteousness, along with seven others, when 6 he sent the Flood over a disobedient world. •The cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, these too he condemned and reduced to ashes; he destroyed them completely, as 7 a warning to anybody lacking reverence in the future; •he rescued Lot, however, a holy man who had been sickened by the shameless way in which these vile people 8 behaved—for that holy man, living among them, was outraged in his good soul 9 by the crimes that he saw and heard of every day. •These are all examples of how the Lord can rescue the good from the ordeal, and hold the wicked for their 10 punishment until the day of Judgment, •especially those who are governed by their corrupt bodily desires and have no respect for authority.

The punishment to come

Such self-willed people with no reverence are not afraid of offending against 11 the glorious ones, •but the angels in their greater strength and power make no 12 complaint or accusation against them in front of the Lord. •All the same, these people who only insult anything that they do not understand are not reasoning beings, but simply animals born to be caught and killed, and they will quite 13 certainly destroy themselves by their own work of destruction, •and get their reward of evil for the evil that they do. They are unsightly blots on your society:
 men whose only object is dissipation all day long, and they amuse themselves 14 deceiving you even when they are your guests at a meal; •with their eyes always looking for adultery, men with an infinite capacity for sinning, they will seduce any soul which is at all unstable. Greed is the one lesson their minds have learned.
 15 They are under a curse. •They have left the right path and wandered off to follow the path of Balaam son of Beor, who thought he could profit best by sinning, 16 until he was called to order for his faults. The dumb donkey put a stop to that 17 prophet's madness when it talked like a man. •People like this are dried-up rivers, fogs swirling in the wind, and the dark underworld is the place reserved for them.
 18 With their high-flown talk, which is all hollow, they tempt back the ones who have only just escaped from paganism, playing on their bodily desires with 19 debaucheries. •They may promise freedom but they themselves are slaves, slaves to corruption; because if anyone lets himself be dominated by anything, then 20 he is a slave to it; •and anyone who has escaped the pollution of the world once by coming to know our Lord and savior Jesus Christ, and who then allows himself to be entangled by it a second time and mastered, will end up in a worse 21 state than he began in. •It would even have been better for him never to have learned the way of holiness, than to know it and afterward desert the holy rule 22 that was entrusted to him. •What he has done is exactly as the proverb rightly says: The dog goes back to his own vomit^a and: When the sow has been washed, it wallows in the mud.

The Day of the Lord; the prophets and the apostles

¹ 3 My friends, this is my second letter to you, and in both of them I have tried
² to awaken a true understanding in you by giving you a reminder: recalling to you what was said in the past by the holy prophets and the commandments of the Lord and savior which you were given by the apostles.

³ We must be careful to remember that during the last days there are bound to be people who will be scornful, the kind who always please themselves in what
⁴ they do, and they will make fun of the promise and ask, "Well, where is this coming? Everything goes on as it has since the Fathers died, as it has since it began at the creation." They are choosing to forget that there were heavens
⁵ at the beginning, and that the earth was formed by the word of God out of water and between the waters, so that the world of that time was destroyed by
⁶ being flooded by water. But by the same word, the present sky and earth are destined for fire, and are only being reserved until Judgment day so that all sinners may be destroyed.

⁸ But there is one thing, my friends, that you must never forget: that with the Lord, "a day" can mean a thousand years, and a thousand years is like a day.^a

⁹ The Lord is not being slow to carry out his promises, as anybody else might be called slow; but he is being patient with you all, wanting nobody to be lost and everybody to be brought to change his ways. The Day of the Lord will come like a thief, and then with a roar the sky will vanish, the elements will catch fire and fall apart, the earth and all that it contains will be burned up.

Conclusion and doxology

¹¹ Since everything is coming to an end like this, you should be living holy and ¹² saintly lives while you wait and long for the Day of God to come, when the sky
¹³ will dissolve in flames and the elements melt in the heat. What we are waiting for is what he promised: the new heavens and new earth, the place where righteousness will be at home. So then, my friends, while you are waiting, do your ¹⁴ best to live lives without spot or stain so that he will find you at peace. Think of our Lord's patience as your opportunity to be saved: our brother Paul, who is so dear to us, told you this when he wrote to you with the wisdom that is his special ¹⁵ gift. He always writes like this when he deals with this sort of subject, and this makes some points in his letter hard to understand; these are the points that uneducated and unbalanced people distort, in the same way as they distort the rest
¹⁶ of scripture—a fatal thing for them to do. You have been warned about this, my friends; be careful not to get carried away by the errors of unprincipled ¹⁷ people, from the firm ground that you are standing on. Instead, go on growing in the grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and savior Jesus Christ. To him be glory, in time and in eternity. Amen.

THE FIRST LETTER OF JOHN

INTRODUCTION

The incarnate Word

- 1 1 Something which has existed since the beginning,
that we have heard,
and we have seen with our own eyes;
that we have watched
and touched with our hands:
the Word, who is life—
this is our subject.
- 2 That life was made visible:
we saw it and we are giving our testimony,
telling you of eternal life
which was with the Father and has been made visible to us.
- 3 What we have seen and heard
we are telling you
so that you too may be in union with us,
as we are in union
with the Father
and with his Son Jesus Christ.
- 4 We are writing this to you to make our own joy complete.

I. WALK IN THE LIGHT

- 5 This is what we have heard from him,
and the message that we are announcing to you:
God is light; there is no darkness in him at all.
- 6 If we say that we are in union with God^a while we are living in darkness,
we are lying because we are not living the truth.
- 7 But if we live our lives in the light,
as he is in the light,
we are in union with one another,
and the blood of Jesus, his Son,
purifies us from all sin.

First condition: break with sin

- 8 If we say we have no sin in us,
we are deceiving ourselves
and refusing to admit the truth;
- 9 but if we acknowledge our sins,

then God who is faithful and just will forgive our sins and purify us
 from everything that is wrong.
 10 To say that we have never sinned is to call God a liar
 and to show that his word is not in us.

1 2 I am writing this, my children,
 to stop you sinning;
 but if anyone should sin,
 we have our advocate with the Father,
 Jesus Christ, who is just;
 2 he is the sacrifice that takes our sins away,
 and not only ours,
 but the whole world's.

Second condition: keep the commandments, especially the law of love

3 We can be sure that we know God only by keeping his commandments.
 4 Anyone who says, "I know him,"
 and does not keep his commandments,
 is a liar,
 refusing to admit the truth.
 5 But when anyone does obey what he has said,
 God's love comes to perfection in him.
 We can be sure that we are in God
 6 only when the one who claims to be living in him is living the same kind of life as Christ lived.
 7 My dear people,
 this is not a new commandment that I am writing to tell you,
 but an old commandment
 that you were given from the beginning,
 the original commandment which was the message brought to you.
 8 Yet in another way, what I am writing to you, and what is being carried out in your lives as it was in his,
 is a new commandment;
 because the night is over
 and the real light is already shining.
 9 Anyone who claims to be in the light but hates his brother
 is still in the dark.
 10 But anyone who loves his brother is living in the light and need not be afraid of stumbling; 11 unlike the man who hates his brother and is in the darkness,
 not knowing where he is going,
 because it is too dark to see.

Third condition: detachment from the world

12 I am writing to you, my own children,
 whose sins have already been forgiven through his name;
 13 I am writing to you, fathers,
 who have come to know the one who has existed since the beginning;

1 a. In the translation, "God" or "Christ" has been used in several places, where the Greek has a simple pronoun, in order to make the writer's meaning clear.

I am writing to you, young men, who have already overcome the Evil One; 14 I have written to you, children,
 because you already know the Father;
 I have written to you, fathers,
 because you have come to know the one
 who has existed since the beginning;
 I have written to you, young men,
 because you are strong and God's word has made its home in you,
 and you have overcome the Evil One.
 15 You must not love this passing world or anything that is in the world.
 The love of the Father cannot be in any man who loves the world, 16 because nothing the world has to offer
 —the sensual body,
 the lustful eye,
 pride in possessions—
 could ever come from the Father
 but only from the world;
 17 and the world, with all it craves for,
 is coming to an end;
 but anyone who does the will of God remains for ever.

Fourth condition: be on guard against the enemies of Christ

18 Children, these are the last days;
 you were told that an Antichrist must come,
 and now several antichrists have already appeared;
 we know from this that these are the last days.
 19 Those rivals of Christ came out of our own number, but they had never really belonged;
 if they had belonged, they would have stayed with us;
 but they left us, to prove that not one of them ever belonged to us.
 20 But you have been anointed by the Holy One,
 and have all received the knowledge.
 21 It is not because you do not know the truth that I am writing to you but rather because you know it already and know that no lie can come from the truth.
 22 The man who denies that Jesus is the Christ—
 he is the liar,
 he is Antichrist;
 and he is denying the Father as well as the Son, 23 because no one who has the Father can deny the Son, and to acknowledge the Son is to have the Father as well.
 24 Keep alive in yourselves what you were taught in the beginning:
 as long as what you were taught in the beginning is alive in you,
 you will live in the Son
 and in the Father;
 25 and what is promised to you by his own promise is eternal life.
 26 This is all that I am writing to you about the people who are trying to lead you astray.
 27 But you have not lost the anointing that he gave you,
 and you do not need anyone to teach you;

the anointing he gave teaches you everything;
 you are anointed with truth, not with a lie,
 and as it has taught you, so you must stay in him.
 28 Live in Christ, then, my children,
 so that if he appears, we may have full confidence,
 and not turn from him in shame
 at his coming.
 29 You know that God is righteous—then you must recognize that everyone whose life is righteous has been begotten by him.

II. LIVE AS GOD'S CHILDREN

1 3 Think of the love that the Father has lavished on us, by letting us be called God's children;
 and that is what we are.
 Because the world refused to acknowledge him,
 therefore it does not acknowledge us.
 2 My dear people, we are already the children of God
 but what we are to be in the future has not yet been revealed;
 all we know is, that when it is revealed
 we shall be like him
 because we shall see him as he really is.

