The Jerusalem Bible

Reader's Edition

The Jerusalem Bible

Reader's Edition

Alexander Jones, General Editor

In response to popular demand, here is an edition of THE JERUSALEM BIBLE to serve the needs of the general reader seeking a fresh, modern rendition of the Gospel message.

This Reader's Edition contains the complete and unabridged text of THE JERUSALEM BIBLE in a fluid, contemporary English translation. Making full use of the ancient Greek, Aramaic and Hebrew texts, the translators produced a vigorous and vital translation which has been widely hailed by biblical scholars and readers of all faiths for its graceful, modern English. The Reader's Edition includes many of the features of the Regular Edition of THE JERUSALEM BIBLE: single-column pages for easy reading; verse numbers in the margins for ready and convenient reference; 8 pages of nine maps — four in color, five in black-and-white; a Chronological Table; and Tables of Measures and Money. The notes and introductions have been carefully gone over by Alexander Jones — the General Editor — and abridged to relieve the average reader of burdensome detail while retaining all the necessary and helpful information for a greater understanding and appreciation of the scriptures.

In short, THE JERUSALEM BIBLE captures for contemporary man the vitality and immediacy that the Bible had for the first Christians in a translation that employs all the beauty and majesty of the English language — but always as a living language of the twentieth century.

Alexander Jones, until his death in 1970, was one of the leading biblical scholars in the world. He lectured extensively and authored innumerable articles and several books based on the scriptures. A Senior Lecturer in Divinity at Christ's College, Liverpool, he studied at Upholland College in Lancashire, the Gregorian University and the Biblical Institute in Rome, and L'Ecole Biblique in Jerusalem.

La Bible de Jérusalem, originally published in France, was the culmination of decades of research and biblical scholarship. It was immediately recognized the world over as one of the greatest Bible achievements of our times. The publication of the English translation in 1966 was equally enthusiastically received by scholars and readers of all faiths for its vigorous, contemporary literary style. It is truly the modern Bible for the modern reader seeking a greater understanding and appreciation of the scriptures in the language and imagery of today.

In response to popular demand, this Reader's Edition has been designed to provide the general reader with an edition that is suited to his needs. It contains the complete text of THE JERUSALEM BIBLE in a translation that employs all the beauty and majesty of the English language—but always as a living language of the twentieth century. It includes many of the features of the Regular Edition: single-column pages for easy reading; verse numbers in the margin for ready and convenient reference; 8 pages of nine maps—four in color, five in black-and-white; a Chronological Table; and Tables of Measures and Money. The notes and introductions were carefully gone over by Alexander Jones, the General Editor, and abridged to relieve the average reader of burdensome detail while retaining necessary and helpful information for a fuller understanding and appreciation of the scriptures.

In preparing this translation, the translators made full use of the ancient Greek, Aramaic and Hebrew texts. How this was done while still retaining the interpretations and insights of the French edition is explained by Father Jones:

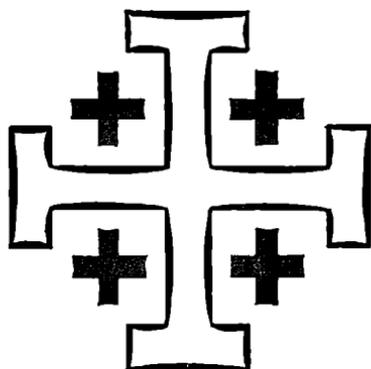

“The translation of the biblical text itself could clearly not be made from the French. In the case of a few books the initial draft was made from the French and then compared word for word with the Hebrew or Aramaic . . . and amended where necessary to ensure complete conformity with the ancient text. For the much greater part, the initial drafts were made from the Hebrew or Greek and simultaneously compared with the French when questions of variant reading or interpretation arose. Whichever system was used, therefore, the same intended result was achieved, that is, an entirely faithful version of the ancient texts which, in doubtful points, preserves the text established and (for the most part) the interpretation adopted by the French scholars in the light of the most recent researches in the fields of history, archaeology and literary criticism.”

THE JERUSALEM BIBLE has been acclaimed by biblical scholars and readers of all denominations for its vigorous and vital translation, faithful in all respects to the original sources—a translation that captures for contemporary man the vitality and immediacy that the Bible had for the first Christians.

The abridged introductions and notes of this Bible are based on those which appear in La Bible de Jérusalem (one volume edition) published by Les Editions du Cerf, Paris. The English text, though translated from the ancient texts, owes a large debt to the work of the many scholars who collaborated to produce La Bible de Jérusalem, which the publishers of this English Bible gratefully acknowledge.

EDITOR'S FOREWORD TO THE READER'S EDITION

When the Jerusalem Bible was first published in English in 1966, the Foreword to the complete Standard edition announced its objects: to serve two pressing needs facing the Church, the need to keep abreast of the times and the need to deepen theological thought. This double program was carried out by translating the ancient texts into the language we use today, and by providing notes to the texts which were neither sectarian nor superficial. In that Foreword also, the dependence of the translators on the original pioneer work of the School of Biblical Studies in Jerusalem was acknowledged, and the English version was offered as an entirely faithful rendering of the original texts which, in doubtful points, preserved the text established and (for the most part) the interpretation adopted by the School in the light of the most recent researches in the fields of history, archaeology and literary criticism. With the text, the Standard edition presents the full explanatory notes that would enable any student to confirm for himself the interpretations that were adopted, to appreciate the theological implications drawn from them, and to understand the complex relations between different parts of the Bible.

However the Bible is not only for students undergoing a formal course of study, and there has been an immediate demand for an edition of the Jerusalem Bible which would bring the modern clarity of the text before the ordinary reader, and open to him the results of modern researches without either justifying them at length in literary and historical notes or linking them with doctrinal studies. For this reason, the present Reader's Edition has been prepared. The full Introductions of the Standard edition are here greatly abridged, to serve simply as brief explanations of the character of each book or group of books, their dates and their authorship; and the full Notes of the Standard edition have been greatly reduced in number and length, to restrict them to the minimum which are necessary for understanding the primary, literal meaning of the text; to explain terms, places, people and customs; to specify dates, and to identify the sources of quotations. In short, the brief Introductions and Notes are here only to help the ordinary reader to understand what he is reading and do not assume in him any wide literary, historical or theological knowledge or interests.

TYPOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Chapter numbers

The beginning of a chapter is usually marked by a large bold numeral. A smaller bold numeral is used when a chapter begins inside a paragraph.

Verse numbers

The beginning of each verse is indicated in the line by a dot • preceding the first word, except when a verse starts at the beginning of a line or begins a chapter. Where two verses begin in the same line, the verse numbers in the margin are placed one slightly above and the other slightly below the line. In a few places, the text adopted by the Editors differs from St. Jerome's famous Latin version, from which the Vulgate and indirectly the A.V. are derived, but for ease of reference the verse numbering of the previous versions has wherever possible been retained. Occasionally, however, where a verse is omitted or displaced, its number will not appear in the usual sequence, and where a large or lengthy divergence is inevitable from the Vulgate and the A.V. numbering, this previous numbering is printed in italic in addition to the new numbering necessitated by the text. Italic verse numbers are also used (e.g. in Dn. 3) for passages incorporated from the Greek Septuagint version where the verse numbering duplicates that of neighboring Hebrew material. Occasionally verse numbers are given a suffix letter a, b or c. This is generally to mark a rearrangement of parts of the verse, or to relate a reference from elsewhere in the Bible to a specific part of the verse.

Italics in text

Italic type is used in the text to distinguish words which are quotations from or close allusions to another book of the Bible. The origins of such quotations or allusions are given as references in the footnotes (except in cases in which the source is obvious to any Bible reader), and are not necessarily repeated when the same passage is quoted more than once in a single book.

Punctuation of biblical references

Chapter and verse are separated by a colon, e.g. Ex. 20:17. In a succession of references, items are separated by a semicolon, e.g. Ex. 20:17; Lv. 9:15. The same practice is followed in a succession of references to different chapters of one book, e.g. Ex. 20:17; 21:3 or Ex. 15;17;20.

Brackets in the text

In the text, round brackets are used only to indicate that the words within them are considered to be a gloss.

INTRODUCTION TO THE PENTATEUCH

The first five books of the Bible make up a group which was known to the Jews as "The Law" and for many centuries all five of the books were attributed to Moses as the sole or principal author. However, modern study of the texts has revealed a variety of styles, a lack of sequence and such repetitions and variations in narrative that it is impossible to ascribe the whole group to a single author; four distinct literary "traditions" can be identified and found side by side in the Pentateuch. Two of these go back to the time when Israel became a nation—a period dominated by the figure of Moses: the traditions of earlier times converging on him and the memories of what happened under his leadership together made up the national epic. One means of distinguishing between these two separate strands is their use of different names for God: one employs the name Yahweh and is known as the Yahwist, the other uses Elohim and is known as the Elohist. The two other identifiable written traditions are later: one known as the Deuteronomic, introducing additions and revisions by Levites after the fall of the kingdom of Israel; and one the work of editors after the Exile, known as the priestly tradition. The Mosaic religion set its enduring seal on the faith and practice of the nation, and the Mosaic law remained its standard; the modifications required by changing conditions over some seven centuries were presented as interpretations of the mind of Moses and invested themselves with his authority.

Genesis sets the history of the ancestors in a background of primordial history. The early chapters visualize the situation of all mankind in the persons of Adam and Eve and see the origins of human history in an increasing wickedness which brings the Flood as its punishment. The repopulation of the earth starts with Noah, but our attention is directed ultimately to Abraham, father of the chosen people, to whose descendants the Holy Land was promised. Chapters 15 to 50 deal with the history of the patriarchs.

The three books which follow have for their common framework the life of Moses. Exodus tells of the deliverance from Egyptian slavery, and the Covenant of Sinai; the journey through the Wilderness connects the two. There is added a list of ordinances controlling the practice of worship in desert conditions.

Leviticus is taken up almost entirely with legislation for the ritual of Israelite religion. It can be largely attributed to the priestly tradition.

Numbers resumes the account of the desert journey and the first settlement of Israelite tribes in Transjordan. Within this narrative material there are groups of enactments supplementing the Sinaitic code or anticipating the time when the people will have settled in Canaan.

Deuteronomy is a code of civil and religious laws, set in three discourses of Moses. It ends with an account of the death of Moses and the appointment of Joshua as his successor.

The history of Israel is the story of God's intervention and God's promises, and the obligation of his people to keep his law. At the same time, the Pentateuch gives a faithful picture of the origin and migrations of Israel's ancestors and their moral and religious way of life, seen through the treasured memories of character and anecdote. We may put Abraham's stay in Canaan at about 1850 B.C., but from Exodus onward, after the birth of Moses, we are dealing with a much later period; the likeliest time for the Exodus is the reign of Meneptah (1224–1214) and from this point the history begins to be much more circumstantial.

The original Ten Commandments of Moses, of which there are two distinct traditions in the Pentateuch, are certainly ancient; the rest of the large code of legislation found in the five books includes other elements of the greatest antiquity (for example, the food laws in Lv. 11), but also laws from the later times of the Judges and of the Monarchy and others again which show the development in social and religious customs which is traceable to the Exile. Throughout, the hands of the Deuteronomic and priestly editors are often to be observed, annotating and adapting.

GENESIS

I. THE ORIGIN OF THE WORLD AND OF MANKIND

1. THE CREATION AND THE FALL

The first account of the creation^a

- ¹ 1 In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. ·Now the earth ² was a formless void, there was darkness over the deep, and God's spirit hovered over the water.
- ³ God said, "Let there be light," and there was light. ·God saw that light was ⁴ good, and God divided light from darkness. ·God called light "day," and darkness ⁵ he called "night." Evening came and morning came: the first day.
- ⁶ God said, "Let there be a vault^b in the waters to divide the waters in two."
⁷ And so it was. ·God made the vault, and it divided the waters above the vault ⁸ from the waters under the vault. ·God called the vault "heaven." Evening came and morning came: the second day.
- ⁹ God said, "Let the waters under heaven come together into a single mass, ¹⁰ and let dry land appear." And so it was. ·God called the dry land "earth" and the mass of waters "seas," and God saw that it was good.
- ¹¹ God said, "Let the earth produce vegetation: seed-bearing plants, and fruit ¹² trees bearing fruit with their seed inside, on the earth." And so it was. ·The earth produced vegetation: plants bearing seed in their several kinds, and trees bearing fruit with their seed inside in their several kinds. God saw that it was ¹³ good. ·Evening came and morning came: the third day.
- ¹⁴ God said, "Let there be lights in the vault of heaven to divide day from night, ¹⁵ and let them indicate festivals, days and years. ·Let them be lights in the vault ¹⁶ of heaven to shine on the earth." And so it was. ·God made the two great lights^c: the greater light to govern the day, the smaller light to govern the night, and the ¹⁷ stars. ·God set them in the vault of heaven to shine on the earth, ·to govern ¹⁸ the day and the night and to divide light from darkness. God saw that it was ¹⁹ good. ·Evening came and morning came: the fourth day.
- ²⁰ God said, "Let the waters teem with living creatures, and let birds fly above ²¹ the earth within the vault of heaven." And so it was. ·God created great sea-serpents and every kind of living creature with which the waters teem, and every ²² kind of winged creature. God saw that it was good. ·God blessed them, saying,
"Be fruitful, multiply, and fill the waters of the seas; and let the birds multiply ²³ upon the earth." ·Evening came and morning came: the fifth day.
- ²⁴ God said, "Let the earth produce every kind of living creature: cattle, reptiles,^d ²⁵ and every kind of wild beast." And so it was. ·God made every kind of wild beast, every kind of cattle, and every kind of land reptile. God saw that it was good.

1 a. Ascribed to the "priestly" source (see Introduction). b. For the ancient Semites, the "arch," or "vault" of the sky was a solid dome holding the upper waters in check. c. Their names are omitted deliberately: the sun and the moon were worshiped by neighboring peoples, and here they are treated as no more than lamps to light the earth and regulate the calendar. d. "Things which crawl," a general term for small mammals, reptiles, amphibians and insects.

26 God said, "Let us^e make man^f in our own image, in the likeness of ourselves, and let them be masters of the fish of the sea, the birds of heaven, the cattle, all the wild beasts and all the reptiles that crawl upon the earth."

27 God created man in the image of himself, in the image of God he created him, male and female he created them.

28 God blessed them, saying to them, "Be fruitful, multiply, fill the earth and conquer it. Be masters of the fish of the sea, the birds of heaven and all living 29 animals on the earth." •God said, "See, I give you all the seed-bearing plants that are upon the whole earth, and all the trees with seed-bearing fruit; this shall be 30 your food. •To all wild beasts, all birds of heaven and all living reptiles on the 31 earth I give all the foliage of plants for food." And so it was. •God saw all he had made, and indeed it was very good. Evening came and morning came: the sixth day.

¹/₂ Thus heaven and earth were completed with all their array. •On the seventh 2 day God completed the work he had been doing. He rested on the seventh day 3 after all the work he had been doing. •God blessed the seventh day and made it 4 holy, because on that day he had rested after all his work of creating.

4 Such were the origins of heavens and earth when they were created.

The second account of the creation.^g Paradise

5 At the time when Yahweh God made earth and heaven •there was as yet no wild bush on the earth nor had any wild plant yet sprung up, for Yahweh God 6 had not sent rain on the earth, nor was there any man to till the soil. •However, 7 a flood was rising from the earth and watering all the surface of the soil. •Yahweh God fashioned man of dust from the soil. Then he breathed into his nostrils a breath of life, and thus man became a living being.

8 Yahweh God planted a garden in Eden which is in the east, and there he put 9 the man he had fashioned. •Yahweh God caused to spring up from the soil every kind of tree, enticing to look at and good to eat, with the tree of life and the tree 10 of the knowledge of good and evil in the middle of the garden. •A river flowed from Eden to water the garden, and from there it divided to make four streams.^b 11 The first is named the Pishon, and this encircles the whole land of Havilah where 12 there is gold. •The gold of this land is pure; bdellium^c and onyx stone are found 13 there. •The second river is named the Gihon, and this encircles the whole land 14 of Cush. •The third river is named the Tigris, and this flows to the east of Ashur.
15 The fourth river is the Euphrates. •Yahweh God took the man and settled him 16 in the garden of Eden to cultivate and take care of it. •Then Yahweh God gave the man this admonition, "You may eat indeed of all the trees in the garden.
17 Nevertheless of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil you are not to eat, for on the day you eat of it you shall most surely die."

18 Yahweh God said, "It is not good that the man should be alone. I will make 19 him a helpmate." •So from the soil Yahweh God fashioned all the wild beasts and all the birds of heaven. These he brought to the man to see what he would 20 call them; each one was to bear the name the man would give it. •The man gave names to all the cattle, all the birds of heaven and all the wild beasts. But no 21 helpmate suitable for man was found for him. •So Yahweh God made the man fall into a deep sleep. And while he slept, he took one of his ribs and enclosed 22 it in flesh. •Yahweh God built the rib he had taken from the man into a woman, 23 and brought her to the man. •The man exclaimed:

"This at last is bone from my bones, and flesh from my flesh!
This is to be called woman,^d for this was taken from man."

- 24 This is why a man leaves his father and mother and joins himself to his wife, and they become one body.
- 25 Now both of them were naked, the man and his wife, but they felt no shame in front of each other.

The Fall

- 1 3 The serpent was the most subtle of all the wild beasts that Yahweh God had made. It asked the woman, "Did God really say you were not to eat from 2 any of the trees in the garden?" The woman answered the serpent, "We may eat 3 the fruit of the trees in the garden. But of the fruit of the tree in the middle of the garden God said, 'You must not eat it, nor touch it, under pain of death.'" 4 Then the serpent said to the woman, "No! You will not die! God knows in fact 5 that on the day you eat it your eyes will be opened and you will be like gods, 6 knowing good and evil." The woman saw that the tree was good to eat and pleasing to the eye, and that it was desirable for the knowledge that it could give. So she took some of its fruit and ate it. She gave some also to her husband who 7 was with her, and he ate it. Then the eyes of both of them were opened and they realized that they were naked. So they sewed fig leaves together to make themselves loincloths.
- 8 The man and his wife heard the sound of Yahweh God walking in the garden in the cool of the day, and they hid from Yahweh God among the trees 9 of the garden. But Yahweh God called to the man. "Where are you?" he asked.
10 "I heard the sound of you in the garden," he replied. "I was afraid because I was 11 naked, so I hid." "Who told you that you were naked?" he asked. "Have you been 12 eating of the tree I forbade you to eat?" The man replied, "It was the woman you 13 put with me; she gave me the fruit, and I ate it." Then Yahweh God asked the woman, "What is this you have done?" The woman replied, "The serpent tempted me and I ate."
- 14 Then Yahweh God said to the serpent, "Because you have done this,
"Be accursed beyond all cattle, all wild beasts.
You shall crawl on your belly and eat dust every day of your life.
I will make you enemies of each other:
you and the woman,
your offspring and her offspring.
It will crush your head and you will strike its heel."
- 16 To the woman he said:
"I will multiply your pains in childbearing, you shall give birth to your children in pain.
Your yearning shall be for your husband, yet he will lord it over you."
- 17 To the man he said, "Because you listened to the voice of your wife and ate from the tree of which I had forbidden you to eat,
"Accursed be the soil because of you.
With suffering shall you get your food from it

e. Perhaps the plural of majesty: the common name for God was Elohim, a plural form. But possibly the plural form implies a discussion between God and his heavenly court. f. Man, adam, is a collective noun ("mankind"); hence the plural in "Let them be masters of. . . ." 2 a. From the "Yahwistic" source (see Introduction). b. Verses 10–14 are intended to fix the locality of Eden. every day of your life.
 18 It shall yield you brambles and thistles, and you shall eat wild plants.
 19 With sweat on your brow shall you eat your bread, until you return to the soil, as you were taken from it.
 For dust you are and to dust you shall return.”

20 The man named his wife “Eve” because she was the mother of all those who 21 live.^a Yahweh God made clothes out of skins for the man and his wife, and 22 they put them on. Then Yahweh God said, “See, the man has become like one of us, with his knowledge of good and evil. He must not be allowed to stretch his hand out next and pick from the tree of life also, and eat some 23 and live for ever.” So Yahweh God expelled him from the garden of Eden, 24 to till the soil from which he had been taken. He banished the man, and in front of the garden of Eden he posted the cherubs, and the flame of a flashing sword, to guard the way to the tree of life.

Cain and Abel

1 4 The man had intercourse with his wife Eve, and she conceived and gave birth 2 to Cain. “I have acquired a man with the help of Yahweh”^a she said. She gave birth to a second child, Abel, the brother of Cain. Now Abel became a shepherd 3 and kept flocks, while Cain tilled the soil. Time passed and Cain brought some 4 of the produce of the soil as an offering for Yahweh, while Abel for his part brought the first-born of his flock and some of their fat as well. Yahweh looked 5 with favor on Abel and his offering. But he did not look with favor on Cain 6 and his offering, and Cain was very angry and downcast. Yahweh asked 7 Cain, “Why are you angry and downcast? If you are well disposed, ought you not to lift up your head? But if you are ill disposed, is not sin at the door like 8 a crouching beast hungering for you, which you must master?” Cain said to his brother Abel, “Let us go out”; and while they were in the open country, Cain set on his brother Abel and killed him.
 9 Yahweh asked Cain, “Where is your brother Abel?” “I do not know,” he 10 replied. “Am I my brother’s guardian?” “What have you done?” Yahweh asked. “Listen to the sound of your brother’s blood, crying out to me from the 11 ground. Now be accursed and driven from the ground that has opened its 12 mouth to receive your brother’s blood at your hands. When you till the ground it shall no longer yield you any of its produce. You shall be a fugitive and a 13 wanderer over the earth.” Then Cain said to Yahweh, “My punishment is 14 greater than I can bear. See! Today you drive me from this ground. I must hide from you, and be a fugitive and a wanderer over the earth. Why, whoever 15 comes across me will kill me!” “Very well, then,” Yahweh replied, “if anyone kills Cain, sevenfold vengeance shall be taken for him.” So Yahweh put a mark on Cain, to prevent whoever might come across him from striking him down.
 16 Cain left the presence of Yahweh and settled in the land of Nod, east of Eden.

The descendants of Cain

17 Cain had intercourse with his wife, and she conceived and gave birth to Enoch.
 He became builder of a town, and he gave the town the name of his son 18 Enoch. Enoch had a son, Irad, and Irad became the father of Mehujael; Mehujael became the father of Methushael, and Methushael became the father 19 of Lamech. Lamech married two women: the name of the first was Adah 20 and the name of the second was Zillah. Adah gave birth to Jabal: he was the 21 ancestor of the tent dwellers and owners of livestock. His brother’s name was 22 Jubal: he was the ancestor of all who play the lyre and the flute. As for Zillah, she gave birth to Tubal-cain: he was the ancestor of all metalworkers, in bronze or iron. Tubal-cain's sister was Naamah.

- 23 Lamech said to his wives:
 "Adah and Zillah, hear my voice, Lamech's wives, listen to what I say:
 I killed a man for wounding me, a boy for striking me.
 24 Sevenfold vengeance is taken for Cain, but seventy-sevenfold for Lamech."

Seth and his descendants

- 25 Adam had intercourse with his wife, and she gave birth to a son whom she named Seth, "because God has granted^b me other offspring," she said, "in place 26 of Abel, since Cain has killed him." A son was also born to Seth, and he named him Enosh. This man was the first to invoke the name of Yahweh.^c

The patriarchs before the flood

- 1 5 This is the roll of Adam's descendants:
 2 On the day God created Adam he made him in the likeness of God. Male and female he created them. He blessed them and gave them the name "Man" on the day they were created.
 3 When Adam was a hundred and thirty years old he became the father of 4 a son, in his likeness, as his image, and he called him Seth. Adam lived for eight hundred years after the birth of Seth and he became the father of sons 5 and daughters. In all, Adam lived for nine hundred and thirty years; then he died.
 6 When Seth was a hundred and five years old he became the father of Enosh.
 7 After the birth of Enosh, Seth lived for eight hundred and seven years, and 8 he became the father of sons and daughters. In all, Seth lived for nine hundred and twelve years; then he died.
 9 When Enosh was ninety years old he became the father of Kenan. After 10 the birth of Kenan, Enosh lived for eight hundred and fifteen years and he 11 became the father of sons and daughters. In all, Enosh lived for nine hundred and five years; then he died.
 12 When Kenan was seventy years old he became the father of Mahalalel.
 13 After the birth of Mahalalel, Kenan lived for eight hundred and forty years 14 and he became the father of sons and daughters. In all, Kenan lived for nine hundred and ten years; then he died.
 15 When Mahalalel was sixty-five years old he became the father of Jared.
 16 After the birth of Jared, Mahalalel lived for eight hundred and thirty years 17 and he became the father of sons and daughters. In all, Mahalalel lived for eight hundred and ninety-five years; then he died.
 18 When Jared was a hundred and sixty-two years old he became the father 19 of Enoch. After the birth of Enoch, Jared lived for eight hundred years and 20 he became the father of sons and daughters. In all, Jared lived for nine hundred and sixty-two years; then he died.
 21 When Enoch was sixty-five years old he became the father of Methuselah.
 22 Enoch walked with God. After the birth of Methuselah he lived for three 23 hundred years and became the father of sons and daughters. In all, Enoch 24 lived for three hundred and sixty-five years. Enoch walked with God. Then he vanished because God took him.
 25 When Methuselah was a hundred and eighty-seven years old he became

- 27 In all, Methuselah lived for nine hundred and sixty-nine years; then he died.
- 28 When Lamech was a hundred and eighty-two years old he became the father
- 29 of a son. He gave him the name Noah because, he said, "Here is one who will give us, in the midst of our toil and the laboring of our hands, a consolation
- 30 derived from the ground that Yahweh cursed." After the birth of Noah, Lamech lived for five hundred and ninety-five years and became the father of
- 31 sons and daughters. In all, Lamech lived for seven hundred and seventy-seven years; then he died.
- 32 When Noah was five hundred years old he became the father of Shem, Ham and Japheth.

Sons of God and daughters of men

- 1 6 When men had begun to be plentiful on the earth, and daughters had been
- 2 born to them, the sons of God, looking at the daughters of men, saw they
- 3 were pleasing, so they married as many as they chose. Yahweh said, "My spirit must not for ever be disgraced in man, for he is but flesh; his life shall last no more than a hundred and twenty years." The Nephilim were on the earth at that time (and even afterward) when the sons of God resorted to the daughters of man, and had children by them. These are the heroes of days gone by, the famous men.

2. THE FLOOD

The corruption of mankind

- 5 Yahweh saw that the wickedness of man was great on the earth, and that
- 6 the thoughts in his heart fashioned nothing but wickedness all day long. Yahweh
- 7 regretted having made man on the earth, and his heart grieved. "I will rid the earth's face of man, my own creation," Yahweh said, "and of animals also, reptiles too, and the birds of heaven; for I regret having made them." But Noah had found favor with Yahweh.
- 9 This is the story of Noah:
- Noah was a good man, a man of integrity among his contemporaries, and he walked with God. Noah became the father of three sons, Shem, Ham and
- 11 Japheth. The earth grew corrupt in God's sight, and filled with violence. God
- 12 contemplated the earth: it was corrupt, for corrupt were the ways of all flesh on the earth.

Preparations for the flood

- 13 God said to Noah, "The end has come for all things of flesh; I have decided this, because the earth is full of violence of man's making, and I will efface them from the earth. Make yourself an ark out of resinous wood. Make it
- 15 with reeds and line it with pitch inside and out. This is how to make it: the length of the ark is to be three hundred cubits, its breadth fifty cubits, and its
- 16 height thirty cubits. Make a roof for the ark . . . put the door of the ark high up in the side, and make a first, second and third deck.
- 17 "For my part I mean to bring a flood, and send the waters over the earth, to destroy all flesh on it, every living creature under heaven; everything on
- 18 earth shall perish. But I will establish my Covenant with you, and you must go on board the ark, yourself, your sons, your wife, and your sons' wives along
- 19 with you. From all living creatures, from all flesh, you must take two of each kind aboard the ark, to save their lives with yours; they must be a male and
- 20 a female. Of every kind of bird, of every kind of animal and of every kind of reptile on the ground, two must go with you so that their lives may be saved.
- 21 For your part provide yourself with eatables of all kinds, and lay in a store

22 of them, to serve as food for yourself and them." ·Noah did this; he did all that God had ordered him.

1 7 Yahweh said to Noah, "Go aboard the ark, you and all your household, for you alone among this generation do I see as a good man in my judgment. 2 Of all the clean animals you must take seven of each kind, both male and female; of the unclean animals you must take two, a male and its female (and of the birds of heaven also, seven of each kind, both male and female), to 3 propagate their kind over the whole earth. ·For in seven days' time I mean to 4 make it rain on the earth for forty days and nights, and I will rid the earth of 5 every living thing that I made." ·Noah did all that Yahweh ordered.

6 Noah was six hundred years old when the flood of waters appeared on the earth.

7 Noah with his sons, his wife, and his sons' wives boarded the ark to escape 8 the waters of the flood. (Of the clean animals and the animals that are not 9 clean, of the birds and all that crawls on the ground, ·two of each kind boarded the ark with Noah, a male and a female, according to the order God gave Noah.) 10 Seven days later the waters of the flood appeared on the earth.

11 In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, and on the 12 seventeenth day of that month, that very day all the springs of the great deep broke through, and the sluices of heaven opened. ·It rained on the earth for 13 forty days and forty nights.

14 That very day Noah and his sons Shem, Ham and Japheth boarded the ark, 15 with Noah's wife and the three wives of his sons, ·and with them wild beasts of every kind, cattle of every kind, reptiles of every kind that crawls on the 16 earth, birds of every kind, all that flies, everything with wings. ·One pair of all that is flesh and has the breath of life boarded the ark with Noah; ·and so there went in a male and a female of every creature that is flesh, just as God had ordered him.

And Yahweh closed the door behind Noah.

The flood

17 The flood lasted forty days on the earth. The waters swelled, lifting the ark 18 until it was raised above the earth. ·The waters rose and swelled greatly on the 19 earth, and the ark sailed on the waters. ·The waters rose more and more on the earth so that all the highest mountains under the whole of heaven were 20 submerged. ·The waters rose fifteen cubits higher, submerging the mountains. 21 And so all things of flesh perished that moved on the earth, birds, cattle, wild 22 beasts, everything that swarms on the earth, and every man. ·Everything with 23 the breath of life in its nostrils died, everything on dry land. ·Yahweh destroyed every living thing on the face of the earth, man and animals, reptiles, and the birds of heaven. He rid the earth of them, so that only Noah was left, and those 24 with him in the ark. ·The waters rose on the earth for a hundred and fifty days.

1 8 But God had Noah in mind, and all the wild beasts and all the cattle that 2 were with him in the ark. God sent a wind across the earth and the waters subsided. ·The springs of the deep and the sluices of heaven were stopped. 3 Rain ceased to fall from heaven; ·the waters gradually ebbed from the 4 earth. After a hundred and fifty days the waters fell, ·and in the seventh month, on the seventeenth day of that month, the ark came to rest on the mountains 5 of Ararat. ·The waters gradually fell until the tenth month when, on the first day of the tenth month, the mountain peaks appeared.

6 At the end of forty days Noah opened the porthole he had made in the ark 7 and he sent out the raven. This went off, and flew back and forth until the 8 waters dried up from the earth. ·Then he sent out the dove, to see whether 9 the waters were receding from the surface of the earth. ·The dove, finding nowhere to perch, returned to him in the ark, for there was water over the whole surface of the earth; putting out his hand he took hold of it and brought it back 10 into the ark with him. After waiting seven more days, again he sent out the 11 dove from the ark. In the evening, the dove came back to him and there it was with a new olive branch in its beak. So Noah realized that the waters were 12 receding from the earth. After waiting seven more days he sent out the dove, and now it returned to him no more.

13 It was in the six hundred and first year of Noah's life, in the first month and on the first of the month, that the water dried up from the earth. Noah lifted back the hatch of the ark and looked out. The surface of the ground was dry!

14 In the second month and on the twenty-seventh day of the month the earth was dry.

They disembark

15 Then God said to Noah, "Come out of the ark, you yourself, your wife, 16 your sons, and your sons' wives with you. As for all the animals with you, 17 all things of flesh, whether birds or animals or reptiles that crawl on the earth, bring them out with you. Let them swarm on the earth; let them be fruitful 18 and multiply on the earth." So Noah went out with his sons, his wife, and his 19 sons' wives. And all the wild beasts, all the cattle, all the birds and all the reptiles that crawl on the earth went out from the ark, one kind after another.

20 Noah built an altar for Yahweh, and choosing from all the clean animals 21 and all the clean birds he offered burnt offerings on the altar. Yahweh smelled the appeasing fragrance and said to himself, "Never again will I curse the earth because of man, because his heart contrives evil from his infancy. Never again will I strike down every living thing as I have done.

22 "As long as earth lasts, sowing and reaping, cold and heat, summer and winter, day and night shall cease no more."

The new world order

1 God blessed Noah and his sons, saying to them, "Be fruitful, multiply and 2 fill the earth. Be the terror and the dread of all the wild beasts and all the birds of heaven, of everything that crawls on the ground and all the fish of the 3 sea; they are handed over to you. Every living and crawling thing shall provide 4 food for you, no less than the foliage of plants. I give you everything, with 5 this exception: you must not eat flesh with life, that is to say blood, in it. I will demand an account of your lifeblood. I will demand an account from every beast and from man. I will demand an account of every man's life from his fellow men.

6 "He who sheds man's blood, shall have his blood shed by man, for in the image of God man was made.

7 "As for you, be fruitful, multiply, teem over the earth and be lord of it." 8 God spoke to Noah and his sons, "See, I establish my Covenant with you, 9 and with your descendants after you; also with every living creature to be found 10 with you, birds, cattle and every wild beast with you: everything that came out 11 of the ark, everything that lives on the earth. I establish my Covenant with you: no thing of flesh shall be swept away again by the waters of the flood.
 There shall be no flood to destroy the earth again."

12 God said, "Here is the sign of the Covenant I make between myself and you 13 and every living creature with you for all generations: ·I set my bow in the 14 clouds and it shall be a sign of the Covenant between me and the earth. ·When 15 I gather the clouds over the earth and the bow appears in the clouds, ·I will recall the Covenant between myself and you and every living creature of every kind. And so the waters shall never again become a flood to destroy 16 all things of flesh. ·When the bow is in the clouds I shall see it and call to mind the lasting Covenant between God and every living creature of every kind that is found on the earth."

17 God said to Noah, "This is the sign of the Covenant I have established between myself and every living thing that is found on the earth."

3. FROM THE FLOOD TO ABRAHAM

Noah and his sons

18 The sons of Noah who went out from the ark were Shem, Ham and 19 Japheth; Ham is the ancestor of the Canaanites. ·These three were Noah's sons, and from these the whole earth was peopled.

20 Noah, a tiller of the soil, was the first to plant the vine. ·He drank some 21 of the wine, and while he was drunk he uncovered himself inside his tent.
 22 Ham, Canaan's ancestor, saw his father's nakedness, and told his two brothers 23 outside. ·Shem and Japheth took a cloak and they both put it over their shoulders, and walking backward, covered their father's nakedness; they kept 24 their faces turned away, and did not see their father's nakedness. ·When Noah awoke from his stupor he learned what his youngest son had done to him.
 25 And he said:

"Accursed be Canaan.
 He shall be his brothers' meanest slave."

26 He added:

"Blessed be Yahweh, God of Shem, let Canaan be his slave!
 27 May God extend Japheth, may he live in the tents of Shem, and may Canaan be his slave!"

28 After the flood Noah lived three hundred and fifty years. ·In all, Noah's life lasted nine hundred and fifty years; then he died.

The peopling of the earth^a 1 10 These are the descendants of Noah's sons, Shem, Ham and Japheth, to whom sons were born after the flood:

2 Japheth's sons: Gomer, Magog, the Medes, Javan, Tubal, Meshech, Tiras.

3 Gomer's sons: Ashkenaz, Riphath, Togarmah. ·Javan's sons: Elishah, 4 Tarshish, the Kittim, the Dananites. ·From these came the dispersal to the islands of the nations.^b

These were Japheth's sons, according to their countries and each of their languages, according to their tribes and their nations.

5 Ham's sons: Cush, Misraim, Put, Canaan. ·Cush's sons: Seba, Havilah, Sabtah, Raamah, Sabteca. Raamah's sons: Sheba, Dedan.

6 Cush became the father of Nimrod who was the first potentate on earth.

10 a. In the form of a genealogical tree, this chapter draws up a Table of Peoples, arranging them according to their geographical and historical relationship. It sums up the knowledge of the inhabited world possessed by Israel in Solomon's time. b. The islands and the seaboard of the Mediterranean.

9 He was a mighty hunter in the eyes of Yahweh, hence the saying, "Like Nimrod, 10 a mighty hunter in the eyes of Yahweh." First to be included in his empire 11 were Babel, Erech and Accad, all of them in the land of Shinar. From this 12 country came Ashur, the builder of Nineveh, Rehoboth-ir, Calah, and Resen between Nineveh and Calah (this is the great city).

13 Misraim became the father of the people of Lud, of Anam, Lehab, Naphtuh, 14 Pathros, Cusluh and Caphtor, from which the Philistines came.

15 Canaan became the father of Sidon, his first-born, then Heth, and the 16 Jebusites, the Amorites, Girgashites, Hivites, Arkites, Sinites, Arvadites, 17 Zemarites, Hamathites; later the Canaanite tribes scattered. The Canaanite 18 frontier stretched from Sidon in the direction of Gerar and as far as Gaza, 19 then in the direction of Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah and Zeboim, and as far as Leshah.

20 These were Ham's sons, according to their tribes and languages, according to their countries and nations.

21 Shem also was the father of children, the ancestor of all the sons of Eber and the elder brother of Japheth.

22 Shem's sons: Elam, Asshur, Arpachshad, Lud, Aram. Aram's sons: Uz, 23 Hul, Gether and Mash.

24 Arpachshad became the father of Shelah, and Shelah became the father 25 of Eber. To Eber were born two sons: the first was called Peleg, because it was 26 in his time that the earth was divided, and his brother was called Joktan. Joktan 27 became the father of Almodad, Sheleph, Hazarmaveth, Jerah, Hadoram, 28 Uzal, Diklah, Obal, Abima-el, Sheba, Ophir, Havilah, Jobab; all these are 29 sons of Joktan. They occupied a stretch of country from Mesha in the direction 30 of Sephar, the eastern mountain range.

31 These were Shem's sons, according to their tribes and languages, and according to their countries and nations.

32 These were the tribes of Noah's sons, according to their descendants and their nations. From these came the dispersal of the nations over the earth, after the flood.

The tower of Babel^a

1 In Throughout the earth men spoke the same language, with the same voca-2 bulary. Now as they moved eastward they found a plain in the land of 3 Shinar^b where they settled. They said to one another, "Come, let us make 4 bricks and bake them in the fire."—For stone they used bricks, and for mortar they used bitumen.—"Come," they said, "let us build ourselves a town and a tower with its top reaching heaven. Let us make a name for ourselves, so that we may not be scattered about the whole earth."

5 Now Yahweh came down to see the town and the tower that the sons of 6 man had built. "So they are all a single people with a single language!" said 7 Yahweh. "This is but the start of their undertakings! There will be nothing 8 too hard for them to do. Come, let us go down and confuse their language 9 on the spot so that they can no longer understand one another." Yahweh 10 scattered them thence over the whole face of the earth, and they stopped 11 building the town. It was named Babel therefore, because there Yahweh 12 confused^c the language of the whole earth. It was from there that Yahweh 13 scattered them over the whole face of the earth.

The patriarchs after the flood

10 These are Shem's descendants:

11 When Shem was a hundred years old he became the father of Arpachshad, 12 two years after the flood. After the birth of Arpachshad, Shem lived five hundred years and became the father of sons and daughters.

12 When Arpachshad was thirty-five years old he became the father of Shelah.
13 After the birth of Shelah, Arpachshad lived four hundred and three years and became the father of sons and daughters.

14 When Shelah was thirty years old he became the father of Eber. After the 15 birth of Eber, Shelah lived four hundred and three years and became the father of sons and daughters.

16 When Eber was thirty-four years old he became the father of Peleg. After 17 the birth of Peleg, Eber lived four hundred and thirty years and became the father of sons and daughters.

18 When Peleg was thirty years old he became the father of Reu. After the 19 birth of Reu, Peleg lived two hundred and nine years and became the father of sons and daughters.

20 When Reu was thirty-two years old he became the father of Serug. After 21 the birth of Serug, Reu lived two hundred and seven years and became the father of sons and daughters.

22 When Serug was thirty years old he became the father of Nahor. After 23 the birth of Nahor, Serug lived two hundred years and became the father of sons and daughters.

24 When Nahor was twenty-nine years old he became the father of Terah.
25 After the birth of Terah, Nahor lived a hundred and nineteen years and became the father of sons and daughters.

26 When Terah was seventy years old he became the father of Abram, Nahor and Haran.

The descendants of Terah

27 These are Terah's descendants:

Terah became the father of Abram, Nahor and Haran. Haran became the 28 father of Lot. Haran died in the presence of his father Terah in his native 29 land, Ur of the Chaldeans. Abram and Nahor both married: Abram's wife was called Sarai, Nahor's wife was called Milcah, the daughter of Haran, father 30 of Milcah and Iscah. Sarai was barren, having no child.

31 Terah took his son Abram, his grandson Lot the son of Haran, and his daughter-in-law the wife of Abram, and made them leave Ur of the Chaldeans to go to the land of Canaan. But on arrival in Haran they settled there.^d 32 Terah's life lasted two hundred and five years; then he died at Haran.

II. THE STORY OF ABRAHAM

The call of Abraham

1 12 Yahweh said to Abram, "Leave your country, your family and your father's 2 house, for the land I will show you. I will make you a great nation; I will bless you and make your name so famous that it will be used as a blessing.

3 "I will bless those who bless you:
I will curse those who slight you.
All the tribes of the earth shall bless themselves by you."

4 So Abram went as Yahweh told him, and Lot went with him. Abram was 5 seventy-five years old when he left Haran. Abram took his wife Sarai, his nephew Lot, all the possessions they had amassed and the people they had acquired in Haran. They set off for the land of Canaan, and arrived there.

6 Abram passed through the land as far as Shechem's holy place, the Oak 7 of Moreh. At that time the Canaanites were in the land. Yahweh appeared to Abram and said, "It is to your descendants that I will give this land." So 8 Abram built there an altar for Yahweh who had appeared to him. From there he moved on to the mountainous district east of Bethel, where he pitched his tent, with Bethel to the west and Ai to the east. There he built an altar to 9 Yahweh and invoked the name of Yahweh. Then Abram made his way stage by stage to the Negeb.

Abraham in Egypt

10 When famine came to the land Abram went down into Egypt to stay there 11 for the time, since the land was hard pressed by the famine. On the threshold of Egypt he said to his wife Sarai, "Listen! I know you are a beautiful woman.
 12 When the Egyptians see you they will say, 'That is his wife,' and they will 13 kill me but spare you. Tell them you are my sister, so that they may treat me 14 well because of you and spare my life out of regard for you." When Abram arrived in Egypt the Egyptians did indeed see that the woman was very beautiful.
 15 When Pharaoh's officials saw her they sang her praises to Pharaoh and the 16 woman was taken into Pharaoh's palace. He treated Abram well because of her, and he received flocks, oxen, donkeys, men and women slaves, she-donkeys and camels. But Yahweh inflicted severe plagues on Pharaoh and his household 18 because of Abram's wife Sarai. So Pharaoh summoned Abram and said, "What 19 is this you have done to me? Why did you not tell me she was your wife? Why did you say, 'She is my sister,' so that I took her for my wife? Now, here is 20 your wife. Take her and go!" Pharaoh committed him to men who escorted him back to the frontier with his wife and all he possessed.

Abraham and Lot separate

1 13 From Egypt Abram returned to the Negeb with his wife and all he 2 possessed, and Lot with him. Abram was a very rich man, with livestock, 3 silver and gold. By stages he went from the Negeb to Bethel, where he had first 4 pitched his tent, between Bethel and Ai, at the place where he had formerly erected the altar. Here Abram invoked the name of Yahweh.

5 Lot, who was traveling with Abram, had flocks and cattle of his own, and 6 tents too. The land was not sufficient to accommodate them both at once, 7 for they had too many possessions to be able to live together. Dispute broke out between the herdsmen of Abram's livestock and those of Lot's. (The Cana-8 anites and the Perizzites were then living in the land.) Accordingly Abram said to Lot, "Let there be no dispute between me and you, nor between 9 my herdsmen and yours, for we are brothers. Is not the whole land open before you? Part company with me: if you take the left, I will go right; if you take the right, I will go left."

10 Looking around, Lot saw all the Jordan plain, irrigated everywhere—this was before Yahweh destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah—like the garden of 11 Yahweh or the land of Egypt, as far as Zoar.^a So Lot chose all the Jordan 12 plain for himself and moved off eastward. Thus they parted company: Abram settled in the land of Canaan; Lot settled among the towns of the plain, pitching 13 his tents on the outskirts of Sodom. Now the people of Sodom were vicious men, great sinners against Yahweh.

14 Yahweh said to Abram after Lot had parted company with him, "Look all around from where you are toward the north and the south, toward 15 the east and the west. All the land within sight I will give to you and your 16 descendants for ever. I will make your descendants like the dust on the ground:
 when men succeed in counting the specks of dust on the ground, then they will 17 be able to count your descendants! Come, travel through the length and breadth of the land, for I mean to give it to you."

18 So Abram went with his tents to settle at the Oak of Mamre, at Hebron, and there he built an altar to Yahweh.

The campaign of the four great kings^a

1 14 It was in the time of Amraphel king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellasar, 2 Chedor-laomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of the Goiim. These made war on Bera king of Sodom, Birsha king of Gomorrah, Shinab king of Admah, Shemeber king of Zebaiim, and the king of Bela (that is, Zoar).

3 These latter all banded together in the Valley of Siddim (that is, the Salt 4 Sea). For twelve years they had been under the yoke of Chedor-laomer, 5 but in the thirteenth year they revolted. In the fourteenth year Chedor-laomer arrived and the kings who were on his side. They defeated the Rephaim at 6 Asteroth-karnaim, the Zuzim at Ham, the Emim in the plain of Kiriathaim, the Horites in the mountainous district of Seir as far as El-paran, which is on 7 the edge of the wilderness. Wheeling around, they came to the Spring of Judgment (that is, Kadesh); they conquered all the territory of the Amalckites 8 and also the Amorites who lived in Hazazon-tamar. Then the kings of Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, Zebaiim and Bela (that is, Zoar) marched out and took 9 up battle positions against them in the Valley of Siddim, against Chedor-laomer king of Elam, Tidal king of the Goiim, Amraphel king of Shinar and Arioch 10 king of Ellasar: four kings against five! Now there were many bitumen wells in the Valley of Siddim, and in their flight the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah 11 fell into them, while the rest took refuge in the mountains. The conquerors seized all the possessions of Sodom and Gomorrah, and all their provisions, 12 and made off. They also took Lot (the nephew of Abram) and his possessions and made off; he was living at Sodom.

13 A survivor came to tell Abram the Hebrew, who was living at the Oak of the Amorite Mamre, the brother of Eshcol and Aner; these were allies of Abram.
14 When Abram heard that his kinsman had been taken captive, he mustered his supporters, the members of his household from birth, numbering three 15 hundred and eighteen, and led them in pursuit as far as Dan. He and his servants fell on them by night and defeated them, pursuing them as far as Hobah, north 16 of Damascus. He recaptured all the goods, along with his kinsman Lot and his possessions, together with the women and people.

Melchizedek

17 When Abram came back after the defeat of Chedor-laomer and the kings who had been on his side, the king of Sodom came to meet him in the Valley 18 of Shaveh (that is, the Valley of the King).^b Melchizedek king of Salem 19 brought bread and wine; he was a priest of God Most High. He pronounced this blessing:

20 "Blessed be Abram by God Most High, creator of heaven and earth, and blessed be God Most High for handing over your enemies to you."
And Abram gave him a tithe of everything.

21 The king of Sodom said to Abram, "Give me the people and take the 22 possessions for yourself." But Abram replied to the king of Sodom, "I raise my hand in the presence of Yahweh, God Most High, creator of heaven and earth: 23 not one thread, not one sandal strap, nothing will I take of what is yours; you 24 shall not say, 'I enriched Abram.' For myself, nothing. There is only what my men have eaten, and the share belonging to the men who came with me, Eshkol, Aner and Mamre; let them take their share."

The divine promises and Covenant

1 15 It happened some time later that the word of Yahweh was spoken to Abram in a vision, "Have no fear, Abram, I am your shield; your reward will be very great."

13 a. At the end of the Dead Sea.

14 a. The kings are not identifiable, but this episode finds its most natural setting in the conditions of the nineteenth century B.C. b. According to Josephus, this was close to Jerusalem.

2 "My Lord Yahweh," Abram replied, "what do you intend to give me? I go 3 childless . . ." Then Abram said, "See, you have given me no descendants; 4 some man of my household will be my heir." And then this word of Yahweh 5 was spoken to him, "He shall not be your heir; your heir shall be of your own 6 flesh and blood." Then taking him outside he said, "Look up to heaven and 7 count the stars if you can. Such will be your descendants," he told him. Abram 8 put his faith in Yahweh, who counted this as making him justified.

9 "I am Yahweh," he said to him, "who brought you out of Ur of the Chaldaeans 10 to make you heir to this land." "My Lord Yahweh," Abram replied, "how am I 11 to know that I shall inherit it?" He said to him, "Get me a three-year-old heifer, 12 a three-year-old-goat, a three-year-old ram, a turtledove and a young pigeon." 13 He brought him all these, cut them in half and put half on one side and half 14 facing it on the other; but the birds he did not cut in half. Birds of prey came 15 down on the carcasses but Abram drove them off.

16 Now as the sun was setting Abram fell into a deep sleep, and terror seized 17 him. Then Yahweh said to Abram, "Know this for certain, that your descendants 18 will be exiles in a land not their own, where they will be slaves and oppressed 19 for four hundred years. But I will pass judgment also on the nation that 20 enslaves them and after that they will leave, with many possessions. For your 21 part, you shall go to your fathers in peace; you shall be buried at a ripe old 22 age. In the fourth generation they will come back here, for the wickedness 23 of the Amorites is not yet ended."

24 When the sun had set and darkness had fallen, there appeared a smoking 25 furnace and a firebrand that went between the halves.^a That day Yahweh 26 made a Covenant with Abram in these terms:

"To your descendants I give this land, from the wadi of Egypt to the Great River,

19 the river Euphrates, the Kenites, the Kenizzites, the Kadmonites, the Hittites, 20 the Perizzites, the Rephaim, the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Girgashites, and 21 the Jebusites."

The birth of Ishmael

1 16 Abram's wife Sarai had borne him no child, but she had an Egyptian 2 maidservant named Hagar. So Sarai said to Abram, "Listen, now! Since 3 Yahweh has kept me from having children, go to my slave girl. Perhaps 4 I shall get children through her."^a Abram agreed to what Sarai had said.

5 Thus after Abram had lived in the land of Canaan for ten years Sarai took 6 Hagar her Egyptian slave girl and gave her to Abram as his wife. He went to 7 Hagar and she conceived. And once she knew she had conceived, her mistress 8 counted for nothing in her eyes. Then Sarai said to Abram, "May this insult 9 to me come home to you! It was I who put my slave girl into your arms but 10 now she knows that she has conceived, I count for nothing in her eyes. Let 11 Yahweh judge between me and you." "Very well," Abram said to Sarai, "your 12 slave girl is at your disposal. Treat her as you think fit." Sarai accordingly treated 13 her so badly that she ran away from her.

14 The angel of Yahweh^b met her near a spring in the wilderness, the spring 15 that is on the road to Shur. He said, "Hagar, slave girl of Sarai, where have 16 you come from, and where are you going?" "I am running away from my mistress 17 Sarai," she replied. The angel of Yahweh said to her, "Go back to your mistress 18 and submit to her." The angel of Yahweh said to her, "I will make your 19 descendants too numerous to be counted." Then the angel of Yahweh said 20 to her:

"Now you have conceived, and you will bear a son, and you shall name him Ishmael, for Yahweh has heard^c your cries of distress.

21 A wild ass of a man he will be, against every man, and every man against him, setting himself to defy all his brothers."

13 Hagar gave a name to Yahweh who had spoken to her: "You are El Roi," for, she said, "Surely this is a place where I, in my turn, have seen the one who 14 sees me?"^d This is why this well is called the well of Lahai Roi; it is between Kadesh and Bered.

15 Hagar bore Abram a son, and Abram gave to the son that Hagar bore the 16 name Ishmael. Abram was eighty-six years old when Hagar bore him Ishmael.

The Covenant and circumcision

1 17 When Abram was ninety-nine years old Yahweh appeared to him and 2 said, "I am El Shaddai.^a Bear yourself blameless in my presence, and I will make a Covenant between myself and you, and increase your numbers greatly."

3 Abram bowed to the ground and God said this to him, "Here now is my 4 covenant with you: you shall become the father of a multitude of nations. You 5 shall no longer be called Abram; your name shall be Abraham,^b for I make 6 you father of a multitude of nations. I will make you most fruitful. I will make 7 you into nations, and your issue shall be kings. I will establish my Covenant between myself and you, and your descendants after you, generation after genera-8 tion, a Covenant in perpetuity, to be your God and the God of your descendants after you. I will give to you and to your descendants after you the land you are living in, the whole land of Canaan, to own in perpetuity, and I will be your 9 God."

10 God said to Abraham, "You on your part shall maintain my Covenant, yourself and your descendants after you, generation after generation. Now this is my Covenant which you are to maintain between myself and you, and your 11 descendants after you: all your males must be circumcised. You shall circumcise your foreskin, and this shall be the sign of the Covenant between myself and 12 you. When they are eight days old all your male children must be circumcised, generation after generation of them, no matter whether they be born within 13 the household or bought from a foreigner not one of your descendants. They must always be circumcised, both those born within the household and those who have been bought. My Covenant shall be marked on your bodies as 14 a Covenant in perpetuity. The uncircumcised male, whose foreskin has not been circumcised, such a man shall be cut off from his people: he has violated my Covenant."

15 God said to Abraham, "As for Sarai your wife, you shall not call her Sarai, 16 but Sarah. I will bless her and moreover give you a son by her. I will bless her and nations shall come out of her; kings of peoples shall descend from 17 her." Abraham bowed to the ground, and he laughed, thinking to himself, "Is a child to be born to a man one hundred years old, and will Sarah have a 18 child at the age of ninety?" Abraham said to God, "Oh, let Ishmael live in your 19 presence!" But God replied, "No, but your wife Sarah shall bear you a son whom you are to name Isaac. With him I will establish my Covenant, a Covenant 20 in perpetuity, to be his God and the God of his descendants after him. For Ishmael too I grant you your request: I bless him and I will make him fruitful and greatly increased in numbers. He shall be the father of twelve princes, and I 21 will make him into a great nation. But my Covenant I will establish with Isaac, 15 a. In the ancient ritual of covenant, the two parties to a contract walked between the halves of a dead animal and called down on themselves the fate of the victim if they should violate the agreement. Here the firebrand symbolizes Yahweh.

16 a. A recognized practice. Cf. 30:1-6 and 30:9-13. b. In the most ancient texts, "the angel of Yahweh" is not a created being, but is God himself in a form visible to men. c. Ishmael means "God has heard." d. El Roi means "God of vision."

17 a. An ancient name of God, rarely used outside the Pentateuch (except Job). b. There is in fact a similarity between "Abraham" and the Hebrew expression for "the father of many," but the name is not derived from this expression.

22 whom Sarah will bear you at this time next year." When he had finished speaking to Abraham God went up from him.

23 Then Abraham took his son Ishmael, all those born in his household and all those he had bought, in short all the males among the people of Abraham's household, and circumcised their foreskins that same day, in accordance with 24 God's commands to him. Abraham was ninety-nine years old when his 25 foreskin was circumcised. Ishmael his son was thirteen years old when his 26 foreskin was circumcised. That same day Abraham and his son Ishmael were 27 circumcised; all the men of his household, both those born in the household and those who had been bought, were circumcised with him.

The apparition at Mamre

1 18 Yahweh appeared to him at the Oak of Mamre while he was sitting by 2 the entrance of the tent during the hottest part of the day. He looked up, and there he saw three men standing near him. As soon as he saw them he ran from the entrance of the tent to meet them, and bowed to the ground.
3 "My lord," he said, "I beg you, if I find favor with you, kindly do not pass your 4 servant by. A little water shall be brought; you shall wash your feet and lie 5 down under the tree. Let me fetch a little bread and you shall refresh yourselves before going further. That is why you have come in your servant's direction." They replied, "Do as you say."

6 Abraham hastened to the tent to find Sarah. "Hurry," he said "knead three 7 bushels of flour and make loaves." Then running to the cattle Abraham took a fine and tender calf and gave it to the servant, who hurried to prepare it.
8 Then taking cream, milk and the calf he had prepared, he laid all before them, and they ate while he remained standing near them under the tree.

9 "Where is your wife Sarah?" they asked him. "She is in the tent," he replied.
10 Then his guest said, "I shall visit you again next year without fail, and your wife will then have a son." Sarah was listening at the entrance of the tent behind 11 him. Now Abraham and Sarah were old, well on in years, and Sarah had ceased 12 to have her monthly periods. So Sarah laughed to herself, thinking, "Now that I am past the age of childbearing, and my husband is an old man, is pleasure 13 to come my way again!" But Yahweh asked Abraham, "Why did Sarah laugh 14 and say, 'Am I really going to have a child now that I am old?' Is anything too wonderful for Yahweh? At the same time next year I shall visit you again 15 and Sarah will have a son." "I did not laugh," Sarah said, lying because she was afraid. But he replied, "Oh yes, you did laugh."

Abraham intercedes

16 From there the men set out and arrived within sight of Sodom, with 17 Abraham accompanying them to show them the way. Now Yahweh had 18 wondered, "Shall I conceal from Abraham what I am going to do, seeing that Abraham will become a great nation with all the nations of the earth blessing 19 themselves by him? For I have singled him out to command his sons and his household after him to maintain the way of Yahweh by just and upright living.
In this way Yahweh will carry out for Abraham what he has promised him." 20 Then Yahweh said, "How great an outcry there is against Sodom and Gomorrah!
21 How grievous is their sin! I propose to go down and see whether or not they have done all that is alleged in the outcry against them that has come up to me.
I am determined to know."

22 The men left there and went to Sodom while Abraham remained standing 23 before Yahweh. Approaching him he said, "Are you really going to destroy 24 the just man with the sinner? Perhaps there are fifty just men in the town.
Will you really overwhelm them, will you not spare the place for the fifty just 25 men in it? Do not think of doing such a thing: to kill the just man with the sinner, treating just and sinner alike! Do not think of it! Will the judge of 26 the whole earth not administer justice?" Yahweh replied, "If at Sodom I find fifty just men in the town, I will spare the whole place because of them."

27 Abraham replied, "I am bold indeed to speak like this to my Lord, I who 28 am dust and ashes. But perhaps the fifty just men lack five: will you destroy the whole city for five?" "No," he replied, "I will not destroy it if I find forty-five 29 just men there." Again Abraham said to him, "Perhaps there will only be forty there." "I will not do it," he replied, "for the sake of the forty."

30 Abraham said, "I trust my Lord will not be angry, but give me leave to speak:
perhaps there will only be thirty there." "I will not do it," he replied, "if I find 31 thirty there." He said, "I am bold indeed to speak like this, but perhaps there will only be twenty there." "I will not destroy it," he replied, "for the sake of the 32 twenty." He said, "I trust my Lord will not be angry if I speak once more: perhaps there will only be ten." "I will not destroy it," he replied, "for the sake of the ten."

33 When he had finished talking to Abraham Yahweh went away, and Abraham returned home.

The destruction of Sodom

1 19 When the two angels reached Sodom in the evening, Lot was sitting at the gate. As soon as Lot saw them, he rose to meet them and bowed to 2 the ground. "I beg you, my lords," he said, "please come down to your servant's house to stay the night and wash your feet. Then in the morning you can continue your journey." "No," they replied, "we can spend the night in the open 3 street." But he pressed them so much that they went home with him and entered his house. He prepared a meal for them, baking unleavened bread, and they ate.

4 They had not gone to bed when the house was surrounded by the men of the town, the men of Sodom both young and old, all the people without 5 exception. Calling to Lot they said, "Where are the men who came to you tonight? Send them out to us that we may abuse them."a 6 Lot came out to them at the door, and having closed the door behind him 7 said, "I beg you, my brothers, do no such wicked thing. Listen, I have two 8 daughters who are virgins. I am ready to send them out to you, to treat as it pleases you. But as for the men, do nothing to them, for they have come under 9 the shadow of my roof." But they replied, "Out of the way! Here is one who came as a foreigner, and would set himself up as a judge. Now we will treat you worse than them." Then they forced Lot back and moved forward to break 10 down the door. But the men reached out, pulled Lot back into the house, 11 and shut the door. And they struck the men who were at the door of the house with blindness, from youngest to oldest, and they never found the doorway.

12 The men said to Lot, "Have you anyone else here? Your sons, your daughters 13 and all your people in the town, take them out of the place. We are about to destroy this place, for there is a great outcry against them, and it has reached 14 Yahweh. And Yahweh has sent us to destroy them." Lot went to speak to his future sons-in-law who were to marry his daughters. "Come," he said,
"leave this place, for Yahweh is about to destroy the town." But his sons-in-law thought he was joking.

15 When dawn broke the angels urged Lot, "Come, take your wife and these two daughters of yours, or you will be overwhelmed in the punishment of the 16 town." And as he hesitated, the men took him by the hand, and his wife and his two daughters, because of the pity Yahweh felt for him. They led him out and left him outside the town.

19 a. The unnatural vice that takes its name from this incident was condemned by the Israelites though it was common among their neighbors. However, underlying the story is a horror of the double offense of such behavior toward angels (as the "men" are revealed to be), and the breach of the law of hospitality would also be considered serious.

17 As they were leading him out they said, "Run for your life. Neither look behind you nor stop anywhere on the plain. Make for the hills if you would not be 18 overwhelmed." "No, I beg you, my lord," Lot said to them, "your servant has won your favor and you have shown great kindness to me in saving my life.
 But I could not reach the hills before this calamity overtook me, and death 20 with it. The town over there is near enough to flee to, and is a little one.
 21 Let me make for that—is it not little?—and my life will be saved." He answered, "I grant you this favor too, and will not destroy the town you 22 speak of. Hurry, escape to it, for I can do nothing until you reach it." That is why the town is named Zoar.

23 As the sun rose over the land and Lot entered Zoar, Yahweh rained on 24 Sodom and Gomorrah brimstone and fire from Yahweh. He overthrew these 25 towns and the whole plain, with all the inhabitants of the towns, and everything 26 that grew there.^b But the wife of Lot looked back, and was turned into a pillar of salt.

27 Rising early in the morning Abraham went to the place where he had stood 28 before Yahweh, and looking toward Sodom and Gomorrah, and across all the plain, he saw the smoke rising from the land, like smoke from a furnace.

29 Thus it was that when God destroyed the towns of the plain, he kept Abraham in mind and rescued Lot out of disaster when he overwhelmed the towns where Lot lived.

The origin of the Moabites and the Ammonites 30 After leaving Zoar Lot settled in the hill country with his two daughters, for he dared not stay at Zoar. He made his home in a cave, himself and his two daughters.

31 The elder said to the younger, "Our father is an old man, and there is not 32 a man in the land to marry us in the way they do the world over. Come let us ply our father with wine and sleep with him. In this way we shall have 33 children by our father." That night they made their father drunk, and the elder slept with her father though he was unaware of her coming to bed or of 34 her leaving. The next day the elder said to the younger, "Last night I slept with my father. Let us make him drunk again tonight, and you go and sleep 35 with him. In this way we shall have children by our father." They made their father drunk that night too, and the younger went and slept with him, but 36 he was unaware of her coming to bed or of her leaving. Both Lot's daughters 37 thus became pregnant by their father. The elder gave birth to a son whom she named Moab; and he is the ancestor of the Moabites of our own times.
 38 The younger also gave birth to a son whom she named Ben-ammi; and he is the ancestor of the Bene-ammon of our own times.^c

Abraham at Gerar

1 20 Abraham left there for the land of the Negeb, and settled between Kadesh 2 and Shur, staying for the time being at Gerar. Of his wife Sarah, Abraham said, "She is my sister," and Abimelech the king of Gerar had Sarah brought 3 to him. But God visited Abimelech in a dream at night. "You are to die," he told him, "because of the woman you have taken, for she is a married woman." 4 Abimelech however had not gone near her; so he said, "My Lord, would you 5 kill innocent people too? Did he not tell me himself, 'She is my sister,' and did not she herself say, 'He is my brother?' I did this with a clear 6 conscience and clean hands." "Yes I know," God replied in the dream, "that you did this with a clear conscience, and it was I who prevented you from 7 sinning against me. That was why I did not let you touch her. Now send the man's wife back; for he is a prophet and can intercede on your behalf for your life. But understand that if you do not send her back, you will surely die, and all your people too."

8 So Abimelech rose early next morning and summoning all his servants 9 told them the whole story, at which the men were very much afraid. Then summoning Abraham Abimelech said to him, "What have you done to us?
 What wrong have I done you that you bring so great a sin on me and on my 10 kingdom? You have treated me as you should not have done." And Abimelech 11 asked Abraham, "What possessed you to do this?" "Because," Abraham replied, "I thought there would be no fear of God here; and the people would kill 12 me because of my wife. Besides, she is indeed my sister, my father's 13 daughter though not my mother's; and she became my wife. So when God made me wander far from my father's home I said to her, 'There is a kindness you can do me: everywhere we go, say of me that I am your brother.'" 14 Abimelech took sheep, cattle, men and women slaves, and presented them 15 to Abraham, and gave him back his wife Sarah. And Abimelech said, "See, 16 my land lies before you. Settle wherever you please." To Sarah he said, "Look, I am giving one thousand pieces of silver to your brother. For you this will 17 be compensation in the eyes of all those with you. . . ." At Abraham's prayer God healed Abimelech, his wife and his slave girls, so that they could have children, 18 for Yahweh had made all the women of Abimelech's household barren on account of Sarah, Abraham's wife.

The birth of Isaac

1 21 Yahweh dealt kindly with Sarah as he had said, and did what he had 2 promised her. So Sarah conceived and bore a son to Abraham in his 3 old age, at the time God had promised. Abraham named the son born to him 4 Isaac, the son to whom Sarah had given birth. Abraham circumcised his son 5 Isaac when he was eight days old, as God had commanded him. Abraham 6 was a hundred years old when his son Isaac was born to him. Then Sarah said, "God has given me cause to laugh; all those who hear of it will laugh with 7 me."^a She added:

"Who would have told Abraham that Sarah would nurse children!
 Yet I have borne him a child in his old age."

The dismissal of Hagar and Ishmael

8 The child grew and was weaned, and Abraham gave a great banquet on 9 the day Isaac was weaned. Now Sarah watched the son that Hagar the Egyptian 10 had borne to Abraham, playing^b with her son Isaac. "Drive away that slave girl and her son," she said to Abraham; "this slave girl's son is not to share 11 the inheritance with my son Isaac." This greatly distressed Abraham because 12 of his son, but God said to him, "Do not distress yourself on account of the boy and your slave girl. Grant Sarah all she asks of you, for it is through Isaac 13 that your name will be carried on. But the slave girl's son I will also make 14 into a nation, for he is your child too." Rising early next morning Abraham took some bread and a skin of water and, giving them to Hagar, he put the child on her shoulder and sent her away.
 15 She wandered off into the wilderness of Beersheba. When the skin of water 16 was finished she abandoned the child under a bush. Then she went and sat down at a distance, about a bowshot away, saying to herself, "I cannot see the child die." So she sat at a distance; and the child wailed and wept.

b. The story relates to a subsidence or earthquake in the southern part of the Dead Sea, a region which is still unstable. The fate of Lot's wife, v.26, is a popular explanation of some landmark. c. Folk etymology; Moab is explained as from me-ab "from my father"; Ben-ammi, "son of my kinsman," is associated with "sons of Ammon."

21 a. Isaac is a form of the Hebrew for "God has laughed"; the name recalls 17:17 and 18:12. Both Abraham and Sarah had laughed when it was foretold that a son would be born to them. b. If this chapter was consistent with ch. 16, Ishmael would now be over fifteen years old. Different sources have been conflated.

- 17 But God heard the boy wailing, and the angel of God called to Hagar from heaven. "What is wrong, Hagar?" he asked. "Do not be afraid, for God has heard the boy's cry where he lies. Come, pick up the boy and hold him safe, for I will make him into a great nation." Then God opened Hagar's eyes and she saw a well, so she went and filled the skin with water and gave the boy a drink.
- 20 God was with the boy. He grew up and made his home in the wilderness, and he became a bowman. He made his home in the wilderness of Paran, and his mother chose him a wife from the land of Egypt.

Abraham and Abimelech at Beersheba

- 22 At that time Abimelech came with Phicol, the commander of his army, to speak to Abraham, "God is with you in all you are doing. Swear by God to me here and now that you will not trick me, neither myself nor my descendants nor any of mine, and that you will show the same kindness to me and the land of which you are a guest as I have shown to you." "Yes," Abraham replied, "I swear it."
- 25 Abraham reproached Abimelech about a well that Abimelech's servants had seized. "I do not know who has done this," Abimelech said. "You yourself have never mentioned it to me and, for myself, I heard nothing of it till today." Then Abraham took sheep and cattle and presented them to Abimelech and the two of them made a covenant. Abraham put seven lambs of the flock on one side. "Why have you put these seven lambs on one side?" Abimelech asked Abraham. He replied, "You must accept these seven lambs from me as evidence that I have dug this well." This is why they called that place Beersheba, because there the two of them swore an oath.^c
- 32 After they had made a covenant at Beersheba Abimelech went off with Phicol, the commander of his army, and returned to the land of the Philistines. Abraham planted a tamarisk at Beersheba and there he invoked Yahweh, the everlasting God. Abraham stayed for a long while in the land of the Philistines.

The sacrifice of Isaac

- 1 22 It happened some time later that God put Abraham to the test. "Abraham, Abraham," he called. "Here I am," he replied. "Take your son," God said, "your only child Isaac, whom you love, and go to the land of Moriah.^a There you shall offer him as a burnt offering, on a mountain I will point out to you."
- 3 Rising early next morning Abraham saddled his ass and took with him two of his servants and his son Isaac. He chopped wood for the burnt offering and started on his journey to the place God had pointed out to him. On the third day Abraham looked up and saw the place in the distance. Then Abraham said to his servants, "Stay here with the donkey. The boy and I will go over there; we will worship and come back to you."
- 6 Abraham took the wood for the burnt offering, loaded it on Isaac, and carried in his own hands the fire and the knife. Then the two of them set out together. Isaac spoke to his father Abraham, "Father," he said. "Yes, my son," he replied. "Look," he said, "here are the fire and the wood, but where is the lamb for the burnt offering?" Abraham answered, "My son, God himself will provide the lamb for the burnt offering." Then the two of them went on together.
- 9 When they arrived at the place God had pointed out to him, Abraham built an altar there, and arranged the wood. Then he bound his son Isaac and put him on the altar on top of the wood. Abraham stretched out his hand and seized the knife to kill his son.
- 11 But the angel of Yahweh called to him from heaven. "Abraham, Abraham," he said. "I am here," he replied. "Do not raise your hand against the boy," the angel said. "Do not harm him, for now I know you fear God. You have not refused me your son, your only son." Then looking up, Abraham saw a ram caught by its horns in a bush. Abraham took the ram and offered it as a burnt offering in place of his son. Abraham called this place, "Yahweh provides," and hence the saying today: On the mountain Yahweh provides.

¹⁵¹⁶ The angel of Yahweh called Abraham a second time from heaven. "I swear by my own self—it is Yahweh who speaks—because you have done this, because ¹⁷ you have not refused me your son, your only son, I will shower blessings on you, I will make your descendants as many as the stars of heaven and the grains of sand on the seashore. Your descendants shall gain possession of the gates^b of their ¹⁸ enemies. All the nations of the earth shall bless themselves by your descendants, as a reward for your obedience."

¹⁹ Abraham went back to his servants, and together they set out for Beersheba, and he settled in Beersheba.

The descendants of Nahor

²⁰ It happened some time later that Abraham received word that Milcah, too, ²¹ had now borne sons to his brother Nahor: Uz his first-born, Buz his brother, ²²²³ Kemuel Aram's father, Chesed, Hazo, Pildash, Jidlaph, Bethuel (and Bethuel was the father of Rebekah). These are the eight children Milcah gave Nahor, ²⁴ Abraham's brother. He had a concubine named Reumah, and she too had children: Tebah, Gaham, Tahash and Maacah.

The tomb of the patriarchs

¹² 23 The length of Sarah's life was a hundred and twenty-seven years. She died at Kiriath-arba, or Hebron, in the land of Canaan, and Abraham went in to mourn and grieve for her.

³ Then leaving his dead, Abraham spoke to the sons of Heth: "I am a stranger and a settler among you," he said. "Let me own a burial plot among you, so that ⁵ I may take my dead wife and bury her." The sons of Heth gave Abraham this ⁶ answer, "Listen, my lord, you are God's prince amongst us; bury your dead in the best of our tombs; not one of us would refuse you his tomb and keep you from burying your dead."

⁷ Abraham rose and bowed to the ground before the people of the land, the ⁸ sons of Heth, and spoke to them. "If," he said, "you are willing for me to take my dead wife and bury her, then listen to me. Intercede for me with Ephron, ⁹ Zohar's son, to give me the cave he owns at Machpelah, which is on the edge of his land. Let him make it over to me in your presence at its full price, for me ¹⁰ to own as a burial plot." Now Ephron was sitting among the sons of Heth, and Ephron the Hittite answered Abraham in the hearing of the sons of Heth and ¹¹ of all the citizens of the town. "My lord, listen to me," he said. "I give you the land and I give you the cave on it; I make this gift in the sight of the sons of my people. Bury your dead."

¹²¹³ Abraham bowed before the people of the land and he spoke to Ephron in the hearing of the people of the land, "Oh, if it be you . . . But listen to me. I will pay the price of the land; accept it from me and I will bury my dead there."
¹⁶ Bury your dead." Abraham agreed to Ephron's terms, and Abraham weighed out for Ephron the silver he had stipulated in the hearing of the sons of Heth, namely four hundred shekels of silver, according to the current commercial rate.

¹⁷ Thus Ephron's field at Machpelah opposite Mamre, the field and the cave that was on it, and all the trees that were on it, the whole of its extent in every ¹⁸ direction, passed into Abraham's possession in the sight of the sons of Heth and of all the citizens of the town. After this Abraham buried his wife Sarah ¹⁹ in the cave of the field of Machpelah opposite Mamre, in the country of 20 Canaan. And so the field and the cave that was on it passed from the sons of Heth into Abraham's possession to be owned as a burial plot.

The marriage of Isaac

1 24 By now Abraham was an old man well on in years, and Yahweh had blessed 2 him in every way. Abraham said to the eldest servant of his house-3 hold, the steward of all his property, "Place your hand under my thigh, I would 4 have you swear by Yahweh, God of heaven and God of earth, that you will not 5 choose a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites among whom 6 I live. Instead, go to my own land and my own kinsfolk to choose a wife for my 7 son Isaac." The servant asked him, "What if the woman does not want to come 8 with me to this country? Must I take your son back to the country from which 9 you came?" Abraham answered, "On no account take my son back there.
 10 Yahweh, God of heaven and God of earth, took me from my father's home, and 11 from the land of my kinsfolk, and he swore to me that he would give this country 12 to my descendants. He will now send his angel ahead of you, so that you may 13 choose a wife for my son there. And if the woman does not want to come 14 with you, you will be free from this oath of mine. Only do not take my son back 15 there." And the servant placed his hand under the thigh of his master Abraham, 16 and swore to him that he would do it.

17 The servant took ten of his master's camels and something of the best 18 of all his master owned, and set out for Aram Naharaiim^a and Nahor's town.
 19 In the evening, at the time when women go down to draw water, he made the 20 camels kneel outside the town near the well. And he said, "Yahweh, God of my 21 master Abraham, be with me today, and show your kindness to my master Abra-22 ham. Here I stand by the spring as the young women from the town come out 23 to draw water. To one of the girls I will say: Please tilt your pitcher and let me 24 drink. If she answers, 'Drink, and I will water your camels too,' may she be the 25 one you have chosen for your servant Isaac; by this I shall know you have 26 shown your kindness to my master."

27 He had not finished speaking when Rebekah came out. She was the daughter 28 of Bethuel, son of Milcah, wife of Abraham's brother Nahor. She had a pitcher 29 on her shoulder. The girl was very beautiful, and a virgin; no man had touched 30 her. She went down to the spring, filled her pitcher and came up again. Running 31 to meet her, the servant said, "Please give me a little water to drink from your 32 pitcher." She replied, "Drink, my lord," and she quickly lowered her pitcher on 33 her arm and gave him a drink. When she had finished letting him drink, she said, 34 "I will draw water for your camels, too, until they have had enough." She 35 quickly emptied her pitcher into the trough, and ran to the well again to draw 36 water, and drew water for all the camels while the man watched in silence, 37 wondering whether Yahweh had made his journey successful or not.

38 When the camels had finished drinking, the man took a gold ring weighing 39 half a shekel, and put it through her nostrils, and put on her arms two bracelets 40 weighing ten gold shekels, and he said, "Whose daughter are you? Please tell me.
 41 Is there room at your father's house for us to spend the night?" She answered, 42 "I am the daughter of Bethuel, the son whom Milcah bore to Nahor." And she 43 went on, "We have plenty of straw and fodder, and room to lodge." Then the 44 man bowed down and worshiped Yahweh saying, "Blessed be Yahweh, God 45 of my master Abraham, for he has not stopped showing kindness and 46 goodness to my master. Yahweh has guided my steps to the house of my master's 47 brother."

48 The girl ran to her mother's house to tell what had happened. Now Rebekah 49 had a brother called Laban, and Laban ran out to the man at the spring. As soon 50 as he had seen the ring and the bracelets his sister was wearing, and had heard 51 his sister Rebekah saying, "This is what the man said to me," he went to the man 52 and found him still standing by his camels at the spring. He said to him, "Come in, blessed of Yahweh, why stay out here when I have cleared the house and made room for the camels?" The man went to the house, and Laban unloaded the camels. He provided straw and fodder for the camels and water for him and his companions to wash their feet.

They offered him food, but he said, "I will eat nothing before I have said what I have to say." Laban said, "Speak." He said, "I am the servant of Abraham. Yahweh has overwhelmed my master with blessings, and Abraham is now very rich. He has given him flocks and herds, silver and gold, men slaves and women slaves, camels and donkeys. Sarah, my master's wife, bore him a son in his old age, and he has made over all his property to him. My master made me take this oath, 'You are not to choose a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites in whose country I live. Curse you if you do not go to my father's home and to my kinsfolk to choose a wife for my son.' I said to my master: Suppose the woman will not agree to come with me? and his reply was, 'Yahweh, in whose presence I have walked, will send his angel to make your journey successful; you shall choose a wife for my son from my kinsfolk and from my father's house. So doing, you will be free from my curse: you will have gone to my family, and if they refuse you, you will be free from my curse.' Arriving today at the spring I said: Yahweh, God of my master Abraham, show me, I pray, if you intend to make my journey successful. Here I stand, by the spring: when a girl comes out to draw water and I say to her: Please let me drink a little water from your pitcher, and she replies, 'Drink by all means, and I will draw water for your camels too,' may she be the wife Yahweh has chosen for my master's son: I was still turning this over in my mind when Rebekah came out, her pitcher on her shoulder. She came down to the spring and drew water. I said to her: Please give me a drink. Quickly she lowered her pitcher saying, 'Drink, and I will water your camels too.' I asked her: Whose daughter are you? She replied, 'I am the daughter of Bethuel, whom Milcah bore to Nahor.' Then I put this ring through her nostrils and these bracelets on her arms. I bowed down and worshiped Yahweh, and I blessed Yahweh, God of my master Abraham, who had so graciously led me to choose the daughter of my master's brother for his son. Now tell me whether you are prepared to show kindness and goodness to my master; if not, say so, and I shall know what to do."

Laban and Bethuel replied, "This is from Yahweh; it is not in our power to say yes or no to you. Rebekah is there before you. Take her and go; and let her become the wife of your master's son, as Yahweh has decreed." On hearing this Abraham's servant prostrated himself on the ground before Yahweh. He brought out silver and gold ornaments and clothes which he gave to Rebekah; he also gave rich presents to her brother and to her mother.

They ate and drank, he and his companions, and they spent the night there. Next morning when they were up, he said, "Let me go back to my master." Rebekah's brother and mother replied, "Let the girl stay with us a few days, perhaps ten; after that she may go." But he replied, "Do not delay me; it is Yahweh who has made my journey successful; let me leave to go back to my master." They replied, "Let us call the girl and find out what she has to say." They called Rebekah and asked her, "Do you want to leave with this man?" "I do," she replied. Accordingly they let their sister Rebekah go, with her nurse, and Abraham's servant and his men. They blessed Rebekah in these words:

"Sister of ours, increase to thousands and tens of thousands!
May your descendants gain possession of the gates of their enemies!"

61 Rebekah and her servants stood up, mounted the camels, and followed the man. The servant took Rebekah and departed.

62 Isaac, who lived in the Negeb, had meanwhile come into the wilderness of the well of Lahai Roi. Now Isaac went walking in the fields as evening fell, and 63 looking up saw camels approaching. And Rebekah looked up and saw Isaac. She 64 jumped down from her camel, and asked the servant, "Who is that man walking through the fields to meet us?" The servant replied, "That is my master"; then she 65 took her veil and hid her face. The servant told Isaac the whole story, and Isaac led Rebekah into his tent and made her his wife; and he loved her.
66 And so Isaac was consoled for the loss of his mother.

The descendants of Keturah

¹/₂ 25 Abraham married another wife whose name was Keturah; and she bore ³ him Zimram, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak and Shuah.—Jokshan was the father of Sheba and Dedan, and the sons of Dedan were the Asshurites, 4 the Letushim and the Leummim.—The sons of Midian are Ephah, Epher, Hanoah, Abida and Eldaah. All these are sons of Keturah.

⁵/₆ Abraham gave all his possessions to Isaac. To the sons of his concubines Abraham gave presents, and during his lifetime he sent them away from his son Isaac eastward, to the east country.

The death of Abraham

⁷/₈ The number of years Abraham lived was a hundred and seventy-five. Then Abraham breathed his last, dying at a ripe old age, an old man who had lived 9 his full span of years; and he was gathered to his people. His sons Isaac and Ishmael buried him in the cave of Machpelah opposite Mamre, in the field of Ephron the Hittite, son of Zohar. This was the field that Abraham had bought from the sons of Heth, and Abraham and his wife Sarah were buried there.
10 After Abraham's death God blessed his son Isaac, and Isaac lived near the well of Lahai Roi.

The descendants of Ishmael

12 These are the descendants of Ishmael, the son of Abraham by Hagar, Sarah's Egyptian maidservant. These are the names of the sons of Ishmael in the order of their birth: Ishmael's first-born was Nebaioth; then Kedar, Adbeel, Mibsam, 13 Mishma, Dumah, Massa, Hadad, Tema, Jetur, Naphish and Kedemah. These 14,15,16 are the sons of Ishmael, and these are their names, according to their settlements and encampments, twelve chiefs of as many tribes.

17 The number of years Ishmael lived was one hundred and thirty-seven. Then he breathed his last, died, and was gathered to his people. He lived in the territory stretching from Havilah to Shur, which is to the east of Egypt, on the way to Assyria. He set himself to defy his brothers.

III. THE STORY OF ISAAC AND JACOB

The birth of Esau and Jacob

19 This is the story of Isaac son of Abraham.

20 Abraham was the father of Isaac. Isaac was forty years old when he married Rebekah, the daughter of Bethuel the Aramaean of Paddan-aram, and sister of Laban the Aramaean. Isaac prayed to Yahweh on behalf of his wife, for she was barren. Yahweh heard his prayer, and his wife Rebekah conceived. But the children struggled with one another inside her, and she said, "If this is the way of it, why go on living?" So she went to consult Yahweh,^a and he said to her:

“There are two nations in your womb, your issue will be two rival peoples.
 One nation shall have the mastery of the other, and the elder shall serve the younger.”^b

²⁴ When the time came for her confinement, there were indeed twins in her womb.
²⁵ The first to be born was red, and as though he were completely wrapped in a hairy ²⁶ cloak; so they named him Esau. Then his brother was born, with his hand grasping Esau's heel; so they named him Jacob.^c Isaac was sixty years old at the time ²⁷ of their birth. When the boys grew up Esau became a skilled hunter, a man of the open country. Jacob on the other hand was a quiet man, staying at home among ²⁸ the tents. Isaac preferred Esau, for he had a taste for wild game; but Rebekah preferred Jacob.

Esau gives up his birthright

²⁹ Once, Jacob had made a soup, and Esau returned from the countryside ex-³⁰ hausted. Esau said to Jacob, “Let me eat the red soup, that red soup there; I ³¹ am exhausted”—hence the name given to him, Edom. Jacob said, “First sell me ³² your birthright,^d then.” Esau said, “Here I am, at death's door; what use will my ³³ birthright be to me?” Then Jacob said, “First give me your oath”; he gave him his ³⁴ oath and sold his birthright to Jacob. Then Jacob gave him bread and lentil soup, and after eating and drinking he got up and went. That was all Esau cared for his birthright.

Isaac at Gerar

¹ 26 There was a famine in the land—a second one after the famine which took place in the time of Abraham—and Isaac went to Abimelech, the Philistine ² king at Gerar. Yahweh appeared to him and said, “Do not go down into Egypt; ³ stay in the land I shall tell you of. Remain for the present here in this land, and I will be with you and bless you. For it is to you and your descendants that I will give ⁴ all these lands, and I will fulfill the oath I swore to your father Abraham. I will make your descendants as many as the stars of heaven, and I will give them ⁵ all these lands; and all the nations in the world shall bless themselves by your ⁶ descendants in return for Abraham's obedience; for he kept my charge, my commandments, my statutes and my laws.” So Isaac stayed at Gerar.

⁷ When the people of the place asked him about his wife he replied, “She is my sister,” for he was afraid to say, “She is my wife,” in case they killed him ⁸ on Rebekah's account, for she was beautiful. When he had been there some time, Abimelech the Philistine king happened to look out of the window and saw Isaac ⁹ fondling his wife Rebekah. Abimelech summoned Isaac and said to him, “Surely she must be your wife! How could you say she was your sister?” Isaac answered ¹⁰ him, “Because I thought I might be killed on her account.” Abimelech said, “What is this you have done to us? One of my subjects might easily have slept with your ¹¹ wife, and then you would have made us incur guilt.” Then Abimelech issued this order to all the people: “Whoever touches this man or his wife shall be put to death.”

¹² Isaac sowed his crops in that land, and that year he reaped a hundredfold.
¹³ Yahweh blessed him and the man became rich; he prospered more and more until ¹⁴ he was very rich indeed. He had flocks and herds and many servants. The Philistines began to envy him.

25 a. At some recognized holy place. b. A prediction of the enmity between the Edomites, as descendants of Esau, and the Israelites, the descendants of Jacob. c. A play on words connects the names with Hebrew words for “red” and “heel” respectively, but the derivation is implausible. d. By law, the first-born son took precedence over his brothers, and on his father's death received a double share of the inheritance and became the head of the family.

The wells between Gerar and Beersheba

15 The Philistines had sealed all the wells dug by his father's servants, filling them 16 with earth. These had existed from the time of his father Abraham. "Abimelech said to Isaac, "Leave us, for you have become much more powerful than we are." 17 So Isaac left; he pitched camp in the Valley of Gerar and there he stayed. "Isaac 18 dug again the wells made by the servants of his father Abraham and sealed by the Philistines after Abraham's death, and he gave them the same names as his father had given them.

19 Isaac's servants dug in the valley and found a well of spring-water. "But the 20 shepherds of Gerar quarreled with Isaac's shepherds, saying, "That water is ours!" 21 So Isaac named the well Esek, because they had quarreled with him. "They dug another well, and there was a quarrel about that one too; so he named it Sitnah.
22 Then he left there, and dug another well, and since there was no quarrel about this one, he named it Rehoboth, saying, "Now Yahweh has made room for us, so that we may thrive in the land."a 23 From here he went up to Beersheba. "Yahweh appeared to him that night and 24 said:

"I am the God of your father Abraham.
Do not be afraid, for I am with you.
I will bless you and make your descendants many in number on account of my servant Abraham."

25 There he built an altar and invoked the name of Yahweh. There he pitched his tent, and there Isaac's servants sank a well.

The alliance with Abimelech

26 Abimelech came from Gerar to see him, with his adviser Ahuzzath and the 27 commander of his army, Phicol. "Isaac said to them, "Why do you come to me 28 since you hate me, and have made me leave you?" "It became clear to us that Yahweh was with you," they replied, "and so we said, 'Let there be a sworn treaty 29 between ourselves and you, and let us make a covenant with you.' "Swear not to do us any harm, since we never molested you but were unfaithfully kind to you and 30 let you go away in peace. Now you have Yahweh's blessing." "He then made them a feast and they ate and drank.

31 Rising early in the morning, they exchanged oaths. Then Isaac bade them 32 farewell and they went from him in peace. "Now it was on the same day that Isaac's servants brought him news of the well they had dug. "We have found 33 water!" they said to him. "So he called the well Sheba, and hence the town is named Beersheba to this day.

The Hittite wives of Esau

34 When Esau was forty years old he married Judith, the daughter of Beeri the 35 Hittite, and Basemath, the daughter of Elon the Hittite. "These were a bitter disappointment to Isaac and Rebekah.

Jacob obtains Isaac's blessing by cunning

1 27 Isaac had grown old, and his eyes were so weak that he could no longer see.
2 He summoned his elder son Esau, "My son!" he said to him, and the latter 3 answered, "I am here." "Then he said, "See, I am old and do not know when I may 4 die. "Now take your weapons, your quiver and bow; go out into the country and 5 hunt me some game. "Make me the kind of savory I like and bring it to me, 6 so that I may eat, and give you my blessing before I die."

7 Rebekah happened to be listening while Isaac was talking to his son Esau. So 8 when Esau went into the country to hunt game for his father, "Rebekah 9 said to her son Jacob, "I have just heard your father saying to your brother 10 Esau, "Bring me some game and make a savory for me. Then I shall eat,

8 and bless you in the presence of Yahweh before I die.' 'Now my son, listen to me 9 and do as I tell you. 'Go to the flock, and bring me back two good kids, so that I 10 can make the kind of savory your father likes. 'Then you can take it to your father for him to eat so that he may bless you before he dies."

11 Jacob said to his mother Rebekah, "Look, my brother Esau is hairy, while I am 12 smooth-skinned. 'If my father happens to touch me, he will see I am cheating him, 13 and I shall bring down a curse on myself instead of a blessing.'" 'But his mother answered him, "On me be the curse, my son! Just listen to me; go and fetch me the 14 kids." 'So he went to fetch them, and he brought them to his mother, and she 15 made the kind of savory his father liked. 'Rebekah took her elder son Esau's best clothes, which she had in the house, and dressed her younger son Jacob in 16 them, 'covering his arms and the smooth part of his neck with the skins of the 17 kids. 'Then she handed the savory and the bread she had made to her son Jacob.

18 He presented himself before his father and said, "Father." "I am here"; was the 19 reply "who are you, my son?" 'Jacob said to his father, "I am Esau your first-born;
I have done as you told me. Please get up and take your place and eat the game I 20 have brought and then give me your blessing." 'Isaac said to his son, "How quickly you found it, my son!" "It was Yahweh your God," he answered, "who put it in my 21 path." 'Isaac said to Jacob, "Come here, then, and let me touch you, my son, to 22 know if you are my son Esau or not." 'Jacob came close to his father Isaac, who touched him and said, "The voice is Jacob's voice but the arms are the arms of 23 Esau!" 'He did not recognize him, for his arms were hairy like his brother Esau's, 24 and so he blessed him. 'He said, "Are you really my son Esau?" And he replied, 25 "I am." 'Isaac said, "Bring it here that I may eat the game my son has brought, and so may give you my blessing." He brought it to him and he ate; he offered him 26 wine, and he drank. 'His father Isaac said to him, "Come closer, and kiss me, my 27 son." 'He went closer and kissed his father, who smelled the smell of his clothes.
He blessed him saying:

"Yes, the smell of my son is like the smell of a fertile field blessed by Yahweh.
28 May God give you dew from heaven, and the richness of the earth, abundance of grain and wine!
29 May nations serve you and peoples bow down before you!
Be master of your brothers;
may the sons of your mother bow down before you!
Cursed be he who curses you; blessed be he who blesses you!"

30 As soon as Isaac had finished blessing Jacob, and just when Jacob was leaving 31 the presence of his father Isaac, his brother Esau returned from hunting. 'He too made a savory and brought it to his father. He said to him, "Father, get up and 32 eat the game your son has brought and then give me your blessing!" 'His father 33 Isaac asked him, "Who are you?" "I am your first-born son, Esau," he replied. 'At this Isaac was seized with a great trembling and said, "Who was it, then, that went hunting and brought me game? Unsuspecting I ate before you came; I blessed 34 him, and blessed he will remain!" 'When Esau heard his father's words, he cried 35 out loudly and bitterly to his father, "Father, bless me too!" 'But he replied, "Your 36 brother came by fraud and took your blessing." 'Esau said, "Is it because his name is Jacob, that he has now supplanted me twice? First he took my birthright, and look, now he has taken my blessing! But," he added, "have you not kept a blessing

37 for me?" ·Isaac answered Esau, "See, I have made him your master; I have given him all his brothers as servants, I have provided him with grain and wine. What 38 can I do for you, my son?" ·Esau said to his father, "Was that your only blessing, father? Father, give me a blessing too." Isaac remained silent, and Esau burst into 39 tears. ·Then his father Isaac gave him this answer:

"Far from the richness of the earth shall be your dwelling-place, far from the dew that falls from heaven.

40 You shall live by your sword, and you shall serve your brother.

But when you win your freedom, you shall shake his yoke from your neck."^a 41 Esau hated Jacob because of the blessing his father had given him, and thought thus to himself, "The time to mourn for my father will soon be here. Then I will 42 kill my brother Jacob." ·When the words of Esau, her elder son, were repeated to Rebekah, she sent for her younger son Jacob and said to him, "Look, your brother 43 Esau means to take revenge and kill you. ·Now, my son, listen to me; go away and take refuge with my brother Laban in Haran. ·Stay with him a while, until 44 your brother's fury cools, ·until your brother's anger against you cools and he 45 forgets what you have done to him. Then I will send someone to bring you back.
 Why should I lose you both on the same day?"

Isaac sends Jacob to Laban

46 Rebekah said to Isaac, "I am tired to death because of the daughters of Heth.
 If Jacob marries one of the daughters of Heth like these, one of the women of the country, what meaning is there left in life for me?"

1 28 Isaac summoned Jacob and blessed him; and he gave him this order: "You 2 are not to choose a wife from the Canaanite women. ·Away now to Paddan-aram, the home of Bethuel, your mother's father, and there choose a wife 3 for yourself among the daughters of Laban, your mother's brother. ·May El Shaddai bless you; may he make you fruitful and make you multiply so that you 4 become a group of nations. ·May he grant you the blessing of Abraham, and your descendants after you, so that you may take possession of the land in which you 5 live now, which God gave to Abraham." ·Isaac sent Jacob away, and Jacob went to Paddan-aram, to Laban the son of Bethuel, the Aramaean, and brother of Rebekah, the mother of Jacob and Esau.

Another marriage of Esau

6 Esau saw that Isaac had blessed Jacob and sent him to Paddan-aram to choose a wife there, and that in blessing him he had given him this order: "You are not to 7 choose a wife from the Canaanite women," ·and that in obedience to his father 8 and mother Jacob had gone to Paddan-aram. ·Esau saw from this that the women 9 of Canaan were not held in favor by his father Isaac, ·so he went to Ishmael and chose for wife, in addition to the wives he had, Mahalath, daughter of Abraham's son Ishmael and sister of Nebaioth.

Jacob's dream

10 Jacob left Beersheba and set out for Haran. ·When he had reached a certain 11 place he passed the night there, since the sun had set. Taking one of the stones 12 to be found at that place, he made it his pillow and lay down where he was. ·He had a dream: a ladder was there, standing on the ground with its top reaching 13 to heaven; and there were angels of God going up it and coming down. ·And Yahweh was there, standing over him, saying, "I am Yahweh. the God of Abraham your father, and the God of Isaac. I will give to you and your descendants the land 14 on which you are lying. ·Your descendants shall be like the specks of dust on the ground; you shall spread to the west and the east, to the north and the south, and all the tribes of the earth shall bless themselves by you and your descendants.

 15 Be sure that I am with you; I will keep you safe wherever you go, and bring you back to this land, for I will not desert you before I have done all that I have 16 promised you." Then Jacob awoke from his sleep and said, "Truly, Yahweh is in 17 this place and I never knew it!" He was afraid and said, "How awe-inspiring this place is! This is nothing less than a house of God; this is the gate of heaven!" 18 Rising early in the morning, Jacob took the stone he had used for his pillow, and 19 set it up as a monument, pouring oil over the top of it. He named the place Bethel,^a but before that the town was called Luz.
 20 Jacob made this vow, "If God goes with me and keeps me safe on this journey I 21 am making, if he gives me bread to eat and clothes to wear, and if I return home 22 safely to my father, then Yahweh shall be my God. This stone I have set up as a monument shall be a house of God, and I will surely pay you a tenth part of all you give me."

Jacob arrives at Laban's home

¹/₂ 29 Moving on, Jacob went to the land of the sons of the East. He looked and there in the fields was a well with three flocks of sheep lying beside it, for this well was used for watering the flocks. Now the stone on the mouth of the well 3 was a large one; so they used to gather all the flocks there, and then roll the stone off the mouth of the well, to water the sheep; then they put the stone back in its 4 place over the mouth of the well. Jacob said to the shepherds, "Brothers, where 5 are you from?" They replied, "We are from Haran." Then he asked them, "Do you 6 know Laban, the son of Nahor?" "We know him," they replied. Then he asked them, "Does all go well with him?" "Yes," they replied, "and here comes his daugh-7 ter Rachel with the sheep." Then he said, "See, it is still broad daylight; it is not yet time to bring the animals in. Water the sheep and go and take them back to 8 pasture." But they answered, "We cannot do that until all the flocks are gathered and they roll the stone off the mouth of the well; then we shall water the sheep." 9 He was still talking to them, when Rachel came with the sheep belonging to 10 her father, for she was a shepherdess. As soon as Jacob saw Rachel, the daughter of his uncle Laban, and the sheep of his uncle Laban, he came up and, rolling the 11 stone off the mouth of the well, he watered the sheep of his uncle Laban. Jacob 12 kissed Rachel and burst into tears. He told Rachel he was her father's kinsman 13 and Rebekah's son, and she ran to tell her father. As soon as he heard her speak of his sister's son Jacob, Laban ran to meet him; and embracing him he kissed him warmly, and brought him to his house. Jacob told Laban everything that 14 had happened, and Laban said to him, "Truly you are my bone and flesh!"
 And Jacob stayed with him for a month.

Jacob's two marriages

15 Laban said to Jacob, "Because you are my kinsman, are you to work for me 16 without payment? Tell me what wages you want." Now Laban had two daugh-17 ters, the elder named Leah, and the younger Rachel. There was no sparkle in 18 Leah's eyes, but Rachel was shapely and beautiful, and Jacob had fallen in love with Rachel. So his answer was, "I will work for you seven years to win 19 your younger daughter Rachel." Laban replied, "It is better for me to give her to you than to a stranger; stay with me." 20 To win Rachel, therefore, Jacob worked seven years, and they seemed to him 21 like a few days because he loved her so much. Then Jacob said to Laban, "Give 22 me my wife, for my time is finished, and I should like to go to her." Laban gather-23 ed all the people of the place together, and gave a banquet. But when night came he took his daughter Leah and brought her to Jacob, and he slept with her.

24 (Laban gave his slave girl Zilpah to be his daughter Leah's slave.) "When morning came, there was Leah.^a So Jacob said to Laban, "What is this you have done to me? Did I not work for you to win Rachel? Why then have you tricked me?" Laban answered, "It is not the custom in our country to give the younger before the elder. Finish this marriage week and I will give you the other one too in return for your working with me another seven years." Jacob did this, and when the week was over, Laban gave him his daughter Rachel as his wife.

29 (Laban gave his daughter Rachel his slave girl Bilhah to be her slave.) So Jacob slept with Rachel also, and he loved Rachel more than Leah. He worked with Laban another seven years.

The sons of Jacob

31 Yahweh saw that Leah was neglected, so he opened her womb, while Rachel remained barren. Leah conceived and gave birth to a son whom she named Reuben,^b "Because," she said, "Yahweh has seen my misery; now my husband will love me." Again she conceived and gave birth to a son, saying, "Yahweh has heard that I was neglected, so he has given me this one too"; and she named him Simeon.

34 Again she conceived and gave birth to a son, saying, "This time my husband will be united to me, for I have now borne three sons to him"; accordingly, she named him Levi. Again she conceived and gave birth to a son, saying, "This time I will give glory to Yahweh"; accordingly she named him Judah. Then she had no more children.

1 30 Rachel, seeing that she herself gave Jacob no children, became jealous of her sister. And she said to Jacob, "Give me children, or I shall die!" This made Jacob angry with Rachel, and he retorted, "Am I in God's place? It is he who has refused you motherhood." So she said, "Here is my slave girl, Bilhah. Sleep with her so that she may give birth on my knees; through her, then, I too shall have children!" So she gave him her slave girl Bilhah as a wife. Jacob slept with her, and Bilhah conceived and gave birth to a son by Jacob. Then Rachel said, "God has done me justice; yes, he has heard my prayer and given me a son."

7 Accordingly she named him Dan. Again Rachel's slave girl Bilhah conceived and gave birth to a second son by Jacob. Then Rachel said, "I have fought God's fight with my sister, and I have won"; so she named him Naphtali.

9 Now Leah, seeing that she had no more children, took her slave girl Zilpah and gave her to Jacob as a wife. So Leah's slave girl Zilpah gave birth to a son by Jacob. Then Leah exclaimed, "What good fortune!" So she named him Gad.

12 Leah's slave girl Zilpah gave birth to a second son by Jacob. Then Leah said, "What happiness! Women will call me happy!" So she named him Asher.

14 Going out when they were harvesting the corn, Reuben found some mandrakes^c and brought them to his mother Leah. Rachel said to Leah, "Please give me some of your son's mandrakes." But Leah replied, "Is it not enough to have taken my husband that you should want to take my son's mandrakes too?" So Rachel said, "Very well, he shall sleep with you tonight in return for your son's mandrakes." When Jacob came back from the fields that night, Leah went out to meet him, saying, "You must come to me, for I have hired you at the price of my son's mandrakes." So he slept with her that night. God heard Leah, and she conceived and gave birth to a fifth son by Jacob. Then Leah said, "God has paid me my wages for giving my slave girl to my husband." So she named him Issachar.

19 Again Leah conceived and gave birth to a sixth son by Jacob, saying, "God has given me a fine gift; now my husband will honor me, for I have borne six children to him." So she named him Zebulun. Later she gave birth to a daughter and named her Dinah.

22 Then God remembered Rachel; he heard her and opened her womb. She conceived and gave birth to a son, saying, "God has taken away my shame." So she named him Joseph, saying, "May Yahweh give me another son!"

How Jacob becomes rich

25 When Rachel had given birth to Joseph, Jacob said to Laban, "Release me, and 26 then I can go home to my own country. Give me my wives for whom I have worked for you, and my children, so that I can go. You know very well the work 27 I have done for you." Laban said to him, "If I have won your friendship . . . I 28 learned from the omens that Yahweh had blessed me on your account. So name 29 your wages," he added, "and I will pay you." He answered him, "You know very well how hard I have worked for you, and how your stock has fared in my charge.
30 The little you had before I came has increased enormously, and Yahweh has blessed you wherever I have been. But when am I to provide for my own House?" 31 Laban said, "How much am I to pay you?" And Jacob replied, "You will not have to pay me anything: if you do for me as I propose, I will be your shepherd once more and look after your flock.

32 "Today I will go through all your flock. Take out of it every black animal among the sheep, and every speckled or spotted one among the goats. Such shall 33 be my wages, and my honesty will answer for me later: when you come to check my wages, every goat I have that is not speckled or spotted, and every sheep that is 34 not black shall rank as stolen property in my possession." Laban replied, "Good!
35 Let it be as you say." That same day he took out the striped and speckled he-goats and all the spotted and speckled she-goats, every one that had white on it, 36 and all the black sheep. He handed them over to his sons, and put three days' journey between himself and Jacob. Jacob took care of the rest of Laban's flock.

37 Jacob gathered branches in sap, from poplar, almond and plane trees, and 38 peeled them in white strips, laying bare the white on the branches. He put the branches he had peeled in front of the animals, in the troughs in the channels where the animals came to drink; and the animals mated when they came to drink.
39 They mated therefore in front of the branches and so produced striped, spotted 40 and speckled young. As for the sheep, Jacob put them apart, and he turned the animals toward whatever was striped or black in Laban's flock. Thus he built 41 up droves of his own which he did not put with Laban's flock. Moreover, whenever the sturdy animals mated, Jacob put the branches where the animals could see 42 them, in the troughs, so that they would mate in front of the branches. But when the animals were feeble, he did not put them there; thus Laban got the feeble, 43 and Jacob the sturdy, and he grew extremely rich, and became the owner of large flocks, with men and women slaves, camels and donkeys.

Jacob's flight

1 31 Jacob learned that the sons of Laban were saying, "Jacob has taken everything that belonged to our father; it is at our father's expense that he 2 has acquired all this wealth." Jacob saw from Laban's face that things were 3 not as they had been. Yahweh said to Jacob, "Go back to the land of your 4 forefathers and to your kindred; and I will be with you." So Jacob had Rachel 5 and Leah called to the fields where his flocks were, and he said to them, "I can see from your father's face that I am out of favor with him now; but the 6 God of my father has been with me. You yourselves know that I have worked 7 for your father with all my strength. Your father has tricked me, ten times 8 changing my wages, yet God has not allowed him to harm me. Whenever he said, 'The spotted ones shall be your wages,' all the animals produced spotted young;
whenever he said, 'The striped ones shall be your wages,' all the animals produced 9 striped young. Thus God has taken your father's livestock and given it to me.
10 It happened at the time when the animals were in heat, that in a dream I looked up and saw that the males covering the females of the flock were striped or spotted 11 or piebald. In the dream the angel of God called to me, 'Jacob!' And I answered: 12 I am here. He said, 'Look up and see: all the males covering the females of the 13 flock are striped or spotted or piebald, for I have seen all that Laban has done to you. I am the God of Bethel where you poured oil on a monument, and where you made a vow to me. Now get ready to leave this country and return to the land of your birth.'"

14 In answer Rachel and Leah said to him, "Have we any share left in the inher-15 itance of our father's House? Does he not treat us as foreigners, for he has sold 16 us and gone on to use up all our money? Surely all the riches God has taken from our father belong to us and to our children. So do all that God has told you."

17 Jacob made ready and put his children and his wives on camels, and he drove 18 all his livestock before him—with all he had acquired, the livestock belonging to him which he had acquired in Paddan-aram—to go to his father Isaac in the 19 land of Canaan. When Laban had gone to shear his flock, Rachel stole the house-20 hold idols^a belonging to her father. Jacob outwitted Laban the Aramaean by 21 giving him no inkling of his flight. He fled with all he had and went away, crossing the River^b and making for Mount Gilead.

Laban pursues Jacob

22 Three days later Laban was told that Jacob had fled. Taking his brothers 23 with him he pursued him for seven days and overtook him at Mount Gilead. God 24 came by night in a dream to Laban the Aramaean and said to him, "On no account 25 say anything whatever to Jacob." Laban caught up with Jacob, who had pitched his tent in the hills; and Laban pitched camp on Mount Gilead.

26 Laban said to Jacob, "What have you done, tricking me and driving my daugh-27 ters off like prisoners of war? Why did you flee in secret, stealing away without letting me know so that I could send you on your way rejoicing, with songs and 28 the music of tambourines and lyres? You did not even let me kiss my sons and 29 daughters. You have behaved like a fool. It is in my power to do you harm, but the God of your father said to me last night, 'On no account say anything what-30 ever to Jacob.' Now it may be you really went because you had such a longing for your father's House, but why did you steal my gods?"

31 Jacob answered Laban, "I was afraid, thinking you were going to snatch your 32 daughters from me. But whoever is found in possession of your gods shall not remain alive. In the presence of our brothers, examine for yourself what I have, and take what is yours." Now Jacob did not know that Rachel had stolen them.
 33 Laban went into Jacob's tent, and then into Leah's tent and the tent of the two slave girls, but he found nothing. He came out of Leah's tent and went into 34 Rachel's. Now Rachel had taken the household idols and put them in the camel's litter, and was sitting on them. Laban went through everything in the tent but 35 found nothing. Then Rachel said to her father, "Do not look angry, my lord, because I cannot rise in your presence, for I am as women are from time to time."
 Laban searched but did not find the idols.

36 Then Jacob lost his temper and took Laban to task. And Jacob said to Laban, 37 "What is my offense, what is my crime, that you have set on me? You have gone through all my belongings; have you found anything belonging to your House?
 Produce it here in the presence of my brothers and yours, and let them decide 38 between the two of us. In all the twenty years I have been with you, your ewes and your she-goats have never miscarried, and I have eaten none of the rams from 39 your flock. As for those mauled by wild beasts, I have never brought them back to you, but have borne the loss myself; you claimed them from me, whether I was 40 robbed by day or robbed by night. In the daytime the heat has consumed me, 41 and at night the cold has gnawed at me, and sleep has fled from my eyes. These twenty years I have been in your house; fourteen years I have worked for you for your two daughters, and six years for your flock; and ten times you have 42 changed my wages. If the God of my father, the God of Abraham, the Kinsman of Isaac, had not been with me, you would have sent me away empty-handed. But God has seen my weariness and the work done by my hands, and last night he delivered judgment."

A treaty between Jacob and Laban

43 Laban gave Jacob this answer, "These daughters are my daughters and these sons are my sons; these sheep are my sheep, and all that you see belongs to me. But what can I do today about my daughters, and about the sons they have borne?
44 Come now, let us make a covenant, you and I . . . , and let it serve as a witness between us."

45 Then Jacob took a stone and set it up as a monument. Jacob said to his 46 kinsmen, "Collect some stones," and gathering some stones they made a cairn. They had a meal there, on the cairn, and Laban called it Jegar-sahadutha while 47 Jacob called it Galeed. Laban said, "May this cairn be a witness between us 48 today." That is why he named it Galeed, and also Mizpah, because he said, "Let 49 Yahweh act as watchman between us when we are no longer in sight of 50 each other. If you ill-treat my daughters or marry other women in addition to my 51 daughters, even though no one be with us, remember: God is witness between 52 us." Then Laban said to Jacob, "Here is this cairn I have thrown up 53 between us, and here is the monument. This cairn is a witness, and the 54 monument bears witness: I must not pass this cairn to attack you, and you 55 must not pass this cairn and this monument to attack me. May the God of 56 Abraham and the god of Nahor judge between us." Then Jacob swore by the 57 Kinsman of his father Isaac. He offered a sacrifice on the mountain and invited 58 his brothers to the meal. They ate the meal, and passed the night on the mountain.

59 32 Laban rose early next morning, and kissing his sons and daughters he 60 blessed them. Then Laban left to return home. While Jacob was going on 61 his way angels of God met him, and on seeing them he said, "This is God's camp," 62 and he named the place Mahanaim.

Jacob prepares for his meeting with Esau

63 Jacob sent messengers ahead of him to his brother Esau in the land of Seir, 64 the countryside of Edom, with these instructions, "Say this to my lord Esau, 65 'Here is the message of your servant Jacob: I have been staying with Laban till 66 now, and have acquired oxen, beasts of burden and flocks, and men and women 67 slaves. I send news of this to my lord in the hope of winning your approval.'" 68 The messengers returned to Jacob and told him, "We went to your brother Esau, 69 and he is already on his way to meet you; there are four hundred men with him."

70 Jacob was greatly afraid and distressed. He divided the people with him, and 71 the flocks and cattle, into two companies, saying, "If Esau comes to one of the 72 companies and attacks it, the other company will be left to escape." Jacob said, 73 "O God of my father Abraham, and God of my father Isaac, Yahweh who said 74 to me, 'Go back to your country and family, and I will make you prosper,' I am 75 unworthy of all the kindness and goodness you have shown your servant. I had 76 only my staff when I crossed the Jordan^a here, and now I can form two companies.
77 I implore you, save me from my brother's clutches, for I am afraid of him; he may 78 come and attack us and the mothers and their children. Yet it was you who 79 said, 'I will make you prosper, and make your descendants like the sand on 80 the seashore, so many that it cannot be counted.'" Then Jacob passed that 81 night there.

82 From what he had with him he chose a gift for his brother Esau: two hundred 83 she-goats and twenty he-goats, two hundred ewes and twenty rams, thirty camels

31 a. The teraphim or household idols. b. Euphrates.

in milk with their calves, forty cows and ten bulls, twenty she-asses and ten donkeys. He put them in the charge of his servants, in separate droves, and he told his servants, "Go ahead of me, leaving a space between each drove and the next."
 He gave the first this order: "When my brother Esau meets you and asks, 'To whom do you belong? Where are you going? Whose are those animals that you are driving?' you will answer, 'To your servant Jacob. They are a gift sent to my lord Esau. Jacob himself is following.'" He gave the same order to the second and the third, and to all who were following the droves, "That is what you must say to Esau when you find him. You must say, 'Yes, your servant Jacob himself is following.'" For he argued, "I shall conciliate him by sending a gift in advance; so when I come face to face with him he may perhaps receive me favorably."
 The gift went ahead of him, but he himself spent that night in the camp.

Jacob wrestles with God

That same night he rose, and taking his two wives and his two slave girls and his eleven children he crossed the ford of the Jabbok. He took them and sent them across the stream and sent all his possessions over too. And Jacob was left alone.

And there was one that wrestled with him until daybreak who, seeing that he could not master him, struck him in the socket of his hip, and Jacob's hip was dislocated as he wrestled with him. He said, "Let me go, for day is breaking." But Jacob answered, "I will not let you go unless you bless me." He then asked, "What is your name?" "Jacob," he replied. He said, "Your name shall no longer be Jacob, but Israel, because you have been strong^b against God, you shall prevail against men." Jacob then made this request, "I beg you, tell me your name," but he replied, "Why do you ask my name?" And he blessed him there.

Jacob named the place Peniel, "Because I have seen God face to face," he said, "and I have survived." The sun rose as he left Peniel, limping because of his hip. That is the reason why to this day the Israelites do not eat the sciatic nerve which is in the socket of the hip; because he had struck Jacob in the socket of the hip on the sciatic nerve.

The meeting with Esau

Looking up Jacob saw Esau arriving with four hundred men. Accordingly he divided the children between Leah, Rachel and the two slave girls. He put the slave girls and their children in front, with Leah and her children following, and Rachel and Joseph behind. He himself went ahead of them and bowed to the ground seven times before going up to his brother. But Esau ran to meet him, took him in his arms and held him close and wept. Then looking up he saw the women and children. "Who are these with you?" he asked. Jacob answered, "The children whom God has bestowed on your servant." The slave girls then came up with their children, and they all bowed low. Leah also came up along with her children, and they all bowed low. Finally Rachel and Joseph came up and bowed low.

Esau asked, "What was the meaning of all the company that I have met?" "It is to win my lord's favor," he replied. "Brother, I have plenty," Esau answered, "keep what is yours." Jacob protested, "Please, if I have found favor with you, accept the gift I offer. To speak truly, I came into your presence as into the presence of God, but you have received me kindly. So accept the gift I have brought for you; since God has been generous to me, I have all I need." And he urged him, and Esau accepted.

Jacob leaves Esau

Esau said, "Let us break camp and move off; I will lead you." But Jacob replied, "My lord is aware that the children are weak, and that I must consider the sheep and the cows that have calved. If they are driven too hard, even for one day, the whole drove will die. ¹⁴May it please my lord to go on ahead of his servant. For my part, I will move at a slower pace, to suit the flock I am driving and the children, until I join my lord in Seir." ¹⁵Then Esau said, "But I must at least leave you some of the people accompanying me." "Why?" Jacob asked. "All I ¹⁶desire is to win your favor." ¹⁷So that day Esau resumed his journey to Seir. ¹⁷But Jacob left for Succoth, where he built himself a house and made shelters for his livestock; that is why the place was given the name of Succoth.^a

Jacob arrives at Shechem

¹⁸ Jacob arrived safely at the town of Shechem in Canaanite territory, on his ¹⁹return from Paddan-aram. He encamped opposite the town and for one hundred pieces of silver he bought from the sons of Hamor, the father of Shechem, the ²⁰piece of land on which he had pitched his tent. Here he erected an altar which he called, "El, God of Israel."

The rape of Dinah

¹ 34 Dinah, who was Jacob's daughter by Leah went out to visit the women of ²that region. Shechem, the son of Hamor the Hivite, who was ruler of that ³region, saw her, carried her off and raped her, and so dishonored her. But he was captivated by Dinah, the daughter of Jacob; he fell in love with the young ⁴girl and comforted her. Accordingly Shechem said to his father Hamor, "Get me ⁵this young girl, I want to marry her." Meanwhile, Jacob had heard how his daughter Dinah had been dishonored, but since his sons were out in the countryside with his livestock, Jacob said nothing until they came back.

⁶ Hamor the father of Shechem went out to talk to Jacob. When Jacob's sons ⁷returned from the countryside and heard the news, these men were outraged and infuriated that Shechem had insulted Israel by raping Jacob's daughter—an ⁸offense that could not be overlooked. Hamor said to them, "The heart of my son ⁹Shechem is set on your daughter; I beg you, let him marry her. Ally yourselves with us by marriage; give us your daughters and take our daughters for yourselves. ¹⁰Stay with us and the land shall be open to you to live in or move through or own." ¹¹Shechem said to the father and brothers of the young girl, "If only I can win your ¹²favor, I will give you whatever you ask. Demand from me a huge bridal price and gifts; I will give you as much as you ask. Only let me marry the young ¹³girl."

¹⁴ Then came the answer Jacob's sons gave to Shechem and his father Hamor, a crafty answer because he had dishonored their sister Dinah. "We cannot do ¹⁵such a thing," they said to them. "To give our sister to an uncircumcised man would ¹⁶be a disgrace for us. We can agree only on one condition: that you become like ¹⁷us by circumcising all your males. Then we will give you our daughters, taking ¹⁸yours for ourselves; and we will stay with you to make one nation. But if you do ¹⁹not listen to us on this matter of circumcision we shall take our daughter and ²⁰go." Hamor and Shechem, Hamor's son, were pleased with what they heard. The ²¹young man did not hesitate about doing this, for he was deeply in love with Jacob's ²²daughter. Moreover he was the most important person in his father's household.

²³ Hamor and his son Shechem went to the gate of their town and spoke to their ²⁴fellow townsmen saying, "These men are friendly; let them stay with us in ²⁵the land, and move about as freely as they like. Let us marry their daughters ²⁶and give our daughters to them. But these men will agree to stay with us and become a single nation only on this condition: all males must be circumcised as they are. •Will not their livestock, their goods and all their cattle belong to us, if only we agree to let them stay with us?" •All the citizens of the town agreed to the proposal made by Hamor and his son Shechem, and so all the males were circumcised.

The treacherous revenge of Simeon and Levi

Now on the third day, when they were still in pain, Jacob's two sons Simeon and Levi, brothers of Dinah, took their swords and marched into the town unsuspected; they killed all the males. •They put Hamor and his son Shechem to the sword, took Dinah from Shechem's house and came away. •Jacob's sons attacked the wounded and pillaged the town because their sister had been dishonored. •They took away their flocks, cattle, donkeys and whatever there was in the town and in the countryside. •They carried off all their riches, all their little children and their wives, and looted everything to be found in their houses.

Jacob said to Simeon and Levi, "You have done me harm, putting me in bad odor with the people of this land, the Canaanites and the Perizzites. I have few men, whereas they will unite against me to defeat me and destroy me and my family." •They retorted, "Is our sister to be treated like a whore?"

Jacob at Bethel

35 God said to Jacob, "Move on now and go to Bethel and settle there. Make an altar there for the God who appeared to you when you were fleeing from your brother Esau."

Jacob said to his family and to all who were with him, "Get rid of the foreign gods you have with you; wash, and change your clothes. •We must move on and go to Bethel. There I will make an altar for the God who heard me when I was in distress, and gave me his help on the journey I made." •They gave Jacob all the foreign gods in their possession, and the earrings that they were wearing. Jacob buried them under the oak tree near Shechem. •They broke camp; a divine terror struck the towns round about; and no one pursued the sons of Jacob.

When Jacob arrived at Luz in the land of Canaan—Bethel, in other words—and all the people with him, •he built an altar there, giving the place the name Bethel, because it was there that God had appeared to him when he was fleeing from his brother. •Deborah, who had been Rebekah's nurse, died and was buried below Bethel, under the oak tree; so they named it the Oak of Tears.

Once more God appeared to Jacob on his return from Paddan-aram, and blessed him. •God said to him, "Your name is Jacob, but from now on you shall be named not Jacob but Israel." Accordingly they named him Israel.

God said to him, "I am El Shaddai. Be fruitful and multiply. A nation, indeed a group of nations shall descend from you. Even kings shall be numbered among your descendants. •I give you this land, the land I gave to Abraham and to Isaac; and I will give this land to your descendants after you." •Then God went up from him.

Jacob raised a monument in the place where he had spoken with him, a stone monument, on which he made a libation and poured oil. •Jacob named the place Bethel where God had spoken with him.

The birth of Benjamin and the death of Rachel

They left Bethel, and while they were still some distance from Ephrath, Rachel began to be in labor, and her pains were severe. •But in her difficult delivery the midwife said to her, "Do not be afraid: you have another son here." •At the moment when she breathed her last, for she was dying, she named him Ben-oni. His father however named him Benjamin.^a •So Rachel died and was buried on the road to Ephrath, at Bethlehem. •Jacob raised a monument on her grave, and this is the monument of the tomb of Rachel which is still there today.

Reuben's incest

²¹ Israel left and pitched his tent beyond Migdal-eder. •While Israel was living in that district, Reuben went and slept with Bilhah his father's concubine, and Israel learned of it.

The twelve sons of Jacob

²³ Jacob's sons numbered twelve. •The sons of Leah: Jacob's eldest son Reuben, ²⁴ then Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar and Zebulun. •The sons of Rachel: Joseph ²⁵ and Benjamin. •The sons of Bilhah, Rachel's slave girl: Dan and Naphtali. •The ²⁶ sons of Zilpah, Leah's slave girl: Gad and Asher. These are the sons born to Jacob in Paddan-aram.

Isaac's death

²⁷ Jacob reached the house of his father Isaac at Mamre, at Kiriath-arba—²⁸ or Hebron—where Abraham and Isaac had stayed. •Isaac was one hundred and ²⁹ eighty years old •when he breathed his last. He died and was gathered to his people, an old man who had enjoyed his full span of life. His sons Esau and Jacob buried him.

Esau's wives and children in Canaan

¹ 36 Here are the descendants of Esau, who is Edom. •Esau married women of ² Canaan: Adah, the daughter of Elon the Hittite, Oholibamah, the daughter ³ of Anah, who was the son of Zibeon the Horite, •Basemath, the daughter of ⁴ Ishmael and sister of Nebaioth. •Adah bore to Esau Eliphaz, Basemath bore ⁵ Reuel, •Oholibamah bore Jeush, Jalam and Korah. These are the sons of Esau born to him in the land of Canaan.

Esau's migration

⁶ Esau, taking his wives, his sons and daughters, all the members of his household, his livestock, all his cattle and all the goods he had acquired in the land of ⁷ Canaan, left for the land of Seir away from his brother Jacob. •For they had ⁸ acquired too much to live together. The land in which they were at that time could not support them both because of their livestock. •That is why Edom settled in the mountainous region of Seir. Esau is Edom.

Esau's descendants in Seir

⁹ Here are the descendants of Esau, the father of Edom, in the mountainous region of Seir.

¹⁰ Here are the names of Esau's sons: Eliphaz the son of Adah, Esau's wife, and Reuel the son of Basemath, Esau's wife.

¹³ Here are the sons of Reuel: Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, Mizzah. These are the sons of Basemath, Esau's wife.

¹⁴ Here are the sons of Esau's wife Oholibamah, daughter of Anah son of Zibeon: she bore him Jeush, Jalam and Korah.

The chiefs of Edom

¹⁵ Here are the chiefs of the sons of Esau.

The sons of Eliphaz, first-born of Esau: chief Teman, chief Omar, chief Zepho, ¹⁶ chief Kenaz, •chief Gatam, chief Amalek. These are the chiefs of Eliphaz in the land of Edom, these are the sons of Adah.

¹⁷ And here are the sons of Reuel son of Esau: chief Nahath, chief Zerah, chief Shammah, chief Mizzah. These are the chiefs of Reuel in the land of Edom, these are the sons of Basemath, Esau's wife.

 chief Korah. These are the chiefs of Esau's wife Oholibamah, daughter of Anah.
 19 These are the sons of Esau and these are their chiefs. This is Edom.

The descendants of Seir the Horite

- 20 Here are the sons of Seir the Horite,^a natives of the land: Lotan, Shobal, 21 Zibeon, Anah, Dishon, Ezer, Dishan, these are the chiefs of the Horites, the 22 sons of Seir in the land of Edom. The sons of Lotan were Hori and Hemam, and 23 Lotan's sister was Timna. Here are the sons of Shobal: Alvan, Manahath, Ebal, 24 Shepho, Onam. Here are the sons of Zibeon: Aiah, Anah—the Anah who found the hot springs in the wilderness as he pastured the donkeys of his father Zibeon.
 25 Here are the children of Anah: Dishon, Oholibamah daughter of Anah. Here 26 are the sons of Dishon: Hemdan, Eshban, Ithran, Cheran. Here are the sons of 27 Ezer: Bilhan, Zaavan, Akan. Here are the sons of Dishan: Uz and Aran.
 28 Here are the chiefs of the Horites: chief Lotan, chief Shobal, chief Zibeon, 29 chief Anah, chief Dishon, chief Ezer, chief Dishan. These are the chiefs of the 30 Horites according to their clans in the land of Seir.

The kings of Edom

- 31 Here are the kings who ruled in the land of Edom before an Israelite king 32 ruled. In Edom there ruled Bela son of Beor; his city was called Dinhabah.
 33 Bela died and Jobab son of Zerah, from Bozrah, succeeded. Jobab died and 34 Husham of the land of the Temanites succeeded. Husham died and Hadad son 35 of Bedad succeeded; he defeated the Midianites in the country of Moab, and his 36 city was called Avith. Hadad died and Samlah of Masrekah succeeded. Samlah 37 died and Shaul of Rehoboth-han-nahar succeeded. Shaul died and Baal-hanan 38 son of Achbor succeeded. Baal-hanan died and Hadad succeeded; his city was 39 called Pau; his wife's name was Mehetabel daughter of Matred, from Me-zahab.

More chiefs of Edom

- 40 Here are the names of the chiefs of Esau according to their clans and localities, 41 by name: chief Timna, chief Alvah, chief Jetheth, chief Oholibamah, chief Elah, 42 chief Pinon, chief Kenaz, chief Teman, chief Mibzar, chief Magdiel, chief Iram.
 43 These are the chiefs of Edom according to their residence in the land that was theirs. This is Esau, father of Edom.
 1 37 But Jacob lived in the land where his father had stayed, the land of Canaan.

IV. THE STORY OF JOSEPH

Joseph and his brothers

- 2 This is the story of Joseph.
 Joseph was seventeen years old. As he was still young, he was shepherding the flock with his brothers, with the sons of Bilhah and Zilpah his father's wives.
 Joseph informed their father of the evil spoken about them.
 3 Israel loved Joseph more than all his other sons, for he was the son of his old 4 age, and he had a coat with long sleeves made for him. But his brothers, seeing how his father loved him more than all his other sons, came to hate him so much that they could not say a civil word to him.
 5 Now Joseph had a dream, and he repeated it to his brothers. "Listen," he 6 said, "to this dream I have had. We were binding sheaves in the countryside; and 7 my sheaf, it seemed, rose up and stood upright; then I saw your sheaves gather 8 round and bow to my sheaf." "So you want to be king over us," his brothers retorted, "or to lord it over us?" And they hated him still more, on account of his 9 dreams and of what he said. He had another dream which he told to his brothers.

"Look, I have had another dream," he said. "I thought I saw the sun, the moon and eleven stars, bowing to me." He told his father and brothers, and his father scolded him. "A fine dream to have!" he said to him. "Are all of us then, myself, your mother and your brothers, to come and bow to the ground before you?" His brothers were jealous of him, but his father kept the thing in mind.

Joseph sold by his brothers

His brothers went to pasture their father's flock at Shechem. Then Israel said to Joseph, "Are not your brothers with the flock at Shechem? Come, I am going to send you to them." "I am ready," he replied. He said to him, "Go and see how your brothers and the flock are doing, and bring me word." He sent him from the valley of Hebron, and Joseph arrived at Shechem.

A man found him wandering in the countryside and the man asked him, "What are you looking for?" "I am looking for my brothers," he replied. "Please tell me where they are pasturing their flock." The man answered, "They have moved on from here; indeed I heard them say, 'Let us go to Dothan.'" So Joseph went after his brothers and found them at Dothan.

They saw him in the distance, and before he reached them they made a plot among themselves to put him to death. "Here comes the man of dreams," they said to one another. "Come on, let us kill him and throw him into some well; we can say that a wild beast devoured him. Then we shall see what becomes of his dreams."

But Reuben heard, and he saved him from their violence. "We must not take his life," he said. "Shed no blood," said Reuben to them, "throw him into this well in the wilderness, but do not lay violent hands on him"—intending to save him from them and to restore him to his father. So, when Joseph reached his brothers, they pulled off his coat, the coat with long sleeves that he was wearing, and catching hold of him they threw him into the well, an empty well with no water in it. They then sat down to eat.

Looking up they saw a group of Ishmaelites who were coming from Gilead, their camels laden with gum, tragacanth, balsam and resin, which they were taking down into Egypt. Then Judah said to his brothers, "What do we gain by killing our brother and covering up his blood?^a Come, let us sell him to the Ishmaelites, but let us not do any harm to him. After all, he is our brother, and our own flesh." His brothers agreed.

Now some Midianite merchants were passing, and they drew Joseph up out of the well. They sold Joseph to the Ishmaelites for twenty silver pieces, and these men took Joseph to Egypt. When Reuben went back to the well there was no sign of Joseph. Tearing his clothes, he went back to his brothers. "The boy has disappeared," he said. "What am I going to do?"

They took Joseph's coat and, slaughtering a goat, they dipped the coat in the blood. Then they sent back the coat with long sleeves and had it taken to their father, with the message, "This is what we have found. Examine it and see whether or not it is your son's coat." He examined it and exclaimed, "It is my son's coat! A wild beast has devoured him. Joseph has been the prey of some animal and has been torn to pieces." Jacob, tearing his clothes and putting on a loin-cloth of sackcloth, mourned his son for a long time. All his sons and daughters came to comfort him, but he refused to be comforted. "No," he said, "I will go down in mourning to Sheol, beside my son." And his father wept for him.

36 a. The Horites are the ancient inhabitants of Seir, and were dispossessed by the Edomites, Dt. 2:12,22.

37 a. A murderer would cover the victim's blood so that it would not cry to heaven, Ezk. 24:7. It will be noticed that two different versions of the story are combined in this chapter. In one, Joseph's brothers are for killing him but Reuben, hoping to rescue him later, persuades them to abandon him in a well instead, and Midianite traders extricate him and take him to Egypt. According to the second, Joseph's brothers are for killing him but Judah suggests selling him to a party of Ishmaelites on their way to Egypt.

36 Meanwhile the Midianites had sold him in Egypt to Potiphar, one of Pharaoh's officials and commander of the guard.

The story of Judah and Tamar

1 38 It happened at that time that Judah left his brothers, to go down and stay 2 with an Adullamite called Hirah. There Judah saw the daughter of a 3 Canaanite called Shua. He made her his wife and slept with her. She conceived 4 and gave birth to a son whom she named Er. She conceived again and gave birth 5 to a son whom she named Onan. Yet again she gave birth to a son whom she 6 named Shelah. She was at Chezib when she gave birth to him.

7 Judah took a wife for his first-born Er, and her name was Tamar. But Er, 8 Judah's first-born, offended Yahweh greatly, so Yahweh brought about his 9 death. Then Judah said to Onan, "Take your brother's wife, and do your duty 10 as her brother-in-law, to produce a child for your brother." But Onan, knowing 11 the child would not be his, spilt his seed on the ground every time he slept with 12 his brother's wife, to avoid providing a child for his brother. What he did was 13 offensive to Yahweh, so he brought about his death also. Then Judah said to 14 his daughter-in-law Tamar, "Return home as a widow to your father, and wait 15 for my son Shelah to grow up," for he was thinking, "He must not die like his 16 brothers." So Tamar went back home to her father.

17 A long time passed, and then Shua's daughter, the wife of Judah, died. After 18 Judah had been comforted^a he went up to Timnah to the men who sheared his 19 sheep, himself and Hirah, his Adullamite friend. This was reported to Tamar, 20 "Listen, your father-in-law is going up to Timnah for the shearing of his sheep." 21 She therefore changed her widow's clothes, wrapped a veil around her, and sat 22 down, heavily swathed, where the road to Enaim branches off the road to Timnah.
23 Shelah had now grown up, as she saw, and yet she had not been given to him as 24 his wife.

25 Judah, seeing her, took her for a prostitute, since her face was veiled. Going 26 up to her on the road, he said, "Come, let me sleep with you." He did not know 27 that she was his daughter-in-law. "What will you give me to sleep with me?" she 28 asked. "I will send you a kid from the flock," he answered. "Agreed, if you give 29 me a pledge until you send it," she answered. "What pledge shall I give you?" he 30 asked. "Your seal, your cord and the stick you are holding," she answered. He 31 gave them to her and slept with her, and she conceived by him. Then she rose 32 and left him, and taking off her veil she put on her widow's weeds.

33 Judah sent the kid by his Adullamite friend to recover the pledge from the 34 woman. But he did not find her. He inquired from the men of the place, "Where 35 is the prostitute who was by the roadside at Enaim?" "There has been no prosti-36 tute there," they answered. So returning to Judah he said, "I did not find her.
37 What is more, the men of the place told me there had been no prostitute there." 38 "Let her keep what she has," Judah replied, "or we shall become a laughing-stock.
39 At least I sent her this kid, even though you did not find her."

40 About three months later it was reported to Judah, "Your daughter-in-law has 41 played the harlot; furthermore, she is pregnant, as a result of her misconduct." 42 "Take her outside and burn her," said Judah. But as she was being led off she sent 43 this message to her father-in-law, "It was the man to whom these things belong 44 who made me pregnant. Look at them," she said, "and see whose seal and cord 45 and stick these are." Judah examined them and then said, "She is in the right, 46 rather than I. This comes of my not giving her to my son Shelah to be his wife."
47 He had no further intercourse with her.

48 When the time for her confinement came she was found to have twins in her 49 womb. During the delivery one of them put out a hand, and the midwife caught 50 it and tied a scarlet thread to it, saying, "This is the first to arrive." But he drew 51 his hand back, and it was his brother who came out first. Then she said, "What 52 a breach you have opened for yourself!" So he was named Perez. Then his 53 brother came out with the scarlet thread on his hand, so he was named Zerah.

Joseph's early days in Egypt

¹ 39 Now Joseph had been taken down into Egypt. Potiphar the Egyptian, one of Pharaoh's officials and commander of the guard, bought him from the Ishmaelites who had brought him down there. ·Yahweh was with Joseph, and everything went well with him. He lodged in the house of his Egyptian master, and when his master saw how Yahweh was with him and how Yahweh made everything succeed that he turned his hand to, ·he was pleased with Joseph and made him his personal attendant; and his master put him in charge of his household, entrusting everything to him. ·And from the time he put him in charge of his household and all his possessions, Yahweh blessed the Egyptian's household out of consideration for Joseph; Yahweh's blessing extended to all his possessions, both household and estate. ·So he left Joseph to handle all his possessions, and with him at hand, concerned himself with nothing beyond the food he ate.

The attempt to seduce Joseph

⁷ Now Joseph was well built and handsome, ·and it happened some time later that his master's wife looked desirously at him and said, "Sleep with me." ·But he refused, and answered his master's wife, "Because of me, my master does not concern himself with what happens in the house; he has handed over all his possessions to me. ·He is no more master in this house than I am. He has withheld nothing from me except yourself, because you are his wife. How could I do anything so wicked, and sin against God?" ·Although she spoke to Joseph day after day he would not agree to sleep with her and surrender to her.

¹⁶ She put the tunic down by her side until the master came home. ·Then she told him the same tale, "The Hebrew slave you bought us came to insult me. But when I screamed and called out he left his garment by my side and made his escape." ·When the master heard his wife say, "This is how your slave treated me," he was furious. ·Joseph's master had him arrested and committed to the jail where the king's prisoners were kept.

Joseph in jail

²¹ And there in jail he stayed. ·But Yahweh was with Joseph. He was kind to him and made him popular with the chief jailer. ·The chief jailer put Joseph in charge of all the prisoners in the jail, making him responsible for everything done there. ·The chief jailer did not need to interfere with Joseph's administration, for Yahweh was with him, and Yahweh made everything he undertook successful.

Joseph interprets the dreams of Pharaoh's officials

¹ 40 It happened some time later that the king of Egypt's cupbearer and his baker offended their master the king of Egypt. ·Pharaoh was angry with his two officials, the chief cupbearer and the chief baker, ·and put them under arrest in the house of the commander of the guard, in the jail where Joseph was a prisoner. ·The commander of the guard assigned Joseph to them to attend to their wants, and they remained under arrest for some time.

⁵ Now both of them had dreams on the same night, each with its own meaning for the cupbearer and the baker of the king of Egypt, who were prisoners

6 in the jail. When Joseph came to them in the morning, he saw that they looked 7 gloomy, and he asked the two officials who were with him under arrest in his 8 master's house, "Why these black looks today?" They answered him, "We have had a dream, but there is no one to interpret it." "Are not interpretations God's business?" Joseph asked them. "Come, tell me."

9 So the chief cupbearer described his dream to Joseph, telling him, "In my 10 dream I saw a vine in front of me. On the vine were three branches; no sooner 11 had it budded than it blossomed, and its clusters became ripe grapes. I had Pharaoh's cup in my hand; I picked the grapes and squeezed them into Pharaoh's cup, and put the cup into Pharaoh's hand." "Here is the interpretation of it," 13 Joseph told him. "The three branches are three days. In another three days Pharaoh will release you and restore you to your place. Then you will hand 14 Pharaoh his cup, as you did before, when you were his cupbearer. But be sure to remember me when things go well with you, and do me the kindness of remind-15 ing Pharaoh about me, to get me out of this house. I was kidnaped from the land of the Hebrews in the first place, and even here I have done nothing to warrant imprisonment."

16 The chief baker, seeing that the interpretation had been favorable, said to 17 Joseph, "I too had a dream; there were threetrays of cakes on my head. In the top tray there were all kinds of Pharaoh's favorite cakes, but the birds ate them off 18 the tray on my head." Joseph gave him this answer, "Here is the interpretation of 19 it: the three trays are three days. In another three days Pharaoh will release you and hang you on a gallows, and the birds will eat the flesh off your bones."

20 And so it happened; the third day was Pharaoh's birthday and he gave a banquet for all his officials, and he released the chief cupbearer and the chief baker in the 21 presence of his officials. The chief cupbearer he restored to his position as cup-22 bearer, to hand Pharaoh his cup; the chief baker he hanged. It was as Joseph 23 had said in his interpretation. But the chief cupbearer did not remember Joseph:
he forgot him.

Pharaoh's dreams

1 41 Two years later it happened that Pharaoh had a dream: he was standing 2 by the Nile, and there, coming up from the Nile, were seven cows, sleek 3 and fat, and they began to feed among the rushes. And seven other cows, 4 ugly and lean, came up from the Nile after them; and these went over and stood beside the other cows on the bank of the Nile. The ugly and lean cows ate the seven sleek and fat cows. Then Pharaoh awoke.

5 He fell asleep and dreamed a second time: there, growing on one stalk, were 6 seven ears of corn full and ripe. And sprouting up after them came seven ears 7 of corn, meager and scorched by the east wind. The scanty ears of corn swallowed the seven full and ripe ears of corn. Then Pharaoh awoke; it was a dream.

8 In the morning Pharaoh, feeling disturbed, had all the magicians and wise men of Egypt summoned to him. Pharaoh told them his dream, but no one could 9 interpret it for Pharaoh. Then the chief cupbearer addressed Pharaoh, "Today I 10 must recall my offenses. Pharaoh was angry with his servants and put myself and the chief baker under arrest in the house of the commander of the guard.
11 We had a dream on the same night, he and I, and each man's dream had a 12 meaning for himself. There was a young Hebrew with us, one of the slaves belonging to the commander of the guard. We told our dreams to him and he 13 interpreted them, giving each of us the interpretation of his dream. It turned out just as he interpreted for us: I was restored to my place, but the other man was hanged."

14 Then Pharaoh had Joseph summoned, and they hurried him from prison. He 15 shaved and changed his clothes, and came into Pharaoh's presence. Pharaoh said to Joseph, "I have had a dream which no one can interpret. But I have heard 16 it said of you that when you hear a dream you can interpret it." Joseph answered Pharaoh, "I do not count. It is God who will give Pharaoh a favorable answer."

17 So Pharaoh told Joseph, "In my dream I was standing on the bank of the 18 Nile. And there were seven cows, fat and sleek, coming up out of the Nile, and 19 they began to feed among the rushes. And seven other cows came up after them, starved, ugly and lean; I have never seen such poor cows in all the land of Egypt.
20 The lean and ugly cows ate up the seven fat cows. But when they had eaten them 21 up, it was impossible to tell they had eaten them, for they remained as lean as 22 before. Then I woke up. And then again in my dream, there, growing on one stalk, were seven ears of corn, beautifully ripe; but sprouting up after them came 23 seven ears of corn, withered, meager and scorched by the east wind. The shrivel-24 ed ears of corn swallowed the seven ripe ears of corn. I told the magicians this, but no one could tell me the meaning."

25 Joseph told Pharaoh, "Pharaoh's dreams are one and the same: God has re-26 vealed to Pharaoh what he is going to do. The seven fine cows are seven years 27 and the seven ripe ears of corn are seven years; it is one and the same dream. The seven gaunt and lean cows coming up after them are seven years, as are the seven shriveled ears of corn scorched by the east wind: there will be seven years of 28 famine. It is as I have told Pharaoh: God has revealed to Pharaoh what he is 29 going to do. Seven years are coming, bringing great plenty to the whole 30 land of Egypt, but seven years of famine will follow them, when all the plenty 31 in the land of Egypt will be forgotten, and famine will exhaust the land. The famine that is to follow will be so very severe that no one will remember what 32 plenty the country enjoyed. The reason why the dream came to Pharaoh twice is because the event is already determined by God, and God is impatient to bring it about.

33 "Pharaoh should now choose a man who is intelligent and wise to govern the 34 land of Egypt. Pharaoh should take action and appoint supervisors over the land, and impose a tax of one fifth on the land of Egypt during the seven years of 35 plenty. They will collect all food produced during these good years that are coming. They will store the corn in Pharaoh's name, and place the food in the 36 towns and hold it there. This food will serve as a reserve for the land during the seven years of famine that will afflict the land of Egypt. And so the land will not be destroyed by the famine."

Joseph's promotion

37 Pharaoh and all his ministers approved of what he had said. Then Pharaoh 38 asked his ministers, "Can we find any other man like this, possessing the spirit of 39 God?" So Pharaoh said to Joseph, "Seeing that God has given you knowledge 40 of all this, there can be no one as intelligent and wise as you. You shall be my chancellor, and all my people shall respect your orders; only this throne shall set 41 me above you." Pharaoh said to Joseph, "I hereby make you governor of the 42 whole land of Egypt." Pharaoh took the ring from his hand and put it on Joseph's.
43 He clothed him in fine linen and put a gold chain around his neck. He made him ride in the best chariot he had after his own, and they cried before him "Abrek."^a This is the way he was made governor of the whole land of Egypt.

44 Pharaoh said to Joseph, "I am Pharaoh: without your permission no one is to 45 move hand or foot throughout the whole land of Egypt." Pharaoh named Joseph Zaphenath-paneah, and gave him Asenath the daughter of Potiphera, priest of On,^b for his wife. Joseph traveled through the land of Egypt.

46 Joseph was thirty years old when he appeared before Pharaoh king of Egypt.
After leaving Pharaoh's presence Joseph went through the whole land of Egypt.
47 During the seven years of plenty, the soil yielded generously. He collected 48 all the food of the seven years when there was an abundance in the land of Egypt, and allotted food to the towns, placing in each the food from the surrounding countryside. Joseph stored the corn like the sand of the sea, so much that they stopped reckoning, since it was beyond all estimating.

41 a. "Make way." b. Heliopolis; the priests of the sun-god Ra played an important part in the politics of the country.

Joseph's sons

Before the year of famine came, two sons were born to Joseph: Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera priest of On, bore him these. Joseph named the first-born Manasseh, "Because," he said, "God has made me forget all my suffering and all my father's household." He named the second Ephraim, "Because," he said, "God has made me fruitful in the country of my misfortune."

Then the seven years of plenty that there had been in the land of Egypt came to an end. The seven years of famine began to come as Joseph had said. There was famine in every country, but there was bread to be had throughout the land of Egypt. When the whole country began to feel the famine, the people cried out to Pharaoh for bread. But Pharaoh told all the Egyptians, "Go to Joseph and do what he tells you."—There was famine all over the world.—Then Joseph opened all the granaries and sold grain to the Egyptians. The famine grew worse in the land of Egypt. People came to Egypt from all over the world to buy grain from Joseph, for the famine had grown severe throughout the world.

42 Jacob, seeing that there was grain for sale in Egypt, said to his sons, "Why do you stand looking at one another? I hear," he said, "that there is grain for sale in Egypt. Go down and buy grain for us there, that we may survive and not die." So ten of Joseph's brothers went down to buy grain in Egypt. But Jacob did not send Joseph's brother Benjamin with his brothers. "Nothing must happen to him," he said.

Israel's sons with others making the same journey went to buy grain, for there was famine in the land of Canaan. It was Joseph, as the man in authority over the country, who sold the grain to all comers. So Joseph's brothers went and bowed down before him, their faces touching the ground. When Joseph saw his brothers he recognized them. But he did not make himself known to them, and he spoke harshly to them. "Where have you come from?" he asked. "From the land of Canaan to buy food," they replied.

So Joseph recognized his brothers, but they did not recognize him. Joseph, remembering the dreams he had had about them, said to them, "You are spies. You have come to discover the country's weak points." "No, my lord," they told him, "your servants have come to buy food. We are all sons of the same man. We are honest men, your servants are not spies." "Not so!" he replied. "It is the country's weak points you have come to discover." "Your servants are twelve brothers," they said, "sons of the same man, from the land of Canaan. The youngest, we should explain, is at present with our father, and the other one is no more." Joseph answered them, "It is as I said, you are spies. This is the test you are to undergo: as sure as Pharaoh lives you shall not leave unless your youngest brother comes here. Send one of your number to fetch your brother; you others will remain under arrest, so that your statements can be tested to see whether or not you are honest. If not, then as sure as Pharaoh lives you are spies." Then he kept them all in custody for three days.

On the third day Joseph said to them, "Do this and you shall keep your lives, for I am a man who fears God. If you are honest men let one of your brothers be kept in the place of your detention; as for you, go and take grain to relieve the famine of your families. You shall bring me your youngest brother; this way your words will be proved true, and you will not have to die!" This they did. They said to one another, "Truly we are being called to account for our brother. We saw his misery of soul when he begged our mercy, but we did not listen to him and now this misery has come home to us." Reuben answered them, "Did I not tell you not to wrong the boy? But you did not listen, and now we are brought 23 to account for his blood.” They did not know that Joseph understood, because 24 there was an interpreter between them. He left them and wept. Then he went back to them and spoke to them. Of their number he took Simeon and had him bound while they looked on.

Jacob's sons return to Canaan

25 Joseph gave the order to fill their panniers with corn, to put back each man's money in his sack, and to give them provisions for the journey. This was done for 26 them. They loaded the grain on their donkeys and went away. But when they 27 camped for the night one of them opened his corn sack to give fodder to his 28 donkey and saw his money in the mouth of his sack. He said to his brothers, “My money has been put back; here it is in my corn sack.” Their hearts sank, and they looked at one another in panic, saying, “What is this that God has done to us?”

29 Returning to their father Jacob in the land of Canaan, they gave him a full 30 report of what had happened to them, “The man who is lord of the land spoke 31 harshly to us, taking us for men spying on the country. We told him, ‘We are 32 honest men, we are not spies. We are twelve brothers, sons of the same father.
 One of us is no more, and the youngest is at present with our father in the land of 33 Canaan.’ But the man who is lord of the land said to us, ‘This is how I shall know if you are honest: leave one of your brothers with me. Take the grain your 34 families stand in need of, and go. But bring me back your youngest brother and then I shall know that you are not spies but honest men. Then I will hand over your brother to you, and you can trade in the country.’”

35 As they emptied their sacks, each discovered his bag of money in his sack. On 36 seeing their bags of money they were afraid, and so was their father. Then their father Jacob said to them, “You are robbing me of my children; Joseph is no more; Simeon is no more; and now you want to take Benjamin.
 All this I must bear.”

37 Then Reuben said to his father, “You may put my two sons to death if I do not 38 bring him back to you. Put him in my care and I will bring him back to you.” But he replied, “My son is not going down with you, for now his brother is dead he is the only one left. If any harm came to him on the journey you are to undertake, you would send me down to Sheol with my white head bowed in grief.”

Jacob's sons leave again with Benjamin

1 43 But the country was hard pressed by famine, and when they had finished 2 eating the grain they had brought from Egypt their father said to them, 3 “Go back and buy us a little food.” “But the man expressly warned us,” Judah told him. “He said, ‘You will not be admitted to my presence unless your brother is 4 with you.’ If you are ready to send our brother with us, we are willing to go 5 down and buy food for you. But if you are not ready to send him we will not go down, for the man told us, ‘You will not be admitted to my presence unless your 6 brother is with you.’” Then Israel said, “Why did you bring this misery on me by 7 telling the man you had another brother?” They replied, “He kept questioning us about ourselves and our kinsfolk, ‘Is your father still alive?’ and, ‘Have you a brother?’ That is why we told him. How could we know he was going to say, 8 ‘Bring your brother down here?’” Judah said to his father Israel, “Send the boy with me. Let us start off and go, so that we may save our lives and not die, we, you, 9 and our dependents. I will go surety for him, and you can hold me responsible for him.^a If I do not bring him back to you and set him before you, let me bear the 10 blame all my life. Indeed, if we had not wasted so much time we should have been back again by now!”

43 a. As in ch. 37, the conflation of two versions is to be noticed. Judah's offer here to be surety for the return of Benjamin is paralleled by Reuben's offer in ch. 42.

11 Then their father Israel said to them, "If it must be so, then do this: take some of the land's finest products in your panniers, and carry them down to the man as a gift, a little balsam, a little honey, gum, tragacanth, resin, pistachio nuts and almonds. Take double the amount of money with you and return the money put back in the mouths of your sacks; it may have been a mistake. Take your brother, and go back to the man. May El Shaddai move the man to be kind to you, and allow you to bring back your other brother and Benjamin. As for me, if I must be bereaved, bereaved I must be."

The meeting with Joseph

15 The men took this gift; they took double the amount of money with them, and Benjamin. They started off and went down to Egypt. They presented themselves to Joseph. When Joseph saw Benjamin with them he said to his chamberlain, "Take these men to the house. Slaughter a beast and prepare it, for these men are to eat with me at midday." The man did as Joseph had ordered, and took the men to Joseph's house.

18 The men were afraid at being taken to Joseph's house, thinking, "We are being taken there because of the money replaced in our corn sacks the first time. They will set on us; they will fall on us and make slaves of us, and take our donkeys too." So they went up to Joseph's chamberlain and spoke to him at the entrance to the house. "By your leave, sir," they said, "we came down once before to buy food, and when we reached camp and opened our corn sacks, there was each man's money in the mouth of his sack, to its full amount. But we have brought it back with us, and we have brought more money with us to buy food. We do not know who put the money in our corn sacks." "Peace to you," he replied, "do not be afraid. Your God and your father's God has put a treasure in your corn sacks. Your money reached me safely." And he brought Simeon out to them.

24 The man took the men into Joseph's house. He offered them water to wash their feet, and gave their donkeys fodder. They arranged their gift while they waited for Joseph to come at midday, for they had heard they were to dine there.

26 When Joseph arrived at the house they offered him the gift they had with them, and bowed before him to the ground. But he greeted them kindly, asking, "Is your father well, the old man you told me of? Is he still alive?" "Your servant our father is well," they replied, "he is still alive," and they bowed low in homage. Looking up he saw his brother Benjamin, his mother's son. "Is this your youngest brother," he asked, "of whom you told me?" Then he said to him, "God be good to you, my son." Joseph hurried out, for his heart was moved at the sight of his brother and he was near to weeping. He went into his room and there he wept. After bathing his face he returned and, controlling himself, gave the order: "Serve the meal." He was served separately; so were they, and so were the Egyptians who ate in his household, for Egyptians cannot take food with Hebrews: they have a horror of it. They were placed opposite him each according to his rank, from the eldest to the youngest, and the men looked at one another in amazement. He had portions carried to them from his own dish, the portion for Benjamin being five times larger than any of the others. They drank with him and were happy.

Joseph's cup in Benjamin's sack

1 44 Joseph gave this order to his chamberlain: "Fill these men's sacks with as much food as they can carry, and put each man's money in the mouth of his sack. And put my cup, the silver one, in the mouth of the youngest one's sack as well as the money for his grain." He carried out the instructions Joseph had given.

3 When morning came and it was light, the men were sent off with their donkeys. 4 They had scarcely left the city, and had not gone far before Joseph said to his chamberlain, "Away now and follow those men. When you catch up with them say to them, 'Why did you reward good with evil? Is this not the one my lord uses for drinking and also for reading omens? What you have done is wrong.’”

7 So when he caught up with them he repeated these words. ‘They asked him, 8 “What does my lord mean? Your servants would never think of doing such a thing.
9 Look, the money we found in the mouths of our corn sacks we brought back to 10 you from the land of Canaan. Are we likely to have stolen silver or gold from 11 your master’s house? ‘Whichever of your servants is found to have it shall die, 12 and we ourselves shall be slaves of my lord.” ‘“Very well, then,” he replied, “it shall 13 be as you say. The one on whom it is found shall become my slave, but the rest 14 of you can go free.” ‘Each of them quickly lifted his corn sack to the ground, and 15 each opened his own. ‘He searched them, beginning with the eldest and ending 16 with the youngest, and found the cup in Benjamin’s sack. ‘Then they tore their 17 clothes, and when each man had reloaded his ass they returned to the city.
18 When Judah and his brothers arrived at Joseph’s house he was still there, so 19 they fell on the ground in front of him. ‘“What is this deed you have done?” Joseph 20 asked them. “Did you not know that a man such as I am is a reader of omens?” 21 “What can we answer my lord?” Judah replied. “What can we say? How can we 22 clear ourselves? God himself has uncovered your servants’ guilt. Here we are 23 then, my lord’s slaves, we no less than the one in whose possession the cup was 24 found.” ‘“I could not think of doing such a thing,” he replied. “The man in whose 25 possession the cup was found shall be my slave, but you can go back safe and 26 sound to your father.”

Judah intervenes

27 Then Judah went up to him and said, “May it please my lord, let your servant 28 have a word privately with my lord. Do not be angry with your servant, for you 29 are like Pharaoh himself. ‘My lord questioned his servants, ‘Have you father or 30 brother?’ ‘And we said to my lord, ‘We have an old father, and a younger 31 brother born of his old age. His brother is dead, so he is the only one left of his 32 mother, and his father loves him.’ ‘Then you said to your servants, ‘Bring him 33 down to me that my eyes may look on him.’ ‘We replied to my lord, ‘The boy 34 cannot leave his father. If he leaves him, his father will die.’ ‘But you said to 35 your servants, ‘If your youngest brother does not come down with you, you will 36 not be admitted to my presence again.’ ‘When we went back to your servant my 37 father, we repeated to him what my lord had said. ‘So when our father said, 38 ‘Go back and buy us a little food,’ ‘we said, ‘We cannot go down. If our young-39 est brother is with us, we will go down, for we cannot be admitted to the man’s 40 presence unless our youngest brother is with us.’ So your servant our father 41 said to us, ‘You know that my wife bore me two children. ‘When one left me, 42 I said that he must have been torn to pieces. And I have not seen him to this 43 day. ‘If you take this one from me too and any harm comes to him, you will 44 send me down to Sheol with my white head bowed in misery.’ ‘If I go to your 45 servant my father now, and we have not the boy with us, he will die as soon as 46 he sees the boy is not with us, for his heart is bound up with him. ‘Then your 47 servants will have sent your servant our father down to Sheol with his white head 48 bowed in grief. ‘Now your servant went surety to my father for the boy. I said: 49 If I do not bring him back to you, let me bear the blame before my father all my 50 life. ‘Let your servant stay, then, as my lord’s slave in place of the boy, I implore 51 you, let the boy go back with his brothers. ‘How indeed could I go back to 52 my father and not have the boy with me? I could not bear to see the misery that 53 would overwhelm my father.”

Joseph makes himself known

1 45 Then Joseph could not control his feelings in front of all his retainers, and 2 he exclaimed, “Let everyone leave me.” No one therefore was present with 3 him while Joseph made himself known to his brothers, ‘but he wept so loudly 4 that all the Egyptians heard, and the news reached Pharaoh’s palace.

3 Joseph said to his brothers, "I am Joseph. Is my father really still alive?" His brothers could not answer him, they were so dismayed at the sight of him.

4 Then Joseph said to his brothers, "Come closer to me." When they had come closer

5 to him he said, "I am your brother Joseph whom you sold into Egypt. But now, do not grieve, do not reproach yourselves for having sold me here, since God

6 sent me before you to preserve your lives. For this is the second year there has been famine in the country, and there are still five years to come of no plow-

7 ing or reaping. God sent me before you to make sure that your race would have 8 survivors in the land and to save your lives, many lives at that. So it was not you who sent me here but God, and he has made me father^a to Pharaoh, lord of all his household and administrator of the whole land of Egypt.

9 "Return quickly to your father and tell him, 'Your son Joseph says this: God

10 has made me lord of all Egypt. Come down to me at once. You shall live in the country of Goshen^b where you will be near me, you, your children and your

11 grandchildren, your flocks, your cattle and all your possessions. I will provide for you there, for there are still five years of famine, and I do not want you to be

12 in need, you and your household and all you have.' You can see with your own eyes, and my brother Benjamin can see too that it is my own mouth speaking to 13 you. Give my father a full report of all the honor I enjoy in Egypt, and of all you have seen. Then hurry and bring my father down here."

14 Then throwing his arms around the neck of his brother Benjamin he wept; and 15 Benjamin wept on his shoulder. He kissed all his brothers, weeping over them. After which his brothers talked with him.

Pharaoh's invitation

16 News reached Pharaoh's palace that Joseph's brothers had come, and Pharaoh

17 was pleased to hear it, as were his servants. Pharaoh told Joseph, "Say to your 18 brothers, 'Do this: load your beasts and go off to the land of Canaan. Fetch your father and families, and come back to me. I will give you the best the land

19 of Egypt offers, and you shall feed on the fat of the land.' And you, for your part, give them this command: 'Do this: take wagons from the land of Egypt, 20 for your little ones and your wives. Get your father and come. Never mind about your property, for the best that the land of Egypt offers is yours.'"

The return to Canaan

21 Israel's sons did as they were told. Joseph gave them wagons as Pharaoh

22 had ordered, and he gave them provisions for the journey. To each and every one he gave a festal garment, and to Benjamin three hundred shekels of silver

23 and five festal garments. And he sent his father ten donkeys laden with the best that Egypt offered, and ten she-donkeys laden with grain, bread and food for 24 his father's journey. Then he sent his brothers on their way. His final words to them were, "Do not be upset on the journey."

25 And so they left Egypt. When they reached the land of Canaan and their

26 father Jacob, they gave him this report, "Joseph is still alive. Indeed it is he who is administrator of the whole land of Egypt." But he was as one stunned, for

27 he did not believe them. However, when they told him all Joseph had said to them, and when he saw the wagons that Joseph had sent to fetch him, the spirit

28 of their father Jacob revived, and Israel said, "That is enough! My son Joseph is still alive. I must go and see him before I die."

Jacob leaves for Egypt

1 46 Israel left with his possessions, and reached Beersheba. There he offered

2 sacrifices to the God of his father Isaac. God spoke to Israel in a vision

3 at night, "Jacob, Jacob," he said. "I am here," he replied. "I am God, the God of your father," he continued. "Do not be afraid of going down to Egypt, for I will

4 make you a great nation there. I myself will go down to Egypt with you. I myself

5 will bring you back again, and Joseph's hand shall close your eyes." Then Jacob left Beersheba. Israel's sons conveyed their father Jacob, their little children and their wives in the wagons Pharaoh had sent to fetch him.

6 Taking their livestock and all that they had acquired in the land of Canaan, 7 they went to Egypt, Jacob and all his family with him: his sons and his grandsons, his daughters and his granddaughters, in a word, all his children he took with him to Egypt.

Jacob's family

8 These are the names of Israel's sons who came to Egypt, Reuben, Jacob's first-born, and the sons of Reuben: Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, Carmi. The sons of 9 Simeon: Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar, and Shaul the son of the Canaanite 11 woman. The sons of Levi: Gershon, Kohath, Merari. The sons of Judah: Er, 12 Onan, Shelah, Perez, and Zerah (though Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan), 13 and Hezron and Hamul, sons of Perez. The sons of Issachar: Tola, Puvah, 14 Jashub and Shimron. The sons of Zebulun: Sered, Elon, Jahleel. These are the 15 sons that Leah had born to Jacob in Paddan-aram, besides his daughter Dinah; in all, his sons and daughters numbered thirty-three.

16 The sons of Gad: Ziphion, Haggi, Shuni, Ezbon, Eri, Arodi, and Areli. 17 The sons of Asher: Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, Beriah, with their sister Serah; the sons 18 of Beriah: Heber and Malchiel. These are the sons of Zilpah whom Laban gave to his daughter Leah; she bore these to Jacob—sixteen persons.

19 The sons of Rachel, wife of Jacob: Joseph and Benjamin. Born to Joseph in 20 Egypt were: Manasseh and Ephraim, children of Asenath, the daughter of Potiphra 21 phera priest of On. The sons of Benjamin: Bela, Becher, Ashbel, Gera, Naaman, 22 Ehi, Rosh, Muppim, Huppim and Ard. These are the sons that Rachel bore to Jacob—fourteen persons in all.

23 The sons of Dan: Hushim. The sons of Naphtali: Jahzeel, Guni, Jezer and 24 Shillem. These are the sons of Bilhah whom Laban gave to his daughter Rachel; 25 she bore these to Jacob—seven persons in all.

26 The people who went to Egypt with Jacob, of his own blood and not counting 27 the wives of Jacob's sons, numbered sixty-six all told. Joseph's sons born to him in Egypt were two in number. The members of the family of Jacob who went to Egypt totaled seventy.^a

Joseph welcomes them

28 Israel sent Judah ahead to Joseph, so that the latter might present himself 29 to him in Goshen. When they arrived in the land of Goshen, Joseph had his chariot made ready and went up to meet his father Israel in Goshen. As soon as he appeared he threw his arms around his neck and for a long time wept on his 30 shoulder. Israel said to Joseph, "Now I can die, now that I have seen you again, and seen you still alive."

31 Then Joseph said to his brothers and his father's family, "I will go up and break the news to Pharaoh. I will tell him, 'My brothers and my father's family 32 who were in the land of Canaan have come to me. The men are shepherds and look after livestock, and they have brought their flocks and cattle and all their 33 possessions.' Thus, when Pharaoh summons you and asks, 'What is your occupation?', you are to say, 'Ever since our boyhood your servants have looked 34 after livestock, we and our fathers before us.' And so you will be able to stay in the land of Goshen." For the Egyptians have a horror of all shepherds.

Pharaoh grants an audience

1 47 So Joseph went and told Pharaoh, "My father and brothers, along with 2 their flocks and cattle and all their possessions, have come from the land of 3 Canaan and are now in the land of Goshen." He had taken five of his brothers, 4 and he now presented them to Pharaoh. Pharaoh asked his brothers, "What is your occupation?" and they gave Pharaoh the answer, "Your servants are 5a shepherds, like our fathers before us." They went on to tell Pharaoh, "We have 6b come to stay for the present in this land, for there is no pasture for your servants' flocks, the land of Canaan is hard pressed by famine. Now give your servants leave to stay in the land of Goshen." Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, "They may stay in the land of Goshen, and if you know of any capable men among them, put them in charge of my own livestock."

Another version

5b Jacob and his sons went to Egypt where Joseph was. Pharaoh, king of Egypt, heard of this and said to Joseph, "Your father and brothers have come to you.
 6a The country of Egypt is open to you: settle your father and brothers in the best 7 region." Joseph brought his father and presented him to Pharaoh. Jacob blessed 8 Pharaoh. Pharaoh asked Jacob, "How many years of life can you reckon?" 9 "My life of wandering has lasted one hundred and thirty years," Jacob told Pharaoh, "few years and unhappy, falling short of the years of my fathers in their 10 life of wandering." Jacob blessed Pharaoh and left Pharaoh's presence. Joseph 11 settled his father and brothers, giving them a holding in the land of Egypt, and in the best region of the land, namely the land of Rameses, according to Pharaoh's command.
 12 Joseph provided his father, brothers and all his father's family with food according to the number of their dependents.

Joseph's agrarian policy

13 There was no bread in the whole land, for the famine had grown so severe that the land of Egypt and the land of Canaan were weakened with hunger.
 14 Joseph accumulated all the money there was to be found in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan, in return for the grain which men were buying, and he brought the money to Pharaoh's palace.
 15 When all the money in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan had run out, the Egyptians all came to Joseph: "Give us bread," they said. "Have we to perish 16 before your eyes? For our money has come to an end." Joseph answered, "Hand over your livestock; I am willing to give you bread in exchange for your livestock, 17 if your money has come to an end." So they brought their livestock to Joseph, and Joseph gave them bread, in exchange for horses and livestock, whether sheep or cattle, and for donkeys. Thus he fed them that year with bread, in exchange for all their livestock.
 18 When that year was over, they came to him the next year, and said to him,
 "We cannot hide it from my lord: the truth is, our money has run out and the livestock is in my lord's possession. There is nothing left for my lord except our bodies 19 and our land. Have we to perish before your eyes, we and our land? Buy us and our land in exchange for bread; we with our land will be Pharaoh's serfs.
 But give us something to sow, that we may keep our lives and not die and the land may not become desolate." 20 Thus Joseph acquired all the land in Egypt for Pharaoh, since one by one the Egyptians sold their estates, so hard pressed were they by the famine, and the 21 whole country passed into Pharaoh's possession. As for the people, he reduced 22 them to serfdom from one end of Egypt to the other. The only land he did not acquire belonged to the priests, for the priests received an allowance from Pharaoh and lived on the allowance that Pharaoh gave them. Therefore they did not have to sell their land.

23 Then Joseph said to the people, "This is how we stand: I have bought you out, with your land, on Pharaoh's behalf. Here is seed for you so that you can sow the 24 land. But when harvest comes you must give a fifth to Pharaoh. The other four fifths you can have for sowing your fields, to provide food for yourselves and your 25 households, and food for your dependents." "You have saved our lives," they 26 replied. "If we may enjoy my lord's favor, we will be Pharaoh's serfs." So Joseph made a statute, still in force today, concerning the soil of Egypt: a fifth goes to Pharaoh. The land of the priests alone did not go to Pharaoh.

Jacob's last wishes

27 The Israelites stayed in the land of Egypt, in the country of Goshen. They acquired property there; they were fruitful and increased in numbers greatly.
28 Jacob lived seventeen years in the land of Egypt, and the length of his life was a 29 hundred and forty-seven years. When Israel's time to die drew near he called his son Joseph and said to him, "If I enjoy your favor, place your hand under my 30 thigh and promise to be kind and good to me, do not bury me in Egypt. When I sleep with my fathers, carry me out of Egypt and bury me in their tomb." "I will 31 do as you say," he replied. "Swear to me," he insisted. So he swore to him, and Israel sank back on the pillow.

Jacob adopts Joseph's two sons and blesses them

1 48 Some time later it was reported to Joseph, "Your father has been taken 2 ill." So he took with him his two sons Manasseh and Ephraim. When Jacob was told, "Look, your son Joseph has come to you," Israel, summoning his 3 strength, sat up in bed. "El Shaddai appeared to me at Luz in the country of 4 Canaan," Jacob told Joseph, "and he blessed me, saying to me, 'I will make you fruitful and increase you in numbers. I will make you a group of peoples and give 5 this country to your descendants after you, to own in perpetuity.' Now your two sons, born to you in the land of Egypt before I came to you in Egypt, shall be 6 mine; Ephraim and Manasseh shall be as much mine as Reuben and Simeon. But with regard to the children you have had since them, they shall be yours, and they shall be known by their brothers' names for the purpose of their inheritance.
7 "When I was on my way from Paddan, to my sorrow death took your mother Rachel from me, in the land of Canaan, on the journey while we were still some distance from Ephrath. I buried her there on the road to Ephrath at Bethlehem."
8 When Israel saw Joseph's two sons, he asked, "Who are these?" "They are my sons, whom God has given me here," Joseph told his father. "Then bring them 9 to me," he said, "that I may bless them." Israel's sight was failing because of his great age, and so he could not see. Joseph therefore made them come closer to 10 him and he kissed and embraced them. Then Israel said to Joseph, "I did not think that I should see you again, but God has let me see your family as well."
11 Joseph took them from his lap and bowed to the ground.
12 Joseph took hold of the two of them, Ephraim with his right hand so that he should be on Israel's left, and Manasseh with his left hand, so that he should be on 13 Israel's right, and brought them close to him. But Israel held out his right hand and laid it on the head of Ephraim, the younger, and his left on the head 14 of Manasseh, crossing his hands—Manasseh was, in fact, the elder. Then he blessed Joseph saying: 15

"May God in whose presence my fathers Abraham and Isaac walked, may God who has been my shepherd from my birth until this day, 16 may the angel who has been my savior from all harm, bless these boys, may my name live on in them, and the names of my fathers Abraham and Isaac.
May they grow and increase on the earth."

17 Joseph saw that his father was laying his right hand on the head of Ephraim, and this upset him. He took his father's hand and tried to shift it from the head of Ephraim to the head of Manasseh. Joseph protested to his father, "Not like that, father! This one is the elder; put your right hand on his head." But his father refused. "I know, my son, I know," he said. "He too shall become a people; he too shall be great. Yet his younger brother shall be greater than he, and his descendants shall become a multitude of nations."

So he blessed them that day saying:

"May you be a blessing in Israel; may they say,
 'God make you like Ephraim and Manasseh!'"

In this way he put Ephraim before Manasseh.

Then Israel said to Joseph, "Now I am about to die. But God will be with you and take you back to the country of your fathers. As for me, I give you a Shechem^a more than your brothers, the one I took from the Amorites with my sword and my bow."

Jacob's blessings

49 Jacob called his sons and said, "Gather together that I may declare to you what lies before you in time to come.

"Gather around, sons of Jacob, and listen; listen to Israel your father.

Reuben, you are my first-born, my vigor, and the first fruit of my manhood, foremost in pride, foremost in strength, uncontrolled as a flood: you shall not be foremost, for you mounted your father's bed, and so defiled my couch, to my hurt.

"Simeon and Levi are brothers, they carried out their malicious plans.
 Let my soul not enter into their counsel nor my heart join in their company, for in their rage they have killed men, in their fury they hamstrung bulls.
 Accursed be their rage for its ruthlessness, their wrath for its ferocity.
 I will divide them among Jacob, I will scatter them among Israel.^a "Judah, your brothers shall praise you:

 you grip your enemies by the neck, your father's sons shall do you homage, Judah is a lion cub,
 you climb back, my son, from your kill;
 like a lion he crouches and lies down, or a lioness: who dare rouse him?
 The scepter shall not pass from Judah, nor the mace from between his feet, until he come to whom it belongs, to whom the peoples shall render obedience.
 He ties up his young ass to the vine, to its stock the foal of his she-ass.
 He washes his coat in wine, his cloak in the blood of the grape; his eyes are cloudy with wine, his teeth are white with milk.

- 13 "Zebulun lives by the shore of the sea, he is a sailor on board the ships, he has Sidon close by him.
- 14 "Issachar is a strong ass, lying down in the midst of the sheepfolds.
15 He saw how good it was to take his ease, how pleasant was the country, so he bowed his shoulders for the load, he became a slave to forced labor.^b
- 16 "Dan is judge of his people like each one of the tribes of Israel.
17 May Dan be a serpent on the road, a viper on the path, who bites the horse on the hock and its rider falls backward.
- 18 "I trust in your salvation, Yahweh.
- 19 "Gad, robbers rob him, and he, he robs and pursues them.
- 20 "Asher, his bread is rich, he provides food fit for a king.
- 21 "Naphtali is a swift hind, dropping beautiful fawns.
- 22 "Joseph is a fruitful creeper near the spring, whose tendrils climb over the wall.
23 Bowmen provoked him, they drew and assailed him.
24 But their bow was broken by a mighty one, the sinews of their arms were parted by the hands of the Mighty One of Jacob, by the name of the Stone of Israel, 25 by the God of your father who assists you, by El Shaddai who blesses you:
with blessings of heaven above, blessings of the deep lying below, blessings of breasts and womb, 26 blessings of grain and flowers, blessings of ancient mountains; bounty of the everlasting hills;
may they descend on Joseph's head, on the brow of the dedicated one among his brothers.
- 27 "Benjamin is a ravening wolf, in the morning he devours his prey, in the evening he is still dividing the spoil."
- 28 All these make up the tribes of Israel, twelve in number, and this is what their father said to them. He blessed them, giving to each one an appropriate blessing.

48 a. A play on words: Jacob is like the president of a feast or sacrificial meal handing the shoulder (shekem) to the sons of Joseph. According to 33:19, he had bought a field at Shechem.
49 a. Both tribes were in fact scattered. Simeon ceased to exist and the Levites became a priestly clan, see Dt. 33. b. Under the Canaanites.

Jacob's last moments and his death

29 Then he gave them these instructions, "I am about to be gathered to my people.
30 Bury me near my fathers, in the cave that is in the field of Ephron the Hittite, in the cave in the field at Machpelah, opposite Mamre, in the land of Canaan, which 31 Abraham bought from Ephron the Hittite as a burial plot. There Abraham was buried and his wife Sarah. There Isaac was buried and his wife Rebekah. There 32 I buried Leah. I mean the field and the cave in it that were bought from the sons of Heth."

33 When Jacob had finished giving his instructions to his sons, he drew his feet up into the bed, and breathing his last was gathered to his people.

Jacob's funeral

1 50 At this, Joseph threw himself on his father, covering his face with tears and 2 kissing him. Then Joseph ordered the doctors in his service to embalm his 3 father. The doctors embalmed Israel, and it took them forty days, for embalming takes forty days to complete.

4 The Egyptians mourned him for seventy days. When the period of mourning for him was over, Joseph said to Pharaoh's household, "If I may presume to enjoy 5 your favor, please see that this message reaches Pharaoh's ears, 'My father made me swear an oath: I am about to die, he said, I have a tomb which I dug for myself in the land of Canaan, and there you must bury me. So now I seek leave 6 to go up and bury my father, and then I shall come back.'" Pharaoh replied,
"Go up and bury your father, in accordance with the oath he made you swear."

7 Joseph went up to bury his father, all Pharaoh's servants and the palace digni-8 taries going up with him, joined by all the dignitaries of the land of Egypt, as well as all Joseph's family and his brothers, along with his father's family. They left no one in the land of Goshen but their dependents, with their flocks and their 9 cattle. Chariots also and horsemen went up with them; it was a very large retinue.
10 On arriving at Goren-ha-atad, which is across the Jordan, they performed there a long and solemn lamentation, and Joseph observed three days' mourning 11 for his father. When the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land, witnessed the mourning at Goren-ha-atad they exclaimed, "This is a solemn act of mourning for the Egyptians." For this reason they call this place Abel-mizraim^a—it is across the Jordan.

12 His sons did what he had ordered them to do for him. His sons carried him to 13 the land of Canaan and buried him in the cave in the field at Machpelah opposite Mamre, which Abraham had bought from Ephron the Hittite as a burial plot.

14 Then Joseph returned to Egypt, he and his brothers, along with all those who had come up with him for his father's burial.

From the death of Jacob to that of Joseph 15 Seeing that their father was dead, Joseph's brothers said, "What if Joseph intends to treat us as enemies and repay us in full for all the wrong we did 16 him?" So they sent this message to Joseph: "Before your father died he gave us 17 this order: 'You must say to Joseph: Oh forgive your brothers their crime and their sin and all the wrong they did you.' Now therefore, we beg you, forgive the crime of the servants of your father's God." Joseph wept at the message they sent to him.

18 His brothers came themselves and fell down before him. "We present ourselves 19 before you," they said, "as your slaves." But Joseph answered them, "Do not be 20 afraid; is it for me to put myself in God's place? The evil you planned to do me has by God's design been turned to good, that he might bring about, as indeed 21 he has, the deliverance of a numerous people. So you need not be afraid; I myself will provide for you and your dependents." In this way he reassured them with words that touched their hearts.

22 So Joseph stayed in Egypt with his father's family; and Joseph lived a hundred

- ²³ and ten years. ·Joseph saw the third generation of Ephraim's children, as also the ²⁴ children of Machir, Manasseh's son, who were born on Joseph's lap. ·At length Joseph said to his brothers, "I am about to die; but God will be sure to remember you kindly and take you back from this country to the land that he promised on ²⁵ oath to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob." ·And Joseph made Israel's sons swear an oath, "When God remembers you with kindness be sure to take my bones from here." ²⁶ Joseph died at the age of a hundred and ten; they embalmed him and laid him in his coffin in Egypt.

EXODUS

I. THE LIBERATION FROM EGYPT

A. ISRAEL IN EGYPT

The prosperity of the Hebrews in Egypt

1 These are the names of the sons of Israel who went with Jacob to Egypt, 2 each with his family: Reuben, Simeon, Levi and Judah, Issachar, Zebulun 3 and Benjamin, Dan and Naphtali, Gad and Asher. In all, the descendants of 4 Jacob numbered seventy persons. Joseph was in Egypt already. Then Joseph 5 died, and his brothers, and all that generation. But the sons of Israel were fruitful 6 and grew in numbers greatly; they increased and grew so immensely powerful 7 that they filled the land.

The Hebrews oppressed

8 Then there came to power in Egypt a new king who knew nothing of Joseph.
9 "Look," he said to his subjects, "these people, the sons of Israel, have become so 10 numerous and strong that they are a threat to us. We must be prudent and 11 take steps against their increasing any further, or if war should break out, they 12 might add to the number of our enemies. They might take arms against us and 13 so escape out of the country." Accordingly they put slave drivers over the 14 Israelites to wear them down under heavy loads. In this way they built the 15 store cities of Pithom and Rameses^a for Pharaoh. But the more they were 16 crushed, the more they increased and spread, and men came to dread the sons 17 of Israel. The Egyptians forced the sons of Israel into slavery, and made 18 their lives unbearable with hard labor, work with clay and with brick, all 19 kinds of work in the fields; they forced on them every kind of labor.

20 The king of Egypt then spoke to the Hebrew midwives, one of whom was 21 named Shiphrah, and the other Puah. "When you midwives attend Hebrew 22 women," he said, "watch the two stones^b carefully. If it is a boy, kill him; if a girl, 23 let her live." But the midwives were God-fearing: they disobeyed the command 24 of the king of Egypt and let the boys live. So the king of Egypt summoned the 25 midwives. "Why," he asked them, "have you done this and spared the boys?" "The 26 Hebrew women are not like Egyptian women," they answered Pharaoh, "they are 27 hardy, and they give birth before the midwife reaches them." God was kind 28 to the midwives. The people went on increasing and grew very powerful; since 29 the midwives revered God he granted them descendants.

30 Pharaoh then gave his subjects this command: "Throw all the boys born to 31 the Hebrews into the river, but let all the girls live."

B. EARLY LIFE AND CALL OF MOSES

The birth of Moses

1 There was a man of the tribe of Levi who had taken a woman of Levi as his 2 wife. She conceived and gave birth to a son and, seeing what a fine child he

3 was, she kept him hidden for three months. •When she could hide him no longer, she got a papyrus basket for him; coating it with bitumen and pitch, she put the 4 child inside and laid it among the reeds at the river's edge. •His sister stood some distance away to see what would happen to him.

5 Now Pharaoh's daughter went down to bathe in the river, and the girls attending her were walking along by the riverside. Among the reeds she noticed 6 the basket, and she sent her maid to fetch it. •She opened it and looked, and saw a baby boy, crying; and she was sorry for him. "This is a child of one of the 7 Hebrews," she said. •Then the child's sister said to Pharaoh's daughter, "Shall I go and find you a nurse among the Hebrew women to suckle the child 8 for you?" •"Yes, go," Pharaoh's daughter said to her; and the girl went off to find 9 the baby's own mother. •To her the daughter of Pharaoh said, "Take this child away and suckle it for me. I will see you are paid." So the woman took the child 10 and suckled it. •When the child grew up, she brought him to Pharaoh's daughter, who treated him like a son; she named him Moses because, she said, "I drew him out of the water."^a

Moses escapes to Midian

11 Moses, a man by now, set out at this time to visit his countrymen, and he saw what a hard life they were having; and he saw an Egyptian strike a Hebrew, one 12 of his countrymen. •Looking around he could see no one in sight, so he killed the Egyptian and hid him in the sand. •On the following day he came back, and there 13 were two Hebrews, fighting. He said to the man who was in the wrong, "What do you mean by hitting your fellow countryman?" •"And who appointed you," 14 the man retorted, "to be prince over us, and judge? Do you intend to kill me as you killed the Egyptian?" Moses was frightened. "Clearly that business has 15 come to light," he thought. •When Pharaoh heard of the matter he would have killed Moses, but Moses fled from Pharaoh and made for the land of Midian.^b And he sat down beside a well.

16 Now the priest of Midian had seven daughters. They came to draw water and 17 fill the troughs to water their father's sheep. •Shepherds came and drove them away, but Moses came to their defense and watered their sheep for them. •When 18 they returned to their father Reuel, he said to them, "You are back early today!"
19 "An Egyptian protected us from the shepherds"; they said, "yes, and he drew water for us and watered the flock." •"And where is he?" he asked his daughters.
21 "Why did you leave the man there? Ask him to eat with us." •So Moses settled 22 with this man, who gave him his daughter Zipporah in marriage. •She gave birth to a son, and he named him Gershom because, he said, "I am a stranger in a foreign land."

THE CALL OF MOSES

God remembers Israel

23 During this long period the king of Egypt died. The sons of Israel, groaning in their slavery, cried out for help and from the depths of their slavery their cry 24 came up to God. •God heard their groaning and he called to mind his covenant 25 with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. •God looked down upon the sons of Israel, and he knew . . .

1 a. The residence of Rameses II in the Delta; either Tanis or Qantir. b. The exact meaning is uncertain.

2 a. Folk derivation of the name Moses from mashah, to draw out. b. Midian lies south of Edom and east of the Gulf of Aqaba.

The burning bush

1 3 Moses was looking after the flock of Jethro, his father-in-law, priest of Midian.
 2 He led his flock to the far side of the wilderness and came to Horeb,^a the 3 mountain of God. There the angel of Yahweh appeared to him in the shape 4 of a flame of fire, coming from the middle of a bush. Moses looked; there was 5 the bush blazing but it was not being burned up. "I must go and look at this 6 strange sight," Moses said, "and see why the bush is not burned." Now Yahweh 7 saw him go forward to look, and God called to him from the middle of the 8 bush. "Moses, Moses!" he said. "Here I am," he answered. "Come no nearer," 9 he said. "Take off your shoes, for the place on which you stand is holy ground.
 10 I am the God of your father," he said, "the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac 11 and the God of Jacob." At this Moses covered his face, afraid to look at God.

The mission of Moses

7 And Yahweh said, "I have seen the miserable state of my people in Egypt.
 8 I have heard their appeal to be free of their slave drivers. Yes, I am well aware 9 of their sufferings. I mean to deliver them out of the hands of the Egyptians and 10 bring them up out of that land to a land rich and broad, a land where milk and 11 honey flow, the home of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, 12 the Hivites and the Jebusites. And now the cry of the sons of Israel has come 13 to me, and I have witnessed the way in which the Egyptians oppress them, 14 so come, I send you to Pharaoh to bring the sons of Israel, my people, out of 15 Egypt." 16 Moses said to God, "Who am I to go to Pharaoh and bring the sons of Israel 17 out of Egypt?" "I shall be with you," was the answer, "and this is the sign by which 18 you shall know that it is I who have sent you . . . After you have led the people 19 out of Egypt, you are to offer worship to God on this mountain."

The divine name revealed

13 Then Moses said to God, "I am to go, then, to the sons of Israel and say to 14 them, 'The God of your fathers has sent me to you.' But if they ask me what 15 his name is, what am I to tell them?" And God said to Moses, "I Am who I Am.
 16 This," he added, "is what you must say to the sons of Israel: 'I Am has sent me 17 to you.'" And God also said to Moses, "You are to say to the sons of Israel: 18 'Yahweh,^b the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and 19 the God of Jacob, has sent me to you.' This is my name for all time; by this 20 name I shall be invoked for all generations to come.

Moses instructed for his mission

16 "Go and gather the elders of Israel together and tell them, 'Yahweh, the God 17 of your fathers, has appeared to me—the God of Abraham, of Isaac and of 18 Jacob; and he has said to me: I have visited you and seen all that the Egyptians 19 are doing to you. And so I have resolved to bring you up out of Egypt where 20 you are oppressed, into the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, 21 the Perizzites, the Hivites and the Jebusites, to a land where milk and honey 22 flow.' They will listen to your words, and with the elders of Israel you are to 23 go to the king of Egypt and say to him, 'Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews, has 24 come to meet us. Give us leave, then, to make a three days' journey into the 25 wilderness to offer sacrifice to Yahweh our God.' For myself, knowing that 26 the king of Egypt will not let you go unless he is forced by a mighty hand, I shall 27 show my power and strike Egypt with all the wonders I am going to work there.
 28 After this he will let you go.