First condition: break with sin

3 Surely everyone who entertains this hope must purify himself, must try to be as pure as Christ.
 4 Anyone who sins at all breaks the law,
 because to sin is to break the law.
 5 Now you know that he appeared in order to abolish sin,
 and that in him there is no sin;
 6 anyone who lives in God does not sin,
 and anyone who sins
 has never seen him or known him.
 7 My children, do not let anyone lead you astray:
 to live a holy life
 is to be holy just as he is holy;
 8 to lead a sinful life is to belong to the devil,
 since the devil was a sinner from the beginning.
 It was to undo all that the devil has done
 that the Son of God appeared.
 9 No one who has been begotten by God sins;
 because God's seed remains inside him,
 he cannot sin when he has been begotten by God.

Second condition: keep the commandments, especially the law of love

10 In this way we distinguish the children of God
 from the children of the devil:
 anybody not living a holy life
 and not loving his brother is no child of God's.
 11 This is the message
 as you heard it from the beginning:
 that we are to love one another;

12 not to be like Cain, who belonged to the Evil One and cut his brother's throat;
 cut his brother's throat simply for this reason,
 that his own life was evil and his brother lived a good life.
 13 You must not be surprised, brothers, when the world hates you;
 14 we have passed out of death and into life,
 and of this we can be sure
 because we love our brothers.
 15 If you refuse to love, you must remain dead;
 to hate your brother is to be a murderer,
 and murderers, as you know, do not have eternal life in them.
 16 This has taught us love—
 that he gave up his life for us;
 and we, too, ought to give up our lives for our brothers.
 17 If a man who was rich enough in this world's goods saw that one of his brothers was in need,
 but closed his heart to him,
 how could the love of God be living in him?
 18 My children,
 our love is not to be just words or mere talk,
 but something real and active;
 19 only by this can we be certain that we are children of the truth and be able to quiet our conscience in his presence, 20 whatever accusations it may raise against us, because God is greater than our conscience and he knows everything.
 21 My dear people,
 if we cannot be condemned by our own conscience,
 we need not be afraid in God's presence, 22 and whatever we ask him,
 we shall receive,
 because we keep his commandments
 and live the kind of life that he wants.
 23 His commandments are these:
 that we believe in the name of his Son Jesus Christ and that we love one another as he told us to.
 24 Whoever keeps his commandments lives in God and God lives in him.
 We know that he lives in us
 by the Spirit that he has given us.

Third condition: be on guard against the enemies of Christ and against the world

1 4 It is not every spirit, my dear people, that you can trust;
 test them, to see if they come from God;
 there are many false prophets, now, in the world.
 2 You can tell the spirits that come from God by this:
 every spirit which acknowledges that Jesus the Christ has come in the flesh
 is from God;
 3 but any spirit which will not say this of Jesus is not from God,
 but is the spirit of Antichrist,
 whose coming you were warned about.
 Well, now he is here, in the world.

4 Children,
 you have already overcome these false prophets,
 because you are from God and you have in you
 one who is greater than anyone in this world;
 5 as for them, they are of the world,
 and so they speak the language of the world and the world listens to them.
 6 But we are children of God,
 and those who know God listen to us;
 those who are not of God refuse to listen to us.
 This is how we can tell
 the spirit of truth from the spirit of falsehood.

III. LOVE AND FAITH

Love

7 My dear people,
 let us love one another
 since love comes from God and everyone who loves is begotten by God and knows God.
 8 Anyone who fails to love can never have known God,
 because God is love.
 9 God's love for us was revealed
 when God sent into the world his only Son
 so that we could have life through him;
 10 this is the love I mean:
 not our love for God,
 but God's love for us when he sent his Son
 to be the sacrifice that takes our sins away.
 11 My dear people,
 since God has loved us so much,
 we too should love one another.
 12 No one has ever seen God;
 but as long as we love one another God will live in us
 and his love will be complete in us.
 13 We can know that we are living in him and he is living in us
 because he lets us share his Spirit.
 14 We ourselves saw and we testify that the Father sent his Son
 as savior of the world.
 15 If anyone acknowledges that Jesus is the Son of God,
 God lives in him, and he in God.
 16 We ourselves have known and put our faith in God's love toward ourselves.
 God is love
 and anyone who lives in love lives in God,
 and God lives in him.
 17 Love will come to its perfection in us when we can face the day of Judgment without fear;
 because even in this world
 we have become as he is.
 18 In love there can be no fear,
 but fear is driven out by perfect love:

because to fear is to expect punishment,
and anyone who is afraid is still imperfect in love.

19 We are to love, then,
because he loved us first.

20 Anyone who says, "I love God,"
and hates his brother,
is a liar,

since a man who does not love the brother that he can see cannot love God, whom he has never seen.

21 So this is the commandment that he has given us,
that anyone who loves God must also love his brother.

1 5

Whoever believes that Jesus is the Christ
has been begotten by God;
and whoever loves the Father that begot him loves the child whom he begets.

2 We can be sure that we love God's children
if we love God himself and do what he has commanded us;
3 this is what loving God is—

4 keeping his commandments;
and his commandments are not difficult,
because anyone who has been begotten by God
has already overcome the world;
this is the victory over the world—
our faith.

Faith

5 Who can overcome the world?
Only the man who believes that Jesus is the Son of God:
6 Jesus Christ who came by water and blood,^a not with water only,
but with water and blood;
with the Spirit as another witness—
since the Spirit is the truth—

7 so that there are three witnesses,
8 the Spirit, the water and the blood,
and all three of them agree.

9 We accept the testimony of human witnesses, but God's testimony is much greater,
and this is God's testimony,
given as evidence for his Son.

10 Everybody who believes in the Son of God has this testimony inside him;
and anyone who will not believe God
is making God out to be a liar,
because he has not trusted
the testimony God has given about his Son.

11 This is the testimony:
God has given us eternal life
and this life is in his Son; 12 anyone who has the Son has life,
anyone who does not have the Son does not have life.

Conclusion

13 I have written all this to you so that you who believe in the name of the Son of God
may be sure that you have eternal life.

ENDING

Prayer for sinners

- 14 We are quite confident that if we ask him for anything, and it is in accordance with his will,
he will hear us;
- 15 and, knowing that whatever we may ask, he hears us,
we know that we have already been granted what we asked of him.
- 16 If anybody sees his brother commit a sin
that is not a deadly sin,
he has only to pray, and God will give life to the sinner
—not those who commit a deadly sin;
for there is a sin that is death,
and I will not say that you must pray about that.
- 17 Every kind of wrongdoing is sin,
but not all sin is deadly.

Summary of the letter

- 18 We know that anyone who has been begotten by God
does not sin,
because the begotten Son of God protects him,
and the Evil One does not touch him.
- 19 We know that we belong to God,
but the whole world lies in the power of the Evil One.
- 20 We know, too, that the Son of God has come,
and has given us the power to know the true God.
We are in the true God,
as we are in his Son, Jesus Christ.
This is the true God,
this is eternal life.
- 21 Children, be on your guard against false gods.

2 JOHN

THE SECOND LETTER OF JOHN

¹ From the Elder: my greetings to the Lady, the chosen one,^a and to her children, she whom I love in the truth—and I am not the only one, for so do all
² who have come to know the truth—because of the truth that lives in us and will ³ be with us for ever. In our life of truth and love, we shall have grace, mercy and peace from God the Father and from Jesus Christ, the Son of the Father.

The law of love

⁴ It has given me great joy to find that your children have been living the life of ⁵ truth as we were commanded by the Father. I am writing now, dear lady, not to give you any new commandment, but the one which we were given at the beginning, and to plead: let us love one another.

⁶ To love is to live according to his commandments: this is the commandment which you have heard since the beginning, to live a life of love.

The enemies of Christ

⁷ There are many deceivers about in the world, refusing to admit that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh. They are the Deceiver; they are the Antichrist.
⁸ Watch yourselves, or all our work will be lost and not get the reward it deserves.
⁹ If anybody does not keep within the teaching of Christ but goes beyond it, he cannot have God with him: only those who keep to what he taught can have the ¹⁰ Father and the Son with them. If anyone comes to you bringing a different doctrine, you must not receive him in your house or even give him a greeting.
¹¹ To greet him would make you a partner in his wicked work.

¹² There are several things I have to tell you, but I have thought it best not to trust them to paper and ink. I hope instead to visit you and talk to you personally, so that our joy may be complete.

¹³ Greetings to you from the children of your sister,^b the chosen one.

3 JOHN

THE THIRD LETTER OF JOHN

¹ From the Elder: greetings to my dear friend Gaius, whom I love in the truth.
² My dear friend, I hope everything is going happily with you and that you are as ³ well physically as you are spiritually. ·It was a great joy to me when some brothers came and told of your faithfulness to the truth, and of your life in the truth.
⁴ It is always my greatest joy to hear that my children are living according to the truth.

⁵ My friend, you have done faithful work in looking after these brothers, even ⁶ though they were complete strangers to you. ·They are a proof to the whole
Church of your charity and it would be a very good thing if you could help them
⁷ on their journey in a way that God would approve. ·It was entirely for the sake of the name that they set out, without depending on the pagans for anything;
⁸ it is our duty to welcome men of this sort and contribute our share to their work for the truth.

Beware of the example of Diotrephes

⁹ I have written a note for the members of the church, but Diotrephes, who ¹⁰ seems to enjoy being in charge of it, refuses to accept us. ·So if I come, I shall tell everyone how he has behaved, and about the wicked accusations he has been circulating against us. As if that were not enough, he not only refuses to welcome our brothers, but prevents the other people who would have liked to from doing ¹¹ it, and expels them from the church. ·My dear friend, never follow such a bad example, but keep following the good one; anyone who does what is right is a child of God, but the person who does what is wrong has never seen God.

Commendation of Demetrius

¹² Demetrius has been approved by everyone, and indeed by the truth itself.
We too will vouch for him and you know that our testimony is true.

Epilogue

¹³ There were several things I had to tell you but I would rather not trust them
¹⁴ to pen and ink. ·However, I hope to see you soon and talk to you personally.
¹⁵ Peace be with you; greetings from your friends; greet each of our friends by name.

THE LETTER OF JUDE

Address

- 1 From Jude, servant of Jesus Christ and brother of James; to those who are called, to those who are dear to God the Father and kept safe for Jesus Christ,
2 wishing you all mercy and peace and love.

The reason for this letter

- 3 My dear friends, at a time when I was eagerly looking forward to writing to you about the salvation that we all share, I have been forced to write to you now and appeal to you to fight hard for the faith which has been once and for all entrusted to the saints. ·Certain people have infiltrated among you, and they are the ones you had a warning about, in writing, long ago, when they were condemned for denying all religion, turning the grace of our God into immorality, and rejecting our only Master and Lord, Jesus Christ.

The false teachers: the certainty of their punishment

- 5 I should like to remind you—though you have already learned it once and for all—how the Lord rescued the nation from Egypt, but afterward he still 6 destroyed the men who did not trust him. ·Next let me remind you of the angels who had supreme authority but did not keep it and left their appointed sphere^a; he has kept them down in the dark, in spiritual chains, to be judged on the great 7 day. ·The fornication of Sodom and Gomorrah and the other nearby towns was equally unnatural, and it is a warning to us that they are paying for their crimes in eternal fire.

Their violent language

- 8 Nevertheless, these people are doing the same: in their delusions they not only defile their bodies and disregard authority, but abuse the glorious angels as well. ·Not even the archangel Michael, when he was engaged in argument with the devil about the corpse of Moses, dared to denounce him in the language
9 of abuse; all he said was, “Let the Lord correct you.” ·But these people abuse anything they do not understand; and the only things they do understand—just by nature like unreasoning animals—will turn out to be fatal to them.

Their vicious behavior

- 11 May they get what they deserve, because they have followed Cain; they have rushed to make the same mistake as Balaam and for the same reward; they have 12 rebelled just as Korah did—and share the same fate. ·They are a dangerous obstacle to your community meals, coming for the food and quite shamelessly only looking after themselves. They are like clouds blown about by the winds and bringing no rain, or like barren trees which are then uprooted in the winter and so 13 are twice dead; ·like wild sea waves capped with shame as if with foam; or like 14 shooting stars bound for an eternity of black darkness. ·It was with them in mind that Enoch, the seventh patriarch from Adam, made his prophecy when he said, "I tell you, the Lord will come with his saints in their tens of thousands, to pronounce judgment on all mankind and to sentence the wicked for all the wicked things they have done, and for all the defiant things said against him by irreligious sinners." They are mischief-makers, grumblers governed only by their own desires, with mouths full of boastful talk, ready with flattery for other people when they see some advantage in it.

A warning

But remember, my dear friends, what the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ told you to expect. "At the end of time," they told you, "there are going to be people who sneer at religion and follow nothing but their own desires for wickedness." These unspiritual and selfish people are nothing but mischief-makers.

The duties of love

But you, my dear friends, must use your most holy faith as your foundation and build on that, praying in the Holy Spirit; keep yourselves within the love of God and wait for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ to give you eternal life. When there are some who have doubts, reassure them; when there are some to be saved from the fire, pull them out; but there are others to whom you must be kind with great caution, keeping your distance even from outside clothing which is contaminated by vice.

Doxology

Glory be to him who can keep you from falling and bring you safe to his glorious presence, innocent and happy. To God, the only God, who saves us through Jesus Christ our Lord, be the glory, majesty, authority and power, which he had before time began, now and for ever. Amen.

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOK OF REVELATION

A "Revelation" (called Apocalypse, from the Greek term) is a distinct literary form; apocalyptic writing was very popular in some Jewish circles at the beginning of the Christian Era. The framework of a Revelation is always a vision of hidden supernatural events; the language in which the vision is described is richly symbolic and so allusive that the message can be interpreted in more ways than one.

Thus the Book of Revelation is not to be accepted simply as an allegory which can be directly translated into other terms. It contains the author's vision of heaven and of the vindication of the Christian martyrs in the world to come, but it must be understood first and foremost as a tract for the times, written to increase the hope and determination of the Church on earth in a period of disturbance and bitter persecution, and prophesying the certain downfall and destruction of the Roman imperial power. The imagery, largely drawn from the Old Testament, especially Daniel, allows the author to allude to the enemy, Rome, under the disguise of the old enemy, Babylon; and to present the happenings of his own day, seen by their reflections in the heavens, as recapitulations or fulfillments of the great events of Israel's past.

The text contains difficulties: there are repetitions and interruptions, and there are passages out of context. One promising hypothesis is that the strictly prophetic part of the book is made up of two different "apocalypses" written at different times and later conflated. The author cannot be identified with the author of the Gospel according to John, but we can say that the book was written inside the evangelist's immediate circle and is pervaded by his doctrine. Its date is generally estimated as A.D. 95, but there are some who believe that parts, at least, were composed as early as Nero's time, shortly before A.D. 70.

THE BOOK OF REVELATION

Prologue

¹ 1 This is the revelation given by God to Jesus Christ so that he could tell his servants about the things which are now to take place^a very soon; he sent his angel to make it known to his servant John, and John has written down everything he saw and swears it is the word of God guaranteed by Jesus Christ. ² Happy the man who reads this prophecy, and happy those who listen to him, if they treasure all that it says, because the Time is close.

I. THE LETTERS TO THE CHURCHES OF ASIA

Address and greeting^b

⁴ From John, to the seven churches of Asia: grace and peace to you from him who is, who was, and who is to come, from the seven spirits in his presence before his throne, and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the First-born from the dead, the Ruler of the kings of the earth. He loves us and has washed away our sins with his blood, and made us a line of kings, priests to serve his God and Father; to him, then, be glory and power for ever and ever. Amen. It is he who is coming on the clouds; everyone will see him, even those who pierced him, and all the races of the earth will mourn over him. This is the truth. Amen. ⁸ "I am the Alpha and the Omega," says the Lord God, who is, who was, and who is to come, the Almighty.

The beginning of the vision

⁹ My name is John, and through our union in Jesus I am your brother and share your sufferings, your kingdom, and all you endure. I was on the island of Patmos^c for having preached God's word and witnessed for Jesus; it was the Lord's day and the Spirit possessed me, and I heard a voice behind me, shouting like a trumpet, "Write down all that you see in a book, and send it to the seven churches of Ephesus, Smyrna, Pergamum, Thyatira, Sardis, Philadelphia and Laodicea." I turned around to see who had spoken to me, and when I turned I saw seven golden lampstands and, surrounded by them, a figure like a Son of man,^d dressed in a long robe tied at the waist with a golden girdle. His head and his hair were white as white wool or as snow, his eyes like a burning flame, his feet like burnished bronze when it has been refined in a furnace, and his voice

1 a. Dn. 2:28 b. This section contains many Old Testament allusions to the time of the Messiah. The five direct quotations printed in italic are from: Ps. 89:37,27; Is. 55:4; Ex. 19:6; Dn. 7:13; and Zc. 12:10,14. c. Patmos (ten miles by five miles) was used by the Romans as a penal colony. d. The Messianic figure in Deuteronomy; the descriptive quotations which follow are from Dn. 7 and 10.

16 like the sound of the ocean.^c 'In his right hand he was holding seven stars, out of his mouth came a sharp sword, double-edged, and his face was like the sun shining with all its force.

17 When I saw him, I fell in a dead faint at his feet, but he touched me with his right hand and said, "Do not be afraid; it is I, the First and the Last; I am the 18 Living One, 'I was dead and now I am to live for ever and ever, and I hold the 19 keys of death and of the underworld. 'Now write down all that you see of present 20 happenings and things that are still to come.' The secret of the seven stars you have seen in my right hand, and of the seven golden lampstands is this: the seven stars are the angels of the seven churches, and the seven lampstands are the seven churches themselves.

1. Ephesus

1 2 "Write to the angel of the church in Ephesus and say, 'Here is the message
2 of the one who holds the seven stars in his right hand and who lives
3 surrounded by the seven golden lampstands: 'I know all about you: how hard 4 you work and how much you put up with. I know you cannot stand wicked men, 5 and how you tested the impostors who called themselves apostles and proved 6 they were liars. 'I know, too, that you have patience, and have suffered for my 7 name without growing tired. 'Nevertheless, I have this complaint to make;
8 you have less love now than you used to. 'Think where you were before you fell;
9 repent, and do as you used to at first, or else, if you will not repent, I shall come 10 to you and take your lampstand from its place. 'It is in your favor, nevertheless,
11 that you loathe as I do what the Nicolaitans are doing. 'If anyone has ears 12 to hear, let him listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches: those who 13 prove victorious I will feed from the tree of life set in God's paradise.'^a

2. Smyrna

8 "Write to the angel of the church in Smyrna and say, 'Here is the message of 9 the First and the Last, who was dead and has come to life again: 'I know the trials
10 you have had, and how poor you are—though you are rich—and the slanderous 11 accusations that have been made by the people who profess to be Jews but are 12 really members of the synagogue of Satan. 'Do not be afraid of the sufferings
13 that are coming to you: I tell you, the devil is going to send some of you to prison
14 to test you, and you must face an ordeal for ten days.^b Even if you have to die, 15 keep faithful, and I will give you the crown of life for your prize. 'If anyone has 16 ears to hear, let him listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches: for those 17 who prove victorious there is nothing to be afraid of in the second death.'

3. Pergamum

12 "Write to the angel of the church in Pergamum and say, 'Here is the message
13 of the one who has the sharp sword, double-edged: 'I know where you live, 14 in the place where Satan is enthroned, and that you still hold firmly to my name, 15 and did not disown your faith in me even when my faithful witness, Antipas, was 16 killed in your own town, where Satan lives.'^c

17 Nevertheless, I have one or two complaints to make: some of you are 18 followers of Balaam, who taught Balak to set a trap for the Israelites so that 19 they committed adultery by eating food that had been sacrificed to idols; 'and 20 among you, too, there are some as bad who accept what the Nicolaitans teach.
21 You must repent, or I shall soon come to you and attack these people with the 22 sword out of my mouth. 'If anyone has ears to hear, let him listen to what the 23 Spirit is saying to the churches: to those who prove victorious I will give the 24 hidden manna and a white stone^d—a stone with a new name written on it, 25 known only to the man who receives it.'