The Egyptians to be plundered

21 "I will give this people such prestige in the eyes of the Egyptians that when you 22 go, you will not go empty-handed. Every woman will ask her neighbor and the woman who is staying in her house for silver ornaments and gold. With these you will adorn your sons and daughters; you will plunder the Egyptians.”

Moses granted miraculous powers

1 4 Then Moses answered, “What if they will not believe me or listen to my words 2 and say to me, ‘Yahweh has not appeared to you?’” Yahweh asked him, 3 “What is that in your hand?” “A staff,” Moses said. “Throw it on the ground,” 4 said Yahweh; so Moses threw his staff on the ground—it turned into a serpent 5 and he drew back from it. “Put your hand out and catch it by the tail,” Yahweh 6 said to him. And he put out his hand and caught it, and in his hand the serpent 7 turned into a staff . . . “so that they may believe that Yahweh, the God of their 8 fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob, has really 9 appeared to you.”

10 Again Yahweh spoke to Moses, “Put your hand into your bosom.” He put his 11 hand into his bosom and when he drew it out, his hand was covered with leprosy, 12 white as snow. “Put your hand back into your bosom.” He put his hand back 13 into his bosom and when he drew it out, there it was restored, just like the rest 14 of his flesh. “Even so: should they not believe you nor be convinced by the first 15 sign, the second will convince them; but if they should believe neither of these 16 two signs and not listen to your words, you must take water from the river and 17 pour it on the ground, and the water you have drawn from the river will turn to 18 blood on the ground.”

Aaron, the mouthpiece of Moses

19 Moses said to Yahweh, “But, my Lord, never in my life have I been a man 20 of eloquence, either before or since you have spoken to your servant. I am a 21 slow speaker and not able to speak well.” “Who gave man his mouth?” 22 Yahweh answered him. “Who makes him dumb or deaf, gives him sight or leaves 23 him blind? Is it not I, Yahweh? Now go, I shall help you to speak and tell you 24 what to say.”

25 “If it please you, my Lord,” Moses replied, “send anyone you will!” At this, 26 the anger of Yahweh blazed out against Moses, and he said to him, “There is your 27 brother Aaron the Levite, is there not? I know that he is a good speaker. Here 28 he comes to meet you. When he sees you, his heart will be full of joy. You will 29 speak to him and tell him what message to give. I shall help you to speak, and 30 him too, and instruct you what to do. He himself is to speak to the people 31 in your place; he will be your mouthpiece, and you will be as the god in-32 spiring him. And take this staff into your hand; with this you will perform 33 the signs.”

Moses returns to Egypt. He leaves Midian

34 Moses went away and returned to his father-in-law Jethro, and said to him, 35 “Give me leave to go back to my relatives in Egypt to see if they are still alive.”
36 And Jethro said to Moses, “Go in peace.”

37 Yahweh said to Moses in Midian, “Go, return to Egypt, for all those who 38 wanted to kill you are dead.” So Moses took his wife and his son and, putting 39 them on a donkey, started back for the land of Egypt; and Moses took in his 40 hand the staff of God. Yahweh said to Moses, “Now that you are going back 41 to Egypt, be prepared to perform before Pharaoh all the marvels that I have 42 given you power to do. I myself will harden his heart, and he will not let the 43 people go. Then you will say to Pharaoh, ‘This is what Yahweh says: Israel 44 is my first-born son. I ordered you to let my son go to offer me worship. You 45 refuse to let him go. So be it! I shall put your first-born to death.’”

3. a. Sinai; the alternative name used in the “Elohistic” tradition. b. The formula “I Am who I Am” becomes, in the third person, Yahweh, “He is.”

The son of Moses circumcised

24 On the journey, when Moses had halted for the night, Yahweh came to meet 25 him and tried to kill him. At once Zipporah, taking up a flint, cut off her son's foreskin and with it she touched the genitals of Moses. "Truly, you are a bride-26 groom of blood to me!" she said. And Yahweh let him live. It was then that she said, "bridegroom of blood," on account of the circumcision.

Moses meets Aaron

27 Yahweh said to Aaron, "Go into the wilderness to meet Moses." And so he 28 went, and met him at the mountain of God; and he kissed him. Moses then told Aaron all that Yahweh had said when he set him his task and all the signs 29 he had ordered him to perform. Moses and Aaron then went and gathered all 30 the elders of the sons of Israel together, and Aaron told all that Yahweh had said 31 to Moses, and in the sight of the people he performed the signs. The people were convinced, and they rejoiced that Yahweh had visited the sons of Israel and seen their misery, and they bowed down and worshiped.

The first audience with Pharaoh

1 5 After this, Moses and Aaron went to Pharaoh and said to him, "This is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, has said, 'Let my people go, so that they may 2 keep a feast in the wilderness in honor of me.'" "Who is Yahweh," Pharaoh replied, "that I should listen to him and let Israel go? I know nothing of Yahweh, 3 and I will not let Israel go." "The God of the Hebrews has come to meet us," they replied. "Give us leave to make a three days' journey into the wilderness to offer sacrifice to Yahweh our God, or he will come down on us with a plague or with 4 the sword." The king of Egypt said to them, "Moses and Aaron, what do you mean by taking the people away from their work? Get back to your laboring." 5 And Pharaoh said, "Now that these common folk have grown to such numbers, do you want to stop them laboring?"

Instructions to the slave drivers

6 That same day, Pharaoh gave this command to the people's slave drivers and 7 to the overseers. "Up to the present, you have provided these people with straw for brickmaking. Do so no longer; let them go and gather straw for themselves.
8 All the same, you are to get from them the same number of bricks as before, not reducing it at all. They are lazy, and that is why their cry is, 'Let us go and offer 9 sacrifice to our God.' Make these men work harder than ever, so that they do not have time to stop and listen to glib speeches."

10 The people's slave drivers went out with the overseers to speak to the people.
11 "Pharaoh has given orders," they said: "I will not provide you with straw. Go out and collect straw for yourselves wherever you can find it. But your output 12 is not to be any less." So the people scattered all over the land of Egypt to 13 gather stubble for making chopped straw. The slave drivers harassed them.
"Every day you must complete your daily quota," they said, "just as you did when 14 straw was provided for you." And the foremen who had been appointed for the sons of Israel by Pharaoh's slave drivers were flogged, and they were asked,
"Why have you not produced your full amount of bricks as before, either yesterday or today?"

The Hebrew foremen complain

15 The foremen for the sons of Israel went to Pharaoh and complained. "Why 16 do you treat your servants so?" they said. "No straw is provided for your servants and still the cry is, 'Make bricks!' And now your servants have been flogged! . . ." 17 "You are lazy, lazy;" he answered, "that is why you say, 'Let us go and offer 18 sacrifice to Yahweh.' Get back to your work at once. You shall not get any straw, but you must deliver the number of bricks due from you."

The dilemma of the foremen. Moses prays

19 The foremen for the sons of Israel saw themselves in a very difficult position 20 when told there was to be no reduction in the daily number of bricks. "As they left Pharaoh's presence they met Moses and Aaron who were waiting for them.
 21 "May Yahweh see your work and punish you as you deserve!" they said to them.
 "You have made us hated by Pharaoh and his court; you have put a sword into 22 their hand to kill us." "Once more Moses turned to Yahweh. "Lord," he said to him, "why do you treat this people so harshly? Why did you send me here?
 23 Ever since I came to Pharaoh and spoke to him in your name, he has ill treated 1 this nation, and you have done nothing to deliver your people." 6 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "You will see now how I shall punish Pharaoh. He will be forced to let them go; yes, he will be forced to send them out of his land."

Another account of the call of Moses

2 God spoke to Moses and said to him, "I am Yahweh. "To Abraham and Isaac and Jacob I appeared as El Shaddai; I did not make myself known to them by 4 my name Yahweh. "Also, I made my covenant with them to give them the land 5 of Canaan, the land they lived in as strangers. "And I have heard the groaning of the sons of Israel, enslaved by the Egyptians, and have remembered my 6 covenant. "Say this, then, to the sons of Israel, "I am Yahweh. I will free you of the burdens which the Egyptians lay on you. I will release you from slavery to them, and with my arm outstretched and my strokes of power I will deliver you.
 7 I will adopt you as my own people, and I will be your God. Then you shall know that it is I, Yahweh your God, who have freed you from the Egyptians' 8 burdens. "Then I will bring you to the land I swore that I would give to Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and will give it to you for your own; I, Yahweh, will do 9 this!" "Moses told this to the sons of Israel, but they would not listen to him, so crushed was their spirit and so cruel their slavery.

10 Yahweh then said to Moses, "Go to Pharaoh, king of Egypt and tell him to 11 let the sons of Israel leave his land." "But Moses answered to Yahweh's face: 12 "Look," said he, "since the sons of Israel have not listened to me, why should 13 Pharaoh listen to me, a man slow of speech?" "Yahweh spoke to Moses and Aaron and ordered them both to go to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and to bring the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

The genealogy of Moses and Aaron

14 These are the heads of their families:

The sons of Reuben, Israel's first-born: Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron and Carmi:
 these are the clans of Reuben.

15 The sons of Simeon: Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar, and Shaul, son of the Canaanite woman: these are the clans of Simeon.

16 These are the names of the sons of Levi with their descendants: Gershon, 17 Kohath and Merari. Levi lived for a hundred and thirty-seven years. "The sons of Gershon: Libni and Shimei and their clans.

18 The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel. Kohath lived for a hundred and thirty-three years.

19 The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. These are the clans of Levi with their descendants.

20 Amram married Jochebed, his aunt, who bore him Aaron and Moses. Amram lived for a hundred and thirty-seven years.

21 The sons of Izhar were: Korah, Nepheg and Zichri.

22 And the sons of Uzziel: Mishael, Elzaphan and Sithri.

23 Aaron married Elisheba, daughter of Amminadab and sister of Nahshon, and she bore him Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

24 The sons of Korah: Assir, Elkanah and Abiasaph. These are the clans of the Korahites.

25 Eleazar, son of Aaron, married one of Putiel's daughters who bore him Phinehas.

These are the heads of families of the Levites according to their clans.

26 It was to this same Aaron and Moses that Yahweh had said, "Bring the sons 27 of Israel out of the land of Egypt in battle order." 'It was they who spoke with Pharaoh, king of Egypt, about bringing the sons of Israel out of Egypt. It was the same Moses and Aaron.

The narrative of Moses' call resumed

28 On the day when Yahweh spoke to Moses in the land of Egypt, 'he said 29 this to him, "I am Yahweh. Tell Pharaoh, king of Egypt, all that I say to you." 30 But Moses said to Yahweh's face, "I am slow of speech, why should Pharaoh listen to me?"

1 7 Yahweh said to Moses, "See, I make you as a god for Pharaoh, and Aaron 2 your brother is to be your prophet. 'You yourself must tell him all I command you, and Aaron your brother will tell Pharaoh to let the sons of Israel leave 3 his land. 'I myself will make Pharaoh's heart stubborn, and perform many 4 a sign and wonder in the land of Egypt. 'Pharaoh will not listen to you, and so I will lay my hand on Egypt and with strokes of power lead out my armies, 5 my people, the sons of Israel, from the land of Egypt. 'And all the Egyptians shall come to know that I am Yahweh when I stretch out my hand against Egypt 6 and bring out the sons of Israel from their midst.'" 'Moses and Aaron obeyed; 7 they did what Yahweh commanded them. 'Moses was eighty years old, and Aaron eighty-three at the time of their audience with Pharaoh.

C. THE PLAGUES OF EGYPT^a — THE PASSOVER

The staff turned into a serpent

8 Yahweh said to Moses and Aaron, "If Pharaoh says to you, 'Produce some 9 marvel,' you must say to Aaron, 'Take your staff and throw it down in front 10 of Pharaoh, and let it turn into a serpent.'" 'To Pharaoh, then, Moses and Aaron duly went, and they did as Yahweh commanded. Aaron threw down 11 his staff in front of Pharaoh and his court, and it turned into a serpent. 'Then Pharaoh in his turn called for the sages and the sorcerers, and with their 12 witchcraft the magicians of Egypt did the same. 'Each threw his staff down and these turned into serpents. But Aaron's staff swallowed up the staffs of the 13 magicians. 'Yet Pharaoh's heart was stubborn and, as Yahweh had foretold, he would not listen to Moses and Aaron.

The first plague: the water turns to blood

14 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Pharaoh is adamant. He refuses to let the 15 people go. 'In the morning go to him as he makes his way to the water and wait for him by the bank of the river. In your hand take the staff that turned 16 into a serpent. 'Say to him, 'Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews, has sent me to say: Let my people go to offer me worship in the wilderness. Now, so far 17 you have not listened. 'Here is Yahweh's message: That I am Yahweh you shall learn by this: with the staff that is in my hand I will strike the water of the 18 river and it shall be changed into blood. 'The fish in the river will die, and the river will smell so foul that the Egyptians will not want to drink the water of it.'" 'Moses

19 Yahweh said to Moses, "Say this to Aaron, 'Take your staff and stretch out your hand over the waters of Egypt, over their rivers and their canals, their marshland, and all their reservoirs, and let them turn to blood throughout 20 the land of Egypt, even down to the contents of every tub or jar.'" 'Moses and Aaron did as Yahweh commanded. He raised his staff and in the sight 21 of Pharaoh and his court he struck the waters of the river, and all the water in the river changed to blood. 'The fish in the river died, and the river smelled so foul that the Egyptians found it impossible to drink its water. Throughout 22 the land of Egypt there was blood. But the magicians of Egypt used their witchcraft to do the same, so that Pharaoh's heart was stubborn and, as Yahweh 23 had foretold, he would not listen to Moses and Aaron. Pharaoh turned away and went back into his palace, taking no notice even of this. Meanwhile, all 24 the Egyptians dug holes along the banks of the river in search of drinking water; 25 they found the water of the river impossible to drink. After Yahweh had struck the river, seven days passed.

The second plague: the frogs

26 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Go to Pharaoh and say to him, 'This is 27 Yahweh's message: Let my people go to offer me worship. If you refuse to let 28 them go, know that I will plague the whole of your country with frogs. The 3 river will swarm with them; they will make their way into your palace, into your bedroom, onto your bed, into the houses of your courtiers and of your 29 subjects, into your ovens, into your kneading bowls. The frogs will even climb all over you, over your courtiers, and over all your subjects.'"

1/3 8 Yahweh said to Moses, "Say this to Aaron, 'Stretch out your hand, with your staff, over the rivers, the canals, the marshland, and make frogs swarm 2/6 all over the land of Egypt.'" So Aaron stretched out his hand over the waters of 3/7 Egypt, and the frogs came up and covered the land of Egypt. But the magicians did the same with their witchcraft, and made frogs swarm all over the land of Egypt.

4/8 Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron. "Entreat Yahweh," he said, "to rid me and my subjects of the frogs, and I promise to let the people go and offer 5/9 sacrifice to Yahweh." Moses answered Pharaoh, "Take this chance to get the better of me! When I pray on your account and for your courtiers, and for your subjects, what time am I to fix for the frogs to leave you and your subjects 6/10 and your houses, and stay in the river?" "Tomorrow," Pharaoh said. "It shall be as you say," answered Moses. "By this you shall learn that Yahweh our God 7/11 has no equal. The frogs will go from you and your palaces, your courtiers 8/12 and your subjects; they will stay in the river." When Moses and Aaron had gone from Pharaoh's presence, Moses pleaded with Yahweh about the frogs 9/13 with which he had afflicted Pharaoh. And Yahweh granted Moses' prayer: 10/14 in house and courtyard and field the frogs died. They piled them up in heaps 11/15 and the land reeked of them. But as soon as he saw that relief had been granted, Pharaoh became adamant again and, as Yahweh had foretold, he refused to listen to Moses and Aaron.

The third plague: the mosquitoes

12/16 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Say this to Aaron, 'Stretch out your rod and strike the dust on the ground: throughout the land of Egypt it will turn into 13/17 mosquitoes.'" Aaron stretched out his hand, with his staff, and struck the dust on the ground. The mosquitoes attacked men and beasts; throughout the 14/18 land of Egypt the dust on the ground turned into mosquitoes. The magicians with their witchcraft tried to produce mosquitoes and failed. The mosquitoes 15/19 attacked men and beasts. So the magicians said to Pharaoh, "This is the finger of God." But Pharaoh's heart was stubborn and, as Yahweh had foretold, he refused to listen to Moses and Aaron.

The fourth plague: the gadflies

16/20 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Get up early in the morning and wait for Pharaoh as he makes his way to the water. Say to him, 'This is Yahweh's message: 17/21 Let my people go to offer me worship. But if you do not let my people go, I shall

7 a. In the narrative of the plagues we must recognize the conflation of several traditions: one, for instance, which always ranges Aaron with Moses, and one in which Moses acts by himself.

send gadflies on you, on your courtiers and your palaces. The houses of the Egyptians will be infested with them, and even the very ground they stand on.
 18 But I shall set apart the land of Goshen, where my people live, on that day; 19 there will be no gadflies there, and so you may know that I, Yahweh, am in 20 the midst of the land. 'I shall make a distinction between my people and yours.
 21 This sign shall take place tomorrow.' 'Yahweh did this, and great swarms of 22 gadflies found their way into Pharaoh's palace, into the houses of his courtiers, 23 and into all the land of Egypt, and ruined the country.

24 Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron. "Go," he said, "and offer sacrifice to 25 your God, but in this country!" "That would not be right," Moses answered.
 26 "We sacrifice to Yahweh our God animals which Egyptians count it sacrilege 27 to slaughter. If we offer in front of the Egyptians sacrifices that outrage them, will 28 they not stone us?" "We must make a three days' journey into the wilderness to 29 offer sacrifice to Yahweh our God, as he has commanded us." Pharaoh replied, 30 "I will let you go to offer sacrifice to Yahweh your God in the wilderness, 31 provided you do not go far. And intercede for me." "The moment I leave you," 32 said Moses, "I will pray to Yahweh. Tomorrow morning the gadflies will leave 33 Pharaoh and his courtiers and his subjects. Only, Pharaoh must not play false 34 again, and refuse to let the people go to offer sacrifice to Yahweh." "So Moses 35 went out of Pharaoh's presence and prayed to Yahweh. And Yahweh did as 36 Moses asked; the gadflies left Pharaoh and his courtiers and his subjects; not 37 one remained. But Pharaoh was adamant this time too and did not let the 38 people go.

The fifth plague: death of the Egyptians' livestock

1 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Go to Pharaoh and say to him, 'This is the 2 message of Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews: Let my people go to offer 3 me worship. If you refuse to let them go and detain them any longer, you 4 will find that the hand of Yahweh will fall on your livestock in the fields, horse 5 and donkey and camel, herd and flock, with a deadly plague. Yahweh will 6 discriminate between the livestock of Israel and of Egypt: nothing shall die of 7 all that belongs to the sons of Israel. Yahweh has fixed the hour. Tomorrow, 8 he has said, Yahweh will carry out this threat in all the land.'" "Next day Yahweh 9 kept his word; all the Egyptians' livestock died, but none owned by the sons 10 of Israel died. Pharaoh had inquiries made, but it was true: none was dead of 11 the livestock owned by the sons of Israel. But Pharaoh became adamant again 12 and did not let the people go.

The sixth plague: the boils

1 Yahweh said to Moses and Aaron, "Take handfuls of soot from the kiln, 2 and before the eyes of Pharaoh let Moses throw it in the air. It shall spread 3 like fine dust over the whole land of Egypt and bring out boils that break into 4 sores on man and beast all over the land of Egypt." "So they took soot from the 5 kiln and stood in front of Pharaoh, and Moses threw it in the air. And on man 6 and beast it brought out boils breaking into sores. And the magicians could 7 not face Moses, because the magicians were covered with boils like all the other 8 Egyptians. But Yahweh made Pharaoh's heart stubborn and, as Yahweh had 9 foretold, he refused to listen to them.

The seventh plague: the hail

1 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Get up early in the morning and present yourself 2 to Pharaoh. Say to him. 'This is the message of Yahweh, the God of the 3 Hebrews: Let my people go to offer me worship. This time I mean to send 4 all my plagues on you and your courtiers and your subjects so that you shall 5 learn that there is no one like me in the whole world. Had I stretched out my 6 hand to strike you and your subjects with pestilence, you would have been swept 16 from the earth. •But I have let you live for this: to make you see my power and 17 to have my name published throughout all the earth. •Highhanded with my 18 people still, you will not let them go. •Tomorrow, therefore, at about this time, I will let fall so great a storm of hail as was never known in Egypt from the 19 day of its foundation. •So now have your livestock, and everything that is yours in the fields put under cover: on man and beast, on all that remains in the fields 20 and is not brought indoors, the hail will fall and they will die.’” •Some of Pharaoh’s courtiers, terrified by Yahweh’s threat, brought their slaves and 21 livestock indoors, •but those who disregarded Yahweh’s threat left their slaves and livestock in the fields.

22 Yahweh said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand toward heaven so that hail may fall on the whole land of Egypt, on man and beast and all that grows in 23 the fields in the land of Egypt.” •Moses stretched out his staff toward heaven, and Yahweh thundered and rained down hail. Lightning struck the earth.
 24 Yahweh rained down hail on the land of Egypt. •The hail fell, and lightning flashing in the midst of it, a greater storm of hail than had ever been known 25 in Egypt since it first became a nation. •Throughout the land of Egypt the hail struck down everything in the fields, man and beast. It struck all the crops in 26 the fields, and it shattered every tree in the fields. •Only in the land of Goshen where the Hebrews lived, was there no hail.

27 Pharaoh sent for Moses and Aaron. “This time,” he said, “I admit my fault.
 28 Yahweh is in the right; I and my subjects are in the wrong. •Entreat Yahweh to stop the thunder and the hail; I promise to let you go, and you shall stay 29 here no longer.” •Moses answered him, “The moment I leave the city I will stretch out my hands to Yahweh. The thunder will stop, and there will be no 30 more hail, so that you may know that the earth belongs to Yahweh. •But as for you and your courtiers, I know very well that you have no fear yet of Yahweh 31 our God.” •The flax and the barley were ruined, since the barley was in the ear and 32 the flax budding. •The wheat and the spelt, being late crops, were not destroyed.

33 Moses left Pharaoh and went out of the city. He stretched out his hands to Yahweh and the thunder and the hail stopped and the rain no longer poured 34 down on the earth. •When Pharaoh saw that rain and hail and thunder had 35 stopped, he sinned yet again. •He became adamant, he and his courtiers. The heart of Pharaoh was stubborn and, as Yahweh had foretold through Moses, he did not let the sons of Israel go.

The eighth plague: the locusts

1 10 Then Yahweh said to Moses, “Go to Pharaoh, for it is I who have made his heart and his courtiers stubborn, so that I could work these signs of 2 mine among them; •so that you can tell your sons and your grandsons how I made fools of the Egyptians and what signs I performed among them, to let 3 you know that I am Yahweh.” •So Moses and Aaron went to Pharaoh. They said to him, “This is the message of Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews, ‘How much longer will you refuse to submit to me? Let my people go to offer me 4 worship. •If you refuse to let my people go, then tomorrow I will send locusts 5 over your country. •They shall cover the surface of the soil so thick that the soil will not be seen. They shall devour the remainder that is left to you, all that has survived from the hail; they shall devour all your trees growing in the fields; they shall fill your palaces, the houses of your courtiers, the houses of all the 6 Egyptians. •Your forefathers and their ancestors will never have seen the like since first they lived in the country.’” Then Moses turned away and left Pharaoh’s 7 presence. •And Pharaoh’s courtiers said to him, “How much longer is this man to be the cause of our trouble? Let the people go to offer worship to Yahweh their God. Do you not understand that Egypt is now on the brink of ruin?”

8 a. In the Delta there were gods represented as rams, goats and bulls.

8 . So Moses and Aaron were brought back to Pharaoh. "You may go," he said 9 to them, "and offer worship to Yahweh your God. But who are to go?" "We shall take our young men and our old men," Moses answered. "We shall take our sons and daughters, our flocks and our herds, because for us it is a feast 10 of Yahweh." "May Yahweh be with you if ever I let you and your little ones go!" 11 Pharaoh retorted. "It is plain you are up to no good. 'Oh no! You men may go and offer worship to Yahweh, since that is what you wanted.'" And with that they were dismissed from the presence of Pharaoh.

12 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Stretch out your hand over the land of Egypt to bring the locusts. Let them invade the land of Egypt and devour all its 13 greenstuff, all that the hail has left." "And over the land of Egypt Moses stretched his staff, and Yahweh brought up an east wind over the land and it blew all that day and night. By morning, the east wind had brought the locusts.

14 The locusts invaded the whole land of Egypt. On the whole territory of Egypt they fell, in numbers so great that such swarms had never been seen 15 before, nor would be again. They covered the surface of the soil till the ground was black with them. They devoured all the greenstuff in the land and all the fruit of the trees that the hail had left. No green was left on tree or plant in the fields throughout the land of Egypt.

16 Pharaoh sent urgently for Moses and Aaron. "I have sinned against Yahweh 17 your God," he said, "and against yourselves. 'Forgive my sin, I implore you, this once, and entreat Yahweh your God just to rid me of this deadly plague.'" 18 So Moses left Pharaoh's presence and interceded with Yahweh. "Then Yahweh 19 made the wind veer till it blew so strongly from the west that it caught up the locusts and carried them off toward the Sea of Reeds. There was not one locust 20 left in the whole land of Egypt. But Yahweh made Pharaoh's heart stubborn, and he did not let the sons of Israel go.

The ninth plague: the darkness

21 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Stretch out your hand toward heaven, and let darkness, darkness so thick that it can be felt, cover the land of Egypt." 22 So Moses stretched out his hand toward heaven, and for three days there 23 was deep darkness over the whole land of Egypt. "No one could see anyone else or move about for three days, but where the sons of Israel lived there was light for them.

24 Pharaoh summoned Moses. "Go and offer worship to Yahweh," he said, "but your flocks and herds must remain here. Your children may go with you 25 too." "Moses replied, "But you must let us have means of offering sacrifices 26 and holocausts to Yahweh our God. 'Our livestock, too, must go with us; not one head of cattle must be left behind: it must be from our livestock that we provide for the worship of Yahweh our God; until we reach the place, we do not know ourselves what worship we shall have to offer Yahweh.'"

27 But Yahweh made Pharaoh's heart stubborn, and he refused to let them go.
 28 Pharaoh said to Moses, "Out of my sight! Take care! Never appear before me 29 again, for on the day you do, you die!" "Moses replied, "You yourself have said it:
 never again shall I appear before you."

Moses proclaims the death of the first-born

1 11 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "One disaster more I shall bring on Pharaoh and on Egypt, just one. After this he will let you go from here . . . Indeed, 2 he will drive you out! 'Instruct the people that every man is to ask his neighbor, 3 every woman hers, for silver ornaments and gold.'" "And Yahweh gave the people prestige in the eyes of the Egyptians, while Moses himself was a man of great importance in the land of Egypt, and of high prestige with Pharaoh's courtiers and with the people.

4 Moses said, "This is Yahweh's message, 'Toward midnight I shall pass

5 through Egypt. "All the first-born in the land of Egypt shall die: from the first-born of Pharaoh, heir to his throne, to the first-born of the maidservant at the mill, and all the first-born of the cattle. "And throughout the land of Egypt there shall be such a wailing as never was heard before, nor will be again. "But against the sons of Israel, against man or beast, never a dog shall bark, so that you may know that Yahweh discriminates between Egypt and Israel. "Then all these courtiers of yours will come down to me and bow low before me and say: Go away, you and all the people who follow you! After this, I shall go.'" And, hot with anger, Moses left Pharaoh's presence.

9 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Pharaoh will not listen to you; so that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt." "All these wonders Moses and Aaron worked in the presence of Pharaoh. But Yahweh made Pharaoh's heart stubborn, and he did not let the sons of Israel leave his country.

The Passover

¹/₂ 12 Yahweh said to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt, "This month is to be the first of all the others for you, the first month of your year. Speak to the whole community of Israel and say, 'On the tenth day of this month each man must take an animal from the flock, one for each family: one animal for each household. "If the household is too small to eat the animal, a man must join with his neighbor, the nearest to his house, as the number of persons requires. You must take into account what each can eat in deciding the number for the animal. "It must be an animal without blemish, a male one year old; you may take it from either sheep or goats. "You must keep it till the fourteenth day of the month when the whole assembly of the community of Israel shall slaughter it between the two evenings." "Some of the blood must then be taken and put on the two doorposts and the lintel of the houses where it is eaten. "That night, the flesh is to be eaten, roasted over the fire; it must be eaten with unleavened bread and bitter herbs. "Do not eat any of it raw or boiled, but roasted over the fire, head, feet and entrails. "You must not leave any over till the morning: whatever is left till morning you are to burn. You shall eat it like this: with a girdle around your waist, sandals on your feet, a staff in your hand. You shall eat it hastily: it is a passover^b in honor of Yahweh. "That night, I will go through the land of Egypt and strike down all the first-born in the land of Egypt, man and beast alike, and I shall deal out punishment to all the gods of Egypt, I am Yahweh! The blood shall serve to mark the houses that you live in. When I see the blood I will pass over you and you shall escape the destroying plague when I strike the land of Egypt. "This day is to be a day of remembrance for you, and you must celebrate it as a feast in Yahweh's honor. For all generations you are to declare it a day of festival, for ever.

15 "For seven days you must eat unleavened bread. On the first day you are to clean all leaven out of your houses, for anyone who eats leavened bread from the first to the seventh day shall be cut off from Israel. "On the first day you are to hold a sacred gathering, and again on the seventh day. On those days no work is to be done; you are allowed only to prepare your food. "The feast of Unleavened Bread must be kept because it was on that same day I brought your armies out of the land of Egypt. Keep that day from age to age: it is an irrevocable ordinance. "In the first month, from the evening of the fourteenth day and until the evening of the twenty-first day, you are to eat unleavened bread. For seven days no leaven must be found in your houses, because anyone who eats leavened bread will be cut off from the community of Israel, whether he be 12 a. I.e. either between sunset and darkness (Samaritans), or between afternoon and sunset (Pharisees). b. The explanation of this word is in v.13.

²⁰ stranger or native-born. 'You must eat no leavened bread; wherever you live you must eat unleavened bread.' "

Injunctions relating to the Passover

²¹ Moses summoned all the elders of Israel and said to them, "Go and choose animals from the flock on behalf of your families, and kill the Passover victim.
²² Then take a spray of hyssop, dip it in the blood that is in the basin, and with the blood from the basin touch the lintel and the two doorposts. Let none of ²³ you venture out of the house till morning. 'Then, when Yahweh goes through Egypt to strike it, and sees the blood on the lintel and on the two doorposts, he will pass over the door and not allow the destroyer to enter your homes ²⁴ and strike. 'You must keep these rules as an ordinance for all time for you ²⁵ and your children. 'When you enter the land that Yahweh is giving you, as he ²⁶ promised, you must keep to this ritual. 'And when your children ask you, ²⁷ 'What does this ritual mean?' you will tell them, 'It is the sacrifice of the Passover in honor of Yahweh who passed over the houses of the sons of Israel in Egypt, and struck Egypt but spared our houses.'" And the people bowed ²⁸ down and worshiped. 'The sons of Israel then departed, and they obeyed. They carried out the orders Yahweh had given to Moses and Aaron.

The tenth plague: death of the first-born

²⁹ And at midnight Yahweh struck down all the first-born in the land of Egypt: the first-born of Pharaoh, heir to his throne, the first-born of the prisoner in his ³⁰ dungeon, and the first-born of all the cattle. 'Pharaoh and all his courtiers and all the Egyptians got up in the night, and there was a great cry in Egypt, for ³¹ there was not a house without its dead. 'And it was night when Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron. "Get up," he said, "you and the sons of Israel, and get away from my people. Go and offer worship to Yahweh as you have asked ³² and, as you have asked, take your flocks and herds, and go. And also ask a blessing on me." 'The Egyptians urged the people to hurry up and leave the ³³ land because, they said, "Otherwise we shall all be dead." 'So the people carried off their dough, still unleavened, on their shoulders, their kneading bowls wrapped ³⁴ in their cloaks.

The Egyptians plundered

³⁵ The sons of Israel did as Moses had told them and asked the Egyptians ³⁶ for silver ornaments and gold, and for clothing. 'Yahweh gave the people such prestige in the eyes of the Egyptians, that they gave them what they asked. So they plundered the Egyptians.

Israel's departure

³⁷ The sons of Israel left Rameses for Succoth, about six hundred thousand ³⁸ on the march—all men—not counting their families. 'People of various sorts joined them in great numbers; there were flocks, too, and herds in immense ³⁹ droves. 'They baked cakes with the dough which they had brought from Egypt, unleavened because the dough was not leavened; they had been driven out of Egypt, with no time for dallying, and had not provided themselves with food ⁴⁰ for the journey.' 'The time that the sons of Israel had spent in Egypt was four ⁴¹ hundred and thirty years. 'And on the very day the four hundred and thirty ⁴² years ended, all the array of Yahweh left the land of Egypt. 'The night, when Yahweh kept vigil to bring them out of the land of Egypt, must be kept as a vigil in honor of Yahweh for all their generations.

Ordinances for the Passover

⁴³ Yahweh said to Moses and Aaron, "This is what is ordained for the Passover: ⁴⁴ No alien may take part in it, 'but any slave bought for money may take part

45 when you have had him circumcised. ·No stranger and no hired servant may take 46 part in it. ·It is to be eaten in one house alone, out of which not a single morsel 47 of the flesh is to be taken; nor must you break any bone of it. ·The whole com-48 munity of Israel must keep the Passover. ·Should a stranger be staying with you and wish to celebrate the Passover in honor of Yahweh, all the males of his household must be circumcised: he may then be admitted to the celebration, for he becomes as it were a native-born. But no uncircumcised person may take part.
 49 The same law will run for the native and for the stranger resident among you.” 50 The sons of Israel all obeyed. They carried out the orders Yahweh had given 51 to Moses and Aaron. ·And that same day Yahweh brought the sons of Israel in their armies out of Egypt.

The first-born

1 13 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, “Consecrate all the first-born to me, 2 the first issue of every womb, among the sons of Israel. Whether man or beast, this is mine.”

The feast of Unleavened Bread

3 Moses said to the people, “Keep this day in remembrance, the day you came out of Egypt, from the house of slavery, for it was by sheer power that Yahweh 4 brought you out of it; no leavened bread must be eaten. ·On this day, in the 5 month of Abib, you are leaving Egypt. ·And so, in this same month, when Yahweh brings you to the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Hivites, the Jebusites, the land he swore to your fathers he would give you, a land 6 where milk and honey flow, you are to hold this service. ·For seven days you will eat unleavened bread, and on the seventh day there is to be a feast in honor 7 of Yahweh. ·During these seven days unleavened bread is to be eaten; no leavened bread must be seen among you, no leaven among you in all your 8 territory. ·And on that day you will explain to your son, ‘This is because of 9 what Yahweh did for me when I came out of Egypt.’ ·The rite will serve as a sign on your hand would serve, or a memento on your forehead, and in that way the law of Yahweh will be ever on your lips, for Yahweh brought you out 10 of Egypt with a mighty hand. ·You will observe this ordinance each year at its appointed time.

The first-born

11 “When Yahweh brings you to the land of the Canaanites—as he swore to 12 you and your fathers he would do—and he gives it to you, ·you are to make over to Yahweh all that first issues from the womb, and every first-born cast by your 13 animals: these males belong to Yahweh. ·But every first-born donkey you will redeem with an animal from your flocks. If you do not redeem it, you must 14 break its neck. Of your sons, every first-born of men must be redeemed. ·And when your son asks you in days to come, ‘What does this mean?’ you will tell him, ‘By sheer power Yahweh brought us out of Egypt, out of the house of 15 slavery. ·When Pharaoh stubbornly refused to let us go, Yahweh killed all the first-born in the land of Egypt, of man and of beast alike. For this I sacrifice to Yahweh every male that first issues from the womb, and redeem every first-born 16 of my sons.’ ·The rite will serve as a sign on your hand would serve, or a circlet on your forehead, for Yahweh brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand.”

D. THE CROSSING OF THE SEA OF REEDS

The departure of the Israelites

- 17 When Pharaoh had let the people go, God did not let them take the road to the land of the Philistines, although that was the nearest way. God thought that the prospect of fighting would make the people lose heart and turn back to Egypt. 18 Instead, God led the people by the roundabout way of the wilderness to the Sea of Reeds. The sons of Israel went out from Egypt fully armed. 19 Moses took with him the bones of Joseph who had put the sons of Israel on solemn oath. "It is sure that God will visit you," he had said, "and when that day comes you must take my bones from here with you." 20 From Succoth they moved on, and encamped at Etham, on the edge of the wilderness. 21 Yahweh went before them, by day in the form of a pillar of cloud to show them the way, and by night in the form of a pillar of fire to give them light: 22 thus they could continue their march by day and by night. The pillar of cloud never failed to go before the people during the day, nor the pillar of fire during the night.

From Etham to the Sea of Reeds

- 1 2 14 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Tell the sons of Israel to turn back and pitch camp in front of Pi-hahiroth, between Migdol and the sea, facing Baal-zephon. You are to pitch your camp opposite this place, beside the sea. 3 Pharaoh will think, 'Look how these sons of Israel wander to and fro in the countryside; the wilderness has closed in on them.' 4 Then I shall make Pharaoh's heart stubborn and he will set out in pursuit of them. But I shall win glory for myself at the expense of Pharaoh and all his army, and the Egyptians will learn that I am Yahweh." And the Israelites did this.

The Egyptians pursue the Israelites

- 5 When Pharaoh, king of Egypt, was told that the people had made their escape, he and his courtiers changed their minds about the people. "What have we done," they said, "allowing Israel to leave our service?" 6 So Pharaoh had his chariot harnessed and gathered his troops about him, 7 taking six hundred of the best chariots and all the other chariots in Egypt, each manned by a picked team. 8 Yahweh made Pharaoh, king of Egypt, stubborn, and he gave chase to the sons of Israel as they made their triumphant escape. 9 So the Egyptians gave chase and came up with them where they lay encamped beside the sea—all the horses, the chariots of Pharaoh, his horsemen, his army—near Pi-hahiroth, 10 facing Baal-zephon. And as Pharaoh approached, the sons of Israel looked around—and there were the Egyptians in pursuit of them! The sons of Israel were terrified and cried out to Yahweh. 11 To Moses they said, "Were there no graves in Egypt that you must lead us out to die in the wilderness? What good have you done us, bringing us out of Egypt? 12 We spoke of this in Egypt, did we not? Leave us alone, we said, we would rather work for the Egyptians! Better to 13 work for the Egyptians than die in the wilderness!" 14 Moses answered the people, "Have no fear! Stand firm, and you will see what Yahweh will do to save you today: the Egyptians you see today, you will never see again. 15 Yahweh will do the fighting for you: you have only to keep still."

The crossing

- 15 Yahweh said to Moses, "Why do you cry to me so? Tell the sons of Israel to march on. 16 For yourself, raise your staff and stretch out your hand over the sea and part it for the sons of Israel to walk through the sea on dry ground. I for my part will make the heart of the Egyptians so stubborn that they will follow them. So shall I win myself glory at the expense of Pharaoh, of all his army, his chariots, his horsemen. And when I have won glory for myself, at the expense of Pharaoh and his chariots and his army, the Egyptians will learn that I am Yahweh.”

Then the angel of God, who marched at the front of the army of Israel, changed station and moved to their rear. The pillar of cloud changed station from the front to the rear of them, and remained there. It came between the camp of the Egyptians and the camp of Israel. The cloud was dark, and the night passed without the armies drawing any closer the whole night long. Moses stretched out his hand over the sea. Yahweh drove back the sea with a strong easterly wind all night, and he made dry land of the sea. The waters parted and the sons of Israel went on dry ground right into the sea, walls of water to right and to left of them. The Egyptians gave chase: after them they went, right into the sea, all Pharaoh's horses, his chariots, and his horsemen. In the morning watch, Yahweh looked down on the army of the Egyptians from the pillar of fire and of cloud, and threw the army into confusion. He so clogged their chariot wheels that they could scarcely make headway. “Let us flee from the Israelites,” the Egyptians cried. “Yahweh is fighting for them against the Egyptians!” “Stretch out your hand over the sea,” Yahweh said to Moses, “that the waters may flow back on the Egyptians and their chariots and their horsemen.” Moses stretched out his hand over the sea and, as day broke, the sea returned to its bed. The fleeing Egyptians marched right into it, and Yahweh overthrew the Egyptians in the very middle of the sea. The returning waters overwhelmed the chariots and the horsemen of Pharaoh's whole army, which had followed the Israelites into the sea; not a single one of them was left. But the sons of Israel had marched through the sea on dry ground, walls of water to right and to left of them. That day, Yahweh rescued Israel from the Egyptians, and Israel saw the Egyptians lying dead on the shore. Israel witnessed the great act that Yahweh had performed against the Egyptians, and the people venerated Yahweh; they put their faith in Yahweh and in Moses, his servant.

Song of victory

1 15 It was then that Moses and the sons of Israel sang this song in honor of Yahweh:

“Yahweh I sing: he has covered himself in glory, horse and rider he has thrown into the sea.

2 Yah is my strength, my song, he is my salvation.
This is my God, I praise him;
the God of my father, I extol him.

3 Yahweh is a warrior; Yahweh is his name.

4 The chariots and the army of Pharaoh he has hurled into the sea;
the pick of his horsemen lie drowned in the Sea of Reeds.
5 The depths have closed over them; they have sunk to the bottom like a stone.

6 Your right hand, Yahweh, shows majestic in power, your right hand, Yahweh, shatters the enemy.

7 So great your splendor, you crush your foes; you unleash your fury, and it devours them like stubble.

8 A blast from your nostrils and the waters piled high;
the waves stood upright like a dike;
in the heart of the sea the deeps came together.

9 ‘I will give chase and overtake,’ the enemy said.
‘I shall share out the spoil, my soul will feast on it;
I shall draw my sword, my hand will destroy them.’

10 One breath of yours you blew, and the sea closed over them;

they sank like lead in the terrible waters.
 11 Who among the gods is your like, Yahweh?
 Who is your like, majestic in holiness, terrible in deeds of prowess, worker of wonders?
 12 You stretched your right hand out, the earth swallowed them!
 13 By your grace you led the people you redeemed, by your strength you guided them to your holy house.
 14 Hearing of this, the peoples tremble; pangs seize on the inhabitants of Philistia.
 15 Edom's chieftains are now dismayed, the princes of Moab fall to trembling, Canaan's inhabitants are all unmanned.
 16 On them fall terror and dread; through the power of your arm they are still as stone as your people pass, Yahweh, as the people pass whom you purchased.
 17 You will bring them and plant them on the mountain that is your own, the place you have made your dwelling, Yahweh, the sanctuary, Yahweh, prepared by your own hands.
 18 Yahweh will be king for ever and ever."

19 Pharaoh's cavalry, both his chariots and horsemen, had indeed entered the sea, but Yahweh had made the waters of the sea flow back on them, yet the sons of Israel had marched on dry ground right through the sea.^a 20 Miriam, the prophetess, Aaron's sister, took up a timbrel, and all the women 21 followed her with timbrels, dancing. "And Miriam led them in the refrain:

"Sing of Yahweh: he has covered himself in glory, horse and rider he has thrown into the sea."

II. ISRAEL IN THE DESERT

Marah^b

22 Moses made Israel move from their camp at the Sea of Reeds, and they made for the wilderness of Shur where they traveled for three days without finding 23 water. "They reached Marah but the water there was so bitter they could not 24 drink it; this is why the place was named Marah. "The people grumbled at 25 Moses. "What are we to drink?" they said. "So Moses appealed to Yahweh, and Yahweh pointed out some wood to him; this Moses threw into the water, and the water was sweetened.

There it was he charged them with statute and with ordinance, there that he put them to the test.

26 Then he said, "If you listen carefully to the voice of Yahweh your God and do what is right in his eyes, if you pay attention to his commandments and keep his statutes, I shall inflict on you none of the evils that I inflicted on the Egyptians, for it is I, Yahweh, who give you healing."

27 So they came to Elim where twelve water springs were, and seventy palm trees; and there they pitched their camp beside the water.

The manna and the quails

1 16 From Elim they set out again, and the whole community of the sons of Israel reached the wilderness of Sin—between Elim and Sinai—on the 2 fifteenth day of the second month after they had left Egypt. "And the whole community of the sons of Israel began to complain against Moses and Aaron in 3 the wilderness and said to them, "Why did we not die at Yahweh's hand in the land of Egypt, when we were able to sit down to pans of meat and could eat bread to our heart's content! As it is, you have brought us to this wilderness to starve this whole company to death!"

4 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Now I will rain down bread for you from the heavens. Each day the people are to go out and gather the day's portion; I propose to test them in this way to see whether they will follow my law or not. On the sixth day, when they prepare what they have brought in, this will be twice as much as the daily gathering."

6 Moses and Aaron said to the whole community of the sons of Israel, "In the evening you shall learn that it was Yahweh who brought you out of the land of Egypt, and in the morning you shall see the glory of Yahweh, for he has heard your complaints against him—it is not against us you complain, for what are we?" Moses said, "In the evening Yahweh will give you meat to eat, in the morning bread to your heart's content, for Yahweh has heard the complaints you made against him; your complaining is not against us—for what are we—but against Yahweh."

9 Moses said to Aaron, "To the whole community of the sons of Israel say this, 10 'Present yourselves before Yahweh, for he has heard your complaints.'" As Aaron was speaking to the whole community of the sons of Israel, they turned toward the wilderness, and there was the glory of Yahweh appearing in the 11 form of a cloud. Then Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "I have heard the 12 complaints of the sons of Israel. Say this to them, 'Between the two evenings you shall eat meat, and in the morning you shall have bread to your heart's content. 13 Then you will learn that I, Yahweh, am your God.'" And so it came about: quails flew up in the evening, and they covered the camp; in the morning there 14 was a coating of dew all around the camp. When the coating of dew lifted, there on the surface of the desert was a thing delicate, powdery, as fine as hoarfrost 15 on the ground. When they saw this, the sons of Israel said to one another, "What is that?" not knowing what it was. "That," said Moses to them, "is the 16 bread Yahweh gives you to eat. This is Yahweh's command: Everyone must gather enough of it for his needs, one omer a head, according to the number of persons in your families. Each of you will gather for those who share his tent."

17 The sons of Israel did this. They gathered it, some more, some less. When 18 they measured in an omer what they had gathered, the man who had gathered more had not too much, the man who had gathered less had not too little. Each found he had gathered what he needed.

19 Moses said to them, "No one must keep any of it for tomorrow." But some 20 would not listen to Moses and kept part of it for the following day, and it bred maggots and smelled foul; and Moses was angry with them. Morning by morning they gathered it, each according to his needs. And when the sun grew hot, it 21 dissolved.

22 Now on the sixth day they gathered twice the amount of food: two omers a 23 head. All the leaders of the community came to tell Moses, and he said to them, "This is Yahweh's command: Tomorrow is a day of complete rest, a sabbath sacred to Yahweh. Bake what you want to bake, boil what you want to boil; 24 put aside all that is left for tomorrow." So, as Moses ordered, they put it aside for the following day, and its smell was not foul nor were there maggots in it. 25 "Eat it today," Moses said, "for today is a sabbath in honor of Yahweh; you 26 will find none in the field today. For six days you are to gather it, but on the 27 seventh day—the sabbath—there will be none." On the seventh day some of 28 the people went from the camp to gather it, but they found none. Then Yahweh said to Moses, "How much longer will you refuse to keep my commandments 29 and my laws? Listen! Yahweh has laid down the sabbath for you; for this he gives you two days' food on the sixth day; each of you is to stay where he is; on the seventh day no one is to leave his home." So on the seventh day the people abstained from all work.

The House of Israel named it "manna." It was like coriander seed; it was white and its taste was like that of wafers made with honey.

Moses said, "This is Yahweh's command: Fill an omer with it, and let it be kept for your descendants, to let them see the food that I fed you with in the wilderness when I brought you out of the land of Egypt." Moses said to Aaron, "Take a jar and put in it a full omer of manna and place it before Yahweh, to be kept for your descendants." Accordingly, Aaron put a full omer of manna in the jar, as Yahweh had ordered Moses, and placed the manna before the Testimony,^a to be kept there.

The sons of Israel ate manna for forty years, up to the time they reached inhabited country: they ate manna up to the time they reached the frontier of the land of Canaan. An omer is one tenth of an ephah.

The water from the rock

17 The whole community of the sons of Israel moved from their camp in the desert of Sin at Yahweh's command, to travel the further stages; and they pitched camp at Rephidim^a where there was no water for the people to drink. So they grumbled against Moses. "Give us water to drink," they said. Moses answered them. "Why do you grumble against me? Why do you put Yahweh to the test?" But tormented by thirst, the people complained against Moses. "Why did you bring us out of Egypt?" they said. "Was it so that I should die of thirst, my children too, and my cattle?" Moses appealed to Yahweh. "How am I to deal with this people?" he said. "A little more and they will stone me!" Yahweh said to Moses, "Take with you some of the elders of Israel and move on to the forefront of the people; take in your hand the staff with which you struck the river, and go. I shall be standing before you there on the rock, at Horeb. You must strike the rock, and water will flow from it for the people to drink." This is what Moses did, in the sight of the elders of Israel. The place was named Massah and Meribah^b because of the grumbling of the sons of Israel and because they put Yahweh to the test by saying, "Is Yahweh with us, or not?"

A battle against the Amalekites

8 The Amalekites^c came and attacked Israel at Rephidim. Moses said to Joshua, "Pick out men for yourself, and tomorrow morning march out to engage Amalek. I, meanwhile, will stand on the hilltop, the staff of God in my hand." Joshua did as Moses told him and marched out to engage Amalek, while Moses and Aaron and Hur went up to the top of the hill. As long as Moses kept his arms raised, Israel had the advantage; when he let his arms fall, the advantage went to Amalek. But Moses' arms grew heavy, so they took a stone and put it under him and on this he sat, Aaron and Hur supporting his arms, one on one side, one on the other; and his arms remained firm till sunset. With the edge of the sword Joshua cut down Amalek and his people. Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Write this action down in a book to keep the memory of it, and say in Joshua's hearing that I shall wipe out the memory of Amalek from under heaven." Moses then built an altar and named it Yahweh-nissi because he said, "Lay hold of the banner of Yahweh! Yahweh is at war with Amalek from age to age!"

The meeting of Jethro and Moses

18 Jethro priest of Midian, father-in-law of Moses, heard of all that God had done for Moses and for Israel his people, and how Yahweh had brought Israel out of Egypt. So Jethro, father-in-law of Moses, brought Moses' wife Zipporah—after she had been dismissed—with her two sons. One of these was named Gershom because, he had said, "I am a stranger in a foreign land"; the name of the other was Eliezer^a because "The God of my father is my help and has delivered me from the sword of Pharaoh." So Jethro, father-in-law of Moses, came with his son-in-law's wife and children to the wilderness where his camp was, at the mountain of God. "Here is your father-in-law, Jethro, come to visit you," Moses was told, "with your wife and her two sons." So Moses went out to meet his father-in-law and bowing low before him he kissed him; and when each had inquired of the other's health, they went into the tent. Then Moses told his father-in-law all that Yahweh had done to Pharaoh and the Egyptians for the sake of Israel, and all the hardships that had overtaken them on the way, and how Yahweh had rescued them. And Jethro rejoiced at all Yahweh's goodness to Israel in rescuing them from the Egyptians' hands. "Blessed be Yahweh," said Jethro then, "who has rescued you from the Egyptians and from Pharaoh, and has rescued the people from the grasp of the Egyptians. Now I know that Yahweh is greater than all the gods . . ."

Then Jethro, father-in-law of Moses, offered a holocaust and sacrifices to God; and Aaron came with all the elders of Israel to share the meal with the father-in-law of Moses in the presence of God.

The appointment of judges

On the following day, Moses took his seat to administer justice for the people, and from morning till evening they stood around him. Observing what labors he took on himself for the people's sake, the father-in-law of Moses said to him, "Why do you take all this on yourself for the people? Why sit here alone with the people standing around you from morning till evening?" Moses answered his father-in-law, "Because the people come to me to bring their inquiries to God. When they have some dispute they come to me, and I settle the differences between the one and the other and instruct them in God's statutes and his decisions." "It is not right," the father-in-law of Moses said to him, "to take this on yourself. You will tire yourself out, you and the people with you. The work is too heavy for you. You cannot do it alone. Take my advice, and God will be with you. You ought to represent the people before God and bring their disputes to him. Teach them the statutes and the decisions; show them the way they must follow and what their course must be. But choose from the people at large some capable and God-fearing men, trustworthy and incorruptible, and appoint them as leaders of the people: leaders of thousands, hundreds, fifties, tens. Let these be at the service of the people to administer justice at all times. They can refer all difficult questions to you, but all smaller questions they will decide for themselves, so making things easier for you and sharing the burden with you. If you do this—and may God so command you—you will be able to stand the strain, and all these people will go home satisfied."

Moses took his father-in-law's advice and did as he said. Moses chose capable men from the ranks of the Israelites and set them over the people: leaders of thousands, hundreds, fifties, tens. They were at the service of the people to administer justice at all times. They referred hard questions to Moses, and decided smaller questions by themselves.

Then Moses allowed his father-in-law to go, and he made his way back to his own country.

III. THE COVENANT AT SINAI

A. THE COVENANT AND THE DECALOGUE

The Israelites come to Sinai

1 19 Three months after they came out of the land of Egypt . . . on that day 2 the sons of Israel came to the wilderness of Sinai.^a From Rephidim they set out again; and when they reached the wilderness of Sinai, there in the wilderness they pitched their camp; there facing the mountain Israel pitched camp.

Yahweh promises a covenant

3 Moses then went up to God, and Yahweh called to him from the mountain, 4 saying, "Say this to the House of Jacob, declare this to the sons of Israel, 'You yourselves have seen what I did with the Egyptians, how I carried you on eagles' 5 wings and brought you to myself. From this you know that now, if you obey my voice and hold fast to my covenant, you of all the nations shall be my very own, 6 for all the earth is mine. I will count you a kingdom of priests, a consecrated 7 nation.' Those are the words you are to speak to the sons of Israel." So Moses went and summoned the elders of the people, putting before them all that Yahweh 8 had bidden him. Then all the people answered as one, "All that Yahweh has said, we will do." And Moses took the people's reply back to Yahweh.

Preparing for the Covenant

9 Yahweh said to Moses, "I am coming to you in a dense cloud so that the people may hear when I speak to you and may trust you always." And Moses took the people's reply back to Yahweh.
 10 Yahweh said to Moses, "Go to the people and tell them to prepare themselves 11 today and tomorrow. Let them wash their clothing and hold themselves in readiness for the third day, because on the third day Yahweh will descend on 12 the mountain of Sinai in the sight of all the people. You will mark out the limits of the mountain and say, 'Take care not to go up the mountain or to touch the foot of it. Whoever touches the mountain will be put to death.
 13 No one must lay a hand on him: he must be stoned or shot down by arrow, whether man or beast; he must not remain alive.' When the ram's horn sounds a long blast, they are to go up the mountain." 14 So Moses came down from the mountain to the people and bade them prepare 15 themselves; and they washed their clothing. Then he said to the people, "Be ready for the third day; do not go near any woman."

The theophany on Sinai

16 Now at daybreak on the third day there were peals of thunder on the mountain and lightning flashes, a dense cloud, and a loud trumpet blast, and 17 inside the camp all the people trembled. Then Moses led the people out of 18 the camp to meet God; and they stood at the bottom of the mountain. The mountain of Sinai was entirely wrapped in smoke, because Yahweh had descended on it in the form of fire. Like smoke from a furnace the smoke went up, and 19 the whole mountain shook violently. Louder and louder grew the sound of the trumpet. Moses spoke, and God answered him with peals of thunder.
 20 Yahweh came down on the mountain of Sinai, on the mountain top, and Yahweh 21 called Moses to the top of the mountain; and Moses went up. Yahweh said to Moses, "Go down and warn the people not to pass beyond their bounds to 22 come and look on Yahweh, or many of them will lose their lives. The priests, the men who do approach Yahweh,^b even these must purify themselves, or 23 Yahweh will break out against them." Moses answered Yahweh, "The people cannot come up the mountain of Sinai because you warned us yourself when

- 24 you said, 'Mark out the limits of the mountain and declare it sacred.'" "Go down," said Yahweh to him, "and come up again bringing Aaron with you. But do not allow the priests or the people to pass beyond their bounds to come up to Yahweh, or he will break out against them." 25 "So Moses went down to the people and spoke to them . . .

The Decalogue^a

- ¹/₂ 20 Then God spoke all these words. He said, "I am Yahweh your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery.
³ "You shall have no gods except me.
⁴ "You shall not make yourself a carved image or any likeness of anything in heaven or on earth beneath or in the waters under the earth; you shall not bow down to them or serve them. For I, Yahweh your God, am a jealous God and I punish the father's fault in the sons, the grandsons, and the great-grandsons of those who hate me; but I show kindness to thousands of those who love me and keep my commandments.
⁸/₉ "Remember the sabbath day and keep it holy. For six days you shall labor and do all your work, but the seventh day is a sabbath for Yahweh your God. You shall do no work that day, neither you nor your son nor your daughter nor your servants, men or women, nor your animals nor the stranger who lives with you. For in six days Yahweh made the heavens and the earth and the sea and all that these hold, but on the seventh day he rested; that is why Yahweh has blessed the sabbath day and made it sacred.
¹² "Honor your father and your mother so that you may have a long life in the land that Yahweh your God has given to you.
¹³ "You shall not kill.
¹⁴ "You shall not commit adultery.
¹⁵ "You shall not steal.
¹⁶ "You shall not bear false witness against your neighbor.
¹⁸ "All the people shook with fear at the peals of thunder and the lightning flashes, the sound of the trumpet, and the smoking mountain; and they kept their distance. "Speak to us yourself," they said to Moses, "and we will listen; but do not let God speak to us, or we shall die." Moses answered the people, "Do not be afraid; God has come to test you, so that your fear of him, being always in your mind, may keep you from sinning." So the people kept their distance while Moses approached the dark cloud where God was.

B. THE BOOK OF THE COVENANT

Law concerning the altar

- 22 Yahweh said to Moses, "Tell the sons of Israel this, 'You have seen for yourselves that I have spoken to you from heaven. You shall not make gods of silver or gods of gold to stand beside me; you shall not make things like this for yourselves.

19 a. According to tradition, Mount Sinai was at Jebel Musa, in the southern region of the Sinai peninsula. b. But see ch. 29, which treats the investiture of priests as a later occurrence. 20 a. This is the priestly version of the Ten Commandments; another version, the Deuteronomic, is found in Dt. 5, and it is the second which has been adopted by the Church. b. Either in a false oath or irreverently. c. This section probably should be read after 19:19; the Decalogue itself is not linked to the narrative framework.

24 'You are to make me an altar of earth, and sacrifice on this the holocausts and communion sacrifices from your flocks or herds. In every place in which 25 I have my name remembered I shall come to you and bless you. 'If you make me an altar of stone, do not build it of dressed stones; for if you use a tool on it, 26 you profane it. 'You shall not go up to my altar by steps for fear you expose your nakedness.'

Laws concerning slaves

1 21 "This is the ruling you are to lay before them: 'When you buy a Hebrew 2 slave, his service shall be for six years. In the seventh year he may leave; 3 he shall be free, with no compensation to pay. 'If he came single, he shall leave 4 single; if he came married, his wife shall leave with him. 'If his master gives him a wife and she bears him sons and daughters, wife and children shall belong 5 to her master, and the man must leave alone. 'But if the slave declares, "I love 6 my master and my wife and children; I renounce my freedom," 'then his master shall take him to God, leading him to the door or the doorpost. His master shall 7 pierce his ear with an awl, and he shall be in his service for all time. 'If a man sells his daughter as a slave, she shall not regain her liberty like male slaves.
8 If she does not please her master who intended her for himself, he must let her be bought back: he has not the right to sell her to foreigners, thus treating her 9 unfairly. 'If he intends her for his son, he shall deal with her according to the 10 ruling for daughters. 'If he takes another wife, he must not reduce the food 11 of the first or her clothing or her conjugal rights. 'Should he cheat her of these three things she may leave, freely, without having to pay any money.

Homicide

12 'Anyone who strikes a man and so causes his death, must die. 'If he has not lain 13 in wait for him but God has delivered him into his hands,^a then I will appoint you 14 a place where he may seek refuge. 'But should a man dare to kill his fellow by treacherous intent, you must take him even from my altar to be put to death.
15 'Anyone who strikes his father or mother must die. 'Anyone who abducts a 16 man—whether he has sold him or is found in possession of him—must die.
17 Anyone who curses father or mother must die.

Blows and wounds

18 'If men quarrel and one strikes the other a blow with stone or fist so that 19 the man, though he does not die, must keep his bed, 'the one who struck the blow shall not be liable provided the other gets up and can go about, even with a stick. He must compensate him, however, for his enforced inactivity, and care for him until he is completely cured.
20 'If a man beats his slave, male or female, and the slave dies at his hands, 21 he must pay the penalty. 'But should the slave survive for one or two days, he shall pay no penalty because the slave is his by right of purchase.
22 'If, when men come to blows, they hurt a woman who is pregnant and she suffers a miscarriage, though she does not die of it, the man responsible must pay the compensation demanded of him by the woman's master; he shall hand 23 it over, after arbitration. 'But should she die, you shall give life for life, 'eye 24 for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot, 'burn for burn, wound 25 for wound, stroke for stroke.
26 'When a man strikes at the eye of his slave, male or female, and destroys 27 the use of it, he must give him his freedom to compensate for the eye. 'If he knocks out the tooth of his slave, male or female, he must give him his freedom to compensate for the tooth.
28 'When an ox gores a man or woman to death, the ox must be stoned. Its flesh 29 shall not be eaten, and the owner of the ox shall not be liable. 'But if the ox has been in the habit of goring before, and if its owner was warned but has not kept it under control, then should this ox kill a man or woman, the ox must 30 be stoned and its owner put to death. If a ransom is imposed on him, he must 31 pay whatever is imposed, to redeem his life. If the ox gores a boy or a girl, he 32 must be treated in accordance with this same rule. If the ox gores a slave, male or female, the owner must pay over to their master a sum of money—thirty shekels—and the ox must be stoned.

33 When a man leaves a pit uncovered, or when he digs one but does not 34 cover it, should an ox, or donkey, fall into it, then the owner of the pit shall make up for the loss: he must pay its owner money, and the dead animal shall 35 be his own. If one man's ox harms another's so that it dies, the owners must sell the live ox and share the price of it; they shall also share the dead animal.
 36 But if it is common knowledge that the ox has been in the habit of goring before, and its owner has not kept it under control, he must repay ox for ox; the dead animal shall be his own.

Theft of animals

37 If a man steals an ox or a sheep and then slaughters or sells it, he must pay five oxen for the ox, four sheep for the sheep.

22 If a thief is caught breaking in and is struck a mortal blow, there is to 2 be no blood vengeance for him, but there shall be blood vengeance for 3 him if it was after dawn. Full restitution must be made; if he has not the means, 4 he must be sold to pay for what he has stolen. If the stolen animal is found alive in his possession, ox or donkey or sheep, he must pay double.

Offenses demanding compensation

4 When a man puts his animals out to graze in a field or vineyard and lets 5 his beasts graze in another's field, he must make restitution for the part of the field that has been grazed in proportion to its yield. But if he has let the whole field be grazed, he must make restitution in proportion to the best crop recorded in the injured party's field or vineyard.

5 When a fire spreads, setting light to thorn bushes and destroying stacked 6 or standing corn or the field itself, the man responsible for the fire must make full restitution.

6 When a man has entrusted money or goods to another's keeping and these are stolen from his house, the thief, if he can be caught, must repay double.
 7 Should the thief not be caught, the owner of the house must swear before God 8 that he has not laid hands on the other man's property.

8 Whenever there is breach of trust in the matter of ox, donkey, sheep, clothing, or any lost property for which it is claimed "Yes, this is it," the dispute shall be brought before God. The person whom God pronounces guilty^a must pay double to the other.

9 When a man has entrusted to another's keeping a donkey, ox, sheep, or any 10 beast whatever, and this dies or is injured or carried off, without a witness, 11 an oath by Yahweh shall decide between the two parties whether one man has 12 laid hands on the other's property or not. The owner shall take what remains, 13 the other shall not have to make good the loss. But if the animal has been 14 stolen from him, he must make restitution to the owner. If it has been savaged 15 by wild beasts, he must bring the savaged remains of the animal as evidence, and he shall not be obliged to give compensation.

13 When a man borrows an animal from another, and it is injured or dies in 14 the owner's absence, the borrower must make full restitution. But if the owner 15 has been present, the borrower will not have to make good the loss. If the owner has hired it out, he shall settle for the price of its hire.

21 a. Accidents are attributed to God.

22 a. Through trial by ordeal, or oracle, or oath.

Violation of a virgin

15 'If a man seduces a virgin who is not betrothed and sleeps with her, he must 16 pay her price^b and make her his wife. 'If her father absolutely refuses to let 17 him have her, the seducer must pay a sum of money equal to the price fixed for a virgin.

Moral and religious laws

17 'You shall not allow a sorceress to live.

18 'Anyone who has intercourse with an animal must die.

19 'Anyone who sacrifices to other gods shall come under the ban.

20 'You must not molest the stranger or oppress him, for you lived as strangers 21 in the land of Egypt. 'You must not be harsh with the widow, or with the orphan; 22 if you are harsh with them, they will surely cry out to me, and be sure I shall hear 23 their cry; 'my anger will flare and I shall kill you with the sword, your own wives 24 will be widows, your own children orphans.

24 'If you lend money to any of my people, to any poor man among you, 25 you must not play the usurer with him: you must not demand interest from him.

25 'If you take another's cloak as a pledge, you must give it back to him before 26 sunset. 'It is all the covering he has; it is the cloak he wraps his body 26 in; what else would he sleep in? If he cries to me, I will listen, for I am full of 27 pity.

27 'You shall not revile God nor curse a ruler of your people.

First fruits and first-born

28 'Do not be slow to make offering from the abundance of your threshing-29 floor and your winepress. You must give me the first-born of your sons; 'you 30 must do the same with your flocks and herds. The first-born must remain with its mother for seven days; on the eighth day you must give it to me.

30 'You are to be men consecrated to me. You must not eat the flesh of an 31 animal that has been savaged by wild beasts; you must throw it to the dogs.

Justice. Duties toward enemies

1 23 'You must not make false assertions. You must not support a guilty man 2 by giving malicious evidence. 'You must not take the side of the greater number in the cause of wrongdoing nor side with the majority and give 3 evidence in a lawsuit in defiance of justice; 'nor in a lawsuit must you show partiality to the poor.

4 'If you come on your enemy's ox or donkey going astray, you must lead it 5 back to him. 'If you see the donkey of a man who hates you fallen under its load, instead of keeping out of his way, go to him to help him.

6 'You must not cheat any poor man of yours of his rights at law. 'Keep out of trumped-up cases. See that the man who is innocent and just is not done to 8 death, and do not acquit the guilty. 'You must not accept a bribe, for a bribe blinds clear-sighted men and is the ruin of the just man's cause.

9 'You must not oppress the stranger; you know how a stranger feels, for you lived as strangers in the land of Egypt.

The sabbatical year and the sabbath

10 'For six years you may sow your land and gather its produce, 'but in the 11 seventh year you must let it lie fallow and forgo all produce from it. Those of your people who are poor may take food from it, and let the wild animals feed on what they leave. You shall do the same with your vineyard and your olive grove.

12 'For six days you shall do your work, but stop on the seventh day, so that your ox and your donkey may rest and the son of your slave girl have a breathing space, and the stranger too.

- 13 'Take notice of all I have told you and do not repeat the name of other gods: let it not be heard from your lips.

The great feasts

- 14 15 'Three times a year you are to celebrate a feast in my honor. You must celebrate the feast of Unleavened Bread: you must eat unleavened bread, as I have commanded you, at the appointed time in the month of Abib, for in that month you came out of Egypt. And no one must come before me empty-handed.
- 16 The feast of Harvest, too, you must celebrate, the feast of the first fruits of the produce of your sown fields; the feast of Ingathering also, at the end of the year
- 17 when you gather in the fruit of your labors from the fields. Three times a year all your menfolk must present themselves before the Lord Yahweh.
- 18 'You must not offer unleavened bread with the blood of the victim sacrificed to me, nor put by the fat of my festal victim for the following day.
- 19 'You must bring the best of the first fruits of your soil to the house of Yahweh your God.
- 'You must not boil a kid in its mother's milk.^a Preparatory promises and instructions for the entry into Canaan

- 20 'I myself will send an angel before you to guard you as you go and to bring
- 21 you to the place that I have prepared. Give him reverence and listen to all that he says. Offer him no defiance; he would not pardon such a fault,
- 22 for my name is in him. If you listen carefully to his voice and do all that I say,
- 23 I shall be enemy to your enemies, foe to your foes. My angel will go before you and lead you to where the Amorites are and the Hittites, the Perizzites,
- 24 the Canaanites, the Hivites, the Jebusites; I shall exterminate these. You must not bow down to their gods or worship them; you must not do as they do:
- 25 you must destroy their gods utterly and smash their standing stones.^b You are to worship Yahweh your God, and I shall bless your bread and water, and remove
- 26 sickness from among you. In your land no woman will miscarry, none be barren. I shall give you your full term of life.
- 27 'I shall spread panic ahead of you; I shall throw into confusion all the people you encounter; I shall make all your enemies turn and run from you.
- 28 I shall send hornets in front of you to drive Hivite and Canaanite and Hittite from
- 29 your presence. I shall not drive them out before you in a single year, or the land would become a desert where, to your cost, the wild beasts would multiply.
- 30 Little by little I will drive them out before you until your numbers grow and
- 31 you come into possession of the land. For your frontiers I shall fix the Sea of Reeds and the Philistine sea, the desert and the river^c; yes, I shall deliver the inhabitants of the country into your hands, and you will drive them out before
- 32 33 you. You must make no pact with them or with their gods. They must not live in your country or they will make you sin against me; you would come to worship their gods, and that would be a snare for you indeed!"

C. THE COVENANT RATIFIED

- 1 24 To Moses he had said, "Come up to Yahweh, yourself and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel and bow down in worship
- 2 at a distance. Moses alone must approach Yahweh; the others must not, nor must the people go up with him."
- 3 Moses went and told the people all the commands of Yahweh and all the ordinances. In answer, all the people said with one voice, "We will observe all

b. The "bride price," mohar, paid by a betrothed man to the family of his future wife. 23 a. A Canaanite custom. b. Stelae, stones or pillars with a phallic significance in the Canaanite cult. c. The Arabian desert and the river Euphrates. The boundaries mentioned are those of Solomon's kingdom, 1 K. 5:1.

4 the commands that Yahweh has decreed.” •Moses put all the commands of 5 Yahweh into writing, and early next morning he built an altar at the foot of 6 the mountain, with twelve standing stones for the twelve tribes of Israel. •Then 7 he directed certain young Israelites to offer holocausts and to immolate bullocks 8 to Yahweh as communion sacrifices. •Half of the blood Moses took up and 9 put into basins, the other half he cast on the altar. •And taking the Book of 10 the Covenant he read it to the listening people, and they said, “We will observe 11 all that Yahweh has decreed; we will obey.” •Then Moses took the blood and 12 cast it toward the people. “This,” he said, “is the blood of the Covenant that Yahweh 13 has made with you, containing all these rules.”

9 Moses went up with Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy elders of Israel.
 10 They saw the God of Israel beneath whose feet there was, it seemed, a sapphire 11 pavement pure as the heavens themselves. •He laid no hand on these notables 12 of the sons of Israel: they gazed on God. They ate and they drank.

Moses on the mountain

12 Yahweh said to Moses, “Come up to me on the mountain and stay there 13 while I give you the stone tablets—the law and the commandments—that 14 I have written for their instruction.” •Accordingly Moses rose, he and his servant 15 Joshua, and they went up the mountain of God. •To the elders he had said, 16 “Wait here for us until we come back to you. You have Aaron and Hur with 17 you; if anyone has a difference to settle, let him go to them.” •And Moses went 18 up the mountain.

16 The cloud covered the mountain, •and the glory of Yahweh settled on the 17 mountain of Sinai; for six days the cloud covered it, and on the seventh day 18 Yahweh called to Moses from inside the cloud. •To the eyes of the sons of 19 Israel the glory of Yahweh seemed like a devouring fire on the mountain top.
 20 Moses went right into the cloud. He went up the mountain, and stayed there for 21 forty days and forty nights.

IV. INSTRUCTIONS ON THE BUILDING OF THE SANCTUARY AND ON ITS MINISTERS^a

Contributions for the sanctuary

1 25 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, “Tell the sons of Israel to set aside 2 a contribution for me; you shall accept this contribution from every man 3 whose heart prompts him to give it. •You shall accept from them the following 4 contributions: gold, silver and bronze, •purple stuffs, of violet shade and red, 5 crimson stuffs, fine linen, goats’ hair; •rams’ skins dyed red, fine leather, acacia 6 wood; •oil for the lamps, spices for the chrism and for the fragrant incense; 7 onyx stones and gems to be set in ephod and pectoral. •Build me a sanctuary 8 so that I may dwell among them. •In making the tabernacle and its furnishings 9 you must follow exactly the pattern I shall show you.

The tabernacle and its furnishings. The ark

10 “You are to make me an ark of acacia wood, two and a half cubits long, one 11 and a half cubits wide, one and a half cubits high.^b •You are to plate it, inside and 12 out, with pure gold, and decorate it all around with a gold molding. •You will 13 cast four gold rings for the ark and fix them to its four supports: two rings on 14 one side and two rings on the other. •You will also make shafts of acacia wood 15 plated with gold •and pass the shafts through the rings on the sides of the ark, 16 to carry the ark by these. •The shafts must remain in the rings of the ark and 17 not be withdrawn. •Inside the ark you will place the Testimony that I shall 18 give you.

17 "Further, you are to make a throne of mercy, of pure gold, two and a half 18 cubits long, and one and a half cubits wide. For the two ends of this throne of mercy you are to make two golden cherubs^c; you are to make them of beaten 19 gold. Make the first cherub for one end and the second for the other, and fasten them to the two ends of the throne of mercy so that they make one piece 20 with it. The cherubs are to have their wings spread upward so that they overshadow the throne of mercy. They must face one another, their faces toward 21 the throne of mercy. You must place the throne of mercy on the top of the ark.
 22 Inside the ark you must place the Testimony that I shall give you. There I shall come to meet you; there, from above the throne of mercy, from between the two cherubs that are on the ark of the Testimony, I shall give you all my commands for the sons of Israel.

The table for the offertory bread

23 "You are to make a table of acacia wood, two cubits long, one cubit wide, 24 and one and a half cubits high. You are to plate it with pure gold, and decorate 25 it all around with a gold molding. You are to fit it with struts, one hand's 26 breadth wide, and decorate these with a golden molding. You are to make for it four gold rings and fix these at the four corners where the four legs are. The 28 rings must lie close to the struts to hold the shafts for carrying the table. You are to make the shafts of acacia wood and plate them with gold. The table is to be 29 carried by these. You are to make dishes, cups, jars and libation bowls for it; 30 you are to make these of pure gold. On the table, before me, you must place the bread of continual offering.

The lampstand

31 "You are to make a lampstand of pure gold; the lampstand must be of beaten gold, base and stem. Its cups—calyx and petals—must be of one piece 32 with it. Six branches must extend from the sides of it, three from one side, three 33 from the other. The first branch is to carry three cups shaped like almond blossoms, each with its calyx and petals; the second branch, too, is to carry three cups shaped like almond blossoms, each with its calyx and petals, and 34 similarly for all six branches extending from the lampstand. The lampstand itself is to carry four cups shaped like almond blossoms, each with its calyx 35 and petals, thus: one calyx under the first two branches extending from the lampstand, one under the next pair, one under the last pair: corresponding to 36 the six branches extending from the lampstand. The calyxes and the branches must be of one piece with the lampstand, and the whole made from a single 37 piece of pure gold, beaten out. Then you are to make lamps for it, seven of them, 38 and set them so that they throw their light toward the front of it. The snuffers 39 and trays must be of pure gold. You are to use a talent of pure gold for making 40 the lampstand and all its accessories. See that you make them according to the pattern shown you on the mountain.

The tabernacle. Fabrics and hangings

1 26 "The tabernacle itself you are to make with ten sheets of fine twined linen, 2 of purple stuffs, violet shade and red, and of crimson stuffs; you are to have these sheets finely brocaded with cherubs. The length of a single sheet is to be twenty-eight cubits, its width four cubits, all the sheets to be of the same size.
 3 Five of the sheets must be joined to each other, and the other five similarly.
 4 You must attach loops of violet stuff to the border of the last sheet in one set,

25 a. Ch. 25–31 define the system of worship which goes back to Moses and contain elements of great antiquity, but with these are mixed others which reflect the development of worship in the course of the history of Israel. The formula "Yahweh said to Moses" asserts the equal authority of all the religious institutions. b. A rectangular chest (3¾ ft. × 2¼ ft. × 2¼ ft). c. Half-human, half-animal figures, corresponding to the tutelary deities guarding Babylonian shrines.

5 and do the same for the border of the last sheet in the other set. You are to 6 put fifty loops on the first sheet and, matching them one by one, fifty loops on 7 the border of the last sheet in the second set. And you are to make fifty gold 8 clasps to draw the sheets together. In this way the tabernacle will be a unified 9 whole.

10 "You are to make sheets of goats' hair to form a tent over the tabernacle; 11 you will make eleven of these. The length of a single sheet is to be thirty cubits, 12 its width four cubits, the eleven sheets to be all of the same size. You must join 13 five of these sheets together into one set, the remaining six into another; the 14 sixth you will fold double over the front of the tent. You must attach fifty loops 15 to the border of the last sheet in one set, and do the same for the border 16 of the last sheet in the second set. You must make fifty bronze clasps and 17 put them into the loops, so as to draw the tent together and make it a unified 18 whole.

19 "As one sheet of the tent will be left over, half of this extra sheet is to hang 20 over the back of the tabernacle. The extra cubit on either side along the 21 length of the tent sheets is to hang over the sides of the tabernacle as a covering 22 for it.

23 "For the tent you will further make a covering of rams' skins dyed red, and 24 a covering of fine leather to spread over that.

The framework

25 "You are to make frames of acacia wood for the tabernacle, these to stand 26 upright. Each frame is to be ten cubits long and one and a half cubits wide.
 27 Each frame must be fitted with twin tenons; for all the frames of the tabernacle 28 you must do this. You are to make the frames for the tabernacle: twenty frames 29 for the southern side, facing the south country. You are to make forty silver 30 sockets for putting under the twenty frames thus: two sockets under the first 31 frame to receive its two tenons, and so on for the other frames. The other side 32 of the tabernacle, on the north, is to have twenty frames supported by forty 33 silver sockets, two sockets under each frame. For the back of the tabernacle, on 34 the west, you must make six frames. You are to make two frames for the corners 35 at the back of the tabernacle. These frames must be coupled at their lower 36 end and so to the top, up to the level of the first ring; this for the two frames 37 that are to form the two corners. Thus there will be eight frames with their 38 sixteen silver sockets: two sockets under the first frame and so on.

39 "You are to make crossbars of acacia wood: five to hold together the frames 40 for one side of the tabernacle, five to hold the frames for the other side of the 41 tabernacle, and five to hold the frames that form the west end of the tabernacle.
 42 The middle bar, fixed halfway up, is to run from one end to the other. The 43 frames are to be plated with gold, and with gold rings on them to take the cross-44 bars which you are to plate with gold. This is how you are to erect the tabernacle 45 according to the model shown to you on the mountain.

The veil

46 "You are to make a veil of purple stuffs, violet shade and red, of crimson 47 stuffs, and of fine twined linen; you are to have it finely embroidered with cherubs.
 48 You are to hang it on four posts of acacia wood plated with gold and furnished 49 with golden hooks and set in four silver sockets. You must hang the veil from 50 the clasps and there behind the veil you must place the ark of the Testimony, 51 and the veil will serve you to separate the Holy Place from the Holy of Holies.
 52 The throne of mercy you must place on top of the ark inside the Holy of Holies.
 53 The table you must set outside the veil, and the lampstand on the south side 54 of the tabernacle, opposite the table. You must put the table on the north side.
 55 For the entrance to the tent you are to make a screen of purple stuffs, violet shade 56 and red, and of crimson stuffs and fine twined linen, the work of a skilled 37 embroiderer. For this screen you are to make five posts of acacia wood plated with gold, with golden hooks; for these you are to cast five bronze sockets.

The altar of holocaust

1 27 "You are to make the altar out of acacia wood, a square five cubits long 2 and five cubits wide, its height to be three cubits. At its four corners you 3 are to put horns, the horns to be of one piece with it, plating it with bronze.
4 For the altar you are to make pans for the ashes from the fat, shovels, sprinkling 5 basins, hooks, fire pans; you must make all the vessels for the altar out of 6 bronze. You are also to make a grating for it of bronze network, and on the 7 four corners of this fix four bronze rings. This grating you must set under the 8 altar's ledge, below, so that it reaches halfway up the altar. And for the altar 9 you are to make shafts of acacia wood and plate them with bronze. These are 10 to be passed through the rings, so that they are on either side of the altar when 11 it is carried. You are to make the altar hollow, of boards; you will make it in 12 the way that was shown to you on the mountain.

The court

9 "You are to make the court of the tabernacle. Facing the south country, on the 10 southern side, the hangings of the court are to be of fine twined linen, one 11 hundred cubits long for one side. Their twenty bronze posts are to be set in 12 twenty bronze sockets and to have their hooks and rods of silver. So too for 13 the northern side there are to be hangings one hundred cubits long, and twenty 14 posts set in twenty bronze sockets, with their hooks and rods of silver. Across 15 the width of the court, on the western side, there are to be fifty cubits of 16 hangings, carried on ten posts set in ten sockets. The width of the court on the 17 eastern side facing the sunrise is to be fifty cubits. On one side of the gateway 18 there are to be fifteen cubits of hangings, carried on three posts set in three 19 sockets. On the other side of the gateway there are also to be fifteen cubits 20 of hangings, carried on three posts set in three sockets. The gateway to the 21 court is to consist of a screen twenty cubits wide made of purple stuffs, violet 22 shade and red, of crimson stuffs and fine twined linen, the work of a skilled 23 embroiderer, carried on four posts set in their four sockets. All the posts 24 enclosing the court are to be connected by silver rods; their hooks are to be of 25 silver, their sockets of bronze. The length of the court is to be one hundred 26 cubits, its width fifty cubits, its height five cubits. All the hangings are to be 27 made of fine twined linen, and their sockets of bronze. All the furnishings 28 for whatever use in the tabernacle, all the pegs of it and of the court, must 29 be of bronze.

The oil for the lamps

20 "You are to order the sons of Israel to bring you pure olive oil for the light, 21 and to keep a flame burning there perpetually. Aaron and his sons are to set this 22 flame in the Tent of Meeting, outside the veil that is before the Testimony.
23 It must burn there before Yahweh from evening to morning perpetually. This 24 is an irrevocable ordinance for their descendants, to be kept by the sons of Israel.

The priestly vestments

1 28 "From among the sons of Israel summon your brother Aaron and his sons 2 to be priests in my service: Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar, 3 sons of Aaron. For Aaron your brother you are to make sacred vestments 4 to give dignity and magnificence. You are to instruct all the ablest craftsmen, 5 whose ability I have given them, to make Aaron's vestments for his consecration 6 to my priesthood. These are the vestments they must make: pectoral, ephod, 7 robe, embroidered tunic, turban and girdle. They are to make sacred vestments 8 for your brother Aaron and his sons to be priests in my service. They must 9 use gold, purple stuffs, violet shade and red, crimson stuffs, and fine twined linen.

The ephod

6 "They are to make the ephod of gold, purple stuffs, violet shade and red, 7 crimson stuffs, and fine twined linen, the work of a skilled embroiderer. It must 8 have two shoulder straps fitted to it to join its two ends together. The woven band on it to hold it is to be of similar workmanship and form one piece with it: 9 this must be of gold, purple stuffs, violet shade and red, crimson stuffs, and fine 10 twined linen. You will then take two onyx stones and engrave them with the 11 names of the sons of Israel, six of their names on one stone, the remaining six on the other, in the order of their birth. With the art of a jeweler, of an 12 engraver of seals, you are to engrave the two stones with the names of the sons of Israel, and mount them in settings of gold mesh. You are to fasten the two stones commemorating the sons of Israel to the shoulder straps of the ephod.
 In this way Aaron will bear their names on his shoulders in the presence of 13 Yahweh, so as to commemorate them. You must also make golden rosettes, and 14 two chains of pure gold twisted like cord; you are to attach these cord-like chains to the rosettes.

The pectoral of judgment

15 "You are to make the pectoral of judgment, finely brocaded, of the same work-16 manship as the ephod. You are to make it of gold, purple stuffs, violet shade and red, crimson stuffs, and fine twined linen. It is to be square and doubled 17 over, a span in length and a span in width. In this you are to set four rows of 18 stones. Sard, topaz, carbuncle, for the first row; emerald, sapphire, diamond 19 the second row; the third row, hyacinth, ruby, amethyst; the fourth row, 20 beryl, onyx, jasper. These are to be mounted in gold settings. They are to bear 21 the names of the sons of Israel and, like the names on them, are to be twelve in number. They are to be engraved like seals, each with the name of one of 22 the twelve tribes. For the pectoral you will make chains of pure gold twisted 23 like cords. For the pectoral you must make two gold rings and fix them to its 24 two upper corners. You must fasten the two gold cords to the two rings fixed 25 on the corners of the pectoral. The other two ends of the cords you must fasten to the two rosettes, so that they will be attached to the shoulder straps of the 26 ephod, on the front. You are to make two gold rings and fix them to the two 27 lower corners of the pectoral, on the inner hem, next to the ephod. You are to make two more gold rings and fix them low down on the front of the two shoulder pieces of the ephod, close to the join, above the woven band of the 28 ephod. You must secure the pectoral by passing a ribbon of violet-purple through its rings and those of the ephod, so that the pectoral will sit above the woven 29 band and not come apart from the ephod. Thus by means of the pectoral of judgment, when Aaron enters the sanctuary, he will bear the names of the sons of Israel on his breast to call them to mind continually in the presence of 30 Yahweh. To the pectoral of judgment you will add the Urim and the Thummim so that Aaron may have them on his breast when he goes into Yahweh's presence. Thus in the presence of Yahweh Aaron will continually bear on his breast the oracle of the sons of Israel.

The robe

31 "You are to make the robe of the ephod entirely of violet-purple. In the center 32 it must have an opening for the head, the opening to have around it a border 33 woven like the neck of a coat of mail to keep the robe from being torn. The lower hem you are to decorate with pomegranates of purple stuffs, violet shade and 34 red, crimson stuffs, and fine twined linen, with golden bells between: gold bells 35 and pomegranates alternately all around the lower hem of the robe. Aaron is to wear it when he officiates, so that the tinkling of the bells will be heard whenever he enters the sanctuary into Yahweh's presence, or leaves it; thus he will not die.

The diadem

36 "You are to make a plate of pure gold and engrave on it 'Consecrated to 37 Yahweh' as a man engraves a seal. You will secure this to the turban with a 38 ribbon of violet-purple; it is to be placed on the front of the turban. Aaron is to wear it on his brow, and so take on himself any shortcomings there may be in what the sons of Israel consecrate in any of their sacred offerings. Aaron must always wear it on his brow, to draw down on them the goodwill of Yahweh.
 39 The tunic you must weave of fine linen, and make a turban of fine linen, and a girdle, the work of a skilled embroiderer.

The vestments of the priests

40 "For the sons of Aaron you are to make tunic and girdle and headdress to give 41 dignity and magnificence. You will put these on your brother Aaron and his sons. You will then anoint and invest and consecrate them to serve me in the 42 priesthood. You are to make them linen breeches to cover their nakedness from 43 loin to thigh. Aaron and his sons must wear these when they go into the Tent of Meeting and when they approach the altar to serve in the sanctuary, as a precaution against incurring some fault that would mean death. This is an irrevocable ordinance for Aaron and for his descendants after him.

The consecration of Aaron and his sons. Preparations

1 29 "This is the ritual you must use for them when you consecrate them to serve me in the priesthood. Take one young bull and two rams without 2 blemish, unleavened bread, unleavened cakes mixed with oil, and unleavened 3 wafers spread with oil, made from fine wheat flour. You must put these into a basket and present them in the basket, at the same time as the young bull and the two rams.

Their purification, clothing, and anointing

4 "You are to bring Aaron and his sons to the entrance of the Tent of Meeting 5 and they are to be bathed. Take the vestments and dress Aaron in the tunic, the robe of the ephod, the ephod, and the pectoral, and gird him with the woven 6 band of the ephod. Put the turban on his head, and on the turban fix the sacred 7 diadem. Then take the chrism and pour it on his head, and so anoint him.
 8 "Next, bring his sons and clothe them with tunics. Pass the girdles around 9 their waists and put the headdresses on their heads. And by irrevocable ordinance the priesthood will be theirs. This is how you are to invest Aaron and his sons.

The offerings

10 "You are to bring the bull in front of the Tent of Meeting. Aaron and his sons 11 are to lay their hands on its head. Immolate the bull there before Yahweh 12 at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting. Then take some of its blood and with your finger put it on the horns of the altar. Next, pour out the rest of the blood 13 at the foot of the altar. And then take all the fat that covers the entrails, the fatty mass which is over the liver, the two kidneys with their covering fat, and 14 burn them on the altar. As for the bull's flesh, its skin and its dung, you must burn them outside the camp, for it is a sin offering.
 15 "Next you are to take one of the rams. Aaron and his sons are to lay their 16 hands on its head. You are to immolate the ram, take up its blood and pour it 17 out on the surrounds of the altar. Next, divide the ram in pieces and wash 18 the entrails and legs and put them on top of the pieces and the head. Then burn the whole ram on the altar. This will be a burnt offering whose fragrance will appease Yahweh; it will be a holocaust in honor of Yahweh.
 19 "Next you are to take the other ram. Aaron and his sons are to lay their hands 20 on its head. You are to immolate the ram, take some of its blood and put it on the lobe of Aaron's right ear, on the lobes of his sons' right ears, the thumbs of their right hands, and the big toes of their right feet, and pour out the rest of the blood on the surrounds of the altar. Then take some of the blood that remains on the altar, together with the chrism, and sprinkle it on Aaron and his vestments and on his sons and their vestments: so that he and his vestments will be consecrated and his sons too, and their vestments.

“You are to take the fatty parts of the ram: the tail, the fat that covers the entrails, the fatty mass which is over the liver, the two kidneys with their covering fat and also the right thigh, for this is a ram of investiture. You are to take a loaf of bread, a cake of bread made with oil, and a wafer, from the basket of unleavened bread placed before Yahweh, and put it all into Aaron’s hands and those of his sons and make the gesture of offering before Yahweh. Then you are to take them back and burn them on the altar, on top of the holocaust, an appeasing fragrance before Yahweh. This will be a holocaust in honor of Yahweh.

“You are to take the breast of the ram of Aaron’s investiture and make the gesture of offering before Yahweh; this is to be your portion. You are to consecrate the breast that has been thus offered, as also the thigh that is set aside—the breast, that is, which has been offered and the thigh that has been set aside from the ram of investiture of Aaron and his sons. This, by perpetual law, will be the portion that Aaron and his sons are to receive from the sons of Israel, since it is the portion set aside, a portion the sons of Israel are to set aside from their communion sacrifices, the portion they owe to Yahweh.

“Aaron’s sacred vestments are to pass to his sons after him, and they will wear them for their anointing and investiture. The son of Aaron who succeeds him in the priesthood and enters the Tent of Meeting to serve in the sanctuary must wear them for seven days.

The sacred meal

“You are to take the ram of investiture and cook its meat in a holy place. Aaron and his sons will eat the meat of the ram, and also the bread that is in the basket, at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting. They are to eat what was used in making atonement for them at their investiture, their consecration. No layman may eat these; they are holy things. If any of the meat from the investiture sacrifice, or the bread, should be left till morning, you must put what is left in the fire. It is not to be eaten; it is a holy thing. For Aaron and his sons you are to do exactly as I have commanded you: you are to take seven days over their investiture.

The consecration of the altar of holocaust

“On each of the days you are also to offer a bull as a sacrifice for sin, in atonement; by offering an atonement sacrifice for sin you will take away sin from the altar; then you must anoint it, and so consecrate it. For seven days you are to repeat the atonement sacrifice for the altar and consecrate it. So it will excel in holiness, and whatever touches it will be holy.

The daily holocaust

“This is what you are to offer on the altar: two yearling lambs each day in perpetuity. The first lamb you must offer in the morning, the second between the two evenings. With the first lamb you must offer one tenth of a measure of fine flour mixed with one quarter of a hin of purest oil and, for a libation, one quarter of a hin of wine. The second lamb you must offer between the two evenings; do this with the same oblation and the same libation as in the morning, as an appeasing fragrance, an offering burned in honor of Yahweh. This is to be a perpetual holocaust from generation to generation, at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting in the presence of Yahweh; that is where I shall meet you and speak of you.

⁴³ “I will meet the sons of Israel in the place consecrated by my glory. I will ⁴⁴ consecrate the Tent of Meeting and the altar. I will consecrate Aaron too, and ⁴⁵ his sons, to be priests in my service. I will remain with the sons of Israel, and ⁴⁶ I will be their God. And so they will know that it is I, Yahweh their God, who brought them out of the land of Egypt to live among them: I, Yahweh their God.

The altar of incense

¹ 30 “You must make an altar on which to burn incense^a; you are to make it out ² of acacia wood. It is to be one cubit long, and one cubit wide—that is ³ to say, square—and to stand two cubits high; its horns are to be of one piece ⁴ with it. The top of it, its surrounding sides, and its horns, are to be plated with ⁵ pure gold, and decorated with a gold molding all around. You are to fix two gold ⁶ rings to it below the molding on its two opposite sides: these are to take the ⁷ shafts used for carrying it. These shafts you must make of acacia wood and plate ⁸ with gold. You are to set up the altar before the veil that is in front of the ark ⁹ of Testimony, opposite the throne of mercy that covers the Testimony, the ¹⁰ place appointed for my meeting with you. There Aaron must burn fragrant ¹¹ incense each morning when he trims the lamps, and between the two evenings, ¹² when Aaron puts the lamps back, he must burn it again. You must make these ¹³ offerings of incense before Yahweh unfaithfully from generation to generation.
¹⁴ You must not offer profane incense on it—no holocaust, no oblation; and you ¹⁵ must pour no libation on it. Once a year Aaron is to perform the rite of ¹⁶ atonement on the horns of the altar; with the blood of the sacrifice offered for sin ¹⁷ he is to perform the rite of atonement once a year. And you shall do the same in ¹⁸ the generations to come. This altar of supreme holiness is to be consecrated to Yahweh.”

The poll tax

¹⁹ Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, “When you take a census and make a ²⁰ register of the sons of Israel, each is to pay Yahweh a ransom for his life, so ²¹ that no plague comes on them when the census is being made. Everyone subject ²² to the census must pay half a shekel, reckoning by the sanctuary shekel which ²³ is twenty gerahs, and this half shekel shall be set aside for Yahweh. Everyone ²⁴ subject to the census, that is to say of twenty years and over, must pay the sum ²⁵ set aside for Yahweh. The rich man is not to give more, nor the poor man less, ²⁶ than half a shekel as payment of the sum set aside for Yahweh, the ransom for ²⁷ your lives. You will devote this ransom money given to you by the sons of ²⁸ Israel to the service of the Tent of Meeting. It will remind Yahweh of the sons of ²⁹ Israel and will be the ransom for your lives.”

The bronze basin

³⁰ Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, “You must also make a bronze basin on a ³¹ stand, for washing. You must place it between the Tent of Meeting and the ³² altar and put water in it. In this Aaron and his sons must wash their hands and ³³ feet. When they are to enter the Tent of Meeting they must wash in water for ³⁴ fear they die, and when they have to approach the altar for their service, to burn ³⁵ the offering burned in honor of Yahweh. They must wash their hands and feet ³⁶ for fear they die. This is a lasting ordinance for them, for Aaron and his descendants from generation to generation.”

The chrism^b

³⁷ Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, “Take the choicest spices: of liquid myrrh ³⁸ five hundred shekels, half this weight of fragrant cinnamon—that is, two hundred

30 a. A separate altar from the “high altar” or supreme altar of 27:1. b. Ointment.

24 and fifty shekels—and of scented cane two hundred and fifty shekels; of cassia five hundred shekels (reckoning by the sanctuary shekel) and one hin of olive oil. 25 These you are to compound into a holy chrism, such a blend as the perfumer might make; it is to be a holy chrism. With it you are to anoint the Tent of Meeting and the ark of the Testimony, the table and all its furnishings, the lampstand and all its accessories, the altar of incense, the altar of holocaust with all its furnishings, and the basin with its stand. These you are to consecrate. 30 Thus they will excel in holiness, and whatever touches them will be holy. You must also anoint Aaron and his sons and consecrate them, so that they may be priests in my service. Then you are to say this to the sons of Israel, ‘You must hold this chrism holy from generation to generation. It is not to be poured on the bodies of common men, nor are you to make any other of the same mixture. It is a holy thing; you must consider it holy. Whoever copies the composition of it or uses it on a layman shall be outlawed from his people.’”

The incense

34 Yahweh said to Moses, “Take sweet spices: storax, onycha, galbanum, sweet spices and pure frankincense in equal parts, and compound an incense, such a blend as the perfumer might make, salted, pure, and holy. Crush a part of it into a fine powder, and put some of this in front of the Testimony in the Tent of Meeting, the place appointed for my meetings with you. You must regard it as most holy. You are not to make any incense of similar composition for your own use. You must hold it to be a holy thing, reserved for Yahweh. Whoever copies it for use as perfume shall be outlawed from his people.”

The craftsmen for the sanctuary

¹/₃ 31 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, “See, I have singled out Bezalel son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah. I have filled him with the spirit of God and endowed him with skill and perception and knowledge for every kind of craft: for the art of designing and working in gold and silver and bronze; for cutting stones to be set, for carving in wood, for every kind of craft. Here and now I give him a partner, Oholiab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan; and to all the men that have skill I have given more, for them to carry out all that I have commanded you: the Tent of Meeting; the ark of the Testimony; the throne of mercy that covers it, and all the furniture of the tent; the table and all its furnishings; the pure lampstand and all its accessories; the altar of incense; the altar of holocaust with all its furnishings; the basin with its stand; the sumptuous vestments—sacred vestments for Aaron the priest, and vestments for his sons—for the priestly functions; the chrism and the fragrant incense for the sanctuary. In this they are to do exactly as I have directed you.”

The sabbath rest

¹²/₁₃ Yahweh said this to Moses, “Speak to the sons of Israel and say, ‘You must keep my sabbaths carefully, because the sabbath is a sign between myself and you from generation to generation to show that it is I, Yahweh, who sanctify you. You must keep the sabbath, then; it is to be held sacred by you. The man who profanes it must be put to death; whoever does any work on that day shall be outlawed from his people. Work is to be done for six days, but the seventh day must be a day of complete rest, consecrated to Yahweh. Whoever does any work on the sabbath day must be put to death. The sons of Israel are to keep the sabbath, observing it from generation to generation: this is a lasting covenant. Between myself and the sons of Israel the sabbath is a sign for ever, since in six days Yahweh made the heavens and the earth, but on the seventh day he rested and drew breath.’”

The tablets of the Law committed to Moses

- ¹⁸ When he had finished speaking with Moses on the mountain of Sinai, he gave him the two tablets of the Testimony, tablets of stone inscribed by the finger of God.

V. ISRAEL'S APOSTASY. THE COVENANT RENEWED

The golden calf

- ¹ 32 When the people saw that Moses was a long time before coming down the mountain, they gathered around Aaron and said to him, "Come, make us a god to go at the head of us; this Moses, the man who brought us up from Egypt, we do not know what has become of him." Aaron answered them, "Take the gold rings out of the ears of your wives and your sons and daughters, and bring them to me." So they all took the gold rings from their ears and brought them to Aaron. He took them from their hands and, in a mold, melted the metal down and cast an effigy of a calf. "Here is your God, Israel," they cried, "who brought you out of the land of Egypt!" Observing this, Aaron built an altar before the effigy. "Tomorrow," he said, "will be a feast in honor of Yahweh."
- ⁶ And so, early the next day they offered holocausts and brought communion sacrifices; then all the people sat down to eat and drink, and afterward got up to amuse themselves.

Moses forewarned by Yahweh

- ⁷ Then Yahweh spoke to Moses, "Go down now, because your people whom you brought out of Egypt have apostatized. They have been quick to leave the way I marked out for them; they have made themselves a calf of molten metal and have worshiped it and offered it sacrifice. 'Here is your God, Israel,' they have cried, 'who brought you up from the land of Egypt!'" Yahweh said to Moses, "I can see how headstrong these people are! Leave me, now, my wrath shall blaze out against them and devour them; of you, however, I will make a great nation."

The prayer of Moses

- ¹¹ But Moses pleaded with Yahweh his God. "Yahweh," he said, "why should your wrath blaze out against this people of yours whom you brought out of the land of Egypt with arm outstretched and mighty hand? Why let the Egyptians say, 'Ah, it was in treachery that he brought them out, to do them to death in the mountains and wipe them off the face of the earth?' Leave your burning wrath; relent and do not bring this disaster on your people. Remember Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, your servants to whom by your own self you swore and made this promise: I will make your offspring as many as the stars of heaven, and all this land which I promised I will give to your descendants, and it shall be their heritage for ever." So Yahweh relented and did not bring on his people the disaster he had threatened.

Moses breaks the tablets of the Law

- ¹⁵ Moses made his way back down the mountain with the two tablets of the Testimony in his hands, tablets inscribed on both sides, inscribed on the front and on the back. These tablets were the work of God, and the writing on them was God's writing engraved on the tablets.
- ¹⁷ Joshua heard the noise of the people shouting. "There is the sound of battle in the camp," he told Moses. Moses answered him:

“No song of victory is this sound, no wailing for defeat this sound;
it is the sound of chanting that I hear.”

19 As he approached the camp and saw the calf and the groups dancing, Moses' anger blazed. He threw down the tablets he was holding and broke them at the 20 foot of the mountain. He seized the calf they had made and burned it, grinding it into powder which he scattered on the water; and he made the sons of Israel 21 drink it.^a To Aaron Moses said, “What has this people done to you, for you 22 to bring such a great sin on them?” “Let not my lord's anger blaze like this,” 23 Aaron answered. “You know yourself how prone this people is to evil. They said to me, ‘Make us a god to go at our head; this Moses, the man who brought us 24 up from Egypt, we do not know what has become of him.’ So I said to them, ‘Who has gold?’, and they took it off and brought it to me. I threw it into the fire and out came this calf.”

The zeal of the Levites

25 When Moses saw the people so out of hand—for Aaron had allowed them to 26 lapse into idolatry with enemies all around them—he stood at the gate of the camp and shouted, “Who is for Yahweh? To me!” And all the sons of Levi rallied 27 to him. And he said to them, “This is the message of Yahweh, the God of Israel, ‘Gird on your sword, every man of you, and quarter the camp from gate to gate, 28 killing one his brother, another his friend, another his neighbor.’” The sons of Levi carried out the command of Moses, and of the people about three 29 thousand men perished that day. “Today,” Moses said, “you have won yourselves investiture as priests of Yahweh at the cost, one of his son, another of his brother; and so he grants you a blessing today.”

Moses prays again

30 On the following day Moses said to the people, “You have committed a grave sin. But now I shall go up to Yahweh: perhaps I can make atonement for your 31 sin.” And Moses returned to Yahweh. “I am grieved,” he cried, “this people has 32 committed a grave sin, making themselves a god of gold. And yet, if it pleased you to forgive this sin of theirs . . . ! But if not, then blot me out from the book 33 that you have written.” Yahweh answered Moses, “It is the man who has sinned 34 against me that I shall blot out from my book. Go now, lead the people to the place of which I told you. My angel shall go before you but, on the day of my 35 visitation, I shall punish them for their sin.” And Yahweh punished the people for molding the calf that Aaron had made.

The Israelites ordered to depart

1 33 Yahweh said to Moses, “Leave this place, with the people you brought out 2 of the land of Egypt, and go to the land that I swore to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob I would give their descendants. I will send an angel in front of you; I will drive out the Canaanites, the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the 3 Hivites, the Jebusites. Go on to the land where milk and honey flow. I shall not go with you myself—you are a headstrong people—or I might exterminate 4 you on the way.” On hearing these stern words the people went into mourning, and no one wore his ornaments.

5 Then Yahweh said to Moses, “Say to the sons of Israel, ‘You are a headstrong people. If I were to go with you, even for a moment only, I should exterminate you. Take off your ornaments, then, that I may know how to deal with you!’” 6 So, from Mount Horeb onward, the sons of Israel stripped themselves of their ornaments.

The Tent

7 Moses used to take the Tent and pitch it outside the camp, at some distance from the camp. He called it the Tent of Meeting. Anyone who had to consult

8 Yahweh would go out to the Tent of Meeting, outside the camp. •Whenever Moses went out to the Tent, all the people would rise. Every man would stand 9 at the door of his tent and watch Moses until he reached the Tent; •the pillar of cloud would come down and station itself at the entrance to the Tent, and 10 Yahweh would speak with Moses. •When they saw the pillar of cloud stationed at the entrance to the Tent, all the people would rise and bow low, each at the 11 door of his tent. •Yahweh would speak with Moses face to face, as a man speaks with his friend.^a Then Moses would turn back to the camp, but the young man who was his servant, Joshua son of Nun, would not leave the Tent.

Moses prays

12 Moses said to Yahweh, “See, you yourself say to me, ‘Make the people go on,’ but you do not let me know who it is you will send with me. Yet you yourself 13 have said, ‘I know you by name and you have won my favor.’ •If indeed I have won your favor, please show me your ways, so that I can understand you and win your favor. Remember, too, that this nation is your own people.” 14 Yahweh replied, “I myself will go with you, and I will give you rest.” •Moses 15 said, “If you are not going with us yourself, do not make us leave this place.
 16 By what means can it be known that I, I and my people, have won your favor, if not by your going with us? By this we shall be marked out, I and my people, 17 from all the peoples on the face of the earth.” •Yahweh said to Moses, “Again I will do what you have asked, because you have won my favor and because I know you by name.”

Moses on the mountain

18 Moses said, “Show me your glory, I beg you.” •And he said, “I will let all 19 my splendor pass in front of you, and I will pronounce before you the name Yahweh. I have compassion on whom I will, and I show pity to whom I please.
 20 You cannot see my face,” he said, “for man cannot see me and live.” •And 21 Yahweh said, “Here is a place beside me. You must stand on the rock, •and 22 when my glory passes by, I will put you in a cleft of the rock and shield you with my hand while I pass by. •Then I will take my hand away and you shall see the back of me; but my face is not to be seen.”

The Covenant renewed. The tablets of the Law

1 34 Yahweh said to Moses, “Cut two tablets of stone like the first ones and 2 come up to me on the mountain, and I will inscribe on them the words that were on the first tablets, which you broke. •Be ready by morning, and come up to the mountain of Sinai at dawn; await my orders there at the top of the 3 mountain. •No one must come up with you, no one be seen anywhere on the mountain; even the flocks and herds may not graze in front of this mountain.” 4 And so Moses cut two tablets of stone like the first and, with the two tablets of stone in his hands, he went up the mountain of Sinai in the early morning as 5 Yahweh had commanded him. •And Yahweh descended in the form of a cloud, and Moses stood with him there.

God appears

6 He called on the name of Yahweh. •Yahweh passed before him and proclaimed, “Yahweh, Yahweh, a God of tenderness and compassion, slow to anger, 7 rich in kindness and faithfulness; •for thousands he maintains his kindness, forgives faults, transgression, sin; yet he lets nothing go unchecked, punishing the father’s fault in the sons and in the grandsons to the third and fourth 8 generation.” •And Moses bowed down to the ground at once and worshiped.

32 a. Probably a trial by ordeal like that of Nb. 5:11–31.

33 a. This paragraph appears to be an interpolation from another tradition. According to the main narrative, v.20, it would be impossible for Moses to speak “face to face” with Yahweh.

9 "If I have indeed won your favor, Lord," he said, "let my Lord come with us, I beg. True, they are a headstrong people, but forgive us our faults and our sins, and adopt us as your heritage."

The Covenant

10 Yahweh said, "I am about to make a covenant with you. In the presence of all your people I shall work such wonders as have never been worked in any land or in any nation. All the people around you will see what Yahweh can do, for 11 what I shall do through you will be awe-inspiring. •Mark, then, what I command you today. I mean to drive out the Amorites before you, the Canaanites, the 12 Hittites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, the Jebusites. •Take care you make no pact with the inhabitants of the land you are about to enter, or this will prove a 13 pitfall at your very feet. •You are to tear down their altars, smash their standing stones, cut down their sacred poles."^a 14 "You shall bow down to no other god, for Yahweh's name is the Jealous One; 15 he is a jealous God. •Make no pact with the inhabitants of the land or, when they prostitute themselves to their own gods and sacrifice to them, they may invite 16 you and you may consent to eat from their victim; •or else you may choose wives for your sons from among their daughters and these, prostituting themselves to their own gods, may induce your sons to do the same.

17 "You shall make yourself no gods of molten metal.

18 "You shall celebrate the feast of Unleavened Bread: you shall eat unleavened bread, as I have commanded you, at the appointed time in the month of Abib, for in the month of Abib you came out of Egypt.

19 "All that first issues from the womb is mine: every male, every first-born of 20 flock or herd. •But the first-born donkey you must redeem with an animal from your flocks. If you do not redeem it, you must break its neck. You must redeem all the first-born of your sons. And no one is to come before me empty-handed.

21 "For six days you shall labor, but on the seventh day you shall rest, even at plowing time and harvest.

22 "You shall celebrate the feast of Weeks, of the first fruits of wheat harvest, and the feast of Ingathering at the close of the year.

23 "Three times a year all your menfolk must present themselves before the Lord Yahweh, the God of Israel.

24 "When I have dispossessed the nations for you and extended your frontiers, no one will covet your land, if you present yourselves three times in the year before Yahweh your God.

25 "You must not offer the blood of the victim sacrificed to me at the same time as you offer unleavened bread, nor is the victim offered at the feast of Passover to be put aside for the following day.

26 "You must bring the best of the first fruits of your soil to the house of Yahweh your God.

"You must not boil a kid in its mother's milk."

27 Yahweh said to Moses, "Put these words in writing, for they are the terms of the covenant I am making with you and with Israel."

28 He stayed there with Yahweh for forty days and forty nights, eating and drinking nothing. He inscribed on the tablets the words of the Covenant—the Ten Words.

Moses comes down from the mountain

29 When Moses came down from the mountain of Sinai—as he came down from the mountain, Moses had the two tablets of the Testimony in his hands—he did not know that the skin on his face was radiant after speaking with Yahweh.
30 And when Aaron and all the sons of Israel saw Moses, the skin on his face 31 shone so much that they would not venture near him. •But Moses called to them, and Aaron with all the leaders of the community came back to him; and he 32 spoke to them. Then all the sons of Israel came closer, and he passed on to 33 them all the orders that Yahweh had given him on the mountain of Sinai. And 34 when Moses had finished speaking to them, he put a veil over his face. Whenever he went into Yahweh's presence to speak with him, Moses would remove the veil until he came out again. And when he came out, he would tell the sons of 35 Israel what he had been ordered to pass on to them, and the sons of Israel would see the face of Moses radiant. Then Moses would put the veil back over his face until he returned to speak with Yahweh.

VI. THE FURNISHING AND BUILDING OF THE SANCTUARY

The sabbath rest

1 35 Moses assembled the whole community of the sons of Israel and said to 2 them, "These are the things Yahweh has ordered to be done: Work is to be done for six days, but the seventh is to be a holy day for you, a day of complete rest, consecrated to Yahweh. Whoever does any work on that day shall 3 be put to death. You must not light a fire on the sabbath day in any of your homes."

The materials are collected

4 Moses spoke to the whole community of the sons of Israel. "This," he said, "is 5 what Yahweh has commanded: Set aside a contribution for Yahweh out of your possessions. Let all give willingly and bring this contribution for Yahweh: 6 gold, silver and bronze; purple stuffs, of violet shade and red, crimson stuffs, 7 fine linen, goats' hair, rams' skins dyed red and fine leather, acacia wood, oil 8 for the light, spices for the chrism and for the fragrant incense; onyx stones 9 and gems to be set in ephod and pectoral. Let all the most skilled craftsmen 10 among you come and make all that Yahweh has commanded: the tabernacle, its tent and its covering, its hooks and its frames, its crossbars, its posts, and its 11 sockets; the ark with its shafts, the throne of mercy and the veil that screens it; 12 the table with its shafts and all the furnishings for it, and the loaves of offering; 13 the lampstand for the light, with its accessories, its lamps, and the oil for the 14 light; the altar of incense with its shafts, the chrism, the fragrant incense, and 15 the screen for the entrance to the tent; the altar of holocaust with its bronze 16 grating, its shafts, and all the furnishings for it, the basin and its stand; the 17 hangings of the court, its posts, its sockets, and the screen for the gateway to 18 the court; the pegs of the tabernacle and of the court, together with their cords; 19 the sumptuous vestments for service in the sanctuary—sacred vestments for Aaron the priest, and his sons' vestments—for the priestly functions."

20 Then the whole community of Israel's sons withdrew from Moses' presence.
 21 And all those whose heart prompted them to give came, bringing their contribution for Yahweh for making the Tent of Meeting, for all its functions and for 22 the sacred vestments. They came, men and women, all giving willingly, bringing brooches, rings, bracelets, necklaces, gold things of every kind, all those who 23 had vowed to Yahweh some article of gold. All those who happened to own purple stuffs, of violet shade or red, crimson stuffs, fine linen, goats' hair, rams' 24 skins dyed red, or fine leather, brought them. All who could contribute to the collection of silver and bronze brought their contribution for Yahweh. And all who happened to own acacia wood, suitable for any of the work to be done, 25 brought it. All the skilled women set their hands to spinning, and brought purple stuffs, of violet shade and red, crimson stuffs and fine linen, from what 26 they had spun. All the women willingly used their special skill and spun the 27 goats' hair. The leaders brought onyx stones and gems to be set in ephod and 34 a. Sacred poles were the emblems of Asherah (Astarte, Ashteroth), goddess of love and fecundity.

28 pectoral, and the spices and oil for the light, for the chrism and for the fragrant 29 incense. All the men and women whose heart prompted them to contribute to all the work that Yahweh had ordered through Moses to be done—the sons of Israel brought their free offering to Yahweh.

The craftsmen for the sanctuary

30 Moses said to the sons of Israel, “See, Yahweh has singled out Bezalel son of 31 Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah. He has filled him with the spirit of God and endowed him with skill and perception and knowledge for every kind of 32 craft: for the art of designing and working in gold and silver and bronze; for 33 cutting stones to be set, for carving in wood, for every kind of craft. And on 34 him and Oholiab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, he has bestowed the 35 gift of teaching. He has filled them with skill to carry out all the crafts of engraver, damask weaver, embroiderer in purple stuffs, of violet shade and red, in crimson stuffs and fine linen, or of the common weaver; they are able to do work of all kinds, and to do it with originality.”

1 36 Bezalel and Oholiab and all the skilled craftsmen whom Yahweh had endowed with the skill and perception to carry out all that was required for the building of the sanctuary, did their work exactly as Yahweh had directed.

A halt is called to the collection

2 Moses then summoned Bezalel and Oholiab and all the skilled craftsmen whose hearts Yahweh had endowed with skill, all whose heart prompted them 3 to offer to do the work. From Moses they received all that the sons of Israel had brought as contributions for the work of building the sanctuary. As these 4 continued each morning to bring their offerings, the skilled craftsmen, busy 5 with the various works on the sanctuary, all left their work and went to tell Moses, “The people are bringing more than is needed for the work Yahweh has 6 directed us to do.” At Moses’ command, therefore, this proclamation was made throughout the camp: “Let no one, man or woman, do anything more toward the collection for the sanctuary.” So the people were stopped from bringing any 7 more; the material they had was enough, and more than enough, to complete all the work.

The tabernacle

8 All the most skilled craftsmen among the workers made the tabernacle. He made it with ten sheets of fine twined linen, of purple stuffs, violet shade and red, 9 and of crimson stuffs, finely brocaded with cherubs. The length of a single sheet was twenty-eight cubits, its width four cubits, all the sheets being of the same 10 size. He joined five of the sheets together, and the other five similarly. He 11 attached loops of violet stuff to the border of the last sheet in one set, and did 12 the same for the border of the last sheet in the other set. He put fifty loops on the first sheet and, matching them one by one, fifty loops on the border of the 13 last sheet in the second set. He made fifty gold clasps and with them drew the sheets together. In this way the tabernacle was a unified whole.

14 Next he made sheets of goats’ hair to form a tent over the tabernacle; he made 15 eleven of these. The length of a single sheet was thirty cubits, its width four 16 cubits; the eleven sheets were all of the same size. He joined five of these sheets 17 together into one set, the remaining six into another. He attached fifty loops to the border of the last sheet in one set, and fifty loops to the border of the last 18 sheet in the second set. And he made fifty bronze clasps, so as to draw the tent 19 together and make it a unified whole. For the tent he made a covering of rams’ skins dyed red, and a covering of fine leather to spread over it.

The framework

20 For the tabernacle he made frames of acacia wood, these to stand upright.
 21 Each frame was ten cubits long and one and a half cubits wide. Each frame

23 was fitted with twin tenons; this he did for all the frames of the tabernacle. •He made the frames for the tabernacle: twenty frames for the southern side, facing 24 the south country. •He made forty silver sockets for putting under the twenty frames: two sockets under the first frame to receive its two tenons, and so on 25 for the other frames. •For the other side of the tabernacle, on the north, he made 26 twenty frames •and forty silver sockets, two sockets under each frame. •For the 27 back of the tabernacle, on the west, he made six frames. •And he made two frames 28 for the corners at the back of the tabernacle. •These frames were coupled at their 29 lower end and so to the top, up to the level of the first ring; this he did with the 30 two frames that were to form the two corners. •Thus there were eight frames 31 with their sixteen silver sockets; two sockets under each frame. •He made crossbars of acacia wood: five to hold the frames together that were to form 32 one side of the tabernacle, •five on the other side to hold the frames that were to 33 form the end of the tabernacle on the west. •He made the middle bar, fixed 34 halfway up, to run from one end to the other. •He plated the frames with gold, and put gold rings on them to take the crossbars which he plated with gold.

The veil

35 He made the veil of purple stuffs, violet shade and red, of crimson stuffs, and 36 of fine twined linen, skillfully embroidered with cherubs. •For hanging this veil he made four posts of acacia wood and plated them with gold, with golden hooks, 37 and he cast four silver sockets for them. •For the entrance to the tent he made a screen of purple stuffs, violet shade and red, and of crimson stuffs and fine 38 twined linen, the work of a skilled embroiderer. •For the hanging of this he made five posts, and their hooks; their capitals and rods he plated with gold; their five sockets were of bronze.

The ark

1 37 Bezalel made the ark of acacia wood, two and a half cubits long, one and 2 a half cubits wide, one and a half cubits high. •He plated it, inside and 3 out, with pure gold, and decorated it all around with a gold molding. •He cast four gold rings for the ark, attaching them to its four feet: two rings on one side 4 and two rings on the other. •He also made shafts of acacia wood plating them 5 with gold; •and he passed the shafts through the rings on the sides of the ark, 6 for carrying it. •Also he made of pure gold a throne of mercy, two and a half 7 cubits long, and one and a half cubits wide. •For the two ends of this throne 8 of mercy he made two golden cherubs; he made them of beaten gold, •the first cherub for one end and the second for the other, and fastened them to the two 9 ends of the throne of mercy so that they made one piece with it. •The cherubs had their wings spread upward so that they overshadowed the throne of mercy. They faced one another, their faces toward the throne of mercy.

The table for the offertory bread

10 He made the table of acacia wood, two cubits long, one cubit wide, and one 11 and a half cubits high. •He plated it with pure gold, and decorated it all around 12 with a gold molding. •He fitted it with struts, one hand's breadth wide, and 13 decorated these with a golden molding. •He cast four gold rings for it and 14 fixed these at the four corners where the four legs were. •The rings lay close 15 to the struts to hold the shafts for carrying the table. •He made the shafts of 16 acacia wood and plated them with gold; these were for carrying the table. •He made the furnishings of pure gold for the table: dishes, cups, jars and libation bowls.

The lampstand

17 He made the lampstand of pure gold, and made the lampstand, base and 18 stem, of beaten gold. Its cups—calyx and petals—were of one piece with it. •Six branches extended from the sides of it, three from one side, three from the other.

19 The first branch carried three cups shaped like almond blossoms, each with its calyx and petals; the second branch, too, carried three cups shaped like almond blossoms, each with its calyx and petals, and similarly all six branches extending from the lampstand. The lampstand itself carried four cups shaped like almond blossoms, each with its calyx and petals, thus: one calyx under the first two branches extending from the lampstand, one under the next pair, one under the last pair: corresponding to the six branches extending from the lampstand. The calyxes and the branches were of one piece with the lampstand, and the whole was made from a single piece of pure gold, beaten out. Then he made the lamps for it, seven of them, and its snuffers and trays of pure gold. He used a talent of pure gold for making the lampstand and all its accessories.

The altar of incense. Chrism and incense

25 He made the altar of incense out of acacia wood. It was one cubit long, and one cubit wide—that is to say, square—and two cubits high; its horns were of one piece with it. The top of it, its surrounding sides, and its horns, he plated with pure gold, and decorated it all around with a gold molding. He fixed two gold rings to it below the molding on its two opposite sides, to take the shafts used for carrying it. These shafts he made of acacia wood and plated with gold. He also made the sacred chrism and the pure, fragrant incense, blending it as perfumers do.

The altar of holocaust

1 38 He made the altar of holocaust out of acacia wood, a square five cubits long and five cubits wide, its height three cubits. At its four corners he put horns, the horns being of one piece with it, and plated it with bronze. He made all the altar vessels: pans for the ashes, shovels, sprinkling basins, hooks, fire pans; he made all the vessels for the altar out of bronze. He made a grating for it of bronze network which he set under the ledge, below, so that it reached halfway up the altar. He cast four rings and fixed them on the four corners of the bronze grating to take the shafts. He made the shafts of acacia wood and plated them with bronze. He placed these through the rings fixed to the sides of the altar for carrying it, and he made the altar hollow, of boards.

The bronze basin

8 He made the bronze basin and its bronze support from the mirrors of the women who served at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting.

The court

9 He made the court. For the southern side of the court, facing the south country, there were one hundred cubits of hangings of fine twined linen. Their twenty posts with their twenty sockets were of bronze, their hooks and rods of silver. For the northern side there were one hundred cubits of hangings; their twenty posts with their twenty sockets were of bronze, their hooks and rods of silver. For the western side, fifty cubits of hangings, carried on ten posts set in ten sockets, with their hooks and rods of silver. Fifty cubits, too, for the eastern side facing the sunrise. On one side of the gateway there were fifteen cubits of hangings, carried on three posts set in three sockets. On the other side—either side of the entrance to the court—there were fifteen cubits of hangings with their three posts and three sockets. All the hangings enclosing the court were of fine twined linen. The sockets for the posts were of bronze and their hooks of silver, like the plating on their capitals. The posts for the court all had their rods of silver. The screen for the gateway of the court, the work of a skilled embroiderer, was made of purple stuffs, violet shade and red, of crimson stuffs, and fine twined linen. It was twenty cubits long and, along the width of it, five cubits high, like the hangings of the court. Its four posts with their four sockets were of bronze. The hooks for the posts were of silver, like the plating on their capitals and like their rods. The pegs for the tabernacle and for the court enclosure were all of bronze.

The amount of metal used

Here is the account of metals used for the tabernacle—the tabernacle of the Testimony—the account drawn up by order of Moses, the work of the Levites^a under the direction of Ihtamar son of Aaron, the priest.

Bezalel son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, made all that Yahweh had directed Moses to have made. His partner was Oholiab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, engraver, damask weaver, embroiderer in purple stuffs, of violet shade and red, in crimson stuffs and fine linen.

The amount of gold used in the work—the entire work for the sanctuary—(this was gold consecrated by offering) was twenty-nine talents and seven hundred and thirty shekels (reckoning by the sanctuary shekel). The silver collected when the census of the community was taken weighed one hundred talents and one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five shekels (reckoning by the sanctuary shekel), one beqa per head, or half a shekel (reckoning by the sanctuary shekel) for everyone of twenty years and over included in the census. These numbered six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty. The hundred talents of silver were used for casting the sockets for the sanctuary and for the veil: one hundred sockets out of the hundred talents, or one talent per socket. With the one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five shekels he made the hooks for the posts, the plating for their capitals, and their rods. The bronze consecrated by offering amounted to seventy talents and two thousand four hundred shekels, and with this he made the sockets for the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, the bronze altar with its grating of bronze and all the furnishings for it, the sockets for the enclosure of the court, those for the gateway to the court, all the pegs for the tabernacle, and all the pegs for the court enclosure.

The vestments of the high priest

39 From the purple stuffs, violet shade and red, the crimson stuffs, and the fine linen he made sumptuous vestments for service in the sanctuary. They made the sacred vestments for Aaron, as Yahweh had directed Moses.

The ephod

They made the ephod of gold, purple stuffs, violet shade and red, crimson stuffs, and fine twined linen. They beat gold into thin plates, and cut these into fine strips to weave into the purple stuffs, violet shade and red, into the crimson stuffs and the fine linen, as does the weaver of damask. For the ephod they made two shoulder straps, joined to it at its two ends. The woven band on it to hold it formed one piece with it and was of similar workmanship: this was of gold, purple stuffs, violet shade and red, crimson stuffs, and fine twined linen, as Yahweh had directed Moses. They fashioned the onyx stones, mounted in settings of gold mesh and engraved, as a seal is engraved, with the names of the sons of Israel. They fastened the stones to the shoulder straps of the ephod, stones commemorating the sons of Israel, as Yahweh had directed Moses.

The pectoral of judgment

They made the pectoral, finely brocaded, of the same workmanship as the ephod, of gold, purple stuffs, violet shade and red, and fine twined linen. It was square and they doubled it over, a span in length and a span in width. In this 38 a. A late addition: the Levites were not yet established. Later in the same section are references to a tax which had not yet been imposed, and a distinction between two shekels which had not been made.

11 they set four rows of stones. Sard, topaz, carbuncle, for the first row; emerald, 12 sapphire, diamond, the second row; the third row, hyacinth, ruby, amethyst; 13 the fourth row, beryl, onyx, jasper. These were mounted in settings of gold mesh.
 14 They bore the names of the sons of Israel and, like their names, were twelve 15 in number. They were engraved as seals are, each with the name of one of the 16 twelve tribes. For the pectoral they made chains of pure gold twisted like cords.
 17 They made two golds rosettes and two gold rings, and they fastened the 18 two gold cords to the two rings fixed on the corners of the pectoral. The other 19 two ends of the cords they fastened to the two rosettes; they were thus attached 20 to the shoulder straps of the ephod, on the front. They made two gold rings 21 and fixed them to the two lower corners of the pectoral, on the inner hem, next 22 to the ephod. And they made two more gold rings and fixed them low down on 23 the front of the two shoulder straps of the ephod, close to the join, above the 24 woven band of the ephod. They secured the pectoral by passing a ribbon of 25 violet-purple through its rings and those of the ephod, so that the pectoral would 26 sit above the woven band and not come apart from the ephod, as Yahweh had directed Moses.

The robe

22 Then they made the robe of the ephod woven entirely of violet-purple. The 23 opening in the center of it was like the neck of a coat of mail; around the opening 24 was a border to keep the robe from tearing. The lower hem of the robe they 25 decorated with pomegranates of purple stuffs, violet shade and red, crimson 26 stuffs, and fine twined linen. They also made bells of pure gold and placed them all around the lower hem of the robe between the pomegranates, bells and pomegranates alternately all around the lower hem of the robe of office, as Yahweh had directed Moses.

The vestments of the priests

27 Then they made the tunics of finely woven linen for Aaron and his sons, the 28 turban of fine linen, the headdresses of fine linen, the breeches of fine twined 29 linen, the girdles of fine twined linen, of purple stuffs, violet shade and red, and of crimson stuffs, finely embroidered, as Yahweh had directed Moses.
 30 They also made the plate, the holy diadem, of pure gold, and engraved on 31 it "Consecrated to Yahweh," as a man engraves a seal. They attached to this a ribbon of violet-purple to secure it to the top of the turban, as Yahweh had directed Moses.
 32 So all the work of the tabernacle, the Tent of Meeting, was completed. In carrying it out the sons of Israel had done exactly as Yahweh had directed Moses.

The finished work presented to Moses 33 They brought to Moses the tabernacle, the Tent and all its furnishings: its 34 hooks, frames, crossbars, posts, sockets; the covering of rams' skins dyed red, 35 the covering of fine leather, and the screening veil; the ark of the testimony with 36 its shafts and the throne of mercy; the table with all its furnishings, and the 37 loaves of offering; the lampstand of pure gold with its lamps—the lamps that 38 were to be set on it—and all its accessories; the oil, too, for the light; the golden 39 altar, the chrism, the fragrant incense, the screen for the entrance to the tent; 40 the bronze altar with its grating of bronze, its shafts and all its furnishings; the 41 basin and its stand; the hangings of the court, its posts, its sockets, and the 42 screen for the gateway to the court, its cords, its pegs, and all the furniture for 43 the service in the tabernacle, the Tent of Meeting; the sumptuous vestments for service in the sanctuary—sacred vestments for Aaron the priest, and vestments 42 for his sons—for the priestly functions. The sons of Israel had done all the work exactly as Yahweh had directed Moses.

 43 Moses examined the whole work, and he could see they had done it as Yahweh had directed him. And Moses blessed them.

The sanctuary erected and consecrated

¹40 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "On the first day of the first month you ²are to erect the tabernacle, the Tent of Meeting, and place the ark of the ³Testimony in it, screening it with the veil. Bring in the table, arranging what ⁴is to be set in order on it. Bring in the lampstand, too, and set up its lamps.
⁵Place the golden altar of incense in front of the ark of the Testimony, and set ⁶up the screen at the entrance to the tabernacle. Place the altar of holocaust ⁷in front of the entrance to the tabernacle, the Tent of Meeting. Place the basin ⁸between the Tent of Meeting and the altar, and fill it with water. Set up the ⁹enclosure of the court and hang the screen at the gateway of the court. Then, ¹⁰taking the chrism, anoint the tabernacle and everything in it, consecrating it ¹¹with its furnishings; and consecrate the altar which henceforth will be a most holy ¹²thing. Anoint the basin with its stand, and consecrate it. Bring Aaron and his ¹³sons to the entrance of the Tent of Meeting and see that they bathe. Then ¹⁴clothe Aaron with the sacred vestments, and anoint and consecrate him, to serve ¹⁵me in the priesthood. Next, bring his sons and clothe them with tunics. Anoint them as you have anointed their father, to serve me in the priesthood. This anointing of them is to confer the priesthood on them in perpetuity from generation to generation."

The divine commands are carried out

¹⁶Moses did this; he did exactly as Yahweh had directed him. The tabernacle ¹⁷was set up on the first day of the first month in the second year. Moses erected ¹⁸the tabernacle. He fixed the sockets for it, put up its frames, put its crossbars ¹⁹in position, set up its posts. He spread the tent over the tabernacle and on ²⁰top of this the covering for the tent, as Yahweh had directed Moses. He took ²¹the Testimony and placed it inside the ark. He set the shafts to the ark and ²²placed the throne of mercy on it. He brought the ark into the tabernacle and ²³put the screening veil in place; thus he screened the ark of Yahweh, as Yahweh ²⁴had directed Moses. He placed the table in the Tent of Meeting, on the north ²⁵side of the tabernacle, outside the veil, and on it arranged the loaves before ²⁶Yahweh, as Yahweh had directed Moses. He put the lampstand in the Tent ²⁷of Meeting, opposite the table, on the south side of the tabernacle; and he set ²⁸up the lamps before Yahweh, as Yahweh had directed Moses. He put the ²⁹golden altar in the Tent of Meeting in front of the veil, and on it burned fragrant ³⁰incense, as Yahweh had directed Moses. Then he put the screen at the entrance ³¹to the tabernacle. He put the altar of holocaust at the entrance to the tabernacle, ³²the Tent of Meeting, and on it offered the holocaust and the oblation, as Yahweh ³³had directed Moses. He put the basin between the Tent of Meeting and the altar, and filled it with water for the ablutions; this was for Aaron and his sons to wash their hands and feet: whenever they entered the Tent of Meeting or approached the altar they washed, as Yahweh had directed Moses. Moses then set up the court around the tabernacle and the altar and placed the screen at the gateway to the court. Thus Moses completed the work.

Yahweh takes possession of the sanctuary

³⁴The cloud covered the Tent of Meeting and the glory of Yahweh filled the ³⁵tabernacle. Moses could not enter the Tent of Meeting because of the cloud that rested on it and because of the glory of Yahweh that filled the tabernacle.

The cloud guides the Israelites

³⁶At every stage of their journey, whenever the cloud rose from the tabernacle ³⁷the sons of Israel would resume their march. If the cloud did not rise, they ³⁸waited and would not march until it did. For the cloud of Yahweh rested on the tabernacle by day, and a fire shone within the cloud by night, for all the House of Israel to see. And so it was for every stage of their journey.

LEVITICUS

I. THE RITUAL OF SACRIFICE

Holocaust^a

¹ 1 Yahweh called Moses, and from the Tent of Meeting addressed him, saying, ² "Speak to the sons of Israel; say to them, 'When any of you brings an offering to Yahweh, he can offer an animal from either herd or flock.

³ 'If his offering is a holocaust of an animal out of the herd, he is to offer a male without blemish; it is to be offered at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting, so
⁴ that it may be accepted before Yahweh. 'He is to lay his hand on the victim's ⁵ head, and it shall be accepted as effectual for his atonement. 'Then he must immolate the bull before Yahweh, and the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall offer the blood. They will pour it out on the borders of the altar which stands at the ⁶ entrance to the Tent of Meeting. 'Then he must skin the victim and quarter it.
⁷ The sons of Aaron, the priests, must put fire on the altar and arrange wood on ⁸ this fire. 'Then the sons of Aaron, the priests, are to put the pieces, the head and ⁹ the fat on the wood on the altar fire. 'He is to wash the entrails and legs in water, and the priest is to burn all of it on the altar. This holocaust will be a burnt offering^b and the fragrance of it will appease Yahweh.

¹⁰ 'If his offering is an animal out of the flock, a lamb or a goat offered as a ¹¹ holocaust, he is to offer a male without blemish. 'He must immolate it on the north side of the altar, before Yahweh, and the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall ¹² pour out the blood on the borders of the altar. 'Then he is to quarter it, and the priest is to arrange the quarters, as well as the head and the fat, on the wood on ¹³ the altar fire. 'He is to wash the entrails and legs in water, and the priest shall burn all of it on the altar. This holocaust will be a burnt offering and the fragrance of it will appease Yahweh.

¹⁴ 'If his offering to Yahweh is a holocaust of a bird, he is to offer a turtledove ¹⁵ or a young pigeon. 'The priest shall offer it at the altar and wring off its head, which he is to burn on the altar; then its blood is to be drained out on the side
¹⁶ of the altar. 'Then he shall remove the crop and the feathers; these he is to throw ¹⁷ on the eastern side of the altar, where the ashes from the fat are placed. 'He is to divide it in two halves with a wing on each side, but without separating the two parts. Then the priest shall burn it on the altar, on the wood that is on the fire. This holocaust will be a burnt offering and its fragrance will appease Yahweh.

The Oblation^a

¹ 2 'If anyone offers Yahweh an oblation, his offering is to consist of wheaten ² flour on which he is to pour wine and put incense. 'He shall bring it to the sons of Aaron, the priests; he is to take a handful of the wheaten flour and oil and all the incense, and the priest shall burn it on the altar as a memorial, a burnt offering ³ whose fragrance will appease Yahweh. 'The remainder of the oblation is to revert to Aaron and his sons; a most holy portion of the burnt offerings of Yahweh.

- 4 'When you are going to offer an oblation of dough baked in the oven, the wheaten flour is to be prepared either in the form of unleavened cakes mixed with oil, or in the form of unleavened wafers spread with oil.
- 5 'If your offering is an oblation cooked on the griddle, the wheaten flour mixed with oil is to contain no leavening. You must break it in pieces and pour oil over it. It is an oblation.
- 7 'If your offering is an oblation cooked in the pan, the wheaten flour is to be prepared in oil.
- 8 'You must bring to Yahweh the oblation that has been thus prepared, presenting it to the priest, who is to bring it to the altar. The priest shall take the memorial from the oblation and burn it on the altar, as a burnt offering whose fragrance will appease Yahweh. The remainder of the oblation will revert to Aaron and his sons, a most holy portion of Yahweh's burnt offering.
- 11 'None of the oblations that you offer to Yahweh is to be prepared with leaven, for you must never burn leaven or honey as a burnt offering for Yahweh. You may offer them up to Yahweh as an offering of first fruits, but they must not go up as an appeasing fragrance at the altar. You must salt every oblation that you offer, and you must never fail to put on your oblation the salt of the Covenant with your God: to every offering you are to join an offering of salt to Yahweh your God. If you offer Yahweh an oblation of first fruits, you must offer roasted corn or bread made from ground corn. You are to add oil to it and put incense on it; it is an oblation; and the priest is to burn the memorial from part of the bread and oil (together with all the incense) as a burnt offering for Yahweh.

The Communion Sacrifice^a

- 1 3 'If a man's sacrifice is a communion sacrifice, and if he offers an animal from the herd, male or female, whatever he offers before Yahweh must be without blemish. He is to lay his hand on the victim's head and immolate it at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting. Then the sons of Aaron, the priests, must pour out the blood on the borders of the altar. He is to offer part of the sacrifice as a burnt offering for Yahweh: the fat that covers the entrails, all the fat that is on the entrails, the two kidneys, the fat on them and on the loins, the fatty mass which he is to remove from the liver and kidneys. The sons of Aaron must burn this part on the altar, in addition to the holocaust, on the wood of the fire. It will be a burnt offering and its fragrance will appease Yahweh.
- 6 'If it is an animal from the flock that he offers as a communion sacrifice for Yahweh, he is to offer a male or female without blemish.
- 7 'If he offers a sheep, he is to offer it before Yahweh; he is to lay his hand on the victim's head and immolate it in front of the Tent of Meeting; then the sons of Aaron shall pour out its blood on the borders of the altar. Of this communion sacrifice he is to offer the following as a burnt offering for Yahweh: the fat, all the tail taken off near the sacrum, the fat that covers the entrails, all the fat that is on the entrails, the two kidneys, the fat that is on them and on the loins, the fatty mass which he will remove from the liver and kidneys. The priest must burn this part on the altar as food, as a burnt offering for Yahweh.
- 13 'If his offering is a goat, he is to offer it before Yahweh: he is to lay his hand on the victim's head and immolate it in front of the Tent of Meeting, and the sons of Aaron shall pour out its blood on the borders of the altar. Then this is what he is to offer as a burnt offering for Yahweh: the fat that covers the entrails, all the fat that is on the entrails, the two kidneys, the fat that is on them and on the loins, the fatty mass which he will remove from the liver and kidneys.

1 a. The term means "wholly burned" (offering). b. I.e., no part of it is to be eaten in a communion meal or set aside for the priests.

2 a. An offering of crops, cereal or vegetable produce.

3 a. A ritual meal (often called the "peace offering") at which part of the victim was eaten by the worshipers and part offered to God, so that the meal was "shared" with God.

- 16 The priest must burn these pieces on the altar as food, as a burnt offering for Yahweh.
- 17 'All the fat belongs to Yahweh. This is a perpetual law for all your descendants, wherever you may live: never eat either fat or blood.'

The Sacrifice for Sin^a

- 1 4 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:
- 2 "Speak to the sons of Israel and say:
'A man may sin inadvertently against any one of the commandments of Yahweh and do one of the forbidden things; in such a case:

a. Sins of the high priest

- 3 'If the one who sins is the anointed priest, thus making the people guilty, then for the sin which he has committed he is to offer to Yahweh a young bull, an animal from the herd without blemish, as a sacrifice for sin. He is to bring the bull before Yahweh at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting, he is to lay his hand on its head and immolate it before Yahweh. Then the anointed priest must take a little of the blood of the bull and take it into the Tent of Meeting.
- 6 He shall dip his finger in the blood and sprinkle it over the veil of the sanctuary seven times, before Yahweh. Then the priest must put a little of the blood of the bull on the horns of the altar of incense that smokes before Yahweh in the Tent of Meeting, and he is to pour all the rest of the bull's blood at the foot of the altar of holocaust at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting.
- 8 'Of all the fat of this bull offered as a sacrifice for sin, this is what he will remove: the fat that covers the entrails, all the fat that is on the entrails, the two kidneys, the fat that is on them and on the loins, the fatty mass which he will remove from the liver and kidneys—exactly as was done with the portion set apart in the communion sacrifice—and the priest must burn these on the altar of holocaust.
- 11 'The bull's skin, all its flesh, its head, legs, entrails and dung, the whole of the bull, must be carried outside the camp to a place that is clean, the place where the ashes from the fat are thrown away, and the bull must be burnt there.

b. Sins of the community of Israel

- 13 'If the whole community of Israel has sinned inadvertently, and without being aware of it has done something that is forbidden by the commandments of Yahweh, the community is to offer a young bull as a sacrifice for sin, an animal of the herd without blemish, when the sin of which they have been guilty is discovered. The animal must be brought before the Tent of Meeting; before Yahweh the elders of the community shall lay their hands on the bull's head, and it must be immolated before Yahweh.
- 16 'Then the anointed priest is to carry a little of the blood of the bull into the Tent of Meeting. He is to dip his finger in the blood and sprinkle the veil before Yahweh seven times. Then he must put a little of the blood on the horns of the altar that stands before Yahweh inside the Tent of Meeting, and then pour out all the rest of the blood at the foot of the altar of holocaust at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting.
- 19 'Then he is to remove all the fat from the animal and burn it on the altar. He must treat this bull as he did the other for the sacrifice of sin. It is to be treated in the same way; and when the priest has performed the rite of atonement over the people, they will be forgiven.
- 21 'He must have the bull taken out of the camp and burn it as he burned the first one. This is the sacrifice for the sin of the community.

c. Sins of leaders in the community

- 22 'When a leader sins and inadvertently does one of the things forbidden by
- 23 the commandments of Yahweh his God, thus rendering himself guilty (or if anyone draws his attention to the sin thus committed), he is to bring a goat as 24 an offering, a male without blemish. •He is to lay his hand on the goat's head and immolate it in the place where the holocausts are immolated before Yahweh.

 25 This is a sacrifice for sin: •the priest is to take a little of the victim's blood on his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of holocaust. Then he must pour out 26 its blood at the foot of the altar of holocaust •and burn all the fat on the altar, as with the fat in the communion sacrifice. This is how the priest is to perform the rite of atonement over this leader to free him from his sin, and he will be forgiven.

d. Sins of private individuals

27 •If one of the people sins inadvertently and makes himself guilty by doing 28 something forbidden by the commandments of Yahweh •(or if anyone draws his attention to the sin he has committed), he is to bring a she-goat as an offering 29 for the sin he has committed, a female without blemish. •He is to lay his hand on the victim's head and immolate it in the place where the holocausts are 30 immolated. •The priest is to take a little of its blood on his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of holocaust. Then he must pour out all the rest of the 31 blood at the foot of the altar. •Then he is to remove all the fat, as the fat was removed for the communion sacrifice, and the priest shall burn it on the altar as an appeasing fragrance for Yahweh. This is how the priest is to perform the rite of atonement over the man, and he will be forgiven.

32 •If he wishes to bring a lamb as an offering for this kind of sacrifice, he is to 33 bring a female without blemish. •He is to lay his hand on the victim's head and immolate it as a sacrifice for sin in the place where the holocausts are immolated.
 34 The priest is to take a little of the blood of this sacrifice on his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of holocaust. Then he must pour out all the rest of the 35 blood at the foot of the altar. •He is to remove its fat as was done for the sheep in the communion sacrifice, and the priest shall burn it all on the altar, in addition to the burnt offering for Yahweh. This is how the priest is to perform the rite of atonement over the man, and he will be forgiven.

Some cases of Sacrifice for Sin

- 1 5 •If anyone sins in any of these following cases: •A man should have come forward to give evidence when he heard the formal adjuration, having seen the incident or known the facts; but he has not spoken out, and so bears the consequences of his fault; 2 •or else he touches something unclean, whatever it may be—the dead body of an unclean animal, wild or tame, or of one of the unclean things that swarm—and without realizing it becomes unclean, he becomes answerable for it; 3 •or else he touches some human uncleanness, whatever it may be, and contact with it makes him unclean; he does not notice it, then, realizing it later, he becomes answerable for it; 4 •or else a man lets slip some oath to do either evil or good, in any of those matters on which a man may swear unthinkingly; he does not notice it, then, realizing it later, he becomes answerable for it; 5 •if he is answerable in any of those cases, he will have to confess the sin 6 committed, •and he must bring to Yahweh as a sacrifice of reparation for the sin committed a female of the flock (sheep or goat) as a sacrifice for sin; and the priest shall perform the rite of atonement over him to free him from his sin.

Sins of private individuals (continued)

- 7 •If he cannot afford an animal of the flock, he is to bring to Yahweh, as a sacrifice of reparation for the sin he has committed, two turtledoves or two

8 young pigeons—one for a sacrifice for sin and the other for a holocaust. ‘He will bring them to the priest who is to offer first the one intended for the sacrifice 9 for sin. The priest is to wring its neck, but not remove the head. ‘He must sprinkle the side of the altar with the victim’s blood, and then drain out the rest of the 10 blood at the foot of the altar. This is a sacrifice for sin. ‘Of the other bird he is to make a holocaust according to the ritual. This is how the priest is to perform the rite of atonement over the man for the sin he has committed, and he will be forgiven.

11 ‘If he cannot afford two turtledoves or two young pigeons, he is to bring a tenth of an ephah of wheaten flour as an offering for the sin committed; he must 12 not mix oil with it or put incense on it, for it is a sacrifice for sin. ‘He is to bring it to the priest, who is to take a handful of it as a memorial, and burn this in 13 addition to the burnt offering for Yahweh. This is a sacrifice for sin. ‘This is how the priest is to perform the rite of atonement over the man for the sin he has committed in any of those cases, and he will be forgiven. In this case, the priest has the same rights as in the oblation.’ ”

The Sacrifice of Reparation^a

14 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

15 “If anyone is guilty of fraud and sins inadvertently by not observing Yahweh’s sacred rights, he is to bring to Yahweh as a sacrifice of reparation an unblemished ram from his flock. This ram is to be valued in silver shekels according to the 16 rate of the shekel of the sanctuary. This is a sacrifice of reparation. ‘He must restore what his sin subtracted from the sacred rights, adding one fifth to the value, and give it to the priest. The priest shall perform the rite of atonement over him with the ram for the sacrifice of reparation and he will be forgiven.

17 “If anyone sins and without realizing it does one of the things forbidden by the commandments of Yahweh, he must answer for it and must bear the consequences of his fault. ‘As a sacrifice of reparation he is to bring to the priest an unblemished ram of his flock, subject to valuation. The priest shall perform the rite of atonement over him for the oversight he has committed without realizing it and he will be forgiven. ‘This is a sacrifice of reparation; the man was certainly answerable to Yahweh.”

20₁ Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

21₂ “If anyone sins and is guilty of fraud against Yahweh by deceiving his neighbor over a deposit or a security, or by withholding something due to him or exploiting him; 22₃ “or if he finds lost property and denies it;

“or if he perjures himself about any sin that a man may commit;

23₄ “if he sins and so becomes answerable, he is to restore what he has taken or demanded in excess: the deposit confided to him, the lost property that he found, 24₅ or any object about which he has perjured himself. He must add one fifth to the principal and pay the whole to whoever held the property rights on the day 25₆ when he became answerable. ‘Then he is to bring an unblemished ram of his flock to Yahweh as a sacrifice of reparation: it must be valued according to the rate paid to the priest for a sacrifice of reparation. ‘The priest shall perform the rite of atonement over him before Yahweh and he will be forgiven, whatever the act for which he became answerable.”

Priesthood and sacrifice

a. Holocaust

1₈ Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

2₉ “Give these orders to Aaron and his sons:

‘This is the ritual for holocaust (that is, the holocaust that stays on the altar brazier all night until morning and is consumed by altar fire).

⁵ 'The fire that consumes the holocaust on the altar must not be allowed to go out. Every morning the priest must make it up with wood. He is to arrange the holocaust on it and burn the fat from the communion sacrifices. An undying fire is always to burn on the altar; it must not go out.

b. The Oblation

⁷ 'This is the ritual for the oblation:

⁸ 'One of the sons of Aaron is to bring it into the presence of Yahweh in front of the altar; he is to take a handful of the wheaten flour (with the oil and incense which have been added to it); he must burn the memorial on the altar so that its fragrance will appease Yahweh; and after all this has been done Aaron and his sons shall eat the remainder in the form of unleavened loaves. They are to eat it in a sacred place within the precincts of the Tent of Meeting. The portion I give them of my burnt offering must not be baked with leaven. It is a most holy portion, like the sacrifice for sin and the sacrifice of reparation. All the males of Aaron's family may eat this portion of Yahweh's burnt offering (this is a perpetual law for all your descendants; and everyone who touches it will be consecrated).'

¹³ 'This is the offering that Aaron and his sons are to make to Yahweh on the day of their anointing: one tenth of an ephah of wheaten flour as a perpetual oblation, half in the morning and half in the evening. It must be prepared on the griddle and mixed with oil; you must bring the paste as an oblation in several pieces, offering them as a fragrance that will appease Yahweh. The priest among the sons of Aaron who is to be anointed in his place shall do the same. This is a perpetual law.

¹⁶ 'This entire oblation must be burnt for Yahweh. Every oblation made by a priest must be a total sacrifice; none of it is to be eaten.'

c. The Sacrifice for Sin

^{17:18} Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said, "Say to Aaron and his sons:

^{24:25} 'This is the ritual for the sacrifice for sin:

¹⁹ 'The victim for the sacrifice is to be immolated before Yahweh in the place where the holocausts are immolated. It is a most holy thing. The priest who offers this sacrifice is to eat it. It must be eaten in a holy place within the precincts of the Tent of Meeting. Everything that touches the flesh of this victim will become consecrated; if any of the blood splashes on clothing, the stain must be cleaned in some holy place. The earthenware vessel in which the meat is cooked must be broken; if a bronze vessel has been used for the cooking, it must be scrubbed and thoroughly rinsed with water. Any male who is a priest may eat it. It is a most holy thing. But no one may eat any of the victims offered for sin, the blood of which has been taken into the Tent of Meeting to make atonement inside the sanctuary. These must be thrown on the fire.

d. The Sacrifice of Reparation

² 'It is a most holy thing. The victim is to be immolated in the place where the holocausts are immolated, and the priest must pour out the blood on the borders of the altar. Then he is to offer all the fat: the tail, the fat that covers the entrails,

5 a. The sacrifice of reparation (or "guilt offering" was offered whenever the rights of God or of neighbor had been violated.

4 the two kidneys, the fat that is on them and on the loins, the fatty mass which 5 he will remove from the liver and kidneys. The priest must burn these pieces on the altar as a burnt offering for Yahweh. This is a sacrifice of reparation.
 6 Every male who is a priest may eat it. It must be eaten in a holy place; it is a most holy thing.

The rights of the priests

7 'As with the sacrifice for sin, so with the sacrifice of reparation—the ritual is the same for both. The offering with which he has performed the rite of atonement 8 is to revert to the priest. The skin of the victim presented by a man to the priest 9 to be offered as a holocaust shall revert to the priest. Every oblation baked in the oven, every oblation cooked in the pan or on the griddle shall revert to the 10 priest who offered it. Every oblation, mixed with oil or dry, is to revert to all the sons of Aaron without distinction.

e. The Communion Sacrifice

(i) Sacrifice with Praise

11 'This is the ritual for the communion sacrifice offered to Yahweh: 12 'If it is offered with a sacrifice with praise, there must be added to it an offering of unleavened cakes mixed with oil, unleavened wafers spread with oil, 13 and wheaten flour in the form of cakes mixed with oil. This offering, then, must be added to the cakes of leavened bread and to the communion sacrifice 14 with praise. One of the cakes of this offering is to be presented as an offering to Yahweh; it shall revert to the priest who pours out the blood of the communion 15 sacrifice. The flesh of the victim must be eaten on the day when the offering is made; nothing must remain until the next morning.

(ii) Votive or Voluntary Sacrifices

16 'If the victim is offered as a votive or a voluntary sacrifice, it is to be eaten on 17 the day it is offered and also on the following day; but on the third day whatever remains of the victim's flesh must be thrown on the fire.

General rules

18 'If the flesh offered as a communion sacrifice is eaten on the third day, the man who has offered it will not be accepted. He is to receive no credit for it, it is defiled flesh, and the man who eats it shall bear the consequences of his fault.

19 'Flesh that has touched anything unclean cannot be eaten; it must be thrown on the fire.

20 'Anyone who is clean may eat flesh, but anyone unclean who eats the flesh of a communion sacrifice offered to Yahweh shall be outlawed from his people.
 21 If anyone touches anything unclean, human or animal, or any foul thing, and then eats the flesh of a communion sacrifice offered to Yahweh, this man shall be outlawed from his people.'

22 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said, "Speak to the sons of Israel, say to them: 23 'You must not eat the fat of ox, sheep or goat. The fat of an animal that has died a natural death or been savaged by beasts may be used for any other 25 purpose, but you must not eat it. Anyone who eats the fat of an animal offered as a burnt offering to Yahweh shall be outlawed from his people.

26 'Wherever you live, you must not eat blood, whether it be of bird or of beast.
 27 Anyone who eats blood, whoever he may be, shall be outlawed from his people.'

The priest's portion

28 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said, "Speak to the sons of Israel, say to them:
 29 'Anyone who offers a communion sacrifice to Yahweh is to bring him part 30 of his sacrifice as an offering. He is to bring Yahweh's burnt offering—that is, the fat that adheres to the breast—with his own hands. He is to bring it, and also the breast, with which he must make the gesture of offering before Yahweh.

 31 The priest must burn the fat on the altar, and the breast shall revert to Aaron and 32 his sons. •You must set aside the right thigh from your communion sacrifices and 33 give it to the priest. •This right thigh shall be the portion of the son of Aaron 34 who offers the blood and fat of the communion sacrifice. •Thus, I keep back this breast and thigh out of the communion sacrifices offered by the sons of Israel, and give these to Aaron the priest and to his sons: this is a perpetual law binding the sons of Israel.’”

Conclusion

35 This, then, was the portion of Aaron and of his sons in Yahweh’s burnt 36 offerings on the day he presented them to Yahweh to be his priests. •This is what the orders of Yahweh bind the sons of Israel to give them on the day they are anointed: this is a perpetual law for all their descendants.

37 Such then is the ritual for holocaust, oblation, sacrifice for sin, sacrifices of 38 reparation, investiture and communion. •This is what Yahweh commanded Moses on Mount Sinai when he ordered the sons of Israel to make their offerings to Yahweh in the wilderness of Sinai.

II. THE INVESTITURE OF THE PRIESTS

Ordination rites^a

1/2 8 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:
 8 “Take Aaron, his sons with him, and the vestments, and the chrism, the bull for the sacrifice for sin, the two rams and the basket of unleavened bread.
 3 Then call the whole community together at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting.”

4 Moses followed the orders of Yahweh; the community gathered at the entrance 5 to the Tent of Meeting, •and Moses said to them, “This is what Yahweh has ordered to be done.”

6 He made Aaron and his sons come forward, and washed them with water.

7 He put the tunic on him, passed the girdle around his waist, dressed him in the robe and put the ephod on him. Then he put around his waist the woven band 8 of the ephod with which he clothed him. •He put the pectoral on him, and 9 placed the Urim and Thummim in it. •He put the turban on his head, with the golden plate on the front; this is the sacred diadem as Yahweh prescribed it to Moses.

10 Then Moses took the chrism and anointed the tabernacle and everything in it, 11 to consecrate them. •He sprinkled the altar seven times, and anointed the altar 12 and its furnishing, the basin and its stand, to consecrate them. •Then he poured the chrism on Aaron’s head, consecrating him by unction.

13 Then Moses made Aaron’s sons come forward; he put the tunics on them, passed the girdles around their waists and put on their headdress, as Yahweh had ordered Moses.

14 Then he had the bull for the sacrifice for sin brought forward. Aaron and his 15 sons laid their hands on the victim’s head •and Moses immolated it. Then he took the blood and with his finger put some of it on the horns around the altar, to take away its sin. Then he poured out the rest of the blood at the foot of the 16 altar, which he consecrated by performing the rite of atonement over it. •Then he took all the fat that covers the entrails, the fatty mass which is over the liver, 17 the two kidneys and their fat; and he burned them all on the altar. •The bull’s skin, its flesh and its dung he burned outside the camp, as Yahweh had ordered Moses.

8 a. The ritual for high-priestly investiture appears here as an account of the investiture of Aaron and his sons.

18 Then he had the ram for holocaust brought forward. Aaron and his sons laid 19 their hands on its head and Moses immolated it. He poured its blood out on 20 the borders of the altar. Then he quartered the ram and burned the head, the 21 pieces and the fat. He washed the entrails and legs, and burned the whole ram on the altar. This was a holocaust whose fragrance would appease Yahweh; a burnt offering for Yahweh, as Yahweh had ordered Moses.

22 Then he had the other ram brought forward, for the sacrifice of investiture.
 23 Aaron and his sons laid their hands on its head and Moses immolated it. He took some of its blood and put it on the lobe of Aaron's right ear, the thumb 24 of his right hand, and the big toe of his right foot. Then he made the sons of Aaron come forward and he put some of the blood on the lobes of their right ears, the thumbs of their right hands and the big toes of their right feet. Next 25 Moses poured the rest of the blood on the borders of the altar. Then he took the fat: the tail, all the fat that is on the entrails, the fatty mass which is over the 26 liver, the two kidneys and their fat, and the right thigh. From the basket of unleavened bread placed before Yahweh, he took an unleavened cake, a cake of bread made with oil, and a wafer; he placed these on the fat and the right thigh, 27 and put it all into Aaron's hands and those of his sons, and made the gesture of offering before Yahweh. Then Moses took them back and burned them on 28 the altar in addition to the holocaust. This was the sacrifice of investiture 29 whose fragrance would appease Yahweh, a burnt offering to Yahweh. Then Moses took the breast and made the gesture of offering before Yahweh. This was the portion of the ram of investiture that reverted to Moses, as Yahweh had ordered Moses.

30 Then Moses took the chrism and the blood that was on the altar and sprinkled Aaron and his vestments with it, and his sons and their vestments.
 In this way he consecrated Aaron and his vestments, and his sons and their vestments.

31 Then Moses said to Aaron and his sons, "Cook the meat at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting, and eat it there, as also the bread for the sacrifice of investiture that is in the basket, as I ordered, when I said: Aaron and his sons 32 are to eat it. What remains of the meat and bread you will burn. For seven days 33 you must not leave the entrance to the Tent of Meeting, until the time of your investiture is complete; for your investiture will require seven days. Yahweh has 34 ordered us to do as we have done today to perform the rite of atonement over 35 you: and for seven days, day and night, you must remain at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting observing Yahweh's ritual; do this, and you will not die.^b For 36 this is the order I received." And Aaron and his sons did everything that Yahweh had ordered through Moses.

The priests assume their functions

1 On the eighth day Moses summoned Aaron and his sons and the elders of 2 Israel; he said to Aaron, "Take a calf to offer a sacrifice for sin, and a ram 3 for a holocaust, both without blemish, and bring them before Yahweh. Then say to the sons of Israel, 'Take a goat to be offered as a sacrifice for sin, and as 4 a holocaust a calf and a lamb both one year old and without blemish, and for communion sacrifices an ox and a ram to be immolated before Yahweh; and finally an oblation mixed with oil. For Yahweh will appear to you today.' "

5 They brought what Moses had commanded in front of the Tent of Meeting; 6 then the whole community came and stood before Yahweh. Moses said, "This is what Yahweh has ordered to be done, so that his glory may be visible to you." 7 Moses then addressed Aaron, "Go to the altar and offer your sacrifice for sin and your holocaust, and so perform the rite of atonement for yourself and your family. Then present the people's offering and perform the rite of atonement for them, as Yahweh has ordered."

8 Aaron went to the altar and immolated the calf as a sacrifice for his own sin.

9 Then the sons of Aaron presented the blood to him; he dipped his finger in it and put some on the horns of the altar, and then poured out the rest of the blood at the foot of the altar. The fat of the sacrifice for sin and the kidneys and the fatty mass which is over the liver, he burned on the altar, as Yahweh had commanded Moses; the flesh and the skin he burned outside the camp.

12 Next Aaron immolated the holocaust; his sons handed him the blood and he poured it on the borders of the altar. Then they handed him the quartered victim, and its head too, and he burned these on the altar. He washed the entrails and legs and burned them on the altar in addition to the holocaust.

15 He then presented the people's offering. He took the goat for the people's sacrifice for sin, immolated it, and made a sacrifice for sin with it in the same way as with the first. Then he had the holocaust brought forward and proceeded according to the ritual. Next he had the oblation brought forward, took a handful of it and burned it on the altar in addition to the morning holocaust.

18 Finally, he immolated the ox and the ram as a communion sacrifice for the people. Aaron's sons handed him the blood and he poured it out on the borders of the altar. The fat of the ox and of the ram—the tail, the fatty covering, the kidneys, the fatty mass over the liver—all of this he laid on the breasts and burned it all on the altar. With the breasts and the right thigh Aaron made the gesture of offering as Yahweh had ordered Moses.

22 Then Aaron raised his hands toward the people and blessed them. Having thus performed the sacrifice for sin, the holocaust and the communion sacrifice, he came down and entered the Tent of Meeting with Moses. Then they came out together to bless the people and the glory of Yahweh appeared to the whole people—a flame leaped forth from before Yahweh and consumed the holocaust and the fat that was on the altar. At this sight the people shouted for joy and fell on their faces.

Complementary legislation^a

a. A lesson in exact observance

1 10 Nadab and Abihu, sons of Aaron, each took his censer, put fire in it and incense on the fire, and presented unlawful fire before Yahweh, fire which he had not prescribed for them. Then from Yahweh's presence a flame leaped out and consumed them, and they perished in the presence of Yahweh. And Moses said to Aaron, "That is what Yahweh meant when he said:

'In those who are close to me I show holiness, and before all the people I show my glory.'"^b

Aaron remained silent.

b. Removal of bodies

4 Moses summoned Mishael and Elzaphan, sons of Aaron's uncle Uzziel, and said to them, "Come and take your brothers far away from the sanctuary, out of the camp." They came and carried them away, still in their tunics, out of the camp, as Moses had ordered.

c. Rules for priestly mourning

6 Moses said to Aaron and his sons Eleazar and Ithamar, "Do not disorder your hair nor tear your garments^c; you are not going to die. It is with the whole community that he is angry; it is the whole House of Israel that must lament your brothers, the victims of Yahweh's fire. Do not leave the entrance to the Tent of Meeting, lest you die; for the chrism of Yahweh is on you." And they obeyed the words of Moses.

b. Not a promise of immortality: "the penalty for infringing any of these ritual laws is death." 10 a. Presented in anecdotes, as case law. b. Holy things are reserved for priests who are "close to" Yahweh. c. Mourning ritual.

d. Wine forbidden

8 Yahweh spoke to Aaron; he said:

9 "When you come to the Tent of Meeting, you and your sons with you, do not take wine or strong drink; then you will not die. This is a perpetual law for all 10 your descendants. •And so be it too when you separate the sacred from the 11 profane, the unclean from the clean, •and when you teach the sons of Israel any of the laws that Yahweh has pronounced for them through Moses."

e. The priests' portion in offerings

12 Moses said to Aaron and his surviving sons, Eleazar and Ithamar, "Take the oblation that is left over from Yahweh's burnt offering. Eat the unleavened part 13 of it beside the altar, because it is a most holy thing. •Eat it in a holy place; it is the portion of Yahweh's burnt offering prescribed for you and your sons; this is the order I have received.

14 "The breast that was offered up and the thigh that was set aside you will eat in some place that is clean, you, your sons and your daughters with you; this is the portion of the communion sacrifices of the sons of Israel that is prescribed 15 for you and your sons. •The thigh that was set aside and the breast that was offered up, when the fat was burned, revert to you, to you and your sons with you, after they have been presented before Yahweh by the gesture of offering, in virtue of a perpetual law as Yahweh has ordered."

f. A special regulation concerning Sacrifice for Sin

16 Then Moses inquired about the goat offered as a sacrifice for sin, and found that they had burned it. He was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, Aaron's surviving 17 sons: "Why," he asked, "did you not eat this victim in the holy place? For it is a most holy thing given to you to take away the fault of the community, by 18 performing the rite of atonement over it before Yahweh. •Since its blood was not taken inside the sanctuary, you should have eaten its flesh there, as I ordered 19 you." •Aaron said to Moses, "Today they have offered their sacrifice for sin and their holocaust before Yahweh. If I had been concerned, if I had eaten the victim 20 for sin today, would that have seemed good to Yahweh?" •And when Moses heard this, he was satisfied.

III. RULES CONCERNING THE CLEAN AND UNCLEANClean and unclean beasts*a. On land

¹/₂ 1 Yahweh spoke to Moses and Aaron and said to them, "Speak to the sons of Israel and say:

'Of all the beasts on the earth these are the animals you may eat:

3 'You may eat any animal that has a cloven hoof, divided into two parts, 4 and that is a ruminant. •The following, which either chew the cud or have a cloven hoof, are the ones that you may not eat: the camel must be held unclean, 5 because though it is ruminant, it has not a cloven hoof; •the hyrax must be held 6 unclean, because though it is ruminant, it has not a cloven hoof; •the hare must 7 be held unclean, because though it is ruminant, it has not a cloven hoof; •the pig must be held unclean, because though it has a cloven hoof, divided into 8 two parts, it is not ruminant. •You must not eat the meat of such animals nor touch their dead bodies; you must hold them unclean.

b. In water

9 'Of all that lives in water, these you may eat:

'Anything that has fins and scales, and lives in the water, whether in sea or 10 river, you may eat. •But anything in sea or river that has not fins or scales, of all the small water creatures and all the living things found there, must be held detestable. You must hold them detestable; you are not to eat their flesh and you must avoid their carcasses. Anything that lives in water, but has no fins or scales, is to be held detestable.

c. Birds

Among the birds here are those you must hold detestable; they may not be eaten, they are detestable:

The tawny vulture, the griffon, the osprey, the kite, the several kinds of buzzard, all kinds of raven, the ostrich, the screech owl, the seagull, the several kinds of hawk, horned owl, night owl, cormorant, barn owl, ibis, pelican, white vulture, stork, the several kinds of heron, hoopoe and bat.

d. Winged insects

All winged insects that move on four feet^a you must hold detestable. Of all these winged insects you may eat only the following: those that have legs above their feet so that they can leap over the ground. These are the ones you may eat: the several kinds of migratory locust, solham, hargol and hagab locusts in their several kinds. But all winged insects on four feet you are to hold detestable.

Contact with unclean animals

By these you will be made unclean. Anyone who touches the carcass of one will be unclean until evening. Anyone who picks up their carcasses must wash his clothing and will be unclean until evening. Animals that have hoofs, but not cloven, and that are not ruminant, you are to hold unclean; anyone who touches them will be unclean. Those four-footed animals which walk on the flat of their foot^b must be held unclean; anyone who touches their carcasses will be unclean until evening, and anyone who picks up their carcasses must wash his clothing and will be unclean until evening. You are to hold them unclean.

e. Small ground beasts

These are the small beasts crawling on the ground that you are to hold unclean: the mole, the rat, the several kinds of lizard: gecko, koah, letaah, chameleon and tinshameth.

Further rules on contact with things unclean

Of all the small beasts, these are the creatures that you are to hold unclean. Anyone who touches them when they are dead will be unclean until evening.

Any object on which one of these creatures falls when it is dead becomes unclean: wooden utensil, clothing, skin, sackcloth—any utensil at all. It must be dipped in water and will remain unclean until evening: then it will be clean. If the creature falls into an earthenware vessel, the vessel must be broken; whatever the vessel contains is unclean. Any food that is eaten will be unclean, even if it is steeped in water; any liquid that is drunk will be unclean, no matter what its container. Anything on which a carcass of such a creature may fall will be unclean: oven or stove must be destroyed, for unclean they are and unclean they must be for you (although springs, wells and stretches of water will remain clean); anyone who touches a carcass of theirs will be unclean. If one of their carcasses falls on any seed whatever, the seed will remain clean; but if the seed has been wet, and a carcass of theirs falls on it, then you must hold it unclean.

If one of the animals that you use as food dies, then anyone who touches the carcass will be unclean until evening; anyone who eats the dead meat must 11 a. There are certain insects which use only four feet for walking, but the intention is probably to distinguish between birds and insects b. I.e., without hoofs.

wash his clothing and will remain unclean until evening; anyone who picks up the carcass must wash his clothing and will remain unclean until evening.

The religious aspect

41 'Any small beast that crawls on the ground is detestable; you must not 42 eat it. 'Anything that moves on its belly, anything that moves on four legs or 43 more—in short all the small beasts that crawl on the ground—you must not eat 44 these because they are detestable. 'Do not make yourself detestable with 45 all these crawling beasts; do not defile yourself with them, do not be defiled 46 by them. 'For it is I, Yahweh, who am your God. You have been sanctified 47 and have become holy because I am holy: do not defile yourself with all these 48 beasts that crawl on the ground. 'Yes, it is I, Yahweh, who brought you out 49 of Egypt to be your God: you therefore must be holy because I am holy.'"

Conclusion

46 Such is the law concerning animals, birds, all living creatures that move in 47 water and every creature that crawls on the ground. 'Its purpose is to separate 48 the clean from the unclean; creatures that may be eaten from those that must 49 not be eaten.

Purification of a woman after childbirth

1 12 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said, "Speak to the sons of Israel and say: 2 'If a woman conceives and gives birth to a boy, she is to be unclean for 3 seven days, just as she is unclean during her monthly periods. 'On the eighth day 4 the child's foreskin must be circumcised, 'and she must wait another thirty-three 5 days for her blood to be purified. She must not touch anything consecrated nor 6 go to the sanctuary until the time of her purification is over.

7 'If she gives birth to a girl, she is to be unclean for two weeks, as during her 8 monthly periods; and she must wait another sixty-six days for her blood to be 9 purified.

10 'When the period of her purification is over, for either boy or girl, she is to 11 bring to the priest at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting a lamb one year old 12 for a holocaust, and a young pigeon or turtledove as a sacrifice for sin. 'The 13 priest is to offer this before Yahweh, perform the rite of atonement over her, 14 and she will be purified from her flow of blood.

15 'Such is the law concerning a woman who gives birth to either a boy or a girl.
16 If she cannot afford a lamb, she is to take two turtledoves or two young pigeons, 17 one for the holocaust and the other for the sacrifice for sin. The priest is to 18 perform the rite of atonement over her and she will be purified.'"

Human leprosy

a. Swellings, scabs, discolorations

1 13 Yahweh said to Moses and Aaron, "If a swelling or scab or shiny spot 2 appears on a man's skin, a case of leprosy of the skin is to be suspected.
3 The man must be taken to Aaron, the priest, or to one of the priests who are 4 his sons. 'The priest must examine the disease on the skin. If the hair on the 5 diseased part has turned white, or if the disease bites into the skin, then it is 6 indeed a case of leprosy, and after examination the priest must declare the man 7 unclean. 'But if there is a shiny spot on the skin without any visible depression 8 of the skin and without whitening of the hair, the priest is to isolate the sick 9 person for seven days. 'On the seventh day he must examine him, and if he sees 10 with his own eyes that the disease persists though without spreading over the 11 skin, he is to isolate him for a further seven days 'and examine him again on 12 the seventh. If he finds that the diseased part is no longer shiny and has not 13 spread over the skin, then the priest is to declare the man clean. It is a scab 14 merely. Having washed his clothing he will be clean.

7 "But if the scab spreads over the skin after the sick person has been examined by the priest and declared clean, then he must present himself again to the priest.
8 After examining him and certifying the spread of the scab over the skin, the priest must declare him unclean: it is leprosy.

b. Chronic leprosy

9 "When a leprous disease strikes a man, he must be taken to the priest, who 10 must examine him, and if he finds on the skin a whitish swelling with whitening 11 of the hair and an ulcer forming, then it is chronic leprosy in the skin and the priest 12 must declare him unclean. He is not to isolate him; he is unclean beyond doubt.
13 "But if the leprosy spreads all through the skin, if it covers him entirely from 14 head to foot so far as the priest can see, then the priest must examine the sick 15 person and, if he finds that the leprosy covers his whole body, declare the sick 16 person^a clean. Since it has all become white, he is clean. But as soon as an 17 ulcer appears on him, he will be unclean. After examining the ulcer, the priest 18 is to declare him unclean: the ulcer is unclean, it is leprous. But if the ulcer 19 becomes white again, the man must go to the priest; the priest must examine 20 him and if he finds that the disease has turned white, he is to declare the sick 21 person clean: he is clean.

c. Boils

18 "When a boil appears on a man's skin, which, after healing, leaves in its 19 place a whitish swelling or a shiny spot of reddish white, the man must show 20 himself to the priest. The priest must examine him, and if he finds a visible 21 depression in the skin and a whitening of the hair, he is to declare him unclean: 22 it is a case of leprosy that has broken out in a boil. But if on examination the 23 priest finds neither white hair nor depression of the skin, but a fading of the 24 affected part, he is to isolate the sick person for seven days. If the disease has 25 indeed spread over the skin, he must declare him unclean: it is a case of leprosy.
26 But if the shiny spot is still restricted and has not spread, then it is the scar of 27 a boil and the priest is to declare the man clean.

d. Burns

24 "If someone has had a burn, and on the burn an ulcer forms, a shiny spot 25 reddish white or whitish in color, then the priest must examine it. If he finds 26 a whitening of the hair or a visible depression of the mark on the skin, this 27 means that leprosy has broken out in the burn. The priest is to declare the man 28 unclean: it is a case of leprosy. If on the other hand the priest on examination 29 does not find white hair on the mark or depression of the skin, but a fading of 30 the mark, then the priest is to isolate him for seven days. On the seventh day 31 he must examine him, and if the disease has spread on the skin, he must declare 32 him unclean: it is a case of leprosy. If the mark is still restricted and has not 33 spread over the skin, but has faded instead, this means that it is only a swelling due to the burn. The priest is to declare the man clean: it is merely a burn scar.

e. Diseases of the scalp and chin

29 "If a man or a woman has a sore on the head or chin, the priest must examine 30 this sore; and if he finds a depression visible in the skin, with the hair on it 31 yellow and thin, he must declare the sick person unclean. It is tinea, that is to 32 say, leprosy of the head or chin. If on examining this case of tinea the priest 33 finds no visible depression in the skin nor yellow hair, he is to isolate the person so affected for seven days. He must examine the infected part on the seventh day, and if he finds that the tinea has not spread, that the hair on it is not yellow, and that there is no visible depression in the skin, the sick person will shave his hair, all except the part affected with tinea, and the priest is to isolate him 13 a. When the symptoms spread over the surface it is a sign of recovery.

34 again for seven days. •He must examine the infected part on the seventh day, and if he finds that it has not spread over the skin, and that there is no visible depression of the skin, the priest is to declare the sick person clean. After washing his clothes he will be clean. •But if after this purification the tinea does spread over the skin, •the priest must examine him; if he finds that the tinea has indeed spread over the skin, this means that the sick person is unclean, and there is no need to verify whether the hair is yellow. •Whereas if, so far as he can see, the tinea is arrested and dark hair is beginning to grow on it, this means that the sick person is cured. He is clean, and the priest is to declare him clean.

f. Rash

38 “If shiny spots break out on the skin of a man or woman, and if these spots are white, •the priest must examine them. If he finds that these patches are of a dull white, it is a rash that has broken out on the skin: the sick person is clean.

g. Loss of hair

40 “If a man loses the hair of his scalp, this is baldness of the scalp but the man is clean. •If he loses his hair off the front of the head, this is baldness of the forehead but the man is clean. •If, however, a reddish white sore appears on scalp or forehead, this means that leprosy has broken out on the man’s scalp or forehead. •The priest must examine it, and if he finds a reddish white swelling on the scalp or forehead, of the same appearance as leprosy of the skin, •this means that the man is leprosy: he is unclean. The priest must declare him unclean; he is suffering from leprosy of the head.

A regulation for lepers

45 “A man infected with leprosy must wear his clothing torn and his hair disordered; he must shield his upper lip and cry, ‘Unclean, unclean.’ •As long as the disease lasts he must be unclean; and therefore he must live apart: he must live outside the camp.

Leprosy of clothes

47 “When a piece of clothing is infected with leprosy—woolen or linen clothing, 48 linen or woolen fabric or covering, leather or leatherwork—and if this clothing, 49 fabric, covering, leather or leatherwork appears greenish or reddish, it is a case of leprosy to be shown to the priest. •The priest must examine the infection and isolate the object for seven days. •If on the seventh day he observes that the infection has spread on the garment, fabric, covering, leather or leatherwork, whatever it may be, it is a case of contagious leprosy and the object is unclean. 52 He will burn this clothing, fabric, linen or woolen covering, leather article of any kind, on which the infection has appeared; for it is a contagious leprosy which must be destroyed by fire.

53 “But if on examination the priest finds that the infection has not spread on 54 the clothing, fabric, covering, or leather object whatever it may be, •he is to order the infected article to be washed and is to isolate it again for a period of seven 55 days. •After the cleansing he must examine the infection and if he finds that there is no change in its appearance, even though it has not spread, the article is unclean. It must be destroyed by fire; it is infected through and through.

56 “But if on examination the priest finds that the infection has diminished after 57 washing, he is to cut out of the clothing, leather, fabric or covering. •But if the infection reappears on the same clothing, fabric, covering or leather article whatever it may be, this means that the infection is active and you must destroy 58 by fire whatever is infected. •The clothing, fabric, covering or leather article whatever it may be, from which the infection disappears after washing, is to be clean after it has been washed a second time.

59 “Such is the law for a case of leprosy in a linen or woolen garment, a fabric or covering or leather article whatever it may be, when it is a question of declaring them clean or unclean.”

Purification of lepers

- 1 14 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:
 2 “This is the law to be applied to a leper on the day he is purified. He must 3 be taken to the priest, and the priest must go outside the camp. If he finds on 4 examination that the leper is cured of his leprosy, he shall order the following 5 to be brought for the man’s purification: two live birds that are clean, cedar 6 wood, scarlet and hyssop. Then he is to give orders for one of the birds to be 7 immolated in an earthenware pot over running water. Then he is to take the live 8 bird, the cedar wood, the scarlet and the hyssop and he must dip all of this 9 (including the live bird) into the blood of the bird immolated over running water.
 10 Then he must sprinkle the man who is to be purified of leprosy seven times, and 11 having declared him clean, must set the live bird free to fly off into the open 12 country. The man who is undergoing purification is to wash his clothing, shave 13 all his hair, and wash himself; then he will be clean. After this he may return 14 to the camp, although he must remain seven days outside his tent. On the 15 seventh day he must shave off all his hair—head, beard and eyebrows; he must 16 shave off all his hair. After washing his clothing and his body he will be clean.
 17 “On the eighth day, he is to take two lambs without blemish, an unblemished 18 ewe one year old, three tenths^a of wheaten flour mixed with oil for the oblation, 19 and one log of oil. The priest who is performing the purification is to station 20 the man who is being purified, with all his offerings, at the entrance to the Tent 21 of Meeting, before Yahweh. Then he must take one of the lambs and offer it as 22 a sacrifice of reparation, as also the log of oil. With these he is to make the gesture 23 of offering before Yahweh. Then he must immolate the lamb on that spot inside 24 the sacred precincts where the victims of the sacrifice for sin and of the holocaust are immolated. This offering of reparation, like the sacrifice for sin, reverts to the priest: it is a most holy thing. The priest must take the blood of this sacrifice and put some of it on the lobe of the right ear, the thumb of the right hand, and the big toe of the right foot of the man who is being purified. Then he is to take the log of oil and pour a little into the hollow of his left hand. He must dip a finger of his right hand into the oil in the hollow of his left hand, and with this oil make seven sprinklings with his finger before Yahweh. Then he is to take a little of the oil that remains in the hollow of his hand and put it on the lobe of the right ear of the man who is being purified, and on the thumb of his right hand and on the big toe of his right foot (this in addition to the blood of the sacrifice of reparation). The rest of the oil in the hollow of his hand he is to put on the head of the man who is being purified. In this way he will have performed over him the rite of atonement before Yahweh.
 “Then the priest must offer the sacrifice for sin, and perform the rite of atonement for uncleanness over the man who is being purified. After this he must immolate the holocaust, and send up holocaust and oblation on the altar.
 When the priest has performed the rite of atonement over him in this way, the man will be clean.
 “If he is poor and cannot afford all this, he need take only one lamb, the one for the sacrifice of reparation, and it is to be presented with the gesture of offering to perform the rite of atonement over the man. And he is to take for the oblation only one tenth of wheaten flour mixed with oil, and the log of oil, and finally two turtledoves or two young pigeons—if he can afford them—one to be used as a sacrifice for sin and the other for the holocaust. On the eighth day he must bring them to the priest at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting before Yahweh, for his purification. The priest is to take the lamb for the sacrifice of reparation 14 a. I.e., of an ephah.

and the log of oil, and present them before Yahweh with the gesture of offering.
 25 Then he must immolate the lamb for the sacrifice of reparation, take some of its blood and put it on the lobe of the right ear of the man who is being purified, 26 on the thumb of his right hand and on the big toe of his right foot. ·He is to 27 pour the oil into the hollow of his left hand, ·and with this oil in the hollow of his left hand he must make seven sprinklings with his finger before Yahweh.
 28 He is to put some of it on the lobe of the right ear of the man who is being purified, on the thumb of his right hand and on the big toe of his right foot, 29 as he did with the blood of the sacrifice of reparation. ·The remainder of the oil in the hollow of his hand he must put on the head of the man who is being 30 purified, performing the rite of atonement over him before Yahweh. ·Of the two turtledoves or two young pigeons—if he can afford them—he is to offer 31 a sacrifice for sin with one, and with the other a holocaust together with an oblation—if he can afford them. In this way the priest will have performed before Yahweh the rite of atonement over the person who is being purified.
 32 “Such is the law concerning a person afflicted by leprosy who cannot afford the means for his purification.”

Leprosy of houses

33 Yahweh spoke to Moses and Aaron; he said:
 34 “When you reach the land of Canaan, which I am giving you as an 35 inheritance, if I strike a house with leprosy in the land you are to possess, ·the owner must come and warn the priest; he must say, ‘I have seen something like 36 leprosy in the house.’ ·The priest is to give orders for the house to be emptied before he goes to examine the infection; thus nothing in the house will become 37 unclean. Then the priest must go and look at the house; ·and if on examination he finds the walls of the house pitted with reddish or greenish depressions, 38 the priest is to go out of the house, to the door, and shut it up for seven days.
 39 On the seventh day he must go back again, and if on examination he finds that 40 the infection has spread over the walls of the house, ·he must give orders for the infected stones to be removed and thrown into some unclean place outside 41 the town. ·Then he must have all the inside of the house scraped, and the plaster 42 that comes off must be emptied out into an unclean place outside the town. ·The stones must be replaced by new ones and the house given a new coat of plaster.
 43 “If the infection spreads again after the stones have been removed and the 44 house scraped and replastered, ·the priest is to come and examine it. If he finds that the infection has spread, this means that there is a contagious leprosy in 45 the house: it is unclean. ·It must be pulled down and the stones, woodwork and all the plaster be taken to an unclean place outside the town.
 46 “Anyone who enters the house while it is closed will be unclean until evening.
 47 Anyone who sleeps there must wash his clothing. Anyone who eats there must 48 wash his clothing. ·But if the priest finds, when he comes to examine the infection, that it has not spread in the house since it was plastered, he is to declare the house clean, for the infection is cured.
 49 “As a sacrifice for the sin of the house, he is to take two birds, cedar wood, 50 scarlet and hyssop. ·He must immolate one of the birds in an earthenware pot 51 over running water. ·Then he is to take the cedar wood, the hyssop, the scarlet and the live bird, and must dip them into the blood of the bird that was immolated 52 and into the running water. He is to sprinkle the house seven times; ·and after having offered a sacrifice for the sin of the house with the blood of the bird, the running water, the live bird, the cedar wood, the hyssop and the scarlet, 53 he must set the live bird free to fly out of the town into the open country. When the rite of atonement has been performed over the house in this way it will be clean.
 54 “Such is the law for all cases of leprosy and tinea, ·leprosy of clothing and 55 houses, ·swellings, scabs and shiny spots. It defines the occasions when things 56 are unclean and when clean. ·Such is the law on leprosy.” 57

Sexual impuritiesa. Of men

- 1 15 Yahweh spoke to Moses and Aaron; he said:
 2 "Speak to the sons of Israel and say to them:
 3 'When a man has a discharge from his body, that discharge is unclean. While the discharge continues, the nature of his uncleanness is as follows:
 'Whether his body allows the discharge to flow or whether it retains it, he is unclean.
 4 'Any bed the man lies on and any seat he sits on shall be unclean.
 5 'Anyone who touches his bed must wash his clothing and wash himself and will be unclean until evening.
 6 'Anyone who sits on a seat where the man has sat must wash his clothing and wash himself and will be unclean until evening.
 7 'Anyone who touches the body of a man so affected must wash his clothing and wash himself and will be unclean until evening.
 8 'If the sick man spits on someone who is clean, that person must wash his clothing and wash himself and will be unclean until evening.
 9 'Any saddle the sick man travels on will be unclean.
 10 'All those who touch any object that may be under him will be unclean until evening.
 'Anyone who picks up such an object must wash his clothing and wash himself and will be unclean until evening.
 11 'All those whom the sick man touches without washing his hands must wash their clothing and wash themselves and will be unclean until evening.
 12 'Any earthenware vessel the sick man touches must be broken and any wooden utensil must be rinsed.
 13 "When the man suffering from a discharge is cured, he must allow seven days for his purification. He must wash his clothing and wash his body in running water and he will be clean. On the eighth day he must take two turtledoves or two young pigeons and come before Yahweh at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting, and give them to the priest. The priest is to offer a sacrifice for sin with one of them, and with the other a holocaust. So the priest will perform the rite of atonement over him before Yahweh for his discharge.
 14 'When a man has a seminal discharge, he must wash his whole body with water and he shall be unclean until evening. Any clothing or leather touched by the seminal discharge must be washed and it will be unclean until evening.
 15 When a woman has slept with a man, both of them must wash and they will be unclean until evening.

b. Of women

- 16 'When a woman has a discharge of blood, and blood flows from her body, this uncleanness of her monthly periods shall last for seven days.
 'Anyone who touches her will be unclean until evening.
 17 'Any bed she lies on in this state will be unclean; any seat she sits on will be unclean.
 18 'Anyone who touches her bed must wash his clothing and wash himself and will be unclean until evening.
 19 'Anyone who touches any seat she has sat on must wash his clothing and wash himself and will be unclean until evening. If there is anything on the bed or the chair on which she sat, anyone who touches it will be unclean until evening.
 20 'If a man sleeps with her, he will be affected by the uncleanness of her monthly periods. He shall be unclean for seven days. Any bed he lies on will be unclean.
 21 'If a woman has a flow of blood for several days outside the period, or if the period is prolonged, during the time this flow lasts she shall be in the same state of uncleanness as during her monthly periods. Any bed she lies on during the time this flow lasts will be in the same condition as the bed she lies on during her monthly periods. Any seat she sits on will be unclean as it would be during her monthly periods. ²⁷ Anyone who touches them will be unclean; he must wash his clothing and wash himself and will be unclean until evening. ²⁸ When she is cured of her flow, she will let seven days pass; then she will be ²⁹ clean. On the eighth day she is to take two turtledoves or two young pigeons ³⁰ and bring them to the priest at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting. With one of them the priest is to offer a sacrifice for sin and with the other a holocaust. This is the way in which the priest will perform the rite of atonement over her before Yahweh for the flow that caused her uncleanness.'