4. Thyatira

18 "Write to the angel of the church in Thyatira and say, 'Here is the message
19 of the Son of God who has eyes like a burning flame and feet like burnished

19 bronze: 'I know all about you and how charitable you are; I know your faith and devotion and how much you put up with, and I know how you are still making
20 progress. 'Nevertheless, I have a complaint to make: you are encouraging the woman Jezebel' who claims to be a prophetess, and by her teaching she is luring
21 my servants away to commit the adultery of eating food which has been sacrificed to idols. 'I have given her time to reform but she is not willing to change her
22 adulterous life. 'Now I am consigning her to bed, and all her partners in adultery to troubles that will test them severely, unless they repent of their practices;
23 and I will see that her children die, so that all the churches realize that it is I who search heart and loins and give each one of you what your behavior deserves.^f
24 But on the rest of you in Thyatira, all of you who have not accepted this teaching or learned the secrets of Satan, as they are called, I am not laying any special 25 duty; 'but hold firmly on to what you already have until I come. 'To those who prove victorious, and keep working for me until the end, I will give the 26 authority over the pagans^g 'which I myself have been given by my Father, to rule
27 them with an iron scepter and shatter them like earthenware. And I will give him

5. Sardis

1 3 "Write to the angel of the church in Sardis and say, 'Here is the message
2 of the one who holds the seven spirits of God and the seven stars: I know all
3 about you: how you are reputed to be alive and yet are dead. 'Wake up; revive 4 what little you have left: it is dying fast. So far I have failed to notice anything in 5 the way you live that my God could possibly call perfect, 'and yet do you
6 remember how eager you were when you first heard the message? Hold on to that.
7 Repent. If you do not wake up, I shall come to you like a thief, without telling 8 you at what hour to expect me. 'There are a few in Sardis, it is true, who have 9 kept their robes from being dirtied, and they are fit to come with me, dressed 10 in white. 'Those who prove victorious will be dressed, like these, in white robes;
11 I shall not blot their names out of the book of life, but acknowledge their names 12 in the presence of my Father and his angels. 'If anyone has ears to hear, let him listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches.'

6. Philadelphia

3 nobody can close, and when he closes, nobody can open^a: 'I know all about you;
4 and now I have opened in front of you a door that nobody will be able to close—
5 and I know that though you are not very strong, you have kept my commandments
6 and not disowned my name. 'Now I am going to make the synagogue of 7 Satan—those who profess to be Jews, but are liars, because they are no such 8 thing—I will make them come and fall at your feet^b and admit that you are 9 the people that I love.^c 'Because you have kept my commandment to endure trials,
10 I will keep you safe in the time of trial which is going to come for the whole world, 11 to test the people of the world. 'Soon I shall be with you: hold firmly to what prove victorious I will make into pillars in the sanctuary of my God, and they will stay there for ever; I will inscribe on them the name of my God and the 14 "Write to the angel of the church in Laodicea and say, 'Here is the message of the Amen, the faithful, the true witness, the ultimate source of God's creation:

 16 the other, 'but since you are neither, but only lukewarm, I will spit you out of my everything I want," never realizing that you are wretchedly and pitifully poor, and ears to hear, let him listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches.'"

II. THE PROPHETIC VISIONS

A. THE PRELUDE TO THE GREAT DAY

God entrusts the future of the world to the Lamb

1 4 Then, in my vision, I saw a door open in heaven and heard the same voice speaking to me, the voice like a trumpet, saying, "Come up here: I will show
 2 you what is to come in the future." 'With that, the Spirit possessed me and I saw 3 a throne standing in heaven, and the One who was sitting on the throne, 'and the Person sitting there looked like a diamond and a ruby. There was a rainbow 4 encircling the throne, and this looked like an emerald.^a 'Around the throne in a circle were twenty-four thrones, and on them I saw twenty-four elders sitting, 5 dressed in white robes with golden crowns on their heads. 'Flashes of lightning were coming from the throne, and the sound of peals of thunder, and in front of the throne there were seven flaming lamps burning, the seven Spirits of 6 God. 'Between the throne and myself was a sea that seemed to be made of glass, like crystal. In the center, grouped around the throne itself, were four animals^b 7 with many eyes, in front and behind. 'The first animal was like a lion, the second like a bull, the third animal had a human face, and the fourth animal was like 8 a flying eagle. 'Each of the four animals had six wings and had eyes all the way around as well as inside; and day and night they never stopped singing:

*"Holy, Holy, Holy
 is the Lord God, the Almighty;
 he was, he is and he is to come."*

9 Every time the animals glorified and honored and gave thanks to the One sitting 10 on the throne, who lives for ever and ever, 'the twenty-four elders prostrated themselves before him to worship the One who lives for ever and ever, and threw 11 down their crowns in front of the throne, saying, "You are our Lord and our God, you are worthy of glory and honor and power, because you made all the universe and it was only by your will that everything was made and exists."

1 5 I saw that in the right hand of the One sitting on the throne there was a scroll
 2 that had writing on back and front^a and was sealed with seven seals. 'Then
 I saw a powerful angel who called with a loud voice, "Is there anything worthy

3 to open the scroll and break the seals of it?" "But there was no one, in heaven or on the earth or under the earth, who was able to open the scroll and read it.
 4 I wept bitterly because there was nobody fit to open the scroll and read it, "but 5 one of the elders said to me, "There is no need to cry: the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root^b of David, has triumphed, and he will open the scroll and the seven seals of it."
 6 Then I saw, standing between the throne with its four animals and the circle of the elders, a Lamb that seemed to have been sacrificed; it had seven horns, and it had seven eyes, which are the seven Spirits God has sent out all over the 7 world.^c "The Lamb came forward to take the scroll from the right hand of the 8 One sitting on the throne, "and when he took it, the four animals prostrated themselves before him and with them the twenty-four elders; each one of them was holding a harp and had a golden bowl full of incense made of the prayers 9 of the saints. "They sang a new hymn:

"You are worthy to take the scroll and break the seals of it, because you were sacrificed, and with your blood
 you bought men for God
 of every race, language, people and nation
 10 and made them a line of kings and priests,^d
 to serve our God and to rule the world."

11 In my vision, I heard the sound of an immense number of angels gathered around the throne and the animals and the elders; there were ten thousand times 12 ten thousand of them^e and thousands upon thousands, "shouting, "The Lamb that was sacrificed is worthy to be given power, riches, wisdom, strength, honor, 13 glory and blessing." "Then I heard all the living things in creation—everything that lives in the air, and on the ground, and under the ground, and in the sea, crying, "To the One who is sitting on the throne and to the Lamb, be all praise, 14 honor, glory and power, for ever and ever." "And the four animals said, "Amen";
 and the elders prostrated themselves to worship.

The Lamb breaks the seven seals

1 6 Then I saw the Lamb break one of the seven seals, and I heard one of the 2 four animals shout in a voice like thunder, "Come." "Immediately a white horse appeared, and the rider on it was holding a bow; he was given the victor's crown and he went away, to go from victory to victory.

3 When he broke the second seal, I heard the second animal shout, "Come."
 4 And out came another horse, bright red, and its rider was given this duty: to take away peace from the earth and set people killing each other. He was given a huge sword.

5 When he broke the third seal, I heard the third animal shout, "Come,"
 Immediately a black horse appeared, and its rider was holding a pair of scales;
 6 and I seemed to hear a voice shout from among the four animals and say, "A ration of corn for a day's wages, and three rations of barley for a day's wages, but do not tamper with the oil or the wine."

7 When he broke the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth animal shout, 8 "Come." "Immediately another horse appeared, deathly pale, and its rider was called Plague, and Hades followed at his heels.

They were given authority over a quarter of the earth, to kill by the sword,
by famine, by plague and wild beasts.^a

9 When he broke the fifth seal, I saw underneath the altar the souls of all the people who had been killed on account of the word of God, for witnessing to it.
 10 They shouted aloud, "Holy, faithful Master, how much longer will you wait before you pass sentence and take vengeance for our death on the inhabitants of the earth?" "Each of them was given a white robe, and they were told to be patient a little longer, until the roll was complete and their fellow servants and brothers had been killed just as they had been.

12 In my vision, when he broke the sixth seal, there was a violent earthquake and the sun went as black as coarse sackcloth; the moon turned red as blood all over, and the stars of the sky fell^b on to the earth like figs dropping from a fig tree when a high wind shakes it; the sky disappeared like a scroll rolling up and all the mountains and islands were shaken from their places. Then all the earthly rulers, the governors and the commanders, the rich people and the men of influence, the whole population, slaves and citizens, took to the mountains to hide incaves and among the rocks.^c They said to the mountains^d and the rocks, "Fall on us and hide us away from the One who sits on the throne and from the anger of the Lamb. For the Great Day of his anger has come, and who can survive it?"^e

God's servants will be preserved

1 7 Next I saw four angels, standing at the four corners of the earth,^a holding the four winds of the world back to keep them from blowing over the land or the sea or in the trees. Then I saw another angel rising where the sun rises, carrying the seal of the living God; he called in a powerful voice to the four angels whose duty was to devastate land and sea, "Wait before you do any damage on land or at sea or to the trees, until we have put the seal on the foreheads^b of the servants of our God." Then I heard how many were sealed: a hundred and forty-four thousand,^c out of all the tribes of Israel.

5 From the tribe of Judah, twelve thousand had been sealed; from the tribe of Reuben, twelve thousand; from the tribe of Gad, twelve thousand; from the tribe of Asher, twelve thousand; from the tribe of Naphtali, twelve thousand; from the tribe of Manasseh, twelve thousand; from the tribe of Simeon, twelve thousand; from the tribe of Levi, twelve thousand; from the tribe of Issachar, twelve thousand; from the tribe of Zebulun, twelve thousand; from the tribe of Joseph, twelve thousand; and from the tribe of Benjamin, twelve thousand were sealed.

The rewarding of the saints

9 After that I saw a huge number, impossible to count, of people from every nation, race, tribe and language; they were standing in front of the throne and in front of the Lamb, dressed in white robes and holding palms in their hands.
 10 They shouted aloud, "Victory to our God, who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb!" And all the angels who were standing in a circle around the throne, surrounding the elders and the four animals, prostrated themselves before the throne, and touched the ground with their foreheads, worshiping God with these words, "Amen. Praise and glory and wisdom and thanksgiving and honor and power and strength to our God for ever and ever. Amen."

13 One of the elders then spoke, and asked me, "Do you know who these people are, dressed in white robes, and where they have come from?" I answered him, "You can tell me, my lord." Then he said, "These are the people who have been through the great persecution,^d and because they have washed their robes white again in the blood of the Lamb, they now stand in front of God's throne and serve him day and night in his sanctuary; and the One who sits on the throne will spread his tent over them. They will never hunger or thirst again; neither the sun nor scorching wind will ever plague them, because the Lamb who is at the throne will be their shepherd and will lead them to springs of living water^e; and God will wipe away all tears from their eyes."^f

The seventh seal

1 8 The Lamb then broke the seventh seal, and there was silence in heaven for about half an hour.^a

The prayers of the saints bring the coming of the Great Day nearer

2 Next I saw seven trumpets being given to the seven angels who stand in the presence of God. Another angel, who had a golden censer,^b came and stood at the altar.^c A large quantity of incense was given to him to offer with the prayers of all the saints on the golden altar that stood in front of the throne; and so from the angel's hand the smoke of the incense went up in the presence of God and with it the prayers of the saints. Then the angel took the censer and filled it with the fire from the altar, which he then threw down on to the earth; immediately there came peals of thunder and flashes of lightning, and the earth shook.

The first four trumpets

6 The seven angels that had the seven trumpets now made ready to sound them. 7 The first blew his trumpet and, with that, hail and fire, mixed with blood, were dropped on the earth; a third of the earth was burned up, and a third of all trees, 8 and every blade of grass was burned. The second angel blew his trumpet, and it was as though a great mountain, all on fire, had been dropped into the sea: a third 9 of the sea turned into blood, a third of all the living things in the sea were killed, and a third of all ships were destroyed. The third angel blew his trumpet, 10 and a huge star fell from the sky, burning like a ball of fire, and it fell on a third 11 of all rivers and springs; this was the star called Wormwood, and a third of all water turned to bitter wormwood, so that many people died from drinking it. 12 The fourth angel blew his trumpet, and a third of the sun and a third of the moon and a third of the stars were blasted, so that the light went out of a third of them and for a third of the day there was no illumination, and the same with the night. 13 In my vision, I heard an eagle, calling aloud as it flew high overhead, "Trouble, trouble, trouble, for all the people on earth at the sound of the other three trumpets which the three angels are going to blow."

The fifth trumpet

1 9 Then the fifth angel blew his trumpet, and I saw a star^a that had fallen from heaven on to the earth, and he was given the key to the shaft leading down 2 to the Abyss.^b When he unlocked the shaft of the Abyss, smoke poured up out of the Abyss like the smoke from a huge furnace^c so that the sun and the sky were 3 darkened by it, and out of the smoke dropped locusts which were given the 4 powers that scorpions have on the earth: they were forbidden to harm any fields or crops or trees and told only to attack any men who were without God's 5 seal on their foreheads. They were not to kill them, but to give them pain for 6 five months, and the pain was to be the pain of a scorpion's sting. When this happens, men will long for death and not find it anywhere^d; they will want to die and death will evade them.

7 To look at, these locusts were like horses armored for battle^e; they had things 8 that looked like gold crowns on their heads, and faces that seemed human, and

9 hair like women's hair, and teeth like lions' teeth. •They had body-armor like iron breastplates, and the noise of their wings sounded like a great charge of 10 horses and chariots into battle. •Their tails were like scorpions', with stings, 11 and it was with them that they were able to injure people for five months. •As their leader they had their emperor, the angel of the Abyss, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, or Apollyon^f in Greek.

12 That was the first of the troubles; there are still two more to come.

The sixth trumpet

13 The sixth angel blew his trumpet, and I heard a voice come out of the four 14 horns of the golden altar in front of God. •It spoke to the sixth angel with the trumpet, and said, "Release the four angels that are chained up at the great river 15 Euphrates." •These four angels had been put there ready for this hour of this day of this month of this year, and now they were released to destroy a third of 16 the human race. •I learned how many there were in their army: twice ten thousand 17 times ten thousand mounted men. •In my vision I saw the horses, and the riders with their breastplates of flame color, hyacinth blue and sulphur yellow; the horses had lions' heads, and fire, smoke and sulphur were coming out of their 18 mouths. •It was by these three plagues, the fire, the smoke and the sulphur coming 19 out of their mouths, that the one third of the human race was killed. •All the horses' power was in their mouths and their tails: their tails were like snakes, 20 and had heads that were able to wound. •But the rest of the human race, who escaped these plagues, refused either to abandon the things they had made with their own hands^g—the idols made of gold, silver, bronze, stone and wood^h that can 21 neither see nor hear nor move—or to stop worshiping devils. •Nor did they give up their murdering, or witchcraft, or fornication or stealing.

The imminence of the last punishment

1 10 Then I saw another powerful angel coming down from heaven, wrapped in a cloud, with a rainbow over his head; his face was like the sun, and his legs
 2 were pillars of fire. •In his hand he had a small scroll, unrolled; he put his right foot
 3 in the sea and his left foot on the land •and he shouted so loud, it was like a lion 4 roaring. At this, seven claps of thunder made themselves heard •and when the seven thunderclaps had spoken, I was preparing to write, when I heard a voice from heaven say to me, "Keep the words of the seven thunderclaps secret and do 5 not write them down." •Then the angel that I had seen, standing on the sea
 6 and the land, raised his right hand to heaven,^a and swore by the One who lives for ever and ever, and made heaven and all that is in it, and earth and all it bears, 7 and the sea and all it holds,^b "The time of waiting is over; •at the time when the seventh angel is heard sounding his trumpet, God's secret intention will be fulfilled, just as he announced in the Good News told to his servants the prophets."

The seer eats the small scroll

8 Then I heard the voice I had heard from heaven speaking to me again. "Go," it said, "and take that open scroll out of the hand of the angel standing on sea 9 and land." •I went to the angel and asked him to give me the small scroll, and he said, "Take it and eat it; it will turn your stomach sour, but in your mouth it 10 will taste as sweet as honey." •So I took it out of the angel's hand, and swallowed it; it was as sweet as honey in my mouth, but when I had eaten it my stomach 11 turned sour. •Then I was told, "You are to prophesy again, this time about many different nations and countries and languages and emperors."

The two witnesses

1 11 Then I was given a long cane as a measuring rod, and I was told, "Go and measure God's sanctuary, and the altar, and the people who worship there;
 2 but leave out the outer court and do not measure it, because it has been handed

3 over to pagans—they will trample on the holy city for forty-two months.^a •But 4 I shall send my two witnesses to prophesy for those twelve hundred and sixty days,
 5 wearing sackcloth. •These are the two olive trees^b and the two lamps that stand
 6 before the Lord of the world.^c •Fire can come from their mouths and consume
 7 their enemies if anyone tries to harm them; and if anybody does try to harm
 8 them he will certainly be killed in this way. •They are able to lock up the sky so 9 that it does not rain as long as they are prophesying; they are able to turn water 10 into blood and strike the whole world with any plague as often as they like.
 11 When they have completed their witnessing, the beast that comes out of the 12 Abyss is going to make war on them and overcome them^d and kill them. •Their 13 corpses will lie in the main street of the Great City known by the symbolic 14 names Sodom and Egypt, in which their Lord was crucified.^e •Men out of every 15 people, race, language and nation will stare at their corpses, for three and a half 16 days, not letting them be buried, and the people of the world will be glad about 17 it and celebrate the event by giving presents to each other, because these two 18 prophets have been a plague to the people of the world.”

19 After the three and a half days, God breathed life into them and they stood up,^f
 20 and everybody who saw it happen was terrified; then they heard a loud voice
 21 from heaven say to them, “Come up here,” and while their enemies were watching, 22 they went up to heaven in a cloud. •Immediately, there was a violent earthquake, 23 and a tenth of the city collapsed; seven thousand persons^g were killed in the 24 earthquake, and the survivors, overcome with fear, could only praise the God 25 of heaven.

The seventh trumpet

26 That was the second of the troubles; the third is to come quickly after it.

27 Then the seventh angel blew his trumpet, and voices could be heard shouting 28 in heaven, calling, “The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our 29 Lord and his Christ, and he will reign for ever and ever.” •The twenty-four elders, 30 enthroned in the presence of God, prostrated themselves and touched the ground 31 with their foreheads worshiping God with these words, “We give thanks to 32 you, Almighty Lord God, He-Is-and-He-Was, for using your great power and 33 beginning your reign. •The nations were seething with rage^h and now the time has 34 come for your own anger, and for the dead to be judged, and for your servants 35 the prophets, for the saints and for all who worship you, small or great, to be 36 rewarded. The time has come to destroy those who are destroying the earth.”

37 Then the sanctuary of God in heaven opened, and the ark of the covenant 38 could be seen inside it. Then came flashes of lightning, peals of thunder and an 39 earthquake, and violent hail.

The vision of the woman and the dragon

40 12 Now a great sign appeared in heaven: a woman, adorned with the sun, 41 standing on the moon, and with the twelve stars on her head for a crown.
 42 She was pregnant, and in labor, crying aloud in the pangs of childbirth. •Then 43 a second sign appeared in the sky, a huge red dragon which had seven heads 44 and ten horns, and each of the seven heads crowned with a coronet. •Its tail 45 dragged a third of the stars from the sky and dropped them to the earth,^a and the dragon stopped in front of the woman as she was having the child, so that he could eat it as soon as it was born from its mother. ⁵ The woman brought a male child into the world, the son who was to rule all the nations with an iron scepter,^b and the child was taken straight up to God and to his throne, ⁶ while the woman escaped into the desert, where God had made a place of safety ready, for her to be looked after in the twelve hundred and sixty days.