Conclusion

³¹ "You must warn the sons of Israel of their uncleanness lest they should die because of it, by being a defilement to my tabernacle which is set among them. ³² "Such is the law concerning a man with a discharge, anyone made unclean by ³³ a seminal discharge, a woman in the uncleanness of her monthly periods, a man or a woman with a discharge, a man who sleeps with an unclean woman."

The great Day of Atonement

¹ 16 After the death of the two sons of Aaron who died through offering ² unlawful fire before Yahweh, Yahweh spoke to Moses. He said: "Tell Aaron your brother that he must not enter the sanctuary beyond the veil, in front of the throne of mercy that is over the ark, whenever he chooses. He may die; for I appear in a cloud on the throne of mercy. ³ "This is how he is to enter the sanctuary: with a young bull for a sacrifice ⁴ for sin and a ram for a holocaust. He is to put on a tunic of consecrated linen, wear linen on his body, a linen girdle around his waist, and a linen turban on his head. These are the sacred vestments he must put on after washing himself with water. ⁵ "He is to receive two goats for a sacrifice for sin and a ram for a holocaust from ⁶ the community of the sons of Israel. After offering the bull as a sacrifice for his own sin and performing the rite of atonement for himself and his family, ⁷ Aaron must take the two goats and set them before Yahweh at the entrance to ⁸ the Tent of Meeting. He is to draw lots for the two goats and allot one to ⁹ Yahweh and the other to Azazel. Aaron is to offer up the goat whose lot was ¹⁰ marked 'For Yahweh,' and offer it as a sacrifice for sin. The goat whose lot was marked 'For Azazel' shall be set before Yahweh, still alive; to perform the rite of atonement over it, sending it out into the desert to Azazel. ¹¹ "Aaron must offer the bull which is to be a sacrifice for his own sin, then he must perform the rite of atonement for himself and for his family, and immolate ¹² the bull. Then he is to fill a censer with live coals from the altar that stands before Yahweh; and to take two handfuls of finely ground aromatic incense. ¹³ He is to take these through the veil and then to put the incense on the fire before Yahweh, and with a cloud of incense he must cover the throne of mercy ¹⁴ that is on the Testimony; if he does this, he shall not die. Then he must take some of the blood of the bull and sprinkle it with his finger on the eastern side of the throne of mercy; in front of the throne of mercy he must sprinkle this blood ¹⁵ seven times with his finger. "He must then immolate the goat for the sacrifice for the sin of the people, and ¹⁶ take its blood through the veil. With this blood he is to do as with the blood of the bull, sprinkling it on the throne of mercy and in front of it. This is how ¹⁷ he is to perform the rite of atonement over the sanctuary for the uncleanness of the sons of Israel, for their transgressions and for all their sins. "This also is how he must deal with the Tent of Meeting which remains with them, surrounded by their uncleanness. Let no one stay in the Tent of Meeting, from the moment he enters to make atonement in the sanctuary until the time he comes out.

“When he has made atonement for himself, for his family, and for the whole community of Israel, he is to come out and go to the altar which is before Yahweh, and perform over it the rite of atonement. He must take some of the blood of the bull and of the goat, and put it on the horns around the altar. With this blood he must sprinkle the altar seven times with his finger. This is how he will render it clean and sacred, purified and separated from the uncleannesses of the sons of Israel.

“When the atonement of the sanctuary, the Tent of Meeting and the altar is complete, he is to bring the other goat that is still alive. Aaron must lay his hands on its head and confess all the faults of the sons of Israel, all their transgressions and all their sins, and lay them to its charge. Having thus laid them on the goat’s head, he shall send it out into the desert led by a man waiting ready, and the goat will bear all their faults away with it into a desert place.

“When he has sent the goat out into the wilderness, Aaron is to return to the Tent of Meeting and remove the linen vestments he wore to enter the sanctuary. He must leave them there and wash his body in a consecrated place. Then he is to put the vestments on again and go out to offer his own and the people’s holocaust. He must perform the rite of atonement for himself and for the people; he must burn up the fat of the sacrifice for sin on the altar.

“The man who leads out the goat to Azazel must wash his clothing and his body, and then he can return to the camp. The bull and the goat offered as a sacrifice for sin, whose blood has been taken into the sanctuary for the rite of atonement, are to be taken out of the camp where their skin, flesh and dung are to be burned. The man who burns them must wash his clothing and his body, and then he can return to the camp.

“This shall be a perpetual law for you.

“On the tenth day of the seventh month you must fast and refrain from work, the native and the stranger who lives among you. For this is the day on which the rite of atonement shall be performed over you, to purify you. Before Yahweh you will be clean of all your sins. It shall be a sabbath rest for you and you are to fast. This is a perpetual law.

“The rite of atonement must be performed by the priest who has been anointed and installed to officiate in place of his father. He is to put on the linen, the sacred vestments, and to perform the atonement of the sacred sanctuary, the Tent of Meeting and the altar. Then he must perform the rite of atonement over the priests and all the people of the community. This shall be a perpetual law for you; once a year the rite of atonement must be made over the sons of Israel for all their sins.”

And it was done as Yahweh commanded Moses.

IV. THE LAW OF HOLINESS

Immolation and sacrifice

17 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:
“Speak to Aaron and his sons and all the sons of Israel and say to them: This is the word of Yahweh, his command:

Any man of the House of Israel who immolates an ox, lamb or goat, whether inside the camp or outside it, must first bring it to the entrance to the Tent of Meeting to make an offering of it to Yahweh before his tabernacle; and anyone who fails to do this must answer for the blood that is spilt; he shall be outlawed from his people. Thus, the sacrifices that the sons of Israel wish to make 16 a. Azazel, in ancient Hebrew and Canaanite belief, is a demon of the desert. It will be noticed that the “scapegoat” is not sacrificed to Azazel.

in the open country will be brought to the priest, for Yahweh, at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting, and with them they will make communion sacrifices for Yahweh. The priest shall sprinkle the blood on the altar of Yahweh that stands at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting, and he shall burn the fat, and its fragrance will appease Yahweh. They must no longer offer their sacrifices to the satyrs^a in whose service they once prostituted themselves.^b This is a perpetual law for them and for their descendants.'

"You will also say to them, 'Any man of the House of Israel or stranger living among you who offers a holocaust or sacrifice without bringing it to the entrance to the Tent of Meeting to offer it to Yahweh shall be outlawed from his people.

'If any man of the House of Israel or stranger living among you eats blood of any kind, I will set my face against the man who has eaten the blood and will outlaw him from his people. The life of the flesh is in the blood. This blood I myself have given you to perform the rite of atonement for your lives at the altar; for it is blood that atones for a life. That is why I have said to the sons of Israel: None of you nor any stranger living among you shall eat blood.

'If any son of Israel or any stranger living among you catches game or bird that it is lawful to eat, he must pour out its blood and cover it with earth. For the life of all flesh is its blood, and I have said to the sons of Israel: You must not eat the blood of any flesh, for the life of all flesh is in its blood, and anyone who eats it shall be outlawed from his people.

'Anyone, native or stranger, who eats an animal that has died a natural death or been savaged by beasts must wash his clothing and wash himself; he shall be unclean until evening, then he will be clean. But if he does not wash his clothing and wash his body, he must bear the consequences of his fault.'

Rules for conjugal relationships

18 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

"Speak to the sons of Israel and say to them:

'I am Yahweh your God. You must not behave as they do in Egypt where once you lived; you must not behave as they do in Canaan where I am taking you. You must not follow their laws. You must follow my customs and keep my laws; by them you must lead your life.

'I am Yahweh your God. You must keep my laws and my customs. Whoever complies with them will find life in them.

I am Yahweh.

'None of you may approach a woman who is closely related to him, to uncover her nakedness. I am Yahweh.

'You must not uncover the nakedness of your father or mother. She is your mother—you must not uncover her nakedness.

'You must not uncover the nakedness of your father's wife; it is your father's nakedness.

'You must not uncover the nakedness of your sister, whether she is your father's or your mother's daughter. Whether she is born in the same house or elsewhere, you must not uncover her nakedness.

'You must not uncover the nakedness of the daughter of your son or daughter; for their nakedness is your own.

'You must not uncover the nakedness of the daughter of your father's wife, born of your father. She is your sister; you must not uncover her nakedness.

'You must not uncover the nakedness of your father's sister; for it is your father's flesh.

'You must not uncover the nakedness of your mother's sister; for it is your mother's flesh.

- 14 'You must not uncover the nakedness of your father's brother; you must therefore not approach his wife, for she is your aunt.
- 15 'You must not uncover the nakedness of your daughter-in-law. She is your son's wife; you must not uncover her nakedness.
- 16 'You must not uncover the nakedness of your brother's wife; for it is your brother's nakedness.
- 17 'You must not uncover the nakedness of a woman and of her daughter too; you must not take the daughter of her son or of her daughter to uncover their nakedness. They are your own flesh; it would be incest.
- 18 'You must not take into your harem a woman and her sister at the same time, uncovering the latter's nakedness while the former is still alive.
- 19 'You must not approach and uncover the nakedness of a woman who is unclean by reason of her monthly periods.
- 20 'You must not give your marriage bed to your neighbor's wife; you would thereby become unclean.
- 21 'You must not hand over any of your children to have them passed to Molech,^a nor must you profane the name of your God in this way, I am Yahweh.
- 22 'You must not lie with a man as with a woman. This is a hateful thing.
- 23 'You must not lie with any animal; you would thereby become unclean. A woman must not offer herself to an animal, to have intercourse with it. This would be a foul thing.
- 24 'Do not make yourselves unclean by any of these practices, for it was by such things that the nations that I have expelled to make way for you made themselves unclean.
- 25 'The land became unclean; I exacted the penalty for its fault and the land had to vomit out its inhabitants.
- 26 'But you must keep my laws and customs, you must not do any of these hateful things, neither native nor stranger living among you. 'For all these hateful things were done by the people who inhabited this land before you, and the land became unclean. 'If you make it unclean, will it not vomit you out as it vomited the nation that was here before you? 'Yes, anyone who does one of these hateful things, whatever it may be, any person doing so must be cut off from his people. 'Keep to my rules; do not observe the hateful practices that were observed before you came, then you will not be made unclean by them. I am Yahweh your God.'"

Worship

- 1 19 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:
- 2 "Speak to the whole community of the sons of Israel and say to them:
'Be holy, for I, Yahweh your God, am holy.
- 3 'Each of you must respect his father and mother.
'And you must keep my sabbaths; I am Yahweh your God.
- 4 'Do not turn to idols, and cast no gods of metal. I am Yahweh your God.
- 5 'If you offer a communion sacrifice to Yahweh, make yourselves acceptable and so offer it. 'It must be eaten the same day or the day after; whatever is left the day after must be burned. 'If eaten on the third day it would be a corrupt offering, it would not be acceptable. 'Anyone who eats it must bear the consequences of his fault, for he will have profaned the holiness of Yahweh; this person shall be outlawed from his people.
- 9 'When you gather the harvest of your land, you are not to harvest to the very

10 end of the field. You are not to gather the gleanings of the harvest. •You are neither to strip your vine bare nor to collect the fruit that has fallen in your vineyard. You must leave them for the poor and the stranger. I am Yahweh your God.

11 •You must not steal nor deal deceitfully or fraudulently with your neighbor.

12 You must not swear falsely by my name, profaning the name of your God. I am

13 Yahweh. •You must not exploit or rob your neighbor. You must not keep back 14 the laborer's wage until next morning. •You must not curse the dumb, nor put an obstacle in the blind man's way, but you must fear your God. I am Yahweh.

15 •You must not be guilty of unjust verdicts. You must neither be partial to the little man nor overawed by the great; you must pass judgment on your neighbor

16 according to justice. •You must not slander your own people, and you must not jeopardize your neighbor's life. I am Yahweh. •You must not bear hatred for

17 your brother in your heart. You must openly tell him, your neighbor, of his offense; this way you will not take a sin upon yourself. •You must not exact 18 vengeance, nor must you bear a grudge against the children of your people. You must love your neighbor as yourself. I am Yahweh.

19 •You must keep my laws.

•You are not to mate your cattle with those of another kind; you are not to sow two kinds of grain in your field; you are not to wear a garment made from two kinds of fabric.

20 •If a man sleeps with a woman as though married to her, she being another's concubine slave not yet purchased or given her freedom, then the man is to be

21 answerable for infringement of rights, but he shall not be put to death, since she was not a free woman. •He must bring a sacrifice of reparation for Yahweh

22 to the entrance to the Tent of Meeting. This is to be a ram of reparation. •With this ram of reparation the priest must perform the rite of atonement over the man before Yahweh for the sin committed; and the sin he has committed will be forgiven.

23 •Once you have entered this land and planted a fruit tree of any sort, you are to regard its fruits as its foreskin.^a For three years it shall be a thing uncircum-

24 cised, and you must not eat it. •In the fourth year, all the fruit shall be consecrated to Yahweh in a feast of praise. •In the fifth year you may eat the fruit and gather the produce for yourselves. I am Yahweh your God.

25 •You must eat nothing with blood in it. You must not practice divination or magic.

26 ^b•You are not to round off your hair at the edges nor trim the edges of your beard. •You are not to gash your bodies when someone dies, and you are not to tattoo yourselves. I am Yahweh.

27 •Do not profane your daughter by making her a prostitute; thus the land will not be prostituted and filled with incest.

28 •You must keep my sabbaths and reverence my sanctuary. I am Yahweh.

29 •Do not have recourse to the spirits of the dead or to magicians; they will defile you. I am Yahweh your God.

30 •You are to rise up before gray hairs, you are to honor old age and fear your God. I am Yahweh.

31 •If a stranger lives with you in your land, do not molest him. •You must count him as one of your own countrymen and love him as yourself—for you were once strangers yourselves in Egypt. I am Yahweh your God.

32 •Your legal verdicts, your measures—length, weight and capacity—must all be just. •Your scales and weights must be just, a just ephah and a just hin. I am Yahweh who brought you out of the land of Egypt.

33 •Keep all my laws and customs, put them into practice. I am Yahweh.'"

Penaltiesa. Offenses against true worship

¹ 20 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

² "Tell the sons of Israel:

'Any son of Israel or any stranger living in Israel must die if he hands over any of his children to Molech. The people of the country must stone him, ³ and I shall set my face against that man and outlaw him from his people; for in handing over his children to Molech he has defiled my sanctuary and profaned ⁴ my holy name. If the people of the country choose to close their eyes to the man's action in handing over his children to Molech, and they do not put him ⁵ to death, I myself shall turn my face against him and his clan. I shall outlaw them from their people, him and all those after him who prostitute themselves by following Molech.

⁶ 'If a man has recourse to the spirits of the dead or to magicians, to prostitute himself by following them, I shall set my face against that man and outlaw him from his people.

⁷ 'You must make yourselves holy, for I am Yahweh your God.

b. Offenses against the family

⁸ 'You must keep my laws and put them into practice, for it is I, Yahweh, who ⁹ make you holy. Hence:

'Anyone who curses father or mother must die. Since he has cursed his father or mother, his blood shall be on his own head.

¹⁰ 'The man who commits adultery with a married woman:

'The man who commits adultery with his neighbor's wife must die, he and his accomplice.

¹¹ 'The man who lies with his father's wife has uncovered his father's nakedness. Both of them must die, their blood shall be on their own heads, ¹² 'The man who lies with his daughter-in-law: both of them must die; they have defiled each other, their blood shall be on their own heads.

¹³ 'The man who lies with a man in the same way as with a woman: they have done a hateful thing together; they must die, their blood shall be on their own heads.

¹⁴ 'The man who takes a woman and her mother to wife: that is incest. They must be burned to death—he and they: there must be no incest among you.

¹⁵ 'The man who lies with an animal: he must die and the animal must be killed.

¹⁶ 'The woman who approaches any animal to have intercourse with it: you shall kill the woman and the animal. They must die, their blood shall be on their own heads.

¹⁹ 'You must not uncover the nakedness of your mother's sister or of your father's sister, a man has thus uncovered his own flesh, and they must bear the consequences of their fault.

²⁰ 'The man who lies with the wife of his paternal uncle: he has uncovered his uncle's nakedness, they must bear the consequences of their fault and die childless.

²¹ 'The man who takes to wife the wife of his brother: that is impurity; he has uncovered his brother's nakedness, and they shall die childless.

c. Appendix: the clean and the unclean

22 'You must keep all my laws, all my customs, and put them into practice: thus 23 you will not be vomited out by the land where I am taking you to live. 'You must not follow the laws of the nations that I expel to make way for you; they 24 practiced all these things and for this I have come to detest them. 'I have told you already: You shall take possession of their soil, I myself will give you possession of it, a land where milk and honey flow.

25 'I, Yahweh your God, have set you apart from these peoples. 'Therefore you must set the clean animal apart from the unclean, the unclean bird apart from the clean. Do not defile yourselves with these animals or birds, or things that creep on the ground: I have made you set them apart as unclean.

Conclusion

26 'Be consecrated to me, because I, Yahweh, am holy, and I will set you apart from all these peoples so that you may be mine.

27 'Any man or woman who is a necromancer or magician must be put to death by stoning; their blood shall be on their own heads.'

The holiness of the priesthood

a. The priests

1 21 Yahweh said to Moses:

"Speak to the priests, the sons of Aaron, and say to them:

'None of them is to make himself unclean by going near the corpse of one of 2 his family, 'unless it be of his closest relations—father, mother, son, daughter, 3 brother. 'He may also make himself unclean for his virgin sister: if she is still 4 a close relation since she has not belonged to a man. 'If a husband, he must not make himself unclean for his family; in doing so he would profane himself.

5 'They must not wear tonsures, shave the edges of their beards, or gash their 6 bodies. 'They shall be consecrated to their God and must not profane the name of their God. For it is they who bring the burnt offerings to Yahweh, the food of their God; and they must be in a holy condition.

7 'They must not marry a woman profaned by prostitution, or one divorced by her husband; for the priest is consecrated to his God.

8 'You shall treat him as holy, for he offers up the food of your God. He shall be a holy person to you, because I, Yahweh, am holy, who sanctify you.

9 'If the daughter of a man who is a priest profanes herself by prostitution, she profanes her father and must be burned to death.

b. The high priest

10 'The priest who is pre-eminent over his brother, on whose head the chrism is poured, and who, clothed with the sacred robes, receives investiture, is not to 11 disorder his hair or tear his garments; 'he must not go near a dead man's corpse, 12 he must not make himself unclean even for his father or mother. 'He must not leave the holy place, so that he may not profane the sanctuary of his God; for he bears on himself the consecration of his God, given by the oil of anointing.
I am Yahweh.

13 'He must take to wife a woman who is still a virgin. 'He must not marry a 14 woman who is a widow or divorced, or profaned by prostitution: only a virgin 15 from his own family may he take to wife. 'He must not profane his levitical descendants, for it is I, Yahweh, who have sanctified him.'

c. Impediments to the priesthood

16 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

17 "Speak to Aaron and say:

'None of your descendants, in any generation, must come forward to offer

- 18 the food of his God if he has any infirmity—no man must come near if he has an infirmity such as blindness or lameness, if he is disfigured or deformed, if he has an injured foot or arm, if he is a hunchback or a dwarf, if he has a disease of the eyes or of the skin, if he has a running sore, or if he is a eunuch.
- 21 No descendant of Aaron the priest must come forward to offer the burnt offerings of Yahweh if he has any infirmity; if he has an infirmity, he must not come forward to offer the food of his God.
- 22 'He may eat the food of his God, things most holy and things holy; but he must not go near the veil or approach the altar, because he has an infirmity, and must not profane my holy things; for it is I, Yahweh, who have sanctified them.' "
- 24 And Moses told this to Aaron, to his sons, and to all the sons of Israel.

Holiness in consuming the sacred meal

a. The priests

- 1 22 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:
- 2 "Speak to Aaron and his sons: let them be consecrated through the holy offerings of the sons of Israel, and not profane my holy name; for my sake they are to sanctify it; I am Yahweh. Tell them this:
- 3 'Any one of your descendants, in any generation, who in a state of uncleanness approaches the holy offerings consecrated to Yahweh by the sons of Israel, shall be outlawed from my presence. I am Yahweh.
- 4 'Anyone of Aaron's line who is afflicted with leprosy or with a discharge must not eat holy things until he is clean. Anyone who touches something made unclean by a dead body, or has a seminal discharge, or is made unclean by touching either some creeping thing or some man who has communicated to him his own uncleanness of whatever kind, in short, anyone who has had any such contact shall be unclean until evening, and must not eat holy things until he has washed his body. At sunset he will be clean and may then eat holy things, for these are his food.
- 8 'He must not eat an animal that has died a natural death or been savaged by beasts; he would contract uncleanness from it. I am Yahweh.
- 9 'Let them keep my rules and not burden themselves with sin. If they profane them, they shall die: it is I, Yahweh, who have sanctified them.

b. Lay people

- 10 'No lay person may eat holy things: neither the guest of a priest, nor his hired servant. But if the priest has acquired a slave by purchase, the slave may eat them like anyone born in the house; for they eat his own food.
- 12 'If a priest's daughter marries a layman, she must not eat the holy portion set aside; but if she is widowed or divorced and, being childless, has had to return to her father's house as when she was young, she may eat her father's food.
- 14 No lay person may eat of it; if someone does eat a holy thing by inadvertence, he shall restore it to the priest with one fifth added.
- 15 'They must not profane the holy offerings which the sons of Israel have set aside for Yahweh. To eat these would lay on them a fault demanding a sacrifice of reparation; for it is I, Yahweh, who have sanctified these offerings.' "

c. Animals sacrificed

- 17 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:
- 18 "Tell this to Aaron, to his sons, and to all the sons of Israel:
- 19 'Any man of the House of Israel or any stranger living in Israel who brings an offering either in payment of a vow or as a voluntary gift, and makes a holocaust with it for Yahweh, must, if he is to be acceptable, offer a male without blemish, ox, sheep or goat. You must not offer one that is blemished; for it would not make you acceptable.
- 21 'If anyone offers to Yahweh a communion sacrifice, either to fulfill a vow or as a voluntary offering, the animal—from the herd or from the flock—must 22 be without blemish if it is to be acceptable; no defect must be found in it. You must not offer to Yahweh an animal that is blind, lame, mutilated, ulcerous, or suffering from skin disease or sore. No part of such an animal shall be laid on the 23 altar as a burnt offering for Yahweh. As a voluntary offering, you may offer a bull or a lamb that is underdeveloped or deformed; but such will not be 24 acceptable in payment of a vow. An animal must not be offered to Yahweh if its testicles have been bruised, crushed, removed or cut. You are not to do that 25 in your country, and you are not to accept any such from the hands of a stranger, to be offered as food for your God. Their deformity is a blemish, and they would not make you acceptable.’”

26 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

27 “A calf, lamb, or kid shall stay with its dam seven days after birth. From the 28 eighth day it will be acceptable as a burnt offering to Yahweh. But no animal, whether cow or ewe, shall be immolated on the same day as its young.

29 “If you offer Yahweh a sacrifice with praise, do it in the acceptable manner; 30 it must be eaten the same day, with nothing left till the morning. I am Yahweh.

d. Final exhortation

31 “You must keep my commands and put them into practice. I am Yahweh.
 32 You must not profane my holy name, so that I may be proclaimed holy among 33 the sons of Israel, I, Yahweh who sanctify you. I who brought you out of the land of Egypt to be your God, I am Yahweh.”

The ritual for the annual feasts

1 23 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

2 “Speak to the sons of Israel and say to them:

(the solemn festivals of Yahweh to which you summon them are sacred assemblies)

‘These are my solemn festivals.

a. Sabbath

3 ‘You may work for six days, but the seventh must be a day of complete rest, a day for the sacred assembly on which you do no work at all. Wherever you live, this is a sabbath for Yahweh.

4 ‘These are Yahweh’s solemn festiva’s, the sacred assemblies to which you are to summon the sons of Israel on the appointed day.

b. The Passover and the feast of Unleavened Bread

5 ‘The fourteenth day of the first month, between the two evenings, is the 6 Passover of Yahweh; and the fifteenth day of the same month is the feast of Unleavened Bread for Yahweh. For seven days you shall eat bread without 7 leaven. On the first day you are to hold a sacred assembly; you must do no heavy 8 work. For seven days you shall offer a burnt offering to Yahweh. The seventh day is to be a day of assembly; you must do no work.’ ”

c. The first sheaf

9 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

10 “Speak to the sons of Israel and say to them:

‘When you enter the land that I give you, and gather in the harvest there, 11 you must bring the first sheaf of your harvest to the priest, and he is to present it to Yahweh with the gesture of offering, so that you may be acceptable. The 12 priest shall make this offering on the day after the sabbath, and on the same day as you make this offering, you are to offer Yahweh the holocaust of an unblemished 13 lamb one year old. The oblation for that day shall be two tenths of wheaten flour mixed with oil, a burnt offering whose fragrance will appease Yahweh. The 14 libation is to be one quarter of a hin of wine. •You are to eat no bread, roasted corn or baked bread, before this day, before making the offering to your God. This is a perpetual law for all your descendants, wherever you live.

d. The feast of Weeks

15 •From the day after the sabbath, the day on which you bring the sheaf of 16 offering, you are to count seven full weeks. •You are to count fifty days, to the day 17 after the seventh sabbath, and then you are to offer Yahweh a new oblation. •You must bring bread from your houses to present with the gesture of offering—two 18 loaves, made of two tenths of wheaten flour baked with leaven; these are first fruits for Yahweh. •In addition to the bread you must offer seven unblemished 19 lambs one year old, a young bull and two rams, as a holocaust to Yahweh, together with an oblation and a libation, a burnt offering whose fragrance will 20 appease Yahweh. •You are also to offer a goat as a sacrifice for sin, and two lambs one year old as a communion sacrifice. •The priest shall present them before Yahweh with the gesture of offering, in addition to the bread of the first fruits.
These, and the two lambs, are holy things for Yahweh, and will revert to the priest.

21 •This same day you are to hold an assembly; this shall be a sacred assembly for you; you will do no heavy work. This is a perpetual law for your descendants, wherever you live.

22 •When you gather the harvest in your country, you are not to harvest to the very end of your field, and you are not to gather the gleanings of the harvest. You are to leave them for the poor and the stranger. I am Yahweh your God.’”

e. The First Day of the Seventh Month

23 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

24 “Speak to the sons of Israel and say to them:

25 “The first day of the seventh month” shall be a day of rest for you, a sacred assembly proclaimed with trumpet call. •You must not do any heavy work and you must offer a burnt offering to Yahweh.’”

f. The Day of Atonement

26 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

27 “But the tenth day of this seventh month shall be the Day of Atonement. You are to hold a sacred assembly. You must fast, and you must offer a burnt offering to 28 Yahweh. •You are not to do any work that day, for it is the Day of Atonement, on which the rite of atonement will be performed over you before Yahweh your 29 God. •Indeed, anyone who fails to fast that day shall be outlawed from his people; 30 anyone who works that day I will remove from his people. •No work must 31 be done—this is a perpetual law for your descendants wherever you live. •This 32 is to be a day of sabbath rest for you. You must fast; on the evening of the ninth day of the month, from this to the following evening, you must cease to work.”

g. The feast of Tabernacles

33 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

34 “Speak to the sons of Israel and say to them:

35 “The fifteenth day of this seventh month shall be the feast of Tabernacles for Yahweh, lasting seven days. •The first day is a day of sacred assembly; you 36 must do no heavy work. •For seven days you must offer a burnt offering to Yahweh. On the eighth day you are to hold a sacred assembly, you must offer a burnt offering to Yahweh. It is a day of solemn meeting; you must do no heavy work.

23 a. The first day of each month (New Moon) was observed as a feast. The first day of the seventh month was a Greater Feast, and for a long time was the beginning of the new year.

Conclusion

37 'These are the solemn festivals of Yahweh to which you are to summon the children of Israel, sacred assemblies for the purpose of offering burnt offerings, holocausts, oblations, sacrifices and libations to Yahweh, according to the ritual 38 of each day, besides the sabbaths of Yahweh and the presents, and the votive and voluntary gifts that you make to Yahweh.

Recapitulation on the feast of Tabernacles

39 'But on the fifteenth day of the seventh month, when you have harvested the produce of the land, you are to celebrate the feast of Yahweh for seven days. On 40 the first and eighth days there shall be a complete rest. 'On the first day you shall take choice fruits, palm branches, boughs of leafy trees and willows from the river bank, and for seven days you shall rejoice in the presence of Yahweh your 41 God. 'You are to celebrate a feast for Yahweh in this way for seven days every year. This is a perpetual law for your descendants.

42 'You are to keep this feast in the seventh month. 'For seven days you are 43 to live in shelters: all natives of Israel must live in shelters, so that your descendants may know that I made the sons of Israel live in shelters when I brought them out of the land of Egypt. I am Yahweh your God.'"

44 And Moses described the solemn festivals of Yahweh to the sons of Israel.

Complementary ritual prescriptions

a. The perpetual flame

1 24 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:
2 "Order the sons of Israel to bring you pure olive oil for the lampstand, and 3 keep a flame burning there continually. 'Outside the veil of Testimony, in the Tent of Meeting, Aaron is to see to this flame. It shall burn there before Yahweh from evening to morning continually. This is a perpetual law for your descendants: 4 Aaron is to see to the lamps on the pure lampstand before Yahweh, continually.

b. The bread on the Golden Table

5 "You are to take wheaten flour and with it bake twelve cobs, each of two tenths 6 of an ephah. 'Then you must set them in two rows of six on the pure table that 7 stands before Yahweh. 'On each row you shall place pure incense. This will be 8 the food offered as a memorial, a burnt offering for Yahweh. 'Continually, every sabbath they shall be set before Yahweh. The sons of Israel are to provide 9 them by unending covenant. 'They will belong to Aaron and his sons, who shall eat them in a holy place, for they are a most holy portion for him of Yahweh's burnt offerings. This is a perpetual law."

A case of blasphemy. The law of retaliation

10 There was a man whose mother was an Israelite woman and whose father was an Egyptian. He came out of his house and in the camp, surrounded by the 11 sons of Israel, he began to quarrel with a man who was an Israelite. 'Now this son of the Israelite woman blasphemed the name and cursed it. So they brought him to Moses (his mother's name was Shelomith daughter of Dibri, of the tribe 12 of Dan.) 'He was put under guard until the will of Yahweh should be made clear to them.

13 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

14 "Take the man who pronounced the curse outside the camp. Let all who have heard him lay their hands on his head, and let the whole community stone 15 him. 'Then say to the sons of Israel:

16 'Any man who curses his God shall bear the burden of his fault. 'The one who blasphemes the name of Yahweh must die; the whole community must stone him. Stranger or native, if he blasphemes the name, he dies.

17 'If a man strikes down any human being, he must die.

18 'If a man strikes an animal down he must make restitution for it: a life for a life.

19 'If a man injures his neighbor, what he has done must be done to him: broken limb for broken limb, eye for eye, tooth for tooth. As the injury inflicted, 20 so must be the injury suffered. 'The one who strikes an animal down must 21 make restitution for it, and the one who strikes down a man must die. 'The sentence you pass shall be the same whether it be on native or on stranger; for I am Yahweh your God.'

22 When Moses had said this to the sons of Israel, they took the man who had pronounced the curse out of the camp and stoned him. In this way the sons of Israel carried out the order of Yahweh to Moses.

The Holy Years

a. The Sabbatical Year

1 25 Yahweh spoke to Moses on Mount Sinai; he said:

2 "Speak to the sons of Israel and say to them:

'When you enter the land that I am giving you, the land is to keep a sabbath's 3 rest for Yahweh. 'For six years you shall sow your field, for six years you shall 4 prune your vine and gather its produce. 'But in the seventh year the land is to have its rest, a sabbath for Yahweh. You must not sow your field or prune your 5 vine, 'or harvest your ungathered corn or gather grapes from your untrimmed 6 vine. It is to be a year of rest for the land. 'The sabbath of the land will itself feed you and your servants, men and women, your hired laborer, your guest, 7 and all who live with you. 'For your cattle too, and the animals on your land, all its produce will serve as food.

b. The Year of Jubilee

8 'You are to count seven weeks of years—seven times seven years, that is to say 9 a period of seven weeks of years, forty-nine years. 'And on the tenth day of the seventh month you shall sound the trumpet; on the Day of Atonement you shall 10 sound the trumpet throughout the land. 'You will declare this fiftieth year sacred and proclaim the liberation of all the inhabitants of the land. This is to be a jubilee for you; each of you will return to his ancestral home, each to his own 11 clan. 'This fiftieth year is to be a jubilee year for you; you will not sow, you will not harvest the ungathered corn, you will not gather from the untrimmed vine. 12 The jubilee is to be a holy thing to you, you will eat what comes from the fields.

13 'In this year of jubilee each of you is to return to his ancestral home. 'If you 14 buy or sell with your neighbor, let no one wrong his brother. 'If you buy from your neighbor, this must take into account the number of years since the 15 jubilee: according to the number of productive years he will fix the price. 'The greater the number of years, the higher shall be the price demanded; the less the number of years, the greater the reduction; for what he is selling you is a 16 certain number of harvests. 'Let none of you wrong his neighbor, but fear your God; I am Yahweh your God.

17 'You must put my laws and customs into practice; you must keep them, 18 practice them; and so you shall be secure in your possession of the land. 'The land will give its fruit, you will eat your fill and live in security.

The divine guarantee

20 'In case you should ask: What shall we eat in this seventh year if we do not 21 sow or harvest the produce? 'I have ordered my blessing to be on you every sixth year, which will therefore provide for you for three years.^a 'You will have 22 the old produce to eat while you are sowing in the eighth year and even as late 25 a. I.e., enough for the sabbatical year and a jubilee year which might follow it, and the next year as well, since there would be no autumn sowing in jubilee year.

as the ninth year; you will eat the old produce, while waiting for the harvest of that year.

Consequences of the holiness of land and people

a. The land: redemption of landed property

23 'Land must not be sold in perpetuity, for the land belongs to me, and to me 24 you are only strangers and guests. 'You will allow a right of redemption on all 25 your landed property. 'If your brother falls on evil days and has to sell his patrimony, his nearest relation shall come to him and exercise his right of redemp-26 tion on what his brother has sold. 'The man who has no one to exercise this right can regain his property in this way: when he has found the means to effect 27 the redemption, 'he is to calculate the number of years that the alienation would have lasted, repay to the purchaser the sum due for the time still to run, and so 28 return to his property. 'If he cannot find the sum for paying the compensation, the property sold shall remain in the possession of the purchaser until the jubilee year. In the jubilee year, the latter must relinquish it and return to his own property.

29 'If anyone sells a dwelling house that is in a walled town, he shall have the right of redemption until the expiry of the year following the sale. His right of redem-30 ption is limited to the year; 'and if the redemption has not been effected by the end of the year, this house in the town shall be the property of the purchaser 31 and his descendants in perpetuity; he need not relinquish it at the jubilee. 'But houses in villages not enclosed by walls will be considered as situated in the open country; they carry the right of redemption, and the purchaser must relinquish them at the jubilee.

32 'As regards the towns of the Levites, any property in the towns possessed by 33 them shall carry a perpetual right of redemption in their favor. 'If it is a Levite who is affected by the right of redemption, at the jubilee he must come out of the property that was sold and return to his house, to the town in which he has a title to property. For the houses in the towns of the Levites are their property 34 in the midst of the sons of Israel, 'and the arable land depending on these towns cannot be sold, for it is their property for ever.

b. The people: loans and enfranchisement

35 'If your brother who is living with you falls on evil days and is unable to support himself with you, you must support him as you would a stranger or a guest, 36 and he must continue to live with you. 'Do not make him work for you, do not take interest from him; fear your God, and let your brother live with you. 'You 37 are not to lend him money at interest, or give him food to make a profit out of it.
38 I am Yahweh your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt to give you the land of Canaan and to be your God.

39 'If your brother falls on evil days when he is with you and sells himself to 40 you, you must not impose a slave's work on him; 'he shall be like a hired man or a guest, and shall work with you until the jubilee year. 'Then he shall leave you, 41 he and his children: he shall return to his clan and regain possession of his ancestral property. 'For they are my servants, these whom I have brought out of 42 Egypt, and they must not be sold like slaves. 'You must not be a hard master 43 to him, but you must fear your God.

44 'The servants you have, men and women, shall come from the nations around 45 you; from these you may purchase servants, men and women. 'You may also purchase them from the children of the strangers who live among you, and from their families living with you who have been born on your soil. They shall be 46 your property 'and you may leave them as an inheritance to your sons after you, to hold in perpetual possession. These you may have for slaves; but to your brothers, the sons of Israel, you must not be hard masters.

47 'If some stranger or settler among you grows rich, and your brother falls on evil days and is in difficulties with him and sells himself to him, to his stranger

48 or settler among you or to one of his descendants, he shall enjoy the right of 49 redemption after sale, and one of his brothers may redeem him. His paternal uncle, his uncle's son, or a member of his own family may redeem him; if he has 50 the means, he may redeem himself. By agreement with his purchaser, he must count the number of years between the year of sale and the jubilee year; the sum of the price of sale must be calculated at the annual rate for these years, his time 51 being valued as that of a hired man. If there are still many years to run, in proportion to their number he must refund part of his price as payment for 52 his redemption. And if there are only a few years still to run before the jubilee year, he must calculate in proportion to the number of these years what shall be 53 refunded for his redemption, the calculation being made as if he were hired by the year. You must see that the man is not hardly dealt with.

54 'If he has not been redeemed in any of these ways, he shall go free in the jubilee 55 year, he and his children with him. For they are my servants, these sons of Israel; they are my servants whom I have brought out of the land of Egypt. I am Yahweh your God.

Summary: conclusion

1 26 'You must make no idols; you must set up neither carved image nor standing stone, set up no sculptured stone in your land, to prostrate 2 yourselves in front of it; for it is I, Yahweh, who am your God. You must keep my sabbaths and reverence my sanctuary. I am Yahweh.

Blessings

3 'If you live according to my laws, if you keep my commandments and put 4 them into practice, I will give you the rain you need at the right time; the 5 earth shall give its produce and the trees of the countryside their fruits; you shall thresh until vintage time and gather grapes until sowing time. You shall eat your fill of bread and live secure in your land.

6 'I will give peace to the land, and you shall sleep with none to frighten you.
 I will rid the land of beasts of prey. The sword shall not pass through your land.

7 You shall pursue your enemies and they shall fall before your sword; five of 8 you pursuing a hundred of them, one hundred pursuing ten thousand; and your enemies shall fall before your sword.

9 'I will turn toward you, I will make you be fruitful and multiply, and I will uphold my Covenant with you.

10 'You shall eat your fill of last year's harvest, and still throw out the old to make room for the new.

11 'I will set up my dwelling among you, and I will not cast you off. I will 12 live in your midst; I will be your God and you shall be my people. It is I, 13 Yahweh your God, who have brought you out of the land of Egypt so that you should be their servants no longer. I have broken the yoke that bound you and have made you walk with head held high.

Curses

14 'But if you do not listen to me, and do not observe each one of these 15 commandments, if you refuse my laws and disregard my customs, and break 16 my Covenant by not observing each one of my commandments, then I will deal in like manner with you.

'I will inflict terror on you, consumption and fever that waste the eyes away and exhaust the breath of life. You shall sow your seed in vain—your enemies 17 shall feed on it. I will turn against you and you shall be defeated by your enemies.
 Your foes shall have the mastery over you, and you shall take flight when there is no one pursuing you.

18 'And if, in spite of this, you do not listen to me, I will still punish 19 you sevenfold for your sins. I will break your proud strength. I will give you

- 20 a sky of iron, an earth of bronze. •You shall wear out your strength in vain, your land shall not yield its produce any longer nor the trees their fruit.
- 21 'If you set yourselves against me and will not listen to me, I will heap these
- 22 plagues on you in sevenfold punishment for your sins. •I will let wild beasts loose against you to make away with your children, destroy your cattle, and reduce you in number until your roads are deserted.
- 23 'And if that does not reform you, and you still set yourselves against me,
- 24 I too will set myself against you and I will strike you with sevenfold punishment
- 25 for your sins. •I will send out the sword against you, to avenge the Covenant. You may huddle inside your towns: I will send pestilence among you, and you
- 26 shall be delivered into the hands of the enemy. •I will take away from you your bread, which is your staff, and one oven shall suffice for ten women to bake your bread; they shall dole this bread out by weight, and you shall eat and not be filled.
- 27 'And if, in spite of this, you do not listen to me but set yourselves against me,
- 28 I will set myself against you in fury and punish you sevenfold for your sins.
- 29 You shall eat the flesh of your own sons, and you shall eat the flesh of your
- 30 own daughters. •I will destroy your high places and smash your altars of incense; I will pile your corpses on the corpses of your idols, and I will cast
- 31 you off. •I will reduce your cities to ruins; I will lay your sanctuaries waste;
- 32 I will no longer breathe the fragrance that would appease me. •I, yes I, will make such a desolation of the land that your enemies who come to live there
- 33 will be appalled by it. •And I will scatter you among the nations. I will unsheathe
- 34 the sword against you to make your land a waste and your towns a ruin. •Then the land will observe its sabbaths indeed, lying desolate there, while you are in
- 35 the land of your enemies. Then indeed the land will rest and observe its sabbaths. And as it lies desolate it will rest, as it never did on your sabbaths when you
- 36 lived in it. •I will strike fear into the hearts of those of you that are left; in the land of their enemies the sound of a falling leaf shall send them fleeing as men
- 37 flee from the sword, and they shall fall though there is no one pursuing them. They shall stumble over one another as if the sword were upon them even when
- 38 there is no one pursuing them. You shall be powerless to stand before your enemies; you shall perish among the nations, and the land of your enemies shall swallow
- 39 you up. •For their sins, those of you who are left shall perish in the lands of their enemies; they shall perish too for the sins of their fathers added to their own.
- 40 Then they shall confess their sins and the sins of their fathers, sins by which they betrayed me—worse, by which they set themselves against me.
- 41 'I in my turn will set myself against them and take them to the land of their enemies. Then their uncircumcised heart will be humbled, then they will atone
- 42 for their sins. •I shall remember my Covenant with Jacob, and my Covenant with Isaac and my Covenant with Abraham; and I shall remember the land.
- 43 'Abandoned by them, the land will keep its sabbaths, as it lies desolate when they are gone. But they must atone for their sin, for they have spurned my
- 44 customs and abhorred my laws.
- 45 'Yet this is not the end. When they are in the land of their enemies, I will not so spurn them or abhor them as to destroy them altogether and break my
- 46 Covenant with them; for I am Yahweh their God. •For their sake I will remember the Covenant I made with those first generations that I brought out of the land of Egypt in the sight of the nations, that I would be their God, I, Yahweh.'"
- 46 These are the laws, customs and rules which Yahweh laid down between himself and the sons of Israel on Mount Sinai through the mediation of Moses.

Tariffs and estimates

a. Persons

1 27 Yahweh spoke to Moses; he said:

2 "Speak to the sons of Israel and tell them:

'If anyone vows the value of a person to Yahweh and wishes to discharge the vow:

- 3 'a man between twenty and sixty years of age shall be valued at fifty silver 4 shekels—the sanctuary shekel; a woman shall be valued at thirty shekels; 5 'between five and twenty years, a boy shall be valued at twenty shekels, a girl at ten shekels;
6 'between one month and five years, a boy shall be valued at five silver shekels, a girl at three silver shekels; 7 'at sixty years and over, a man shall be valued at fifteen shekels and a woman at ten shekels.
8 'If the person who made the vow cannot meet this valuation, he must present the person concerned to the priest, and the priest shall set a value proportionate to the resources of the person who made the vow.

b. Animals

- 9 'If it is a question of an animal suitable for offering to Yahweh, any such 10 animal given to Yahweh shall be a consecrated thing. It cannot be exchanged or a substitute offered—good for bad, bad for good. If one animal is substituted 11 for another, both of them shall be consecrated. If it is a question of an unclean animal, and not suitable for offering to Yahweh, whatever it may be it must be 12 presented to the priest and he shall set a value on it, judging it good or bad.
13 You must abide by his valuation; but if the person wishes to redeem it, he must add one fifth to the valuation.

c. Houses

- 14 'If a man consecrates his house to Yahweh, the priest shall set a value on it, judging whether its value is great or little. You must abide by the priest's valuation, 15 but if the man who has vowed his house wishes to redeem it, he must add one fifth to the valuation, and it shall revert to him.

d. Fields

- 16 'If a man consecrates one of the fields of his patrimony to Yahweh, its value shall be calculated according to its productivity, at the rate of fifty silver shekels to one omer of barley.
17 'If he consecrates the field during the jubilee year, he must stand by this 18 valuation. But if he consecrates it after the jubilee, the priest shall calculate the price on the basis of the number of years still to run until the next jubilee and the valuation shall be reduced accordingly.
19 'If he wishes to redeem the field, he shall add one fifth to the valuation, and the 20 field shall revert to him. If he does not redeem it but sells it to another, the right 21 of redemption ceases; when the buyer has to relinquish it at the jubilee year, it becomes a thing consecrated to Yahweh, the same as a field laid under ban:
the man's property passes to the priest.
22 'If he consecrates to Yahweh a field which he has bought, but which is not 23 part of his patrimony, the priest shall assess the valuation on the basis of the number of years still to run before the jubilee year; and the man shall pay this 24 sum the same day, as for a thing consecrated to Yahweh. In the jubilee year, the field shall return to the seller, to the man to whose patrimony the land belongs.
25 All valuation must be made in sanctuary shekels, at the rate of twenty gerahs to the shekel.

Particular rules for the redemption

a. of first-born

- 26 'No one, however, may consecrate the first-born of his cattle, for it belongs to 27 Yahweh by right: whether ox or sheep, it belongs to Yahweh. But if it is an unclean animal it may be repurchased at the valuation price with one fifth added; if it is not redeemed, the animal shall be sold at the valuation price.

b. of things under the ban

- ²⁸ 'Nothing, however, that a man lays under ban for Yahweh may be redeemed; nothing he possesses, whether man, beasts, or fields of his patrimony. What is
- ²⁹ laid under ban is always a most holy thing and belongs to Yahweh. 'A human being laid under ban cannot be redeemed, he must be put to death.

c. of tithes

- ³⁰ 'All tithes of the land, levied on the produce of the earth or the fruits of trees,
- ³¹ belong to Yahweh; they are consecrated to Yahweh. 'If a man wishes to redeem part of his tithe, he must add one fifth to its value.
- ³² 'In all tithes of flock or herd, the tenth animal of all that pass under the
- ³³ herdsman's staff shall be a thing consecrated to Yahweh; 'there must be no picking out of good and bad, no substitution. If substitution takes place, both the animal and its substitute shall be things consecrated without possibility of redemption.' "
- ³⁴ These are the commandments that Yahweh laid down for Moses on Mount Sinai, for the sons of Israel.

NUMBERS

I. THE CENSUS

¹ 1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, in the wilderness of Sinai, in the Tent of Meeting, on the first day of the second month, in the second year after the exodus from the land of Egypt. He said:

² "Take a census of the whole community of Israel's sons, by clans and families, taking a count of the names of all the males, head by head. Every man of Israel, twenty years of age and over, fit to bear arms, must be registered by you and Aaron and assigned to his fighting station. You are to take a man from each tribe, the head of his family, to help you in this.

The census officials

⁵ "These are the names of those who are to be your helpers:

For Reuben, Elizur son of Shedeur.

⁶ For Simeon, Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai.

⁷ For Judah, Nahshon son of Amminadab.

⁸ For Issachar, Nethanel son of Zuar.

⁹ For Zebulun, Eliab son of Helon.

¹⁰ Of the sons of Joseph: for Ephraim, Elishama son of Ammihud; for Manasseh, Gamaliel son of Pedahzur.

¹¹ For Benjamin, Abidan son of Gideoni.

¹² For Dan, Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai.

¹³ For Asher, Pagiel son of Ochran.

¹⁴ For Gad, Eliasaph son of Reuel.

¹⁵ For Naphtali, Ahira son of Enan."

¹⁶ These were men of repute in the community; they were leaders of their ancestral clans, chiefs of Israel's hosts.

¹⁷ ¹⁸ Moses and Aaron took these men who have been named, and on the first day of the second month they mustered the whole community. The sons of Israel established their kinship by clans and families, and one by one the names of all men of twenty years and over were singled out. As Yahweh had commanded, Moses took a census of them in the wilderness of Sinai.

The census

²⁰ When the kinship of the sons of Reuben, Israel's first-born, had been established by clans and families, the names of all the males of twenty years and over, fit to bear arms, were singled out one by one. The total of these for the tribe of Reuben was forty-six thousand five hundred.

²² When the kinship of the sons of Simeon had been established by clans and families, the names of all the males of twenty years and over, fit to bear arms, were singled out one by one. The total of these for the tribe of Simeon was fifty-nine thousand three hundred.

²⁴ When the kinship of the sons of Gad had been established by clans and families, the names of all the males of twenty years and over, fit to bear arms, 25 were singled out one by one. 'The total of these for the tribe of Gad was forty-five thousand six hundred and fifty.

26 When the kinship of the sons of Judah had been established by clans and families, the names of all the males of twenty years and over, fit to bear arms, 27 were singled out one by one. 'The total of these for the tribe of Judah was seventy-four thousand six hundred.

28 When the kinship of the sons of Issachar had been established by clans and families, the names of all the males of twenty years and over, fit to bear arms, 29 were singled out one by one. 'The total of these for the tribe of Issachar was fifty-four thousand four hundred.

30 When the kinship of the sons of Zebulun had been established by clans and families, the names of all the males of twenty years and over, fit to bear arms, 31 were singled out one by one. 'The total of these for the tribe of Zebulun was fifty-seven thousand four hundred.

32 The sons of Joseph: when the kinship of the sons of Ephraim had been established by clans and families, the names of all the males of twenty years and 33 over, fit to bear arms, were singled out one by one. 'The total of these for the 34 tribe of Ephraim was forty thousand five hundred. 'When the kinship of the sons of Manasseh had been established by clans and families, the names of all the males of twenty years and over, fit to bear arms, were singled out one by one. 35 The total of these for the tribe of Manasseh was thirty-two thousand two hundred.

36 When the kinship of the sons of Benjamin had been established by clans and families, the names of all the males of twenty years and over, fit to bear arms, 37 were singled out one by one. 'The total of these for the tribe of Benjamin was thirty-five thousand four hundred.

38 When the kinship of the sons of Dan had been established by clans and families, the names of all the males of twenty years and over, fit to bear arms, 39 were singled out one by one. 'The total of these for the tribe of Dan was sixty-two thousand seven hundred.

40 When the kinship of the sons of Asher had been established by clans and families, the names of all the males of twenty years and over, fit to bear arms, 41 were singled out one by one. 'The total of these for the tribe of Asher was forty-one thousand five hundred.

42 When the kinship of the sons of Naphtali had been established by clans and families, the names of all the males of twenty years and over, fit to bear arms, 43 were singled out one by one. 'The total of these for the tribe of Naphtali was fifty-three thousand four hundred.

44 Such were the men registered by Moses, Aaron and the leaders of Israel, of 45 whom there were twelve, each representing his patriarchal House. 'Every man of Israel of twenty years and over, fit to bear arms, was counted according to his 46 patriarchal House. 'Altogether the full total was six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty.^a 47 But the Levites and their patriarchal tribe were not included in the count.

Statute for the Levites

48 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said:

49 "Do not, however, take any census of the Levites, or register them among the 50 sons of Israel. 'You yourself must enroll the Levites to serve the tabernacle of the Testimony and to look after its furnishings and its belongings. They are to carry the tabernacle, and all its furnishings, and they are to take care of 51 it and pitch their camp around it. 'Whenever the tabernacle is moved the Levites are to be the people to dismantle it; whenever the tabernacle is set up again, they 52 are to do this. Any layman coming near it must be put to death. 'The sons of Israel are to pitch their tents in formation each in their own encampment, every 53 man by his standard. 'But the Levites are to pitch their tents around the tabernacle of the Testimony. In this way the wrath will be kept from falling on the whole community of the sons of Israel. The Levites are to be in charge of the tabernacle of the Testimony.”

54 The sons of Israel did exactly as Yahweh had ordered Moses. They did as he said.

Order of the tribes

1 2 Yahweh spoke to Moses and to Aaron.

He said:

2 “The sons of Israel are to pitch their tents, every man by his own standard, under the banner of his patriarchal House. They are to pitch their tents all around the tabernacle of the Testimony, at a measured distance.

3 “Those who are to pitch their tents on the east side:

“Toward the sunrise, the standard of the camp of Judah, in battle array.

4 Leader of the sons of Judah: Nahshon son of Amminadab. •His command: seventy-four thousand six hundred men.

5 “Encamped next to him:

“The tribe of Issachar. Leader of the sons of Issachar: Nethanel son of Zuar.

6 His command: fifty-four thousand four hundred men.

7 “The tribe of Zebulun. Leader of the sons of Zebulun: Eliab son of Helon.

8 His command: fifty-seven thousand four hundred men.

9 “The assembled strength of the camp of Judah numbers in all a hundred and eighty-six thousand four hundred. These are to be first in order of breaking camp.

10 “On the south side, the standard of the camp of Reuben, in battle array. Leader of the sons of Reuben: Elizur son of Shedeur. •His command: forty-six thousand five hundred men.

12 “Encamped next to him:

“The tribe of Simeon. Leader of the sons of Simeon: Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai. •His command: fifty-nine thousand three hundred men.

14 15 “The tribe of Gad. Leader of the sons of Gad: Eliasaph son of Reuel. •His command; forty-five thousand six hundred and fifty men.

16 “The assembled strength of the camp of Reuben numbers in all a hundred and fifty-one thousand four hundred and fifty. They are to be second in order of breaking camp.

17 “Next the Tent of Meeting will move, since the camp of the Levites is situated in the middle of the other camps. The order of movement is to be the order of encampment, every man under his own standard.

18 “On the west side, the standard of the camp of Ephraim, in battle array. Leader of the sons of Ephraim: Elishama son of Ammihud. •His command: forty thousand five hundred men.

20 “Next to him:

“The tribe of Manasseh. Leader of the tribe of Manasseh: Gamaliel son of Pedahzur. •His command: thirty-two thousand two hundred men.

22 “The tribe of Benjamin. Leader of the sons of Benjamin: Abidan son of Gideon. •His command: thirty-five thousand four hundred men.

24 “The assembled strength of the camp of Ephraim numbers in all a hundred and eight thousand one hundred. They are to be third in order of breaking camp.

25 “On the north side, the standard of the camp of Dan, in battle array. Leader of the sons of Dan: Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai. •His command: sixty-two thousand seven hundred men.

27 “Encamped next to him:

28 “The tribe of Asher. Leader of the sons of Asher: Pagiel son of Ochran. His command: forty-one thousand five hundred men.

29 “The tribe of Naphtali. Leader of the sons of Naphtali: Ahira son of Enan. His command: fifty-three thousand four hundred men.

31 “The assembled strength of the camp of Dan numbers in all a hundred and fifty-seven thousand six hundred. They are to be last in order of breaking camp.”

(This concerns their stationing by standards.)

32 Such was the tally of the sons of Israel when the census was made according to patriarchal Houses. The full count of the entire camp, grouped under the various 33 commands, is six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty. •The Levites, as Yahweh had commanded Moses, were not included in this census of the sons of Israel.

34 The sons of Israel did exactly as Yahweh had ordered Moses. This was how they pitched camp, grouped by standards. This was how they broke camp, each in his own clan, every man with his own family.

The tribe of Levi

a. The priests

1 3 These are the descendants of Aaron and Moses, at the time when Yahweh spoke to Moses on Mount Sinai.

2 These are the names of the sons of Aaron: Nadab the eldest, then Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

3 These are the names of Aaron's sons, priests anointed and invested with the powers of the priesthood. •Nadab and Abihu died in the presence of Yahweh, in the wilderness of Sinai, when they offered fire that was unlawful. They left no children and so it fell to Eleazar and Ithamar to exercise the priesthood under their father Aaron.

b. The Levites: their duties

5 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said:

6 “Muster the tribe of Levi and put it at the disposal of Aaron the priest: they are 7 to be at his service. •They are to undertake the duties that are laid on him and on the entire community before the Tent of Meeting, in their service of the 8 tabernacle. •The furnishings for the Tent of Meeting are to be in their charge, and they are to undertake the duties that are laid on the sons of Israel in their service 9 of the tabernacle. •You are to give the Levites to Aaron and his sons as ‘oblates’;^a they are to be given to him by the sons of Israel.

10 “You are to enroll Aaron and his sons, and they are to carry out their priestly duty. But any layman who comes near is to be put to death.”

c. Their divine election

11 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said:

12 “I myself have chosen the Levites from among the sons of Israel, in place of 13 the first-born, those who open the mother's womb among the sons of Israel; these Levites therefore belong to me. •For every first-born belongs to me. On the day when I struck all the first-born in the land of Egypt, I consecrated for my own all the first-born of Israel, of both man and beast. They are mine; I am Yahweh.”

d. Census of the Levites

14 Yahweh spoke to Moses in the wilderness of Sinai. He said:

15 “You are to take a census of the sons of Levi by families and clans; all the males of the age of one month and over must be counted.”

16 At Yahweh's word, Moses took his census, as Yahweh had ordered. •These are the names of the sons of Levi: Gershon, Kohath and Merari.

18 These are the names of Gershon's sons by their clans: Libni and Shimei; 19 Kohath's sons by their clans: Amram, Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel; •Merari's 20 sons by their clans: Mahli and Mushi. These are the clans of Levi, grouped according to their patriarchal families.

21 From Gershon are descended the Libnite and the Shimeite clans; these are 22 the Gershonite clans. •Their full number, counting the males of one month and 23 over, came to seven thousand five hundred. •The Gershonite clans pitched their 24 camp behind the tabernacle, on the west side. The leader of the House of Gershon 25 was Eliasaph son of Lael. In the Tent of Meeting the sons of Gershon had charge of the tabernacle, the Tent and its covering, the screen for the entrance to the 26 Tent of Meeting, the hangings in the court, the screen for the entrance to the court surrounding the tabernacle and the altar, and the cords needed for all this work.

27 From Kohath are descended the Amramite, the Izharite, the Hebronite and 28 the Uzzielite clans; these are the Kohathite clans. Their full number, counting the males of one month and over, came to eight thousand three hundred. They were in 29 charge of the sanctuary. The Kohathite clans pitched their camp on the south side 30 of the tabernacle. The leader of the house of the Kohathite clans was Elizaphan 31 son of Uzziel. They were in charge of the ark, the table, the lampstand, the altars, the sacred vessels used in the liturgy, and the screen with all its fittings.

32 The chief of the Levite leaders was Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest. He was the head of all those who were in charge of the sanctuary.

33 From Merari are descended the Mahlite and the Mushite clans; these are the 34 Merarite clans. Their full number, counting the males of one month and over, 35 came to six thousand two hundred. The leader of the house of the Merarite clans was Zuriel, son of Abihail. They pitched their camp on the north side of 36 the tabernacle. The sons of Merari were in charge of the framework of the tabernacle, with its crossbars, posts and sockets, all its accessories and fittings, 37 and also the posts around the court, with their sockets, pegs and cords.

38 Finally, on the east side, facing the tabernacle and the Tent of Meeting, toward the sunrise, was the camp of Moses and Aaron and his sons, who had charge of the sanctuary on behalf of the sons of Israel. Any layman coming near was to be put to death.

39 Altogether, the total count of Levites of the age of one month and over, whom Moses numbered by clans as Yahweh had ordered, came to twenty-two thousand.

c. The Levites and the ransoming of the first-born

40 Yahweh said to Moses:

41 "Take a census of all the first-born among the sons of Israel, all the males 42 from the age of one month and over; take a census of them by name. Then you will present the Levites to me, Yahweh, in place of the first-born of Israel; in the same way you will give me their cattle in place of the first-born cattle of the sons of Israel."

43 As Yahweh ordered, Moses took a census of all the first-born of the sons 44 of Israel. The total count, by name, of the first-born from the age of one month and over came to twenty-two thousand two hundred and seventy-three.

45 Then Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, 46 "Take the Levites in the place of all the first-born of Israel's sons, and the 47 cattle of the Levites in place of their cattle; the Levites shall be my own, Yahweh's 48 own. For the ransom of the two hundred and seventy-three of the first-born of the sons of Israel in excess of the number of Levites, you are to take five shekels 49 for each, reckoning by the sanctuary shekel, twenty gerahs to the shekel; you must then give this money to Aaron and his sons as the ransom price for this extra number."

50 Moses received this money as the ransom for this extra number unransomed 51 by the Levites. He received the money for the first-born of the sons of Israel, one thousand three hundred and sixty-five shekels, sanctuary shekels. Moses handed over this ransom money to Aaron and his sons, at the bidding of Yahweh, as Yahweh had ordered Moses.

The Levite clans

a. The Kohathites

1 4 Yahweh spoke to Moses and Aaron. He said:

2 "Take a census of those Levites who are sons of Kohath, by clans and families; 3 count all the men between thirty and fifty years of age, those fit to bear arms, who are liable for service in the Tent of Meeting.

4 "These are the duties of the sons of Kohath in the Tent of Meeting: they are to have charge of the most holy things.

5 "When camp is broken, Aaron and his sons are to come and take down the veil 6 of the screen. With it they must cover up the ark of the Testimony. On top of this they must put a covering of fine leather, and spread over the whole a cloth all of violet. Then they are to fix the poles to the ark.

7 "Over the offertory table they are to spread a violet cloth, and put on it the 8 dishes, cups, bowls and libation jars; the bread of perpetual offering is also to be on it. Over these they must spread a cloth of scarlet and cover the whole with a covering of fine leather. Then they are to fix the poles to the table.

9 "They are then to take a cloth of violet and cover the light-bearing lampstand, together with the lamps, snuffers, trays and all the oil jars that belong to it.
10 They are to put it, with all its accessories, on a covering of fine leather and place it on the litter.

11 "Over the golden altar they must spread a violet cloth, and cover that with a covering of fine leather. Then they are to fix the poles to it.

12 "They are also to take all the other objects used in the service of the sanctuary.
They must put them all on a violet cloth, cover them with a covering of fine leather, and place them together on the litter.

13 "When they have removed the ashes from the altar,^a they must spread a scarlet 14 cloth over it, and place on this all the objects used in the liturgical service, the fire pans, hooks, scoops, sprinkling basins and all the altar vessels. Over the whole they must spread a covering of fine leather. Then they are to fix the poles to it.

15 "When Aaron and his sons have finished covering all the sacred objects and all their accessories at the breaking of camp, the sons of Kohath are to come to take up the burden, but without touching any of the sacred things; otherwise they would die. This is the charge entrusted to the sons of Kohath in the Tent 16 of Meeting. It is to fall to Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, to watch over the oil for the light, the fragrant incense, the perpetual oblation and the chrism; he must watch over the whole tabernacle and everything in it: the sacred objects and their accessories."

17 Yahweh spoke to Moses and Aaron. He said:

18 "Do not cut off the tribe of the clans of Kohath from the number of the Levites.
19 But deal with them in this way, so that they may live on and not incur death when they approach the most holy things: Aaron and his sons must go in and 20 assign to each of them his task and his burden. In this way they can go in and yet cast not their eyes, even for a moment, on any of the holy things; if they did, they would die."

b. The Gershonites

21 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said to him:

22 "Take a census also of the sons of Gershon, by families and clans: count all 23 the men between thirty and fifty years of age, those fit to bear arms, who are liable for service in the Tent of Meeting.

24 "These are the duties of the Gershonite clans, their functions and their burdens.
25 They are to carry the curtains of the tabernacle, the Tent of Meeting with its covering and the covering of fine leather that goes over it, the screen for the 26 entrance to the Tent of Meeting, the hangings of the court, the screen for the entrance to the court that surrounds the tabernacle and the altar, the cords and all the accessories, and all the necessary equipment.

27 "They are to be responsible for these things. All the duties of the sons of Gershon—their functions and their tasks—are to be carried out under the 28 direction of Aaron and his sons: you must see that they fulfill their charge. Such shall be the duties of the Gershonite clans in the Tent of Meeting. Their work will be supervised by Ithamar, son of Aaron the priest.

c. The Merarites

29 "You are to count the sons of Merari, by clans and families. Count all the 30 men between thirty and fifty years of age, those fit to bear arms, who are liable for service in the Tent of Meeting.

31 "The burden they are to carry and the duties that are to fall to them in the Tent of Meeting shall be as follows: the framework of the tabernacle, its crossbars, 32 its posts and sockets, the posts around the court with their sockets, pegs, cords and all their tackle. You are to draw up a list of their names with the burden that each man must carry.

33 "These are the duties of the Merarite clans. All their duties in the Tent of Meeting will be supervised by Ithamar, son of Aaron the priest."

Census of the Levites

34 Moses, Aaron and the leaders of the community took a census of the sons 35 of Kohath, by clans and families: of every man between thirty and fifty years 36 of age, fit to bear arms and liable for service in the Tent of Meeting. The total 37 of their clans was two thousand seven hundred and fifty men. This was the number of the Kohathite clans, of all those who were liable for service in the Tent of Meeting, whom Moses and Aaron counted at the bidding of Yahweh given through Moses.

38 A census was taken of the sons of Gershon, by clans and families: of every 39 man between thirty and fifty years of age, fit to bear arms and liable for service 40 in the Tent of Meeting. By clans and families the total was two thousand six 41 hundred and thirty men. This was the number of the Gershonite clans, of all those who were liable for service in the Tent of Meeting, whom Moses and Aaron counted at the bidding of Yahweh.

42 A census was taken of the clans of the sons of Merari, by clans and families: 43 of every man between thirty and fifty years of age, fit to bear arms and liable for 44 service in the Tent of Meeting. The total of their clans was three thousand 45 two hundred men. This was the number of the Merarite clans, whom Moses and Aaron counted at the bidding of Yahweh through Moses.

46 The total number of Levites, counted according to clans and families by 47 Moses and Aaron and the leaders of Israel—all the men between thirty and fifty years of age, fit to bear arms and liable for serving or carrying in the Tent 48 of Meeting—amounted to eight thousand five hundred and eighty. At the 49 bidding of Yahweh through Moses, the census was taken to assign to every man his duty and his task; they were numbered as Yahweh had ordered Moses.

II. VARIOUS LAWS

Expulsion of the unclean

1 5 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said:
2 "Order the sons of Israel to put out of the camp all lepers, and all who suffer 3 from a discharge, or who have become unclean by touching a corpse. Man or woman, you must put them out and forbid them the camp. The sons of Israel must not defile in this way the camp where I dwell among them."

4 The sons of Israel did so: they put them out of the camp. The sons of Israel did as Yahweh had ordered Moses.

4 a. "The altar" is the altar of holocaust; "the golden altar" of v.11 is the altar of incense.

Restitution

5 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Tell the sons of Israel:

6 'If a man or woman commits any of the sins by which men break faith with Yahweh, that person incurs guilt.

7 'He must confess the sin he has committed and restore in full the amount for which he is liable, with one fifth added. Payment is to be made to the person whom he has wronged.

8 'If, however, the latter has no kinsman to whom this restitution can be made, the restitution due to Yahweh reverts to the priest, over and above the ram of atonement with which the priest makes atonement for the guilty man. 'For of everything consecrated by the sons of Israel and brought to the priest he has a right to the portion set aside. 'Whatever a man consecrates is his own; whatever is given to the priest belongs to the priest.'

Oblation in cases of jealousy

11 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Say this to the sons of Israel:

12 'If anyone has a wife who goes astray and is unfaithful to him, 'if some other man sleeps with the woman without the husband's knowledge, if she disgraces herself in secret in this way, without any witness against her, and without anyone catching her in the act; 'then, if a spirit of jealousy comes over the husband and makes him jealous for the wife who has disgraced herself, or again if this spirit of jealousy comes upon him and makes him jealous for his wife even when she is innocent: 'the man must bring his wife before the priest, and on her behalf make an offering of one tenth of an ephah of barley meal. He is not to pour oil on it or put incense on it, because this is an "oblation for jealousy," a memorial offering to record a fault.

16 'The priest is then to bring the woman forward and stand her before Yahweh. Then he shall take living water in an earthen jar, and on the water throw dust that he has taken from the floor of the tabernacle. 'After he has placed the woman before Yahweh, he shall unbind her hair and put in her hands the commemorative oblation (that is, the oblation for jealousy). In his own hands the priest will hold the water of bitterness and of cursing.

19 'He is then to put the woman on oath. He shall say to her: If it is not true that a man has slept with you, that you have gone astray and disgraced yourself while under your husband's authority, then may this water of bitterness and cursing do you no harm. 'But if it is true that you have gone astray, while under your husband's authority, that you have disgraced yourself by sharing your bed with a man other than your husband . . . 'Here the priest shall impose an imprecatory oath on the woman. He shall say to her: . . . May Yahweh make of you an execration and a curse among your people, making your thigh shrivel and your belly swell! 'May this water of cursing enter your bowels to swell your belly and shrivel your organs! The woman must answer: Amen! Amen!

23 'Then the priest shall commit these curses to writing and wash them off in the water of bitterness. 'He must make the woman drink this water of bitterness and of cursing, and this water of cursing shall go into her and be bitter inside her.

25 'The priest shall then take the oblation for jealousy from the woman's hands, and hold it up before Yahweh with a gesture of offering, and so carry it up to the altar. 'He shall take a handful as a memorial, and burn it on the altar.

27 'He shall then make the woman drink the water. 'After he has made her drink it, if it is true that she has disgraced herself, deceiving her husband, then the water of cursing that goes into her shall indeed be bitter: her belly will swell and her thigh shrivel, and she will be an execration among her people. 'But if she has not disgraced herself and is clean, then she will go unscathed and will bear children.

29 'This is the ritual in cases of jealousy, when a woman has gone astray and disgraced herself while under her husband's authority, 'or when a spirit of jealousy has come over a man and made him jealous for his wife. When a husband brings such a woman before Yahweh, the priest must apply this ritual to her in full. 'The husband shall be guiltless, but the woman must bear the punishment for her sin.'

The nazirite

¹ 6 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Say this to the sons of Israel:
² 'If a man or a woman wishes to make a vow, the vow of the nazirite by ³ which he is pledged to Yahweh, he shall abstain from wine and strong drink, ⁴ and neither drink the juice of grapes, nor eat grapes, fresh or dried. 'For the ⁵ duration of his vow he shall touch nothing that comes from the vine, not even ⁶ verjuice or lees. 'As long as he is bound by his vow, no razor shall touch his ⁷ head; until the time of his consecration to Yahweh is completed, he remains ⁸ under vow and shall let his hair grow free. 'For the entire period of his conse-⁹ cration to Yahweh he must not go near a corpse, he must not make himself ¹⁰ unclean for either father or mother, for either brother or sister, should they die; ¹¹ on his head he carries his consecration to his God. 'Throughout the whole of ¹² his nazirate he is a person consecrated to Yahweh.

¹³ 'If anyone dies suddenly in his presence, and so makes his consecrated ¹⁴ hair unclean, he must shave his head on the day of his cleansing, he must shave ¹⁵ his head on the seventh day. 'On the eighth day, he is to bring two turtledoves ¹⁶ or two young pigeons to the priest, at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting.
¹⁷ The priest must offer one as a sacrifice for sin, and the other as a holocaust; ¹⁸ he must then perform over this man the rite of atonement for the defilement that ¹⁹ he has contracted from the corpse. The man must consecrate his head that same ²⁰ day; he must consecrate himself to Yahweh for the period of his nazirate, and ²¹ he must bring a male yearling lamb as a sacrifice of reparation. The time already ²² spent shall not count, since his hair has become unclean.

²³ 'This is the ritual to be followed by the nazirite on the day when his period of ²⁴ consecration is completed. He is to be led to the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, ²⁵ and must make his offering to Yahweh: for holocaust, a male yearling lamb ²⁶ without blemish; for sacrifice for sin, a yearling ewe lamb without blemish; ²⁷ for communion sacrifice, a ram without blemish, and a basket of unleavened ²⁸ loaves made of fine flour mixed with oil, and of unleavened wafers spread with ²⁹ oil, with the oblations and libations appropriate to them. 'When he has brought ³⁰ all this before Yahweh, the priest must offer the sacrifice for sin and the holocaust ³¹ for the nazirite. 'The nazirite must offer up the communion sacrifice with the ram ³² and the unleavened bread in the basket, and the priest must offer the accom-³³ panying oblation and libation. 'Then the nazirite shall shave off his consecrated ³⁴ hair at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting, and taking the locks of his consecrated ³⁵ head, he shall put them in the fire of the communion sacrifice. 'The priest is to ³⁶ take the shoulder of the ram, as soon as it is cooked, with an unleavened cake ³⁷ from the basket, and an unleavened wafer. He is to put them into the hands of the ³⁸ nazirite when the nazirite has shaved off his hair. 'With them he must make the ³⁹ gesture of offering before Yahweh; as it is a holy thing, it reverts to the priest, in ⁴⁰ addition to the breast that has been presented and the thigh that has been set ⁴¹ aside. After this the nazirite may once more drink wine.

⁴² 'Such is the ritual for the nazirite. If, besides the hair, he has also vowed a ⁴³ personal offering to Yahweh, he must (apart from anything else that his means ⁴⁴ allow) fulfill the vow that he has made, in addition to what the ritual prescribes ⁴⁵ for his hair.'

The form of blessing

⁴⁶ Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Say this to Aaron and his sons: ⁴⁷ 'This is how you are to bless the sons of Israel. You shall say to them:
⁴⁸ May Yahweh bless you and keep you.

- 25 May Yahweh let his face shine on you and be gracious to you.
 26 May Yahweh uncover his face to you and bring you peace.' 27 This is how they are to call down my name on the sons of Israel, and I will bless them."

III. OFFERINGS OF THE LEADERS AND CONSECRATION OF THE LEVITES

Offering of wagons

- 1 7 On the day Moses finished setting up the tabernacle, he anointed and conse-2 crated it with all its furniture, as well as the altar and all its accessories. When 3 he had anointed and consecrated it all, 'the leaders of Israel made an offering; 4 these were the heads of the patriarchal Houses, who were leaders of tribes and 5 had presided over the census. 'They brought their offering before Yahweh: 6 six covered wagons and twelve oxen, one wagon for every two leaders and one 7 ox each. They brought them before the tabernacle. 'Yahweh spoke to 8 Moses and said, "Accept these from them, and let them be set apart for the 9 service of the Tent of Meeting. You are to give them to the Levites, to each as 10 his duties require." 'Moses took the wagons and the oxen, and gave them to 11 the Levites. 'To the sons of Gershon he gave two wagons and four oxen for 12 the duties they had to perform. 'To the sons of Merari he gave four wagons 13 and eight oxen, for the duties they had to perform under the direction of Ithamar, 14 son of Aaron the priest. 'But to the sons of Kohath he gave none at all, because 15 the sacred charge entrusted to them had to be carried on their shoulders.

Dedication offering

- 16 The leaders then made an offering for the dedication of the altar, on the day 17 it was anointed. They brought their offering before the altar, 'and Yahweh said 18 to Moses, "Let the leaders each bring an offering on successive days for the 19 dedication of the altar." 20 On the first day an offering was brought by Nahshon son of Amminadab, 21 of the tribe of Judah. 'His offering consisted of: one silver bowl weighing a 22 hundred and thirty shekels, one silver sprinkling bowl weighing seventy shekels
 23 (sanctuary shekels), both of them filled, for the oblation, with fine flour mixed 24 with oil, 'one golden bowl weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, 'one young 25 bull, one ram and one male yearling lamb for the holocaust, 'one goat for the 26 sacrifice for sin, 'and, for the communion sacrifice, two oxen, five rams, five 27 kids, and five male yearling lambs. This was the offering of Nahshon son of 28 Amminadab.
 29 On the second day an offering was brought by Nethanel son of Zuar, leader 30 of Issachar. 'His offering consisted of: one silver bowl weighing a hundred and 31 thirty shekels, one silver sprinkling bowl weighing seventy shekels (sanctuary 32 shekels), both of them filled, for the oblation, with fine flour mixed with oil, 33 one golden bowl weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, 'one young bull, 34 one ram and one male yearling lamb for the holocaust, 'one goat for the 35 sacrifice for sin, 'and, for the communion sacrifice, two oxen, five rams, five 36 kids, and five male yearling lambs. This was the offering of Nethanel son of Zuar.
 37 On the third day an offering was brought by Eliab son of Helon, leader of 38 the sons of Zebulun. 'His offering consisted of: one silver bowl weighing a 39 hundred and thirty shekels, one silver sprinkling bowl weighing seventy shekels
 40 (sanctuary shekels), both of them filled, for the oblation, with fine flour mixed 41 with oil, 'one golden bowl weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, 'one young 42 bull, one ram and one male yearling lamb for the holocaust, 'one goat for the 43 sacrifice for sin, 'and, for the communion sacrifice, two oxen, five rams, five 44 kids, and five male yearling lambs. This was the offering of Eliab son of Helon.

30 On the fourth day an offering was brought by Elizur son of Shedeur, leader 31 of the sons of Reuben. His offering consisted of: one silver bowl weighing a hundred and thirty shekels, one silver sprinkling bowl weighing seventy shekels (sanctuary shekels), both of them filled, for the oblation, with fine flour mixed 32 with oil, one golden bowl weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, one young 33 bull, one ram, and one male yearling lamb for the holocaust, one goat for the 34 sacrifice for sin, and, for the communion sacrifice, two oxen, five rams, five 35 kids, and five male yearling lambs. This was the offering of Elizur son of Shedeur.

36 On the fifth day an offering was brought by Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai, 37 leader of the sons of Simeon. His offering consisted of: one silver bowl weighing a hundred and thirty shekels, one silver sprinkling bowl weighing seventy shekels (sanctuary shekels), both of them filled, for the oblation, with fine flour mixed 38 with oil, one golden bowl weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, one young 39 bull, one ram and one male yearling lamb for the holocaust, one goat for the 40 sacrifice for sin, and, for the communion sacrifice, two oxen, five rams, five 41 kids, and five male yearling lambs. This was the offering of Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai.

42 On the sixth day an offering was brought by Eliasaph son of Reuel, leader of 43 the sons of Gad. His offering consisted of: one silver bowl weighing a hundred and thirty shekels, one silver sprinkling bowl weighing seventy shekels (sanctuary shekels), both of them filled, for the oblation, with fine flour mixed with oil, 44 one golden bowl weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, one young bull, 45 one ram and one male yearling lamb for the holocaust, one goat for the 46 sacrifice for sin, and, for the communion sacrifice, two oxen, five rams, five kids, 47 and five male yearling lambs. This was the offering of Eliasaph son of Reuel.

48 On the seventh day an offering was brought by Elishama son of Ammihud, 49 leader of the sons of Ephraim. His offering consisted of: one silver bowl weighing a hundred and thirty shekels, one silver sprinkling bowl weighing seventy shekels (sanctuary shekels), both of them filled, for the oblation, with 50 fine flour mixed with oil, one golden bowl weighing ten shekels, filled with 51 incense, one young bull, one ram and one male yearling lamb for the holocaust, 52 one goat for the sacrifice for sin, and, for the communion sacrifice, two oxen, 53 five rams, five kids, and five male yearling lambs. This was the offering of Elishama, son of Ammihud.

54 On the eighth day an offering was brought by Gamaliel son of Pedahzur, 55 leader of the sons of Manasseh. His offering consisted of: one silver bowl weighing a hundred and thirty shekels, one silver sprinkling bowl weighing seventy shekels (sanctuary shekels), both of them filled, for the oblation, with 56 fine flour mixed with oil, one golden bowl weighing ten shekels, filled with 57 incense, one young bull, one ram and one male yearling lamb for the holocaust, 58 one goat for the sacrifice for sin, and, for the communion sacrifice, two oxen, 59 five rams, five kids, and five male yearling lambs. This was the offering of Gamaliel son of Pedahzur.

60 On the ninth day an offering was brought by Abidan son of Gideoni, leader 61 of the sons of Benjamin. His offering consisted of: one silver bowl weighing a hundred and thirty shekels, one sprinkling bowl weighing seventy shekels (sanctuary shekels), both of them filled, for the oblation, with fine flour mixed 62 with oil, one golden bowl weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, one young 63 bull, one ram and one male yearling lamb for the holocaust, one goat for the 64 sacrifice for sin, and, for the communion sacrifice, two oxen, five rams, five 65 kids, and five male yearling lambs. This was the offering of Abidan son of Gideoni.

66 On the tenth day an offering was brought by Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai, 67 leader of the sons of Dan. His offering consisted of: one silver bowl weighing a hundred and thirty shekels, one silver sprinkling bowl weighing seventy shekels (sanctuary shekels), both of them filled, for the oblation, with fine flour mixed

68 with oil, one golden bowl weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, one young 69 bull, one ram, and one male yearling lamb for the holocaust, one goat for the 70 sacrifice for sin, and, for the communion sacrifice, two oxen, five rams, five 71 kids, and five male yearling lambs. This was the offering of Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai.

72 On the eleventh day an offering was brought by Pagiel son of Ochrán, leader 73 of the sons of Asher. His offering consisted of: one silver bowl weighing a hundred and thirty shekels, one silver sprinkling bowl weighing seventy shekels (sanctuary shekels), both of them filled, for the oblation, with fine flour mixed 74 with oil, one golden bowl weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, one young 75 bull, one ram and one male yearling lamb for the holocaust, one goat for the 76 sacrifice for sin, and, for the communion sacrifice, two oxen, five rams, five 77 kids, and five male yearling lambs. This was the offering of Pagiel son of Ochrán.

78 On the twelfth day an offering was brought by Ahira son of Enán, leader of 79 the sons of Naphtali. His offering consisted of: one silver bowl weighing a hundred and thirty shekels, one silver sprinkling bowl weighing seventy shekels (sanctuary shekels), both of them filled, for the oblation, with fine flour mixed 80 with oil, one golden bowl weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, one young 81 bull, one ram and one male yearling lamb for the holocaust, one goat for the 82 sacrifice for sin, and, for the communion sacrifice, two oxen, five rams, five kids, 83 and five male yearling lambs. This was the offering of Ahira son of Enán.

84 These were the offerings made by the leaders of Israel for the dedication of the altar on the day it was anointed: twelve silver bowls, twelve silver sprinkling 85 bowls, and twelve golden bowls. Each silver bowl weighed a hundred and thirty shekels, and each sprinkling bowl seventy, the silver of these objects 86 weighing in all two thousand four hundred sanctuary shekels. The twelve golden bowls filled with incense weighed ten shekels each (sanctuary shekels), the gold of these bowls weighing in all a hundred and twenty shekels.

87 The sum total of animals for the holocaust: twelve bulls, twelve rams, twelve male yearling lambs, together with their accompanying oblations. For the 88 sacrifice for sin, twelve goats. The sum total of animals for the communion sacrifice: twenty-four bulls, sixty rams, sixty kids, and sixty male yearling lambs.

These were the offerings for the dedication of the altar, after it had been anointed.

89 When Moses went into the Tent of Meeting to speak with Him, he heard the voice that spoke to him from above the throne of mercy which was on the ark of the Testimony, from between the two cherubs. It was then that he spoke with Him.

The lamps for the lampstand

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said:

2 8 "Say this to Aaron, 'When you set up the lamps, the seven lamps must throw their light toward the front of the lampstand.'"

3 Aaron saw to this. He set up the lamps to the front of the lampstand, as 4 Yahweh had ordered Moses. This lampstand was worked in beaten gold, including its stem and its petals, which were also of beaten gold. This lamp-stand had been made according to the pattern Yahweh had shown to Moses.

The Levites are offered to Yahweh

5 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said:

6 9 "Separate the Levites from the sons of Israel and purify them. This is how you are to purify them: you must sprinkle them with lustral water, and they must 8 shave their bodies all over and wash their clothing. They will then be clean. They must next take a young bull, with the accompanying oblation of fine flour mixed 9 with oil, and you must take a second young bull for a sacrifice for sin. Then bring the Levites before the Tent of Meeting, and call together the whole

- 10 community of the sons of Israel. ·When you have brought the Levites before 11 Yahweh, the sons of Israel must lay their hands on them. ·Aaron shall then offer the Levites, making the gesture of offering before Yahweh on behalf of the sons of Israel. From that time, they will be dedicated to the service of Yahweh.
- 12 “The Levites must then lay their hands on the heads of the bulls, one of which you are to offer as a sacrifice for sin, and the other as a holocaust to Yahweh; 13 this is how the rite of atonement for the Levites is to be performed. ·Having brought the Levites before Aaron and his sons, you will present them to Yahweh 14 with the gesture of offering. ·This is how you are to set the Levites apart from 15 the rest of the sons of Israel, so that they may be mine. ·The Levites will then begin their ministry in the Tent of Meeting.
- 16 “You must purify them and offer them with the gesture of offering ·because they have been made over to me from among the sons of Israel, as “oblates.”
 They are to replace those who open the womb, all the first-born; of all the sons 17 of Israel I have taken them for my own. ·All the first-born among the sons of Israel, man and beast, do indeed belong to me: the day I struck all the first-born 18 in the land of Egypt, I consecrated them to myself, ·and now, in place of all 19 the first-born among the sons of Israel, I have taken the Levites. ·From among the sons of Israel I give them to Aaron and his sons, as “oblates”; on behalf of the sons of Israel, they will minister in the Tent of Meeting and perform the rite of atonement over them, so that none of the sons of Israel may be struck down for approaching the sanctuary.”
- 20 Moses, Aaron and the whole community of the sons of Israel dealt with the Levites exactly as Yahweh had directed Moses concerning them; this is what 21 the sons of Israel did with them. ·The Levites purified themselves and washed their clothes, and Aaron presented them with the gesture of offering before Yahweh. Then he performed the rite of atonement over them to purify them.
- 22 The Levites were then allowed to perform their ministry in the Tent of Meeting in the presence of Aaron and his sons. As Yahweh had directed Moses concerning the Levites, so it was done to them.

The duration of their ministry

- 23 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said:
 24 “This concerns the Levites. From the age of twenty-five onward, the Levite 25 must exercise his ministry and do duty in the Tent of Meeting. ·After the age of fifty, he is no longer bound to the ministry; he will have no further duties; 26 but he will still help his brothers to insure the services in the Tent of Meeting, though he himself will no longer have any ministry. See that this is the rule for the ministry of the Levites.”

IV. THE PASSOVER AND THE DEPARTURE

Date of the Passover

- 1 9 Yahweh spoke to Moses, in the wilderness of Sinai, in the second year after the exodus from Egypt, in the first month. He said: 2 “Let the sons of Israel keep the Passover at its appointed time. ·The fourteenth 3 day of this month, between the two evenings, is the appointed time for you to keep it. You must keep it with all the laws and customs proper to it.”
- 4 Moses gave orders for the sons of Israel to keep the Passover. ·They kept it, 5 in the wilderness of Sinai, in the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, between the two evenings. The sons of Israel did exactly as Yahweh had ordered Moses.

Individual cases

6 It happened that certain men had become unclean by touching a dead body; they could not keep the Passover that day. They came the same day to Moses and Aaron, and said to them, "We have become unclean by touching a dead body. Why should we be forbidden to bring an offering to Yahweh at the proper time with the rest of the sons of Israel?" Moses answered them, "Wait there till I learn what orders Yahweh gives about you."

9 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Say this to the sons of Israel:
10 'If anyone, among you or your descendants, becomes unclean by touching a dead body or is on a journey abroad, he can still keep a Passover for Yahweh.
11 Such persons shall keep it in the second month, on the fourteenth day, between the two evenings. They are to eat it with unleavened bread and bitter herbs; nothing of it must be left over until morning, nor must they break any of its bones: they must keep this Passover exactly according to the paschal ritual.
12 But if anyone who is clean, or who has not had to go on a journey, fails to keep the Passover, he shall be outlawed from his people. He has not brought the offering to Yahweh at its appointed time, and he must bear the burden of his sin.
13 'If a stranger is living among you and keeps a Passover for Yahweh, he must keep it in accordance with the laws and customs of the Passover. There is to be only one law among you, for settler and native alike.'"

The Cloud

15 On the day the tabernacle was set up, the Cloud covered the tabernacle, the Tent of the Testimony. From nightfall until morning, it remained over the tabernacle under the appearance of fire. So the Cloud covered it continually, at night taking the appearance of fire.

17 Whenever the Cloud lifted above the Tent, the sons of Israel broke camp; whenever the Cloud halted, there the sons of Israel pitched camp. The sons of Israel set out at the command of Yahweh, and at his command they pitched camp.

The people remained encamped as long as the Cloud rested on the tabernacle.
19 If the Cloud stayed for many days above the tabernacle, the sons of Israel paid worship to Yahweh and did not break camp. But if the Cloud happened to stay for only a few days above the tabernacle, they pitched camp at Yahweh's command and broke camp at Yahweh's command. If the Cloud happened to remain only from evening to morning, they set out when it lifted the next morning. Or, if it stayed for a whole day and night, they set out only when it lifted. Sometimes it stayed there for two days, a month, or a year; however long the Cloud stayed above the tabernacle, the sons of Israel remained in camp in the same place, and when it lifted they set out. At Yahweh's command they pitched camp, and at Yahweh's command they broke camp. They paid worship to Yahweh, according to the orders which Yahweh had given through Moses.

The trumpets

1 10 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said:
2 "Make two trumpets; make them of beaten silver; and use them for 3 summoning the community, and for sounding the order to break camp. When-4 ever they are sounded, the whole community is to gather around you, at the 5 entrance to the Tent of Meeting. But if only one trumpet is sounded, then only 6 the leaders, the chiefs of Israel's battalions, are to gather around you.

7 "When the trumpet blast is accompanied by a battle cry, the camps pitched 8 to the east shall set out. At the second blast accompanied by a battle cry, the 9 camps pitched to the south shall set out. To break camp, the trumpet blast must 10 be accompanied by a battle cry, but to assemble the community the trumpets 11 shall be sounded without battle cry. The sons of Aaron, the priests, are to sound 12 the trumpets; this is a perpetual law for you and your descendants.

13 "In your own land when you go to war against an enemy who oppresses you, you must sound the trumpet with a battle cry: Yahweh your God will remember you, and you will be delivered from your enemies. At your festivals, solemnities, or new-moon feasts, you will sound the trumpet at the time of your holocausts and your communion sacrifices, and they will call you to the remembrance of your God. I am Yahweh your God.”

The order of march

11 In the second year, in the second month, on the twentieth day of the month, 12 the Cloud lifted over the tabernacle of the Testimony. The sons of Israel set out, in marching order, from the wilderness of Sinai. In the wilderness of Paran the Cloud came to rest.

13 These are the men who set out in the vanguard, at the order of Yahweh 14 given through Moses: in the vanguard was the standard of the camp of the sons of Judah, in battle array. In command of Judah's force was Nahshon son of Amminadab; in command of the sons of Issachar, in battle array, was Nethanel son of Zuar; in command of the tribe of the sons of Zebulun, in battle array, was Eliab son of Helon.

17 Then, the tabernacle being dismantled, the sons of Gershon and the sons of Merari set out, carrying the tabernacle.

18 Then came the standard of the camp of the sons of Reuben, in battle array.
19 In command of Reuben's force was Elizur son of Shedeur; in command of the tribe of the sons of Simeon, in battle array, was Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai; 20 in command of the tribe of the sons of Gad, in battle array, was Eliasaph son of Reuel.

21 Then came the sons of Kohath, who carried the sanctuary (the tabernacle was set up before their arrival).

22 Then came the standard of the camp of the sons of Ephraim, in battle array.
23 In command of Ephraim's force was Elishama son of Ammihud; in command of the tribe of the sons of Manasseh, in battle array, was Gamaliel son of Pedahzur; in command of the tribe of the sons of Benjamin was Abidan son of Gideoni.

25 Last of all, the rearguard of all the camps, came the standard of the camp of the sons of Dan, in battle array. In command of the force of Dan was Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai; in command of the tribe of the sons of Asher, in battle array, was Pagiel son of Ochran; in command of the sons of Naphtali, in battle array, was Ahira son of Enan.

28 Such was the order of march for the sons of Israel, in battle array. So they set out.

Moses' proposal to Hobab

29 Moses said to Hobab son of Reuel the Midianite, his father-in-law, “We are setting out for the land of which Yahweh has said: I will give it to you. Come with us, and we will treat you well, for Yahweh has promised happiness to Israel.” “I will not come with you,” he answered. “I will go to my own land and my own kindred.” “Do not leave us,” Moses replied, “for you know where we can camp in the wilderness, and so you will be our eyes. If you come with us, you will share in the blessing of the happiness with which Yahweh blesses us.”

The departure

33 They set out from the mountain of Yahweh and journeyed for three days. The ark of the covenant of Yahweh went at their head for this journey of three days, searching out a camping place for them.

34 In the daytime, the Cloud of Yahweh was over them whenever they left camp.

35 And as the ark set out, Moses would say, “Arise, Yahweh, may your enemies be scattered and those who hate you run

36 for their lives before you!"
 And as it came to rest, he would say,
 "Come back, Yahweh, to the thronging hosts of Israel."

V. THE HALTS IN THE WILDERNESS

Taberah

1 11 Now the people set up a lament which was offensive to Yahweh's ears, and Yahweh heard it. His anger blazed, and the fire of Yahweh burned 2 among them: it destroyed one end of the camp. The people appealed to Moses, 3 and he interceded with Yahweh and the fire died down. So the place was called Taberah, because the fire of Yahweh had burned among them.

Kibroth-hattaavah.^a The people complain

4 The rabble who had joined the people were overcome by greed, and the sons of Israel themselves began to wail again, "Who will give us meat to eat?" 5 they said. "Think of the fish we used to eat free in Egypt, the cucumbers, 6 melons, leeks, onions and garlic! Here we are wasting away, stripped of everything; there is nothing but manna for us to look at!" 7 The manna was like coriander seed, and had the appearance of bdellium.
 8 The people went around gathering it, and ground it in a mill or crushed it with a pestle; it was then cooked in a pot and made into pancakes. It tasted like cake 9 made with oil. When the dew fell on the camp at nighttime, the manna fell with it.

The prayer of Moses

10 Moses heard the people wailing, every family at the door of its tent. The 11 anger of Yahweh flared out, and Moses greatly worried over this. And he spoke to Yahweh:
 "Why do you treat your servant so badly? Why have I not found favor 12 with you, so that you load on me the weight of all this nation? Was it I who conceived all this people, was it I who gave them birth, that you should say to me, 'Carry them in your bosom, like a nurse with a baby at the breast, to 13 the land that I swore to give their fathers?' Where am I to find meat to give to all this people, when they come worrying me so tearfully and say, 'Give us 14 meat to eat?' I am not able to carry this nation by myself alone; the weight 15 is too much for me. If this is how you want to deal with me, I would rather you killed me! If only I had found favor in your eyes, and not lived to see such misery as this!"

Yahweh replies

16 Yahweh said to Moses, "Gather seventy of the elders of Israel, men you know to be the people's elders and scribes. Bring them to the Tent of Meeting, 17 and let them stand beside you there. I will come down to speak with you; and I will take some of the spirit which is on you and put it on them. So they will share with you the burden of this nation, and you will no longer have to carry it by yourself.
 18 "To the people, say this, 'Purify yourselves for tomorrow and you will have meat to eat, now that you have wailed in the hearing of Yahweh and said: Who will give us meat to eat? How happy we were in Egypt! So be it! Yahweh will 19 give you meat to eat. You shall eat it not for one day only, or two, or five 20 or ten or twenty, but for a full month, until you are sick of it and cannot bear the smell of it, because you have rejected Yahweh who is with you, and have wailed before him saying: Why did we ever leave Egypt?'"

21 Moses said, "The people around me number six hundred thousand foot 22 soldiers, and you say, 'I shall give them meat to eat for a whole month!' If all the flocks and herds were slaughtered, would that be enough for them? If all 23 the fish in the sea were gathered, would that be enough for them?" Yahweh answered Moses, "Is the arm of Yahweh so short? You shall see whether the promise I have made to you comes true or not."

The spirit given to the elders 24 Moses went out and told the people what Yahweh had said. Then he gathered 25 seventy elders of the people and brought them around the Tent. Yahweh came down in the Cloud. He spoke with him, but took some of the spirit that was on him and put it on the seventy elders. When the spirit came on them they prophesied, but not again.

26 Two men had stayed back in the camp; one was called Eldad and the other Medad. The spirit came down on them; though they had not gone to the Tent, their names were enrolled among the rest. These began to prophesy in the camp.
 27 The young man ran to tell this to Moses, "Look," he said, "Eldad and Medad 28 are prophesying in the camp." Then said Joshua the son of Nun, who had 29 served Moses from his youth, "My Lord Moses, stop them!" Moses answered him, "Are you jealous on my account? If only the whole people of Yahweh 30 were prophets, and Yahweh gave his Spirit to them all!" Then Moses went back to the camp, the elders of Israel with him.

The quails

31 A wind came from Yahweh and it drove quails in from the sea and brought them down on the camp. They lay for a distance of a day's march 32 either side of the camp, two cubits thick on the ground. The people were up all that day and night and all the next day collecting quails: the least gathered 33 by anyone was ten homers; then they spread them out around the camp. The meat was still between their teeth, not even chewed, when the anger of Yahweh blazed out against the people. Yahweh struck them with a very great plague.

34 The name given to this place was Kibroth-hattaavah, because it was there that they buried the people who had indulged their greed.

35 From Kibroth-hattaavah the people set out for Hazeroth, and at Hazeroth they pitched camp.

Hazeroth. Complaints of Miriam and Aaron

1 12 Miriam, and Aaron too, spoke against Moses in connection with the Cushite woman^a he had taken. (For he had married a Cushite woman.) 2 They said, "Has Yahweh spoken to Moses only? Has he not spoken to us too?" 3 Yahweh heard this. Now Moses was the most humble of men, the humblest man on earth.

God's answer

4 Suddenly, Yahweh said to Moses and Aaron and Miriam, "Come, all three 5 of you, to the Tent of Meeting." They went, all three of them, and Yahweh came down in a pillar of cloud and stood at the entrance of the Tent. He called 6 Aaron and Miriam and they both came forward. Yahweh said, "Listen now to my words:

If any man among you is a prophet
 I make myself known to him in a vision,
 I speak to him in a dream.

7 Not so with my servant Moses:
 he is at home in my house;

11 a. The name of the second place at which the people rebelled, explained in v.34 as "the graves of the greedy."

12 a. Zipporah, the Midianite, Ex. 2:21.

8 I speak with him face to face, plainly and not in riddles, and he sees the form of Yahweh.

How then have you dared to speak against my servant Moses?"

9 The anger of Yahweh blazed out against them. He departed, and as soon 10 as the cloud withdrew from the Tent, there was Miriam a leper, white as snow!
Aaron turned to look at her; she had become a leper.

The prayer of Aaron and Moses

11 Aaron said to Moses:

"Help me, my lord! Do not punish us for a sin committed in folly of which 12 we are guilty. I entreat you, do not let her be like a monster, coming from its mother's womb with flesh half corrupted."

13 Moses cried to Yahweh, "O God," he said, "please heal her, I beg you!"

14 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "If her father had done no more than spit in her face, would she not be a thing of shame for seven days? Let her be shut outside the camp for seven days, and then let her be brought in again."

15 Miriam was shut outside the camp for seven days. The people did not set 16 out until she returned. Then the people left Hazeroth, and camp was pitched in the wilderness of Paran.

The reconnaissance in Canaan

1 13 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Send out men, one from each tribe, 2 to make a reconnaissance of this land of Canaan which I am giving to the sons of Israel. Send the leader of each tribe."

3 At Yahweh's bidding, Moses sent them from the wilderness of Paran. All 4 these men were chiefs among the sons of Israel. These were their names:

For the tribe of Reuben, Shammua son of Zaccur;

5 for the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat son of Hori;

6 for the tribe of Judah, Caleb son of Jephunneh;

7 for the tribe of Issachar, Igal son of Joseph;

8 for the tribe of Ephraim, Hoshea son of Nun;

9 for the tribe of Benjamin, Palti son of Raphu;

10 for the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel son of Sodi;

11 for the tribe of Joseph, for the tribe of Manasseh, Gaddi son of Susi;

12 for the tribe of Dan, Ammiel son of Gemalli;

13 for the tribe of Asher, Sethur son of Michael;

14 for the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi son of Vophsi;

15 for the tribe of Gad, Geuel son of Machi.

16 These were the names of the men whom Moses sent to make a reconnaissance of the land. Then Moses gave to Hoshea son of Nun the name of Joshua.

17 Moses sent them to reconnoiter the land of Canaan, "Go up into the Negeb; 18 then go up into the highlands. See what sort of country it is, and what sort of people the inhabitants are, whether they are strong or weak, few or many, 19 what sort of country they live in, whether it is good or poor; what sort of towns 20 they have, whether they are open or fortified; what sort of land it is, fertile or barren, wooded or open. Be bold, and bring back some of the produce of the country."

21 It was the season for early grapes. They went up to reconnoiter the land, 22 from the wilderness of Zin to Rehob, the Pass of Hamath.^a They went up by way of the Negeb as far as Hebron, where the Anakim lived, Ahiman, Sheshai 23 and Talmai. (Hebron was founded seven years before Tanis in Egypt.) They came to the Valley of Eshcol; there they lopped off a vine branch with a cluster of grapes, which two of them carried away on a pole, as well as pomegranates 24 and figs. This place was called the Valley of Eshcol^b after the cluster which the sons of Israel had cut there.

The envoys' report

25 At the end of forty days, they came back from their reconnaissance of the 26 land. They sought out Moses, Aaron and the whole community of Israel, in the wilderness of Paran, at Kadesh. They made their report to them, and to the whole community, and showed them the produce of the country.

27 They told them this story, "We went into the land to which you sent us.
28 It does indeed flow with milk and honey; this is its produce. At the same time, its inhabitants are a powerful people; the towns are fortified and very big; yes, 29 and we saw the descendants of Anak there. The Amalekite holds the Negeb area, the Hittite, Amorite and Jebusite the highlands, and the Canaanite the sea coast and the banks of the Jordan."

30 Caleb harangued the people gathered about Moses: "We must march in," 31 he said, "and conquer this land: we are well able to do it." But the men who had gone up with him answered, "We are not able to march against this people; 32 they are stronger than we are." And they began to disparage the country they had reconnoitered to the sons of Israel, "The country we went to reconnoiter is a country that devours its inhabitants. Every man we saw there was of enormous 33 size. Yes, and we saw giants there (the sons of Anak, descendants of the Giants).
We felt like grasshoppers, and so we seemed to them."

The rebellion of Israel

1 14 At this, the whole community raised their voices and cried aloud, and 2 the people wailed all that night. Then all the sons of Israel grumbled against Moses and Aaron, and the whole community said, "Would that we had 3 died in the land of Egypt, or at least that we had died in this wilderness! Why does Yahweh bring us to this land, only to have us fall by the sword, and our wives and young children seized as booty? Should we not do better to go back to 4 Egypt?" And they said to one another, "Let us appoint a leader and go back to Egypt."

5 Before the whole assembled community of the sons of Israel, Moses and 6 Aaron fell down, face to the ground. Joshua son of Nun and Caleb son of Jephunneh, two of those who had reconnoitered the country, tore their 7 garments; and they said to the entire community of the sons of Israel, "The land 8 we went to reconnoiter is a good land, an excellent land. If Yahweh is pleased with us, he will lead us into this land and give it to us. It is a land where milk and 9 honey flow. Do not rebel against Yahweh. And do not be afraid of the people of this land; we shall gobble them up. Their tutelary shadow has gone from them so long as Yahweh is with us.^a Do not be afraid of them."

The anger of Yahweh. Moses makes an appeal

10 The entire community was talking of stoning them, when the glory of 11 Yahweh appeared at the Tent of Meeting to all the sons of Israel. And Yahweh said to Moses:

"How long will this people insult me? How long will they refuse to believe 12 in me despite the signs I have worked among them? I will strike them with pestilence and disown them. And of you I shall make a new nation, greater and mightier than they are."

13 Moses answered Yahweh:

"But the Egyptians already know that you, by your own power, have brought 14 this people out from their midst. They have said as much to the inhabitants of this country. They already know that you, Yahweh, are in the midst of this people, and that you show yourself to them face to face; that it is you, Yahweh, whose cloud stands over them, that you go before them in a pillar of cloud 15 by day and a pillar of fire by night. If you destroy this people now as if it were 13 a. The extreme north of Palestine. b. Near Hebron.

14 a. The shelter of their own tutelary gods.

16 one man, then the nations who have heard about you will say, "Yahweh was not able to bring this people into the land he swore to give them, and so he 17 has slaughtered them in the wilderness." "No, my Lord! It is now you must 18 display your power, according to those words you spoke, "Yahweh is slow to anger and rich in graciousness, forgiving faults and transgression, and yet letting nothing go unchecked, punishing the father's fault in the sons to the third and 19 fourth generation." "In the abundance, then, of your graciousness, forgive the sin of this people, as you have done from Egypt until now."

Pardon and punishment

20 Yahweh said, "I forgive them as you ask. "But—as I live, and as the glory 21 of Yahweh fills all the earth—of all the men who have seen my glory and the 22 signs that I worked in Egypt and in the wilderness, who have put me to the test 23 ten times already and not obeyed my voice, "not one shall see the land I swore to give their fathers. Not one of those who slight me shall see it.
 24 But my servant Caleb is of another spirit. Because he has obeyed me perfectly, I will bring him into the land he has entered, and his race shall possess it. (The 25 Amalekite and the Canaanite dwell in the plain.) "Tomorrow you will turn about and go back into the wilderness, in the direction of the Sea of Suph."

26 Yahweh spoke to Moses and Aaron. He said:

27 "How long does this perverse community, which complains against me . . . ?
 28 I have heard the complaints which the sons of Israel make against me. "Say to them, 'As I live—it is Yahweh who speaks—I will deal with you according 29 to the very words you have used in my hearing. "In this wilderness your dead bodies will fall, all you men of the census, all you who were numbered from 30 the age of twenty years and over, you who have complained against me. "I swear that you shall not enter the land where I swore most solemnly, to settle you.
 31 It is Caleb son of Jephunneh, and Joshua son of Nun, "and your young children that you said would be seized as booty, it is these I shall bring in to know the 32 land you have disdained. "As for you, your dead bodies will fall in this wilderness, 33 and your sons will be nomads in the wilderness for forty years, bearing the 34 weight of your faithlessness, until the last of you lies dead in the desert. "For forty days you reconnoitered the land. Each day shall count for a year: for forty years you shall bear the burden of your sins, and you shall learn what it means 35 to reject me." "I, Yahweh, have spoken: this is how I will deal with this perverse community that has conspired against me. Here in this wilderness, to the last man, they shall die."

36 The men whom Moses had sent to reconnoiter the land, who on their return had incited the whole community of Israel to grumble against Yahweh by 37 disparaging it, "these men who had disparaged the land were all struck dead 38 before Yahweh. "Of the men who had gone to reconnoiter the land, only Joshua son of Nun and Caleb son of Jephunneh remained alive.

An abortive attempt by the Israelites

39 Moses reported these words to all the sons of Israel, and the people set up 40 a great outcry. "Then they rose early and set out for the heights of the highlands saying, "Look, we are setting out for this place, since Yahweh has told us that 41 we have sinned." "Moses replied, "Why disobey the command of Yahweh? Nothing 42 will come of it. "Do not go up, for Yahweh is not among you; do not get your-43 selves beaten by your enemies. "Yes, there facing you are the Amalekite and the Canaanite, and you will fall to their swords because you have turned away from 44 Yahweh, and Yahweh is not with you." "Yet they set out presumptuously toward the heights of the highlands. Neither the ark of the covenant of Yahweh nor 45 Moses left the camp. "The Amalekite and the Canaanite who lived in that hill country came down and defeated them, and harried them all the way to Hormah.

VI. LAWS GOVERNING SACRIFICES. POWERS OF PRIESTS AND LEVITES

The oblation to accompany sacrifices

¹/₂ 15 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Tell this to the sons of Israel: ³ you, and you make burnt offering to Yahweh either as a holocaust or as a sacrifice, whether in payment of a vow, or as a voluntary gift, or on the occasion of one of your solemn feasts—taking from your herds and flocks to make an ⁴ appeasing fragrance for Yahweh—the offerer must bring, as his personal gift to Yahweh, an oblation of one tenth of an ephah of fine flour mixed with one quarter ⁵ of a hin of oil. You must also make a libation of wine, one quarter of a hin to ⁶ each lamb, in addition to the holocaust or sacrifice. For a ram, you must make an oblation of two tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with one third of a hin ⁷ of oil, and a libation of one third of a hin of wine, offering it as an appeasing ⁸ fragrance for Yahweh. If you offer a bull as a holocaust or sacrifice, in payment of ⁹ a vow or as a communion sacrifice for Yahweh, you must offer in addition to the beast an oblation of three tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with half ¹⁰ a hin of oil, and you must offer a libation of half a hin of wine, as a burnt ¹¹ offering, an appeasing fragrance for Yahweh. This must be done for every ¹² bull, every ram, every lamb or kid. Whatever the number of victims you have for sacrifice, you must do the same for each of them, however many there are.

¹³ "This must be done by every man of your own people when he makes a burnt ¹⁴ offering, an appeasing fragrance for Yahweh. Any stranger living among you, or among your descendants, will also make a burnt offering, an appeasing fragrance ¹⁵ for Yahweh: just as you act, so must the assembly.^a There shall be only one law for you and for the settler among you. This is a law that shall bind your descendants ¹⁶ always: before Yahweh, you and the settler are alike. There is to be one law only, and one statute for you and for the stranger who lives among you."

The first fruits of bread

¹⁷/₁₈ Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Speak to the sons of Israel and say to them:

¹⁹ "When you have entered the land to which I am bringing you, you must set ²⁰ aside a portion for Yahweh when you eat the bread of this country. You must set aside one loaf as the first fruits of your meal; you must set this offering ²¹ aside like the one set aside from your threshing. You are to set aside for Yahweh a portion of the best of your meal. This applies to your descendants.

Atonement for faults of inadvertence

²² "If through inadvertence you fail in any of these commands that Yahweh has ²³ given to Moses (every single precept that Yahweh has laid on you through Moses, from the day he gave his commands and onward to your descendants), ²⁴ this is what must be done:

²⁵ "If it is an inadvertence of the community, the community as a whole must make a holocaust of a young bull, an appeasing fragrance for Yahweh, with the prescribed accompanying oblation and libation, and a he-goat must be offered ²⁶ as a sacrifice for sin. The priest must perform the rite of atonement over the entire community of the sons of Israel, and pardon will be given, since it was an inadvertence. When they have brought their offering as a burnt offering to Yahweh, and have presented their sacrifice for sin before Yahweh to make amends for their inadvertence, pardon will be given to the entire community of the sons of Israel, as also to the stranger who lives among them, since the entire people has sinned through inadvertence.

27 'If it is an individual who has sinned by inadvertence, he must offer a yearling 28 kid in sacrifice for sin. The priest must perform the rite of atonement before Yahweh over the person who has gone astray by this sin of inadvertence; when 29 the rite of atonement has been performed over him, he will be forgiven, whether he is a native, one of the sons of Israel, or a stranger living among them. There shall be only one law among you for the man who sins by inadvertence.

30 'But the man who sins deliberately, whether native or stranger, outrages 31 Yahweh himself. Such a man must be outlawed from his people; he has despised the word of Yahweh and broken his command. This man must be entirely outlawed, since his sin is inseparable from him.'

Breaking the sabbath

32 While the sons of Israel were in the wilderness, a man was caught gathering 33 wood on the sabbath day. Those who caught him gathering wood brought 34 him before Moses, Aaron and the whole community. He was kept in custody, 35 because the penalty he should undergo had not yet been fixed. Yahweh said to Moses, "This man must be put to death. The whole community must stone him 36 outside the camp." The whole community took him outside the camp and stoned him till he was dead, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.

Tassels on garments

37 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Speak to the sons of Israel and tell them 38 to put tassels on the hems of their garments, and to put a violet cord on this tassel 39 at the hem. You must have a tassel, then, and the sight of it will remind you of all the commands of Yahweh. You are to put them into practice then, and no longer follow the desires of your heart and your eyes, which have led you to make wantons of yourselves.

40 "This will remind you of all my commandments; put them into practice, 41 and you will be consecrated to your God. It is I, Yahweh your God, who have brought you out of the land of Egypt so that I may be your God, I Yahweh your God."

The rebellion of Korah, Dathan and Abiram

1 16 Korah son of Izhar, son of Kohath, son of Levi took . . . Dathan and 2 Abiram sons of Eliab, and On son of Peleth (Eliab and Peleth were sons of Reuben) rebelled against Moses, together with two hundred and fifty of the sons of Israel, leaders of the community, prominent in the solemn feasts, men of 3 repute. These joined forces against Moses and Aaron saying to them, "You take too much on yourselves! The whole community and all its members are consecrated, and Yahweh lives among them. Why set yourselves higher than the community of Yahweh?"

4 Moses, when he heard this, threw himself face downward on the ground.
5 Then he said to Korah and all his followers, "Tomorrow morning Yahweh will reveal who is his, who is the consecrated man that he will allow to come near him.
6 The one he allows to come near is the one whom he has chosen. This is what 7 you are to do: take the censers of Korah and all his followers, fill them with fire and, tomorrow, put incense in them before Yahweh. Yahweh will choose the one who is the consecrated man. Sons of Levi, you take too much on yourselves!"

8 Moses said to Korah, "Listen to me now, you sons of Levi! Is it not enough 9 for you that the God of Israel has singled you out from the community of Israel, and called you close to himself for service in the tabernacle of Yahweh, to stand 10 before this community and perform the sacred rites on their behalf? He has called you to be near him, you and all your brother Levites with you, and now 11 you aspire to the office of priesthood as well! Against Yahweh himself you have joined forces, you and your followers: for what is Aaron that you should complain against him?"

12 Moses summoned Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab. They replied, 13 "We will not come. 'Was it not enough to take us from a land where milk and honey flow to die in this wilderness, without seeking to lord it over us now?
 14 There is no land flowing with milk and honey that you have brought us to, nor have you given us fields and vineyards for our inheritance. Do you expect 15 this people to be blind? We will not come.'" Moses flew into a rage and said to Yahweh, "Pay no heed to their offering. I have not taken so much as a donkey from them, nor have I harmed any of them."

The punishment

16 Moses said to Korah, "You and all your followers, come tomorrow into the 17 presence of Yahweh, you and they, and Aaron too. 'Let every man bring his censer, put incense in it, and carry his censer before Yahweh—two hundred and 18 fifty censers. You and Aaron also, each of you bring his censer.'" So every man took his censer, filled it with fire, and put incense in it. And they stood at the 19 entrance to the Tent of Meeting, and Moses and Aaron with them. Then, when Korah had assembled the whole community to confront these two at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting, the glory of Yahweh appeared to the whole community.

20 Yahweh spoke to Moses and Aaron. He said, "Stand apart from this assembly, 21 I am going to destroy them here and now." They threw themselves face downward on the ground, and cried out, "O God, God of the spirits that give life to every living thing, will you be angry with the whole community for one man's 22 sin?" Yahweh answered Moses and said, "Say this to the community, 'Stand 23 clear of the dwelling of Korah.'"

24 Moses stood up and went to Dathan and Abiram; the elders of Israel followed 25 him. He said to the community, "Stand away, I beg you, from the tents of these 26 perverse men, and touch nothing that belongs to them, for fear that with all 27 their sins you too will be swept away." So they moved away from the dwelling of Korah.

Dathan and Abiram had come out and were standing at their tent doors, 28 with their wives and their sons and their young children. Moses said, "By this you will know that Yahweh himself has sent me to perform all these tasks and 29 that this is not my doing. If these people die a natural death such as men 30 commonly die, then Yahweh has not sent me. But if Yahweh does something utterly new, if the earth should open its mouth and swallow them, themselves and all that belongs to them, so that they go down alive to Sheol,^a then you will know that these men have rejected Yahweh."

31 The moment he finished saying all these words, the ground split open under 32 their feet, the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them, their families too, and all Korah's men and all their belongings.

33 They went down alive to Sheol, they and all their possessions. The earth 34 closed over them and they disappeared from the midst of the assembly. At their cries all the Israelites around them ran away. For they said, "The earth must not swallow us!"

35 A fire came down from Yahweh and consumed the two hundred and fifty men carrying incense.

The censers

36^{1,2} 37³ 17 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Tell Eleazar, son of Aaron, the priest, to pick the censers out of these ashes and take this unlawful fire elsewhere, 38 for these sinful censers are sanctified, at the price of these men's lives. Since they have been brought before Yahweh and consecrated, let the metal be hammered into sheets to cover the altar. They will be an object lesson to the sons of Israel."

39⁴ Eleazar the priest took the bronze censers which had been carried by the men who were destroyed by the fire. They were hammered into sheets to cover the altar. ⁵They are a reminder to the sons of Israel that no layman, no one outside Aaron's line, may come near Yahweh with incense to burn, under pain of suffering the lot of Korah and his followers, according to the order given by Yahweh through Moses.

16 a. The underworld, the place of the dead.

Aaron intercedes

⁶ On the following day, the entire community of the sons of Israel grumbled against Moses and Aaron, saying, "You have brought death to the people of ⁷Yahweh." As the community was banding together against Moses and Aaron, these turned toward the Tent of Meeting, and there was the Cloud covering it, ⁸and the glory of Yahweh appeared. And Moses and Aaron went to the door of the Tent of Meeting.

⁹⁻¹⁰ ^{44.45} Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Stand clear of this community; I am going to destroy them here and now." They threw themselves face downward on the ground. Then Moses said to Aaron, "Take the censer, fill it with fire from the altar, put incense in it and hurry to the community to perform the rite of atonement over them. The wrath has come down from Yahweh and the plague has begun." Aaron did as Moses said and ran among the assembly, but the plague was already at work among them. He put in the incense and performed the rite of atonement over the people. Then he stood between the living and the dead, and the plague stopped. There were fourteen thousand seven hundred victims of that plague, not counting those who died because of Korah. Then Aaron came back to Moses at the Tent of Meeting; the plague had been halted.

²¹ ⁶ Moses spoke to the sons of Israel, and all their leaders gave him one branch each, twelve branches in all for their patriarchal families; Aaron's branch was among them. Moses placed them before Yahweh in the Tent of the Testimony. ²² ⁸ On the following day Moses came to the Tent of the Testimony and there, already sprouting, was Aaron's branch, standing for the House of Levi. Buds had opened, flowers had blossomed, and almonds had already ripened. Moses took all the branches away from before Yahweh and brought them back to all the sons of Israel; they examined them and each one took back his own branch.

²⁵ ¹⁰ Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Put back Aaron's branch before the Testimony, where it will have its prescribed place, a sign to these rebels. It will stop them complaining to me any more, and they will not die." Moses did as Yahweh had ordered. That is what he did.

Atonement: the function of the priesthood

²⁷ ²² The sons of Israel said to Moses, "We are lost! We are dead men! We are all dead men! Anyone who goes near the tabernacle of Yahweh with an offering will die. Are we to be doomed to the last man?"

¹ 18 Then Yahweh said to Aaron: "You and your sons, and your whole family shall bear the burden of transgressions against the sanctuary. You and your sons with you shall bear ² the burden of the transgressions of your priesthood. Let your brothers of the branch of Levi, your father's tribe, come with you too. They are to join you and

3 serve you, yourselves and your sons, before the Tent of the Testimony. ·They are to be at your service and the service of the whole Tent. Provided they do not come near the sacred vessels or the altar, they will be in no more danger of death than you. ·They are to join you, they are to take charge of the Tent of Meeting for the entire ministry of the Tent, and no layman shall come near you. ·You must take charge of the sanctuary and charge of the altar, and the wrath will never again fall on the sons of Israel. ·I myself have chosen your brothers, the Levites, from among the sons of Israel as a gift to you. As "oblates" they will belong to Yahweh, to serve at the Tent of Meeting. ·You and your sons will undertake the priestly duties in all that concerns the altar and all that lies behind the veil.^a You will perform the liturgy, the duties of which I entrust to your priesthood. But the layman who comes near shall die."

The priests' portion

8 Yahweh said to Aaron:

"I myself have given you charge of all that is set aside for me. Everything that the sons of Israel consecrate I give to you as your portion, as well as to your sons, by perpetual ordinance. ·This is what shall be yours of the most holy things, of the consecrated food: every offering that the sons of Israel give back to me, whether it be an oblation or a sacrifice for sin or a sacrifice of reparation, is a thing most holy; it shall belong to you and your sons. ·You may eat these most holy things. Every male may eat them. You are to count them sacred.

11 "To you also shall belong whatever is set aside from the offerings of the sons of Israel to be held out with the gesture of offering; this I give to you, as well as to your sons and daughters, by perpetual ordinance. Every undefiled person in your house may eat it. ·All the best of the oil, all the best of the wine and wheat, the first fruits made over by them to Yahweh, these I give to you. ·All the first produce of their land which they bring to Yahweh shall be yours. Every undefiled person in your house may eat them. ·All in Israel on which the ban is laid shall be yours. ·Every first-born brought to Yahweh shall be yours, of all living creatures, whether man or beast; nevertheless you must redeem the first-born of man, and you must redeem the first-born of an unclean beast. ·You must redeem it in the month in which it is born at the price of five shekels, each of sanctuary weight—which is twenty gerahs. ·The first-born of cow, sheep and goat, these alone you shall not redeem. They are holy: you must sprinkle their blood on the altar and burn the fat as a burnt offering, an appeasing fragrance for Yahweh; ·the meat shall be yours, together with the breast that has been presented with the gesture of offering, and the right thigh. ·All that the sons of Israel set aside for Yahweh from the holy things, this I give to you, and to your sons and daughters, by perpetual ordinance. This is a covenant of salt for ever before Yahweh, for you and your descendants after you."

The Levites' portion

20 Yahweh said to Aaron:

"You shall have no inheritance in their land, no portion of it among them shall be yours. It is I who will be your portion and your inheritance among the sons of Israel.

21 "See, to the sons of Levi I give as their inheritance all the tithes collected in Israel, in return for their services, for the ministry they render in the Tent of Meeting. ·The sons of Israel must no longer go near the Tent of Meeting; they would be burdened with sin and die. ·To Levi belongs the ministry of the Tent of Meeting, and the Levites will bear the burden of their sin. This is a perpetual law for all your descendants: the Levites are to have no inheritance among the sons of Israel. ·The tithe that the sons of Israel set aside for Yahweh, I give the Levites for their inheritance. For this reason I have told them that they are to have no inheritance among the sons of Israel.”

Tithes

- ²⁵ ²⁶ Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, “You are to say to the Levites: “When you receive the tithe from the sons of Israel which they must pay you and which I am giving you as your inheritance, out of this you are to set aside a ²⁷ portion for Yahweh, a tithe of the tithe. This is to take the place of the portion set aside that is due from you, like the corn from the threshing floor and new wine ²⁸ from the press. Thus you too will set aside a portion for Yahweh, of all the tithes you receive from the sons of Israel. You will give what you have set aside ²⁹ for Yahweh to Aaron the priest. Out of all the gifts you receive you will set aside a portion for Yahweh. From the best of all these things you will set aside the sacred portion.’
³⁰ “You are to say to them, ‘After you have set aside the best, all these gifts shall, for the Levites, take the place of the produce of the threshing floor and of the ³¹ wine press. You may consume them anywhere, you and your people: this is ³² your payment for serving in the Tent of Meeting. You will not incur the burden of any sin on this account, once you have set aside the best; you will not be profaning the things consecrated by the sons of Israel, and you will not die.’”

The ashes of the red heifer^a

- ¹ 19 Yahweh spoke to Moses and Aaron. He said:
² “This is a statute of the Law which Yahweh has prescribed. Say this to the sons of Israel, “They are to bring you a red heifer without fault or blemish, one that has ³ never borne the yoke. You will give it to Eleazar the priest. It must be taken ⁴ outside the camp and slaughtered in his presence. Then Eleazar the priest is to take some of the victim’s blood on his finger, and sprinkle this blood seven times ⁵ toward the entrance to the Tent of Meeting. The heifer must then be burned in his presence: hide, flesh, blood, and the dung too, must be burned. Then the ⁶ priest is to take cedar wood, hyssop and cochineal red, and throw them on the fire where the heifer is burning. Then he must wash his clothing and bathe his ⁷ body in water; after which he may go back to the camp, though he will remain unclean until evening. The man who has burned the heifer must wash his ⁸ clothing and bathe his body in water and will remain unclean until evening. The man who gathers up the ashes of the heifer must be ritually clean; he will deposit
⁹ them outside the camp, in a clean place. They must be kept for the ritual use of the community of the sons of Israel for making lustral water; it is a sacrifice for sin.
¹⁰ The man who has gathered up the ashes of the heifer must wash his clothing and will remain unclean until evening. For the sons of Israel as for the stranger living among them, this will be a perpetual law.

A case of uncleanness

- ¹¹ “Anyone who touches a corpse, of any person whatsoever, shall be unclean ¹² for seven days. He shall purify himself with these waters on the third and the seventh day, and he will be clean; but if he does not purify himself on the third ¹³ and the seventh day he will not be clean. Anyone who touches a dead person, the body of a man that has died, and has not purified himself, defiles the tabernacle of Yahweh; such a man must be outlawed from Israel because the lustral waters have not flowed over him; he is unclean, and his uncleanness remains in him.
¹⁴ “This is the law when a man dies in a tent. Anyone who goes into the tent, or ¹⁵ anyone who is already there, shall be unclean for seven days. Equally unclean also shall be every open vessel that has not been closed with a lid or fastening.
¹⁶ “Anyone in the open country who touches a man who has been killed, or a man who has died, or human bones or a tomb, shall be unclean for seven days.

The ritual of lustral water

- 17 "For a man thus unclean, some of the ashes must be taken from the victim burned as a sacrifice for sin. Spring water must be poured on them, in a vessel.
- 18 Then one who is ritually clean shall take hyssop and dip it in the water. He must then sprinkle the tent, all the vessels and everyone there, and also the man who has touched the bones, or the body of the person, whether he was killed or died
- 19 of natural causes, or the tomb. The man who is clean must sprinkle the unclean on the third and the seventh day, and on the seventh day he will have freed him from his sin. The man who is unclean must then wash his clothing and bathe
- 20 himself in water, and by evening he will be clean. If an unclean man fails to purify himself in this way, he must be cut off from the community, for he would defile the sanctuary of Yahweh. The lustral waters have not flowed over him, and he is unclean.
- 21 "This is to be a perpetual law for them. The person who sprinkles the lustral water must wash his clothing, and the person who touches these waters shall be
- 22 unclean until evening. Anything that an unclean person touches shall be unclean, and anyone who touches it shall be unclean until evening."

VII. FROM KADESH TO MOAB

The waters of Meribah

- 1 20 The sons of Israel, the whole community, arrived in the first month at the desert of Zin. The people settled at Kadesh. It was there that Miriam died and was buried.
- 2 There was no water for the community, and they were all united against Moses
- 3 and Aaron. The people challenged Moses: "We would rather have died," they
- 4 said, "as our brothers died before Yahweh! Why did you bring the assembly of Yahweh into this wilderness, only to let us die here, ourselves and our cattle?
- 5 Why did you lead us out of Egypt, only to bring us to this wretched place? It is a place unfit for sowing, it has no figs, no vines, no pomegranates, and there is not even water to drink!"
- 6 Leaving the assembly, Moses and Aaron went to the door of the Tent of Meeting. They threw themselves face downward on the ground, and the glory
- 7 of Yahweh appeared to them. Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Take the
- 8 branch and call the community together, you and your brother Aaron. Then, in full view of them, order this rock to give water. You will make water flow for them out of the rock, and provide drink for the community and their cattle."
- 9 Moses took up the branch from before Yahweh, as he had directed him. Then
- 10 Moses and Aaron called the assembly together in front of the rock and addressed them, "Listen now, you rebels. Shall we make water gush from this rock for
- 11 you?" And Moses raised his hand and struck the rock twice with the branch; water gushed in abundance, and the community drank and their cattle too.

The punishment of Moses and Aaron

- 12 Then Yahweh said to Moses and Aaron, "Because you did not believe that I could proclaim my holiness in the eyes of the sons of Israel, you shall not lead this assembly into the land I am giving them."^a
- 13 These are the waters of Meribah, where the sons of Israel challenged Yahweh and he proclaimed his holiness.

19 a. In this rite an ancient, half-magical custom is given legal status by assimilating it to an atonement sacrifice for sin.

20 a. No explanation of the offenses of Moses and Aaron is given here; but in Dt. 1:37 it is the abandonment of the campaign against Canaan that brings on this punishment, and it is possible that this verse should relate to ch. 14 and not to the Meribah incident.

Edom refuses right of way

14 Moses sent messengers from Kadesh, "To the king of Edom. A message 15 from your brother Israel. You know well enough the extremity to which we have 16 been reduced. Our ancestors went down into Egypt, and there we stayed for a long time. But the Egyptians treated us badly, as they did our ancestors. We 17 cried to Yahweh. He listened to us and sent an angel to bring us out of Egypt.
 Now we are here at Kadesh, a town on the borders of your territory. We ask 18 permission to pass through your land. We will not cross any fields or vineyards; we will not drink any water from the wells; we will keep to the king's highway 19 without turning to right or left until we are clear of your frontiers." Edom answered, "You shall not pass through my country; if you do, I will come out to 20 attack you." The answer of the sons of Israel was, "We will keep to the high road; if we use any of your water for myself and my cattle, I will pay for it.
 21 I am asking only to pass through on foot." Edom replied, "You shall not pass," and Edom marched out to meet them with many men and in great force. At Edom's refusal to allow Israel a passage through his territory, Israel turned away.

The death of Aaron

22 They set out from Kadesh, and the whole community of the sons of Israel 23 came to Mount Hor. Yahweh spoke to Moses and Aaron at Mount Hor, on the 24 frontier of the land of Edom.^b He said, "Aaron must be gathered to his people:
 he is not to enter the land that I am giving to the sons of Israel, since you disobeyed 25 my order at the waters of Meribah. Take Aaron and Eleazar his son, and bring 26 them up Mount Hor. There, strip Aaron of his garments and put them on Eleazar his son, and Aaron will be gathered to his people: he is to die there." 27 Moses did as Yahweh ordered. In the sight of the whole community they 28 went up Mount Hor. Moses stripped Aaron of his garments and put them on Eleazar his son; and Aaron died there on top of the mountain. Then Moses and 29 Eleazar came back down the mountain. The whole community saw that Aaron had died, and all the House of Israel wept for Aaron for thirty days.

The capture of Hormah

1 21 The king of Arad,^a a Canaanite living in the Negeb, learned that Israel was coming by way of Atharim. He attacked Israel and took some prisoners.
 2 Israel then made this vow to Yahweh, "If you deliver this people into my power, 3 I will lay their towns under ban." Yahweh heard the voice of Israel and delivered the Canaanites into their power. And they laid them under ban, both them and their towns. This place was given the name Hormah.

The bronze serpent

4 They left Mount Hor by the road to the Sea of Suph,^b to skirt the land of 5 Edom. On the way the people lost patience. They spoke against God and against Moses, "Why did you bring us out of Egypt to die in this wilderness? For there is neither bread nor water here; we are sick of this unsatisfying food." 6 At this God sent fiery serpents among the people; their bite brought death 7 to many in Israel. The people came and said to Moses, "We have sinned by speaking against Yahweh and against you. Intercede for us with Yahweh to save 8 us from these serpents." Moses interceded for the people, and Yahweh answered him, "Make a fiery serpent and put it on a standard. If anyone is bitten and looks 9 at it, he shall live." So Moses fashioned a bronze serpent which he put on a standard, and if anyone was bitten by a serpent, he looked at the bronze serpent and lived.

By stages to Transjordan

10 The sons of Israel set out and camped at Oboth. Then they left Oboth and 11 camped at Iye-abarim, in the wilderness that borders Moab, toward the sunrise.

12 They set out from there and camped in the wadi Zered. They set out from there 13 and camped beyond the Arnon . . .^c

This wadi in the desert begins in the land of the Amorites. For the Arnon is 14 the frontier of Moab, between the Moabites and the Amorites. Hence it is written in the Book of the Wars of Yahweh:

15 . . . Waheb by Suphah and the wadi Arnon and the slope of the ravine that runs down to the site of Ar and leans over the frontier of Moab . . .

16 and from there they went on to Beer . . .^d

It was of the well here that Yahweh had said to Moses, "Call the people 17 together and I will give them water." Then it was that Israel sang this song:

"For the well.
 Sing out for the well 18 that was sunk by the princes and dug by the leaders of the people with the scepter, with their staves."

19 and from Beer to Mattanah, and from Mattanah to Nahaliel, and from 20 Nahaliel to Bamoth, and from Bamoth to the valley that gives on to the country of Moab, toward the heights of Pisgah which marks the edge of the desert and looks down on it.

The conquest of Transjordan

21 Israel sent messengers to say to Sihon, king of the Amorites, "I wish to pass 22 through your land. We will not stray into fields or vineyards; we will not drink any water from the wells; we will keep to the king's highway until we are clear of your frontiers."

23 But Sihon would not give Israel leave to pass through his land. He gathered all his people, marched into the desert to meet Israel, and reached Jahaz, where 24 he gave battle to Israel. Israel struck him down with the edge of the sword and conquered his country from the Arnon to the Jabbok, as far as the sons of Ammon, for Jazer was the Ammonite frontier.

25 Israel took all these towns, and occupied all the Amorite towns, Heshbon 26 and all the towns under its jurisdiction, Heshbon being the capital of Sihon, king of the Amorites. It was the same Sihon who had waged war on the first king 27 of Moab and captured all his territory as far as the Arnon. Hence the poets sing:

Courage, Heshbon!
 Well built and well founded, city of Sihon!
 28 For a fire came out of Heshbon, a flame from the city of Sihon, it devoured Ar of Moab, it engulfed the heights of the Arnon.
 29 Woe to you, Moab!
 You are lost, people of Chemosh!
 He has turned his sons into fugitives, his daughters into captives for Sihon, king of the Amorites.
 30 Heshbon has destroyed

b. Edom included Mount Seir and the plateau east of the Arabah.

21 a. A town in southern Palestine. b. Toward the Gulf of Aqaba. c. This sentence is continued in v.16. A historical note on the old frontier has been inserted. d. The sentence is continued at the end of v.18, after a parenthetical note explaining the name Beer, a well.

the little children as far as Dibon, the women as far as Nophah, the men as far as Medeba.

³¹ Israel settled in the land of the Amorites. •Moses sent men to reconnoiter ³² Jazer, and Israel took it and all the towns in its jurisdiction and evicted the Amorites who dwelt there.

³³ Then they turned and marched in the direction of Bashan. Og king of Bashan ³⁴ marched out to meet them with all his people to give battle at Edrei. •Yahweh said to Moses, “Do not be afraid of him, for I have given him into your power, him and all his people and his country. Deal with him as you dealt with Sihon, king ³⁵ of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon.” •So they defeated him, his sons and all his people; not one of them escaped. And they took possession of his country.

¹ 22 Then the sons of Israel set out and pitched their camp in the plains of Moab, beyond the Jordan opposite Jericho.^a

The king of Moab appeals to Balaam^b

² Balak son of Zippor saw all that Israel had done to the Amorites, •and Moab ³ was seized with panic before this people because of their immense number.

⁴ Moab was afraid of the sons of Israel; •he said to the elders of Midian, “Here is a horde now cropping everything around us as an ox crops the grass of the fields.”

⁵ Now Balak son of Zippor was king of Moab at the time. •He sent messengers to summon Balaam son of Beor, at Pethor on the river,^c in the land of the sons of Amaw, saying, “Look how this people coming from Egypt has overrun the ⁶ whole countryside; they have settled at my door. •Come, please, and curse this people for me, for they are stronger than I am. We may then be able to defeat them and drive them out of the country. For this I know: the man you bless is blessed, the man you curse is accursed.”

⁷ The elders of Moab and the elders of Midian set out, taking the fee for the ⁸ divination with them. They found Balaam and gave him Balak’s message. •He said to them, “Stay the night here, and I will answer as Yahweh directs me.” ⁹ So the chiefs of Moab stayed with Balaam. •God came to Balaam and said, ¹⁰ “Who are these men staying with you?” •Balaam gave God this answer, “Balak ¹¹ son of Zippor has sent me this message, ‘Look how this people coming from Egypt has overrun the whole countryside. Come and curse them for me; I may ¹² then be able to defeat them and drive them out.’” •God said to Balaam, “You are not to go with them. You are not to curse this people, for they are blessed.” ¹³ In the morning Balaam rose and said to the chiefs sent by Balak, “Go back to ¹⁴ your country, for Yahweh will not let me go with you.” •So the chiefs of Moab rose and returned to Balak and said, “Balaam would not come with us.”

¹⁵ And again Balak sent chiefs, more numerous and more renowned than the ¹⁶ first. •They came to Balaam and said, “A message from Balak son of Zippor, ¹⁷ ‘Do not refuse, I beg you, to come to me. •I will load you with honors and do ¹⁸ whatever you say. Come, I beg you, and curse this people for me.’” •Balaam answered the envoys of Balak, “Even if Balak gave me his house full of silver and gold, I could not go against the order of Yahweh my God in anything, great ¹⁹ or small. •Now please stay the night here yourselves, and I will learn what else ²⁰ Yahweh has to tell me.” •God came to Balaam during the night and said to him, “Have not these men come to summon you? Get up, go with them. But you ²¹ must do nothing except what I tell you.” •In the morning Balaam rose and saddled his she-donkey and set out with the chiefs of Moab.

Balaam’s donkey

²² His going kindled the wrath of Yahweh, and the angel of Yahweh took his stand on the road to bar his way. He was riding his donkey and his two servants ²³ were with him. •Now the donkey saw the angel of Yahweh standing on the road, a drawn sword in his hand, and she turned off the road and made off across country. But Balaam beat her to turn her back on to the road.

24 The angel of Yahweh then took his stand on a narrow path among the 25 vineyards, with a wall to the right and a wall to the left. The donkey saw the angel of Yahweh and brushed against the wall, grazing Balaam's foot. Balaam beat her again.

26 The angel of Yahweh moved and took up his stand in a place so narrow that 27 there was no room to pass, right or left. When the donkey saw the angel of Yahweh, she lay down under Balaam. Balaam flew into a rage and beat her with his stick.

28 Then Yahweh opened the mouth of the donkey, who said to Balaam, "What 29 have I done to you? Why beat me three times like this?" Balaam answered the donkey, "Because you are playing the fool with me! If I had had a sword in my 30 hand, I would have killed you by now." The donkey said to Balaam, "Am I not your donkey, and have I not been your mount from your youth? In all this time, have I ever failed to serve you?" He answered, "No."

31 Then Yahweh opened the eyes of Balaam. He saw the angel of Yahweh standing on the road, a drawn sword in his hand; and he bowed down and fell 32 prostrate on his face. And the angel of Yahweh said to him, "Why did you beat your donkey three times like that? I myself had come to bar your way; while I am 33 here your road is blocked. The donkey saw me and turned aside from me three times. You are lucky she did turn aside, or I should have killed you by now, 34 though I would have spared her." Balaam answered the angel of Yahweh, "I have sinned. I did not know you were standing in my path. However, if you 35 are angry with me, I will go back." The angel of Yahweh answered Balaam, "Go with these men, but only say what I tell you to say." So Balaam went with the chiefs sent by Balak.

Balaam and Balak

36 Balak learned that Balaam was coming and went out to meet him, in the direction of Ar of Moab, at the Arnon frontier on the country's furthest bound-37 ary. Balak said to Balaam, "Did I not send messengers to summon you? Why did you not come to me? Did you think, perhaps, I could confer no honors on you?" 38 Balaam answered Balak, "Here I am at your side. May I make myself clear to you now? The word that God puts into my mouth, this I shall speak."

39 Balaam set out with Balak. They came to Kiriath-huzoth. Balak sacrificed 40 oxen and sheep, and offered portions to Balaam and the chiefs who were with 41 him. Next morning Balak took Balaam and brought him up to Bamoth-baal, 1 from where he could see the end of the camp. 23 Balaam said to Balak, "Build 2 me seven altars, and bring here to me seven bulls and seven rams." Balak did as Balaam asked and he offered a holocaust of one bull and one ram on each 3 altar. Balaam then said to Balak, "Stand beside your holocausts. I will go; perhaps Yahweh will allow me to meet him. Whatever he shows me I shall tell you." And he withdrew to a bare hill.

The oracles of Balaam

4 God came to meet Balaam, who said to him, "I have prepared the seven altars 5 and offered a holocaust of one bull and one ram on each altar." Yahweh then put a word into his mouth and said to him, "Go back to Balak and that is what 6 you must say to him." So Balaam went back to him, and found him still standing 7 beside his holocaust, with all the chiefs of Moab. Then he declaimed his poem.
He said:

22 a. Moab was bounded on the south by the Zered; on the north the Moabites had been driven back to the Arnon by the Amorites. b. In this story there are materials from two different traditions, not always consistent with one another c. Euphrates.

"Balak brought me from Aram, the king of Moab from the hills of Kedem,
'Come, curse Jacob for me;
come, denounce Israel.'

8 How shall I curse one when God does not curse?
How shall I denounce when God does not denounce?

9 Yes, from the top of the crags I see him, from the hills I observe him.

See, a people dwelling apart, not reckoned among the nations.

10 Who can count the dust of Jacob?
Who can number the cloud of Israel?
May I die the death of the just!
May my end be one with theirs!"

11 Balak said to Balaam, "What have you done to me? I brought you to curse 12 my enemies, and you heap blessings on them!" Balaam answered, "Am I not 13 obliged to say what Yahweh puts into my mouth?" Balak said to him, "Come 14 with me to another place. What you see from here is only the fringe of this people, you do not see them all. Curse them for me over there." He led him to the Field of Spies, toward the summit of Pisgah. There he built seven altars and offered a holocaust of one bull and one ram on each altar. Balaam said to 16 Balak, "Stand beside these holocausts. I will wait over there." God came to meet Balaam, he put a word into his mouth and said to him, "Go back to Balak 17 and that is what you must say to him." So Balaam went to him, and found him still standing beside his holocaust and all the chiefs of Moab with him. "What 18 did Yahweh say?" Balak asked him. Then Balaam declaimed his poem. He said:

"Arise, Balak, and listen, give ear to me, son of Zippor.

19 God is no man that he should lie, no son of Adam to draw back.

Is it his to say and not to do, to speak and not fulfill?

20 The charge laid on me is to bless,
I shall bless and not take it back.

21 I have seen no evil in Jacob I marked no suffering in Israel.

Yahweh his God is with him; in him sounds the royal acclaim.

22 God brings him out of Egypt,
he is like the wild ox's horns to him.

23 There is no omen against Jacob, no divination against Israel.

Though men say to Jacob, say to Israel, 'What wonder has God to show?'

24 here is a people like a lioness rising, poised like a lion to spring;
not lying down till he has devoured his prey and drunk the blood of his victims."

25 Balak said to Balaam, "Very well! Do not curse them. But at least do not bless 26 them!" Balaam answered Balak, "Have I not told you: whatever Yahweh says, I must do?"

27 Balak said to Balaam, "Come then, let me take you somewhere else. From 28 there perhaps it will please God to curse them." So Balak led Balaam to the 29 summit of Peor, dominating the desert. Then Balaam said to Balak, "Build me 30 seven altars here and find me seven bulls and seven rams.” Balak did as Balaam asked, and offered a holocaust of one bull and one ram on each altar.

1 24 Balaam then saw that it pleased Yahweh to bless Israel. He did not go as 2 before to seek omens but turned toward the wilderness. Raising his 3 eyes Balaam saw Israel, encamped by tribes; the spirit of God came on him 3 and he declaimed his poem. He said:

“The oracle of Balam son of Beor, the oracle of the man with far-seeing eyes,
4 the oracle of one who hears the word of God.
He sees what Shaddai makes him see,
receives the divine answer, and his eyes are opened.
5 How fair are your tents, O Jacob!
How fair your dwellings, Israel!
6 Like valleys that stretch afar, like gardens by the banks of a river, like aloes planted by Yahweh, like cedars beside the waters!
7 A hero arises from their stock, he reigns over countless peoples.
His king is greater than Agag, his majesty is exalted.
8 God brings him out of Egypt,
he is like the wild ox’s horns to him.
He^a feeds on the carcass of his enemies, and breaks their bones in pieces.
9 He has crouched, he has lain down, like a lion, like a lioness;
who dare rouse him?
Blessed be those who bless you, and accursed be those who curse you!”

10 Balak flew into a rage with Balaam. He beat his hands together and said to Balaam, “I brought you to curse my enemies, and you bless them three times over!
11 Be off with you, and go home. I promised to load you with honors. Yahweh 12 himself has deprived you of them.” Balaam answered Balak, “Did I not tell the 13 messengers you sent me: ‘Even if Balak gave me his house full of gold and silver I could not go against the order of Yahweh and do anything of my own 14 accord, good or evil; what Yahweh says is what I will say. Now that I am going back to my own folk, let me warn you what this people will do to your people, 15 in time to come.’ Then he declaimed his poem. He said:

“The oracle of Balaam son of Beor,
the oracle of the man with far-seeing eyes, 16 the oracle of one who hears the word of God, of one who knows the knowledge of the Most High.
He sees what Shaddai makes him see,
receives the divine answer, and his eyes are opened.
17 I see him—but not in the present, I behold him—but not close at hand:
a star from Jacob takes the leadership, a scepter arises from Israel.
It crushes the brows of Moab the skulls of all the sons of Sheth.^b 18 Edom becomes a conquered land;

24 a. Israel. b. The Bedouin tribes. The poem goes on to enumerate those of Israel’s enemies who lived on the borders of Canaan.

- 19 a conquered land is Seir.
Israel exerts his strength, Jacob dominates his enemies and destroys the fugitives from Ar."
- 20 Balaam looked on Amalek and declaimed his poem. He said:
"Amalek, first among the nations!
But his posterity shall perish for ever."
- 21 Then he looked on the Kenites and declaimed his poem. He said:
"Your house was firm, Kain, and your nest^c perched high in the rock.
22 But the nest belongs to Beor; how long will you be Asshur's captive?"
- 23 Then he looked on Og^l and declaimed his poem. He said:
"The Sea-people^c gather in the north, 24 ships from the coasts of Kittim.
They bear down on Asshur, they bear down on Eber;
he too shall perish for ever."
- 25 Then Balaam rose, left and went home. Balak too went his way.

Israel at Peor

- 1 25 Israel settled at Shittim. The people gave themselves over to debauchery 2 with the daughters of Moab. These invited them to the sacrifices of their 3 gods, and the people ate and bowed down before their gods. With Israel thus 4 committed to the Baal of Peor, the anger of Yahweh blazed out against them.
5 Yahweh said to Moses, "Take all the leaders of the people. Impale them for 6 Yahweh, here in the sun; then the burning anger of Yahweh will turn away from 7 Israel." Moses said to the judges in Israel, "Every one of you must put to death 8 those of his people who have committed themselves to the Baal of Peor." 9 A man of the sons of Israel came along, bringing the Midianite woman into 10 his family, under the very eyes of Moses and the whole community of the sons 11 of Israel as they wept at the door of the Tent of Meeting. When he saw this, 12 Phinehas the priest, son of Eleazar son of Aaron, stood up and left the assembly, 13 seized a lance, followed the Israelite into the alcove, and there ran them both 14 through, the Israelite and the woman, right through the groin. And the plague 15 that had struck the sons of Israel was arrested. In the plague twenty-four thousand of them had died.
- 16 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Phinehas the priest, son of Eleazar son 17 of Aaron, has turned my wrath away from the sons of Israel, because he was the 18 only one among them to have the same zeal as I have; for this I did not make an end, in my zeal, of the sons of Israel. Proclaim this, therefore: To him I now grant my covenant of peace. For him and for his descendants after him, this covenant shall insure the priesthood for ever. In reward for his zeal for his God, he shall have the right to perform the ritual of atonement over the sons of Israel."
- 14 The Israelite who was killed (he who had been killed with the Midianite woman) was called Zimri son of Salu, leader of one of the patriarchal Houses of 15 Simeon. The woman, the Midianite who was killed, was called Cozbi, daughter of Zur, chief of a clan, of a patriarchal House in Midian.
- 16 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Harry the Midianites and strike them 17 down, for they have harassed you with their guile in the Peor affair and in the 18 affair of Cozbi their sister, daughter of a prince of Midian, the woman who was killed the day the plague came on account of Peor."

VIII. FURTHER LEGISLATION

The census

¹⁹ After this plague, 26 Yahweh spoke to Moses and to Eleazar son of Aaron, the priest. He said:

² "Take a census of all the community of the sons of Israel, by families: all those of twenty years and over, fit to bear arms."

³ So Moses and Eleazar the priest spoke to the people in the plains of Moab, near the Jordan opposite Jericho. They counted:

⁴ (As Yahweh had ordered Moses and the sons of Israel on their coming out of the land of Egypt:) Men of twenty years and over:

⁵ Reuben, the first-born of Israel. The sons of Reuben: for Hanoah, the ⁶ Hanoahite clan; for Pallu, the Palluite clan; for Hezron, the Hezronite clan;

⁷ for Carmi, the Carmite clan. These were the Reubenite clans. They numbered forty-three thousand seven hundred and thirty men.

⁸ The sons of Pallu: Eliab. The sons of Eliab: Nemuel, Dathan and Abiram.

⁹ These two, Dathan and Abiram, men of repute in the community, were the ones who challenged Moses and Aaron; they belonged to the followers of Korah who challenged Yahweh. The earth opened its mouth and swallowed them (Korah perished with his followers), when fire consumed the two hundred and ¹⁰ fifty men. They were a sign. The sons of Korah did not perish.

¹¹ The sons of Simeon by clans: for Nemuel, the Nemuelite clan; for Jamin, the Jaminite clan; for Jachin, the Jachinite clan; for Zerach, the Zerachite clan;

¹² for Shaul, the Shaulite clan. These were the Simeonite clans. They numbered twenty-two thousand two hundred men.

¹³ The sons of Gad by clans: for Zephon, the Zephonite clan; for Haggi, the ¹⁴ Haggite clan; for Shuni, the Shunite clan; for Ozni, the Oznite clan; for Eri, the Erite clan; for Arod, the Arodite clan; for Areli, the Arelite clan. These were the clans of the sons of Gad. They numbered forty thousand five hundred men.

¹⁵ The sons of Judah: Er and Onan. Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan.

¹⁶ The sons of Judah became clans: for Shelah, the Shelanite clan; for Perez, the ¹⁷ Perezite clan; for Zerach, the Zerachite clan. The sons of Perez were: for Hezron, the Hezronite clan; for Hamul, the Hamulite clan. These were the clans of Judah. They numbered seventy-six thousand five hundred men.

¹⁸ The sons of Issachar, by clans: for Tola, the Tolaite clan; for Puvah, the ¹⁹ Puvite clan; for Jashub, the Jashubite clan; for Shimron, the Shimronite clan. These were the clans of Issachar. They numbered sixty-four thousand three hundred men.

²⁰ The sons of Zebulun by clans: for Sered, the Seredite clan; for Elon, the ²¹ Elonite clan; for Jahleel, the Jahleelite clan. These were the clans of Zebulun. They numbered sixty thousand five hundred men.

²² The sons of Joseph, by clans: Manasseh and Ephraim.

²³ The sons of Manasseh: for Machir, the Machirite clan; Machir was the father

²⁴ of Gilead: for Gilead, the Gileadite clan. These were the clans of Gilead; for

²⁵ Iezer, the Iezerite clan; for Helek, the Helekite clan; Asriel, the Asrielite clan; Shechem, the Shechemite clan; Shemida, the Shemidaite clan; Hephher, the

²⁷ These are the sons of Ephraim by clans: for Shuthelah, the Shuthelahite clan; for Becher, the Becherite clan; for Tahan, the Tahanite clan. These are the sons

c. Qen means "a nest." The Kenites were nomads allied to the Midianites. d. King of Bashan, the territory of the Asshurites. e. Philistines and other invaders. Kittim includes Cyprus and the coastal region of the eastern Mediterranean.

37 of Shuthelah: for Eran, the Eranite clan. These were the clans of Ephraim. They numbered thirty-two thousand five hundred men.

These were the sons of Joseph, by clans.

38 The sons of Benjamin, by clans: for Bela, the Belaite clan; for Ashbel, the 39 Ashbelite clan; for Ahiram, the Ahiramite clan; for Shephupham, the Shephu-40 phamite clan; for Hupham, the Huphamite clan. Bela had Ard and Naaman for 41 sons: the Ardite clan; for Naaman, the Naamite clan. These were the sons of Benjamin by clans. They numbered forty-five thousand six hundred men.

42 These were the sons of Dan, by clans: for Shuham, the Shuhamite clan.
43 These were the sons of Dan, by clans. All the Shuhamite clans numbered sixty-four thousand four hundred men.

44 The sons of Asher, by clans: for Imnah the Imnite clan; for Ishvi, the Ishvite 45 clan; for Beriah, the Beriite clan. For the sons of Beriah: for Heber, the Heberite 46 clan; for Malchiel, the Malchielite clan. The daughter of Asher was called 47 Serah. These were the clans of Asher. They numbered fifty-three thousand four hundred men.

48 The sons of Naphtali, by clans: for Jahzeel, the Jahzeelite clan; for Guni, 49 the Gunitite clan; for Jezer, the Jezerite clan; for Shillem the Shillemite clan.
50 These were the clans of Naphtali grouped by clans. The sons of Naphtali numbered forty-five thousand four hundred men.

51 The sons of Israel numbered in all six hundred and one thousand seven hundred and thirty men.

52 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "The land is to be shared out among 53 these as a heritage, according to the number of those inscribed. To the large in 54 number you are to give a large area of land, to the small in number a small area; 55 to each the heritage will be in proportion to the number registered. The dividing of the land is, however, to be done by lot. Each is to receive his inheritance 56 according to the number of names in the patriarchal tribes; the inheritance of each tribe is to be divided by lot, each receiving in accordance with its larger or smaller numbers."

Census of the Levites

57 These are, by clans, the Levites that were registered: for Gershon, the Gershonite clan; for Kohath, the Kohathite clan; for Merari, the Merarite clan.

58 These are the Levite clans: the Libnite clan, the Hebronite clan, the Mahlite clan, the Mushite clan, the Korahite clan.

59 Kohath was the father of Amram. The wife of Amram was called Jochebed daughter of Levi, born to him in Egypt. To Amram she bore Aaron, Moses and 60 Miriam their sister. Aaron was the father of Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and 61 Ithamar. Nadab and Abihu died when they brought unlawful fire before Yahweh.

62 Altogether there were registered twenty-three thousand males of one month and over. They were not registered with the sons of Israel, having received no inheritance among them.

63 These were the men registered by Moses and Eleazar the priest who took this census of the sons of Israel in the plains of Moab, near the Jordan, opposite 64 Jericho. Not one of them was among those whom Moses and Aaron had registered when they numbered the sons of Israel in the wilderness of Sinai; 65 for Yahweh had told them that these were to die in the wilderness and without anyone remaining, except Caleb son of Jephunneh and Joshua son of Nun.

The inheritance of daughters

1 27 Then there came forward the daughters of Zelophehad. He was the son of Hepher son of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh; he belonged to the clans of Manasseh son of Joseph. These are the names of his daughters: 2 Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah and Tirzah. They appeared before Moses, before Eleazar the priest, and before the leaders and the whole community,

3 at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting, and said, "Our father died in the desert. He was not one of the company of those who conspired against Yahweh, Korah's party; it was for his own sin that he died without sons. Why must our father's name be lost to his clan? Since he had no son, give us some property among our father's kinsmen."

5 Moses took their case before Yahweh, and Yahweh spoke to Moses. He 6 said, "The daughters of Zelophehad have a just case. Give them a property 7 for their inheritance among their father's kinsmen; pass on to them their father's 8 inheritance. Then say this to the sons of Israel, 'If a man dies without sons, 9 his inheritance is to pass to his daughter. If he has no daughter, the inheritance 10 is to go to his brothers. If he has no brothers, it is to go to his father's brothers.
11 If his father has no brothers, it is to go to the member of his clan who is most nearly related: he is to take possession. This shall be a statutory ordinance for the sons of Israel, as Yahweh has ordered Moses.'"

Joshua the head of the community

12 Yahweh said to Moses, "Climb this mountain of the Abarim range, and look 13 on the land I have given to the sons of Israel. After you have seen it, you will 14 be gathered to your people, as Aaron your brother was. For you both rebelled in the wilderness of Zin when the community complained against me, when I ordered you to proclaim my holiness before their eyes by means of the water."
(These are the waters of Meribah of Kadesh, in the wilderness of Zin.)

15 Moses said to Yahweh, "May Yahweh, God of the spirits that give life to 16 all living creatures, appoint a leader for this community, to be at their head in 17 all they do, a man who will lead them out and bring them in, so that the 18 community of Yahweh may not be like sheep without a shepherd." Yahweh answered Moses, "Take Joshua son of Nun, a man in whom the spirit 19 dwells. Lay your hands on him. Then bring him before Eleazar the priest 20 and the whole community, to give him your orders in their presence and to give him a share of your authority, so that the whole community of the sons of 21 Israel may obey him. He shall present himself to Eleazar the priest, who is to make inquiry for him before Yahweh, according to the rite of the Urim. At his command all the sons of Israel shall go out and come in with him, the whole community."

22 Moses did as Yahweh had ordered. He took Joshua and brought him before 23 Eleazar the priest and the whole community, laid his hands on him and gave him his orders, as Yahweh had directed through Moses.

Regulations for sacrifices

1 28 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Give the sons of Israel this order: 2 Take care to bring at the appointed time my offering, my sustenance in the form of burnt offering, an appeasing fragrance for me.'

3 Say to them, 'These are the burnt offerings you must offer to Yahweh:

a. Daily sacrifices

'Every day, two yearling lambs without blemish, as a perpetual holocaust.
4 The first lamb you must offer in the morning, the second between the two evenings, 5 together with an oblation of one tenth of an ephah of fine flour mixed with one 6 quarter of a hin of purest oil. This is the perpetual holocaust made long ago 7 at Mount Sinai as an appeasing fragrance, a burnt offering to Yahweh. The accompanying libation is to be at the rate of one quarter of a hin for each lamb;
the libation of strong drink for Yahweh must be poured out in the sanctuary.
8 The second lamb you must offer as a holocaust between the two evenings; do this with the same oblation and the same libation as in the morning, as a burnt offering, an appeasing fragrance for Yahweh.

b. The sabbath

9 'On the sabbath day, you must offer two yearling lambs without blemish, and two tenths of an ephah of fine flour as an oblation, mixed with oil, as well 10 as the accompanying libation. The sabbath holocaust is to be offered every sabbath in addition to the perpetual holocaust, and the accompanying libation similarly.

c. The feast of New Moon

11 'At the beginning of each of your months you must offer a holocaust to Yahweh: two young bulls, one ram and seven yearling lambs without blemish; 12 for each bull an oblation of three tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with 13 oil; for each ram, an oblation of two tenths of fine flour mixed with oil; for each lamb, an oblation of one tenth of fine flour mixed with oil. This is a 14 holocaust, an appeasing fragrance, a burnt offering to Yahweh. The accompanying libation is to be half a hin of wine for a bull, one third of a hin for a 15 ram, one quarter of a hin for a lamb. This must be the monthly holocaust, month after month, every month of the year. In addition to the perpetual holocaust a he-goat must be offered to Yahweh, as a sacrifice for sin, with its accompanying libation.

d. The feast of Unleavened Bread

16 'The fourteenth day of the first month, is the Passover of Yahweh, and 17 the fifteenth day of this month is a feast day. For seven days unleavened bread 18 must be eaten. On the first day there will be a solemn assembly. You must 19 do no laborious work. You shall offer to Yahweh a burnt offering as a holocaust: two young bulls, a ram, seven yearling sheep without blemish. The accompanying 20 oblation of fine flour mixed with oil is to be three tenths of an ephah for the bull, 21 two tenths for the ram, and one tenth for each of the seven lambs. There 22 must also be a he-goat for the sacrifice for sin, for performing the rite of atonement 23 over you. This must be done in addition to the morning holocaust which is a 24 perpetual holocaust. You must do this every day for seven days. It is nourishment, a burnt offering, an appeasing fragrance for Yahweh; it is to be offered 25 in addition to the perpetual holocaust and its accompanying libation. On the seventh day you must hold a solemn assembly; you will do no laborious work.

e. The feast of Weeks

26 'On the day of the first fruits, when you make your offering of new fruits to Yahweh at your feast of Weeks, you are to hold a solemn assembly; you must 27 do no laborious work. You must offer as a holocaust, an appeasing fragrance for 28 Yahweh: two young bulls, one ram, seven yearling lambs. The accompanying oblation of fine flour mixed with oil is to be three tenths of an ephah for each 29 bull, two tenths for the ram, and one tenth for each of the seven lambs. There 30 must also be a he-goat for the sacrifice for sin, for performing the rite of 31 atonement over you. This must be done in addition to the perpetual holocaust and its accompanying oblation.

f. The feast of Acclamations

1 29 'In the seventh month, on the first day of the month, you are to hold a solemn assembly; you must do no heavy work. It shall be your day of 2 Acclamations. You must offer as a holocaust, an appeasing fragrance for 3 Yahweh: one young bull, one ram, seven yearling lambs without blemish. The accompanying oblation of fine flour mixed with oil is to be three tenths of an 4 ephah for the bull, two tenths for the ram, and one tenth for each of the seven 5 lambs. There must also be a he-goat for the sacrifice for sin, for performing 6 the rite of atonement over you. All this must be done in addition to the monthly holocaust and its oblation, the perpetual holocaust and its oblation, and the accompanying libations enjoyed by law,—an appeasing fragrance, a burnt offering to Yahweh.

g. The day of Atonement

7 'On the tenth day of this seventh month, you are to hold a solemn assembly.
8 You must fast and do no work. You must offer as a holocaust to Yahweh, an 9 appeasing fragrance: one young bull, one ram, and seven yearling lambs of your 10 choice without blemish. The accompanying oblation of fine flour mixed with 11 oil is to be three tenths of an ephah for the bull, two tenths for the ram, and one tenth for each of the seven lambs. A he-goat must be offered for the sacrifice for sin. This is in addition to the victim for sin at the feast of Atonement, and to the perpetual holocaust with its accompanying oblation and libations.

h. The feast of Tabernacles

12 'On the fifteenth day of the seventh month you are to hold a solemn assembly, 13 you must do no heavy work, and for the space of seven days you are to celebrate 14 a feast for Yahweh. You must offer as a holocaust, a burnt offering, an appeasing 15 fragrance for Yahweh: thirteen young bulls, two rams, fourteen yearling lambs 16 without blemish. The accompanying oblation of fine flour mixed with oil is to be three tenths of an ephah for each of the thirteen bulls, two tenths for each of the two rams, one tenth for each of the fourteen lambs; also one he-goat as a sacrifice for sin. This is in addition to the perpetual holocaust and its oblation and libations.

17 'On the second day: twelve young bulls, two rams, fourteen yearling lambs 18 without blemish; the accompanying oblation and libations, as prescribed, in 19 proportion to the number of bulls, rams and lambs; also one he-goat for the sacrifice for sin. This is in addition to the perpetual holocaust with its oblation and libations.

20 'On the third day: eleven bulls, two rams, fourteen yearling lambs without 21 blemish; the accompanying oblation and libations, as prescribed, in proportion 22 to the number of bulls, rams and lambs; also one he-goat for the sacrifice for sin. This is in addition to the perpetual holocaust with its oblation and libations.

23 'On the fourth day: ten bulls, two rams, fourteen yearling lambs without 24 blemish; the accompanying oblation and libations, as prescribed, in proportion 25 to the number of bulls, rams and lambs; also one he-goat for the sacrifice for
sin. This is in addition to the perpetual holocaust with its oblation and libations.

26 'On the fifth day: nine bulls, two rams, fourteen yearling lambs without 27 blemish; the accompanying oblation and libations, as prescribed, in proportion 28 to the number of bulls, rams and lambs; also one he-goat for the sacrifice for
sin. This is in addition to the perpetual holocaust with its oblation and libations.

29 'On the sixth day: eight bulls, two rams, fourteen yearling lambs without 30 blemish; the accompanying oblation and libations, as prescribed, in proportion 31 to the number of bulls, rams and lambs; also one he-goat for the sacrifice for
sin. This is in addition to the perpetual holocaust with its oblation and libations.

32 'On the seventh day: seven bulls, two rams, fourteen yearling lambs without 33 blemish; the accompanying oblation and libations, as prescribed, in proportion 34 to the number of bulls, rams and lambs; also one he-goat for the sacrifice for
sin. This is in addition to the perpetual holocaust with its oblation and libations.

35 'On the eighth day you must all assemble. You must do no heavy work. You 36 must offer as a holocaust, a burnt offering, an appeasing fragrance for Yahweh: 37 one bull, one ram, seven yearling lambs without blemish; the accompanying oblation and libations, as prescribed, in proportion to the number of bulls, rams 38 and lambs; also one he-goat for the sacrifice for sin. This is in addition to the perpetual holocaust with its oblation and libations.

39 'This is what you are to do for Yahweh at your solemn feasts, over and above your votive and voluntary offerings, your holocausts, oblations and libations, and your communion sacrifice.’”

¹ 30 Moses told the sons of Israel exactly what Yahweh had ordered him.

Laws concerning vows

- ² Moses spoke to the leaders of the tribes of the sons of Israel. He said, “This is what Yahweh has ordered:
- ³ ‘If a man makes a vow to Yahweh or takes a formal pledge under oath, he must not break his word: whatever he promises by word of mouth he must do.
- ⁴ ‘If a woman makes a vow to Yahweh or takes a formal pledge during her youth, while she is still in her father’s house, and if he hears about this vow or pledge made by her and says nothing to her, her vow, whatever it may be, shall be binding, and the pledge she has taken, whatever it may be, shall be binding. But if the father on the day he learns of it expresses his disapproval of it, then none of the vows or pledges she has taken shall be binding. Yahweh will not hold her to it, since her father has expressed his disapproval.
- ⁷ ‘If, being bound by vows or by a pledge voiced without due reflection, she then marries, and if her husband hears of it but says nothing on the day he learns of it, her vows shall be binding and the pledges she has taken shall be binding. But if on the day he learns of it he expresses his disapproval to her, this will annul the vow that she has made or the pledge that binds her, voiced without due reflection. Yahweh will not hold her to it.
- ¹⁰ ‘The vow of a widow or a divorced woman and all pledges taken by her are binding on her.
- ¹¹ ‘If she has made a vow or taken a pledge under oath while in her husband’s
- ¹² house, and if when the husband learns of it he says nothing to her and does not express disapproval to her, then the vow, whatever it is, shall be binding, and the pledge, whatever it is, shall be binding. But if the husband when he hears of them annuls them on the day he learns of them, no word of her mouth, vow or pledge, shall be binding. Since the husband has annulled them, Yahweh will not hold her to them.
- ¹⁴ ‘Every vow or oath that is binding on the wife may be endorsed or annulled by the husband.
- ¹⁵ ‘If by the following day the husband has said nothing to her, it means that he endorses her vow, whatever it may be, or her pledge, whatever it may be.
- ¹⁶ He endorses them if he says nothing on the day he learns of them. But if he annuls them a longer time after he learned of them, then he must bear the burden of the wife’s fault.’”
- ¹⁷ These are the laws ordained by Yahweh to Moses, concerning the relationship between man and wife, and between a father and his daughter while still young and living in her father’s home.

IX. BOOTY AND ITS ALLOCATION

The holy war against Midian

¹ 31 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, “Exact full vengeance for the sons of Israel on the Midianites. Afterward you will be gathered to your people.”

⁵ In this way Israel’s hosts provided twelve thousand men equipped for war, one thousand from each tribe: Moses put them in the field, one thousand from each tribe, with Phinehas, son of Eleazar the priest, to go with them carrying the sacred vessels and the trumpets for sounding the alarm.

7 They waged the campaign against Midian, as Yahweh had ordered 8 Moses, and they put every male to death. And further, they killed the kings of Midian, Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur and Reba, the five Midianite kings; they also 9 put Balaam son of Beor to the sword. The sons of Israel took the Midianite women captive with their young children, and plundered all their cattle, all their 10 flocks and all their goods. They set fire to the towns where they lived and all 11 their encampments. Then, taking all their booty, all that they had captured, 12 man and beast, they took the captives, spoil and booty to Moses, Eleazar the priest and all the community of the sons of Israel, at the camp in the plains of Moab, near the Jordan opposite Jericho.

The slaughter of the women and purification of the booty

13 Moses, Eleazar the priest, and all the leaders of the community went out of 14 the camp to meet them. Moses was enraged with the commanders of the army, the captains of thousands and the captains of hundreds, who had come back 15 from this military expedition. He said, "Why have you spared the life of all 16 the women? These were the very ones who, on Balaam's advice, perverted the sons of Israel and made them renounce Yahweh in the affair at Peor: hence the 17 plague which struck the community of Israel. So kill all the male children.
 18 Kill also all the women who have slept with a man. Spare the lives only of the 19 young girls who have not slept with a man, and take them for yourselves. As for you, you must camp for seven days outside the camp, all of you who have 20 killed a man or touched a corpse. Purify yourselves, you and your prisoners, on the third and seventh days; purify also all clothing, everything made of skin, everything woven of goats' hair and everything made of wood."

21 Eleazar the priest said to the soldiers who had come back from this campaign, 22 "This is a statute of the Law which Yahweh has commanded Moses. Whereas 23 the gold, silver, bronze, iron, tin and lead, everything that can withstand fire, must be passed through the fire and it will be clean, yet it must still be purified with lustral water. Whatever cannot resist fire you must pass through water.

24 "Wash your clothes on the seventh day and you will then be clean. You may then come back to the camp."

The allocation of the booty

25 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said:

26 "With Eleazar the priest and the heads of families in the community, count 27 the spoils and the captives, man and beast. Then share out the spoil, half and half, between those who fought the campaign and the rest of the community.
 28 As Yahweh's portion you will set aside, from the share of the combatants who took part in the campaign, one out of every five hundred persons, oxen, donkeys 29 and sheep. These are to be taken from the half share which is their due, and 30 given to Eleazar the priest as an offering to Yahweh. From the half which is due to the sons of Israel, you will take one out of every fifty persons, oxen, donkeys, sheep, and all other animals, and give them to the Levites who have charge of the tabernacle of Yahweh."

31 Moses and Eleazar the priest did as Yahweh had ordered Moses. The 32 spoils, the remainder of the booty captured by the soldiers, came to six hundred 33 and seventy-five thousand head of small stock, seventy-two thousand head of 34 cattle, sixty-one thousand donkeys, and, in persons, women who had never 35 slept with a man, thirty-two thousand in all. Half was assigned to those who 36 had taken part in the war, namely three hundred and thirty-seven thousand 37 five hundred head of small stock, of which Yahweh's portion was six hundred 38 and seventy-five, thirty-six thousand head of cattle, of which Yahweh's portion 39 was seventy-two. Thirty thousand five hundred donkeys, of which Yahweh's 40 portion was sixty-one, and sixteen thousand persons, of which Yahweh's 41 portion was thirty-two. Moses gave Eleazar the priest the portion set aside for Yahweh, in accordance with Yahweh's instructions to Moses.

42 As for the half due to the sons of Israel, which Moses had separated from 43 that of the combatants, this half, the community's share, came to three hundred 44 and thirty-seven thousand five hundred head of small stock, thirty-six thousand 45 head of cattle, thirty thousand five hundred donkeys and sixteen thousand 46 persons. From this half, the share of the sons of Israel, Moses took one out 47 of every fifty, man and beast, and gave them to the Levites who had charge of the tabernacle of Yahweh, in accordance with Yahweh's instructions to Moses.

The offerings

48 The commanders of the hosts who had fought the campaign, the captains 49 of thousands and the captains of hundreds, come to Moses and said, "Your servants have numbered the soldiers under their command: not one is missing.
 50 And further, we bring as an offering for Yahweh the gold ornaments we have found, armlets and bracelets, signet rings, earrings and brooches, to have the 51 rite of atonement performed over us before Yahweh." Moses and Eleazar the 52 priest accepted this gold from them, all this jewelry. This offering of gold given by them to Yahweh amounted to sixteen thousand seven hundred and fifty shekels, all given by the captains of thousands and the captains of hundreds.
 53 Each of the soldiers took his own booty. But Moses and Eleazar the priest 54 received the gold from the captains of thousands and of hundreds, and carried it to the Tent of Meeting as a reminder to Yahweh of the sons of Israel.

The allocaton of Transjordania

1 32 The sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad owned great herds of fine cattle.
 Now they observed that the land of Jazer and the land of Gilead was an 2 ideal region for raising stock. The sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben therefore went to Moses, Eleazar the priest and the leaders of the community, 3 and said to them, "The land of Ataroth, Dibon, Jazer, Nimrah, Heshbon, 4 Elealeh, Sebam, Nebo and Beon, which Yahweh has conquered in the sight of the community of Israel, is ideal land for raising stock, and your servants are 5 cattle breeders. If we have deserved your friendship," they said, "give this land to your servants for our own; do not make us cross the Jordan." 6 Moses said to the sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben, "Your brothers are 7 off to the war—are you content to stay here? Why do you keep the sons of 8 Israel from entering the land that Yahweh has given them? This is what your 9 fathers did when I sent them from Kadesh-barnea to inspect the land. They went up as far as the Valley of Eshcol and inspected the land; but they kept 10 the sons of Israel from entering the land that Yahweh had given them. Hence 11 the wrath of Yahweh blazed out that day and he swore this oath, "If ever these men of twenty years and over, who came out from Egypt, set eyes on the land that I promised on oath to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob . . .^a For they have not 12 followed me faithfully, except Caleb son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite, and 13 Joshua son of Nun: these indeed have followed Yahweh faithfully." The wrath of Yahweh blazed out against Israel and he made them wander in the wilderness for forty years, until the generation that offended Yahweh had all disappeared.
 14 And now you, you rise up in your father's place, offshoot of sinful stock, to add 15 still more to the burning wrath of Yahweh against Israel! If you turn away from him, he will prolong the time spent in the wilderness, and you will bring about the ruin of all this people." 16 They came to Moses and said, "We would like to build sheepfolds here for 17 our flocks and towns for our young children. We ourselves will take up arms to lead the sons of Israel until we have brought them to the place appointed for them: only our young children will stay in the fortified towns, safe from the 18 inhabitants of the country. We will not return to our homes until every one 19 of the sons of Israel has taken possession of his inheritance. For we shall have no inheritance with them on the other bank of the Jordan or beyond, since our inheritance has fallen to us here, east of the Jordan."

20 Moses said to them, "If you do as you have said, if you are prepared to fight 21 before Yahweh, and if all those of you who bear arms cross the Jordan before 22 Yahweh, until he has driven all his enemies before him, then, once the land has become subject to Yahweh, you may go back; you shall be free of your obligation toward Yahweh and Israel, and this land shall be your inheritance before 23 Yahweh. But if you do not, you will sin against Yahweh, and be sure your 24 sin will find you out. Build towns, then, for your young children and folds for your flocks; but do what you have promised."

25 The sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben said to Moses, "Your servants will 26 do as you order, sir. Our children, our wives, our flocks and all our livestock 27 will stay in the towns of Gilead, but your servants, every man armed for war, will cross over to fight before Yahweh as you have ordered."

28 Then Moses gave directions about them to Eleazar the priest, to Joshua son of Nun, and to the leaders of the patriarchal Houses of the tribes of Israel.
29 Moses said to them, "If the sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben, all who bear arms, cross the Jordan with you to fight before Yahweh, then once the land is in 30 your power, you will give them the land of Gilead for their possession. But if they do not cross over in arms with you, then they must have their possessions with you in the land of Canaan."

31 The sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben replied, "What Yahweh has said 32 to your servants, we will do. We will cross in arms before Yahweh into the land of Canaan; but you must give us possession of our inheritance beyond the 33 Jordan." Moses gave them—the sons of Gad and the sons of Reuben and the half tribe of Manasseh son of Joseph—the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, the land and the towns contained within its boundaries, the frontier towns of the land.

34 The sons of Gad built Dibon, Ataroth, Aroer, Atroth-shophan, Jazer, 35 Jogbehah, Beth-nimrah, Beth-haran, fortified towns, and folds for the flocks.

37 The sons of Reuben built Heshbon, Elealeh, Kiriathaim, Nebo, Baal-meon 38 (their names were changed), Sibmah. They gave names to the towns they had built.

39 The sons of Machir son of Manasseh went to Gilead. They conquered it and 40 drove out the Amorites who were there. Moses gave Gilead to Machir son of 41 Manasseh, and he settled there. Jair son of Manasseh went and seized their 42 encampments and called them Encampments of Jair. Nobah went and seized Kenath with its outlying villages, and called it Nobah after himself.

The stages of the Exodus

1 33 Here are the stages of the journey made by the sons of Israel when they came out in a body from the land of Egypt, under the leadership of Moses 2 and Aaron. Moses recorded their starting points in writing whenever they broke camp on Yahweh's orders. Here are the stages according to their starting points.

3 They left Rameses in the first month. It was on the fifteenth day of the first month, on the day following the Passover, that the sons of Israel set out 4 triumphantly in the sight of all Egypt. The Egyptians were burying those of their own people whom Yahweh had struck down, all their first-born; Yahweh had carried out his judgment on their gods.

5 The sons of Israel left Rameses and camped at Succoth. Then they left 6 Succoth and encamped at Etham which is on the edge of the wilderness. They left Etham, turned back to Pi-hahiroth which faces Baal-zephon, and encamped 7 before Migdol. They left Pi-hahiroth, crossed over the sea into the wilderness, 8 and after marching for three days in the desert of Etham they encamped at 9 Marah. They left Marah and reached Elim. At Elim there are twelve springs 10 of water and seventy palm trees; they encamped there. They left Elim and 11 encamped by the Sea of Reeds. They left the Sea of Reeds and encamped in 12 the wilderness of Sin. They left the wilderness of Sin and encamped at 13 Dophkah. They left Dophkah and encamped at Alush. They left Alush and 14 encamped at Rephidim; the people found no drinking water there. They left 15 Rephidim and encamped in the wilderness of Sinai. They left the wilderness 16 of Sinai and encamped at Kibroth-hattaavah. They left Kibroth-hattaavah and 17 encamped at Hazeroth. They left Hazeroth and encamped at Rithmah. They 18 left Rithmah and encamped at Rimmon-perez. They left Rimmon-perez and 19 encamped at Libnah. They left Libnah and encamped at Rissah. They left 20 Rissah and encamped at Kehelathah. They left Kehelathah and encamped at 21 Mount Shepher. They left Mount Shepher and encamped at Haradah. They 22 left Haradah and encamped at Makheloth. They left Makheloth and encamped 23 at Tahath. They left Tahath and encamped at Terah. They left Terah and 24 encamped at Mithkah. They left Mithkah and encamped at Hashmonah. They 25 left Hashmonah and encamped at Moseroth. They left Moseroth and encamped 26 at Bene-jaakan. They left Bene-jaakan and encamped at Hor-haggidgad. They 27 left Hor-haggidgad and encamped at Jotbathah. They left Jotbathah and 28 encamped at Abronah. They left Abronah and encamped at Ezion-geber.

 29 They left Ezion-geber and encamped in the wilderness of Zin; this is Kadesh.
 30 They left Kadesh and encamped at Mount Hor, on the borders of the land of 31 Edom. Aaron the priest went up Mount Hor on Yahweh's orders and it was 32 there that he died, in the fortieth year of the exodus of the sons of Israel from 33 the land of Egypt, in the fifth month, on the first day of the month. Aaron was 34 a hundred and twenty-three years old when he died at Mount Hor. The king 35 of Arad, a Canaanite who lived in the Negeb in the land of Canaan, was 36 informed when the sons of Israel arrived. They left Mount Hor and encamped 37 at Zalmonah. They left Zalmonah and encamped at Punon. They left Punon 38 and encamped at Oboth. They left Oboth and encamped in Moabite territory 39 at Iye-abarim. They left Iyim and encamped at Dibon-gad. They left Dibon-40 gad and encamped at Almon-diblathaim. They left Almon-diblathaim and 41 encamped in the Abarim mountains facing Nebo. They left the Abarim 42 mountains and encamped in the plains of Moab, near the Jordan opposite 43 Jericho. They encamped near the Jordan between Beth-ha-jeshimoth and Abel-44 hash-shittim, in the plains of Moab.

The allocation of Canaan. God's order

50 Yahweh spoke to Moses in the plains of Moab, near the Jordan opposite Jericho. He said:
 51 "Say this to the sons of Israel: 52 "When you have crossed the Jordan into the land of Canaan, you must drive all the inhabitants of the country before you. You must destroy their sculptured stones, you must destroy all their statues of cast metal, and you must demolish all 53 their high places. You will take possession of this land and you will stay in it, 54 for I have given it to you for your own. You are to divide it by lot among your clans. To a large clan you will give a greater inheritance, to a small clan a lesser one. Where the lot falls for each, that will be his. Make this apportionment 55 according to patriarchal tribes. But if you do not drive the inhabitants of the country before you, then those you have spared will be barbs in your eyes and 56 thorns in your side, they will harass you in the land where you live and I will deal with you as I meant to deal with them.'"

The boundaries of Canaan

1 34 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said, "Give the sons of Israel this order:
 When you go into the land (of Canaan), this is the territory that will be your inheritance. This is the land of Canaan defined by its boundaries.
 3 The southern part of your country will stretch from the wilderness of Zin, on the borders of Edom. Your southern boundary will start on the east at the end of the Salt Sea. It will then turn south toward the Ascent of the Scorpions and go by Zin to end in the south at Kadesh-barnea. Then it will go toward Hazar-addar and pass through Azmon. From Azmon the boundary will turn toward the wadi of Egypt and end at the Sea.

“Your seaboard will be the Great Sea; this will be your western boundary.

“This will be your northern boundary. You will draw a line from the Great Sea to Mount Hor, then from Mount Hor you will draw a line to the Pass of Hamath, and the boundary will end at Zedad. From there it will go on to Ziphron and end at Hazar-enan. This will be your northern boundary.

“You will then draw your eastern boundary from Hazar-enan to Shepham.

The boundary will go down from Shepham toward Riblah on the east side of Ain. Further down it will keep to the eastern shore of the Sea of Chinnereth.^a

The frontier will then follow the Jordan and end at the Salt Sea.

“This will be your land with the boundaries surrounding it.”

Moses then laid this charge on the sons of Israel:

“This is the land you are to apportion by lot, which Yahweh has ordered to be made over to the nine tribes and the half tribe. The tribe of the sons of Reuben with its patriarchal Houses and the tribe of the sons of Gad with its patriarchal Houses have already been given their heritage; the half tribe of Manasseh has also been given its heritage. These two tribes and the half tribe have been given their heritage beyond the Jordan opposite Jericho, to the east, toward the sunrise.”

The leaders in charge of the allocation

Yahweh spoke to Moses and said:

“These are the names of those who will share out the land: Eleazar the priest and Joshua son of Nun, and you will take one leader from each tribe to share out the land. Here are the names of these men:

For the tribe of Judah, Caleb son of Jephunneh;

for the tribe of the sons of Simeon, Shemuel son of Ammihud;

for the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad son of Chislon;

for the tribe of the sons of Dan, the leader Bukki son of Jogli;

for the sons of Joseph: for the tribe of Manasseh, the leader Haniel son of Ephod;

and for the tribe of the sons of Ephraim, the leader Kemuel son of Shiptan;

for the tribe of the sons of Zebulun, the leader Elizaphan son of Parnach;

for the tribe of the sons of Issachar, the leader Paltiel son of Azzan;

for the tribe of the sons of Asher, the leader Ahihud son of Shelomi; for the tribe of the sons of Naphtali, the leader Pedahel son of Ammihud.”

These are the men whom Yahweh ordered to divide the land of Canaan among the sons of Israel.

The portion of the Levites

35 Yahweh spoke to Moses in the plains of Moab, near the Jordan opposite Jericho. He said:

“Direct the sons of Israel to make over to the Levites, out of the inheritance they possess, towns in which to live and pasture land around the towns. Give these to the Levites. The towns are to be their homes and the surrounding pasture land is to be for their cattle; their possessions and all their animals. The pasture land surrounding the towns that you make over to the Levites shall extend, from the walls of the towns, for a thousand cubits all around.

“Outside the town, measure two thousand cubits to the east side, two thousand cubits to the south, two thousand cubits to the west and two thousand cubits to the north, the town lying in the center: this is to be the pasture land for these towns. •The towns you hand over to the Levites will be the six cities of refuge, ceded by you as sanctuary for men who cause another's death; and you are to hand over forty-two towns in addition. •Altogether you will make over forty-eight towns to the Levites, towns together with their pasturage. •Of the towns that you grant out of the possession of the sons of Israel, more will be taken from those who hold more, and less from those who hold less. Everyone will make over towns to the Levites in proportion to the inheritance he himself has received."