¹³ As soon as the devil found himself thrown down to the earth, he sprang ¹⁴ in pursuit of the woman, the mother of the male child, but she was given a huge pair of eagle's wings to fly away from the serpent into the desert, to the place where she was to be looked after for a year and twice a year and half a year.^c ¹⁵ So the serpent vomited water from his mouth, like a river, after the woman, ¹⁶ to sweep her away in the current, but the earth came to her rescue; it opened ¹⁷ its mouth and swallowed the river thrown up by the dragon's jaws. Then the dragon was enraged with the woman and went away to make war on the rest of her children, that is, all who obey God's commandments and bear witness for Jesus.

The dragon delegates his power to the beast

¹⁸ I was standing on the seashore. 13 Then I saw a beast emerge from the sea:^a ¹ it had seven heads and ten horns, with a coronet on each of its ten horns, and its ² heads were marked with blasphemous titles.^b I saw that the beast was like a leopard, with paws like a bear and a mouth like a lion^c; the dragon had handed ³ over to it his own power and his throne and his world-wide authority. I saw that one of its heads seemed to have had a fatal wound but that this deadly injury had healed and, after that, the whole world had marveled and followed the beast. ⁴ They prostrated themselves in front of the dragon because he had given the beast his authority; and they prostrated themselves in front of the beast, saying, "Who ⁵ can compare with the beast?^d How could anybody defeat him?" For forty-two months the beast was allowed to mouth its boasts^e and blasphemies and to do ⁶ whatever it wanted; and it mouthed its blasphemies against God, against his name, his heavenly Tent and all those who are sheltered there. ⁷ It was allowed to make war against the saints and conquer them, and given power over every race, ⁸ people, language and nation; and all people of the world will worship it, that is, everybody whose name has not been written down since the foundation of ⁹ the world in the book of life of the sacrificial Lamb. If anyone has ears to hear, ¹⁰ let him listen: Captivity for those who are destined for captivity; the sword for those who are to die by the sword.^f This is why the saints must have constancy and faith.

The false prophet as the slave of the beast

¹¹ Then I saw a second beast^g; it emerged from the ground; it had two horns ¹² like a lamb, but made a noise like a dragon. This second beast was servant to the first beast, and extended its authority everywhere, making the world and all its people worship the first beast, which had had the fatal wound and had 13 been healed. And it worked great miracles, even to calling down fire from 14 heaven on to the earth while people watched. Through the miracles which it was allowed to do on behalf of the first beast, it was able to win over the people of the world and persuade them to put up a statue in honor of the beast that 15 had been wounded by the sword and still lived. It was allowed to breathe life into this statue, so that the statue of the beast was able to speak, and to have 16 anyone who refused to worship the statue of the beast^h put to death. He compelled everyone—small and great, rich and poor, slave and citizen—to be branded on 17 the right hand or on the forehead, and made it illegal for anyone to buy or sell anything unless he had been branded with the name of the beast or with the number of its name.

18 There is need for shrewdness here: if anyone is clever enough he may interpret the number of the beast: it is the number of a man, the number 666.ⁱ

The companions of the Lamb

1 14 Next in my vision I saw Mount Zion, and standing on it a Lamb who had with him a hundred and forty-four thousand people, all with his name 2 and his Father's name written on their foreheads. I heard a sound coming out of the sky like the sound of the ocean or the roar of thunder; it seemed to be 3 the sound of harpists playing their harps. There in front of the throne they were singing a new hymn in the presence of the four animals and the elders, a hymn that could only be learned by the hundred and forty-four thousand who had been 4 redeemed from the world. These are the ones who have kept their virginity^a and not been defiled with women; they follow the Lamb wherever he goes;
 they have been redeemed from among men to be the first fruits for God^b and 5 for the Lamb. They never allowed a lie to pass their lips^c and no fault can be found in them.

Angels announce the day of Judgment

6 Then I saw another angel, flying high overhead, sent to announce the Good News of eternity to all who live on the earth, every nation, race, language and 7 tribe. He was calling, "Fear God and praise him, because the time has come for him to sit in judgment; worship the maker of heaven and earth and sea^d and every water spring."

8 A second angel followed him, calling, "Babylon has fallen. Babylon the Great has fallen,^e Babylon which gave the whole world the wine of God's anger to drink."

9 A third angel followed, shouting aloud, "All those who worship the beast and 10 his statue, or have had themselves branded on the hand or forehead, will be made to drink the wine of God's fury which is ready, undiluted, in his cup of anger;
 in fire and brimstone^f they will be tortured in the presence of the holy angels and 11 the Lamb and the smoke of their torture will go up for ever^g and ever. There will be no respite, night or day, for those who worshiped the beast or its statue 12 or accepted branding with its name." This is why there must be constancy in the 13 saints who keep the commandments of God and faith in Jesus. Then I heard a voice from heaven say to me, "Write down: Happy are those who die in the Lord! Happy indeed, the Spirit says; now they can rest for ever after their work, since their good deeds go with them."

The harvest and vintage of the pagans

¹⁴ Now in my vision I saw a white cloud and, sitting on it, one like a son of man
¹⁵ with a gold crown on his head and a sharp sickle in his hand. Then another angel came out of the sanctuary, and shouted aloud to the one sitting on the cloud, “Put your sickle in and reap: harvest time has come and the harvest of the earth ¹⁶ is ripe.”^h Then the one sitting on the cloud set his sickle to work on the earth, and the earth’s harvest was reaped.

¹⁷ Another angel, who also carried a sharp sickle, came out of the temple in ¹⁸ heaven, and the angel in charge of the fire left the altar and shouted aloud to the one with the sharp sickle, “Put your sickle in and cut all the bunches off the ¹⁹ vine of the earth; all its grapes are ripe.” So the angel set his sickle to work on the earth and harvested the whole vintage of the earth and put it into a huge ²⁰ winepress, the winepress of God’s anger, outside the city, where it was trodden until the blood that came out of the winepress was up to the horses’ bridles as far away as sixteen hundred furlongs.

The hymn of Moses and the Lamb

¹ 15 What I saw next, in heaven, was a great and wonderful sign: seven angels were bringing the seven plagues that are the last of all, because they ² exhaust the anger of God. I seemed to see a glass lake suffused with fire, and standing by the lake of glass, those who had fought against the beast and won, and against his statue and the number which is his name. They all had harps ³ from God, and they were singing the hymn of Moses, the servant of God, and of the Lamb:

“How great and wonderful are all your works,
 Lord God Almighty;
 just and true are all your ways,
King of nations.

⁴ Who would not revere and praise your name, O Lord?
 You alone are holy,
and all the pagans will come and adore you for the many acts of justice you have shown.”^a

The seven bowls of plagues

⁵ After this, in my vision, the sanctuary, the Tent of the Testimony, opened
⁶ in heaven, and out came the seven angels with the seven plagues, wearing pure ⁷ white linen, fastened around their waists with golden girdles. One of the four animals gave the seven angels seven golden bowls filled with the anger of God ⁸ who lives for ever and ever. The smoke from the glory and the power of God filled the temple so that no one could go into it^b until the seven plagues of the seven angels were completed.

¹ 16 Then I heard a voice from the sanctuary shouting to the seven angels, “Go, and empty the seven bowls of God’s anger over the earth.”

² The first angel went and emptied his bowl over the earth; at once, on all the people who had been branded with the mark of the beast and had worshiped its statue, there came disgusting and virulent sores.

³ The second angel emptied his bowl over the sea, and it turned to blood, like the blood of a corpse, and every living creature in the sea died.

⁴ The third angel emptied his bowl into the rivers and water springs and they ⁵ turned into blood. Then I heard the angel of water say, “You are the holy ⁶ He-Is-and-He-Was, the Just One, and this is a just punishment: they spilled the blood of the saints and the prophets, and blood is what you have given them ⁷ to drink; it is what they deserve.” And I heard the altar itself say, “Truly, Lord God Almighty, the punishments you give are true and just.”

- 8 The fourth angel emptied his bowl over the sun and it was made to scorch 9 people with its flames; but though people were scorched by the fierce heat of it, they cursed the name of God who had the power to cause such plagues, and they would not repent and praise him.
- 10 The fifth angel emptied his bowl over the throne of the beast and its whole empire was plunged into darkness. Men were biting their tongues for pain, 11 but instead of repenting for what they had done, they cursed the God of heaven because of their pains and sores.
- 12 The sixth angel emptied his bowl over the great river Euphrates; all the water 13 dried up so that a way was made for the kings of the East^a to come in. Then from the jaws of dragon and beast and false prophet I saw three foul spirits come; 14 they looked like frogs and in fact were demon spirits, able to work miracles, going out to all the kings of the world to call them together for the war of the 15 Great Day of God the Almighty.—This is how it will be: I shall come like a thief. Happy is the man who has stayed awake and not taken off his clothes 16 so that he does not go out naked and expose his shame.—They called the kings together at the place called, in Hebrew, Armageddon.^b
- 17 The seventh angel emptied his bowl into the air, and a voice shouted from 18 the sanctuary, "The end has come." Then there were flashes of lightning and peals of thunder and the most violent earthquake that anyone has ever seen since 19 there have been men on the earth.^c The Great City was split into three parts and the cities of the world collapsed; Babylon the Great was not forgotten:
 20 God made her drink the full wine cup of his anger. Every island vanished and 21 the mountains disappeared; and hail, with great hailstones weighing a talent each, fell from the sky on the people. They cursed God for sending a plague of hail; it was the most terrible plague.

B. THE PUNISHMENT OF BABYLON

The famous prostitute

- 1 17 One of the seven angels that had the seven bowls came to speak to me, and said, "Come here and I will show you the punishment given to the 2 famous prostitute^a who rules enthroned beside abundant waters,^b the one with whom all the kings of the earth have committed fornication, and who has made 3 all the population of the world drunk with the wine of her adultery."^c He took me in spirit to a desert, and there I saw a woman riding a scarlet beast which had seven heads and ten horns and had blasphemous titles written all over it.
 4 The woman was dressed in purple and scarlet, and glittered with gold and jewels and pearls, and she was holding a gold wine cup filled with the disgusting filth 5 of her fornication; on her forehead was written a name, a cryptic name:
 "Babylon the Great, the mother of all the prostitutes and all the filthy practices 6 on the earth." I saw that she was drunk, drunk with the blood of the saints, and the blood of the martyrs of Jesus; and when I saw her, I was completely 7 mystified. The angel said to me, "Don't you understand? Now I will tell you the meaning of this woman, and of the beast she is riding, with the seven heads and the ten horns.