Cities of refuge

- 9 Yahweh spoke to Moses and said:
10 "Say this to the sons of Israel:
11 "When you cross the Jordan and reach the land of Canaan, •you are to select towns which you will make into cities of refuge where a man who has killed 12 accidentally may find sanctuary. •These towns will be your refuge from the avenger of blood, so that the killer may not die without being brought to 13 judgment before the community. •The towns you make over will serve you as 14 six cities of refuge: •the three that you make over beyond the Jordan and the three that you make over in the land of Canaan are to be cities of refuge.
15 These six towns will be a refuge, for the sons of Israel as well as for the stranger and the settler among you, where anyone who has killed accidentally may find sanctuary.
16 "But if he has struck the person with an iron object so as to cause death, 17 he is a murderer. The murderer must be put to death. •If he struck him with a stone capable of killing, and has killed him, he is a murderer. The murderer 18 must be put to death. •Or if he has struck him with a wooden instrument capable of killing, and has killed him, he is a murderer. The murderer must be put to 19 death. •The avenger of blood must put the murderer to death. When he meets him he must put him to death.^a 20 "If the killer has maliciously manhandled his victim, or thrown some lethal 21 missile to strike him down, •or out of enmity dealt him the deathblow with his fist, then he who struck the blow must die; he is a murderer; the avenger 22 of blood must put him to death when he meets him. •If, however, he has manhandled his victim by chance, without malice, or thrown some missile at 23 him not meaning to hit him, •or without seeing him dropped a stone on him capable of causing death and so killed him, so long as he bore him no malice 24 and wished him no harm, •then the community must decide in accordance with these rules between the one who struck the blow and the avenger of blood, •and 25 so rescue the killer from the avenger of blood. They will send him back to the city of refuge where he had sought sanctuary, and there he will stay until the 26 death of the high priest who has been anointed with the holy oil. •If the killer should leave the bounds of the city of refuge where he has sought sanctuary
27 and the avenger of blood encounters him outside the bounds of his city of refuge, the avenger of blood may kill him without fear of reprisal; •since the killer 28 should stay in his city of refuge until the death of the high priest; only after the death of the high priest is he free to go back to the land where he has his 29 home. •These regulations shall have force of law for you and your descendants, wherever you may be.
30 "In any case of homicide, the evidence of witnesses must determine whether the murderer is to be put to death; but the evidence of a single witness is not 31 sufficient to uphold a capital charge. •You are not to accept ransom for the life of a murderer condemned to death; he must die. •Nor are you to accept ransom 32 for anyone who, having sought sanctuary in his city of refuge, wishes to come back and live at home before the death of the high priest. •You must not profane 33 the land you live in. Blood profanes the country, and there is no other expiation

34 for the country for bloodshed than the blood of the one who shed it. 'You must not defile the land you inhabit, the land in which I live; for I, Yahweh, live among the sons of Israel.'

A wife's inheritance

1 36 Then the heads of families in the clan of the sons of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh, one of the clans of Joseph's sons, came forward.

2 They spoke before Moses and the leaders, the heads of families of Israel's sons, and said:

"Yahweh has ordered my lord to give the land to the sons of Israel, sharing it out by lot; and my lord has been ordered by Yahweh to give the inheritance of our brother Zelophehad to his daughters. 'Now, if they marry someone from another tribe in the sons of Israel, their property will be taken away from the inheritance of our fathers. The property of the tribe to which they will belong will be increased, and the property allotted to us diminished. 'And when the jubilee comes around for the sons of Israel, the property of these women will be added to the inheritance of the tribe to which they then belong, and lost to the inheritance of our own patriarchal tribe.'"

5 Moses, at Yahweh's bidding, gave the following ruling to the sons of Israel. He said:

6 "The tribe of the sons of Joseph is in the right. 'This is Yahweh's ruling for the daughters of Zelophehad: 'They may marry whom they please, providing they marry into a clan of their father's tribe. 'The heritage of the sons of Israel is not to be transferred from tribe to tribe; every man of the sons of Israel is to remain bound to the heritage of his patriarchal tribe. 'Every daughter who has a heritage in one of the tribes of the sons of Israel must marry into a clan of her own paternal tribe, so that the sons of Israel may each preserve the heritage of his father. 'No heritage may be transferred from one tribe to another: every tribe of the sons of Israel will stay bound to its own heritage.'"

10 The daughters of Zelophehad did as Yahweh had ordered Moses. 11 Mahlah, Tirzah, Hoglah, Milcah and Noah, daughters of Zelophehad, married 12 the sons of their father's brothers. 'Since they married into the clans of the sons of Manasseh son of Joseph, their heritage reverted to the tribe of their father's clan.

Conclusion

13 These are the commandments and laws that Yahweh laid down for the sons of Israel through Moses in the plains of Moab near the Jordan opposite Jericho.

DEUTERONOMY

I. INTRODUCTORY DISCOURSES

A. THE FIRST DISCOURSE OF MOSES

Its time and place

1 These are the words spoken beyond Jordan to the whole of Israel. (In the wilderness, in the Arabah facing Suph, between Paran and Tophel, Laban, Hazereth and Dizahab. 'It is eleven days' march from Horeb by way of Mount Seir to Kadesh-barnea.)^a 'It was in the fortieth year, on the first day of the eleventh month, that Moses spoke to the sons of Israel as Yahweh had ordered. He had defeated Sihon king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon, and Og king of Bashan, who lived at Ashtaroth and Edrei. 'There, in the land of Moab beyond the Jordan, Moses set himself to expound this Law. He said:

The final instructions at Horeb

6 "Yahweh our God said to us at Horeb, 'You have stayed long enough at this mountain. 'Move on from here, continue your journey, go to the highlands of the Amorites, to those who make their home in the Arabah, in the highlands, in the lowlands, in the Negeb and in the coastland; go into the land of Canaan and to Lebanon as far as the great river Euphrates. 'This is the land I have made over to you; go and take possession of the land that Yahweh swore to give to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and to their descendants after them.'

9 "It was then that I told you: I cannot carry the burden of you by myself. Yahweh your God has multiplied you, till now you are like the stars of heaven in number. 'And Yahweh your God is going to increase you a thousand times more, and bless you as he promised. 'So how can I carry the heavy burden of you and your bickerings, all by myself? 'Bring me wise men, shrewd and tested, out of each of your tribes, therefore, and I will make them your leaders. 14 And you answered me, 'Your plan is a good one.' 'And so I selected tribal leaders for you, wise^b men and tested, and appointed them to lead you: captains of thousands, hundreds, fifties, tens, and scribes for your tribes too. 'At that same time I told your judges: You must give your brothers a fair hearing and see justice done between a man and his brother or the stranger who lives with him. 'You must be impartial in judgment and give an equal hearing to small and great alike. Do not be afraid of any man, for the judgment is God's. Should a case be too difficult, bring it to me and I will hear it. 'And I gave you directions at that time for everything you were to do.

Kadesh: the Israelites lose faith

19 "So we left Horeb and came to the vast and terrible wilderness you have seen. We made for the highlands of the Amorites, as Yahweh our God had ordered, and arrived at Kadesh-barnea. 'It was then that I said to you: Now you have reached these Amorite highlands which Yahweh our God is giving to us. 'See, Yahweh your God has made over this land to you. March in, take possession of it as Yahweh the God of your fathers ordered you; do not be afraid or discouraged. 'Then you all came to me and said, 'Let us send men ahead of us to explore the country; they will report to us which way we must go and what towns we shall come to.' This seemed good advice to me and I selected twelve of your men, one from each tribe. These men made toward the highlands and went up into them; they reached the Valley of Eshcol and reconnoitered it. They collected some of the fruit of the country and brought it down to us; and they made us this report, 'It is a prosperous land that Yahweh our God has given us.' Yet you refused to go up into it and you rebelled against the voice of Yahweh your God. You grumbled in your tents; 'It is because he hates us,' you said, 'that Yahweh brought us out of the land of Egypt to put us under the power of the Amorites and so destroy us. What kind of place are we making for? Our own brothers have made us lose heart: It is a people, they say, bigger and stronger than we are; their cities are immense, with walls reaching to the sky. And we saw Anakim there too.'

"And I said to you: Do not take fright, do not be afraid of them. Yahweh your God goes in front of you and will be fighting on your side as you saw him fight for you in Egypt. In the wilderness, too, you saw him: how Yahweh carried you, as a man carries his child, all along the road you traveled on the way to this place. But for all this, you put no faith in Yahweh your God, who had gone in front of you on the journey to find you a camping ground, by night in the fire to light your path, by day in the cloud.

"Yahweh heard this talk of yours and, in his anger took his oath. 'Not one of these men, this perverse generation, shall see the rich land that I swore to give to your fathers, except Caleb son of Jephunneh. He shall see it. To him and to his sons I will give the land he has set foot on, for he has followed Yahweh in all things.' Yahweh was angry with me too, on your account. 'You shall not go in either,' he said. 'Your servant Joshua son of Nun, he shall be the one to enter. Give him encouragement, for it is he who shall bring Israel to take possession of the land. But your little ones who, you said, would be seized as booty, these children of yours who do not yet know good from evil, these shall go in there; I will give it to them and they shall possess it. As for you, turn around, go back into the wilderness, in the direction of the Sea of Suph.'

"You answered me then, 'We have sinned against Yahweh our God. We will go up and fight as Yahweh our God has ordered us.' And each one of you buckled on his arms and blithely marched up into the highlands. But Yahweh said to me, 'Tell them this: Do not go up and fight. I am not among you. You will be defeated by your enemies.' And I did tell you, but you would not listen, and you rebelled against the voice of Yahweh: you still dared to go up into the highlands. The Amorites, who live in that country of hills, came swarming out against you like bees, pursued you and struck you down in Seir and as far away as Hormah. And when you returned you shed tears in the presence of Yahweh, but he did not listen to your cries and paid no heed to you. For many a day you had to stay at Kadesh, your full tally of days.

Israel's relations with Edom and Moab

2 "We turned around, therefore, and made for the wilderness, in the direction of the Sea of Suph, as Yahweh had ordered me. For many days we wandered about the highlands of Seir. Yahweh then said to me, 'You have wandered long enough in these highlands. Go north. And give the people this order: You are about to pass through the territory of your kinsmen, the sons of Esau who live in Seir. They are frightened of you; but take care not to provoke them. For I will give you none of their land, no, not so much as a foot's length of it. I have given the highlands of Seir to Esau as his domain. Pay them in money for

1 a. The parenthesis sums up the stages of the Israelites' journey from Sinai. The eleven days' march is only the last stage. b. Or "practical."

7 what food you eat; and pay them in money for all the water you drink. 'Yahweh your God has blessed you in all you do; he has watched over your journeying through this vast wilderness. Yahweh your God has been with you these forty years and you have never been in want.'

8 "So we passed beyond those kinsmen of ours, the sons of Esau who live in Seir, by the Arabah and Elath and Ezion-geber road; then, changing direction, 9 we took the road toward the wilderness of Moab. 'And Yahweh said to me, 'Make no attack on Moab and do not provoke him to fight, for I will give you none of his land. I have given Ar into the possession of the sons of Lot.' '(At one time the Enim lived there, a great and numerous people, tall as the Anakim^a;

11 and, like the Anakim, they were accounted Rephaim, though the Moabites call them Emim. 'The Horites,^b too, lived in Seir at one time; these, however, were dispossessed and exterminated by the sons of Esau who settled there in place of them, just as Israel did in their own land, the heritage they received from 13 Yahweh.) 'Forward, then! Cross the wadi Zered!'

The arrival in Transjordan

14 "And so we crossed the wadi Zered. 'Now from Kadesh-barnea to the wadi Zered our wanderings had taken thirty-eight years, so that the whole generation 15 of men fit for war was lost to the camp, as Yahweh had sworn to them. 'The hand of Yahweh fell upon them in the camp until they had perished entirely.

16 When all the men fit for war had been carried off by death from among the people,

17 down to the last man, 'Yahweh said this to me, 'You are now about to cross Ar,

18 the land of Moab, 'and to approach the frontier of the sons of Ammon. Make 19 no attack on them and do not provoke them, for I will give you none of the land belonging to the sons of Ammon. I have given it to the sons of Lot as their domain.' '(This also was accounted a land of Rephaim; at one time the

21 Rephaim lived there, though the Ammonites call them Zamzummim, 'a great and numerous people, tall as the Anakim. Yahweh exterminated them before the advancing Ammonites who dispossessed them and settled there in place of them, 'just as he had exterminated the Horites in front of the sons of Esau who live in Seir, so that they dispossessed them and settled there in place of them and are still there now. 'It was the same with the Avvites who had their encampments as far as Gaza: the Caphtorim, coming from Caphtor,^c exterminated them, settling

24 there in place of them.) 'Break camp, set out and cross the wadi Arnon. See, I am putting Sihon the Amorite, king of Heshbon, at your mercy, and his country

25 too. Set about the conquest; engage him in battle. 'Today and henceforth I spread the terror and fear of you among the peoples under all heaven: all who hear the sound of your coming will tremble and be in dread.'

The conquest of Sihon's kingdom

26 "So from the wilderness of Kedemoth I sent envoys to Sihon king of Heshbon

27 with this message of peace: 'I mean to pass through your land. I shall go my 28 way, straying neither right nor left. 'What food I eat, sell me in return for money; and I will pay for all the water I drink. Only give me leave to march through,

29 just as the sons of Esau who live in Seir gave me leave, and the Moabites who live in Ar, until I cross the Jordan into the land that Yahweh our God is giving to us.

30 "But Sihon king of Heshbon would not give us leave to pass through his land: Yahweh your God has made his spirit obstinate and his heart stubborn, so as to

31 leave him at your mercy, as he still is. 'And Yahweh said to me, 'You see, I have begun to deliver Sihon and his land over to you. Set about the conquest; seize

32 his land.' 'Sihon then, with all his people, marched out against us to give battle

33 at Jahaz. 'And Yahweh our God delivered him over to us: we defeated him, with his sons and all his people. 'Then we captured all his cities and laid whole towns

34 under ban, men, women, children; we spared nothing 'but the livestock which

35 we took as our spoil, as also the plunder from the towns we captured. 'From Aroer on the height above the wadi Arnon, and from the town at the bottom of the ravine, as far as Gilead, not one town was beyond our reach; Yahweh our God delivered them all over to us. The country of the Ammonites alone you did not go near, neither the region of wadi Jabbok nor the towns of the hill country, nor anywhere forbidden us by Yahweh our God.

The end of the stay in Transjordan

3 "We then turned in the direction of Bashan and went up there. And Og king of Bashan marched out against us, he and all his people, to give battle at Edrei. And Yahweh said to me, "Do not be afraid of him, for I have put him at your mercy, with all his people and his land. Deal with him as you dealt with Sihon the king of the Amorites who lives in Heshbon." So Yahweh our God put Og king of Bashan at our mercy too, with all his people. We struck him down and not a thing remained to him. We captured all his towns at that time; there was not a town of theirs we did not take: sixty towns, the whole confederation of Argob, Og's capital in Bashan, all strongholds enclosed in high walls and fortified with gates and bars, not to mention the Perizzite^a towns, which were very many. We laid them under ban as we had done with Sihon king of Heshbon, laying the whole town, men, women, children, under the ban; but we seized the livestock and the spoil from these towns as our plunder.

"So at that time we took the land of the two Amorite kings beyond Jordan, from the wadi Arnon to Mount Hermon (the Sidonians call Hermon Sirion and the Amorites call it Senir): all the towns of the tableland, all Gilead, and all Bashan as far as Salecah and Edrei, the capital cities of Og in Bashan. (Og king of Bashan was the last survivor of the Rephaim; his bed was the bed of iron^b that can be seen at Rabbah-of-the-Ammonites, nine cubits long and four wide, in the common cubit.)

"At that time, therefore, we occupied this land, onward from Aroer on the wadi Arnon. To Reuben and Gad I gave half the highlands of Gilead with its towns. To the half tribe of Manasseh I gave the rest of Gilead and the whole of Bashan, Og's kingdom. (The whole confederation of Argob and the whole of Bashan is called the country of the Rephaim. Since Jair son of Manasseh occupied the whole confederation of Argob as far as the frontiers of the Geshurites and Maacathites, he gave his name to those towns that are still called the Encampments of Jair.) To Machir I gave Gilead. To the Reubenites and the Gadites I gave the region from Gilead to the wadi Arnon, the middle of the ravine marking the boundary, and up as far as the Jabbok, the wadi marking the frontier of the Ammonites. The Arabah and the Jordan serve as frontiers from Chinnereth down to the Sea of the Arabah (the Salt Sea), at the foot of the slopes of Pisgah on the east.

The last instructions of Moses

"Then I gave you this command: Yahweh your God has given you this land for your own. All you fighting men must take up arms and march at the head of your brothers, the sons of Israel. Only your wives, your children and your flocks (you have many flocks, I know) shall stay behind in the towns I have given you, until such time as Yahweh settles your brothers as he has settled you, and they too occupy the land that Yahweh your God is giving them beyond the Jordan; then you shall return, each to the domain I have given you. I then gave Joshua this order: You can see with your own eyes all that Yahweh has done to 2 a. The Anakim were remnants of the prehistoric inhabitants of Palestine and Transjordan. Tradition associated them with the legendary Nephilim, and they were supposed to have built the megalithic monuments. The Emim, Rephaim, Zamzummim and Zuzim were similar remnants from prehistory. b. Possibly the survivors of the Hurrites, a non-Semitic race; as the text says, the Horites were absorbed by the Edomites. c. Philistines.

3 a. Perizzite towns were unfortified. b. Possibly one of the cromlechs near Amman.

these two kings; Yahweh will do the same to all the kingdoms through which you pass. 'Do not be afraid of them: Yahweh your God himself is fighting for you.

22 "And I pleaded then with Yahweh. 'My Lord Yahweh, I said, you that 23 have begun to reveal your greatness and your power to your servant, you whose 24 works and mighty deeds no one in heaven or on earth can rival, 'may I not go 25 across and see this prosperous land beyond the Jordan, this prosperous country of 26 hills, and Lebanon? 'But because of you, Yahweh was angry with me and would 27 take no notice of me. 'Enough!' he said, 'Speak to me no more of this. 'Climb to 28 the top of Pisgah; let your eyes turn toward the west, the north, the south, the east. Look well, for across this Jordan you shall not go. 'Give Joshua your instructions; encourage him, strengthen him; for it is he who shall go across at the head of his people; it is he who shall put them in possession of the land that you will see."

29 "So we stayed in the valley close to Beth-peor.

The apostasy at Peor. Where true wisdom lies

1 4 "And now, Israel, take notice of the laws and customs that I teach you today, 2 and observe them, that you may have life and may enter and take possession 3 of the land that Yahweh the God of your fathers is giving you. 'You must add 4 nothing to what I command you, and take nothing from it, but keep the com-5 mandments of Yahweh your God just as I lay them down for you. 'You can see 6 with your own eyes what Yahweh has done at Baal-peor; all the followers of 7 the Baal of Peor have been wiped out from among you by Yahweh your God; 8 but all of you who stayed faithful to Yahweh your God are still alive today.
9 See, as Yahweh my God has commanded me, I teach you the laws and customs 10 that you are to observe in the land you are to enter and make your own. 'Keep 11 them, observe them, and they will demonstrate to the peoples your wisdom and 12 understanding. When they come to know of all these laws they will exclaim, 13 'No other people is as wise and prudent as this great nation.' 'And indeed, 14 what great nation is there that has its gods so near as Yahweh our God is to us 15 whenever we call to him? 'And what great nation is there that has laws and 16 customs to match this whole Law that I put before you today?

The revelation at Horeb; its demands

9 "But take care what you do and be on your guard. Do not forget the things 10 your eyes have seen, nor let them slip from your heart all the days of your life; 11 rather, tell them to your children and to your children's children. 'The day you 12 stood at Horeb in the presence of Yahweh your God, Yahweh said to me, 'Call 13 the people around me that I may let them hear my words, that they may learn to 14 fear me all the days they live on earth, and teach this to their children.' 'So you 15 came and stood at the foot of the mountain, and the mountain flamed to the very 16 sky, a sky darkened by cloud, murky and thunderous. 'Then Yahweh spoke to 17 you from the midst of the fire; you heard the sound of words but saw no shape, 18 there was only a voice. 'And Yahweh revealed his covenant to you and com-19 manded you to observe it, the Ten Sayings which he inscribed on two tablets of 20 stone. 'He ordered me then to teach you the laws and customs that you were to observe in the land toward which you are going to make it your own."

15 "Take great care what you do, therefore: since you saw no shape on that day 16 at Horeb when Yahweh spoke to you from the midst of the fire, 'see that you do 17 not act perversely, making yourselves a carved image in the shape of anything 18 at all: whether it be in the likeness of man or of a woman, 'or of any beast on the 19 earth, or of any bird that flies in the heavens, 'or of any reptile that crawls on 20 the ground, or of any fish in the waters under the earth. 'When you raise your eyes to heaven, when you see the sun, the moon, the stars, all the array of heaven, do not be tempted to worship them and serve them. Yahweh your God has allotted them to all the peoples under heaven, 'but as for you, Yahweh has taken you, and brought you out from the furnace of iron, from Egypt, to be a people all his own, as you still are today.

Of punishment to come, and of conversion

21 "Yahweh has been angry with me on your account; he has sworn that I shall not cross the Jordan or enter the prosperous land which Yahweh your God is giving you as your heritage. •Yes, I am to die in this country; I shall not go across this Jordan; you will go over and take possession of that rich land. •Take care therefore not to forget the covenant which Yahweh your God has made with you, by making a carved image of anything that Yahweh your God has forbidden you; •for Yahweh your God is a consuming fire, a jealous God.

25 "When you have begotten children and grandchildren and you have lived long in the land, if you act perversely, making a carved image in one shape or another, doing what displeases Yahweh and angers him, •on that day I will call heaven and earth to witness against you; and at once you will vanish from the land which you are crossing the Jordan to possess. You shall not live there long; you shall be utterly destroyed. •Yahweh will scatter you among the peoples, and only a small number of you will remain among the nations where Yahweh will have driven you. •There you will pay service to gods that human hands have made, of wood and of stone, that cannot see or hear, eat or smell.

29 "But you will seek Yahweh your God from there, and if you seek him with all your heart and with all your soul, you shall find him. •In your distress, all that I have said will overtake you, but at the end of days^b you will return to Yahweh your God and listen to his voice. •For Yahweh your God is a merciful God and will not desert or destroy you or forget the covenant he made on oath with your fathers.

The splendor of the divine election

32 "Put this question, then, to the ages that are past, that went before you, from the time God created man on earth: Was there ever a word so majestic, from one end of heaven to the other? Was anything ever heard? •Did ever a people hear the voice of the living God speaking from the heart of the fire, as you heard it, and remain alive? •Has any god ventured to take to himself one nation from the midst of another by ordeals, signs, wonders, war with mighty hand and outstretched arm, by fearsome terrors—all this that Yahweh your God did for you before your eyes in Egypt?

35 "This he showed you so that you might know that Yahweh is God indeed and that there is no other. •He let you hear his voice out of heaven for your instruction; on earth he let you see his great fire, and from the heart of the fire you heard his word. •Because he loved your fathers and chose their descendants after them, he brought you out from Egypt, openly showing his presence and his great power, driving out in front of you nations greater and more powerful than yourself, and brought you into their land to give it you for your heritage, as it is still today.

39 "Understand this today, therefore, and take it to heart: Yahweh is God indeed, in heaven above as on earth beneath, he and no other. •Keep his laws and commandments as I give them to you today, so that you and your children may prosper and live long in the land that Yahweh your God gives you for ever."

B. THE SECOND DISCOURSE OF MOSES

Its time and place

41 Then Moses set apart three cities to the east, beyond the Jordan, •where a man might find refuge who had killed his fellow unwittingly and with no previous feud

4 a. "The laws and customs" given by Moses, as distinct from the Ten Commandments.
b. The end of the era; the beginning of a new age.

43 against him: by taking flight to one of these cities he could save his life. 'These were, for the Reubenites, Bezer in the wilderness on the tableland; for the Gadites, Ramoth in Gilead; for the Manassites, Golan in Bashan.

44 This is the Law which Moses put before the sons of Israel. 'These are the 45 decrees and laws and customs that Moses proclaimed to the sons of Israel when 46 they came out of Egypt, 'beyond the Jordan in the valley near Beth-peor, in the 47 land of Sihon the Amorite king who lived at Heshbon. Moses and the sons of 48 Israel had defeated him when they came out of Egypt, 'and had taken possession 49 of his land and of the land of Og king of Bashan—two kings of the Amorites as far as Mount Sirion (which is Hermon)—'and of all the Arabah east of the Jordan as far as the Sea of the Arabah, at the foot of the slopes of Pisgah.

1 5 Moses called the whole of Israel together and said to them:

The Ten Commandments

'Listen, Israel, to the laws and customs that I proclaim in your hearing today. Learn them and take care to observe them.

2 'Yahweh our God made a covenant with us at Horeb. 'It was not with our 3 fathers that Yahweh made this covenant, but with us, with us who are here, all 4 living today. 'On the mountain, from the heart of the fire, Yahweh spoke to you 5 face to face, 'and I stood all the time between Yahweh and yourselves to tell you of Yahweh's words, for you were afraid of the fire and had not gone up the mountain. He said:

6 'I am Yahweh your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery.

7 'You shall have no gods except me.

8 'You shall not make yourself a carved image or any likeness of anything in 9 heaven above or on earth beneath or in the waters under the earth; 'you shall not bow down to them or serve them. For I, Yahweh your God, am a jealous God and I punish the fathers' fault in the sons, the grandsons and the great-10 grandsons of those who hate me; 'but I show kindness to thousands, to those who love me and keep my commandments.

11 'You shall not utter the name of Yahweh your God to misuse it, for Yahweh will not leave unpunished the man who utters his name to misuse it.

12 'Observe the sabbath day and keep it holy, as Yahweh your God has com-13 manded you. 'For six days you shall labor and do all your work, 'but the 14 seventh day is a sabbath for Yahweh your God. You shall do no work that day, neither you nor your son nor your daughter nor your servants, men or women, nor your ox nor your donkey nor any of your animals, nor the stranger who lives 15 with you. Thus your servant, man or woman, shall rest as you do. 'Remember that you were a servant in the land of Egypt, and that Yahweh your God brought you out from there with mighty hand and outstretched arm; because of this, Yahweh your God has commanded you to keep the sabbath day.

16 'Honor your father and your mother, as Yahweh your God has commanded you, so that you may have long life and may prosper in the land that Yahweh your God gives to you.

17 'You shall not kill.

18 'You shall not commit adultery.

19 'You shall not steal.

20 'You shall not bear false witness against your neighbor.

21 'You shall not covet your neighbor's wife, you shall not set your heart on his house, his field, his servant—man or woman—his ox, his donkey or anything that is his.'

22 'These are the words Yahweh spoke to you when you were all assembled on the mountain. With a great voice he spoke to you from the heart of the fire, in cloud and thick darkness. He added nothing, but wrote them on two tablets of stone which he gave to me.

Moses the mediator

23 "Now when you had heard this voice coming out of the darkness, while the 24 mountain was all on fire, you came to me, all of you, heads of tribes and elders, and said, 'See how Yahweh our God has shown us his glory and his greatness and we have heard his voice from the middle of the fire. Today we have seen that 25 God can speak with man and man still live. 'Why should we die now, when this great fire is ready to devour us, and when we are sure to perish if we hear 26 the voice of Yahweh our God a second time? 'For what creature of flesh could possibly live after hearing, as we have heard, the voice of the living God speaking 27 from the heart of the fire? 'You, then, go near and hear everything Yahweh our God will say and tell us all that Yahweh our God says to you; we will listen and observe it.'

28 "Yahweh heard the words you spoke to me, and he said to me, 'I have heard 29 this people's words. All they have spoken is well said. 'If only their heart were always so, set on the fear of me and the keeping of my commandments, so that 30 they and their children might prosper for ever! 'Go and say to them: Return 31 to your tents. 'But you will stand here by me and I shall tell you all the commandments, the laws and the customs that you must teach them, which they must observe in the land I am giving them for their possession.'

To love Yahweh is the essence of the Law

32 "Keep this, observe it. This is what Yahweh our God has commanded you.
 33 Stray neither to right nor to left. 'Follow the whole way that Yahweh has marked for you and you shall live, you shall prosper and shall live long in the land you are to possess.

1 6 "These then are the commandments, the laws and the customs^a which Yahweh your God has instructed me to teach you that you may observe them in the 2 land which you are going to make your own. 'Thus, if you fear Yahweh your God all the days of your life and if you keep all his laws and commandments which I lay on you, you will have a long life, you and your son and your grandson.
 3 Listen then, Israel, keep and observe what will make you prosper and give you great increase, as Yahweh the God of your fathers has promised you, giving you a land where milk and honey flow.

4 "Listen, Israel: Yahweh our God is the one Yahweh. 'You shall love Yahweh 5 your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your strength. 'Let 7 these words I urge on you today be written on your heart. 'You shall repeat them to your children and say them over to them whether at rest in your house 8 or walking abroad, at your lying down or at your rising; 'you shall fasten them 9 on your hand as a sign and on your forehead as a circlet; 'you shall write them on the doorposts of your house and on your gates.

10 "When Yahweh has brought you into the land which he swore to your fathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob that he would give you, with great and prosperous 11 cities not of your building, 'houses full of good things not furnished by you, wells you did not dig, vineyards and olives you did not plant, when you have 12 eaten these and had your fill, 'then take care you do not forget Yahweh who 13 brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery. 'You must fear Yahweh your God, you must serve him, by his name you must swear.

An appeal for loyalty

14 "Do not follow other gods, gods of the peoples around you, 'for Yahweh your 15 God who dwells among you is a jealous God; his anger could blaze out against 6 a. "The laws and customs" begin at 12:1.

16 you and wipe you from the face of the earth. •Do not put Yahweh your God 17 to the test as you tested him at Massah. •Keep the commandments of Yahweh 18 your God and his decrees and laws that he has laid down for you, and do what is right and good in the eyes of Yahweh so that you may prosper and take 19 possession of the rich land which Yahweh swore to give to your fathers, •driving out your enemies before you; this was the promise of Yahweh.

20 “In times to come, when your son asks you, ‘What is the meaning of the 21 decrees and laws and customs that Yahweh our God has laid down for you?’ •you shall tell your son, ‘Once we were Pharaoh’s slaves in Egypt, and Yahweh brought 22 us out of Egypt by his mighty hand. •Before our eyes Yahweh worked great and terrible signs and wonders against Egypt, against Pharaoh and all his House.
 23 And he brought us out from there to lead us into the land he swore to our 24 fathers he would give to us. •And Yahweh commanded us to observe all these laws and to fear Yahweh our God, so as to be happy for ever and to live, as 25 he has granted us to do until now. •For us right living will mean this: to keep and observe all these commandments before Yahweh our God as he has directed us.’

Israel a people apart

1 7 “When Yahweh your God has led you into the land you are entering to make your own, many nations will fall before you: Hittites, Girgashites, Amorites, 2 Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites,^a seven nations greater and stronger than yourselves. •Yahweh your God will deliver them over to you and you will 3 conquer them. You must lay them under ban. You must make no covenant with them nor show them any pity. •You must not marry with them: you must not 4 give a daughter of yours to a son of theirs, nor take a daughter of theirs for a son of yours, •for this would turn away your son from following me to serving other gods and the anger of Yahweh would blaze out against you and soon 5 destroy you. •Instead, deal with them like this: tear down their altars, smash their standing stones, cut down their sacred poles and set fire to their 6 idols. •For you are a people consecrated to Yahweh your God; it is you that Yahweh our God has chosen to be his very own people out of all the peoples on the earth.

God's election and his favor

7 “If Yahweh set his heart on you and chose you, it was not because you out-8 numbered other peoples: you were the least of all peoples. •It was for love of you and to keep the oath he swore to your fathers that Yahweh brought you out with his mighty hand and redeemed you from the house of slavery, from the power 9 of Pharaoh king of Egypt. •Know then that Yahweh your God is God indeed, the faithful God who is true to his covenant and his graciousness for a thousand 10 generations toward those who love him and keep his commandments, •but who punishes in their own persons those that hate him. He is not slow to destroy the 11 man who hates him; he makes him work out his punishment in person. •You are therefore to keep and observe the commandments and statutes and ordinances that I lay down for you today.

12 “Listen to these ordinances, be true to them and observe them, and in return Yahweh your God will be true to the covenant and the kindness he promised 13 your fathers solemnly. •He will love you and bless you and increase your numbers; he will bless the fruit of your body and the produce of your soil, your corn, your wine, your oil, the issue of your cattle, the young of the flock, in the land he 14 swore to your fathers he would give you. •You will be more blessed than all peoples. No man or woman among you shall be barren, no male or female of 15 your beasts infertile. •Yahweh will keep all sickness far from you; he will not afflict you with those evil plagues of Egypt which you have known, but will save them for all those who hate you.

16 “Devour, then, all these peoples whom Yahweh your God delivers over to you, show them no pity, do not serve their gods, for otherwise you would be ensnared.

The power of Yahweh

17 “You may say in your heart, ‘These nations outnumber me; how shall I be able 18 to dispossess them?’ ·Do not be afraid of them: remember how Yahweh your 19 God dealt with Pharaoh and all Egypt, ·the great ordeals your own eyes have seen, the signs and wonders, the mighty hand and outstretched arm with which Yahweh your God has brought you out. So will Yahweh your God deal with all 20 the peoples whom you fear to face. ·And what is more, Yahweh your God will send hornets to destroy those who remain and hide from you.

21 “Do not be afraid of them, for Yahweh your God is among you, a God who 22 is great and terrible. ·Little by little Yahweh your God will destroy these nations before you; you will not be able to make an end of them at once, or the wild 23 beasts would grow too many for you. ·But Yahweh your God will deliver them 24 over to you and will harass them until they are destroyed. ·He will deliver their kings into your hands and you will blot out their names from under heaven; none shall withstand you, until you have destroyed them all.

25 “You must set fire to all the carved images of their gods, not coveting the gold and silver that covers them; take it and you will be caught in a snare: it is 26 detestable to Yahweh your God. ·You must not bring any detestable thing into your house or you, like it, will come under the ban too. You must regard them as unclean and loathsome, for they are under the ban.

The ordeal in the wilderness

1 8 “All the commandments I enjoin on you today you must keep and observe so that you may live and increase in numbers and enter into the land that Yahweh 2 promised on oath to your fathers, and make it your own. ·Remember how Yahweh your God led you for forty years in the wilderness, to humble you, to test you and know your inmost heart—whether you would keep his com-3 mandments or not. ·He humbled you, he made you feel hunger, he fed you with manna which neither you nor your fathers had known, to make you understand that man does not live on bread alone but that man lives on everything that comes 4 from the mouth of Yahweh. ·The clothes on your back did not wear out and your feet were not swollen, all those forty years.

5 “Learn from this that Yahweh your God was training you as a man trains 6 his child, ·and keep the commandments of Yahweh your God, and so follow his ways and reverence him.

The Promised Land and its temptations

7 “But Yahweh your God is bringing you into a prosperous land, a land of streams and springs, of waters that well up from the deep in valleys and hills, 8 a land of wheat and barley, of vines, of figs, of pomegranates, a land of olives, 9 of oil, of honey, ·a land where you will eat bread without stint, where you will want nothing, a land where the stones are of iron, where the hills may be quarried 10 for copper. ·You will eat and have all you want and you will bless Yahweh your God in the rich land he has given you.

11 “Take care you do not forget Yahweh your God, neglecting his commandments 12 and customs and laws which I lay on you today. ·When you have eaten and 13 had all you want, when you have built fine houses to live in, ·when you have seen your flocks and herds increase, your silver and gold abound and all your 14 possessions grow great, ·do not become proud of heart. Do not then forget Yahweh your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house 15 of slavery: ·who guided you through this vast and dreadful wilderness, a land of fiery serpents, scorpions, thirst; who in this waterless place brought you water from the hardest rock; who in this wilderness fed you with manna that your fathers had not known, to humble you and test you and so make your future the happier. 'Beware of saying in your heart, 'My own strength and the might of my own hand won this power for me.' 'Remember Yahweh your God: it was he who gave you this strength and won you this power, thus keeping the covenant then, as today, that he swore to your fathers. 'Be sure that if you forget Yahweh your God, if you follow other gods, if you serve them and bow down before them —I warn you today—you will most certainly perish. 'Like the nations Yahweh is to destroy before you, so you yourselves shall perish, for not having listened to the voice of Yahweh your God.

7 a. Conventional list of pre-Israelite peoples of Palestine; but “Hittites” (properly meaning a people of Asia Minor) is used in a vague sense of non-Semitic inhabitants.

The victory comes from Yahweh, not from Israel's merits

9 "Listen, Israel; today you are about to cross the Jordan, to go and dispossess nations greater and stronger than yourself, to capture great cities fortified to the sky. 'A people great and tall, these Anakim, as you know; you have heard the saying: Who can stand up to the sons of Anak? 'Be therefore sure today that Yahweh your God himself will go in front of you, a devouring fire that will destroy them, and he himself will subdue them for you; so you will dispossess them and destroy them quickly as Yahweh has promised you. 'Do not say in your heart, when Yahweh your God has driven them before you, 'It is for my own goodness that Yahweh has brought me to possession of this land'; when it is for their wickedness that Yahweh dispossesses these nations for you. 'It is not for any goodness or sincerity of yours that you are entering their land to possess it; no, it is for the wickedness of these nations that Yahweh your God is dispossessing them for you, and to keep the word that he swore to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. 'Be in fact sure, then, that it is not for any goodness of yours that Yahweh gives you this rich land to possess, for you are a headstrong people.

Israel's conduct at Horeb; Moses intercedes

7 "Remember; never forget how you provoked Yahweh your God in the wilderness. From the day you came out of the land of Egypt you have been rebels against Yahweh. 'At Horeb you provoked Yahweh, and Yahweh was so angry with you that he was ready to destroy you. 'I had gone up the mountain to receive the tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant that Yahweh was making with you. I stayed forty days and forty nights on the mountain, eating no bread, drinking no water. 'Yahweh gave me the two stone tablets inscribed by the finger of God, and all the words on them that Yahweh had spoken to you on the mountain from the midst of the fire on the day of the Assembly. 'At the end of the forty days and forty nights, after he had given me the two tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant, 'Yahweh said to me, 'Leave this place, go down quickly, for your people whom you brought out of Egypt have broken faith. They have been quick to leave the way I marked out for them; they have made themselves an idol of cast metal.' 'Then Yahweh said to me, 'I have seen this people, and what a headstrong people they are! 'Let me destroy them, and wipe out their name from under heaven, and make out of you a nation mightier and greater than they.'

15 "So I went down the mountain again and it was blazing with fire, and in my hands were the two tablets of the covenant. 'And I looked and there you were, you had been sinning against Yahweh your God. You had made yourself a calf of cast metal; you had been quick to leave the way Yahweh marked out for you. 'I seized the two tablets and with my two hands threw them down and broke them before your eyes. 'Then I fell prostrate before Yahweh; as before, I passed forty days and forty nights eating no bread and drinking no water, for all the sin you had committed in doing what was displeasing to Yahweh, thus

19 arousing his anger. 'For I was afraid of this anger, of the fury which so roused Yahweh against you that he was ready to destroy you. And once more Yahweh heard my prayer. 'Yahweh was enraged with Aaron too and was ready to destroy 20 him, and I pleaded for Aaron also. 'That work of sin, the calf you had made, I took and burned and broke to pieces, and grinding it to fine dust I threw its 21 dust into the stream that comes down from the mountain.

Israel sins again. A prayer of Moses 22 "At Taberah too and at Massah and Kibroth-hattaavah you provoked Yahweh.

23 And when Yahweh wanted you to leave Kadesh-barnea, saying, 'Go up and take possession of the land I have given you,' you rebelled against the command of 24 Yahweh your God and did not believe him or listen to his voice. 'You have been rebels against Yahweh from the day he first knew you.

25 "So I fell prostrate before Yahweh and lay there these forty days and forty 26 nights, for Yahweh had said he would destroy you. 'And I pleaded with Yahweh. My Lord Yahweh, I said, do not destroy your people, your heritage whom in your greatness you have redeemed, whom you have brought out of Egypt with 27 your mighty hand. 'Remember your servants, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; take 28 no notice of this people's stubbornness, their wickedness, and their sin, 'so that it may not be said in the land from which you brought us, 'Yahweh was not able to bring them to the land he promised them. It was because he hated them 29 that he brought them out, to die in the wilderness.' 'But they are your people and your heritage whom you brought out by your great power and your outstretched arm.

The ark of the covenant; the choice of Levi

1 10 "Yahweh then said to me, 'Cut two stone tablets like the first, and come 2 up to me on the mountain. Make an ark of wood; 'on the tablets I shall inscribe the words that were on the first tablets, which you broke, and you will 3 put them in the ark.' 'So I made an ark of acacia wood, cut two stone tablets 4 like the first and went up the mountain with the two tablets in my hand. 'And he inscribed the tablets as he had inscribed them before with the Ten Sayings that Yahweh had spoken to you on the mountain from the middle of the fire on 5 the day of the Assembly. Then Yahweh gave them to me. 'I came down the mountain again and put the tablets in the ark I had made, and there they stayed as Yahweh had commanded me.

6 ^a "The sons of Israel left the wells of the Bene-jaakan for Moserah, where Aaron died; he was buried there, and his son Eleazar succeeded him in the 7 priesthood. 'From there they set out for Gudgodah, and from Gudgodah for 8 Jotbathah, a land of water streams. 'Yahweh then set apart the tribe of Levi to carry the ark of Yahweh's covenant, to stand in the presence of Yahweh, to do him service and in his name to pronounce blessing as they still do today.
9 Levi therefore has no share or inheritance with his brothers: Yahweh is his inheritance, as Yahweh your God told him.

10 "And I, as before, stayed on the mountain forty days and forty nights. And 11 again Yahweh heard my prayer and agreed not to destroy you. 'And Yahweh said to me, 'Now go on your way at the head of this people, that they may go and take possession of the land I swore to their fathers I would give them.'

Circumcision of the heart

12 "And now, Israel, what does Yahweh your God ask of you? Only this: to fear Yahweh your God, to follow all his ways, to love him, to serve Yahweh your God 13 with all your heart and all your soul, 'to keep the commandments and laws of Yahweh that for your good I lay down for you today.

10 a. Vv.6-9 interrupt the narrative and are probably a later addition, dissociating the Levites from Aaron's sin.

14 "To Yahweh your God belong indeed heaven and the heaven of heavens, the 15 earth and all it contains; yet it was on your fathers that Yahweh set his heart 16 for love of them, and after them of all the nations chose their descendants, you 17 yourselves, up to the present day. Circumcise your heart then and be obstinate 18 no longer; for Yahweh your God is God of gods and Lord of lords, the great 19 God, triumphant and terrible, never partial, never to be bribed. It is he who 20 sees justice done for the orphan and the widow, who loves the stranger and gives 21 him food and clothing. Love the stranger then, for you were strangers in the 22 land of Egypt. It is Yahweh your God you must fear and serve; you must cling to him; in his name take your oaths. He it is you must praise, he is your God: for you he has done these great and terrible things you have seen with your own eyes; and though your fathers numbered only seventy when they went down to Egypt, Yahweh your God has made you as many as the stars of heaven.

Israel's lessons

1 11 "You must love Yahweh your God and always keep his injunctions, his 2 laws, his customs, his commandments. Mark, this day, how it was you who received the instruction, not your sons. They have not known or seen the lessons of Yahweh your God, his greatness, the might of his hand, the strength 3 of his arm, the signs and the deeds he performed in Egypt itself against Pharaoh 4 and all his land; what he did to the armies of Egypt, to their horses and their 5 chariots, how he poured the waters of the Sea of Reeds over them as they pursued 6 you, leaving no trace of them to this day; what he did for you in the wilderness before you reached this place; what he did to Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab the Reubenite, how, right in the midst of all Israel, the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them with their households, their tents and all their retinue.
 7 It is your eyes that have seen all this great work that Yahweh has done.

Promises and warnings

8 "You must keep all the commandments I enjoin on you today, so that you may have the strength to conquer the land into which you are to cross to make it your 9 own, and to live long in the land which Yahweh swore to give to your fathers and their descendants, a land where milk and honey flow.
 10 "For the land which you are to enter and make your own is not like the land of Egypt from which you came, where you sowed your seed and watered it by 11 tread^a like a vegetable garden. No, the land into which you are to cross to make it your own is a land of hills and valleys watered by the rain from heaven.
 12 Yahweh your God takes care of this land, the eyes of Yahweh your God are on 13 it always, from the year's beginning to its end. And it is most sure that if you faithfully obey the commandments I enjoin on you today, loving Yahweh your 14 God and serving him with all your heart and all your soul, I will give your land rain in season, autumn rain and spring, so that you may harvest your corn, 15 your wine, your oil; I shall provide grass in the fields for your cattle, and you 16 will eat and have all you want. Take care your heart is not seduced, that you 17 do not go astray, serving other gods and worshiping them, or the anger of Yahweh will blaze out against you, he will shut up the heavens and there will be no rain, the land will not yield its produce and you will quickly die in the prosperous land that Yahweh is giving you.

Conclusion

18 "Let these words of mine remain in your heart and in your soul; fasten them 19 on your hand as a sign and on your forehead as a circlet. Teach them to your children and say them over to them, whether at rest in your house or walking 20 abroad, at your lying down or at your rising. Write them on the doorposts of 21 your house and on your gates, so that you and your children may live long in the land that Yahweh swore to your fathers he would give them for as long as there is a sky above the earth.

22 "For if you faithfully keep and observe all these commandments that I enjoin on you today, loving Yahweh your God, following all his ways and clinging to 23 him, Yahweh will dispossess all these nations for you, and you shall dispossess 24 nations greater and more powerful than yourselves. Wherever the sole of your foot treads shall be yours; your territory shall stretch from the wilderness and 25 from Lebanon, from the river, the river Euphrates, to the Western Sea. No man will be able to stand against you; Yahweh your God will make you feared and dreaded throughout the land that you tread, just as he promised you.

26 "See, I set before you today a blessing and a curse: a blessing, if you obey 28 the commandments of Yahweh our God that I enjoin on you today; a curse, if you disobey the commandments of Yahweh your God and leave the way I have 29 marked out for you today, by going after other gods you have not known. And when Yahweh your God has brought you into the land which you are to enter and make your own, you shall set the blessing on Mount Gerizim and the curse 30 on Mount Ebal. These mountains, as you know, are beyond the Jordan on the westward road, in the land of the Canaanites who live in the Plain, opposite 31 Gilgal, near the Oak of Moreh. You shall indeed cross the Jordan to enter and make the land your own that Yahweh your God is giving you. You shall possess 32 it and you shall live in it, and you must keep and observe all the laws and customs that I set before you today.

II. THE DEUTERONOMIC CODE

1 12 "Now these are the laws and customs that you must keep and observe, in the land that Yahweh the God of your fathers has granted you to possess, for as long as you live in that land.

A. RELIGIOUS OBSERVANCES

The place of worship

2 "You must destroy completely all the places where the nations you dispossess have served their gods, on high mountains, on hills, under any spreading tree; 3 you must tear down their altars, smash their pillars, cut down their sacred poles, set fire to the carved images of their gods and wipe out their name from that place.

4 "Not so are you to behave toward Yahweh your God. You must seek Yahweh your God only in the place he himself will choose from among all your tribes, 6 to set his name there and give it a home. There you shall bring your holocausts and your sacrifices, your tithes, the offerings from your hands, your votive offerings and your voluntary offerings, the first-born of your herd and flock; 7 there you will eat in the presence of Yahweh your God and be thankful for all that your hands have presented, you and your households blessed by Yahweh your God.^a

8 "You must not act as we do here today: every man does what seems right to 9 him, for as yet you have not come to the resting place and the inheritance that 10 Yahweh your God is giving you. You are about to cross the Jordan and live in the land that Yahweh your God grants you to inherit; he will give you relief 11 from all the enemies that surround you, and you shall live in security. To the place chosen by Yahweh your God as a home for his name, to that place you are to bring all that I command you: your holocausts and your sacrifice, your tithes, the offerings from your hands, and all the best of your possessions that you vow to Yahweh. There you shall rejoice in the presence of Yahweh your God, you and your sons and daughters, your serving men and women, and the Levite who lives in your towns, since he has no share or inheritance with you.

Regulations concerning sacrifice

13 "Take care you do not offer your holocausts in all the sacred places you see; only in the place that Yahweh chooses in one of your tribes may you offer your holocausts and do all I command you.

14 "Still, whenever you want, you may slaughter and eat flesh in any of your towns, as much as the blessing of Yahweh affords you. Clean or unclean may eat it, just as if it were gazelle or deer. Only you must not consume the blood but pour it out like water on the ground.

15 "In your towns you may not consume the tithes of your corn, your wine or your oil, or the first-born of your herd or flock, or any of your votive offerings or voluntary offerings, or anything your hands have presented. You must eat these in the presence of Yahweh your God in the place Yahweh your God chooses and there alone, you and your son and daughter, your serving man or woman and the Levite who lives in your towns. You shall rejoice in the presence of Yahweh your God over all that your hands have presented. In your land take care never to neglect the Levite.

16 "When Yahweh your God enlarges your territory as he has promised you, and you say, 'I should like to eat meat,' if you want to eat meat you may eat as much as you like. If the place in which Yahweh your God chooses to set his name is too far away, you may slaughter any of your herd or flock that Yahweh has given you in the way that I have laid down for you; you may eat in your towns as much as you will. But you must eat it as you would gazelle or deer; clean or unclean alike may eat it. Only take care not to consume the blood, for the blood is the life, and you must not consume the life with the flesh. You must not consume it but pour it out like water on the ground. You must not consume it, and then you and your sons after you will prosper, doing what is right in the eyes of Yahweh. But the holy things you have and those you have vowed you must go and take to the place that Yahweh chooses. The holocaust of flesh and blood you must offer on the altar of Yahweh your God; and, in your sacrifices, the blood must be poured out on the altar of Yahweh your God; the flesh you may eat yourselves. Be faithful in keeping all the instructions that I give you and obey them, so that you and your sons after you may be happy for always, doing what is good and right in the eyes of Yahweh your God.

Against Canaanite cults

29 "When Yahweh your God has annihilated in front of you the nations that you are to dispossess, and when you have dispossessed them and made your home in their country, be careful you are not caught in a trap: do not imitate them once they have been destroyed in front of you, or go inquiring after their gods, saying, 'How did these nations worship their gods? I will go and do the same.' This is not the way for you to behave toward Yahweh your God. For Yahweh detests all this and hates what they have done for their gods, even burning their sons and daughters in the fire for their gods.

30 13 "All I command you, you must keep and observe, adding nothing to it, taking nothing away.

Against the enticements of idolatry

31 "If a prophet or a dreamer of dreams arises among you and offers to do a sign or a wonder for you, and the sign or wonder comes about; and if he then says to you, 'Come, then, let us follow other gods (whom you have not known) and serve them,' you are not to listen to the words of that prophet or to the dreams of that dreamer. Yahweh your God is testing you to know if you love Yahweh 5 your God with all your heart and all your soul. 'Yahweh your God you shall follow, him you shall fear, his commandments you shall keep, his voice you shall 6 obey, him shall you serve, to him shall you cling. 'That prophet or that dreamer of dreams must be put to death, for he has preached apostasy from Yahweh your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt and redeemed you from the house of slavery, and he would have made you turn aside from the way that Yahweh your God marked out for you. You must banish this evil from among you.

7 "If your brother, the son of your father or of your mother, or your son or daughter, or the wife you cherish, or the friend with whom you share your life, if one of these secretly tries to entice you, saying, 'Come, let us serve other gods,' 8 whom neither you nor your fathers have known, 'gods from among those of the peoples far or near surrounding you, from one end of the earth to the other, 9 you must not give way to him, nor listen to him, you must show him no pity, you must not spare him, you must not conceal his guilt. 'No, you must kill him; your 10 hand is to be the first raised against him in putting him to death, the hand of all the people will come next. 'You must stone him to death, for he has tried to lure you away from Yahweh your God who brought you out of the land of 11 Egypt, from the house of slavery. 'All Israel shall hear of it and be afraid and never again commit such wickedness among you.

12 "If you hear that in one of the towns which Yahweh your God has given you for a home, 'there are men, scoundrels from your own stock, who have led fellow citizens astray, saying, 'Come, let us serve other gods,' whom you have 13 not known, 'it is your duty to look into the matter, examine it, and inquire most carefully. If it is proved and confirmed that such a hateful thing has taken 14 place among you, 'then you must kill all the inhabitants of that town without giving any quarter; you must lay it under ban, the town and all it contains.
 15 You must gather all the wealth of it in the public square, and set fire to the town and all its goods, offering it all to Yahweh your God. It shall be a ruin for all 16 time, never to be built again. 'From what is thus banned you must keep nothing back, so that Yahweh may turn from the ferocity of his anger and show you 17 mercy, and have pity on you and increase your numbers as he swore to your fathers; 'that is, provided you listen to the voice of Yahweh your God, keeping 18 all the commandments of his that I enjoin on you today, and doing what is right in the eyes of Yahweh your God.

Against an idolatrous practice

1 14 "You are sons of Yahweh your God. You must not gash yourselves or 2 shave your foreheads for one who is dead.^a 'For you are a people consecrated to Yahweh your God, and Yahweh has chosen you to be his very own people out of all the peoples on the earth.

Clean and unclean animals

3 "You must eat nothing that is detestable. 'These are the animals you may 4 eat: ox, sheep, goat, 'deer, gazelle, roebuck, ibex, antelope, oryx, mountain 5 sheep. 'You may eat any animal that has a divided and cloven hoof and that 6 is a ruminant. 'Of those, however, that are ruminant and those that have a divided and cloven hoof you may not eat the following; the camel, the hare and the hyrax, which are ruminant but have no cloven hoof; you must hold them unclean.
 7 So also the pig, which though it has a cloven hoof is not ruminant; you must 8 hold it unclean. You must not eat the meat of such animals nor touch their dead bodies.

^{14 a} Since the prophets do not appear to doubt the lawfulness of these practices as a ritual of domestic mourning, it may be that the "one who is dead" is the god Baal, whose death was commemorated annually when the vegetation withered.

9 "Of all that lives in water you may eat the following: whatever has fins and 10 scales may be eaten. •But you must not eat anything that has not fins and scales:
you must hold it unclean.

11 "You may eat all clean birds, •but the following birds you must not eat; the 12 tawny vulture, the griffon, the osprey, •the kite and the several kinds of buzzard, 13 all kinds of raven, •the ostrich, the screech owl, the seagull, the several kinds 14 of hawk, •owl, barn owl, ibis, •pelican, white vulture, cormorant, •stork, the 15 several kinds of heron, hoopoe and bat. •You are to hold all winged insects to be 16 unclean and must not eat them. •You may eat anything winged that is clean.
17 "You must not eat any animal that has died a natural death. You may give 18 it for food to the alien who lives in your towns, or sell it to a foreigner.
19

"You are not to boil a kid in its mother's milk.

The annual tithe

22 "Every year you must take a tithe of all that your sowing yields on the land, 23 and in the presence of Yahweh your God, in the place he chooses to give his name a home, you are to eat the tithe of your corn, your wine and your oil and the first-born of your herd and flock; so shall you learn to fear Yahweh your God always.

24 "If the road is too long for you, if you cannot bring your tithe because the place in which Yahweh chooses to make a home for his name is too far, when 25 Yahweh your God has blessed you, •you must turn your tithe into money, and with the money clasped in your hand you must go to the place chosen by Yahweh; 26 there you may spend the money on whatever you like, oxen, sheep, wine, strong drink, anything your heart desires. You are to eat there in the presence of Yahweh 27 your God and rejoice, you and your household. •Do not neglect the Levite who lives in your towns, since he has no share or inheritance with you.

The third-year tithe

28 "At the end of every three years you must take all the tithes of your harvests 29 for that year and deposit them at your doors. •Then the Levite (since he has no share or inheritance with you), the stranger, the orphan and the widow who live in your towns may come and eat and have all they want. So shall Yahweh your God bless you in all the work that your hands undertake.

The sabbatical year

¹/₂ 15 "At the end of every seven years you must grant a remission. •Now the nature of the remission is this: every creditor who holds the person of his neighbor in bond^a must grant him remission; he may not exact payment from 3 his fellow or his brother once the latter appeals to Yahweh for remission. •From a foreigner you may exact payment, but you must remit whatever claim you have 4 on your brother. •Let there be no poor among you then. For Yahweh will bless 5 you in the land Yahweh your God gives you for your inheritance •only if you pay careful attention to the voice of Yahweh your God, keeping and observing 6 all these commandments that I enjoin on you today. •If Yahweh your God blesses you as he promised, you will be creditors to many nations and debtors to none; you will rule over many nations and be ruled by none.

7 "Is there a poor man among you, one of your brothers, in any town of yours in the land that Yahweh your God is giving you? Do not harden your heart or 8 close your hand against that poor brother of yours, •but be openhanded with 9 him and lend him enough for his needs. •Do not allow this mean thought in your heart, 'The seventh year, the year of remission is near,' and look coldly on your poor brother and give him nothing; he could appeal against you to 10 Yahweh and it would be a sin for you. •When you give to him, you must give with an open heart; for this Yahweh your God will bless you in all you do and 11 in all your giving. •Of course there will never cease to be poor in the land;

I command you therefore: Always be openhanded with your brother, and with anyone in your country who is in need and poor.

Slaves

12 "If your fellow Hebrew, man or woman, is sold to you, he can serve you for 13 six years. In the seventh year you must set him free, and in setting him free you 14 must not let him go empty-handed. You must make him a generous provision from your flock, your threshing floor, your winepress; as Yahweh your God has 15 blessed you, so you must give to him. Remember that you were a slave in the land of Egypt and that Yahweh your God redeemed you; that is why I lay this charge on you today.

16 "But if he says to you, 'I do not want to leave you,' if he loves you and your 17 household and is happy with you, you are to take an awl and drive it through his ear into the door and he shall be your servant for all time. You are to do the same for your maidservant.

18 "Do not think it hard on you to have to give him his freedom; he is worth twice the cost of a hired servant and has served you for six years. So shall Yahweh your God bless you in all you do.

The first-born

19 "You must consecrate every first-born male from your herd and flock to Yahweh your God. You must not put the first-born of your herd to work nor 20 shear the first-born of your flock. You are to eat it, you and your household, each year, in the presence of Yahweh your God, in the place Yahweh chooses.
21 If it has a blemish, if it is lame or blind, or has any serious defect at all, you 22 must not sacrifice it to Yahweh your God. You must eat it at home, unclean 23 and clean together, as you would gazelle or deer; only you must not consume the blood, but pour it out like water on the ground.

The feasts: Passover and Unleavened Bread

1 16 "Observe the month of Abib and celebrate the Passover for Yahweh your God, because it was in the month of Abib that Yahweh your God brought 2 you out of Egypt by night. You must sacrifice a passover from your flock or herd for Yahweh your God in the place where Yahweh chooses to give his name 3 a home. You must not eat leavened bread with this; for seven days you must eat it with unleavened bread, the bread of emergency, for it was in great haste that 4 you came out of the land of Egypt; so you will remember, all the days of your life, the day you came out of the land of Egypt. For seven days no leaven must be found in any house throughout your territory, nor must any of the meat that you sacrifice in the evening of the first day be kept overnight until morning.
5 You may not sacrifice the passover in any of the towns that Yahweh your God 6 gives you; but only in the place where Yahweh your God chooses to give his name a home, there you must sacrifice the passover, in the evening at sunset, 7 at the hour at which you came out of Egypt. You must cook it and eat it in the place Yahweh your God chooses, and in the morning you are to return and 8 go to your tents. For six days you shall eat unleavened bread; on the seventh day there shall be an assembly for Yahweh your God; and you must do no work.

Other feasts

9 "You are to count seven weeks, counting these seven weeks from the time you 10 begin to put your sickle into the standing corn. You must then celebrate the feast of Weeks for Yahweh your God with the gift of a voluntary offering from your hand in proportion to the way that Yahweh your God has blessed you.
11 You must rejoice in the presence of Yahweh your God in the place where Yahweh your God chooses to give his name a home, you and your son and daughter, your serving men and women, the Levite who lives in your towns, the stranger, the orphan and the widow who live among you. Remember that you were a slave in Egypt, and carefully observe these laws.

“You must celebrate the feast of Tabernacles for seven days, at the time when you gather in the produce of your threshing floor and winepress. You must rejoice at your feast, you and your son and daughter, your serving men and women, the Levite, the stranger, the orphan and the widow who live in your towns. For seven days you are to celebrate the feast for Yahweh your God in the place Yahweh chooses, for Yahweh your God will bless you in all your harvest and all your handiwork, and you will be filled with joy.

“Three times a year all your menfolk are to appear before Yahweh your God in the place he chooses: at the feast of Unleavened Bread, at the feast of Weeks, at the feast of Tabernacles. No one must appear before Yahweh empty-handed, but every man must give what he can, in proportion to the blessing that Yahweh your God gives you.

Judges

“You are to appoint judges and scribes in each of the towns that Yahweh is giving you, for all your tribes; these must administer an impartial judgment to the people. You must not pervert the law; you must be impartial, you must take no bribes, for a bribe blinds wise men’s eyes and jeopardizes the cause of the just. Strict justice must be your ideal, so that you may live in rightful possession of the land that Yahweh your God is giving you.

Abuses in worship

“You must not plant a sacred pole of any wood whatsoever beside the altar that you put up for Yahweh your God; nor must you set up a standing stone, a thing Yahweh your God would abhor. 17 To Yahweh your God you must sacrifice nothing from herd or flock that has any blemish or defect whatsoever, for Yahweh your God holds this detestable.

“If there is anyone man or woman, among you in any of the towns Yahweh your God is giving you, who does what is displeasing to Yahweh your God by violating his covenant, who goes and serves other gods and worships them, or the sun or the moon or any of heaven’s array—a thing I have forbidden—and this person is denounced to you; if after careful inquiry it is found true and confirmed that this hateful thing has been done in Israel, you must take the man or woman guilty of this evil deed outside your city gates, and there you must stone that man or woman to death. A man may be put to death only on the word of two witnesses or three; and no man may be put to death on the word of one witness alone. The witnesses shall be the first to raise their hands against him in putting him to death, then all the people shall follow. You must banish this evil from your midst.

Levitical judges

“If a case comes before you which is too difficult for you, a case of murder, legal rights or assault, or any dispute at all in your towns, you must make your way to the place Yahweh your God chooses, and approach the levitical priests and the judge then in office. They will hold an inquiry and give a decision for you. You must abide by the decision they pronounce for you in that place which Yahweh chooses, and you must take care to carry out all their instructions. You must abide by the verdict they give you and by the decision they declare to you, swerving neither right nor left of the sentence they have pronounced for you. If anyone presumes to disobey either the priest who is there in the service of Yahweh your God, or the judge, that man must die. You must banish this evil from Israel. And all the people shall hear of it and be afraid and not act presumptuously a second time.

Kings

14 “When you reach the land that Yahweh your God gives you, and take possession of it and live there, if you say to yourself, ‘I will appoint a king over me like all the surrounding nations,’ it must be a king of Yahweh’s choosing whom you appoint over you; it must be one from among your brothers that is appointed king over you; you are not to give yourself a foreign king who is no brother of yours.

16 “Insure that he does not increase the number of his horses, or make the people go back to Egypt to increase his cavalry, for Yahweh said to you, ‘You must never go back that way again.’ Nor must he increase the number of his wives, for that could lead his heart astray. Nor must he increase his gold and silver excessively. When he is seated on his royal throne he must write a copy of this Law on a scroll for his own use at the dictation of the levitical priests. It must never leave him and he must read it every day of his life and learn to fear Yahweh his God by keeping all the words of this Law and observing these laws. So his heart will not look down on his brothers and he will swerve neither right nor left from these commandments. If he does this, he will have long days on his throne, he and his sons, in Israel.

1 18 “The levitical priests, that is to say the whole of the tribe of Levi, shall have no share or inheritance with Israel; they shall live on the foods offered to Yahweh and on his dues. This tribe is to have no inheritance among their brothers; Yahweh will be their inheritance as he promised them.

3 “These are the priests’ dues from the people, from those who offer an ox or a sheep in sacrifice: the priest is to be given the shoulder, the cheeks and the stomach. You must give him the first fruits of your corn, your wine, your oil, as well as the first of your sheep’s shearing. For Yahweh your God has chosen him out of all your tribes to stand before Yahweh your God, to do the duties of the sacred ministry, and to bless in Yahweh’s name, him and his sons for all time.

6 “If the Levite living in one of your towns anywhere in Israel decides to come to the place Yahweh chooses, he shall minister there in the name of Yahweh his God like all his fellow Levites who stand ministering there in the presence of Yahweh, and shall eat equal shares with them, no count being taken of the claims he has on the levitical families for the goods he has sold.

Prophets

9 “When you come into the land Yahweh your God gives you, you must not fall into the habit of imitating the detestable practices of the natives. There must never be anyone among you who makes his son or daughter pass through fire, who practices divination, who is soothsayer, augur or sorcerer, who uses charms, consults ghosts or spirits, or calls up the dead. For the man who does these things is detestable to Yahweh your God; it is because of these detestable practices that Yahweh your God is driving these nations before you.

13 “You must be entirely faithful to Yahweh your God. For these nations whom you are dispossessing may listen to soothsayers and diviners, but this is not the gift that Yahweh your God gives to you: Yahweh your God will raise up for you a prophet like myself, from among yourselves, from your own brothers; to him you must listen. This is what you yourselves asked of Yahweh your God at Horeb on the day of the Assembly. ‘Do not let me hear again,’ you said, ‘the voice of Yahweh my God, nor look any longer on this great fire, or I shall die’; and Yahweh said to me, ‘All they have spoken is well said. I will raise up a prophet like yourself for them from their own brothers; I will put my words into his mouth and he shall tell them all I command him. The man who does not listen to my words that he speaks in my name shall be held answerable to me

- 20 for it. •But the prophet who presumes to say in my name a thing I have not commanded him to say, or who speaks in the name of other gods, that prophet shall die.’
- 21 “You may say in your heart, ‘How are we to know what word was not spoken 22 by Yahweh?’ •When a prophet speaks in the name of Yahweh and the thing does not happen and the word is not fulfilled, then it has not been spoken by Yahweh. The prophet has spoken with presumption. You have nothing to fear from him.

B. THE LAW OF RETALIATION

Homicide and cities of refuge

- 1 19 “When Yahweh your God has annihilated the nations whose land Yahweh 2 your God gives you, and you have dispossessed them and you live in their 3 towns and in their houses, •you are to set aside three cities in the land Yahweh is 4 giving you for your possession. •You must keep the approaches to them in good 5 order and divide into three parts the area of the land Yahweh your God is giving 6 into your possession, so that any homicide may be able to find a refuge in them.
7 Here is the case of how a man may save his life by taking refuge there.
8 “If anyone has struck his fellow accidentally, not having any previous feud 9 with him •(for example, he goes with his fellow into the forest to cut wood; his 10 arm swings the ax to fell a tree; the head slips off the handle and strikes his 11 companion dead), that man may take refuge in one of these cities and save his 12 life. •It must not be allowed that the avenger of blood, in the heat of his anger, 13 should pursue the killer and that the length of the road should help him to 14 overtake and fatally wound him; for the man has not deserved to die, having 15 had no previous feud with his companion.
16 “I command you therefore: You are to set aside three cities, •and if Yahweh 17 your God enlarges your territory, as he swore to your fathers he would, and gives 18 you the whole land he promised to give your fathers—•provided you keep and 19 observe all the commandments I enjoin on you today, loving Yahweh your God 20 and always following his ways—then to those three cities you will add three more.
21 In this way, innocent blood will not be shed in the land Yahweh your God gives 22 for your inheritance; otherwise there would be blood-guilt on you.
23 “But if it happens that a man has a feud with his fellow and lies in wait for 24 him and falls on him and wounds him fatally and he dies, and the man takes 25 refuge in one of these cities, •the elders of his own town shall send to have him 26 seized and hand him over to the avenger of blood to die. •You are to show him 27 no pity. You must banish the shedding of innocent blood from Israel, and then 28 you will prosper.

Boundaries

- 14 “You must not displace your neighbor’s boundary mark, set by your forbears, in the inheritance you receive in the land Yahweh is giving into your possession.

Witnesses

- 15 “A single witness cannot suffice to convict a man of a crime or offense of any 16 kind; whatever the misdemeanor, the evidence of two witnesses or three is 17 required to sustain the charge.
18 “If a malicious witness appears against a man to accuse him of rebellion, 19 both parties to this dispute before Yahweh must be brought before the priests 20 and judges then in office. •The judges must make a careful inquiry, and if it turns 21 out that the witness who accused his brother is a lying witness, •you must deal 22 with him as he would have dealt with his brother. You must banish this evil from 23 your midst. •Others will hear of it and be afraid and never again do such an evil 24 thing among you. •You are to show no pity.

The "lex talionis"

"Life for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

War and combatants

20 "When you go to war against your enemies and see horses and chariots and an army greater than your own, you must not be afraid of them; Yahweh your God is with you, who brought you out of the land of Egypt. When you are about to join battle the priest is to come forward and address the people. He is to say to them, 'Listen, Israel; now that you are about to join battle against your enemies, do not be fainthearted. Let there be no fear or trembling or alarm as you face them. Yahweh your God goes with you to fight for you against your enemies and to save you.'

5 "Then the scribes are to address the people in words like these:
'Is there any man here who has built a new house and not yet dedicated it? Let him go home lest he die in battle and another perform the dedication.

6 'Is there any man here who has planted a vineyard and not yet enjoyed its fruit? Let him go home lest he die in battle and another enjoy its fruit.

7 'Is there any man here who has betrothed a wife and not yet taken her? Let him go home lest he die in battle and another take her.'

8 "The scribes shall also address the people like this:

'Is there any man here who is fearful and faint of heart? Let him go home lest he make his fellows lose heart too.'

9 "And when the scribes have finished speaking to the people, commanders will be appointed to lead them.

Captured towns

10 "When you advance to the attack on any town, first offer it terms of peace. If it accepts these and opens its gates to you, all the people to be found in it shall do forced labor for you and be subject to you. But if it refuses peace and offers resistance, you must lay siege to it. Yahweh your God shall deliver it into your power and you are to put all its menfolk to the sword. But the women, the children, the livestock and all that the town contains, all its spoil, you may take for yourselves as booty. You will devour the spoil of your enemies which Yahweh your God has delivered to you.

15 "That is how you will treat the far-distant towns not belonging to the nations near you. But as regards the towns of those peoples which Yahweh your God gives you as your own inheritance, you must not spare the life of any living thing. Instead, you must lay them under ban, the Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites, as Yahweh your God commanded, so that they may not teach you to practice all the detestable practices they have in honor of their gods and so cause you to sin against Yahweh your God.

19 "If, when attacking a town, you have to besiege it for a long time before you capture it, you must not destroy its trees by taking an ax to them: eat their fruit but do not cut them down. Is the tree in the fields human that you should besiege it too? Any trees, however, which you know are not fruit trees, you may mutilate and cut down and use to build siege-works against the hostile town until it falls.

The unidentified murderer

21 "In the land Yahweh is giving you as your possession, if a murdered man is discovered lying in open country and it is not known who killed him, your elders and scribes must go and measure the distance between the victim and the surrounding towns, and establish which town is nearest the victim. Then the elders of that town are to take a heifer that has not yet been put to work or used as a draught animal under the yoke. And the elders of that town must bring the heifer down to a watercourse that is never dry at a spot that has been neither plowed nor sown, and there by the watercourse they must break the heifer's neck. And the priests, the sons of Levi, shall then come forward, for these are the men Yahweh your God has chosen to do him service and to bless in the name of Yahweh, and it is their business to settle all cases of dispute or of violence. All the elders of the town nearest the murdered man shall then wash their hands in the watercourse, over the slaughtered heifer. They are to pronounce these words, 'Our hands did not shed this blood and our eyes saw nothing. Cover your people Israel whom you have redeemed, Yahweh, and let no innocent blood be shed among your people Israel.' So they will be covered against blood vengeance. You must banish all shedding of innocent blood from among you if you mean to do what is right in the eyes of Yahweh.

C. ON MARRIAGE

Women taken in war

"When you go to war against your enemies and Yahweh your God delivers them into your power and you take prisoners, if you see a beautiful woman among the prisoners and find her desirable, you may make her your wife and bring her to your home. She is to shave her head and cut her nails and take off her prisoner's garb; she is to stay inside your house and must mourn her father and mother for a full month. Then you may go to her and be a husband to her, and she shall be your wife. Should she cease to please you, you will let her go where she wishes, not selling her for money; you are not to make any profit out of her, since you have had the use of her.

Birthright

"If a man has two wives, one loved and the other unloved, and the loved one and the unloved both bear him children, and if the first-born son is of the unloved wife, then when the man comes to bequeath his goods to his sons, he may not treat the son of the wife whom he loves as the first-born at the expense of the son of the wife he does not love, the true first-born. He must acknowledge as first-born the son of the wife he does not love and give to him a double share of his estate, for this son is the first fruit of his strength, and the right of the first-born is his.

The rebellious son

"If a man has a stubborn and rebellious son who will not listen to the voice of his father or the voice of his mother, and even when they punish him still will not pay attention to them, his father and mother shall take hold of him and bring him out to the elders of the town at the gate of that place. And they shall say to the elders of his town, 'This son of ours is stubborn and rebellious and will not listen to us; he is a wastrel and a drunkard.' Then all his fellow citizens shall stone him to death. You must banish this evil from your midst. All Israel will hear of it and be afraid.

Various rulings

"If a man guilty of a capital offense is put to death and you hang him on a tree, his body must not remain on the tree overnight; you must bury him the same day, for one who has been hanged is accursed of God, and you must not defile the land that Yahweh your God gives you for an inheritance.

22 "If you see your brother's ox or one of his sheep straying there must be no evasion: you must take them back to your brother. And if he is not close at hand or you do not know who he is, you must take them home with you and keep them by you until your brother comes for them; you will then return them to him.

- 3 "You are to do the same with his donkey, the same with his cloak, the same with anything your brother loses and that you find; there must be no evasion.
- 4 "You must not make off when you see your brother's ox or donkey fall on the road, but must help your brother to put it on its feet again.
- 5 "A woman must not wear men's clothes nor a man put on women's dress; anyone who does this is detestable to Yahweh your God.
- 6 "If, when out walking, you come across a bird's nest, in a tree or on the ground, with chicks or eggs and the mother bird sitting on the chicks or the eggs, you must not take the mother who is brooding the chicks. Let the mother go; the young you may take for yourself. So shall you prosper and have a long life.
- 8 "When you build a new house you are to give your roof a parapet; then your house will not incur blood vengeance through anyone falling from it.
- 9 "You must not sow any other seed in your vineyard lest the whole of its produce become consecrated, both the crop you have sown and the produce of your vineyard.
- 10 "You must not plow with ox and donkey together.
- 11 "You must not wear clothing woven part of wool, part of linen.
- 12 "You are to make tassels for the four corners of the cloak in which you wrap yourself.

A young wife's reputation

- 13 "If a man marries a wife, and sleeps with her and then turns against her, and taxes her with misconduct and publicly defames her by saying, 'I married this woman and when I slept with her I did not find the evidence of her virginity,' the girl's father and mother must take her and produce the evidence of her virginity before the elders of the town at the gate. 'The girl's father shall then declare to the elders, 'I gave this man my daughter for a wife and he has turned against her, and now he taxes her with misconduct: I found no evidence of virginity in your daughter, he says. But the evidence of my daughter's virginity is here.' And they shall spread the cloth out before the elders of the town. 'Then the elders of the town shall take the man and flog him and fine him one hundred silver shekels for publicly defaming a virgin of Israel, and give this money to the girl's father. She shall remain his wife and as long as he lives he may not repudiate her.
- 20 "But if the accusation that the girl cannot show the evidence of virginity is substantiated, they shall take her to the door of her father's house and her fellow citizens shall stone her to death for having committed an infamy in Israel by disgracing her father's House. You must banish this evil from your midst.

Adultery and fornication

- 22 "If a man is caught sleeping with another man's wife, both must die, the man who has slept with her and the woman herself. You must banish this evil from Israel.
- 23 "If a virgin is betrothed and a man meets her in the city and sleeps with her, you shall take them both out to the gate of the town and stone them to death; the girl, because she did not cry for help in the town; the man, because he has violated the wife of his fellow. You must banish this evil from your midst. 'But if the man has met the betrothed girl in the open country and has taken her by force and lain with her, only the man who lay with her shall die; you must do nothing to the girl, for hers is no capital offense. The case is like that of a man who attacks and kills his fellow; for he came across her in the open country and the betrothed girl could have cried out without anyone coming to her rescue.
- 28 "If a man meets a virgin who is not betrothed and seizes her and lies with her and is caught in the act, the man who has lain with her must give the girl's father fifty silver shekels; she shall be his wife since he has violated her, and as long as he lives he may not repudiate her.
- 29

¹₃₀ 23 "A man must not take his father's wife, and must not withdraw the skirt of his father's cloak from her.^a

Some who are excluded from public worship

²₇ "A man whose testicles have been crushed or whose male member has been cut off is not to be admitted to the assembly of Yahweh. •No bastard^b is to be admitted to the assembly of Yahweh. •No Ammonite or Moabite is to be admitted to the assembly of Yahweh; not even their descendants to the tenth generation ³₄ may be admitted to the assembly of Yahweh, and this is for all time; •because they did not come to meet you with bread and water when you were on your way out of Egypt, and because they hired Balaam son of Beor from Pethor in Aram ⁵₆ of the Two Rivers to curse you. •But Yahweh your God refused to listen to Balaam, and Yahweh your God turned the curse into a blessing for you, because ⁷₆ Yahweh your God loved you. •Never, as long as you live, shall you seek their welfare or their prosperity.

⁸₇ "You are not to regard the Edomite as detestable, for he is your brother; nor ⁸₈ the Egyptian, because you were a stranger in his land. •The third generation of children born to these may be admitted to the assembly of Yahweh.

The camp and legal purity

¹⁰₉ "When you are in camp, at war with your enemies, you must keep clear of all ¹¹₁₀ evil. •If any man among you is unclean by reason of a nocturnal emission, he ¹²₁₁ must go out of the camp and not come into it again; •toward evening he must wash himself, and he may return to the camp at sunset.

¹³₁₂¹⁴ "You must have a latrine outside the camp, and go out to this; •and you must have a mattock among your equipment, and with this mattock, when you ¹⁵₁₄ go outside to ease yourself, you must dig a hole and cover your excrement. •For Yahweh your God goes about within your camp to guard you and to deliver your enemies to you. Your camp must therefore be a holy place; Yahweh must not see anything improper among you or he would turn away from you.

D. ON PROTECTING THE WEAK

Protection of the Israelite

¹⁶₁₅ "You must not allow a master to imprison a slave who has escaped from him ¹⁷₁₆ and come to you. •He shall live with you, among you, wherever he pleases in any one of your towns he chooses; you are not to molest him.

¹⁸₁₇ "There must be no sacred prostitute among the daughters of Israel, and no ¹⁹₁₈ sacred prostitute among the sons of Israel. •You must not bring to the house of Yahweh your God the wages of a prostitute or the earnings of a dog,^c whatever ²⁰₁₉ vow you may have made, for both are detestable to Yahweh your God.

²¹₂₀ "You must not lend on interest to your brother, whether the loan be of money ²²₂₁ or food or anything else that may earn interest. •You may demand interest on a loan of a foreigner, but you must not demand interest from your brother; so ²³₂₂ that Yahweh your God may bless you in all your giving in the land you are to enter and make your own.

²⁴₂₃ "If you make a vow to Yahweh your God, you must not be lazy in keeping it; ²⁵₂₄ be sure that Yahweh your God requires it, and to withhold it would be a sin. ²⁶₂₅ But if you had refrained from making a vow, there would be no sin for you. ²⁷₂₆ Whatever passes your lips you must keep to, and the vow that you have freely ²⁸₂₇ made with your own mouth to Yahweh your God must be fulfilled.

²⁹₂₈ "If you go through your neighbor's vineyard, you may eat your fill of grapes, ³⁰₂₉ as many as you wish, but you must not put any in your basket. •If you go through your neighbor's standing corn, you may pick the ears with your hand, but you must not put a sickle into your neighbor's corn.

Divorce

1 24 "Supposing a man has taken a wife and consummated the marriage; but she has not pleased him and he has found some impropriety of which to accuse her; so he has made out a writ of divorce for her and handed it to her 2 and then dismissed her from his house; she leaves his home and goes away to 3 become the wife of another man. If this other man takes a dislike to her and makes out a writ of divorce for her and hands it to her and dismisses her from his 4 house (or if this other man who took her as his wife happens to die), her first husband, who has repudiated her, may not take her back as his wife now that she has been defiled in this way. For that is detestable in the sight of Yahweh, and you must not bring guilt on the land that Yahweh your God gives for your inheritance.

More protective measures

- 5 "If a man is newly married, he shall not join the army nor is he to be pestered at home; he shall be left at home free of all obligations for one year to bring joy to the wife he has taken.
- 6 "No man may take a mill or a millstone in pledge; that would be to take life itself in pledge.
- 7 "If anyone is found kidnapping one of his brothers, one of the sons of Israel, whether he makes him his slave or sells him, that thief must die. You must banish this evil from your midst.
- 8 "In a case of leprosy, take care you faithfully observe and follow exactly all that the levitical priests direct you to do. You are to keep and observe all that I have 9 commanded them. Remember what Yahweh your God did to Miriam when you were on your way out of Egypt.
- 10 "If you are making your fellow a loan on pledge, you are not to go into his 11 house and seize the pledge, whatever it may be. You must stay outside, and the 12 man to whom you are making the loan shall bring the pledge out to you. And if the man is poor, you are not to go to bed with his pledge in your possession; 13 you must return it to him at sunset so that he can sleep in his cloak and bless you; and it will be a good action on your part in the sight of Yahweh your God.
- 14 "You are not to exploit the hired servant who is poor and destitute, whether 15 he is one of your brothers or a stranger who lives in your towns. You must pay him his wage each day, not allowing the sun to set before you do, for he is poor and is anxious for it; otherwise he may appeal to Yahweh against you, and it would be a sin for you.
- 16 "Fathers may not be put to death for their sons, nor sons for fathers. Each is to be put to death for his own sin.
- 17 "You must not pervert justice in dealing with a stranger or an orphan, nor 18 take a widow's garment in pledge. Remember that you were a slave in Egypt and that Yahweh your God redeemed you from there. That is why I lay this charge on you.
- 19 "When reaping the harvest in your field, if you have overlooked a sheaf in that field, do not go back for it. Leave it for the stranger, the orphan and the widow, so that Yahweh your God may bless you in all your undertakings.
- 20 "When you beat your olive trees you must not go over the branches twice. Let anything left be for the stranger, the orphan and the widow.

23 a. "To spread the fold (of the cloak) over" a woman signifies marriage. Thus "to withdraw the fold" here expresses the violation of the husband's rights. b. An imprecise term; possibly the offspring of a mixed marriage between Hebrew and Philistine. c. Male prostitute.

- 21 "When you harvest your vineyard you must not pick it over a second time. Let anything left be for the stranger, the orphan and the widow.
- 22 "Remember that you were a slave in the land of Egypt. That is why I lay this charge on you.
- 1 25 "If men have any dispute they must go to court for the judges to decide between them; these must declare the one who is right to be in the right, 2 the one who is wrong to be in the wrong. If the one who is in the wrong deserves a flogging, the judge shall make him lie down and have him flogged in his presence 3 with the number of strokes proportionate to his offense. He may impose forty strokes but no more, lest the flogging be too severe and your brother be degraded in your eyes.
- 4 "You must not muzzle an ox when it is treading out the corn.

The levirate law

- 5 "If brothers live together and one of them dies childless, the dead man's wife must not marry a stranger outside the family. Her husband's brother must come 6 to her and, exercising his levirate, make her his wife, and the first son she bears shall assume the dead brother's name; and so his name will not be blotted out 7 in Israel. But if the man declines to take his brother's wife, she must go to the elders at the gate and say, 'I have no levir willing to perpetuate the name of his 8 brother in Israel; he declines to exercise his levirate in my favor.' The elders of the town shall summon the man and talk to him. If he appears before them, 9 and shall say, 'I refuse to take her,' then she to whom he owes levirate shall go up to him in the presence of the elders, take the sandal off his foot, spit in his face, and pronounce the following words, 'This is what we do to the man 10 who does not restore his brother's house,' and the man shall be surnamed in Israel, House-of-the-Unshod.

Modesty in brawls

- 11 "When two men are fighting together, if the wife of one intervenes to protect her husband from the other's blows by putting out her hand and seizing the 12 other by the private parts, you shall cut her hand off and show no pity.

Appendices

- 13 "You are not to keep two different weights in your bag, one heavy, one light. 14 You are not to keep two different measures in your house, one large, one small. 15 You must keep one weight, full and accurate, so that you may have a long life 16 in the land that Yahweh your God is giving you. For anyone who does things of this kind and acts dishonestly is detestable to Yahweh your God.
- 17 "Remember how Amalek treated you when you were on your way out of 18 Egypt. He met you on your way and, after you had gone by, he fell on you from the rear and cut off the stragglers; when you were faint and weary he had no 19 fear of God. When Yahweh your God has granted you peace from all the enemies surrounding you in the land Yahweh your God is giving you to possess as an inheritance, you are to blot out the memory of Amalek from under heaven. Do not forget.

E. RITUAL PRESCRIPTIONS

First fruits

- 1 26 "When you come to the land Yahweh your God is giving you for an inherit- 2 ance, when you have taken possession of it and are living in it, you must set aside the first fruits of all the produce of the soil raised by you in the land Yahweh is giving you. You must put them in a pannier and go to the place where 3 Yahweh your God chooses to give his name a home. You must go to the priest then in office and say to him, 'Today I declare to Yahweh my God that I have come to the land Yahweh swore to our fathers he would give us.'

4 "The priest shall then take the panner from your hand and lay it before the 5 altar of Yahweh your God. 'Then, in the sight of Yahweh your God, you must make this pronouncement:

'My father was a wandering Aramaean. He went down into Egypt to find refuge there, few in numbers; but there he became a nation, great, mighty, and 6 strong. 'The Egyptians ill-treated us, they gave us no peace and inflicted harsh 7 slavery on us. 'But we called on Yahweh the God of our fathers. Yahweh heard 8 our voice and saw our misery, our toil and our oppression; 'and Yahweh brought us out of Egypt with mighty hand and outstretched arm, with great terror, and 9 with signs and wonders. 'He brought us here and gave us this land, a land where 10 milk and honey flow. 'Here then I bring the first fruits of the produce of the soil that you, Yahweh, have given me.'

"You must then lay them before Yahweh your God, and bow down in the sight 11 of Yahweh your God. 'Then you are to feast on all the good things Yahweh has given you, you and your household, and with you the Levite and the stranger who lives among you.

The third-year tithe

12 "In the third year, the tithing year, when you have finished reckoning the tithe of all your produce and have given it to the Levite, the stranger, the orphan and 13 the widow, and they have eaten it in your towns and had their fill, 'you are to say in the sight of Yahweh your God:

'I have cleared my house of all that was consecrated. Yes, I have given it to the Levite, the stranger, the orphan and the widow, in accordance with all the commandments you laid on me, not going beyond your commandments, not 14 forgetting them. 'I have not eaten any bread of mourning; I have consumed nothing that was unclean; I have offered nothing to the dead. I have obeyed 15 the voice of Yahweh my God and I have done all as you commanded me. 'Look down from the dwelling place of your holiness, from heaven, and bless your people Israel and the soil you have given us as you swore to our fathers, a land where milk and honey flow.'

III. CONCLUDING DISCOURSE

A. END OF THE SECOND DISCOURSE

Israel, the people of Yahweh

16 "Yahweh your God today commands you to observe these laws and customs; you must keep and observe them with all your heart and with all your soul.

17 "You have today made this declaration about Yahweh; that he will be your God, but only if you follow his ways, keep his statutes, his commandments, his 18 ordinances, and listen to his voice. 'And Yahweh has today made this declaration about you: that you will be his very own people as he promised you, but 19 only if you keep all his commandments; 'then for praise and renown and honor he will set you high above all the nations he has made, and you will be a people consecrated to Yahweh, as he promised."

The writing of the Law

1 27 Moses and the elders of Israel gave the people this command: "Keep all the 2 commandments I enjoin on you today. 'After you have crossed the Jordan into the land Yahweh your God is giving you, you are to set up tall stones and 3 coat them with lime 'and write on them all the words of this Law, the moment you cross to enter the land Yahweh your God is giving you, a land where milk and honey flow, as Yahweh the God of your fathers promised you.

4 "And when you have crossed the Jordan, you are to set up these stones on Mount Ebal, as today I command you, and you are to coat them with lime.
 5 There you must build Yahweh your God an altar of stones that no iron tool has worked. •You must build the altar to Yahweh your God of undressed stone, 6 and on this altar you will offer holocausts to Yahweh your God, •and immolate communion sacrifices and eat them there, rejoicing in the sight of Yahweh your 7 God. •On these stones you must write all the words of this Law; cut them carefully."

9 Then Moses and the levitical priests said to all Israel:

10 "Be silent, Israel, and listen. Today you have become a people for Yahweh your God. •You must listen to the voice of Yahweh your God and observe the commandments and laws I enjoin on you today."

11 And the same day Moses gave the people this order: "When you have crossed the Jordan, the following tribes shall stand on Mount Gerizim to bless the people:
 12 Simeon and Levi, Judah and Issachar, Joseph and Benjamin. •And the following tribes shall stand on Mount Ebal for the curse: Reuben, Gad and Asher, Zebulun, 13 Dan and Naphtali. •The Levites shall then speak, and proclaim loudly to all the Israelites:

14 'A curse on the man who carves or casts an idol, a thing detestable to Yahweh, the work of a craftsman's hands, and sets it up in secret.' And all the people shall answer saying: Amen.

15 'A curse on him who treats his father or mother dishonorably.' And all the people shall say: Amen.

16 'A curse on him who displaces his neighbor's boundary mark.' And all the people shall say: Amen.

17 'A curse on him who leads a blind man astray on the road.' And all the people shall say: Amen.

18 'A curse on him who tampers with the rights of the stranger, the orphan and the widow.' And all the people shall say: Amen.

19 'A curse on him who sleeps with his father's wife and withdraws the skirt of his father's cloak from her.' And all the people shall say: Amen.

20 'A curse on him who lies with any kind of animal.' And all the people shall say: Amen.

21 'A curse on him who sleeps with his sister, the daughter of his father or of his mother.' And all the people shall say: Amen.

22 'A curse on him who sleeps with his mother-in-law.' And all the people shall say: Amen.

23 'A curse on him who strikes down his neighbor in secret.' And all the people shall say: Amen.

24 'A curse on him who accepts a bribe to take an innocent life.' And all the people shall say: Amen.

25 'A curse on him who does not maintain the words of the Law by observing them.' And all the people shall say: Amen.

Promised blessings

1 28 "But if you obey the voice of Yahweh your God faithfully, keeping and observing all those commandments of his that I enjoin on you today, 2 Yahweh your God will set you high above all the nations of the earth. •All the blessings that follow shall come up with you and overtake you if only you obey the voice of Yahweh your God.

3 "You will be blessed in the town and blessed in the country. •Blessed will be the fruit of your body, the produce of your soil, the issue of your livestock, 4 the increase of your cattle, the young of your flock. •Blessed will be your pannier and your bread bin. •Blessed will you be coming in, and blessed going out.
 5 The enemies that rise against you Yahweh will conquer for your sake; they will 6 come at you by one way and flee before you by seven. •Yahweh will summon a blessing for you in your barns and in all your undertakings, and will bless you in the land that Yahweh is giving you.

- 9 "Yahweh will make of you a people consecrated to himself as he has sworn to you, if you keep the commandments of Yahweh your God and follow his ways.
- 10 All the peoples of the earth will see that you bear the name of Yahweh and will go in fear of you. ·Yahweh will give you great store of good things, the fruit of your body, the fruit of your cattle and the produce of your soil, in the land he
- 12 swore to your fathers he would give you. ·Yahweh will open the heavens to you, his rich treasure house, to give you seasonable rain for your land and to bless all the work of your hands. You will make many nations your subjects, yet you will
- 13 be subject to none. ·Yahweh will put you at the head, not at the tail; you will always be on top and never underneath, if you obey the commandments of
- 14 Yahweh your God that I enjoin on you today, keeping and observing them, ·not swerving to right or left from any of the works I enjoin on you today by following any other gods and serving them.

Curses

- 15 "But if you do not obey the voice of Yahweh your God nor keep and observe all those commandments and statutes of his that I enjoin on you today, then all the curses that follow shall come up with you and overtake you.
- 16 "You will be accursed in the town and accursed in the country. ·Accursed will be your panner and your bread bin. ·Accursed will be the fruit of your body, the produce of your soil, the increase of your cattle, the young of your flock.
- 18 Accursed will you be coming in, and accursed going out.
- 20 "Yahweh will send on you curses, frustration, imprecation in return for all your offerings, until you are destroyed and speedily perish for your perverse
- 21 behavior, and for deserting me. ·Yahweh will infect you with the plague until it has consumed you on the land which you are entering to make your own.
- 22 Yahweh will strike you down with consumption, fever, inflammation, burning
- 23 fever, drought, blight, mildew, and these will pursue you to your ruin. ·The heavens above you will be brass, the earth beneath you iron. ·Yahweh will turn the rain on your land to dust and sand; it will fall on you from the heavens until
- 25 you perish. ·Yahweh will have you defeated in front of your enemies; you will come at them by one way and flee before them by seven; and you will become a
- 26 thing of horror for all the kingdoms of the earth. ·Your carcass will be carrion for all the birds of heaven and all the beasts of the earth, with no one to scare them away.
- 27 "Yahweh will strike you down with Egyptian boils, with swellings in the groin,
- 28 with scurvy and the itch for which you will find no cure. ·Yahweh will strike you down with madness, blindness, distraction of mind, ·until you grope your way
- 29 at noontide like a blind man groping in the dark, and your steps will lead you nowhere.
- 30 "You will never be anything but exploited and plundered continually, and no one will come to your help. ·Betroth a wife, another man will have her; build a house, you will not live in it; plant a vineyard, you will not gather its first fruits.
- 31 Your ox will be killed before your eyes and you will eat none of it; your donkey will be carried off in your presence and not be restored to you; your sheep will be
- 32 given to your enemies, and no one will come to your help. ·Your sons and daughters will be handed over to another people, and every day you will wear
- 33 your eyes out watching eagerly for them, while your hands are powerless. ·A nation you do not know will eat the fruit of your soil and of your labor. You
- 34 will never be anything but exploited and crushed continually. ·You will be driven mad by the sights your eyes will see. ·Yahweh will strike you down with foul
- 35 boils on knee and leg, for which you will find no cure, from the sole of your foot to the top of your head.
- 36 "Yahweh will send you and the king you set over you, to a nation that neither you nor your fathers have known, and there you will serve other gods 37 of wood and of stone. You will become a thing of horror, a proverb, and a byword to all the peoples among whom Yahweh takes you.

38 "You will cast seed in plenty on the fields but harvest little, for the locust will 39 devour it. You will plant and till your vineyards but not drink wine or gather 40 grapes, for the grub will eat them up. You will grow olive trees throughout your territory but not anoint yourself with oil, for your olive trees will be cut down.
 41 You will father sons and daughters but they will not be yours, for they will go 42 into captivity. All your trees and all the produce of your soil will become the prey of insects.

43 "The stranger living among you will rise higher and higher at your expense, 44 and you yourselves sink lower and lower. He will make you his chattel, you will not make him yours; he it is who will be at the head, and you at the tail.

45 "All these curses will come up with you, will pursue you and overtake you until you perish for not obeying the voice of Yahweh your God by keeping those 46 commandments and laws of his that he enjoined on you. They will be a sign and a wonder over you and your descendants for ever.

Of war and exile to come

47 "For failing to serve Yahweh your God in the joy and happiness that come 48 from an abundance of all things, you will submit to the enemies that Yahweh will send against you, in hunger, thirst, nakedness, utter destitution. He will put an iron yoke on your neck until you perish.

49 "Yahweh will raise against you a far-off nation from the ends of the earth, like an eagle taking wing. This will be a nation whose language you do not 50 understand, a nation grim of face, with neither respect for the old, nor pity for 51 the young. They will eat the offspring of your cattle and the produce of your soil until you perish, leaving you neither corn nor wine nor oil nor increase of 52 your cattle nor young of your flock, until they make an end of you. They will besiege you in all your towns until your loftiest and most strongly fortified walls collapse, the walls on which you relied within your frontiers. They will besiege 53 you in all the towns that Yahweh gives you. During the siege and in the distress to which your enemies will reduce you, you will eat the fruit of your body, the 54 flesh of those sons and daughters of yours whom Yahweh has given you. The tenderest and most fastidious among you will glower at his brother, even at the 55 wife he cherishes and at the children that are left to him, grudging them a share in the flesh of those children of his that he is eating, for during the siege and in the distress to which your enemies will reduce you in all your towns, there will 56 be nothing left to him. The tenderest and most fastidious woman among you, so tender, so fastidious that she has never ventured to set the sole of her foot to the ground, will glower at the husband she cherishes, even at her son and her 57 daughter, and hide from them the afterbirth of her womb and the child she bears to eat them, so utter will be the destitution during the siege and in the distress to which your enemies will reduce you in all your towns.

58 "If you do not keep and observe all the words of this Law that are written in 59 this book, in the fear of this name of glory and awe: Yahweh your God, Yahweh will strike you down with monstrous plagues, you and your descendants: with 60 plagues grievous and lasting, diseases pernicious and enduring. Once more he will bring on you the diseases of Egypt that you dreaded, and they will infect you.
 61 Further, Yahweh will bring on you every sickness, every plague, not mentioned 62 in the Book of this Law, until you perish. There will be only a handful of you left, you who were as many as the stars of heaven.

63 "For not obeying the voice of Yahweh your God, just as Yahweh took delight in giving you prosperity and increase, so now he will take delight in bringing you ruin and destruction. You will be torn from the land which you are entering to 64 make your own. Yahweh will scatter you among all peoples, from one end of the earth to the other; there you will serve other gods of wood and of stone that 65 neither you nor your fathers have known. 'Among these nations there will be no repose for you, no rest for the sole of your foot; Yahweh will give you a 66 quaking heart, weary eyes, halting breath. 'Your life from the outset will be a burden to you; night and day you will go in fear, uncertain of your life. 'In 67 the morning you will say, 'How I wish it were evening!', and in the evening, 'How I wish it were morning!', such terror will grip your heart, such sights your 68 eyes will see. 'Yahweh will take you back to Egypt by sea and by land, though I had promised you: You will not see it again. And there you will want to sell yourselves to your enemies as serving men and women, but no one will buy you."

Conclusion

69 These are the words of the covenant which Yahweh ordered Moses to make with the sons of Israel in the land of Moab, in addition to the covenant he had made with them at Horeb.

B. THE THIRD AND LAST DISCOURSE

The exodus and the covenant recalled

1 29 Moses called the whole of Israel together and said to them:
 2 "You have seen all that Yahweh did before your eyes in the land of Egypt, 3 to Pharaoh, to his servants and to his whole land, 'the great ordeals your own 4 eyes witnessed, the signs and those great wonders. 'But until today Yahweh has given you no heart to understand, no eyes to see, no ears to hear.

5 "For forty years I led you in the wilderness; the clothes on your back did not 6 wear out and your sandals did not wear off your feet. 'You had no bread to eat, you drank no wine, no strong drink, learning thus that I, Yahweh, am your God.
 7 When you reached this place, Sihon king of Heshbon and Og king of Bashan 8 came out against us to do battle, but we defeated them. 'We conquered their land and gave it as an inheritance to Reuben, Gad and the half tribe of Manasseh.

9 "Keep the words of this covenant and observe them and you will thrive in all 10 you do. 'All of you stand here today in the presence of Yahweh your God: your 11 heads of tribes, your elders, your scribes, all the men of Israel, 'with your children 12 and your wives (and the stranger too who is in your camp, whether he cuts wood or draws water for you), 'and you are about to enter into the covenant of 13 Yahweh your God, a covenant ratified with dire sanctions, which he has made with you today, 'and by which, today, he makes a nation of you and he himself becomes a God to you, as he has promised and as he has sworn to your fathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

The covenant and generations to come 13 "Not with you alone do I make this covenant today and pronounce these 14 sanctions. 'but with him also who is not here today, as well as with him who 15 stands with us here in the presence of Yahweh our God.

16 "Yes, you know those among whom we lived in Egypt, those through whose 17 lands we journeyed, the nations through whom we have passed. 'You have seen their abominations and their idols, the wood, the stone, the silver and gold they have in their countries.

18 "Let there be no man or woman among you, no clan or tribe, whose heart turns away from Yahweh your God today to go and serve the gods of those nations. Let there be no root among you bearing fruit that is poisonous and 19 bitter. 'If, after hearing these sanctions, such a man should bless himself in his heart and say, 'I may follow the dictates of my own heart and still lack nothing; 20 much water drives away thirst,' 'Yahweh will not pardon him. The wrath and jealousy of Yahweh will blaze against such a man; every curse written in this book will fall on him, and Yahweh will blot out his name from under heaven.

20 Yahweh will single him out from all the tribes of Israel to his destruction, in accordance with all the curses of the covenant written in the Book of this Law.
 21 "The future generation, your children who are to come after you, as also the 22 stranger from a distant country, will see the plagues of that land and the diseases 23 Yahweh will inflict on it, and will exclaim, 'Sulphur, salt, scorched earth, the whole land through! No one will sow, nothing grow, no grass spring ever again.
 Like this, Sodom and Gomorrah were overthrown, Admah and Zeboiim, which 24 Yahweh overthrew in his anger and his wrath.' 'And all the nations will exclaim,
 'Why has Yahweh treated this land like this? Why this great blaze of anger?' 25 And people will say, 'Because they deserted the covenant of Yahweh, the God of their fathers, the covenant he made with them when he brought them out of the 26 land of Egypt; 'because they went and served other gods and worshiped them, 27 gods they had not known, gods that were no part of their heritage from him, 'for this the anger of Yahweh has blazed against this land, bringing on it all the 28 curses written in this book. 'In anger, in fury, in fierce wrath Yahweh has torn them from their country and flung them into another land where they are today.'

Return from exile and repentance

28 "Things hidden belong to Yahweh our God but things revealed are ours and 29 our children's for all time, so that we may observe all the words of this Law.
 30 And when all these words come true for you, the blessing and the curse I have set before you, if you meditate on them in your heart wherever among 2 the nations Yahweh your God drives you, 'if you return to Yahweh your God, if you obey his voice with all your heart and soul in everything I enjoin on you 3 today, you and your children, 'then Yahweh your God will bring back your captives, he will have pity on you and gather you once again out of all the peoples 4 where Yahweh your God has scattered you. 'Had you wandered to the ends of the heavens, Yahweh your God would gather you even from there, would come 5 there to reclaim you 'and bring you back to the land your fathers possessed, so that you in your turn might make it your own, prospering there and increasing even more than your fathers.
 6 "Yahweh your God will circumcise your heart and the heart of your descendants, until you love Yahweh your God with all your heart and soul, and so 7 have life. 'Yahweh your God will make all these curses recoil on your foes 8 and on your enemies who have persecuted you. 'And once again you will obey the voice of Yahweh your God and keep all those commandments of his that 9 I enjoin on you today. 'Yahweh your God will give you great prosperity in all your undertakings, in the fruit of your body, the fruit of your cattle and in the produce of your soil. For once again Yahweh will take delight in your prosperity 10 as he took delight in the prosperity of your fathers, 'if only you obey the voice of Yahweh your God, keeping those commandments and laws of his that are written in the Book of this Law, and if you return to Yahweh your God with all your heart and soul.
 11 "For this Law that I enjoin on you today is not beyond your strength or beyond 12 your reach. 'It is not in heaven, so that you need to wonder, 'Who will go up to heaven for us and bring it down to us, so that we may hear it and keep it?'' 13 Nor is it beyond the seas, so that you need to wonder, 'Who will cross the seas 14 for us and bring it back to us, so that we may hear it and keep it?' 'No, the Word is very near to you, it is in your mouth and in your heart for your observance.

The two ways

15 "See, today I set before you life and prosperity, death and disaster. 'If you obey the commandments of Yahweh your God that I enjoin on you today, if you love Yahweh your God and follow his ways, if you keep his commandments, his laws, his customs, you will live and increase, and Yahweh your God will 17 bless you in the land which you are entering to make your own. 'But if your heart strays, if you refuse to listen, if you let yourself be drawn into worshipping other 18 gods and serving them, 'I tell you today, you will most certainly perish; you will 19 not live long in the land you are crossing the Jordan to enter and possess. 'I call heaven and earth to witness against you today: I set before you life or death, blessing or curse. Choose life, then, so that you and your descendants may live, 20 in the love of Yahweh your God, obeying his voice, clinging to him; for in this your life consists, and on this depends your long stay in the land which Yahweh swore to your fathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob he would give them."

IV. THE LAST DAYS OF MOSES

Joshua and his mission

1 31 Moses proceeded to address these words to the whole of Israel, "I am 2 one hundred and twenty years old now, and can no longer come and go 3 as I will. Yahweh has said to me, 'You shall not cross this Jordan.' 'It is Yahweh your God who will cross it at your head to destroy these nations facing you and dispossess them; and Joshua too shall cross at your head, as Yahweh has 4 said. 'Yahweh will treat them as he treated Sihon and Og the Amorite kings 5 and their land, destroying them. 'Yahweh will hand them over to you, and you will deal with them in exact accordance with the commandments I have enjoined 6 on you. 'Be strong, stand firm, have no fear of them, no terror, for Yahweh your God is going with you; he will not fail you or desert you."

7 Then Moses summoned Joshua and in the presence of all Israel said to him,
 "Be strong, stand firm; you are going with this people into the land Yahweh swore to their fathers he would give them; you are to give it into their possession.
 8 Yahweh himself will lead you; he will be with you; he will not fail you or desert you. Have no fear, do not be disheartened by anything."

The ritual reading of the Law

9 Moses committed this Law to writing and gave it to the priests, the sons of Levi, who carried the ark of Yahweh's covenant, and to all the elders of Israel.
 10 And Moses gave them this command: "At the end of every seven years, at the 11 time fixed for the year of remission, at the feast of Tabernacles, 'when the whole of Israel comes to look on the face of Yahweh your God in the place he chooses, 12 you must proclaim this Law in the hearing of all Israel. 'Call the people together, men, women, children, and the stranger who lives with you, for them to hear it and learn to fear Yahweh your God and keep and observe all the words of this 13 Law. 'Their children, who as yet do not know it, shall hear it and learn to fear Yahweh your God for as long as you live in the land that you are crossing the Jordan to possess."

Yahweh's instructions

14 Yahweh said to Moses, "And now the time draws near when you must die.
 Summon Joshua and take your stand at the Tent of Meeting, that I may give him his orders." And Moses and Joshua came and took their stand at the Tent of 15 Meeting. 'And Yahweh showed himself at the Tent in a pillar of cloud; the pillar of cloud stood at the door of the Tent.

16 Yahweh said to Moses, "And now you will soon be sleeping with your fathers.
 This people will start playing the harlot, following the alien gods of the land they are invading. They will desert me and break this covenant of mine that I have 17 made with them. 'On that day my anger shall blaze against them; I will forsake them and hide my face from them. A host of disasters and misfortunes will overtake them to devour them, and when that day comes they will say, 'If 18 such disasters overtake me, surely Yahweh my God cannot be with me?' 'Yes indeed, I shall hide my face that day for all the evil they have done by turning to other gods.

The song of witness

19 "Now write down this song which you must use; teach it to the sons of Israel, put it into their mouths that it may be a witness on my behalf against the sons of Israel; against Israel whom I am bringing into the land I swore to his fathers I would give him, a land where milk and honey flow; against Israel who will eat and take his fill and grow fat, then turn to other gods to serve them, and despise me and break my covenant. When a host of disasters and misfortunes overtake him, this song shall stand as witness against him, for his descendants must not forget it. Yes, even today, before I have brought him to the land I promised on oath, I know what plans he has in mind." So on that same day, Moses wrote out this song and taught it to the sons of Israel.

23 He gave Joshua son of Nun this order: "Be strong and stand firm, for you are to bring the sons of Israel to the land I swore I would give them, and I myself will be with you."

The Law placed beside the ark

24 When Moses had finished writing in a book the words of this Law to the very end, he gave this command to the Levites who carried the ark of Yahweh's covenant: "Take this Book of the Law and put it beside the ark of the covenant of Yahweh your God. Let it lie there as a witness against you. For I know how defiant you are and how stubborn. If today while I am still alive and with you, you defy Yahweh, how much more will you defy him after my death!

Israel assembles to hear the song

28 "Gather around me all the elders of your tribes, and your scribes, so that I may let them hear these words and call heaven and earth to witness against them. For I know that after my death you are sure to act perversely; you will leave the way I have marked out for you; in days to come disaster will fall on you for doing what is displeasing to Yahweh, provoking him by your behavior."

30 Then in the hearing of Israel's full assembly Moses spoke the words of this song to the very end:

A. THE SONG OF MOSES

1 32 "Listen, heavens, while I speak; earth, hear the words that I am saying.
2 May my teaching fall like the rain, may my word drop down like the dew, like showers on fresh grass and light rain on the turf.
3 For I proclaim the name of Yahweh.
Oh, tell the greatness of our God!
4 "He is the Rock, his work is perfect, for all his ways are Equity.
A God faithful, without unfairness, Uprightness itself and Justice.
5 They have acted perversely, those he begot without blemish, a deceitful and underhand brood.
6 Is this the return you make to Yahweh?
O foolish, unwise people!
Is not this your father, who gave you being, who made you, by whom you subsist?
7 Think back on the days of old, think over the years, down the ages.
Ask of your father, let him teach you;

of your elders, let them enlighten you.

8 When the Most High gave the nations their inheritance, when he divided the sons of men, he fixed their bounds according to the number of the sons of God^a; 9 but Yahweh's portion was his people, Jacob his share of inheritance.

10 "In the waste lands he adopts him, in the howling desert of the wilderness.
He protects him, rears him, guards him as the pupil of his eye.

11 Like an eagle watching its nest, hovering over its young,
he spreads out his wings to hold him, he supports him on his pinions.

12 "Yahweh alone is his guide, with him is no alien god.
13 He gives him the heights of the land to ride, he feeds him on the yield of the mountains, he gives him honey from the rock to taste, and oil from the flinty crag; 14 curds from the cattle, milk from the flock, with rich food of the pastures, rams of Bashan's breed, and goats, rich food of the wheat's ear, and blood of the fermenting grape for drink.

15 "Jacob ate and had his fill, Jeshurun grew fat, turned restive.
(You grew fat, gross, bloated.) He disowned the God who made him, dishonored the Rock, his salvation.
16 They roused him to jealousy with alien gods, with things detestable they angered him.
17 They sacrificed to demons who are not God, to gods they did not know, newcomers of yesterday whom their fathers had never feared.
18 (You forget the Rock who begot you, unmindful now of the God who fathered you.) 19 Yahweh has seen this, and in his anger cast off his sons and his daughters.
20 'I shall hide my face from them,' he says 'and see what becomes of them.
For they are a deceitful brood, children with no loyalty in them.

21 They have roused me to jealousy with what is no god, they have angered me with their beings of nothing;
I, then, will rouse them to jealousy with what is no people,
I will anger them with an empty-headed nation.

22 Yes, a fire has blazed from my anger, it will burn to the depths of Sheol;
it will devour the earth and all its produce, it will set fire to the foundations of the mountains.

32 a. I.e., the angels, meaning the guardian angels of the nations, cf. Dn. 10:13. But Yahweh himself takes care of Israel.

- 23 I will hurl disasters on them, and on them I will spend all my arrows.
24 For weapons I shall have barns of famine, fever and consumption for poison.
I will send the sharp teeth of the wild beast, and the venom of creeping things against them.
25 Outside, the sword shall carry off their children, and terror shall reign within.
Youth and maid alike shall perish, suckling and graybeard both together.
26 I should crush them to dust, I said, I should wipe out their memory among men, 27 did I not fear the boasting of the enemy.
But let not their foes be mistaken!
Let them not say: Our own power wins the victory, Yahweh plays no part in this.
28 What a nation of short sight it is; in them there is no understanding.
29 Were they wise, they would succeed, they would be able to read their destiny.
30 How else could one man rout a thousand, how could two put ten thousand to flight, were it not that their Rock has sold them, that Yahweh has delivered them up?
- 31 'But their rock is not like our Rock; our enemies are no intercessors.^b 32 For their stock springs from the vinestock of Sodom and from the groves of Gomorrah:
their grapes are poisonous grapes, their clusters are envenomed; 33 their wine is the poison of serpents, the vipers' cruel venom.
34 But he, is he not something precious to me, sealed inside my treasury?
35 Vengeance is mine, and requital, for the time when they make a false step.
For it is close, the day of their ruin;
their doom comes at speed.
36 (For Yahweh will see his people righted, he will take pity on his servants.) For he will see to it that their power fails, that, serf of freeman, there is not one remaining.
37 Where are their gods? he will ask then, the rock where they thought to take refuge, 38 who ate the fat of their sacrifices and drank the wine of their libations?
Let these arise and help you, let these be the shelter above you!
39 See now that I, I am He, and beside me there is no other god.
It is I who deal death and life;
when I have struck it is I who heal (and none can deliver from my hand).
- 40 'Yes, I lift up my hand to heaven, and I say: As surely as I live for ever,

- 41 when I have whetted my flashing sword
I will take up the cause of Right, I will give my foes as good again,
I will repay those who hate me.
- 42 I will make my arrows drunk with blood, and my sword shall feed on flesh:
the blood of wounded and captives, the skulls of the enemy leaders.’
- 43 “Heavens, rejoice with him, let the sons of God pay him homage!
Nations, rejoice with his people, let God’s envoys tell of his power!
For he will avenge the blood of his servants, he will give his foes as good again, he will repay those who hate him and purify the land of his people.”

- 44 Moses came with Joshua son of Nun and recited all the words of this song in the people’s hearing.

The Law, the source of life

- 45 When Moses had finished reciting these words^c to all Israel, he said to them, 46 “Take all these words to heart; I call them to witness against you today. You must 47 order your children to keep and observe all the words of this Law. It is no idle thing you will be doing, for the Law is your life, and by its means you will live long in the land that you are crossing the Jordan to possess.”

Moses’ death foretold

- 48 Yahweh spoke to Moses that same day and said to him, “Climb Mount Nebo, 49 that mountain of the Abarim range, in the land of Moab, opposite Jericho, and view the land of Canaan which I am giving the sons of Israel as their domain.
50 Die on the mountain you have climbed, and be gathered to your people, as your 51 brother Aaron died on Mount Hor and was gathered to his people. Because you broke faith with me among the sons of Israel that time at Meribath-kadesh in the wilderness of Zin, because you did not display my holiness among the sons 52 of Israel, you may see this land only from afar; you cannot enter it, this land that I am giving to the sons of Israel.”

Moses blesses the tribes

- 1 33 This is the blessing that Moses, the man of God, pronounced over the sons 2 of Israel before he died. He said:

“Yahweh came from Sinai.
For them, after Seir, he rose on the horizon, after Mount Paran he shone forth.
For them he came, after the mustering at Kadesh, from his zenith as far as the foothills.

- 3 “You who have such love for the forefathers, in your hand are all the holy ones.
At your feet they fell, under your guidance went swiftly on.

- 4 (Moses enjoined a law on us.)
The assembly of Jacob comes into its inheritance; 5 there was a king in Jeshurun

b. Because the gods to whom they pray are no gods. c. “The words” of the Law, not of the canticle; this verse continues 31:27.

when the heads of the people foregathered and the tribes of Jacob were all assembled.

6 "May Reuben live and not die, live too, his small band of warriors!"

7 Of Judah he said this:

"Listen, Yahweh, to the voice of Judah and bring him back to his people.
That his hands may defend his rights, come to his help against his foes."

8 Of Levi he said:

"Grant to Levi^a your Urim, your Thummim to the one you favored after you had tested him at Massah and striven with him at the waters of Meribah.
9 He says of his father and mother,
'I have not seen them.'
His brothers he does not know, nor does he know his children.
Yes, they have kept your word, they hold firmly to your covenant.
10 They teach your customs to Jacob, your Law to Israel.
They send incense rising to your nostrils, place the holocaust on your altar.
11 Yahweh, bless his worthiness, and accept the work of his hands.
Crush the loins of his enemies and of his foes, till they rise no more."

12 Of Benjamin he said:

"Beloved of Yahweh, he rests in safety.
The Most High^b protects him day after day and dwells between his hillsides."

13 Of Joseph he said:

"His land is blessed by Yahweh.
For him the best of heaven's dew and of the deep that lies below, 14 the best of what the sun makes grow, of what springs with every month, 15 the first fruits of the ancient mountains, the best from the hills of old, 16 the best of the land and all it holds, the favor of him who dwells in the Bush.
May the hair grow thick on the head of Joseph, of the consecrated one among his brothers!
17 First-born of the bull, his the glory.
His horns are the wild ox's horns, with them he tosses the peoples to the very ends of the earth.
Such are the myriads of Ephraim.
such are the thousands of Manasseh."

18 Of Zebulun he said:

"Prosper, Zebulun, in your voyages abroad, and you, Issachar, in your tents!

19 On the mountain where the people come to pray they offer sacrifices for success, for they taste the riches of the seas, and the treasures hidden in the sands."

20 Of Gad he said:

"Blessed be he who gives Gad space enough!
He lies there like a lioness;

21 he has savaged arm and face and head.
Then he took the first portion for himself;
he saw that there a leader's share was kept for him.
He came as leader of the people, having executed the justice of Yahweh and his sentences on Israel."

22 Of Dan he said:

"Dan is a lion cub leaping from Bashan."

23 Of Naphtali he said:

"Naphtali, sated with favors, filled with the blessings of Yahweh:
the Sea and the South are his domain."

24 Of Asher he said:

"Most blessed of the sons may Asher be!
Let him be privileged among his brothers and bathe his feet in oil!

25 Be your bolts of iron and of bronze 26 and your security as lasting as your days!

There is none like the God of Jeshurun:
he rides the heavens to your rescue,

27 rides the clouds in his majesty.

The God of old, he is your refuge.

Here below, he is the age-old arm driving the enemy before you;

28 it is he who cries, 'Destroy!'

Israel rests in safety.

The well spring of Jacob is chosen out for a land of corn and wine;

29 there heaven itself rains down dew.

Happy are you, O Israel!

Who is like you, a victorious people?

In Yahweh is the shield that protects you and the marching sword leading to your triumph.

Your enemies will try to corrupt you, but you yourself shall trample on their backs."

33 a. Urim and Thummim: the sacred lots, worn in the breastplate of the high priest, see Ex. 28:30 and Lv. 8:8. b. The blessings given to the tribes are allusions (though some are obscure) to their future enjoyment of the promised land. Benjamin's hillside is Jerusalem; Joseph's "hills of old" are the places where the patriarchs once lived; Zebulun and Issachar became trading communities; Gad and Reuben were the first tribes to settle; Dan was on the borders of Bashan; Naphtali's "sea" is Gennesareth; Assher grew olives.

The death of Moses

- 1 34 Then, leaving the plains of Moab, Moses went up Mount Nebo, the 2 peak of Pisgah opposite Jericho, and Yahweh showed him the whole land; 3 Gilead as far as Dan, all Naphtali, the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, all the 4 land of Judah as far as the Western Sea, the Negeb, and the stretch of the Valley 5 of Jericho, city of palm trees, as far as Zoar.^a Yahweh said to him, "This is the 6 land I swore to give to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, saying: I will give it to your 7 descendants. I have let you see it with your own eyes, but you shall not cross 8 into it." There in the land of Moab, Moses the servant of Yahweh died as 9 Yahweh decreed; he buried him in the valley, in the land of Moab, opposite 10 Beth-peor; but to this day no one has ever found his grave. Moses was a 11 hundred and twenty years old when he died, his eye undimmed, his vigor 12 unimpaired. The sons of Israel wept for Moses in the plains of Moab for thirty days. The days of weeping for the mourning rites of Moses came to an end.
Joshua son of Nun was filled with the spirit of wisdom, for Moses had laid his hands on him. It was he that the sons of Israel obeyed, carrying out the order that Yahweh had given to Moses.
- 10 Since then, never has there been such a prophet in Israel as Moses, the man 11 Yahweh knew face to face. What signs and wonders Yahweh caused him to 12 perform in the land of Egypt against Pharaoh and all his servants and his whole land! How mighty the hand and great the fear that Moses wielded in the sight of all Israel!

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOKS OF JOSHUA, JUDGES, RUTH, SAMUEL AND KINGS

In these books the history of Israel is continued from the death of Moses at the end of the book Deuteronomy, and a constant theme is the recurring disobedience of the nation, and often its rulers, to the laws of God revealed by Moses and served by the prophets.

Oral traditions and written documents of varying ages and characteristics were brought together to form the books as we know them, and these appear to have given continuity and a general consistency by successive editors profoundly influenced by the outlook of Deuteronomy, between the time of Josiah's reform (622 B.C.) and the return from Exile (538).

The Book of Joshua describes the conquest of the Promised Land and the partition of the territory between the tribes, and ends with the last discourse of Joshua. All is centered on the one heroic figure, and the complex history of the times is presented in a simplified picture: here the conquest is shown as the collective action of a united nation, whereas the first chapter of Judges depicts each of the tribes as fighting to win its own territory.

Judges contains the traditions of the century and a half during which "there was no king in Israel" and groups of tribes were led in war and ruled in peace by governors. The short book, Ruth, is placed with it because its story is set in the same period, but it does not form a part of the single conspectus of national history which runs from Joshua to the end of Kings.

The First and Second Books of Samuel mingle, or place side by side, various traditions relating to the beginnings of the monarchical period; the prophet Samuel, through whom God chooses Saul as the first of the kings, is represented as the last of the "judges." The history of David's family and the disputed succession includes much eyewitness material which goes back to the time of his son Solomon, and the books contain other cycles and groups of stories which were probably combined before 700 B.C. The period covered, roughly the century ended by David's death in 970, saw the war of liberation against the Philistine invaders and the unification of national territory under Jerusalem as capital. For later generations, the reign of David remained the golden age, and the promises made to the House of David, from Nathan's prophecy onward, sustained and nourished the messianic hope.

The two Books of Kings open with the concluding chapters of the history of David's family, begun in 2 Samuel 9, and are a continuation of Israel's national story up to the destruction of Jerusalem in 587. This includes the reign of Solomon and the building of his Temple; after his death, the divided kingdoms of Israel and Judah are treated separately until Israel is extinguished by the Assyrians. The history of Judah alone is mainly concerned with two reigns, each remarkable for a national revival, invasion by foreign armies, and religious reform: the reigns of Hezekiah and Josiah. Only these two, of all the kings of Israel and Judah, are given unqualified praise for fidelity to Yahweh's commands: the discovery of Deuteronomy in the reign of Josiah and the religious reform inspired by it mark the climax of the entire history.

THE BOOK OF JOSHUA

I. THE CONQUEST OF THE PROMISED LAND

A. THE PREPARATIONS

The summons to enter the Promised Land

¹ 1 When Moses the servant of Yahweh was dead,^a Yahweh spoke to Joshua son ² of Nun, Moses' adjutant. He said, "Moses my servant is dead; rise—it is ³ time—and cross the Jordan here, you and all this people with you, into the ⁴ land which I am giving the sons of Israel. 'Every place you tread with the soles of your feet I shall give you as I declared to Moses that I would. 'From the wilderness and Lebanon to the great river Euphrates and to the Great Sea ⁵ westward, this shall be your territory.^b 'As long as you live, no one shall be able to stand in your way: I will be with you as I was with Moses; I will not leave you or desert you.

Faithfulness to the Law is a condition of God's aid

⁶ "Be strong and stand firm, for you are the man to give this people possession ⁷ of the land that I swore to their fathers I should give to them. 'Only be strong and stand firm and be careful to keep all the Law which my servant Moses laid on you. Never swerve from this to right or left, and then you will be happy in ⁸ all you do. 'Have the book of this Law always on your lips; meditate on it day and night, so that you may carefully keep everything that is written in it.
⁹ Then you will prosper in your dealings, then you will have success. 'Have I not told you: Be strong and stand firm? Be fearless then, be confident, for go where you will, Yahweh your God is with you."

Aid from the tribes beyond the Jordan

¹⁰ Then Joshua gave the officers of the people this order: "Go through the camp ¹¹ and say to the people, 'Get provisions ready, for in three days you will cross the Jordan here and go on to take possession of the land which Yahweh your ¹² God is giving you as your very own.'" 'Then to the Reubenites and Gadites ¹³ and the half tribe of Manasseh, Joshua said, "Remember what Yahweh's servant Moses told you, 'Yahweh your God, granting you a place to find rest, has given ¹⁴ you this land.' 'Your wives, your little ones and your cattle may remain in the land that Moses gave you beyond the Jordan. But all you who are fighting men must go over with your weapons in front of your brothers and fight with them ¹⁵ till Yahweh grants rest, to your brothers and you alike, when they too have taken possession of the land that Yahweh your God is giving them. Then you may go back again to the land that is yours to hold, which Yahweh's servant ¹⁶ Moses gave you eastward beyond the Jordan.'" 'Then they answered Joshua,

1 a. The book is introduced as the continuation of Dt. b. These boundaries go far beyond those of the country partitioned in ch. 13–19.

- 17 "We will do all that you have told us, and wherever you send us we will go. We obeyed Moses in all things, and now we will obey you. Only may Yahweh your 18 God be with you as he was with Moses! If anyone rebels against your direction and does not obey whatever orders you lay on him, let him be put to death. Only be strong and stand firm."

Joshua's spies at Jericho

- 1 2 Joshua son of Nun sent out two spies secretly from Shittim.^a He said, "Go out and explore the country at Jericho." They went, and they entered the house of a harlot called Rahab; there they lodged. Word of this was brought to the king of Jericho, "Take notice, some men from the Israelites have come here tonight to reconnoiter the country." Then the king of Jericho sent a message to Rahab, "Send out the men who came to you and are lodging in your house, for they have come to reconnoiter the whole country." But the woman took the two men and hid them; and she answered, "True, the men came to me, but I did not know where they came from. When the city gate was about to be closed at nightfall, the men went out and I cannot say where they went. Follow them quickly, you may still overtake them." 6 She had taken them up to the roof and hidden them under stalks of flax she 7 had heaped up there. The king's men pursued them toward the Jordan, as far as the fords, and the gate was shut once the pursuers had gone through.

The pact between Rahab and the spies

- 8 The others had not yet lain down when Rahab came up to them on the roof.
 9 She said to them, "I know that Yahweh has given you this land, that we ourselves are afraid of you and that all who live in this territory have been seized with terror at your approach; for we have heard how Yahweh dried up the Sea of Reeds before you when you came out of Egypt and what you did with the two Amorite kings across the Jordan, Sihon and Og, whom you put under the ban. When we heard this, our hearts failed us, and no courage is left in any of us to stand up to you, because Yahweh your God is God both in heaven above and on earth beneath. Swear to me now by Yahweh, then, since I myself have shown you kindness, that you too will show kindness to the people of my father's house, and will give me a sure sign of this; that you will spare the lives of my father and mother, my brothers and sisters and all who belong to them, and will preserve us from death." Then the men answered her, "If we do not, it is we, not you, who will deserve to die, unless you tell of our agreement. When Yahweh has given us the land, we will deal with you kindly and faithfully." 15 Rahab let them down from the window by a rope, for her house was against the city wall and she lived inside the wall itself. She said, "You must make for the hills, to escape your pursuers. Hide there for three days till the pursuers have returned, and then go on your way." The men answered, "We for our part will be free of the oath you made us swear, except on these conditions. When we enter your land you must use this sign: you must tie this scarlet cord to the window from which you let us down, and you must gather with you in your house your father and mother and brothers and all your family. If anybody passes through the doors of your house to go out, his blood shall be on his own head and we are not to blame; but the blood of all who stay with you in the house shall be on our heads if a hand is laid on any of them. If you make this talk of ours known, we shall be free of the oath that you made us swear." She replied, "Let it be as you say." She let them go, and they left. Then she tied the scarlet cord to the window.^b

The spies return

- 22 They left her and made for the hills. They stayed there for three days, till the pursuers had returned, having scoured the countryside without finding them.

²³ Then the two men came down again from the hills, crossed the river and came ²⁴ to Joshua son of Nun; and they told him all that had happened to them. They said to Joshua, "Yahweh has delivered the whole country into our hands, and its inhabitants all tremble already at the thought of us."

B. THE CROSSING OF THE JORDAN

Before the crossing

¹ 3 Early in the morning, Joshua struck camp and set out from Shittim with all the Israelites. They reached the Jordan and camped there before they crossed.
² Three days later, the officers went through the camp and gave the people these ³ instructions, "When you see the ark of the covenant of Yahweh your God and the levitical priests carrying it, you must leave the place where you are standing ^{4b} and follow the ark, so that you know which way to take; you have never gone ^{4a} this way before. "Between you and the ark, however, keep a distance of some ⁵ thousand cubits^a; do not go near it." Joshua said to the people, "Sanctify yourselves for tomorrow, because tomorrow Yahweh will work wonders among you." ⁶ Then he said to the priests, "Take up the ark of the covenant, and cross at the head of the people." They took up the ark of the covenant and moved to the front of the people.

The final instructions

⁷ Yahweh said to Joshua, "This very day I will begin to make you a great man in the eyes of all Israel, to let them be sure that I am going to be with you ⁸ even as I was with Moses. As for you, give this order to the priests carrying the ark of the covenant: "When you have reached the brink of the waters of the ⁹ Jordan, you are to stand still in the Jordan itself." Then Joshua said to the ¹⁰ Israelites, "Come closer and hear the words of Yahweh your God." Joshua said, "By this you shall know that a living God is with you and without a doubt will expel the Canaanite, the Hittite, the Hivite, the Perizzite, the Girgashite, the ¹¹ Amorite and the Jebusite. Look, the ark of Yahweh, the Lord of the whole ¹² earth, is about to cross the Jordan at your head. Choose twelve men at once ¹³ from the tribes of Israel, one man from each tribe. As soon as the priests with the ark of Yahweh, the Lord of the whole earth, have set their feet in the waters of the Jordan, the upper waters of the Jordan flowing down will be stopped in their course and stand still in one mass."

The river crossed

¹⁴ Accordingly, when the people struck camp to cross the Jordan, the priests ¹⁵ carried the ark of the covenant in front of the people. As soon as the bearers of the ark reached the Jordan and the feet of the priests who carried it touched the waters (the Jordan overflows the whole length of its banks throughout the ¹⁶ harvest season) the upper waters stood still and made one heap over a wide space—from Adam to the fortress of Zarethan—while those flowing down to the Sea of the Arabah, that is, the Salt Sea, stopped running altogether. The ¹⁷ people crossed opposite Jericho. The priests who carried the ark of the covenant of Yahweh stood still on dry ground in mid-Jordan, and all Israel continued to cross dry-shod till the whole nation had finished its crossing of the river.

The twelve memorial stones

¹ 4 When the whole nation had finished crossing the Jordan, Yahweh spoke to Joshua, "Choose out twelve men from the people, one man from each tribe, ³ and give them this command: 'Take from here, from mid-Jordan, twelve stones;

² a. Shittim (the acacias) is a region northeast of the Dead Sea. b. Vv. 17–21 seem to be interpolated from a different tradition; there is no further mention of the scarlet cord.

³ a. About half a mile.

carry them with you and set them down in the camp where you pass the night.’”

4 Joshua called the twelve men he had marked out among the Israelites, one man 5 for each tribe, and told them, “Pass on before the ark of Yahweh your God 6 into mid-Jordan, and each of you take one stone on his shoulder, matching the 7 number of the tribes of Israel, to make a memorial of this in your midst; for 8 when in days to come your children ask you, ‘What do these stones mean 9 for you?’, you will tell them, ‘The waters of the Jordan separated in front 10 of the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, and when it crossed the Jordan, the waters 11 of the river vanished. These stones are an everlasting reminder of this to the 12 Israelites.’” The Israelites did as Joshua told them; they took twelve stones 13 from mid-Jordan to match the number of the tribes of Israel, as Yahweh had 14 told Joshua; they carried them over to the camp and set them down there. Then 15 Joshua set up twelve stones in mid-Jordan in the spot where the feet of the 16 priests who carried the ark had rested; they are there even now.^a

The crossing ends

10 The priests carrying the ark stood still in mid-Jordan until everything was 11 done that Yahweh had directed Joshua to tell the people, all as Moses had 12 instructed Joshua; and the people hurried across. When they were all over, 13 the ark of Yahweh then crossed, with the priests at the head of the people. The 14 Reubenites, the Gadites and the half tribe of Manasseh crossed over armed in 15 front of the Israelites, as Moses had ordered them. They were some forty 16 thousand warriors in arms, and they crossed before Yahweh, ready for battle, 17 toward the plain of Jericho. That day Yahweh made Joshua great in the sight 18 of all Israel, and they honored him as they had honored Moses as long as 19 he lived. Yahweh said to Joshua, “Tell the priests carrying the ark of the 20 testimony to come up from the Jordan.” And Joshua commanded the priests: 21 “Come up from the Jordan!” Now when the priests carrying the ark of the 22 covenant of Yahweh came up from the Jordan, their feet had no sooner 23 touched the bank than the waters of the Jordan returned to their bed and ran 24 on overflowing as before.

Gilgal is reached

19 It was the tenth day of the first month when the people came up from the 20 Jordan and made their camp at Gilgal, east of Jericho. As for the twelve stones 21 that had been taken from the Jordan, Joshua set them up at Gilgal. Then he 22 said to the Israelites, “When your children in days to come ask their fathers, 23 ‘What is the meaning of these stones?’ tell them this, ‘You see the Jordan.
 24 Israel crossed over it dry-shod, because Yahweh your God dried up the waters of the Jordan in front of you until you had crossed, just as Yahweh your God had done with the Sea of Reeds, which he dried up before us till we had crossed it; so that all the peoples of the earth may recognize how mighty the hand of Yahweh is, and that you yourselves may always stand in awe of Yahweh your God.’”

The peoples west of the Jordan are terrified

1 5 When all the kings of the Amorites in the country west of Jordan and all the kings of the Canaanites in the coastal region heard that Yahweh had dried up the waters of the Jordan before the Israelites until they had crossed it, their hearts grew faint and their spirit failed them as the Israelites drew near.

The Hebrews are circumcised at Gilgal

2 At this time Yahweh said to Joshua, “Make knives of flint and circumcise 3 the Israelites again.” Joshua made knives of flint and circumcised the Israelites on the Hill of Foreskins.

4 The reason why Joshua circumcised them was this. All the males of the people who had come out of Egypt of age to bear arms had died in the wilderness on their journey after leaving Egypt. Now all the people who came out had been circumcised; but those who had been born in the wilderness—in the journey through it when Egypt was left behind—none of these had been circumcised, because for forty years the Israelites traveled through the wilderness, until all the nation had died out, that is, the men who had come out of Egypt of age to bear arms; they had not obeyed the voice of Yahweh, and Yahweh had sworn to them never to let them see the land that he had sworn to our fathers to give us, a land where milk and honey flow. But in place of these he set their sons, and these it was that Joshua circumcised, for they were uncircumcised, since they could not be circumcised on the journey. When the circumcising of the whole nation was over, they stayed to rest in the camp till they were well again; and Yahweh said to Joshua, "Today I have taken the shame of Egypt away from you." Hence that place has been called Gilgal until now.^a

The Passover kept

The Israelites pitched their camp at Gilgal and kept the Passover there on the fourteenth day of the month, at evening in the plain of Jericho. On the morrow of the Passover they tasted the produce of that country, unleavened bread and roasted ears of corn, that same day. From that time, from their first eating of the produce of that country, the manna stopped falling. And having manna no longer, the Israelites fed from that year onward on what the land of Canaan yielded.

C. THE CONQUEST OF JERICO

Prelude: a theophany

When Joshua was near Jericho, he raised his eyes and saw a man standing there before him, grasping a naked sword. Joshua walked toward him and said to him, "Are you with us or with our enemies?" He answered, "No, I am captain of the army of Yahweh, and now I come . . ." Joshua fell on his face to the ground and worshiped him and said, "What are my Lord's commands to his servant?" The captain of the army of Yahweh answered Joshua, "Take your sandals off your feet, for the place you are standing on is holy." And Joshua obeyed.

The taking of Jericho^a

Now Jericho had been carefully barricaded against the Israelites; no one came out, no one went in. Then Yahweh said to Joshua, "Now I am delivering Jericho and its king into your hands. All you fighters, valiant warriors, will march around the town and make the circuit once, and for six days you will do the same thing. (But seven priests will carry seven trumpets in front of the ark.) On the seventh day you will go seven times around the town (and the priests will blow their trumpets). When the ram's horn rings out (when you hear the sound of the trumpet), the whole people must utter a mighty war cry and the town wall will collapse then and there; then the people can storm the town, each man going straight ahead."

Joshua son of Nun (called the priests and said to them, "Take up the ark of the covenant, and seven priests are to carry seven trumpets of ram's horn in front of the ark of Yahweh." He) said to the people, "Forward! March around

4 a. The narrative shows signs of two distinct traditions; in the first the stones are set up at Gilgal, and the circles of stones that were to be seen there were thus related to the crossing; in the second, the twelve stones were set up in the Jordan. Gilgal means "stone circle."

5 a. Play on words: Gilgal is connected with galal ("take away").

6 a. Two narratives are conflated here. In the first, the Israelites march around the walls in silence until they are told to raise the great war cry; in the second, there is a procession with the ark to the sound of the priests' trumpets. In the text, the second account is bracketed.

8 the town (and let the vanguard march before the ark of Yahweh).” •All was done as Joshua ordered the people. (Seven priests carrying the seven trumpets of ram’s horn in front of Yahweh moved onward and blew their trumpets; the ark of the covenant of Yahweh came behind them, •the vanguard marched in front of the priests with their trumpets, the rearguard followed behind the ark; the men marched, the trumpets sounded.)

10 Joshua had given the people the following order: “Do not shout, do not utter even a word; let nothing be heard from you till the day when I say: Raise the war cry. Then you are to shout.”

11 (At Joshua’s command, the ark of Yahweh went around the town and made the circuit once; then they returned to the camp and spent the night there.)

12 Joshua rose early (and the priests took up the ark of Yahweh. •Bearing the seven ram’s horn trumpets, the seven priests walked before the ark of Yahweh sounding their trumpets as they went, while the vanguard marched before them and the rearguard behind the ark of Yahweh, and the march went on to the sound of the trumpet.)

14 They marched once around the town (on the second day) and returned to the camp, and so on for six days. •On the seventh day they rose at dawn and marched seven times around the town in the same manner. Only on that day did they march around seven times. •At the seventh time (the priests blew their trumpets and) Joshua said to the people, “Raise the war cry, because Yahweh has given the town into your hands.

Jericho placed under the ban

17 “The town and everything inside it must be set apart for Yahweh under a ban; only the life of Rahab the harlot is to be spared, with all who are in her house, since she hid the messengers we sent. •But beware of the ban yourselves; do not be covetous and take anything that is under the ban; that would lay the whole camp of Israel open to the same ban and bring disaster on it. •All the silver and all the gold, all the things of bronze and things of iron are consecrated to Yahweh and must be put into his treasury.”

20 The people shouted, the trumpets sounded. When they heard the sound of the trumpet, the people raised a mighty war cry and the wall collapsed then and there. At once the people stormed the town, every man going straight ahead; and they captured the town. •They enforced the ban on everything in the town: men and women, young and old, even the oxen and sheep and donkeys, massacring them all.

Rahab’s house preserved

22 Joshua said to the two men who had reconnoitered the country, “Go into the harlot’s house, and bring out the woman with all who belong to her, so as to keep your oath to her.” •The young men who had been spies went in and brought out Rahab and her father and mother and brothers and all who belonged to her. They brought out all her clansmen too and set them in safety outside the camp of Israel. •They burned the town and all within it except the silver and gold and things of bronze and iron; these they put into the treasury of Yahweh’s house. But Rahab the harlot, her father’s household and all who belonged to her, these Joshua spared. She has dwelt among Israel until now, because she concealed the messengers Joshua sent to reconnoiter Jericho.

A curse upon Jericho’s restorer

26 At that time Joshua made them take this oath before Yahweh:

“Cursed be any man who comes forth and builds this town up again!
On his eldest son he shall lay its foundations, on his youngest set up its gates.”

27 Yahweh was with Joshua, and Joshua’s fame spread all through the country.

The ban defied

7 But the sons of Israel incurred guilt by violating the ban. Achan son of Carmi, son of Zabdi, son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, laid his hands on something that fell under the ban, and the anger of Yahweh flared out against the Israelites.

The sacrilege punished by a repulse at Ai

2 Now Joshua sent men from Jericho to Ai,^a east of Bethel; his command was: "Go up and reconnoiter the country." The men went up and reconnoitered Ai.
3 They came back to Joshua and said, "There is no need for all the people to go up; let some two or three thousand men go and attack Ai. Spare the whole people 4 such a toil; the enemy are not many." Some three thousand men of the people 5 marched up to Ai, but broke before the townsmen. These killed some thirty-six of them and drove the men back from the town gate to Shebarim; there on the slope they made havoc of them. Then the people lost heart and their courage melted away.

Joshua's prayer

6 Joshua tore his garments and prostrated himself before the ark of Yahweh till nightfall; the elders of Israel did as he did, and all poured dust on their heads.
7 And Joshua said, "Alas, Lord Yahweh, why did you bring this nation across the Jordan only to deliver us into the power of the Amorite and destroy us?
8 I wish we had won a place to live in on the other side of the Jordan! Forgive me, Lord, but what can I say, now that Israel has turned its back on the enemy?
9 The Canaanites will hear of it, and all the inhabitants of the country; they will unite against us to wipe our name off the face of the earth. What are you going to do for your great name?"

Yahweh's answer

10 Yahweh answered Joshua, "Stand up! Why are you lying prostrate like this?
11 Israel has sinned; they have violated the covenant I ordained for them. Yes, they have taken what was under the ban, stolen and hidden it and put it into 12 their baggage. That is why the sons of Israel cannot stand up to their foes; why they have turned their backs on their enemies, because they have come under the ban themselves. I will be with you no longer unless you remove what is under the ban from among you.
13 "Rise and call the people together and say to them, 'Sanctify yourselves for tomorrow, because Yahweh the God of Israel declares: The ban is now among you, Israel; you can never stand up to your enemies until you take what is under 14 the ban from among you.' In the morning therefore you will come forward tribe by tribe, and then the tribe that Yahweh marks out by lot will come forward clan by clan, and the clan that Yahweh marks out by lot will come forward family by family, and the family that Yahweh marks out by lot will come 15 forward man by man. And then the man taken with the thing that is banned is to be delivered over to the fire, he and all that belongs to him, because he has violated the covenant with Yahweh and committed an infamy in Israel."

The culprit brought to light and punished

16 Joshua rose early; he made Israel come forward tribe by tribe, and the lot 17 marked out the tribe of Judah. He called up to him the clans of Judah, and the lot marked out the clan of Zerah. He called up the clan of Zerah, family by 18 family, and Zabdi was marked out. Then Joshua called up the family of Zabdi, man by man, and it was Achan son of Carmi, son of Zabdi, son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, who was chosen by the lot.
19 Then Joshua said to Achan, "My son, give glory to Yahweh the God of Israel, 7 a. Now et-Tell ("ruin").

- and pay him homage; tell me what you have done and hide nothing from me.”
- 20 Achan answered Joshua, “Yes, I am the man who has sinned against Yahweh 21 the God of Israel, and this is what I have done. When I saw among the spoil a fine robe from Shinar and two hundred shekels of silver and an ingot of gold weighing fifty shekels, I coveted them and took them. They are hidden there in the ground inside my tent, and the silver is underneath.”
- 22 Joshua sent out messengers; they ran to the tent, and the robe was indeed 23 hidden inside the tent, and the silver was underneath. They took everything from inside the tent and brought it to Joshua and the elders of Israel and laid it out before Yahweh.
- 24 Then Joshua took Achan son of Zerah, with the silver and the robe and the ingot of gold and led him up to the Vale of Achor—and with him his sons and daughters, his oxen and donkeys and sheep, his tent and everything that belonged to him. All Israel went with him.
- 25 Joshua said, “Why did you bring evil on us? May Yahweh bring evil on you today!” And all Israel stoned him.
- 26 A great cairn was reared over him,^b which is still there today. Then Yahweh ceased from his burning anger. It was then that the place was given the name, the Vale of Achor,^c which it is still called now.

D. THE TAKING OF AI

The command given to Joshua

- 1 8 Then Yahweh said to Joshua, “Be fearless now, and be confident. Take all your fighting men with you, and march out against Ai. I will put into your 2 power the king of Ai, his people, his town and his territory. You are to do with Ai and its king as you did with Jericho and its king. As regards booty, you may take the goods and the cattle—no more. Take up a concealed position against the city, to the rear of it.”

Joshua's stratagem

- 3 Joshua prepared to march against Ai with all the fighting men. He chose 4 thirty thousand men from among the bravest and sent them out by night after giving them these instructions, “Listen! You are to take up a concealed position against the town, but at the rear not far from the town, and mind you all keep 5 alert! I and all the people with me will go forward till we are near the town, and when the people of Ai come out against us as they did the first time, we will 6 run before them. Then they will follow close behind us, and we shall draw them away from the town, because they will think, ‘They are running from us as they 7 did last time.’ Then you will rise from your concealed position and seize the 8 town; Yahweh your God will deliver it into your hands. When you have captured the town, set fire to it. These orders must be carried out. See to it! The orders 9 come from me.” Joshua sent them off, and they made their way to the concealed position, at a point between Bethel and Ai, to the west of Ai. Joshua spent the 10 night among the people, then, rising early next day, mustered the people and marched on Ai; he and the elders of Israel marched at the head of the people.
11 All the warriors with him marched up toward the front of the town; they pitched 12 camp north of Ai, with the ravine between Joshua and the town. He took some five thousand men and concealed these between Bethel and Ai, to the west of 13 the town. The people pitched their camp north of the town, while the concealed position lay to the west. Joshua spent that night in the valley itself.

The battle of Ai

- 14 When the king of Ai saw how things lay, he and all his people hurried out to engage Israel on the slope facing the Arabah; he did not know that an ambush

15 had been laid against him to the rear of the town. Joshua and all Israel with him 16 let themselves be driven back, taking flight toward the wilderness. All the people who were in the town followed them in loud pursuit, and in pursuing 17 Joshua they left the town itself unguarded. Not a man was left behind in Ai, all had gone out in pursuit of Israel; and in pursuing Israel they left the town undefended.

18 Then Yahweh said to Joshua, "Point the javelin in your hand at Ai; for I am about to put the town in your power." Then Joshua pointed the javelin 19 in his hand toward the town. No sooner had he stretched out his hand than the men in ambush rose quickly from their position, ran forward and entered the town; they captured it and quickly set it on fire.

Disaster for the people of Ai

20 When the men of Ai looked back, they saw smoke rising from the town into the sky. None of them had the chance to run one way rather than another, for the 21 people fleeing toward the wilderness turned back on their pursuers. For when Joshua and all Israel saw that the town had been seized by the men in ambush, and saw the smoke rising from the town into the sky, they turned around and attacked 22 the men of Ai. The others came out from the town to engage them, so that the men of Ai found themselves surrounded by Israelites, some on this side and some on that. These set about them till not one was alive and none left to flee; 23 but the king of Ai was captured alive, and brought to Joshua. When Israel 24 had finished killing all the inhabitants of Ai in the open ground and where they followed them into the wilderness, and when all to a man had fallen by the edge 25 of the sword, all Israel returned to Ai and slaughtered all its people. The number of those who fell that day, men and women together, was twelve thousand, all people of Ai.

The ban; the destruction of the town

26 Joshua did not draw back the hand with which he had pointed the javelin until he had dealt with all the dwellers in Ai as with men under a ban.
 27 For booty, Israel took only the cattle and the spoils of the town, according to the order Yahweh had given to Joshua. Then Joshua burned Ai, making it 28 a ruin for evermore, a desolate place even today. He hanged the king of Ai 29 from a tree till evening; but at sunset Joshua ordered his body to be taken down from the tree. It was then thrown down at the entrance to the town gate and a great cairn was reared over it; and that is still there today.

E. SACRIFICE ON MOUNT EBAL: THE LAW READ THERE

The altar of undressed stones

30 Then Joshua built an altar to Yahweh the God of Israel on Mount Ebal, 31 as Moses, Yahweh's servant, had ordered the sons of Israel, as is written in the Book of the Law of Moses, "an altar of undressed stones that no iron tool has ever worked." On this they offered holocausts to Yahweh and offered communion sacrifices as well.

The reading of the Law

32 There Joshua wrote on the stones a copy of the Law which Moses had written 33 for the Israelites. Then, on both sides of the ark, and facing the levitical priests who carried the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, all Israel with their elders and scribes and judges—strangers as well as Israelites born—all took their places, half of them in front of Mount Gerizim and half in front of Mount Ebal, as

b. To mark the grave of a criminal or outlaw. c. Here derived from 'achar, "to bring misfortune."

Moses the servant of Yahweh had ordered originally for the blessing of the people of Israel. After this, Joshua read all the words of the Law—the blessing and the cursing—exactly as it stands written in the Book of the Law. Of every word laid down by Moses there was not one left unread by Joshua in the presence of the full assembly of Israel, with the women and children there, and the strangers living among the people.

F. THE TREATY BETWEEN ISRAEL AND THE GIBEONITES

A Coalition against Israel

9 Hearing these things, all the kings on this side of the Jordan, in the highlands and in the lowlands, all along the coast of the Great Sea toward Lebanon, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites and the Jebusites, formed an alliance to fight together against Joshua and Israel.

The ruse of the Gibeonites^a 3 When the inhabitants of Gibeon heard what Joshua had done to Jericho and to Ai, they decided to resort to trickery. They set out provided with supplies, having loaded their donkeys with old sacks and with old wineskins that had burst and been sewn up again. The sandals on their feet were worn out and patched, the garments they wore were threadbare. The bread they took with them to eat was all dry and crumbling.

6 They came to Joshua in the camp at Gilgal, and speaking to him and the men of Israel, they said, "We come from a distant country, so make a treaty with us." The men of Israel answered these Hivites, "It may be that you live in our neighborhood; how then can we make a treaty with you?" They answered Joshua, "We are your servants." But Joshua asked them, "Who are you and where do you come from?" They answered, "Your servants have come from a country very far away, because of the fame of Yahweh your God; for we have heard of him and all that he has done in Egypt and all that he has done to the two Amorite kings whose realm was beyond the Jordan, Sihon the king of Heshbon and Og the king of Bashan who lived at Ashtaroth. Then our elders and all the people of our country said to us, 'Take provisions with you for the journey; go to meet them and say to them: We are your servants; so make a treaty with us.' Here is our bread; it was warm when we took it from home for our journey the day we set out to come to you, and now you see it is dry and crumbling. These wineskins were new when we filled them; you see they have burst; and our clothes and sandals are all worn out from traveling such a long way."

14 The leaders partook of the provisions they offered and did not consult the oracle of Yahweh. Joshua granted them peace and made a treaty with them guaranteeing their lives, and the leaders of the community ratified it by oath.

16 Now it so happened that three days after the treaty had been made, it became known that they were a neighboring people whose home was in the midst of Israel. The Israelites set out from the camp and came to their towns, which were Gibeon, Chephirah, Beeroth and Kiriath-jearim. The Israelites did not attack them because the leaders of the community had sworn to them by Yahweh the God of Israel, but the community grumbled at the leaders.

The Gibeonites' place in the community

19 All the leaders declared in full assembly, "Since we have sworn an oath to them by Yahweh the God of Israel, we cannot touch them. This is what we will do with them: we will let them live, lest otherwise we bring the wrath on ourselves because of the oath we swore to them." The leaders went on, "Let them live, but let them be woodcutters and water carriers in the service 22 of the whole community." The community did as the leaders had said. Joshua sent for the Gibeonites and asked them, "Why did you trick us with those words, 23 'We live very far away,' when in fact you live right among us? 'From now you are accursed, and you shall never cease being serfs, woodcutters and water carriers in the house of my God.'" They answered Joshua, "We 24 did it because your servants had become convinced that Yahweh your God had ordered Moses his servant to give you this whole country and destroy all its inhabitants before you; also because, as you advanced on us, we were extremely 25 afraid that you would kill us. That was why we did this. 'Now, see, we are in your power; do with us whatever you think right and good.'" What he did with 26 them was this. He saved them from the hands of the Israelites, and they did not 27 kill them. But from that day forward, Joshua made them woodcutters and water carriers for the community, and bound them, down to the present day, to wait on Yahweh's altar wherever Yahweh might choose.

G. FIVE AMORITE KINGS FORM A COALITION^a THE SOUTH OF PALESTINE IS SUBDUED

Five kings make war on Gibeon

1 10 Now it happened that Adoni-zedek the king of Jerusalem was told that Joshua had conquered Ai and put the town under a ban, dealing with Ai and its king as he had dealt earlier with Jericho and its king; and also that the inhabitants of Gibeon had made their peace with Israel and entered their 2 community. There was consternation at this, since Gibeon was as important a town as one of the royal towns themselves, and larger than Ai, while all its citizens 3 were fighting men. Then Adoni-zedek the king of Jerusalem sent word to Hoham the king of Hebron, Piram the king of Jarmuth, Japhia the king of Lachish and 4 Debir the king of Eglon, "Join me and help me to conquer Gibeon, because 5 it has made peace with Joshua and the Israelites." The five Amorite kings joined forces and set off together, that is, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish and the king of Eglon, they and all their armies with them; they besieged Gibeon and attacked it.

Joshua comes to the rescue of Gibeon

6 The men of Gibeon sent word to Joshua in the camp at Gilgal, "Do not desert your servants; come up here quickly to save us and help us, because all the Amorite kings living in the mountains have allied themselves against us." 7 Joshua came up from Gilgal in person, bringing all the fighting men and all the 8 bravest of his army with him. Yahweh said to Joshua, "Do not be afraid of these men; I have delivered them into your power; not one of them will be 9 able to stand against you." Having marched from Gilgal throughout the night, Joshua caught them unaware.

Aid from on high

10 Yahweh drove them headlong before Israel, defeating them completely at Gibeon; furthermore, he pursued them toward the descent of Beth-horon and 11 harassed them as far as Azekah, and as far as Makkedah. And as they fled from Israel down the descent of Beth-horon, Yahweh hurled huge hailstones from heaven on them all the way to Azekah, which killed them. More of them

⁹ a. The Gibeonites, living in the four places listed in v.17, constituted an isolated enclave in Canaan.

¹⁰ a. Ch. 10 and 11 describe the conquest of the whole south, and later of the whole north of the land, in expeditions against the coalition of Canaanite kings by all the united tribes led by Joshua. Ch. 13-15 and 17 show the conquest as slow and incomplete, with each tribe acting by itself, and this is closer to the historical fact.

12 died under the hailstones than at the edge of Israel's sword. Then Joshua spoke to Yahweh, the same day that Yahweh delivered the Amorites to the Israelites. Joshua declaimed^b:

“Sun, stand still over Gibeon, and, moon, you also, over the Vale of Aijalon.” 13 And the sun stood still, and the moon halted, till the people had vengeance on their enemies.

Is this not written in the Book of the Just?^c The sun stood still in the middle 14 of the sky and delayed its setting for almost a whole day. There was never a day like that before or since, when Yahweh obeyed the voice of a man, for 15 Yahweh was fighting for Israel. Then Joshua, and all Israel with him, returned to the camp at Gilgal.^d

The five kings in the cave at Makkedah

16 As for those five kings, they had fled and hidden in the cave of Makkedah, 17 and news of this was brought to Joshua. “The five kings,” the message ran, “have 18 been found hiding in the cave at Makkedah.” Joshua answered, “Roll great 19 stones to the mouth of the cave and post men there to keep guard. And you, do not stay there idle; pursue the enemy, cut off their line of retreat and do not let them enter their towns, for Yahweh your God has put them in your power.”

20 When Joshua and the sons of Israel had routed them completely and were near to slaughtering the last of them, the survivors who had escaped alive took refuge 21 in their fortresses. The people came back to Joshua's camp at Makkedah; they were all safe and sound, and no one dared to attempt anything against the Israelites.

22 Then Joshua said, “Clear the mouth of the cave, and bring the five kings out 23 to me.” They did so, bringing him the five kings from the cave; the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish and 24 the king of Eglon. When these kings had been brought to him, Joshua assembled all the men of Israel and said to the officers of the men of war who had fought with him, “Come forward and put your feet on the necks of these kings!” They 25 came forward and put their feet on their necks. “Do not be afraid; have confidence,” Joshua went on, “be resolute, for this is how Yahweh shall deal 26 with all the enemies you fight.” With this Joshua struck and killed them and had them hanged on five trees; they hung there till evening.

27 At the hour of sunset Joshua gave his order; they were taken down from the trees and thrown into the cave where they had been hiding. Great stones were laid at the mouth of the cave, and these are still there today.

The conquest of the southern towns of Canaan

28 The same day, Joshua took Makkedah, striking the town and its king with the edge of the sword; he delivered them over to the ban, with every living creature there, and let no one escape; and he treated the king of Makkedah as he had treated the king of Jericho.

29 Joshua, and all Israel with him, went on from Makkedah to Libnah and 30 attacked it. This, too, with its king, Yahweh gave into the power of Israel; and Israel struck every living creature there with the edge of the sword, and left none alive, and treated its king like the king of Jericho.

31 Joshua, and all Israel with him, went on from Libnah to Lachish, and besieged 32 it and attacked it. Yahweh gave Lachish into the power of Israel and Israel took it on the second day and struck it and every living creature there with the 33 edge of the sword, as they had treated Libnah. Then Horem the king of Gezer marched up to help Lachish, but Joshua struck him and his people down until not one was left alive.

34 Joshua, and all Israel with him, went on from Lachish to Eglon. They besieged 35 it and attacked it. They took it the same day and struck it with the edge of the sword. Every living creature there he delivered over to the ban that day, as he had treated Lachish.

³⁶ Joshua, and all Israel with him, went on up from Eglon to Hebron. They

³⁸ Joshua, and all Israel with him, turned aside to Debir and attacked it. He ³⁹ took it and its king and all the places belonging to it; they struck them with the edge of the sword, and every living creature there they delivered over to the ban. He left none alive. As he had treated Hebron, as he had treated Libnah and its king, so he treated Debir and its king.

The southern conquests recapitulated

⁴⁰ Thus Joshua subdued the whole land: the highlands, the Negeb, the lowlands, the hillsides, and all the kings in them. He left not a man alive and delivered every single soul over to the ban, as Yahweh the God of Israel had commanded.

⁴¹ Joshua conquered them from Kadesh-barnea to Gaza, and the whole region ⁴² of Goshen as far as Gibeon. All these kings and their kingdoms Joshua mastered ⁴³ in one campaign, because Yahweh the God of Israel fought for Israel. And then Joshua, and all Israel with him, returned to the camp at Gilgal.

H. THE CONQUEST OF THE NORTH

A coalition of northern kings

¹ 11 When Jabin the king of Hazor heard these things, he sent word of them to Jobab the king of Madon, to the king of Shimron, the king of Achshaph ² and the kings in the northern highlands and in the valley south of Chinneroth, ³ and those of the lowlands and the hillsides of Dor westward. Eastward and westward lived the Canaanite; in the highlands the Amorite and Hivite and ⁴ Perizzite and Jebusite; under Hermon the Hittite, in the land of Mizpah. They set out with all their troops, a horde as countless as the sands of the sea, with innumerable horses and chariots.

The victory at Merom

⁵ These kings, having all agreed on a meeting place, came and encamped near ⁶ one another at the waters of Merom, to fight against Israel. Then Yahweh said to Joshua, "Have no fear of these men, for by this time tomorrow Israel shall see them all cut to pieces; you shall hamstring their horses and burn their chariots."
⁷ Joshua and all his warriors caught them unaware by the waters of Merom ⁸ and fell on them. Yahweh delivered them into the power of Israel, who defeated them and pursued them to Sidon the Great and to Misrephoth-maim westward and to the Vale of Mizpah eastward; Israel harried them till not one was left ⁹ to escape. Joshua treated them as Yahweh had ordered; he hamstrung their horses and burned their chariots.

The capture of Hazor and of the other northern towns

¹⁰ Joshua then came back and captured Hazor, putting its king to the sword.
¹¹ Hazor in earlier days was the capital of all these kingdoms. And they put to the sword every living creature there, because of the ban. Not a soul was left ¹² there, and lastly Hazor was burned. Joshua conquered all these royal cities

b. Lines from a popular song, appealing for time to secure victory, are here adapted to the author's purpose. c. An ancient collection now lost; it is quoted also in 2 S. 1:18. d. But cf. v.21. This chapter draws on various sources.

and their kings and struck them with the edge of the sword because of the ban, as Moses the servant of Yahweh had ordered.

- ¹³ Yet of all these towns standing on their mounds Israel burned none, apart from ¹⁴ Hazor which Joshua gave to the flames. As for the spoils of these towns and the cattle, the Israelites took them for themselves. But they struck all the human beings with the edge of the sword, and wiped them all out; they did not leave one living soul.

The orders of Moses carried out by Joshua

- ¹⁵ What Yahweh had ordered his servant Moses, Moses in turn had ordered Joshua, and Joshua carried it out, leaving nothing unaccomplished that ¹⁶ Yahweh had ordered Moses. Thus Joshua mastered the whole country: the highlands, the whole Negeb and the whole land of Goshen, the lowlands, the Arabah, the highlands and the lowlands of Israel.
¹⁷ From Mount Halak, which rises toward Seir, to Baal-gad in the Vale of Lebanon below Mount Hermon, he captured all their kings, struck them down and slaughtered them. For many a day Joshua had made war on all these kings; ¹⁸ no city had made peace with the Israelites except the Hivites who lived at Gibeon; ¹⁹ all the rest they conquered in battle. For Yahweh had ordained that the hearts of these men should be stubborn enough to fight against Israel, so that they might be mercilessly delivered over to the ban and be wiped out, as Yahweh had ordered Moses.^a

The Anakim wiped out

- ²¹ Then Joshua came and wiped out the Anakim from the highlands, from Hebron, from Debir, from Anab, from all the highlands of Judah and from all the highlands of Israel; he delivered them and their towns over to the ban. No more ²² Anakim were left in Israelite territory except at Gaza, Gath and Ashdod. Joshua mastered the whole country, just as Yahweh had told Moses, and he gave it to Israel as an inheritance according to their division by tribes.
 And the country had rest from war.

I. RECAPITULATION

The kings conquered east of the Jordan

- ¹ 12 These are the kings of the country whom the Israelites conquered and despoiled of their kingdoms, beyond Jordan eastward, from the wadi Arnon to the mountain country of Hermon, with all the Arabah eastward:
² Sihon the king of the Amorites who lived at Heshbon ruled from Aroer on the edge of the gorge of the Arnon (and with this went the bed of the gorge) over ³ half of Gilead to the wadi Jabbok, the boundary of the Ammonites, and eastward over the Arabah to the Sea of Chinneroth on the one side, and to the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea, toward Beth-jeshimoth where you come to the foothills of Pisgah on the south.
⁴ Og, the king of Bashan, one of the last of the Rephaim, who lived at Ashtaroth ⁵ and Edrei, ruled over Mount Hermon and over Salecah, and over the whole of Bashan as far as the boundary of the Geshurites and the Maacathites, and ⁶ over half of Gilead to the boundary of Sihon the king of Heshbon. Moses, the servant of Yahweh, and with him the Israelites, had conquered these kings, and Moses, the servant of Yahweh, had given their possessions to the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half tribe of Manasseh.

The kings conquered west of the Jordan

- ⁷ And these are the kings of the country whom Joshua and the Israelites conquered westward of the Jordan, from Baal-gad in the Vale of Lebanon to

Mount Halak rising toward Seir, and Joshua allotted their inheritance to the tribes of Israel according to their divisions: in the highlands and lowlands, in the Arabah and on the hillsides, in the wilderness and the Negeb: in the territories of Hittite, Amorite, Canaanite, Perizzite, Hivite and Jebusite:

9	the king of Jericho,	one;
	the king of Ai near Bethel,	one;
10	the king of Jerusalem,	one;
	the king of Hebron,	one;
11	the king of Jarmuth,	one;
	the king of Lachish,	one;
12	the king of Eglon,	one;
	the king of Gezer,	one;
13	the king of Debir,	one;
	the king of Geder,	one;
14	the king of Hormah,	one;
	the king of Arad,	one;
15	the king of Libnah,	one;
	the king of Adullam,	one;
16	the king of Makkedah,	one;
	the king of Bethel,	one;
17	the king of Tappuah,	one;
	the king of Hopher,	one;
18	the king of Aphek,	one;
	the king of Sharon,	one;
19	the king of Madon,	one;
	the king of Hazor,	one;
20	the king of Symoon,	one;
	the king of Achshaph,	one;
21	the king of Taanach,	one;
	the king of Megiddo,	one;
22	the king of Kedesh,	one;
	the king of Jokneam in Carmel,	one;
23	the king of Dor on the hillsides of Dor,	one;
	the king of Goyim in Galilee,	one;
24	the king of Tirzah,	one;
	Total number of all these kings:	thirty-one.

II. THE APPORTIONING OF THE LAND AMONG THE TRIBES

Lands remaining unconquered

¹ 13 Now Joshua had grown old and advanced in years. Yahweh said to him, "You are old now and advanced in years, yet much of the country still remains to be subdued. This is the country remaining:

"All the regions of the Philistines^a and the whole country of the Geshurites; from the Shihor, east of Egypt, to the boundary of Ekron northward, the land is counted as Canaanite. (The five chiefs of the Philistines are those of Gaza, Ashdod, Ashkelon, Gath and Ekron; the Avvites are in the south.) The whole country of the Canaanites from Arah, which the Sidonians hold, to Aphekah ^{11 a.} See Dt. 7:2f and 20:16-18.

^{13 a.} The Philistines settled in the coastal plain of Palestine about 1200. In the time of the Judges and of Saul they were bitter enemies of Israel; they were driven back by David but maintained control of the coastal districts.

- 5 and the boundary of the Amorites, and then the country of the Gebalites with all Lebanon eastward from Baal-gad at the foot of Mount Hermon to the Pass of Hamath.
- 6 "All who live in the highlands from Lebanon to Misrephoth-maim westward—all the Sidonians—I myself will drive out before the Israelites. In the meantime, share out the land by lot among the Israelites as I have ordered
- 7 you. The time has come to divide this land among the nine tribes and the half tribe of Manasseh: from the Jordan to the Great Sea westward you shall give it to them; the Great Sea will mark their boundary."

A. THE TRIBES BEYOND THE JORDAN DESCRIBED

A general survey

- 8 As for the other half tribe of Manasseh, this and the Reubenites and Gadites had already received the allotted inheritance given them by Moses beyond the Jordan eastward; Moses the servant of Yahweh had then assigned them
- 9 the country onward from Aroer, which lies on the edge of the wadi Arnon, and from the town within the gorge itself; all the tableland from Medeba to
- 10 Dibon; all the towns of Sihon the king of the Amorites, who had reigned in
- 11 Heshbon, to the boundary of the Ammonites. Then Gilead and the territory of the Geshurites and Maacathites with all the highlands of Hermon and with
- 12 the whole of Bashan, including Salecah; and in Bashan the whole kingdom of Og, who had reigned in Ashtaroth and Edrei and was the last survivor of
- 13 the Rephaim. Moses had conquered and dispossessed these two kings. But the Israelites did not dispossess the Geshurites or the Maacathites, and therefore
- 14 Geshur and Maacah even now still form part of Israel. To the tribe of Levi alone no inheritance was given; Yahweh the God of Israel was their inheritance, as he had told them.

The tribe of Reuben

- 15 Moses had given the tribe of the sons of Reuben a portion according to their
- 16 clans. Thus the land they received stretched from Aroer, on the edge of the wadi Arnon, and the town within the gorge itself, and all the tableland up to
- 17 Medeba, and Heshbon and all the towns on the tableland: Dibon, Bamoth-baal,
- 18 Beth-baal-meon, Jahaz, Kedemoth, Mephaath, Kiriathaim, Sibmah and
- 19 Zereth-shahar in the highlands of Gor; Beth-peor, the slopes of Pisgah,
- 20 Beth-jeshimoth, all the towns on the tableland and the whole kingdom of Sihon the king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon; he had been defeated by
- 21 Moses, and with him the princes of Midian, Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur and Reba, vassals of Sihon who used to live in this country. As for Balaam son of Beor,
- 22 the soothsayer, the Israelites had put him to the sword with others they had
- 23 slaughtered. Thus the land of the Reubenites stretched to the Jordan. This was the inheritance of the sons of Reuben according to their clans, with the towns and their outlying villages.

The tribe of Gad

- 24 Moses had given the tribe of Gad, the sons of Gad, a portion according to
- 25 their clans. The land they received was Jazer, all the towns of Gilead, half the
- 26 country of the Ammonites as far as Aroer facing Rabbah, and from Heshbon to Ramath-mizpeh and Betonim, and from Mahanaim as far as the territory
- 27 of Lo-debar, and lastly, in the valley: Beth-haram, Beth-nimrah, Succoth, and Zaphon, the rest of the kingdom of Sihon the king of Heshbon. The Jordan was their boundary to the lower end of the Sea of Chinnereth, on the eastern side
- 28 of the Jordan. This was the inheritance of the sons of Gad according to their clans, with the towns and their outlying villages.

The half tribe of Manasseh

²⁹ Moses had given the half tribe of the sons of Manasseh a portion according ³⁰ to their clans. The land they received stretched from Mahanaim right through Bashan, with the whole kingdom of Og the king of Bashan and all the Encamp-³¹ ments of Jair in Bashan, sixty towns. Half of Gilead, with Ashtaroth and Edrei, the royal cities of Og in Bashan, were allotted to the sons of Machir son of Manasseh, to half of the sons of Machir according to their clans.

³² This was the apportioning made by Moses in the plains of Moab, beyond the ³³ Jordan and facing Jericho eastward. But to the tribe of Levi Moses had given no inheritance; Yahweh the God of Israel is their inheritance, as he has told them.

B. THE THREE GREAT TRIBES WEST OF JORDAN DESCRIBED

Introduction

¹ 14 These are the portions that the Israelites received as an inheritance in the ² land of Canaan, assigned to them by Eleazar the priest and by Joshua son of Nun and by the heads of the families of the tribes of Israel. They made the ³ apportionment by lot, as Yahweh had ordered through Moses for the nine tribes and the half tribe. Moses had given the two and a half tribes beyond the ⁴ Jordan their own inheritance but had given the Levites no inheritance among them. The sons of Joseph were two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim. No portion ⁵ in the land was given the Levites except certain towns to live in, with the pasture lands adjoining for their cattle and property. In apportioning the land, the Israelites did as Yahweh had ordered Moses to do.

The portion of Caleb

⁶ Certain sons of Judah came to Joshua at Gilgal, and Caleb son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite said to him, "You know what Yahweh said to Moses the man ⁷ of God at Kadesh-barnea concerning you and me. I was forty years old when Moses the servant of Yahweh sent me from Kadesh-barnea to reconnoiter this ⁸ country, and of this I most faithfully made report to him. But the brothers who had gone up with me discouraged the people, whereas I myself did the whole ⁹ will of Yahweh my God. That day Moses swore this oath, 'Be sure of this, that the land your foot has trodden shall be an inheritance for you and your children for ever, because you have done the whole will of Yahweh my God.' ¹⁰ From then till now, Yahweh has kept me alive in accordance with his promise.
 It is forty-five years since Yahweh made this promise to Moses (it was while Israel was journeying through the wilderness), and now I am eighty-five years ¹¹ old. Today I am still as strong as the day when Moses sent me out on that ¹² errand; for fighting, for going and coming, I am as strong now as then. It is time you gave me the highlands that Yahweh promised me then. You heard then how it was peopled by the Anakim and how its towns were great and strong. If Yahweh is with me, I shall drive them out as Yahweh said."

¹³ Joshua blessed Caleb son of Jephunneh and gave him Hebron as an inheritance.
¹⁴ And hence Hebron down to the present day has remained the possession of Caleb son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite, because he did the whole will of Yahweh ¹⁵ the God of Israel. The name of Hebron in earlier times was Kiriath-arba. Arba had been the greatest man of the Anakim.

And the country had rest from war.

The tribe of Judah

¹ 15 The portion falling to the tribe of the sons of Judah according to their clans was near the boundary of Edom, from the wilderness of Zin to ² Kadesh south-westward. Their southern boundary began at the end of the ³ Salt Sea, at the bay that faces south; it proceeded south of the Ascent of Akrabbim, crossed through Zin and up to the south of Kadesh-barnea, passed Hezron, went up to Addar and from there turned to Karka, skirted Azmon, came out at the wadi of Egypt and ended at the sea. This will be your southern boundary. Eastward, the boundary was the Salt Sea as far as the mouth of the Jordan. The boundary to the north began at the bay at the mouth of the Jordan. This boundary went up to Beth-hoglah, passed along north of Beth-arabah and reached the Stone of Bohan son of Reuben. The boundary went up to Debir from the Vale of Achor and turned toward the circle of stones opposite the Ascent of Adummim, south of the wadi; the boundary went on to the waters of En-shemesh and ended at En-rogel. Then it went on up the wadi Ben-hinnom, coming from the south to the flank of the Jebusite, that is to say Jerusalem, and climbed to the crest of the mountain barring the wadi Hinnom, westward and at the northern end of the plain of Rephaim. From the mountain top the boundary bent toward the source of the waters of Nephtoah, passed from there toward Mount Ephron and then turned toward Baalah, that is to say, Kiriath-jearim. From Baalah the boundary bent westward to the mountain country of Seir, skirted the northern slope of Mount Jearim, that is to say Chesalon, went down to Beth-shemesh and through Timnah, reached the north side of Ekron, turned toward Shikkeron, passed by the Hill of Baalah, then on to Jabneel, and ended at the sea. The western boundary was the Great Sea itself. This was the boundary that enclosed the lands assigned to the clans of the sons of Judah.

The Calebites occupy the territory of Hebron

Caleb son of Jephunneh was given a portion among the sons of Judah in accordance with the order given by Yahweh to Joshua. Joshua gave him Kiriath-arba,^a the chief city of the Anakim, which is now Hebron. Caleb drove the three sons of Anak out of it: Sheshai, Ahiman and Talmi, descended from Anak. From there he marched up against the inhabitants of Debir, the name of which was once Kiriath-sepher. Then Caleb said, "To the man who conquers and captures Kiriath-sepher, I will give my daughter Achsah to wife." The man who captured it was Othniel son of Kenaz, Caleb's brother; Caleb gave him his daughter Achsah to wife. When she came to her husband, he urged her to ask her father for a field. Then she jumped down from her donkey, and Caleb asked her, "What do you want?" She answered, "Grant me a favor; since you have banished me to the wilderness of the Negeb, at least grant me some springs of water." So he gave her the upper springs and the lower springs.

This was the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Judah according to their clans.

Names of places possessed by the tribe of Judah

These are the furthest towns of the tribe of the sons of Judah, toward the boundary of Edom in the Negeb: Kabzeel, Eder, Jagur, Kinah, Dimon, Adadah, Kedesh, Hazor, Ithnan, Ziph, Telem, Bealoth, Hazor-hadattah, Kerioth-hezron (that is to say, Hazor), Amam, Shema, Moladah, Hazar-gaddah, Heshmon, Beth-pelet, Hazar-shual, Beersheba, Biziothiah, Baalah, Iim, Ezem, Eltolad, Chesil, Hormah, Ziklag, Madmannah, Sansannah, Lebaoth, Shilhim, En-rimmon.

In all, twenty-nine towns, with their outlying villages.

In the lowlands:

Eshtaol, Zorah, Ashnah, Zanoah, En-gannim, Tappuah, Enam, Jarmuth, Adullam, Socoh, Azekah, Shaaraim, Adithaim, Gederah, Gederothaim; fourteen towns with their villages.
Zenan, Hadashah, Migdal-gad, Dilean, Mizpeh, Joktheel, Lachish, Bozkath, Eglon, Cabbon, Lahmas, Chitlish, Gederoth, Beth-dagon, Naamah, Makkedah; sixteen towns with their villages.

- 42-43 Libnah, Ether, Ashan, 'Iphtah, Ashnah, Nezib, 'Keilah, Achzib, Mareshah: 44 nine towns with their villages.
- 45 Ekron, with its towns and outlying villages. 'From Ekron to the sea, everything 46 to the side of Ashdod, with its villages. 'Ashdod with its towns and outlying 47 villages; Gaza with its towns and outlying villages as far as the wadi of Egypt; the Great Sea marks the boundary.
- 48 In the highlands:
49 Shamir, Jattir, Socoh, 'Dannah, Kiriath-sannah, which is now Debir, 'Anab, 50 Eshtermoh, Anim, 'Goshen, Holon, Giloh: eleven towns with their villages.
- 51 Arab, Dumah, Eshan, 'Janum, Beth-tappuah, Aphekah, 'Humtah, Kiriath-arba, 52-53 which is now Hebron, Zior: nine towns with their villages. 'Maon, Carmel, 54 Ziph, Juttah, 'Jezreel, Jokdeam, Zanoah, 'Kain, Gibeah, Timnah: ten towns 55 with their villages.
- 56 Halhul, Beth-zur, Gedor, 'Maarath, Beth-anoth, Eltekon: six towns with their 57 villages.
- 58 Tekoa, Ephrathah, which is now Bethlehem, Peor, Etam, Kulon, Tatam, Sores, 59 Carem, Gallim, Bether, Manach: eleven towns with their villages.
- 60 Kiriath-baal, which is now Kiriath-jearim, and Rabbah: two towns with their villages.
- 61 In the wilderness:
- 62 Beth-arabah, Middin, Secacah, 'Nibshan, the City of Salt and Engedi: six towns with their villages.
- 63 But the sons of Judah could not drive out the Jebusites who lived in Jerusalem; the Jebusites lived in Jerusalem side by side with the sons of Judah, as they still do today.

The tribe of Ephraim

- 1 16 The portion awarded by lot to the sons of Joseph stretched from the Jordan opposite Jericho eastward. From Jericho onward the boundary climbed 2 the highlands to the wilderness of Bethel; 'it left Bethel-luz and went on 3 toward the boundary of the Archites at Ataroth; 'then passed downward and westward to the boundary of the Japhletites as far as the border of Lower 4 Beth-horon, as far as Gezer, and from there it reached the sea. 'This was the inheritance of the sons of Joseph, Manasseh and Ephraim.
- 5 As regards the territory of the sons of Ephraim according to their clans, the boundary of their inheritance to the east was Ataroth-addar as far as Upper 6 Beth-horon, 'and it ended at the sea . . . Michmethath to the north; and the boundary turned east to Tanaath-shiloh and ran beyond it on the east to Janoah; 7 it went down from Janoah to Ataroth and Naarah, then touched Jericho and 8 ended at the Jordan. 'From Tappuah the boundary went westward to the wadi Kananah and ended at the sea. This was the inheritance of the tribe of Ephraim 9 according to their clans, 'as well as the towns set apart for the Ephraimites inside the inheritance of the sons of Manasseh, all those towns and their villages.
- 10 The Canaanites living in Gezer were not driven out; they have remained in Ephraim to the present day, but are obliged to do forced labor.

The tribe of Manasseh

- 1 17 A portion was awarded by lot to Manasseh, because he was Joseph's first-born son. To Machir, 'Manasseh's eldest son and father of Gilead, there fell, as was right for a fighting man, the country of Gilead and Bashan.
- 2 And portions were also given to Manasseh's other sons, according to their clans:
to the sons of Abiezer, the sons of Helek, the sons of Asriel, the sons of Shechem, the sons of Hephher, the sons of Shemida: these were the clans of the male children 3 of Manasseh son of Joseph. 'Zelophehad son of Hephher, son of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh, had no sons, only daughters, whose names are these: Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah and Tirzah. These came to the priest Eleazar and to Joshua the son of Nun and to the leaders, and said, "Yahweh ordered Moses to give us an inheritance among our brothers." According to Yahweh's order, therefore, they were given an inheritance among the brothers of their father. In this way there fell to Manasseh ten portions besides the country of Gilead and Bashan which lies across the Jordan, since Manasseh's daughters received an inheritance as well as his sons. The country of Gilead itself belonged to Manasseh's other sons. The boundary of Manasseh was, on the side of Asher, Michmethath, which is opposite Shechem, and thence continued to the right to Jashib at the spring of Tappuah. The territory of Tappuah belonged to Manasseh, but Tappuah on Manasseh's border belonged to the sons of Ephraim. The boundary passed down to the wadi Kanah (south of the wadi were the Ephraimite towns, besides those which Ephraim had among the towns of Manasseh, the territory of Manasseh being north of the wadi), and it ended at the sea. Southward Ephraim, northward Manasseh, both bounded by the sea; they touched Asher to the north and Issachar to the east. In Issachar and in Asher, Manasseh had Beth-shean and its dependent towns, Ibleam and its dependent towns, the inhabitants of Dor and En-dor and their dependent towns, the inhabitants of Taanach and Megiddo and their dependent towns, and a third of the Nepheth. But because the sons of Manasseh could not take possession of these towns, the Canaanites managed to hold their own in the country. However, when the Israelites became stronger, they put the Canaanites to forced labor, though they never drove them out.

The sons of Joseph occupy forest country

The House of Joseph spoke thus to Joshua, "Why have you given me for inheritance only one share, only one portion, when my people are many because Yahweh has so blessed me?" Joshua answered, "If your people are so many, go up to the woodland region and clear yourselves the forest of the country of the Perizzites and the Rephaim, since the highlands of Ephraim are too small for you." The sons of Joseph answered, "The highlands are not enough for us, and what is more, all the Canaanites living in the plain have iron chariots, and so have those in Beth-shean and its dependent towns, and those in the plain of Jezreel." Joshua said to the House of Joseph, to Ephraim and Manasseh, "You are a large population and one of great strength; you shall not have one share only but a mountain shall be yours; it is covered with woods, but you must clear it, and its boundaries shall be yours, since you cannot drive out the Canaanite because of his iron chariots and his superior strength."

C. THE SEVEN OTHER TRIBES DESCRIBED

The land survey for these seven tribes

18 The whole community of the Israelites assembled at Shiloh, and the Tent of Meeting was set up there; the whole country was now subdued and at their disposal. But among the Israelites there were still seven tribes left which had not received their inheritance. Then Joshua said to them, "How much more time will you waste before taking possession of the land which Yahweh the God of your fathers has given to you? Choose three men from each tribe, for me to send up and down the country so that they can make a survey with a view to its apportioning, and then come back to me. They must divide the land into seven portions. Judah will remain in their territory to the south, and those of the House of Joseph will remain in their territory to the north. You are to survey the land in seven sections and bring your findings to me here, so that I can cast lots for you before Yahweh our God. For the Levites have no portion with the rest of you; the priesthood of Yahweh is to be their inheritance; and Gad and Reuben and the half tribe of Manasseh have received their inheritance beyond the Jordan eastward, as Moses, Yahweh's servant, gave it to them."

⁸ The men set off. To those who were to survey the country Joshua gave this order: "Off you go, survey and map the whole country, and then come back here ⁹ to me; I shall cast lots for you before Yahweh at Shiloh." So the men left, and went up and down the country, making a sevenfold list in writing of all the towns and bringing it back to Joshua in the camp at Shiloh.

¹⁰ Joshua cast lots for them before Yahweh at Shiloh, and there Joshua apportioned the land among the Israelites according to their groupings.

The tribe of Benjamin

¹¹ One portion fell to the tribe of the sons of Benjamin according to their clans: their territory lay, as it proved, between that of the sons of Judah and the sons ¹² of Joseph. Their northern boundary began at the Jordan, climbed to the northern flank of Jericho, rose through the highlands westward and ended at the ¹³ wilderness of Beth-aven. Thence it continued toward Luz, southward to the flank of Luz, which is now Bethel; then downward to Ataroth-addar, on the ¹⁴ mountain south of Lower Beth-horon. The boundary curved, and on the western side turned southward, from the mountain that faces Beth-horon from the south and ended at Kiriath-baal, which is now Kiriath-jearim, a city of the ¹⁵ sons of Judah. This was the western side. On the south side the boundary ran from the edge of Kiriath-jearim toward Gasin, emerged by the waters of the ¹⁶ spring of Nephtoah, continued to the skirts of the mountain facing the Vale of Ben-hinnom, north of the plain of the Rephaim, then down into the Vale ^{17a} of Hinnom, south of the flank of the Jebusite and reaching En-rogel. It then curved northward, going on to En-shemesh; it came out at the circles of stones ¹⁸ facing the Ascent of Adummim, then went on to Cheteph in sight of the Arabah ^{19b} and down to the Arabah and the Stone of Bohan son of Reuben, then reached ¹⁹ the flank of Beth-hoglah to the north. The boundary stopped at the northern bay of the Salt Sea, at the southern end of the Jordan. This was the southern ²⁰ border. The Jordan itself was the eastern border. Such was the inheritance of the sons of Benjamin, with the boundaries defining it.

The towns of Benjamin

²¹ The towns of the tribe of the sons of Benjamin, according to their clans, were ²² Jericho, Beth-hoglah, Emek-keziz; Beth-arabah, Zemaraim, Bethel; Avvim, ²³ Parah, Ophrah; Chephar-ammoni, Ophni, Geba: twelve towns and their villages. ²⁴ Gibeon, Ramah, Beeroth; Mizpeh, Chephirah, Mozah; Rekem, Irpeel, ^{25,26} Taralah; Zela Haeleph, Jerusalem, Gibeah and Kiriath: fourteen towns with ²⁷ their villages. This was the inheritance of the sons of Benjamin, according to ²⁸ their clans.

The tribe of Simeon

¹ 19 The second portion awarded by lot came to Simeon, the tribe of the sons of Simeon, according to their clans; their inheritance was encircled by the ² inheritance of the sons of Judah. For their portion they had Beersheba, Shema, ³ Moladah; Hazar-shual, Balah, Ezem; Eltolad, Bethul, Hormah; Ziklag, ⁴ Beth-marcaboth, Hazar-susah; Beth-lebaoth and Sharuhem: thirteen towns and ⁵ their villages; Ain, Rimmon, Ether and Ashan: four towns and their villages. ⁶ With these go all the villages lying outside these towns as far as Baalath-beer, ⁷ Ramah of the Negeb. This was the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Simeon ⁸ according to their clans. The inheritance of the sons of Simeon was taken out ⁹ of the portion of the sons of Judah, because the share of the sons of Judah was too large for them; this is why it was within the inheritance of the sons of Judah that the sons of Simeon were given theirs.

The tribe of Zebulun

10 The third portion fell to the sons of Zebulun according to their clans; the 11 territory of their inheritance reached as far as Sarid; their boundary climbed westward to Maraalah, touching Dabbesheth first and then the wadi facing 12 Jokneam. But eastward and toward the sunrise the boundary went from Sarid to the boundary of Chisloth-tabor, then toward Dobrath and upward 13 to Japhia. Thence it went on, eastward and toward the sunrise, to Gathhepher and Ittah-kazin; it came out at Rimmon and turned toward Neah.
 14 Then northward the boundary bent toward Hannathon and ended at the plain 15 of Iphtahel. Besides this, there were Kattath, Nahalal, Shimron, Iralah and 16 Bethlehem: twelve towns with their villages. This was the inheritance of the sons of Zebulun according to their clans: these towns and their villages.

The tribe of Issachar

17 The fourth portion came to Issachar, to the sons of Issachar, according to 18 their clans. Their territory reached to Jezreel and included Chesulloth and 19:20 Shunem; Hapharaim, Shion, Anaharath; Dobrath, Kishion, Ebez; Remeth 21 and En-gannim, En-haddah and Beth-pazzez. Their boundary touched Tabor 22 and Shahazimah and Beth-shemesh, and ended at the Jordan: sixteen towns 23 with their villages. This was the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Issachar, according to their clans: the towns with their villages.

The tribe of Asher

24 The fifth portion came to the tribe of the sons of Asher, according to their 25 clans. Within their territory were Helkath, Hali, Beten, Achshaph, Allam-26 melech, Amad and Mishal; on the west it touched Carmel and the streams of the 27 Libnath; on the other side it went eastward to Beth-dagon, touching Zebulun and the Vale of Iphtahel northward, then Beth-emek and Neiel beyond; it 28 ended at Cabul. To the north it took in Abdon, Rehob, Hammon and Kanah as far as Sidon the Great. The boundary then turned back toward Ramah 29 and on to the stronghold of Tyre and Hosah, and ended at the sea. Mahalab, 30 Achzib, Acco, Aphek, Rehob: twenty-two towns with their villages. This was 31 the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Asher, according to their clans; these towns with their villages.

The tribe of Naphtali

32 To the sons of Naphtali came the sixth portion, to the sons of Naphtali 33 according to their clans. Their territory went from Heleph and the Oak of Zanaanim to Adami-negeb, to Jabneel as far as Lakkum, and ended at the 34 Jordan. The westward boundary ran to Aznoth-tabor and thence passed on to Hukkuk, touching Zebulun southward, Asher westward and the Jordan east-35 ward. The fortified towns were Ziddim, Zer, Hammath, Rakkath, Chinnereth; 36:37 Adamah, Ramah, Hazor; Kedesh, Edrei, En-hazor; Yiron, Migdalel, Horem, 38 Beth-anath, Beth-shemesh: nineteen towns with their villages. This was the 39 inheritance of the sons of Naphtali according to their clans; the towns with their villages.

The tribe of Dan

40 To the tribe of the sons of Dan came the seventh portion according to their 41 clans. Within the territory of their inheritance were Zorah, Eshtaol, Irshemesh; 42:43 Sha-alabbin, Aijalon, Ithlah; Elon, Timnah, Ekron, Eltekeh, Gibbethon, 44 Baalath; Jehud, Bene-berak, Gath-rimmon; Me-jarkon and Rakkon with the 45 territory facing Joppa.

47 But the territory of the sons of Dan resisted them; and therefore the sons of Dan went up and attacked Leshem and captured it and put it to the sword.
 Having seized the town they settled in it, and changed the name of Leshem to

- 48 Dan after Dan their ancestor. This was the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Dan, according to their clans: these towns with their villages.
- 49 So ended the drawings of lots for the country and the apportioning of it.
- 50 And the Israelites gave Joshua son of Nun an inheritance among them; at the command of Yahweh, they gave him the city he had asked for, Timnath-serah in the highlands of Ephraim; he rebuilt the city and settled there.
- 51 These are the inheritances which Eleazar the priest, Joshua son of Nun, and the heads of each family apportioned by lot among the tribes of Israel at Shiloh, in Yahweh's presence, at the door of the Tent of Meeting; and thus the apportioning of the land was finished.

D. PRIVILEGED CITIES

The cities of refuge

1 20 Yahweh said to Joshua, "Speak to the Israelites and say to them, 'Choose 2 the cities of refuge of which I spoke to you through Moses, towns 3 where a man who has killed accidentally, unwittingly, may find sanctuary; they 4 are to be your refuge from the avenger of blood. The man who has killed may seek sanctuary in one of these towns; he must stop at the entrance of the town gate and explain his case to the elders of the place. They shall let him enter 5 the town and assign him a place to live with them. If he is pursued by the avenger of blood, they are not to give him up to him, since he has killed his neighbor 6 unwittingly, with no long-cherished hatred against him. The man who has killed must remain in that town until he has appeared for judgment before the community, until the death of the high priest then in office. Only then may the man who has killed go back to his own town and his own house, to the town from which he has fled.'"

7 For this purpose they designated Kedesh in Galilee, in the highlands of Naphtali, Shechem in the highlands of Ephraim, and Kiriath-arba, 8 which is now Hebron, in the highlands of Judah. Across the Jordan and on the east facing Jericho, in the wilderness on the tableland, they chose Bezer of the tribe of Reuben, Ramoth-gilead of the tribe of Gad, and Golan 9 in Bashan of the tribe of Manasseh. These were the towns marked out for all the Israelites and for the stranger living among them, so that any man might find sanctuary there if he had killed accidentally, and might escape the hand of the avenger of blood until he had appeared for judgment before the community.

The levitical cities

1 21 Then the heads of families among the Levites came to Eleazar the priest 2 and to Joshua son of Nun and the heads of families of the tribes of Israel—3 they were then at Shiloh in the land of Canaan. They said to them, "Yahweh ordered through Moses that we should be given towns to live in, with the 4 adjoining pasture lands for our cattle." So because of Yahweh's order the Israelites gave the Levites these towns from their inheritance, and with them 5 the adjoining pasture lands. Lots were cast for the clans of the Kohathites.
6 To the Levites, the sons of Aaron the priest, fell thirteen towns from the tribes of Judah, Simeon and Benjamin; the other sons of Kohath received, clan by 7 clan, ten towns from the tribes of Ephraim, Dan, and the half tribe of Manasseh. To the sons of Gershon, clan by clan, fell thirteen towns from the tribes of Issachar, 8 Asher, Naphtali and the half tribe of Manasseh in Bashan. To the sons of Merari, clan by clan, fell twelve towns from the tribes of Reuben, Gad and Zebulun.
9 These towns and the adjoining pasture land, the Israelites gave by lot to the Levites, as Yahweh had ordered through Moses.

19 a. Most of the Danites emigrated northward to the sources of the Jordan, Jg. 18. Part of Dan's original territory was repopulated by Calebites, 1 Ch. 2:42-50.

The portion of the Kohathites

9 From the tribe of Judah and the tribe of Simeon they gave the towns named 10 below; this was the portion of the sons of Aaron from the clans of the Koha-11 thites, of the sons of Levi; for theirs was the first portion. They gave them 12 Kiriath-arba, the chief city of the Anakim, which is now Hebron, in the highlands 13 of Judah, with the pasture lands around it. But the fields and villages of this 14 town they gave into the possession of Caleb son of Jephunneh as his property.
 15 To the sons of Aaron the priest they gave Hebron, the city of refuge for men 16 who had killed, and the adjoining pasture lands; also Libnah with its pasture 17 lands, and Jattir, Eshtemoa, Holon, Debir, Ashan, Juttah and Beth-shemesh, 18 each with its pasture lands: nine towns taken from these two tribes. From 19 the tribe of Benjamin, Gibeon and Geba with their pasture lands, and Anathoth 20 and Almon with theirs: four towns. The towns of the priests, the sons of 21 Aaron, were thirteen towns in all, with their pasture lands.

22 To the clans of the sons of Kohath, to the remaining Levites of the sons of 23 Kohath, the lot assigned towns belonging to the tribe of Ephraim. They were 24 given the city of refuge, Shechem, with its pasture lands, in the highlands 25 of Ephraim, together with Gezer, Kibzaim and Beth-horon, each with its 26 pasture lands: four towns. From the tribe of Dan, Elteke, Gibbethon, Aijalon and Gath-rimmon with their pasture lands: four towns. From the half tribe of Manasseh, Taanach and Jibleam with their pasture lands: two towns. In all:
 ten towns with their pasture lands for the remaining clans of the sons of Kohath.

The portion of the sons of Gershon

27 To the sons of Gershon who were of levitical clans were given the city of 28 refuge Golan in Bashan and also Ashtaroth, each with its pasture lands: two 29 towns, both from the half tribe of Manasseh. From the tribe of Issachar, 30 Kishion, Dobrath, Jarmuth and En-gannim, each with its pasture lands: four 31 towns. From the tribe of Asher, Mishal, Abdon, Helkath and Rehob, each 32 with its pasture lands: four towns. From the tribe of Naphtali, Kedesh the city 33 of refuge in Galilee, Hammoth-dor and Rakkath, each with its pasture lands: three towns. The towns for the Gershonites according to their clans were thirteen towns in all with their pasture lands.

The portion of the sons of Merari

34 To the clans of the sons of Merari, the remainder of the Levites, fell four 35 towns with their pasture lands from the tribe of Zebulun, Jokneam, Kartah, 36 Rimmon and Nahalal; from beyond the Jordan and from the tribe of Reuben, 37 the city of refuge Bezer in the wilderness on the tableland, Jahaz, Kedemoth 38 and Mephaath, each with its pasture lands: four towns; from the tribe of Gad 39 the city of refuge Ramoth-gilead, Mahanaim, Heshbon and Jazer, each with 40 its pasture lands: four towns. The towns allotted clan by clan to the sons of Merari, to the remainder of the levitical clans, were twelve towns in all.

41 The towns thus granted to the Levites in Israelite territory were in all forty-42 eight, with their pasture lands. For all these towns, the town itself and the pasture land around it went together. This was true of every town named.

The end of the apportioning

43 So it was that Yahweh gave the Israelites all the land he had sworn to give 44 their fathers. They took possession of it and settled there. Yahweh granted them peace on all their frontiers just as he had sworn to their fathers, and of all their enemies not one had managed to stand against them. Yahweh had given all 45 their enemies into their hands. Of all the promises that Yahweh had made to the House of Israel, not one failed; all were fulfilled.

III. JOSHUA FINISHES HIS COURSE

A. THE RETURN OF THE EASTERN TRIBES.

THE QUESTION OF THEIR ALTAR

The tribes from across the Jordan are sent home

1 22 Then Joshua summoned the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half tribe of 2 Manasseh and said to them, "You have faithfully observed all that Moses 3 the servant of Yahweh ordered you, and whenever I have given you an 4 order you have obeyed me. Despite the fact that the campaign has lasted such a very long time, you have never deserted your brothers; at every point you 5 have obeyed the orders of Yahweh your God. Now that Yahweh your God has granted your brothers the rest he promised them, go back to your tents, 6 to the land given into your possession by Moses the servant of Yahweh, beyond the Jordan. But take great care to practice the commandments and the Law which Moses the servant of Yahweh gave you: love Yahweh your God, follow his paths always, keep his commandments, be loyal to him and serve him with all your heart and soul."

7 Joshua blessed them and sent them away; they went home to their tents.
 8 Moses had given a territory in Bashan to one half of the tribe of Manasseh; to the other half Joshua gave another among their brothers on the west bank of the 9 Jordan. As Joshua sent them home to their tents he blessed them and said to them, "You are going back to your tents with great wealth, with cattle in plenty, with silver and gold, bronze and iron and great quantities of clothing; share these spoils of your enemies with your brothers."

An altar is built beside the Jordan

9 The Reubenites, the Gadites and the half tribe of Manasseh went home again; they left the Israelites at Shiloh in the land of Canaan, and made their way back to the land of Gilead, the territory which belonged to them and where they had settled in accordance with the order of Yahweh given through Moses.
 10 When they came to the circles of stones at the Jordan which are in Canaanite territory, the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half tribe of Manasseh built an 11 altar there beside the Jordan, an imposing altar of great size. This came to the ears of the Israelites. "See," the word went around, "the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half tribe of Manasseh have built this altar facing the land of Canaan near the circles of stones at the Jordan, beyond the territory of the Israelites."

12 At this news, the whole community of the children of Israel mustered at Shiloh, ready to march against them and make war on them.

The eastern tribes rebuked

13 The Israelites sent the priest Phinehas son of Eleazar to the Reubenites, the 14 Gadites and the half tribe of Manasseh, in the land of Gilead, and with him ten leading men, one leader and head of his family from each tribe in Israel; 15 every one of them was head of his family among the clans of Israel. When they came to the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half tribe of Manasseh in the land of Gilead, this is what they said to them:

16 "This is our message to you from the whole community of Yahweh: What do you mean by this treachery committed against the God of Israel? Why turn aside from Yahweh today, building yourselves an altar, an act of rebellion today against Yahweh himself?

17 "Was the sin at Peor not enough, the sin from which we are not cleansed even now, in spite of the plague that ravaged the whole community of Yahweh?
 18 Since then, you have stopped following Yahweh today, since you set yourselves in revolt against him today, tomorrow his anger will be roused against the whole community of Israel.

- 19 "Do you think your territory is unclean? Then cross over into the territory of Yahweh, where his tabernacle is, and choose a home among us. But do not rebel against Yahweh or make us accomplices in rebellion by building an altar 20 to vie with the altar of Yahweh our God. 'When Achan son of Zerah betrayed his trust in the matter of the ban, did not the wrath come down on the whole community of Israel, although he was only one man? Did he not have to die for his sin?'"

The tribes from across the Jordan clear their name

- 21 The Reubenites, the Gadites and the half tribe of Manasseh spoke in their turn and answered the heads of the clans of Israel:
22 "The God of gods, Yahweh, the God of gods, Yahweh well knows, and let Israel know it too: if there has been defiance or treachery on our part against Yahweh, let him not save us today; 'or if we have built an altar to turn away from Yahweh and offer holocaust and oblation and communion sacrifice 24 on it, let Yahweh punish us for it! 'The truth is, we acted from fear and for this reason: one day your children might say to ours, 'What link have you with 25 Yahweh the God of Israel? 'Has not Yahweh set the boundary of the Jordan between us and you, you sons of Reuben and sons of Gad? You have no share in Yahweh.' Thus your children might be the cause of stopping ours from paying reverence to Yahweh.
26 "So we said to each other, 'Let us build this altar, not for holocausts or other 27 sacrifices 'but as a witness between us and you and among our descendants after us, proving that we do indeed worship Yahweh with our holocausts, our victims and our communion sacrifices in his presence. So that one day your 28 children will not be able to say to ours: You have no share in Yahweh. 'But if ever it were to happen that they said such a thing to us or to our descendants in the future, we should say to them: Look at this structure, Yahweh's altar, made by our ancestors not for holocausts or other sacrifices but as a witness 29 between us and you.' 'We have no intention of defying Yahweh or turning away from serving him today by building an altar for holocausts or oblations or sacrifices to vie with the altar of Yahweh our God that stands before his tabernacle!"

Peace restored

- 30 When Phinehas the priest, the leaders of the community and the heads of the clans of Israel who were with him heard the words spoken by the sons of Gad 31 and of Reuben and of Manasseh, they approved of them. 'Then the priest Phinehas son of Eleazar said to the sons of Reuben and sons of Gad and sons of Manasseh, "Now we clearly see that Yahweh is among us, because you have not committed any treachery against him; this means you have saved the children of Israel from the punishment of Yahweh."
32 The priest Phinehas son of Eleazar and the leaders left the Reubenites and the Gadites and returned from the land of Gilead to the land of Canaan and the Israelites, to whom they brought back this answer. 'The Israelites were 33 pleased to hear this; they gave thanks to God and spoke no more of marching against them and making war and ravaging the country where the sons of Reuben and of Gad had settled. 'The Reubenites and the Gadites named the altar . . . , 34 "Because," they said, "it will be a witness between us that Yahweh is God."

B. JOSHUA'S LAST WORDS TO THE PEOPLE

Joshua sums up his work

- 1 23 Long after Yahweh had given Israel rest from all the enemies around 2 them—Joshua was old now, far advanced in years—Joshua summoned all Israel, their elders, chief men, judges and scribes, and said to them, "I myself 3 am old, far advanced in years; you for your part have witnessed all that Yahweh your God has done to all these nations before your eyes; Yahweh your God 4 himself has fought for you. Now as an inheritance for your tribes, I have apportioned you by lot the peoples who still remain to be conquered, no less than those that I have wiped out between the Jordan and the Great Sea in the west.

 5 Yahweh your God will himself drive them out before you; he will cast them out before you and you will take possession of their country as Yahweh your God promised you.

A rule of life among foreign peoples

6 "Therefore stand firm to keep and fulfill all that is written in the Book of the 7 Law of Moses, never turning aside from it to right or left, never mingling with the peoples who are still left beside you. Do not utter the names of their gods, do not swear by them, do not serve them and do not bow down before them.
 8 No; you must be loyal to Yahweh your God as you have been till now. Because 9 of this, Yahweh has driven out great and powerful nations before you, and no 10 one so far has been able to resist you. One man of you could rout a thousand of them, because Yahweh your God himself fought for you as he had promised 11 you. Be very careful, as you value your life, to love Yahweh your God.
 12 "But if you prove faithless, if you make friends with the remnant of those peoples who are still left beside you, if you form kinships with them and inter-13 marry, then know for certain that Yahweh your God will no longer drive these peoples before you; instead, they will be a snare and a pitfall for you, a scourge to your sides and thorns in your eyes, till you vanish from this good land which Yahweh your God has given you.
 14 "And now today I must go the way of all the earth. Acknowledge with all your heart and soul that of all the promises of good that Yahweh your God has made you, not one has failed: all have been fulfilled, and not one has failed.
 15 "But just as every promise of good made to you by Yahweh your God has been fulfilled for you, so also will Yahweh fulfill against you all his threats of evil, even to driving you out of the good land that Yahweh your God has given you.
 16 "For if you violate the covenant which Yahweh your God has demanded of you, if you go and serve other gods and bow down before them, then Yahweh's anger will be roused against you and you will quickly vanish from the good land that he has given you."

C. THE GREAT ASSEMBLY AT SHECHEM*

Israel's vocation set forth once more

1 24 Joshua gathered all the tribes of Israel together at Shechem; then he called the elders, leaders, judges and scribes of Israel, and they presented 2 themselves before God. Then Joshua said to all the people:

"Yahweh the God of Israel says this, 'In ancient days your ancestors lived beyond the River—such was Terah the father of Abraham and of Nahor—and 3 they served other gods. Then I brought your father Abraham from beyond the River and led him through all the land of Canaan. I increased his descendants 4 and gave him Isaac. To Isaac I gave Jacob and Esau. To Esau I gave the mountain country of Seir as his possession. Jacob and his sons went down into Egypt.
 5 Then I sent Moses and Aaron and plagued Egypt with the wonders that I worked 6 there. So I brought you out of it. I brought your ancestors out of Egypt, and you came to the Sea; the Egyptians pursued your ancestors with chariots and horsemen as far as the Sea of Reeds. There they called to Yahweh, and he spread a thick fog between you and the Egyptians, and made the sea go back on them and cover them. You saw with your own eyes the things I did in Egypt. Then for a long time you lived in the wilderness, until I brought you into the land of the Amorites who lived beyond the Jordan; they made war on you and I gave them into your hands; you took possession of their country because I destroyed them before you. Next, Balak son of Zippor the king of Moab arose to make war on Israel, and sent for Balaam son of Beor to come and curse you. But I would not listen to Balaam; instead, he had to bless you, and I saved you from his hand. When you crossed the Jordan and came to Jericho, those who held Jericho fought against you, as did the Amorites and Perizzites, the Canaanites, Hittites, Girgashites, Hivites and Jebusites, but I put them all into your power. I sent out hornets in front of you, which drove the two Amorite kings before you; this was not the work of your sword or your bow. I gave you a land where you never toiled, you live in towns you never built; you eat now from vineyards and olive groves you never planted.

24 a. The pact at Shechem confirmed the religious unity, and thus preserved the political unity, of the tribes.

Israel chooses Yahweh

“So now, fear Yahweh and serve him perfectly and sincerely; put away the gods that your ancestors served beyond the River and in Egypt, and serve Yahweh. But if you will not serve Yahweh, choose today whom you wish to serve, whether the gods that your ancestors served beyond the River, or the gods of the Amorites in whose land you are now living. As for me and my House, we will serve Yahweh.”

The people answered, “We have no intention of deserting Yahweh and serving other gods! Was it not Yahweh our God who brought us and our ancestors out of the land of Egypt, the house of slavery, who worked those great wonders before our eyes and preserved us all along the way we traveled and among all the peoples through whom we journeyed? What is more, Yahweh drove all those peoples out before us, as well as the Amorites who used to live in this country. We too will serve Yahweh, for he is our God.”

Then Joshua said to the people, “You cannot serve Yahweh, because he is a holy God, he is a jealous God who will not forgive your transgressions or your sins. If you desert Yahweh to follow alien gods he in turn will afflict and destroy you after the goodness he has shown you.” The people answered Joshua, “No; it is Yahweh we wish to serve.” Then Joshua said to the people, “You are witnesses against yourselves that you have chosen Yahweh, to serve him.” They answered, “We are witnesses.” “Then cast away the alien gods among you and give your hearts to Yahweh the God of Israel!” The people answered Joshua, “It is Yahweh our God we choose to serve; it is his voice that we will obey.”

The covenant at Shechem

That day, Joshua made a covenant for the people; he laid down a statute and ordinance for them at Shechem. Joshua wrote these words in the Book of the Law of God. Then he took a great stone and set it up there, under the oak in the sanctuary of Yahweh, and Joshua said to all the people, “See! This stone shall be a witness against us because it has heard all the words that Yahweh has spoken to us: it shall be a witness against you in case you deny your God.” Then Joshua sent the people away, and each returned to his own inheritance.

D. TWO ADDITIONS

The death of Joshua

After these things Joshua son of Nun, the servant of Yahweh, died; he was a hundred and ten years old. They buried him on the estate he had received for inheritance, at Timnath-serah which lies in the highlands of Ephraim, north ³¹ of Mount Gaash. Israel served Yahweh throughout the lifetime of Joshua and the lifetime of those elders who outlived Joshua and had known all the deeds that Yahweh had done for the sake of Israel.

The bones of Joseph. The death of Eleazar

³² The bones of Joseph, which the sons of Israel had brought from Egypt, were buried at Shechem in the portion of ground that Jacob had bought for a hundred pieces of money from the sons of Hamor, the father of Shechem, which had ³³ become the inheritance of the sons of Joseph. Then Eleazar son of Aaron died and was buried at Gibeah, the town of his son Phinehas, which had been given him in the highlands of Ephraim.

THE BOOK OF JUDGES

I. FIRST INTRODUCTION^a

A. SUMMARY ACCOUNT OF THE SETTLEMENT IN CANAAN

The settlement of Judah, Simeon, Caleb and the Kenites

- ¹ 1 After the death of Joshua the Israelites consulted Yahweh, "Which of us ² shall march up first against the Canaanites to attack them?" And Yahweh answered, "Judah is to attack first; I am delivering the country straight into his ³ hands." Then Judah said to Simeon his brother,^b "March with me into the territory allotted to me; we will attack the Canaanite, and then I in my turn ⁴ will march with you into your allotted territory." And Simeon marched with him. So Judah marched up, and Yahweh delivered the Canaanites and Periz-⁵ zites into their hands, and they routed ten thousand men at Bezek. They came on Adoni-zedek^c at Bezek, joined battle with him and routed the Canaanites ⁶ and Perizzites. Adoni-zedek took to flight, but they followed and captured ⁷ him and cut off his thumbs and big toes. Then Adoni-zedek said, "Seventy kings with their thumbs and big toes cut off used to pick up the crumbs under my table. As I did to others, so God does to me." He was taken to Jerusalem, ⁸ and there he died. (The sons of Judah attacked Jerusalem and took it: they put its people to the sword and set fire to the city.)^d
- ⁹ After this the sons of Judah went down to attack those Canaanites living ¹⁰ in the highlands and in the Negeb and the lowlands. Then Judah marched against the Canaanites in Hebron—in earlier times the name of Hebron was ¹¹ Kiriath-arba—and they overcame Sheshai and Ahiman and Talmai. From there they marched against the inhabitants of Debir—in earlier times the name of ¹² Debir was Kiriath-sepher. Caleb said, "To the man who conquers and captures ¹³ Kiriath-sepher, I will give my daughter Achsah to wife." The man who captured it was Othniel son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother; Caleb gave him his ¹⁴ daughter Achsah to wife. When she came to her husband, he urged her to ask her father for a field. Then she jumped down from her donkey, and Caleb ¹⁵ asked her, "What do you want?" She answered, "Grant me a favor; since you have banished me to the wilderness of Negeb, at least grant me some springs of water." So Caleb gave her the upper springs and the lower springs.
- ¹⁶ The sons of Hobab the Kenite, father-in-law of Moses, went up with the sons of Judah from the city of palms into the wilderness in the Negeb of Judah at the Ascent of Arad; they went and lived with the Amalekites.
- ¹⁷ Then Judah set out with his brother Simeon. They overcame the Canaanites who lived in Zephath and delivered it over to the ban; hence the town was ¹⁸ given the name of Hormah. But Judah did not take Gaza with its territory ^{19b} or Ashkelon with its territory or Ekron with its territory; they could not ^{19a} drive out the inhabitants of the plain, because they had iron chariots. Yahweh was with Judah, and Judah subdued the highlands.

20 As Moses had directed, Hebron was given to Caleb, and he drove the three 21 sons of Anak out of it. As regards the Jebusites living in Jerusalem, the sons of Benjamin did not drive them out, and even now the Jebusites are still living in Jerusalem with the sons of Benjamin.

The settlement of the House of Joseph

22 In the same way, the House of Joseph went up against Bethel, and Yahweh 23 was with them. The House of Joseph made a reconnaissance of Bethel. The 24 name of the city used to be Luz. The scouts saw a man coming out of the city, 25 and said to him, "If you show us how to enter the city, we will spare you." He showed them a way into the city. They put the inhabitants to the sword but 26 let the man go, and all his clan with him. The man went off to the country of the Hittites and built a town which he called Luz; that is its name even yet.

The settlement of the northern tribes and the Edomites

27 Manasseh did not subdue Beth-shean and its outlying villages, or Taanach and its villages. He did not drive out the inhabitants of Dor and its outlying villages, or of Ibleam and its villages, or of Megiddo and its villages; in those 28 parts the Canaanites held their ground. But when the Israelites became stronger, they subjected the Canaanites to forced labor, though they did not drive them 29 out. Nor did Ephraim drive out the Canaanites in Gezer^c; thus the Canaanites 30 went on living there among them. Zebulun did not drive out the inhabitants of Kitron or of Nahalol. The Canaanites remained among Zebulun, but were 31 subjected to forced labor. Asher did not drive out the inhabitants of Acco 32 or of Sidon or Ahlab, or Achzib . . . or Aphik or Rehob. So the Asherites lived among the Canaanite inhabitants of the country, for they did not drive 33 them out. Naphtali did not drive out the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh or of Beth-anath; they settled among the Canaanite inhabitants of the country; but the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh and of Beth-anath were compelled to do forced 34 labor for them. The Amorites drove back the Danites into the highlands 35 and would not allow them to enter the plain below. The Amorites held their ground at Har-heres and Shaalbim, but when the hand of the House of Jacob grew heavier, they were subjected to forced labor.

36 The territory of the Edomites begins at the Ascent of Akrabbim, runs to the Rock and continues on upward.

The angel of Yahweh tells Israel of ills to come

1 2 The angel of Yahweh went up from Gilgal to Bethel and came to the House of Israel; and he said, ". . . and I brought you out of Egypt and led you into this land which I swore to give your fathers. I said: I shall never break 2 my covenant with you. You for your part must make no covenant with the inhabitants of this country; you must destroy their altars. But you have not 3 obeyed my orders. What is it that you have done? Very well, I now say this:
 I am not going to drive out these nations before you. They shall become your 4 oppressors, and their gods shall be a snare for you." When the angel of Yahweh had spoken these words to all the Israelites, the people began to groan 5 and weep. And they called the name of the place Bochim,^d and offered sacrifices to Yahweh there.

1 a. In this general view of the situation after the death of Joshua, the Israelites are seen establishing themselves slowly and painfully in the highlands and having little success against the towns in the plain; tribes, and even clans, fight as isolated units. b. The tribes are personified under the names of their ancestors. c. To his own people. d. A gloss: it was David who captured Jerusalem, 2 S. 5:6f. e. On the Jerusalem-Jaffa road. The southern tribes were thus almost completely cut off from the northern.

II. SECOND INTRODUCTION

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON THE AGE OF THE JUDGES

The end of Joshua's life

6 Then Joshua told the people to go, and the Israelites went away, each to his 7 own possession, to occupy the land. The people served Yahweh throughout the lifetime of Joshua and the lifetime of those elders who outlived Joshua and had 8 known all the great deeds that Yahweh had done for the sake of Israel. Joshua son of Nun, the servant of Yahweh, died when he was a hundred and ten years 9 old. They buried him on the estate he had received for inheritance, at Timnathheres in the highlands of Ephraim, north of Mount Gaash. And when 10 that generation too had been gathered to its fathers, another generation followed it which knew neither Yahweh nor the deeds that he had done for the sake of Israel.

The unfaithfulness of succeeding generations; their punishment

11 Then the sons of Israel did what displeases Yahweh and served the 12 Baals. They deserted Yahweh, the God of their ancestors, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt, and followed other gods from the gods of the peoples 13 around them. They bowed down to these; they provoked Yahweh; they deserted 14 Yahweh to serve Baal and Astarte.^b Then Yahweh's anger flamed out against Israel. He handed them over to pillagers who plundered them; he delivered them to the enemies surrounding them, and they were not able to resist them.
15 In every warlike venture, the hand of Yahweh was there to foil them, as Yahweh had warned, as Yahweh had sworn to them. Thus he reduced them to dire distress.

The judges. No lasting conversion

16 Then Yahweh appointed judges^c for them, and rescued the men of Israel from 17 the hands of their plunderers. But they would not listen to their judges. They prostituted themselves to other gods, and bowed down before these. Very quickly they left the path their ancestors had trodden in obedience to the orders 18 of Yahweh; they did not follow their example. When Yahweh appointed judges for them, Yahweh was with the judge and rescued them from the hands of their enemies as long as the judge lived, for Yahweh felt pity for them 19 as they groaned under the iron grip of their oppressors. But once the judge was dead, they relapsed and behaved even worse than their ancestors. They followed other gods; they served them and bowed before them, and would not give up the practices and stubborn ways of their ancestors at all.

Why foreign nations were left in the land

20 Then Yahweh's anger flamed out against Israel, and he said, "Since this people has broken the covenant I laid down for their ancestors, since they have 21 not listened to my voice, in future I will not evict any of the nations that Joshua 22 left in the land when he died"; this was to test them by means of these nations, to see whether Israel would or would not tread the paths of Yahweh as once 23 their ancestors had trodden them. So Yahweh allowed these nations to remain; he did not hurry to drive them out, and did not deliver them into the hands of Joshua.

The peoples who remained

1 3 These are the nations that Yahweh let remain, to use them to test all those 2 in Israel who had never known war in Canaan (this was only in the interest of the generations of the sons of Israel, to teach them the art of war, those at least who had never known the former wars): the five chiefs of the Philistines, all the Canaanites, the Sidonians, and the Hittites who lived in the range of Lebanon, from the uplands of Baal-hermon to the Pass of Hamath. They were used to put Israel to the test and see if they would keep the orders that Yahweh had given their fathers through Moses. The Israelites lived among the Canaanites and Hittites and Amorites, the Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites; they married the daughters of these peoples, gave their own daughters in marriage to their sons, and served their gods.

III. THE STORY OF THE JUDGES

TOLD IN EPISODES

A. OTHNIEL

The Israelites^a did what displeases Yahweh. They forgot Yahweh their God and served the Baals and the Asherahs. Then Yahweh's anger flamed out against Israel: he handed them over to Cushan-rishathaim the king of Edom, and the Israelites were enslaved by Cushan-rishathaim for eight years.

The Israelites cried to Yahweh, and Yahweh raised up for the Israelites a deliverer who rescued them, Othniel son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother. The spirit of Yahweh came on him; he became judge in Israel and set out to fight. Yahweh delivered the king of Edom, Cushan-rishathaim, into his hands, and he overcame Cushan-rishathaim. Then the land enjoyed rest for forty years.

B. EHUD

When Othniel son of Kenaz died, once again the men of Israel began to do what displeases Yahweh, and Yahweh gave Eglon the king of Moab power over Israel, because they had done what displeases Yahweh. Eglon in alliance with the sons of Ammon and Amalek marched against Israel and conquered them and took possession of the city of palms.^b The Israelites were enslaved by Eglon the king of Moab for eighteen years.

Then the Israelites cried to Yahweh, and Yahweh raised up a deliverer for them, Ehud the son of Gera the Benjaminite; he was left-handed. The men of Israel appointed him to take their tribute to Eglon the king of Moab. Ehud made a dagger—it was double-edged and a cubit long—and strapped it on under his clothes, over his right thigh. He presented the tribute to Eglon the king of Moab. This Eglon was a very fat man. Having presented the tribute, Ehud went off again with the men who had carried it; but he himself, on reaching the Idols of Gilgal,^c turned and went back and said, "I have a secret message for you, O king." The king replied, "Silence!" and all who were with him went out. Then Ehud went in. The king sat in the cool retreat of his upper room; he was alone. Ehud said to him, "I have a message from God for you, O king." The king immediately stood up from his seat. Then Ehud, using his left hand, drew the dagger he was carrying on his right thigh and thrust it into the king's belly. The hilt too went in after the blade, and the fat closed over the blade, for Ehud left the dagger in his belly; then he went out through the window. Ehud went out by the porch; he had shut and locked the doors of the upper room behind him.

b. "Baal and Astarte" or "the Baals and Astartes" is the common expression for the gods of the Canaanites. c. The "judges," regarded as divinely chosen, were rulers and governors who led a tribe or group of tribes in war rather than administrators of justice.

3 a. Here indicating only the southern tribes, Judah and Simeon. b. Jericho. c. The ring of stones mentioned in Jos. 4:19.

24 When he had gone, the servants came back and looked; the doors of the upper room were locked. They thought, "He is probably covering his feet^d in the inner part of the cool room." They waited until they no longer knew what to think, for he still did not open the doors of the upper room. At length they took the key and unlocked the room; their master lay on the ground, dead.

26 While they were waiting, Ehud had fled. He passed the Idols and escaped to safety in Seirah. When he reached the territory of Israel he sounded the horn in the highlands of Ephraim, and the Israelites came down with him from the hills, with him at their head. And he said to them, "Follow me, because Yahweh has delivered your enemy Moab into your hands." So they followed him, cut Moab off from crossing the fords of the Jordan and let no one across. On that occasion they beat the Moabites, some ten thousand men, all tough and seasoned fighters, and not one escaped. That day, Moab was humbled under the hand of Israel, and the land enjoyed rest for eighty years.

C. SHAMGAR

31 After him came Shamgar son of Anath. He routed six hundred of the Philistines with an oxgoad; he too was a deliverer of Israel.

D. DEBORAH AND BARAK

Israel oppressed by the Canaanites

1 4 When Ehud died, once again the Israelites began to do what displeases 2 Yahweh, and Yahweh handed them over to Jabin the king of Canaan who reigned at Hazor. The commander of his army was Sisera, who lived in Harosheth-ha-goiim.

3 Then the Israelites cried to Yahweh; for Jabin had nine hundred chariots plated with iron and had cruelly oppressed the Israelites for twenty years.

Deborah

4 At this time Deborah was judge in Israel, a prophetess, the wife of Lappidoth. 5 She used to sit under Deborah's Palm between Ramah and Bethel in the highlands of Ephraim, and the Israelites would come to her to have their 6 disputes decided. She sent for Barak son of Abinoam from Kedesh in Naphtali. She said to him, "This is the order of Yahweh, the God of Israel: 7 'March to Mount Tabor and take with you ten thousand men from the sons of Naphtali and the sons of Zebulun. I will entice Sisera, the commander of Jabin's army, to encounter you at the wadi Kishon with his chariots and 8 troops; and I will put him into your power.'" Barak answered her, "If you come with me, I will go; if you will not come, I will not go, for I do not know how to choose the day when the angel of Yahweh will grant me success." 9 "I will go with you then," she said, "but, the way you are going about it, the glory will not be yours; for Yahweh will deliver Sisera into the hands of a 10 woman." Then Deborah stood up and went with Barak to Kedesh, and there Barak summoned Zebulun and Naphtali. Ten thousand men marched behind him, and Deborah marched with him.

Heber the Kenite

11 Heber the Kenite had cut himself off from the tribe of Kain and the clan of the sons of Hobab, the father-in-law of Moses; he had pitched his tent near the Oak of Zaananim, not far from Kedesh.

Sisera routed

12 When Sisera heard that Barak son of Abinoam was encamped on Mount 13 Tabor, he called for all his chariots—nine hundred chariots plated with iron—and all the troops he had. He summoned them from Harosheth-ha-goiim 14 to the wadi Kishon. Deborah said to Barak, “Up! For today is the day Yahweh has put Sisera into your power. Yes, Yahweh marches at your head.” And Barak charged down from Mount Tabor with ten thousand men behind him.

 15 At Barak’s advance, Yahweh struck terror into Sisera, all his chariots and all 16 his troops. Sisera leaped down from his chariot and fled on foot. Barak pursued the chariots and the army as far as Harosheth-ha-goiim. Sisera’s whole army fell by the edge of the sword; not one man escaped.

Sisera slain

17 Sisera meanwhile fled on foot toward the tent of Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite. For there was peace between Jabin the king of Hazor and the family 18 of Heber the Kenite. Jael came out to meet Sisera and said to him, “My lord, stay here with me; do not be afraid!” He stayed there in her tent, and she covered 19 him with a rug. He said to her, “Please give me a little water to drink, for I am thirsty.” She opened the skin that had milk in it, gave him some to drink and 20 covered him up again. Then he said to her, “Stand at the tent door, and if anyone 21 comes and questions you—if he asks, ‘Is there a man here?’, say, ‘No.’” But Jael the wife of Heber took a tent peg, and picked up a mallet; she crept up softly to him and drove the peg into his temple right through to the ground. He 22 was lying fast asleep, worn out; and so he died. And now Barak came up in pursuit of Sisera. Jael went out to meet him and said, “Come in, and I will show you the man you are looking for.” He went into her tent; Sisera lay dead, with the tent peg through his temple.

Israel delivered

23 Thus God that day humbled Jabin the king of Canaan before the Israelites.
 24 And the Israelites bore down more and more heavily on Jabin the king of Canaan, until he was utterly destroyed.

THE SONG OF DEBORAH AND BARAK

1 5 They sang a song that day, Deborah and Barak son of Abinoam, and the words were:

2 “That warriors in Israel unbound their hair, that the people came forward with a will,
 for this, bless Yahweh!

3 “Listen, you kings! Give ear, you princes!
 From me, from me comes a song for Yahweh.
 I will glorify Yahweh, God of Israel.

4 “Yahweh, when you set out from Seir,^a as you trod the land of Edom, earth shook, the heavens quaked, the clouds dissolved into water.
 5 The mountains melted before Yahweh, before Yahweh, the God of Israel.

6 “In the days of Shamgar the son of Anath, in the days of Jael, every highroad was forsaken;
 those who went forth on their travels through bypaths took their way.

d. Euphemism: relieving nature.

5 a. Here meaning Sinai.

- 7 "Dead, dead were Israel's villages until you rose up, O Deborah, you rose up, a mother in Israel.
- 8 "Those that should stand for God were dumb.
From five cities, not one shield!
Not one spear from forty thousand in Israel!
- 9 "My heart beats fast for Israel's chieftains, with those of the people who stood forth boldly.
For this, bless Yahweh!
- 10 "You who ride on white she-asses, you with caparisons beneath you, and you who walk the highways, sing to the shouts of a rejoicing people gathered about the watering places.
11 There they extol Yahweh's blessings, the blessings of his reign in Israel.
(Yahweh's people marched down to the gates.)
- 12 "Awake, awake, Deborah!
Awake, awake, declaim a song!
Take heart, arise Barak, capture your captors, son of Abinoam!
- 13 "Then Israel marched down to the gates; Yahweh's people, like heroes, marched down to fight for him.
- 14 "Ephraim's princes are in the valley.
Your brother Benjamin joins your ranks.
From Machir, captains have come down;
from Zebulun, those with the staff of office.
15 The princes of Issachar are with Deborah;

- 31 "So perish all your enemies, Yahweh!
And let those who love you be like the sun when he arises in all his strength!"

And the land enjoyed rest for forty years.

E. GIDEON AND ABIMELECH

1. THE CALLING OF GIDEON

Israel oppressed by the Midianites

- 1 6 The Israelites did what displeases Yahweh; Yahweh gave them over for seven 2 years into the hands of Midian, and Midian bore down heavily on Israel.
To escape from Midian the Israelites used the mountain clefts and the caves 3 and shelters. Whenever Israel sowed seed, Midian would march up with Amalek 4 and the sons of the East; they would march up against Israel and encamp on their territory and destroy the produce of the country as far as Gaza. They 5 left Israel nothing to live on, not a sheep or ox or donkey, for they came up as thick as locusts with their own cattle and their tents; they and their camels 6 were past counting, they overran and pillaged the country. Thus Midian brought Israel to great distress, and the Israelites cried to Yahweh.

b. By this time Dan had emigrated, and apparently the men of the tribe hired out their labor to Phoenician shipmasters.

A message from a prophet

7 When the Israelites cried to Yahweh because of Midian, Yahweh sent a 8 prophet to the Israelites. This was his message, "Thus Yahweh speaks, the God of Israel. 'It was I who brought you out of Egypt and led you out of a house 9 of slavery. I rescued you from the power of the Egyptians and the power of all who oppressed you. I drove them out before you and gave you their land, 10 and I said to you: I am Yahweh your God. Do not reverence the gods of the Amorites in whose land you now live. But you have not listened to my words.'"

The angel of Yahweh appears to Gideon

11 The angel of Yahweh came and sat under the terebinth at Ophrah which belonged to Joash of Abiezer. Gideon his son was threshing wheat inside the 12 winepress to keep it hidden from Midian, when the angel of Yahweh appeared to him and said, "Yahweh is with you, valiant warrior!" Gideon answered him, 13 "Forgive me, my lord, but if Yahweh is with us, then why is it that all this is happening to us now? And where are all the wonders our ancestors tell us of when they say, 'Did not Yahweh bring us out of Egypt?' But now Yahweh has deserted us: he has abandoned us to Midian."

14 At this Yahweh turned to him and said, "Go in the strength now upholding you, and you will rescue Israel from the power of Midian. Do I not send you 15 myself?" Gideon answered him, "Forgive me, my lord, but how can I deliver Israel? My clan, you must know, is the weakest in Manasseh and I am the least 16 important in my family." Yahweh answered him, "I will be with you and you shall 17 crush Midian as though it were a single man." Gideon said to him, "If I have found favor in your sight, give me a sign that it is you who speak 18 to me. I beg you. do not go away until I come back, I will bring you my offering and set it down before you." And he answered, "I will stay until you return."

19 Gideon went away and prepared a young goat and made unleavened cakes with an ephah of flour. He put the meat into a basket and the broth into a pot, 20 then brought it all to him under the terebinth. As he came near, the angel of Yahweh said to him, "Take the meat and unleavened cakes, put them on this 21 rock and pour the broth over them." Gideon did so. Then the angel of Yahweh reached out the tip of the staff in his hand and touched the meat and unleavened cakes. Fire sprang from the rock and consumed the meat and unleavened cakes, 22 and the angel of Yahweh vanished before his eyes. Then Gideon knew this was the angel of Yahweh, and he said, "Alas, my Lord Yahweh! I have seen 23 the angel of Yahweh face to face!" Yahweh answered him, "Peace be with you; 24 have no fear; you will not die." Gideon built an altar there to Yahweh and called it Yahweh-Peace. This altar still stands at Ophrah of Abiezer.

Gideon and Baal^c

25 Now that night Yahweh said to Gideon, "Take your father's fattened calf, and pull down the altar to Baal belonging to your father and cut down the 26 sacred post at the side of it. Then, on the top of this bluff, build a carefully constructed altar to Yahweh your God. Then take the fattened calf and burn it 27 as a holocaust on the wood of the sacred post you have cut down." Then Gideon chose ten of his servants and did as Yahweh had ordered him. But since he stood too much in fear of his family and the townspeople to do this by day, 28 he did it by night. Next morning, when the townspeople got up, the altar to Baal had been destroyed, the sacred post that had stood beside it was now cut down, and the fattened calf had been burned as a holocaust on the newly-built 29 altar. Then they said to each other, "Who has done this?" They searched, made 30 inquiries and declared, "Gideon son of Joash has done it." Then the townspeople said to Joash, "Bring out your son for he must die, since he has destroyed the 31 altar to Baal and cut down the sacred post that stood beside it." Joash answered all those mustered around him, "Would you plead for Baal? Would you champion his cause? (Let anyone who pleads for Baal be put to death before dawn.) If he is a god, let him plead for himself, now that Gideon has destroyed his altar." 32 That day Gideon was given the name of Jerubbaal,^b because, they said, "Baal must plead against him, seeing that he has destroyed his altar."

The call to arms

33 Then all Midian and Amalek and the sons of the East joined forces, crossed 34 the Jordan and encamped in the plain of Jezreel. And the spirit of Yahweh 35 came on Gideon; he sounded the horn and Abiezer rallied behind him. He sent messengers throughout Manasseh, and Manasseh too rallied behind him; he sent messengers to Asher, Zebulun and Naphtali, and they too marched out to meet him.

The trial with the fleece

36 Gideon said to God, "If you really mean to deliver Israel by my hand, as you 37 have declared, see now, I spread out a fleece on the threshing floor; if there 38 is dew only on the fleece and all the ground is left dry, then I shall know that you will deliver Israel by my hand, as you have declared." And so it happened.
 Gideon rose the next morning, squeezed the fleece and wrung enough dew out 39 of the fleece to fill a drinking cup. Then Gideon spoke to God again, "Do not be angry with me if I speak once again. Let me make trial with the fleece just once more. Let the fleece alone be dry, and let there be dew on the ground 40 all around it." And God did so that night. The fleece alone stayed dry, and there was dew on the ground all around it.

2. GIDEON MAKES WAR WEST OF THE JORDAN

Yahweh cuts down the numbers of Gideon's army

1 7 Jerubbaal (that is, Gideon) got up very early, as did all the people with him; he pitched camp at En-harod; the camp of Midian was north of his, under 2 the Hill of Moreh in the valley. Then Yahweh said to Gideon, "There are too many people with you for me to put Midian into their power; Israel might claim the credit for themselves at my expense: they might say, 'My own hand 3 has rescued me.' Therefore, make this proclamation now to the people: 'Let anyone who is frightened or fearful go home!'" Gideon put them to the test.
 Twenty-two thousand men went home, and ten thousand were left.
 4 Yahweh said to Gideon, "There are still too many people. Take them down to the waterside and I will sift them there. If I say of a man: He is to go with you, that man is to go with you. And if I say of a man: He is not to go 5 with you, that man is not to go." So Gideon took the people down to the waterside, and Yahweh said to him, "All those who lap the water with their tongues, as a dog laps, place these on one side. And all those who kneel down 6 to drink, place these on the other side." The number of those who lapped with their tongues was three hundred; all the rest of the people had knelt to drink.
 7 Then Yahweh said to Gideon, "With the three hundred who lapped the water I will rescue you and put Midian into your power. Let all the others go back, 8 every man to his own home." Gideon made the people give him what pitchers and horns they had, then sent away all the Israelites, each to his own tent, keeping only the three hundred with him. The camp of Midian was below his own in the valley.

6 a. A second account of the call of Gideon. b. Folk derivation; the name in fact has the opposite sense, "Baal defend him."

An omen of victory

9 Now it came about that in the night Yahweh said to him, "Get up and go 10 down to the camp. I am putting it into your power. However, if you are afraid 11 to make the assault, go down first to the camp with your servant Purah; listen to what they are saying; you will be encouraged by it and then you will march against the camp." So with his servant Purah he went down to the outposts of the camp.

12 Midian and Amalek and all the sons of the East stretched through the valley as thick as locusts; their camels were innumerable like the sand on the seashore.
13 Gideon came up just as a man was telling his comrade a dream; he was saying, "I had a dream: a cake made of barley bread came rolling through the camp of Midian; it reached the tent, struck against it and turned it upside 14 down." His comrade answered, "This can be nothing else than the sword of Gideon son of Joash the Israelite. God has put Midian and all the camp into 15 his power." When Gideon heard the dream thus told and interpreted, he fell to his knees; then he returned to the camp of Israel and said, "On your feet, for Yahweh has put the camp of Midian into your power!"

The surprise attack

16 Gideon then divided his three hundred men into three companies. To each man he gave a horn and an empty pitcher, with a torch inside each pitcher.
17 He said to them, "Watch me, and do as I do. When I reach the edge of the 18 camp, whatever I do, you do too. When I sound the horn, I and those with me, then you too must sound your horns all around the camp and shout, 'For Yahweh and for Gideon!'"

19 Gideon and his hundred companions reached the edge of the camp at the beginning of the middle watch, when the new sentries had just been posted; 20 they sounded their horns and smashed the pitchers in their hands. The three companies sounded their horns and smashed their pitchers; with their left hands they grasped the torches, with their right hands the horns ready to blow; and 21 they shouted, "For Yahweh and for Gideon!" And they stood still, spaced out all around the camp. Then the whole camp woke and the Midianites fled, 22 shouting. While the three hundred kept sounding their horns, Yahweh made every man in the camp turn his sword against his comrade. They all fled as far as Beth-shittah toward Zarethan, as far as the bank of Abel-meholah opposite Tabbath.

The pursuit

23 The men of Israel mustered from Naphtali, Asher and all Manasseh, and 24 pursued Midian. Gideon sent messengers throughout the highlands of Ephraim to say, "Come down and fight Midian, seize the water points as far as Beth-barah and the Jordan before they reach them." All the men of Ephraim 25 mustered and seized the water points as far as Beth-barah and the Jordan. They captured the two Midianite chieftains, Oreb and Zeeb; they killed Oreb at Oreb's Rock and Zeeb at Zeeb's Winepress. They pursued Midian; and they brought Gideon the heads of Oreb and of Zeeb beyond the Jordan.

The Ephraimites take offense

1 8 Now, the men of Ephraim said to Gideon, "What do you mean by treating us like this, not summoning us when you went to fight with Midian?" And 2 they reproached him bitterly. He answered, "What have I done when compared to you? Is not the gleaning of Ephraim's grapes better than the vintage of 3 Abiezer? Into your power Yahweh has given the chieftains of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb. Can what I managed to do compare with what you have done?" And at these words their anger left them.

3. GIDEON MAKES WAR BEYOND THE JORDAN. GIDEON'S END

Gideon pursues the enemy beyond the Jordan

4 Gideon reached the Jordan and crossed it, but he and his three hundred 5 companions were tired out and famished. "So he said to the men of Succoth, "Please give my followers a few loaves of bread, because they are tired out, and 6 I am pursuing Zebah and Zalmunna,^a the kings of Midian." "The chieftains of Succoth answered, "Give bread to your army? Are the hands of Zebah and 7 Zalmunna already in your grasp?" "And Gideon answered, "Very well! When Yahweh has put Zebah and Zalmunna into my power, I will tear your flesh 8 with desert thorn and briar." "From there he went up to Penuel and asked the men of Penuel the same thing; they answered as those of Succoth had done.
 9 And to those of Penuel he made a similar reply, "When I return victorious, I will destroy this tower."

The defeat of Zebah and Zalmunna

10 Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor with their army, about fifteen thousand men, all who remained of the army of the sons of the east. Those who had 11 fallen were a hundred and twenty thousand fighting men. "Gideon went up to the nomads' way, eastward of Nobah and Jogbehah, and routed the army when 12 it thought itself in safety. "Zebah and Zalmunna fled. He pursued them; he took the kings of Midian prisoner, both Zebah and Zalmunna. And he utterly destroyed the army."

Gideon's acts of vengeance

13 After the battle, Gideon returned by the Ascent of Heres. "He seized a young 14 man, one of the people of Succoth, and questioned him, and the young man wrote down the names of the chieftains and elders of Succoth for him—seventy-15 seven men. "Then Gideon came to the people of Succoth and said, "Here you see Zebah and Zalmunna, about whom you taunted me and said, 'Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your grasp, for us to give bread to 16 your tired troops?' " "Then he seized the elders of the city, and took desert thorn 17 and briar and tore the men of Succoth with them. "He destroyed the tower 18 of Penuel and slaughtered the townsmen. "Then he said to Zebah and Zalmunna, "The men you killed at Tabor—what were they like?" They answered, "They 19 looked like you. Every one of them carried himself like the son of a king." "Gideon replied, "They were my brothers, the sons of my own mother; as Yahweh lives, 20 if you had spared their lives I would not kill you." "Then he ordered Jether his eldest son: "Stand up and kill them." But the boy did not draw his sword; he 21 dared not; he was still only a lad. "Then Zebah and Zalmunna said, "Stand up yourself, and strike us down; for as a man is, so is his strength." Then Gideon stood up and killed Zebah and Zalmunna; and he took the crescents from around their camels' necks."

Gideon triumphant. His end

22 The men of Israel said to Gideon, "Rule over us, you and your sons and 23 your grandson,^b because you have rescued us from the power of Midian." "But Gideon answered them, "It is not I who shall rule over you, nor my son; Yahweh 24 must be your lord." "But Gideon went on, "Let me make one request of you.
 Let every man of you give me one of the rings out of his spoils"—for the 25 vanquished army had golden rings, because they were Ishmaelites. "They answered, "Gladly." So he spread out his cloak, and on it they threw, every man 26 of them, a ring taken from their spoils. "The weight of the golden rings he had asked for reached seventeen hundred shekels of gold, besides the crescents and the earrings and purple garments worn by the kings of Midian, and besides the 27 collars around their camels' necks, too. •Of all this, Gideon made an ephod^a and put it in his own city of Ophrah. After him, all Israel prostituted themselves to it, and it was a snare for Gideon and his family.

28 Thus Midian was humbled before the Israelites. They did not lift up their heads again, and the land enjoyed rest for forty years, as long as Gideon lived.
 29 So Jerubbaal son of Joash withdrew and lived in his own house. •Gideon had 30 seventy sons begotten by him, for he had many wives. •His concubine, who 31 lived in Shechem, bore him a son too, whom he called Abimelech. •Gideon 32 son of Joash was blessed in his old age; he died, and was buried in the tomb of Joash his father, at Ophrah of Abiezer.

Israel relapses into idolatry

33 After Gideon's death, the people of Israel again began to prostitute themselves 34 to the Baals, and took Baal-berith for their god. •The Israelites no longer remembered Yahweh their God, who had rescued them from all the enemies 35 around them. •And toward the family of Jerubbaal—Gideon—they remained ungrateful for all its good deeds to Israel.

4. THE REIGN OF ABIMELECH

Abimelech becomes king

1 9 Abimelech son of Jerubbaal came to his mother's brothers at Shechem and 2 said to them and the whole clan of his mother's family, "Please put this question to the leading men of Shechem: Which is better for you, to be ruled by seventy—I mean all the sons of Jerubbaal—or to be ruled by one? Remind 3 yourselves also that I am your own flesh and blood." •His mother's brothers spoke of him to all the leading men of Shechem in these terms, and their hearts inclined toward Abimelech, for they told themselves, "He is our brother."
 4 So they gave him seventy shekels of silver from the temple of Baal-berith, and with this Abimelech paid worthless scoundrels to follow him. •Then he went 5 to his father's house at Ophrah and murdered his brothers, the seventy sons of Jerubbaal, on the selfsame stone. Only the youngest son of Jerubbaal escaped, 6 for he had gone into hiding; this was Jotham. •Then all the leading men of Shechem and all Beth-millo gathered, and proclaimed Abimelech king by the terebinth of the pillar at Shechem.

Jotham's fable

7 News of this was brought to Jotham. He came and stood on the top of Mount Gerizim and shouted aloud for them to hear:

"Hear me, leaders of Shechem, that God may also hear you!

8 "One day the trees went out to anoint a king to rule over them.
 They said to the olive tree, 'Be our king!'

9 "The olive tree answered them,
 'Must I forgo my oil which gives honor to gods and men, to stand swaying above the trees?'

10 "Then the trees said to the fig tree,
 'Come now, you be our king!'

11 "The fig tree answered them,
 'Must I forgo my sweetness, forgo my excellent fruit,

to stand swaying above the trees?"

12 "Then the trees said to the vine,
'Come now, you be our king!'

13 "The vine answered them,
'Must I forgo my wine which cheers the heart of gods and men,
to stand swaying above the trees?'

14 "Then all the trees said to the thorn bush,
'Come now, you be our king!'

15 "And the thorn bush answered the trees,
'If in all good faith you anoint me king to reign over you, then come and shelter in my shade.
If not, fire will come from the thorn bush and devour the cedars of Lebanon.'

16 "In the same way, therefore, if you have acted in sincerity and good faith in making Abimelech king, if you have dealt honorably with Jerubbaal and 17 his family, and have acted toward him as his own deeds deserve . . .^a My father on his side fought for you, risked his life, rescued you from the power of Midian; 18 you on your side have risen today against my father's family, you have murdered his seventy sons on the selfsame stone; and to rule the leading men of Shechem you have set up Abimelech, the son of his slave girl, because he is your brother.
19 If, I say, you have acted in sincerity and good faith toward Jerubbaal and his 20 family, then may Abimelech be your joy and may you be his. If not, may fire come out of Abimelech and devour the leading men of Shechem and Beth-millo, and fire come out of the leading men of Shechem and Beth-millo to devour Abimelech."

21 Then Jotham took flight; he escaped and made his way to Beer; and there he remained, to be out of the reach of his brother Abimelech.

The men of Shechem revolt against Abimelech

22 Abimelech ruled over Israel for three years.^b Then God sent a spirit of discord between Abimelech and the leaders of Shechem, and the leaders of 24 Shechem rebelled against Abimelech. And this was so that the crime committed against Jerubbaal's seventy sons should be avenged, and their blood recoil on their brother Abimelech who had murdered them and on those leaders of 25 Shechem who had helped him to murder his brothers. To spite him, the leaders of Shechem put men in ambush on the mountain tops, and these robbed anyone 26 traveling their way. Abimelech was told of this. Gaal son of Ebed, with his brothers, happened to pass through Shechem and won the confidence of the 27 leaders of Shechem. They went out into the countryside to harvest their vineyards; they trod the grapes and held rejoicings and went into the temple 28 of their god. They ate and drank there and cursed Abimelech. Then Gaal son of Ebed exclaimed, "Who is Abimelech, and what is Shechem, that we should be his slaves? Would it not be more fitting for the son of Jerubbaal and Zebul his delegate to serve the men of Hamor, the father of Shechem? Why should 29 we be his slaves? Who will put this people under my command? Then I would drive Abimelech out and say to him: Reinforce your army and come and 30 fight." Zebul the governor of the city was told what Gaal son of Ebed had

c. Apparently some kind of religious emblem which later became the object of idolatrous worship. In other passages, the ephod is a receptacle for the sacred lots and is worn by the priests.
9 a. The interrupted construction is resumed in v.19. b. I.e., over Shechem and a few Israelite clans.

31 said, and he was furious. •He sent messengers to Abimelech at Arumah, bidding them tell him, “Listen! Gaal son of Ebed has come to Shechem with his brothers, and they are stirring up the town against you. •Move, therefore, under cover of dark, you and the men you have with you, and take up concealed positions in the countryside; •then in the morning at sunrise leave them quickly and advance against the town. When Gaal and his men come out to meet you, do with him as occasion serves.” •So Abimelech set off under cover of dark with all the men he had and took up concealed positions opposite Shechem, in four companies. •And as Gaal son of Ebed came out and paused at the entrance to the gate of the town, Abimelech and the men with him rose from their ambush. Gaal saw these men and said to Zebul, “Look, there are men coming down from the tops of the mountains!” Zebul answered, “You mistake the shadow of the mountains for men.” •But Gaal said again, “Look, there are men coming down from the Navel of the Land, and another band is on its way from Diviners’ Oak.” •Then Zebul said to him, “What has become of your boasting now, you who said, ‘Who is Abimelech that we should be his slaves?’ Are not these the men you made light of? Sally out now, then, and fight them.” •So Gaal sallied out at the head of the leaders of Shechem and fought with Abimelech. But Abimelech drove Gaal before him; Abimelech went in pursuit of Gaal who fled before him, and many of his men fell dead before they reached the town gate. •Then Abimelech went back to Arumah, and Zebul drove out Gaal and his brothers and prevented them from living in Shechem.

Shechem destroyed and Migdal-shechem taken 42 Next day the people went out into the country, and Abimelech was told of this. •He took his men, divided them into three companies and lay in wait in the fields. When he saw the people leaving the town, he bore down on them and cut them to pieces. •While Abimelech and the company with him advanced and took up their post at the entrance to the town gate, the two other companies fell on everyone in the fields and slaughtered them. •All that day Abimelech attacked the town. He stormed it and slaughtered the people inside, razed the town and sowed it with salt. •On hearing this, the leading men of Migdal-shechem took refuge in the crypt of the temple of El-berith. •As soon as Abimelech heard that all the leaders of Migdal-shechem had gathered there, he went up to Mount Zalmon with all his men. Then taking an ax in his hands, he cut off the branch of a tree, picked it up and put it on his shoulder, and said to the men with him, “Do what you have seen me do, and do it quickly.” •So all his men set to work cutting down branches, one each; then they followed Abimelech and heaped the branches on the crypt, and set it on fire over those inside.^c All the inhabitants of Migdal-shechem perished too, about a thousand men and women.

The siege of Thebez: the death of Abimelech

50 Then Abimelech marched against Thebez, besieged it and stormed it. •In the middle of the town there was a fortified tower in which all the men and women and all the leading men of the town took refuge. They locked the door behind them and climbed up to the roof of the tower. •Abimelech reached the tower and attacked it. As he was approaching the door of the tower to set it on fire, 53 a woman threw down a millstone on his head and crushed his skull. •He called his armor-bearer at once and said to him, “Draw your sword and kill me, that no one may say of me, ‘A woman killed him.’” His armor-bearer ran 55 him through, and he died. •When the men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, they withdrew, each to his own home.

56 Thus God made the evil recoil on Abimelech that he had done to his father by murdering his seventy brothers, •as God made all the wickedness of the people of Shechem recoil on their own heads too. And so the curse of Jotham son of Jerubbaal came true for them.

JEPHTHAH AND THE LESSER JUDGES

F. TOLA

¹ 10 After Abimelech, Tola son of Puah, son of Dodo, rose to deliver Israel. He belonged to Issachar and lived at Shamir in the mountain country of Ephraim. He was judge in Israel for twenty-three years; then he died and was buried at Shamir.

G. JAIR

³ After him rose Jair of Gilead, who judged Israel for twenty-two years. He had thirty sons who rode on thirty donkeys' colts; and they possessed thirty towns, which are still called the Encampments of Jair, in the land of Gilead. Then Jair died and was buried at Kamon.

H. JEPHTHAH

Oppression by the Ammonites

⁶ Again the Israelites began to do what displeases Yahweh. They served the Baals and the Astartes, and the gods of Aram and Sidon, the gods of Moab and those of the Ammonites and Philistines. They deserted Yahweh and served him no more. Then Yahweh's anger flamed out against Israel and he gave them over into the power of the Philistines and the power of the Ammonites, who from that year onward crushed and oppressed the men of Israel for eighteen years—all the Israelites who lived beyond the Jordan, in the Amorite country in Gilead. The Ammonites also crossed the Jordan to fight Judah, Benjamin and the House of Ephraim, and Israel's distress was very great. Then the Israelites cried to Yahweh and said, "We have sinned against you, because we have turned from Yahweh our God to serve the Baals." And Yahweh said to the Israelites, "When the Egyptians and the Amorites, the Ammonites and the Philistines, the Sidonians and Amalek and Midian oppressed you and you cried to me, did I not rescue you from their power? But you on your part have turned from me and served other gods; and so I shall rescue you no more. Go and cry to the gods you have chosen. Let them rescue you in your time of trouble." The Israelites answered Yahweh, "We have sinned. Do with us as you think fit; only do rescue us today." They got rid of the foreign gods that they had, and served Yahweh, and he could bear Israel's suffering no longer.

¹⁷ The Ammonites mustered and pitched their camp in Gilead. The Israelites rallied and camped at Mizpah. Then the people, the chieftains of Gilead, said to each other, "Who will volunteer to fight the sons of Ammon? He shall be made leader of all the inhabitants of Gilead."

Jephthah lays down his terms

¹ 11 Jephthah the Gileadite was a valiant warrior. He was the son of a harlot. Gilead was Jephthah's father, but Gilead's wife also bore him sons, and the sons of this wife, when they grew up, drove Jephthah out, saying, "You are to have no share in our father's inheritance, because you are the son of an alien woman." Jephthah fled from his brothers and made his home in the land of Tob. Worthless followers gathered around him and used to go raiding with him.

⁴ Some time after this, the Ammonites took up arms against Israel. And when the Ammonites had attacked Israel, the elders of Gilead went to fetch Jephthah from the land of Tob. "Come," they said, "and be our commander, and we can

c. Thus avoiding the sacrilege of spilling blood in a consecrated sanctuary.

7 fight the Ammonites.” •But Jephthah answered the elders of Gilead, “Was it not you who hated me and drove me out of my father’s house? Why come to me 8 when you are in trouble?” •The elders of Gilead answered Jephthah, “That is exactly why we have come back to you. Come with us; fight the Ammonites and 9 be our leader, leader of all the inhabitants of Gilead.” •Jephthah answered the elders of Gilead, “If you take me home to fight the Ammonites and Yahweh puts 10 them at my mercy, I am to be your leader?” •The elders of Gilead answered Jephthah, “Yahweh be witness between us. May we be accursed if we do not 11 do as you have said!” •So Jephthah set off with the elders of Gilead. The people set him at their head as leader and commander; and Jephthah repeated all his conditions at Mizpah in Yahweh’s presence.

Jephthah negotiates with the Ammonites

12 Jephthah sent messengers to the king of the Ammonites to say to him, “What 13 is the trouble between us, for you to come and make war on my country?” •The king of the Ammonites answered Jephthah’s messengers, “The reason is that 14 when Israel came up from Egypt, they seized my land from the Arnon to the Jabbok and the Jordan. Give it back peaceably now.” •Jephthah sent messengers 15 to the king of the Ammonites •with this answer, “Jephthah says this: ‘Israel 16 seized neither the land of Moab nor the land of the Ammonites. •When Israel came out of Egypt, they passed through the wilderness to the Sea of Reeds 17 and reached Kadesh. •Then Israel sent messengers to the king of Edom to say to him: Please let us pass through your country, but the king of Edom would 18 not listen. They sent similarly to the king of Moab, but he refused, and Israel remained at Kadesh; •later they made their way through the wilderness, going 19 around the countries of Edom and Moab until they were to the east of Moab territory. The people encamped beyond the Arnon but did not cross the border 20 of Moab, for the Arnon itself is the boundary there. •Then Israel sent messengers to Sihon the king of the Amorites, who ruled at Heshbon. Israel’s message was:
21 Please let us pass through your country to our destination. •But Sihon would not let Israel pass through his territory; he mustered his whole army; they 22 encamped at Jahaz, and he then joined battle with Israel. •Yahweh the God of Israel delivered Sihon and his whole army into the power of Israel; Israel 23 defeated them and took possession of the whole country of the Amorites who lived in that region. Thus they came to occupy the whole country of the 24 Amorites, from the Arnon to the Jabbok and from the wilderness to the Jordan. And now that Yahweh the God of Israel has driven the Amorites out before 25 his people Israel, will one such as you dispossess us? •Do you not possess all that Chemosh your god took from its owners?’” •In the same fashion, whatever 26 Yahweh our God took from its owners, that we possess too. •Are you a better man than Balak son of Zippor, the king of Moab? Did he challenge Israel?
27 Did he make war against them? •When Israel settled in Heshbon and its outlying villages, or in Jazer and its villages, or in any of the towns on the banks 28 of the Jordan (three hundred years), why did you not recover those places then? •I for my part have committed no sin against you, rather, you for your part are wronging me by making war on me. Let Yahweh the Judge give judgment today between the sons of Israel and the king of the Ammonites.’” •But the king of the Ammonites took no notice of the message Jephthah had sent him.

Jephthah’s vow and his victory

29 The spirit of Yahweh came on Jephthah, who crossed Gilead and Manasseh, passed through to Mizpah in Gilead, and from Mizpah in Gilead made his way 30 to the rear of the Ammonites. •And Jephthah made a vow to Yahweh, “If you 31 deliver the Ammonites into my hands, •then the first person to meet me from the door of my house when I return in triumph from fighting the Ammonites 32 shall belong to Yahweh, and I will offer him up as a holocaust.”^b •Jephthah marched against the Ammonites to attack them, and Yahweh delivered them into his power. He harassed them from Aroer almost to Minnith (twenty towns) and to Abel-keramim. It was a very severe defeat, and the Ammonites were humbled before the Israelites.

As Jephthah returned to his house at Mizpah, his daughter came out from it to meet him; she was dancing to the sounds of timbrels. This was his only child; apart from her he had neither son nor daughter. When he saw her, he tore his clothes and exclaimed, "Oh my daughter, what sorrow you are bringing me! Must it be you, the cause of my ill-fortune! I have given a promise to Yahweh, and I cannot unsay what I have said." She answered him, "My father, you have given your promise to Yahweh; treat me as the vow you took binds you to, since Yahweh has given you vengeance on your enemies the Ammonites." Then she said to her father, "Grant me one request. Let me be free for two months. I shall go and wander in the mountains, and with my companions bewail my virginity." He answered, "Go," and let her depart for two months. So she went away with her companions and bewailed her virginity in the mountains. When the two months were over, she returned to her father, and he treated her as the vow that he had uttered bound him. She had never known a man. From this comes this custom in Israel for the daughters of Israel to leave home every year and to lament the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite for four days every year.

War between Ephraim and Gilead. The death of Jephthah

12 The men of Ephraim mobilized; they crossed the Jordan, making for Zaphon, and said to Jephthah, "Why did you go to fight the Ammonites without asking us to go with you? We shall burn you and your house." Jephthah answered them, "My people and I were hard put to it, the Ammonites pressed us hard. I summoned you to help me, but you did not rescue me from their hands. When I saw that no one came to my help, I took my life in my hands and marched against the Ammonites, and Yahweh handed them over to me. Why then today come up against me to make war on me?" Then Jephthah mustered all the men of Gilead and joined battle with Ephraim, and the men of Gilead routed Ephraim, because these kept saying, "You are no more than deserters from Ephraim, you Gileadites in the heart of Ephraim and Manasseh." Then Gilead cut Ephraim off from the fords of the Jordan, and whenever an Ephraimite fugitive said, "Let me cross," the men of Gilead asked him, "Are you an Ephraimite?" If he answered "No," they said, "Then say Shibboleth." He would say "Sibboleth," since he could not pronounce the word correctly. Thereupon they seized and slaughtered him by the fords of the Jordan. There perished in this way forty-two thousand men of Ephraim.

Jephthah was judge in Israel for six years. Then Jephthah the Gileadite died, and was buried in his own town, Mizpah in Gilead.

I. IBZAN'

After him, Ibzan of Bethlehem^a was judge in Israel. He had thirty sons and thirty daughters. He gave his daughters in marriage outside his clan, and brought in thirty brides from outside for his sons. He was judge in Israel for seven years. Then Ibzan died and was buried in Bethlehem.

11 a. Milcom was in fact the god of Ammonites; Chemosh was the principal god of the Moabites. b. Human sacrifice was forbidden by the Law but made its way into Israel through Canaanite influence.

12 a. Bethlehem of Zebulun.

J. ELON

¹¹ After him, Elon of Zebulun was judge in Israel. He was judge in Israel for ¹² ten years. Then Elon of Zebulun died and was buried at Elon in the land of Zebulun.

K. ABDON

¹³ After him, Abdon son of Hillel of Pirathon was judge in Israel. He had ¹⁴ forty sons and thirty grandsons who rode on seventy donkeys' colts. He was ¹⁵ judge in Israel for eight years. Then Abdon son of Hillel of Pirathon died, and he was buried at Pirathon in the mountain country of Ephraim, in the land of Shaalim.

Samson's birth foretold

¹ 13 Again the Israelites began to do what displeases Yahweh, and Yahweh delivered them into the hands of the Philistines for forty years.
² There was a man of Zorah of the tribe of Dan, called Manoah. His wife ³ was barren, she had borne no children. The angel of Yahweh appeared to this ⁴ woman and said to her, "You are barren and have had no child. But from now on take great care. Take no wine or strong drink, and eat nothing unclean.
⁵ For you will conceive and bear a son. No razor is to touch his head, for the boy shall be God's nazirite from his mother's womb. It is he who will begin to ⁶ rescue Israel from the power of the Philistines." Then the woman went and told her husband, "A man of God has just come to me; his presence was like the presence of the angel of God, he was so majestic. I did not ask him where ⁷ he came from, and he did not reveal his name to me. But he said to me, 'You will conceive and bear a son. From now on, take no wine or strong drink, and eat nothing unclean. For the boy shall be God's nazirite from his mother's womb to his dying day.'"

The angel appears a second time

⁸ Then Manoah pleaded with Yahweh and said, "I beg you, Lord, let the man of God that you sent come to us once again and instruct us in what we must do ⁹ with the boy when he is born." Yahweh heard Manoah's prayer for favor, and the angel of Yahweh visited the woman again as she was sitting in the field; her husband Manoah was not with her. The woman ran quickly and told her husband: "Look," she said, "the man who came to me the other day has appeared ¹¹ to me again." Manoah rose and followed his wife, and he came to the man and said to him, "Are you the man who spoke to this woman?" He answered, "I am."
¹² Manoah went on, "When your words are fulfilled, what is to be the boy's rule ¹³ of life? How must he behave?" And the angel of Yahweh answered Manoah, ¹⁴ "The things that I forbade this woman, let him refrain from too. Let him taste nothing that comes from the vine, let him take no wine or strong drink, let him ¹⁵ eat nothing unclean, let him obey all the orders I gave this woman." Manoah then said to the angel of Yahweh, "Do us the honor of staying with us while ^{16b} we prepare a kid for you." For Manoah did not know this was the angel ^{16a} of Yahweh. The angel of Yahweh said to Manoah, "Even if I did stay with you, I would not eat your food; but if you wish to prepare a holocaust, offer it to Yahweh."
¹⁷ Manoah then said to the angel of Yahweh, "What is your name, so that we may honor you when your words are fulfilled?" The angel ¹⁸ of Yahweh replied, "Why ask my name? It is a mystery." Then Manoah took ¹⁹ the kid and the oblation and offered it as a holocaust on the rock to Yahweh 20 who works mysteries. As the flame went up heavenward from the altar, the angel of Yahweh ascended in the flame in the sight of Manoah and his wife, 21 and they fell face downward on the ground. After this, the angel of Yahweh did not appear any more to Manoah and his wife, by which Manoah understood 22 that this had been the angel of Yahweh. And Manoah said to his wife, "We 23 are certain to die, because we have seen God." His wife answered him, "If Yahweh had meant to kill us, he would not have accepted a holocaust and 24 oblation from our hands; he would not have told us all these things." The woman gave birth to a son and called him Samson. The child grew, and Yahweh blessed 25 him; and the spirit of Yahweh began to move him in the Camp of Dan, between Zorah and Eshtaol.

Samson marries

1 14 Samson went down to Timnah, and there he noticed one of the daughters 2 of the Philistines. He came up again and told his father and mother this. "At Timnah," he said, "I noticed one of the daughters of the Philistines. Get 3 her for me, then, to be my wife." His father and mother said to him, "Is there no woman among those of your own clan or among your whole nation, for you to seek a wife among these uncircumcised Philistines?" But Samson answered 4 his father, "Get this one for me; get her, because I like her." His father and mother did not know that all this came from Yahweh, who was seeking an occasion for quarreling with the Philistines; since at this time the Philistines had Israel in their power.

5 Samson went down to Timnah, and as he reached the vineyards of Timnah 6 he saw a young lion coming roaring toward him. The spirit of Yahweh seized on him, and though he had no weapon in his hand he tore the lion in pieces as if 7 a man tears a kid; but he did not tell his father or mother what he had done. He 8 went down and talked to the woman, and he liked her. Not long after this, Samson came back to marry her. He went out of his way to look at the carcass 9 of the lion, and there was a swarm of bees in the lion's body, and honey. He took up some honey in his hand and ate it as he went along. On returning to his father and mother, he gave some to them, which they ate too, but he did not 10 tell them he had taken it from the lion's carcass. Then he went down to the woman, and they made a feast for Samson for seven days there, for such is 11 the custom of young men. But because they were frightened of him, they chose thirty companions to stay with him.

Samson's riddle

12 Then Samson said to them, "Let me ask you a riddle. If you find the answer within the seven days of the feast, I will give you thirty pieces of fine linen and 13 thirty festal robes. But if you cannot find the answer, then you in your turn must give me thirty pieces of fine linen and thirty festal robes." "Ask your riddle," 14 they replied, "we are listening." So he said to them:

"Out of the eater came what is eaten, and out of the strong came what is sweet."

But three days went by and they could not solve the riddle.

15 On the fourth day they said to Samson's wife, "Cajole your husband into telling you the answer to the riddle, or we will burn you and your father's house 16 together. Did you invite us here to rob us?" Then Samson's wife fell on his neck in tears and said, "You only hate me, you do not love me. You have asked my fellow countrymen a riddle and not even told me the answer." He said to her, 17 "I have not even told my father or mother, why should I tell you?" She wept on his neck for the seven days their feast lasted. She was so persistent that on the seventh day he told her the answer, and she in turn told her fellow countrymen what the answer to the riddle was.

18 So on the seventh day, before Samson entered the bridal room, the men of the town said to him:

“What is sweeter than honey, and what stronger than a lion?”

He retorted:

“If you had not plowed with my heifer, you would never have guessed my riddle.”

19 Then the spirit of Yahweh seized on him. He went down to Ashkelon, killed thirty men there, took what they wore and gave the festal robes to those who had answered the riddle, then burning with rage returned to his father's house.
20 Then Samson's wife was given to the companion who had been his best man.

Samson sets fire to the crops of the Philistines

1 15 Not long after this, at the time of the wheat harvest, Samson went back to see his wife; he had brought a kid for her; he said, “I wish to go to my wife in her room.” But her father would not let him enter. “I felt sure,” he said, “that you had taken a real dislike to her, so I gave her to your companion. But would not her younger sister suit you better? Have her instead of the other.”
3 Samson answered them, “I can only get my own back on the Philistines now 4 by doing them some damage.” So Samson went off and caught three hundred foxes, then took torches and turning the foxes tail to tail put a torch between 5 each pair of tails. He lit the torches and set the foxes free in the Philistines' cornfields. In this way he burned both sheaves and standing corn, and the vines and olive trees as well.

6 The Philistines asked, “Who has done this?” and received the answer, “Samson, who married the Timnite's daughter; his father-in-law took the wife back again and gave her to his companion instead.” Then the Philistines went up and burned 7 the woman and her family to death. Samson said to them, “Since this is how 8 you behave, I swear I will not rest till I have had my revenge on you.” And he fell on them for all he was worth and caused great havoc. Then he went down to the cave in the Rock of Etam, and stayed there.

The donkey's jawbone

9 The Philistines came up and encamped in Judah and made a foray against Lehi.

10 The men of Judah said to them, “Why are you attacking us?” They answered, “We have come to seize Samson and to do to him what he did to us.”
11 Then three thousand of the men of Judah went down to the cave in the Rock of Etam and said to him, “Do you not know that the Philistines have us in their power? Now what have you done to us?” He answered, “What they did to me 12 I did to them.” Then they said to him, “We have come down to take you, to hand you over to the Philistines.” He said to them, “Swear to me not to kill me 13 yourselves.” They answered, “No; we only want to bind you and hand you over to them; we certainly do not want to kill you.” Then they bound him with two new ropes and brought him up from the Rock.

14 As he approached Lehi, and the Philistines came running toward him with triumphant shouts, the spirit of Yahweh seized on Samson; the ropes on his arms became like burned strands of flax and the bonds melted off his hands.
15 Catching sight of the fresh jawbone of a donkey, he reached out and snatched 16 it up; then with it he struck down a thousand men. And Samson said:

“With the jawbone of a donkey I have thrashed them; with the jawbone of a donkey I have struck down a thousand men.”

17 And with this, he hurled the jawbone from him; and that is why the place was 18 called Ramath-lehi. And as he was thirsty, he called on Yahweh and said,

"You yourself have worked this great victory by the hand of your servant; and now must I die of thirst and fall into the hands of the uncircumcised?" Then God opened a hollow in the ground, the hollow there is at Lehi, and water gushed out of it. Samson drank; his vigor returned and he revived. And therefore this spring was called En-hakkore; it is still at Lehi today. Samson was judge in Israel in the days of the Philistines for twenty years.

The gates of Gaza

16 From here Samson went on to Gaza, and seeing a harlot there he went into her house. The news was told to the men of Gaza, "Samson has arrived." They surrounded the place and kept watch for him at the gate of the town. All that night they made no move, thinking, "We will wait till daybreak; then we will kill him." Samson however stayed in bed till midnight, and rising at midnight, he seized the doors of the town gate and the two posts as well; he tore them up, bar and all, hoisted them on to his shoulders and carried them to the top of the hill facing Hebron and there he left them.

Samson is betrayed by Delilah

After this, Samson fell in love with a woman in the Vale of Sorek; she was called Delilah. The chiefs of the Philistines visited her and said to her, "Cajole him and find out where his great strength comes from, and how we can master him and bind him and reduce him to helplessness. In return we will each give you eleven hundred silver shekels."

Delilah said to Samson, "Please tell me where your great strength comes from, and what would be needed to bind you and tame you." Samson answered, "If I were bound with seven new bowstrings that had not yet been dried, I should lose my strength and become like any other man." The chiefs of the Philistines brought Delilah seven new bowstrings that had not yet been dried and she took them and bound him with them. She had men concealed in her room, and she shouted, "The Philistines are on you, Samson!" Then he snapped the bowstrings as a strand of tow snaps at a touch of the fire. So the secret of his strength remained unknown.

Then Delilah said to Samson, "You have been laughing at me and telling me lies. But now please tell me what would be needed to bind you." He answered, "If I were bound tightly with new ropes that have never been used, I should lose my strength and become like any other man." Then Delilah took new ropes and bound him with them, and she shouted, "The Philistines are on you, Samson!" She had men concealed in her room, but he snapped the ropes around his arms like thread.

Then Delilah said to Samson, "Up to now you have been laughing at me and telling me lies. Tell me what would be needed to bind you." He answered, "If you wove the seven locks of my hair into the warp of the web and fixed the peg firmly, I should lose my strength and become like any other man." She lulled him to sleep, then wove the seven locks of his hair into the warp, fixed the peg and shouted, "The Philistines are on you, Samson!" He woke from his sleep and pulled out both stuff and peg. So the secret of his strength remained unknown.

Delilah said to him, "How can you say you love me when you do not trust me? Three times now you have laughed at me and have not told me where your great strength comes from." And day after day she persisted with her questions, and allowed him no rest, till he grew tired to death of it. At last he told her his whole secret; he said to her, "A razor has never touched my head, because I have been God's nazirite from my mother's womb. If my head were shorn, then

15 a. A play on the words "donkey" and "thrash" is lost in translation; similarly the place name Ramath-lehi is here explained as "jawbone thrown."

- my power would leave me and I should lose my strength and become like any other man." Then Delilah realized he had told his whole secret to her; she had the chiefs of the Philistines summoned and given this message, "Come just once more: he has told his whole secret to me." And the chiefs of the Philistines came to her with the money in their hands. She lulled Samson to sleep in her lap, and summoned a man who sheared the seven locks off his head. Then he began to lose his strength, and his power left him. She cried, "The Philistines are on you, Samson!" He awoke from sleep, thinking, "I shall break free as I did before and shake myself clear." But he did not know that Yahweh had turned away from him. The Philistines seized him, put out his eyes and took him down to Gaza. They fettered him with a double chain of bronze, and he spent his time turning the mill in the prison.
- 22 But the hair that had been shorn off began to grow again.

Samson's revenge and death

- 23 The chiefs of the Philistines assembled to offer a great sacrifice to Dagon their god and to rejoice. They said:

"Into our hands our god has delivered Samson our enemy."

- 24 And as soon as the people saw their god, they acclaimed him, shouting his praises:

"Into our hands our god has delivered Samson our enemy,
the man who laid our country waste and killed so many of us."

- 25 And as their hearts were full of joy, they shouted, "Send Samson out to amuse us." So Samson was brought out of prison, and he performed feats for them; then he was put to stand between the pillars. But Samson said to the boy who was leading him by the hand, "Lead me where I can touch the pillars supporting the building, so that I can lean against them." Now the building was crowded with men and women. All the chiefs of the Philistines were there, while about three thousand men and women were watching Samson's feats from the roof. Samson called on Yahweh and cried out, "Lord Yahweh, I beg you, remember me; give me strength again this once, and let me be revenged on the Philistines at one blow for my two eyes." And Samson put his arms around the two middle pillars supporting the building, and threw all his weight against them, his right arm against one and his left arm against the other; and he cried out, "May I die with the Philistines!" He thrust now with all his might, and the building fell on the chiefs and on all the people there. Those he killed at his death outnumbered those he had killed in his life. His brothers and his father's whole family came down and carried him away. They took him up and buried him between Zorah and Eshtaol in the tomb of Manoah his father. He had been judge in Israel for twenty years.

IV. ADDITIONS

A. THE SANCTUARY OF MICAH AND THE SANCTUARY OF DAN

The household shrine of Micah

- ¹_{2a} 17 In the highlands of Ephraim there was a man called Micayehu. He said to his mother, "The eleven hundred silver shekels which were taken from you and concerning which you uttered a curse, going on to say—I heard it with my own ears—I solemnly declare that of my own free will I consecrate
- _{3b}

this silver to Yahweh, to make a carved image (and an idol of cast metal)"— I myself have that silver; I was the one who took it, and now I give it back to you." His mother answered, "May my son be blessed by Yahweh!" And Micayehu gave her back the eleven hundred silver shekels.

Then his mother took two hundred silver shekels and gave them to the metal-worker. From them he made a carved image (and an idol of cast metal), and this was placed in the house of Micah, who built a shrine for it, and then made an ephod and teraphim, and installed one of his sons to act as priest for him.

In those days there was no king in Israel, and every man did as he pleased.
 There was a young man of Bethlehem in Judah, of the clan of Judah, who was a Levite and resided there as a stranger. This man left the town of Bethlehem in Judah to look for a place where he could find a home. In his travels he came to the highlands of Ephraim and to Micah's house. Micah asked him, "Where do you come from?" The other answered him, "I am a Levite from Bethlehem in Judah. I am traveling and looking for a place where I can find a home." Micah said to him, "Stay here with me; be a father and a priest for me, and I will give you ten silver shekels a year, and food and clothing"; and he urged the Levite. The Levite agreed to remain in the man's house, and the young man became like one of his sons to him. Micah installed the Levite; the young man became Micah's priest and stayed in his house. And Micah said, "Now I know that Yahweh will prosper me, because I have this Levite as my priest."

The Danites go in search of a territory

1 18 In those days there was no king in Israel.
 Now in those days the tribe of Dan was in search of a territory to live in, because up till then no territory had fallen to them among the tribes of Israel.
 From their clan the Danites sent five brave men from Zorah and Eshtaol to reconnoiter the country and explore it. They said to them, "Go and explore the country." The five men came to the highlands of Ephraim and to Micah's house, and spent the night there. When they were near Micah's house, they recognized the voice of the young Levite, and turning that way they said to him, "Who brought you here? What are you doing here? What is keeping you here?" He answered, "Micah has done such and such for me. He pays me a wage and I act as his priest." They replied, "Then consult God and find out for us whether the journey we are making will be successful." The priest replied, "Go in peace; the journey you are making is under the eye of Yahweh." So the five men set out, and came to Laish. They saw that the people there lived in security like the Sidonians, peaceful and trusting, that nothing lacked there of all that the earth yields, and that they were far from the Sidonians and had no relations with the Aramaeans. Then they went back to their kinsfolk at Zorah and Eshtaol, and when these asked them, "What can you tell us?" they answered, "We went and passed through the country as far as Laish. We saw that the people there live in security like the Sidonians. They are far from Sidon and have no relations with Aram. Up, and let us march against them, for we have seen the country and it is very good. But you—why stand there speechless?
 Set out for Laish without delay and take possession of the country. When you reach it, you will find a defenseless people. The country is wide; God has put in your power a place where there is nothing lacking of all that man can want on earth."

The migration of the Danites

So men of the tribe of Dan set out from Zorah and Eshtaol, six hundred of them, armed for war. They went up and camped at Kiriath-jearim in Judah; and for this reason the place is still called the Camp of Dan today. It lies west of Kiriath-jearim. From there they entered the highlands of Ephraim and came to Micah's house.

14 Then the five men who had been to explore the country spoke to their brothers and said, "Do you know that there is an ephod in these houses, and teraphim and a carved image (and an idol in cast metal)? So now think what you have 15 to do." They turned aside and went to the young Levite's dwelling in Micah's 16 house, and greeted him. While the six hundred men of the Danites, armed 17 for war, stood at the threshold of the gate, the five who had set out to explore the country went on into the house and took the carved image and ephod and teraphim (and the idol of cast metal), while the priest remained at the threshold 18 of the gate with the six hundred men armed for war. These men, having entered Micah's house, took the carved image, the ephod and the teraphim (and the 19 idol of cast metal). But the priest said, "What are you doing?" They answered, "Hush! Put your hand over your mouth and come with us. You shall be a father and a priest for us. Is it better for you to be priest for one man's household, or 20 to be priest for a tribe and clan in Israel?" The priest was overjoyed; he took the ephod and teraphim and the carved image and set off in the middle of the band of men.

21 They left by the way they came, putting the women, children, cattle and 22 valuables in front of them. They had gone some way from Micah's home when the neighbors with houses next to his gave the alarm and set off in pursuit 23 of the Danites. And as they shouted after them, the Danites turned around and 24 asked Micah, "What is all this shouting about?" He answered, "You have taken away the god I made for myself; you have taken away the priest as well. You go on your way, and what is left for me? How can you ask me, 'What is this about?'" 25 The Danites answered, "Let us hear no more from you, or men may lose their tempers and fall on you. You may bring about your own destruction and that 26 of your household." So the Danites went on their way; and since Micah saw they were the stronger, he turned and went home.

Laish taken. Dan and its sanctuary founded 27 So taking with them the god that Micah had made and the priest who had served him, the Danites marched against Laish, against a peaceful and trusting 28 people. They slaughtered all the inhabitants and set the town on fire. There was no one to help the town because it was a long way from Sidon and had no relations with the Aramaeans. It lay in the valley running toward Beth-rehob.

29 They rebuilt the town and settled in it, and called it Dan after Dan their father who had been born to Israel, although the town was originally called Laish.
30 The Danites erected the carved image for their own use. Jonathan son of Gershom, son of Moses, and his sons after him were priests for the tribe of Dan till the 31 day when the inhabitants of the country were carried away into exile. The carved image that Micah had made they enshrined for their own use, and there it stayed as long as the house of God remained at Shiloh.^a

B. THE CRIME AT GIBEAH AND THE WAR AGAINST BENJAMIN^a

The Levite of Ephraim and his concubine

1 19 In those days, when there was no king in Israel, there was a Levite, whose home was deep in the highlands of Ephraim. He took as 2 concubine a woman from Bethlehem in Judah. In a fit of anger his concubine left him and returned to her father's house at Bethlehem in Judah, and she stayed 3 there for some four months. Her husband set out to visit her, to reason with her and fetch her back; he had his servant and two donkeys with him. As he approached the house of the girl's father, the father saw him and came very 4 joyfully to meet him. His father-in-law, the father of the girl, made him his guest; and he stayed with him for three days; they ate and drank and spent the 5 night there. On the fourth day they got up early, and the Levite was preparing to leave when the girl's father said to his son-in-law, "Have a bite of food to fortify yourself; you can leave later." So they sat down and began eating and drinking, the two of them together; then the girl's father said to the young man, "Come, say you will spend tonight here too, and enjoy yourself." And when the man got up to leave, the father-in-law pressed him again, and he spent another night there. On the fifth morning the Levite got up early to leave, but the girl's father said to him, "Eat something first, I beg you." So they whiled away the time till the day began to decline, and the two of them ate together. The husband was preparing to leave with his concubine and his servant when his father-in-law, the father of the girl, said to him, "Look, the day is drawing toward evening. Spend the night here and enjoy yourself. Early tomorrow you can go and return to your tent." But the man would not stay the night there; he got up and set off and came within sight of Jebus—that is, Jerusalem. He had with him two donkeys saddled, and his concubine and his servant.

The crime of the men of Gibeah

By the time they were near Jerusalem, the day was fast going. The servant said to his master, "Please let us leave the road now and enter this Jebusite town and spend the night there." His master answered, "We will not enter a town of foreigners, of people who are not Israelites; we will go on to Gibeah instead." He went on to say to the servant, "Come on, we will try to reach one or other of those places, either Gibeah or Ramah, and spend the night there." So they kept on, continuing their journey. As they approached Gibeah in Benjamin the sun was already setting. So they turned that way to spend the night in Gibeah. Inside the town, the Levite sat down in the middle of the public square, but no one offered to take them into his house for the night.

But an old man came their way, who was returning at nightfall from his work in the fields. He was a man from the highlands of Ephraim, and a foreigner resident in Gibeah, the men of the place being Benjaminites. Raising his eyes, he saw the traveler sitting in the public square of the town; the old man asked him, "Where have you come from? Where are you going?" The other answered, "We are on our way from Bethlehem in Judah to a place deep in the highlands of Ephraim. That is where I come from. I have been to Bethlehem in Judah and now I am going home, but no one has offered to take me into his house, although we have straw and provender for our donkeys, and I have bread and wine as well for myself and this maidservant and the young man who is traveling with your servant; we are short of nothing." The old man answered, "Welcome to you! Let me see to all your needs; you cannot spend the night in the public square." So he took him into his house and gave the donkeys provender. The travelers washed their feet, then ate and drank.

As they were at their cheerful meal, some men from the town, scoundrels, came crowding together around the house; they battered on the door and said to the old man, the master of the house, "Send out the man who has come into your house, so that we can abuse him." Then the master of the house went out to them and said, "No, my brothers; I implore you, do not commit this crime. This man has become my guest; do not commit such an infamy.^a Here is my daughter, she is a virgin; I will give her to you. Possess her, do what you please with her, but do not commit such an infamy against the man." The men would not listen to him. So the Levite took his concubine and brought her out to them. They had intercourse with her and outraged her all night till morning; when dawn was breaking they let her go.

At daybreak the girl came and fell on the threshold of her husband's host, and she stayed there till it was full day. In the morning her husband got up and opened the door of the house; he was coming out to continue his journey when he saw the woman who had been his concubine lying at the door of the house with her hands on the threshold. He said to her, "Stand up; we must go." There was no answer. Then he laid her across his donkey and began the journey home. Having reached his house, he picked up his knife, took hold of his concubine, and limb by limb cut her into twelve pieces; then he sent her all through the land of Israel. He instructed his messengers as follows, "This is what you are to say to all the Israelites, 'Has any man seen such a thing from the day the Israelites came out of the land of Egypt, until this very day? Ponder on this, discuss it; then give your verdict.'" And all who saw it declared, "Never has such a thing been done or been seen since the Israelites came out of the land of Egypt."

The Israelites pledge themselves to avenge the crime at Gibeah

20 So all the sons of Israel came out, and the whole community, from Dan to Beersheba and the land of Gilead, gathered together as one man in the presence of Yahweh at Mizpah. The leaders of all the people and all the tribes of Israel were present at this assembly of the people of God, four hundred thousand foot soldiers who could handle the sword. The Benjaminites heard that the sons of Israel had gone up to Mizpah . . . Then the sons of Israel said, "Tell us how this crime was committed." The Levite, the husband of the murdered woman, spoke in reply and said, "I had come with my concubine to Gibeah in Benjamin, to spend the night there. The men of Gibeah rose against me and in the night surrounded the house where I was lodging; as for me, they wanted to kill me, and as for my concubine, they raped her to death. Then I took my concubine, cut her in pieces and sent her throughout all the territory that Israel inherited because these men have committed an infamy in Israel. You have all met together here, men of Israel. Discuss the matter and make your decision here and now." All the people stood up as one man and said, "Not one of us will return to his tent, not one of us will go back to his house. Now, this is what we shall do to Gibeah. We will cast lots, and select ten men from every hundred from each of the tribes of Israel, and a hundred from every thousand, and a thousand from every ten thousand; they will collect food for the army, for those who will go and punish Gibeah in Benjamin for the infamy they have committed in Israel." So all the men of Israel mustered against that town, united as one man.

The Benjaminites remain stubborn

The tribes of Israel sent messengers out through the whole tribe of Benjamin, saying, "What is this crime that has been committed among you? Come now, give up these men, these scoundrels from Gibeah, so that we may put them to death and banish wickedness from the midst of Israel." But the Benjaminites would not listen to their brother Israelites.

The first encounters

The Benjaminites left their towns and mustered at Gibeah to fight the Israelites. The Benjaminites from these various towns had counted their numbers that day, and in all there were twenty-five thousand men who could handle the sword, besides the inhabitants of Gibeah. In this great army were seven hundred picked men who could fight with both hands; every one of these could sling a stone at a hair and not miss it. The men of Israel also took a count. Without Benjamin, there were four hundred thousand of them who could handle the sword; all experienced fighters. They set off and went up to Bethel to consult God. The Israelites put the question, "Which of us should go out first to attack the Benjaminites?" And Yahweh answered, "Judah shall go first." In the morning the Israelites marched out and pitched their camp facing Gibeah. Then advancing to engage Benjamin they drew up their line in front

21 of the town. But the Benjaminites sallied out from Gibeah and that day killed 22 twenty-two thousand Israelites, who were left on the field. The Israelites went and wept before Yahweh until evening; then they consulted Yahweh; they asked, "Shall we join battle again with the sons of our brother Benjamin?" Yahweh 23 answered, "March against him." Then the army of the people of Israel took heart afresh; and again they drew up their line for battle in the same place as 24 the day before. This second day the Israelites advanced on the Benjaminites; 25 but again this second day Benjamin sallied out from Gibeah against them and killed eighteen thousand Israelites, who were left on the field; they were all 26 experienced fighters who could handle the sword. Then all the Israelites and the whole people went up to Bethel; they wept and sat in Yahweh's presence; they fasted all day till the evening and offered holocausts and communion 27 sacrifices before Yahweh; then the Israelites consulted Yahweh. The ark of the 28 covenant of God was there in those days, and Phinehas son of Eleazar son of Aaron was the priest who ministered at it at that time. They said, "Ought we to go again and fight the sons of our brother Benjamin, or should we stop?" Yahweh answered, "March; for tomorrow I shall deliver him into your power."

Benjamin is conquered and wiped out 29 Then Israel stationed men in ambush around Gibeah. On the third day the 30 Israelites marched against the Benjaminites and, just as before, they drew up 31 their line in front of the town. The Benjaminites made a sally against them and let themselves be drawn away from the town. As before, they began by killing those of the people who were on the road that runs up to Bethel and on the road that runs up to Gibeon; and there in the open country they killed 32 about thirty men of Israel. The Benjaminites thought, "They have had to fall back in front of us as before"; but the Israelites decided, "Let us take to flight 33 and draw them away from the town along the highroads. Then the main body of the army of Israel, leaving its position, will form up for battle at Baal-tamar, but meanwhile the Israelites in ambush will rush forward from their position 34 west of Geba." Then ten thousand picked men, chosen from the whole of Israel, appeared before Gibeah. The battle was fierce. The Benjaminites did not 35 suspect the disaster hanging over them. Yahweh defeated Benjamin before Israel, and on that day the Israelites killed twenty-five thousand one hundred 36 men of Benjamin, all men who could handle the sword. The Benjaminites, seeing themselves defeated . . .^a

The men of Israel had given ground to Benjamin because they relied on the 37 ambush they had set against Gibeah. The men in ambush quickly poured out 38 and reached Gibeah and put the whole town to the sword. For it had been agreed between the Israelite army and the troops in ambush that these should 39 raise a smoke signal from the town, whereupon the Israelites in the thick of the battle would turn about. Now Benjamin had begun by killing men of the Israelite army, about thirty of them; so they were thinking, "Plainly we have routed them 40 now as we did before." But the signal, a column of smoke, began to rise from the town, and the Benjaminites looking back saw the whole town going up in 41 flames to the sky. Then the Israelites turned about, and the Benjaminites were seized with terror, for they saw that disaster was imminent.

They retreated before Israel, making for the wilderness, but the main body of Israel pressed them hard, while the others coming out of the town surprised 43 and slaughtered them from the rear. They hemmed the Benjaminites in, pursued 44 them relentlessly and crushed them opposite Geba on the east. Eighteen 45 thousand men of Benjamin fell, all of them brave men. The survivors turned and ran, and fled into the wilderness and toward the Rock of Rimmon. On the highroads the Israelites caught five thousand men. Then they pursued the Benjaminites to Geba and killed two thousand of them. The total number of Benjaminites who fell that day was twenty-five thousand men who could handle the sword, all of them brave men. Six hundred men had escaped into the wilderness, to the Rock of Rimmon, and there they stayed for four months. The men of Israel went back to the Benjaminites, and put all the males in the towns to the sword, the cattle too, and all that came their way. And they set on fire all the towns that they came to in Benjamin.

The Israelites relent^a

21 The men of Israel had sworn this oath at Mizpah, "Not one of us will give his daughter in marriage to Benjamin." The people went to Bethel and stayed there until evening, sitting before God with groans and bitter weeping. They said, "Yahweh, God of Israel, why must this be Israel's lot, to lose one of its tribes today?" The next day the people got up early and built an altar there; they offered holocausts and communion sacrifices. Then the Israelites said, "Which of all the tribes of Israel has not come to the assembly in Yahweh's presence?" For they had sworn a solemn oath threatening death to anyone who would not come into Yahweh's presence at Mizpah.

Now the Israelites were sorry for Benjamin their brother; "Today," they said, "one tribe has been cut off from Israel. What shall we do to find wives for those who are left, since we have sworn by Yahweh not to give them any of our own daughters in marriage?"

The maidens of Jabesh given to the Benjaminites

Then they asked the question, "Which of the tribes of Israel has not come into Yahweh's presence at Mizpah?" It was discovered that no one from Jabesh-gilead had come to the camp for the assembly; for the people had been counted over, and not one of the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead was there. Then the community sent twelve thousand of their bravest men there, with these orders: "Go and slaughter all the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead, the women and children too. This is what you must do. You are to put all the males and all women who have slept with a male under the ban, but you are to spare the maidens." They obeyed the orders. Among the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead they found four hundred young virgins who had never slept with a man, and brought them to the camp (at Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan).

Then the whole community sent messengers to offer peace to the Benjaminites who were at the Rock of Rimmon. Benjamin returned, and they were given those women from Jabesh-gilead who had been left alive; but there were not enough for all.

The daughters of Shiloh are carried off

The people were sorry for Benjamin because Yahweh had made a breach in the tribes of Israel. And the elders of the community said, "What shall we do to find wives for the survivors, since the women of Benjamin have been wiped out?" They went on, "How can we preserve a remnant for Benjamin so that a tribe may not be blotted out from Israel? We ourselves cannot give them our own daughters in marriage." For the Israelites had sworn this oath, "Cursed be any man who gives a wife to Benjamin!"

"But yet," they said, "there is Yahweh's feast which is held every year at Shiloh." (This town lies north of Bethel, east of the highway that runs from Bethel up to Shechem, and south of Lebonah.) So they gave this advice to the Benjaminites, "Place yourselves in ambush on the vineyards. Keep watch there, and when the daughters of Shiloh come out to dance in groups together, you too come out of the vineyards: seize a wife, each one of you, from the daughters of Shiloh and make for the land of Benjamin. If their fathers or brothers come to complain

- to you, we shall say to them, 'Forgive them because each one of them has taken a wife for himself, as men do in war. For if you had given them brides, you would
- ²³ have broken your oath, and so would have sinned.' " The Benjaminites did this, and from the dancers they had captured, they chose as many wives as there were men; then they set off, returned to their inheritance, rebuilt their towns and settled in them.
- ²⁴ Then the Israelites went away, each to rejoin his own tribe and clan, and returned from Shiloh each to his own inheritance.
- ²⁵ In those days there was no king in Israel, and every man did as he pleased.

THE BOOK OF RUTH

I. RUTH AND NAOMI

¹ In the days of the Judges famine came to the land and a certain man from Bethlehem of Judah went—he, his wife and his two sons—to live in the country of Moab. The man was called Elimelech, his wife Naomi and his two sons, Mahlon and Chilion^a; they were Ephrathites from Bethlehem of Judah. They came to the country of Moab and settled there. Elimelech, Naomi's husband, died, and she and her two sons were left. These married Moabite women: one was named Orpah and the other Ruth. They lived there about ten years. Then both Mahlon and Chilion also died and the woman was bereft of her two sons and her husband. So she and her daughters-in-law prepared to return from the country of Moab, for she had heard that Yahweh had visited his people and given them food. So, with her daughters-in-law, she came away from the place where she was living and they took the road back to the land of Judah.

⁸ Naomi said to her two daughters-in-law, "Go back, each of you to her mother's house. May Yahweh be kind to you as you have been to those who have died and to me. Yahweh grant that you find rest, each of you, in the house of a husband." And she kissed them. But they wept aloud and said to her, "No, we will go back with you to your people." And Naomi said, "You must return, my daughters; why come with me? Have I any more sons in my womb to make husbands for you?" Return my daughters, go, for I am too old now to marry again. Even if I said there is still hope for me, even if I were to have a husband this very night and bear sons, would you be prepared to wait until they were grown up? Would you refuse to marry for this? No, my daughters, I should then be deeply grieved for you, for the hand of Yahweh has been raised against me." And once more they started to weep aloud. Then Orpah kissed her mother-in-law and went back to her people. But Ruth clung to her.

¹⁵ Naomi said to her, "Look, your sister-in-law has gone back to her people and to her god. You must return too; follow your sister-in-law."

¹⁶ But Ruth said, "Do not press me to leave you and to turn back from your company, for

"wherever you go, I will go, wherever you live, I will live.
Your people shall be my people, and your God, my God.

¹⁷ Wherever you die, I will die and there I will be buried.
May Yahweh do this thing to me and more also,^c if even death should come between us!"

¹⁸ Seeing that she was determined to go with her, Naomi said no more.

19 The two of them went on until they came to Bethlehem. Their arrival there 20 set the whole town astir, and the women said, "Can this be Naomi?" But she said to them, "Do not call me Naomi, call me Mara,^d for Shaddai has marred me bitterly.

21 "Filled full I departed, Yahweh brings me back empty.
Why call me Naomi, then, since Yahweh has given witness against me and Shaddai has afflicted me?"

22 This was how Naomi, she who returned from the country of Moab, came back with Ruth the Moabitess her daughter-in-law. And they came to Bethlehem at the beginning of the barley harvest.

II. RUTH IN THE FIELDS OF BOAZ

1 2 Now Naomi had a kinsman on her husband's side, well-to-do and of Elimelech's clan. His name was Boaz.

2 Ruth the Moabitess said to Naomi, "Let me go into the fields and glean among the ears of corn^a in the footsteps of some man who will look on me with 3 favor." And she said to her, "Go, my daughter." So she set out and went to glean in the fields after the reapers. And it chanced that she came to that part 4 of the fields which belonged to Boaz of Elimelech's clan. Now Boaz, as it happened, had just come from Bethlehem. "Yahweh be with you!" he said to 5 the reapers. "Yahweh bless you!" they replied. Boaz said to a servant of his who 6 was in charge of the reapers, "To whom does this young woman belong?" And the servant in charge of the reapers replied, "The girl is the Moabitess, the one 7 who came back with Naomi from the country of Moab, and she said, 'Please let me glean and gather the ears of corn after the reapers.' So she came and has been on her feet from morning till now."

8 Boaz said to Ruth, "Listen, my daughter, and understand this. You are not 9 to glean in any other field, do not leave here but stay with my servants. Keep your eyes on whatever part of the field they are reaping and follow behind.
I have ordered my servants not to molest you. And if you are thirsty, go to the 10 pitchers and drink what the servants have drawn." Then she fell on her face, bowing to the ground. And she said to him, "How have I so earned your favor that 11 you take notice of me, even though I am a foreigner?" And Boaz answered her,
"I have been told all you have done for your mother-in-law since your husband's death, and how you left your own father and mother and the land where you were born to come among a people whom you knew nothing about before you 12 came here. May Yahweh reward you for what you have done! May rich recompense be made to you by Yahweh, the God of Israel, to whom you have 13 come, to find shelter beneath his wings." Then she said, "May I find favor in your eyes, my lord, since you have given me courage and spoken kindly to your maidservant, though indeed I am not the equal of one maidservant of yours."

14 When it was time to eat Boaz said to her, "Come, eat some of this bread and dip your piece in the wine." Ruth sat with the reapers and Boaz made a heap of roasted grain for her and she ate till her hunger was satisfied, and she had some 15 left over. Then she got up to glean and Boaz gave orders to his servants, "Let her 16 glean among the sheaves themselves," he said, "and do not check her. And see you pull a few ears of corn from the bundles and let them fall. Let her glean them, and do not scold her." So she gleaned in the field till evening. Then she beat out what she had gleaned and it came to about an ephah of barley.

And taking it with her, she went into the town. She showed her mother-in-law what she had gleaned and also showed her the food she had set aside after satisfying her hunger, and gave it to her. And her mother-in-law said to her, "Where did you glean today? Where have you been working? Blessed be the man who took notice of you!" Then Ruth told her mother-in-law in whose field she had worked, "The name of the man with whom I have been working today," she said, "is Boaz." Then Naomi said to her daughter-in-law, "May he be blessed by Yahweh who does not withhold his kindness from living or dead! This man," Naomi added, "is a relative of ours. He is one of those who has the right of redemption over us." Then Ruth said to her mother-in-law, "He also said to me, 'Stay with my servants until they have gathered in all my harvest.'" And Naomi said to Ruth, her daughter-in-law, "It is better for you, my daughter, to go with his servants than to go to some other field where you might be molested." So Ruth stayed with the servants of Boaz and gleaned until the barley and wheat harvests were done. And she went on living with her mother-in-law.

III. BOAZ SLEEPS

Then Naomi, her mother-in-law, said to her, "My daughter, is it not my duty to see you happily settled? And is not Boaz, with whose servants you were, our kinsman? Now tonight he is winnowing the barley at the threshing floor. Come, wash and anoint and dress yourself. Then go down to the threshing floor. Do not make yourself known to him before he has finished eating and drinking. But when he settles down to sleep, take careful note of the place where he lies, then go and turn back the covering at his feet and lie there yourself. He will tell you what to do." And Ruth said to her, "I will do all you say."

So she went down to the threshing floor and did all that her mother-in-law had told her. When Boaz had eaten and drunk, he was in a happy mood and went to lie down by the heap of barley. Then she came quietly and turned back the covering at his feet and lay there. In the middle of the night the man started up and looked about him; and there lying at his feet was a woman. "Who are you?" he said; and she replied, "I am Ruth, your maidservant. Spread the skirt of your cloak over your servant for you have right of redemption over me." "May Yahweh bless you, my daughter," said Boaz, "for this last act of kindness of yours is greater than the first, since you have not gone after young men, poor or rich. Have no fear then, my daughter, I will do whatever you ask, for the people of Bethlehem all know your worth. But, though it is true I have right of redemption over you, you have a kinsman closer than myself. Stay here for tonight, and in the morning if he wishes to exercise his right over you, very well, let him redeem you. But if he does not wish to do so, then as Yahweh lives, I will redeem you. Lie here till morning." So she lay at his feet till morning. Boaz rose before the hour when one man can recognize another, "For," said he, "it must not be known that this woman came to the threshing floor." Then he said to her, "Bring the cloak you are wearing and hold it out." She held it out while he put six measures of barley into it and then gave it to her to carry. And she went into the town.

When Ruth came back, her mother-in-law asked her, "How did things go with you, my daughter?" Then she told her all that the man had done for her. "He gave me these six measures of barley," she added, "and he said to me, 'You must not go back to your mother-in-law empty-handed.'" Naomi replied, "Wait, my daughter, and see how things will go, for he will not rest until it is settled, and settled today."

IV. BOAZ MARRIES RUTH

1 4 Meanwhile Boaz had gone up to the gate of the town and sat down, and the 2 relative of whom he had spoken chanced to come past. Boaz said to him, "Come 3 here, man, and sit down"; and he came and sat down. Then Boaz picked out 4 ten of the town's elders and said to them, "Sit down here," and they sat down.
 5 Then Boaz said to the man who had right of redemption, "Naomi, who has come 6 back from the country of Moab, is selling the piece of land that belonged to our 7 brother, Elimelech. I thought I should tell you about this and say: Buy it in the 8 presence of the men who are sitting here and in the presence of the elders of my 9 people. If you want to use your right of redemption, redeem it; if you do not, 10 tell me so and I shall know, for there is no one but you to redeem it except me, 11 though I come after you, myself." And he said, "I am willing to redeem it." But 12 Boaz continued, "On the day you purchase the land from Naomi, you purchase 13 Ruth the Moabitess also, the wife of the dead man,^a and so restore his name to 14 his inheritance." And the man with right of redemption said, "Then I cannot use 15 my right of redemption, without jeopardizing my own inheritance. As I cannot 16 use my right of redemption, exercise the right yourself." Now in former times 17 it was the custom in Israel, in matters of redemption or exchange, to confirm the transaction by one of the parties removing his sandal and giving it to the other. In Israel this was the form of ratification in the presence of witnesses.
 So when the man with right of redemption said to Boaz, "Purchase it for yourself," he took off his sandal.

Then Boaz said to the elders and all the people, "You are witnesses this day that I buy from Naomi all that belonged to Elimelech, to Chilion and to Mahlon. You are witnesses too that I buy Ruth the Moabitess, Mahlon's widow, to be my wife, to keep the name of the dead man in his inheritance, so that the dead man's name may not die out among his brothers and at the gate of his town." All the people at the gate said, "We are witnesses"; and the elders said, "May Yahweh make the woman who is to enter your House like Rachel and Leah who together built up the House of Israel.

"Grow mighty in Ephrathah, be renowned in Bethlehem.

12 And through the children Yahweh will give you by this young woman, may your 13 House become like the House of Perez whom Tamar bore to Judah." 14 So Boaz took Ruth and she became his wife. And when they came together, 15 Yahweh made her conceive and she bore a son. And the woman said to Naomi, 16 "Blessed be Yahweh who has not left the dead man without next of kin this day 17 to perpetuate his name in Israel. The child will be a comfort to you and the prop of your old age, for your daughter-in-law who loves you and is more to you than seven sons has given him birth." And Naomi took the child to her own bosom and she became his nurse.^b

And the women of the neighborhood gave him a name. "A son has been born for Naomi," they said; and they named him Obed. This was the father of David's father, Jesse.

3 a. This is asking Boaz to take her as his wife. Because it is her purpose to have a son who will be the legal descendant of her father-in-law Elimelech, this request is called "an act of kindness" or filial piety.

4 a. Elimelech, the head of the family. Though Ruth is actually the widow of Mahlon, she ranks in this matter as Elimelech's widow. b. Naomi is the child's legal mother and Elimelech his legal father.

THE GENEALOGY OF DAVID^c

¹⁸ These are the descendants of Perez. Perez was the father of Hezron, ¹⁹Hezron ²⁰ of Ram, Ram of Amminadab, ²¹Amminadab of Nahshon, Nahshon of Salmon, ²² Salmon of Boaz, Boaz of Obed, ²³Obed of Jesse, and Jesse of David.

c. This genealogy cannot be the work of the same author, since the whole point of the story is that Elimelech's name is perpetuated; but here Boaz is named as the father of Obed.

I. SAMUEL

A. THE CHILDHOOD OF SAMUEL

The pilgrimage to Shiloh

¹ 1 There was a man of Ramathaim, a Zuphite from the highlands of Ephraim whose name was Elkanah son of Jeroham, son of Elihu, son of Tohu, son of Zuph, an Ephraimite. •He had two wives, one called Hannah, the other Peninnah; ² Peninnah had children but Hannah had none. •Every year this man used to go up from his town to worship and to sacrifice to Yahweh Sabaoth^a in Shiloh.^b The two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were there as priests of Yahweh.

⁴ One day Elkanah offered sacrifice. He used to give portions to Peninnah and ⁵ to all her sons and daughters; •to Hannah, however, he would give only one ⁶ portion, although he loved her more, since Yahweh had made her barren. •Her rival would taunt her to annoy her, because Yahweh had made her barren. ⁷ And this went on year after year; every time they went up to the temple of Yahweh she used to taunt her. And so Hannah wept and would not eat. ⁸ Then Elkanah her husband said to her, “Hannah, why are you crying and why are you not eating? Why so sad? Am I not more to you than ten sons?”

The prayer of Hannah

⁹ Now after they had eaten in the hall, Hannah rose and took her stand before Yahweh, while Eli the priest was sitting on his seat by the doorpost of the temple ¹⁰ of Yahweh. •In the bitterness of her soul she prayed to Yahweh with many ¹¹ tears •and made a vow, saying, “Yahweh Sabaoth! If you will take notice of the distress of your servant, and bear me in mind and not forget your servant and give her a man-child, I will give him to Yahweh for the whole of his life and no razor shall ever touch his head.”

¹² While she prayed before Yahweh which she did for some time, Eli was watching ¹³ her mouth, •for she was speaking under her breath; her lips were moving but ¹⁴ her voice could not be heard. He therefore supposed that she was drunk •and said to her, “How long are you going to be in this drunken state? Rid yourself ¹⁵ of your wine.” •“No, my lord,” Hannah replied, “I am a woman in great trouble; I have taken neither wine nor strong drink—I was pouring out my soul before ¹⁶ Yahweh. •Do not take your maidservant for a worthless woman; all this time

17 I have been speaking from the depth of my grief and my resentment." Then Eli answered her: "Go in peace," he said, "and may the God of Israel grant what you have asked of him." And she said, "May your maidservant find favor in your sight"; and with that the woman went away; she returned to the hall and ate and was dejected no longer.

The birth and consecration of Samuel

19 They rose early in the morning and worshiped before Yahweh and then set out and returned to their home in Ramah. Elkanah had intercourse with Hannah his wife and Yahweh was mindful of her. She conceived and gave birth to a son, and called him Samuel "since" she said, "I asked Yahweh for him."

21 When a year had gone by, the husband Elkanah went up again with all his family to offer the annual sacrifice to Yahweh and to fulfill his vow. Hannah, however, did not go up, having said to her husband, "Not before the child is weaned. Then I will bring him and present him before Yahweh and he shall stay there for ever." Elkanah her husband then said to her, "Do what you think fit; wait until you have weaned him. May Yahweh bring about what you have said." So the woman stayed behind and nursed her child until his weaning.

24 When she had weaned him, she took him up with her together with a three-year-old bull, an ephah of flour and a skin of wine, and she brought him to the temple of Yahweh at Shiloh; and the child was with them. They slaughtered the bull and the child's mother came to Eli. She said, "If you please, my lord. As you live, my lord, I am the woman who stood here beside you, praying to Yahweh. This is the child I prayed for, and Yahweh granted me what I asked him. Now I make him over to Yahweh for the whole of his life. He is made over to Yahweh."

There she left him, for Yahweh.

The song of Hannah

1 2 Then Hannah said this prayer:

"My heart exults in Yahweh, my horn is exalted in my God, my mouth derides my foes, for I rejoice in your power of saving.

2 There is none as holy as Yahweh, (indeed, there is no one but you) no rock like our God.

3 Do not speak and speak with haughty words, let not arrogance come from your mouth.
For Yahweh is an all-knowing God and his is the weighing of deeds.

4 The bow of the mighty is broken but the feeble have girded themselves with strength.
5 The sated hire themselves out for bread but the famished cease from labor; the barren woman bears sevenfold, but the mother of many is desolate.

6 Yahweh gives death and life, brings down to Sheol and draws up; 7 Yahweh makes poor and rich, he humbles and also exalts.

8 He raises the poor from the dust, he lifts the needy from the dunghill to give them a place with princes, and to assign them a seat of honor;

for to Yahweh the props of the earth belong, on these he has poised the world.

9 He safeguards the steps of his faithful but the wicked vanish in darkness (for it is not by strength that man triumphs).
10 The enemies of Yahweh are shattered, the Most High thunders in the heavens.

Yahweh judges the ends of the earth, he endows his king with power, he exalts the horn of his Anointed."

11 Then she left for Ramah, but the boy stayed to minister to Yahweh in the presence of Eli the priest.

The sons of Eli

12 Now the sons of Eli were scoundrels; they cared nothing for Yahweh nor for the rights of the priests as regards the people. Whenever a man offered a sacrifice, the priest's servant would come with a three-pronged fork in his hand 14 while the meat was being cooked; he would thrust this into caldron or pan, or dish or pot, and the priest claimed for his own whatever the fork brought up.
That was how they behaved with all the Israelites who came there to Shiloh.
15 The priest's servant would even come up before the fat had been burned and say to the man who was making the sacrifice, "Give the priest meat for him to roast.
16 He will not take boiled meat from you, but raw." Then if the man replied, "Let them first burn the fat and then take for yourself whatever you wish," he 17 would retort, "No! You must give it to me now or I will take it by force." This sin of the young men was very great in the sight of Yahweh, because they treated the offering made to Yahweh with contempt.

Samuel at Shiloh

18 Samuel was in the service of Yahweh; the boy wore a linen loincloth around 19 him. His mother used to make him a little tunic which she brought him each 20 year when she came up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice. Then Eli would bless Elkanah and his wife and say, "May Yahweh grant you an heir by this woman in place of the one she has made over to Yahweh." And then they 21 would go home. Yahweh visited Hannah; she conceived and gave birth to three sons and two daughters. Meanwhile the boy Samuel grew up in the presence of Yahweh.

More about the sons of Eli

22 Though now very old, Eli came to hear of everything that his sons were 23 doing to all Israel. And he said to them, "Why do you do these things I hear 24 from all the people? No, my sons! The reports I hear are not good . . . If man 25 sins against man, God will be the arbiter, but if he sins against Yahweh, who will intercede for him?" But they did not listen to their father's words, for Yahweh was determined to bring them to their deaths.
26 Meanwhile the boy Samuel went on growing in stature and in favor both with Yahweh and with men.

Future punishment is announced

27 A man of God came to Eli and said to him, "Yahweh says this,
'Did I not reveal myself to your father's^a House when they were in Egypt, 28 slaves of the household of Pharaoh. 'I chose them out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priests, to go up to my altar, to burn incense, to carry the ephod;^b and to your father's House I granted all the burnt offerings of the sons of Israel.

29 Why do you look with envious eyes on the sacrifice and the offering I have ordered, honoring your sons more than me, by letting them grow fat on the

30 best part of all the offerings of my people Israel? 'Whereas—it is Yahweh the God of Israel who speaks—I had said that your House and your father's House would walk in my presence for ever, now, however,—it is Yahweh who speaks—far be this from me. For those who honor me I honor in my turn, and those

31 who despise me are esteemed as nothing. 'So, the days are coming when I will break your strength and the strength of your father's House, till there is

32 not one old man left in your House. 'Like an envious enemy you will look on all the good that I shall do to Israel, but there shall be not one old man left in

33 your House for ever. 'One of you I will keep at my altar for his eyes to perish and his soul to wither, but the bulk of your House shall perish by the sword of men. 'What happens to your two sons Hophni and Phinehas shall be a sign for

34 you: on the one day both shall die. 'I will raise up a faithful priest for myself; he shall do whatever I plan and whatever I desire. I will build him an

35 enduring House and he will walk in the presence of my Anointed for ever. 'And all that survive of your House will come and beg him on their knees for a silver piece or a loaf of bread and say: Please give me some priestly task, so that I can have a scrap of bread to eat.'

God calls Samuel

1 3 Now the boy Samuel was ministering to Yahweh in the presence of Eli; it was rare for Yahweh to speak in those days; visions were uncommon.

2 One day, it happened that Eli was lying down in his room. His eyes were

3 beginning to grow dim; he could no longer see. 'The lamp of God had not yet gone out, and Samuel was lying in the sanctuary of Yahweh where the ark

4 of God was, 'when Yahweh called, "Samuel! Samuel!" He answered, "Here I am."

5 Then he ran to Eli and said, "Here I am, since you called me." Eli said, "I did

6 not call. Go back and lie down." So he went and lay down. 'Once again Yahweh called, "Samuel! Samuel!" Samuel got up and went to Eli and said, "Here I am,

7 since you called me." He replied, "I did not call you, my son; go back and lie down." 'Samuel had as yet no knowledge of Yahweh and the word of Yahweh

8 had not yet been revealed to him. 'Once again Yahweh called, the third time. He got up and went to Eli and said, "Here I am, since you called me." Eli then 9 understood that it was Yahweh who was calling the boy, 'and he said to Samuel, "Go and lie down, and if someone calls say, 'Speak, Yahweh, your servant is listening.'" So Samuel went and lay down in his place.

10 Yahweh then came and stood by, calling as he had done before, "Samuel!

11 Samuel!" Samuel answered, "Speak, Yahweh, your servant is listening." 'Then Yahweh said to Samuel, "I am about to do such a thing in Israel as will make

12 the ears of all who hear it ring. 'On that day, I will carry out against Eli everything I have spoken about his House, from beginning to end. 'You are to 13 tell him that I condemn his House for ever because he has known that his sons have been cursing God, yet he has not corrected them. 'Therefore—I swear it to the House of Eli—neither sacrifice nor offering shall ever expiate the guilt

14 of the House of Eli."

15 Then Samuel lay still until the morning, when he opened the doors of 16 Yahweh's temple. He was afraid to tell the vision to Eli, 'but Eli called him and 17 said, "Samuel, my son." "Here I am," he answered. "What message did he give you?" Eli asked; "do not hide it from me. May God do this to you, and more, 18 if you keep back anything of what he said to you." 'Samuel then told him everything, keeping nothing back from him. Eli said, "He is Yahweh; let him do what he thinks good."

19 Samuel grew up and Yahweh was with him and let no word of his fall to 20 the ground. All Israel from Dan to Beersheba came to know that Samuel was 21 accredited as a prophet of Yahweh. Yahweh continued to appear in Shiloh, for 1 he revealed himself to Samuel, 4 and the word of Samuel went out to all Israel. By then, Eli was very old and his sons still persisted in their wicked behavior toward Yahweh.

B. THE ARK IN PHILISTINE HANDS

The defeat of the Israelites and capture of the ark

It happened at that time that the Philistines mustered to fight Israel and Israel went out to meet them in battle, encamping near Ebenezer while the 2 Philistines were encamped at Aphek. The Philistines drew up their battle line against Israel, the battle was hotly engaged, and Israel was defeated by the Philistines and about four thousand of their army were killed on the field.
 3 The troops returned to the camp and the elders of Israel said, "Why has Yahweh allowed us to be defeated today by the Philistines? Let us fetch the ark of our God from Shiloh so that it may come among us and rescue us from the power 4 of our enemies." So the troops sent to Shiloh and brought away the ark of Yahweh Sabaoth, he who is seated on the cherubs; the two sons of Eli, Hophni 5 and Phinehas, came with the ark. When the ark of Yahweh arrived in the camp, 6 all Israel gave a great shout so that the earth resounded. When the Philistines heard the noise of the shouting, they said, "What can this great shouting in the Hebrew camp mean?" And they realized that the ark of Yahweh had come into 7 the camp. At this the Philistines were afraid; and they said, "God has come to 8 the camp." "Alas!" they cried, "This has never happened before. Alas! Who will save us from the power of this mighty God? It was he who struck down 9 Egypt with every kind of plague! But take courage and be men, Philistines, or you will become slaves to the Hebrews as they have been slaves to you. Be 10 men and fight." So the Philistines joined battle and Israel was defeated, each man fleeing to his tent. The slaughter was great indeed, and there fell of the 11 Israelites thirty thousand foot soldiers. The ark of God was captured too, and the two sons of Eli died, Hophni and Phinehas.

The death of Eli

12 A Benjaminite ran from the battle line, reaching Shiloh that same day, his 13 clothes torn and dust on his head. When he arrived, Eli was there, sitting on his seat beside the gate watching the road, for his heart trembled for the ark of God. This man, then, came to the town bringing the news, whereupon cries 14 filled the town. Eli heard the uproar and asked, "What does this great outcry 15 mean?" The man made haste and told Eli.—Eli was ninety-eight years old; 16 his gaze was fixed; he was blind.—The man said to Eli, "I have come from the camp. I escaped from the ranks today." "My son," said Eli, "what has 17 happened?" The messenger replied, "Israel has fled before the Philistines; the army has been utterly routed. What is worse, your two sons are dead and the 18 ark of God has been captured." When he mentioned the ark of God, Eli fell backward off his seat by the gate; his neck was broken and he died, for he was old and heavy. He had ruled Israel for forty years.

The death of the wife of Phinehas

19 Now his daughter-in-law, the wife of Phinehas, was with child and near her time. When she heard the news that the ark of God had been captured and that her father-in-law and husband were dead she crouched down and gave birth,

20 for her labor pains came on. ·When she was at the point of death, the women standing around her said, “Do not be afraid; you have given birth to a son.” But she did not answer and took no notice. ·She named the boy Ichabod,^a saying “The glory has gone from Israel,” thinking of her father-in-law and husband and of the capture of the ark of God. ·She said, “The glory has gone from Israel, because the ark of God has been captured.”

The ark brings disaster to the Philistines

1 5 When the Philistines had captured the ark of God they brought it from 2 Ebenezer to Ashdod. ·Taking the ark of God, the Philistines put it in the temple of Dagon, setting it down beside Dagon. ·Next morning the people of Ashdod went to the temple of Dagon and there lay Dagon face down on the ground before the ark of Yahweh. They picked Dagon up and put him back 4 in his place. ·But early next morning there lay Dagon face down again on the ground before the ark of Yahweh, and Dagon’s head and two hands were lying severed on the threshold; only the trunk of Dagon was left in its place. 5 This is why the priests of Dagon and indeed all who enter Dagon’s temple do not step on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod to the present day. 6 The hand of Yahweh weighed heavily on the people of Ashdod and struck terror into them, afflicting them with tumors, in Ashdod and its territory. 7 When the men of Ashdod saw what was happening they said, “The ark of the God of Israel must not stay here with us, for his hand lies heavy on us and on Dagon 8 our god.” ·So they summoned all the Philistine chiefs to them, and said, “What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel?” They decided, “The ark of the God of Israel must go away to Gath.” So they took the ark of the God of Israel 9 to Gath. ·But after they had taken it there, the hand of Yahweh lay heavy on that town and a great panic broke out; the people of the town, from youngest to 10 oldest, were struck with tumors that he brought out on them. ·They then sent the ark of God to Ekron, but when it came to Ekron the Ekronites shouted, “They have brought us the ark of the God of Israel to bring death to us and 11 our people.” ·They summoned all the Philistine chiefs and said, “Send the ark of the God of Israel away; let it go back to where it belongs and not bring death to us and our people”—for there was mortal panic throughout the town; the 12 hand of God was very heavy there. ·The people who did not die were struck with tumors and the wailing from the town went up to heaven.

The return of the ark

1 6 The ark of Yahweh was in Philistine territory for seven months. ·Then the 2 Philistines called for their priests and diviners and asked, “What shall we do with the ark of Yahweh? Tell us how to send it back to where it belongs.” ·They 3 replied, “If you do send the ark of the God of Israel away, you must not send it away empty; you must pay him a guilt offering. Then you will be healed and 4 you will know why his hand would not turn away from you.” ·They then asked, “What guilt offering ought we to pay him?” They answered, “In proportion to the number of the Philistine chiefs, five golden tumors and models of your 5 rats, for the plague was the same for you all as for your chiefs. ·So you must make models of your tumors and models of the rats that ravage your country, and you must pay honor to the God of Israel. Then perhaps he will lighten 6 his hand on you and your gods and your country. ·Why should you be as stubborn as Egypt and Pharaoh were? After he had brought evil on them, did they 7 not let them leave? ·Now, then, take and fit out a new cart, and two milch cows that have never borne the yoke. Then harness the cows to the cart and take 8 their calves back to the byre. ·Then take the ark of Yahweh, place it on the cart, and put the golden objects which you are paying him as guilt offering in 9 a box beside it; then let it go its own way. ·Watch it; if it goes up the road to its own territory, to Beth-shemesh, then it was he who did us this great harm; but if not, then we will know it was not his hand that struck us, but that this happened to us by chance."

¹⁰ The people did this. They took two milch cows and harnessed them to the cart and shut up their calves in the byre. Then they placed the ark of Yahweh on the cart, with the box and the golden rats and the models of their tumors.

¹² The cows made straight for Beth-shemesh keeping to the one road, lowing as they went and turning neither to right nor to left. The Philistine chiefs followed them as far as the boundaries of Beth-shemesh.

The ark at Beth-shemesh

¹³ The people of Beth-shemesh were reaping the wheat harvest in the plain when, raising their eyes, they saw the ark and went joyfully to meet it. When the cart came to the field of Joshua of Beth-shemesh it stopped. There was a large stone^a there, and they cut up the wood of the cart and offered the cows as a holocaust to Yahweh. The Levites had taken down the ark of Yahweh and the box containing the golden objects beside it, and placed all this upon the large stone. The men of Beth-shemesh offered holocausts that day and offered sacrifices to Yahweh. When the five Philistine chiefs had seen this, they went back to Ekron the same day. These were the golden tumors the Philistines paid as guilt offering to Yahweh: one for Ashdod, one for Gaza, one for Ashkelon, one for Gath, one for Ekron: as also the golden rats to the number of all the Philistine towns of the five chiefs, from fortified towns to open villages. The large stone on which they placed the ark of Yahweh is a witness to the present day in the field of Joshua of Beth-shemesh. Of the people of Beth-shemesh the sons of Jeconiah had not rejoiced when they saw the ark of Yahweh, and he struck down seventy of them. The people mourned because Yahweh had struck them so fiercely.

²⁰ The men of Beth-shemesh then said, "Who can stand his ground before Yahweh this holy God; to whom shall we let him go up, away from us?" So they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kiriath-jearim saying, "The Philistines have sent back the ark of Yahweh; come down and take it up to your town."

¹ The men of Kiriath-jearim came and, taking up the ark of Yahweh, brought it to the house of Abinadab on the hill, and consecrated Eleazar his son to guard the ark of Yahweh.

Samuel, judge and liberator

² From the day the ark settled in Kiriath-jearim a long time passed, twenty years, and the whole House of Israel longed for Yahweh. Then Samuel said to the whole House of Israel, "If you are returning to Yahweh with all your heart, put aside the foreign gods you now have, and the Astartes too, and set your heart on Yahweh and serve him alone; and he will deliver you from the hand of the Philistines." And the Israelites put aside the Baals and Astartes and served Yahweh alone.

⁵ Then Samuel said, "Mustering all Israel at Mizpah and I will plead with Yahweh for you." So they mustered at Mizpah and drew water and poured it out before Yahweh. They fasted that day and declared, "We have sinned against Yahweh." And it was at Mizpah that Samuel was judge over the Israelites.

⁷ The Philistines came to hear that the children of Israel had mustered at Mizpah and the Philistine chiefs marched against Israel. The Israelites heard of this and grew afraid of the Philistines. They said to Samuel, "Do not cease calling on Yahweh our God to save us from the power of the Philistines." Then

⁶ a. Which could serve as an altar.

Samuel took a sucking lamb and offered it as a holocaust to Yahweh, and he called on Yahweh on behalf of Israel and Yahweh answered his prayer. While Samuel was offering the holocaust the Philistines approached to give Israel battle, but Yahweh thundered with a great noise that day against the Philistines and threw them into a panic, and so they were routed before Israel. The men of Israel then went out from Mizpah in pursuit of the Philistines and struck them down as far as below Beth-car. Then Samuel took a stone and erected it between Mizpah and Jeshanah and gave it the name Ebenezer,^a saying, "Thus far has Yahweh aided us."

So the Philistines were humbled and no longer came into Israelite territory; the hand of Yahweh lay on the Philistines all Samuel's lifetime. The towns the Philistines had taken from Israel were given back to them, from Ekron to Gath, and Israel freed their territory from the power of the Philistines. There was peace, too, between Israel and the Amorites.

Samuel was judge over Israel as long as he lived. Each year he went on circuit through Bethel and Gilgal and Mizpah and judged Israel in all these places. He would then return to Ramah, for his home was there; there too he judged Israel. And there he built an altar to Yahweh.

II. SAMUEL AND SAUL

A. THE INSTITUTION OF THE MONARCHY^a

The people ask for a king

When Samuel grew old, he appointed his two sons as judges over Israel. The name of the first-born was Joel, that of the younger Abijah; they were judges in Beersheba. But his sons did not follow his ways; they wanted money, taking bribes and perverting justice. Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah. "Look," they said to him, "you are old, and your sons do not follow your ways. So give us a king to rule over us, like the other nations." It displeased Samuel that they should say, "Let us have a king to rule us," so he prayed to Yahweh. But Yahweh said to Samuel, "Obey the voice of the people in all that they say to you, for it is not you they have rejected; they have rejected me from ruling over them. All they have done to me from the day I brought them out of Egypt until now—they deserted me and served other gods—they are doing now to you. Well then, obey their voice; only, you must warn them solemnly and instruct them in the rights of the king who is to reign over them."

The disadvantages of the monarchy

All that Yahweh had said Samuel repeated to the people who were asking him for a king. He said, "These will be the rights of the king who is to reign over you. He will take your sons and assign them to his chariotry and cavalry, and they will run in front of his chariot. He will use them as leaders of a thousand and leaders of fifty; he will make them plow his plowland and harvest his harvest and make his weapons of war and the gear for his chariots. He will also take your daughters as perfumers, cooks and bakers. He will take the best of your fields, of your vineyards and olive groves and give them to his officials. He will tithe your crops and vineyards to provide for his eunuchs and his officials. He will take the best of your manservants and maidservants, of your cattle and your donkeys, and make them work for him. He will tithe your flocks, and you yourselves will become his slaves. When that day comes, you will cry out on account of the king you have chosen for yourselves, but on that day God will not answer you."

19 The people refused to listen to the words of Samuel. They said, "No! We 20 want a king, so that we in our turn can be like the other nations; our king 21 shall rule us and be our leader and fight our battles." Samuel listened to all 22 that the people had to say and repeated it in the ears of Yahweh. Yahweh then said to Samuel, "Obey their voice and give them a king." Samuel then said to the men of Israel, "Go back, each to your own town."

Saul and his father's she-donkeys

1 9 Among the men of Benjamin there was a man named Kish son of Abiel, son of Zeror, son of Becorath, son of Aphiah; a Benjaminite and a man of 2 rank. He had a son named Saul, a handsome man in the prime of life. Of all the Israelites there was no one more handsome than he; he stood head and 3 shoulders taller than the rest of the people. Now some of the she-donkeys of Saul's father Kish had strayed, so Kish said to Saul, "My son, take one of the 4 servants with you and be off; go and look for the she-donkeys." They passed through the highlands of Ephraim and passed through the land of Shalishah, but did not find them; they passed through the land of Shaalim, they were not 5 there; they passed through the land of Benjamin, but did not find them. When they came to the land of Zuph, Saul said to the servant who was with him,
"Come, let us go back or my father will stop worrying over the she-donkeys and 6 start being anxious about us." He answered, "Look, there is a man of God in this town, a man held in honor; everything he says comes true. Let us go there, then; perhaps he will be able to guide us on the journey we have 7 undertaken." Saul replied to the servant, "But if we do go, what can we take to the man? The bread in our sacks has gone, and we have no present to offer 8 the man of God. What can we give him?" Again the servant answered Saul, "Look," he said, "I have a quarter of a silver shekel here; I will give it to the man 9 of God and he shall tell us our road." Then Saul said to his servant, "Well said!
Come, let us go." And they went off to the town where the man of God was.

Saul meets Samuel

10 As they were going up the slope to the town they came across some girls going 11 out to draw water, and said to them, "Is the seer there?"—Formerly in Israel when a man used to go to consult God he would say, "Come, let us go to the 12 seer," for a man who is now called a "prophet" was formerly called a "seer."—The girls replied, "Yes, the seer is ahead of you. He has just come into the town, 13 for the people are having a sacrifice today on the high place. You will meet him as soon as you enter the town before he goes up to the high place for the meal. The people will not eat until he comes, since he must bless the sacrifice; then the people invited eat afterward. Go up now and you will soon find him."

14 So they went up to the town, and as they were going through the gate Samuel 15 came out in their direction on his way to the high place. Now Yahweh had 16 given Samuel a revelation the day before Saul came, saying, "About this time tomorrow I will send to you a man from the land of Benjamin; you are to anoint him as prince over my people Israel, and he will save my people from the power of the Philistines; for I have seen the distress of my people and their 17 crying has come to me." When Samuel saw Saul, Yahweh told him, "That is the 18 man of whom I told you; he shall rule my people." Saul accosted Samuel in the 19 gateway and said, "Tell me, please, where the seer's house is?" Samuel replied to Saul, "I am the seer. Go up ahead of me to the high place. You are to 8 a. Two versions of this key episode in the history of Israel will be found alternating in the next five chapters: one by an anti-royalist in ch. 8, 10:17-24, and ch. 12, and a royalist version in ch. 9-10:16 and ch. 11.

eat with me today. In the morning I shall take leave of you and tell you all that is in your heart. As regards the she-donkeys you lost three days ago, do not worry about them; they have been found already. Besides, for whom is all the wealth of Israel destined, if not for you and all your father's House?" Saul then replied, "Am I not a Benjaminite, from the smallest of Israel's tribes? And is not my family the least of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? Why do you say such words to me?"

Samuel then took Saul and his servant and brought them into the hall and gave them a place at the head of those invited; there were about thirty of them. Samuel said to the cook, "Serve the portion I gave you, which I told you to put on one side." The cook then took up the leg and the tail and set it in front of Saul, saying, "There! The part that has been kept is set before you. Eat!" . . . So, Saul ate that day with Samuel.

From the high place they came down to the town. On the housetop they spread out coverlets for Saul and he lay down.

The consecration of Saul

At the break of day Samuel called to Saul on the housetop, "Get up; I must take leave of you." Saul got up, and the two of them, he and Samuel, went out into the street. They had walked as far as the end of the town when Samuel said to Saul, "Tell the servant to go on ahead of us, but you stand still for a moment and I shall make known to you the word of God."

10 Samuel took a phial of oil and poured it on Saul's head; then he kissed him, saying, "Has not Yahweh anointed you prince over his people Israel? You are the man who must rule Yahweh's people, and who must save them from the power of the enemies surrounding them. This shall be the sign for you that Yahweh has appointed you prince of his heritage: when you leave me now, you will meet two men near the tomb of Rachel, on the frontiers of Benjamin . . . and they will say to you, 'The she-donkeys you went in search of have been found and your father has lost interest in the donkeys and is worrying about you, thinking, What am I to do about my son?' Going further from there you will come to the Oak of Tabor where three men will meet you, going up to God at Bethel; one will be carrying three kids, one three loaves of bread and the third a skin of wine. They will greet you and give you two loaves of bread which you must accept from them. After this you will go to Gibeah of God (where the Philistine pillar is) and as you come to the town you will meet a group of prophets coming down from the high place, headed by harp, tambourine, flute and lyre; they will be in an ecstasy. Then the spirit of Yahweh will seize on you, and you will go into an ecstasy with them, and be changed into another man. When these signs are fulfilled for you, act as occasion serves, for God is with you. You must go down before me to Gilgal; I will join you there to offer holocausts and communion sacrifices. You are to wait seven days for me to come to you, and then I will show you what you are to do."

The return of Saul

As soon as Saul had turned his back to leave Samuel, God changed his heart and all these signs were accomplished that same day. From there they came to Gibeah, and there was a group of prophets coming to meet him; the spirit of God seized on him and he fell into ecstasy in their midst. When all who knew him previously saw him prophesying with the prophets, the people said to each other, "What has happened to the son of Kish? Is Saul one of the prophets too?" One of the group retorted, "And who is their father?" And this is the origin of the proverb: Is Saul one of the prophets too?

When Saul's ecstasy had passed he went back into the house and his uncle asked him and his servant, "Where have you been?" He replied, "In search of the she-donkeys; and when we saw we could not find them, we went to Samuel."

16 Saul's uncle then said, "Tell me, now, what did Samuel say to you?" Saul said to his uncle, "He only told us that the donkeys were already found," but he said nothing to him about the kingship of which Samuel had spoken.

Saul is chosen king by lot

17 Samuel called the people together to Yahweh at Mizpah and said to the Israelites, "Yahweh the God of Israel has spoken and says, 'I brought Israel out of Egypt and delivered you from the power of the Egyptians and of all the kingdoms that were oppressing you.' But today you have rejected your God, he who saved you from all your calamities and desperate straits; and you have said, 'No, you must set a king over us.' Well then, take your positions before Yahweh according to your tribes and clans."

20 Samuel then made all the tribes of Israel come forward, and the lot fell to the tribe of Benjamin. He then made the tribe of Benjamin come forward clan by clan, and the lot fell to the clan of Matri; he then made the clan of Matri come forward man by man, and the lot fell to Saul son of Kish. They looked for him but he was not to be found.

22 Once again they consulted Yahweh, "Has the man come here?" "There he is," Yahweh answered, "hidden among the baggage." So they ran and brought him out and, as he stood among the people, he was head and shoulders taller than them all. Then Samuel said to all the people, "Have you seen the man Yahweh has chosen? Of all the people there is none to equal him." And all the people acclaimed him, shouting, "Long live the king!"

25 Samuel explained the royal constitution to the people and inscribed it in a book which he placed before Yahweh. He then dismissed all the people, each to his own home. Saul too went home to Gibeah and with him went the mighty men whose hearts God has touched. But there were some scoundrels who said, "How can this fellow save us?" They despised him, and offered him no present.

Victory over the Ammonites

1 About a month later, 11 Nahash the Ammonite marched up and laid siege to Jabesh-gilead. All the men of Jabesh said to Nahash, "Make a treaty with us and we will be your subjects." But Nahash the Ammonite said to them, "I will make a treaty with you on this condition, that I put out all your right eyes; I shall inflict this disgrace on the whole of Israel." The elders of Jabesh said to him, "Give us seven days' grace while we send messengers throughout the territory of Israel, and if no one comes to our help, we will go over to you." The messengers came to Gibeah of Saul, and reported this to the people, and all the people began to lament and weep.

5 Now Saul was just then coming in from the fields behind his oxen, and he said, "What is wrong? Why are the people weeping?" They explained to him what the men of Jabesh had said. And the spirit of Yahweh seized on Saul when he heard these words, and his fury was stirred to fierce flame. He took a yoke of oxen and cut them in pieces which he sent by messengers throughout the territory of Israel with these words: "If anyone will not march with Saul, this shall be done with his oxen!" At this, a dread of Yahweh fell on the people and they marched out as one man. He inspected them at Bezek; there were three hundred thousand Israelites and thirty thousand of Judah. He then said to the messengers who had come, "This is what you must say to the men of Jabesh-gilead, 'Tomorrow by the time the sun is hot help will reach you.'" The messengers went and reported this to the men of Jabesh who were overjoyed; they said to Nahash, "Tomorrow we will go over to you and you can do what you like to us."

11 The next day, Saul disposed the army in three companies; they burst into the middle of the camp in the last watch of the night and struck down the Ammonites until high noon. The survivors were so scattered that not two of them were left together.

Saul is proclaimed king

12 The people then said to Samuel, "Who said, 'Is Saul to reign over us?' Hand 13 the men over for us to put them to death." "No one is to be put to death today," 14 Saul replied, "for today Yahweh has brought victory to Israel." Then Samuel said to the people, "Come, let us go to Gilgal and reaffirm the monarchy there."

15 So all the people went to Gilgal and there they proclaimed Saul king before Yahweh at Gilgal. They offered communion sacrifices there before Yahweh; and Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced greatly.

Samuel gives way to Saul

1 12 Samuel said to all Israel, "I have faithfully done all you asked of me, and 2 I have appointed a king over you. In future it is the king who will lead you. As for me, I am old and gray, and my sons are here among you. I have 3 led you from my youth until today. Here I am. Testify against me before Yahweh and before his anointed. Whose ox have I taken? Whose donkey have I taken? Have I ever wronged or oppressed anyone? Have I ever taken a bribe 4 from anyone? If so I will here and now requite you." "You have neither wronged 5 nor oppressed us," they said, "nor accepted a bribe from anyone." He said to them, "Yahweh is witness against you and his anointed is witness today that you have found nothing in my hands?" "He is witness," they replied.

6 Samuel then said to the people, "Yahweh is witness, he who raised up 7 Moses and Aaron and who brought your ancestors out of the land of Egypt. So now stand here while I argue with you before Yahweh and remind you of all 8 the saving works he performed for you and for your ancestors. When Jacob came to Egypt the Egyptians oppressed them, and your ancestors cried to Yahweh who sent Moses and Aaron; they brought your ancestors out of Egypt and gave 9 them a settled home here. Then they forgot Yahweh their God and he sold them into the power of Sisera, general of the army of Hazor, as also into the power of the Philistines and of the king of Moab who fought against them.
10 They cried to Yahweh, 'We have sinned, for we have deserted Yahweh; we have served the Baals and the Astartes. Rescue us now from the power of our 11 enemies, and we will serve you.' Then Yahweh sent Jerubbaal, Barak, Jephthah, and Samuel. He rescued you from the power of the enemies surrounding you, and you lived in security.

12 "But when you saw Nahash, king of the Ammonites, come to attack you, you said to me, 'No, a king must rule over us'—although Yahweh your God 13 himself is your king. Here then is the king you have chosen; Yahweh has set a 14 king over you. If you reverence and serve Yahweh and obey his voice and do not rebel against his order, and if both you and the king who rules over 15 you follow Yahweh your God, all will be well. But if you do not obey the voice of Yahweh, if you rebel against his order, his hand will be against you and against your king.

16 "Stand here, then, and watch the great wonder Yahweh will do before your 17 eyes. It is now wheat harvest, is it not?" I will call on Yahweh and he shall send thunder and rain. Consider then and see what a very wicked thing you 18 have done in the sight of Yahweh by asking to have a king." Samuel then called on Yahweh, and Yahweh sent thunder and rain the same day, and all the people 19 held Yahweh and Samuel in great awe. They all said to Samuel, "Plead for your servants with Yahweh your God that we may not die, for we have added to all our sins this evil of asking to have a king."

20 Samuel said to the people, "Do not be afraid; you have indeed done all this evil, yet do not turn aside from following Yahweh, but serve Yahweh with 21 all your hearts. Do not turn aside after empty idols which, being empty, are 22 useless and cannot save, 'since for the sake of his great name Yahweh will 23 not desert his people, for it has pleased Yahweh to make you his people. 'For my part, far be it from me that I should sin against Yahweh by ceasing to plead 24 for you or to instruct you in the good and right way. 'Only reverence and serve Yahweh faithfully with all your heart, for you see the great wonder he 25 has done among you. 'But if you persist in wickedness, you and your king will perish."

B. THE BEGINNING OF SAUL'S REIGN

Revolt against the Philistines

1 13 . . . Saul chose three thousand men from Israel; there were two thousand with Saul at Michmash and in the highlands of Bethel, and a thousand with Jonathan at Geba of Benjamin; the rest of the people Saul sent home, each man to his own tent.

3 Jonathan smashed the Philistine pillar which was at Gibeah and the Philistines learned that the Hebrews had risen in revolt. Saul had the trumpet sounded 4 throughout the country, 'and the whole of Israel heard the news: Saul has smashed the Philistine pillar, and now Israel has incurred the enmity of the 5 Philistines. So all the people rallied behind Saul at Gilgal. 'The Philistines mustered to do battle with Israel, three thousand chariots, six thousand horse and a force as numerous as the sand on the seashore. They came up and pitched 6 camp at Michmash, to the east of Beth-aven.^a 'When the men of Israel saw that their situation was desperate, since they were hard-pressed, they hid in 7 caves, in holes, in crevices, in vaults, in wells. 'Many, too, crossed over the Jordan fords into the territory of Gad and Gilead.

Samuel breaks with Saul

Saul was still at Gilgal and all the people who followed him were trembling.
 8 He waited for seven days, the period Samuel had fixed, but Samuel did not 9 come to Gilgal and the army, deserting Saul, was dispersed. 'So Saul said, "Bring me the holocaust and the communion sacrifices"; and he offered the 10 holocaust. 'Just as he was completing the offering of the holocaust Samuel 11 came, and Saul went out to meet him and greet him, 'but Samuel said, "What have you done?" Saul replied, "I saw the army deserting me and dispersing, and you had not come at the time fixed, while the Philistines were mustering 12 at Michmash. 'So I thought: Now the Philistines are going to fall on me at Gilgal and I have not implored the favor of Yahweh. So I felt obliged to act 13 and I offered the holocaust myself." 'Samuel answered Saul, "You have acted like a fool. If you had carried out the order Yahweh your God commanded 14 you, Yahweh would have confirmed your sovereignty over Israel for ever. 'But now your sovereignty will not last; Yahweh has searched out a man for himself after his own heart^b and designated him leader of his people, since you have 15 not carried out what Yahweh ordered you." 'Samuel then rose and left Gilgal to continue his journey.

Those of the people who remained followed Saul as he went to join the warriors, and went from Gilgal to Geba of Benjamin. Saul inspected the force that was with him; there were about six hundred men.

Preparations for war

16 Saul, his son Jonathan, and the force that was with them took up their quarters 17 in Geba of Benjamin while the Philistines camped at Michmash. 'The raiding contingent came out from the Philistine camp in three companies: one made 18 for Ophrah in the land of Shual; 'another for Beth-horon; and the third for the height overhanging the Valley of the Hyenas, toward the wilderness.

19 There was not a single smith in the whole land of Israel, because the Philistines had reasoned: We must prevent the Hebrews from forging swords or 20 spears. Hence all the Israelites were in the habit of going down to the Philistines 21 to sharpen every plowshare, ax; mattock or goad. The price was two thirds of a shekel for plowshares and axes, and one third for sharpening mattocks 22 and straightening goads. So it was that on the day of the battle of Michmash no one in the whole army with Saul and Jonathan had either sword or spear in his hand, except, however, Saul and his son Jonathan.

23 A Philistine outpost left for the Pass of Michmash.

Jonathan attacks the outpost

1 14 One day, Jonathan son of Saul said to his armor-bearer, "Come on, let us go across to the Philistine outpost in the pass." But he did not warn his 2 father. Saul was on the outskirts of Geba, sitting under the pomegranate tree that stands near the threshing floor; the force with him numbered about six 3 hundred men. Ahijah son of Ahitub, brother of Ichabod son of Phinehas, son of Eli, the priest of Yahweh at Shiloh, was wearing the ephod. The force did not know that Jonathan had left.

4 In the pass that Jonathan was trying to cross to reach the Philistine outpost there is a rocky spur on one side and a rocky spur on the other; one is called 5 Bozez, the other Seneh. The first spur stands to the north facing Michmash, 6 the other to the south facing Geba. Jonathan said to his armor-bearer, "Come on, let us go across to the outpost of these uncircumcised men; perhaps Yahweh will do something for us, for nothing can prevent Yahweh from giving us victory, 7 whether there are many or few of them." His armor-bearer said to him, "Do 8 just as your heart tells you; as for me, my heart is with you." Jonathan then said, "Look, we will go across to these people and let ourselves be seen.
9 If they say to us, 'Do not move till we come to you,' we shall stay where we are 10 and not go up to them. But if they say, 'Come up to us,' we will go up, for that will be the sign for us that Yahweh has given them into our power."

11 When they both let themselves be seen by the Philistine post, the Philistines said, "Look, the Hebrews are coming out of the holes where they have been 12 hiding." The men of the post then hailed Jonathan and his armor-bearer.
"Come up to us," they said, "we have something to tell you." Jonathan then said to his armor-bearer, "Follow me up; Yahweh has given them into the power 13 of Israel." Jonathan climbed up, hands and feet, with his armor-bearer behind him. The Philistines fell before Jonathan, and his armor-bearer, coming behind, 14 finished them off. This first blow that Jonathan and his armor-bearer struck accounted for about twenty men . . .

Battle is engaged

15 There was panic in the camp and in the countryside; all the men in the outpost, and the raiding contingent too, were terrified; the earth shook; it was 16 a very panic of God. Saul's lookout men in Geba of Benjamin could see the camp scattering in all directions. Saul then said to the force that was with him, 17 "Call the roll and see who has left us." So they called the roll, and Jonathan and his armor-bearer were missing.

18 Saul then said to Ahijah, "Bring the ephod"; for it was he who carried the 19 ephod in the presence of Israel.^a But while Saul was speaking to the priest, the turmoil in the Philistine camp grew worse and worse; and Saul said to the 20 priest, "Withdraw your hand." Then Saul and the whole force with him formed up and advanced to where the fighting was, where men were all drawing their 21 swords on each other in wild confusion. The Hebrews who had earlier taken service with the Philistines and had accompanied them into camp, themselves 22 defected to the Israelites with Saul and Jonathan. All the Israelites in hiding in the highlands of Ephraim, hearing that the Philistines were on the run, chased 23 after them and joined in the fight. That day Yahweh gave Israel the victory, and the battle spread beyond Beth-horon.

Jonathan defies Saul's orders

24 Saul had imposed a great fast that day, laying the people under an oath, "Cursed be the man who eats food before evening, before I have had my revenge on my enemies!" So no one so much as tasted food.

25 Now there was a honeycomb lying on the ground; but when the people 26 came up to the honeycomb, though the swarm had gone no one put a hand 27 to his mouth for fear of the oath. But Jonathan, not having heard his father lay the oath on the people, put out the end of the stick he was holding, thrust it into the honeycomb and put his hand to his mouth; then his eyes brightened.
 28 But one of the men spoke up. "Your father," he said, "has bound the people with a strict oath to the effect that anyone who eats food today will be accursed." 29 Jonathan replied, "My father has done the nation a disservice. See how much 30 brighter my eyes are now that I have eaten this mouthful of honey. By the same token, if the people had eaten their fill of the booty they took from the enemy today, would not the defeat of the Philistines have been all the greater?"

The people commit a ritual fault

31 They struck at the Philistines that day from Michmash as far as Aijalon 32 until the people were utterly weary. They flung themselves on the booty and, taking sheep, oxen and calves, slaughtered them there on the ground and ate 33 them with the blood. News of this came to Saul. "Look," they said, "the people are sinning against Yahweh, eating with the blood." At which he replied to those 34 who brought the news, "Roll me a large stone here." Then he said, "Scatter through the people and say to them, 'Let each man bring me his ox or his sheep; slaughter them here and eat, not sinning against Yahweh by eating with the blood.'" All the people then brought what each one had that night, and they 35 slaughtered them there. Saul built an altar to Yahweh; it was the first altar he had built to Yahweh.

The guilt of Jonathan is discovered, but he is saved by the people

36 Saul said, "Let us go down under cover of darkness and pursue and plunder the Philistines until dawn; we shall not leave one of them alive." "Do whatever you think right," they replied. But the priest said, "Let us approach God here." 37 Saul consulted God, "Shall I go down and pursue the Philistines? Will you 38 give them into Israel's power?" But he gave him no reply that day. Then Saul said, "Come forward, all you leaders of the people; consider carefully where 39 today's sin may lie; for as Yahweh lives who gives victory to Israel, even if it be in Jonathan my son, he shall be put to death." And not one of all the people 40 answered him. Then to all Israel he said, "Stand on one side, and I and Jonathan my son will stand on the other." And the people replied to Saul, "Do 41 as you think right." Then Saul said, "Yahweh, God of Israel, why did you not answer your servant to-day? If the fault lies on me or on my son Jonathan, O Yahweh, God of Israel, give Urim: if the fault lies on your people Israel, give 42 Thummim." Jonathan and Saul were indicated and the people went free. Saul said, "Cast the lot between me and my son Jonathan"; and Jonathan was indicated.

43 Saul then said to Jonathan, "Tell me what you have done." Jonathan said,
 "I only ate a mouthful of honey off the end of the stick I was holding. Here I am.

14 a. Saul means to consult Yahweh by means of the sacred lots. The next verse, however, shows that he stopped the priest from revealing them. b. To serve as an altar. c. This is the use of the ephod: Urim and Thummim are the name of the two objects used as lots.

44 I am ready to die." Saul said, "May God do this to me and more if you do not 45 die, Jonathan." But the people said to Saul, "Must Jonathan die after winning this great victory for Israel? Never let it be so! As Yahweh lives, not one hair of his head shall fall to the ground, for his deeds today have been done with the help of God." And so the people ransomed Jonathan and he was not put to death.

46 Saul decided not to pursue the Philistines, and the Philistines returned to their own territory.

Summary of Saul's reign

47 Saul consolidated his rule over Israel and fought against all his enemies everywhere: against Moab, the Ammonites, Edom, Beth-rehob, the king of 48 Zobah, the Philistines; wherever he turned he was victorious. He did great deeds of valor; he defeated the Amalekites and delivered Israel from the power of their plunderers.

49 The sons of Saul were: Jonathan, Ishvi^d and Malchishua. The names of his 50 two daughters were: the elder, Merab, and the younger, Michal. The name of Saul's wife was Ahinoam daughter of Ahimaaz. The name of his army 51 commander was Abner son of Ner; he was Saul's uncle. Kish the father of Saul, and Ner the father of Abner were the sons of Abiel.

52 There was fierce war against the Philistines throughout Saul's lifetime. Any strong man or man of valor that caught Saul's eye he recruited into his service.^e

The holy war against the Amalekites

1 15 Samuel said to Saul, "I am the man whom Yahweh sent to anoint you king over his people, over Israel, so now listen to the words of Yahweh.
2 Thus speaks Yahweh Sabaoth, 'I will repay what Amalek did to Israel when they 3 opposed them on the road by which they came up out of Egypt. Now, go and strike down Amalek; put him under the ban with all that he possesses. Do not spare him, but kill man and woman, babe and suckling, ox and sheep, camel and donkey.'"

4 Saul summoned the people and reviewed them at Telaim: two hundred 5 thousand foot soldiers (and ten thousand men of Judah). Saul went to the city 6 of Amalek and lay in ambush in the river bed. Saul said to the Kenites, "Go, leave your homes among the Amalekites or I may destroy you with them, for you were friendly to all the sons of Israel when they came up from Egypt."
So the Kenites moved away from the Amalekites.

7 Saul then defeated the Amalekites, starting from Havilah in the direction of 8 Shur, which is to the east of Egypt. He took Agag king of the Amalekites 9 alive and, executing the ban, put all the people to the sword. But Saul and the army spared Agag with the best of the sheep and cattle, the fatlings and lambs and all that was good. They did not want to put those under the ban; they only put under the ban what was poor and worthless.

Saul is rejected by Yahweh

10 The word of Yahweh came to Samuel, "I regret having made Saul king, 11 for he has turned away from me and has not carried out my orders." Then Samuel was deeply moved, and all night long he cried out to Yahweh.

12 In the morning Samuel went to meet Saul; word was brought him that Saul had gone to Carmel to raise himself a monument, and had passed on again 13 and gone down to Gilgal. When Samuel reached Saul, Saul said to him, "Blessed 14 may you be by Yahweh! I have carried out Yahweh's orders." But Samuel replied, "Then what is the meaning of this bleating of sheep in my ears, and the 15 lowing of oxen I hear?" Saul said, "They have brought them from Amalek because the people spared the best of the sheep and oxen to sacrifice them to Yahweh, your God; the rest we put under the ban."

16 Then Samuel said to Saul, "Stop! Let me tell you what Yahweh said to me 17 last night." Saul said, "Tell me." Samuel continued, "Small as you may be in 18 your own eyes, are you not head of the tribes of Israel? Yahweh has anointed you king over Israel. Yahweh sent you on a mission and said to you, 'Go, put 19 these sinners, the Amalekites, under the ban and make war on them until they are exterminated.' Why then did you not obey the voice of Yahweh? Why did 20 you fall on the booty and do what is displeasing to Yahweh?" Saul replied to Samuel, "But I did obey the voice of Yahweh. I went on the mission which Yahweh gave me; I brought back Agag king of the Amalekites; I put the 21 Amalekites under the ban. From the booty the people took the best sheep and oxen of what was under the ban to sacrifice them to Yahweh your God in 22 Gilgal." But Samuel replied:

"Is the pleasure of Yahweh in holocausts and sacrifices or in obedience to the voice of Yahweh?

Yes, obedience is better than sacrifice, submissiveness better than the fat of rams.

23 Rebellion is a sin of sorcery, presumption a crime of teraphim.^a

"Since you have rejected the word of Yahweh, he has rejected you as king."

Saul vainly asks for pardon

24 Then Saul said to Samuel, "I have sinned, for I have transgressed the order of Yahweh and your directions, being afraid of the people and doing 25 what they said. Now, I pray you, forgive my sin; come back with me and I will 26 worship Yahweh." But Samuel answered Saul, "I will not come back with you, for you have rejected the word of Yahweh and he has rejected you as king of 27 Israel." As Samuel turned to go away, Saul caught at the hem of his garment 28 and it tore, and Samuel said to him, "Today Yahweh has torn the kingdom of Israel from you and given it to a neighbor of yours who is better than you." 29 (And yet the glory of Israel will not lie or go back on his word, for he is not 30 a man to go back on his word.) "I have sinned," Saul said, "but please still show me respect in front of the elders of my people and in front of Israel, 31 and come back with me, so that I can worship Yahweh your God." Samuel followed Saul back and Saul worshiped Yahweh.

Agag's death and Samuel's departure

32 Then Samuel said, "Bring me Agag the king of the Amalekites," and Agag 33 came to him reluctantly. "Truly, death is a bitter thing," he said. Samuel said:

"As your sword has made women childless, so shall your mother be made childless among women."

Then Samuel butchered Agag before Yahweh at Gilgal.

34 Samuel left for Ramah, and Saul went up home to Gibeah of Saul. Samuel did not see Saul again to the day of his death^b; Samuel was very sorry for Saul, but Yahweh regretted having made Saul king of Israel.

A. DAVID AT COURT

David is anointed

1 16 Yahweh said to Samuel, "How long will you go on mourning over Saul when I have rejected him as king of Israel? Fill your horn with oil and go.

d. i.e., "man of Yahweh." The same person is called Ishbaal in 1 Ch. 8, and Ishbosheth in 2 S. 2.
 e. The beginnings of a professional army.

15 a. "False gods"; teraphim were household idols. b. But 19:22-24 records a different tradition.

I am sending you to Jesse of Bethlehem, for I have chosen myself a king among his sons." Samuel replied, "How can I go? When Saul hears of it he will kill me." Then Yahweh said, "Take a heifer with you and say, 'I have come to sacrifice to Yahweh.' Invite Jesse to the sacrifice, and then I myself will tell you what you must do; you must anoint to me the one I point out to you."

Samuel did what Yahweh ordered and went to Bethlehem. The elders of the town came trembling to meet him and asked, "Seer, have you come with good intentions toward us?" "Yes," he replied, "I have come to sacrifice to Yahweh. Purify yourselves and come with me to the sacrifice." He purified Jesse and his sons and invited them to the sacrifice.

When they arrived, he caught sight of Eliab and thought, "Surely Yahweh's anointed one stands there before him," but Yahweh said to Samuel, "Take no notice of his appearance or his height for I have rejected him; God does not see as man sees; man looks at appearances but Yahweh looks at the heart." Jesse then called Abinadab and presented him to Samuel, who said, "Yahweh has not chosen this one either." Jesse then presented Shammah, but Samuel said, "Yahweh has not chosen this one either." Jesse presented his seven sons to Samuel, but Samuel said to Jesse, "Yahweh has not chosen these." He then asked Jesse, "Are these all the sons you have?" He answered, "There is still one left, the youngest; he is out looking after the sheep." Then Samuel said to Jesse, "Send for him; we will not sit down to eat until he comes." Jesse had him sent for, a boy of fresh complexion, with fine eyes and pleasant bearing. Yahweh said, "Come, anoint him, for this is the one." At this, Samuel took the horn of oil and anointed him where he stood with his brothers; and the spirit of Yahweh seized on David and stayed with him from that day on. As for Samuel, he rose and went to Ramah.

David takes service with Saul

Now the spirit of Yahweh had left Saul and an evil spirit from Yahweh filled him with terror. Saul's servants said to him, "Look, an evil spirit of God is the cause of your terror. Let our lord give the order, and your servants who wait on you will look for a skilled harpist; when the evil spirit of God troubles you, the harpist will play and you will recover." Saul said to his servants, "Find me a man who plays well and bring him to me." One of the soldiers then spoke up. "I have seen one of the sons of Jesse the Bethlehemite," he said; "he is a skilled player, a brave man and a fighter, prudent in speech, a man of presence, and Yahweh is with him." At this, Saul sent messengers to Jesse, saying, "Send me David your son who is with the sheep." Jesse took five loaves, a skin of wine and a kid, and sent them to Saul by David his son. And so David came to Saul and entered his service; Saul loved him greatly and David became his armor-bearer. Then Saul sent to Jesse saying, "Let David enter my service; he has won my favor." And whenever the spirit from God troubled Saul, David took the harp and played; then Saul grew calm, and recovered, and the evil spirit left him.

Goliath defies the Israelite army

17 The Philistines mustered their troops for war; they assembled at Socoh, which is a town of Judah, and pitched camp between Socoh and Azekah, in Ephes-dammim. Saul and the Israelites also mustered, pitching camp in the Valley of the Terebinth, and drew up their battle line to meet the Philistines. These took their stand on the hills one side and the Israelites on the hills the other side, with the valley between them.

One of their shock-troopers stepped out from the Philistine ranks; his name was Goliath, from Gath; he was six cubits and one span tall. On his head was a bronze helmet and he wore a breastplate of scale armor; the breastplate weighed five thousand shekels of bronze. He had bronze greaves on his legs and

- 7 a bronze javelin across his shoulders. The shaft of his spear was like a weaver's beam, and the head of his spear weighed six hundred shekels of iron. A shield-bearer walked in front of him.
- 8 He took his stand in front of the ranks of Israel and shouted, "Why come out and range yourselves for battle? Am I not a Philistine and are you not the slaves of Saul? Choose a man and let him come down to me. If he wins in a fight with me and kills me, we will be your slaves; but if I beat him and kill him, you shall become our slaves and be servants to us." The Philistine then said, "I challenge the ranks of Israel today. Give me a man and we will fight in single combat."
- 11 When Saul and all Israel heard these words of the Philistine they were dismayed and terrified.

David arrives in the camp

- 12 David was the son of an Ephrathite from Bethlehem of Judah whose name was Jesse; Jesse had eight sons and, by Saul's time, he was old and well on in years. The three eldest sons of Jesse followed Saul to the war. The names of the three sons who went to the war were: the first-born Eliab, the second Abinadab and the third Shammah. David was the youngest; the three eldest followed Saul.
- 15 (David alternated between serving Saul and looking after his father's sheep at Bethlehem. Morning and evening for forty days the Philistine advanced and took his stand.) Jesse said to David his son, "Take your brothers this ephah of roasted grain and these ten loaves, and hurry to your brothers' camp. And take these ten cheeses to their commanding officer; ask after your brothers' health and bring some token from them; they are with Saul and all the Israelites in the Valley of the Terebinth fighting the Philistines."
- 20 David rose early in the morning and, leaving the sheep with someone to guard them, took up his load and went off as Jesse had ordered him; he came to the encampment just as the troops were leaving to take up battle stations, shouting the war cry. Israel and the Philistines drew up their lines facing one another. David left the bundle in charge of the baggage guard, ran to the battle line and went to ask his brothers how they were.
- 23 While he was talking to them, the shock-trooper (his name was Goliath, the Philistine from Gath) came up from the Philistine ranks and made his usual speech, and David heard it. As soon as the Israelites saw this man, they all ran away from him and were terrified. The Israelites said, "Have you seen this man coming up now? He is coming to challenge Israel. The king will lavish riches on the man who kills him and give him his daughter in marriage and grant his father's House the freedom of Israel."
- 26 Then David asked the men who were standing near him, "What reward will the man have who kills this Philistine and removes the disgrace from Israel? Who is this uncircumcised Philistine who dares insult the armies of the living God?" The people replied as before, "That is how the man will be rewarded who kills him." Now Eliab his elder brother heard him talking to the men and his anger flared up against David. "Why have you come down here?" he said. "Whom have you left in charge of those few sheep out there in the wilderness? I know your insolence and your wicked heart; you have come to watch the battle." David retorted, "What have I done? Must I not even speak?" And he turned away from him to address another and asked the same question; and the people answered as before. But David's words were noted and reported to Saul, who sent for him.

David volunteers to accept the challenge

- 32 David said to Saul, "Let no one lose heart on his account; your servant will go and fight this Philistine." But Saul answered David, "You cannot go and fight the Philistine; you are only a boy and he has been a warrior from his youth.”

34 David said to Saul, “Your servant used to look after the sheep for his father 35 and whenever a lion or a bear came out and took a sheep from the flock, I used to follow him up and strike him down and rescue it from his mouth; if he turned on me I seized him by the hair at his jaw and struck him down and killed him.
36 Your servant has killed both lion and bear, and this uncircumcised Philistine shall be like one of them, for he has dared to insult the armies of the living God.
37 Yahweh who rescued me from the claws of lion and bear,” David said, “will rescue me from the power of this Philistine.” Then Saul said to David, “Go, and Yahweh be with you!”

38 Saul made David put on his own armor and put a bronze helmet on his 39 head and gave him a breastplate to wear, and over David’s armor he buckled his own sword; but not being used to these things David found he could not walk. “I cannot walk with these,” he said to Saul, “I am not used to them.” So they took them off again.

David and Goliath

40 He took his staff in his hand, picked five smooth stones from the river bed, put them in his shepherd’s bag, in his pouch, and with his sling in his hand he 41 went to meet the Philistine. The Philistine, his shield-bearer in front of him, 42 came nearer and nearer to David; and the Philistine looked at David, and what he saw filled him with scorn, because David was only a youth, a boy of fresh 43 complexion and pleasant bearing. The Philistine said to him, “Am I a dog for you to come against me with sticks?” And the Philistine cursed David by his 44 gods. The Philistine said to David, “Come over here and I will give your flesh 45 to the birds of the air and the beasts of the field.” But David answered the Philistine, “You come against me with sword and spear and javelin, but I come against you in the name of Yahweh Sabaoth, the God of the armies of Israel 46 that you have dared to insult. Today Yahweh will deliver you into my hand and I shall kill you; I will cut off your head, and this very day I will give your dead body and the bodies of the Philistine army to the birds of the air and the wild beasts of the earth, so that all the earth may know that there is a God in 47 Israel, and that all this assembly may know that it is not by sword or by spear that Yahweh gives the victory, for Yahweh is lord of the battle and he will deliver you into our power.”

48 No sooner had the Philistine started forward to confront David than 49 David left the line of battle and ran to meet the Philistine. Putting his hand in his bag, he took out a stone and slung it and struck the Philistine on the forehead; the stone penetrated his forehead and he fell on his face to the ground.
50 Thus David triumphed over the Philistine with a sling and a stone and struck 51 the Philistine down and killed him. David had no sword in his hand. Then David ran and, standing over the Philistine, seized his sword and drew it from the scabbard, and with this he killed him, cutting off his head.

52 The Philistines saw that their champion was dead and took to flight. The men of Israel and of Judah started forward, shouting their war cry, and pursued the Philistines as far as the approaches of Gath and the gates of Ekron. The Philistine wounded lay all along the road from Shaaraim as far as Gath and 53 Ekron. From their determined pursuit of the Philistines the Israelites returned 54 and plundered their camp. And David took the Philistine’s head and brought it to Jerusalem; the man’s armor he kept in his own tent.

David the conqueror of Goliath is presented to Saul 55 When Saul saw David going to engage the Philistine he said to Abner, his army commander, “Abner, whose son is that boy?” “On your life, O king,” Abner 56 replied, “I do not know.” So the king said, “Find out whose son the lad is.”

57 When David came back after killing the Philistine, Abner took him and 58 brought him before Saul, with the Philistine's head in his hand. ·Saul asked him, "Whose son are you, young man?" David replied, "The son of your servant Jesse of Bethlehem."

1 18 After David had finished talking to Saul, Jonathan's soul became closely 2 bound to David's and Jonathan came to love him as his own soul. ·Saul kept him by him from that day forward and would not let him go back to his 3 father's house. ·Jonathan made a pact with David to love him as his own soul; 4 he took off the cloak he was wearing and gave it to David, and his armor too, 5 even his sword, his bow and his belt. ·Whenever David went out, on whatever fighting Saul sent him, he was successful, and Saul put him in command of the fighting men; he stood well in the people's eyes and in the eyes of Saul's officers too.

The first stirrings of jealousy in Saul

6 On their way back, as David was returning after killing the Philistine, the women came out to meet King Saul from all the towns of Israel, singing and 7 dancing to the sound of tambourine and lyre and cries of joy; ·and as they danced the women sang:

"Saul has killed his thousands,
and David his tens of thousands."

8 Saul was very angry; the incident was not to his liking. "They have given David the tens of thousands," he said, "but me only the thousands; he has all but the 9 kingship now." ·And Saul turned a jealous eye on David from that day forward.

10 On the following day an evil spirit from God seized on Saul and he fell into a fit of frenzy while he was in his house. David was playing the harp as on other 11 days and Saul had his spear in his hand. ·Saul brandished the spear; "I am going to pin David to the wall," he said. But David twice evaded him.

12 Saul feared David, for Yahweh was with him but had turned away from Saul.
13 So Saul dismissed him from his presence, making him commander of a thousand; 14 he marched at the head of the people. ·In all his enterprises David was successful, 15 and Yahweh was with him. ·And seeing how well he succeeded, Saul was fright-16 ened of him. ·But all Israel and Judah loved David, because he was their leader in all their exploits.

David's marriage

17 Saul said to David, "Here is my elder daughter Merab; I will give her to you in marriage; but you must serve me bravely and fight the battles of Yahweh"—for Saul had made up his mind, "Let it be not my hand that strikes him down, but 18 the hand of the Philistines!" ·David replied to Saul, "Who am I and what is my ancestry and my father's family in Israel, that I should be the king's son-in-law?" 19 But when the time came for Merab the daughter of Saul to be given to David, she was given in marriage to Adriel of Meholah.

20 Now Michal the daughter of Saul fell in love with David. When Saul heard 21 this he was pleased. ·He thought, "Yes, I will give her to him, but she will prove a snare for him and the hand of the Philistines will strike him." (Twice Saul said 22 to David, "Now you shall be my son-in-law.") ·Saul then gave this command to his servants, "Talk secretly to David and say, 'Look, the king is pleased with you and all his servants love you; it is time you became the king's son-in-law.'" 23 The king's servants repeated these words in David's ear, and David replied, "Does it strike you as an easy thing for me to become the king's son-in-law, poor 24 and of humble position as I am?" ·Saul's servants then reported back what 25 David had said. ·Saul replied, "Tell David this, 'The king desires no settlement except a hundred foreskins of the Philistines, for vengeance on the king's enemies.'" Saul was planning that David should fall by the hand of the Philistines.

26 His servants brought this message to David and he was delighted at the 27 thought of becoming the king's son-in-law. The time had not yet expired ·when David rose and set off, he and his men, and killed two hundred of the Philistines. David brought back their foreskins and counted them out before the king so that he could be the king's son-in-law. Saul then gave him his daughter Michal in marriage.

28 Saul now realized that Yahweh was with David, and that all the House of 29 Israel loved him; then Saul feared David all the more and became David's 30 lasting enemy. The leaders of the Philistines went out to battle, but every time they went out to battle David was more successful than all Saul's officers, and his name was held in great honor.

Jonathan intervenes on behalf of David

1 19 Saul told Jonathan his son and all his servants of his intention to kill 2 David. Now Jonathan, Saul's son, held David in great affection; and so Jonathan warned David; "My father Saul is looking for a way to kill you," he said, "so be on your guard tomorrow morning; hide away in some secret place.
3 Then I will go out and keep my father company in the fields where you are hiding, and will talk to my father about you; I will find out what the situation is and let you know."

4 So Jonathan spoke well of David to Saul his father; he said, "Let not the king sin against his servant David, for he has not sinned against you, and what 5 he has done has been greatly to your advantage. He took his life in his hands when he killed the Philistine, and Yahweh brought about a great victory for all Israel. You saw it yourself and rejoiced; why then sin against innocent blood 6 in killing David without cause?" Saul was impressed by Jonathan's words and 7 took an oath, "As Yahweh lives, I will not kill him." Jonathan called David and told him all these things. Then Jonathan brought him to Saul, and David attended on him as before.

B. THE FLIGHT OF DAVID

Saul's attempt on David's life

8 War broke out again and David went out to fight against the Philistines; he 9 inflicted a great defeat on them and they fled before him. An evil spirit from Yahweh came on Saul while he was sitting in his house with his spear in his hand; 10 David was playing the harp. Saul tried to pin David to the wall with his spear, but he avoided Saul's thrust and the spear stuck in the wall. David fled and made good his escape.

David is saved by Michal

11 That same night Saul sent agents to watch David's house, intending to kill him in the morning. But Michal, David's wife, warned him, "If you do not escape 12 tonight, you will be a dead man tomorrow." Then Michal let David down through the window, and he made off and took to flight and so escaped.

13 Michal then took the teraphim, laid it on the bed, put a tress of goats' hair on its head and covered it with a garment. When Saul sent the agents to arrest 14 David, she said, "He is ill." Saul, however, sent the agents back to see David, 15 saying, "Bring him to me on his bed for me to kill him." So they went in, and 16 there on the bed was the teraphim with the tress of goats' hair on its head! Then Saul said to Michal, "Why have you deceived me like this and let my enemy go, and so make his escape?" Michal answered Saul, "He said to me, 'Let me go or I will kill you.'"

Saul and David at Ramah with Samuel

18 So David fled and made his escape, and he went to Samuel at Ramah and told him all that Saul had done to him; he and Samuel went and lived in the huts.

¹⁹ Word was brought to Saul, "David is in the huts at Ramah." ·Saul accordingly sent agents to capture David; when they saw the company of prophets prophesying, and Samuel there as their leader, the spirit of God came on Saul's agents, and they too fell into an ecstasy. ·Word of this was brought to Saul and he sent other agents, and they, too, fell into an ecstasy; Saul then sent a third group of agents, and they fell into an ecstasy too.

²² He then went to Ramah himself and, coming to the well of the threshing floor on the bare hill, asked, "Where are Samuel and David?" And someone answered, ²³ "Why, they are in the huts of Ramah." ·He went on from there to the huts at Ramah and the spirit of God came on him too, and he went on his way in an ecstasy until he came to the huts at Ramah. ·He too stripped off his clothes and he too fell into an ecstasy in the presence of Samuel, and falling down lay there naked all that day and night. Hence the the saying: Is Saul one of the prophets too?

¹ 20 David then fled from the huts at Ramah. And he went and talked to Jonathan, "What have I done, what is my guilt and what is my sin against your father that he is seeking my life?" ·He answered, "You must not think that. He will not kill you. Look, my father does nothing, important or unimportant, without confiding it to me; why should he hide this from me? It is not true." ³ But David swore this solemn oath, "Your father knows very well that I enjoy your favor, and thinks, 'Jonathan must not come to know of this or he will be grieved.' But as Yahweh lives and as you yourself live, there is only a step between me and death."

⁴ Then Jonathan said to David, "What do you want me to do for you?" ⁵ David replied, "Look, tomorrow is New Moon and I should be sitting at table with the king, but you must let me go and hide in the fields till evening. ·If your father notices my absence, you must say, 'David asked urgent leave of me to hurry off to Bethlehem, his own town, because they are holding the annual ⁷ sacrifice there for all the clan.' ·If he says, 'Very well,' your servant is safe, but ⁸ if he is angry, you may be sure he is set on evil. ·Do this favor for your servant, since you have united yourself with him by a pact in Yahweh's name. But if ⁹ I am guilty, then kill me yourself—why take me to your father?" ·Jonathan replied, "You must not think that. If I had certain knowledge that my father ¹⁰ was set on bringing evil upon you, would I not tell you?" ·David then said to Jonathan, "Who will let me know if your father gives you a harsh answer?" ¹¹ "Come," Jonathan said to David, "let us go out into the fields." So the pair of ¹² them went out into the fields. ·Then Jonathan said to David, "Yahweh the God of Israel be witness! I will sound my father this time tomorrow; if all is well ¹³ as concerns David and I do not then inform him, ·then may Yahweh do this to Jonathan and more! If my father thinks fit to do you some harm, I will inform you and send you away, and you will go unharmed. And may Yahweh be with ¹⁴ you as he used to be with my father. ·If I am still alive, show me Yahweh's own kindness; if I die, ·never withdraw your own kindness from my House. When ¹⁶ Yahweh cuts off every one of David's enemies from the face of the earth, ·let not the name of Jonathan be cut off with the House of Saul, or Yahweh will demand a reckoning of David." ·Once again Jonathan swore the solemn oath ¹⁷ to David because he loved him as his own soul.

¹⁸ Jonathan said to him, "Tomorrow is New Moon; your absence will be noticed, ¹⁹ for your place will be empty. ·The day after tomorrow your absence will be very marked, and you must go to the place where you hid on the day of the deed, ²⁰ and you must stay beside the heap of stones there. ·For my part, the day after ²¹ tomorrow I shall be shooting arrows toward it as though at a target. ·Then I shall send a servant to say, 'Go and find the arrow.' If I say to the servant, 'The arrow is this side of you, get it,' come by all means, because it will be safe ²² for you and there will be nothing to fear as sure as Yahweh lives. ·But if I say to the youth, 'The arrow is ahead of you,' then be off, for Yahweh himself sends you away. 'And as regards the agreement we made, you and I, why, Yahweh is witness between us for ever.'

So David hid in the fields; New Moon came and the king sat down to his meal. 'He sat in his usual place, the place by the wall, with Jonathan seated facing him and Abner sitting next to Saul; but David's place was empty. 'Saul said nothing that day, thinking, "Something has happened; he is unclean." 'On the day after New Moon, the second day, David's place was still empty. 'Saul said to his son Jonathan, "Why did not the son of Jesse come to the meal either yesterday or today?" 'Jonathan answered Saul, "David asked urgent leave of me to go to Bethlehem. 'Please let me go,' he said, 'for we are holding the clan sacrifice in the town and my brothers have ordered me to attend. So now if you approve of this, let me take my leave and see my brothers.' That is why he has not come to the king's table."

Then Saul's anger flared up against Jonathan and he said to him, "You son of a wanton! Do I not know that you are in league with the son of Jesse to your own disgrace and the disgrace of your mother's nakedness? 'As long as the son of Jesse lives on the earth neither your person nor your royal rights are secure. Now, send and bring him to me; he is condemned to death." 'Jonathan answered Saul his father and said, "Why should he die? What has he done?" 'But Saul brandished his spear at him to strike him down, and Jonathan knew then that his father had already made up his mind that David should die. 'Hot with anger Jonathan rose from the table and took no food that second day of the New Moon, being grieved on David's account because his father had insulted him.