The symbolism of the beast and the prostitute

- 8 "The beast you have seen once was and now is not^d; he is yet to come up from the Abyss, but only to go to his destruction. And the people of the world, whose names have not been written since the beginning of the world in the book of life, will think it miraculous when they see how the beast once was and now is not and is still to come. Here there is need for cleverness, for a shrewd mind; the seven heads are the seven hills, and the woman is sitting on them.
- 10 "The seven heads are also seven emperors. Five of them have already gone, one is here now, and one is yet to come; once here, he must stay for a short while. The beast, who once was and now is not, is at the same time the eighth and one of the seven, and he is going to his destruction.
- 12 "The ten horns are ten kings^c who have not yet been given their royal power but will have royal authority only for a single hour and in association with the beast. They are all of one mind in putting their strength and their powers at the beast's disposal, and they will go to war against the Lamb; but the Lamb is the Lord of lords and the King of kings,^f and he will defeat them and they will be defeated by his followers, the called, the chosen, the faithful."
- 15 The angel continued, "The waters you saw, beside which the prostitute was sitting, are all the peoples, the populations, the nations and the languages. But the time will come when the ten horns and the beast will turn against the prostitute, and strip off her clothes and leave her naked^g; then they will eat her flesh and burn the remains in the fire. In fact, God influenced their minds to do what he intended, to agree together to put their royal powers at the beast's disposal until the time when God's words should be fulfilled. The woman you saw is the great city which has authority over all the rulers on earth."

An angel announces the fall of Babylon

- 1 18 After this, I saw another angel come down from heaven, with great authority given to him; the earth was lit up with his glory.^a At the top of his voice he shouted, "Babylon has fallen, Babylon the Great has fallen, and has become the haunt of devils^b and a lodging for every foul spirit and dirty, loathsome bird. All the nations have been intoxicated by the wine of her prostitution; every king in the earth has committed fornication with her, and every merchant grown rich through her debauchery."

The people of God summoned away

- 4 A new voice spoke from heaven; I heard it say, "Come out, my people, away from her, so that you do not share in her crimes and have the same plagues to bear. Her sins have reached up to heaven,^c and God has her crimes in mind: she is to be paid in her own coin.^d She must be paid double the amount she exacted. She is to have a doubly strong cup of her own mixture. Every one of her shows and orgies is to be matched by a torture or a grief. I am the queen on my throne, she says to herself,^e and I am no widow and shall never be in mourning. For that, within a single day, the plagues will fall on her: disease and mourning and famine. She will be burned right up. The Lord God has condemned her, and he has great power."

The people of the world mourn for Babylon

- 9 There will be mourning and weeping for her by the kings of the earth who have fornicated with her and lived with her in luxury. They see the smoke as she burns, while they keep at a safe distance from fear of her agony. They will say:

"Mourn, mourn for this great city,
Babylon, so powerful a city,
doomed as you are within a single hour."

11 There will be weeping and distress over her among all the traders of the earth 12 when there is nobody left to buy their cargoes of goods; their stocks of gold and silver, jewels and pearls, linen and purple and silks and scarlet; all the 13 sandalwood, every piece in ivory or fine wood, in bronze or iron or marble; the cinnamon and spices, the myrrh and ointment and incense; wine, oil, flour and corn; their stocks of cattle, sheep, horses and chariots, their slaves, their human cargo.

14 "All the fruits you had set your hearts on have failed you; gone for ever, never to return, is your life of magnificence and ease."

15 The traders who had made a fortune out of her will be standing at 16 a safe distance from fear of her agony, mourning and weeping. They will be saying:

"Mourn, mourn for this great city;
 for all the linen and purple and scarlet that you wore,
 for all your finery of gold and jewels and pearls;
 17 your riches are all destroyed within a single hour."

All the captains and seafaring men, sailors and all those who make a living 18 from the sea will be keeping a safe distance, watching the smoke as she burns, 19 and crying out, "Has there ever been a city as great as this!" They will throw dust on their heads and say, with tears and groans:

"Mourn, mourn for this great city
 whose lavish living has made a fortune for every owner of a seagoing ship;
 ruined within a single hour.

20 "Now heaven, celebrate her downfall, and all you saints, apostles and prophets:
 God has given judgment for you against her."

21 Then a powerful angel picked up a boulder like a great millstone, and as he hurled it into the sea, he said, "That is how the great city of Babylon is going to be hurled down, never to be seen again.

22 "Never again in you, Babylon,
 will be heard the song of harpists and minstrels,
 the music of flute and trumpet;
 never again will craftsmen of every skill be found
 or the sound of the mill be heard; 23 never again will shine the light of the lamp,
 never again will be heard
the voices of bridegroom and bride.
 Your traders were the princes of the earth,
 all the nations were under your spell.

24 In her you will find the blood of prophets and saints, and all the blood that was ever shed on earth."

Songs of victory in heaven

1 19 After this I seemed to hear the great sound of a huge crowd in heaven,
 2 singing, "Alleluia! Victory and glory and power to our God! He judges fairly, he punishes justly, and he has condemned the famous prostitute who corrupted the earth with her fornication; he has avenged his servants that she 3 killed." They sang again, "Alleluia! The smoke of her will go up for ever and 4 ever." Then the twenty-four elders and the four animals prostrated themselves and worshiped God seated there on his throne, and they cried, "Amen, Alleluia."

5 Then a voice came from the throne; it said, "Praise our God, you servants
6 of his and all who, great or small, revere him." And I seemed to hear the voices
7 of a huge crowd, like the sound of the ocean or the great roar of thunder,
8 answering, "Alleluia! The reign of the Lord our God Almighty has begun; let us
9 be glad and joyful and give praise to God, because this is the time for the marriage
10 of the Lamb. His bride is ready, and she has been able to dress herself in dazzling 11 white linen, because her linen is made of the good deeds of the saints." The 12 angel said, "Write this: Happy are those who are invited to the wedding feast of 13 the Lamb," and he added, "All the things you have written are true messages
14 from God." Then I knelt at his feet to worship him, but he said to me, "Don't 15 do that: I am a servant just like you and all your brothers who are witnesses to 16 Jesus. It is God that you must worship." The witness Jesus gave is the same as 17 the spirit of prophecy.

C. THE DESTRUCTION OF THE PAGAN NATIONS

The first battle of the End

11 And now I saw heaven open, and a white horse appear; its rider was called 12 Faithful and True; he is a judge with integrity,^a a warrior for justice. His eyes
13 were flames of fire, and his head was crowned with many coronets; the name 14 written on him was known only to himself, his cloak was soaked in blood.^b He is 15 known by the name, The Word of God. Behind him, dressed in linen of dazzling 16 white, rode the armies of heaven on white horses. From his mouth came a sharp 17 sword to strike the pagans with; he is the one who will rule them with an iron 18 scepter,^c and tread out the wine of Almighty God's fierce anger. On his cloak and 19 on his thigh^d there was a name written: The King of kings and the Lord of lords.

17 I saw an angel standing in the sun, and he shouted aloud to all the birds that 18 were flying high overhead in the sky, "Come here. Gather together at the great 19 feast^e that God is giving. There will be the flesh of kings for you, and the flesh of 20 great generals and heroes, the flesh of horses and their riders and of all kinds of 21 men, citizens and slaves, small and great."

19 Then I saw the beast, with all the kings of the earth and their armies, gathered 20 together to fight the rider and his army. But the beast was taken prisoner, 21 together with the false prophet who had worked miracles on the beast's behalf and by them had deceived all who had been branded with the mark of the beast and worshiped his statue. These two were thrown alive into the fiery lake of burning sulphur. All the rest were killed by the sword of the rider, which came out of his mouth, and all the birds were gorged with their flesh.

The reign of a thousand years

1 20 Then I saw an angel come down from heaven with the key of the Abyss
2 in his hand and an enormous chain. He overpowered the dragon, that 3 primeval serpent which is the devil and Satan, and chained him up for a thousand 4 years. He threw him into the Abyss, and shut the entrance and sealed it over him,
5 to make sure he would not deceive the nations again until the thousand years
6 had passed. At the end of that time he must be released, but only for a short while.

4 Then I saw some thrones, and I saw those who are given the power to be judges^a 5 take their seats on them. I saw the souls of all who had been beheaded for having 6 witnessed for Jesus and for having preached God's word, and those who refused to worship the beast or his statue and would not have the brand mark on their foreheads or hands; they came to life, and reigned with Christ for a thousand years. This is the first resurrection; the rest of the dead did not come to life until the thousand years were over. Happy and blessed are those who share in the first resurrection; the second death cannot affect them but they will be priests of God and of Christ and reign with him for a thousand years.

The second battle of the End

7 When the thousand years are over, Satan will be released from his prison
8 and will come out to deceive all the nations in the four quarters of the earth, Gog and Magog,^b and mobilize them for war. His armies will be as many as the 9 sands of the sea; they will come swarming over the entire country and besiege the camp of the saints, which is the city that God loves. But fire will come down 10 on them from heaven^c and consume them. Then the devil, who misled them, will be thrown into the lake of fire and sulphur, where the beast and the false prophet are, and their torture will not stop, day or night, for ever and ever.

The punishment of the pagans

11 Then I saw a great white throne and the One who was sitting on it. In his 12 presence, earth and sky vanished, leaving no trace. I saw the dead, both great and small, standing in front of his throne, while the book of life was opened, and other books opened which were the record of what they had done in their lives, by which the dead were judged.

13 The sea gave up all the dead who were in it; Death and Hades were emptied
14 of the dead that were in them; and every one was judged according to the way in which he had lived. Then Death and Hades were thrown into the burning 15 lake. This burning lake is the second death; and anybody whose name could not be found written in the book of life was thrown into the burning lake.

D. THE JERUSALEM OF THE FUTURE

The heavenly Jerusalem

1 21 Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth^a; the first heaven and the first 2 earth had disappeared now, and there was no longer any sea. I saw the holy city, and the new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, as 3 beautiful as a bride all dressed for her husband. Then I heard a loud voice call from the throne, "You see this city? Here God lives among men. He will make his home among them; they shall be his people,^b and he will be their God; his name 4 is God-with-them. He will wipe away all tears from their eyes^c; there will be no more death, and no more mourning or sadness. The world of the past has gone."

5 Then the One sitting on the throne spoke: "Now I am making the whole of creation new," he said. "Write this: that what I am saying is sure and will come 6 true." And then he said, "It is already done. I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End. I will give water from the well of life free to anybody 7 who is thirsty; it is the rightful inheritance of the one who proves victorious;
8 and I will be his God and he a son to me.^d But the legacy for cowards, for those who break their word, or worship obscenities, for murderers and fornicators, and for fortunetellers, idolaters or any other sort of liars, is the second death in the burning lake of sulphur."

The messianic Jerusalem

9 One of the seven angels that had the seven bowls full of the seven last plagues came to speak to me, and said, "Come here and I will show you the bride that the 10 Lamb has married." In the spirit, he took me to the top of an enormous high mountain^e and showed me Jerusalem, the holy city, coming down from God out 11 of heaven. It had all the radiant glory of God! and glittered like some precious

12 jewel of crystal-clear diamond. The walls of it were of a great height, and had twelve gates; at each of the twelve gates there was an angel, and over the gates
 13 were written the names of the twelve tribes of Israel; on the east there were three gates, on the north three gates, on the south three gates, and on the west three gates.⁹
 14 The city walls stood on twelve foundation stones, each one of which bore the name of one of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.

15 The angel that was speaking to me was carrying a gold measuring rod
 16 to measure the city and its gates and wall. The plan of the city is perfectly square, its length the same as its breadth. He measured the city with his rod and it was twelve thousand furlongs in length and in breadth, and equal in height.
 17 He measured its wall, and this was a hundred and forty-four cubits high—the 18 angel was using the ordinary cubit. The wall was built of diamond, and the city
 19 of pure gold, like polished glass. The foundations of the city wall were faced with all kinds of precious stone: the first with diamond, the second lapis lazuli,
 20 the third turquoise, the fourth crystal, the fifth agate, the sixth ruby, the seventh gold quartz, the eighth malachite, the ninth topaz, the tenth emerald, the eleventh sapphire and the twelfth amethyst. The twelve gates were twelve pearls, each gate being made of a single pearl, and the main street of the city was pure gold, transparent as glass. I saw that there was no temple in the city since the Lord
 23 God Almighty and the Lamb were themselves the temple, and the city did not need the sun or the moon for light, since it was lit by the radiant glory of God
 24 and the Lamb was a lighted torch for it. The pagan nations will live by its light^h 25 and the kings of the earth will bring it their treasures. The gates of it will never 26 be shut by day—and there will be no night there—and the nations will come,
 27 bringing their treasure and their wealth. Nothing unclean may come into it: no one who does what is loathsome or false, but only those who are listed in the Lamb's book of life.

1 22 Then the angel showed me the river of life, rising from the throne of God
 2 and of the Lamb and flowing crystal-clear down the middle of the city street. On either side of the river were the trees of life, which bear twelve crops of fruit in a year, one in each month, and the leaves of which are the cure for the pagans.^a

3 The ban will be lifted.^b The throne of God and of the Lamb will be in its place
 4 in the city; his servants will worship him, they will see him face to face, and his
 5 name will be written on their foreheads. It will never be night again and they will not need lamplight or sunlight, because the Lord God will be shining on them. They will reign for ever and ever.

6 The angel said to me, "All that you have written is sure and will come true: the Lord God who gives the spirit to the prophets has sent his angel to reveal to his servants what is soon to take place. Very soon now, I shall be with you again." Happy are those who treasure the prophetic message of this book.

8 I, John, am the one who heard and saw these things. When I had heard and seen them all, I knelt at the feet of the angel who had shown them to me, 9 to worship him; but he said, "Don't do that: I am a servant just like you and like your brothers the prophets and like those who treasure what you have written in this book. It is God that you must worship."

10 This, too, he said to me, "Do not keep the prophecies in this book a secret, 11 because the Time is close. Meanwhile let the sinner go on sinning, and the unclean continue to be unclean; let those who do good go on doing good, and those who are holy continue to be holy. Very soon now, I shall be with you again, bringing the reward to be given to every man according to what he deserves.^c I am the Alpha and the Omega, the First and the Last, the Beginning and the End. Happy are those who will have washed their robes clean, so that they will have the right to feed on the tree of life and can come through the gates into the city. These others must stay outside: dogs, fortunetellers, and fornicators, and murderers, and idolaters, and everyone of false speech and false life."

EPILOGUE

- ¹⁶ I, Jesus, have sent my angel to make these revelations to you for the sake of the churches. I am of David's line, the root of David and the bright star of the morning.
- ¹⁷ The Spirit and the Bride say, "Come." Let everyone who listens answer, "Come." Then let all who are thirsty come^d: all who want it may have the water of life, and have it free.
- ¹⁸ This is my solemn warning to all who hear the prophecies in this book: if anyone adds anything to them, God will add to him every plague mentioned in the
- ¹⁹ book; if anyone cuts anything out of the prophecies in this book, God will cut off his share of the tree of life and of the holy city, which are described in the book.
- ²⁰ The one who guarantees these revelations repeats his promise: I shall indeed be with you soon. Amen; come, Lord Jesus.
- ²¹ May the grace of the Lord Jesus be with you all. Amen.

---	--

NOTE: If one takes into account the Babylonian tablet, B.M. 35.603, the table must be adjusted as from the autumn or winter of 164: the death of Antiochus IV occurs before the purification of the Temple (following the sequence of 2 M. 9-10), and the campaign of Antiochus V and Lysias takes place in the autumn of 163. 1 and 2 M. follow the autumnal Seleucid cursus (see Calendar), except for 1 M. 1:54; 4:52; 9:3,54; 10:21; 16:14; 2 M. 1:7,9; 13:1; 14:4, which seem to follow a religious calendar based on a vernal calculation agreeing with the Seleucid cursus of Babylon.

164/163, death of Antiochus IV at Tabae after the sack of the temple of Artemis at Elymais (Polybius) ANTIOCHUS V EUPATOR: 163-162. Son of Antiochus IV, 12 years old. TABLES OF APPROXIMATE EQUIVALENTS

I. DISTANCE

	RATIO	INCHES	CENTIMETERS
amma (cubit)	1	18	45
zereth (span)	1/2	8.8	22
tofah (palm)	1/6	3	7.2
esba (finger)	1/24	0.8	2

The old cubit of Ezekiel measured 7 palms or handbreadths (= 21 in./52.5 cm.), cf. Ezk. 40:5.

II. CAPACITY (Dry)

	RATIO	BUSHEL/GALLONS	LITERS
homer/cor	10	12½ bu.	450
lethech	5	6¼ bu.	225
ephah	1	1¼ bu.	45
seah (measure)	1/3	{ 3½ U.K. gal. 4 U.S. gal.	15
issaron (tenth of a measure)	1/10	{ 1 U.K. gal. 1¼ U.S. gal.	4.5

(Liquid)

	RATIO	GALLONS
		U.K.	U.S.A.
cor	10	100	120	450
bath	1	10	12	45

kab	1/18	4½	2½	2.5
log	1/72	1	fl. oz. 20	0.6

In the New Testament there are: the "measure" (metrētē) of 8⅔ (U.K.)/10½ (U.S.) gallons or 39.4 liters which is equivalent to bath; the "sixth" (sextarius or xestes) of ¾ (U.K.) pint/15 (U.S.) fl. oz. or 0.46 liters as an equivalent to the log; and the choinx of Rv. 6:6, which is 2 (U.K.) pints/11/6 (U.S.) quarts or 1.1 liters.

III. WEIGHT

	RATIO	LB./OZ.	KILOGRAMS
kikkar (talent)	3000	75 lb.	34.272
maneh (mina)	50	1¼ lb.	0.571
shekel	1	0.39 oz.	0.0114
beqa (half-shekel)	1/2	0.19 oz.	0.0057
gerah	1/20	0.02 oz.	0.0006

The mina of Ezk. 45:12 is 60 shekels (1½ lb. or 0.685 kg.). The New Testament has the Roman pound (Lat. libra = Gr. lira) of approximately 11½ oz./0.326 kg.

IV. MONEY

1. BEFORE DARIUS I. Coinage first appeared in the 7th century B.C. in Anatolia and then in Greece. Prior to this date the value of metal was gauged only by its weight. The gold drachmas of Ne. 7:69 = Ezr. 2:69 are probably the Attic half-staters (see table of monetary equivalents). The silver mina mentioned at the same place was only money of account, and was possibly the Babylonian maneh of about 1 lb. or 0.505 kg.

2. DARIUS, soon after 515 B.C., issued the gold daric having the weight of the Babylonian shekel of 1/5 oz. or 8.41 grams (Ezr. 8:27), and a silver shekel one twentieth of the value of the gold coin and thus weighing 1/5 oz. or 5.60 grams, since gold was valued at 13.3 times as much as silver. It is this shekel that is mentioned in Ne. 5:15, whereas the shekel of Ne. 10:33 is regarded only in terms of weight. The minting of silver coinage seems to have been permitted throughout the Persian empire; silver coins have been found in Palestine with the inscription YHD (= Judah).

3. HELLENISTIC AND ROMAN PERIOD. Alexander extended the Attic system throughout his empire, with a gold to silver value ratio of 10 to 1. Later the Romans introduced their currency; they reckoned large sums in sesterces (see table). In the East, reckonings continued to be made in talents and minas, i.e. in equivalents of 6000 and 100 drachmas.