Next morning Jonathan went out into the fields for the agreed meeting with David, taking a young servant with him. 'He said to his servant, "Run and find the arrows I am going to shoot," and the servant ran while Jonathan shot an arrow ahead of him. 'When the servant reached the place where Jonathan had shot the arrow, Jonathan shouted after him, "Is not the arrow ahead of you?" 'Again Jonathan shouted after the servant, "Be quick, hurry, do not stand about." Jonathan's servant picked up the arrow and brought it back to his master. 'The servant suspected nothing; only Jonathan and David knew what was meant.

Jonathan then gave his weapons to his servant and said, "Go and carry them to the town." 'When the servant went off, David rose from beside the hillock and fell with his face to the ground and bowed down three times. Then they kissed each other and both shed many tears. 'Then Jonathan said to David, "Go in peace. And as regards the oath that both of us have sworn in the name of Yahweh, may Yahweh be witness between you and me, between your descendants and mine for ever." 21 David then rose and left, and Jonathan went back to the town.

David and the priest at Nob

David went to Nob, to Ahimelech the priest. Ahimelech came out trembling to meet David and said, "Why are you alone and no one with you?" 'David replied to Ahimelech the priest, "The king has given me an order and said to me, 'Let no one know anything of the mission I am sending you on, nor of the order I am giving you.' As regards my soldiers, I have arranged to meet them at such and such a place. 'Meanwhile if you have five loaves of bread to hand, give them to me, or whatever there is." 'The priest replied to David, "I have no ordinary bread to hand; there is only consecrated bread—provided your soldiers have kept themselves from women?"

David replied to the priest, "Certainly, women are forbidden us, as always when I set off on a campaign. The soldiers' things are pure. Though this is a profane journey, they are certainly pure today as far as their things are concerned." 'The priest then gave him what had been consecrated, for the only bread there was the bread of offering which is taken away from the presence of Yahweh to be replaced by warm bread when it is removed.

7 Now one of Saul's servants happened to be there that day, detained in the presence of Yahweh; his name was Doeg the Edomite and he was the chief of Saul's guardsmen.

8 David then said to Ahimelech, "Have you no spear or sword here to hand? I did not bring either my sword or my weapons with me, because the king's business was pressing." The priest replied, "The sword of Goliath the Philistine whom you killed in the Valley of the Terebinth is over there wrapped up in a cloth behind the ephod; if you wish to take it, do so, for there is no other here." David said, "There is none like it; give it to me."

David with the Philistines

11 That day David left, fleeing from Saul and went to Achish the king of Gath. 12 But the servants of Achish said, "Is not this David, the king of the country? 13 Was it not of him they sang in the dance:

'Saul has killed his thousands,
and David his tens of thousands?'

13 David pondered these words and became very frightened of Achish the king of Gath. 14 When their eyes were on him he played the madman and, when they held him, feigned lunacy. He would drum on the doors of the gate and let his spittle run down his beard.

15 Achish said to his servants, "You can see this man is mad. Why bring him to me? 16 Have I not enough madmen without your bringing me this one to weary me with his antics? Is he to join my household?"

C. DAVID THE OUTLAW

David begins his wanderings

1 22 David left there and took refuge in the Cave of Adullam; his brothers and all his father's family heard of it and joined him there. 2 All the oppressed, those in distress, all those in debt, anyone who had a grievance, gathered around him and he became their leader. There were about four hundred men with him.

3 David went from there to Mizpah in Moab and said to the king of Moab, "Allow my father and mother to stay with you until I know what God intends to do for me." 4 He left them with the king of Moab and they stayed with him all the time that David was in the stronghold.

5 But the prophet Gad said to David, "Do not stay in the stronghold; go and make your way into the land of Judah." So David went away and came to the forest of Hereth.

The massacre of the priests of Nob

6 Saul came to hear that David and the men with him had been discovered. Saul was at Gibeah, seated under the tamarisk on the high place, spear in hand, 7 with his officers standing around him. "Listen, men of Benjamin," Saul said to his officers standing around him, "is the son of Jesse ready to give you all fields and vineyards and to make all of you commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds that you all conspire against me? No one told me when my son made a pact with the son of Jesse; none of you felt sorry for me or told me when my son incited my servant to become my enemy, as is now the case."

9 Doeg the Edomite then spoke up—he was standing near Saul's officers: "I saw the son of Jesse come to Nob," he said, "to Ahimelech son of Ahitub. 10 This man consulted Yahweh for him, gave him provisions and also the sword of Goliath the Philistine." 11 Then the king sent and summoned the priest Ahimelech son of Ahitub and his whole family, the priests of Nob; they all came to the king.

12 Saul said, "Now listen, son of Ahitub." He answered, "I am here, my lord." 13 "Why have you conspired against me," Saul said, "you and the son of Jesse, giving him bread and a sword and consulting God on his behalf, for him to rebel 14 against me as is now the case?" Ahimelech answered the king, "Who among all your servants is as faithful as David, son-in-law to the king, captain of your 15 bodyguard, honored in your household? Was today the first time I ever consulted God on his behalf? Far be it from me to do otherwise! Let not the king bring any charge against his servant or against his whole family, for your 16 servant knew nothing whatever of the whole affair." But the king answered, "Most surely you shall die, Ahimelech, you and your whole family." 17 The king said to the guardsmen who were standing beside him, "Step forward and put the priests of Yahweh to death, for they too have supported David, they knew he was making his escape yet did not tell me." But the king's servants 18 would not lift a hand to strike the priests of Yahweh. The king then said to Doeg, "You step forward and strike the priests." Doeg the Edomite stepped forward and struck the priests himself, that day killing eighty-five men who wore 19 the linen ephod. As for Nob, the town of the priests, Saul put it to the sword, men and women, children and infants, cattle and donkeys and sheep.
 20 One son only of Ahimelech son of Ahitub escaped. His name was Abiathar, 21 and he fled away to join David and told him that Saul had slaughtered the 22 priests of Yahweh. David said to Abiathar, "I knew that day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, he would be sure to inform Saul. I am responsible for the 23 death of all your kinsmen. Stay with me, have no fear, for he who seeks your life seeks mine too; you will be safe with me."

David at Keilah

1 23 They brought the news to David, "The Philistines are fighting against Keilah 2 and are plundering the threshing floors." David consulted Yahweh, "Shall I go and fight these Philistines?" Yahweh answered David, "Go and fight the 3 Philistines and save Keilah." But David's men said to him, "We go in fear here in Judah; how much more, then, if we go to Keilah to fight against the Philistines?" 4 So David consulted Yahweh again and Yahweh replied, "Be on your way; go 5 down to Keilah for I will give the Philistines into your power." So David and his men went to Keilah and fought the Philistines, and carried off their cattle and inflicted a great defeat on them. Thus David saved the inhabitants of Keilah.
 6 Now when Abiathar son of Ahimelech took refuge with David, he went down to Keilah with the ephod in his hand.
 7 When word was brought to Saul that David had gone to Keilah he said, "God has delivered him into my power, for he has walked into a trap by going into 8 a town with gates and bars." Saul called all the people to arms, to go down to 9 Keilah and besiege David and his men. David, however, was aware that Saul was plotting evil against him and said to Abiathar the priest, "Bring the ephod." 10 David said, "Yahweh, God of Israel, your servant has heard that Saul is preparing 11 to come to Keilah and destroy the town because of me. Will Saul come down as your servant has heard? Yahweh, God of Israel, I beg you, let your servant 12 know." Yahweh replied, "He will come down." Then David asked, "Will the townsmen of Keilah hand me and my men over to Saul?" Yahweh replied, "They 13 will hand you over." At this, David made off with his men, about six hundred in number; they left Keilah and went where they could. When the news was brought to Saul that David had escaped from Keilah, he abandoned the expedition.
 14 David stayed in the wilderness, in the strongholds; he stayed in the mountains, in the wilderness of Ziph; Saul searched for him continually, but God did not deliver him into his power.

David at Horesh. A visit from Jonathan

15 David was afraid because Saul had mounted an expedition to take his life.
 16 At that time he was at Horesh in the wilderness of Ziph. Jonathan son of Saul set off and went to David at Horesh and encouraged him in the name of 17 God. "Have no fear," he told him, "for the hand of my father Saul will not reach you; you are the one who is to reign over Israel, and I shall be second to you.

 18 Saul my father is himself aware of this." And the two made a pact in the presence of Yahweh. David stayed at Horesh and Jonathan went home.

David has a narrow escape from Saul

19 Now some men of Ziph went up to Saul at Gibeah. "Is not David in hiding among us," they said, "in the strongholds at Horesh, on the Hill of Hachilah 20 to the south of the wastelands? Now whenever you wish to go down, O king, do so; it will be our task to deliver him into the king's power." Saul replied, 22 "May you be blessed by Yahweh, for coming to help me. Go now, make surer still. Find out and note the place his footsteps hurry to, for I have been told 23 he is very cunning. Take careful notice of all the hiding places where he lurks, and come back to me when you are certain. I will then come to you; and if he is in the country, I will track him down through all the clans of Judah." 24 So they set off and went to Ziph ahead of Saul. Meanwhile, David and his men were in the wilderness of Maon, in the plain to the south of the wastelands.
 25 When Saul and his men set out in search of him, David was informed of it and went down to the rock that is in the wilderness of Maon. Saul heard of this 26 and pursued David into the wilderness of Maon. Saul and his men proceeded along one side of the mountain, David and his men along the other. David was hurrying to get away from Saul, while Saul with his men was trying to outflank 27 David and his men and so capture them, when a messenger came to Saul and 28 said, "Come at once, the Philistines have invaded the country." So Saul broke off his pursuit of David and went to fight the Philistines. This is why that place is called the Rock of Divisions.

David spares Saul

1 24 David went away from there, and stayed in the strongholds of Engedi.
 2 When Saul returned from pursuing the Philistines, he was told, "David is 3 now in the wilderness of Engedi." Saul thereupon took three thousand men chosen from the whole of Israel and went in search of David and his men east 4 of the Rocks of the Wild Goats. He came to the sheepfolds along the route where there was a cave, and went in to cover his feet.^a Now David and his men 5 were sitting in the recesses of the cave; David's men said to him, "Today is the day of which Yahweh said to you, 'I will deliver your enemy into your power, do what you like with him.'" David stood up and, unobserved, cut off the 6 border of Saul's cloak. Afterward David reproached himself for having cut off 7 the border of Saul's cloak. He said to his men, "Yahweh preserve me from doing such a thing to my lord and raising my hand against him, for he is the 8 anointed of Yahweh." David gave his men strict instructions, forbidding them to attack Saul.
 9 Saul then left the cave and went on his way. After this, David too left the cave and called after Saul, "My lord king!" Saul looked behind him and David 10 bowed to the ground and did homage. Then David said to Saul, "Why do you 11 listen to the men who say to you, 'David means to harm you?' Why, your own eyes have seen today how Yahweh put you in my power in the cave and how I refused to kill you, but spared you. 'I will not raise my hand 12 against my lord,' I said, 'for he is the anointed of Yahweh.' O my father, see, look at the border of your cloak in my hand. Since I cut off the border of your cloak, yet did not kill you, you must acknowledge frankly that there is neither malice nor treason in my mind. I have not offended against you, yet you hunt 13 me down to take my life. May Yahweh be judge between me and you, and may 14 Yahweh avenge me on you; but my hand shall not be laid on you. (As the old proverb says: Wickedness goes out from the wicked, and my hand will not be laid on you.) ·On whose trail has the king of Israel set out? On whose trail are you in hot pursuit? On the trail of a dead dog! On the trail of a single flea! May Yahweh be the judge and decide between me and you; may he take up my cause and defend it and give judgment for me, freeing me from your power."

24 a. The common euphemism for "to relieve himself."

When David had finished saying these words to Saul, Saul said, "Is that your voice, my son David?" And Saul wept aloud. "You are a more upright man than I," he said to David, "for you have repaid me with good while I have repaid you with evil. Today you have crowned your goodness toward me since Yahweh had put me in your power yet you did not kill me. When a man comes on his enemy, does he let him go unmolested? May Yahweh reward you for the goodness you have shown me today. Now I know you will indeed reign and that the sovereignty in Israel will be secure in your hands. Now swear to me by Yahweh that you will not cut off my descendants after me nor blot out my name from my family." This David swore to Saul and Saul went home while David and his men with him went back to the stronghold.

The death of Samuel

1 25 Samuel died and the whole of Israel assembled to mourn him. They buried him at his home in Ramah.

The story of Nabal and Abigail

David then set off and went down to the wilderness of Maon.

2 Now there was a man in Maon whose business was at Carmel, a man of means who owned three thousand sheep and a thousand goats. He was engaged in shearing his sheep at Carmel. The man's name was Nabal and his wife's Abigail. She was a woman of intelligence and beauty, but the man was brutish and ill-mannered. He was a Calebite.

4 When David learned in the wilderness that Nabal was at his sheepshearing, he sent ten soldiers, saying to them,^a "Go up to Carmel, visit Nabal and greet him in my name. You are to say this to my brother, 'Peace to you, peace to your House, peace to all that is yours! I hear that you have the shearers; now your shepherds were with us and we did not molest them, nor did they find anything missing all the time they were at Carmel. Ask your soldiers and they will tell you. May these soldiers win your favor, for we come on a day of feasting. Whatever you have to hand please give to your servants and to David your son.'"

9 David's soldiers came and said all this to Nabal in David's name, and waited. Then Nabal answered David's soldiers, "Who is David? Who is the son of Jesse? There are many servants nowadays who run away from their masters. Am I to take my bread and my wine and the meat I have slaughtered for my shearers and give it to men who come from I do not know where?" David's soldiers turned away and went back the way they had come, and they told all this to David. Then David said to his men, "Every man buckle on his sword!" And they buckled on their swords, and David buckled on his too; about four hundred men followed David while two hundred remained with the baggage.

14 Now one of the servants had brought the news to Abigail, Nabal's wife. He said, "David sent messengers from the wilderness to greet our master, but he flared out at them. Now these men were very good to us; they did not molest us and we did not find anything missing all the time we were out in the fields while we were in their neighborhood. They were a protection to us night and day, all the time we were in their neighborhood minding the sheep. Now bear this in mind and see what you can do, for the ruin of our master and of his whole House is decided on, and he is so ill-tempered no one can say a word to him."

18 Abigail hastily took two hundred loaves, two skins of wine, five sheep ready prepared, five measures of roasted grain, a hundred bunches of raisins and two 19 hundred cakes of figs and loaded them on donkeys. "She said to her servants, "Go on ahead of me, I will follow you"—but she did not tell her husband.

20 As she was riding her donkey down behind a spur of the mountain, David and his men happened to be coming down in her direction; and she met them. "Now David had decided, "It was a waste of time guarding all this man's property in the wilderness. Nothing was missing of all he had, and yet he returned evil for good. "May God do this to David and more if by morning 22 I leave one male alive of all those who belong to him!" "As soon as Abigail saw David she quickly dismounted from the donkey and, falling on her face 24 before David, bowed down to the ground. "She fell at his feet and said, "Let me take the blame, my lord. Let your servant speak in your ear; listen to the words 25 of your servant. "Pay no attention to this ill-tempered man Nabal for his nature is like his name; 'Brute' is his name and brutish his character. 26 But I your servant did not see the soldiers my lord had sent. "And now, my lord, as Yahweh lives and as your soul lives, by Yahweh who kept you from the crime of bloodshed and from taking vengeance with your own hand, may your 27 enemies, and all those who plan evil against my lord become like Nabal. "As for the present your servant brings my lord, let it be given to the soldiers of 28 my lord's own following. "I ask you to forgive your servant's fault, for then Yahweh will grant my lord a lasting dynasty, for my lord is fighting the battles of Yahweh, and in all your life there is no wickedness to be found in you. 29 Should men set out to hunt you down and try to take your life, my lord's life will be kept close in the satchel of life with Yahweh your God, while as for the lives of your enemies he will fling them away, as from a sling. "When Yahweh 30 has done for my lord all the good he has promised you, when he has made you 31 prince over Israel, you do not want to have any reason to grieve or feel remorse at having shed blood needlessly and avenged yourself with your own hand. And when Yahweh has shown his goodness to my lord, then remember your servant."

32 David said to Abigail, "Blessed be Yahweh, the God of Israel, who sent you 33 to meet me today! "Blessed be your wisdom and blessed you yourself for restraining me today from the crime of bloodshed and from avenging myself 34 with my own hand! "But as Yahweh the God of Israel lives, he who kept me from harming you, had you not hurried out to meet me, I swear that 35 Nabal would not have had one male left alive by the morning." "David then accepted from her what she had brought him and said, "Go home in peace; see, I have listened to you and have granted your request."

36 Abigail returned to Nabal. He was holding a feast, a princely feast, in his house; Nabal was in high spirits, and as he was very drunk she told him nothing 37 at all till it was daylight. "In the morning then, when the wine had left him, his wife told him all that had happened and his heart died inside him and he 38 became like a stone. "About ten days later Yahweh struck Nabal, and he died.

39 When David heard that Nabal was dead, he said, "Blessed be Yahweh who has avenged the insult I received at Nabal's hands and has restrained his servant from doing evil; Yahweh has brought Nabal's wickedness down on his own head."

40 David then sent Abigail an offer of marriage. "When David's servants came to Abigail at Carmel, they said, "David has sent us to you to take you to him as his wife." "She rose and bowed down her face to the ground. "Consider your 42 servant a slave," she said, "to wash the feet of my lord's servants." "Quickly Abigail stood up again and mounted a donkey; followed by five of her slave 43 girls she followed David's messengers and became his wife.

44 David had also married Ahinoam of Jezreel and he kept them both as wives. "Saul had given Michal his daughter, the wife of David, to Palti son of Laish, from Gallim.

25 a. Shearing is a time of festival when the owner of the flock should be generous; David is choosing the best time to make the levy on neighboring villages customarily made by nomads under "the law of brotherhood."

David spares Saul

- 1 26 Now the men of Ziph came to Saul at Gibeah. "Is not David in hiding," 2 they said, "on the Hill of Hachilah on the edge of the wastelands?" So Saul 3 set off and went down to the wilderness of Ziph, accompanied by three thousand 4 men chosen from Israel to search for David in the wilderness of Ziph. Saul 5 pitched camp on the Hill of Hachilah, which is on the edge of the wastelands, 6 by the roadside. David was then living in the wilderness and saw that Saul 7 was coming after him there. Accordingly, David sent out spies and learned that Saul 8 had indeed arrived. Setting off, David went to the place where Saul had pitched 9 camp. He saw the place where Saul and Abner son of Ner commander of his army 10 were lying. Saul was lying inside the camp with the troops bivouacking around him.
11 Speaking to Ahimelech the Hittite and Abishai son of Zeruiah and brother of 12 Joab, David said, "Who will come down with me into the camp of Saul?" Abishai 13 answered, "I will go down with you." So in the dark David and Abishai made 14 their way toward the force, where they found Saul lying asleep inside the camp, 15 his spear stuck in the ground beside his head, with Abner and the troops lying 16 around him.
- 17 Then Abishai said to David, "Today God has put your enemy in your 18 power; so now let me pin him to the ground with his own spear. Just one 19 stroke! I will not need to strike him twice." David answered Abishai, "Do not 20 kill him, for who can lift his hand against Yahweh's anointed and be without 21 guilt? As Yahweh lives," David said, "Yahweh himself will strike him down, 22 whether his time to die comes, or he goes out to battle and perishes then.
23 Yahweh forbid that I should raise my hand against Yahweh's anointed! But now 24 take the spear beside his head and the pitcher of water and let us go away." 25 David took the spear and the pitcher of water from beside Saul's head, and 26 they made off. No one saw, no one knew, no one woke up; they were all asleep, 27 for a deep sleep from Yahweh had fallen on them.
- 28 David crossed to the other side and halted on the top of the mountain a 29 long way off; there was a wide space between them. David then called out to 30 the troops and to Abner son of Ner, "Abner, will you not answer?" Abner replied, 31 "Who is that calling?" David said to Abner, "Are you not a man? Who is your 32 like in Israel? Why did you not guard your lord the king then? Some man of 33 the people came to kill the king your lord. What you did was not well done.
34 As Yahweh lives, you all deserve to die since you did not guard your lord, 35 Yahweh's anointed. Look where the king's spear is now, and the pitcher of 36 water that was beside his head."
- 37 Then Saul recognized David's voice and said, "Is that your voice, my son 38 David?" David answered, "It is my voice, my lord king. Why does my lord 39 pursue his servant?" he said. "What have I done? What evil am I guilty of? May 40 my lord king now listen to the words of his servant: if Yahweh himself has 41 incited you against me, let him accept an offering; but if men have done it, 42 may they be accursed before Yahweh, for now they have driven me out so that 43 I have no share in the heritage of Yahweh. They have said, 'Go and serve other 44 gods.'" So now, do not let my blood fall to the ground out of the presence 45 of Yahweh; for the king of Israel has gone out in quest of my life as a man 46 hunts a partridge on the mountains."
- 47 Saul replied, "I have sinned. Come back, my son David; I will never harm 48 you again since you have shown such respect for my life today. Yes, my course 49 has been folly and my error grave." David answered, "Here is the king's spear.
50 Let one of the soldiers come across and take it. Yahweh repays everyone for 51 his uprightness and loyalty. Today Yahweh put you in my power, but 52 I would not raise my hand against Yahweh's anointed. Just as today your life 53 counted for much in my sight, so shall my life count for much in the sight of 54 Yahweh and he will deliver me from all distress."
- 55 Then Saul said to David, "May you be blessed, my son David! You will do 56 great things and will succeed." Then David went on his way and Saul returned home.

D. DAVID AMONG THE PHILISTINES

He takes refuge at Gath

¹ 27 "One of these days," David thought, "I shall perish at the hand of Saul. I can do no better than escape to the land of the Philistines; then Saul will give up tracking me through the length and breadth of Israel and I shall be safe from him." So David set off and went, he and the six hundred men who were with him, down to Achish son of Maoch the king of Gath. He settled at Gath with Achish, he and his men, each with his family and David with his two wives, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail the wife of Nabal from Carmel. When news reached Saul that David had fled to Gath, he stopped searching for him.

David as vassal of the Philistines

⁵ David said to Achish, "If you will grant me a favor, let me be given a place in one of the country towns for me to settle in. Why should your servant live in the royal city with you?" So that day Achish gave him Ziklag, and for this reason Ziklag has been the property of the kings of Judah to the present day. The length of time that David stayed in Philistine territory was a year and four months.

⁸ David and his men went out on raids against the Geshurites, Girzites and Amalekites, for these are the tribes inhabiting the region that goes from Telam in the direction of Shur and as far as the land of Egypt. David laid the countryside waste and left neither man nor woman alive but took the sheep and oxen, donkeys, camels and garments and came back, bringing them to Achish. Achish would ask, "Where did you go raiding today?" David would reply, "Against the Negeb of Judah," or "the Negeb of Jerahmeel," or "the Negeb of the Kenites."^a

¹¹ But David never brought a man or woman back alive to Gath, "in case," as he thought, "they inform against us and say, 'David did such and such.'" This was David's practice all the time he stayed in Philistine territory. Achish trusted David. "He has made himself hated by his own people Israel," he thought, "and so will be my servant for ever."

The Philistines go to war against Israel

¹ 28 At that time the Philistines mustered their forces for war to fight Israel, and Achish said to David, "It is understood that you join forces with me, you and your men?" David answered Achish, "In that case, you will soon see what your servant can do." Achish replied to David, "Right, I shall appoint you as my permanent bodyguard."

Saul and the witch of En-dor

³ Now Samuel was dead, and all Israel had mourned him and buried him at Ramah, his own town. Saul had expelled the necromancers and wizards from the country.

⁴ Meanwhile the Philistines had mustered and pitched camp at Shunem. Saul mustered all Israel and they encamped at Gilboa. When Saul saw the Philistine camp he was afraid and there was a great trembling in his heart. Saul consulted Yahweh, but Yahweh gave him no answer, either by dream or oracle or prophet. Then Saul said to his servants, "Find a woman who is a necromancer for me to go and consult her." His servants replied, "There is a necromancer at En-dor."¹

future to me," he said, "by means of a ghost. Conjure up the one I shall name to you." The woman answered, "Look, you know what Saul has done, how he has swept the necromancers and wizards out of the country; why are you setting a trap for my life, then, to have me killed?" But Saul swore to her by Yahweh, "As Yahweh lives," he said, "no blame shall attach to you for this business." Then the woman asked, "Whom shall I conjure up for you?" He replied, "Conjure up Samuel."

Then the woman saw Samuel and, giving a great cry, she said to Saul, "Why have you deceived me? You are Saul." The king said, "Do not be afraid! What do you see?" The woman answered Saul, "I see a ghost rising up from the earth." "What is he like?" he asked. She answered, "It is an old man coming up; he is wrapped in a cloak." Then Saul knew it was Samuel and he bowed down his face to the ground and did homage.

Then Samuel said to Saul, "Why have you disturbed my rest, conjuring me up?" Saul replied, "I am in great distress; the Philistines are waging war against me, and God has abandoned me and no longer answers me either by prophet or dream; and so I have summoned you to tell me what I must do." Samuel said, "And why do you consult me, when Yahweh has abandoned you and is with your neighbor? Yahweh has done to you as he foretold through me; he has snatched the sovereignty from your hand and given it to your neighbor, David, because you disobeyed the voice of Yahweh and did not execute his fierce anger against Amalek. That is why Yahweh treats you like this now. What is more, Yahweh will deliver Israel and you, too, into the power of the Philistines. Tomorrow you and your sons will be with me; and Israel's army, too, for Yahweh will deliver it into the power of the Philistines."

Saul was overcome and fell full length on the ground. He was terrified by what Samuel had said and, besides this, he was weakened by having eaten nothing at all that day and all that night. The woman then came to Saul, and seeing his terror said, "Look, your servant has obeyed your voice; I have taken my life in my hands, and have obeyed the command you gave me. So now you in your turn listen to what your servant says. Let me set a little food before you for you to eat and get some strength for your journey." But he refused. "I will not eat," he said. His servants however pressed him, and so did the woman. Allowing himself to be persuaded by them, he rose from the ground and sat on the divan. The woman owned a fattened calf which she quickly slaughtered, and she took some flour and kneaded it and with it baked cakes of unleavened bread; she put these before Saul and his servants; and after they had eaten they set off and left the same night.

David is sent away by the Philistine leaders

29 The Philistines mustered all their forces at Aphek while the Israelites were encamped near the spring which is in Jezreel. The Philistine lords paraded in their groups of a hundred and a thousand, with David and his men bringing up the rear with Achish. The Philistine leaders asked, "Who are these Hebrews?" Achish replied to the Philistine leaders, "Why, this is David the servant of Saul, king of Israel, who has been with me for the last one or two years. I have had no fault to find with him from the day he gave himself up to me to the present time." But the Philistine leaders were angry with him. "Send the man back," they said, "let him return to the place you assigned him. He must not go down with us to battle, in case he turns on us once battle is joined. Would there be a better way for the man to regain his master's favor than with the heads of these men here? Is not this the David of whom they sang in the dance:

'Saul has killed his thousands,
David his tens of thousands?'

- 6 So Achish called David and said, "As Yahweh lives, you are loyal, and to me it seems only right you should accompany me in the campaign, for I have found nothing wrong in you from the day you came to me to the present time.
- 7 But you are not acceptable to the leaders. So go back, and go in peace, rather than antagonize the leaders of the Philistines."
- 8 "But what have I done," David asked Achish, "What fault have you had to find with your servant from the day I entered your service to the present time, for me not to be allowed to go and fight the enemies of my lord the king?"
- 9 Achish answered, "You know that in my sight you are as blameless as an angel of God; but the Philistine leaders have said, 'He must not go out with us to battle.' So now, get up early in the morning, you and your master's servants who came with you, and go to the place I assigned you. Let there be no rancor in your heart, for to me you are blameless. You must get up early in the morning and when it is light enough you must be off."
- 11 So David rose early, he and his men, and set off in the morning to return to the land of the Philistines. The Philistines went up to Jezreel.

The campaign against the Amalekites

- 1 30 Now by the time David and his men reached Ziklag on the third day, the Amalekites had raided the Negeb and Ziklag; they had stormed Ziklag and
- 2 burned it down. They had taken the women captive with all those who were there, both small and great. They had not killed anyone, but taken the prisoners
- 3 and gone on their way. When David and his men arrived, they found the town
- 4 burned down and their wives and sons and daughters taken captive. Then David and the people with him wept aloud till they were too weak to weep any more.
- 5 David's two wives had been taken captive, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail the wife of Nabal from Carmel.
- 6 David was in great trouble, for the people were talking of stoning him; all the people were bitter in soul, each for his sons and daughters. But David took
- 7 courage from Yahweh his God. To the priest Abiathar son of Ahimelech David said, "Bring me the ephod." Abiathar brought the ephod to David. Then David
- 8 consulted Yahweh, "Am I to go in pursuit of these raiders? Shall I overtake them?" The answer was, "Go in pursuit; you will certainly overtake them and rescue the
- 9 captives." David accordingly set off with the six hundred men who were with him, and reached the wadi Besor. David then continued the pursuit with four
- 10 hundred men, two hundred staying behind who were too exhausted to cross the wadi Besor.
- 11 Out in the country they found an Egyptian and brought him to David. They
- 12 gave him bread which he ate, and water to drink; they also gave him a piece of fig cake and two bunches of raisins; he ate these and his spirits revived, for he had neither eaten bread nor drunk water for three days and three nights.
- 13 David then said to him, "Whose man are you and where do you come from?" He answered, "I am a young Egyptian, the slave of an Amalekite; my master abandoned me because I fell sick three days ago. We raided the Negeb of the Cherethites, and the Negeb of Judah, and the Negeb of Caleb too, and we burned
- 14 Ziklag down." David said, "Will you lead me down to these raiders?" He replied, "Swear to me by God not to kill me or hand me over to my master and I will lead
- 15 you down to these raiders."
- 16 And when he led him down there they were, scattered over the whole countryside, eating, drinking and rejoicing, because of the enormous booty they
- 17 had taken from the land of the Philistines and from the land of Judah. David struck them down from dawn till evening, putting them under the ban. None
- 18 escaped except for four hundred soldiers who mounted camels and fled. David set free all whom the Amalekites had captured. David set his two wives free also.
- 19 Nothing was missing, whether small or great, booty or sons and daughters,
- 20 everything that had been captured; David brought all back. They captured the flocks and herds as well and drove them in front of him. "This is David's booty," they shouted.

- 21 Then David came to the two hundred men who had been too exhausted to follow him, those he had left at the wadi Besor; they came out to meet David and the troops with him, and, approaching David and the troops, asked how 22 they had fared. "But all the rogues and scoundrels among the men who had gone with David said, "They did not go with us so we will not give them any of the booty we have rescued, though each can take his wife and children away 23 and go." "But David said, "Do not act like this after what Yahweh has done for us; he has protected us, delivering into our hands the raiders who set on us.
24 Who would agree with you on this? No:

"As the share is of him who goes down to the battle, so is the share of him who stays with the baggage.

- 25 "They must share alike." "And from that day forward he made this a statute and an ordinance for Israel which obtains to the present day.

- 26 When David came to Ziklag he sent parts of the booty to the elders of Judah, proportionate to their towns, with this message, "Here is a present for you from the booty taken from the enemies of Yahweh":

- 27 for those in Bethel, for those in Ramoth of the Negeb, 28 for those in Jattir, for those in Aroer, for those in Siphmoth, for those in Eshtemoa, 29 for those in Carmel, for those in the towns of Jerahmeel, for those in the towns of the Kenites, 30 for those in Hormah, for those in Borashan, for those in Athach, 31 for those in Hebron and for all the places which David and his men had frequented.

The battle of Gilboa and the death of Saul

- 1 31 The Philistines made war on Israel and the men of Israel fled from 2 the Philistines and were slaughtered on Mount Gilboa. "The Philistines pressed Saul and his sons hard and killed Jonathan, Abinadab and Malchishua, the sons of Saul. "The fighting grew heavy about Saul; the bowmen took him 3 off his guard, so that he fell wounded by the bowmen. "Then Saul said to his armor-bearer, "Draw your sword and run me through with it; I do not want 4 these uncircumcised men to come and gloat over me." But his armor-bearer was afraid and would not do it. So Saul took his own sword and fell on it. "His 5 armor-bearer, seeing that Saul was dead, fell on his sword too and died with him. "And so Saul and his three sons and his armor-bearer died together 6 that day. "When the Israelites who were on the other side of the valley saw that the men of Israel had taken flight and that Saul and his sons were dead, they 7 abandoned their towns and fled. The Philistines then came and occupied them.
8 When the Philistines came on the following day to strip the dead, they found 9 Saul and his three sons lying on Mount Gilboa. "They cut off his head and, stripping him of his armor, had it carried around the land of the Philistines 10 to proclaim the good news to their idols and their people. "They placed his armor in the temple of Astarte; they fastened his body to the wall of Beth-shan.

11 When the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead^a heard what the Philistines had done 12 to Saul, all the warriors set out, marching throughout the night, and took the bodies of Saul and his sons off the wall of Beth-shan, and bringing them to 13 Jabesh they burned them there. Then they took their bones and buried them under the tamarisk of Jabesh, and fasted for seven days.

THE SECOND BOOK OF SAMUEL

David learns of Saul's death

1 After the death of Saul, David returned from his rout of the Amalekites and 2 spent two days in Ziklag. On the third day a man came from the camp where Saul had been, his garments torn and earth on his head. When he came 3 to David, he fell to the ground and did homage. "Where do you come from?" 4 David asked him. "I have escaped from the Israelite camp," he said. David said to him, "What happened? Tell me." He replied, "The people have fled from the battlefield and many of them have fallen. Saul and his son Jonathan are dead too."

5 David then asked the young soldier who brought the news, "How do you 6 know that Saul and his son Jonathan are dead?" "I happened to be on Mount Gilboa," the young soldier replied, "and there was Saul, leaning on his spear, 7 with the chariots and the cavalry pressing him hard. Then he turned around 8 and saw me, and shouted to me. I answered, 'Here I am.' He said, 'Who are 9 you?' 'An Amalekite,' I replied. Then he said, 'Stand over me and kill me, for 10 a giddiness has come on me, though my life is wholly in me still.' So I stood over him and killed him, because I knew that once he fell he could not survive.
 Then I took the crown he wore on his head and the bracelet on his arm, and I have brought them here to my lord."

11 Then David took hold of his garments and tore them, and all the men with 12 him did the same. They mourned and wept and fasted until the evening for Saul and his son Jonathan, for the people of Yahweh and for the House of Israel, because they had fallen by the sword.

13 David said to the young soldier who had brought the news, "Where are you 14 from?" "I am the son of a resident alien," he answered, "an Amalekite." David said, "How is it you were not afraid to lift your hand to destroy Yahweh's 15 anointed?" Then David called one of his soldiers. "Come here," he said, "strike 16 him down." The man struck him and he died. "Your blood be on your own head," David said, "for your own lips gave evidence against you when you said, 'I killed Yahweh's anointed.'"

David's elegy over Saul and Jonathan

17 Then David made this lament over Saul and his son Jonathan. It is written 18 in the Book of the Just,^a so that it may be taught to the sons of Judah. It runs:

19 Alas, the glory of Israel has been slain on your heights!
 How did the heroes fall?

20 Do not speak of it in Gath, nor announce it in the streets of Ashkelon or the daughters of the Philistines will rejoice, the daughters of the uncircumcised will gloat.

31 a. They had been rescued by Saul, ch. 11.

1 a. A lost collection of traditional verse.

- 21 O mountains of Gilboa, let there be no dew or rain on you;
treacherous fields,
for there the hero's shield was dishonored!
- 22 The shield of Saul was anointed not with oil but with blood of the wounded, fat of the warriors; the bow of Jonathan did not turn back, nor the sword of Saul return idle.
- 23 Saul and Jonathan, loved and lovely, neither in life, nor in death, were divided.
Swifter than eagles were they, stronger were they than lions.
- 24 O daughters of Israel, weep for Saul who clothed you in scarlet and fine linen, who set brooches of gold on your garments.
- 25 How did the heroes fall in the thick of the battle?
- 26 O Jonathan, in your death I am stricken,
I am desolate for you, Jonathan my brother.
Very dear to me you were, your love to me more wonderful than the love of a woman.
- 27 How did the heroes fall and the battle armor fail?

I. DAVID

A. DAVID KING OF JUDAH

David consecrated king at Hebron

- 1 2 After this David consulted Yahweh. "Shall I go up to one of the towns of Judah?" he asked. Yahweh answered, "Go up." "Which shall I go to?" David 2 asked. "To Hebron," was the reply. So David went up, with his two wives, 3 Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail the wife of Nabal from Carmel. The men who were with him, David made go up too, each with his family, and they settled 4 in the towns of Hebron. There the men of Judah came and anointed David king over the House of Judah.

David's message to Jabesh

- They told David that the people of Jabesh-gilead had given Saul burial, 5 so David sent messengers to the men of Jabesh-gilead. "May you be blessed by Yahweh," he said, "for doing this kindness to Saul your lord, and for burying 6 him. And now may Yahweh show kindness and faithfulness to you! I too shall 7 treat you well because you have done this. And now take courage and be men of valor. Saul your lord is dead, but the House of Judah has anointed me to be their king."

Abner makes Ishbaal king over Israel

- 8 Abner son of Ner, Saul's army commander, had taken Ishbaal son of Saul 9 and brought him over to Mahanaim. He had made him king over Gilead, over the Ashurites, over Jezreel and Ephraim and Benjamin, and indeed over

- ¹⁰ all Israel. ·Ishbaal son of Saul was forty years old when he became king of Israel, and he reigned for two years. Only the House of Judah supported David.
¹¹ The length of David's reign over Judah in Hebron was seven years and six months.

War between Israel and Judah. The battle of Gibeon

- ¹² Abner son of Ner with Ishbaal's followers marched out from Mahanaim to ¹³ Gibeon. ·Joab son of Zeruiah with David's followers also marched out, encountering them by the Pool of Gibeon. There they halted, one party on one side of the pool, and the other opposite.

- ¹⁴ Then Abner said to Joab, "Let the young soldiers come forward and hold ¹⁵ a contest before us." "Let them come forward," Joab replied. ·So they came forward and were numbered off, twelve from Benjamin for Ishbaal son of Saul, and twelve of David's followers. ·Each caught his adversary by the head and drove his sword into his side so that they all fell together. Hence the place was called the Field of Sides; it is at Gibeon.

- ¹⁷ That day a very fierce battle took place, and Abner and the men of Israel ¹⁸ were beaten by David's followers. ·The three sons of Zeruiah were there, Joab, Abishai, and Asahel. Now Asahel was as swift-footed as a wild gazelle. ·Asahel set off in pursuit of Abner turning neither to right nor left as he went in pursuit of him. ·Abner turned. "Asahel," he said, "is that you?" He answered, "It is."
²¹ "Turn to your right or your left," Abner said, "catch one of the soldiers and take ²² his spoil." But Asahel would not break off the pursuit. ·Again Abner spoke to Asahel, "Stop pursuing me, unless you want me to strike you to the ground; and then how could I look your brother Joab in the face again?" ·But he refused to turn away, so Abner struck him in the belly with the butt of his spear so that the spear came out at his back; and he fell there and died on the spot. On coming to the place where Asahel had fallen and died, everyone halted.

- ²⁴ Joab and Abishai took up the pursuit of Abner and at sunset reached the ²⁵ Hill of Ammah, which is to the east of the valley, on the road to Giah. ·The Benjaminites gathered behind Abner in close formation and halted at the top of the Hill of Ammah. ·Abner called out to Joab, "Is the sword to go on eating its fill for ever?" he said. "Do you not know that this will end in disaster? How long will it be before you order these people to stop pursuing their brothers?" ²⁷ "As Yahweh lives," Joab replied, "if you had not spoken, these men would not ²⁸ have given up the pursuit of their brothers until morning." ·Joab then sounded the trumpet and all the troops halted; they pursued Israel no further and fought no more.

- ²⁹ All that night Abner and his men made their way through the Arabah^a; they crossed the Jordan and, marching throughout the morning, came to Mahanaim.
³⁰ Joab, giving up the pursuit of Abner, mustered his whole force; David's followers had lost nineteen men in addition to Asahel, ·but had killed three hundred and sixty of Benjamin, Abner's men. ·They took up Asahel and buried him in his father's tomb, which is at Bethlehem. Then Joab and his men marched throughout the night and day dawned as they reached Hebron.

- ¹ 3 So the war dragged on between the House of Saul and the House of David, but David grew steadily stronger, and the House of Saul ever weaker.

The sons born to David at Hebron

- ² Sons were born to David at Hebron: his first-born Amnon, by Ahinoam of ³ Jezreel; ·his second Chileab, by Abigail the wife of Nabal from Carmel; the third Absalom the son of Maacah, daughter of Talmi king of Geshur; ·the ⁵ fourth Adonijah the son of Haggith; the fifth Shephatiah the son of Abital; the sixth Ithream, by Eglah wife of David. These were born to David at Hebron.

² a. Here meaning the Jordan valley.

The rift between Abner and Ishbaal

6 This is what took place during the war between the House of Saul and the 7 House of David. Abner took complete control in the House of Saul. Now there was a concubine of Saul's named Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah, and Abner took her. Ishbaal said to Abner, "Why have you slept with my father's concubine?" 8 At these words of Ishbaal Abner flew into a rage. "Am I a dog's head?" he shouted. "Here am I full of goodwill toward the House of Saul your father, his brothers and his friends, not leaving you to the hands of David, and now 9 you find fault with me about a woman! May God do this to Abner and more 10 if I do not bring about what Yahweh has promised on oath to David, to take the sovereignty from the House of Saul, and set up the throne of David over 11 Israel and Judah, from Dan to Beersheba." Ishbaal dared not say a single word in answer to Abner, because he was afraid of him.

Abner negotiates with David

12 Abner sent messengers to say to David, ". . . Come to an agreement with 13 me and I will give you my support to win all Israel over to you." "Very well," David said, "I will come to an agreement with you. I impose one condition however; you will not be admitted to my presence unless you bring me Michal, 14 Saul's daughter, when you come to see me." David then sent messengers to Ishbaal son of Saul. "Give me back my wife Michal," he said, "whom I won with 15 a hundred foreskins of the Philistines." So Ishbaal sent for her to be taken from 16 her husband Paltiel son of Laish. Her husband set off with her and followed her, weeping, as far as Bahurim; but Abner said to him, "Go back," and he went.

17 Now Abner had conferred with the elders of Israel. "For a long time now," 18 he said, "you have wanted David for your king. Now you must take action; Yahweh has given this promise about David, 'By the hand of my servant David I will deliver my people Israel from the hands of the Philistines and all their 19 enemies.'" Abner also spoke to the men of Benjamin, and then went to Hebron to tell David all that had been agreed by Israel and the House of Benjamin.

20 Abner accompanied by twenty men came to David at Hebron, and David 21 held a feast for Abner and the men who were with him. Then Abner said to David, "I must be off. I am going to rally all Israel to my lord the king. They will make an alliance with you, and you will reign over all that you desire."
 So David allowed Abner to go, and he went unmolested.

The murder of Abner

22 The followers of David were just then coming back with Joab from a raid, bringing a great amount of booty with them. Abner was no longer with David at Hebron, since David had allowed him to go, and he had gone unmolested.
 23 When Joab arrived and the whole force that was with him, Joab was told, "Abner son of Ner has been to the king and he has allowed Abner to go away unmolested." 24 Then Joab went to the king. "What have you done?" he said. "Abner comes to 25 you and you allow him to go unmolested? Why? Do you not know Abner son of Ner? He came to trick you, to know your every move, to find out what you are doing."

26 Joab left David's presence and sent messengers after Abner and these, 27 unknown to David, brought him back from the Well of Sirah. When Abner reached Hebron, Joab drew him apart to the side of the gate as if to have a word with him in private, and there struck him in the belly. And so, for the blood 28 of Joab's brother Asahel, he died. Afterward when David heard of this, he said, "I and my kingdom are innocent for ever before Yahweh of the blood of 29 Abner son of Ner; may it fall on the head of Joab and on all his family! May the House of Joab never lack men with the discharge or the leprosy, or only 30 fit to hold a distaff, or falling by the sword, or short of bread!" (Joab and his brother Abishai had murdered Abner because he killed their brother Asahel at the battle of Gibeon.) David then said to Joab and all the troops who were with him, "Tear your garments, put on sackcloth, and mourn before Abner"; and King David walked behind the bier. They buried Abner at Hebron, and the king wept aloud at Abner's grave, and the people all wept too. The king made this lament over Abner:

34 "Should Abner have died as a fool dies?
Your hands were not tied, your feet not chained;
you fell as a man falls at the hands of criminals."

And all the people wept once more over him.

35 They all tried then to persuade David to have some food while it was still daylight, but David took this oath, "May God do this to me and more if I taste bread or anything whatever until the sun is down!" All the people took note of this and it pleased them; indeed, everything the king did pleased the people. That day all the people and all Israel understood that the king had no part in the death of Abner son of Ner.

36 The king said to his officers, "Do you not know that in Israel a prince, a great man, has fallen today? I, though I am king by anointing, am weak at this present time, and these men, the sons of Zeruiah, are too ruthless for me. May Yahweh pay back the wrongdoer in proportion to the wrong he has done."

The murder of Ishbaal

1 4 When Ishbaal son of Saul heard the news that Abner had died at Hebron, 2 his heart failed him, and the whole of Israel was alarmed. Now Ishbaal son of Saul had two freebooting chieftains; one was called Baanah, the other Rechab. They were the sons of Rimmon of Beeroth, and Benjaminites—for Beeroth is regarded as belonging to Benjamin. The people of Beeroth had taken refuge in Gittaim where they have remained to this day as resident aliens.

3 Jonathan son of Saul had a son with crippled feet. He was five years old when the news about Saul and Jonathan came from Jezreel. His nurse picked him up and fled, but as she hurried away he fell and was lamed. His name was Meribbaal.

4 The sons of Rimmon of Beeroth, Rechab and Baanah, set out; they came to Ishbaal's house at the hottest part of the day when he was taking his midday rest. The woman who kept the door had been cleaning wheat, and she had drowsed off to sleep. Rechab and his brother Baanah stole by and entered the house where Ishbaal was lying in his bedroom on his bed. They struck and killed him and cut off his head; and taking the head with them, they traveled all night by the road of the Arabah. They brought Ishbaal's head to David at Hebron. "Here," they said to the king, "is the head of Ishbaal son of Saul, your enemy, who sought your life. Yahweh has avenged my lord the king today on Saul and on his offspring."

5 But David answered Rechab and his brother Baanah by saying, "As Yahweh lives, who has delivered me from all adversity, the man who thought to bring me good news when he told me Saul was dead, this man I seized and killed at Ziklag, rewarding him for his good news. How much more when bandits have killed an honest man in his house, and on his bed! Am I not bound to demand account of his blood from you, and wipe you from the earth?" Then David gave an order to his soldiers, who put them to death, cut off their hands and feet, and hung them up beside the Pool of Hebron. Ishbaal's head they took and buried in Abner's grave at Hebron.

B. DAVID KING OF JUDAH AND OF ISRAEL

David is anointed king of Israel

¹ 5 All the tribes of Israel then came to David at Hebron. "Look," they said, ² "we are your own flesh and blood. In days past when Saul was our king, it was you who led Israel in all their exploits; and Yahweh said to you, 'You are the man who shall be shepherd of my people Israel, you shall be the leader of ³ Israel.'" So all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and King David made a pact with them at Hebron in the presence of Yahweh, and they anointed David king of Israel.

⁴ David was thirty years old when he became king, and he reigned for ⁵ forty years. He reigned in Hebron over Judah for seven years and six months; then he reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel and Judah for thirty-three years.

The capture of Jerusalem

⁶ David and his men marched on Jerusalem against the Jebusites living there.
 These said to David, "You will not get in here. The blind and the lame will hold ⁷ you off." (That is to say: David will never get in here.) But David captured the ⁸ fortress of Zion, that is, the Citadel of David. That day David said, "Whoever strikes the Jebusites and goes up by the conduit . . ." As for the blind and the lame, David hated them in his soul. (Hence the saying: the blind and the lame ⁹ shall not enter the Temple.) David went to live in the fortress and called it the Citadel of David. David then built a wall around it, from the Millo going ¹⁰ inward. David grew greater and greater, and Yahweh, God of Sabaoth, was with him.

¹¹ Hiram king of Tyre sent envoys to David with cedar wood and carpenters ¹² and stonemasons, who built David a palace. David then knew that Yahweh had confirmed him as king over Israel, and for the sake of his people Israel was making his reign glorious.

The sons born to David in Jerusalem

¹³ After coming from Hebron, David took other concubines and wives in ¹⁴ Jerusalem, and sons and daughters were born to him. These are the names of those born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon, ¹⁵ Ibhaz, Elishua, Nepheg, Japhia, Elishama, Eliada, Eliphelet.

Victory over the Philistines

¹⁷ When the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king of all Israel, they all marched up to seek him out. On hearing this, David went down to the ¹⁸ stronghold. When the Philistines arrived they deployed in the Valley of the ¹⁹ Rephaim. David consulted Yahweh; "Shall I attack the Philistines?" he asked.
 "Will you deliver them into my power?" Yahweh answered David, "Attack!
²⁰ I will most surely deliver the Philistines into your power." Accordingly David went to Baal-perazim and there defeated them. David said, "Yahweh has made a breach in my enemies for me like a breach the waters make." For this reason ²¹ that place was called Baal-perazim. They had left their gods behind them there, and David and his men carried them off.

²² Again the Philistines marched up and deployed in the Valley of the Rephaim.
²³ David consulted Yahweh, who answered, "Do not attack them from the front; ²⁴ go around to their rear and engage them opposite the balsam trees. When you hear the sound of steps in the tops of the balsam trees, advance, for that will ²⁵ be Yahweh going out ahead of you to rout the army of the Philistines." David did as Yahweh had ordered and routed the Philistines from Gibeon as far as the Pass of Gezer.

The ark in Jerusalem

- ¹ 6 David again mustered all the picked troops of Israel, thirty thousand men.
² Setting off with the whole force then with him, David went to Baalah of Judah, to bring up from there the ark of God which bears the name of Yahweh ³ Sabaoth who is seated on the cherubs. They placed the ark of God on a new cart, and brought it from Abinadab's house which is on the hill. Uzzah and ⁴ Ahio, the sons of Abinadab, were leading the cart, Uzzah walked alongside ⁵ the ark of God and Ahio went in front. David and all the House of Israel danced before Yahweh with all their might, singing to the accompaniment of ⁶ lyres, harps, tambourines, castanets, and cymbals. When they came to the threshing floor of Nacon, Uzzah stretched his hand out to the ark of God and ⁷ steadied it, as the oxen were making it tilt. Then the anger of Yahweh blazed out against Uzzah, and for this crime God struck him down on the spot, and ⁸ he died there beside the ark of God. David was displeased that Yahweh had broken out against Uzzah, and that place was called Perez-uzzah, as it still is now.
⁹ David went in fear of Yahweh that day. "However can the ark of Yahweh ¹⁰ come to me?" he said. So David decided not to take the ark into the Citadel ¹¹ of David and took it to the house of Obed-edom of Gath. The ark of Yahweh remained in the house of Obed-edom of Gath for three months, and Yahweh blessed Obed-edom and his whole family.
¹² Word was brought to King David that Yahweh had blessed the family of Obed-edom and all that belonged to him on account of the ark of God. David accordingly went and brought the ark of God up from Obed-edom's house to the Citadel of David with great rejoicing. When the bearers of the ark of Yahweh ¹³ had gone six paces, he sacrificed an ox and a fat sheep. And David danced whirling around before Yahweh with all his might, wearing a linen loincloth ¹⁴ around him. Thus David and all the House of Israel brought up the ark of
¹⁶ As David was coming back to bless his household Michal, the daughter of Saul, went out to meet him. "What a fine reputation the king of Israel has won himself today," she said, "displaying himself under the eyes of his servant ¹⁷ maids, as any buffoon might display himself." David answered Michal, "I was dancing for Yahweh, not for them. As Yahweh lives, who chose me in preference to your father and his whole House to make me leader of Israel, Yahweh's ¹⁸ people, I shall dance before Yahweh and demean myself even more. In your eyes I may be base, but by the maids you speak of I shall be held in honor."
¹⁹ And to the day of her death Michal, the daughter of Saul, had no children.

The prophecy of Nathan

- ¹ 7 Once David had settled into his house and Yahweh had given him rest from ² all the enemies surrounding him, the king said to the prophet Nathan, "Look, I am living in a house of cedar while the ark of God dwells in a tent."
³ Nathan said to the king, "Go and do all that is in your mind, for Yahweh is with you."
⁴ But that very night the word of Yahweh came to Nathan:

5 "Go and tell my servant David, 'Thus Yahweh speaks: Are you the man to 6 build me a house to dwell in? I have never stayed in a house from the day I 7 brought the Israelites out of Egypt until today, but have always led a wanderer's 8 life in a tent. In all my journeying with the whole people of Israel, did I say 9 to any one of the judges of Israel, whom I had appointed as shepherds of Israel 10 my people: Why have you not built me a house of cedar?' This is what you 11 must say to my servant David, 'Yahweh Sabaoth says this: I took 12 you from the pasture, from following the sheep, to be leader of my people Israel; 13 I have been with you on all your expeditions; I have cut off all your enemies 14 before you. I will give you fame as great as the fame of the greatest on 15 earth. I will provide a place for my people Israel; I will plant them there and 16 they shall dwell in that place and never be disturbed again; nor shall the wicked 17 continue to oppress them as they did, in the days when I appointed judges over 18 my people Israel; I will give them rest from all their enemies. Yahweh will 19 make you great; Yahweh will make you a House. And when your days are 20 ended and you are laid to rest with your ancestors, I will preserve the offspring 21 of your body after you and make his sovereignty secure. (It is he who shall 22 build a house for my name, and I will make his royal throne secure for ever.) 23 I will be a father to him and he a son to me; if he does evil, I will punish him 24 with the rod such as men use, with strokes such as mankind gives. Yet I will 25 not withdraw my favor from him, as I withdrew it from your predecessor.
 26 Your House and your sovereignty will always stand secure before me and your 27 throne be established for ever.'"

17 Nathan related all these words to David and this whole revelation.

David's prayer

18 King David then went in and, seated before Yahweh, said: 19 "Who am I, Lord Yahweh, and what is my House, that you have led me as 20 far as this? Yet in your sight, Lord Yahweh, this is still not far enough, and 21 you make your promises extend to the House of your servant for a far-distant 22 future . . . What more can David say to you, when you yourself have singled 23 out your servant, Lord Yahweh? For your servant's sake, this dog of yours, 24 you have done so great a thing by revealing this to your servant. In this is your 25 greatness, Lord Yahweh; there is none like you, no God but you alone, as our 26 own ears have heard. Is there another people on the earth like your people Israel, 27 with a God setting out to redeem them and make them his people, make them 28 renowned, work great and terrible things on their behalf, drive nations out and 29 gods before his people? You have constituted your people Israel to be your 30 own people for ever; and you, Yahweh, have become their God. Now, Lord 31 Yahweh, always keep the promise you have made your servant and his House, 32 and do as you have said. Your name will be exalted for ever and men will say, 33 'Yahweh Sabaoth is God over Israel.' The House of your servant David will 34 be made secure in your presence, since you yourself, Yahweh Sabaoth, God 35 of Israel, have made this revelation to your servant, 'I will build you a House'; 36 hence your servant has ventured to offer this prayer to you. Yes, Lord Yahweh, 37 you are God indeed, your words are true and you have made this fair promise 38 to your servant. Be pleased, then, to bless the House of your servant, that it 39 may continue for ever in your presence; for you, Lord Yahweh, have spoken; 40 and with your blessing the House of your servant will be for ever blessed."

The wars of David

1 8 After this, David defeated the Philistines and subdued them. From the hands 2 of the Philistines he took . . . He also defeated the Moabites, and making 3 them lie down on the ground measured them off by the line; he measured out 4 two lines to be put to death and one full line to have their lives spared. The 5 Moabites became subject to David, paying him tribute.

3 David defeated Hadadezer son of Rehob, king of Zobah, on his way to 4 extend his power over the river.^a David captured one thousand seven hundred 5 charioteers and twenty thousand foot soldiers from him; David hamstringed all 6 the chariot teams, keeping only a hundred of them. The Aramaeans of 7 Damascus came to the help of Hadadezer king of Zobah, but David killed 8 twenty-two thousand men of the Aramaeans. Then David imposed governors on 9 Aram of Damascus, and the Aramaeans became subject to David, paying him 10 tribute. Wherever David went, Yahweh gave him victory. David took the 11 golden shields carried by the guards of Hadadezer and brought them to Jerusalem.
 12 From Betah and Berothai, towns belonging to Hadadezer, King David took a 13 great quantity of bronze.

9 When Tou king of Hamath heard that David had defeated Hadadezer's 10 entire army, he sent his son Hadoram to King David to greet him and to 11 congratulate him on fighting and defeating Hadadezer, since Hadadezer was the 12 enemy of Tou. Hadoram brought with him articles of silver, gold and bronze, 13 which King David also consecrated to Yahweh as he had already consecrated 14 the silver and gold taken from all the nations he had subjugated: Edom, Moab, 15 the Ammonites, the Philistines, Amalek; from the spoil, too, of Hadadezer son 16 of Rehob, king of Zobah.

13 Thus David won fame for himself. On his return he defeated the Edomites 14 in the Valley of Salt,^b eighteen thousand of them. He imposed governors on 15 Edom and all the Edomites became subject to David. Wherever David went, 16 Yahweh gave him victory.

The administration of the kingdom

15 David ruled over all Israel, administering law and justice to all his people. Joab 16 son of Zeruiah was in command of the army; Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud was 17 recorder; Zadak son of Ahitub and Abiathar son of Ahimelech were priests; 18 Seraiah was secretary; Benaiah son of Jehoiada was in command of the Chere-19 thites and Pelethites^c; David's sons were priests.

C. DAVID'S FAMILY AND THE INTRIGUES FOR THE SUCCESSION

1. MERIBBAAL

David's kindness to Jonathan's son

1 David asked, "Is there anyone still left of Saul's family so that I can show him 2 kindness for Jonathan's sake?" Now there was a servant of Saul's household 3 whose name was Ziba, and they called him to David. "You are Ziba?" the king 4 asked. "At your service," he answered. The king said, "Is there no one still left 5 of Saul's family for me to show him God's kindness?" "There is still one of 6 Jonathan's sons," Ziba answered the king, "a man with crippled feet." "Where 7 is he?" the king asked. Ziba replied, "He is living in the household of Machir son 8 of Ammiel at Lo-debar." So King David sent to have him brought from the 9 house of Machir son of Ammiel at Lo-debar.

6 On entering David's presence, Meribbaal son of Jonathan, son of Saul, fell 7 on his face and did homage. David said, "Meribbaal!" He answered, "I am at 8 your service." Then David said, "Do not be afraid; I intend to show you kindness 9 for your father Jonathan's sake. I will restore all the land of Saul your father 10 to you and you shall always eat at my table." And Meribbaal did homage.
 "What is your servant," he said, "that you should show favor to a dead dog like me?"

9 Then the king called Ziba, Saul's servant, and said, "Everything belonging to 10 Saul and his family I give to your master's son. You must work the land for him, 8 a. The Euphrates. b. Probably the Arabah, the valley running south from the Dead Sea.

 c. David's bodyguard of mercenaries from Philistia.

you and your sons and your slaves; you must harvest the produce to provide food for your master's family to eat. But Meribbaal, your master's son, shall always take his meals at my table." Now Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty slaves. Ziba said to the king, "Your servant will do everything my lord the king has ordered his servant."

So Meribbaal ate at David's table like one of the king's sons. Meribbaal had a young son whose name was Mica. All those who lived in Ziba's house became Meribbaal's servants. Meribbaal lived in Jerusalem, since he always ate at the king's table. He was crippled in both feet.

2. THE AMMONITE WAR—BIRTH OF SOLOMON

David's ambassadors are insulted

After this, the king of the Ammonites died and his son Hanun succeeded him. David thought, "I will show the same kindness for Hanun son of Nahash as his father showed me." And through his servants David sent him his condolences on his father's death. But when David's servants reached the land of the Ammonites, the Ammonite leaders said to Hanun their master, "Do you imagine David means to honor your father when he sends you messengers of sympathy? On the contrary, the reason why David has sent his servants to you is to explore the city," to reconnoiter it and so overthrow it." Whereupon Hanun seized David's servants, shaved off half of each man's beard, cut their clothes halfway up to the buttocks, and sent them away. When David was told, he sent someone to meet them, for the men were covered with shame. "Stay in Jericho," the king said, "until your beards have grown again, and come back then."

The first Ammonite campaign

The Ammonites saw that they had incurred the enmity of David and accordingly sent messengers to hire the Aramaeans of Beth-rehob and the Aramaeans of Zobah, twenty thousand foot; also the king of Maacah with one thousand men, and the men of Tob, twelve thousand men. When David heard this, he sent Joab with all the common soldiers and the champions. The Ammonites marched out and drew up their line of battle at the approaches to the gate, while the Aramaeans of Zobah and of Rehob and the men of Tob and Maacah kept their distance in the open country. Joab, seeing that he had to fight on two fronts, to his front and to his rear, chose the best of Israel's picked men and drew them up in line facing the Aramaeans. He entrusted the rest of the army to his brother Abishai, and drew them up in line facing the Ammonites. "If the Aramaeans prove too strong for me," he said, "you must come to my help; if the Ammonites prove too strong for you, I will go to yours. Take courage and stand firm for the sake of our people and the towns of our God. And may Yahweh do as he thinks right." Joab and the force with him joined battle with the Aramaeans, who fled before him. When the Ammonites saw that the Aramaeans had taken flight, they too fled before Abishai and withdrew into their town. Then Joab returned from the war with the Ammonites and came back to Jerusalem.

Victory over the Aramaeans

Seeing that they had been defeated by Israel, the Aramaeans consolidated their forces. Hadadezer sent messengers and mobilized the Aramaeans from beyond the river. They came to Helam with Shobach, commander of Hadadezer's army, at their head. Word of this was brought to David, who mustered all Israel, crossed the Jordan and reached Helam. The Aramaeans drew up in line facing David and engaged him. But the Aramaeans gave ground before Israel, and David killed seven hundred of their chariot teams and forty thousand men; he also struck down Shobach their general, who died then and there. When all the vassal kings of Hadadezer saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they made peace with the Israelites and became subject to them. The Aramaeans were afraid to give any more help to the Ammonites.

The second Ammonite campaign. David's sin

1 11 At the turn of the year,^a the time when kings go campaigning, David sent Joab and with him his own guards and the whole of Israel. They massacred the Ammonites and laid siege to Rabbah. David however remained in Jerusalem.

2 It happened toward evening when David had risen from his couch and was strolling on the palace roof, that he saw from the roof a woman bathing; the 3 woman was very beautiful. David made inquiries about this woman and was told, "Why, that is Bathsheba, Eliam's daughter, the wife of Uriah the Hittite."^b 4 Then David sent messengers and had her brought. She came to him, and he slept with her; now she had just purified herself from her courses. She then went home 5 again. The woman conceived and sent word to David, "I am with child."

6 Then David sent Joab a message, "Send me Uriah the Hittite," whereupon 7 Joab sent Uriah to David. When Uriah came into his presence, David asked 8 after Joab and the army and how the war was going. David then said to Uriah, "Go down to your house and enjoy yourself." Uriah left the palace, and was 9 followed by a present from the king's table. Uriah however slept by the palace door with his master's bodyguard and did not go down to his house.

10 This was reported to David; "Uriah," they said, "did not go down to his house." So David asked Uriah, "Have you not just arrived from a journey? Why do you 11 not go to your home?" But Uriah answered, "Are not the ark and the men of Israel and Judah lodged in tents; and my master Joab and the bodyguard of my lord, are they not in the open fields? Am I to go to my house, then, and eat and drink and sleep with my wife?^c As Yahweh lives, and as you yourself 12 live, I will do no such thing!" Then David said to Uriah, "Stay on here today; 13 tomorrow I shall send you back." So Uriah stayed that day in Jerusalem. The next day David invited him to eat and drink in his presence and made him drunk. In the evening Uriah went out and lay on his couch with his master's bodyguard, but he did not go down to his house.

14 Next morning David wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by Uriah. In the 15 letter he wrote, "Station Uriah in the thick of the fight and then fall back behind 16 him so that he may be struck down and die." Joab, then besieging the town, 17 posted Uriah in a place where he knew there were fierce fighters. The men of the town sallied out and engaged Joab; the army suffered casualties, including some of David's bodyguard; and Uriah the Hittite was killed too.

18 Joab sent David a full account of the battle. To the messenger he gave this 19 order: "When you have finished telling the king all the details of the battle, 20 the king's anger may be provoked; he may say, 'Why did you go so near the 21 town to fight? Did you not know they would shoot from the ramparts? Who killed Abimelech son of Jerubbaal? Was it not a woman who dropped a millstone on him from the ramparts, causing his death at Thebez? Why did you go so near the ramparts? If so, you are to say, 'Your servant Uriah the Hittite has been killed too.'"

22 So the messenger left, and on his arrival told David all that Joab had instructed him to say. David was angry with Joab. "Why did you go so near the ramparts?" he said to the messenger. "Who killed Abimelech son of Jerubbaal? Was it not a woman who dropped a millstone on him from the ramparts, causing 23 his death at Thebez? Why did you go so near the ramparts?" The messenger answered David, "Because their men made a show of force against us and sallied out against us in the open. We drove them back to the approaches of the gate, 24 but the bowmen shot at your bodyguard from the ramparts; some of the king's bodyguard perished, and your servant Uriah the Hittite was killed too." 25 Then David said to the messenger, "Say this to Joab, 'Do not take the matter to heart; the sword devours now one and now another. Storm the town in 26 greater force and overthrow it.' That is the way to encourage him." ·When 27 Uriah's wife heard that her husband Uriah was dead, she mourned for her husband. ·When the period of mourning was over, David sent to have her brought to his house; she became his wife and bore him a son. But what David had done displeased Yahweh.

David is rebuked by Nathan. His repentance

1 12 Yahweh sent Nathan the prophet to David. He came to him and said:

"In the same town were two men one rich, the other poor.
 2 The rich man had flocks and herds in great abundance; 3 the poor man had nothing but a ewe lamb, one only, a small one he had bought.
 This he fed, and it grew up with him and his children, eating his bread, drinking from his cup, sleeping on his breast; it was like a daughter to him.
 4 When there came a traveler to stay, the rich man refused to take one of his own flock or herd to provide for the wayfarer who had come to him.
 Instead he took the poor man's lamb and prepared it for his guest."

5 David's anger flared up against the man. "As Yahweh lives," he said to Nathan, 6 "the man who did this deserves to die! ·He must make fourfold restitution for the lamb, for doing such a thing and showing no compassion."

7 Then Nathan said to David, "You are the man. Yahweh the God of Israel says this, 'I anointed you king over Israel; I delivered you from the hands of 8 Saul: ·I gave your master's house to you, his wives into your arms; I gave you the House of Israel and of Judah; and if this were not enough, I would add as 9 much again for you. ·Why have you shown contempt for Yahweh, doing what displeases him? You have struck down Uriah the Hittite with the sword, taken 10 his wife for your own, and killed him with the sword of the Ammonites. ·So now the sword will never be far from your House, since you have shown contempt for me and taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be your wife.'

11 "Thus Yahweh speaks, 'I will stir up evil for you out of your own House. Before your very eyes I will take your wives and give them to your neighbor, 12 and he shall lie with your wives in the sight of this sun. ·You worked in secret, I will work this in the face of all Israel and in the face of the sun.'"

13 David said to Nathan, "I have sinned against Yahweh." Then Nathan said 14 to David, "Yahweh, for his part, forgives your sin; you are not to die. ·Yet because you have outraged Yahweh by doing this; the child that is born to 15 you is to die." ·Then Nathan went home.

The death of Bathsheba's child. The birth of Solomon Yahweh struck the child that Uriah's wife had borne to David and it fell 16 gravely ill. ·David pleaded with Yahweh for the child; he kept a strict fast and 17 went home and spent the night on the bare ground, covered with sacking. ·The officials of his household came and stood around him to get him to rise from the 18 ground, but he refused, nor would he take food with them. ·On the seventh day the child died. David's officers were afraid to tell him the child was dead. "Even when the child was alive," they thought, "we reasoned with him and he would not listen to us. How can we tell him the child is dead? He will do something desperate.” David, however, noticed that his officers were whispering among themselves, and realized that the child was dead. “Is the child dead?” he asked the officers. They answered, “He is dead.”

David got up from the ground, bathed and anointed himself and put on fresh clothes. Then he went into the sanctuary of Yahweh and prostrated himself. On returning to his house he asked for food to be set before him, and ate. His officers said, “Why are you acting like this? When the child was alive you fasted and wept; now the child is dead you get up and take food.” “When the child was alive,” he answered, “I fasted and wept because I kept thinking, ‘Who knows? Perhaps Yahweh will take pity on me and the child will live.’ But now he is dead, why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him but he cannot come back to me.”

David consoled his wife Bathsheba. He went to her and slept with her. She conceived and gave birth to a son whom she named Solomon. Yahweh loved him and made this known through the prophet Nathan who named him Jedidiah in accordance with the word of Yahweh.^a

The capture of Rabbah

Joab attacked Rabbah of the Ammonites and captured the water town. He then sent messengers to tell David, “I have stormed Rabbah and captured the water town. So now muster the rest of the troops and pitch camp against the town and take it, unless you want me to capture the town and give it my name.” So David mustered the whole army and marched on Rabbah; he stormed the town and captured it. He took the crown from the head of Milcom^b; it weighed one talent of gold, and in it was set a precious stone which made an ornament for David’s head. He carried off great quantities of spoil from the town. He brought away its population and set them to work with saws, iron picks and iron axes, and employed them in brickmaking. He treated all the Ammonite towns in the same way. Then David and the whole army returned to Jerusalem.

3. ABSALOM

Amnon violates Tamar his sister

13 After this, the following events took place. Absalom son of David had a beautiful sister whose name was Tamar; Amnon son of David fell in love with her. Amnon was so obsessed with his sister Tamar that it made him ill, for she was a virgin and it seemed to Amnon impossible to do anything to her. But Amnon had a friend called Jonadab son of Shimeah, David’s brother, and Jonadab was a very shrewd man. “Son of the king,” he said, “tell me why, morning after morning, you look so worn? Will you not tell me?” Amnon answered, “I am in love with Tamar, my brother Absalom’s sister.” Then Jonadab said, “Lie down on your bed, pretend to be ill and when your father comes to visit you, say, ‘Let my sister Tamar come and give me something to eat; let her prepare the food before my eyes for me to see; only at her hands will I eat.’” So Amnon lay down and pretended to be ill. Then the king came to visit him and Amnon said to the king, “Let my sister Tamar come and make a cake or two; I will eat at her hands.” David then sent word to Tamar at the palace, “Go to your brother Amnon’s house and prepare some food for him.” Tamar went to the house of her brother Amnon who was lying there in bed. She took dough and kneaded it, and she made cakes there before his eyes and baked the cakes. Then she took the pan and dished them up in front of him, but he refused to eat. “Let everyone leave me,” he said; so they all withdrew. Then Amnon said to Tamar, “Bring the food to the inner room so that I can eat at your hands." So Tamar took the cakes she had made and brought them to her brother Amnon in the inner room. And as she was offering the food to him, he caught hold of her and said, "Come; lie with me, my sister." But she answered, "No, my brother! Do not violate me. This is not a thing men do in Israel. Do not commit such an outrage. Wherever should I go, bearing my shame? While you would become an outcast in Israel. Go now and speak to the king; he will not refuse to give me to you." But he would not listen to her; he overpowered her and, raping her, lay with her.

Then Amnon was seized with extreme hatred for her; the hatred he now felt for her was greater than his earlier love. "Get up and go," he said. "No, my brother," she said, "to send me away would be a greater wrong than the other you have done me." But he would not listen to her. He called the soldier who was his servant. "Get rid of this woman for me," he said, "throw her out and bolt the door after her." (She was wearing a long-sleeved gown, for this was what the king's unmarried daughters wore in days gone by.) So the servant put her out and bolted the door after her.

Tamar took dust and put it on her head, tore the long-sleeved gown she was wearing, laid her hand on her head, and went away uttering cries as she went. Her brother Absalom said to her, "Has Amnon your brother been with you? Be quiet now, my sister; he is your brother; do not take this so much to heart." But Tamar remained disconsolate in her brother Absalom's house.

When King David heard the whole story, he was very angry; but he had no wish to harm his son Amnon, since he loved him; he was his first-born. Absalom however would not so much as speak to Amnon, for he hated Amnon for having raped his sister Tamar.

Absalom kills Amnon and flees

Two years later, when Absalom had the sheepshearers at Baal-hazor, which is near Ephraim, he invited the entire royal household. Absalom went to the king and said, "At this moment your servant has the sheepshearers. Will the king and his officers be pleased to come with your servant?" "No, my son," the king replied, "we must not all come and be a burden to you." And though Absalom was insistent, he would not go but dismissed him. Absalom persisted, "Then at least let my brother Amnon come with us." The king said, "Why should he go with you?" But Absalom insisted, so he allowed Amnon and all the king's sons to go with him.

Absalom prepared a royal banquet and then gave this order to his servants: "Listen carefully; when Amnon's heart is merry with wine and I say, 'Strike Amnon down,' then kill him. Have no fear. I myself have given you the order. Take courage, be brave." Absalom's servants treated Amnon as Absalom had ordered. Then all the king's sons started up, mounted their mules and took flight.

While they were on the road, a rumor reached David, "Absalom has killed all the king's sons; not one of them is left." The king rose and tore his garments and lay down on the ground. All his officers in attendance tore their garments too. But Jonadab son of Shimeah, David's brother, spoke up. "Let not my lord imagine," he said, "that they have killed all the young men, the sons of the king; Amnon alone is dead, for Absalom's face gave warning of this ever since Amnon violated his sister Tamar. Let not my lord the king imagine that all the king's sons are dead; Amnon alone is dead and Absalom has taken flight."

The soldier on sentry duty looked up and saw a large troop advancing down the slope on the Bahurim road. The sentry came to tell the king. "I saw men," he said, "coming down the Bahurim road on the mountainside." Then Jonadab said to the king, "Here come the king's sons; it has turned out just as your servant said." He had scarcely finished speaking when the king's sons arrived, and they cried aloud and wept; the king and all his officers wept bitterly too. Absalom however had taken flight and gone to Talmai son of Ammihud, king of Geshur, 38b where he stayed for three years. And all that time the king observed mourning 37b for his son.

Joab negotiates the return of Absalom

39 The king's heart was now no longer set against Absalom, once he had 1 recovered from Amnon's death. 14 Now Joab son of Zeruiah observed that 2 the heart of the king was again turning to Absalom, so he sent to Tekoa^a for a quick-witted woman. "Pretend to be in mourning," he said. "Put on mourning garments; do not anoint yourself with oil; act like a woman who has long been 3 mourning for the dead. Go then to the king and say this to him." And Joab put into her mouth the words she had to say.

4 So the woman of Tekoa went to the king and fell with her face to the ground 5 and did homage. "Help, O king!" she said. The king said, "What is the matter?" 6 "Alas," she replied, "I am a widow; my husband is dead. Your servant had two sons and out in the fields, where there was no one to intervene, they quarreled 7 with each other. And one of them struck the other and killed him. And now the whole clan has risen against your servant. Give up the man who killed his brother,' they say. For the life of the brother he murdered we will have his death, and so destroy the heir too.' By this means they will put out what embers 8 remain to me, and leave my husband neither name nor survivor on the face of 9 the earth." The king then said to the woman, "Go to your house; I myself will give orders concerning your case." The woman of Tekoa said to the king, "My 10 lord king! May the guilt be on me and on my family; the king and his throne are innocent of it." "Bring me the man who threatened you," the king replied, 11 "and he shall never hurt you again." Then she said, "Let the king be pleased to pronounce the name of Yahweh his God, so that the avenger of blood may not do greater harm and destroy my son." "As Yahweh lives," he said, "not one hair of your son shall fall to the ground."

12 Then the woman said, "Permit your servant to say something else to my lord 13 the king." "Go on," he said. "Why then," the woman said, "has the king—who in making this decision convicts himself—so conspired against God's people by 14 not bringing back home the one he has banished? We must all die; we are like water spilled on the ground that can never be gathered up again, nor does God raise up a corpse; let the king make plans then for the one who has been banished not to remain away from him in exile.

15 "Now the reason why I have come to speak about this to my lord the king is because people have frightened me, and your servant thought, 'I will speak 16 to the king; perhaps the king will do what his servant asks. For the king will consent to deliver his servant from the hands of the man who would cut us off, 17 myself and my son with me, from God's heritage. May the word of my lord the king,' your servant thought, 'set me at rest. For my lord the king is like the angel of God for discerning good and evil.' May Yahweh your God be with you!"

18 Answering her the king said, "Please do not evade the question I am about 19 to ask you." The woman said, "Let my lord the king ask his question." "Is not the hand of Joab behind you in all this?" the king asked. The woman replied, "As surely as you live, my lord king, I cannot get away from the things which my lord the king has said. Yes, it was your servant Joab who asked me to 20 do this; he put all these words into your servant's mouth. Your servant Joab acted in this way to disguise the matter, but my lord has the wisdom of the angel of God; he knows all that takes place on earth."

21 The king then said to Joab, "Very well, the suit is granted. Go and bring the 22 young man Absalom back." Joab fell with his face to the ground, did homage and blessed the king. "My lord king," Joab said, "your servant knows now that he has won your favor, since the king has done what his servant asked." Joab then set off and went to Geshur, and brought Absalom back to Jerusalem. The king, however, said, "Let him retire to his own house; he is not to appear in my presence." So Absalom retired to his own house and was not received by the king.

Some details about Absalom

In the whole of Israel there was no man who could be praised for his beauty as much as Absalom; from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head there was not a blemish on him. When he cut the hair of his head—and he would cut it every year; he would cut it then because it grew too heavy for him—he would weigh the hair; two hundred shekels, king's weight. To Absalom were born three sons and one daughter called Tamar; she was a beautiful woman.

Absalom obtains his pardon

Absalom lived in Jerusalem for two years without being received by the king. Then Absalom sent for Joab to send him to the king, but Joab would not come to him. He sent for him a second time, but Joab would not come. So he said to his servants, "Look, Joab's field is next to mine and he has barley in it; go and set fire to it." Absalom's servants set fire to the field. At this, Joab went off to Absalom at his house. "Why," he asked him, "have your servants set fire to the field belonging to me?" Absalom answered Joab, "Look now, I sent word to you to say I wanted you to go to the king with this message, 'Why did I come back from Geshur? Better for me to be there still. Now I wish to be received by the king, and if I am guilty, let him put me to death.'" Joab went to the king and told him this. He then summoned Absalom who went to the king and bowed low before him, throwing himself on his face to the ground before the king. And the king kissed Absalom.

Absalom's intrigues

15 After this, Absalom procured a chariot and horses, with fifty men to run ahead of him. He would rise early and stand beside the road leading to the gate; and whenever a man with some lawsuit had to come before the king's court, Absalom would call out to him and ask, "What town are you from?" He would answer, "Your servant is from one of the tribes in Israel." Then Absalom would say, "Look, your case is sound and just, but there is not one deputy of the king's who will listen to you." Absalom would go on to say, "Oh, who will appoint me judge in the land? Then anyone with a lawsuit or a plea could come to me and I would see he had justice." And whenever anyone came up to do homage to him, he would stretch out his hand and take him and kiss him. Absalom acted in this way with all the Israelites who came to the king for justice, and so Absalom seduced the hearts of the men of Israel.

Absalom's rebellion

At the end of four years Absalom said to the king, "Allow me to go to Hebron^a to fulfill the vow I made to Yahweh; for when I was at Geshur in Aram, your servant made this vow: 'If Yahweh brings me back to Jerusalem,' I said, 'I will offer worship to Yahweh in Hebron.'" The king said to him, "Go in peace." So he set off and went to Hebron.

Absalom sent couriers throughout the tribes of Israel saying, "When you hear the trumpet sound you are to say, 'Absalom is king at Hebron!'" With Absalom there went two hundred men from Jerusalem; they were invited guests and came in all innocence, quite unaware. Absalom sent for Ahithophel the Gilonite, David's counselor, from Giloh his town, and had him with him while he was offering the sacrifices. The conspiracy grew in strength and Absalom's supporters grew in number.

David's flight

13 A messenger came to tell David, "The hearts of the men of Israel are now 14 with Absalom." So David said to all his officers who were with him in Jerusalem, "Let us be off, let us fly, or we shall never escape from Absalom. Leave as quickly as you can in case he mounts a surprise attack and worsts us and puts the city 15 to the sword." The king's officers answered, "Whatever my lord the king decides, 16 we are at your service." The king left on foot with all his household, leaving 17 ten concubines to look after the palace. The king left on foot with all the people 18 and stopped at the last house. All his officers stood at his side. All the Cherethites and all the Pelethites, with Ittai and all the six hundred Gittites who had 19 come in his retinue from Gath, marched past the king. The king said to Ittai the Gittite, "You, why are you coming with us? Go back and stay with the king, 20 for you are a foreigner, an exile too from your homeland. You came only yesterday; should I take you wandering today with us, when I do not know myself where I am going? Go back, take your fellow countrymen with you, and 21 may Yahweh show you kindness and faithfulness." But Ittai answered the king, "As Yahweh lives, and as my lord the king lives, wherever my lord the king 22 may be, for death or life, there will your servant be too." So David said to Ittai, "Go then, pass on." And Ittai of Gath passed on with all his men and 23 retinue. All the people wept aloud. The king took his stand in the wadi Kidron, and all the people marched past him toward the wilderness.

The ark leaves the city

24 Zadok was there too and all the Levites carrying the ark of God. They set down the ark of God beside Abiathar until the people had all passed out of the 25 city. Then the king said to Zadok, "Take the ark of God back to the city. Should I win the favor of Yahweh, he will bring me back and permit me to see it and 26 its dwelling place again. But should he say, 'I take no pleasure in you,' then 27 here I am, let him deal with me as he likes." The king said to Zadok the priest, "Look, you and Abiathar go back in peace to the city, with your two 28 sons, your own son and Jonathan son of Abiathar. I intend to wait in the 29 plains of the wilderness until word comes from you bringing me news." So Zadok and Abiathar took the ark of God back to Jerusalem and remained there.

Hushai undertakes to work for David 30 David then made his way up the Mount of Olives, weeping as he went, his head covered and his feet bare. And all the people with him had their heads 31 covered and made their way up, weeping as they went. Then David was told that Ahithophel was among the conspirators with Absalom. David said, "Yahweh, turn Ahithophel's counsels to folly." 32 As David reached the summit, where God is worshiped, he saw Hushai the Archite, the companion of David, coming to meet him with his tunic torn 33 and with earth on his head. David said, "If you go on with me, you will be 34 a burden to me. But if you go back to the city and say to Absalom, 'I will be your servant, my lord king; once I was in your father's service, but now I will 35 serve you,' you will be able to thwart the counsels of Ahithophel for me. Will not the priests Zadok and Abiathar be with you? Anything you hear from the 36 palace you must report to the priests Zadok and Abiathar. With them, you will find, are their two sons, Zadok's son Ahimaaz, and Abiathar's son Jonathan; 37 through them you are to send me word of all you hear." Hushai, the companion of David, re-entered the city just as Absalom was reaching Jerusalem.

15 a. Having already curried favor with the northern tribes, he is now seeking support in the south.

David and Ziba

¹ 16 When David had passed a little beyond the summit, Ziba the servant of Meribbaal came to meet him with a pair of donkeys, saddled and laden with two hundred loaves of bread, a hundred bunches of raisins, a hundred of the season's fruits, and a skin of wine. The king said to Ziba, "What are you going to do with that?" "The donkeys," Ziba replied, "are for the king's family to ride, the bread and the fruit for the soldiers to eat, the wine is for drinking by those who grow weary in the wilderness." "And where is your master's son?" the king asked. Ziba answered the king, "Why, he has stayed in Jerusalem because, he says, 'The House of Israel will give me back my father's kingdom today.'" ⁴ Then the king said to Ziba, "All that Meribbaal owns is now yours." Ziba said, "My homage, lord king! May I deserve your favor!"

Shimei curses David

⁵ As David was reaching Bahurim, out came a man of the same clan as Saul's family. His name was Shimei son of Gera, and as he came he uttered curse after curse and threw stones at David and at all King David's officers, though the ⁶ whole army and all the champions flanked the king right and left. The words ⁷ of his curse were these, "Be off, be off, man of blood, scoundrel! Yahweh has brought on you all the blood of the House of Saul^a whose sovereignty you have usurped; and Yahweh has transferred that same sovereignty to Absalom your ⁸ son. Now your doom has overtaken you, man of blood that you are." Abishai son of Zeruiah said to the king, "Is this dead dog to curse my lord the king? ⁹ Let me go over and cut his head off." But the king replied, "What business is it of mine and yours, sons of Zeruiah? Let him curse. If Yahweh said to him, 'Curse David,' what right has anyone to say, 'Why have you done this?'" ¹⁰ David said to Abishai and all his officers, "Why, my own son, sprung from my body, is now seeking my life; so now how much the more this Benjaminite? ¹¹ Let him curse on if Yahweh has told him to. Perhaps Yahweh will look on my misery and repay me with good for his curse today." So David and his men went on their way. But Shimei continued along the mountainside opposite him, ¹² cursing as he went, throwing stones and flinging earth. The king and all the ¹³ people who were with him arrived exhausted at . . . ¹⁴ where he refreshed himself.

Hushai with Absalom

¹⁵ Absalom entered Jerusalem with all the men of Israel; with him was Ahithophel. When Hushai the Archite, the companion of David, came to Absalom, ¹⁶ Hushai said to Absalom, "Long live the king! Long live the king!" "Is this your affection for your friend?" Absalom said to Hushai. "Why did you not leave ¹⁷ with your friend?" Hushai answered Absalom, "No, I belong to the man whom Yahweh and these people and all the men of Israel have chosen, and on his side ¹⁸ I will remain. Besides, whom should I serve, if not his son? As I served your father, so I shall serve you."

Absalom and David's concubines

²⁰ Absalom said to Ahithophel, "Think carefully. What shall we do?" Ahithophel ²¹ answered Absalom, "Go to your father's concubines whom he left to look after the palace; then all Israel will hear that you have incurred your father's enmity, ²² and the resolution of all your supporters will be strengthened." So they pitched a tent for Absalom on the housetop and in the sight of all Israel Absalom went ²³ to his father's concubines. In those days the advice Ahithophel gave was like an oracle asked from God; and so was all Ahithophel's advice respected, as by David, so by Absalom.

Hushai thwarts Ahithophel's plans

1 17 Ahithophel said to Absalom, "Let me choose twelve thousand men and 2 set off this very night in pursuit of David. I shall fall on him while he is tired and dispirited; I shall strike terror into him, and all the people who are 3 with him will take flight. Then I shall strike down the king alone and bring all the people back to you, as a bride returns to her husband. You seek the life 4 of only one man; the rest of the people will go unharmed." The suggestion appealed to Absalom and all the elders of Israel.

5 "Next call Hushai the Archite," Absalom said. "Let us hear what he too has 6 to say." When Hushai came to Absalom, Absalom said, "This is what Ahithophel 7 says. Are we to do as he suggests? If not, say something yourself." Hushai answered Absalom, "On this occasion the advice Ahithophel has offered is not 8 good. You know," Hushai went on, "that your father and his men are champions and as angry as a wandering bear robbed of her cubs. Your father is used to 9 warfare; he will not let the army rest during the night. At this very moment he is hiding in a hollow or somewhere else. If at the outset there are casualties 10 among our troops, word will go around of disaster to the army supporting Absalom. And then even the valiant, with a heart like the heart of a lion, will 11 be quite unmanned; for all Israel knows that your father is a champion and that the men with him are valiant. For my part, I offer this advice: Let all Israel, 12 from Dan to Beersheba, muster around you, numerous as the sand on the seashore, with your royal person marching in their midst. We shall come up 13 with him wherever he is to be found; we shall fall on him as the dew falls on the ground, and not leave him or one of the men with him alive. Should he retire 14 into a town, all Israel will bring ropes to that town, and we will drag it into the wadi until not a pebble of it is to be found." Then Absalom and all the 15 people of Israel said, "The advice of Hushai the Archite is better than the advice of Ahithophel." Yahweh had determined to thwart Ahithophel's shrewd advice and so to bring disaster on Absalom.

16 Hushai then told the priests Zadok and Abiathar, "Ahithophel gave such and such advice to Absalom and the elders of Israel, but I advised so and so.
17 Now send quickly and tell David this, 'Do not camp in the plains of the wilderness tonight but cross to the other side as fast as you can, or the king and all the army with him will be annihilated.'"

David is warned and crosses the Jordan

17 Jonathan and Ahimaaz were stationed at the Fuller's Spring; a maidservant was to go and warn them and they in turn were to warn King David, for they 18 dared not let themselves be seen entering the town. A young man saw them nonetheless and told Absalom. Then both of them hastily made off and came to the house of a man of Bahurim. In his courtyard was a cistern and they got 19 down into it. The woman took a covering and, spreading it over the mouth of the cistern, scattered crushed grain on it so that nothing showed.

20 Absalom's servants came to the woman in the house and said, "Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?" "They have gone further on toward the water," the 21 woman answered. They searched, but finding nothing went back to Jerusalem.
When they had gone, the men climbed out of the cistern and went to warn King 22 David. "Be on your way," they told David, "and cross the water quickly, for Ahithophel has given such and such advice about you." So David and all the troops with him set off and crossed the Jordan. By dawn no one was left who had not crossed the Jordan.

23 When Ahithophel saw that his advice had not been followed, he saddled his donkey and set off and went home to his own town. Then having set his house in order, he strangled himself and so died. He was buried in his father's tomb.

16 a. Probably an allusion to the massacre of 21:1-14. b. A place name has dropped out of the text.

Absalom crosses the Jordan. David at Mahanaim

²⁴ David had reached Mahanaim when Absalom crossed the Jordan with all ²⁵ the men of Israel. Absalom had put Amasa in command of the army in place of Joab. This Amasa was the son of a man called Ithra the Ishmaelite, who had married Abigail the daughter of Jesse and sister of Zeruiah, Joab's mother.
²⁶ Israel and Absalom pitched camp in the land of Gilead.

²⁷ When David reached Mahanaim, Shobi son of Nahash from Rabbah of the Ammonites, Machir son of Ammiel from Lodebar, and Barzillai the Gileadite ²⁸ from Rogelim brought mattresses, rugs, bowls and crockery, wheat, barley, ²⁹ meal, roasted grain, beans, lentils, honey, curds and cheese, sheep and oxen, which they presented to David and the people with him for them to eat. "The army," they said, "has been hungry and tired and thirsty in the wilderness."

The defeat of Absalom's party

¹ 18 David reviewed the troops that were with him, and appointed commanders ² of thousands and commanders of hundreds to lead them. David divided the army into three groups, one under the command of Joab, another under the command of Abishai son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and the third under the command of Ittai the Gittite. Then David said to the troops, "I too ³ will march with you in person." But the troops replied, "You must not go.
If we are routed, they will not give us a thought; and if half of us die, they will not give us a thought; but you, you are the equal of ten thousand of us. Besides, ⁴ it is better for you to be ready to reinforce us from the town." David said, "I will do as you think best." And the king stood by the gate as the troops marched ⁵ out by their hundreds and their thousands. The king gave orders to Joab, Abishai and Ittai, "For my sake treat young Absalom gently." And all the troops heard that the king had given these orders about Absalom to all the commanders.
⁶ So the troops marched out to take the field against Israel, and battle was joined ⁷ in the Forest of Ephraim. There Israel's army was beaten by David's followers; ⁸ it was a great defeat that day, with twenty thousand casualties. The fighting spread throughout the region and, of the troops, the forest claimed more victims that day than the sword.

The death of Absalom

⁹ Absalom happened to run into some of David's followers. Absalom was riding a mule and the mule passed under the thick branches of a great oak.
Absalom's head caught fast in the oak and he was left hanging between heaven ¹⁰ and earth, while the mule he was riding went on. Someone saw this and told ¹¹ Joab. "I have just seen Absalom," he said, "hanging from an oak." Joab said to the man who told him, "If you saw him, why did you not strike him to the ground then and there? I would have taken it on myself to give you ten silver ¹² shekels and a belt too." But the man answered Joab, "Even were I to feel the weight of a thousand silver shekels in my hand, I would not lift my hand against the king's son. In our own hearing the king gave you and Abishai and Ittai these ¹³ orders, 'For my sake spare young Absalom.' Had I acted treacherously, thus endangering my life, nothing is hidden from the king, and you yourself ¹⁴ would have stood by idle." Then Joab said, "I cannot waste my time with you like this." And he took three lances in his hand and thrust them into Absalom's ¹⁵ heart while he was still alive there in the oak tree. Then ten soldiers, Joab's armor-bearers, stepped forward, cut Absalom down and finished him off.

¹⁶ Then Joab had the trumpet sounded and the troops stopped pursuing Israel, ¹⁷ for Joab held the troops back. They took Absalom, flung him into a deep pit in the forest and reared a great cairn over him. All the Israelites had fled, each man to his tent.

¹⁸ Now Absalom during his lifetime had undertaken the erection of the pillar to himself which is in the Valley of the King. "I have no son," he said, "to preserve the memory of my name." So he had given the pillar his name, and it is called to this day the Pillar of Absalom.

The news is brought to David

19 Ahimaaz son of Zadok said, "I must run and tell the good news to the king 20 that Yahweh has vindicated his cause by ridding him of his enemies." But Joab said, "Today you would be no bearer of good news, some other day you will be; but today you would not be bringing good news, for the king's son is dead." 21 Then Joab said to the Cushite, "Go and tell the king what you have seen." The 22 Cushite bowed to Joab and ran off. But Ahimaaz son of Zadok persisted. "Come what may," he said to Joab, "I must myself run after the Cushite." "My son," 23 Joab said, "why run? You will get no reward for your news." But he replied, "Come what may, I am going to run." "Then run," Joab said. And Ahimaaz set off to run by way of the plain and passed the Cushite.

24 David was sitting between the two gates. The lookout had gone up to the roof of the gate, on the ramparts; he looked up and saw a man running all by himself.
25 The watch called out to the king and told him. The king said, "If he is by himself, he has good news to tell." As the man drew still nearer, the watch saw another man running, and the watch who was on top of the gate called out, "Here comes another man running by himself." David said, "He too is a bearer of good 27 news." The watchman said, "I recognize the way the first man runs; Ahimaaz son of Zadok runs like that." "He is a good man," the king said, "and he comes with good news."

28 Ahimaaz approached the king. "All hail!" he said, and bowed down before the king with his face to the earth. "Blessed be Yahweh your God," he said, 29 "who has handed over the men who rebelled against my lord the king!" "Is all well with young Absalom?" the king asked. Ahimaaz replied, "I saw there was a great uproar when Joab despatched your servant, but I do not know what it was."
30 The king said, "Move aside and stand there." He moved aside and stood waiting.

31 Then the Cushite arrived. "Good news for my lord the king!" cried the Cushite. "Yahweh has vindicated your cause today by ridding you of all who rebelled 32 against you." "Is all well with young Absalom?" the king asked the Cushite. "May the enemies of my lord the king," the Cushite answered, "and all who rebelled against you to your hurt, share the lot of that young man."

David mourns for Absalom

33 19 The king shuddered. He went up to the room over the gate and burst into tears, and weeping said, "My son Absalom! My son! My son Absalom!
34 Would I had died in your place! Absalom, my son, my son!" Word was brought 35 to Joab, "The king is now weeping and mourning for Absalom." And the day's victory was turned to mourning for all the troops, because they learned that 36 the king was grieving for his son. And the troops returned stealthily that day 37 to the town, as troops creep back ashamed when routed in battle. The king had veiled his face and was crying aloud, "My son Absalom! Absalom, my son, my son!"

38 Then Joab went indoors to the king. "Today," he said, "you are covering the 39 faces of all your servants with shame when they have saved your life today, and the lives of your sons and daughters, of your wives too and your concubines, 40 all because you love those who hate you and hate those who love you. Today you have made it plain that commanders and soldiers mean nothing to you, since now I see that if Absalom were alive today and we all dead, you would 41 be pleased. Now get up, come out and reassure your soldiers, for if you do not 42 come I swear by Yahweh not one man will stay with you tonight; and this will be a worse misfortune for you than all that has happened to you from your youth 43 until now." So the king rose and took his seat at the gate. All the troops soon 44 heard the news: "The king," they say, "has taken his seat at the gate." And the whole army assembled in front of the king.

Preparations for David's return

¹⁰ Israel had fled, each man to his tent. Throughout the tribes of Israel all were quarreling. "The king," they said, "delivered us from the power of our enemies, he saved us from the hands of the Philistines, and now he himself has had to flee the country to escape from Absalom; while Absalom, whom we had anointed to reign over us, has now died in battle. So now why not do something about bringing the king back?"

¹¹¹² Word of what was being said throughout Israel reached the king. Then King David sent word to the priests Zadok and Abiathar, "Say to the elders of Judah, 'Why should you be the last to bring the king home? You are my brothers, you are my own flesh and blood, why should you be the last to bring the king back?' Say to Amasa" too, 'Are you not my own flesh and blood? May God do this to me and more, if you are not my army commander from now on, in place of Joab.'" Then all the men of Judah were won over as one man, sending word to the king, "Come back, you and all who serve you."

Episodes connected with David's return: Shimei

¹⁵¹⁶ So the king turned about and reached the Jordan. Judah, coming to meet the king to escort the king across the Jordan, had arrived at Gilgal. Shimei son of Gera the Benjaminite from Bahurim hurried down with the men of Judah to meet King David. With him were a thousand men from Benjamin. Ziba, the servant of the House of Saul, with his fifteen sons and twenty servants, arrived at the Jordan before the king and worked manfully ferrying the king's family across and doing whatever he wanted.

While the king was crossing the Jordan, Shimei son of Gera fell at his feet and said to the king, "Let not my lord hold me guilty. Do not remember the wrong your servant did, the day my lord the king left Jerusalem. Put it out of your mind. For your servant admits that he has sinned, and here I am today, first of all the House of Joseph to come down and meet my lord the king." Then Abishai son of Zeruiah spoke out. "Does not Shimei deserve death for cursing Yahweh's anointed?" But David said, "What is there between me and you, sons of Zeruiah, for you to be my enemies today? On such a day, could anyone in Israel be put to death? Today I know for sure that I am king over Israel. Your life is spared," the king said. And the king gave him his oath.^b

²⁵²⁶ Meribbaal son of Saul had also gone down to meet the king. He had not cared for his feet or his hands, he had neither trimmed his mustache nor washed his clothes from the day the king left to the day he came back in peace. When he arrived from Jerusalem to greet the king, the king asked him, "Why did you not come with me, Meribbaal?" "My lord king," he answered, "my servant deceived me. Your servant said to him, 'Saddle my donkey; I shall ride it and go with the king,' for your servant is lame. He has slandered your servant to my lord the king. But my lord the king is like the angel of God; do as you think right. For all my father's family earned no better than death from the hands of my lord the king, and yet you have admitted your servant among those who eat at your table. What right have I to make further appeal to the king?" The king said, "Why say any more? I rule that you and Ziba are to share the property." "Let him take it all," Meribbaal said to the king, "since my lord the king has come home in peace."

Barzillai

³²³³ Barzillai the Gileadite, too, had gone down from Rogelim and had stayed with the king to escort him as far as the Jordan. Barzillai was a man of great age; he was eighty years old. He had kept the king in provisions during his stay at Mahanaim, for he was a very rich man. "Come with me," the king said to 35 Barzillai, "and I will provide for your old age in Jerusalem with me." •But 36 Barzillai answered the king, "How many years have I left to live, for me to go 37 up to Jerusalem with the king? •I am eighty years old now; can I tell the good 38 from the bad? Has your servant any taste for his food and drink? Can I still 39 hear the voices of men and women singers? Why should your servant be a further 40 burden to my lord the king? •Your servant will just cross the Jordan with the 41 king; why should the king grant me such reward? •Allow your servant to go 42 back to die in my own town near the grave of my father and mother. But here 43 is your servant Chimham; let him go with my lord the king; treat him as 44 you think right." •The king said, "Let Chimham go with me then; I will do 45 things for him that will please you, and anything you request I will do for him 46 for your sake." •All the people then crossed the Jordan and the king crossed too; 47 he kissed Barzillai and blessed him, and the latter returned to his home.

Judah and Israel dispute over the king

41 The king went on to Gilgal and Chimham stayed with him. All the people 42 of Judah accompanied the king and half the people of Israel too. •Then all the 43 men of Israel came to the king. "Why," they asked the king, "have our brothers, 44 the men of Judah, carried you off and brought the king and his family across 45 the Jordan, and all David's men with him?" •All the men of Judah retorted to 46 the men of Israel, "Because the king is more closely related to us. Why do you 47 take offense at this? Have we eaten at the king's expense or levied portions for 48 ourselves?" •The men of Israel replied to the men of Judah, "We have ten shares 49 in the king. We are your elder too. Why have you despised us then? Were we 50 not the first to speak of bringing back the king?" But the language of the men 51 of Judah was more vehement than that of the men of Israel.

The revolt of Sheba

1 20 Now there happened to be a scoundrel there called Sheba son of Bichri, a Benjamite, who sounded the trumpet and cried:

"We have no share in David,
 we have no inheritance in the son of Jesse.
 Every man to his tents, Israel!"

2 At this all the men of Israel deserted David and followed Sheba son of Bichri.
 But the men of Judah stayed with their king on his way from Jordan to Jerusalem.

3 So David came to his palace at Jerusalem. He took the ten concubines he had left to look after the palace and put them under guard. He provided for their upkeep but never went to them again; they were shut away until the day they died, widows, as it were, of a living man.

The assassination of Amasa

4 The king said to Amasa, "Summon the men of Judah to me, and be here yourself 5 within three days." •Amasa went to summon Judah, but he delayed beyond the 6 time David had fixed. •David then said to Abishai, "Sheba son of Bichri is more 7 dangerous to us than ever Absalom was, so take your master's guards and be 8 after him, or he may reach fortified towns and elude us." •Behind Abishai marched 9 Joab, the Cherethites, the Pelethites and all the champions, marching from 10 Jerusalem in pursuit of Sheba son of Bichri. •They were near the great stone 11 at Gibeon when Amasa came face to face with them. Joab was wearing his 12 uniform, over which he had buckled on a sword hanging from his waist in its 13 scabbard; the sword came out and fell. •Joab said to Amasa, "Are you well, 14 my brother?" And with his right hand he took Amasa by the beard to kiss him.

19 a. The military commander of the rebellion, 17:25. b. But he made sure that vengeance was exacted after his death, 1 K. 2:8f. c. Barzillai's son.

¹⁰ Amasa paid no attention to the sword Joab was holding, and Joab struck him with it in the belly and spilled his entrails on the ground. He did not need to strike a second blow; and so Amasa died. Joab and Abishai hurried on in pursuit of Sheba son of Bichri.

¹¹ One of Joab's soldiers stood on guard beside Amasa. "Whoever is on Joab's ¹² side," he said, "whoever is for David, let him follow Joab." "Meanwhile Amasa lay in the middle of the road in pools of his blood. Seeing that everyone was stopping, the man dragged Amasa off the road into the field and threw a cloak ¹³ over him, because he saw that everyone stopped on reaching him. "When Amasa had been taken off the road, the men all went on their way, following Joab in pursuit of Sheba son of Bichri.

The rebellion ends

¹⁴ The latter went all through the tribes of Israel as far as Abel of Beth-maacah ¹⁵ and all the Bichrites. . . . They mustered and went in after him. "Besieging him in Abel of Beth-maacah, they threw up earthworks against the city. "As all the ¹⁶ troops who were with Joab were sapping the wall to bring it down, a quick-witted woman stood on the outer wall and shouted from the town, "Listen! ¹⁷ Listen! Say to Joab, 'Come here, I want to speak to you.'" "He came forward and the woman said, "Are you Joab?" "I am," he answered. She said to him, ¹⁸ "Listen to what your servant says." "I am listening," he replied. "Then she spoke. "In olden days," she said, "they used to say, 'Let them ask in Abel and in Dan ¹⁹ if all is over with what Israel's faithful ones have laid down.' Yet you are trying to destroy a town, yes a mother city, in Israel. Why do you wish to devour the ²⁰ heritage of Yahweh?" "Far, far be it from me," Joab said. "I neither wish to ²¹ devour nor to destroy. "This is not the issue; but a man of the highlands of Ephraim called Sheba son of Bichri has revolted against the king, against David. Hand that one man over and I will raise the siege of the town." "Very ²² well," the woman said to Joab, "his head shall be thrown over the wall to you." The woman went back into the town and spoke to all the people as her intelligence dictated. They cut off the head of Sheba son of Bichri and threw it down to Joab. He had the trumpet sounded and they withdrew from the town, each man to his tents. Joab himself returned to the king in Jerusalem.

David's officials

²³ Joab commanded the whole army; Benaiah son of Jehoiada commanded the ²⁴ Cherethites and Pelethites; "Adoram was in charge of forced labor; Jehoshaphat ²⁵ son of Ahilud was recorder; "Sheva, secretary; Zadok and Abiathar, priests. ²⁶ Ira the Jairite was also a priest of David.

II. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION

The great famine and the execution of Saul's descendants^a

¹ 21 In the time of David there was a famine lasting for three whole years. ² David consulted Yahweh, and Yahweh said, "There is blood on Saul and his family because he put the Gibeonites to death." "The king then summoned the Gibeonites and said to them—now the Gibeonites were not Israelites, they were a remnant of the Amorites to whom the Israelites had bound themselves by oath; but Saul in his zeal for the Israelites and for Judah had tried to crush ³ them—"What must I do for you?" David therefore asked the Gibeonites, "how make amends, for you to call down a blessing on the heritage of Yahweh?" ⁴ The Gibeonites answered, "It is no mere matter of silver or gold between ourselves and Saul and his family; nor is it for us to have any man in Israel put ⁵ to death." David said, "Say what you want and I will do it for you." "So they told the king, "It is about the man who decimated us and planned to annihilate

6 us so that we should no longer exist anywhere in Israelite territory. "Let seven 7 of his sons be handed over to us, for us to impale them before Yahweh at Gibeon on the mountain of Yahweh." "I will hand them over," the king said. "The king spared Meribbaal son of Jonathan, son of Saul, on account of the oath by Yahweh 8 that bound them together, David and Jonathan son of Saul. "But the king took the two sons that Rizpah the daughter of Aiah had borne Saul, Armoni and Meribbaal; also the five sons that Merab the daughter of Saul had borne Adriel 9 son of Barzillai, of Meholah. "He handed these over to the Gibeonites who impaled them on the mountain before Yahweh. The seven of them perished together; they were put to death in the first days of the harvest, at the beginning of the barley harvest.

10 Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took sackcloth and spread it for herself on the rock from the beginning of the barley harvest until the rain fell from the sky on them^b; she did not allow the birds of heaven to come at them by day nor the 11 wild beasts by night. "David was told what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, Saul's 12 concubine, had done. "David went and took the bones of Saul and his son Jonathan from the chief men of Jabesh-gilead. These had stolen them from the square in Beth-shan where the Philistines had hung them when the Philistines 13 had defeated Saul at Gilboa. "David brought the bones of Saul and his son Jonathan from there and put them together with the bones of those who had been 14 impaled. "They buried the bones of Saul, of his son Jonathan, and of those who had been impaled, in the land of Benjamin at Zela in the tomb of Saul's father, Kish. They did all that the king ordered; and after that, God took pity on the country.

Various exploits against the Philistines

15 Once again the Philistines made war on Israel. David went down with his guards; they pitched camp at Gob and fought the Philistines. Then there arose 16 Dodo son of Joash, a descendant of Rapha. His spear weighed three hundred shekels of bronze; he was wearing a new sword and was confident he could kill 17 David. "But Abishai son of Zeruiah went to his rescue; he struck down the Philistine and killed him. It was then that David's men urged him, "You must never again go into battle with us," they said, "in case you put out the lamp of Israel."

18 After this, war with the Philistines broke out at Gob again. This was when Sibbecai of Hushah killed Saph, a descendant of Rapha.

19 Again war with the Philistines broke out at Gob, and Elhanan son of Jair from Bethlehem killed Goliath of Gath, the shaft of whose spear was like a 20 weaver's beam. "There was another battle at Gath, where there was a man of huge stature with six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot, twenty-four 21 in all. He too was a descendant of Rapha. "Jonathan, son of David's brother, Shimeah, killed him when he defied Israel.

22 These four were descended from Rapha of Gath and fell at the hands of David and his guards.

A psalm of David

1 22 David addressed the words of this song to Yahweh when Yahweh had 2 delivered him from all his enemies and from the hands of Saul. "He said:

3 Yahweh is my rock and my bastion, my deliverer is my God.
 I take refuge in him, my rock, my shield, my horn of salvation,

21 a. This narrative is detached from its context and the events are probably to be placed before 9:1. The whole of the next four chapters of "Supplementary Information" interrupt the long story of David's family, which is resumed in 1 K. b. The sign that the expiation is accepted and the famine (see v.1) will soon be over.

my stronghold and my refuge.

From violence you rescue me.

4 He is to be praised; on Yahweh I call and am saved from my enemies.

5 The waves of death encircled me, 6 the torrents of Belial burst on me;
the cords of Sheol girdled me, the snares of death were before me.

7 In my distress I called to Yahweh and to my God I cried; from his Temple he heard my voice, my cry came to his ears.

8 Then the earth quivered and quaked, the foundations of the heavens trembled (they quivered because he was angry); 9 from his nostrils a smoke ascended, and from his mouth a fire that consumed (live embers were kindled at it).

10 He bent the heavens and came down, a dark cloud under his feet; 11 he mounted a cherub and flew, and soared on the wings of the wind.

12 Darkness he made a veil to surround him, his tent a watery darkness, dense cloud; 13 before him a flash enkindled hail and fiery embers.

14 Yahweh thundered from heaven, the Most High made his voice heard; 15 he let his arrows fly and scattered them, launched the lightnings and routed them.

16 The bed of the seas was revealed, the foundations of the world were laid bare at Yahweh's muttered threat, at the blast of his nostrils' breath.

17 He sends from on high and takes me, he draws me from deep waters, 18 he delivers me from my powerful enemy, from foes too strong for me.

19 They assailed me on my day of disaster, but Yahweh was my support; 20 he freed me, set me at large, he rescued me, since he loves me.

21 Yahweh requites me as I act justly, as my hands are pure so he repays me, 22 since I have kept the ways of Yahweh, and not fallen away from my God.

23 His judgments are all before me, his statutes I have not put from me; 24 I am blameless in his presence,
I keep sin at arm's length.

- 25 And Yahweh repays me as I act justly, as my purity is in his sight.
- 26 Faithful you are with the faithful, blameless with the blameless,
- 27 pure with the one who is pure, but crafty with the devious,
- 28 you save a people that is humble and humiliate eyes that are haughty.
- 29 Yahweh, you yourself are my lamp, my God lights up my darkness; 30 with you I storm the barbican, with my God I leap the rampart.
- 31 This God, his way is blameless, the word of Yahweh is without dross.
He it is who is the shield of all who take refuge in him.
- 32 Who else is God but Yahweh, who else a rock save our God?
- 33 This God who girds me with strength and makes my way without blame,
- 34 who makes my feet like the hinds' and holds me from falling on the heights, 35 who trains my hands for battle, my arms to bend a bow of bronze.
- 36 You give me your saving shield and your armor covers me over.
- 37 Wide room you have made for my steps under me;
my feet have never faltered.
- 38 I pursue my enemies and destroy them, nor turn back till an end is made of them;
- 39 I strike them down, and they do not rise, they fall, they are under my feet.
- 40 You have girt me with strength for the fight, bent down my assailants beneath me, 41 made my enemies turn their backs to me;
and those who hate me I destroy.
- 42 They cry out, there is no one to save,
to Yahweh, but there is no reply;
- 43 I crush them fine as the dust of the squares, trample them like the mud of the streets.
- 44 You deliver me from a people in revolt, you place me at the head of the nations, a people I did not know are now my servants,
- 45 foreigners come wooing my favor, no sooner do they hear than they obey me, 46 foreigners grow faint of heart, they come trembling out of their fastnesses.
- 47 Life to Yahweh! Blessed be my rock!
Exalted be the God of my salvation,

- 48 the God who gives me vengeance and crushes the peoples beneath me,
- 49 who rescues me from my enemies.
You lift me high above those who attack me, you deliver me from the man of violence.
- 50 For this I will praise you, Yahweh, among the heathen, and sing praise to your name.
- 51 His king he saves and saves again, displays his love for his anointed, for David and his heirs for ever.

The last words of David

- 1 23 These are the last words of David:

Oracle of David son of Jesse, oracle of the man raised to eminence, the anointed of the God of Jacob, the singer of the songs of Israel.

- 2 The spirit of Yahweh speaks through me, his word is on my tongue; 3 the God of Jacob has spoken, the Rock of Israel has said to me:

He who rules men with justice, who rules in the fear of God, 4 is like morning light at sunrise (on a cloudless morning) making the grass of the earth sparkle after rain.

- 5 Yes, my House stands firm with God:
he has made an everlasting covenant with me, all in order, well assured;
does he not bring to flower all that saves me, all I desire?

- 6 But godless men are all like desert thorns, for these are never gathered by hand: 7 no one touches them unless with iron or the shaft of a spear, and then they are burned in the fire.

David's champions

- 8 These are the names of David's champions: Ishbaal the Hachmonite, leader of the three; it was he who wielded his battle-ax against eight hundred whom 9 he killed at one time. After him there was Eleazar son of Dodo, the Ahohite, one of the three champions. He was with David at Pas-dammim when the Philistines mustered for battle there and the men of Israel retreated before them.
10 But he stood his ground and struck down the Philistines until his hand was so numb that it stuck to the sword. Yahweh brought about a great victory that 11 day, and though the army rallied behind Eleazar it was only to plunder. After him there was Shamma son of Elah, the Hararite. The Philistines had mustered at Lehi. There was a field full of lentils there; the army took flight before the 12 Philistines, but he positioned himself in the middle of the field, defended it, and struck down the Philistines. So Yahweh brought about a great victory.

13 Three out of the thirty went down at the beginning of the harvest and came to David at the Cave of Adullam while a company of Philistines was encamped in the Valley of the Rephaim. David was then in the stronghold, and there was a Philistine garrison in Bethlehem. "Oh," David sighed, "if someone would fetch me a drink of water from the well that stands by the gate at Bethlehem!" At this the three champions, forcing their way through the Philistine camp, drew water from the well that stands by the gate of Bethlehem, and bringing it away presented it to David. But he would drink none of it and poured it out as a libation to Yahweh. "Yahweh keep me," he said, "from drinking this! This is the blood of men who went at the risk of their lives." And so he would not drink. Such were the deeds of the three champions.

18 Abishai, the brother of Joab and son of Zeruiah, was leader of the thirty. It was he who wielded his spear against three hundred whom he killed, winning himself a name among the thirty. He was more famous than the thirty and became their captain, but he was no rival for the three.

20 Benaiah son of Jehoiada, a hero from Kabzeel, a man of many exploits, struck down the two champions of Moab and, one snowy day, went down and killed the lion in the cistern. He was also the man who killed an Egyptian of great stature. The Egyptian had a spear in his hand, but he went down against him with a staff, tore the spear from the Egyptian's hand and killed the man with it. Such were the exploits of Benaiah son of Jehoiada, winning him a name among the thirty champions. He was more famous than the thirty, but he was no rival for the three. David put him in command of his bodyguard.

24 Asahel the brother of Joab was one of the thirty;
 Elhanan son of Dodo, from Bethlehem;
 25 Shammah from Harod; Elikah from Harod;
 26 Helez from Beth-pelet; Ira son of Ikkes, from Tekoa;
 27 Abiezer from Anathoth;
 Sibbecai from Hushah;
 28 Zalmon from Ahoh; Maharai from Netophah;
 29 Heled son of Baanah, from Netophah; Ittai son of Ribai, from Gibeah of Benjamin;
 30 Benaiah from Pirathon; Hiddai from the wadis of Gaash; 31 Abialbon from Beth-arabah; Azmaveth from Bahurim; 32 Eliahba from Shaalbon; Jashen from Gimzo;
 33 Jonathan son of Shammah, from Harar; Ahiam son of Sharar, from Harar; 34 Eliphelet son of Ahasbai, from Beth-maacah; Eliam son of Ahithophel, from Gilo;
 35 Hezro from Carmel; Paarai from Arab;
 36 Igal son of Nathan, from Zobah; Bani the Gadite;
 37 Zelek the Ammonite; Naharai, from Beeroth, armor-bearer to Joab son of Zeruiah; 38 Ira from Jattir;
 Gareb from Jattir;
 39 Uriah the Hittite—

thirty-seven in all.

The census

1 24 The anger of Yahweh once again blazed out against the Israelites and he incited David against them. "Go," he said, "take a census of Israel and Judah." The king said to Joab and to the senior army officers who were with him, "Now go throughout the tribes of Israel from Dan to Beersheba and take a census of the people; I wish to know the size of the population." Joab said to the king, "May Yahweh your God multiply the people a hundred times while my lord the king still has eyes to see it, but why should my lord the king be so set on this?" But the king enforced his order on Joab and the senior officers, and Joab and the senior officers went from the king's presence to take a census of the people of Israel.

5 They crossed the Jordan and made a start with Aroer and the town that is in the middle of the wadi, moving on to the Gadites and toward Jazer. They then went to Gilead and to Kadesh in the land of the Hittites; next they went on to Dan and from Dan made their way around toward Sidon. They then came to the fortress of Tyre and to all the towns of the Hivites and Canaanites, ending up in the Negeb of Judah at Beersheba. Having covered the whole country, they returned to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days. Joab gave the king the figures for the census of the people; Israel numbered eight hundred thousand armed men capable of drawing sword, and Judah five hundred thousand men.

The pestilence. God's forgiveness

10 But afterward David's heart misgave him for having taken a census of the people. "I have committed a grave sin," David said to Yahweh. "But now, Yahweh, I beg you to forgive your servant for this fault. I have been very foolish." But when David got up next morning, the following message had come from Yahweh to the prophet Gad, David's seer, "Go and say to David, 'Yahweh says this: I offer you three things; choose one of them for me to do to you.'"

13 So Gad went to David and told him. "Are three years of famine to come on you in your country," he said, "or will you flee for three months before your pursuing enemy, or would you rather have three days' pestilence in your country? Now think, and decide how I am to answer him who sends me." David said to Gad, "This is a hard choice. But let us rather fall into the power of Yahweh, since his mercy is great, and not into the power of men." So David chose pestilence.

It was the time of the wheat harvest. Yahweh sent a pestilence on Israel from the morning till the time appointed and plague ravaged the people, and from Dan to Beersheba seventy thousand men of them died. The angel stretched out his hand toward Jerusalem to destroy it, but Yahweh thought better of this evil, and he said to the angel who was destroying the people. "Enough! Now withdraw your hand." The angel of Yahweh was beside the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite. When David saw the angel who was ravaging the people, he spoke to Yahweh. "It was I who sinned," he said, "I who did this wicked thing. But these, this flock, what have they done? Let your hand lie heavy on me then, and on my family."

An altar is built

18 Gad went to David that day and said, "Go up and erect an altar to Yahweh on the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite." So at Gad's bidding David went up as Yahweh had ordered him. When Araunah looked down and saw the king and his officers advancing toward him—Araunah was threshing the wheat—he came forward and with his face to the ground did the king homage. "Why has my lord the king come to his servant?" Araunah asked. David answered, "To buy the threshing floor from you, in order to build an altar to Yahweh, so that the plague may leave the people." "Let my lord the king

- take it," Araunah said to David, "and offer up what he thinks right. Here are the oxen for the holocaust, the threshing sled and the oxen's yoke for the wood.
- ²³ The servant of my lord the king gives all this to the king. And," Araunah said to the king, "may Yahweh your God accept your offering."
- ²⁴ But the king said to Araunah, "No, I must pay you money for it; I will not offer Yahweh my God holocausts that have cost me nothing." So David paid
- ²⁵ fifty shekels in silver for the threshing floor and oxen. David built an altar to Yahweh there and offered holocausts and communion sacrifices. Then Yahweh took pity on the country and the plague was turned away from Israel.

THE BOOKS OF KINGS

THE FIRST BOOK OF THE KINGS

I. THE DAVIDIC SUCCESSION

David's last days. The intrigues of Adonijah

¹ 1 King David was an old man well on in years and though they laid coverlets ² over him he could not keep warm. ·So his servants said to him, “Let some ³ young girl be found for my lord the king, to wait on the king and look after him; ⁴ she shall lie on your breast and this will keep my lord the king warm.” ·Having ⁵ searched for a beautiful girl throughout the territory of Israel, they found Abishag ⁶ of Shunem and brought her to the king. ·The girl was of great beauty. She ⁷ looked after the king and waited on him but the king had no intercourse with her.
⁸ Now Adonijah, Haggith's son, was ambitious; he thought he might be king; ⁹ accordingly he procured a chariot and team with fifty men to run in front of ¹⁰ him. ·At no time in his life had his father ever crossed him by asking, “Why do you ¹¹ behave like this?” He was also very handsome; his mother had given birth to him ¹² after Absalom. ·He conferred with Joab son of Zeruiah and with the priest ¹³ Abiathar^a who rallied to Adonijah's cause; ·but neither Zadok the priest, nor ¹⁴ Benaiah son of Jehoiada, nor the prophet Nathan, nor Shimei and his com-¹⁵ panions, David's champions, supported Adonijah.

¹⁶ One day when Adonijah was sacrificing sheep and oxen and fattened calves ¹⁷ at the Sliding Stone which is beside the Fuller's Spring, he invited all his brothers, ¹⁸ the royal princes, and all the men of Judah in the king's service; ·but he did not ¹⁹ invite the prophet Nathan, or Benaiah, or the champions, or his brother Solomon.

The intrigues of Nathan and Bathsheba

¹ Then Nathan said to Bathsheba, Solomon's mother, “Have you not heard that ² unknown to our lord David, Adonijah, Haggith's son, has become king? ·Well, ³ this is my advice to you if you want to save your own life and the life of ⁴ your son Solomon. ·Go straight in to King David and say, ‘My lord king, did ⁵ you not make your servant this promise on oath: Your son Solomon is to be ⁶ king after me; he is the one who is to sit on my throne? How is it, then, that ⁷ Adonijah is king?’ ·And while you are still there talking to the king, I will ⁸ come in after you and confirm what you say.”

⁹ So Bathsheba went to the king in his room (he was very old and Abishag of ¹⁰ Shunem was in attendance on him). ·She knelt down and did homage to the ¹¹ king, and the king said, “What is your wish?” ·“My lord,” she answered, “you swore ¹² this to your servant by Yahweh your God, ‘Your son Solomon is to be king after ¹³ me; he is the one who is to sit on my throne.’ ·And now here is Adonijah king ¹⁴ and you, my lord king, knowing nothing about it. ·He has sacrificed quantities ¹⁵ of oxen and fattened calves and sheep, and invited all the royal princes, the priest Abiathar, and Joab the army commander; but he has not invited your 20 servant Solomon. Yet you are the man, my lord king, to whom all Israel looks, 21 to name for them the successor of my lord the king.^b And when my lord the king sleeps with his fathers, my son Solomon and I will be made to suffer for this.”

22 She was still speaking when the prophet Nathan entered. “The prophet 23 Nathan is here,” they told the king; and he came into the king’s presence and 24 bowed down to the ground on his face before the king. “My lord king,” said Nathan, “is this, then, your decree: ‘Adonijah is to be king after me; he is the 25 one who is to sit on my throne?’ For he has gone down today and sacrificed quantities of oxen and fattened calves and sheep, and invited all the royal princes, the army chiefs, and the priest Abiathar; and they are there now, eating and 26 drinking in his presence and shouting, ‘Long live King Adonijah!’ He has not, however, invited me your servant, Zadok the priest, Benaiah son of Jehoiada, or 27 your servant Solomon. Is this with my lord the king’s approval? Or have you not told those loyal to you who is to succeed to the throne of my lord the king?”

Solomon is consecrated king at David’s nomination

28 Then King David spoke. “Call Bathsheba to me,” he said. And she came into 29 the king’s presence and stood before him. Then the king swore this oath, “As 30 Yahweh lives, who has delivered me from all adversity, just as I swore to you by Yahweh the God of Israel that your son Solomon should be king after me and 31 take my place on the throne, so I will bring it about this very day.” Bathsheba knelt down, her face to the ground, and did homage to the king. “May my lord 32 King David live for ever!” she said. Then King David said, “Summon Zadok the priest, the prophet Nathan and Benaiah son of Jehoiada.” So they came 33 into the king’s presence. “Take the royal guard with you,” said the king, “mount 34 my son Solomon on my own mule and escort him down to Gihon. There Zadok the priest and the prophet Nathan are to anoint him king of Israel; then sound 35 the trumpet and shout, ‘Long live King Solomon!’ Then you are to follow him up and he is to come and take his seat on my throne and be king in place of me, 36 for he is the man I have appointed as ruler of Israel and of Judah.” Benaiah son of Jehoiada answered the king. “Amen!” he said, “And may Yahweh too say 37 Amen to the words of my lord the king! As Yahweh has been with my lord the king, so may he be with Solomon and make his throne even greater than the throne of my lord King David!”

38 Then Zadok the priest, the prophet Nathan, Benaiah son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites and Pelethites went down; they mounted Solomon on King 39 David’s mule and escorted him to Gihon. Zadok the priest took the horn of oil from the Tent and anointed Solomon. They sounded the trumpet and all the 40 people shouted, “Long live King Solomon!” The people all followed him up, with pipes playing and loud rejoicing and shouts to split the earth.

Adonijah is afraid

41 Adonijah and his guests, who had by then finished their meal, all heard the noise. Joab too heard the sound of the trumpet and said, “What is that noise of 42 uproar in the city?” While he was still speaking, Jonathan the son of Abiathar the priest arrived. “Come in,” Adonijah said, “you are an honest man, so you 43 must be bringing good news.” “Yes,” Jonathan answered, “our lord King David 44 has made Solomon king. The king sent Zadok the priest with him, and the prophet Nathan and Benaiah son of Jehoiada and the Cherethites and Pelethites; 45 they mounted him on the king’s mule, and Zadok the priest and the prophet Nathan anointed him king at Gihon; and they went up from there with shouts

1 a. Joab, see 2 S. 19; Abiathar, see 1 S. 22. b. The king was expected to choose his successor from among his sons.

46 of joy and the city is now in an uproar; that was the noise you heard. ·What is 47 more, Solomon is seated on the royal throne. ·And further, the king's officers have been to congratulate our lord King David with the words, 'May your God make the name of Solomon more glorious even than yours, and his throne more 48 exalted than your own!' And the king bowed down on his bed, ·and then said, 'Blessed be Yahweh, the God of Israel, who has allowed my eyes to see one of my descendants sitting on my throne today.'"

49 At this, all Adonijah's guests, taking fright, rose and made off in their several 50 directions. ·Adonijah, in terror of Solomon, rose too and ran off to cling to 51 the horns of the altar. ·Solomon was told, "You should know that Adonijah is in terror of King Solomon and is now clinging to the horns of the altar, saying,
'Let King Solomon first swear to me that he will not have his servant put to the 52 sword.'" ·"Should he bear himself honorably," Solomon answered, "not one hair of his shall fall to the ground; but if he is found malicious, he shall die." 53 King Solomon then sent for him to be brought down from the altar; he came and did homage to King Solomon; Solomon said to him, "Go to your house."

David's testament. His death

1 2 As David's life drew to its close he laid this charge on his son Solomon, 2 "I am going the way of all the earth. Be strong and show yourself a man.
3 Observe the injunctions of Yahweh your God, following his ways and keeping his laws, his commandments, his customs and his decrees, as it stands written in the Law of Moses, that so you may be successful in all you do and undertake, 4 so that Yahweh may fulfill the promise he made me, 'If your sons are careful how they behave, and walk loyally before me with all their heart and soul, you shall never lack for a man on the throne of Israel.'

5 "You know too what Joab son of Zeruah did to me, and what he did to the two commanders of the army of Israel, Abner son of Ner and Amasa son of Jether; how he murdered them, how in time of peace he took vengeance for blood shed in war, staining the belt around my waist and the sandals on my feet 6 with innocent blood. ·You will be wise not to let his gray head go down to 7 Sheol in peace. ·As regards the sons of Barzillai of Gilead, treat them kindly, let them be among those who eat at your table, for they were as kind to me when 8 I was fleeing from your brother Absalom. ·You also have with you Shimei son of Gera, the Benjaminite from Bahurim. He called down a terrible curse on me the day I left for Mahanaim, but he came down to meet me at the Jordan and 9 I swore to him by Yahweh I would not put him to the sword. ·But you, you must not let him go unpunished; you are a wise man and will know how to deal with him to bring his gray head down to Sheol in blood."

10 So David slept with his ancestors and was buried in the Citadel of David.
11 David's reign over Israel lasted forty years: he reigned in Hebron for seven years, and in Jerusalem for thirty-three.

The death of Adonijah

12 Solomon was seated upon the throne of David, and his sovereignty was securely established.

13 Adonijah, Haggith's son, went to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon and bowed down before her. "Do you bring peace?" she asked. He answered, "Yes, 14 peace." ·Then he said, "I have something to say to you." "Speak," she replied.
15 "You know," he said, "that the kingdom should have come to me,^a and that all Israel expected me to be king; but the crown eluded me and fell to my brother, 16 since it came to him from Yahweh. ·Now I have one request to make you; 17 do not refuse me." "Speak," she said. ·He went on, "Please ask King Solomon—for 18 he will not refuse you—to give me Abishag of Shunem in marriage." "Very well," 19 Bathsheba replied, "I will speak to the king about you." ·So Bathsheba went to King Solomon to speak to him about Adonijah; the king rose to meet her and bowed before her; he then sat down on his throne; a seat was brought for the 20 mother of the king, and she sat down at his right hand. She said, "I have one small request to make you; do not refuse me." "My mother," the king answered, 21 "make your request, for I will not refuse you." "Let Abishag of Shunem," she 22 said, "be given in marriage to your brother Adonijah." King Solomon answered his mother. "And why," he said, "do you request Abishag of Shunem for Adonijah?

 23 You might as well request the kingdom for him,^b since he is my elder brother and Abiathar the priest and Joab son of Zeruiah are on his side." And King Solomon swore by Yahweh: "May God do this to me and more," he said, "if 24 Adonijah does not pay for these words of his with his life! As Yahweh lives who has set me securely on the throne of David my father, and who, as he promised, has given him a dynasty, Adonijah shall be put to death this very 25 day." And King Solomon commissioned Benaiah son of Jehoiada to strike him down, and he died.

The fate of Abiathar and Joab

26 As for Abiathar the priest, the king said to him, "Go to Anathoth^c to your estate. You deserve to die, but I am not going to put you to death now, since you carried the ark of Yahweh in the presence of David my father and shared 27 all my father's hardships." Solomon deprived Abiathar of the priesthood of Yahweh, thus fulfilling the oracle Yahweh had uttered against the House of Eli at Shiloh.

28 When the news reached Joab—for Joab had lent his support to Adonijah, though he had not supported Absalom—he fled to the Tent of Yahweh and 29 clung to the horns of the altar. King Solomon was told, "Joab has fled to the Tent of Yahweh; he is there beside the altar." Then Solomon sent word to Joab, "What reason did you have for fleeing to the altar?" Joab replied, "I was afraid of you and fled to Yahweh." Then Solomon sent Benaiah son of Jehoiada.
 30 "Go," he said, "and strike him down." Accordingly Benaiah went to the Tent of Yahweh. "By order of the king," he said, "come out!" "No," he said, "I will die here." So Benaiah brought back word to the king. "This is what Joab said, and 31 the answer he gave me." "Do as he says," the king replied. "Strike him down and bury him, and so rid me and my family today of the innocent blood Joab 32 has shed. Yahweh will bring his blood down on his own head, because he struck down two more honorable and better men than he, and put to the sword, without my father David's knowledge, Abner son of Ner, commander of the army 33 of Israel, and Amasa son of Jether, commander of the army of Judah. May their blood come down on the head of Joab and his descendants for ever, but may David, his descendants, his dynasty, his throne, have peace for ever from Yahweh." 34 Whereupon Benaiah son of Jehoiada went out, struck Joab down and put him 35 to death; he was buried at his home in the wilderness. In his place as head of the army the king appointed Benaiah son of Jehoiada and, in place of Abiathar, Zadok the priest.

The disobedience and death of Shimei

36 The king had Shimei summoned to him. "Build yourself a house in Jerusalem," 37 he told him, "you are to live there; do not move anywhere else. The day you go out and cross the wadi Kidron, be sure you will certainly die. Your blood will be 38 on your own head." "Very well," Shimei answered the king, "your servant will do as my lord the king orders." And for a long time Shimei lived in Jerusalem.
 39 But when three years had gone by, it happened that two of Shimei's slaves ran away to Achish son of Maacah, king of Gath; Shimei was told, "Your slaves 40 are in Gath." At this, Shimei set about saddling his donkey and went to Achish at Gath to find his slaves. He went off and brought his slaves back from Gath.

 41 Solomon was informed that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath and had come back.

42 The king had Shimei summoned to him. "Did I not make you swear by Yahweh," he said, "and did I not solemnly warn you: The day you go out to go 43 anywhere else, be sure you will certainly die? Why did you not keep the oath 44 of Yahweh and the order I laid on you? You know all the evil you did to my father David," the king went on. "Yahweh will bring your wickedness down on 45 your own head. But may King Solomon be blessed, and may the throne of 46 David be kept secure before Yahweh for ever." The king gave orders to Benaiah son of Jehoiada; he went out and struck down Shimei; and he died.

And now the sovereignty was securely in the hands of Solomon.

II. SOLOMON IN ALL HIS GLORY

A. SOLOMON THE SAGE

Introduction

1 3 Solomon allied himself by marriage with Pharaoh^a king of Egypt; he married 2 Pharaoh's daughter, and took her to the Citadel of David until he could complete the building of his palace and the Temple of Yahweh and the wall 3 surrounding Jerusalem. The people, however, were still sacrificing on the high places, because at that time a dwelling place for the name of Yahweh had not 4 yet been built. Solomon loved Yahweh: he followed the precepts of David his father, except that he offered sacrifice and incense on the high places.

Solomon's dream at Gibeon

4 The king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there, since that was the greatest of the 5 high places—Solomon offered a thousand holocausts on that altar. At Gibeon Yahweh appeared in a dream to Solomon during the night. God said, "Ask what 6 you would like me to give you." Solomon replied, "You showed great kindness to your servant David, my father, when he lived his life before you in faithfulness and justice and integrity of heart; you have continued this great kindness to 7 him by allowing a son of his to sit on his throne today. Now, Yahweh my God, you have made your servant king in succession to David my father. But I am 8 a very young man, unskilled in leadership. Your servant finds himself in the midst of this people of yours that you have chosen, a people so many its number 9 cannot be counted or reckoned. Give your servant a heart to understand how to discern between good and evil, for who could govern this people of yours that is so great?" It pleased Yahweh that Solomon should have asked for this.
 10 "Since you have asked for this," Yahweh said, "and not asked for long life for yourself or riches or the lives of your enemies, but have asked for a discerning 11 judgment for yourself, here and now I do what you ask. I give you a heart wise and shrewd as none before you has had and none will have after you. What 12 you have not asked I shall give you too: such riches and glory as no other king ever had. And I will give you a long life, if you follow my ways, keeping my 13 laws and commandments, as your father David followed them." Then Solomon awoke; it was a dream. He returned to Jerusalem and stood before the ark of the covenant of Yahweh; he offered holocausts and communion sacrifices, and held a banquet for all his servants.

The judgment of Solomon

16 Then two prostitutes came to the king and stood before him. "If it please 17 you, my lord," one of the women said, "this woman and I live in the same house, and while she was in the house I gave birth to a child. Now it happened on the 18 third day after my delivery that this woman also gave birth to a child. We were alone together; there was no one else in the house with us; just the two of us

19 in the house. "Now one night this woman's son died; she overlaid him. "And in the middle of the night she got up and took my son from beside me while your servant was asleep; she put him to her breast and put her own dead son to mine.
 21 When I got up to suckle my child, there he was, dead. But in the morning 22 I looked at him carefully, and he was not the child I had borne at all." "Then the other woman spoke. "That is not true! My son is the live one, yours is the dead one"; and the first retorted, "That is not true! Your son is the dead one, 23 mine is the live one." And so they wrangled before the king. "This one says," the king observed, "'My son is the one who is alive; your son is dead,' while the other says, 'That is not true! Your son is the dead one, mine is the live one.' 24 Bring me a sword," said the king; and a sword was brought into the king's 25 presence. "Cut the living child in two," the king said, "and give half to one, 26 half to the other." "At this the woman who was the mother of the living child addressed the king, for she burned with pity for her son. "If it please you, my lord," she said, "let them give her the child; only do not let them think of killing 27 it!" But the other said, "He shall belong to neither of us. Cut him up." "Then the king gave his decision. "Give the child to the first woman," he said, "and 28 do not kill him. She is his mother." "All Israel came to hear of the judgment the king had pronounced, and held the king in awe, recognizing that he possessed divine wisdom for dispensing justice.

Solomon's high officials

1 4 King Solomon was king over all Israel, and these were his high officials: Azariah son of Zadok, priest.
 3 Elihoreph and Ahijah, sons of Shisha, secretaries.
 Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud, recorder.
 4 (Benaiah son of Jehoiada, commander of the army.
 Zadok and Abiathar, priests.) 5 Azariah son of Nathan, chief administrator.
 Zabud son of Nathan, Friend of the King, 6 and his brother, master of the palace.
 Eliab son of Joab, commander of the army.
 Adoram son of Abda, in charge of forced labor.

Solomon's administrators

7 Solomon had twelve administrators for the whole of Israel who saw to the provisioning of the king and his household; each had to provide for one month in the year.
 8 These are their names:
 . . . son of Hur, in the mountain country of Ephraim.
 9 . . . son of Deker, in Makaz, Shaalbim, Beth-shemesh, Aijalon as far as Beth-hanan.
 10 . . . son of Hessed, in Arubboth; his district was Socoh and all the land of Hopher.
 11 . . . son of Abinadab: the whole region of Dor.
 Taphath, Solomon's daughter, was his wife.
 12 Baana son of Ahilud, in Taanach and Megiddo as far as the other side of Jokmeam, and all Beth-shean below Jezreel, from Beth-shean as far as Abel Meholah, which is beside Zarethan.
 13 . . . son of Geber, in Ramoth-gilead: his district was the Encampments of Jair, son of Manasseh, which are in Gilead; he had the region of Argob, which is in Bashan, sixty fortified towns, walled-in and with bolts of bronze.

14 Ahinadab son of Iddo, in Mahanaim.

15 Ahimaaz in Naphtali; he too married a daughter of Solomon, Basemath.

16 Baana son of Hushai, in Asher and in the highlands.

17 Jehoshaphat son of Paruah, in Issachar.

18 Shimei son of Ela, in Benjamin.

19 Geber son of Uri, in the land of Gad, the land of Sihon king of the Amorites and of Og king of Bashan.

In addition, there was one governor in the land.^a 4:27 ⁷5 These administrators provided the food for Solomon and for all those who were admitted by him to the royal table, each for the period of a month; they ⁸28 saw to it that nothing was wanting. They also provided the barley and straw for the horses and draft animals, where required, each according to his own ²29 assignment. The daily provisions for Solomon were: thirty measures of fine ³30 flour and sixty measures of meal, ten fattened oxen, twenty free-grazing oxen, ³31 one hundred sheep, besides deer and gazelles, roebucks and fattened cuckoos.

⁴32 For he was master of all Transeuphrates^a—of all the kings of Transeuphrates from ⁵33 Tiphseh to Gaza—and he enjoyed peace on all his frontiers. Judah and Israel lived in security, each man under his vine and his fig tree, from Dan as far as Beersheba, throughout the lifetime of Solomon.

²⁰1 4 Judah and Israel were like the sand by the sea for number; they ate and drank 4:21 and lived happily. 5 Solomon extended his power over all the kingdoms from the river to the land of the Philistines and the Egyptian border. They ⁶26 brought tribute and served him all his life long. For his chariots Solomon had four thousand stalls and twelve thousand horses.

Solomon's fame

⁹29 Yahweh gave Solomon immense wisdom and understanding, and a heart ¹⁰30 as vast as the sand on the seashore. The wisdom of Solomon surpassed ¹¹31 the wisdom of all the sons of the East, and all the wisdom of Egypt. He was wiser than any other, wiser than Ethan the Ezrahite,^b wiser than Heman and ¹²32 Calcol and Darda, the cantors. He composed three thousand proverbs, and his ¹³33 songs numbered a thousand and five. He could talk about plants from the cedar in Lebanon to the hyssop growing on the wall; and he could talk of animals, ¹⁴34 and birds and reptiles and fish. Men from all nations came to hear Solomon's wisdom, and he received gifts from all the kings of the world, who had heard of his wisdom.

B. SOLOMON THE BUILDER

Preparations for building the Temple

¹⁵1 Hiram the king of Tyre sent an embassy to Solomon, having learned that he had been anointed king in succession to his father and because Hiram had ¹⁶2 always been a friend of David. And Solomon sent this message to Hiram, ¹⁷3 "You are aware that David my father was unable to build a temple for the name of Yahweh, his God, because his enemies waged war on him from all sides, until ¹⁸4 Yahweh should put them under his control. But now Yahweh my God has ¹⁹5 given me rest on every side: not one enemy, no calamities. I therefore plan to build a temple for the name of Yahweh my God, just as Yahweh said to David my father, 'Your son whom I will place on your throne to succeed you ²⁰6 shall be the man to build a temple for my name.' So now have cedars of Lebanon cut down for me; my servants will work with your servants, and I will pay for the hire of your servants at whatever rate you fix. As you know, we have ²¹7 no one as skilled in felling trees as the Sidonians." When Hiram^c heard what Solomon had said, he was delighted. "Now blessed be Yahweh," he said, "who ²²8 has given David a wise son to rule over this great people!" And Hiram sent word to Solomon, "I have received your message. For my part, I will supply 23 all you want in the way of cedar wood and juniper. Your servants will bring 24 these down from Lebanon to the sea, and I shall have them towed by sea to any 25 place you name; I shall discharge them there, and you will take them over.

 26 For your part, you will see to the provisioning of my household as I direct.
 27 So Hiram provided Solomon with all the cedar wood and juniper he wanted, 28 while Solomon gave Hiram twenty thousand kors of wheat to feed his household, 29 and twenty thousand kors of pure oil. Solomon gave Hiram this every year.
 30 Yahweh gave Solomon wisdom as he had promised him; good relations persisted 31 between Solomon and Hiram, and the two of them concluded a treaty.
 32 King Solomon raised a levy throughout Israel for forced labor: the levy 33 numbered thirty thousand men. He sent these to Lebanon in relays, ten thousand 34 a month; they spent one month in Lebanon and two months at home. Adoram 35 was in charge of the forced labor. Solomon also had seventy thousand porters 36 and eighty thousand quarrymen in the mountains, as well as the administrators' 37 officials who supervised the work, three thousand three hundred of them in 38 charge of the men employed in the work. At the king's orders they quarried huge stones, special stones, for the laying of the temple foundations, dressed stones.
 Solomon's workmen and Hiram's workmen and the Gublites cut and assembled the wood and stone for the building of the Temple.

The Temple building

1 6 In the four hundred and eightieth year after the Israelites came out of the 2 land of Egypt,^a in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the month 3 of Ziv, which is the second month, he began to build the Temple of Yahweh.
 4 The Temple^b that King Solomon built for Yahweh was sixty cubits long, twenty 5 cubits wide and twenty-five in height. The Ulam in front of the Hekal of the 6 Temple was twenty cubits long across the width of the Temple and ten cubits 7 wide along the length of the Temple. He made windows for the Temple with 8 frames and latticework. He also built an annex against the Temple wall, 9 around the Hekal and the Debir, and made side tiers all around. The lower story 10 was five cubits wide, the middle one six cubits, and the third seven cubits, for 11 around the Temple on the outside he had placed offsets so that this was not 12 attached to the Temple walls. (The building of the Temple was done with 13 quarry-dressed stone; no sound of hammer or pick or any iron tool was to be 14 heard in the Temple while it was being built.) The entrance to the lower story 15 was at the right-hand corner of the Temple, and access to the middle story above 16 was by trap doors, and so from the middle story to the third. He built the Temple, completed it, and covered it with cedar wood. He built the annex on to the whole length of the Temple; it was five cubits high and was attached to the Temple by beams of cedar wood. And the word of Yahweh came to Solomon, "This house you are building . . . if you follow my statutes and obey my ordinances and faithfully follow my commandments, I will fulfill that promise I made about you to your father David. And I will make my home among the sons of Israel, and never forsake Israel my people." Solomon built the Temple, and completed it.

Interior furnishings. The Holy of Holies

15 He lined the inside of the Temple walls with panels of cedar wood—paneling 16 them on the inside from the floor of the Temple to the rafters in the roof—and laid the floor of the Temple with juniper planks. The twenty cubits measured from the end of the Temple he built of cedar planks from floor to rafters, and this part was reserved as the Debir, the Holy of Holies. The Temple measured forty cubits—the Hekal—in front of the Debir. There was cedar wood around the inside of the Temple, ornamentally carved with gourds and rosettes; all was cedar wood, with no stone showing. In the inner part of the Temple he designed a Debir, to contain the ark of the covenant of Yahweh. The Debir was twenty cubits long, twenty cubits wide, and twenty high, and he plated it on the inside with pure gold. He made an altar of cedar wood in front of the Debir and plated it with gold. He plated the whole Temple with gold, the whole Temple entirely.

The cherubs

In the Debir he made two cherubs of olive wood . . . It was ten cubits high. One cherub's wing was five cubits long and the other wing five cubits: ten cubits from wing tip to wing tip. The other cherub also measured ten cubits; both cherubs had the same measurements and the same shape. The height of one cherub was the same as the other's. He placed the cherubs in the middle of the inner chamber; their wings were spread out so that the wing of one touched one of the walls and the wing of the other touched the other wall, while their wings met in the middle of the chamber, wing to wing. And he plated the cherubs with gold. All around the Temple walls he carved figures of cherubs, palm trees and rosettes, both inside and outside. He plated the floor of the Temple with gold, both inside and outside.

The doors. The court

He made the door of the Debir with uprights of olive wood, and five-sided door jambs, and the two leaves of olive wood. He carved figures of cherubs, palm trees and rosettes which he plated with gold; he put a gold surface on the cherubs and palm trees. Similarly, he made uprights of olive wood for the door of the Hekal, and four-sided door jambs, and the two leaves of juniper: one leaf had two ribs binding it, and the other had two ribs binding it. He carved cherubs, palm trees and rosettes, which he plated with gold laid evenly over the carvings.

He built the wall of the inner court in three courses of dressed stone and one course of cedar beams.

The date

In the fourth year, in the month of Ziv, the foundations of the Temple were laid; in the eleventh year, in the month of Bul—that is, the eighth month—the Temple was completed exactly as it had been planned and designed. Solomon took seven years to build it.

Solomon's palace

As regards his palace, Solomon spent thirteen years on it before the building was completed. He built the Hall of the Forest of Lebanon, a hundred cubits long, fifty cubits wide, and thirty cubits high, on four rows of cedar wood pillars with cedar capitals on the pillars. It was paneled in cedar on the upper part as far as the planks above the pillars. There were three rows of architraves, forty-five in all, that is, fifteen in each row, facing one another from three sides. All the doors and uprights were of rectangular design, facing one another from three sides. And he made the Hall of Pillars, fifty cubits long and thirty cubits wide . . . with a porch in front. He also made the Hall of the Throne where he used to dispense justice, that is, the Hall of Justice; it was paneled in cedar from floor to rafters. His own living quarters, in the other court and inward from the Hall, were of the same construction. And there was a house similar to this Hall for the daughter of Pharaoh whom he had taken in marriage.

9 All these buildings were of special stones cut to measure, trimmed on the inner and outer sides with the saw, right from the foundations to the wood course —their foundations were of special stones, huge stones, stones of ten and eight 10 cubits, and, above these, special stones, cut to measure, and cedar wood—and, 11 on the outside, the great court had three courses of dressed stone around it and 12 one course of cedar beams; so also had the inner court of the Temple of Yahweh and the vestibule of the Temple.

Hiram, the bronze worker

13 King Solomon sent for Hiram of Tyre; he was the son of a widow of the 14 tribe of Naphtali but his father had been a Tyrian, a bronze worker. He was a highly intelligent craftsman, skilled in all types of bronze work. He came to King Solomon and did all this work for him:

The bronze pillars

15 He cast two bronze pillars; the height of one pillar was eighteen cubits, and a cord twelve cubits long gave the measurement of its girth; so also was the second 16 pillar. He made two capitals of cast bronze for the tops of the pillars; the 17 height of one capital was five cubits, and the height of the other five cubits. He made two sets of filigree to cover the molding of the two capitals surmounting the pillars, one filigree for one capital and one filigree for the other capital.
18 He also made pomegranates: two rows of them around each filigree, four 19 hundred in all, applied on the raised molding behind the filigree; there were 20 two hundred pomegranates around one capital and the same around the other 19a capital. The capitals surmounting the pillars were flower-shaped. He set 21 up the pillars in front of the vestibule of the sanctuary; he set up the right-hand pillar and named it Jachin; he set up the left-hand pillar and named it Boaz.
22 So the work on the pillars was completed.

The bronze "Sea"

23 He made the Sea of cast metal, ten cubits from rim to rim, circular in shape and five cubits high; a cord thirty cubits long gave the measurement of its girth.
24 Under its rim and completely encircling it were gourds; they went around the Sea over a length of thirty cubits; the gourds were in two rows, of one and 25 the same casting with the rest. It rested on twelve oxen, three facing north, three facing west, three facing south, three facing east; on these, their hind-26 quarters all turned inward, stood the Sea. It was a hand's breadth in thickness, and its rim was shaped like the rim of a cup, like a flower. It held two thousand baths.

The wheeled stands and the bronze basins

27 He made the ten stands of bronze; each stand was four cubits long, four 28 cubits wide, and three high. They were designed as follows: they had an under-29 carriage and crosspieces to the undercarriage. On the crosspieces of the undercarriage were lions and bulls and cherubs, and on top of the undercarriage was a support; under the lions and oxen there were scrolls in the style of . . .
30 Each stand had four bronze wheels with bronze axles; its four feet had shoulderings under the basin, and the shoulderings were cast . . . Its mouth measured one and a half cubits from where the shoulderings met to the top; its mouth was round like a rest for a vessel, and on the mouth there were engravings too; 32 the crosspieces, however, were rectangular and not round. The four wheels were under the crosspieces. The axles of the wheels were inside the stands; 33 the height of the wheels was one and a half cubits. The wheels were designed like chariot wheels: their axles, felloes, spokes and naves had all been cast.
34 There were four shoulderings at the four corners of each stand: the stand and the 35 shoulderings were all of a piece. At the top of the stand there was a support, circular in shape and half a cubit high; and on top of the stand there were lugs.

 36 The crosspieces were of a piece with the stand. On the bands he engraved cherubs 37 and lions and palm leaves . . . and scrolls right around. He made the ten stands like this: the same casting and the same measurements for all.

38 He made ten bronze basins; each basin held forty baths and each basin 39 measured four cubits, one basin to each of the ten stands. He arranged the stands, five on the right-hand side of the Temple, five on the left-hand side of the Temple; the Sea he placed on the right-hand side of the Temple to the southeast.

The utensils. Summary

40 Hiram made the ash containers, the scoops and the sprinkling bowls. He finished all the work that he did for King Solomon on the Temple of Yahweh: 41 two pillars; the two moldings of the capitals surmounting the pillars; the two sets of filigree to cover the two moldings of the capitals surmounting the 42 pillars; the four hundred pomegranates for the two sets of filigree; the pomegranates of each set of filigree were in two rows; 43 the ten stands and the ten basins on the stands; 44 the one Sea and the twelve oxen beneath the Sea; 45 the ash containers, the scoops, the sprinkling bowls.

All these furnishings made by Hiram for King Solomon for the Temple of 46 Yahweh were of burnished bronze. He made them by the process of sand 47 casting, in the Jordan area between Succoth and Zarethan. There were so many of them, that the weight of the bronze was never calculated.

48 Solomon placed all the furnishings he had made in the Temple of Yahweh:
 the golden altar and the table for the loaves of offering, which was of gold; 49 the lampstands, five on the right and five on the left in front of the Debir, of 50 pure gold; the floral work, the lamps, the extinguishers, of gold; the basins, knives, sprinkling bowls, incense boats, censers, of pure gold; the door sockets for the inner shrine—that is, the Holy of Holies—and for the Hekal, of gold.

51 So all the work that King Solomon did for the Temple of Yahweh was completed, and Solomon brought what his father David had consecrated, the silver and the gold and the vessels, and put them in the treasury of the Temple of Yahweh.

The ark brought to the Temple

1 8 Then Solomon called the elders of Israel together in Jerusalem to bring the ark of the covenant of Yahweh up from the Citadel of David, which is Zion.
 2 All the men of Israel assembled around King Solomon in the month of Ethanim, 3 at the time of the feast^a (that is, the seventh month), and the priests took up 4 the ark and the Tent of Meeting with all the sacred vessels that were in it.
 5 In the presence of the ark, King Solomon and all Israel sacrificed sheep and oxen, 6 countless, innumerable. The priests brought the ark of the covenant of Yahweh to its place, in the Debir of the Temple, that is, in the Holy of Holies, under the 7 cherubs' wings. For there where the ark was placed the cherubs spread out 8a their wings and sheltered the ark and its shafts. These were long enough for their ends to be seen from the Holy Place in front of the Debir, but not from 9 outside. There was nothing in the ark except the two stone tablets Moses had placed in it at Horeb, the tablets of the covenant which Yahweh had made with 8b the Israelites when they came out of the land of Egypt; they are still there today.

The Lord takes possession of his Temple

10 Now when the priests came out of the sanctuary, the cloud filled the Temple 11 of Yahweh, and because of the cloud the priests could no longer perform their duties: the glory of Yahweh filled Yahweh's Temple.

12 Then Solomon said:

"Yahweh has chosen to dwell in the thick cloud.

13 Yes, I have built you a dwelling,
a place for you to live in for ever."

Solomon addresses the people

14 Then the king turned and blessed the whole assembly of Israel, while the whole 15 assembly of Israel stood. He said, "Blessed be Yahweh, the God of Israel, who has carried out by his hand what he promised with his mouth to David my father 16 when he said, 'From the day I brought my people Israel out of Egypt I chose no city, in any of the tribes of Israel, to have a house built where my name might 17 make its home; but I chose David, to rule over Israel my people.' My father David had set his heart on building a house for the name of Yahweh, the God 18 of Israel, but Yahweh said, 'You have set your heart on building a house for 19 my name, and in this you have done well; and yet, you are not the man to build the house; your son, born of your own body, shall build the house for my name.' 20 Yahweh has kept the promise he made: I have succeeded David my father and am seated on the throne of Israel, as Yahweh promised; I have built the house 21 for the name of Yahweh, the God of Israel, and have made a place in it for the ark containing the covenant that Yahweh made with our fathers when he brought them out of the land of Egypt."

Solomon's prayer for himself

22 Then (in the presence of the whole assembly of Israel) Solomon stood before 23 the altar of Yahweh and, stretching out his hands toward heaven, said, "Yahweh, God of Israel, not in heaven above nor on earth beneath is there such a God as you, true to your covenant and your kindness toward your servants when 24 they walk wholeheartedly in your way. You have kept the promise you made to your servant David my father; what you promised with your mouth, today 25 you have carried out by your hand. And now, Yahweh, God of Israel, keep the promise you made to your servant David when you said, 'You shall never lack for a man to sit before me on the throne of Israel, if only your sons are 26 careful how they behave, walking before me as you yourself have done.' So now, God of Israel, let the words come true which you spoke to your servant 27 David my father. Yet will God really live with men on the earth? Why, the heavens and their own heavens cannot contain you. How much less this house 28 that I have built! Listen to the prayer and entreaty of your servant, Yahweh my 29 God; listen to the cry and to the prayer your servant makes to you today. Day and night let your eyes watch over this house, over this place of which you have said, 'My name shall be there.' Listen to the prayer that your servant will offer in this place.

Solomon's prayer for the people

30 "Hear the entreaty of your servant and of Israel your people as they pray in this place. From heaven where your dwelling is, hear; and, as you hear, forgive.
31 "If a man sins against his neighbor, and the neighbor calls down a curse 32 on him and makes him swear an oath before your altar in this Temple, hear from heaven, and act; decide between your servants: pronounce the wicked one guilty, bringing his conduct down on his own head; and vindicate the innocent, rewarding him as his innocence deserves.
33 "When your people Israel are defeated by the enemy because they have sinned against you, if they return to you and praise your name and pray to you and 34 entreat you in this Temple, hear from heaven; forgive the sin of your people Israel, and bring them back to the land you gave to their ancestors.
35 "When the heavens are shut and there is no rain because they have sinned against you, if they pray in this place and praise your name and, having been 36 humbled by you, repent of their sin, ·hear from heaven and forgive the sin of your servant and of your people Israel—show them the good way they ought to follow—and send rain on your land which you have given your people for an inheritance.

37 “Should there be famine in the land, or pestilence, blight or mildew, locust or caterpillar; should this people’s enemy lay siege to one of its city gates; if there 38 is any plague or sickness; ·if anyone should feel remorse in his own heart and 39 pray or make entreaty, stretching out his hands toward this Temple, ·hear from heaven where your home is; forgive and act, dealing with each as his conduct deserves; for you know every heart,—you alone know the hearts of all mankind—40 and so they may come to revere you as long as they live in the land you gave to our fathers.

Supplementary section

41 “And the foreigner too, not belonging to your people Israel, if he comes from 42 a distant country for the sake of your name—for men will hear of your name, of your mighty hand and outstretched arm—if he comes and prays in this Temple, 43 hear from heaven where your home is, and grant all the foreigner asks, so that all the peoples of the earth may come to know your name and, like your people Israel, revere you, and know that your name is given to the Temple I have built.

44 “If your people go out to war against their enemies on the way that you send them, and if they turn toward the city you have chosen and toward the Temple 45 I have built for your name, and pray to Yahweh, ·hear from heaven their prayer and their entreaty, and uphold their cause.

46 “If they sin against you—for there is no man who does not sin—and you are angry with them and deliver them to the enemy, and their conquerors lead 47 them captive to a country far or near, ·if in the land of their exile they come to themselves and repent, and in the country of their conquerors they entreat 48 you saying, ‘We have sinned, we have acted perversely and wickedly,’ ·and if they turn again to you with all their heart and soul in the country of the enemies who have deported them, and pray to you, turning toward the land you gave to their ancestors, toward the city you have chosen, and toward the Temple 49 I have built for your name, ·hear from heaven where your home is, ·forgive 50 your people the sins they have committed against you and all the crimes they have been guilty of, grant them to win favor with their conquerors so that they may 51 have pity on them; ·for they are your people and your heritage whom you brought out of Egypt, that iron furnace.

Conclusion of the prayer and blessing of the people

52 “Be always watchful for the entreaty of your servant and of your people 53 Israel, always hearing them when they call to you. ·For it was you who set them apart from all the peoples of the earth to be your own heritage, as you declared through Moses your servant when you brought our ancestors out of Egypt, Lord Yahweh.”

54 When Solomon had finished offering this whole prayer and entreaty, he rose from where he was kneeling with hands stretched out toward heaven before the 55 altar of Yahweh, ·and stood erect. And in a loud voice he blessed the whole 56 assembly of Israel. ·“Blessed be Yahweh,” he said, “who has granted rest to his people Israel, keeping all his promises; of all the promises of good that he 57 made through Moses his servant, not one has failed. ·May Yahweh our God be with us, as he was with our ancestors; may he never desert us or cast us off.
58 May he turn our hearts toward him so that we may follow all his ways and keep the commandments, and laws, and ordinances he gave to our ancestors.
59 May these words of mine, of my entreaty before Yahweh, be present with Yahweh our God day and night, that he may uphold the cause of his servant and the

- 60 cause of Israel his people, as each day requires, 'so that all the peoples of the earth may come to know that Yahweh is God indeed, and that there is no other.
- 61 May your hearts be wholly with Yahweh our God, following his laws and keeping his commandments as at this present day."

The sacrifices on the feast of Dedication

- 62 The king and all Israel with him offered sacrifice before Yahweh. 'Solomon offered twenty-two thousand oxen and a hundred and twenty thousand sheep as communion sacrifices to Yahweh; and so the king and all the Israelites dedicated the Temple of Yahweh. 'On the same day the king consecrated the middle of the court lying in front of the Temple of Yahweh; and there he offered the holocaust, oblations and fatty parts of the communion sacrifices, since the bronze altar that stood before Yahweh was too small to hold the holocaust, 65 oblation and the fatty parts of the communion sacrifices. 'And so at that time, Solomon celebrated the feast, and all the Israelites with him, a great gathering from the Pass of Hamath to the wadi of Egypt, before Yahweh our God for seven days.^b 'Then, on the eighth day, he dismissed the people, who blessed the king and went to their homes, rejoicing and happy in heart for all the goodness Yahweh had shown to David and to his people Israel.

Yahweh appears a second time

- 1 9 When Solomon had finished building the Temple of Yahweh and the royal 2 palace and all he had a mind to build. 'Yahweh appeared to Solomon a 3 second time, as he had appeared to him at Gibeon. 'Yahweh said to him, "I grant your prayer and the entreaty you have made before me. I consecrate this house you have built: I place my name there for ever; my eyes and my heart shall 4 be always there. 'For your part, if you walk before me with innocence of heart and in honesty, like David your father, if you do all I order you and keep my 5 laws and my ordinances, 'I will make your royal throne secure over Israel for ever, as I promised David your father when I said: You shall never lack for a 6 man on the throne of Israel. 'But if you turn away from me, you or your sons, and do not keep the commandments and laws I have set before you, and go 7 and serve other gods and worship them, 'then I will cut Israel off from the land I have given them, and I will cast out from my presence this Temple that I have consecrated for my name, and Israel shall become a proverb and a byword 8 among all the nations. 'As for this exalted Temple, all who pass by will be astounded; they will whistle and say, 'Why has Yahweh treated this country 9 and this Temple like this?' 'And the answer will be, 'Because they deserted Yahweh their God who brought their ancestors out of the land of Egypt, and they adopted other gods and worshiped them and served them; that is why Yahweh has brought all these disasters on them.'"

The bargain with Hiram

- 10 At the end of the twenty years it took Solomon to erect the two buildings, 11 the Temple of Yahweh and the royal palace ('Hiram king of Tyre had provided Solomon with as much cedar wood, juniper wood and gold as he had wanted), 12 King Solomon gave Hiram twenty towns in the land of Galilee. 'But when Hiram came from Tyre to view the towns Solomon had given him, he was not 13 pleased with them. 'He said, "What kind of towns are these you have given me, 14 my brother?" And to this day they are called "the land of Cabul." 'Hiram sent the king one hundred and twenty talents of gold.

Forced labor for Solomon's building programme

- 15 This is an account of the forced labor King Solomon levied for the building of the Temple of Yahweh, his own palace, the Millo^a and the wall of Jerusalem, 16 Hazor, Megiddo, Gezer (Pharaoh king of Egypt went up and captured Gezer, he burned it down and massacred the Canaanites living there; he then gave the 17 town as a dowry to his daughter, Solomon's wife, and Solomon rebuilt Gezer), 18 Lower Beth-horon, Baalath, Tamar in the wilderness, inside the country, all 19 the garrison towns owned by Solomon, all the towns for his chariots and horses, and all it pleased Solomon to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon and in all the 20 countries subject to him. All those who survived of the Amorite, Hittite, Perizzite, 21 Hivite and Jebusite peoples, who were not Israelites, their descendants who were left in the country after them, those on whom the Israelites had not been able 22 to enforce the ban, these Solomon conscripted as slave laborers, as they are still. However, Solomon did not impose slave labor on the Israelites'; these 23 served as fighting men: they were his guards, officers, equerries, chariot and cavalry commanders. These were the administrators' officials who supervised 24 Solomon's work: five hundred and fifty of them in charge of the people employed in the work. After Pharaoh's daughter had moved from the Citadel of David to the house which he had built for her, he then built the Millo.

The maintenance of the Temple

25 Three times a year Solomon offered holocausts and communion sacrifices on the altar he had built for Yahweh . . . and he kept the Temple in good repair.

C. SOLOMON THE TRADER

Solomon as shipowner

26 King Solomon equipped a fleet at Ezion-geber, which is near Elath on the 27 shores of the Red Sea, in the land of Edom. For this fleet Hiram sent men of 28 his, sailors who knew the sea, to serve with Solomon's men. They went to Ophir and from there they brought back four hundred and twenty talents of gold, which they delivered to King Solomon.^c

The queen of Sheba visits Solomon

1 10 The fame of Solomon having reached the queen of Sheba . . .^a she came 2 to test him with difficult questions. She brought immense riches to Jerusa-3 lem with her, camels laden with spices, great quantities of gold, and precious 4 stones. On coming to Solomon, she opened her mind freely to him; and Solomon 5 had an answer for all her questions, not one of them was too obscure for the 6 king to expound. When the queen of Sheba saw all the wisdom of Solomon, 7 the palace he had built, the food at his table, the accommodation for his officials, 8 the organization of his staff and the way they were dressed, his cupbearers, and 9 the holocausts he offered in the Temple of Yahweh, it left her breathless, and 10 she said to the king, "What I heard in my own country about you and your 11 wisdom was true, then! Until I came and saw it with my own eyes I could not 12 believe what they told me, but clearly they told me less than half: for wisdom 13 and prosperity you surpass the report I heard. How happy your wives are! How happy are these servants of yours who wait on you always and hear your wisdom!
 14 Blessed be Yahweh your God who has granted you his favor, setting you on 15 the throne of Israel! Because of Yahweh's everlasting love for Israel, he has 16 made you king to deal out law and justice." And she presented the king with 17 a hundred and twenty talents of gold and great quantities of spices and precious 18 stones; no such wealth of spices ever came again as those given to King Solomon 19 by the queen of Sheba. And the fleet of Hiram, which carried gold from Ophir, 20 also brought great cargoes of almuggim wood and precious stones. The king 21 made supports with the almuggim wood for the Temple of Yahweh and for 22 the royal palace, and lyres and harps for the musicians; no more of this almuggim 23 wood has since come or been seen to this day. And King Solomon in his turn, presented the queen of Sheba with all she expressed a wish for, besides those presents he made her out of his royal bounty. Then she went home, she and her servants, to her own country.

Solomon's wealth

¹⁴ The weight of gold coming to Solomon in one year was six hundred and ¹⁵ sixty-six talents of gold, not counting what came in from merchants' dues and traders' profits, and from all the foreign kings and the governors of the country.
¹⁶ King Solomon made three hundred great shields of beaten gold, and plated each ¹⁷ shield with six hundred shekels of gold; also three hundred small shields of beaten gold, and plated each of these with three minas of gold; and he put them ¹⁸ in the Hall of the Forest of Lebanon. The king also made a great ivory throne, ¹⁹ and plated it with refined gold. The throne had six steps, and bulls' heads at the back of it, and arms at either side of the seat; two lions stood beside the arms, ²⁰ and twelve lions stood on either side of the six steps. No throne like this was ever made in any other kingdom.

²¹ All King Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the furnishings in the Hall of the Forest of Lebanon were of pure gold; silver was thought little of in ²² the time of Solomon. And the king also had a fleet of Tarshish at sea with Hiram's fleet, and once every three years the fleet of Tarshish would come back ²³ laden with gold and silver, ivory, apes and baboons. For riches and for wisdom ²⁴ King Solomon outdid all the kings of the earth. The whole world sought audience ²⁵ of Solomon to hear the wisdom God had implanted in his heart and each would bring his own present: gold vessels, silver vessels, robes, armor, spices, horses and mules; and this went on year after year.

Solomon's chariots

²⁶ Solomon built up a force of chariots and horses; he had one thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand horses; these he stationed in the chariot ²⁷ towns and near the king in Jerusalem. In Jerusalem the king made silver common ²⁸ as pebbles, and cedars plentiful as the sycamores of the Lowlands. Solomon's horses were imported from Cilicia; the king's agents took delivery of them from ²⁹ Cilicia at a fixed rate. A chariot was imported from Egypt for six hundred shekels, a horse for a hundred and fifty. These were exported through the king's agents to all the kings of the Hittites and to the kings of Aram in the same way.

D. HIS DECLINE

Solomon's wives

² but Moabites, Edomites, Sidonians and Hittites, from those peoples of whom Yahweh had said to the Israelites, "You are not to go to them nor they to you, or they will surely sway your hearts to their own gods." But Solomon ³ was deeply attached to them. He had seven hundred wives of royal rank, and ⁴ three hundred concubines. When Solomon grew old his wives swayed his heart to other gods; and his heart was not wholly with Yahweh his God as his ⁵ father David's had been. Solomon became a follower of Astarte, the goddess ⁶ of the Sidonians, and of Milcom, the Ammonite abomination. He did what was displeasing to Yahweh, and was not a wholehearted follower of Yahweh, as his ⁷ father David had been. Then it was that Solomon built a high place for Chemosh the god of Moab on the mountain to the east of Jerusalem, and to Milcom the 8 god of the Ammonites. ·He did the same for all his foreign wives, who offered incense and sacrifice to their gods.

9 Yahweh was angry with Solomon because his heart had turned from Yahweh 10 the God of Israel who had twice appeared to him ·and who had then forbidden 11 him to follow other gods; but he did not carry out Yahweh's order. ·Yahweh therefore said to Solomon, "Since you behave like this and do not keep my 12 covenant or the laws I laid down for you, I will most surely tear the kingdom away from you and give it to one of your servants. ·For your father David's sake, 13 however, I will not do this during your lifetime, but will tear it out of your son's hands. ·Even so, I will not tear the whole kingdom from him. For the sake of my servant David, and for the sake of Jerusalem which I have chosen, I will leave your son one tribe."^a

Solomon's foreign enemies

14 Yahweh raised an enemy against Solomon, Hadad the Edomite, of the 15 kingly stock of Edom. ·After David had crushed Edom, Joab, the commander of the army, had gone to bury the dead and he had slaughtered the entire male 16 population of Edom ·(Joab stayed there with all Israel for six months until he 17 had exterminated the entire male population of Edom), ·but Hadad with a number of Edomites in his father's service had fled to Egypt. Hadad had been 18 only a boy at the time. ·They set out from Midian. and on reaching Paran, took a number of men from Paran with them and went on to Egypt, to Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, who provided him with a house, undertook to maintain him, 19 and assigned him an estate. ·Hadad became a great favorite of Pharaoh who gave him his own wife's sister in marriage, the sister of the Great Lady Tahpenes.
20 The sister of Tahpenes bore him Genubath his son whom Tahpenes brought up 21 in Pharaoh's palace, Genubath living with Pharaoh's children. ·But when news reached Hadad in Egypt that David slept with his ancestors and that Joab the commander of the army was dead, he said to Pharaoh, "Give me leave to return 22 to my own country." "·Do you want for anything here with me," said Pharaoh, "that you now ask to return to your own country?" "No," he replied, "but please let 23 me go." ·This is where the harm of Hadad comes from: he loathed Israel and ruled Edom.

23 God raised a second enemy against Solomon, Rezon son of Eliada. He had 24 fled from his master, Hadadezer king of Zobah. ·A number of men having rallied to him, he had become leader of a marauding band (which was then massacred by David). Rezon captured Damascus and settled there and became king of 25a Damascus. ·He was hostile to Israel as long as Solomon lived.

The revolt of Jeroboam

26 Jeroboam was the son of Nebat, an Ephraimite from Zeredah; the name of his mother, a widow, was Zeruah; he was in Solomon's service but revolted 27 against the king. ·This is the account of his revolt.

Solomon was building the Millo and closing the breach in the Citadel of 28 David his father. ·Now this Jeroboam was a man of rank; Solomon, noticing how the young man set about his work, put him in charge of all the forced 29 labor of the House of Joseph. ·One day when Jeroboam had gone out of Jerusalem, the prophet Ahijah of Shiloh accosted him on the road. Ahijah was wearing a new cloak; the two of them were in the open country by themselves.
30 Ahijah took the new cloak he was wearing and tore it into twelve strips, ·saying to Jeroboam, "Take ten strips for yourself, for thus Yahweh speaks, the God of Israel, 'I am going to tear the kingdom from Solomon's hand and give ten tribes 32 to you. ·He shall keep one tribe^b for the sake of my servant David and for the 33 sake of Jerusalem, the city I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel; ·for he has forsaken me to worship Astarte the goddess of the Sidonians, Chemosh the god of Moab, Milcom the god of the Ammonites; he has not followed my ways by doing what is right in my eyes or keeping my laws and ordinances as his father David did. But I will not take the kingdom out of his own hands, since I have made him a prince for as long as he lives, for the sake of my servant David who kept my commandments and laws. I will, however, take the kingdom from the hand of his son, giving the ten tribes to you. I will keep one tribe to give to his son, so that my servant David may always have a lamp in my presence in Jerusalem, the city I have chosen as a dwelling place for my name. You nonetheless I will take to rule over as much as you wish, and you shall be king of Israel. If you listen to all my orders and follow my ways, by doing what is right in my eyes and keeping my laws and commandments as my servant David did, then I will be with you and will build you as enduring a House as the one I built for David. I will give Israel to you, thus humbling the descendants of David; but not for ever.”

Solomon tried to kill Jeroboam but he made off and fled to Egypt, to Shishak king of Egypt, and he remained in Egypt until Solomon's death.

The end of the reign of Solomon

The rest of the history of Solomon, his entire career, his wisdom, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Acts of Solomon? Solomon's reign in Jerusalem over all Israel lasted forty years. Then Solomon slept with his ancestors and was buried in the Citadel of David his father; Rehoboam his son succeeded him.

III. THE POLITICAL AND RELIGIOUS SCHISM

The assembly at Shechem

As soon as Jeroboam son of Nebat heard the news—he was still in Egypt, where he had taken refuge from King Solomon—he returned from Egypt. Rehoboam went to Shechem, for it was to Shechem that all Israel^a had gone to proclaim him king, and they said this to him, “Your father gave us a heavy burden to bear; lighten your father's harsh tyranny now, and the weight of the burden he laid on us, and we will serve you.” He said to them, “Go away for three days and then come back to me.” And the people went away.

King Rehoboam consulted the elders, who had been in the service of his father Solomon while he was alive. “What reply,” he asked, “do you advise me to give to this people?” “Act as servant of this people now,” they said, “humor them, treat them fairly, and they will be your servants for ever.” But he rejected the advice given him by the elders and consulted the young men who had grown up with him and were in his service. “How do you advise us,” he asked, “to answer this people who have said to me, ‘Lighten the burden your father imposed on us?’” The young men who had grown up with him replied, “Give this answer to these people who have said, ‘Your father gave us a heavy burden to bear, you must lighten it for us,’ say this to them, ‘My little finger is thicker than my father's loins! So then, my father made you bear a heavy burden. I will make it heavier still. My father beat you with whips; I am going to beat you with loaded scourges.’”

On the third day all the people came to Rehoboam in obedience to the king's command: “Come back to me on the third day.” The king, rejecting the advice given him by the elders, gave the people a harsh answer, speaking to them as the young men had recommended. “My father made you bear a heavy burden,” he said, “but I will make it heavier still. My father beat you with whips;

11 a. Solomon's marriages with foreign wives were made for political reasons and the pagan shrines were set up for his wives and for visiting traders. The writer interprets the situation in the spirit and language of Dt. b. Judah, the one tribe left to Solomon, had absorbed the twelfth tribe, Simeon.

12 a. I.e., the northern tribes as distinct from Judah. See v.20.

- 15 I am going to beat you with loaded scourges." The king in fact took no notice of the people's wishes, and this was brought about by Yahweh to carry out the promise he had spoken through Ahijah of Shiloh to Jeroboam son of Nebat.
- 16 When all Israel saw that the king took no notice of their wishes, they gave him this answer:

"What share have we in David?
We have no inheritance in the son of Jesse.
To your tents, Israel!
Henceforth look after your own house, David!"

- 17 And Israel went off to their tents. Rehoboam, however, reigned over those
- 18 sons of Israel who lived in the towns of Judah. King Rehoboam sent Adoram who was in charge of forced labor, but the Israelites stoned him to death; whereupon King Rehoboam was obliged to mount his chariot and escape to
- 19 Jerusalem. And Israel has been separated from the House of David until the present day.

The political schism

- 20 When all Israel heard that Jeroboam had returned, they summoned him to the assembly and made him king of all Israel; no one remained loyal to the House of David, except the tribe of Judah.
- 21 Rehoboam went to Jerusalem and mustered the whole House of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin, a hundred and eighty thousand picked warriors, to fight the House of Israel and win back the kingdom for Rehoboam son of Solomon.
- 22 But the word of Yahweh came to Shemaiah the man of God, "Say this to
- 23 Rehoboam son of Solomon, king of Judah, to the whole House of Judah, to
- 24 Benjamin and to the rest of the people, "Yahweh says this: Do not go to fight against your brothers, the sons of Israel; let everyone go home, for what has happened is my doing."
- 25 Jeroboam fortified Shechem in the mountain country of Ephraim, and lived there. Then, leaving there, he fortified Penuel.

The religious schism

- 26 Jeroboam thought to himself, "As things are, the kingdom will revert to the House of David. If this people continues to go up to the Temple of Yahweh in Jerusalem to offer sacrifices, the people's heart will turn back again
- 28 to their lord, Rehoboam king of Judah, and they will put me to death." So the king thought this over and then made two golden calves; he said to the people, "You have been going up to Jerusalem long enough. Here are your gods, Israel:
- 29 these brought you up out of the land of Egypt!" He set up one in Bethel and
- 30 the people went in procession all the way to Dan in front of the other. He set
- 31 up the temple of the high places and appointed priests from ordinary families, who were not of the sons of Levi. Jeroboam also instituted a feast in the eighth
- 32 month, on the fifteenth of the month, like the feast that was kept in Judah, and he went up to the altar.^b That was how he behaved in Bethel, sacrificing to the calves he had made; and at Bethel he put the priests of the high
- 33 places he had established. On the fifteenth of the eighth month, the month he had deliberately chosen, he went up to the altar he had made; he instituted a feast for the Israelites, and went up to the altar to offer incense.

The condemnation of the altar in Bethel

- 1 13 There came to Bethel at Yahweh's command a man of God from Judah,
- 2 just as Jeroboam was standing by the altar to offer the sacrifice, and at Yahweh's command this man denounced the altar. "Altar, altar," he said, "Yahweh says this, 'A son shall be born to the House of David, Josiah by name, who shall immolate on you the priests of the high places who have offered sacrifice

3 on you, and on you shall he burn the bones of men.' "At the same time he gave a sign. "This is the sign," he said, "that Yahweh has spoken, 'This altar here will 4 burst apart and the ashes that are on it will be scattered.'" "When the king heard how the man of God denounced the altar of Bethel, he stretched out his hand from the altar, saying, "Seize him!" But the hand he stretched out against 5 the man withered, and he could not draw it back, "and the altar burst apart and the ashes from the altar were scattered, in accordance with the sign given by 6 the man of God at Yahweh's command. "The king said to the man of God, "I beg you to placate Yahweh your God, and so restore me the use of my hand."
 The man of God placated Yahweh; the king's hand was restored as it had been 7 before. "The king then said to the man of God, "Come home with me and refresh 8 yourself, and I will give you a present"; "but the man of God answered the king, "Were you to give me half your house, I would not go with you. I will eat and 9 drink nothing here, "for I have had Yahweh's order: 'You are to eat or drink 10 nothing, nor to return by the way you came.'" "And he left by another road and did not return by the way he had come to Bethel.

The man of God and the prophet^a 11 Now there was an old prophet living in Bethel and his sons came to tell him all that the man of God had done in Bethel that day; and the words he had said 12 to the king, they told these to their father too. "Which road did he take?" their father asked. His sons showed him the road that the man of God who came from 13 Judah had taken. "Saddle the donkey for me," he said to his sons; they saddled 14 the donkey for him and he mounted. "He followed the man of God and found him sitting under a terebinth. "Are you the man of God," he said, "who came from 15 Judah?" "I am," he replied. "Come home with me," he said, "and take some food." 16 "I cannot go back with you," he answered, "or eat or drink anything here, "for I have received Yahweh's order: 'You are to eat or drink nothing there, nor 18 to return by the way you came.'" "I too am a prophet like you," the other replied, "and an angel told me this by Yahweh's order: 'Bring him back with you to 19 your house to eat and drink.'" He was lying to him. "The man of God went back with him; he ate and drank at his house.

20 As they were sitting at table a word of Yahweh came to the prophet who had 21 brought him back, "and he addressed the man of God who came from Judah.
 "Yahweh says this," he said, "'Since you have defied Yahweh's command and 22 not obeyed the orders Yahweh your God gave you, "but have come back and eaten and drunk where he forbade you to eat or drink, your corpse will never 23 reach the tomb of your ancestors.'" "After he had eaten and drunk, the prophet 24 saddled the donkey for him, and he turned about and went away. "A lion met him on the road and killed him; his corpse lay stretched out on the road; the 25 donkey stood there beside it; the lion stood by the corpse too. "People going by saw the corpse lying on the road and the lion standing by the corpse, and went 26 and spoke about it in the town where the old prophet lived. "When the prophet who had made the man turn back heard about it, he said, "That is the man of God who defied Yahweh's command! Yahweh has handed him over to the lion, which 27 has mauled and killed him, just as Yahweh had foretold it would." "He said 28 to his sons, "Saddle the donkey for me," and they saddled it. "He set off and found the man's corpse lying on the road with the donkey and the lion standing beside the corpse; the lion had neither eaten the corpse nor mauled the donkey.
 29 The prophet lifted the corpse of the man of God and put it on the donkey and brought it back to the town where he lived to hold mourning for him and bury 30 him. "He laid the corpse in his own tomb, and they raised the mourning cry 31 for him, "Alas, my brother!" "After burying him, the prophet said to his sons, "When I die, bury me in the same tomb as the man of God, lay my bones beside

b. The new temple, like Solomon's Temple, is dedicated on the feast of Tabernacles.

13 a. At this time, the "prophet" is of a lower grade than the "man of God."

- 32 his. "For the word he uttered at Yahweh's command against the altar of Bethel and against all the shrines of the high places in the towns of Samaria will certainly come true."
- 33 Jeroboam did not give up his wicked ways after this incident, but went on appointing priests for the high places from the common people. He consecrated
- 34 as priests of the high places any who wished to be. "Such conduct made the House of Jeroboam a sinful House, and caused its ruin and extinction from the face of the earth.

IV. THE TWO KINGDOMS UNTIL ELIJAH

Continuation of the reign of Jeroboam I (931-910)

- 1 14 At that time Abijah, Jeroboam's son, fell sick, and Jeroboam said to his
- 2 wife, "Come, please disguise yourself so that no one will recognize you as Jeroboam's wife, and go to Shiloh; the prophet Ahijah is there, the man who
- 3 said I was to be king over this people. "Go to him, and take ten loaves and some savory food and a jar of honey; he will tell you what will happen to the child."
- 4 Jeroboam's wife did this: she set out, went to Shiloh and came to Ahijah's house.
- 5 Now Ahijah could not see, his eyes were dimmed with age, but Yahweh had told him, "Jeroboam's wife is now on her way to ask you for an oracle about her son, as he is sick. You will tell her such and such. When she comes, she will pretend
- 6 to be some other woman." So when Ahijah heard her footsteps at the door, he called, "Come in, wife of Jeroboam; why pretend to be someone else? I have
- 7 bad news for you. "Go and tell Jeroboam, 'Yahweh says this, the God of Israel: I raised you from the people and made you leader of my people Israel;
- 8 I tore the kingdom from the House of David and gave it to you. But you have not been like my servant David who kept my commandments and followed me
- 9 with all his heart doing only what is right in my eyes; you have done more evil than all your predecessors, you have gone and made yourself other gods,
- 10 idols of cast metal, provoking my anger, and you have turned your back on me. "For this I will bring disaster on the House of Jeroboam, I will wipe out every male belonging to the family of Jeroboam, fettered or free in Israel, I will sweep away the House of Jeroboam as a man sweeps dung away till none is left.
- 11 Those of Jeroboam's family who die in the city, the dogs will eat; and those who die in the open country, the birds of the air will eat, for Yahweh has spoken.'
- 12 Now get up and go home; at the moment your feet enter the town, the child will die. "All Israel will mourn for him, and bury him; and he alone of Jeroboam's household will go to the tomb, for it is in him alone of the House of Jeroboam
- 14 that anything pleasing to Yahweh, the God of Israel, is found. "Yahweh will raise up a king for himself over Israel to wipe out the House of Jeroboam.
- 15 Yahweh will make Israel shake as a reed shakes in the water, he will uproot Israel from this prosperous land which he gave to their ancestors and scatter them beyond the river for provoking Yahweh to anger by making their sacred
- 16 poles. "He will abandon Israel for the sins Jeroboam has committed and made Israel commit." Jeroboam's wife rose and left. She arrived at Tirzah,^a and when
- 18 she crossed the threshold of the house, the child was already dead. "They buried him, and all Israel mourned him, just as Yahweh had foretold through his servant Ahijah the prophet.
- 19 The rest of the history of Jeroboam, what wars he waged, how he governed, these may be found recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel.
- 20 Jeroboam's reign lasted twenty-two years; then he slept with his ancestors; his son Nadab succeeded him.

The reign of Rehoboam (931-913)

- 21 In Judah Rehoboam son of Solomon became king; he was forty-one years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which Yahweh had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, to give his name a home there. His mother's name was Naamah, the Ammonitess. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, arousing his resentment more than his ancestors did by all the sins they committed, they who had built themselves high places, and had set up pillars and sacred poles on every high hill and under every spreading tree. There were even men in the country who were sacred prostitutes. He copied all the shameful practices of the nations whom Yahweh had dispossessed for the sons of Israel.

In the fifth year of Rehoboam, Shishak the king of Egypt marched on Jerusalem. He took all the treasures from the Temple of Yahweh and the treasures from the royal palace, he took everything, including all the golden shields that Solomon had made; in place of them King Rehoboam had bronze shields made, entrusting them to the care of the officers of the guard who guarded the king's palace gate. Whenever the king went to the Temple of Yahweh, the guards would carry them, returning them to the guardroom afterward.

The rest of the history of Rehoboam, his entire career, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? Rehoboam and Jeroboam were at war with each other throughout their reigns. Then Rehoboam slept with his ancestors and was buried in the Citadel of David; his son Abijam succeeded him.

The reign of Abijam in Judah (913-911)

¹ 15 In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam son of Nebat, Abijam became king of Judah and reigned for three years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Maacah, daughter of Absalom. He followed the sinful example of his father before him in everything; his heart was not wholly with Yahweh his God, as the heart of David his ancestor had been. However, for David's sake, Yahweh his God gave him a lamp in Jerusalem, assuring him sons after him and keeping Jerusalem secure; for David had done what is right in the eyes of Yahweh and had never in all his life disobeyed whatever he ordered him.

⁶ The rest of the history of Abijam, his entire career, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? Abijam and Jeroboam were at war with each other. Then Abijam slept with his ancestors and they buried him in the Citadel of David; his son Asa succeeded him.

⁹ In the twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Asa became king of Judah and reigned for forty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Maacah, daughter of Absalom. Asa did what is right in the eyes of Yahweh, as his ancestor David had done. He drove out of the country the men who had been sacred prostitutes and cleared away all the idols his ancestors had made. He even deprived his grandmother of the dignity of queen mother for making an obscenity for Asherah; Asa cut down her obscenity and burned it in the wadi Kidron. Though the high places were not abolished, the heart of Asa was wholly with Yahweh throughout his life. He deposited the offerings dedicated by his father and his own offerings too, in the Temple of Yahweh, silver and gold and furnishings.

¹⁶ Asa and Baasha king of Israel were at war with each other as long as they lived. Baasha king of Israel marched on Judah and fortified Ramah to blockade Asa king of Judah. Asa then took the remaining silver and gold from the treasuries of the Temple of Yahweh and the royal palace. Entrusting this to his servants, he sent them with the following message to Ben-hadad son of Tabrimmon son of Hezion, the king of Aram who lived in Damascus, "An alliance between myself and you, as between my father and your father! With this I send you a gift of silver and gold. Come, break off your alliance with Baasha king of Israel, and he will have to retire from my territory.” •Ben-hadad agreed, and sent his generals against the towns of Israel; he conquered Ijon, Dan, Abel-beth-maacah, all Chinneroth, and the whole land of Naphtali too. When Baasha heard this he gave up fortifying Ramah and returned to Tirzah. King Asa then summoned the whole of Judah, no one was exempt; they took away the stones and timber with which Baasha had been fortifying Ramah, and with them the king fortified Geba of Benjamin and Mizpah. The rest of the history of Asa, all his valor, his entire career, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? In his old age, however, he suffered from a disease of the feet. •Then Asa slept with his ancestors and was buried in the Citadel of David his ancestor; his son Jehoshaphat succeeded him.

The reign of Nadab in Israel (910–909)

Nadab son of Jeroboam became king of Israel in the second year of Asa king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel for two years. •He did what is displeasing to Yahweh; he copied his father’s example and the sin into which he had led Israel. •Baasha son of Ahijah, of the House of Issachar, plotted against him and murdered him at Gibbethon, a Philistine town which Nadab and all Israel were besieging. •Baasha killed Nadab and succeeded him in the third year of Asa king of Judah. •No sooner was he king than he butchered the entire House of Jeroboam, not sparing a soul, and wiped it out, just as Yahweh had foretold through his servant Ahijah of Shiloh, •because of the sins into which he had led Israel, and because he had provoked the anger of Yahweh, the God of Israel. The rest of the history of Nadab, his entire career, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel?^a

The reign of Baasha in Israel (909–889)

In the third year of Asa king of Judah, Baasha son of Ahijah became king of Israel at Tirzah for twenty-four years. •He did what is displeasing to Yahweh; he copied the example of Jeroboam and the sin into which he had led Israel. ¹ 16 The word of Yahweh came to Jehu son of Hanani against Baasha, “I raised you from the dust and made you leader of my people Israel, but you have followed Jeroboam’s example and led my people Israel into sins that provoke my anger. •Now I will sweep away Baasha and his House; I will make your House like the House of Jeroboam son of Nebat. •Those of Baasha’s family who die in the city, the dogs will eat; and those who die in the open country, the birds of the air will eat.” The rest of the history of Baasha, his career, his valor, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel? •Then Baasha slept with his ancestors and was buried in Tirzah; his son Elah succeeded him. Furthermore, the word of Yahweh was delivered through the prophet Jehu son of Hanani against Baasha and his House, firstly because of all the evil he did in the sight of Yahweh, provoking him to anger by his actions and becoming like the House of Jeroboam; secondly because he destroyed that House.

The reign of Elah in Israel (886–885)

In the twenty-sixth year of Asa king of Judah, Elah son of Baasha became king of Israel at Tirzah, for two years. •Zimri, one of his officers, captain of half his chariotry, plotted against him. While he was at Tirzah, drinking himself senseless in the house of Arza who was master of the palace in Tirzah, •Zimri came in, struck him down and killed him in the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, and succeeded him. •On his accession, as soon as he was seated on the throne, he butchered Baasha's entire family, not leaving him a single 12 male, or any relations, or friends. Zimri destroyed the whole House of Baasha, in accordance with the word which Yahweh had spoken through the prophet 13 Jehu, 'because of all the sins of Baasha and his son Elah into which they had led Israel, provoking the anger of Yahweh, the God of Israel, with their useless idols.

14 The history of Elah, his entire career, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel?

The reign of Zimri in Israel (885)

15 In the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, Zimri became king for seven days, in Tirzah. The people were then encamped in front of Gibbethon, 16 a Philistine town. When news reached the camp of how Zimri had not only plotted against but actually killed the king, all Israel proclaimed Omri, their 17 general, king of Israel in the camp the same day. Omri, and all Israel with him, 18 raised the siege of Gibbethon and laid siege to Tirzah. When Zimri saw that the town was captured, he went into the keep of the royal palace, burned 19 the palace over his own head, and died. This was because of the sin he committed by doing what is displeasing to Yahweh, by copying the example of Jeroboam and the sin into which he had led Israel.

20 The rest of the history of Zimri and the plot he hatched, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel?

21 The people of Israel then split into two factions: one half following Tibni 22 son of Ginath to make him king, the other half following Omri. But the faction of Omri proved stronger than that of Tibni son of Ginath; Tibni died, and Omri became king.

The reign of Omri in Israel (885-874)

23 In the thirty-first year of Asa king of Judah, Omri became king of Israel and 24 reigned for twelve years. He reigned for six years in Tirzah. Then for two talents of silver he bought a hill from Shemer and on it built a town which 25 he named Samaria after Shemer who had owned the hill. Omri did what is 26 displeasing to Yahweh, and was worse than all his predecessors. In every way he copied the example of Jeroboam son of Nebat and the sins into which he had led Israel, provoking the anger of Yahweh, the God of Israel, with their useless idols.

27 The rest of the history of Omri, his career, his valor, is not all this recorded 28 in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel? Then Omri slept with his ancestors and was buried in Samaria; his son Ahab succeeded him.

Introduction to the reign of Ahab (874-853)

29 Ahab son of Omri became king of Israel in the thirty-eighth year of Asa king 30 of Judah, and reigned over Israel for twenty-two years in Samaria. Ahab son of Omri did what is displeasing to Yahweh, and was worse than all his prede-31 cessors. The least that he did was to follow the sinful example of Jeroboam son of Nebat: he married Jezebel, the daughter of Ethbaal king of the Sidonians,^a 32 and then proceeded to serve Baal and worship him. He erected an altar to him 33 in the temple of Baal which he built in Samaria. Ahab also put up a sacred pole and committed other crimes as well, provoking the anger of Yahweh, the God of Israel, more than all the kings of Israel who were his predecessors.
 34 It was in his time that Hiel of Bethel rebuilt Jericho; he laid its foundations at the price of Abiram, his first-born; its gates he erected at the price of his youngest son Segub,^b just as Yahweh had foretold through Joshua son of Nun.

15 a. V.32 simply repeats v.16, and is here omitted.

16 a. Ethbaal, a priest of Astarte, seized power in Tyre at the same time as Omri in Israel; the two sealed an alliance by a family marriage. b. The sons were killed as a foundation sacrifice.

V. THE ELIJAH CYCLE

A. THE GREAT DROUGHT

Elijah foretells the drought

1 17 Elijah the Tishbite, of Tishbe in Gilead said to Ahab, "As Yahweh lives, the God of Israel whom I serve, there shall be neither dew nor rain these years except at my order."

At the wadi Cherith

2 The word of Yahweh came to him, "Go away from here, go eastward, and 3 hide yourself in the wadi Cherith which lies east of Jordan. You can drink 4 from the stream, and I have ordered the ravens to bring you food there." He did 5 as Yahweh had said; he went and stayed in the wadi Cherith which lies east 6 of Jordan. The ravens brought him bread in the morning and meat in the evening, and he quenched his thirst at the stream.

At Zarephath. The miracle of the flour and the oil

7 But after a while the stream dried up, for the country had no rain. And then 8 the word of Yahweh came to him, "Up and go to Zarephath, a Sidonian town, 9 and stay there. I have ordered a widow there to give you food." So he went 10 off to Sidon. And when he reached the city gate, there was a widow gathering sticks; addressing her he said, "Please bring a little water in a vessel for me to drink." She was setting off to bring it when he called after her. "Please," he said, 11 "bring me a scrap of bread in your hand." "As Yahweh your God lives," she replied, "I have no baked bread, but only a handful of meal in a jar and a little oil in a jug; I am just gathering a stick or two to go and prepare this for myself and 12 my son to eat, and then we shall die." But Elijah said to her, "Do not be afraid, go and do as you have said; but first make a little scone of it for me and bring 13 it to me, and then make some for yourself and for your son. For thus Yahweh speaks, the God of Israel:

"Jar of meal shall not be spent, jug of oil shall not be emptied, before the day when Yahweh sends rain on the face of the earth."

15 The woman went and did as Elijah told her and they ate the food, she, himself 16 and her son. The jar of meal was not spent nor the jug of oil emptied, just as Yahweh had foretold through Elijah.

The widow's son raised to life

17 It happened after this that the son of the mistress of the house fell sick; 18 his illness was so severe that in the end he had no breath left in him. And the woman said to Elijah, "What quarrel have you with me, man of God? Have you come here to bring my sins home to me and to kill my son?" "Give me your son," he said, and taking him from her lap, carried him to the upper room where 19 he was staying and laid him on his own bed. He cried out to Yahweh, "Yahweh my God, do you mean to bring grief to the widow who is looking after me by 20 killing her son?" He stretched himself on the child three times and cried out to Yahweh, "Yahweh my God, may the soul of this child, I beg you, come into 21 him again!" Yahweh heard the prayer of Elijah and the soul of the child 22 returned to him again and he revived. Elijah took the child, brought him down from the upper room into the house, and gave him to his mother. "Look," Elijah 23 said, "your son is alive." And the woman replied, "Now I know you are a man of God and the word of Yahweh in your mouth is truth itself."

Elijah and Obadiah

1 18 A long time went by, and the word of Yahweh came to Elijah in the third year, "Go, present yourself to Ahab; I am about to send down rain on the land." So Elijah set off to present himself to Ahab.

2 As the famine was particularly severe in Samaria, Ahab summoned Obadiah, the master of the palace—Obadiah held Yahweh in great reverence: when Jezebel was butchering the prophets of Yahweh, Obadiah took a hundred of them and hid them, fifty at a time, in a cave, and kept them provided with food and water—and Ahab said to Obadiah, "Come along, we must scour the country, all the springs and all the wadis in the hope of finding grass to keep horses and mules alive, or we shall have to slaughter some of our stock." They divided the country for the purpose of their survey; Ahab went one way by himself and Obadiah went another way by himself. While Obadiah was on his way, whom should he meet but Elijah; recognizing him he fell on his face and said, "So it is you, my lord Elijah!" "Yes," he replied, "go and tell your master, 'Elijah is here.'" But Obadiah said, "What sin have I committed, for you to put your servant in Ahab's power and cause my death? As Yahweh your God lives, there is no nation or kingdom where my master has not sent in search of you; and when they said, 'He is not there,' he made the kingdom or nation swear on oath that they did not know where you were. And now you say to me, 'Go and tell your master: Elijah is here.' But as soon as I leave you, the spirit of Yahweh will carry you away and I shall not know where; I shall come and tell Ahab; he will not be able to find you, and will kill me. Yet from his youth your servant has revered Yahweh. Has no one told my lord what I did when Jezebel butchered the prophets of Yahweh, how I hid a hundred of them in a cave, fifty at a time, and kept them provided with food and water? And now you say to me, 'Go and tell your master: Elijah is here.' Why, he will kill me!" Elijah replied, "As Yahweh Sabaoth lives, whom I serve, I shall present myself before him today!"

Elijah and Ahab

16 Obadiah went to find Ahab and tell him the news, and Ahab then went to find Elijah. When he saw Elijah, Ahab said, "So there you are, you scourge of Israel!" "Not I," he replied, "I am not the scourge of Israel, you and your family are; because you have deserted Yahweh and gone after the Baals. Now give orders for all Israel to gather around me on Mount Carmel, and also the four hundred prophets of Baal who eat at Jezebel's table."

The sacrifice on Carmel

20 Ahab called all Israel together and assembled the prophets on Mount Carmel. Elijah stepped out in front of all the people. "How long," he said, "do you mean to hobble first on one leg then on the other? If Yahweh is God, follow him; if Baal, follow him." But the people never said a word. Elijah then said to them, "I, I alone, am left as a prophet of Yahweh, while the prophets of Baal are four hundred and fifty. Let two bulls be given us; let them choose one for themselves, dismember it and lay it on the wood, but not set fire to it. I in turn will prepare the other bull, but not set fire to it. You must call on the name of your god, and I shall call on the name of mine; the god who answers with fire, is God indeed." The people all answered, "Agreed!" Elijah then said to the prophets of Baal, "Choose one bull and begin, for there are more of you. Call on the name of your god but light no fire." They took the bull and prepared it, and from morning to midday they called on the name of Baal. "O Baal, answer us!" they cried, but there was no voice, no answer, as they performed their hobbling dance around the altar they had made. Midday came, and Elijah mocked them. "Call louder," he said, "for he is a god: he is preoccupied or he is busy, or he has gone on a journey; perhaps he is asleep 28 and will wake up." So they shouted louder and gashed themselves, as their 29 custom was, with swords and spears until the blood flowed down them. Midday passed, and they ranted on until the time the offering is presented^a; but there was no voice, no answer, no attention given to them.

30 Then Elijah said to all the people, "Come closer to me," and all the people came closer to him. He repaired the altar of Yahweh which had been broken 31 down. Elijah took twelve stones, corresponding to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob, to whom the word of Yahweh had come, "Israel shall be 32 your name," and built an altar in the name of Yahweh. Around the altar he dug a trench of a size to hold two measures of seed. He then arranged the 33 wood, dismembered the bull, and laid it on the wood. Then he said, "Fill four 34 jars with water and pour it on the holocaust and on the wood"; this they did.
 He said, "Do it a second time"; they did it a second time. He said, "Do it a third 35 time"; they did it a third time. The water flowed around the altar and the trench 36 itself was full of water. At the time when the offering is presented, Elijah the prophet stepped forward. "Yahweh, God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel," he said, "let them know today that you are God in Israel, and that I am your 37 servant, that I have done all these things at your command. Answer me, Yahweh, answer me, so that this people may know that you, Yahweh, are God and are winning back their hearts."

38 Then the fire of Yahweh fell and consumed the holocaust and wood and 39 licked up the water in the trench. When all the people saw this they fell on their 40 faces. "Yahweh is God," they cried, "Yahweh is God." Elijah said, "Seize the prophets of Baal: do not let one of them escape." They seized them, and Elijah took them down to the wadi Kishon, and he slaughtered them there.

The drought ends

41 Elijah said to Ahab, "Go back, eat and drink; for I hear the sound of rain." 42 While Ahab went back to eat and drink, Elijah climbed to the top of Carmel 43 and bowed down to the earth, putting his face between his knees. "Now go up," he told his servant, "and look out to the sea." He went up and looked. "There 44 is nothing at all," he said. "Go back seven times," Elijah said. The seventh time, the servant said, "Now there is a cloud, small as a man's hand, rising from the sea." Elijah said, "Go and say to Ahab, 'Harness the chariot and go down before 45 the rain stops you.'" And with that the sky grew dark with cloud and storm, and rain fell in torrents. Ahab mounted his chariot and made for Jezreel.
 46 The hand of Yahweh was on Elijah, and tucking up his cloak he ran in front of Ahab as far as the outskirts of Jezreel.

B. ELIJAH AT HOREB

The journey to Horeb

1 19 When Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done, and how he had put 2 all the prophets to the sword, Jezebel sent a messenger to Elijah to say,
 "May the gods do this to me and more, if by this time tomorrow I have not made 3 your life like the life of one of them!" He was afraid and fled for his 4 life. He came to Beersheba, a town of Judah, where he left his servant. He himself went on into the wilderness, a day's journey, and sitting under a furze bush wished he were dead. "Yahweh," he said, "I have had enough. Take my life; 5 I am no better than my ancestors." Then he lay down and went to sleep. But an 6 angel touched him and said, "Get up and eat." He looked around, and there at his head was a scone baked on hot stones, and a jar of water. He ate and drank 7 and then lay down again. But the angel of Yahweh came back a second time and touched him and said, "Get up and eat, or the journey will be too long for 8 you." So he got up and ate and drank, and strengthened by that food he walked for forty days and forty nights until he reached Horeb, the mountain of God.

The encounter with God

- 9 There he went into the cave^a and spent the night in it. Then the word of 10 Yahweh came to him saying, "What are you doing here, Elijah?" He replied, "I am filled with jealous zeal for Yahweh Sabaoth, because the sons of Israel have deserted you, broken down your altars and put your prophets to the sword.
 11 I am the only one left, and they want to kill me." Then he was told, "Go out and stand on the mountain before Yahweh." Then Yahweh himself went by.
 There came a mighty wind, so strong it tore the mountains and shattered the rocks before Yahweh. But Yahweh was not in the wind. After the wind came an 12 earthquake. But Yahweh was not in the earthquake. After the earthquake came a fire. But Yahweh was not in the fire. And after the fire there came the 13 sound of a gentle breeze. And when Elijah heard this, he covered his face with his cloak and went out and stood at the entrance of the cave. Then a voice 14 came to him, which said, "What are you doing here, Elijah?" He replied, "I am filled with jealous zeal for Yahweh Sabaoth, because the sons of Israel have deserted you, broken down your altars and put your prophets to the sword.
 I am the only one left and they want to kill me." 15 "Go," Yahweh said, "go back by the same way to the wilderness of Damascus.
 16 You are to go and anoint Hazael as king of Aram. You are to anoint Jehu son of Nimshi as king of Israel, and to anoint Elisha son of Shaphat, of Abel 17 Meholah, as prophet to succeed you. Anyone who escapes the sword of Hazael will be put to death by Jehu; and anyone who escapes the sword of Jehu will be 18 put to death by Elisha. But I shall spare seven thousand in Israel: all the knees that have not bent before Baal, all the mouths that have not kissed him."

The call of Elisha

- 19 Leaving there, he came to Elisha son of Shaphat as he was plowing behind twelve yoke of oxen, he himself being with the twelfth. Elijah passed 20 near to him and threw his cloak over him. Elisha left his oxen and ran after Elijah. "Let me kiss my father and mother, then I will follow you," he said.
 21 Elijah answered, "Go, go back; for have I done anything to you?" Elisha turned away, took the pair of oxen and slaughtered them. He used the plow for cooking the oxen, then gave to his men, who ate. He then rose, and followed Elijah and became his servant.

C. THE ARAMAEAN WARS

The siege of Samaria

- 1 20 Ben-hadad king of Aram^a mustered his whole army—thirty-two kings were with him, and horses and chariots—and went up to lay siege to 2 Samaria and storm it. He sent messengers into the city to Ahab king of Israel 3 to tell him, "Thus says Ben-hadad, 'Your silver and gold are mine; you may 4 keep your wives and children.'" The king of Israel replied, "As you command, my lord king. Myself and all I have are yours." 5 But the messengers came back and said, "Ben-hadad says this, 'I sent you this order: Hand over your silver and your gold, your wives and your children.
 6 Count on it that this time tomorrow I will send my servants to search your house and your servants' houses and lay hands on all they fancy and take it away.'" 7 The king of Israel summoned all the elders of the land and said, "You can see clearly how this man intends to ruin us. He now claims my wives and my

8 children, although I have not refused him my silver and my gold." "All the elders 9 and all the people said, "Take no notice. Do not consent." "So he gave this answer to Ben-hadad's messengers, "Say to my lord the king, 'All you first required of your servant I will do, but this I cannot do.'" And the messengers went back with the answer.

10 Ben-hadad then sent him the following message, "May the gods do this to me and more if there are enough handfuls of rubble in Samaria for all the people 11 in my following." "But the king of Israel returned this answer, "The proverb says: The man who puts on his armor is not the one who can boast, but the 12 man who takes it off." "When Ben-hadad heard this message—he was under the awnings drinking with the kings—he gave orders to his servants, "Take post!"
And they took up their positions against the city.

Victory for Israel

13 A prophet then arrived, looking for Ahab king of Israel. "Yahweh says this," he said. "You have seen this mighty army? This very day I will deliver 14 it into your hands, and you shall know that I am Yahweh.'" "By whose means?" asked Ahab. The prophet replied, "Yahweh says this, 'By means of the young soldiers of the district governors.'" "Who is to open the attack?" Ahab asked.
"Yourself," the prophet answered.

15 So Ahab inspected the young soldiers of the district governors: there were two hundred and thirty-two. After these he reviewed the whole army, all the 16 Israelites: there were seven thousand. "They made a sortie at midday, when Ben-hadad was drinking himself senseless under the awnings, he and the thirty-17 two kings who were the allies. "The young soldiers of the district governors led the sortie. Ben-hadad was informed, "Some men have come out of Samaria." 18 He said, "If they have come out for peace, take them alive; if they have come out for war, take them alive too." "So they made a sortie from the town, the 19 young soldiers of the district governors and behind them the army, and each struck down his man. Aram took to flight and Israel pursued; Ben-hadad king 20 of Aram escaped on a chariot horse. "Then the king of Israel came out, capturing horses and chariots and inflicting a great defeat on Aram.
21

Respite

22 The prophet went up to the king of Israel. "Come," he said to him, "take courage and think carefully what you should do, for at the turn of the year the king of Aram will march against you."

23 The servants of the king of Aram said to him, "Their god is a god of the mountains; that is why they have proved stronger than us. But if we fight them 24 on level ground, we will certainly beat them. "This is what you must do: remove all these kings from their posts and appoint commanders instead. "You, for your 25 part, must recruit an army as large as the one that deserted you, with as many horses and as many chariots; then if we fight them on level ground, we will certainly beat them." He listened to their advice and acted accordingly.

The victory of Aphek

26 At the turn of the year, Ben-hadad mustered the Aramaeans and went up 27 to Aphek to fight Israel. "The Israelites had also mustered, and marched out to meet them. Encamped opposite them, the Israelites looked like two herds of goats, whereas the Aramaeans filled the countryside.

28 The man of God accosted the king of Israel. "Yahweh says this," he said.
"Since Aram has said that Yahweh is a god of the mountains and not a god of the plains, I will put all this mighty host into your power, and you shall know 29 that I am Yahweh.'" "For seven days they were encamped opposite each other.
On the seventh day battle was joined and the Israelites slaughtered the 30 Aramaeans, a hundred thousand foot soldiers^b in one day. "The rest fled to Aphek, into the town itself, but the walls fell down on the twenty-seven thousand who remained.

Now Ben-hadad had fled and taken refuge within the town in an inner room.
 31 "Look," his servants said to him, "we have heard that the kings of Israel are merciful kings. Let us put sackcloth around our waists and ropes on our heads 32 and go out to the king of Israel; perhaps he will spare your life." "So they wrapped sackcloth around their waists and put ropes on their heads and went to the king of Israel, and said, "Your servant Ben-hadad says, 'Spare my life.'" 33 "So he is still alive?" he answered. "He is my brother."^c "The men took this for a good omen and quickly seized on his words. "Yes," they said, "Ben-hadad is your brother." Ahab said, "Go and fetch him." Then Ben-hadad came out to 34 him and Ahab made him get up into his chariot. "Ben-hadad said, "I will restore the towns my father took from your father and you may set up bazaars for yourself in Damascus as my father did in Samaria. Myself, by the terms of this treaty, you will set free." So Ahab made a treaty with him and let him go free.

A prophet condemns Ahab's policy

35 At Yahweh's order a member of the brotherhood of prophets said to 36 a companion of his, "Strike me," but the man refused to strike him. "So he said to him, "Since you have disobeyed the order of Yahweh, the very moment you leave me a lion will kill you." And no sooner had he left him than he met 37 a lion, which killed him. "The prophet then went to find another man and said, 38 "Strike me," and the man struck him and wounded him. "The prophet then went and stood waiting for the king on the road, disguising himself with his 39 headband over his eyes. "As the king passed, he called out to him, "Your servant was making his way to where the fight was thickest when someone left the fighting to bring a man to me, and said, 'Guard this man; if he is found missing, your life will pay for his, or else you will have to pay one talent of 40 silver.' "But while your servant was busy with one thing and another, the man disappeared." The king of Israel said, "That is your sentence, then. You have 41 pronounced it yourself." "At this the man quickly pulled off the headband covering his eyes, and the king of Israel recognized him as one of the prophets.^d 42 He said to the king, "Yahweh says this, 'Since you have let the man escape who was under my ban, your life will pay for his, your people for his people.'" 43 And off went the king of Israel, gloomy and out of temper, on his way back to Samaria.

D. NABOTH'S VINEYARD

Naboth refuses to hand over his vineyard

1 21 This is what happened next: Naboth of Jezreel had a vineyard close by 2 the palace of Ahab king of Samaria, and Ahab said to Naboth, "Give me your vineyard to be my vegetable garden, since it adjoins my house; I will give you a better vineyard for it or, if you prefer, I will give you its worth in 3 money." "But Naboth answered Ahab, "Yahweh forbid that I should give you the inheritance of my ancestors!"

Ahab and Jezebel

4 Ahab went home gloomy and out of temper at the words of Naboth of Jezreel, "I will not give you the inheritance of my fathers." He lay down on 5 his bed and turned his face away and refused to eat. "His wife Jezebel came to 6 him. "Why are you so dispirited," she said, "that you will not eat?" "He said,

b. Not an accurate figure. c. Ahab declines his homage. d. Members of the brotherhood of prophets may have worn a distinguishing mark on their foreheads.

"I have been speaking to Naboth of Jezreel; I said: Give me your vineyard either for money or, if you prefer, for another vineyard in exchange. But he said, 'I will not give you my vineyard.'" Then his wife Jezebel said, "You make a fine king of Israel, and no mistake! Get up and eat; cheer up, and you will feel better; I will get you the vineyard of Naboth of Jezreel myself."

Naboth is murdered

8 So she wrote letters in Ahab's name and sealed them with his seal, sending 9 them to the elders and nobles who lived where Naboth lived. In the letters she wrote, "Proclaim a fast, and put Naboth in the forefront of the people.
10 Confront him with a couple of scoundrels who will accuse him like this, 'You have cursed God and the king.' Then take him outside and stone him to death." 11 The men of Naboth's town, the elders and nobles who lived in his town, did what Jezebel ordered, what was written in the letters she had sent them.
12 They proclaimed a fast and put Naboth in the forefront of the people. Then 13 the two scoundrels came and stood in front of him and made their accusation, "Naboth has cursed God and the king." They led him outside the town and 14 stoned him to death. They then sent word to Jezebel, "Naboth has been stoned 15 to death." When Jezebel heard that Naboth had been stoned to death, she said to Ahab, "Get up! Take possession of the vineyard which Naboth of Jezreel would 16 not give you for money, for Naboth is no longer alive, he is dead." When Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, he got up to go down to the vineyard of Naboth of Jezreel and take possession of it.

Elijah pronounces God's sentence

17 Then the word of Yahweh came to Elijah the Tishbite, "Up! Go down to 18 meet Ahab king of Israel, in Samaria. You will find him in Naboth's vineyard; 19 he has gone down to take possession of it. You are to say this to him, 'Yahweh says this: You have committed murder; now you usurp as well. For this—and Yahweh says this—in the place where the dogs licked the blood of 20 Naboth, the dogs will lick your blood too.'" Ahab said to Elijah, "So you have found me out, O my enemy!" Elijah answered, "I have found you out. For your 21 double dealing, and since you have done what is displeasing to Yahweh, I will now bring disaster down on you; I will sweep away your descendants, and wipe out every male belonging to the family of Ahab, fettered or free in Israel.
22 I will treat your House as I treated the House of Jeroboam son of Nebat and of Baasha son of Ahijah, for provoking my anger and leading Israel into sin.
23 (Against Jezebel too Yahweh spoke these words: The dogs will eat Jezebel in the Field of Jezreel.) Those of Ahab's family who die in the city, the dogs 24 will eat; and those who die in the open country, the birds of the air will eat." 25 And indeed there never was anyone like Ahab for double dealing and for 26 doing what is displeasing to Yahweh, urged on by Jezebel his wife. He behaved in the most abominable way, adhering to idols, just as the Amorites used to do whom Yahweh had dispossessed for the sons of Israel.

Ahab repents

27 When Ahab heard these words, he tore his garments and put sackcloth next 28 his skin and fasted; he slept in the sackcloth; he walked with slow steps. Then 29 the word of Yahweh came to Elijah the Tishbite, "Have you seen how Ahab has humbled himself before me? Since he has humbled himself before me, I will not bring the disaster in his days; I will bring the disaster down on his House in the days of his son."

E. ANOTHER WAR WITH ARAM

Ahab plans a campaign against Ramoth-gilead

1 22 There was a lull of three years, with no fighting between Aram and Israel.
 2 Then, in the third year, Jehoshaphat king of Judah paid a visit to the 3 king of Israel. The king of Israel said to his officers, "You are aware that Ramoth-gilead belongs to us? And yet we do nothing to wrest it away from 4 the king of Aram." He said to Jehoshaphat, "Will you come with me to fight at Ramoth-gilead?" Jehoshaphat answered the king of Israel, "I am as ready as you, my men as your men, my horses as your horses."

The spurious prophets predict success

5 Jehoshaphat, however, said to the king of Israel, "First, please consult the 6 word of Yahweh." So the king of Israel called the prophets together, about four hundred of them. "Should I march to attack Ramoth-gilead," he asked, "or should I refrain?" "March," they replied, "Yahweh will deliver it into the power 7 of the king." But Jehoshaphat said, "Is there no other prophet of Yahweh here 8 for us to consult?" The king of Israel answered Jehoshaphat, "There is one more man through whom we can consult Yahweh, but I hate him because he never has a favorable prophecy for me, only unfavorable ones; he is Micaiah son 9 of Imlah." "The king should not say such things," Jehoshaphat said. Accordingly the king of Israel summoned one of the eunuchs and said, "Bring Micaiah son of Imlah immediately."

10 The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah were both sitting on their thrones in full regalia, at the threshing floor outside the gate of Samaria, with 11 all the prophets raving in front of them. Zedekiah son of Chenaanah had made himself iron horns. "Yahweh says this," he said. "With these you 12 will gore the Aramaeans till you make an end of them." And all the prophets prophesied the same. "March to Ramoth-gilead," they said, "and conquer. Yahweh will deliver it into the power of the king."

The prophet Micaiah predicts defeat

13 The messenger who had gone to summon Micaiah said, "Here are all the prophets as one man speaking favorably to the king. Try to speak like one of 14 them and foretell success." But Micaiah answered, "As Yahweh lives, what 15 Yahweh says to me, that will I utter!" When he came to the king, the king said, "Micaiah, should we march to attack Ramoth-gilead, or should we refrain?" He answered, "March and conquer. Yahweh will deliver it into the power of the 16 king." But the king said, "How often must I put you on oath to tell me nothing 17 but the truth in the name of Yahweh?" Then Micaiah spoke:

"I have seen all Israel scattered on the mountains
 like sheep without a shepherd.
 And Yahweh said, 'These have no master, let each go home unmolested.'" 18 At this the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not tell you that he never 19 gives me favorable prophecies, but only unfavorable ones?" Micaiah went on, "Listen rather to the word of Yahweh. I have seen Yahweh seated on his throne; all the array of heaven stood in his presence, on his right and on his left.

 20 Yahweh said, 'Who will trick Ahab into marching to his death at Ramoth-21 gilead?' At which some answered one way, and some another. Then the spirit came forward and stood before Yahweh. 'I,' he said, 'I will trick him.' 'How?' 22 Yahweh asked. He replied, 'I will go and become a lying spirit in the mouths of all his prophets.' 'You shall trick him,' Yahweh said, 'you shall succeed.
 23 Go and do it.' Now see how Yahweh has put a lying spirit into the mouths of all your prophets here. But Yahweh has pronounced disaster on you."

24 Then Zedekiah son of Chenaanah came up and struck Micaiah on the jaw.
 25 "Which way," he asked, "did the spirit of Yahweh leave me, to talk to you?" "That is what you will find out," Micaiah retorted, "the day you flee to an inner room 26 to hide." The king of Israel said, "Seize Micaiah and hand him over to Amon, 27 governor of the city, and to Prince Joash, and say, 'These are the king's orders:
 Put this man in prison and feed him on nothing but bread and water until I come 28 back safe and sound.'" Micaiah said, "If you come back safe and sound, Yahweh has not spoken through me."

Ahab falls at Ramoth-gilead

29 The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah went up against Ramoth-30 gilead. The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "I will disguise myself to go into battle, but I want you to wear your royal uniform." The king of Israel went 31 into battle disguised. The king of Aram had given his chariot commanders the following order: "Do not attack anyone of whatever rank, except the king of 32 Israel." When the chariot commanders caught sight of Jehoshaphat, they said, "That is obviously the king of Israel." And they wheeled to the attack. But 33 Jehoshaphat shouted his war cry and the chariot commanders, realizing that he was not the king of Israel, called off their pursuit.

34 Now one of the men, drawing his bow at random, hit the king of Israel between the corselet and the scale-armor of his breastplate. "Turn about," the 35 king said to his charioteer. "Get me out of the battle; I have been hurt." But the battle grew fiercer as the day went on; the king was held upright in his chariot facing the Aramaeans, and in the evening he died; the blood from the wound 36 flowed into the bottom of the chariot. At sundown a shout ran through the 37 camp, "Every man back to his town, every man back to his country; the king 38 is dead!" They went to Samaria, and in Samaria they buried the king. They washed the chariot at the Pool of Samaria; the dogs licked up the blood, and the prostitutes washed in it, in accordance with the word that Yahweh had spoken.

F. AFTER THE DEATH OF AHAB

The end of the reign of Ahab

39 The rest of the history of Ahab, his entire career, the ivory house he erected, all the towns he built, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the 40 Kings of Israel? Then Ahab slept with his ancestors; his son Ahaziah succeeded him.

The reign of Jehoshaphat in Judah (870-848)

41 Jehoshaphat son of Asa became king of Judah in the fourth year of Ahab 42 king of Israel. Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name 43 was Azubah, daughter of Shilhi. In every way he followed the example of his 44 father Asa undeviatingly, doing what is right in the eyes of Yahweh. The high places, however, were not abolished; the people still offered sacrifice and incense 45 on the high places. Jehoshaphat was at peace with the king of Israel.

46 The rest of the history of Jehoshaphat, the valor he showed, the wars he waged, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah?
 47 The remaining male sacred prostitutes of those who had lived in the time of his 48 father Asa, he swept out of the country. There was no king in Edom, and King Jehoshaphat built a ship of Tarshish to go to Ophir for gold, but his ship 50 never reached there: it was wrecked at Ezion-geber. Then Ahaziah son of Ahab said to Jehoshaphat, "Let my men man the ships with yours." But 51 Jehoshaphat would not agree. Then Jehoshaphat slept with his ancestors and was buried in the Citadel of David, his ancestor; his son Jehoram succeeded him.

King Ahaziah of Israel and the prophet Elijah (853–852)

⁵² Ahaziah son of Ahab became king of Israel in Samaria in the seventeenth ⁵³ year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and reigned over Israel for two years. •He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, by following the example of his father and ⁵⁴ mother, and of Jeroboam son of Nebat who had led Israel into sin. •He served Baal and worshiped him, and provoked the anger of Yahweh the God of Israel just as his father had done.

THE SECOND BOOK OF THE KINGS

¹ 1 After the death of Ahab Moab rebelled against Israel.
² Ahaziah had fallen from the balcony of his upper room in Samaria, and was lying ill; so he sent messengers, saying to them, “Go and consult Baalzebub ³ the god of Ekron and ask whether I shall recover from my illness.” •But the angel of Yahweh said to Elijah the Tishbite, “Up! Go and intercept the messengers of the king of Samaria. Say to them, ‘Is there no God in Israel, for you ⁴ to go and consult Baalzebub the god of Ekron? •Yahweh says this: The bed you have got into you will not get out of; you are certainly going to die.’” And Elijah set out.
⁵ The messengers returned to the king, who said, “Why have you come back?” ⁶ “A man came to meet us,” they answered, “and said, ‘Go back to the king who sent you and tell him: Yahweh says this: Is there no God in Israel for you to go and consult Baalzebub the god of Ekron? For this, the bed you have ⁷ got into you will not get out of; you are certainly going to die.’” •He said, “This ⁸ man who met you and said all this, what was he like?” “A man wearing a hair cloak,” they answered, “and a leather loincloth.” “It was Elijah the Tishbite,” he said.
⁹ He then sent a captain of fifty soldiers with his contingent to Elijah, whom they found sitting on top of the hill; the captain went up to him and said, “Man ¹⁰ of God, the king says, ‘Come down.’” •Elijah answered the captain, “If I am a man of God, let fire come down from heaven and destroy both you and your fifty men.” And fire came down from heaven and destroyed him and his fifty ¹¹ men. •The king sent a second captain of fifty to him, again with fifty men, and he too went up and said, “Man of God, this is the king’s order: ‘Come down ¹² at once.’” •Elijah answered them, “If I am a man of God, let fire come down from heaven and destroy both you and your fifty men.” And fire came down ¹³ from heaven and destroyed him and his fifty men. •Then the king sent a third captain of fifty to him, with another fifty men. The third captain of fifty came up to Elijah, fell on his knees before him and pleaded with him. “Man of God,” he said, “let my life and the lives of these fifty servants of yours have some value ¹⁴ in your eyes. •Fire has fallen from heaven and destroyed two captains of fifties, ¹⁵ but let my life have some value now in your eyes.” •The angel of Yahweh said to Elijah, “Go down with him; do not be afraid of him.” He rose and accom-¹⁶ panied him down to the king, and said to him, “Yahweh says this, ‘Since you sent messengers to consult Baalzebub the god of Ekron, the bed you have got into you will not get out of; you are certainly going to die.’” ¹⁷ And, in accordance with the word of Yahweh that Elijah had uttered, he died.
 Since he had no son, his brother Jehoram succeeded him, in the second year ¹⁸ of Jehoram son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah. •The rest of the history of Ahaziah, and his career, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel?

VI. THE ELISHA CYCLE

A. ITS OPENING

Elijah is taken up and Elisha succeeds him

1 2 This is what happened when Yahweh took Elijah up to heaven in the 2 whirlwind: Elijah and Elisha set out from Gidal, and Elijah said to Elisha, 3 "Please stay here, for Yahweh is only sending me to Bethel." But Elisha replied, 4 "As Yahweh lives and as you yourself live, I will not leave you!" and they went 5 down to Bethel. The brotherhood of prophets who live at Bethel came out 6 to meet Elisha and said, "Do you know that Yahweh is going to carry your lord 7 and master away today?" "Yes, I know," he said, "be quiet." Elijah said, "Elisha, 8 please stay here, Yahweh is only sending me to Jericho." But he replied, "As 9 Yahweh lives and as you yourself live, I will not leave you!" and they went on 10 to Jericho. The brotherhood of prophets who live at Jericho went up to Elisha 11 and said, "Do you know that Yahweh is going to carry your lord and master 12 away today?" "Yes, I know," he said, "be quiet." Elijah said, "Elisha, please stay 13 here, Yahweh is only sending me to the Jordan." But he replied, "As Yahweh lives 14 and as you yourself live, I will not leave you!" And they went on together.

15 Fifty of the brotherhood of prophets followed them, halting some distance 16 away as the two of them stood beside the Jordan. Elijah took his cloak, rolled 17 it up and struck the water; and the water divided to left and right, and the two 18 of them crossed over dry-shod. When they had crossed, Elijah said to Elisha, 19 "Make your request. What can I do for you before I am taken from you?" Elisha 20 answered, "Let me inherit a double share of your spirit."^a "Your request is a 21 difficult one," Elijah said. "If you see me while I am being taken from you, it shall 22 be as you ask; if not, it will not be so." Now as they walked on, talking as 23 they went, a chariot of fire appeared and horses of fire, coming between the 24 two of them; and Elijah went up to heaven in the whirlwind. Elisha saw it, and 25 shouted, "My father! My father! Chariot of Israel and its chargers!" Then he 26 lost sight of him, and taking hold of his clothes he tore them in half. He picked 27 up the cloak of Elijah which had fallen, and went back and stood on the bank 28 of the Jordan.

29 He took the cloak of Elijah and struck the water. "Where is Yahweh, the 30 God of Elijah?" he cried. He struck the water, and it divided to right and left, 31 and Elisha crossed over. The brotherhood of prophets saw him in the distance, 32 and said, "The spirit of Elijah has come to rest on Elisha"; they went to meet 33 him and bowed to the ground before him. "Look," they said, "your servants 34 have fifty strong men with them; let them go and look for your master; the 35 spirit of Yahweh may have taken him up and thrown him down on a mountain 36 or into a valley." "Send no one," he replied. But they so shamed him with their 37 insistence that he consented. So they sent fifty men who searched for three days 38 without finding him. They then came back to Elisha who had stayed in Jericho; 39 he said, "Did I not tell you not to go?"

Two miracles of Elisha

40 The men of the town said to Elisha, "The town is pleasant to live in, as my 41 lord indeed can see, but the water is foul and the country suffers from 42 miscarriages." "Bring me a new bowl," he said, "and put some salt in it." They 43 brought it to him. Then he went to the place the water came from and threw 44 salt into it. "Thus Yahweh speaks," he said, "I make this water wholesome: 45 neither death nor miscarriage shall come from it any more." And the water 46 was made wholesome, and is so today, exactly as Elisha had said it would be.

47 From there he went up to Bethel, and while he was on the road up, some 48 small boys came out of the town and jeered at him. "Go up, baldhead!" they 49 shouted. "Go up, baldhead!" He turned around and looked at them; and he cursed them in the name of Yahweh. And two she-bears came out of the wood and savaged forty-two of the boys. From there he went on to Mount Carmel, and then returned to Samaria.

B. THE MOABITE WAR

Introduction to the reign of Jehoram in Israel (852-841)

3 Jehoram son of Ahab became king of Israel in Samaria in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and reigned for twelve years.^a He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, though not like his father and mother, for he did away with the pillar of Baal that his father had made. Nonetheless, he continued to practice the sins into which Jeroboam son of Nebat had led Israel, and did not give them up.

The expedition of Israel and Judah against Moab

Mesha king of Moab was a sheep breeder and used to pay the king of Israel a hundred thousand lambs and the wool of a hundred thousand rams in tribute. But when Ahab died, the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel.

At once King Jehoram went out of Samaria and mustered all Israel. After this he sent word to the king of Judah, "The king of Moab has rebelled against me. Will you join with me fighting Moab?" "I will," he replied. "I am as ready as you, my men as your men, my horses as your horses," and added "which way are we to attack?" "Through the wilderness of Edom," the other answered.

So they set out, the king of Israel, the king of Judah and the king of Edom. They followed a devious route for seven days, until there was no water left for the troops or for the beasts in their baggage train. "Alas!" the king of Israel exclaimed, "Yahweh has summoned us three kings, only to put us into the power of Moab." But the king of Judah said, "Is there no prophet of Yahweh here for us to consult Yahweh through him?" One of the king of Israel's servants answered, "Elisha son of Shaphat is here, who used to pour water on the hands of Elijah." "The word of Yahweh is with him," the king of Judah said. So they went to him, the king of Israel, the king of Judah and the king of Edom. But Elisha said to the king of Israel, "What business have you with me? Go to the prophets of your father and your mother." "No," the king of Israel answered, "Yahweh has summoned us three kings, only to put us into the power of Moab." Elisha replied, "As Yahweh Sabaoth lives, whom I serve, if I did not respect Jehoshaphat king of Judah, I should not take any notice of you, or so much as look at you. Now bring me someone who can play the lyre."^b And as the musician played, the hand of Yahweh was laid on him and he said "Yahweh says this, 'Dig ditch on ditch in this wadi,' for Yahweh says, 'You shall see neither wind nor rain, but his wadi shall be filled with water, and you and your troops and your baggage animals shall drink.' But this is only a little thing in the sight of Yahweh, for he will put Moab itself into your power. You shall storm every fortified town, fell every sound tree, block every water spring, ruin all the best fields with stones." Next morning at the time when the oblation was being offered, water came from the direction of Edom, and the country was filled with it.

When the Moabites learned that the kings had come up to fight against them, all who were of age to bear arms were called up; they took up position on the frontier. In the morning when they got up, the sun was shining on the water; and in the distance the Moabites saw the water as red as blood.^c "This is blood!" they said. "The kings must have fought among themselves and killed one another. So now for the booty, Moab!"

- 24 But when they reached the Israelite camp, the Israelites launched their attack and the Moabites fled before them, and as they advanced they cut the Moabites 25 to pieces. They laid the towns in ruins, and each man threw a stone into all the best fields to fill them up, and they blocked every water spring and felled every sound tree. In the end, there was only Kir-hareseth left, which the slingers 26 surrounded and battered. When the king of Moab saw that the battle had turned against him, he mustered seven hundred swordsmen in the hope of breaking 27 a way out and going to the king of Aram, but he failed. Then he took his eldest son who was to succeed him and offered him as a sacrifice on the city wall. There was bitter indignation against the Israelites, who then withdrew, retiring to their own country.

C. SOME MIRACLES OF ELISHA

The widow's oil

- 1 4 The wife of a member of the prophetic brotherhood appealed to Elisha. "Your servant my husband is dead," she said, "and you know how your servant revered Yahweh. A creditor has now come to take my two children and make 2 them his slaves." Elisha said, "What can I do for you? Tell me, what have you in the house?" "Your servant has nothing in the house," she replied, "except a pot
3 of oil." Then he said, "Go outside and borrow jars from all your neighbors, empty jars and not too few. When you come back, shut the door on yourself 4 and your sons, and pour the oil into all these jars, putting each aside when it is full." So she left him; and she shut the door on herself and her sons; they passed 5 her the jars and she went on pouring. When the jars were full, she said to her son, "Pass me another jar." "There are no more," he replied. Then the oil stopped 6 flowing. She went and told the man of God, who said, "Go and sell the oil and redeem your pledge; you and your children can live on the remainder."

The woman of Shunem and her son

- 8 One day as Elisha was on his way to Shunem, a woman of rank who lived there pressed him to stay and eat there. After this he always broke his journey 9 for a meal when he passed that way. She said to her husband, "Look, I am sure the man who is constantly passing our way must be a holy man of God. Let us build him a small room on the roof, and put him a bed in it, and a table 10 and chair and lamp; whenever he comes to us he can rest there." One day when he came, he retired to the upper room and lay down. He said to his servant 11 Gehazi, "Call our Shunammities." He called her, and she came and stood before him. "Tell her this," Elisha said, "'Look, you have gone to all this trouble for 12 us, what can we do for you? Is there anything you would like said for you to the king or to the commander of the army?'" But she replied, "I live with my 13 own people about me." "What can be done for her then?" he asked. Gehazi answered, "Well, she has no son and her husband is old." Elisha said, "Call her." 14 The servant called her and she stood at the door. "This time next year," he said, "you will hold a son in your arms." But she said, "No, my lord, do not deceive 15 your servant." But the woman did conceive, and she gave birth to a son at the time Elisha had said she would.
16 The child grew up; one day he went out to his father who was with the reapers, 17 and exclaimed to his father, "Oh, my head! My head!" The father told a servant to carry him to his mother. He lifted him up and took him to his mother, and 18 the boy sat on her knee until midday, when he died. She went upstairs, laid 19 him on the bed of the man of God, shut the door on him and went out. She called her husband and said, "Send me one of the servants with a donkey. I must 23 hurry to the man of God and back." "Why go to him today?" he asked. "It is 24 not New Moon or sabbath." But she answered, "Never mind." She had the donkey saddled, and said to her servant, "Lead on, go! Do not draw rein until 25 I give the order." She set off and came to the man of God at Mount Carmel; when he saw her in the distance, he said to his servant Gehazi, "Look, here 26 comes our Shunammite! Now run and meet her and ask her, 'Are you well?

 27 Is your husband well? Your child well?'" She answered, "Yes." When she came to the man of God there on the mountain, she took hold of his feet. Gehazi stepped forward to push her away, but the man of God said, "Leave her; there is bitterness in her soul and Yahweh has hidden it from me, he has not told me." 28 She said, "Did I ask my lord for a son? Did I not say: Do not deceive me?" 29 Elisha said to Gehazi, "Tuck up your cloak, take my staff in your hand and go.
 If you meet anyone, do not greet him; if anyone greets you, do not answer him.
 30 You are to stretch out my staff over the child." But the child's mother said, "As Yahweh lives and as you yourself live, I will not leave you." Then he stood up 31 and followed her. Gehazi had gone ahead of them and had stretched out the staff over the child, but there was no sound or response. He went back to meet 32 Elisha and told him. "The child has not woken up," he said. Elisha then went to 33 the house, and there on his bed lay the child, dead. He went in and shut the door 34 on the two of them and prayed to Yahweh. Then he climbed onto the bed and stretched himself on top of the child, putting his mouth on his mouth, his eyes to his eyes, and his hands on his hands, and as he lowered himself onto him, 35 the child's flesh grew warm. Then he got up and walked to and fro inside the house, and then climbed onto the bed again and lowered himself onto the child 36 seven times in all; then the child sneezed and opened his eyes. He then summoned Gehazi. "Call our Shunammite," he said; and he called her. When she 37 came to him, he said, "Take up your son." She went in and, falling at his feet, bowed down to the ground; and taking up her son went out.

The poisoned soup

38 Elisha went back to Gilgal while there was famine in the country. As the brotherhood of prophets were sitting with him, he said to his servant, "Put the 39 large pot on the fire and cook some soup for the brotherhood." One of them went into the fields to gather herbs and came on some wild vine off which he gathered enough gourds to fill his lap. On his return, he cut them up into the 40 pot of soup; they did not know what they were. They then poured the soup out for the men to eat, but they had no sooner tasted the soup than they cried, "Man 41 of God, there is death in the pot!" And they could not eat it. "Bring some meal then," Elisha said. This he threw into the pot, and said, "Pour out for these men, and let them eat." And there was nothing harmful in the pot.

The multiplication of loaves 42 A man came from Baal-shalishah, bringing the man of God bread from the first fruits, twenty barley loaves and fresh grain in the ear. "Give it to the people 43 to eat," Elisha said. But his servant replied, "How can I serve this to a hundred men?" "Give it to the people to eat," he insisted, "for Yahweh says this, 'They 44 will eat and have some left over.'" He served them; they ate and had some left over, as Yahweh had said.

Naaman is healed

1 5 Naaman, army commander to the king of Aram, was a man who enjoyed his master's respect and favor, since through him Yahweh had granted 2 victory to the Aramaeans. But the man was a leper. Now on one of their raids, the Aramaeans had carried off from the land of Israel a little girl who had 3 become a servant of Naaman's wife. She said to her mistress, "If only my master would approach the prophet of Samaria. He would cure him of his leprosy."

4 Naaman went and told his master. "This and this," he reported, "is what the girl 5 from the land of Israel said." "Go by all means," said the king of Aram. "I will 6 send a letter to the king of Israel." So Naaman left, taking with him ten talents 7 of silver, six thousand shekels of gold and ten festal robes. He presented the 8 letter to the king of Israel. It read: "With this letter, I am sending my servant 9 Naaman to you for you to cure him of his leprosy." When the king of Israel 10 read the letter, he tore his garments. "Am I a god to give death and life," he said, 11 "that he sends a man to me and asks me to cure him of his leprosy? Listen to this, 12 and take note of it and see how he intends to pick a quarrel with me."

13 When Elisha heard that the king of Israel had torn his garments, he sent word 14 to the king, "Why did you tear your garments? Let him come to me, and he will 15 find there is a prophet in Israel." So Naaman came with his team and chariot 16 and drew up at the door of Elisha's house. And Elisha sent him a messenger 17 to say, "Go and bathe seven times in the Jordan, and your flesh will become clean 18 once more." But Naaman was indignant and went off, saying, "Here was I 19 thinking he would be sure to come out to me, and stand there, and call on the 20 name of Yahweh his God, and wave his hand over the spot and cure the leprous 21 part. Surely Abana and Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, are better than 22 any water in Israel? Could I not bathe in them and become clean?" And he turned 23 around and went off in a rage. But his servants approached him and said, "My 24 father, if the prophet had asked you to do something difficult, would you not 25 have done it? All the more reason, then, when he says to you, 'Bathe, and you 26 will become clean.'" So he went down and immersed himself seven times in the 27 Jordan, as Elisha had told him to do. And his flesh became clean once more like the flesh of a little child.

28 Returning to Elisha with his whole escort, he went in and stood before him.
29 "Now I know," he said, "that there is no God in all the earth except in Israel.
30 Now, please, accept a present from your servant." But Elisha replied, "As Yahweh 31 lives, whom I serve, I will accept nothing." Naaman pressed him to accept, but 32 he refused. Then Naaman said, "Since your answer is 'No,' allow your servant 33 to be given as much earth as two mules may carry, because your servant will no 34 longer offer holocaust or sacrifice to any god except Yahweh. Only—and may 35 Yahweh forgive your servant—when my master goes to the temple of Rimmon 36 to worship there, he leans on my arm, and I bow down in the temple of Rimmon 37 when he does"; may Yahweh forgive your servant this act!" "Go in peace," Elisha answered.

38 Naaman had gone a small distance, when Gehazi, the servant of Elisha, 39 said to himself, "My master has let this Aramaean Naaman off lightly, by not 40 accepting what he offered. As Yahweh lives, I will run after him and get 41 something out of him." So Gehazi set off in pursuit of Naaman. When Naaman 42 saw him running after him, he jumped down from his chariot to meet him.
43 "Is all well?" he asked. "All is well," he said. "My master has sent me to say, 44 'This very moment two young men of the prophetic brotherhood have arrived 45 from the highlands of Ephraim. Be kind enough to give them a talent of 46 silver.'" "Please accept two talents," Naaman replied, and pressed him, tying 47 up the two talents of silver in two bags and consigning them to two of his 48 servants who carried them in front of Gehazi. When he reached Ophel, he took 49 them from their hands and put them away in the house. He then dismissed the 50 men, who went away.

51 He, for his part, went and presented himself to his master. Elisha said, "Gehazi, 52 where have you been?" "Your servant has not been anywhere," he replied. But 53 Elisha said to him, "Was not my heart present there when someone left his 54 chariot to meet you? Now you have taken the money, you can buy gardens with 55 it, and olive groves, sheep and oxen, male and female slaves. But Naaman's 56 leprosy will cling to you and to your descendants for ever." And Gehazi left his 57 presence a leper, white as snow.

The ax lost and found

1 6 The brotherhood of prophets said to Elisha, "Look, the place where we live 2 side by side with you is too confined for us. Let us go to the Jordan, then, and each of us cut a beam there, and we will make our living quarters there." 3 He replied, "Go." "Be good enough to go with your servants," one of them said.
 4 "I will go," he answered, and went with them. On reaching the Jordan they 5 cut down timber. But, as one of them was felling his beam, the iron axhead fell into the water. "Alas, my lord," he exclaimed, "and it was a borrowed one 6 too!" "Where did it fall?" the man of God asked; and he showed him the spot.
 Then, cutting a stick, Elisha threw it in at that point and made the iron axhead 7 float. "Lift it out," he said; and the man stretched out his hand and took it.

D. THE ARAMAEAN WARS

Elisha captures an armed band of Aramaeans

8 The king of Aram was at war with Israel. He conferred with his officers, 9 and said, "You are to attack at such and such a place." But Elisha sent word to the king of Israel, "Be on your guard at this place, because the Aramaeans 10 are going to attack it." The king of Israel accordingly sent men to the place Elisha had named. And he kept warning the king, and the king stayed on the alert; and this happened more than once or twice.

11 The king of Aram was disturbed in mind at this; he summoned his officers, 12 and said, "Tell me which of you is betraying us to the king of Israel." "No, my lord king," one of his officers replied, "it is Elisha, the prophet in Israel, who 13 reveals to the king of Israel the words you speak in your bedchamber." "Go and find out where he is," the king said, "so that I can send people to capture him."

14 Word was brought to him, "He is now in Dothan." So he sent horses and chariots there, and a large force; and these, arriving during the night, surrounded the town.

15 Next day, Elisha rose early and went out; and there surrounding the town was an armed force with horses and chariots. "Oh, my lord," his servant said, 16 "what are we to do?" "Have no fear," he replied, "there are more on our side than 17 on theirs." And Elisha prayed. "Yahweh," he said, "open his eyes and make him see." Yahweh opened the servant's eyes, and he saw the mountain covered with horses and chariots of fire surrounding Elisha.

18 As the Aramaeans came down toward him, Elisha prayed to Yahweh, "I beg you to strike this people with blindness." And at the word of Elisha he 19 struck them blind. Then Elisha said to them, "This is not the road, nor is this the town. Follow me; I will lead you to the man you are looking for." But he 20 led them to Samaria. As they entered Samaria, Elisha said, "Yahweh, open the eyes of these men, and let them see." Yahweh opened their eyes and they saw; they were inside Samaria.

21 When the king of Israel saw them, he said to Elisha, "Shall I kill them, my 22 father?" "Do not kill them," he answered. "Do you put prisoners to death when you have taken them with your sword and your bow? Offer them bread and 23 water for them to eat and drink, and let them go back to their master." So the king provided a great feast for them; and when they had eaten and drunk, he sent them off and they returned to their master. Aramaean raiding parties never invaded the territory of Israel again.

Samaria besieged; the famine

24 It happened after this that Ben-hadad king of Aram mustered his whole 25 army and came to lay siege to Samaria. In Samaria there was great famine, and so strict was the siege that the head of a donkey sold for eighty shekels of silver, and one quarter-kab of wild onions for five shekels of silver.

26 Now as the king was passing along the city wall, a woman shouted, "Help, 27 my lord king!" "May Yahweh leave you helpless!" he retorted. "Where can 28 I find help for you? From the threshing floor? From the winepress?" "Then the king asked, "What is the matter?" "This woman here," she answered, "has said to me, 'Give up your son; we will eat him today, and eat my son tomorrow.' 29 So we cooked my son and ate him. Next day, I said to her, 'Give up your son 30 for us to eat.' But she has hidden her son." "On hearing the woman's words, the king tore his garments; the king was walking on the wall, and the people 31 saw that underneath he was wearing sackcloth next his body. "May God do this to me and more," he said, "if the head of Elisha son of Shaphat remains on his shoulders today!"

Elisha foretells imminent relief

32 Elisha was sitting in his house, and the elders were sitting with him. The king sent a messenger ahead but, before the man arrived, Elisha had said to the elders, "Do you see how this born assassin has given orders to cut off my head? Look, when the messenger comes, shut the door; hold the door against him. Is not the 33 sound of his master's step following behind him?" "Even as he spoke, the king arrived. "This misery plainly comes from Yahweh," he said, "why should I still 1 trust in Yahweh?" 7 "Listen to the word of Yahweh," Elisha said. "Yahweh says this, 'By this time tomorrow a measure of finest flour will sell for one shekel, 2 and two measures of barley for one shekel, at the gate of Samaria.'" "The equerry on whose arm the king was leaning retorted to Elisha, "Even if Yahweh made windows in the sky, could this come true?" "You will see it with your own eyes," Elisha answered, "though you will eat none of it."

The Aramaean camp is found abandoned

3 Now at the entrance to the gate—for they were lepers—there were four men 4 and they debated among themselves, "Why sit here waiting for death? If we decide to go into the town, what with the famine in it, we shall die there; if we stay here we shall die just the same. Come on, let us go over to the Aramaean 5 camp; if they spare our lives, we live; if they kill us, well then we die." "So at dusk they set out and made for the Aramaean camp, but when they reached the 6 confines of the camp there was not a soul there. "For Yahweh had caused the Aramaeans in their camp to hear a noise of chariots and horses, noise of a great army; and they had said to one another, "Hark! The king of Israel has 7 hired the Hittite kings against us and the kings of Egypt to attack us." "So in the dusk they had made off and fled, abandoning their tents, their horses and their donkeys; leaving the camp just as it was, they had fled for their lives.
8 The lepers, then, reached the confines of the camp. They went into one of the tents and ate and drank, and from it carried off silver and gold and clothing; these they went and hid. Then they came back and, entering another tent, looted it too, and went and hid their booty.

The siege at an end; the famine ceases

9 Then they said to one another, "We are doing wrong. This is a day of good news, yet we are holding our tongues! If we wait till morning, we shall surely 10 be punished. Come on, let us go and take the news to the palace." "Off they went, called the city guards, and said, "We have been to the Aramaean camp.
There was not a soul there, no sound of anyone, only tethered horses and tethered 11 donkeys, and their tents just as they were." "The gatekeepers shouted the news, which was reported inside the palace.
12 The king got up while it was still dark and said to his officers, "I can tell you what the Aramaeans have done to us. They know we are starving, so they have left the camp to hide in the open country. 'They will come out of the town,' 13 they think, 'we will catch them alive and get into the town.'" ·One of his officers replied, "Five of the surviving horses still left us had better be taken—they 14 would die in any case like all the rest. Let us send them and see." ·So they took two chariot teams and the king sent them after the Aramaean army, saying, 15 "Go and see." ·They tracked them as far as the Jordan, finding the whole way strewn with clothes and gear that the Aramaeans had thrown away in their panic. The scouts returned and informed the king.

16 Then the people went out and plundered the Aramaean camp: a measure of finest flour sold for one shekel, and two measures of barley for one shekel, 17 as Yahweh had promised they would be. ·The king had detailed the equerry, on whose arm he leaned, as commander of the guard on the gate, but the people trampled on him in the gateway and he died, as the man of God had foretold 18 when the king had come down to him. (What Elisha had said to the king came true, "Two measures of barley will sell for one shekel, and a measure of finest 19 flour for one shekel, by this time tomorrow at the gate of Samaria." ·The equerry had retorted to Elisha, "Even if Yahweh made windows in the sky, could this come true?" "You will see it with your own eyes," Elisha had answered, "though you 20 will eat none of it." ·And this is what happened to him: the people trampled on him in the gateway and he died.)

Epilogue to the story of the woman of Shunem

1 8 Elisha had said to the woman whose son he had raised to life, "Move away with your family, and live where you can in some foreign country, for Yahweh has called up a famine—it is coming on the country already—for seven years." 2 The woman hurried to do what the man of God had told her; she set out, she 3 and her family, and for seven years she lived in the land of the Philistines. ·When the seven years were over, the woman came back from the land of the Philistines and went to lodge a claim with the king for her house and lands.
 4 Now the king was talking to Gehazi, the servant of the man of God. "Tell me," 5 he was saying, "all the great things Elisha has done." ·Gehazi was just telling the king how Elisha had raised the dead child to life, when the woman whose son Elisha had raised lodged her claim with the king for her house and lands. "My lord king," Gehazi said, "this is the very woman, and that is her son whom Elisha 6 raised to life." ·The king questioned the woman, who told him the story. The king then referred her to one of the eunuchs, giving him this order: "See that all her property is restored to her, and all the revenue from her land from the day she left the country until now."

Elisha and Hazael of Damascus

7 Elisha came to Damascus. Ben-hadad the king of Aram was ill, and was 8 told, "The man of God has come all the way to us." ·Then the king said to Hazael, "Take a present with you and go to meet the man of God; consult Yahweh through him, and find out if I shall recover from my illness."

9 So Hazael went to meet Elisha, taking with him as a present the best Damascus could offer, a load for forty camels. He came and standing before him said, "Your son Ben-hadad has sent me to ask you, 'Shall I recover from my illness?'" 10 Elisha answered, "Go and tell him, 'You will certainly recover,' though Yahweh 11 has shown me that he will certainly die." ·Then his face went rigid and his look 12 grew fixed, and the man of God wept. "Why," Hazael asked, "does my lord weep?" "Because I know," Elisha replied, "all the harm you will do the Israelites:
 you will burn down their fortresses, put their picked warriors to the sword, 13 dash their little children to pieces, rip open their pregnant women." "But what is your servant?" Hazael said. "How could this dog achieve anything so great?" "In a vision from Yahweh," Elisha replied, "I have seen you king of Aram."

14 Leaving Elisha, Hazael went back to his master who asked, "What did Elisha 15 say to you?" He answered, "He told me you would certainly recover." Next day he took a blanket, soaked it in water, and spread it over his face." So died Ben-hadad, and Hazael succeeded him.

The reign of Jehoram in Judah (848-841)

16 In the fifth year of Jehoram son of Ahab king of Israel, Jehoram son of 17 Jehoshaphat became king of Judah. He was thirty-two years old when he came 18 to the throne, and he reigned for eight years in Jerusalem. He followed the example of the kings of Israel as the family of Ahab had done, having taken a wife 19 from the family^b of Ahab; he did what is displeasing to Yahweh. Yahweh, however, did not intend to destroy Judah, because of his servant David, and was faithful to the promise he had made to leave him a lamp for ever in his presence.

20 In his time Edom threw off the domination of Judah and set up a king for 21 itself. Jehoram crossed to Zair, and with him all the chariots . . . He rose during the night and, with his chariot commanders, broke through the 22 Edomites encircling him; the people fled to their tents. Thus Edom threw off the domination of Judah, remaining free to the present day. Libnah also revolted. At that time . . .

23 The rest of the history of Jehoram, his entire career, is not all this recorded 24 in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? Then Jehoram slept with his ancestors and was buried with his ancestors in the Citadel of David; his son Ahaziah succeeded him.

The reign of Ahaziah in Judah (841)

25 In the twelfth year of Jehoram son of Ahab king of Israel, Ahaziah son of 26 Jehoram became king of Judah. Ahaziah was twenty-two years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name 27 was Athaliah, daughter of Omri king of Israel. He followed the example of the family of Ahab and did what is displeasing to Yahweh as the family of Ahab had done, to whom he was related by marriage.

28 He went with Jehoram son of Ahab to fight against Hazael king of Aram 29 at Ramoth-gilead, but the Aramaeans wounded Jehoram. King Jehoram returned to Jezreel to recover from the wounds which he had received at Ramah, fighting against Hazael king of Aram. Ahaziah son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to Jezreel to visit Jehoram son of Ahab because he was ill.

E. THE HISTORY OF JEHU

A disciple of Elisha anoints Jehu king

1 9 Elisha the prophet summoned a member of the prophetic brotherhood to him, "Tuck up your cloak, take this flask of oil, and go to Ramoth-gilead.
2 When you arrive there, look for Jehu son of Jehoshaphat son of Nimshi. Then, when you find him, tell him to get up and leave his companions, and take 3 him into an inner room. Take the flask of oil then and pour it over his head, and say, 'This is Yahweh's word: I have anointed you king of Israel.' Then throw open the door and escape as fast as you can."

4 The young man left for Ramoth-gilead and when he arrived, he found the 5 senior officers of the army sitting together. "I have a message for you, commander," he said. "For which of us?" asked Jehu. "For you, commander," he answered.
6 Then Jehu got up and went into the house. And the young man poured the oil on his head, saying, "Yahweh the God of Israel says this, 'I have anointed 7 you king over the people of Yahweh, king of Israel. You are to strike down the family of Ahab your master, and I will avenge the blood of my servants the 8 prophets and of all the servants of Yahweh on Jezebel and the whole family of Ahab. I will wipe out every male belonging to the family of Ahab, fettered or free in Israel. I will make the family of Ahab like the family of Jeroboam son of Nebat and of Baasha son of Ahijah. As for Jezebel, the dogs shall eat her in the territory of Jezreel; no one will bury her." With this, he opened the door and made his escape.

Jehu proclaimed king

Jehu came out to the officers of his master. "Is all well?" they asked him. "Why did this madman come to you?" "You know the fellow and how he talks," he answered. "Evasion!" they cried. "Come on, tell us." He replied, "His drift was this—he said, 'Yahweh says this: I have anointed you king of Israel.'" Whereupon they all took their cloaks and spread them under him on the bare steps; they sounded the trumpet and shouted, "Jehu is king!"

Jehu prepares to usurp power

Jehu son of Jehoshaphat son of Nimshi plotted against Jehoram. (Jehoram, with all Israel, was at that time defending Ramoth-gilead against Hazael king of Aram, although Jehoram had returned to Jezreel to recover from the wounds which he had received from the Aramaeans while he was fighting against Hazael king of Aram.) "If this is how you feel," Jehu said, "let no one escape from the town to go and take the news to Jezreel." Jehu then mounted his chariot and left for Jezreel; Jehoram had taken to his bed there, and Ahaziah king of Judah had gone down to visit him.

The lookout posted on the tower of Jezreel saw Jehu's troop approaching, "I can see a body of men," he shouted. Jehoram gave the order: "Have a horseman sent to meet them and ask, 'Is all well?'" The horseman went to meet Jehu and said, "The king says, 'Is all well?'" "What has it to do with you whether all is well?" Jehu replied. "Fall in behind me." The lookout reported, "The messenger has reached them and is not coming back." The king sent a second horseman who reached them and said, "The king says, 'Is all well?'" "What has it to do with you whether all is well?" Jehu replied. "Fall in behind me." The lookout reported, "He has reached them and is not coming back. The manner of driving is like that of Jehu son of Nimshi: he drives like a madman." "Harness!" Jehoram cried; and they harnessed his chariot. Then Jehoram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah, each in his chariot, set out to meet Jehu. They reached him in the field of Naboth of Jezreel.

The assassination of Jehoram

As soon as Jehoram saw Jehu he asked, "Is all well, Jehu?" "What a question!" he replied, "when all the while the prostitutions and countless sorceries of your mother Jezebel go on." At this, Jehoram wheeled and fled, saying to Ahaziah, "Treason, Ahaziah!" But Jehu had drawn his bow; he struck Jehoram between the shoulder blades, the arrow went through the king's heart, and he sank down in his chariot. "Pick him up," Jehu said to Bidkar, his equerry, "and throw him into the field of Naboth of Jezreel. Remember how, when you and I both rode behind Ahab his father, Yahweh pronounced this sentence against him: 'This I swear. Yesterday I saw the bood of Naboth and the blood of his sons—it is Yahweh who speaks. In this same field I will requite you—it is Yahweh who speaks.' So pick him up, and throw him into the field, as Yahweh declared should happen."

The assassination of Ahaziah

When Ahaziah king of Judah saw this, he fled along the Beth-haggan road, but Jehu went in pursuit of him. "Strike him down too," he said. And they wounded him in his chariot at the slope of Gur, which is near Ibleam, and he took refuge 28 in Megiddo, where he died. His servants carried him in a chariot to Jerusalem 29 and buried him in his tomb in the Citadel of David. Ahaziah had become king of Judah in the eleventh year of Jehoram son of Ahab.

The assassination of Jezebel

30 Jehu went back to Jezreel and Jezebel heard of it. She made up her eyes with 31 kohl and adorned her head and appeared at the window. As Jehu came through 32 the gateway she said, "Is all well, Zimri, you murderer of your master?"^b Jehu 33 looked up to the window and said, "Who is on my side? Who?" And two or three 34 eunuchs looked down at him. "Throw her down," he said. They threw her down, 35 and her blood spattered the walls and the horses; and Jehu rode over her. He 36 went in and ate and drank, then said, "See to this accursed woman, and give her 37 burial; after all, she was a king's daughter." But when they went to bury her, they found nothing but her skull, feet and hands. They came back and told Jehu, who said, "This is the word of Yahweh which he spoke through his servant Elijah the Tishbite, 'The dogs will eat the flesh of Jezebel in the territory of Jezreel; the corpse of Jezebel will be like dung spread on the fields, so that no one will be able to say: This was Jezebel.'"

The massacre of the royal family of Israel

1 10 There were seventy sons of Ahab in Samaria.^a Jehu sent to Samaria, to the 2 authorities of the city, to the elders and to the guardians of the children 3 of Ahab. He said, "At this time, when this letter reaches you, you have your 4 master's sons with you; you also have chariots and horses, fortified towns and 5 weapons. See which of your master's sons is the best and worthiest, put him 6 on his father's throne and fight for the dynasty of your master." They were 7 utterly terrified. "We have seen how the two kings could not stand up to him," 8 they said, "so how could we do so?" Consequently the master of the palace, the 9 governor of the city, the elders and the guardians sent word to Jehu, "We are 10 your servants. We will do whatever you order us. We will not proclaim a king; 11 act as you think best."

6 Jehu then wrote them a second letter. He said, "If you are for me and if you are prepared to accept orders from me, take the heads^b of the men of your master's house and come to me at Jezreel by this time tomorrow." (There were seventy sons 7 of the king being educated there by the leading men of the city.) When this letter reached them, they took the king's sons and butchered all seventy of them, put their heads in baskets and sent them to him at Jezreel.

8 The messenger came and told Jehu, "They have brought the heads of the king's sons." "Leave them in two heaps at the entrance to the gate until morning," 9 he replied. When morning came, he went out and, standing, said to all the people, "Be guiltless! I certainly plotted against my master and murdered him; but who 10 killed all these? Know, then, nothing will fail to be fulfilled of the oracle uttered 11 by Yahweh against the family of Ahab: Yahweh has done what he said through his servant Elijah." Jehu then killed everyone of the House of Ahab surviving in Jezreel, all his leading men, his close friends, his priests; he did not leave a single one alive.

The massacre of the princes of Judah

12 Jehu then set out and went to Samaria. As he was on his way he met, at 13 Beth-eked of the Shepherds, the brothers of Ahaziah king of Judah. "Who are you?" he asked. "We are brothers of Ahaziah," they answered, "and we are going down to pay our respects to the sons of the king and the sons of the queen." 14 "Take them alive," he said. They took them alive, and he slaughtered them at the cistern of Beth-eked, forty-two of them; he did not spare a single one.

Jehu and Jehonadab

15 Leaving there, he came upon Jehonadab son of Rechab who was on his way to meet him. He greeted him and said, "Is your heart true to mine, as my heart is to yours?" Jehonadab replied, "Yes." "If so," Jehu said, "give me your hand." Jehonadab gave him his hand, and Jehu took him up beside him in his chariot. 16 "Come with me," he said, "and witness my zeal for Yahweh," and drove him on 17 in his chariot. When he entered Samaria, he killed all the survivors of Ahab's family in Samaria; he wiped it out, as Yahweh had told Elijah it would happen.

The destruction of the adherents and temple of Baal

18 Then Jehu assembled all the people. "Ahab did Baal some small service," 19 he said, "but Jehu will do him a great one. Now call me all the prophets of Baal and all his priests. Let no one be missing: I have a great sacrifice to offer to Baal. If anyone is missing, he shall forfeit his life." This was a trick on Jehu's part to 20 destroy the devotees of Baal. "Summon a sacred assembly for Baal," he com- 21 manded; and they summoned it. Jehu sent messengers throughout Israel, and 22 all the devotees of Baal arrived, not a man was left who did not attend. They 23 packed into the temple of Baal until it was full from wall to wall. Jehu then said 24 to the keeper of the wardrobe, "Bring out vestments for all the devotees of Baal"; he brought out the vestments for them. Jehu then went into the temple of Baal 25 with Jehonadab son of Rechab and said to the devotees of Baal, "Make quite 26 sure there are no devotees of Yahweh in here with you, but only devotees of 27 Baal." He then proceeded to offer sacrifices and holocausts.

Now Jehu had stationed eighty of his men outside, having said, "If any of 28 you lets anyone of those I am handing over to you escape, his life will pay for 29 the life of the other." When he had finished offering the holocaust, he gave the 30 order to the guards and squires: "Go in, strike them down! Let no one out!" The guards and squires went in, putting everyone to the sword, until they had 31 reached the sanctuary of the temple of Baal. They took the sacred pole out 32 of the temple of Baal and burned it. They demolished the altar of Baal, and 33 demolished the temple of Baal too, making it into a latrine, which it still is 34 today.

The reign of Jehu in Israel (841-814)

35 Thus Jehu rid Israel of Baal. Even so, Jehu did not give up the sins into 36 which Jeroboam son of Nebat had led Israel, the golden calves of Bethel and 37 Dan. Yahweh said to Jehu, "Since you have done properly what was pleasing 38 in my sight, and have achieved all I set my heart on against Ahab's family, your 39 sons shall sit on the throne of Israel down to the fourth generation." But Jehu 40 did not follow the law of Yahweh, the God of Israel faithfully and wholeheartedly: 41 he did not give up the sins into which Jeroboam son of Nebat had led Israel.

42 At that time, Yahweh began to whittle Israel down, and Hazael defeated the 43 Israelites throughout the territory from the Jordan eastward: all the land of 44 Gilead, of the Gadites, the Reubenites and the Manassites, from Aroer which 45 is by the wadi Arnon, Gilead and Bashan^c.

46 The rest of the history of Jehu, his entire career, all his prowess, is not all this 47 recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel? Then he slept with 48 his ancestors, and they buried him in Samaria; his son Jehoahaz succeeded him. 49 Jehu's reign over Israel in Samaria lasted twenty-eight years.

F. FROM THE REIGN OF ATHALIAH TO THE DEATH OF ELISHA

Athaliah (841–835)

¹ 11 When Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah learned that her son was dead, she ² promptly did away with all those of royal stock. But Jehosheba, daughter of King Jehoram and sister of Ahaziah, secretly took away Jehoash, her brother's son, from among the sons of the king who were being murdered, and put him with his nurse in the sleeping quarters; in this way she hid him from Athaliah, and he ³ was not put to death. He stayed with her for six years, hidden in the Temple of Yahweh, while Athaliah governed the country.

⁴ In the seventh year, Jehoiada^a sent for the commanders of hundreds of the Carians^b and of the guards, and had them brought to him in the Temple of Yahweh. He made a pact with them and, putting them under oath, showed them ⁵ the king's son. He gave them this order: "This is what you must do: one third of ⁶ you, those who are off duty on the sabbath, are to mount guard at the royal ⁷ palace, while the other two thirds of you, mounting guard at the Temple of ⁸ Yahweh, are to surround the king, each with his weapons in his hand; anyone who tries to break through your ranks is to be put to death. Wherever the king goes or comes, you are to escort him."

⁹ The commanders of hundreds did everything as Jehoiada the priest had ordered. They brought their men, those coming off duty on the sabbath together with those mounting guard on the sabbath, and came to Jehoiada the priest.
¹⁰ The priest equipped the commanders of hundreds with King David's spears and ¹¹ shields which were in the Temple of Yahweh. The guards formed up, each man with his weapon in his hand, from the south corner to the north corner of the ¹² Temple, surrounding the altar and the Temple. Then Jehoiada brought out the king's son, put the crown and armlets on him, and he anointed him king.
They clapped their hands and shouted, "Long live the king!"

¹³ Athaliah, on hearing the shouts of the people, made for the Temple of ¹⁴ Yahweh where the people were. When she saw the king standing there beside the pillar, as the custom was, with the captains and trumpeters at the king's side, and all the country people rejoicing and sounding trumpets, Athaliah tore ¹⁵ her garments and shouted, "Treason, treason!" Then Jehoiada the priest gave the order to the army officers: "Take her outside the precincts and put to death anyone who follows her." "For," the priest had reasoned, "she must not be put ¹⁶ to death in the Temple of Yahweh." They seized her, and when she had reached the palace through the Entry of the Horses, she was put to death there.

¹⁷ Jehoiada made a covenant between Yahweh and king and people, by which the latter undertook to be the people of Yahweh; and also between king and ¹⁸ people. All the country people then went to the temple of Baal and demolished it; they smashed his altars and his images and killed Mattan, priest of Baal, in front of the altars.

¹⁹ The priest posted sentries to guard the Temple of Yahweh. He then took the commanders of hundreds, the Carians, the guards and all the country people and made them escort the king down from the Temple of Yahweh and through the Gate of the Guards into the palace. Jehoash took his seat on the throne of ²⁰ the kings. All the country people were delighted, and the city made no move.
And they put Athaliah to death in the royal palace.

The reign of Jehoash in Judah (835–796)

^{21,2} 12 Jehoash was seven years old when he came to the throne. Jehoash became king in the seventh year of Jehu, and reigned for forty years in Jerusalem.
³ His mother's name was Zibiah, of Beersheba. Jehoash did what is pleasing to ⁴ Yahweh all his life, having been instructed by Jehoiada the priest. The high ³ places, however, were not abolished, and the people still offered sacrifices and incense on the high places.

5 Jehoash said to the priests, "All the money from the sacred dues brought to the 4 Temple of Yahweh, the money from personal taxes, and the money given 5 spontaneously to the Temple is to be accepted by the priests, from people of 6 their acquaintance, and the priests are to carry out all repairs to the Temple as 7 required." Now in the twenty-third year of King Jehoash, the priests had done 8 no repairs to the Temple; so King Jehoash summoned Jehoiada the priest and the 9 other priests. "Why are you not repairing the Temple?" he asked. "You are no 10 longer to accept money from people of your acquaintance, but are to hand it 11 over for the Temple repairs." The priests agreed to accept no money from the 12 people and no longer to be responsible for repairs to the Temple.

13 Jehoiada the priest procured a chest, bored a hole in the lid of it, and placed it beside the pillar, to the right as you enter the Temple of Yahweh; in it the 14 priests who guarded the threshold put all the money that was given for the 15 Temple of Yahweh. Whenever they saw that there was a lot of money in the 16 chest, the king's secretary would come, and they would melt down and reckon 17 the money then in the Temple of Yahweh. Once checked, they paid this money 18 over to the masters of works attached to the Temple of Yahweh, and these in 19 turn spent it on carpenters and builders working on the Temple of Yahweh, 20 on masons and stonecutters, and on buying wood and dressed stone to be used 21 for repairs to the Temple of Yahweh; in short, for all the costs of the Temple 22 repairs. No silver basins, however, no knives, sprinkling bowls, trumpets, no 23 gold or silver objects whatever were made for the Temple of Yahweh out of the 24 money presented, for this was all given to the workmen who used it for repairing 25 the Temple of Yahweh. No accounts were kept with the men to whom the 26 money was paid over to be spent on the workmen, since they were honest in 27 their dealings. Money offered in expiation of an offense or of a sin was not given to the Temple of Yahweh; that was for the priests.

28 At that time Hazael king of Aram went to war against Gath, and captured it; 29 he then prepared to attack Jerusalem. Jehoash king of Judah took all the sacred 30 offerings dedicated by his ancestors, the kings of Judah, Jehoshaphat, Jehoram and 31 Ahaziah, with those that he himself had dedicated, and all the gold that was to be found in the treasuries of the Temple of Yahweh and of the royal palace;
 he sent it all to Hazael king of Aram, who retired from Jerusalem.

32 The rest of the history of Jehoash, his entire career, is not all this recorded in 33 the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? His officers rebelled and hatched a 34 plot; they struck Jehoash down at Beth-millo . . . Jozacar son of Shimeath and 35 Jehozabad son of Shomer were the two who struck him down and killed him.
 They buried him with his ancestors in the Citadel of David; his son Amaziah succeeded him.

The reign of Jehoahaz in Israel (814–798)

1 13 In the twenty-third year of Joash son of Ahaziah, king of Judah, Jehoahaz 2 son of Jehu became king of Israel in Samaria. He reigned for seventeen 3 years. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh and persisted in the sin into which Jeroboam had led Israel; he did not give it up.

4 Then the anger of Yahweh blazed out against the Israelites, and he delivered them without respite into the power of Hazael king of Aram and of Ben-hadad^a 5 son of Hazael. Jehoahaz, however, tried to placate Yahweh, and Yahweh 6 heard him, for he had seen the oppression the king of Aram was inflicting on 7 them. Yahweh gave Israel a savior who freed them from the grip of Aram, and the Israelites lived in their tents as in the past. But they did not give up the sin into which Jeroboam had led Israel; they persisted in it, and even the sacred pole remained in Samaria. Yahweh left of the army of Jehoahaz only fifty horsemen, ten chariots and ten thousand foot soldiers. The king of Aram had destroyed them, making them like the dust that is trampled under foot.

⁸ The rest of the history of Jehoahaz, his entire career, his prowess, is not all ⁹ this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel? Then Jehoahaz slept with his ancestors, and they buried him in Samaria; his son Joash succeeded him.

The reign of Jehoash in Israel (798–783)

¹⁰ In the thirty-seventh year of Joash king of Judah, Jehoash, son of Jehoahaz, ¹¹ became king of Israel in Samaria. He reigned for sixteen years. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, he did not give up the sin into which Jeroboam son of Nebat had led Israel; he persisted in it.

¹² The rest of the history of Joash, his entire career, his prowess, how he waged war on Amaziah king of Judah, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals ¹³ of the Kings of Israel? Then Joash slept with his ancestors, and Jeroboam ascended his throne. Joash was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel.

The death of Elisha

¹⁴ When Elisha had fallen ill of the illness he was to die of, Joash king of Israel went down to him and shedding tears over him said, "My father! My father! Chariot of Israel and its chargers!" Elisha said to him, "Bring bow and arrows";
¹⁶ and he drew it. Elisha put his hands over the hands of the king, then he said, "Open the window toward the east," and he opened it. Then Elisha said, "Arrow of victory over Aram! You will defeat Aram at Aphek completely."

¹⁷ Elisha said, "Take the arrows"; and he took them. Then he said to the king, "Strike the ground"; and he struck it three times, then stopped. At this, the man of God grew angry with him. "You should have struck half a dozen times," he said, "and you would have beaten Aram completely; now you will only beat Aram three times."

¹⁸ Elisha died, and was buried. Now bands of Moabites were making incursions ¹⁹ into the country every year. Some people happened to be carrying a man out for burial; at the sight of one of these bands, they flung the man into the tomb of Elisha and made off. The man had no sooner touched the bones of Elisha than he came to life and stood up on his feet.

Victory over the Aramaeans

²⁰ Hazael king of Aram had oppressed the Israelites throughout the lifetime of Jehoahaz, but Yahweh was kind and took pity on them. Because of the covenant he had made with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, he relented toward them; he had ²¹ no wish to destroy them, he did not cast them out of his presence. Hazael king of Aram died, and his son Ben-hadad succeeded him. Jehoash son of Jehoahaz recaptured from Ben-hadad son of Hazael the towns which Hazael had seized from his father Jehoahaz by force of arms. Joash defeated him three times and recovered the Israelite towns.

VII. THE TWO KINGDOMS TO THE FALL OF SAMARIA

The reign of Amaziah in Judah (796–781)

¹ 14 In the second year of Joash son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel, Amaziah son ² of Joash became king of Judah. He was twenty-five years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His ³ mother's name was Jehoaddin, of Jerusalem. He did what is pleasing to Yahweh, though not like his ancestor David; he imitated his father Joash in all respects.

4 The high places, however, were not abolished, and the people still offered sacrifices and incense on the high places.

5 Once the kingdom was firmly under his control, he killed those of his officers 6 who had murdered the king his father. 'But he did not put the murderers' sons to death, in accordance with what is written in the Book of Moses, where Yahweh has ordered: "Fathers must not be put to death for sons, nor sons for fathers; every one must be put to death for his own sin."

7 It was he who defeated the Edomites in the Valley of Salt, ten thousand of them, and who took the Rock by assault; he gave it the name Joktheel, which it bears to this present day.

8 Then Amaziah sent messengers to Jehoash son of Jehoahaz son of Jehu, king 9 of Israel, saying, "Come and make a trial of strength!" Jehoash king of Israel sent word to Amaziah king of Judah, "The thistle of Lebanon sent a message to the cedar of Lebanon, 'Give my son your daughter in marriage'; but the wild 10 animals of Lebanon trampled down the thistle as they passed. 'You have conquered Edom, and now hold your head in the air; boast on, but stay at home. Why challenge disaster, to your own ruin and the ruin of Judah?'"

11 But Amaziah would not listen, and Jehoash king of Israel marched to the attack. And at Beth-shemesh, which belongs to Judah, they made their trial of strength, 12 Jehoash and Amaziah king of Judah. Judah was defeated by Israel, and everyone fled to his tent. 'The king of Judah, Amaziah son of Jehoash, son of Ahaziah, was taken prisoner at Beth-shemesh by Joash king of Israel who led him off to 13 Jerusalem, where Joash demolished the city wall from the Gate of Ephraim to the Gate of the Corner for a distance of four hundred cubits. 'He took all the gold and silver, and all the furnishings to be found in the Temple of Yahweh and in the treasury of the royal palace, and hostages besides, and then returned to Samaria.

15 The rest of the history of Jehoash, his entire career, his prowess, how he waged war on Amaziah king of Judah, is not all this recorded in the Book of the 16 Annals of the Kings of Israel? 'Then Jehoash slept with his ancestors, and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel; his son Jeroboam succeeded him.

17 Amaziah son of Joash, king of Judah, lived for fifteen years after the death of Jehoash son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel.

18 The rest of the history of Amaziah, is not all this recorded in the Book of the 19 Annals of the Kings of Judah? 'A plot having been hatched against him in Jerusalem, he fled to Lachish; but he was followed to Lachish where he was 20 put to death. 'He was brought back by horse, and buried in Jerusalem with his ancestors in the Citadel of David. 'All the people of Judah chose Uzziah, 21 then sixteen years old, and made him king in succession to his father Amaziah.

22 It was he who rebuilt Elath and recovered it for Judah, after the king had slept with his ancestors.

The reign of Jeroboam II in Israel (783-743)

23 In the fifteenth year of Amaziah son of Joash, king of Judah, Jeroboam son of Joash became king of Israel in Samaria. He reigned for forty-one years.
24 He did what is displeasing to Yahweh and did not give up any of the sins into which Jeroboam son of Nebat had led Israel.

25 It was he who recovered the territory of Israel from the Pass of Hamath as far as the Sea of the Arabah, in accordance with the word that Yahweh, the God of Israel, had spoken through his servant Jonah^a son of Amittai, the 26 prophet from Gath-hepher. 'For Yahweh had seen how very bitter the affliction of Israel was, with no one, neither fettered nor free, to come to the help of Israel.
27 But Yahweh had resolved not to blot out the name of Israel from under heaven; he rescued them by means of Jeroboam son of Joash.

14 a. This prophet is made the central figure of the Book of Jonah.

28 The rest of the history of Jeroboam, his entire career, his prowess, what wars he waged, how he . . . is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals 29 of the Kings of Israel? Then Jeroboam slept with his ancestors. They buried him in Samaria with the kings of Israel; his son Zechariah succeeded him.

The reign of Uzziah in Judah (781–740)

1 15 In the seventeenth year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Uzziah son of Amaziah 2 became king of Judah. He was sixteen years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was 3 Jecoliah, of Jerusalem. He did what is pleasing to Yahweh, just as his father 4 Amaziah had done. The high places, however, were not abolished, and the people still offered sacrifices and incense on the high places.

5 But Yahweh struck the king, and he became a leper till his dying day. He lived confined to his room; his son Jotham was master of the palace and ruled the country.

6 The rest of the history of Uzziah, his entire career, is not all this recorded 7 in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? Then Uzziah slept with his ancestors, and they buried him in the Citadel of David; his son Jotham succeeded him.

The reign of Zechariah in Israel (743)

8 In the thirty-eighth year of Uzziah king of Judah, Zechariah son of Jeroboam 9 became king of Israel in Samaria for six months. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, as his fathers had done; he did not give up the sins into which Jeroboam son of Nebat had led Israel.

10 Shallum son of Jabesh plotted against him, murdered him at Ibleam, and succeeded him.

11 The rest of the history of Zechariah is recorded in the Book of the Annals 12 of the Kings of Israel. It happened as Yahweh had said to Jehu, "Your sons will sit on the throne of Israel to the fourth generation." And so it turned out.

The reign of Shallum in Israel (743)

13 Shallum son of Jabesh became king in the thirty-ninth year of Uzziah king of Judah, and reigned for one month in Samaria.

14 Then Menahem son of Gadi went up from Tirzah, entered Samaria, murdered Shallum son of Jabesh there, and succeeded him.

15 The rest of the history of Shallum, and the plot he hatched, all this is recorded 16 in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel. It was at that time that Menahem sacked Tappush—killing all who were in it—and its territory from Tirzah onward, because it had not opened its gates to him; he sacked the town and ripped open all the pregnant women.

17 In the thirty-ninth year of Uzziah king of Judah, Menahem son of Gadi 18 became king of Israel. He reigned for ten years in Samaria. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, he did not give up the sins into which Jeroboam son of Nebat had led Israel.

19 In his times, Pul^o king of Assyria invaded the country, Menahem gave Pul a thousand talents of silver in return for his support in strengthening his hold 20 on the royal power. Menahem levied this sum from Israel, from all the men of rank, at the rate of fifty shekels a head, to be given to the king of Assyria, who then withdrew, and did not stay in the country.

21 The rest of the history of Menahem, his entire career, is not all this recorded 22 in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel? Then Menahem slept with his ancestors; his son Pekahiah succeeded him.

The reign of Pekahiah in Israel (738–737)

23 In the fiftieth year of Uzziah king of Judah, Pekahiah son of Menahem 24 became king of Israel in Samaria. He reigned for two years. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh; he did not give up the sins into which Jeroboam son of Nebat had led Israel.

²⁵ Pekah son of Remaliah, his equerry, plotted against him and struck him down in Samaria, in the keep of the royal palace . . . He had fifty men of Gilead with him. He killed the king, and succeeded him.

²⁶ The rest of the history of Pekahiah, his entire career, all this is recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel.

The reign of Pekah in Israel (737–732)

²⁷ In the fifty-second year of Uzziah king of Judah, Pekah son of Remaliah ²⁸ became king of Israel in Samaria. He reigned for twenty years. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh; he did not give up the sins into which Jeroboam son of Nebat had led Israel.

²⁹ In the days of Pekah king of Israel, Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria came and captured Ijon, Abel-beth-maacah, Janoah, Kedesh, Hazor, Gilead and Galilee, ³⁰ all the land of Naphtali, and deported the population to Assyria.^b Hoshea son of Elah hatched a plot against Pekah son of Remaliah; he murdered the king, and succeeded him.

³¹ The rest of the history of Pekah, and his entire career, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel?

The reign of Jotham in Judah (740–736)

³² In the second year of Pekah son of Remaliah, king of Israel, Jotham son of ³³ Uzziah became king of Judah. He was twenty-five years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was ³⁴ Jerusha, daughter of Zadok. He did what is pleasing to Yahweh, just as his ³⁵ father Uzziah had done. The high places, however, were not abolished, and the people still offered sacrifices and incense on the high places.

It was he who built the Upper Gate of the Temple of Yahweh.

³⁶ The rest of the history of Jotham, his entire career, is not all this recorded ³⁷ in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? At that time, Yahweh began ³⁸ sending Rezin king of Aram and Pekah son of Remaliah against Judah. Then Jotham slept with his ancestors, and was buried in the Citadel of David, his ancestor; his son Ahaz succeeded him.

The reign of Ahaz in Judah (736–716)

⁵ It was then that Rezin king of Aram and Pekah son of Remaliah, king of Israel, launched their campaign against Jerusalem. They besieged it but could ⁶ not reduce it. (At that time, the king of Edom recovered Elath for Edom; he drove out the men at Judah from Elath, and the Edomites occupied it and ⁷ live there to this present day.) Then Ahaz sent messengers to Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria to say, "I am your servant and your son. Come and rescue me from the king of Aram and the king of Israel who are making war against me." ⁸ And Ahaz took the silver and gold that was found in the Temple of Yahweh and in the treasury of the royal palace, and sent this as a present to the king

9 of Assyria. The king of Assyria granted his request and, going up against Damascus, captured it; he deported its population to Kir, and put Rezin to death.

10 When King Ahaz went to Damascus to meet Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, he saw the altar that was in Damascus. He then sent the measurements and a model of the altar with the detail of its workmanship to Uriah the priest. 11 Uriah the priest constructed the altar; all the instructions sent by King Ahaz from Damascus were carried out by Uriah the priest before King Ahaz returned from Damascus. 12 When the king arrived from Damascus, he inspected the altar, 13 he approached it and ascended it. He burned his holocaust and his oblation; he poured out his libation and sprinkled the blood of his communion sacrifice. 14 The altar that used to stand before Yahweh he removed from the front of the Temple, where it had stood between the new altar and the Temple of Yahweh, and placed it at the north side of the new altar. 15 King Ahaz gave this order to Uriah the priest: "In future you will burn the morning holocaust, the evening oblation, the king's holocaust and his oblation, the holocaust, the oblation and the libations of all people on the great altar; on it you will pour out all the blood of the holocausts and sacrifices. As regards the altar of bronze, I shall see to that." 16 Uriah the priest did everything that King Ahaz had ordered.

17 King Ahaz dismantled the wheeled stands, removed the crosspieces and the basins from them, and took the bronze Sea off the oxen supporting it, and rested it on the stone pavement. 18 In deference to the king of Assyria, he removed from the Temple of Yahweh the dais for the throne, which had been set up there, and the royal entry on the outside.

19 The rest of the history of Ahaz, his entire career, is not all this recorded in 20 the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? Then Ahaz slept with his ancestors, and was buried in the Citadel of David; his son Hezekiah succeeded him.

The reign of Hoshea in Israel (732-724)

1 17 In the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah, Hoshea son of Elah became 2 king of Israel in Samaria, and reigned for nine years. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, though not like the preceding kings of Israel.

3 Shalmaneser king of Assyria made war on Hoshea who submitted to him 4 and paid him tribute. But the king of Assyria discovered that Hoshea was playing a double game with him: he had sent messengers to So, king of Egypt, and had not, as in previous years, handed over the tribute to the king of Assyria. For this the king of Assyria imprisoned him, in chains.

The fall of Samaria (721)

5 The king of Assyria invaded the whole country and, coming to Samaria, laid 6 siege to it for three years. In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria captured Samaria and deported the Israelites to Assyria. He settled them in Halah on the Habor, a river of Gozan,^a and in the cities of the Medes.^b

Observations on the fall of the Northern Kingdom

7 This happened because the Israelites had sinned against Yahweh their God who had brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the grip of Pharaoh king of Egypt. They worshiped other gods, they followed the practices of the 8 nations that Yahweh had dispossessed for them. The Israelites, and the kings they had made for themselves, plotted wicked schemes against their God. They built high places for themselves wherever they lived, from watchtower to fortified 9 town. They set up pillars and sacred poles for themselves on every high hill 10 and under every spreading tree. They sacrificed there after the manner of the nations that Yahweh had expelled before them, and did wicked things there, 11 provoking the anger of Yahweh. They served idols, although Yahweh had told them, "This you must not do."

13 And yet through all the prophets and all the seers, Yahweh had given Israel and Judah this warning, "Turn from your wicked ways and keep my commandments and my laws in accordance with the entire Law I laid down for your fathers and delivered to them through my servants the prophets." But they would not listen, they were more stubborn than their ancestors had been who had no faith in Yahweh their God. They despised his laws and the covenant he had made with their ancestors, and the warnings he had given them. They pursued emptiness, and themselves became empty through copying the nations around them although Yahweh had ordered them not to act as they did. They rejected all the commandments of Yahweh their God and made idols of cast metal for themselves, two calves; they made themselves sacred poles, they worshiped the whole array of heaven, and they served Baal. They made their sons and daughters pass through fire, they practiced divination and sorcery, they sold themselves to evil-doing in the sight of Yahweh, provoking his anger. For this, Yahweh was enraged with Israel and thrust them away from him. There was none left but the tribe of Judah only.

19 Judah did not keep the commandments of Yahweh their God either, but copied the practices that Israel had introduced. Yahweh rejected the whole race of Israel; he brought them low, delivering them into the hands of marauders, until at length he thrust them away from him. And indeed he had torn Israel away from the House of David, and they had made Jeroboam son of Nebat king; Jeroboam had drawn Israel away from Yahweh and led them into a great sin. The Israelites copied the sin Jeroboam had committed; they did not give it up, until at length Yahweh thrust Israel away from him, as he had foretold through all his servants the prophets; he deported the Israelites from their own country to Assyria, where they still are today.

The origin of the Samaritans

24 The king of Assyria brought people from Babylon, Cuthah, Avva, Hamath and Sepharvaim, and settled them in the towns of Samaria to replace the Israelites; they took possession of Samaria and lived in its towns.

25 When they first came to live there, they did not worship Yahweh, so Yahweh sent lions against them, which killed a number of them. They said to the king of Assyria, "The nations you deported and settled in the towns of Samaria do not know how to worship the god of the country, and he has sent lions against them; and now these are killing them because they do not know how to worship the god of the country." So the king of Assyria gave this order: "Send back one of the priests whom I deported from there; let him go and live there and teach them how to worship the god of the country." Accordingly, one of the priests they had deported from Samaria came to live in Bethel; he taught them how to worship Yahweh.

29 Each national group made idols representing its own gods and put them in the temples of the high places made by the Samaritans; each national group did this in the towns allocated to it. The men of Babylon had made a Succoth-benoth, the men of Cuthah a Nergal, the men of Hamath an Ashima, the Avvites a Nibhaz and a Tartak; while the Sepharvites burned their children in the fire in honor of Adrammelech and of Anammelech, gods of Sepharvaim. They worshiped Yahweh as well, and they appointed priests out of their own number for the high places who officiated for them in the temples of the high places. They worshiped Yahweh and served their own gods at the same time, with the rites of the countries from which they had been deported. They still follow their old rites even now.

They did not worship Yahweh^c and did not conform to his statutes or ritual, or the law or the commandments, which Yahweh had laid down for the

- 36 You are to bow down and offer sacrifice to Yahweh who brought you out of the land of Egypt with great power and outstretched arm. ·You are to observe the statutes and ritual, the law and the commandments which he has given you in writing and to which you are always to conform; you are not to worship

- 41 These nations, then, worshiped Yahweh and served their carved images as well, their children, too, and their children's children still behave today as their fathers behaved in the past.

VIII. THE LAST YEARS OF THE KINGDOM OF JUDAH

A. HEZEKIAH, THE PROPHET ISAIAH; ASSYRIA

Introduction to the reign of Hezekiah (716–687)

- 1 18 In the third year of Hoshea son of Elah, king of Israel, Hezekiah son of
- 2 Ahaz became king of Judah. ·He was twenty-five years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's
- 3 name was Abijah daughter of Zechariah. ·He did what is pleasing to Yahweh, just as his ancestor David had done. ·It was he who abolished the high places,
- 4 broke the pillars, cut down the sacred poles and smashed the bronze serpent that Moses had made; for up to that time the Israelites had offered sacrifice to it; it was called Nehushtan. ·He put his trust in the God of Israel. No king of Judah after him could be compared with him—nor any of those before him.
- 6 He was devoted to Yahweh, never turning from him, but keeping the commandments that Yahweh had laid down for Moses. ·And so Yahweh was with him, and he was successful in all that he undertook. He rebelled against the king of
- 8 Assyria and refused to serve him. ·It was he who harassed the Philistines as far as Gaza, laying their territory waste from watchtower to fortified town.

The fall of Samaria; recapitulation

- 9 In the fourth year of Hezekiah, which was the seventh year of Hoshea son of Elah, king of Israel, Shalmaneser king of Assyria made war on Samaria and laid siege to it. ·He captured it after three years. Samaria fell in the sixth year of Hezekiah, which was the ninth year of Hoshea king of Israel. ·The king of Assyria deported the Israelites to Assyria and settled them in Halah on the
- 12 Habor, a river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes. ·This happened because they had not obeyed the voice of Yahweh their God and had broken his covenant, violating all that Moses the servant of Yahweh had laid down. They neither listened to it nor put it into practice.

Sennacherib's invasion^a

- 13 In the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, Sennacherib king of Assyria attacked the fortified towns of Judah and captured them. ·Then Hezekiah king of Judah sent this message to the king of Assyria at Lachish, "I have been at fault. Call off the attack, and I will submit myself to whatever you impose on me." The king of Assyria exacted three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of
- 15 gold from Hezekiah king of Judah, ·and Hezekiah gave him all the silver in the Temple of Yahweh and in the treasury of the royal palace. ·It was then that

Hezekiah stripped the facing from the leaves and jambs of the doors of the Temple of Yahweh, which . . . king of Judah had plated, and gave it to the king of Assyria.

The embassy of the cupbearer-in-chief

17 From Lachish the king of Assyria sent the cupbearer-in-chief with a large force to King Hezekiah in Jerusalem. He went up to Jerusalem, and when he arrived, he took a position near the conduit of the upper pool which is on the 18 road to the Fuller's Field. He summoned the king. The master of the palace, Eliakim son of Hilkiyah, Shebna the secretary and the herald Joah son of 19 Asaph went out to him. The cupbearer-in-chief said to them, "Say to Hezekiah, 'Thus speaks the great king, the king of Assyria: What makes you so confident? Do you think empty words are as good as strategy and military strength? Who 20 are you relying on, to dare to rebel against me? We know you are relying on that broken reed Egypt, which pricks and pierces the hand of the man who leans on it.—That is what Pharaoh king of Egypt is like to all who rely 21 on him.—You may say to me: We rely on Yahweh our God, but are they not his high places and altars that Hezekiah has suppressed, saying to the people of Judah and Jerusalem: This in Jerusalem, is the altar, before which you must 22 worship? Come, make a wager with my lord the king of Assyria: I will give you two thousand horses if you can find horsemen to ride them. How could 23 you repulse a single one of the least of my master's servants? And yet you have relied on Egypt for chariots and horsemen. And lastly, have I come up against 24 this place to lay it waste without warrant from Yahweh? Yahweh himself said to me: March against this country and lay it waste.'"

26 Eliakim, Shebna and Joah said to the cupbearer-in-chief, "Please speak to your servants in Aramaic, for we understand it; do not speak to us in the 27 Judaeen language within earshot of the people on the ramparts." But the cupbearer-in-chief said, "Do you think my lord sent me here to say these things to your master or to you? On the contrary, it was to the people sitting on the ramparts who, like you, are doomed to eat their own dung and drink their own urine."

28 Then the cupbearer-in-chief stood erect and, shouting loudly in the Judaeen language, called out, "Listen to the word of the great king, the king of Assyria. Thus the king speaks: 'Do not let Hezekiah delude you. He will be powerless 29 to save you from my hands. Do not let Hezekiah persuade you to rely on Yahweh by saying: Yahweh is sure to save us; this city will not fall into the 30 power of the king of Assyria. Do not listen to Hezekiah, for the king of Assyria says this: Make peace with me, surrender to me, and every one of you will eat the fruit of his own vine and of his own fig tree and drink the water 31 of his own cistern until I come and deport you to a country like your own, a land of corn and good wine, a land of bread and of vineyards, a land of oil and of honey, so that you may not die but live. Do not listen to Hezekiah who is 32 deluding you when he says: Yahweh will save us. Has any god of any nation saved his country from the power of the king of Assyria? Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim and Hena and Ivvah? Where are the gods of the land of Samaria? Did they save Samaria from me?
33 Tell me which, of all the gods of any country, have saved their countries from my hands, for Yahweh to be able to save Jerusalem?'"

36 They kept silence and said nothing in reply, since such was the king's order: 37 "Do not answer him," he had said. The master of the palace, Eliakim son of Hilkiyah, Shebna the secretary and the herald Joah son of Asaph, with their garments torn, went to Hezekiah and reported what the cupbearer-in-chief had said.

The prophet Isaiah is consulted

1 19 On hearing this, King Hezekiah tore his garments, covered himself with 2 sackcloth and went to the Temple of Yahweh. He sent the master of the 3 palace, Eliakim, Shebna the secretary and the elders of the priests, covered in 4 sackcloth, to the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz. They said to him, "This is what 5 Hezekiah says, 'Today is a day of suffering, of punishment, of disgrace. Children 6 come to birth, and there is no strength to bring them forth. May Yahweh 7 your God hear the words of the cupbearer-in-chief whom his master, the king 8 of Assyria, has sent to insult the living God, and may Yahweh your God punish 9 the words he has heard. Offer your prayer for the remnant that is left.'"

10 When the ministers of King Hezekiah had come to Isaiah, he replied, "Say 11 to your master, 'Yahweh says this: Do not be afraid of the words you have 12 heard or the blasphemies the minions of the king of Assyria have uttered against 13 me. I am going to put a spirit in him, and when he hears a rumor he will 14 return to his own country, and in that country I will bring him down with the 15 sword.'"

The cupbearer returns to his master

16 The cupbearer went back and rejoined the king of Assyria at Libnah, 17 which he was attacking. The cupbearer had already learned that the king of Assyria 18 had left Lachish, since he had received this news about Tirhakah king of Cush, 19 "He has set out to fight you."

Sennacherib's letter to Hezekiah

20 Sennacherib sent messengers to Hezekiah again, saying, "Tell this to Hezekiah 21 king of Judah, 'Do not let your God on whom you are relying deceive you, 22 when he says: Jerusalem shall not fall into the power of the king of Assyria.
 23 You have learned by now what the kings of Assyria have done to every country, 24 putting them all under the ban. Are you likely to be spared? What power to 25 help did the gods have of those nations my fathers destroyed, Gozan, Haran, 26 Rezep and the Edenites who were in Tel Basar? Where are the king of Hamath, 27 the king of Arpad, the kings of Sepharvaim, of Hena, of Ivvah?'"

28 Hezekiah took the letter from the hands of the messenger and read it; he then 29 went up to the Temple of Yahweh and spread it out before Yahweh. Hezekiah 30 said this prayer in the presence of Yahweh, "Yahweh Sabaoth, God of Israel, 31 enthroned on the cherubs, you alone are God of all the kingdoms of the earth, 32 you have made heaven and earth.

33 "Give ear, Yahweh, and listen.
 34 Open your eyes, Yahweh, and see.
 35 Hear the words of Sennacherib 36 who has sent to insult the living God.

37 "It is true, Yahweh, that the kings of Assyria have exterminated all the nations, 38 they have thrown their gods on the fire, for these were not gods but the work 39 of men's hands, wood and stone, and hence they have destroyed them. But 40 now, Yahweh our God, save us from his hand, I pray you, and let all the king-41 doms of the earth know that you alone are God, Yahweh."

Isaiah intervenes

42 Then Isaiah son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah. "Yahweh, the God of Israel," he 43 said, "says this, 'I have heard the prayer you have addressed to me about 44 Sennacherib king of Assyria.' Here is the oracle that Yahweh has pronounced 45 against him:

- 'She despises you, she scorns you, the virgin, daughter of Zion;
she tosses her head behind you, the daughter of Jerusalem.
- 22 Whom have you insulted, whom did you blaspheme?
Against whom raised your voice and lifted your haughty eyes?
Against the Holy One of Israel!
- 23 Through your envoys you have insulted the Lord, you have said: With my many chariots I have climbed the tops of mountains, the utmost peaks of Lebanon.
I have felled its tall forest of cedars, its finest cypresses.
I have reached its furthest recesses, its forest garden.
- 24 Yes, I have dug wells and drunk of alien waters;
I have put down my feet,
and I have dried up all the rivers of Egypt.
- 25 'Do you hear? Long ago I planned for it, from days of old I designed it, now I carry it out.
Your part was to bring down in heaps of ruins fortified cities.
- 26 Their inhabitants, hands feeble, dismayed, discomfited,
were like plants of the field, like tender grass, like grass of housetop and meadow under the east wind.
- 27 But I am there whether you rise or sit;
whether you go out, or you come in, I know it.
- 28 Because you have raved against me and your insolence has come to my ears, I will put my ring through your nostrils, my bit between your lips, to make you return by the road on which you came.

A sign for Hezekiah

- 29 'This shall be the sign for you:
this year will be eaten the self-sown grain, next year what sprouts in the fallow, but in the third year sow and reap, plant vineyards and eat their fruit.
- 30 The surviving remnant of the House of Judah shall bring forth new roots below and fruits above; for a remnant shall go out from Jerusalem, and survivors from Mount Zion.
The jealous love of Yahweh Sabaoth shall accomplish this.'
- 32 "This, then, is what Yahweh says about the king of Assyria:

19 a. Pharaoh, 690-664, called "king of Cush" because he was of Ethiopian descent (Cush is Ethiopia).

- 'He will not enter this city, he will let fly no arrow against it, confront it with no shield, throw up no earthwork against it.
 33 By the road that he came on he will return; he shall not enter this city. It is Yahweh who speaks.
 34 I will protect this city and save it for my own sake and for the sake of my servant David.'"

Sennacherib is punished

- 35 That same night the angel of Yahweh went out and struck down a hundred and eighty-five thousand men in the Assyrian camp. In the early morning when it was time to get up, there they lay, so many corpses.
 36 Sennacherib struck camp and left; he returned home and stayed in Nineveh.
 37 One day when he was worshiping in the temple of his god Nisroch, his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer struck him down with the sword and escaped into the land of Ararat.^b His son Esarhaddon succeeded him.

The illness and cure of Hezekiah

- 1 20 In those days Hezekiah fell ill and was at the point of death. The prophet 2 Isaiah son of Amoz came and said to him, "Yahweh says this, 'Put 3 your affairs in order, for you are going to die, you will not live.'" Hezekiah 4 turned his face to the wall and addressed this prayer to Yahweh, "Ah, Yahweh, 5 remember I beg you, how I have behaved faithfully and with sincerity of heart 6 in your presence and done what is right in your eyes." And Hezekiah shed many 7 tears.
 8 Isaiah had not left the middle court, before the word of Yahweh came to 9 him, "Go back and say to Hezekiah, prince of my people, 'Yahweh, the God of 10 David your ancestor, says this: I have heard your prayer and seen your tears.
 11 I will cure you: in three days' time you shall go up to the Temple of Yahweh.
 12 I will add fifteen years to your life. I will save you and this city from the hands 13 of the king of Assyria, I will protect this city for my own sake and the sake 14 of my servant David.'" 15 "Bring a fig poultice," Isaiah said; they brought one, applied it to the ulcer, 16 and the king recovered.
 17 Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "What is the sign to tell me that Yahweh will cure 18 me and that I shall be going up to the Temple of Yahweh in three days?" "Here," 19 Isaiah replied, "is the sign from Yahweh that he will do what he has said; would 20 you like the shadow to go forward ten steps, or to go back ten steps?" "It is easy 21 for the shadow to lengthen ten steps," Hezekiah answered, "no, I would rather 22 the shadow went back ten steps." The prophet Isaiah then called on Yahweh 23 who made the shadow go back ten steps on the steps of Ahaz.

The Babylonian embassy

- 12 At that time the king of Babylon, Merodach-baladan son of Baladan, sent 13 letters and a gift to Hezekiah, for he had heard of his illness and his recovery.
 14 Hezekiah was delighted at this and showed the messengers his treasure house, 15 the silver, gold, spices, precious oil, his armory too, and everything there was 16 in his storehouses. There was nothing Hezekiah did not show them in his palace 17 or in his whole domain.
 18 Then the prophet Isaiah came to King Hezekiah and asked him, "What have 19 these men said, and where have they come from?" Hezekiah answered, "They 20 have come from a faraway country, from Babylon." Isaiah said, "What have 21 they seen in your palace?" "They have seen everything in my palace," Hezekiah 22 answered. "There is nothing in my storehouses that I have not shown them." 23 Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Listen to the word of Yahweh, 'The days are coming when everything in your palace, everything that your ancestors have amassed until now, will be carried off to Babylon. Not a thing will be left,' says Yahweh. 'Sons sprung from you, sons begotten by you, will be chosen to be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.' "Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "This word of Yahweh that you announce is reassuring," for he was thinking, "And why not? So long as there is peace and security during my own lifetime."

The end of the reign of Hezekiah

The rest of the history of Hezekiah, all his prowess, how he constructed the pool and the conduit to bring water into the city, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? Then Hezekiah slept with his fathers; his son Manasseh succeeded him.

B. TWO WICKED KINGS

The reign of Manasseh in Judah (687-642)

21 Manasseh was twelve years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for fifty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hephzibah. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, copying the shameful practices of the nations whom Yahweh had dispossessed for the sons of Israel. He rebuilt the high places that his father Hezekiah had destroyed, he set up altars to Baal and made a sacred pole as Ahab king of Israel had done, he worshiped the whole array of heaven and served it. He built altars in the Temple of Yahweh of which Yahweh had said, "Jerusalem is where I will give my name a home."

He built altars to the whole array of heaven in the two courts of the Temple of Yahweh. He caused his son to pass through the fire. He practiced soothsaying and magic and introduced necromancers and wizards. He did very many more things displeasing to Yahweh, thus provoking his anger. He placed the carved image of Asherah which he had made in the Temple, of which Yahweh had said to David and his son Solomon, "In this Temple and in Jerusalem, the city I chose out of all the tribes of Israel, I will give my name a home for ever. I will no longer make Israel's footsteps wander from the land I gave their fathers, provided they observe all I have ordered them in accordance with the whole Law that my servant Moses prescribed for them." But they did not listen, Manasseh led them astray, so that they did more evil than those nations Yahweh had destroyed before the sons of Israel.

Then Yahweh spoke through his servants the prophets, "Since Manasseh king of Judah has done these shameful deeds, acting more wickedly than all the Amorites did before him, and has led Judah itself into sin with his idols, Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this, 'Look, I will bring such disaster as to make the ears of all who hear of it tingle. I will stretch over Jerusalem the same measuring line as over Samaria, the same plumb rule as for the House of Ahab; I will scour Jerusalem as a man scours a dish and, having scoured it, turns it upside down. I will cast away the remnant of my inheritance, delivering them into the power of their enemies, and making them serve as prey and booty to all their enemies, because they have done what is displeasing to me and have provoked my anger from the day their ancestors came out of Egypt until now.'"

Manasseh shed innocent blood, too, in such great quantity that he flooded Jerusalem from end to end, apart from the sins into which he led Judah by doing what is displeasing to Yahweh.

The rest of the history of Manasseh, his entire career, the sins he committed, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? Then Manasseh slept with his ancestors, and was buried in the garden of his palace, the garden of Uzza; his son Amon succeeded him.

b. He was assassinated in 681.

The reign of Amon in Judah (642–640)

19 Amon was twenty-two years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Meshullemeth, daughter of Haruz, of Jotbah. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, as Manasseh his father had done. In every respect he followed the example of his father, serving the idols his father had served, and worshipping them. He abandoned Yahweh, the God of his ancestors; he did not follow the way of Yahweh.

23 Amon's officers plotted against the king and killed him in his palace. But the country people struck down all those who had plotted against king Amon, and proclaimed his son Josiah as his successor.

25 The rest of the history of Amon, his entire career, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? He was buried in his father's tomb in the garden of Uzza; his son Josiah succeeded him.

C. JOSIAH AND THE RELIGIOUS REFORM

Introduction to the reign of Josiah (640–609)

1 22 Josiah was eight years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for thirty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jedidah, daughter of Adaiah, of Bozkath. He did what is pleasing to Yahweh, and in every respect followed the example of his ancestor David, not deviating from it to right or left.

The Book of the Law discovered

3 In the eighteenth year of King Josiah, the king sent the secretary Shaphan son of Azaliah son of Meshullam to the Temple of Yahweh. "Go to Hilkiah the high priest," he told him, "and tell him to melt down the silver that has been brought to the Temple of Yahweh and that those who guard the threshold have collected from the people. Let him hand it over to the masters of works attached to the Temple of Yahweh, for them to spend on the workmen working on the repairs to the Temple of Yahweh, on the carpenters, builders and masons, and on buying wood and dressed stone for the Temple repairs. But they are not to be asked to render account of the money handed over to them, since they are honest in their dealings."

8 The high priest Hilkiah said to Shaphan the secretary, "I have found the Book of the Law in the Temple of Yahweh." And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan, who read it. Shaphan the secretary went to the king and reported to him as follows, "Your servants," he said, "have melted down the silver which was in the Temple and have handed it over to the masters of works attached to the Temple of Yahweh." Then Shaphan the secretary informed the king, "Hilkiah the priest has given me a book"; and Shaphan read it aloud in the king's presence.

Huldah the prophetess is consulted

On hearing the contents of the Book of the Law, the king tore his garments, and gave the following order to Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam son of Shaphan, Achbor son of Micaiah, Shaphan the secretary and Asaiah the king's minister: "Go and consult Yahweh, on behalf of me and the people, about the contents of this book that has been found. Great indeed must be the anger of Yahweh blazing out against us because our ancestors did not obey what this book says by practicing everything written in it."

14 Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam, Achbor, Shaphan and Asaiah went to Huldah the prophetess, wife of Shallum son of Tikvah, son of Harhas, the keeper of the wardrobe: she lived in Jerusalem in the new town. They put the matter to her, and she replied, "Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this, 'To the man who sent you to me say this: Yahweh says this: I am bringing disaster on this place and those who live in it, carrying out everything said in the book

17 the king of Judah has read, 'because they have deserted me and sacrificed to other gods, to provoke my anger by everything they did. My anger blazes out 18 against this place; it will not be extinguished. 'And you are to say to the king of Judah who sent you to consult Yahweh: Yahweh, the God of Israel, says 19 this: The words you have heard . . . 'But since your heart has been touched and you have humbled yourself before Yahweh on hearing what I have decreed against this place and those who live in it, how they will become an object of horror and cursing; and since you have torn your garments and wept before me, 20 I for my part have heard—it is Yahweh who speaks. 'For this reason I will gather you to your ancestors, you shall be gathered into your grave in peace; your eyes will not see all the disasters that I mean to bring on this place.'” They took this answer to the king.

The covenant renewed

1 23 The king then had all the elders of Judah and of Jerusalem summoned to 2 him, 'and the king went up to the Temple of Yahweh with all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, priests, prophets and all the people, of high or low degree. In their hearing he read out everything that was said 3 in the book of the covenant found in the Temple of Yahweh. 'The king stood beside the pillar, and in the presence of Yahweh he made a covenant to follow Yahweh and keep his commandments and decrees and laws with all his heart and soul, in order to enforce the terms of the covenant as written in that book. All the people gave their allegiance to the covenant.

Religious reform in Judah

4 The king ordered Hilkiah with the priest next in rank and the guardians of the threshold to remove all the cult objects that had been made for Baal, Asherah and the whole array of heaven; he burned them outside Jerusalem in the fields of the Kidron and had the ashes taken to Bethel. 'He did away with the spurious priests whom the kings of Judah had appointed and who offered sacrifice on the high places, in the towns of Judah and the neighborhood of Jerusalem; also those who offered sacrifice to Baal, to the sun, the moon, the 6 constellations and the whole array of heaven. 'From the Temple of Yahweh he removed the sacred pole right out of Jerusalem to the wadi Kidron, and in the wadi Kidron he burned it: he reduced it to ashes and threw its ashes on the 7 common burying ground. 'He pulled down the house of the sacred male prostitutes which was in the Temple of Yahweh and where the women wove clothes for Asherah.

8 He brought all the priests in from the towns of Judah, and from Geba to Beersheba he desecrated the high places where these priests had offered sacrifice. He pulled down the shrine of the goats^a which stood at the gate of Joshua, the governor of the city, to the left as you enter the city gate. 'The priests of the high places, however, could not go up to the altar of Yahweh in Jerusalem, 10 but they ate unleavened bread in the company of their brother priests. 'He desecrated the furnace in the Valley of Ben-hinnom, so that no one could make 11 his son or daughter pass through fire in honor of Molech. 'He did away with the horses that the kings of Judah had dedicated to the sun at the entrance to the Temple of Yahweh, near the apartment of Nathan-melech the eunuch, 12 in the precincts, and he burned the chariot of the sun. 'The altars on the roof that the kings of Judah had built, with those that Manasseh had built in the two courts of the Temple of Yahweh, the king pulled down, and broke them to pieces on the spot, then carried them away and threw their rubble into the wadi 13 Kidron. 'The king desecrated the high places facing Jerusalem, to the south

22 a. The sacred Law of the Temple, included in Deuteronomy, which had been hidden or lost during the reign of Manasseh.

23 a. Deities represented as satyrs.

of the Mount of Olives, which Solomon king of Israel had built for Astarte the Sidonian abomination, for Chemosh the Moabite abomination, and for 14 Milcom the Ammonite abomination. He also smashed the sacred pillars, cut down the sacred poles, and covered the places where they had stood with human bones.^b

The reform is extended to the former Northern Kingdom

15 Similarly, as regards the altar that was at Bethel, the high place built by Jeroboam son of Nebat who had led Israel into sin, this altar and this high place he also demolished, breaking up its stones and reducing them to powder. The sacred pole he burned.

16 As he looked around, Josiah saw the tombs there on the hillside; he had the bones fetched from the tombs and burned them on the altar. Thus he desecrated it, in accordance with the word of Yahweh which the man of God had proclaimed when Jeroboam was standing by the altar at the time of the feast. As he looked around, Josiah caught sight of the tomb of the man of God who had foretold 17 these things. "What is that monument I see?" he asked. The townspeople replied, "It is the tomb of the man of God who came from Judah and foretold what 18 you have done to the altar." "Let him rest," the king said, "and let no one disturb his bones." So they left his bones untouched, with the bones of the prophet who was from Samaria.

19 Josiah also did away with all the temples of the high places that the kings of Israel had built in the towns of Samaria, provoking the anger of Yahweh; he treated these places exactly as he had treated the one at Bethel. All the 20 priests of the high places who were there he slaughtered on the altars, and on those altars burned human bones. Then he returned to Jerusalem.

The Passover celebrated

21 The king gave this order to the whole people: "Celebrate a Passover in honor 22 of Yahweh your God, as prescribed in this book of the covenant." No Passover like this one had ever been celebrated since the days when the judges ruled Israel or throughout the entire period of the kings of Israel and the kings of 23 Judah. The eighteenth year of King Josiah was the only time when such a Passover was celebrated in honor of Yahweh at Jerusalem.

Last words on the religious reform

24 What is more, the necromancers and wizards, the household gods and idols, and all the abominations to be seen in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, all these were swept away by Josiah to give effect to the words of the Law written 25 in the book found by Hilkiah the priest in the Temple of Yahweh. No king before him had turned to Yahweh as he did, with all his heart, all his soul, all his strength, in perfect loyalty to the Law of Moses; nor was any king like him seen again.

26 Yet Yahweh did not renounce the heat of his great anger which blazed out against Judah because of all the provocation Manasseh had offered him. Yahweh decreed, "I will thrust Judah away from me too, as I have already thrust 27 Israel; I will cast away Jerusalem, this city I had chosen, and the Temple of which I had said: There my name shall be."

The end of the reign of Josiah

28 The rest of the history of Josiah, his entire career, is not all this recorded in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah?

29 During his reign Pharaoh Neco king of Egypt was on his way to the king of Assyria at the river Euphrates when King Josiah intercepted him; but Neco 30 killed him at Megiddo in the first encounter. His servants carried his body from Megiddo by chariot; they brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his own tomb. The country people took Jehoahaz son of Josiah and anointed him, proclaiming him king in succession to his father.

D. THE DESTRUCTION OF JERUSALEM

The reign of Jehoahaz in Judah (609)

³¹ Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal, daughter of Jeremiah, from Libnah. ³² He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, just as his ancestors had done.

³⁵ Jehoiakim paid over the silver and gold to Pharaoh, but first had to tax the country before he could raise the sum that Pharaoh demanded: he levied the silver and gold to be paid over to Pharaoh Neco from each according to his means.

The reign of Jehoiakim in Judah (609–598)

³⁶ Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zebidah, daughter of Pedaiah, from Rumah. ³⁷ He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, just as his ancestors had done.

¹ 24 During his time Nebuchadnezzar^a king of Babylon invaded, and Jehoiakim became his vassal for three years, but then rebelled against him a second ² time. So he sent armed bands of Chaldaeans, Aramaeans, Moabites and Ammonites against him; he sent these against Judah to destroy it, in accordance with the word that Yahweh had spoken through his servants the prophets. ³ That this happened in Judah was due entirely to the anger of Yahweh: he had resolved to thrust them away from him because of the sins of Manasseh and ⁴ all that he had done, and also because of the innocent blood that he had shed, flooding Jerusalem from end to end with innocent blood. Yahweh would not forgive.

⁵ The rest of the history of Jehoiakim, his entire career, is not all this recorded ⁶ in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? Then Jehoiakim slept with his ancestors; his son Jehoiachin succeeded him.

⁷ The king of Egypt did not leave his own country again, because the king of Babylon had conquered everywhere belonging to the king of Egypt, from the wadi of Egypt to the river Euphrates.^b

Introduction to the reign of Jehoiachin (598)

⁸ Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Nehushta, daughter of ⁹ Elnathan, from Jerusalem. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, just as his father had done.

The first deportation

¹⁰ At that time the troops of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon marched on ¹¹ Jerusalem, and the city was besieged. Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon himself

b. To desecrate them once and for all; cf. vv. 16 and 20.

24 a. He ruled the Chaldaean (Neo-Babylonian) empire from 605 to 562. This invasion took place about 602. b. The Egyptians were defeated at Carchemish, 605.

- 12 came to attack the city while his troops were besieging it. Then Jehoiachin king of Judah surrendered to the king of Babylon, he, his mother, his officers, his nobles and his eunuchs, and the king of Babylon took them prisoner. This was in the eighth year of King Nebuchadnezzar.
- 13 The latter carried off all the treasures of the Temple of Yahweh and the treasures of the royal palace, and broke up all the golden furnishings that Solomon king of Israel had made for the sanctuary of Yahweh, as Yahweh had foretold.
- 14 He carried off all Jerusalem into exile, all the nobles and all the notables, ten thousand of these were exiled, with all the blacksmiths and metalworkers; only the poorest people in the country were left behind. He deported Jehoiachin to Babylon, as also the king's mother, his eunuchs and the nobility of the country;
- 15 he made them all leave Jerusalem for exile in Babylon. All the men of distinction, seven thousand of them, the blacksmiths and metalworkers, one thousand of them, all of them men capable of bearing arms, were led into exile in Babylon by the king of Babylon.
- 17 The king of Babylon made Mattaniah, Jehoiachin's uncle, king in succession to him, and changed his name to Zedekiah.

Introduction to the reign of Zedekiah in Judah (598–587)

- 18 Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he came to the throne, and he reigned for eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamital, daughter of Jeremiah, from Libnah. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, just as Jehoiakim had done. That this happened in Jerusalem and Judah was due to the anger of Yahweh, with the result that in the end he cast them away from him.

The siege of Jerusalem

- 1 Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon. 25 In the ninth year of his reign,^a in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came with his whole army to attack Jerusalem; he pitched camp
- 2 in front of the city and threw up earthworks around it. The city lay under siege
- 3 till the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. In the fourth month, on the ninth day of the month, when famine was raging in the city and there was no food for the
- 4 populace, a breach was made in the city wall. At once, the king made his escape under cover of dark, with all the fighting men, by way of the gate between the two walls, which is near the king's garden—the Chaldaeans had surrounded
- 5 the city—and made his way toward the Arabah.^b The Chaldaean troops pursued the king and caught up with him in the plains of Jericho, where all his troops
- 6 deserted. The Chaldaeans captured the king and took him to the king of Babylon
- 7 at Riblah, who passed sentence on him. He had the sons of Zedekiah slaughtered before his eyes, then put out Zedekiah's eyes and, loading him with chains, carried him off to Babylon.

The sack of Jerusalem. The second deportation

- 8 In the fifth month, on the seventh day of the month—it was in the nineteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon—Nebuzaradan, commander of the
- 9 guard, an officer of the king of Babylon, entered Jerusalem. He burned down the
- 10 Temple of Yahweh, the royal palace and all the houses in Jerusalem. The Chaldaean troops who accompanied the commander of the guard demolished
- 11 the walls surrounding Jerusalem. Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard deported the remainder of the population left behind in the city, the deserters who had gone over to the king of Babylon, and the rest of the common people.
- 12 The commander of the guard left some of the humbler country people as vineyard workers and plowmen.
- 13 The Chaldaeans broke up the bronze pillars from the Temple of Yahweh, the wheeled stands and the bronze Sea that were in the Temple of Yahweh, and
- 14 took the bronze away to Babylon. They also took the ash containers, the scoops, the knives, the incense boats, and all the bronze furnishings used in worship.

 15 The commander of the guard took the censers and the sprinkling bowls, everything 16 that was made of gold and everything made of silver. •As regards the two pillars, the one Sea and the wheeled stands, which Solomon had made for the Temple of Yahweh, there was no reckoning the weight of bronze in all these objects.
 17 The height of one pillar was eighteen cubits, and on it stood a capital of bronze, the height of the capital being five cubits; around the capital were filigree and pomegranates, all in bronze. So also for the second pillar . . .

18 The commander of the guard took prisoner Seraiah the chief priest, Zephaniah 19 the priest next in rank, and the three guardians of the threshold. •In the city he took prisoner a eunuch who was in command of the fighting men, five of the king's personal friends who were discovered in the city, the secretary to the army commander, responsible for military conscription, and sixty men of distinction 20 discovered in the city. •Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard, took these men 21 and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah, •and at Riblah, in the land of Hamath, the king of Babylon had them put to death. Thus Judah was deported from its land.

Gedaliah, governor of Judah

22 As regards the people who remained in the land of Judah whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had left behind, he appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam 23 son of Shaphan as their governor. •When the commanders of the troops and their men all heard that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah as governor, they went to him at Mizpah: Ishmael son of Nethaniah, Johanan son of Kareah, Seraiah son of Tanhumeth, the Netophathite, Jaazaniah the Maacathite, they 24 and their men. •To them and to their men Gedaliah swore an oath. "Do not be afraid of the Chaldaeans," he said, "live in the country, obey the king of Babylon, and all will go well with you."

25 But in the seventh month, Ishmael son of Nethaniah son of Elishama, who was of royal descent, and ten men with him, came and murdered Gedaliah, as 26 well as the Judaeans and Chaldaeans who were with him at Mizpah. •Then the people, of high and low degree, with the commanders of the troops, all set out and made for Egypt, in fear of the Chaldaeans.

King Jehoiachin pardoned

27 In the thirty-seventh year of the exile of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, Evil-merodach king of Babylon, in the year he came to the throne, pardoned Jehoiachin king of Judah 28 and released him from prison. •He treated him kindly and allotted him a seat 29 above those of the other kings who were with him in Babylon. •So Jehoiachin laid aside his prisoner's garb, and for the rest of his life always ate at the king's 30 table. •And his upkeep was permanently insured by the king, day after day, for the rest of his life.

INTRODUCTION TO THE BOOKS OF CHRONICLES, EZRA AND NEHEMIAH

The two Books of Chronicles, the Book of Ezra and the Book of Nehemiah, are a continuous work by the same hand. This work was compiled in the third century B.C. and the author was very probably a Jerusalem Levite.

The part of this work known as "Chronicles" is a revision of the history of Israel which is contained in the earlier books, from Joshua to Kings, supplemented from other sources which are lost to us. The author treats his sources with great freedom in order to provide a lesson for his contemporaries, and in his book the whole period is viewed as leading up to the ideal kingdom of David and the building of the Temple under his son Solomon. There is great stress on the part played by the religious orders, not only priests but Levites and the lesser orders of cantors and gate-keepers, and the ritual organization of the author's own time is projected into the age of David. Chronicles ends, like Kings, with the deportation of the Israelites into the Babylonian Exile.

The history is continued in Ezra and Nehemiah, with the return from Exile, the repopulation of Jerusalem and the rebuilding of the Temple in 538 to 515 B.C. Though the date of these two books is the same as that of Chronicles, they make use of original records and documents, including Ezra's report of his own mission and Nehemiah's memoir, and they are a valuable complement to the information on the Jewish Restoration which is incidentally contained in the books of the prophets Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi. The different documents are, however, arranged in a baffling order in which incidents appear to be classified by subjects rather than chronologically.

² Zebulun, ·Dan, Joseph, and Benjamin, Naphtali, Gad, and Asher.

The descendants of Judah

³ Sons of Judah: Er, Onan and Shelah. These three were born to him by Bath-shua the Canaanite woman. Er, Judah's first-born, displeased Yahweh who put him ⁴ to death. ·Tamar, Judah's daughter-in-law, bore him Perez and Zerah. Judah had five sons in all.

- 5 Sons of Perez: Hezron and Hamul.
 6 Sons of Zerah: Zimri, Ethan, Heman, Calcol and Dara, five in all.
 7 Sons of Carmi: Achar, who brought trouble on Israel by violating the ban.
 8 Sons of Ethan: Azariah.

The ancestors of David

- 9 Sons of Hezron: there were born to him Jerahmeel, Ram, Chelubai.
 10 Ram became father of Amminadab, Amminadab father of Nahshon, prince 11 of the sons of Judah, ·Nahshon became father of Salma, Salma father of Boaz.
 12 Boaz became father of Obed, Obed father of Jesse. ·Jesse became father of Eliab, 13 his first-born, of Abinadab second, Shimea third, ·Nethanel fourth, Raddai 14 fifth, ·Ozem sixth, David seventh. ·Their sisters were Zeruah and Abigail. Sons 15 of Zeruah: Abishai, Joab and Asahel: three. ·Abigail gave birth to Amasa; the 16 father of Amasa was Jether the Ishmaelite.
 17

Caleb

- 18 Caleb son of Hezron became father of Azubah, Ishshah and Jerioth; these 19 are the sons: Jeshur, Shobab and Ardon. ·Azubah died, and Caleb took Ephrath, 20 who bore him Hur. ·Hur became father of Uri, Uri father of Bezalel.
 21 Then Hezron married the daughter of Machir, father of Gilead; he took her 22 when he was sixty years old and she bore him Segub. ·Segub became father of 23 Jair who held twenty-three towns in the land of Gilead. ·Then from Geshur and Aram he won the Encampments of Jair, Kenath and its outlying villages, sixty towns. All this belonged to the sons of Machir, father of Gilead.
 24 After Hezron's death, Caleb married Ephrathah, wife of Hezron his father, who bore him Ashhur, father of Tekoa.

Jerahmeel

- 25 Jerahmeel, Hezron's eldest son had sons: Hezron, his first-born, Ram, Bunah, 26 Oren, Ozem, Ahijah. ·Jerahmeel had another wife called Atarah; she was the mother of Onam.
 27 Sons of Ram, Jerahmeel's first-born: Maaz, Jamin and Eker.
 28 Sons of Onam: Shammai and Jada. Sons of Shammai: Nadab and Abishur.
 29 Abishur's wife was called Abihail; she bore him Ahban and Molid. ·Sons of 30 Nadab: Seled and Ephraim. Seled died leaving no son. ·Sons of Ephraim: Ishi; 31 sons of Ishi: Sheshan; sons of Sheshan: Ahlai. ·Sons of Jada, Shammai's brother: 32 Jether and Jonathan. Jether died leaving no sons. ·Sons of Jonathan: Peleth and 33 Zaza.

These are the sons of Jerahmeel.

- 34 Sheshan had no sons,⁹ only daughters. He had an Egyptian slave Jarha ·to 35 whom Sheshan gave his daughter in marriage. She bore him Attai. ·Attai became 36 father of Nathan, Nathan father of Zabad, ·Zabad father of Ephlal, Ephlal 37 father of Obed, ·Obed father of Jehu, Jehu father of Azariah, ·Azariah father of 40

Caleb^b

- 42 Sons of Caleb, Jerahmeel's brother: Mesha, his first-born, who was the father 43 of Ziph. His son was Mareshah, father of Hebron. ·Sons of Hebron: Korah, 44 Tappuah, Rekem and Shema. ·Shema became father of Raham, Jorkeam's 45 father. Rekem became father of Shammai. ·Shammai's son was Maon, and Maon became father of Bethzur.

2 a. But see v.31, which must follow a different tradition. b. Genealogies were often deduced from relationships between clans. This reconstruction of the descendants of Caleb may differ from the list in vv. 18–24 because it was made at a date when alliances between clans were different.

46 Ephah, Caleb's concubine, gave birth to Haran, Moza and Gazez. Haran became father of Gazez.

47 Sons of Jahdai: Regem, Jotham, Geshan, Pelet, Ephah and Shaaph.

48 Maacah, Caleb's concubine, gave birth to Sheber and Tirhanah. She gave 49 birth to Shaaph, father of Madmannah, and Sheva, father of Machbenah and father of Gibeab.

The daughter of Caleb was Achsah.

50 These are the sons of Caleb.

Hur

Sons of Hur, the first-born of Ephrathah: Shobal, father of Kiriath-jearim, 51 Salma, father of Bethlehem, Hareph, father of Beth-gader. Shobal, father of 52 Kiriath-jearim had sons: Haroeh, that is, half of the Manahathites, and the 53 clans of Kiriath-jearim: the Ithrites, Puthites, Shumathites and Mishraitites. Their descendants are the people of Zorah and Eshtaol.

54 Sons of Salma: Bethlehem, the Netophathites, Atroth-beth-joab, half of the 55 Manahathites, the Zorathites, the Sophrite clans living at Jabez, the Tirathites, the Shimeathites, the Sucathites. These are the Kenites who came from Hamath; their descendants are the House of Rechab.

C. THE HOUSE OF DAVID

The sons of David

1 3 These are the sons of David who were born to him in Hebron: the first-born 2 Amnon, by Ahinoam of Jezreel; second, Daniel, by Abigail of Carmel; third, Absalom son of Maacah the daughter of Talmai king of Geshur; fourth, Adonijah 3 son of Haggith; fifth, Shephatiah by Abital; sixth, Ithream by his wife Eglah.
4 Six, therefore, were born to him in Hebron, where he reigned for three years and six months.

5 He reigned for thirty-three years in Jerusalem. These are the sons who were born to him in Jerusalem: Shimea, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon, the four of them 6 children of Bath-shua, the daughter of Ammiel; Ithar, Elishama, Eliphelet, 7 Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, Elishama, Eliada, Eliphelet: nine.

8 These are all the sons of David, not counting the sons of the concubines. Tamar 9 was their sister.

The kings of Judah^a 10 Sons of Solomon: Rehoboam; Abijah his son, Asa his son, Jehoshaphat his 11 son, Joram his son, Ahaziah his son, Joash his son, Amaziah his son, Azariah Akkub, Johanan, Delaiah, Anani: seven.

D. THE SOUTHERN TRIBES

Judah. Shobal

- ¹ 4 Sons of Judah: Perez, Hezron, Carmi, Hur, Shobal.
² Reaiah son of Shobal became father of Jahath, and Jahath father of Ahumai and Lahad. These are the Zorathite clans.

Hur

- ³ These are Abi-etam, Jezreel, Ishma, and Idbash, whose sister was called Hazzelelponi.
⁴ Penuel became father of Gedor, Ezer father of Hushah.
 These are the sons of Hur, the first-born of Ephrathah, father of Bethlehem.

Ashhur

- ⁵ Ashhur, father of Tekoa, had two wives: Helah and Naarah.
⁶ Naarah bore him Ahuzzam, Hephher, the Timnites, and the Ahashtarites. These are the sons of Naarah.
⁷ Sons of Helah: Zereth, Zohar, Ethnan.
⁸ Koz became father of Anub, Hazzobebah and the clans of Aharhel son of Harum. Jabez won himself more honor than his brothers. His mother gave him the name Jabez, "because," she said, "in distress I gave birth to him." Jabez called on the God of Israel. "If you truly bless me," he said, "you will extend my lands, your hand will be with me, you will keep harm away and my distress will cease." God granted him what he had asked.

Caleb

- ¹¹ Chelub, Shuhah's brother, became father of Mehir, who was the father of ¹² Eshton. Eshton became father of Bethrapha, Paseah and Tehinnah father of Irahahash, brother of Eselon the Kenizzite. These are the men of Recah.
¹³ Sons of Kenaz: Othniel and Seraiah. Sons of Othniel: Hathath and ¹⁴ Meonothai, who became father of Ophrah. Seraiah became father of Joab, father of Geharashim—and they were in fact craftsmen.^a ¹⁵ Sons of Caleb son of Jephunneh: Iru, Elah and Naam. Sons of Elah: Kenaz.
¹⁶ Sons of Jehallelel: Ziph, Ziphah, Tiri-a, Asarel.
¹⁷ Sons of Ezra: Jether, Mered, Epher, Jalon. Then she conceived Miriam, ¹⁸ Shammai, and Ishbah, the father of Eshtemoa, whose Judaeen wife gave birth to Jered father of Gedor, Heber father of Soco, and Jekuthiel, father of Zanoah. These are the sons of Bithiah, the daughter of Pharaoh whom Mered married.
¹⁹ The sons of the wife of Hodiah, the sister of Naham father of Keilah the Garmite and of Eshtemoa the Maacathite.
²⁰ Sons of Shimon: Amnon, Rinnah, Ben-hanan, Tilon.
 Sons of Ishi: Zoheth and Ben-zoheth.

Shelah

- ²¹ Sons of Shelah son of Judah: Er father of Lecah, Laadah father of Mareshah, ²² and the clans of linenworkers at Beth-ashbea, Jokim, the men of Cozeba, Joash and Saraph who went to Moab to take wives before returning to Bethlehem.
²³ (Events, these, of long ago.) These were potters and lived at Netaim and Gederah; they stayed with the king there, employed in his workshop.

Simeon

- ²⁴ Sons of Simeon: Nemuel, Jamin, Jarib, Zerah, Shaul; Shallum was his son, ²⁵ Mibsam his son. Mishma his son. The sons of Mishma: Hammuel his son, ²⁶

^{3 a.} The list is from Kings; Shallum is the Jehoahaz of Kings.

^{4 a.} The name means "Valley of Craftsmen."

27 Zaccur his son, Shimei his son. Shimei had sixteen sons and six daughters, but his brothers did not have many children, and the sum of their clans did not multiply as the sons of Judah did.

28 They lived in Beersheba, Moladah and Hazar-shual, Bilhah, Ezem and 29 Tolad, Bethuel, Hormah and Ziklag, Beth-marcaboth, Hazar-susim, Beth-biri, 30 Shaaraim. These were their towns until the reign of David. Their outlying 31 villages were: Etam, Ain, Rimmon, Tochen and Ashan, five towns, with all 32 the outlying villages around these towns as far as Baalath. Here they had their 33 settlements and sorted themselves into their various groups.

34 Meshobab, Jamlech, Joshah son of Amaziah, Joel, Jehu son of Joshibiah, 35 son of Seraiah, son of Asiel, Elioenai, Jaakobah, Jeshohaiah, Asaiah, Adiel, 36 Jesimiel, Benaiah, Ziza, Ben-shiphi, Ben-allon, Ben-jedaiah, Ben-shimri, Ben-37 shemaiah. These men here named came with their clans and families; they grew 38 in number and spread. In search of pasture for their flocks they traveled from 39 the Gerar pass to the eastern end of the valley, where they found good, fat 40 pasture; the land was broad, untroubled, peaceful. Hamites^b had been living there before them.

41 The Simeonites, registered by name, arrived there in the time of Hezekiah king of Judah; they overran their tents and dwellings they found there. They put them under a ban still in force today and settled in their place, since there was pasturage for their flocks.

42 Some of them, belonging to the sons of Simeon, reached Mount Seir: five hundred men led by Pelatiah, Neariah, Rephaiah, and Uzziel, the sons of Ishi.
43 They defeated the surviving fugitives of Amalek and still live there today.

E. THE TRANSJORDANIAN TRIBES

Reuben

1 Sons of Reuben, first-born of Israel. He was indeed the first-born but, when he violated his father's couch, his birthright was given to the sons of Joseph son of Israel.

2 The group of Reuben forfeited the birthright because Judah proved more powerful than his brothers—a prince having come from him—with Joseph having the birthright.

3 Sons of Reuben, first-born of Israel: Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, Carmi.

Joel

4 Sons of Joel: Shemaiah his son, Gog his son, Shimei his son, Micah his 5 son, Reaiah his son, Baal his son, Beerah his son, whom Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria carried off into exile. He was a prince of the Reubenites.

7 His kinsmen, by clans, grouped according to their kinship: Jeiel, the chief, 8 Zechariah, Bela son of Azaz, son of Shema, son of Joel.

Reuben's territory

9 Reuben, having settled at Aroer, spread as far as Nebo and Baal-meon. To the east his lands stretched to the beginning of the desert that ends at the river Euphrates, for he had many herds in the land of Gilead.

10 During the reign of Saul they waged war on the Hagrites; they suffered defeat at their hands and the Hagrites occupied their tents throughout the region east of Gilead.

Gad^a

11 The sons of Gad lived next to them, inhabiting the land of Bashan as far as 12 Salecah: Joel, the chief, Shapham second, then Janai and Shaphat in Bashan.

- 13 Their kinsmen, by families: Michael, Meshullam, Sheba, Jorai, Jacan, Zia, Eber: seven.
- 14 These are the sons of Abihail: Ben-huri, Ben-jaroah, Ben-gilead, Ben-michael,
- 15 Ben-jeshishai, Ben-jahdo, Ben-buz. Ahi son of Abdiel, son of Guni, was head of their family.
- 16 They had settled in Gilead, in Bashan and its dependencies, as well as
- 17 throughout the pasturages of Sharon to their furthest limit. They sorted themselves into their various groups in the days of Jotham king of Judah.
- 18 The sons of Reuben, the sons of Gad, the half tribe of Manasseh, a number of their fighting men, men who carried shield and spear and could handle the bow, men used to warfare, forty-four thousand seven hundred and sixty of them fit
- 19 for service, waged war against the Hagarites, against Jetur, Naphish and Nodab.
- 20 God came to their help against them, and the Hagarites with all their allies fell into their hands, for they had called on God as they fought, and because they put
- 21 their trust in him their prayer was heard. They carried off of the Hagarites' livestock, fifty thousand camels, two hundred and fifty thousand sheep, two thousand
- 22 donkeys and a hundred thousand people, for, God directing the battle, the greater part had been killed. And they settled in what had been Hagarite territory until the exile.

The half tribe of Manasseh

- 23 The sons of the half tribe of Manasseh settled in the country between Bashan and Baal-hermon, Senir and Mount Hermon.
- 24 They were numerous. These are the heads of their families: Ephraim, Ishi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaviah, Jahdiel. These were stout fighting men, men of renown, heads of their families.
- 25 But they were unfaithful to the God of their ancestors and prostituted themselves to the gods of the peoples of the land whom God had destroyed before them.
- 26 So the God of Israel roused the hostility of Pul^b king of Assyria and of Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria. He deported Reuben, Gad and the half tribe of Manasseh, taking them off to Halah near Habor and the river Gozan. They are still there today.

F. LEVI

The lineage of the high priests

- 27,28 Sons of Levi: Gershom, Kohath and Merari. Sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, 6:1,2 Hebron, Uzziel. Children of Amram: Aaron, Moses and Miriam. Sons of Aaron:

32 father of Meraioth, Meraioth father of Amariah, Amariah father of Ahitub, 33 Ahitub father of Zadok, Zadok father of Ahimaaz. Ahimaaz father of Azariah, 34,35 Azariah father of Johanan, Johanan father of Azariah. It was he who officiated 8,9 as priest in the Temple that Solomon built in Jerusalem. Azariah became father 10 of Amariah, Amariah father of Ahitub, Ahitub father of Zadok, Zadok father 11 of Shallum, Shallum father of Hilkiah, Hilkiah father of Azariah, Azariah 12 father of Seraiah, Seraiah father of Jehozadak, and Jehozadak had to go into 13,14 exile when, at the hands of Nebuchadnezzar, Yahweh exiled Judah and Jerusalem.
15

b. Non-Israelite peoples living to the south of Palestine.

5 a. The list of families and their settlements, for Gad and the half tribe of Manasseh, does not tally with the sources in early books of the Old Testament and probably reflects the disposition of these tribes at the time of the Exile. b. Cf. 2 K. 15:19.

The line of Levi

- ¹6 Sons of Levi: Gershom, Kohath and Merari.
^{2,16}7 These are the names of the sons of Gershom: Libni and Shimei. ·Sons of ³³46 ³⁴47

The other Levites

- ³³48 Their brothers the Levites were completely dedicated to the service of the ³⁴49 tabernacle of the Temple of Yahweh. ·Aaron and his sons burned the offerings on the altar of holocaust and on the altar of incense; they were concerned exclusively with the most holy things and with the ritual of atonement for Israel, in accordance with all that Moses the servant of God had laid down.
³⁵50 These are the sons of Aaron: Eleazar his son, Phinehas his son, Abishua his ^{36,37}51 son, ·Bukki his son, Uzzi his son, Zerachiah his son, ·Meraioth his son, Amariah

³⁹53

Where these liveda. The Aaronitic priests

- ³⁹54 These are the places they lived in, according to the boundaries of their settlements:
⁴⁰55 To the sons of Aaron of the Kohath clan (for to these the lot fell) ·they gave ⁴¹56 Hebron in the land of Judah and the pasture lands adjoining. ·The fields and ⁴²57 villages of this town they gave to Caleb son of Jephunneh, ·but to the sons of Aaron they gave the cities of refuge, Hebron, Libnah with its pasture lands, ^{43,44}58 Jattir, Eshtemoa with its pasture lands, ·Hilen, Debir, ·Ashan, Beth-shemesh ⁵⁹60 each with its pasture lands. ·From the tribe of Benjamin they gave Geba, Alemeth and Anathoth, each with its pasture lands. In all, their clans took in thirteen towns.

b. Other Levites

46 The remaining sons of Kohath were allotted ten towns taken from the 47 clans of the tribe, from the half tribe, the half of Manasseh. The sons of 62 Gershom and their clans were allotted thirteen towns taken from the tribe of Issachar, the tribe of Asher, the tribe of Naphtali and the tribe of Manasseh 48 in Bashan. The sons of Merari and their clans were allotted twelve towns 63 taken from the tribe of Reuben, the tribe of Gad and the tribe of Zebulun.
 49 The sons of Israel gave these towns with their pasture lands to the Levites.

50 Also from the tribes of the sons of Judah, the sons of Benjamin and the sons 65 of Simeon, they allotted the towns to which they gave their names.

51 Towns from the tribe of Ephraim also were assigned to the territory of some 67 clans of the sons of Kohath. They were given the following cities of refuge: Shechem with its pasture lands in the highlands of Ephraim, together with 53.54 Gezer and its pasture lands, Jokmeam, Beth-horon, Aijalon and Gath-rimmon, 68.69 each with its pasture lands, and from the half tribe of Manasseh: Aner and 17 Zebadiah, Meshullam, Hizki, Haber, ·Ishmerai, Izliah, Jobab were sons of 18 Elpaal.

19,20 Jakim, Zichri, Zabdi, ·Elioenai, Zille-thai, Eliel, ·Adaiah, Beraiah, Shimrath 21 were sons of Shimei.

22,23 Ishpan, Eber, Eliel, ·Abdon, Zichri, Hanan, ·Hananiah, Elam, Anthothijah, 24 Iphdeiah, Penuel were sons of Shashak.

25 Shamsheerai, Shehariah, Athaliah, ·Jareshaiah, Elijah, Zichri were sons of 26 Jeroham.

27 These were the heads of families, grouped according to their kinship. They 28 lived in Jerusalem.

In Gibeon

29 At Gibeon lived Abi-gibeon, whose wife was called Maacah. ·His first-born 30 son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner, Nadab, ·Gedor, Ahio, Zecher ·and 31 Mikloth who became father of Shimeah. These also, near their kinsmen, lived 32 with their kinsmen in Jerusalem.

Saul and his family

33 Ner became father of Kish, Kish father of Saul, Saul father of Jonathan, 34 Malchi-shua, Abinadab and Eshbaal. ·Son of Jonathan: Meribbaal. Meribbaal 35 became father of Micah. ·Sons of Micah: Pithon, Melech, Tarea, Ahaz. ·Ahaz 36 became father of Jehoaddah, Jehoaddah father of Alemeth, Azmaveth and 37 Zimri. Zimri became father of Moza, ·Moza father of Binea.

38 Raphah his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son. ·Azel had six sons, whose names were these: Azrikam, his first-born, then Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, Hanan. All these were sons of Azel.

39 Sons of Eshke his brother: Ulam, his first-born, Jeush second, Eliphelet third.
40 Ulam had sons, stout fighting men and bowmen. They had numerous sons and grandsons, a hundred and fifty of them.

All these were sons of Benjamin.

7 a. Connecting the name Beriah with raah, "in misfortune."

8 a. This list differs from the list of Benjamin's descendants in ch. 7; the purpose of treating Benjamin again is to lead up to Jerusalem and David's preparations for the Temple. b. A list of families made after the repopulation of Jerusalem at the end of the Exile; cf. Ne. 11:4-9.

Jerusalem, the holy city of Israel

9 All the Israelites were classified in related groups, and these were already listed in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah when they were deported to Babylon for their faithlessness. The first to take up residence in their towns and their estates were the Israelites, the priests, the Levites and the oblates; in Jerusalem lived Judaeans, Benjaminites, Ephraimites and Manassites.

Uthai son of Ammihud, son of Omri, son of Imri, son of Bani, one of the sons of Perez son of Judah. Of the Shilonites: Asaiah, the first-born, and his sons. Of the sons of Zerah: Jeuel. Also their kinsmen: six hundred and ninety.

Of the sons of Benjamin: Sallu son of Meshullam, son of Hodaviah, son of Hassenuah; Ibneiah son of Jeroham; Elah son of Uzzi, son of Michri; Meshullam son of Shephathiah, son of Reuel, son of Ibnijah. They had nine hundred and fifty-six kinsmen, grouped according to their kinship. All these men were heads, each of his family.

Of the priests: Jedaiah, Jehoiarib, Jachin, Azariah son of Hilkiah, son of Meshullam, son of Zadok, son of Meraioth, son of Ahitub, ruler of the house of God. Adaiah son of Jeroham, son of Pashhur, son of Malchijah, Maasai son of Adiel, son of Jahzerah, son of Meshullam, son of Meshillemith, son of Immer. They had kinsmen, heads of families, one thousand seven hundred and sixty stout fighting men who undertook the duties of the Temple of God.

Of the Levites: Shemaiah son of Hasshub, son of Azrikam, son of Hashabiah of the sons of Merari, Bakbakkar, Heresh, Galal, Mattaniah son of Mica, son of Zichri, son of Asaph, Obadiah son of Shemaiah, son of Galal, son of Jeduthun, and Berechiah son of Asa, son of Elkanah who lived in the villages of the Netophathites.

The keepers of the gate: Shallum, Akkub, Talmon, Ahiman and their kinsmen. Shallum, their head, still keeps station at the royal gate, to the east. These were the gatekeepers of the camps of the Levites. Shallum son of Kore, son of Ebiasaph, son of Korah, with his brother Korahites, of the same family, were responsible for the liturgical service; they were keepers of the threshold for the Tent, as their fathers, in charge of the camp of Yahweh, had guarded the entrance to it. At one time, Phinehas son of Eleazar had ruled them (may Yahweh be with him!). Zechariah son of Meshelemiah was keeper of the gate at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting. All the keepers of the gate at the thresholds were picked men; there were two hundred and twelve of them. They were grouped by relationship in their various villages. These were confirmed in office by David and Samuel the seer because of their loyalty. They and their sons had the guardianship of the gates of the Temple of Yahweh, the house of the Tent. On the four sides stood the keepers of the gate, east, west, north, and south. Their kinsmen in their villages would come to join them for a week from time to time, since the four head gatekeepers themselves lived there permanently. They were the Levites responsible for the chambers and treasuries of the house of God. They spent the night in the precincts of the house of God, their duties being to guard it and open it every morning.

Some of them were responsible for the furnishings of worship; they counted them whenever they put them away and took them out. Certain others were in charge of the furniture and all the sacred furnishings, the fine flour, the wine, the oil, the incense, the spices, while those who prepared the mixture for the spices were priests.

One of the Levites, Mattithiah—he was the first-born of Shallum the Korahite—was, because of his loyalty, made responsible for making the offerings that were baked on the pan. Some of their kinsmen the Kohathites were responsible for the loaves to be set out in rows sabbath by sabbath.

These are the cantors, heads of the levitical families. When free from service they lived in the Temple chambers, because they were on duty day and night.

These were the heads of the levitical families, grouped according to their kinship. These heads lived in Jerusalem.

I. SAUL, DAVID'S PREDECESSOR

The ancestors of Saul

- ³⁵ At Gibeon lived Abi-gibeon and Jeiel, whose wife was called Maacah.
³⁶ His first-born son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner, Nadab, ·Gedor, Ahoi, ³⁷ Zechariah and Mikloth. ·Mikloth became father of Shimeam. These also, near ³⁸ their kinsmen, lived with their kinsmen in Jerusalem.
- ³⁹ Ner became father of Kish, Kish father of Saul, Saul father of Jonathan, ⁴⁰ Malchi-shua, Abinadab and Eshbaal. ·Son of Jonathan: Meribbaal. Meribbaal ⁴¹ became father of Micah. ·Sons of Micah: Pithon, Melech, Tahrea. ·Ahaz ⁴² became father of Jarah, Jarah father of Alemeth, Azmaveth and Zimri; Zimri ⁴³ became father of Moza, ·Moza father of Binea.
- ⁴⁴ Rephaiah his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son. ·Azel had six sons; their names were these: Azrikam, his first-born, then Ishmael, Bocheru, Sheariah, Obadiah, Hanan. These were the sons of Azel.

The death of Saul

- ¹ 10 The Philistines made war on Israel, and the Israelites fled from the ² Philistines and were slaughtered on Mount Gilboa. ·The Philistines pressed Saul and his sons hard and killed Jonathan, Abinadab and Malchi-shua, the ³ sons of Saul. ·The fighting grew heavy about Saul; the bowmen took him off ⁴ his guard, so that he fell wounded by the bowmen. ·Then Saul said to his armor-bearer, "Draw your sword and run me through with it. I do not want these uncircumcised men to come and gloat over me." But his armor-bearer was ⁵ afraid and would not do it. So Saul took his own sword and fell on it. ·His armor-bearer, seeing that Saul was dead, fell on his sword too and died with ⁶ him. ·And so Saul died, he and his three sons and all his House together.
⁷ When all the Israelites who were in the valley saw that the men of Israel had taken to flight and that Saul and his sons were dead, they abandoned their towns and fled away. The Philistines then came in and occupied them.
- ⁸ When the Philistines came on the following day to strip the dead, they found ⁹ Saul and his sons lying on Mount Gilboa. ·They stripped him and, taking his head and his armor, had them carried around the land of the Philistines to ¹⁰ proclaim the good news to their idols and their people. ·They placed his armor in the temple of their god, but his head they nailed up in the temple of Dagon.
- ¹¹ When all the inhabitants of Gilead heard all that the Philistines had done ¹² to Saul, ·all the warriors set off; and they took the bodies of Saul and his sons away and, bringing them to Jabesh, they buried their bones under the tamarisk of Jabesh; and they fasted for seven days.
- ¹³ Saul died because he had shown himself unfaithful to Yahweh: he had not kept the word of Yahweh; he had even questioned and consulted a necromancer.
¹⁴ He had not consulted Yahweh, who therefore put him to death and transferred the monarchy to David son of Jesse.

II. DAVID, FOUNDER OF THE TEMPLE WORSHIP

A. DAVID THE KING

David is anointed king

- ¹ 11 All the tribes of Israel then rallied to David at Hebron. "Look," they said, ² "we are your own flesh and blood. ·In days past when Saul was our king, it was you who led Israel in all their exploits; and Yahweh your God said to 9 a. At this time, the tabernacle was at Gibeon, but in this chapter the Chronicler anticipates various developments known to his own times, e.g., the use of the word "Temple," the office of cantors, the Levites as residents of Jerusalem.

you, 'You are the man who shall be shepherd of my people Israel, you shall be the leader of my people Israel.'" So all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and David made a pact with them at Hebron in the presence of Yahweh, and they anointed David king of Israel, in accordance with the word of Yahweh through Samuel.

The capture of Jerusalem

David with all Israel marched on Jerusalem (that is to say, Jebus); the inhabitants of the country were Jebusites. The inhabitants of Jebus said to David, "You will not get in here." But David captured the fortress of Zion, that is, the Citadel of David. David said, "The first to strike down a Jebusite shall become leader and commander." Joab son of Zeruiah was first to go up, and became leader. David went to live in the fortress, and that is how it came to be called the Citadel of David. He then built a wall around the city, and the Millo as well as the surrounding wall, while Joab restored the rest of the city. David grew greater and greater, and Yahweh Sabaoth was with him.

David's champions

These are the principal champions of David, those who in his reign grew in power with him and who, with all Israel, had made him king in accordance with the word of Yahweh concerning Israel. This is the roll of David's champions: Jashobeam the Hachmonite, leader of the Thirty; it was he who wielded his battle-ax against three hundred whom he killed at one time.

After him there was Eleazar son of Dodo, the Ahohite, one of the three champions. He was with David at Pas-dammim when the Philistines mustered for battle there. There was a field full of barley there; the army took flight before the Philistines, but they positioned themselves in the middle of the field, defended it and struck down the Philistines. So Yahweh brought about a great victory.

Three out of the Thirty went down to David at the rock near the Cave of Adullam while a company of Philistines was encamped in the Valley of the Rephaim. David was then in the stronghold and there was a Philistine garrison in Bethlehem. "Oh," David sighed, "if someone would fetch me a drink of water from the well that stands by the gate at Bethlehem!" At this the three champions, forcing their way through the Philistine camp, drew water from the well that stands by the gate of Bethlehem and, bringing it away, presented it to David. But David would drink none of it and poured it out as a libation to Yahweh. "God keep me," he said, "from doing this! Am I to drink the blood of these men? For at the risk of their lives they brought it." And so he would not drink. Such were the deeds of the three champions.

Abishai, the brother of Joab, was leader of the Thirty. It was he who wielded his spear against three hundred whom he killed, winning himself a name among the Thirty. He was more famous than the Thirty and became their captain, but he was no rival for the Three.

Benaiah son of Jehoiada, a hero from Kabzeel, a man of many exploits, struck down the two champions of Moab and, one snowy day, went down and killed the lion in the cistern. He was also the man who killed an Egyptian, a huge man five cubits tall. The Egyptian had a spear in his hand like a weaver's beam, but he went down against him with a staff, tore the spear from the Egyptian's hand and killed the man with it. Such were the exploits of Benaiah son of Jehoiada, winning him a name among the thirty champions. He was more famous than the Thirty, but he was no rival for the Three. David put him in command of his bodyguard.

The valiant champions:
Asahel the brother of Joab.
Elhanan son of Dodo, from Bethlehem.
Shammoth from Harod.

- Helez the Pelonite.
 28 Ira son of Ikkesh, from Tekoa.
 Abiezer from Anathoth.
 29 Sibbecai from Hushah.
 Ilai from Ahoh.
 30 Maharai from Netophah.
 Heled son of Baanah, from Netophah.
 31 Ithai son of Ribai, from Gibeah of Benjamin.
 Benaiah from Pirathon.
 32 Hurai from the wadis of Gaash.
 Abiel from Beth-ha-arabah.
 33 Azmaveth from Baharum.
 Elishba from Shaalbon.
 34 Bene-hashem from Gizon.
 Jonathan son of Shagee, from Harar.
 35 Ahiam son of Sachar, from Harar.
 Eliphelet son of Ur.
 36 Hephher from Mecherah.
 Ahijah the Pelonite.
 37 Hezro from Carmel.
 Naarai son of Ezbai.
 38 Joel the brother of Nathan.
 Mibhar son of Hagri.
 39 Zelek the Ammonite.
 Naharai from Beeroth, armor-bearer to Joab son of Zeruah.
 40 Ira from Jattir.
 Gareb from Jattir.
 41 Uriah the Hittite.
 Zabad son of Ahlai.
 42 Adina son of Shiza the Reubenite, leader of the Reubenites and over the Thirty.
 43 Hanan son of Maacah.
 Joshaphat the Mithnite.
 44 Uzzia from Ashteroth.
 Shama and Jeiel, sons of Hotham the Aroerite.
 45 Jediael son of Shimri, and Joha his brother, the Tizite.
 46 Eliel the Mahavite.
 Jeribai and Joshaviah, sons of Elnaam.
 Ithmah the Moabite.
 47 Eliel, Obed, and Jaasiel from Zoba.

David's first supporters

- 1 12 These are the men who rallied to David at Ziklag when he was still kept from the presence of Saul son of Kish; they were champions, a standby 2 in battle, who could handle the bow with right hand or with left, who could use stones or arrows.
 3 Of the kinsmen of Saul the Benjaminite: Ahiezer the leader, and Joash, sons of Hasshemar from Gibeah, Jeziel and Pelet, sons of Azmaveth, Beracah and 4 Jehu from Anathoth, Ishmaiah from Gibeon, a champion among the Thirty, and over the Thirty; Jeremiah, Jahaziel, Johanan and Jozabad from Gederath, 5 Eluzai, Jerimoth, Bealiah, Shemariah, Shephatiah from Hariph, Elkanah, 6 Isshiah, Azarel, Joezer, Jashobeam, Korahites, Joelah, Zebadiah, sons of 7 Jeroham from Gedor.
 8 Some Gadites seceded to David in the stronghold in the wilderness. They were stout fighting men and trained, well used to shield and spear. Lions they 9 were in aspect, and, for speed, gazelles on the mountains. Ezer was the leader, 10

11-12 Obadiah second, Eliab third, •Mishmannah fourth, Jeremiah fifth, •Attai sixth, 10-11 Eliel seventh, •Johanah eighth, Elzabad ninth, •Jeremiah tenth, Machbannai 13-14 eleventh. •These sons of Gad were troop commanders, each one in command, 12-13 the lesser of a hundred, the greater of a thousand. •These are the men who 15 crossed the Jordan in the first month, when it overflows its course, and put to 14 flight all who lived on its banks, both east and west.

17 Certain Benjaminites, too, and Judaeans came to David in the stronghold.
 16 David went forward to them and addressed them. "If you come to me as friends," 18 he said, "to give me help, then I am ready to join you. But if it is to betray 17 me to my enemies, when I have done no wrong, then may the God of our ancestors take note and give judgment."

19 Then the spirit took possession of Amasai, leader of the Thirty:

"Go forth, David! Peace be with you, son of Jesse!

Peace to you, peace to him that helps you, for your help is your God."

David accepted them and added them to his other company commanders.

20 Certain Manassites deserted to David as he was setting out with the 19 Philistines to fight Saul. But he gave them no help because the Philistine chiefs, after consultation, dismissed him. "If he deserted to his master Saul," they said, 21 "it would cost us our heads." •He was on his way to Ziklag when these 20 Manassites deserted to him: Adnah, Jozabad, Jediahel, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu, 22 Zillethai, commanders of thousands in Manasseh. •This was a reinforcement 21 for David and his troops, since they were all valiant champions and became officers in the army.

23 Indeed reinforcements reached David every day, so that his camp grew into 22 a camp of prodigious size.

The warriors who assured David's kingship

24 These are the figures from the roll of warriors equipped for battle who joined 23 David at Hebron to transfer Saul's kingship to him in accordance with the order of Yahweh:

25 Sons of Judah carrying shield and spear: six thousand eight hundred warriors 24 equipped for battle;

26 of the sons of Simeon; seven thousand one hundred champions valiant in war;

27-28 of the sons of Levi: four thousand six hundred, •in addition to Jehoiada, 26-27 in command of the Aaronites, with three thousand seven hundred of these, 29 Zadok, a young and valiant champion, and twenty-two commanders of his family;

30 of the sons of Benjamin: three thousand kinsmen of Saul, most of them hitherto in the service of the House of Saul;

31 of the sons of Ephraim: twenty thousand eight hundred valiant champions, 30 men famous in their families;

32 of the half tribe of Manasseh: eighteen thousand men assigned by name to go and proclaim David king;

33 of the sons of Issachar, sound judges of the times when Israel should take 32 action, and the way to do it: two hundred chiefs and all their kinsmen under their command;

34 of Zebulun: fifty thousand men fit for service, marshaled for battle, with 33 warlike weapons of every kind, stanch-hearted auxiliaries;

35 of Naphtali: a thousand commanders, and with them thirty-seven thousand 34 men armed with shield and spear;

36 of the Danites: twenty-eight thousand six hundred men marshaled for battle;

37 of Asher: forty thousand men fit for service, marshaled for battle;

38 from Transjordan: a hundred and twenty thousand men of Reuben, Gad 37 and the half tribe of Manasseh, with warlike weapons of every kind.

³⁸ All these fighting men, marshaled reinforcements, came to Hebron with the purpose and determination to proclaim David king over all Israel; and the rest of ³⁹ Israel, too, were all of one mind in making David king. For three days they stayed there, eating and drinking with David.

⁴⁰ Their kinsmen had made preparations for them; furthermore, from as far as Issachar and Zebulun and Naphtali their neighbors brought provisions, by donkey and camel, mule and ox—flour cakes, fig cakes, bunches of raisins, wine, oil, quantities of oxen and sheep; for there was joy in Israel.

The ark brought back from Kiriath-jearim

¹ 13 David conferred with the commanders of thousands and of hundreds and ² with all the leaders. To the whole assembly of Israel David said, "If this has your approval, and if Yahweh our God wills it so, we will send messengers to the rest of our brothers throughout the territories of Israel, and also to the priests and Levites in their towns and adjacent lands, bidding them join us. ³ We will then recover the ark of our God, for in the time of Saul we neglected it."

⁴ The whole assembly agreed to this, for in the eyes of all the people it was ⁵ the right thing to do. So David gathered all the people together from the Shihor of Egypt to the Pass of Hamath to bring the ark of God from Kiriath-jearim. ⁶ Then David and all Israel went up to Baalah, to Kiriath-jearim in Judah, to bring up from there the ark of God which bears the name of Yahweh ⁷ who is seated on the cherubs. At Abinadab's house they placed the ark of God ⁸ on a new cart. Uzzah and Ahio were leading the cart. David and all Israel ⁹ danced before God with all their might, singing to the accompaniment of lyres, harps, tambourines, cymbals, trumpets. When they came to the threshing ¹⁰ floor of the Javelin, Uzzah stretched his hand out to hold the ark, as the oxen were making it tilt. Then the anger of Yahweh blazed out against Uzzah and ¹¹ he struck him down because he had laid his hand on the ark, and he died there in the presence of God. David was displeased that Yahweh had broken out ¹² against Uzzah, and that place was called Perez-uzzah as it still is now.

¹³ David went in fear of God that day. "However can I bring the ark of God ¹⁴ to my home?" he said. So David did not take the ark home to the Citadel of David, but took it to the house of Obed-edom of Gath. The ark of God remained with the family of Obed-edom, in his house, for three months, and Yahweh blessed the family of Obed-edom and everything that belonged to him.

David at Jerusalem, his palace, his children

⁴ At Jerusalem David took more wives and fathered more sons and daughters. ⁵ These are the names of the children born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, ⁶ Nathan, Solomon, Ibhhar, Elishua, Elpelet, Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, Elishama, ⁷ Beeliada, Eliphelet.

Victories over the Philistines

⁸ When the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king of all Israel, they all marched up to seek him out. On hearing this, David went out to meet ⁹ them. When the Philistines arrived they deployed in the Valley of the Rephaim. ¹⁰ David consulted God; "Shall I attack the Philistines?" he asked. "Will you deliver them into my power?" Yahweh answered him, "Attack! I will deliver them into ¹¹ your power." Accordingly they went up to Baal-perazim and there David defeated them. David said, "Through me God has made a breach in my enemies like a breach the waters make." For this reason that place was called Baal-perazim.

- 12 They had left their gods behind them there, and David ordered them to be burned.
 13 Again the Philistines deployed in the valley. David again consulted God, 14 and God answered, "Do not attack them from the front; go around and engage 15 them opposite the balsam trees. When you hear the sound of steps in the tops 16 of the balsam trees, launch your attack, for that will be God going out ahead of you to rout the army of the Philistines." David did as God had ordered, and they routed the Philistine army from Gibeon as far as Gezer.
 17 The fame of David spread into every region, and Yahweh made him feared by every nation.

B. THE ARK IN THE CITADEL OF DAVID

Preparations for moving the ark

- 1 15 He put up buildings for himself in the Citadel of David and prepared 2 a place for the ark of God, and he pitched a tent for it. Then he said, "The ark of God may be moved only by the Levites, since Yahweh has chosen them to carry the ark of Yahweh and to serve him always." 3 Then David gathered all Israel together in Jerusalem to bring the ark of 4 God up to the place he had prepared for it. David called together the sons of 5 Aaron and the sons of Levi: of the sons of Kohath: Uriel the chief and his 6 hundred and twenty kinsmen; of the sons of Merari: Asaiah the chief and his 7 two hundred and twenty kinsmen; of the sons of Gershon: Joel the chief and 8 his hundred and thirty kinsmen; of the sons of Elizaphan: Shemaiah the chief 9 and his two hundred kinsmen; of the sons of Hebron: Eliel the chief and eighty 10 kinsmen; of the sons of Uzziel: Amminadab the chief and his hundred and twelve kinsmen.
 11 David summoned the priests Zadok and Abiathar, and the Levites Uriel, 12 Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Eliel and Amminadab. To these he said, "You are the heads of the levitical families. Sanctify yourselves,^a you and your kinsmen, and bring the ark of Yahweh, the God of Israel, up to the place I have prepared 13 for it. It was because you were not there the first time that Yahweh our God 14 broke out against us,^b because we did not approach him in the right way." So the priests and the Levites sanctified themselves to bring up the ark of Yahweh, 15 the God of Israel, and the Levites carried the ark of God with the shafts on their shoulders, as Moses had ordered in accordance with the word of Yahweh.
 16 David then told the heads of the Levites to assign duties for their kinsmen as cantors, with their various instruments of music, harps and lyres and cymbals.
 17 to play joyful tunes. The Levites then appointed Heman son of Joel, Asaph son of Berechiah, one of his brothers, Ethan son of Kushaiah, one of their 18 Merarite kinsmen, and with them, next in rank, their kinsmen: Zechariah son of Jaaziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattithiah, 19 Eliphelehu, Mikneiah, Obed-edom, Jeiel, keepers of the gate. Heman, Asaph and Ethan, the cantors, were to clash the cymbals of bronze; Zechariah, Jaaziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Maaseiah and Benaiah were to play 21 the keyed harp. Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, Mikneiah, Obed-edom, Jeiel and 22 Azaziah, giving the beat, were to play the octave lyre. Chenaniah, a chief of the Levites and versed in divine oracles, was to expound these, being expert 23 in them. Berechiah and Elkanah were to be gatekeepers to the ark. The priests 24 Shebaniah, Joshaphat, Nethanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah and Eliezer were to sound the trumpet before the ark of God. Obed-edom and Jehiah were to be gatekeepers to the ark.^c

The ark is brought to Jerusalem

- 25 So David, with the elders of Israel and the commanders of thousands, went to bring up the ark of the covenant of Yahweh from Obed-edom's house with 26 great rejoicing. And since God was helping the Levites who carried the ark of 27 the covenant of Yahweh, they sacrificed seven bulls and seven rams. David was wearing a cloak of fine linen, like all the Levites who carried the ark, the cantors and Chenaniah, the officer in charge of its transportation. David also 28 wore the linen ephod. Thus all Israel brought up the ark of the covenant of Yahweh with acclaim, to the sound of the horn, of trumpets, of cymbals, making 29 harp and lyre resound. Now as the ark of the covenant of Yahweh entered the Citadel of David, Michal the daughter of Saul was watching from the window and saw King David dancing and exultant; and she despised him in her heart.

 1 16 They brought the ark of God in and put it inside the tent that David had pitched for it; and they offered holocausts before God, and communion
 2 sacrifices. And when David had finished offering holocausts and communion 3 sacrifices, he blessed the people in the name of Yahweh. He then distributed to all the Israelites, men and women, a loaf of bread each, a portion of dates, and a raisin cake.

The service of the Levites before the ark

4 David appointed some of the Levites as ministers before the ark of Yahweh, 5 to commemorate, glorify and praise Yahweh, the God of Israel: first Asaph, second Zechariah, then Uzziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Mattithiah, Eliab, Benaiah, Obed-edom, Jeiel. These were to play the harp and the lyre, Asaph was to clash 6 the cymbals. The priests Benaiah and Jahaziel were to keep sounding the 7 trumpet before the ark of the covenant of Yahweh. That day, David, foremost in praising Yahweh, entrusted this song of praise^a to Asaph and his kinsmen:

8 Give thanks to Yahweh, call his name aloud, proclaim his deeds to the peoples.
 9 Sing to him, play to him, tell over all his marvels.
 10 Glory in his holy name, let the hearts that seek Yahweh rejoice!
 11 Seek Yahweh and his strength, seek his face untiringly; 12 remember the marvels he has done, his wonders, the judgments from his mouth.
 13 Stock of Israel his servant, sons of Jacob his chosen one, 14 he is Yahweh our God;
 his authority is over all the earth.
 15 Remember his covenant for ever, his word of command for a thousand generations, 16 the pact he made with Abraham, his oath to Isaac.
 17 He established it as a statute for Jacob, an everlasting covenant for Israel.
 18 "I give you a land," he said,
 "Canaan, your allotted heritage, 19 "there where you were easily counted,
 "few in number, strangers to the country." 20 They went from nation to nation, from one kingdom to another people,

15 a. By the ceremonies of purification. b. When he struck Uzzah dead, 13:10-11. c. Three lists are combined in this chapter: first, the three famous cantors; second, twelve keepers of the gate; third, a list of seven priests and two gatekeepers to the ark which corresponds with the situation in the Chronicler's own day.

16 a. Mainly consisting of extracts from Ps. 105, 96 and 106.

- 21 he let no man oppress them, he punished kings on their behalf.
- 22 "Do not touch my anointed ones," he said,
"do not harm my prophets."
- 23 Sing to Yahweh, all the earth.
Proclaim his salvation day after day, 24 tell of his glory among the nations, tell his marvels to every people.
- 25 Yahweh is great, loud must be his praise, he to be feared beyond all gods.
- 26 Nothingness, all the gods of the nations.
- 27 Yahweh himself made the heavens; in his presence are splendor and majesty, in his sanctuary power and joy.
- 28 Pay tribute to Yahweh, families of the peoples, tribute to Yahweh of glory and power, 29 tribute to Yahweh of his name's due glory.
- Bring out the offering, bear it before him, worship Yahweh in his sacred court, 30 tremble before him, all the earth!
- Firm has he made the world, and unshakable.
31 Let the heavens be glad, let earth rejoice!
Say among the nations, "Yahweh is king!"
- 32 Let the sea thunder and all that it holds, let the fields exult and all that is in them, 33 let all the woodland trees cry out for joy, at the presence of Yahweh;
for he comes to judge the earth.
- 34 Give thanks to Yahweh, for he is good, his love is everlasting.
- 35 Say, "God of our salvation, save us, gather us, rescue us from among the heathen, to give thanks to your holy name and to find our happiness in praising you."
- 36 Blessed be Yahweh the God of Israel from all eternity and for ever!
And let all the people say, "Amen!" Alleluia!

37 There before the ark of the covenant of Yahweh David left Asaph and his kinsmen to maintain a permanent ministry before the ark as each day's ritual 38 required, and also Obed-edom, with his sixty-eight kinsmen. Obed-edom son of Jeduthun, and Hosah were to be keepers of the gate.

39 Zadok the priest and the priests, his kinsmen, he left before the tabernacle 40 of Yahweh on the high place at Gibeon to offer holocausts to Yahweh unfailingly, morning and evening, on the altar of holocaust, and to carry out 41 all that is written in the Law of Yahweh laid down for Israel. With them were Heman and Jeduthun and the rest of those who were chosen and assigned by 42 name to give praise to God, "for his love is everlasting." With them were Heman and Jeduthun who were to sound the trumpets, cymbals and musical instruments accompanying the hymns to God. The sons of Jeduthun were given charge of the gate:

43 Then all went away, each to his own house, and David returned to bless his household.

The prophecy of Nathan

1 17 Once David had settled into his house, he said to the prophet Nathan, "Here am I living in a house of cedar, while the ark of Yahweh's covenant is still beneath the awning of a tent." Nathan said to David, "Do all that is in your mind, for God is with you."

3 But that very night the word of Yahweh came to Nathan, 4 "Go and tell my servant David, 'Yahweh says this: You are not the man to build me a house to dwell in. I have never stayed in a house from the day I brought Israel out until today, but went from tent to tent, from one shelter to another. In all my journeying with the whole of Israel, did I say to any one of the judges of Israel, whom I had appointed as shepherds of my people: Why have you not built me a house of cedar?' This is what you must say to my servant David: Yahweh Sabaoth says this: I took you from the pasture, from following the sheep, to be leader of my people Israel. I have been with you on all your expeditions; I have cut off all your enemies before you. I will give you fame as great as the fame of the greatest on earth. I will provide a place for my people Israel; I will plant them there and they shall live in that place and never be disturbed again; nor shall the wicked continue to destroy them, as they did in the days when I appointed judges over my people Israel; I will subdue all their enemies. I will make you great; Yahweh will make you a House. And when your days are ended and you must go to your ancestors, I will preserve your offspring after you, a son of your own, and make his sovereignty secure. It is he who shall build a house for me and I will make his throne firm for ever. I will be a father to him and he a son to me. I will not withdraw my favor from him, as I withdrew it from your predecessor. I will preserve him for ever in my house and in my kingdom; and his throne shall be established for ever.'"

15 Nathan related all these words to David and this whole revelation.

David's prayer

16 King David then went in and, seated before Yahweh, said:

"Who am I, Yahweh God, and what is my House, that you have led me as far as this? Yet in your eyes, O God, this is still not far enough, and you make your promises extend to your servant's House into the distant future. You show me as it were a line of men, and it is Yahweh God, who promises it. What more can David say to you for the honor you have given to your servant? You yourself have singled out your servant. For your servant's sake, this dog of yours, you have done such a great thing by revealing all this greatness to come. There is none like you, no God except you alone, that we have ever heard of. Is there another people on the earth like your people Israel, with a God setting out to redeem it and make it his people, giving yourself a name for great and terrible things by driving nations out before your people whom you redeemed from Egypt? You made your people Israel your own people for ever; and you, Yahweh, have become their God. Now, Yahweh, let the promise you have made to your servant and to his House be always kept, and do as you have said. May this promise hold good and your name be exalted for ever; may they say, 'Yahweh Sabaoth is the God of Israel, he is God for Israel.' The House of your servant David will be made secure in your presence, since you yourself, my God, have made the revelation to your servant that you would build him a House; and so your servant has ventured to offer this prayer in your presence. Yes, Yahweh, you are God indeed, and you have made this kind promise to your servant. Be pleased, then, to bless the House of your servant, that it may continue for ever in your presence; for what you, Yahweh, have blessed is blessed for ever."

The wars of David

1 18 After this, David defeated the Philistines and subdued them. From the 2 hands of the Philistines he took Gath and its outlying villages. He also defeated the Moabites; the Moabites became subject to David, paying him tribute.

3 At Hamath David defeated Hadadezer king of Zobah on his way to 4 consolidate his power over the river Euphrates. David captured one thousand chariots, seven thousand charioteers and twenty thousand foot soldiers from him; David hamstrung all the chariot teams, keeping only a hundred of them.
5 The Aramaeans of Damascus came to the help of Hadadezer king of Zobah, 6 but David killed twenty-two thousand men of the Aramaeans. Then David imposed governors on Aram of Damascus, and the Aramaeans became subject to David, paying him tribute. Wherever David went, God gave him victory.
7 David took the golden shields carried by the guards of Hadadezer and brought 8 them to Jerusalem. From Tibhath and from Cun, towns belonging to Hadadezer, David took a great quantity of bronze; with this Solomon made the bronze Sea and the bronze pillars and furnishings.

9 When Tou king of Hamath heard that David had defeated the entire army 10 of Hadadezer king of Zobah, he sent his son Hadoram to King David to greet him and to congratulate him on fighting and defeating Hadadezer, since Hadadezer was the enemy of Tou. He sent articles of every kind in gold, silver and bronze, which King David also consecrated to Yahweh together with the 11 silver and gold he had levied from all the nations: Edom, Moab, Ammonites, Philistines, Amalek.

12 Abishai son of Zeruiah defeated the Edomites in the Valley of Salt, eighteen 13 thousand of them. He imposed governors on Edom, and all the Edomites became subject to David. Wherever David went, God gave him victory.

The exploits of David's commanders

14 David ruled over all Israel, administering law and justice to all his people. Joab 15 son of Zeruiah was in command of the army; Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud was recorder; Zadok son of Ahitub and Abiathar son of Ahimelech were priests; 16 Shavsha was secretary; Benaiah son of Jehoiada was in command of the Cherethites and Pelethites; David's sons held the first place at the king's side.^a

1 19 After this, Nahash king of the Ammonites died and his son Hanun suc-2 ceeded him. David thought, "I will show kindness to Hanun son of Nahash since his father was kind to me." And David sent messengers with his condolences on his father's death. But when David's servants reached Hanun in the 3 land of the Ammonites to present these condolences, the Ammonite leaders said to Hanun, "Do you imagine David means to honor your father when he sends you messengers of sympathy? On the contrary, the reason why his servants have come to you is to explore, overthrow and reconnoiter the country." 4 Whereupon Hanun seized David's servants, shaved them, cut their clothes half-5 way up to the buttocks, and sent them away. David was soon told what had happened to these men; he sent someone to meet them, for the men were covered with shame. "Stay in Jericho," the king said, "until your beards have grown again, and come back then."

6 The Ammonites saw that they had incurred the enmity of David, and accordingly Hanun and the Ammonites sent a thousand talents of silver to hire chariots and charioteers from the Aramaeans of Upper Mesopotamia, of 7 Maacah and of Zobah. They hired thirty-two thousand chariots; also the king of Maacah with his army. These came and encamped before Medeba, while the Ammonites, having left their towns and mustered, were advancing to the 8 war. When David heard this, he sent Joab with all the common soldiers and 9 the champions. The Ammonites marched out and drew up their line of battle at the approaches to the town, but the kings who had come kept their distance 10 in the open country. Joab, seeing that he had to fight on two fronts, to his front and to his rear, chose the best of Israel's picked men and drew them up 11 in line facing the Aramaeans. He entrusted the rest of the army to his brother 12 Abishai, and drew them up in line facing the Ammonites. "If the Aramaeans prove too strong for me," he said, "you must come to my help; if the Ammonites 13 prove too strong for you, I will come to yours. Take courage and stand firm for the sake of our people and the towns of our God. And may Yahweh do as he 14 thinks right." Joab and the force with him joined battle with the Aramaeans, 15 who fled before him. When the Ammonites saw that the Aramaeans had taken flight, they too fled before Abishai, Joab's brother, and withdrew into their town. Then Joab came back to Jerusalem.

16 Seeing that they had been defeated by Israel, the Aramaeans sent messengers and mobilized the Aramaeans from beyond the river, with Shophach, commander 17 of Hadadezer's army, at their head. Word of this was brought to David, who mustered all Israel, crossed the Jordan, made contact with them and took up position near them. David drew up his line of battle facing the Aramaeans, who 18 then engaged him. But the Aramaeans gave ground before Israel, and David killed seven thousand of their chariot teams and forty thousand foot soldiers.
 19 He also killed Shophach their general. When the vassals of Hadadezer saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they made peace with David and became subject to him. The Aramaeans were reluctant to give any more help to the Ammonites.

1 20 At the turn of the year, the time when kings go campaigning, Joab led out the troops and ravaged the land of the Ammonites and went to lay siege to Rabbah. David, however, remained in Jerusalem. Joab reduced Rabbah and 2 dismantled it. David took the crown from the head of Milcom and found that it weighed a talent of gold; in it was set a precious stone which made an ornament for David's head. He carried off a great quantity of spoil from the 3 town. He brought away its population and set them to work with saws, iron picks and axes. David treated all the Ammonite towns in the same way. Then David and the whole army returned to Jerusalem.

4 After this, war with the Philistines was resumed at Gezer. This was when Sibbecai of Hushah killed Sippai, a descendant of the Rephaim. The Philistines were subdued.

5 War with the Philistines broke out again, and Elhanan son of Jair killed Lahmi, the brother of Goliath of Gath, the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver's beam.

6 There was another battle at Gath, where there was a man of huge stature with six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot, ~~twenty-four~~ twenty-four in all. He 7 too was a descendant of Rapha. Jonathan, son of David's brother Shimea, killed him when he defied Israel.

8 These men were descended from Rapha of Gath and they fell at the hands of David and his guards.

C. PRELUDE TO THE BUILDING OF THE TEMPLE

The census

1 21 Satan rose against Israel and incited David to take a census of the 2 Israelites. David said to Joab and to the senior army officers, "Go, and take a census of Israel, from Beersheba to Dan, then come back and tell me the 3 total." Joab said, "May Yahweh multiply the people a hundred times! My lord king, are they not all servants of my lord? Why should my lord make this 4 inquiry? Why should guilt be brought on Israel?" But the king enforced his 18 a. According to 2 S. they were priests; for the Chronicler, priests are of Levitical and not Judean descent.

order on Joab, and Joab went away, covered the whole of Israel, and then returned to Jerusalem. ·Joab gave David the figures for the census of the people: the whole of Israel numbered one million one hundred thousand men capable of drawing sword, and Judah four hundred and seventy thousand capable of drawing sword. ·Joab had found the king's command so distasteful that he had taken no census of Levi or of Benjamin.

The pestilence. God's forgiveness

7 God looked with displeasure on these proceedings, and he struck Israel.
 8 Then David said to God, "I have committed a grave sin by doing this. But now 9 I beg you to forgive your servant for this fault. I have been very foolish." ·Then 10 Yahweh spoke to Gad, David's seer, "Go and say to David, 'Yahweh says this: I offer you three things; choose one of them for me to do to you.'" · 11 So Gad went to David and said, "Yahweh says this, 'Take your choice:
 12 three years of famine, three months of disaster at the hands of your enemies, with the sword of your enemies thrusting at you, or the sword of Yahweh and three days' pestilence in the country, with the angel of Yahweh ravaging all the territory of Israel.' Now decide how I am to answer him who sends me."
 13 "This is a hard choice," David said to Gad. "But let me rather fall into the power of Yahweh, since his mercy is very great; and not into the power of men." 14 So Yahweh sent a pestilence on Israel, and seventy thousand men of the 15 Israelites died. ·Then God sent the angel to Jerusalem to destroy it, but as he was about to destroy it, Yahweh looked and thought better of this evil; and he said to the destroying angel, "Enough! Now withdraw your hand." The angel of Yahweh was standing beside the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite.
 16 David, raising his eyes, saw the angel of Yahweh standing between earth and heaven, a drawn sword in his hand stretched out toward Jerusalem. Then 17 David and the elders, clothed in sackcloth, fell on their faces. "Was it not I who sinned, who did this most wicked thing? But these, this flock, what have they done? Yahweh my God, let your hand lie heavy on me and on my family; but let your people escape the plague."

The altar is built

18 The angel of Yahweh then said to Gad, "David must go up and erect an altar 19 to Yahweh on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite." ·So David went up 20 at the word which Gad had spoken in the name of Yahweh. ·Now Ornan, as he turned, had seen the angel and had hidden, with his four sons. Ornan was threshing wheat ·when David came to him. Ornan looked down, saw David, came off the threshing floor and with his face to the ground did homage to David.
 22 Then David said to Ornan, "Let me have the site of this threshing floor, to build an altar to Yahweh. Let me have it at its full price. For then the plague will be turned away from the people." "Take it," Ornan said to David, "and let my lord the king do as he thinks right. Look, I will give you the oxen for holocausts, the threshing sled for the wood and the wheat for the oblation. I give them all."
 24 But King David said to Ornan, "No. I must buy it from you at the full price; I will not take for Yahweh what belongs to you, offering holocausts that cost me nothing." ·So David gave Ornan six hundred shekels of gold by weight for the site.
 26 David built an altar there to Yahweh and offered holocausts and communion sacrifices. He called on Yahweh, and Yahweh answered him with fire from 27 heaven on the altar of holocaust ·and ordered the angel to sheathe his sword.
 28 Then it was, seeing that Yahweh had answered him on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite, that David offered sacrifice there. ·The tabernacle of Yahweh that Moses had made in the wilderness and the altar of holocaust were at that time on the high place at Gibeon, ·but David had not been able to go into God's presence there to consult him, so fearful was he of the sword of the angel

1 of Yahweh. 22 Then David said, "Here is the house of Yahweh God; and this shall be the altar of holocaust for Israel."

Preparations for the building of the Temple^a

2 David gave orders for the gathering of all the strangers living in the land of Israel and set stonecutters preparing dressed stones for building the house of 3 God. David furthermore stored up great quantities of iron to make nails for the leaves of the doors and for clamps, and more bronze than could be weighed;
4 logs of cedar too, beyond the number, the Sidonians and Tyrians having brought cedar logs to David in great quantities.

5 Then David said, "My son Solomon is young, of tender years, and the house to be built for Yahweh must be of great splendor, renowned for its magnificence in every country. I will make preparations for him." And so, before he 6 died, David made ample preparations. He then summoned his son Solomon and instructed him to build a house for Yahweh, the God of Israel. "My son," 7 David said to Solomon, "my heart was set on building a house for the name of Yahweh my God. But the word of Yahweh came to me, 'You have shed much blood and fought great battles; it is not for you to build a house for my 8 name, since you have shed so much blood on the earth in my presence. But now a son is born to you. He shall be a man of peace, and I will give him peace from all the enemies that surround him; for Solomon is his name,^b and in his 9 days I will give Israel peace and quiet. He shall build a house for my name; he shall be a son to me and I a father to him, and I will make his royal throne 10 secure in Israel for ever.' Now, my son, may Yahweh be with you and give you success in building a house for Yahweh your God, as he has said concerning 11 you. Yet may he give you discretion and discernment, may he give you his orders for Israel so that you may observe the Law of Yahweh your God.
12 Success will be yours if you carefully observe the statutes and the ordinances that Yahweh has prescribed to Moses for Israel. Be strong and stand fast, be 13 fearless, be dauntless. Poor as I am, I have set aside for the house of Yahweh one hundred thousand talents of gold, a million talents of silver and more 14 bronze and iron than can be weighed; I have stored up wood and stone too, to which you must add more. You will have many workmen, stonecutters, 15 masons, carpenters, skilled artisans of every kind, while your gold and silver, bronze and iron, will be beyond reckoning. Set to work, then, and may Yahweh 16 be with you!"

17 David then ordered all the Israelite leaders to help his son Solomon.
18 "Is not Yahweh your God with you?" he said. "He has given you peace on all sides, since he has put the inhabitants of the country into my power and 19 the land has been subdued for Yahweh and for his people. So now devote heart and soul to the search for Yahweh your God. Set to and build the sanctuary of Yahweh your God, so that you can bring the ark of the covenant of Yahweh and the holy things of God to the house that is built for the name of Yahweh."

The orders and functions of the Levites

1 23 David, an old man now with his fill of days, made his son Solomon king 2 over Israel. He gathered all the Israelite leaders together, with the priests and Levites.

3 A census was taken of those Levites thirty years old and upward. On a 4 count of heads their number was thirty-eight thousand; twenty-four thousand of these were responsible for the services^a of the house of Yahweh; six thousand 5 were scribes and judges; four thousand were keepers of the gate; four thousand praised Yahweh on the instruments David had made for that purpose.

22 a. The author's sources for the remaining chapters of 1 Ch. are not in the Bible. b. Peace is shalom; "Solomon" is derived from it.

23 a. As cantors.

6 Then David divided the Levites into orders: Gershon, Kohath and Merari.
 7 For the Gershonites: Ladan and Shimei. ·Sons of Ladan: Jehiel first, 8 Zetham, Joel; three in all. ·Sons of Shimei: Shelomoth, Haziël, Haran; three 9 in all. These are the heads of families of Ladan. ·Sons of Shimei: Jahath, Zina, 10 Jeush, Beriah; these were the sons of Shimei; four in all. ·Jahath was the eldest, 11 Zizah the second, then Jeush and Beriah, who had not many children and were reckoned as one family.

12 Sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, Uzziel; four in all. ·Sons of Amram: 13 Aaron and Moses. Aaron was set apart to consecrate the most holy things, he and his sons for ever, to burn incense in the presence of Yahweh, to serve him 14 and to bless in his name for ever. ·Moses was a man of God whose sons were 15 given the name of the tribe of Levi. ·Sons of Moses: Gershom and Eliezer.
 16 Sons of Gershom: Shebuel, the first. ·Eliezer had sons: Rehabiah, the first.
 17 Eliezer had no other sons, but the sons of Rehabiah were very numerous. ·Sons 18 of Izhar: Shelomith, the first. ·Sons of Hebron: Jeriah first, Amariah second, 19 Jahaziel third, Jekameam fourth. ·Sons of Uzziel: Micah first, Isshiah second.
 20 Sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. Sons of Mahli: Eleazar and Kish. ·Eleazar 21 died leaving no sons but only daughters; their kinsmen, the sons of Kish, married 22 these. ·Sons of Mushi: Mahli, Eder, Jeremoth; three in all.

23 These were the sons of Levi by their families, the heads of families, and those 24 registered by name, individually; whoever was twenty years old or upward had his function in the service of the Temple of Yahweh.

25 For David had said, "Yahweh, the God of Israel, has given peace to his peo-26 ple; and he dwells in Jerusalem for ever. ·The Levites are no longer required 27 to carry the tabernacle or any thing used in its service." ·For, according to the 28 last words of David, the Levites who had been registered were of twenty years 29 and upward. ·Their duty is to be at the disposal of the sons of Aaron for the service of the Temple of Yahweh, in the courts and chambers, to purify 30 everything consecrated; their duty is to serve the Temple of God. ·They are also responsible for the loaves set out in rows, and for the flour for the oblation, 31 the wafers of unleavened bread, the cakes baked on the griddle or mixed, and with the various measures of volume and of length.^b ·They have to be present every morning to give glory and praise to Yahweh, and also in the evening, ·and at every offering of holocaust to Yahweh on the sabbath, New Moon or solemn 32 feast—a set number of them laid down by rule. This is a perpetual obligation for them in the presence of Yahweh. ·In serving the Temple of Yahweh they observe the ritual of the Tent of Meeting, the ritual of the sanctuary and the ritual of their kinsmen, the sons of Aaron.

The classification of the priests

1 24 Orders of the sons of Aaron: Sons of Aaron: Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, 2 Ithamar. ·Nadab and Abihu died in their father's lifetime leaving no 3 children, so Eleazar and Ithamar became priests. ·David divided them into orders with the help of Zadok, one of Eleazar's sons, and Ahimelech, one of 4 the sons of Ithamar, and made a register of them according to their duties.
 The sons of Eleazar were found to have more leading men than the sons of 5 Ithamar; accordingly, from the heads of families of the sons of Eleazar they made sixteen orders, and from those of the sons of Ithamar, eight. ·They divided 6 them, both parties, by lot: there were consecrated officials, officials of God, among the sons of Eleazar, as among the sons of Ithamar. ·One of the Levites, the scribe Shemaiah son of Nethanel, recorded them in the presence of the king, his officers, Zadok the priest, Ahimelech son of Abiathar and the heads of the priestly and levitical families. They drew lots for each family of the sons of Eleazar and for the sons of Ithamar, turn and turn about.

7 The first lot fell to Jehoiarib, to Jedaiah the second. ·Harim the third, 8 Seorim the fourth, ·Malchijah the fifth, Mijamin the sixth, ·Hakkoz the seventh, 9 10

11 Abijah the eighth, ·Jeshua the ninth, Shecaniah the tenth, ·Eliashib the eleventh, 12 Jakim the twelfth, ·Huppah the thirteenth, Ishbaal the fourteenth, ·Bilgah the 13 fifteenth, Immer the sixteenth, ·Hezir the seventeenth, Happizzez the eighteenth, 14 Pethahiah the nineteenth, Jehezkel the twentieth, ·Jachin the twenty-first, Gamul 15 the twenty-second, ·Delaiah the twenty-third, Maaziah the twenty-fourth.

16 These were the men as registered by their various duties, to enter the Temple 17 of Yahweh in conformity to their rule handed on by Aaron their father as 18 Yahweh, the God of Israel, had laid it down for him.

19 As regards the rest of the sons of Levi:

20 For the sons of Amram: Shubael. For the sons of Shubael: Jehdeiah. ·For 21 Rehabiah, for the sons of Rehabiah: the eldest, Isshiah. ·For the Izharites:
 22 Shelomoth; for the sons of Shelomoth: Jahath. ·The sons of Hebron: Jeriah 23 the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, Jekameam the fourth. ·Sons 24 of Uzziel: Micah; for the sons of Micah: Shamir; ·the brother of Micah: Isshiah; 25 for the sons of Micah: Isshiah, Zechariah. ·Sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi.
 26 Sons of Jaaziah: his son; ·sons of Merari: for Jaaziah his son: Shoham, Zaccur, 27 Ibrî; ·for Mahli: Eleazar who had no sons; ·for Kish: the sons of Kish: 28 Jerahmeel. ·Sons of Mushi: Mahli, Eder, Jerimoth.

29 These were the sons of Levi by their families. ·Like their kinsmen, the sons 30 of Aaron, these families, senior and junior, drew lots in the presence of king 31 David, Zadok, Ahimelech, and the heads of the priestly and levitical families.

The cantors

1 25 For the liturgy, David and the senior army officers set apart the sons of 2 Asaph, of Heman and of Jeduthun, prophets who accompanied them-3 selves with lyre and harp and cymbal, and a list was made of those with these 4 duties to perform.

5 For the sons of Asaph: Zaccur, Joseph, Nethaniah, Asharelah; the sons of 6 Asaph were under the direction of Asaph who prophesied at the king's direction.

7 For Jeduthun: sons of Jeduthun: Gedaliah, Zeri, Jeshaiiah, Hashabiah, 8 Mattithiah; there were six of them under the direction of their father Jeduthun 9 who, to the sound of the lyre, prophesied to the glory and praise of Yahweh.

10 For Heman: sons of Heman: Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shebuel, Jerimoth, 11 Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, Romamti-ezer, Joshbekashah, Mallothi, 12 Hothir, Mahazioth. ·All these were sons of Heman, the king's seer; these 13 sounded the trumpet to accompany God's words. God gave Heman fourteen 14 sons and three daughters; ·all of them sang in the Temple of Yahweh under 15 their father's direction to the sound of cymbal, harp and lyre, for the liturgy 16 in the house of Yahweh at the king's direction.

17 Asaph, Jeduthun and Heman, ·these who had learned to sing to Yahweh, 18 were registered with their kinsmen; the total of those so trained was two hundred 19 and eighty-eight. ·Junior and senior, master and pupil alike, they drew lots for 20 their term of duty. ·The first to whom the lot fell was the Asaphite, Joseph.
 21 The second was Gedaliah, twelve with his sons and brothers. ·The third was 22 Zaccur, twelve with his sons and brothers. ·The fourth was Izri, twelve with

The keepers of the gate

¹ 26 As regards the orders of the gatekeepers:
² For the Korahites: Meshelemiah son of Kore, one of the sons of Ebiasaph.
³ Meshelemiah had sons: Zechariah the first-born, Jediael the second, Zebadiah ⁴ the third, Jathniel the fourth, ·Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the sixth, Eliehoenai ⁵ the seventh.
⁶ Obed-edom had sons: Shemaiah the first-born, Jehozabad the second, Joah ⁷ the third, Sacar the fourth, Nethanel the fifth, ·Ammiel the sixth, Issachar the ⁸ seventh, Peullethai the eighth; God had indeed blessed him. ·To his son ⁹ Shemaiah sons were born who had authority in their families, for they were ¹⁰ stout fighting men. ·Sons of Shemaiah: Othni, Rephael, Obed, Elzabad and his ¹¹ brothers Elihu and Semachiah, brave men. ·All these were sons of Obed-edom.
¹² These and their sons and brothers were well fitted for their task. For Obed-edom, ¹³ sixty-two.
¹⁴ Meshelemiah had sons and brothers: eighteen brave men.
¹⁵ Hosah, one of the sons of Merari, had sons: Shimri was the first, for although ¹⁶ he was not the first-born his father had made him the chief. ·Hilkiah was the ¹⁷ second, Tebaliah the third, Zechariah the fourth. The sons and brothers of Hosah ¹⁸ were thirteen in all.
¹⁹ These, as keepers of the gate, had their orders, and the leaders of these heroes ²⁰ had duties corresponding to those of their kinsmen in the service of the Temple ²¹ of Yahweh. ·They drew lots, junior and senior family alike, for each gate. ·For ²² the east side the lot fell to Shelemiah, whose son Zechariah was a shrewd counsel-²³ or; when they drew lots, the lot for the north side fell to the latter. ·To ²⁴ Obed-edom went the south, and to his sons the storehouse. ·To Shuppim and ²⁵ Hosah went the west with the Gate of the Felled Tree-trunk on the upper road.
²⁶ The watch, turn and turn about: ·on the east, six daily; on the north, four daily; ²⁷ on the south, four daily; at the storehouse, two each side; ·for the Parbar ²⁸ on the west: four at the road, two at the Parbar. ·These were the orders of the ²⁹ gatekeepers among the Korahites and Merarites.

Other levitical duties

²⁰ The Levites, their kinsmen, were responsible for those in charge of the ²¹ treasuries of the Temple of God and in charge of the treasuries of votive offerings: ²² The sons of Ladan, sons, through Ladan, of Gershon, had the Jehielites for ²³ heads of the families of Ladan the Gershonite. ·The Jehielites, Zetham and Joel ²⁴ his brother, were responsible for the treasuries of the Temple of Yahweh.
²⁵ As regards the Amramites, Izharites, Hebronites, and Uzzielites: ²⁶ Shebuel son of Gershon, son of Moses, was the officer responsible for the ²⁷ treasuries. ·His kinsmen through Eliezer: Rehabiah his son, Jeshaiiah his son, ²⁸ Joram his son, Zichri his son, Shelomoth his son. ·This Shelomoth and his ²⁹ kinsmen were responsible for all the treasuries of votive offerings dedicated by ³⁰ King David and by the heads of families as officers of thousands, of hundreds, ³¹ or other senior officers ·(they had dedicated a part of the spoils of war to make ³² the house of Yahweh more impressive), ·and also for all that Samuel the seer ³³ had dedicated, and Saul son of Kish, Abner son of Ner, and Joab son of Zeruiah.
³⁴ All that had been dedicated was the responsibility of Shelomoth and his kinsmen.

²⁹ For the Izharites: Chaniah and his sons were assigned to outside duties for Israel^a as scribes and judges.

³⁰ For the Hebronites: Hashabiah and his kinsmen, one thousand seven hundred fighting men to guard Israel west of Jordan in all that had to do with Yahweh and in the service of the king. ³¹For the Hebronites: Jerijah the chief. In the fortieth year of David's reign, the pedigrees of the Hebronite families were investigated ³²and stout fighting men were found belonging to them at Jazer in Gilead. King David nominated two thousand seven hundred fighting men, kinsmen to Jerijah and heads of families, as overseers of the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half tribe of Manasseh in all the business of God and of the king.

Military and civil organization

¹ 27 The sons of Israel; their enumeration.
The heads of families, the commanders of thousands and hundreds, their scribes, these performed their duties among the people. The orders played their part in all royal business. There was one on duty for a month, every month of the year. Each order was made up of twenty-four thousand men.

² The commissioner for the first order detailed for the first month was Jashobeam ³son of Zabdiel. He had charge of an order of twenty-four thousand men. He was a son of Perez and chief of all the officers of the group detailed for the first month.

⁴ The commissioner for the order for the second month was Dodai the Ahohite. He had charge of an order of twenty-four thousand men.

⁵ The officer of the third group detailed for the third month was Benaiah son of Jehoiada, the chief priest. He had charge of an order of twenty-four thousand men. This was the Benaiah who was champion of the Thirty, and who was commissioner for the Thirty and for his order. Ammizabad was his son.

⁷ The fourth, detailed for the fourth month, was Asahel, the brother of Joab; his son Zebadiah succeeded him. He had charge of an order of twenty-four thousand men.

⁸ The fifth, detailed for the fifth month, was the officer Shamhuth the Izrahite. He had charge of an order of twenty-four thousand men.

⁹ The sixth, detailed for the sixth month, was Ira son of Ikkesh of Tekoa. He had charge of an order of twenty-four thousand men.

¹⁰ The seventh, detailed for the seventh month, was Helez the Pelonite, one of the sons of Ephraim. He had charge of an order of twenty-four thousand men.

¹¹ The eighth, detailed for the eighth month, was Sibbecai of Hushah, a Zerahite. He had charge of an order of twenty-four thousand men.

¹² The ninth, detailed for the ninth month, was Abiezer of Anathoth, a Benjamite. He had charge of an order of twenty-four thousand men.

¹³ The tenth, detailed for the tenth month, was Maharai of Netophah, a Zerahite. He had charge of an order of twenty-four thousand men.

¹⁴ The eleventh, detailed for the eleventh month, was Benaiah of Pirathon, a son of Ephraim. He had charge of an order of twenty-four thousand men.

¹⁵ The twelfth, detailed for the twelfth month, was Heldai from Netophah, of Othniel. He had charge of an order of twenty-four thousand men.

¹⁶ Commissioners for the tribes of Israel: Eliezer son of Zichri was chief officer ¹⁷for the Reubenites, Shephatiah son of Maacah for the Simeonites, Hashabiah ¹⁸son of Kemuel for the Levites, Zadok for the Aaronites, Elihu, one of David's ¹⁹brothers, for the Judaeans, Omri son of Michael for the Issacharites, Ishmaiah ²⁰son of Obadiah for the Zebulunites, Jeremoth son of Azriel for the Naphtalites, ²¹Hoshea son of Azariah for the Ephraimites, Joel son of Pedaiah for the half tribe ²²of Manasseh, Iddo son of Zechariah for the half tribe of Manasseh in Gad, Jaasiel son of Abner for the Benjaminites, Azarel son of Jeroham for the Danites. These were the officials for the tribes of Israel.

 24 Yahweh had promised to make Israel as numerous as the stars of heaven. 'Joab son of Zeruiah began a census, though he did not finish it. That is why the wrath came on Israel, and the figure never reached the figure found in the Annals of King David.^a

25 Commissioner for the king's stores: Azmaveth son of Adiel. Commissioner for the stores in provincial towns, villages, castles: Jonathan son of Uzziah.
 26 Commissioner for the agricultural workers employed on the land: Ezri son of 27 Chelub. 'Commissioner for the vineyards: Shimei of Ramah. Commissioner for those in the vineyards who looked after the wine cellars: Zabdi of Shepham.
 28 Commissioner for the olives and sycamores in the lowlands: Baal-hanan of 29 Geder. Commissioner for the stores of oil: Joash. 'Commissioner for cattle in pasture at Sharon: Shitrai of Sharon. Commissioner for cattle in the valleys: 30 Shaphat son of Adlai. 'Commissioner for camels: Obil the Ishmaelite. Commis-31 sioner for donkeys: Jehdeiah of Meranoth. 'Commissioner for flocks: Jaziz the Hagrite. All these were bailiffs for King David's property.

32 Jonathan, David's uncle, who was a councilor, a shrewd man and a scribe, 33 had charge of the royal children, with Jehiel son of Hachmoni. 'Ahitophel was 34 the king's counselor. Hushai the Archite was Friend of the King. 'Jehoiada son of Benaiah, and Abiathar^b succeeded Ahitophel. Joab was commander of the king's armies.

David's instructions for the Temple

1 28 David held a meeting in Jerusalem of all the officials of Israel, the commissioners for the tribes, and the officials of the orders in the royal service, the commanders of thousands, the commanders of hundreds, the bailiffs for all the property and livestock of the king and his sons, together with the eunuchs 2 and champions and all the stout fighting men. 'Then King David rose to his feet and said:

"My brothers and my people, listen to me. I had set my heart on building a settled home for the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, as a footstool for our 3 God. I have made preparations for building, 'but God has said to me, 'You are not to build a house for my name, for you have been a man of war and have shed blood.'

4 "Of all my father's House it was I whom Yahweh, the God of Israel, chose to be king over Israel for ever. He chose Judah for leader, my family within the House of Judah, and of my father's sons myself, in his good pleasure, he gave 5 to all Israel as king. 'Of all my sons—and many sons Yahweh has granted me—he has chosen my son Solomon to sit on the sovereign throne of Yahweh 6 over Israel. 'He said to me, 'Solomon your son is the man to build my house and my courts, for I have chosen him to be a son to me and I will be a father 7 to him. 'I will make his sovereignty secure for ever if he sturdily maintains my commandments and my ordinances, as they are now.'

8 "So now in the sight of all Israel and of the assembly of Yahweh, and in the hearing of our God, observe and make sure you understand all the commandments of Yahweh your God, so that you may possess this prosperous land and leave it to your children after you as an inheritance for ever.

9 "And you, Solomon my son, know the God of your father, serve him with an undivided heart and a willing mind; for Yahweh searches every heart, and knows every plan it devises. If you seek him, he will let you find him; once forsake 10 him, and he casts you off for ever. 'Think at this moment how Yahweh has chosen you to build a house for his sanctuary. Be strong and set to work."

11 David gave his son Solomon the plans for the vestibule, the buildings, the treasuries, the upper rooms, the inner apartments and the room for the throne 12 of mercy; 'he also gave him a description of all he had in mind for the courts of the Temple of Yahweh, all the surrounding apartments, the treasuries of the 13 Temple of God and the treasuries of votive offerings; also of the orders of 14 priests and Levites, the liturgical duties in the Temple of Yahweh, the gold bullion, gold for every article for whatever function, the silver bullion for all 15 the silver articles, for every article for whatever function, the bullion for the golden lampstands and their lamps, the gold bullion for each lampstand and its lamps, the bullion for the silver lampstands, for the lampstand and its lamps 16 according to the requirements for each lampstand, gold bullion for the tables on which the rows of bread were set, for each of these tables, the silver for the 17 silver tables, the forks, the sprinkling bowls, basins of pure gold, the gold 18 bullion for the bowls, for each of the bowls, the bullion of refined gold for the altar of incense. He gave him the plans for the chariot,^a for the golden cherubs 19 with wings outspread covering the ark of the covenant of Yahweh—all this in accordance with what Yahweh with his hand had written in order to make the whole work clear for which he was providing the plans.

20 Then David said to his son Solomon, "Be strong, stand firm; be fearless, be dauntless and set to work, because Yahweh God, my God, is with you. He will not fail you or forsake you before you have finished all the work to be done 21 for the house of Yahweh. Here are the orders of priests and Levites for all the duties of the house of God; every willing man of any aptitude will help you in all this work; the officials and all the people are entirely at your command."

The voluntary offerings

1 29 Then King David said to the whole assembly, "Solomon my son, whom alone Yahweh has chosen, is young, of tender years, and the work is great; 2 this palace is not for man but for Yahweh God. With all the resources I have,
 I have provided for the house of my God, adding gold to gold, silver to silver, bronze to bronze, iron to iron, wood to wood, onyx, inlaid stones, colored and 3 striped stones, precious stones of every kind, masses of alabaster. What is more; what gold and silver I have in my own treasury I give out of love for the house of my God, over and above what I have provided already for the holy 4 Temple—three thousand talents of gold, gold of Ophir, seven thousand talents 5 of refined silver for plating the walls of the buildings. Whatever gold you have, whatever silver, or workmanship of the craftsman's hand, which of you today will undertake to consecrate it to Yahweh?"

6 Then the heads of families, the officials for the tribes of Israel, the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, and those who managed the king's affairs, 7 undertook to give for the service of the house of God five thousand talents of gold, ten thousand darics, ten thousand talents of silver, eighteen thousand 8 talents of bronze, a hundred thousand talents of iron. All this, with what there were in the way of stones, they paid into the treasury of the house of Yahweh, 9 for Jehiel the Gershonite to administer. The people rejoiced at what these had given so readily, since their generous gift to Yahweh had been made whole-10 heartedly. King David too was filled with joy. In sight of the whole assembly David blessed Yahweh and said:

"May you be blessed, Yahweh, the God of Israel our ancestor, for ever and 11 for ever! Yours, Yahweh, is the greatness, the power, splendor, length of days, glory, for all that is in the heavens and on the earth is yours. Yours is the 12 sovereignty, Yahweh; you are exalted over all, supreme. Riches and honor go before you, you are ruler of all, in your hand lie strength and power; in your 13 hand it is to give greatness and strength to all. At this time, our God, we give you 14 glory, we praise the splendor of your name. For who am I and what is my people to have the means to give so generously? All comes from you; from your 15 own hand we have given them to you. ·For we are strangers before you, settlers only, as all our ancestors were; our days on earth pass like a shadow, and there is 16 no hope. ·Yahweh our God, this store we have provided to build a house for 17 your holy name, all comes from your hand, all is yours. ·O my God, you search the heart, I know, and delight in honesty, and with honesty of heart I have willingly given all this; and now with joy I have seen your people here offer 18 you their gifts willingly. ·Yahweh, God of our ancestors, of Abraham, of Isaac, of Israel, watch over this for ever, shape the purpose of your people's 19 heart and direct their hearts to you. ·Give Solomon my son a heart determined to keep your commandments, your decrees, your statutes; may he practice them all, and build this palace I have prepared for you."

20 Then David said to the whole assembly, "Bless now Yahweh your God!" And the whole assembly blessed Yahweh, the God of their ancestors, and went on their knees to do homage to Yahweh and to the king.

The accession of Solomon and the end of the reign of David 21 On the day following this, the Israelites offered sacrifices and holocausts to Yahweh: a thousand bulls, a thousand rams, a thousand lambs with their libations, 22 as well as many sacrifices for the whole of Israel. ·They ate and drank that day in Yahweh's presence with great joy. Then having made Solomon son of David their second king, they anointed him leader in the name of Yahweh, and anointed 23 Zadok as priest. ·Solomon took his seat on the throne of Yahweh, to reign in succession to David his father. He prospered, and all Israel obeyed him. ·All the 24 officials, all the champions, and even all the sons of King David, pledged allegiance 25 to King Solomon. ·Yahweh brought Solomon's greatness to its height in the sight of all Israel, and gave him a reign of such splendor as none that had reigned over Israel before him had ever known.

26 David son of Jesse had reigned over the whole of Israel. ·His reign over Israel had lasted forty years; he had reigned in Hebron for seven years, and in Jerusalem 27 for thirty-three. ·He died in happy old age, with his fill of days, of riches, of 28 honor. Then his son Solomon succeeded him. ·The history of King David, from first to last, is not all this recorded in the Annals of Samuel the seer, the Annals 29 of Nathan the prophet, and the Annals of Gad the seer, ·with his entire reign, 30 his prowess, and the turns of fortune that came to him and to Israel and to all the kingdoms of the other countries?

THE SECOND BOOK OF CHRONICLES

III. SOLOMON AND THE BUILDING OF THE TEMPLE

Solomon's gift of wisdom

1 1 Solomon son of David made himself secure on the throne. Yahweh his God 2 was with him and brought his greatness to its height. ·Solomon then spoke to all Israel, to the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, to the judges, 3 and to all the princes of all Israel, the heads of families. ·Then Solomon, and with him the whole assembly, went to the high place of Gibeon, where God's Tent of Meeting was, which Moses, the servant of God, had made in the 4 wilderness; ·David, however, had brought the ark of God from Kiriathjearim to the place he had prepared for it, having pitched a tent for it in Jerusalem.
 5 The bronze altar that Bezalel son of Uri, son of Hur, had made stood there in front of the tabernacle of Yahweh; to this went Solomon, with the 6 assembly. ·And there Solomon, in Yahweh's presence, ascended the bronze altar that was by the Tent of Meeting, and on it he offered a thousand holocausts.

7 That night, God appeared to Solomon and said, "Ask what you would like 8 me to give you." Solomon replied to God, "You showed great kindness to 9 David my father; and you have made me king in succession to him. Yahweh God, the promise you made to David my father has now been fulfilled, since you have made me king over a people like the dust of the earth for number.
10 Therefore now give me wisdom and knowledge to act as leader of this people, for who could govern a people so great as yours?"

11 "Since that is what you want," God said to Solomon, "since you have asked, not for riches, treasure, honor, the lives of your enemies, or even for a long life, but for wisdom and knowledge to govern my people of whom I have made 12 you king, therefore wisdom and knowledge are granted you. I give you riches too, and treasure, and honor such as none of the kings had that were before you, nor shall any have that come after you."

13 Solomon left the high place of Gibeon for Jerusalem, away from the Tent 14 of Meeting. He reigned over Israel. Solomon built up a force of chariots and horses; he had one thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand horses; 15 these he stationed in the chariot towns and with the king in Jerusalem. In Jerusalem the king made silver common as pebbles, and cedars plentiful as the 16 sycamores of the lowlands. Solomon's horses were imported from Cilicia; 17 the king's agents took delivery of them from Cilicia at a fixed rate. They imported chariots from Egypt at six hundred shekels apiece, and horses at one hundred and fifty shekels. These men acted in a similar capacity for all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Aram.

The final preparations. Hiram of Tyre

18 Solomon decided to build a house for the name of Yahweh and another 2:7 for himself and his court.

2 He impressed seventy thousand men for carrying loads, eighty thousand to quarry in the hill country, and three thousand six hundred overseers in charge 3 of them. Solomon then despatched this message to Hiram king of Tyre, "Deal with me as you dealt with my father David when you sent him cedars for him 4 to build a house to live in. I am now building a house for the name of Yahweh my God, to acknowledge his holiness, by burning incense of scented spices in his presence, by the loaves that are perpetually set out, by offering holocausts morning and evening, on the sabbath, New Moon, and the solemn festivals 5 of Yahweh our God—and this for ever in Israel. The house I am building will 6 be large, for our God is greater than all gods. Who would have the means to build him a house when the heavens and their own heavens cannot contain him?
And I, for what purpose could I build him a house other than to burn incense 7 in his presence? So send me a man skilled in the use of gold, silver, bronze, iron, scarlet, crimson, violet,⁸ and the art of engraving too; he is to work with my skilled men here in Judah and Jerusalem, men my father David provided.
8 From Lebanon send me cedar wood, juniper and alummim, since I know your servants know the art of felling the trees of Lebanon. My servants will work 9 with yours. They will prepare wood in bulk for me, since the house I wish to 10 build is to be of astounding size. For the woodmen who are to fell the trees I assign twenty thousand kors of grain, twenty thousand kors of barley, twenty thousand baths of wine, and twenty thousand baths of oil—this is for the maintenance of your servants."

10 In a letter sent to King Solomon, Hiram king of Tyre replied, "Because 11 Yahweh loves his people he has made you king. Blessed be Yahweh, the God 12 of Israel," Hiram went on to say. "He has made the heavens and the earth, and given King David a wise son, endowed with discretion and discernment, who is going to build a house for Yahweh and another for himself and his court. ¹²And ¹³I am also sending you a skilled craftsman, Hiram-abi, ¹⁴the son of a Danite woman by a Tyrian father. He is skilled in the use of gold, silver, bronze, iron, stone, wood, scarlet, violet, fine linen, crimson, in engraving of all kinds, and in the execution of any design suggested to him. Let him be put to ¹⁵work with your craftsmen and those of my lord David, your father. ¹⁶So now let my lord send his servants the wheat, barley, oil and wine, as already suggested.

¹⁷"For our part, we will fell all the wood you need from Lebanon, and bring it to you in rafts by sea to Joppa, and it will be your responsibility to transport it to Jerusalem."

The construction

¹⁸Solomon took a count of all the aliens resident in the land of Israel, following the census that David his father had taken; it was found there were a hundred ¹⁹and fifty-three thousand six hundred. ²⁰He impressed seventy thousand of these for carrying loads, eighty thousand for quarrying in the hill country, and three thousand six hundred as overseers to make sure the people worked.

²⁹He then built the hall of the Holy of Holies; its length, across the width of the Great Hall, was twenty cubits, and its width twenty cubits. He plated it with ³⁰six hundred talents of fine gold; the gold nails weighed fifty shekels. He also ³¹plated the upper rooms with gold. ³²In the hall of the Holy of Holies he made two cherubs of wrought metal work and plated them with gold. ³³The total span of the cherubs' wings was twenty cubits, each being five cubits long, with one wing touching the wall of the hall, while the other touched that of the other ³⁴cherub. ³⁵One wing of a cherub, five cubits long, touched the wall of the apartment; the second, five cubits long, touched the wing of the other cherub. ³⁶The spread of these cherubs' wings was twenty cubits. They stood on their feet, facing the ³⁷Hall.

⁴⁵4 He made an altar of bronze, twenty cubits long, twenty cubits wide and ten ⁴⁶high. ⁴⁷He made the Sea of cast metal, ten cubits from rim to rim, circular in shape and five cubits high; a cord thirty cubits long gave the measurement of its girth. ⁴⁸Under it and completely encircling it were animals shaped like oxen; they went around the Sea over a length of thirty cubits; the oxen were in two ⁴⁹rows, of one and the same casting with the rest. ⁵⁰It rested on twelve oxen, three facing north, three facing west, three facing south, three facing east; on these, their hindquarters all turned inward, stood the Sea. It was a hand's breadth in thickness, and its rim was shaped like the rim of a cup, like a flower. It could hold three thousand baths.

He made ten basins, arranging five on the right-hand side, five on the left-hand side, for washing the victim for the holocaust which was purified there; but the Sea was for the priests to wash in. He made the ten golden lampstands in the way prescribed and placed them in the Hekal, five on the right and five on the left. He made ten tables and placed them in the Hekal, five on the right and five on the left. He made a hundred golden sprinkling bowls.

He made the court of the priests^a and the great court with its gates and plated the gates with bronze. He placed the Sea some distance from the right-hand side, to the southeast.

Huram made the ash containers, the scoops and the sprinkling bowls. He finished all the work that he did for King Solomon on the Temple of God: the two pillars; the two moldings of the capitals surmounting the pillars; the two sets of filigree to cover the two moldings of the capitals surmounting the pillars; the four hundred pomegranates for the two sets of filigree; the pomegranates of each set of filigree were in two rows; the ten stands and the ten basins on the stands; the one Sea and the twelve oxen beneath it;

the ash containers, the scoops, the forks, and all their accessories made by Huram-abi of burnished bronze for King Solomon, for the Temple of Yahweh. The king made them by the process of sand casting, in the Jordan area between Succoth and Zeredah. Solomon made all these articles in great quantities, no reckoning being made of the weight of bronze.

Solomon placed all the furnishings he had made in the Temple of God: the golden altar and the tables for the loaves of offering; the lampstands with their lamps to burn, as prescribed, in front of the Debir, of pure gold; the floral work, the lamps, the extinguishers, of gold (and it was pure gold); the knives, the sprinkling bowls, incense boats, of fine gold; the door of the Temple, the inner doors (for the Holy of Holies) and the Temple doors (for the Hekal), of gold.

So all the work that Solomon did for the Temple of Yahweh was completed, and Solomon brought what his father David had consecrated, the silver and the gold and the vessels, and put them in the treasury of the Temple of God.

The ark is brought to the Temple

Then Solomon called the elders of Israel together in Jerusalem to bring the ark of the covenant of Yahweh up from the Citadel of David, which is Zion. All the men of Israel assembled around the king in the seventh month, at the time of the feast. All the elders of Israel came, and the Levites took up the ark and the Tent of Meeting with all the sacred vessels that were in it; the levitical priests brought them up.

King Solomon, and all the community of Israel gathering with him in front of the ark, sacrificed sheep and oxen, countless, innumerable. The priests brought the ark of the covenant of Yahweh to its place, in the Debir of the Temple, that is, in the Holy of Holies, under the cherubs' wings. For there where the ark was placed the cherubs spread out their wings and sheltered the ark and its shafts. These were long enough for their ends to be seen from the Holy Place in front of the Debir, but not from outside. There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets that Moses had placed in it at Horeb, where ^{4 a}. The inner court of Solomon's Temple. It was not reserved to the priests until the time of Ezekiel, Ezk. 42:13.

Yahweh had made a covenant with the Israelites when they came out of Egypt; 9b they are still there today.

The Lord takes possession of his Temple^a 11a Now when the priests came out of the sanctuary, a cloud filled the sanctuary, 13b the Temple of Yahweh.

11b Now all the priests present, whatever order they belonged to, had sanctified 12 themselves. The entire body of levitical cantors, Asaph, Heman and Jeduthun with their sons and brothers, was stationed to the east of the altar, robed in fine linen and playing cymbals, harps, and lyres. A hundred and twenty priests 13a accompanied them on the trumpet. All those who played the trumpet, or who sang, united in giving praise and glory to Yahweh. Lifting their voices to the sound of the trumpet and cymbal and instruments of music, they gave praise to Yahweh, "for he is good, for his love is everlasting."

14 Because of the cloud the priests could no longer perform their duties: the glory of Yahweh filled the Temple of God.

1 Then Solomon said:

6

"Yahweh has chosen to dwell in the thick cloud.

Yes, I have built you a dwelling,

2 a place for you to live in for ever."

Solomon addresses the people

3 Then the king turned and blessed the whole assembly of Israel, while the 4 whole assembly of Israel stood. He said, "Blessed be Yahweh, the God of Israel, who has carried out by his hand what he promised with his mouth to 5 David, my father, when he said, 'From the day I brought my people out of the land of Egypt I chose no city, in any of the tribes of Israel, to have a house built where my name might make its home, and chose no man to be prince of 6 my people Israel; but I chose Jerusalem for my name to make its home there, 7 and I chose David to rule over Israel my people.' My father David had set his 8 heart on building a house for the name of Yahweh, the God of Israel, but Yahweh said, 'You have set your heart on building a house for my name, and 9 in this you have done well; and yet, you are not the man to build the house; 10 your son, born of your own body, shall build the house for my name.' Yahweh has kept the promise he made: I have succeeded David my father and am seated on the throne of Israel, as Yahweh promised; I have built the house for the 11 name of Yahweh, the God of Israel, and have placed in it the ark containing the covenant that Yahweh made with the sons of Israel."

Solomon's prayer for himself

12 Then in the presence of the whole assembly of Israel Solomon stood before 13 the altar of Yahweh and stretched out his hands. Now Solomon had made a bronze pedestal and had placed it in the middle of the court; it was five cubits long, five cubits wide and five cubits high. Solomon mounted it, and knelt down on it in the presence of the whole assembly of Israel; he stretched out his hands 14 to heaven, and said, "Yahweh, God of Israel, not in heaven nor on earth is there such a God as you, true to your covenant and your graciousness toward 15 your servants when they walk wholeheartedly in your way. You have kept the promise you made to your servant David my father; what you promised with 16 your mouth, today you have carried out by your hand. And now, Yahweh, God of Israel, keep the promise you made your servant David when you said, 'You shall never lack for a man seated before me on the throne of Israel, if only your sons are careful how they behave, following my law as you yourself 17 have done.' So now, God of Israel, let the words come true which you spoke 18 to your servant David my father. Yet will God really live with men on the earth? Why, the heavens and their own heavens cannot contain you! How much

- 19 less this house that I have built! Listen to the prayer and entreaty of your servant, Yahweh my God; listen to the cry and to the prayer your servant makes to you.
- 20 Day and night let your eyes watch over this house, over this place in which you have promised to make a home for your name. Listen to the prayer that your servant will offer in this place.

Solomon's prayer for the people

- 21 "Hear the entreaties of your servant and of Israel your people as they pray in this place. From heaven where your dwelling is, hear; and, as you hear, forgive.
- 22 "If a man sins against his neighbor, and the neighbor calls down a curse
- 23 on him and makes him swear an oath before your altar in this Temple, hear from heaven, and act; decide between your servants: punish the wicked one, bringing his conduct down on his own head; and vindicate the innocent, rewarding him as his innocence deserves.
- 24 "If Israel your people are defeated by the enemy because they have sinned
- 25 against you, if they return to you and praise your name and pray to you and entreat you in this Temple, hear from heaven; forgive the sin of your people Israel, and bring them back to the land you gave to them and their ancestors.
- 26 "When the heavens are shut and there is no rain because they have sinned
- 27 against you, if they pray in this place and praise your name and, having been humbled by you, repent of their sin, hear from heaven and forgive the sin of your servant and of your people Israel; show them the good way they ought to follow; and send rain on your land which you have given your people as an inheritance.
- 28 "Should there be famine in the land or pestilence, blight or mildew, locust
- 29 or caterpillar, should this people's enemies lay siege to one of its city gates, if there is any plague or sickness, if any one man, or all Israel your people, should feel remorse and sorrow and pray or make entreaty, stretching out his
- 30 hands toward this Temple, hear from heaven where your home is; forgive, and deal with each as his conduct deserves, for you know each heart—you alone know the hearts of all mankind—that they may come to revere you and follow your ways as long as they live in the land you gave to our ancestors.
- 31 "And the foreigner too, not belonging to your people Israel, if he comes from
- 32 a distant country for the sake of your name and of your mighty hand and outstretched arm, if he comes and prays in this Temple, hear from heaven where
- 33 your home is, and grant all the foreigner asks, so that all the peoples of the earth may come to know your name and, like your people Israel, revere you, and know that your name is given to the Temple I have built.
- 34 "If your people go out to war against their enemies on the way you send
- 35 them, and if they turn toward the city you have chosen and toward the Temple I have built for your name and pray to you, hear from heaven their prayer and their entreaty, and uphold their cause.
- 36 "If they sin against you—for there is no man who does not sin—and you are
- 37 angry with them and deliver them to the enemy, and they are led away captive to a land far or near, if in the land of their exile they come to themselves and repent, and in the country of their captivity they entreat you saying, 'We have
- 38 sinned, we have acted perversely and wickedly,' and if they turn again to you with all their heart and soul in the country of their captivity to which they have
- 39 been deported, and pray, turning toward the land you gave their ancestors, toward the city you have chosen, and toward the Temple I have built for your name, hear from heaven where your home is, hear their prayer and their entreaty, uphold their cause, and forgive your people the sins they have committed against you.

Conclusion of the prayer

40 "Now, O my God, may your eyes be open and your ears attentive to the 41 prayer offered in this place. And now

Rise Yahweh God, come to your resting place, you and the ark of your power.
Your priests, Yahweh God, are vested in salvation, your faithful rejoice in prosperity.

42 Yahweh God, do not turn away from the face of your anointed; remember your favors to David your servant."

The dedication

1 7 When Solomon had finished his prayer, fire came down from heaven and 2 consumed the holocaust and the sacrifices; and the glory of Yahweh filled 3 the Temple. The priests could not enter the house of Yahweh, because the glory 4 of Yahweh filled the house of Yahweh. All the sons of Israel, seeing the fire 5 come down and the glory of Yahweh resting on the Temple, bowed down on 6 the pavement with their faces to the earth; they worshiped and gave praise to 7 Yahweh, "for he is good, for his love is everlasting." Then the king and all the 8 people offered sacrifice before Yahweh. King Solomon offered twenty-two 9 thousand oxen and a hundred and twenty thousand sheep in sacrifice; and so 10 the king and all the people dedicated the Temple of Yahweh. The priests stood 11 in their places, while the Levites gave praise to Yahweh on the instruments 12 that David had made to accompany the canticles of Yahweh, "for his love is 13 everlasting." These performed the hymns of praise that David had composed.
14 By their side were the priests sounding the trumpet, while all Israel stood.
15 Solomon consecrated the middle of the court that is in front of the Temple 16 of Yahweh; he offered the holocaust there and the fatty parts of the communion 17 sacrifices, since the bronze altar Solomon had made could not hold the holocaust, 18 the oblation and the fatty parts. Solomon then celebrated the feast for seven 19 days and all the Israelites gathered together with him in enormous numbers 20 from the Pass of Hamath to the wadi of Egypt. On the eighth day they held a 21 propitiation ceremony, for they had been seven days dedicating the altar and 22 seven days celebrating the feast. On the twenty-third day of the seventh month 23 Solomon dismissed the people to their homes, rejoicing and with happy hearts for 24 the goodness Yahweh had shown to David and to Solomon and to his people Israel.

Yahweh appears and gives a warning

11 Solomon finished the Temple of Yahweh and the royal palace and successfully 12 concluded all he had set his heart on doing in the house of Yahweh and in his 13 own. Then Yahweh appeared to Solomon in the night and said, "I grant you 14 prayer. I choose this place for myself to be a house of sacrifice. When I close 15 the skies and there is no rain, when I command the locust to devour the land, 16 when I send pestilence among my people, then if my people who bear my name 17 humble themselves, and pray and seek my presence and turn from their wicked 18 ways, I myself will hear from heaven and forgive their sins and restore their 19 land. Now and for the future my eyes are open and my ears attentive to the 20 prayer that is offered in this place. Now and for the future I have chosen and 21 consecrated this house for my name to be there for ever; my eyes and my heart 22 will be there for ever. For your part, if you walk before me as David your father 23 did, if you do all that I order you and keep my statutes and my ordinances, 24 I will make your royal throne secure, according to the compact I made with 25 David your father when I said: You shall never lack for a man to rule in Israel.
26 But if you turn away from me and forsake the commandments and statutes

20 I have set before you, and go and serve other gods and worship them, 'then I will tear the Israelites from the land I have given them, and I will reject from my presence this Temple that I have consecrated for my name and make it a proverb and a byword among all the nations. 'As for this Temple, now so exalted, all who pass by will be astounded; they will whistle and say, 'Why has 22 Yahweh treated this country and this Temple like this?' 'And the answer will be, 'Because they forsook Yahweh, the God of their ancestors, who brought them out of the land of Egypt, and they adopted other gods and worshiped them and served them; that is why he has brought all these disasters on them.'"

Conclusion. The completion of the building programme

1 8 At the end of the twenty years which it took Solomon to build the Temple 2 of Yahweh and his own palace, 'he rebuilt the towns that Hiram had given 3 him and settled Israelites in them. 'He then went to Hamath of Zobah, which 4 he captured; 'he rebuilt Tadmor in the wilderness^a and all the garrison towns 5 he had built in Hamath. 'He rebuilt Upper Beth-horon and Lower Beth-horon, 6 fortified towns with walls and gates and bars, 'also Baalath and all the garrison 7 towns owned by Solomon, all the towns for his chariots and horses, and all it 8 pleased Solomon to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon and in all the countries 9 subject to him. 'All those who survived of the Hittite, Amorite, Perizzite, Hivite 10 and Jebusite peoples, who were not Israelites 'and whose descendants were left 11 in the country after them, and not exterminated by the Israelites, these Solomon 12 levied for forced labor, as they are levied still. 'On the Israelites, however, 13 Solomon did not impose slave labor; these served as fighting men: they were 14 officers of his equerries and his chariot and cavalry commanders. 'These were 15 the administrators' officials in the service of King Solomon: two hundred and 16 fifty in charge of the people.

11 Solomon brought Pharaoh's daughter from the Citadel of David up to the house he had built for her. "It is not for me," he said, "to let a woman live in the palace of David king of Israel; these are holy places, where the ark of Yahweh has been."

12 Solomon then offered holocausts to Yahweh on Yahweh's altar which he had 13 built in front of the porch. 'Observing the daily rule for holocausts laid down 14 in the commandment of Moses for sabbath, New Moon and the three annual 15 feasts: the feast of Unleavened Bread, the feast of Weeks and the feast of 16 Tabernacles, 'he maintained the regulations of his father David, as also the 17 priestly orders in their duties, the rules affecting the Levites who offered praise 18 and served with the priests according to the daily ritual, and the different orders 19 of gatekeepers at each gate, for such had been the commandments of David, 20 the man of God. 'They did not deviate in anything, not even in the matter of 21 the treasuries, from the royal ordinances applying to the priests and the Levites. 22 And all Solomon's work which, until the day when the foundations of the Temple 23 of Yahweh were laid, had been only in preparation, was completed when the 24 Temple of Yahweh was finished.

Solomon in his glory

17 Then Solomon went as far as Ezion-geber and Elath on the shores of the sea, 18 in the land of Edom. 'Hiram sent him ships manned by his own men, and 19 experienced sailors. These went with Solomon's men to Ophir and from there 20 they brought back four hundred and fifty talents of gold, which they delivered 21 to King Solomon.

1 9 The fame of Solomon having reached the queen of Sheba, she came to 2 Jerusalem to test him with difficult questions. She came with immense riches, 3 camels laden with spices, great quantities of gold and precious stones. On 4 coming to Solomon, she opened her mind freely to him; 'and Solomon had an answer for all her questions, not one was too recondite for Solomon to expound.

³ When the queen of Sheba saw the wisdom of Solomon, the palace he had built, ⁴ the food at his table, the accommodation for his officials, the organization of his staff and the way they were dressed, his cupbearers and the holocausts he offered ⁵ in the Temple of Yahweh, it left her breathless, and she said to the king, "What ⁶ I heard in my own country about you and your wisdom was true, then! Until I came and saw it with my own eyes I could not believe what they told me, but evidently what they told me was less than half the real extent of your wisdom; ⁷ you surpass the report I heard. How happy your wives are! How happy these ⁸ servants of yours who wait on you always and hear your wisdom! Blessed be Yahweh your God who has granted you his favor, setting you on his throne as king in the name of Yahweh your God. Because your God loves Israel and means to uphold him for ever, he has made you king over them to administer law ⁹ and justice." And she presented the king with a hundred and twenty talents of gold and great quantities of spices and precious stones. There never were ¹⁰ spices like those the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon. Similarly the servants of Hiram and the servants of Solomon, who carried gold from Ophir, brought ¹¹ alummim wood and precious stones. Of the alummim wood the king made floor boards for the Temple of Yahweh and for the royal palace, and lyres and harps for the musicians; the like of them had never been seen before in the land ¹² of Judah. And King Solomon, in his turn, presented the queen of Sheba with everything she expressed any wish for, besides returning what she had brought to the king. Then she went home, she and her servants, to her own country.

¹³ The weight of gold coming to Solomon in one year was six hundred and ¹⁴ sixty-six talents of gold, not counting the merchants' dues that the import agents brought in; all the kings of Arabia and the governors of the country also ¹⁵ brought gold and silver to Solomon. King Solomon made two hundred great shields of beaten gold, and plated each shield with six hundred shekels of gold.
¹⁶ Also three hundred small shields of beaten gold, and plated each of these with three hundred shekels of gold; and he put them in the Hall of the Forest of ¹⁷ Lebanon. The king also made a great ivory throne, and plated it with purest ¹⁸ gold. The throne had six steps, and at the back of it a lamb in gold, and arms ¹⁹ at either side of the seat; two lions stood beside the arms, and twelve lions stood on either side of the six steps. No throne like this was ever made in any other kingdom.

²⁰ All King Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the furnishings in the Hall of the Forest of Lebanon were of pure gold; silver was thought little ²¹ of in the time of Solomon. And the king also had ships that went to Tarshish with Hiram's men, and once every three years the ships of Tarshish would come ²² back laden with gold and silver, ivory, apes and baboons. For riches and for wisdom King Solomon outdid all the kings of the earth. All the kings of the ²³ earth sought audience of Solomon to hear the wisdom God had implanted in ²⁴ his heart, and each would bring his own present: gold vessels, silver vessels, robes, armor, spices, horses and mules; and this went on year after year.

²⁵ Solomon had four thousand stalls for his horses and chariots, and twelve thousand horses; these he stationed in the chariot towns and near the king in ²⁶ Jerusalem. Solomon extended his power over all the kingdoms from the river to the land of the Philistines and the Egyptian border. In Jerusalem the king made silver common as pebbles, and cedars plentiful as the sycamores of the ²⁷ Lowlands. Horses were imported for Solomon from Cilicia and all the other ²⁸ countries too.

The death of Solomon

²⁹ The rest of the history of Solomon, from first to last, is not all this recorded in the History of Nathan the prophet, in the Prophecy of Ahijah of Shiloh, and ³⁰ in the Vision of Iddo the seer concerning Jeroboam son of Nebat? Solomon 31 reigned in Jerusalem for forty years over all Israel. Then Solomon slept with his ancestors and was buried in the Citadel of David his father; his son Rehoboam succeeded him.

IV. FIRST REFORMS OF THE MONARCHICAL PERIOD

A. REHOBOAM AND THE REGROUPING OF THE LEVITES

The schism

1 10 Rehoboam went to Shechem, for it was to Shechem that all Israel had 2 gone to proclaim him king. As soon as Jeroboam son of Nebat heard the news—he was still in Egypt, where he had taken refuge from King Solomon—he 3 returned from Egypt. They sent and summoned him, and he came, with the whole assembly.

4 And they said this to Rehoboam, “Your father gave us a heavy burden to bear; lighten your father’s harsh tyranny now, and the weight of the burden he 5 laid on us, and we will serve you.” He said, “Come back to me in three days.”
And the people went away.

6 King Rehoboam consulted the elders, who had been in the service of his father Solomon while he was alive. “What reply,” he asked, “do you advise me 7 to give to this people?” “If you are kind to these people,” they said, “if you are pleasant to them and treat them fairly, then they will be your servants for ever.” 8 But he rejected the advice given him by the elders and consulted the young men 9 who had grown up with him and were in his service. “How do you advise us,” he asked, “to answer these people who have said to me, ‘Lighten the burden your 10 father imposed on us?’” The young men who had grown up with him replied, “Give this answer to these people who have said, ‘Your father gave us a heavy burden to bear, you must lighten it for us,’ say this to them, ‘My little finger is 11 thicker than my father’s loins! So then, my father made you bear a heavy burden; I will make it heavier still! My father beat you with whips; I am going to beat you with loaded scourges!’”

12 On the third day all the people came to Rehoboam in obedience to the king’s 13 command: “Come back to me on the third day.” The king gave them a harsh 14 answer. King Rehoboam, rejecting the advice of the elders, spoke to them as the young men had recommended. “My father made you bear a heavy burden,” he said, “but I will make it heavier still. My father beat you with whips; I am 15 going to beat you with loaded scourges!” The king in fact took no notice of the people’s wishes, and this was brought about by God to carry out the promise Yahweh had spoken through Ahijah of Shiloh to Jeroboam son of Nebat.
16 When all Israel saw that the king took no notice of their wishes, they gave him this answer:

“What share have we in David?
We have no inheritance in the son of Jesse.
To your tents, Israel, each one of you.
Henceforth look after your own House, David!”

17 And all Israel went off to their tents. Rehoboam however ruled over those 18 sons of Israel who lived in the towns of Judah. King Rehoboam sent Adoram who was in charge of forced labor, but the Israelites stoned him to death; whereupon King Rehoboam was obliged to mount his chariot and escape to 19 Jerusalem. And Israel has remained separated from the House of David until the present day.

The activities of Rehoboam

1 11 Rehoboam went to Jerusalem and mustered the House of Judah with Benjamin, a hundred and eighty thousand picked warriors, to fight the House of Israel and win back the kingdom of Rehoboam. But the word of Yahweh came to Shemaiah the man of God, "Say this to Rehoboam son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all the Israelites in Judah and Benjamin, 'Yahweh says this: Do not set out to fight against your brothers; let everyone go home, for what has happened is my doing.'" They obeyed Yahweh's command and went back instead of marching against Jeroboam.

2 Rehoboam lived in Jerusalem and built fortified towns in Judah. He rebuilt Bethlehem, Etam, Tekoa, Beth-zur, Soco, Adullam, Gath, Mareshah, Ziph, Adoraim, Lachish, Azekah, Zorah, Aijalon, Hebron; these were fortified towns in Judah and Benjamin. He fortified them strongly and put commanders in them with stores of food, oil and wine. In each of these towns were shields and spears. He made them very strong to keep Judah and Benjamin under control.

Rehoboam's relations with the priests and Levites

3 The priests and the Levites throughout Israel left their districts to take up residence near him. The Levites, indeed, abandoned their pasture lands and their holdings, and came to Judah and Jerusalem, since Jeroboam and his sons had excluded them from the priesthood of Yahweh, and had set up for himself a priesthood of the high places, for the satyrs and the calves he had made. Members of all the tribes of Israel, men wholeheartedly devoted to the worship of Yahweh the God of Israel, followed them and came to Jerusalem to sacrifice to Yahweh, the God of their ancestors. These added strength to the kingdom of Judah, and gave their support to Rehoboam son of Solomon for three years, because during three years he followed the example of David and Solomon.

Rehoboam turns unfaithful

4 Rehoboam took as wife Mahalath the daughter of Jerimoth son of David, and of Abihail, daughter of Eliab son of Jesse, and she bore him sons: Jeush, Shemariah and Zaham. After her, he married Maacah daughter of Absalom, who bore him Abijah, Attai, Ziza and Shelomith. Rehoboam loved Maacah, daughter of Absalom, more than all his other wives and concubines. He had in fact a total of eighteen wives and sixty concubines and had twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters. Rehoboam appointed Abijah, Maacah's son, as head of the family, to be prince among his brothers, with a view to making him king. He built more and demolished more than any of his descendants throughout the territories of Judah and Benjamin and in all the fortified towns, which he equipped with numerous granaries.

5 But he consulted the many gods of his wives, 12 and no sooner was his royal authority securely consolidated than he, and all Israel with him, abandoned the Law of Yahweh. In the fifth year of Rehoboam, Shishak the king of Egypt marched on Jerusalem, since it had been unfaithful to Yahweh. With twelve hundred chariots and sixty thousand horses and a countless army of Libyans, Sukkiim and Ethiopians who came from Egypt with him, he captured the fortified towns of Judah and reached Jerusalem. Rehoboam and the Judaeans captains, at the advance of Shishak, had mustered near Jerusalem; to them came Shemaiah the prophet. "Yahweh says this," he said to them. "You have abandoned me, now I have abandoned you into the hands of Shishak." Then the Israelite captains and the king humbled themselves. "Yahweh is just!" they said. When Yahweh saw that they had humbled themselves, the word of Yahweh came to Shemaiah. "They have humbled themselves," it said, "I will not destroy them. In a little while I will grant them deliverance; my wrath shall not fall on Jerusalem through the power of Shishak. Nevertheless they shall become his slaves, so that they may come to understand the difference between serving me and serving the kingdoms of foreign countries.”

9 Shishak the king of Egypt marched on Jerusalem. He took all the treasures from the Temple of Yahweh and the treasures from the royal palace, he took 10 everything, including the golden shields that Solomon had made; in place of them King Rehoboam had bronze shields made, entrusting them to the care 11 of the officers of the guard who guarded the king’s palace gate. Whenever the king went to the Temple of Yahweh, the guards would come out carrying them, and return them to the guardroom afterward.

12 Since he had humbled himself, the wrath of Yahweh turned away from him and did not destroy him altogether. Indeed, things went well in Judah, and 13 King Rehoboam was able to strengthen his position in Jerusalem and to govern. Now Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city chosen by Yahweh out of all the tribes of Israel, in which to give his name a home. His mother’s name was 14 Naamah the Ammonitess. He did evil, because he had not set his heart on seeking Yahweh.

15 The history of Rehoboam, from first to last, is not all this recorded in the Annals of Shemaiah the prophet and of Iddo the seer concerning the grouping of the Levites and the incessant warfare between Rehoboam and Jeroboam?
16 Then Rehoboam slept with his ancestors and was buried in the Citadel of David; his son Abijah succeeded him.

B. ABIJAH AND LOYALTY TO THE LEGITIMATE PRIESTHOOD

War

1 13 In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam, Abijah became king of Judah 2 and reigned for three years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Micaiah, daughter of Uriel, from Gibeah. Abijah and Jeroboam were at war. Abijah 3 went into battle with an army of brave fighters, four hundred thousand picked men, while Jeroboam drew up his battle line against him with eight hundred thousand picked men, stout fighters.

Abijah addresses the Israelites

4 Abijah took his stand on Mount Zemaraim, in the highlands of Ephraim.
5 “Jeroboam and all Israel,” he cried, “listen to me! do you not know that Yahweh the God of Israel has given the sovereignty of Israel to David for 6 ever? It is an inviolable covenant for him and for his sons. Yet Jeroboam son of Nebat, a servant of Solomon son of David, has risen in revolt against 7 his lord; worthless men, scoundrels, have rallied to him and forced their will on Rehoboam the son of Solomon, on Rehoboam, then a young man and timid, 8 powerless to resist them. Now you talk of resisting the sovereignty of Yahweh, which belongs to the sons of David, and you stand there in a great horde, with 9 your golden calves that Jeroboam made you for gods! Have you not driven out the priests of Yahweh, the sons of Aaron and the Levites, to make priests of your own like the peoples of foreign countries? Anyone who comes with a bull and seven rams to get himself consecrated can become priest of what is no god 10 at all! But for our part, our God is Yahweh, and we have not abandoned him: our priests are sons of Aaron who minister to Yahweh, and those who serve 11 are Levites. Every morning, every evening, we burn holocausts to Yahweh our God; we have the incense of sweet spices, the loaves set out in rows on the pure table, the golden lampstand with its lamps that burn each evening; for we 12 observe the ritual of Yahweh our God, but you have abandoned him. See how God is with us, at our head; see his priests with the trumpets, who will sound them to raise the war cry against you. Sons of Israel, do not fight against Yahweh, the God of our ancestors, for you will not succeed.”

The battle

13 Jeroboam outflanked the Judaeans by setting an ambush in their rear; the 14 Judaeans were facing the Israelites with the ambush in their rear. The Judaeans, turning about, found themselves attacked in front and rear. They called on Yahweh, 15 the priests sounded the trumpets, and the men of Judah raised the war cry, and as they raised the cry God scattered Jeroboam and all Israel before Abijah and 16 Judah. The Israelites fled before Judah and God delivered them into the power 17 of the Judaeans. Abijah and his army inflicted a crushing defeat on them: five 18 hundred thousand of Israel's chosen men fell killed. So the sons of Israel were humbled on that occasion, and the sons of Judah reassured since they had relied on Yahweh, the God of their ancestors.

The end of the reign of Abijah

19 Abijah pursued Jeroboam and captured certain towns from him: Bethel with its outlying villages, Jeshanah with its outlying villages and Ephron with its 20 outlying villages. So in the lifetime of Abijah, Jeroboam could no longer 21 maintain his power; and Yahweh struck him down, and he died. But Abijah grew in strength; he took fourteen wives and had twenty-two sons and sixteen 22 daughters. The rest of the history of Abijah, his conduct and his deeds, is not 14:23 all this recorded in the Midrash of the prophet Iddo? Then Abijah slept with 14:24 his fathers and they buried him in the Citadel of David; his son Asa succeeded him.

C. ASA AND HIS REFORM OF PUBLIC WORSHIP

Peace under Asa

In his time the country was at peace for ten years.

1:2 14 Asa did what is good and right in the eyes of Yahweh. He abolished 3 the foreign altars and the high places, broke the pillars, cut down the 4 sacred poles, and urged the Judaeans to look to Yahweh, the God of their 5 ancestors, and to observe law and commandment. He abolished the high places and the altars of incense in every town of Judah. The kingdom was at 6 peace under his rule. He rebuilt the fortified towns of Judah, since the country was at peace and free of war during those years, Yahweh having granted him peace.

6 "Let us rebuild these towns," he told Judah, "let us surround them with wall and tower, with gate and bar; we shall be left in this land, since we have looked to Yahweh our God; and he has looked to us and given us peace on every side."

7 They built and prospered. Asa had an army of three hundred thousand 8 Judaeans armed with buckler and spear, and two hundred and eighty thousand Benjaminites bearing shield and wielding the bow, all of them valiant champions.

Zerah's invasion

8 Zerah the Cushite and an army one million strong with three hundred chari-9 ots made an incursion, and penetrated to Mareshah. Asa marched out to intercept him and drew up his battle line in the Valley of Zephathah, at Mareshah.
 10 He called on Yahweh, his God. "Yahweh," he said, "no one but you can stand 11 up for the powerless against the powerful. Come to our help, Yahweh our God!
 We rely on you, and confront this horde in your name. Yahweh, you are our God. Let man leave everything to you!"

11 Yahweh defeated the Cushites before Asa and the Judaeans, the Cushites 12 fled, and Asa pursued them with his army as far as Gerar. So many of the 13 Cushites fell that recovery was impossible, for they had been shattered before 14 Yahweh and his army. They collected great quantities of booty, they conquered all the towns in the area of Gerar, for the terror of Yahweh had fallen on these;

¹⁴₁₅ they plundered them all since they were full of loot. They also set on the enclosures of livestock and carried off great numbers of sheep and camels; then they returned to Jerusalem.

The prophecy of Azariah and the oath of fidelity

¹₂ 15 The spirit of God came on Azariah son of Oded; he went out to meet Asa and said, "Listen to me, Asa, and all you of Judah and of Benjamin. Yahweh is with you so long as you are with him. When you seek him, he lets ³ you find him; when you desert him, he deserts you. Many a day Israel will ⁴ spend without a faithful God, without priest to teach, without law; but in their distress they will return to Yahweh, the God of Israel; they will seek him, and ⁵ he will let them find him. When that time comes no grown man will know peace, ⁶ for many troubles will afflict all the inhabitants of the country. Nation will be shattered by nation, city shattered by city, since God will afflict them with every ⁷ kind of distress. But for your part, take courage, do not let your hands weaken, for your deeds will be rewarded."

⁸ When Asa heard these words and this prophecy, he was emboldened to remove all the abominable idols throughout the land of Judah and Benjamin, and in the towns he had captured in the highlands of Ephraim; he then ⁹ repaired the altar of Yahweh that stood in front of the Porch of Yahweh.^a He gathered all Judah and Benjamin together, and also the Ephraimites, Manassites and Simeonites who had settled with them, since great numbers of Israelites had ¹⁰ gone over to Asa when they saw that Yahweh was with him. In the third month ¹¹ of the fifteenth year of Asa they assembled in Jerusalem; and they sacrificed to Yahweh that day seven hundred oxen and seven thousand sheep out of the ¹² spoil they had brought back. They made a compact to seek Yahweh, the God of ¹³ their ancestors, with all their heart and soul; anyone who would not seek Yahweh the God of Israel was to be put to death, whether of high or low degree, man ¹⁴ or woman. They pledged their oath to Yahweh aloud with shouts to the sound ¹⁵ of trumpet and horn; all Judah rejoiced at the oath they had wholeheartedly taken. They sought Yahweh so earnestly that he let them find him, and granted them peace on every side.

Further activities of Asa

¹⁶ Maacah herself, the mother of King Asa, was deprived by him of the dignity of queen mother for making an obscenity for Asherah; Asa cut down her obscenity and burned it in the wadi Kidron. Though the high places were not abolished ¹⁷ in Israel,^b the heart of Asa was blameless all his life. He deposited the offerings dedicated by his father and his own offerings too, in the Temple of God, silver and gold and furnishings.

¹₁ Up to the thirty-fifth year of Asa's reign there was no war. 16 In the thirty-sixth year of Asa's reign, Baasha king of Israel marched on Judah and fortified ² Ramah to blockade Asa king of Judah. Asa then took the silver and gold from the treasuries of the Temple of Yahweh and the royal palace, and sent this with the following message to Ben-hadad king of Aram who lived in Damascus, ³ "An alliance between myself and you, as between my father and your father! With this I send you silver and gold. Come, break off your alliance with Baasha king ⁴ of Israel, and he will have to retire from my territory." Ben-hadad agreed, and sent his generals against the towns of Israel; he conquered Ijon, Dan, Abel- ⁵ maim and all the garrison towns of Naphtali. When Baasha heard this he gave ⁶ up fortifying Ramah, abandoning this work. King Asa then brought all Judah; they took away the stones and timber with which Baasha had been fortifying Ramah, and the king used them to fortify Geba and Mizpah.

15 a. Asa, who is credited at the beginning of this chapter with measures exactly like those taken by Josiah, 2 K. 22, is credited here with Hezekiah's restoration of the altar, 2 K. 16. b. The Chronicler follows 1 K., without harmonizing it with 2 Ch. 14.

7 It was then that Hanani the seer came to Asa king of Judah and said, "Since 8 you have relied on the king of Aram and not on Yahweh your God, the army 9 of the king of Aram will slip through your fingers. Did not the Cushites and 10 Libyans form a vast army with great numbers of chariots and horses? And were 11 they not delivered into your power because you relied on Yahweh? Since the 12 eyes of Yahweh rove to and fro across the whole world to display his might 13 on behalf of those whose hearts are wholly his, you have acted on this occasion 14 like a fool; and from now on you will have war." Enraged with the seer, Asa had him put in the stocks in prison, he was so angry with him for this; at the same time Asa began treating part of the population harshly too.

The end of the reign of Asa

11 The history of Asa, from first to last, is recorded in the Book of the Kings 12 of Judah and Israel. A disease attacked Asa from head to foot in the thirty-13 ninth year of his reign; and, what is more, he turned in his sickness, not to 14 Yahweh, but to doctors. Then Asa slept with his ancestors, dying in the forty-first year of his reign. They buried him in the tomb he had ordered to be dug for himself in the Citadel of David. They laid him on a couch entirely covered with spices and varied ointments, products of the perfumer's skill, and lit a huge fire for him.

D. JEHOShAPHAT AND HIS GOVERNMENT

His power

1 17 His son Jehoshaphat succeeded him and consolidated his power over Israel.
 2 He put troops in all the fortified towns in Judah, and appointed governors in the land of Judah and in all the towns of Ephraim captured by his father Asa.

His observance of the Law

3 Yahweh was with Jehoshaphat because he followed the example of his father's 4 earlier days and did not have recourse to the Baals; he sought the God of his 5 father, following his commandments and not following the example of Israel.
 6 Yahweh made the kingship secure in his hands; all Judah paid tribute to Jehosha-7 phat, and ample riches and honor were his. His heart advanced in the ways of Yahweh, and once again he did away with the high places and sacred poles in Judah.

7 In the third year of his reign he sent his officers: Ben-hail, Obadiah, Zechariah, 8 Nathanel and Micaiah, to give instruction in the towns of Judah. With them went the Levites: Shemaiah, Nethaniah, Zebadiah, Asahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah and Tobijah, the Levites, together with the priests, 9 Elishama and Jehoram. They gave instruction in Judah, having with them the book of the Law of Yahweh, and went around all the towns of Judah instructing 10 the people. The terror of Yahweh fell on all the kingdoms of the land 11 surrounding Judah; they did not make war on Jehoshaphat. Some of the Philistines brought him gifts and silver in tribute; the Arabs^a themselves brought him, in small stock, seven thousand seven hundred rams and seven thousand 12 seven hundred he-goats. Jehoshaphat became more and more powerful.
 He built fortresses and garrison towns in Judah.

The army

13 He had strong formations in the towns of Judah and a garrison of valiant 14 champions in Jerusalem. This was their disposition by families: for Judah, commanders of thousands: Adnah, the commanding officer, with three hundred 15 thousand valiant champions; under his command, Jehohanan with two hundred

- 16 and eighty thousand; under his command, Amasiah son of Zichri, who had volunteered for Yahweh's service, with two hundred thousand valiant champions.
- 17 From Benjamin: the valiant champion Eliada with two hundred thousand,
- 18 armed with bow and shield; under his command, Jehozabad with a hundred and eighty thousand equipped for war.
- 19 These were the men who served the king, not counting those the king had put in the fortified towns throughout Judah.

The alliance with Ahab; the prophets' attitude

- 1 18 Jehoshaphat, then, enjoyed great wealth and honor, and allied himself
- 2 by marriage to Ahab. After some years he went to visit Ahab in Samaria. Ahab slaughtered for him and for his retinue great numbers of sheep and oxen
- 3 to induce him to attack Ramoth-gilead. "Will you come with me to Ramoth-gilead?" Ahab king of Israel asked Jehoshaphat king of Judah. Jehoshaphat answered the king of Israel, "I am as ready for battle as you, my men as your men."

The spurious prophets predict success

- 4 Jehoshaphat, however, said to the king of Israel, "First, please consult the
- 5 word of Yahweh." So the king of Israel called the prophets together, four hundred of them. "Should we march to attack Ramoth-gilead," he asked, "or should I refrain?" "March," they replied, "Yahweh will deliver it into the power of the
- 6 king." But Jehoshaphat said, "Is there no other prophet of Yahweh here for us to consult?" The king of Israel answered Jehoshaphat, "There is one more
- 7 man through whom we can consult Yahweh, but I hate him because he never has a favorable prophecy for me, always unfavorable ones; he is Micaiah son
- 8 of Imlah." "The king should not say such things," Jehoshaphat said. Accordingly the king of Israel summoned one of the eunuchs and said, "Bring Micaiah son
- 9 of Imlah immediately."
- 10 The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah were both sitting on their thrones in full regalia; they sat at the threshing floor outside the gate of Samaria,
- 11 with all the prophets raving in front of them. Zedekiah son of Chenaanah had made himself iron horns. "Yahweh says this," he said. "With these you will
- 12 gore the Aramaeans till you make an end of them.'" And all the prophets prophesied the same. "March to Ramoth-gilead," they said, "and conquer. Yahweh
- 13 will deliver it into the power of the king."
- 14 The messenger who had gone to summon Micaiah said, "Here are all the prophets as one man in speaking favorably to the king. Try to speak like one
- 15 of them and foretell success." But Micaiah answered, "As Yahweh lives, what my God says, that will I utter!" When he came to the king, the king said,
- 16 "Micaiah, should we march to attack Ramoth-gilead, or should I refrain?" He answered, "March and conquer. They will be delivered into your power." But the king said, "How often must I put you on oath to tell me nothing but the
- 17 truth in the name of Yahweh?" Then Micaiah spoke:

"I have seen all Israel scattered on the mountains
like sheep without a shepherd.
And Yahweh said, 'These have no master, let each one go home unmolested.'"

- 17 At this the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not tell you that he
- 18 never gives me favorable prophecies, but only unfavorable ones?" Micaiah went on, "Listen rather to the word of Yahweh. I have seen Yahweh seated on
- 19 his throne; all the array of heaven stood to his right and to his left. Yahweh said, 'Who will trick Ahab king of Israel into marching to his death at Ramoth-

20 gilead?' At which some answered one way, and some another. 'Then the spirit came forward and stood before Yahweh. 'I,' he said, 'I will trick him.' 'How?'
 21 Yahweh asked. 'He replied, 'I will go and become a lying spirit in the mouths of all his prophets.' 'You shall trick him,' Yahweh said, 'you shall succeed.
 22 Go and do it.' 'Now see how Yahweh has put a lying spirit into the mouths of your prophets here. But Yahweh has pronounced disaster on you.'

23 Then Zedekiah son of Chenaanah came up and struck Micaiah on the jaw. "Which way," he asked, "did the spirit of Yahweh leave me, to talk to you?" 24 "This is what you will find out," Micaiah retorted, "the day you flee to an inner 25 room to hide." 'The king of Israel said, "Seize Micaiah and hand him over to 26 Amon, governor of the city, and to Prince Joash, and say, 'This is the king's 27 order: Put this man in prison and feed him on nothing but bread and water 28 until I come back safe and sound.'" 'Micaiah said, "If you come back safe 29 and sound, Yahweh has not spoken through me."

28 The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah went up against Ramoth-29 gilead. 'The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "I will disguise myself to go 30 into battle, but I want you to wear your royal uniform." The king of Israel 31 disguised himself, and they went into battle. 'The king of Aram had given his 32 chariot commanders the following order: "Do not attack anyone of whatever 33 rank, except the king of Israel." 'When the chariot commanders caught sight 34 of Jehoshaphat, they said, "That is the king of Israel." And they wheeled to the 35 attack. But Jehoshaphat gave a shout and Yahweh came to his help, God drew 36 them away from him, 'for the chariot commanders, realizing that he was not 37 the king of Israel, called off their pursuit.

38 Now one of the men, drawing his bow at random, hit the king of Israel 39 between the corselet and the scale armor of his breastplate. "Turn about," the 40 king said to his charioteer, "get me out of the battle; I have been hurt." 'But 41 the battle grew fiercer as the day went on; until evening the king held himself 42 upright in his chariot facing the Aramaeans, and at sunset he died.

1 2 19 Jehoshaphat came back safe and sound to Jerusalem. 'Jehu, son of Hanani 3 the seer, went to meet him and said to King Jehoshaphat, "Should a man 4 give help to the wicked? Should you love those who hate Yahweh and so bring 5 his wrath on you? 'There is some good in you, however, since you have removed 6 the sacred poles from the land and have set your heart on seeking God."

Measures taken to spread the true religion of Yahweh

4 After a stay in Jerusalem, Jehoshaphat made another progress through his 5 people, from Beersheba to the highlands of Ephraim, to bring them back to 6 Yahweh, the God of their ancestors. 'He appointed judges in the country in 7 every one of all the fortified towns of Judah. 'He said to these judges, "Give 8 due thought to your duties, since you are not judging in the name of men but in 9 the name of Yahweh, who is with you whenever you pronounce sentence. 'May 10 the fear of Yahweh now be on you. Keep the Law, apply it, for Yahweh our 11 God has no part in fraud or partiality or the taking of bribes."

8 In addition, Jehoshaphat appointed priests, Levites and heads of Israelite 9 families in Jerusalem and Jehoshaphat gave them the following 10 instructions, "You are to perform these duties in the fear of Yahweh, faithfully 11 and with all your heart. 'Whatever dispute comes before you from your brothers 12 living in their towns: a question of blood vengeance, of the Law, of some com-13 mandment, of statute, or of ordinance, you are to clarify these matters for them 14 so that they do not incur guilt before Yahweh, whose wrath will otherwise come 15 on you and your brothers. Do this and you will incur no guilt.

11 "Amariah, the chief priest, will preside over you in all religious matters, and 12 Zebadiah son of Ishmael, controller of the House of Judah, in all matters 13 affecting the king. The Levites will serve as your scribes. Be resolute, carry out 14 these instructions, and Yahweh will be there to bring success."

An act of faith and song of praise in the war against Edom

1 20 After this the Moabites and Ammonites, with some of the Meunites^a 2 started to make war on Jehoshaphat. Jehoshaphat received the following intelligence, "A vast horde is advancing against you from Edom, from the other side of the sea; they are already at Hazazon-tamar, that is, En-gedi."

3 Jehoshaphat was alarmed and resolved to have recourse to Yahweh; he 4 proclaimed a fast for all Judah. Judah assembled to seek help from Yahweh; they came seeking Yahweh from every single town in Judah.

5 At this assembly of the people of Judah and Jerusalem in the Temple of 6 Yahweh, Jehoshaphat stood before the new court and said, "Yahweh, God of our ancestors, are you not the God who dwells in the heavens? Do you not rule over all the kingdoms of the nations? Such power and might are in your hands 7 that no one can resist you. Are you not our God, you who have dispossessed the inhabitants of this land for Israel your people, and given it to the descendants of 8 Abraham whom you will love for ever? They have settled in it and built a 9 sanctuary there for your name, saying, 'Should calamity befall us, or war, punishment, pestilence, or famine, then we shall stand before this Temple and before you, for your name is in this Temple. From the depths of our distress we shall cry to you, and you will hear and save us.'

10 "Here now are the Ammonites and Moab and the mountain folk of Seir; when Israel came out of the land of Egypt you would not let Israel invade them; 11 instead, Israel turned away from them and did not destroy them; and this is how they reward us, by coming to drive us out of the possessions you have 12 given us as our inheritance. Will you our God not execute judgment on them, since we are helpless against this vast horde attacking us? We ourselves do not know what to do; we look to you."

13 All the men of Judah, even down to their youngest children and their wives, 14 stood in the presence of Yahweh. In the middle of the assembly the spirit of Yahweh came on Jahaziel son of Zechariah, son of Benaiah, son of Jeiel, son 15 of Mattaniah the Levite, one of the sons of Asaph. "Listen all you men of Judah," he cried, "and you who live in Jerusalem, and you, King Jehoshaphat!
Yahweh says this to you, 'Do not be afraid, do not be daunted by this vast 16 horde; this battle is not yours but God's. March out against them tomorrow; they are coming up by the Slope of Ziz and you will come on them in the Valley 17 of Soph, near the wilderness of Jeruel. You will not need to fight here. Take up your position, stand firm, and see what salvation Yahweh has in store for you. Judah and Jerusalem, be fearless, be dauntless; march out against them tomorrow and Yahweh will be with you.'"

18 Jehoshaphat bent his head, his face to the ground, and all Judah with those 19 who lived in Jerusalem fell down before Yahweh, worshiping him. Then the Levites—Kohathites and Korahites—began praising Yahweh the God of Israel at the tops of their voices.

20 They rose early in the morning and left for the wilderness of Tekoa. As they were setting out, Jehoshaphat stood and said, "Listen to me Judah and all who live in Jerusalem! Have faith in Yahweh your God and you will be secure; have 21 faith in his prophets and you will be successful." Then, having held a conference with the people, he set the cantors of Yahweh in sacred vestments at the head of the army, to sing praises to him. "Give praise to Yahweh," they sang, "for his love is 22 everlasting." As they began to sing their joy and their praise, Yahweh laid an ambush for the Ammonites and Moab and the mountain folk of Seir who had 23 come to attack Judah, and routed them. The Ammonites and Moabites turned on the mountain folk of Seir to inflict the ban on them and destroy them altogether, but they only helped each other to their own undoing.

24 When the men of Judah reached the spot that looks out on the wilderness and turned to face the horde, they found only corpses lying on the ground; no one had escaped. Jehoshaphat came with his troops to plunder them, and found quantities of cattle, goods, clothing and valuables; they collected more than they could take away; the booty was so plentiful they were three days gathering it. On the fourth day they mustered in the Valley of Beracah; and there they did indeed bless Yahweh,^b hence the name of the Valley of Beracah by which the place is still called today. Then all the men of Judah and Benjamin, with Jehoshaphat at their head, went back joyfully to Jerusalem, for Yahweh had given them cause to rejoice over their enemies. To the music of harp and lyre and trumpet they came to Jerusalem and to the Temple of Yahweh, and the Terror of God came on all the kingdoms of foreign countries when they came to hear how Yahweh had fought against the enemies of Israel. The kingdom of Jehoshaphat was calm, his God granting him peace on all his frontiers.

20 a. Meon is in Edom, near Petra.

The end of the reign of Jehoshaphat

Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah. He was thirty-five years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Azubah, daughter of Shilhi. He followed the example of his father Asa undeviatingly, doing what is right in the eyes of Yahweh. The high places, however, were not abolished; the people had still not turned their hearts to the God of their ancestors. The rest of the history of Jehoshaphat, from first to last, is recorded in the Annals of Jehu son of Hanani which have been transcribed into the Book of the Kings of Israel.

After this, Jehoshaphat king of Judah allied himself with Ahaziah king of Israel, who led him into evil ways. He combined with him to build ships that would sail to Tarshish; they built them at Ezion-geber. Eliezer son of Dodavahu of Mareshah then made a prophecy against Jehoshaphat. "Because you have allied yourself with Ahaziah," he said, "Yahweh has broken your work." The ships broke up and were never fit to sail to Tarshish.

21 Jehoshaphat slept with his ancestors and was buried in the Citadel of David; his son Jehoram succeeded him.

E. IMPIETY AND DISASTERS UNDER JEHORAM, AHAZIAH, ATHALIAH AND JOASH

The accession and crime of Jehoram

Jehoram had six brothers, sons of Jehoshaphat: Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, Azariahu, Michael and Shephathiah; these are all the sons of Jehoshaphat king of Israel. Their father had made them many gifts of silver, gold and jewels, and of fortified towns in Judah, but he bequeathed the throne to Jehoram since he was the first-born. Jehoram, having maintained his hold over his father's kingdom and secured his own position, put all his brothers to the sword and some officials of Israel too.

Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for eight years in Jerusalem. He followed the example of the kings of Israel as the family of Ahab had done, having married one of Ahab's daughters; and he did what is displeasing to Yahweh. Yahweh however did not intend to destroy the House of David, because of the covenant he had made with David, and was faithful to the promise he had made to leave a lamp for him and his sons for ever.

The punishment

In his time Edom threw off the domination of Judah and set up a king for itself. Jehoram crossed the frontier with his commanders and all his chariots. He rose during the night and broke through the Edomites encircling him and 10 his chariot commanders. Thus Edom threw off the domination of Judah, and has remained free to the present day. Libnah threw off Jehoram's domination at the same time.

11 He had indeed deserted Yahweh, the God of his ancestors. He also set up high places in the highlands of Judah and caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to prostitute themselves, and Judah to go astray. Then something written by the prophet Elijah came into his hands. It ran, "This is the word of Yahweh, the God of David your ancestor. 'Since you have not followed the example of your father Jehoshaphat or of Asa king of Judah, but the example of the kings of Israel, and have caused Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to prostitute themselves, just as the House of Ahab did, and since you have also murdered your brothers, your own family, better men than yourself, Yahweh will strike you with a great calamity, your people, your descendants, your wives and all your property. You yourself shall suffer dire diseases, and a disease of your bowels so severe that within two years it will make your bowels drop out.'"

16 Yahweh roused against Jehoram the hostility of the Philistines, and of the Arabs bordering on the Cushites. They attacked Judah, invading it and carrying off all the property they found belonging to the king's household, including his sons and his wives; the only son left him was Ahaziah, the youngest of them. And after all this, Yahweh struck him down with an incurable disease of the bowels; it lasted for more than one year, and when two years were over and his last hour had come, his bowels dropped out with disease and he died in great pain. The people did not light a fire for him as they had for his father.

20 He was thirty-two years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for eight years in Jerusalem. He passed away with no one to regret him, and they buried him in the Citadel of David, though not in the tombs of the kings.

Ahaziah and his policy

1 22 The population of Jerusalem made his youngest son Ahaziah king in succession to him, since the armed band that had broken into the camp with the Arabs had killed all the elder sons. That was why Ahaziah son of Jehoram became king of Judah. Ahaziah was twenty years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah, daughter of Omri. He too followed the example of Ahab's family, since his mother gave him wicked advice. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh as Ahab's family had done, for these were his advisers after his father's death, to his undoing. He also put their policy into practice and went with Jehoram son of Ahab, king of Israel, to fight against Hazael king of Aram at Ramoth-gilead. But the Aramaeans wounded Jehoram, who returned to Jezreel to recover from the wounds that he had received at Ramoth, fighting against Hazael king of Aram. Ahaziah son of Jehoram, king of Judah, went down to Jezreel to visit Jehoram son of Ahab because he was ill. Through this visit to Jehoram Yahweh brought ruin to Ahaziah. On his arrival he went out with Jehoram to meet Jehu son of Nimshi whom Yahweh had anointed to make an end of the House of Ahab. While Jehu was busy executing justice on the House of Ahab, he came across the officials of Judah and the nephews of Ahaziah who were in the king's service; he killed them, and then went in search of Ahaziah. The latter was captured while trying to hide in Samaria, and taken to Jehu who put him to death. But they gave him burial. "This was a son of Jehoshaphat," they said, "who sought Yahweh with all his heart."

The crime of Athaliah

10 There was no one left in the House of Ahaziah strong enough to reign. As soon as Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah learned that her son was dead, she promptly did away with all the royal stock of the House of Judah. But Jehosheba,

b. Beracah means "blessing."

daughter of the king, secretly took away Joash, her brother's son, from among the sons of the king who were being murdered, and put him with his nurse in the sleeping quarters; in this way Jehosheba the daughter of King Joram and wife of Jehoiada the priest (a sister, too, of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah, and prevented her from killing him. He stayed with them for six years, hidden in the Temple of God, while Athaliah governed the country.

The ministers of the Temple oppose Athaliah

23 In the seventh year Jehoiada took strong measures. He sent for the commanders of hundreds, Azariah son of Jeroham, Ishmael son of Jehohanan, Azariah son of Obed, Maaseiah son of Adaiah and Elishaphat son of Zichri, and made a pact with them. They went through Judah, gathering the Levites from all the towns of Judah, and the heads of the Israelite families.^a They came to Jerusalem, and this whole assembly made a pact with the king in the Temple of God. "Here is the son of the king," Jehoiada told them. "Let him reign, as Yahweh has promised of the sons of David! This is what you must do: one third of you, priests, Levites and keepers of the gate, must come in for the sabbath, one third must be at the royal palace, one third at the Gate of Foundation, and all the people will be in the court of the Temple of Yahweh. Let no one enter the Temple of Yahweh except the priests and the Levites on duty, since they are consecrated and may enter. The people must all observe the injunctions of Yahweh. The Levites must surround the king, each with his weapons in his hand; anyone who tries to enter the Temple is to be put to death. Wherever the king comes or goes, you must escort him."

The Levites and all Judah carried out all the orders of Jehoiada the priest. Each brought his men, those coming off duty on the sabbath together with those mounting guard on the sabbath, for Jehoiada the priest had exempted none of the orders. Then Jehoiada the priest issued the commanders of hundreds with King David's spears and large and small shields, which were in the Temple of God. He drew all the people up, each man with his weapon in his hand, from the south corner to the north corner of the Temple, surrounding the altar and the Temple, to form a circle around the king. Then Jehoiada brought out the king's son, crowned him, and imposed the Law on him; and they proclaimed him king, Jehoiada and his sons then anointed him and shouted, "Long live the king!"

Athaliah, on hearing the shouts of the people rushing to the king and acclaiming him, made for the Temple of Yahweh where the people were. When she saw the king standing there at the entrance beside the pillar, with the captains and trumpeters at the king's side, and all the country people rejoicing and sounding trumpets, and the cantors with their musical instruments leading the hymns, Athaliah tore her garments and shouted, "Treason, treason!" Then Jehoiada the priest called out the military officers. "Take her outside the precincts," he ordered, "and put anyone to the sword who follows her." For the priest had said, "You must not put her to death in the Temple of Yahweh." They seized her, and when she had reached the palace at the entry to the Gate of the Horses, they put her to death there.

The reforms by Jehoiada

Jehoiada made a covenant between the king and all the people, by which they undertook to be the people of Yahweh. All the people then went to the temple of Baal and demolished it; they smashed his altars and his images and killed Mattan, priest of Baal, in front of the altars.

Jehoiada posted sentries to guard the Temple of Yahweh under the authority of the levitical priests. David had given the Temple of Yahweh to these as their portion, so that they could offer the holocausts of Yahweh as is laid down in the Law of Moses, with joy and song, in accordance with the orders of 19 David. He stationed gatekeepers at the gates of the Temple of Yahweh so that 20 no one who was in any way unclean might enter. Then taking the commanders of hundreds, the notables, those holding public positions, and all the country people, he escorted the king down from the Temple of Yahweh. They entered the royal palace through the middle arch of the Upper Gate and seated 21 the king on the royal throne. All the country people were delighted, and the city made no move. Athaliah was put to death.

Joash repairs the Temple

1 24 Joash was seven years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for 2 forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zibiah of Beersheba.
 3 Joash did what is pleasing to Yahweh throughout the lifetime of Jehoiada the 4 priest. Jehoiada found him two wives and he had sons and daughters. Subsequently, Joash made up his mind to repair the Temple of Yahweh.

5 Calling the priests and the Levites together, he said, "Go out to the towns of Judah, and collect enough money from all the Israelites to make possible annual repairs to the Temple of Yahweh. Do this quickly." But the Levites 6 were in no hurry, so the king summoned Jehoiada their leader, and said, "Why have you not insisted on the Levites collecting from Judah and Jerusalem what Moses the servant of Yahweh levied from the community of Israel for the Tent of the Testimony? Athaliah and her sons, whom she perverted, not only damaged the Temple of God but even assigned the sacred revenues of the Temple of 7 Yahweh to the Baals." The king ordered them to make a chest and to place 8 it outside the gate of the Temple of Yahweh. Proclamation was then made in Judah and in Jerusalem that what Moses the servant of God had levied from 9 Israel in the wilderness should be brought to Yahweh. All the officials and all the people came joyfully with their contribution, dropping it into the chest until all was paid.

11 When the chest was taken to the royal office of control, run by the Levites, these would check the amount of money in it; then the king's secretary would come with a representative of the chief priest; they would take up the chest, carry it away, and later return it to its place. They did this every day, and collected 12 a large sum of money. The king and Jehoiada handed it over to the master of works attached to the Temple of Yahweh. The hired men, masons and carpenters, set about restoring the Temple of Yahweh; craftsmen in iron and bronze also worked on the repairing of it. The masters of works having once made a start, the repairs went ahead under their supervision; they rebuilt the 13 Temple of God to its former state and strengthened the fabric. When they had finished, they brought the balance of the money to the king and Jehoiada, and with this furnishings were made for the Temple of Yahweh, vessels for the liturgy and for the holocausts, incense boats and objects of gold and silver.

So, for as long as Jehoiada lived they offered perpetual holocaust in the 15 Temple of Yahweh. Then Jehoiada, growing old, had his fill of days and died.
 16 He died at the age of a hundred and thirty years, and they buried him with the kings in the Citadel of David because he had served God and his Temple well in Israel.

Joash falls away and is punished

17 After the death of Jehoiada, the officials of Judah came to pay court to the 18 king, and the king now turned to them for advice. The Judaeans abandoned the Temple of Yahweh, the God of their ancestors, for the worship of sacred poles and idols. Because of their guilt, God's anger fell on Judah and Jerusalem.

23 a. Comparison of this chapter with 2 K. 11 shows how the Chronicler adapts his source to maintain the Temple regulations of his own time, and loses no opportunity to emphasize the part of priests and Levites: a coup d'état has become a liturgical act, even to the hymns led by cantors in v. 13.

19 He sent them prophets to bring them back to Yahweh, but when these gave 20 their message, they would not listen. 'The spirit of God took possession of Zechariah son of Jehoiada the priest. He stood up before the people and said, "God says this, 'Why do you transgress the commandments of Yahweh to 21 no good purpose? You have deserted Yahweh, now he deserts you.'" 'They then plotted against him and by order of the king stoned him in the court 22 of the Temple of Yahweh. 'King Joash, forgetful of the kindness that Jehoiada, the father of Zechariah, had shown him, killed Jehoiada's son who cried out as he died, "Yahweh sees and he will avenge!"

23 When a year had gone by, the Aramaean army made war on Joash. They reached Judah and Jerusalem, and executed all the officials among the people, sending back to the king at Damascus all that they had plundered from them.
 24 Though the Aramaean army had by no means come in force, Yahweh delivered into its power an army of great size for having deserted him, the God of their ancestors.

25 The Aramaeans treated Joash as he had deserved, and when they retired they left him a very sick man; and his officers, plotting against him to avenge the death of the son of Jehoiada the priest, murdered him in his bed. So he died, and they buried him in the Citadel of David, though not in the tombs of 26 the kings. 'These were the conspirators: Zabad son of Shimeath the Ammonite 27 woman, and Jehozabad son of Shimrith the Moabitess. 'As regards his sons, the heavy tribute imposed on him, and the restoration of the Temple of God, this is all recorded in the Midrash on the Book of the Kings. His son Amaziah succeeded him.

F. THE HALF-HEARTED PIETY AND PARTIAL SUCCESS OF AMAZIAH, UZZIAH AND JOTHAM

The religious policy of Amaziah

1 25 Amaziah was twenty-five years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was 2 Jehoaddan of Jerusalem. 'He did what is pleasing to Yahweh, though not 3 wholeheartedly. 'Once the kingdom was firmly under his control, he killed 4 those of his officers who had murdered the king his father. 'But he did not put their sons to death, in obedience to what is written in the Law, in the book of Moses, where Yahweh has ordered, "Fathers must not be put to death for sons, nor sons for fathers; each one must be put to death for his own sin."

5 Amaziah called the men of Judah together and organized them in families with commanders of thousands and of hundreds for all Judah and Benjamin.
 He took a census of those who were twenty years old and upward, and found there were three hundred thousand of them, eligible and fit for military service, 6 with spear and shield to hand. 'Next, he enrolled one hundred thousand valiant 7 champions from Israel as mercenaries, for a hundred talents of silver. 'A man of God then came to him. "O king," he said, "the troops of Israel must not march 8 with you, for Yahweh is not with Israel, nor with anyone from Ephraim. 'For if they come, no matter how brave your conduct in the fight, God will still bring you down before your enemies, for God's is the power to uphold or to 9 throw down." 'Amaziah answered the man of God, "And what about the hundred talents I have given the Israelite contingent?" "Yahweh can give you far more 10 than that," the man of God replied. 'At this, Amaziah dismissed from his army the troops that had come to him from Ephraim and sent them home; these men were furious with Judah and went home in a great rage.

His infidelity after the Edomite campaign

¹¹ Amaziah decided to lead out his troops and, having reached the Valley of ¹² Salt, defeated ten thousand of the sons of Seir. The men of Judah took ten thousand captives alive and, taking them to the summit of the Rock, threw ¹³ them off the top; they were all dashed to pieces. Then the contingent which Amaziah had dismissed and not allowed to fight with him raided the towns of Judah, from Samaria as far as Beth-horon, beating a force of three thousand strong and capturing great quantities of plunder.

¹⁴ On returning from his defeat of the Edomites, Amaziah brought the gods of the sons of Seir with him; set these up as gods for himself, bowing down ¹⁵ before them and burning incense to them. The anger of Yahweh blazed out against Amaziah; he sent him a prophet, who said, "Why do you resort to this people's gods, to gods who could not save their own people from your hands?" ¹⁶ He was still speaking when Amaziah interrupted him. "Have we appointed you a royal counselor? If you do not want to be hurt, be quiet!" The prophet paused; then he said, "I know that God has determined to destroy you, since you have behaved like this and have refused to listen to my advice."

The disaster at Beth-shemesh

¹⁷ After consulting his advisers, Amaziah king of Judah sent a message to Joash son of Jehoahaz son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, "Come and make a trial of ¹⁸ strength!" Joash king of Israel sent back word to Amaziah king of Judah, "The thistle of Lebanon sent a message to the cedar of Lebanon, saying, 'Give my son your daughter in marriage'; but the wild animals of Lebanon trampled the ¹⁹ thistle down as they passed. 'Look at me, the conqueror of Edom,' you say, and now hold your head in the air; boast on, but stay at home. Why challenge disaster, to your own ruin and the ruin of Judah?"

²⁰ But Amaziah would not listen, and this was God's doing: he intended to ²¹ hand them over to their enemies for resorting to the gods of Edom. And at Beth-shemesh, which belongs to Judah, they made their trial of strength, Joash ²² and Amaziah king of Judah. Judah was defeated by Israel, and everyone fled ²³ to his tent. The king of Judah, Amaziah son of Joash, son of Ahaziah, was taken prisoner at Beth-shemesh by Joash king of Israel who led him off to ²⁴ Jerusalem, where Joash demolished the city wall from the Gate of Ephraim to the Gate of the Corner for a distance of four hundred cubits. He took all the gold and silver, and all the furnishings to be found with Obed-edom in the Temple of God, the treasures of the royal palace, and hostages besides, and then returned to Samaria.

The end of the reign of Amaziah

²⁵ Amaziah son of Joash, king of Judah, lived for fifteen years after the death of Joash son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel.

²⁶ The rest of the history of Amaziah, from first to last, is not all this recorded ²⁷ in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel? After the time when Amaziah rejected Yahweh, a plot was hatched against him in Jerusalem; he fled to Lachish; ²⁸ but he was followed to Lachish and was put to death there. He was brought back by horse, and buried with his ancestors in the Citadel of David.

The beginning of the reign of Uzziah

¹ 26 All the people of Judah chose Uzziah, who was sixteen years old, and ² made him king in succession to his father Amaziah. It was he who rebuilt Elath and recovered it for Judah, after the king was sleeping with his ancestors.
³ Uzziah was sixteen years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for ⁴ fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecoliah, of Jerusalem. He ⁵ did what is pleasing to Yahweh, just as his father Amaziah had done; he sought God devotedly throughout the lifetime of Zechariah, who had advanced so far in the fear of God. And for as long as he sought Yahweh, God gave him prosperity.

His military strength

6 He went out to fight the Philistines, demolished the walls of Gath, Jabneh and Ashdod, then rebuilt the towns in the area of Ashdod and in Philistine territory. God helped him against the Philistines, the Arabs, the inhabitants of Gur-baal^a and the Meunites. The Ammonites paid tribute to Uzziah. His fame spread as far as the approaches of Egypt, since he had become very powerful indeed.

9 Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem, at the Gate of the Corner, at the Gate of the Valley and at the Angle; and he fortified these. He built towers in the wilderness too, and dug a great many cisterns, for he had large herds in the lowlands and on the tableland; and he had farmers and vine dressers in the hills and on the fertile lands; he was fond of agriculture.

11 Uzziah had a professional army ready to go on campaign, divided into contingents manned as detailed by the scribe Jeiel and the registrar Maaseiah, and commanded by Hananiah, one of the king's officers. The total number of heads of families of these valiant champions was two thousand six hundred. Under their command was a trained army of three hundred and seven thousand five hundred fighting men, a powerful force to support the king against the enemy. Uzziah provided them with shields, spears, helmets, coats of mail, bows and sling stones, for each campaign. In Jerusalem he constructed engines, invented by experts, which were mounted on the towers and at the corners to fire arrows and great stones. His fame spread far and wide; he owed his strength to a help nothing short of miraculous.

Pride and its punishment

16 But, as his power increased, his heart grew proud, and this was his ruin: he broke faith with Yahweh his God. He entered the great hall of the Temple of Yahweh to burn incense on the altar of incense. Azariah the priest followed King Uzziah in, with eighty brave priests of Yahweh, to resist him. "Uzziah," they said, "it is not for you to burn incense to Yahweh, but for the priests, the sons of Aaron, consecrated for the purpose. Leave the sanctuary; you have broken faith; the glory from Yahweh God, is no longer yours." Uzziah, censer in hand for the burning of incense, flew into a rage. But while he was raging at the priests, leprosy broke out on his forehead in the presence of the priests, in the Temple of Yahweh, there by the altar of incense. Azariah the chief priest and all the other priests turned toward him and saw the leprosy on his forehead. They quickly hurried him out, and he himself was anxious to go, since Yahweh had struck him.

21 King Uzziah was a leper till his dying day. He lived confined to his room, a leper, excluded from the Temple of Yahweh. Jotham, his son, was master of the palace, and ruled the people of the country.

22 The rest of the history of Uzziah, from first to last, has been written by the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz. Then Uzziah slept with his ancestors and they buried him with his fathers in the burial ground of the kings,^b for they said, "He is a leper." His son Jotham succeeded him.

The reign of Jotham

1 27 Jotham was twenty-five years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jerushah, daughter of Zadok. He did what is pleasing to Yahweh, just as his father Uzziah had done. But he did not enter the sanctuary of Yahweh. As for the people, they were still corrupt.

3 It was he who built the Upper Gate of the Temple of Yahweh and carried 4 out considerable work on the wall of the Ophel. He built towns in the highlands of Judah, and fortified places and towers in the arable lands.

5 He fought against the king of the Ammonites.^a He defeated these, and that year the Ammonites had to give him a hundred talents of silver, ten thousand kors of wheat and ten thousand of barley. This was the amount that the 6 Ammonites had to pay him, and the same for the second and third years. Jotham became powerful because he kept an even course in the presence of Yahweh his God.

7 The rest of the history of Jotham, all his wars and his policy, are recorded in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah. He was twenty-five years old when 8 he came to the throne and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. Then Jotham slept with his ancestors, and they buried him in the Citadel of David; his son Ahaz succeeded him.

V. THE GREAT REFORMS UNDER HEZEKIAH AND JOSIAH

A. THE SINS OF AHAZ, FATHER OF HEZEKIAH

Summary of the reign

1 28 Ahaz was twenty years old when he came to the throne and he reigned 2 for sixteen years in Jerusalem. He did not do what is pleasing to Yahweh, as his ancestor David had done. He followed the example of the kings of Israel, 3 even having idols cast for Baals; he offered incense in the Valley of the Sons of Hinnom^a and caused his sons to pass through fire, copying the shameful practices of the nations which Yahweh had dispossessed for the sons of Israel.
4 He offered sacrifices and incense on the high places, on the hills and under every spreading tree.

The invasion

5 Yahweh his God delivered him into the power of the king of the Aramaeans who defeated him and took great numbers of his people captive, carrying them off to Damascus. He was also delivered into the power of the king of Israel, 6 who inflicted a crushing defeat on him. In a single day, Pekah son of Remaliah killed a hundred and twenty thousand in Judah, all stout fighting men; this was 7 because they had deserted Yahweh, the God of their ancestors. Zichri, an Ephraimite champion, killed Maaseiah, son of the king, Azrikam the controller 8 of the palace, and Elkanah the king's second-in-command. The Israelites took two hundred thousand of their brothers captive, with wives, sons, daughters; they also took quantities of booty, carrying everything off to Samaria.

The Israelites obey the prophet Oded

9 A prophet of Yahweh was there named Oded, who went out to meet the troops returning to Samaria and said, "Yahweh, the God of your ancestors, was angry with Judah and so he delivered them into your power, but you have 10 slaughtered with such fury as reaches to heaven. And now you propose to reduce these children of Judah and Jerusalem to being your serving men and women! And are you not all the while the ones who are guilty before Yahweh 11 your God? Now listen to me: release the prisoners you have taken of your brothers, for the fierce anger of Yahweh hangs over you."

12 Some of the Ephraimite chieftains then protested to those who were returning from the expedition: Azariah son of Jehohanan, Berechiah son of Meshillemoth, 26 a. "The home of Baal," perhaps Samaria; the list is very like that of the enemies of Nehemiah, Ne. 4:1. b. But not in the tomb itself.

27 a. Possibly the Meunites of ch. 20 are meant.

28 a. The Valley of Gehenna, south of Jerusalem.

13 Jehizkiah son of Shallum and Amasa son of Hadlai. "You must not bring the captives in here," they said, "or we should be guilty before Yahweh. You are proposing to add to our sins and to our guilt, but our guilt is already heavy and the fierce anger of Yahweh is hanging over Israel." So in the presence of the officials and of the whole assembly the army gave up the captives and the booty. Men expressly nominated for the purpose saw to the relief of the prisoners. From the booty they clothed all those of them who were naked; they gave them clothing and sandals and provided them with food, drink and shelter. They mounted all those who were infirm on donkeys and took them back to their kinsmen at Jericho, the city of palm trees. Then they returned to Samaria.

The sins of Ahaz

16 It was then that King Ahaz sent asking the kings of Assyria to come to his assistance.

17 The Edomites once again invaded and defeated Judah, and carried off prisoners. The Philistines encroached on the towns in the lowlands and in the Negeb of Judah. They took Beth-shemesh, Aijalon, Gederoth, and Soco with its outlying villages, Timnah with its outlying villages, Gimzo with its outlying villages, and they settled in them. For Yahweh humbled Judah on account of Ahaz king of Israel, since he neglected Judah and was unfaithful to Yahweh.

20 Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria attacked and besieged him but could not overcome him. Ahaz however had to take part of the goods in the Temple of Yahweh and in the palaces of the king and princes, to hand over to the king of Assyria, yet he received no help from him. During the time he was under siege he made his faithlessness graver still, this King Ahaz, by offering sacrifices to the gods of Damascus who had defeated him. "Since the gods of the kings of Aram," he said, "have been of help to them, I will sacrifice to them in the hope that they may be of help to me." But they proved his downfall and that of Israel.

24 Ahaz collected a number of the furnishings of the Temple of God, and dismantled others; he closed the doors of the Temple of Yahweh and put up altars at every street corner in Jerusalem; he set up high places in every town of Judah to offer incense to other gods, and so provoked the anger of Yahweh, the God of his ancestors.

26 The rest of his history, his whole policy, from first to last, is recorded in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. Then Ahaz slept with his ancestors, and they buried him in the Citadel, in Jerusalem, though he was not taken into the tombs of the kings of Israel. His son Hezekiah succeeded him.

B. REFORM UNDER HEZEKIAH

Summary of the reign

1 29 Hezekiah came to the throne when he was twenty-five years old and reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abijah, daughter of Zechariah. He did what is pleasing to Yahweh, just as his ancestor David had done.

The Temple is purified

3 It was he who, in the first year of the first year of his reign, threw open the doors of the Temple of Yahweh and repaired them. Then he brought the priests and the Levites, assembled them in the eastern square, and said to them: "Listen to me, Levites! Sanctify yourselves now and consecrate the Temple of Yahweh, the God of our ancestors, and eject what is impure from the sanctuary. Your ancestors have been unfaithful and done what is displeasing to Yahweh our God. They have deserted him; they have turned their faces away from the place Yahweh has made his home, they have turned their backs on him. They have even closed the doors of the Vestibule, they have put out the lamps and

8 offered no incense, no holocaust, to the God of Israel in the holy place. ·So the anger of Yahweh has fallen on Judah and Jerusalem; he has made them an object of terror, astonishment and derisive whistling, as you can see for yourselves. ·This is why our ancestors have fallen by the sword, and our sons, 9 our daughters, our wives, been taken captive. ·I am now determined to make a covenant with Yahweh, the God of Israel, so that his fierce anger may be 10 turned away from us. ·My sons, be negligent no longer, for Yahweh has chosen you to stand in his presence and serve him, to conduct his worship, and offer him incense.”

12 The Levites set to work: Mahath son of Amasai and Joel son of Azariah, of the sons of Kohath; of the Merarites: Kish son of Abdi and Azariah son of Jehallelel; of the Gershonites: Joah son of Zimmah and Eden son of Joah; 13 of the sons of Elizaphan: Shimri and Jeuel; of the sons of Asaph: Zechariah and Mattaniah; ·of the sons of Heman: Jehiel and Shimei; of the sons of 14 Jeduthun: Shemaiah and Uzziel. ·They gathered their brothers together, they sanctified themselves, and in obedience to the king's order, in accordance with 15 the words of Yahweh, they began purifying the Temple of Yahweh.

16 The priests went inside the Temple of Yahweh to purify it. They brought out everything unclean they found in the sanctuary of Yahweh, out into the court of the Temple of Yahweh, and the Levites collected it and carried it outside, 17 into the wadi Kidron. ·They began this consecration on the first day of the first month, and were able to enter the Vestibule of Yahweh on the eighth of the month; they then took eight days to consecrate the Temple of Yahweh, and finished on the sixteenth day of the first month.

The sacrifice of Atonement

18 They then waited on King Hezekiah and said, “We have purified the whole Temple of Yahweh, the altar of holocaust with all its furnishings, and the tables 19 on which the rows of bread are set with all its furnishings. ·All the furnishings King Ahaz cast aside during his sacrilegious reign we have put back and consecrated; they are now in front of the altar of Yahweh.”

20 King Hezekiah lost no time but called the officials of the city together and went up to the Temple of Yahweh. ·They brought seven bulls, seven rams and seven lambs, with seven he-goats as a sacrifice for sin on behalf of the royal house, of the sanctuary, and of Judah. The king then told the priests, the sons 22 of Aaron, to offer the holocaust on the altar of Yahweh. ·They slaughtered the bulls and the priests took up the blood and poured it on the altar. They then slaughtered the rams and poured their blood on the altar; and they slaughtered 23 the lambs and poured their blood on the altar. ·Then they brought the he-goats, the sacrifice for sin, before the king and the assembly who laid their hands on 24 them. ·The priests slaughtered them, and with their blood on the altar offered a sacrifice for sin, to perform the ritual of atonement for all Israel—since the king had ordered the holocaust and the sacrifice for sin on behalf of all Israel.

25 He then positioned the Levites in the Temple of Yahweh with cymbals, harps and lyres, in accordance with the ordinances of David, of Gad the king's seer and of Nathan the prophet; the order had in fact come from Yahweh 26 through his prophets. ·When the Levites had taken their places with David's musical instruments, and the priests with their trumpets, ·Hezekiah ordered the holocaust to be offered on the altar. And as the holocaust began, the hymns of Yahweh began too, and the trumpets sounded, to the accompaniment of the 28 instruments of David king of Israel. ·The whole assembly worshiped, cantors singing, trumpets sounding, until the holocaust was over.

29 The offering at an end, the king and all there with him fell to their knees and worshiped. ·Then King Hezekiah and the officials told the Levites to sing praise to Yahweh in the words of David and of Asaph the seer; they sang most 31 fervently and then fell down and worshiped. ·Hezekiah spoke again, “Now you are dedicated to the service of Yahweh. Come forward, bring the sacrifices of communion and praise into the Temple of Yahweh." The assembly brought sacrifices of communion and praise, and every kind of holocaust as votive offerings. The number of victims for these holocausts was seventy bulls, a hundred rams and two hundred lambs, all as holocausts for Yahweh; six hundred bulls and three thousand sheep were consecrated. The priests were too few, however, and could not dismember all the holocausts, so the Levites helped them until the work was done and the priests were sanctified; for the Levites had been more conscientious about sanctifying themselves than the priests had. There was, in addition, an abundant holocaust of fatty parts of the communion sacrifices, and numerous libations in association with the holocaust. And so the liturgy of Yahweh's Temple was restored. Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced that God had disposed the people to act so promptly.

The Passover assembly

30 Hezekiah sent messengers to all Israel and Judah, and also wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh, bidding them come to the Temple of Yahweh in Jerusalem to celebrate a Passover in honor of Yahweh, the God of Israel. The king and his officials and all the assembly in Jerusalem had agreed to celebrate it in the second month, being unable to celebrate it at the proper time, since the priests had not purified themselves in sufficient number, and the people had not assembled in Jerusalem. This arrangement seemed fitting to the king and to all the assembly. It was resolved to send a proclamation throughout Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, calling on the people to come to Jerusalem and celebrate a Passover in honor of Yahweh, the God of Israel, for few had observed the prescribed regulations. Couriers set out with letters from the hands of the king and his officials for every part of Israel and Judah. They had orders from the king to say, "Sons of Israel, come back to Yahweh, the God of Abraham, of Isaac, of Israel, and he will come back to those of you who are left and have escaped the grasp of the kings of Assyria. Do not be like your fathers and brothers who were unfaithful to Yahweh, the God of their ancestors, and whom he handed over to destruction, as you can see. Do not be stubborn now as your ancestors were. Yield to Yahweh, come to his sanctuary which he has consecrated for ever, serve Yahweh your God and he will turn his fierce anger from you. If you come back sincerely to Yahweh, your brothers and your sons will win favor with their conquerors and return to this land, for Yahweh your God is gracious and merciful. If you come back to him, he will not turn his face from you." The couriers went from town to town through the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, but the people laughed and scoffed at them, though a few men from Asher and Manasseh and Zebulun were humble enough to come to Jerusalem. It was in Judah, rather, that the hand of God worked to inspire them with a united will to obey the order of the king and the officials as contained in the word of Yahweh. A great number of people gathered in Jerusalem to celebrate the feast of Unleavened Bread in the second month. A very great assembly set to work removing the altars that were in Jerusalem and all the altars for burning incense, and throwing them into the wadi Kidron.

The Passover and feast of Unleavened Bread

They slaughtered the passover on the fourteenth day of the second month. The priests and the Levites were ashamed; they sanctified themselves and so were able to bring holocausts into the Temple of Yahweh. Then they took up their positions as ordained for them according to the Law of Moses, the man of God. The priests poured out the blood handed to them by the Levites, since there were many people in the assembly who had not sanctified themselves; the Levites were given the task of slaughtering the Passover victims on behalf of those who lacked the requisite purity to consecrate their victims to Yahweh.

18 In point of fact, most of the people, many from Ephraim, Manasseh, Issachar and Zebulun, had not purified themselves; they had eaten the Passover without observing the prescribed regulations. But Hezekiah interceded for them, saying, 19 "May Yahweh in his goodness cover up the fault of anyone who sets his heart to seeking God, Yahweh the God of his ancestors, even if he lacks the purity requisite for holy things." Yahweh heard Hezekiah and left the people unharmed.
 21 For seven days and with great rejoicing the Israelites in Jerusalem celebrated the feast of Unleavened Bread, while each day the Levites and the priests praised Yahweh with all their might. The words of Hezekiah encouraged the Levites who all showed how versed they were in the things of Yahweh, and for seven days they ate their portion in the feast, offering communion sacrifices with praise to Yahweh, the God of their ancestors. Then all the assembly agreed to continue the celebrations for a further seven days and made of them seven days of rejoicing, since Hezekiah king of Judah had provided a thousand bulls and seven thousand sheep for the assembly, and the officials another thousand bulls and ten thousand sheep. The priests sanctified themselves in great numbers, and the whole assembly of Judah rejoiced, the priests too, and the Levites, and all who had come from Israel, the refugees who came from Israel and those who lived in Judah. There was great rejoicing in Jerusalem, for since the time of Solomon son of David, king of Israel, nothing comparable had ever occurred in Jerusalem. The levitical priests began to bless the people. Their voices were heard and their prayer received in heaven, his holy dwelling place.

Idolatrous worship abolished

1 31 When all this was over, all the Israelites who were there set off for the towns of Judah to smash the pillars, cut down the sacred poles, wreck the high places and the altars, and so do away with them altogether throughout Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim, and Manasseh. Then all the Israelites returned to their towns, each man to his holding.

The reorganization of the priests and Levites

2 Hezekiah re-established the priestly and levitical orders, each man in his proper order according to his duties, whether priest or Levite, whether for holocaust, communion sacrifice, liturgical service, thanksgiving or praise, within the gates of the camp of Yahweh. The king set aside a portion of his own possessions for the morning and evening holocausts, and the holocausts of sabbath, New Moon, and solemn feast, as laid down in the Law of Yahweh.
 4 He then told the people, the inhabitants of Jerusalem, to give the priests and the Levites their share so that they might devote themselves to the Law of Yahweh.
 5 As soon as the order had been promulgated, the Israelites amassed the first fruits of corn, wine, oil, honey, and all agricultural produce, and brought in a generous tithe of everything. The Israelites and Judaeans living in the towns of Judah also brought in the tithe of cattle and sheep, and the tithe of the holy things dedicated to Yahweh their God, piling them up, heap after heap. They began making these heaps in the third month and finished them in the seventh.
 8 Hezekiah and his officials came to inspect the heaps and blessed Yahweh and his people Israel. Hezekiah questioned the priests and the Levites about the heaps, and Azariah, the chief priest, of the family of Zadok, answered him. "Since the contributions were first brought to the Temple of Yahweh," he said, "we have had enough to eat and still have plenty left over, for Yahweh has blessed his people; this huge pile is what is left."
 11 Hezekiah then ordered them to have rooms prepared in the Temple of Yahweh. They did this, and then brought in the contributions, tithes and consecrated things, to keep them in a safe place. Conaniah the Levite was officer in charge of them, with Shimei his brother as his second. Jehiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad, Eliel, Ismachiah, Mahath, and Benaiah were appointed overseers under the command of Conaniah and his brother Shimei, by order of King Hezekiah and of Azariah, ruler of the house of God. ·Kore son of Imnah the Levite, keeper of the eastern gate, was made responsible for the voluntary offerings to God; he provided the portion set aside for Yahweh and the most holy offerings. ·Under his command he had Eden, Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah and Shecaniah, who resided permanently in the towns of the priests to carry out the distributions to their kinsmen according to their orders whether more or less important.

Further to this, there was the organization by related groups of all those men thirty years old and upward who went to the Temple of Yahweh, by daily rotation, to perform the ritual duties appropriate to their orders. ·There was also the organization of priests by families; as also that of Levites twenty years old and upward, by duties and orders. ·There was also the organization of all their families, wives, sons and daughters for the whole assembly, since they had an obligation to sanctify themselves faithfully by means of the holy things. As regards the priests, the sons of Aaron, who lived in the pasture lands belonging to their towns, or in the towns themselves, there were men expressly named for the purpose of distributing portions to every male among the priests. Each group was organized by the Levites.

Hezekiah enforced these arrangements throughout Judah. He did what is good and right and loyal before Yahweh his God. ·All he undertook in the service of the Temple of God as concerning law or commandments, he performed while seeking God with all his heart, and he prospered.

Sennacherib's invasion

32 After these loyal acts of service came the invasion of Sennacherib king of Assyria. He invaded Judah, pitched camp before the fortified towns and gave orders for them to be taken by storm. ·Realizing that Sennacherib's advance was the preliminary to an attack on Jerusalem, Hezekiah and his officers and champions decided to cut off the water supply from the springs situated outside the city. His military staff supported this plan and numbers of people banded together to block all the springs and cut off the watercourse flowing through the fields. "Why," they said, "should the kings of Assyria find plenty of water when they arrive?" ·Hezekiah strengthened his defenses: he had the broken parts of the wall repaired, built towers on it, constructed a second wall on the outer side, strengthened the Millo of the Citadel of David and made quantities of missiles and shields. ·He then appointed generals to command the people, summoned them to him in the square by the city gate and spoke as follows to encourage them, "Be strong and stand firm; be fearless, be undaunted when you face the king of Assyria and the whole horde he brings with him, since he that is with us is stronger than he that is with him. ·He has only an arm of flesh, but we have Yahweh our God to help us and fight our battles." The people took heart at the words of Hezekiah king of Judah.

The blasphemies of Sennacherib

Next, Sennacherib king of Assyria, who was then outside Lachish with all his forces, sent his servants to Jerusalem, to Hezekiah king of Judah, and to all the Judaeans who were in Jerusalem. They said, "·Hear the message from Sennacherib king of Assyria, 'What gives you the confidence to stay in Jerusalem under siege? ·Is not Hezekiah deluding you? Is he not condemning you to die of hunger and thirst when he says: Yahweh our God will save us from the king of Assyria? ·Is not Hezekiah the very man who has suppressed his high places and his altars, and given the order to Judah and to Jerusalem: Before one altar only are you to worship, and on that alone offer incense? Do you not know what I have done, I and my ancestors, to all the peoples of other countries? Have the gods of any single nation in those countries ever

14 been able to save them from me? ·Of all the gods of those nations devoted to the ban by my father, name a single one who has been able to save his people 15 from me! So how could your god save you? ·Do not let Hezekiah deceive you. Do not let him delude you like this. Do not believe him, for no god of any nation or kingdom has been able to save his people from me or from my 16 ancestors. No more will your god be able to save you from me.'” ·The envoys 17 were still maligning Yahweh God, and his servant Hezekiah, ·when Sennacherib wrote a letter insulting Yahweh the God of Israel. This is what he said about him, “Just as the gods of the nations in other countries have failed to save their 18 peoples from me, so will the god of Hezekiah fail to save his people.” ·They shouted this out in the language of Judah, to the people of Jerusalem on the ramparts, to confuse and frighten them, and so that they might capture the city; 19 they spoke of the God of Jerusalem as of one of the gods of the peoples of the world, the work of men’s hands.

The prayer of Hezekiah is heard

20 Faced with this situation, King Hezekiah and the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz 21 prayed and cried out to heaven. ·Yahweh sent an angel who massacred all the mighty warriors, commanders and officers in the camp of the king of Assyria.
Covered with disgrace he retired to his own country. He went into the temple of his god, and there some of his own children struck him down with the sword.
22 So Yahweh saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the power of Sennacherib king of Assyria and of everyone else, and he gave them peace 23 on every side. ·Many people brought oblations to Yahweh in Jerusalem and gifts for Hezekiah king of Judah; after what had happened, he stood high in the esteem of all the nations.

24 In those days, Hezekiah fell ill and was at the point of death. He prayed to 25 Yahweh, who heard him and granted him a sign. ·But Hezekiah made no return for the benefit he received; his heart grew proud and the wrath came 26 on him and on Judah and Jerusalem. ·Hezekiah did however humble the pride of his heart, and so did the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem; hence the wrath 27 of Yahweh did not come on them in the lifetime of Hezekiah. ·Hezekiah enjoyed immense riches and honor. He built himself treasuries for gold, silver, precious 28 stones, spices, gems and every sort of valuable. ·He had storehouses for his returns of corn, wine and oil, buildings for his different sorts of cattle, and 29 sheep runs for his sheep, ·and, further, acquired donkeys and enormous herds and flocks. God had indeed given him immense possessions.

Summary of the reign; its end

30 It was Hezekiah who stopped the upper outlet of the waters of Gihon and directed them down to the west side of the Citadel of David. Hezekiah succeeded 31 in all he undertook. ·Even in the affair of the messengers from the authorities in Babylon, sent to him to inquire about the extraordinary thing that had taken place in the country, God only deserted him to test him, and to discover the secrets of his heart.

32 The rest of the history of Hezekiah, and his deeds of piety, are recorded in the Vision of the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz, in the Book of the Kings of Judah 33 and Israel. ·Then Hezekiah slept with his ancestors, and they buried him on the slope going up to the tombs of the sons of David. At his death, all of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem did him honor. His son Manasseh succeeded him.

C. THE SINS OF MANASSEH AND OF AMON

Manasseh undoes the work of Hezekiah

1 33 Manasseh was twelve years old when he came to the throne and he reigned 2 for fifty-five years in Jerusalem. ·He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, copying the shameful practices of the nations whom Yahweh had dispossessed for the sons of Israel. ³He rebuilt the high places that his father Hezekiah had demolished, he set up altars to the Baals and made sacred poles, he worshiped the whole array of heaven and served it. ⁴He built altars in the Temple of Yahweh, the Temple of which Yahweh had said, "In Jerusalem my name shall be for ever." ⁵He built altars to the whole array of heaven in the two courts of the Temple of Yahweh. ⁶He caused his sons to pass through the fire in the Valley of Ben-hinnom. He practiced soothsaying, magic and witchcraft, and introduced necromancers and wizards. He did very many more things displeasing to Yahweh, thus ⁷provoking his anger. ⁸He placed the image of the idol he had made in the Temple of which God had said to David and to his son Solomon, "In this Temple and in Jerusalem, the city I chose out of all the tribes of Israel, I will give my name a home for ever. ⁹I will no longer turn Israel's footsteps away from the land I assigned to their fathers, provided they observe all I have ordered them in accordance with the whole Law, the statutes and the ordinances, given through Moses." ¹⁰Manasseh led Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem astray, so that they did more evil than those nations Yahweh had destroyed before the sons of Israel. ¹⁰Yahweh spoke to Manasseh and his people, but they paid no attention.

The conversion of Manasseh^a ¹¹Then Yahweh sent the generals of the king of Assyria against them, who captured Manasseh with hooks, put him in chains and led him away to Babylon. ¹²In his distress he sought to appease Yahweh his God, humbling himself deeply before the God of his ancestors; ¹³he prayed to him, and God relented at his prayer, hearing his plea and bringing him back to Jerusalem and his kingdom. ¹⁴Manasseh realized then that Yahweh is God. ¹⁴After this he rebuilt the outer wall of the Citadel of David, west of Gihon in the wadi, as far as the Fish Gate; it encircled the Ophel, and he increased its height very considerably. He stationed military governors in all the fortified towns of Judah.

¹⁵Next he removed the alien gods and the idol from the Temple of Yahweh, and all the altars he had built on the mountain of the Temple of Yahweh and in Jerusalem, and threw them out of the city. ¹⁶He rebuilt the altar of Yahweh and offered sacrifices of communion and of praise on it, and ordered Judah to offer worship to Yahweh the God of Israel; ¹⁷however, the people continued to sacrifice on the high places, although only to Yahweh their God.

¹⁸The rest of the history of Manasseh, his prayer to his God,^c and the words of the seers who spoke to him in the name of Yahweh the God of Israel, can be found in the Annals of the Kings of Israel. ¹⁹His prayer and how God relented at his prayer, all his sins, his unfaithfulness, the sites where he built high places and set up sacred poles and idols before he humbled himself, are recorded in the ²⁰Annals of Hozai. ²⁰Then Manasseh slept with his ancestors, and they buried him in his palace. His son Amon succeeded him.

The obduracy of Amon

²¹Amon was twenty-two years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for two years in Jerusalem. ²²He did what is displeasing to Yahweh, as Manasseh his father had done. Amon offered sacrifice and worship to all the idols Manasseh his father had made. ²³He did not humble himself before Yahweh like Manasseh his father; it was this very Amon who made the guilt of Judah so grave. ²⁴His officers plotted against him and killed him in his palace. ²⁵But the country people struck down all those who had plotted against King Amon and proclaimed his son Josiah as his successor.

D. REFORM UNDER JOSIAH

Summary of the reign

¹ 34 Josiah was eight years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for ² thirty-one years in Jerusalem. He did what is pleasing to Yahweh, and followed the example of his ancestor David, not deviating from it to right or left.

The first reforms

³ In the eighth year of his reign, when he was still a youth, he began to seek the God of his ancestor David. In the twelfth year he began to purge Judah and ⁴ Jerusalem of high places, sacred poles and carved or cast idols. He looked on as the altars of the Baals were demolished; he tore down the altars of incense standing on them, he smashed the sacred poles and the carved and cast idols; he reduced them to dust, scattering it over the graves of those who had offered ⁵ them sacrifices. He burned the bones of their priests on their altars, and so ⁶ purified Judah and Jerusalem; he did the same in the towns of Manasseh, Ephraim, Simeon, and even Naphtali, and in the ravaged districts around them.
⁷ He demolished the altars and sacred poles, smashed the idols and ground them to powder, and tore down all the altars of incense throughout the land of Israel. Then he returned to Jerusalem.

Work on the Temple

⁸ In the eighteenth year of his reign, with the object of purifying land and Temple, he sent Shaphan son of Azaliah, Maaseiah governor of the city and ⁹ the herald Joah son of Joahaz, to repair the Temple of Yahweh his God. These went to the high priest Hilkiah and handed over the money that had been brought to the Temple of God and that the Levites, the guardians of the threshold, had collected; the money had come from Manasseh, Ephraim and all the rest of ¹⁰ Israel, and from all the Judaeans and Benjaminites who lived in Jerusalem. They handed it over to the masters of works attached to the Temple of Yahweh, and ¹¹ these used it for the repair and restoration of the Temple. They gave it to the carpenters and builders for buying dressed stone, and wood for the coupling and the rafters of the buildings which the kings of Judah had allowed to fall into ruin.
¹² The men were conscientious in doing their work; to supervise them they had Jahath and Obadiah, Levites of the sons of Merari; Zechariah and Meshullam of the sons of Kohath, who were masters of works; Levites who were all skilled ¹³ liturgical musicians; others who were in charge of the carriers; others who gave instructions to the masters of works of the various undertakings; and lastly a number of Levites who were scribes, clerks and gatekeepers.

The Book of the Law discovered

¹⁴ When they took out the money that had been brought to the Temple of Yahweh, Hilkiah the high priest found the book of the Law given through ¹⁵ Moses. At once Hilkiah told Shaphan the secretary, "I have found the Book of the Law in the Temple of Yahweh." And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan.
¹⁶ Shaphan took the book to the king, and reported to him: "Your servants," he said, "are carrying out the commissions you gave them: they have melted down the silver which was in the Temple of Yahweh and have handed it over to the ¹⁷ overseers and masters of works," after which Shaphan the secretary informed 33 a. This narrative is peculiar to Ch.; 2 K. 21 condemns the reign of Manasseh in the words used here of Amon in vv. 21-23. b. Manasseh of Judah was a vassal of Esarhaddon (680-669) and of Assurbanipal (668-633). c. "The Prayer of Manasseh" is found in some editions of the Apocrypha.

the king, "Hilkiah the priest has given me a book"; and Shaphan read from it in the king's presence.

¹⁹²⁰ On hearing the contents of the Law, the king tore his garments, and gave the following order to Hilkiah, Ahikam son of Shaphan, Abdon son of Micah, ²¹ Shaphan the secretary and Asaiah the king's minister, "Go and consult Yahweh, on behalf of me and those left in Israel and Judah, about the contents of the book that has been found. Great indeed must be the anger of Yahweh pouring down on us because our ancestors did not observe the word of Yahweh by practicing everything written in this book."

Huldah the prophetess is consulted

²² Hilkiah and the king's men went to Huldah the prophetess, wife of Shallum son of Tokhath, son of Hasrah, the keeper of the wardrobe; she lived in Jerusalem ²³ in the new town. They spoke to her about this, and she replied, "Yahweh, the God of Israel says this, 'To the man who sent you to me say this: ²⁴ Yahweh says this: I am bringing disaster on this place and those who live in it, carrying out all the curses written in the book that has been read in the presence ²⁵ of the king of Judah, because they have deserted me and sacrificed to other gods, to provoke my anger by everything they did. My anger blazes out against this ²⁶ place; it will not be extinguished. And you will say to the king of Judah who sent you to consult Yahweh, Yahweh, the God of Israel says this: The words ²⁷ you have heard . . . But since your heart has been touched and you have humbled yourself before God on hearing what he has threatened against this place and those who live in it, since you have humbled yourself before me and torn your garments ²⁸ and wept before me, I for my part have heard—it is Yahweh who speaks. I will gather you to your ancestors, you shall be gathered into your grave in peace; your eyes will not see all the disasters that I mean to bring on this place and on those who live in it.'" They took this answer to the king.

The covenant renewed

²⁹³⁰ The king then had all the elders of Judah and of Jerusalem summoned, and the king went up to the Temple of Yahweh, with all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, priests, Levites and all the people, of high or low degree. In their hearing he read out everything that was said in the book of the ³¹ covenant found in the Temple of Yahweh. The king stood beside the pillar, and in the presence of Yahweh he made a covenant to follow Yahweh and to enforce the terms of the covenant as written in that book with all his heart and ³² soul. He allotted a station to everyone there in Jerusalem or in Benjamin; and the inhabitants of Jerusalem complied with the covenant of God, the God of ³³ their ancestors. Josiah removed all the abominations throughout the territories belonging to the sons of Israel. His whole life long he made sure that every member of Israel served their God. They did not fail to follow Yahweh, the God of their ancestors.

The preparation for the Passover

¹ 35 Josiah then celebrated a Passover in honor of Yahweh in Jerusalem and they slaughtered the passover on the fourteenth day of the first month. ² He re-established the priests in their functions and made it possible for them ³ to discharge the duties of the Temple of Yahweh. Then he said to the Levites, whose understanding was at the disposal of all Israel and who were consecrated to Yahweh, "Place the holy ark in the Temple built by Solomon son of David, king of Israel. It is no longer a burden for your shoulders. Now serve Yahweh ⁴ your God and Israel his people. Take your places by families according to your orders, in compliance with the written decree of David king of Israel and his ⁵ son Solomon. Stand in the sanctuary at the disposal of the family groupings, at the disposal of your brothers the laity; the Levites are to have a portion in

6 the family. "Slaughter the passover, sanctify yourselves, and be at the disposal of your brothers in acting in accordance with the word of Yahweh which was spoken through Moses."

The celebration of the Passover

7 Josiah then provided for the laity lambs and kids from the flocks to the number of thirty thousand, all as Passover victims for all who were present, and three thousand bulls as well; all these animals came from the king's possessions. 8 His officials, for their part, made provision for the voluntary offerings on behalf of the people, the priests and the Levites. The senior officials gave the priests of the Temple of God, Hilkiah, Zechariah and Jehiel, two thousand six hundred 9 lambs and kids and three hundred bulls as Passover victims. "The heads of the Levites, Conaniah, Shemaiah and his brother Nathanel, Hashabiah, Jeiel and Jozabad, provided five thousand lambs and kids and five hundred bulls as 10 Passover victims for the Levites. "The order of the service was arranged, the priests at their places and the Levites in their orders, in compliance with the 11 king's order. "They slaughtered the passover, and the priests sprinkled the 12 blood as they received it from the Levites, and the Levites dismembered the victims. "They put the holocaust on one side to give it to the family groupings among the laity as each made its offering to Yahweh, as is written in the Book 13 of Moses; they did the same with the bulls. "They roasted the passover, as ordained, and the sacred foods in pots, dishes, pans, carrying them speedily 14 to the laity. "Afterward they prepared the passover for themselves and for the priests—the priests, the sons of Aaron, having been busy till nightfall offering the holocaust and the fatty parts; that was why the Levites prepared the passover 15 for themselves and for the priests, the sons of Aaron. "The cantors, the sons of Asaph, were at their places, in accordance with the ordinances of David; neither Asaph, Heman, Jeduthun the king's seer, nor the keepers of each gate had to leave their duties, since their brothers the Levites made all the preparations for them. 16 So the whole liturgical service of Yahweh was arranged that day to celebrate the Passover and to offer holocausts on the altar of Yahweh, in accordance with 17 the ordinances of King Josiah. "And so it was that the Israelites who were present celebrated the Passover and, for seven days, the feast of Unleavened Bread. 18 No Passover like this one had ever been celebrated in Israel since the days of the prophet Samuel; no king of Israel had ever celebrated a Passover like the one celebrated by Josiah with the priests, the Levites, all of Judah and of Israel who were present, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

The tragic end of the reign

19 This Passover was celebrated in the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah. 20 After everything had been done by Josiah to set the Temple in order, Neco king of Egypt came up to fight at Carchemish on the Euphrates. When Josiah marched out to intercept him, "Neco sent him messengers to say, "What quarrel is there between me and you, king of Judah? I have not come today to attack you; my quarrel is with another dynasty, and God has told me to hurry. Do not oppose the God 21 who is with me any more, or else he may destroy you." "But Josiah continued to challenge him; he was in fact determined to fight him, and would not listen to the words of Neco from God's own mouth. He gave battle in the plain of 22 Megiddo; the bowmen fired on King Josiah, and the king said to his followers 23 "Take me away; I am badly wounded." "His servants lifted him out of his own chariot, transferred him to another one and took him back to Jerusalem, where he died. He was buried in the tombs of his ancestors. All Judah and Jerusalem 24 mourned for Josiah. "Jeremiah composed a lament for Josiah which all the singing men and singing women still recite today when they lament for Josiah; this has become a custom in Israel; the dirges are recorded in the Lamentations.^a

26 The rest of the history of Josiah, his deeds of piety conforming to everything 27 written in the Law of Yahweh, his history from first to last, are recorded in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah.

E. ISRAEL IN THE CLOSING YEARS OF THE MONARCHY

Jehoahaz

1 36 The country people took Jehoahaz son of Josiah and made him king in 2 Jerusalem in succession to his father. Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for three months in Jerusalem.
3 The king of Egypt carried him off from Jerusalem and imposed a levy of a hundred 4 talents of silver and one talent of gold on the country. The king of Egypt then made Eliakim, brother of Jehoahaz, king of Judah and Jerusalem, and changed his name to Jehoiakim. Neco took his brother Jehoahaz and carried him off to Egypt.

Jehoiakim

5 Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for eleven years in Jerusalem. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh his God.
6 Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon attacked him, loaded him with chains and 7 carried him off to Babylon. To Babylon Nebuchadnezzar also carried off part of the furnishings of the Temple of Yahweh and put them in his palace at 8 Babylon. The rest of the history of Jehoiakim, the shameful things he did and those discovered to his discredit, these are recorded in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah. His son Jehoiachin succeeded him.

Jehoiachin

9 Jehoiachin was eight years old when he came to the throne and he reigned for three months and ten days in Jerusalem. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh.
10 At the turn of the year, King Nebuchadnezzar sent for him and had him taken to Babylon, with the precious furnishings of the Temple of Yahweh, and made Zedekiah his brother^a king of Judah and Jerusalem in his place.

Zedekiah

11 Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he came to the throne and he reigned 12 for eleven years in Jerusalem. He did what is displeasing to Yahweh his God.
He did not listen humbly to the prophet Jeremiah, accredited by Yahweh himself.
13 He also rebelled against King Nebuchadnezzar to whom he had sworn allegiance by God. He became stubborn, and obstinately refused to return to Yahweh the God of Israel.

The nation as a whole

14 Furthermore, all the heads of the priesthood, and the people too, added infidelity to infidelity, copying all the shameful practices of the nations and defiling the Temple that Yahweh had consecrated for himself in Jerusalem.
15 Yahweh, the God of their ancestors, tirelessly sent them messenger after messenger, 16 since he wished to spare his people and his house. But they ridiculed the messengers of God, they despised his words, they laughed at his prophets, until at last the wrath of Yahweh rose so high against his people that there was no further remedy.

The end

17 He summoned against them the king of the Chaldaeans who put their young warriors to the sword within their sanctuary; he spared neither youth nor virgin, 18 neither old man nor aged cripple; God handed them all over to him. All the furnishings of the Temple of God, large and small, the treasures of the Temple of Yahweh, the treasures of the king and his officials, he carried everything off to Babylon. ¹⁹They burned down the Temple of God, demolished the walls of Jerusalem, set fire to all its palaces, and destroyed everything of value in it. ²⁰The survivors were deported by Nebuchadnezzar to Babylon; they were to ²¹serve him and his sons until the kingdom of Persia came to power. This is how the word of Yahweh was fulfilled that he spoke through Jeremiah, "Until this land has enjoyed its sabbath rest, until seventy years have gone by, it will keep sabbath throughout the days of its desolation."

Looking to the future

²² And in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, to fulfill the word of Yahweh that was spoken through Jeremiah, Yahweh roused the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia to issue a proclamation and to have it publicly displayed throughout his ²³kingdom: "Thus speaks Cyrus king of Persia, 'Yahweh, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth; he has ordered me to build him a Temple in Jerusalem, in Judah. Whoever there is among you of all his people, may his God be with him! Let him go up.'"

THE BOOK OF EZRA AND NEHEMIAH

EZRA

I. THE RETURN FROM EXILE AND THE REBUILDING OF THE TEMPLE

The return of the exiles

¹ Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia,^a to fulfill the word of Yahweh that was spoken through Jeremiah,^b Yahweh roused the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia to issue a proclamation and to have it publicly displayed throughout his kingdom: "Thus speaks Cyrus king of Persia, 'Yahweh, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth; he has ordered me to build him a Temple in Jerusalem, in Judah. 'Whoever there is among you of all his people, may his God be with him! Let him go up to Jerusalem in Judah to build the Temple of Yahweh, the God of Israel—he is the God who is in Jerusalem. 'And let each survivor, wherever he lives, be helped by the people of that place with silver and gold, with goods and cattle, as well as voluntary offerings for the Temple of God which is in Jerusalem.'"

⁵ Then the heads of families of Judah and of Benjamin, the priests and the Levites, in fact all whose spirit had been roused by God, prepared to go and rebuild the Temple of Yahweh in Jerusalem; and all their neighbors gave them every assistance with silver, gold, goods, cattle, quantities of costly gifts and with voluntary offerings of every kind.

⁷ King Cyrus took the vessels of the Temple of Yahweh which Nebuchadnezzar had carried away from Jerusalem and dedicated to the temple of his god. 'Cyrus, king of Persia, handed them over to Mithredath, the treasurer, who counted them out to Sheshbazzar, the prince of Judah. 'The inventory was as follows: thirty golden bowls for offerings; one thousand and twenty-nine silver bowls for offerings; thirty golden bowls; four hundred and ten silver bowls; one thousand other vessels. 'In all, five thousand four hundred vessels of gold and silver. Sheshbazzar took all these with him when the exiles traveled back from Babylon to Jerusalem.

The list of the returning exiles

¹ ² These were the people of the province who returned from captivity and exile. After being deported to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, they returned to Jerusalem and to Judah, each to his own town. 'They arrived with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispar, Bigvai, Rehum and Baanah.

³ The list of the men of the people of Israel: 'sons of Parosh, two thousand ⁴ one hundred and seventy-two; 'sons of Shephatiah, three hundred and seventythat is to say the sons of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand eight hundred and twelve; sons of Elam, one thousand two hundred and fifty-four; sons of Zattu, nine hundred and forty-five; sons of Zaccai, seven hundred and sixty; sons of Bani, six hundred and forty-two; sons of Bebai, six hundred and twenty-three; sons of Azgad, one thousand two hundred and twenty-two; sons of Adonikam, six hundred and sixty-six; sons of Bigvai, two thousand and fifty-six; sons of Adin, four hundred and fifty-four; sons of Ater, that is to say of Hezekiah, ninety-eight; sons of Bezai, three hundred and twenty-three; sons of Jorah, one hundred and twelve; sons of Hashum, two hundred and twenty-three; sons of Gibbar, ninety-five; men of Bethlehem, one hundred and twenty-three; men of Netophah, fifty-six; men of Anathoth, one hundred and twenty-eight; men of Beth-azmaveth, forty-two; men of Kiriath-jearim, Chephirah and Beeroth, seven hundred and forty-three; men of Ramah and Geba, six hundred and twenty-one; men of Michmas, one hundred and twenty-two; men of Bethel and Ai, two hundred and twenty-three; sons of Nebo, fifty-two; sons of Magbish, one hundred and fifty-six; sons of another Elam, one thousand two hundred and fifty-four; sons of Harim, three hundred and twenty; men of Lod, Hadid and Ono, seven hundred and twenty-five; men of Jericho, three hundred and forty-five; sons of Senaah, three thousand six hundred and thirty.

The priests: sons of Jedaiah, that is to say the House of Jeshua, nine hundred and seventy-three; sons of Immer, one thousand and fifty-two; sons of Pashhur, one thousand two hundred and forty-seven; sons of Harim, one thousand and seventeen.

The Levites: sons of Jeshua, that is to say Kadmiel, Binnui, Hodaviah, seventy-four.

The cantors: sons of Asaph, one hundred and twenty-eight.

The gatekeepers: sons of Shallum, sons of Ater, sons of Talmon, sons of Akkub, sons of Hatita, sons of Shobai: in all, one hundred and thirty-nine.

The oblates: sons of Ziha, sons of Hasupha, sons of Tabbaoth, sons of Keros, sons of Siaha, sons of Padon, sons of Lebanah, sons of Hagabah, sons of Akkub, sons of Hagab, sons of Shamlai, sons of Hanan, sons of Giddel, sons of Gahar, sons of Reaiah, sons of Rezin, sons of Nekoda, sons of Gazzam, sons of Uzza, sons of Paseah, sons of Besai, sons of Asnah, sons of the Meunites, sons of the Nephisites, sons of Bakbuk, sons of Hakupha, sons of Harhur, sons of Bazluth, sons of Mehida, sons of Harsha, sons of Barkos, sons of Sisera, sons of Temah, sons of Neziah, sons of Hatipha.

The sons of Solomon's slaves: sons of Sotai, sons of Hassophereth, sons of Peruda, sons of Jaalah, sons of Darkon, sons of Giddel, sons of Shephathiah, sons of Hattil, sons of Pochereth-haz-zebaim, sons of Ami. The total of the oblates and the sons of Solomon's slaves: three hundred and ninety-two.

The following who came from Tel-melah, Tel-harsha, Cherub, Addan and Immer, could not prove that their families and ancestry were of Israelite origin: sons of Delaiah, sons of Tobiah, sons of Nekoda: six hundred and fifty-two. And among the priests: sons of Habaiah, sons of Hakkoz, sons of Barzillai, who had married one of the daughters of Barzillai, the Gileadite, whose name he adopted. These people searched in their ancestral registers but could not be located in them, so they were excluded from the priesthood as unclean and His Excellency^a forbade them to eat the sacred foods until a priest could be found for the Urim and Thummim.^b

The whole assembly numbered forty-two thousand three hundred and sixty people, not counting their slaves and maidservants to the number of seven thousand three hundred and thirty-seven. They also had two hundred male and

67 two hundred and forty-five, their camels four hundred and thirty-five and their donkeys six thousand seven hundred and twenty.

68 When they arrived at the Temple of Yahweh in Jerusalem, a certain number of heads of families made voluntary offerings for the Temple of God, for its 69 rebuilding on its site. In accordance with their means they gave sixty-one thousand gold drachmas, five thousand silver minas and one hundred priestly robes to the sacred funds.

70 The priests, Levites and part of the people settled in Jerusalem; the gatekeepers, cantors, oblates and all the other Israelites, in their own towns.

The resumption of worship

1 3 When the seventh month came and the sons of Israel were in their own towns, 2 they all gathered as one man in Jerusalem. Jeshua son of Jozadak, with his brother priests, and Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, with his brothers began to rebuild the altar of the God of Israel, to offer holocausts there, as it is written 3 in the Law of Moses the man of God. The altar was set up on its old site, despite their fear of the surrounding peoples, and on it they offered holocausts 4 to Yahweh, holocausts morning and evening; they celebrated the feast of Tabernacles, according to the written Law, with as many daily holocausts as are 5 ordained for each day; then, in addition to the perpetual holocaust, they offered those prescribed for the sabbaths, New Moon feasts and all the solemnities sacred to Yahweh, as well as those voluntary offerings made by individuals 6 to Yahweh. From the first day of the seventh month they began offering holocausts to Yahweh, though the foundations of the sanctuary of Yahweh had not yet been laid.

7 Then they gave money to the masons and carpenters; to the Sidonians and Tyrians they gave food, drink and oil, so that they would bring cedar wood from Lebanon by sea to Jaffa, for which Cyrus king of Persia had given permission.
8 It was in the second month of the second year after their arrival at the Temple of God in Jerusalem that Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and Jeshua son of Jozadak, with the rest of their brothers, the priests, the Levites and all the people who had returned to Jerusalem from captivity, began the work; they appointed the Levites who were twenty years old or more to superintend the work on the 9 Temple of Yahweh. So Jeshua, his sons and his brothers, with Kadmiel, Binnui and Hodaviah, agreed to superintend the workmen at the Temple of God.
10 When the builders had laid the foundations of the sanctuary of Yahweh, the priests in fine linen came with trumpets, and the Levites, the sons of Asaph, with cymbals, to praise Yahweh according to the ordinances of David king of 11 Israel; they chanted praise and thanksgiving to Yahweh, "For he is good, for his love for Israel is everlasting." And all the people shouted aloud the praises of Yahweh, since the foundations of the Temple of Yahweh had now been laid.
12 True, many priests and Levites, many heads of families, who were then old and had seen with their own eyes the earlier Temple on its foundations, wept aloud, 13 but many others raised their voices in shouts of joy. And nobody could distinguish the shouts of joy from the sound of the people's weeping; for the people shouted so loudly that the noise could be heard far away.

An indictment of the Samaritans: their tactics under Cyrus

1 4 But when the enemies of Judah and Benjamin heard that the exiles were 2 building a sanctuary for Yahweh, the God of Israel, they came to Zerubbabel and Jeshua and the heads of families and said, "We would like to build with you, for we seek your God as you do and we have sacrificed to him since the 3 time of Esarhaddon king of Assyria, who brought us here." Zerubbabel, Jeshua, and the other heads of Israelite families replied, "It is not right that you should join us in building a Temple for our God; we alone may build for Yahweh, the God of Israel, as we were ordered by Cyrus king of Persia.” 4 Then the people of the country^a set out to dishearten and frighten the people of 5 Judah from building any further; they lured counselors against them, to defeat their purpose. This lasted throughout the reign of Cyrus king of Persia and until the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Samaritan tactics under Xerxes and Artaxerxes

6 At the beginning of the reign of Xerxes^b they lodged a complaint against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

7 In the time of Artaxerxes,^c Mithredath, Tabeel and the rest of their colleagues denounced Jerusalem in writing to Artaxerxes king of Persia. The text of the document was in the Aramaic script and the Aramaic language.

8 Then Rehum the governor^d and Shimshai the secretary wrote the following 9 letter denouncing Jerusalem to King Artaxerxes—Rehum the governor and Shimshai the secretary and the rest of their colleagues, the judges and legates, Persian officials, the people of Uruk, Babylon and Susa—that is, the Elamites—10 and the other peoples whom Assurbanipal the Great deported and settled in the towns of Samaria and in the rest of Transeuphrates.^e

11 This is a copy of the letter they sent:

“To King Artaxerxes, from your servants, the people of Transeuphrates:

12 “Whereas the king should be informed that the Jews, who have come up from your country to Jerusalem, are now rebuilding that rebellious and wicked city; they are working to restore the walls, and the foundations are already laid, 13 and whereas the king should be informed that if this city is rebuilt and the walls are restored, they will refuse to pay tribute, customs or tolls, and that in short 14 this city will damage the authority of the kings, and whereas, because we eat the salt of the palace, it does not seem proper to us to see this affront offered 15 to the king; we therefore send this information to the king so that a search may be made in the archives of your ancestors: in which archives you will find it proved that this city is a rebellious city, the bane of the kings and the provinces, and that sedition has been stirred up from ancient times; which is why this 16 city was destroyed. We inform the king that if this city is rebuilt and its walls are restored, you will soon have no territories left in Transeuphrates.”

17 The king sent this reply:

“To Rehum the governor, to Shimshai the secretary, and to the rest of their colleagues resident in Samaria and elsewhere in Transeuphrates, peace!

18 “Whereas the document you sent to me has been translated and read before 19 me, and by my orders search has been made, and it has been found that from ancient times this city has risen against kings and that rebellion and sedition 20 have been contrived in it; and that powerful kings have reigned in Jerusalem, 21 who dominated all Transeuphrates, exacting tribute, customs and tolls, you must now order the work of these men to cease immediately: this city is not to 22 be rebuilt until I give further orders. Beware of negligence in this matter lest further harm be done to the king’s interests.”

23 As soon as the copy of King Artaxerxes’ document had been read before Rehum the governor, Shimshai the secretary and their colleagues, they hurried to the Jews in Jerusalem and stopped their work by force of arms.

The building of the Temple (520–515 B.C.)

24 Thus the work on the Temple of God in Jerusalem was brought to a standstill; it remained interrupted until the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia.

1 5 Then the prophets Haggai and Zechariah son of Iddo began to prophesy to 2 the Jews of Judah and Jerusalem in the name of the God of Israel who was 3 with them. At this, Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and Jeshua son of Jozadak 4 started again to build the Temple of God in Jerusalem; the prophets of God 5 were with the people, giving them courage. It was then that Tattenai, satrap 6 of Transeuphrates, Shethar-bozenai and their colleagues came to them and 7 asked, "Who gave you authority to build this Temple and to do this woodwork?
 8 What are the names of the men responsible for this building?" But the eyes 9 of their God were on the elders of the Jews; they were not compelled to 10 stop while a report on the matter was sent to Darius and an official edict 11 awaited.

12 Copy of the letter that Tattenai, satrap of Transeuphrates, Shethar-bozenai 13 and his colleagues, the officials in Transeuphrates, sent to King Darius. They 14 sent a report to him which ran as follows:

15 "To King Darius, all peace! The king should be informed that we went to 16 the district of Judah, to the Temple of the great God: it is being built of blocks 17 of stone; the walls are being paneled with wood; the work is being done with 18 great care and makes progress in their hands. Questioning the elders, we asked, 19 'Who gave you authority to build this Temple and to do this woodwork?' 20 We also asked their names so that you might be informed; hence we have been 21 able to list the names of those who are superintending these men.

22 "They gave us this answer, 'We are the servants of the God of heaven and 23 earth; we are rebuilding a Temple which until recently had been standing for 24 many years and which was built and finished by a great king of Israel. But our 25 ancestors angered the God of heaven and he delivered them into the power of 26 Nebuchadnezzar the Chaldaean, king of Babylon, who destroyed that Temple and 27 deported the people to Babylon. In the first year of Cyrus king of Babylon, 28 however, King Cyrus authorized the rebuilding of this Temple of God; further-29 more, those vessels of gold and silver belonging to the Temple of God, which 30 Nebuchadnezzar had removed from the sanctuary in Jerusalem and taken to 31 that of Babylon, King Cyrus in turn removed from the sanctuary in Babylon and 32 handed back to a man called Sheshbazzar, whom he appointed high commis-33 sioner, with the words: Take these vessels; go and return them to the 34 sanctuary in Jerusalem and let the Temple of God be rebuilt on its original site; 35 the aforesaid Sheshbazzar therefore came and laid the foundations of the Temple 36 of God in Jerusalem; they have been building it ever since, and it is still not 37 finished.'

38 "Wherefore, if it please the king, let search be made in the king's muniment 39 rooms in Babylon, to find out if it is true that King Cyrus gave permission for 40 the rebuilding of this Temple of God in Jerusalem. And let the king's decision 41 on this matter be sent to us."

42 6 Then, on the order of King Darius, a search was made in Babylonia in the 43 muniment rooms where the archives were kept; at Ecbatana, the fortress 44 situated in the province of Media, a scroll was found which ran thus:

45 "Memorandum.

46 "In the first year of Cyrus the king, King Cyrus decreed: 47 Temple of God in Jerusalem.

48 "The Temple will be rebuilt as a place at which sacrifices are offered and to 49 which offerings are brought to be burned. Its height is to be sixty cubits, its width 50 sixty cubits. There are to be three thicknesses of stone blocks and one of wood.
 51 The expense is to be met by the king's household. Furthermore, the vessels 52 of gold and silver from the Temple of God which Nebuchadnezzar took from 53 the sanctuary in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon are to be restored so that 54 everything may be restored to the sanctuary in Jerusalem and be put back in 55 the Temple of God.'

56 "Wherefore, Tattenai, satrap of Transeuphrates, Shethar-bozenai and you,

- 7 their colleagues, the officials of Transeuphrates, withdraw from there; leave the high commissioner of Judah and the elders of the Jews to work on this
- 8 Temple of God; they are to rebuild this Temple of God on its ancient site. This, I decree, is how you must assist the elders of the Jews in the reconstruction of this Temple of God: the expenses of these people are to be paid, promptly and without fail, from the royal revenue—that is, from the tribute of Transeuphrates.
- 9 What they need for holocausts to the God of heaven: young bulls, rams and lambs, as also wheat, salt, wine and oil, is to be supplied to them daily, without
- 10 fail, as required by the priests of Jerusalem, so that they may offer acceptable sacrifices to the God of heaven and pray for the lives of the king and his sons.
- 11 I also decree this: If anyone disobeys this edict, a beam is to be torn from his house, he is to be pilloried upright on it and his house is to be made into a dung
- 12 heap for this crime. May the God who causes his name to live there overthrow any king or people who dares to defy this and destroy the Temple of God in Jerusalem! I, Darius, have issued this decree. Let it be obeyed to the letter!"
- 13 Then Tattenai, satrap of Transeuphrates, Shethar-bozenai and their colleagues
- 14 obeyed to the letter the instructions sent by King Darius. The elders of the Jews, for their part, prospered with their building, inspired by Haggai the prophet and Zechariah son of Iddo. They finished the building in accordance with the
- 15 order of the God of Israel and the order of Cyrus and of Darius. This Temple was finished on the twenty-third day of the month of Adar; it was
- 16 the sixth year of the reign of King Darius.^a The Israelites—the priests, the Levites and the remainder of the exiles—joyfully dedicated this Temple of God;
- 17 for the dedication of this Temple of God they offered one hundred bulls, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs and, as a sacrifice for sin for the whole of Israel, twelve he-goats, corresponding to the number of the tribes of Israel.
- 18 Then they installed the priests according to their orders in the service of the Temple of God in Jerusalem, as is written in the Book of Moses.

The Passover of 515 B.C.

- 19 The exiles celebrated the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month.
- 20 The Levites, as one man, had purified themselves; all were pure, so they sacrificed the passover for all the exiles, for their brothers the priests and for themselves.
- 21 The following ate the passover: the Israelites who had returned from exile and all those who, having broken with the impurity of the surrounding peoples,
- 22 joined them to seek Yahweh, the God of Israel. For seven days they joyfully celebrated the feast of Unleavened Bread, for Yahweh had given them cause to rejoice, having moved the heart of the king of Assyria to encourage their work on the Temple of God, the God of Israel.

II. THE ORGANIZATION

OF THE COMMUNITY BY EZRA AND NEHEMIAH

The mission and personality of Ezra

- 1 7 After these events, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of Persia, Ezra son of
- 2 Seraiah, son of Azariah, son of Hilkiah, son of Shallum, son of Zadok, son
- 3 of Ahitub, son of Amariah, son of Azariah, son of Meraioth, son of Zerahiah,
- 4 son of Uzzi, son of Bukki, son of Abishua, son of Phinehas, son of Eleazar,
- 5 son of the chief priest Aaron, this man Ezra came up from Babylon. He was a scribe versed in the Law of Moses, which had been given by Yahweh, the God of Israel. As the favor of his God, Yahweh, was with him, the king gave him all
- 7 he asked. A certain number of Israelites, priests, Levites, cantors, gatekeepers and oblates went up to Jerusalem in the seventh year of the reign of King Artaxerxes. He arrived in Jerusalem in the fifth month: it was the seventh year of the king's reign, for he had decided to depart from Babylon on the first day of the first month, and he arrived in Jerusalem on the first day of the fifth month; the kindly favor of his God was certainly with him. For Ezra had devoted himself to the study of the Law of Yahweh, to practicing it and to teaching Israel its laws and customs.

The edict of Artaxerxes

This is a copy of the document which King Artaxerxes handed to Ezra, the priest-scribe, the scribe who was especially learned in the text of Yahweh's commandments and his laws relating to Israel:

"Artaxerxes, king of kings, to the priest Ezra, scribe of the Law of the God of heaven, perfect peace.

"Here then are my orders: Anyone in my kingdom who is of the people of Israel, of their priests or their Levites and who freely chooses to go to Jerusalem, may go with you. For you are sent by the king and his seven counselors to make an inspection of Judah and Jerusalem according to the Law of your God, which is in your possession, and also to carry the silver and gold which the king and his counselors have voluntarily offered to the God of Israel who dwells in Jerusalem, as well as all the silver and gold you find in the whole province of Babylonia, together with those voluntary offerings given by the people and the priests for the Temple of their God in Jerusalem. Further, with this money take pains to buy bulls, rams and lambs, as well as the oblations and libations which go with them; you must offer them on the altar of the Temple of your God in Jerusalem. The gold and silver left over you may spend as you and your brothers think right, according to the will of your God. Place the vessels that have been given you for the service of the Temple of your God before your God in Jerusalem. For anything else necessary for the Temple of your God, which you may find occasion to provide, you may draw on the royal treasury. I, King Artaxerxes, give this command to all the treasurers of Transeuphrates: Whatever the priest Ezra, scribe of the Law of the God of heaven, may ask of you must be instantly allowed: up to one hundred talents of silver, one hundred measures of wheat, one hundred baths of wine, one hundred baths of oil, and salt as requested. Everything that the God of heaven commands must be carried out zealously for the Temple of the God of heaven, lest the wrath should come on the realm of the king and of his sons. You are also informed that it is forbidden to impose tribute, customs or tolls on any of the priests, Levites, cantors, gatekeepers, oblates; in short, on the servants of this Temple of God.

"And you, Ezra, by virtue of the wisdom of your God, which is in your possession, you are to appoint scribes and judges to administer justice for the whole people of Transeuphrates, that is, for all who know the Law of your God. You must teach those who do not know it. If anyone does not obey the Law of your God—which is the law of the king—let judgment be strictly executed on him: death, banishment, confiscation or imprisonment."

The journey of Ezra from Babylonia to Palestine

Blessed be Yahweh, the God of our ancestors, who moved the king's heart in this way to glorify the Temple of Yahweh in Jerusalem and who won for me the favor of the king, his counselors and all the most powerful of the king's officials. For my part, I took courage, for the favor of Yahweh my God was with me, and I gathered the leading men of Israel together to set out with me.

8 These, with their genealogies, are the heads of families who set out from Babylon with me in the reign of King Artaxerxes:

2 Of the sons of Phinehas: Gershom; of the sons of Ithamar: Daniel; of the sons of David: Hattush son of Shecaniah; of the sons of Parosh: Zechariah,

4 with whom one hundred and fifty males were registered; of the sons of Pahath-5 moab: Eliehoenai son of Zerariah, and with him two hundred males; of the sons of Zattu: Shecaniah son of Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males; 6 of the sons of Adin: Ebed son of Jonathan, and with him fifty males; of the 7 sons of Elam: Jeshaiiah son of Athaliah, and with him seventy males; of the 8 sons of Shephatiah: Zebadiah son of Michael, and with him eighty males; of 9 the sons of Joab: Obadiah son of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and eighteen 10 males; of the sons of Bani: Shelomith son of Josiphiah, and with him a hundred 11 and sixty males; of the sons of Bebai: Zechariah son of Bebai, and with him 12 twenty-eight males; of the sons of Azgad: Johanan son of Hakkatan, and with 13 him a hundred and ten males; of the sons of Adonikam: the younger sons, whose names are: Eliphelet, Jeiel and Shemaiah, and with them sixty 14 males; and of the sons of Bigvai: Uthai son of Zabud, and with him seventy males.

15 I assembled them near the river that runs to Ahava, where we camped for 16 three days. Observing them I saw laymen and priests, but no Levites. So I dispatched Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, 17 Zechariah and Meshullam, men of judgment, and sent them to Iddo, the leading man in the region of Casiphia; I told them the words they were to say to Iddo and his kinsmen, living in the region of Casiphia, to provide 18 us with servants for the Temple of our God. Then, thanks to the kindly favor of our God which was with us, they sent us a capable man, of the sons of Mahli son of Levi son of Israel, Sherebiah with his sons and kinsmen: eighteen men; 19 also Hashabiah and with him his brother Jeshaiiah of the sons of Merari, as 20 well as their sons: twenty men; and of the oblates whom David and his notables had assigned to serve the Levites: two hundred and twenty oblates. All were registered by name.

21 There, beside the river of Ahava, I proclaimed a fast: we were to humble ourselves before our God and pray to him for a successful journey for us, our 22 children and our belongings; since I should have been ashamed to ask the king for an armed guard and cavalry to protect us from an enemy on the road, for we had already told the king, "The hand of our God is held out in blessing over all who seek him, his power and his anger over all who turn away from him." 23 So we fasted, pleading with our God for this favor, and he answered our prayers.

24 I chose twelve of the leading priests, and then Sherebiah and Hashabiah 25 and with them ten of their kinsmen; I weighed out for them the silver, the gold and the vessels, the offerings that the king, his counselors, his nobles and all 26 the Israelites present had presented for the Temple of our God. So I weighed out and handed over to them six hundred and fifty talents of silver, one hundred 27 silver vessels worth two talents, one hundred talents of gold, twenty golden bowls worth a thousand darics and two vessels of fine gilded bronze which 28 were as valuable as gold. I told them, "You are consecrated to Yahweh; these vessels are sacred; the silver and gold are voluntary offerings to Yahweh, the God 29 of your ancestors. Take charge of them and guard them until you weigh them before the leading priests, the Levites and the heads of families of Israel in 30 Jerusalem in the chambers of the Temple of Yahweh." The priests and Levites then took charge of the silver, the gold and the vessels thus weighed, to take them to Jerusalem to the Temple of our God.

31 On the twelfth day of the first month we left the river of Ahava to go to Jerusalem; the favor of our God was with us and protected us on the road from 32 enemies and thieves. We arrived in Jerusalem and stayed there, resting, for 33 three days. On the fourth day the silver, the gold and the vessels were weighed in the Temple of our God and handed over to the priest Meremoth son of Uriah and, with him, Eleazar son of Phinehas; with them were the Levites Jozabad son of Jeshua and Noadiah son of Binnui. Number and weight, all was there. The total weight was put on record.

At that time those who came back from captivity, the exiles, offered holocausts to the God of Israel: twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-two lambs, twelve he-goats for sin; the whole as a holocaust to Yahweh.

The king's instructions were notified to the king's satraps and the governors of Transeuphrates, who then assisted the people and the Temple of God.

The marriages with foreigners dissolved

Once this was done, the leaders approached me to say, "The people of Israel, the priests and the Levites, have not broken with the natives of the countries who are steeped in abominations—Canaanites, Hittites, Perizzites, Jebusites, Ammonites, Moabites, Egyptians and Amorites—but have found wives among these foreign women for themselves and for their sons; the holy race has been mingling with the natives of the countries; in this act of treachery the chief men and officials have led the way." At this news I tore my garment and my cloak; I tore hair from my head and beard and sat down, quite overcome. All who trembled at the words of the God of Israel gathered around me, when faced by this treachery of the exiles. For my part, I went on sitting there, overcome, until the evening oblation. At the evening sacrifice I came out of my stupor and falling on my knees, with my garment and cloak torn, I stretched out my hands to Yahweh my God, and said:

"My God, I am ashamed, I blush to lift my face to you, my God. For our crimes have increased, until they are higher than our heads, and our sin has piled up to heaven. From the days of our ancestors until now our guilt has been great; on account of our crimes we, our kings and our priests, were given into the power of the kings of other countries, given to the sword, to captivity, to pillage and to shame, as is the case today. But now, suddenly, Yahweh our God by his favor has left us a remnant and granted us a refuge in his holy place; this is how our God has cheered our eyes and given us a little respite in our slavery. For we are slaves; but God has not forgotten us in our slavery; he has shown us kindness in the eyes of the kings of Persia, obtaining permission for us to rebuild the Temple of our God and restore its ruins, and he has found us safety and shelter in Judah and in Jerusalem. But now what can we say, my God, if after this kindness we have deserted your commandments, which, through your servants the prophets, you ordained in these words, 'The land you are entering to possess is a land unclean because of the foulness of the natives of the countries and of the abominations with which their impurities have infected it from end to end. So you must not give your daughters to their sons nor take their daughters for your sons; you must not be concerned for their peace or their prosperity, so that you yourselves may grow strong, eat the best of what the country produces and leave it as an inheritance to your sons for ever.'

"Now after all that has come upon us on account of our evil deeds and our great fault—although you, our God, have rated our crimes less than their wickedness and left us this remnant here—are we to break your commandments again and intermarry with these people who practice such abominations? Would you not be provoked to the point of destroying us, so that not even the smallest remnant would survive? Yahweh, God of Israel, by your justice we survive as the remnant we are today; here we are before you with our sin. And because of it, no one can survive in your presence."

While Ezra, weeping and prostrate before the Temple of God, prayed and confessed, a great crowd of Israelites gathered around him, men, women and children, weeping bitterly too. Then Shecaniah son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Elam, spoke up and said to Ezra, "We have betrayed our God by marrying foreign women, taken from the natives of the countries. But, in spite of this, there is still some hope for Israel. We will make a solemn promise before our God to put away our foreign wives and the children born to them, as my lord and those who tremble at the commandment of our God may advise. Let us act in accordance with the Law. Up! This is for you to decide, but we will support you. Take courage; to work!" Then Ezra stood up and put the leading priests and Levites and all Israel on oath to do what had been said. They took the oath. Ezra left his place before the Temple of God and went to the room of Jehohanan son of Eliashib, where he spent the night without eating bread or drinking water; he was in mourning for the exiles' treachery.

A proclamation was issued in Judah and in Jerusalem to all the exiles that they were to assemble in Jerusalem: anyone who did not come within three days—such was the warning of the leaders and elders—would have all his goods seized and would himself be excluded from the community of the exiles. As a result, all the men of Judah and Benjamin assembled in Jerusalem within the three days; it was the ninth month, the twentieth day of the month; all the people gathered in the square before the Temple of God; the occasion itself, and the heavy rain, had them trembling. Then Ezra the priest stood up and spoke, "You have committed treason by marrying foreign women; you have added to the sin of Israel. But now give thanks to Yahweh, the God of your ancestors, and do his will, by separating from the natives of the country and from your foreign wives." In a loud voice the whole assembly answered, "Yes, our duty is to do as you say. But there are a great many people here and it is the rainy season; we cannot stay out in the open; besides, this is not something that can be dealt with in one or two days, since many of us have sinned in this respect. Our leaders could represent the full assembly; all those from our towns who have foreign wives could come at stated times, accompanied by elders and judges from each town, until we have turned away God's anger which has been thus roused against us." Only Jonathan son of Asahel and Jahzeiah son of Tikvah, supported by Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite, were opposed to this procedure. The exiles acted on this suggestion. Ezra the priest chose as helpers the heads of families for each House, all designated by name. The session for investigating individual cases began on the first day of the tenth month. And by the first day of the first month they had dealt with all the men who had married foreign women.

The list of the guilty

Among the members of the priesthood, these are the names of those who were found to have married foreign women: among the sons of Jeshua son of Jozadak and among his brothers: Maaseiah, Eliezer, Jarib and Gedaliah; they pledged their word to put their wives away and, for their sin, offered a ram as a sacrifice of reparation;

among the sons of Immer: Hanani and Zebadiah;

among the sons of Harim: Maaseiah, Elijah, Shemaiah, Jehiel and Uzziyah; among the sons of Pashhur: Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethanel, Jozabad and Elasah.

Among the Levites: Jozabad, Shimei, Kelaiah—that is, Kelita—Pethahiah, Judah, and Eliezer.

Among the cantors: Eliashib and Zaccur.

Among the gatekeepers: Shallum, Telem and Uri.

And among the Israelites:

of the sons of Parosh: Ramiah, Izziah, Malchijah, Mijamin, Eleazar, Malchijah and Benaiah; of the sons of Elam: Mattaniah, Zechariah, Jehiel, Abdi, Jeremoth and Elijah;

of the sons of Zattu: Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, Jeremoth, Zabad and Aziza;

- 28 of the sons of Bebai: Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai, Athlai; 29 of the sons of Bigvai: Meshullam, Malluch, Jedaiah, Jashub, Sheal, Jeremoth; 30 of the sons of Pahath-moab: Adna, Chelal, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezalel, Binnui and Manasseh;
 31 of the sons of Harim: Eliezer, Isshijah, Malchijah, Shemaiah, Shimeon, 32 Benjamin, Malluch, Shemariah; 33 of the sons of Hashum: Mattenai, Mattattah, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasseh, Shimei;
 34 of the sons of Bani: Maadai, Amram, Uel, ·Benaiah, Bediah, Cheluhi, 35 Vaniah, Meremoth, Eliashib, ·Mattaniah, Mattenai and Jaasau; 36 of the sons of Binnui: Shimei, ·Shelemiah, Nathan and Adaiah; 37 of the sons of Zaccai: Shashai, Sharai, ·Azarel, Shelemiah, Shemariah, 38 Shallum, Amariah, Joseph; 39 of the sons of Nebo: Jeiel, Mattithiah, Zabad, Zebina, Jaddai, Joel, Benaiah.
 40 All these had married foreign wives; they put them away, both women and 41 children.

NEHEMIAH

The call of Nehemiah: his mission to Judah

- 1 1 The words of Nehemiah son of Hacaliah. In the month of Chisleu, in the 2 twentieth year of King Artaxerxes,^a when I was in the citadel of Susa, ·one of my kinsmen, Hanani, arrived with some men from Judah. I asked them about the Jews—the remnant rescued from captivity—and about Jerusalem.
 3 “Those who escaped from captivity,” they replied, “who are back there in the province, are in great trouble and humiliation: the walls of Jerusalem are in 4 ruins and its gates burned down.” ·On hearing this I sank down and wept; for several days I mourned, fasting and praying before the God of heaven.
 5 And I said, “Yahweh, God of heaven, great God who must be feared, maintaining covenant and kindness with those who love you and obey your 6 commandments, ·let your ear be listening, and your eyes open, to hear your servant’s prayer. I am making this to you now day and night on behalf of the sons of Israel, your servants; and I confess the sins of the sons of Israel which 7 we have committed against you: I and my father’s House have sinned. ·We have acted very wickedly toward you: we have not kept the commandments, laws 8 and customs you laid down for Moses your servant. ·Remember, I beg you, the charge you gave to Moses your servant: ‘If you prove faithless, I will 9 scatter you among the peoples; ·but if you come back to me and keep my commandments and practice them, even if your outcasts were at the very sky’s end, I would gather them from there and bring them back to the place I have 10 chosen for my name to dwell in.’ ·Now these are your servants, your own people: you have redeemed them with your mighty power and outstretched arm.
 11 O Lord, let your ear be attentive to your servant’s prayer and to the prayer of your servants who delight to reverence your name. I beg you, let your servant be successful today; make him acceptable to this man.”

At that time I was cupbearer to the king.

- 1 2 In the month of Nisan, in the twentieth year of King Artaxerxes,^a the wine 2 being my concern, I took up the wine and offered it to the king. Now I had never been downcast before. ·So the king said, “Why is your face so sad? You are not sick, surely? This must be a sadness of the heart.” A great fear came over 3 me ·and I said to the king, “May the king live for ever! How could my face be other than sad when the city where the tombs of my ancestors are lies in ruins, 4 and its gates have been burned down?” ·“What,” the king asked, “is your request?” 5 I called on the God of heaven ·and made this reply to the king, “If it pleases the king, and if you are satisfied with your servant, give me leave to go to Judah, to the city of my ancestors' tombs, and rebuild it." The king, with the queen sitting there beside him, said, "How long will your journey take, and when will you return?" So I named a date that seemed acceptable to the king and he gave me leave to go. I spoke to the king once more, "If it please the king, could letters be given me for the governors of Transeuphrates to allow me to pass through to Judah? And also a letter for Asaph, keeper of the king's park, to supply me with timber for the gates of the citadel of the Temple, for the city walls and for the house I am to occupy?" This the king granted me, for the kindly favor of my God was with me.

So I traveled to the governors of Transeuphrates, and handed them the king's letters. The king had given me an escort of army officers and cavalry.

When Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite slave^b came to know of this, they were much displeased that anyone should come to promote the welfare of the sons of Israel.

The decision to rebuild the walls of Jerusalem

And so I reached Jerusalem and stayed there for three days. Then I rose in the night, with a few other men, not having told anyone what work God had inspired me to do for Jerusalem, and having no animal with me but my own mount. At night, therefore, leaving by the Valley Gate, I went by way of the Well of the Dragon to the Dung Gate; I examined the walls of Jerusalem with their gaps and burned-out gates. I went on to the Fountain Gate and the King's Pool, but found no further path for my mount. So I returned, in the dark, through the wadi, still examining the walls, and came in again by the Valley Gate. And so I returned without the officials knowing where I had gone or what I was doing. So far I had said nothing to the Jews: either to the priests, the authorities, the officials or any other responsible persons. Then I said to them, "You see the trouble we are in: Jerusalem is in ruins, its gates have been burned down. Come, let us rebuild the walls of Jerusalem and suffer this indignity no longer." And I told them how the kindly favor of God had been with me, and also repeated the words the king had said to me. "Let us start!" they exclaimed, "Let us build!"; and with willing hands they set about the good work.

When Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite slave, and Geshem the Arab came to know of this, they ridiculed us, and came and asked, "What are you doing? Are you planning to revolt against the king?" But I gave them this answer, "The God of heaven will give us success. We, his servants, are going to build; you have neither share nor rights nor memorial in Jerusalem."

The volunteer builders

3 Eliashib the high priest and his brother priests set about building the Sheep Gate; they constructed its framework and set its doors, bolts and bars in place, and proceeded as far as the Tower of Hananel. The men of Jericho built next to them; Zaccur son of Imri built next to them. The sons of Hassenaah built the Fish Gate; they constructed its framework and set its doors, bolts and bars in place. Meremoth son of Uriah, son of Hakkoz carried out repairs next to them; Meshullam son of Berechiah, son of Meshezabel carried out repairs next to him. The men of Tekoa carried out repairs next to him, though their chiefs refused to bow their necks and work for their lords. Joiada son of Paseah and Meshullam son of Besodeiah repaired the gate of the new quarter^a: they constructed its framework and set its doors, bolts and bars in 7 place. Next to them repairs were carried out by Melatiah of Gibeon and Jadon of Meronoth, and also by the men of Gibeon and Mizpah, on behalf of the 8 governors of Transeuphrates. Next to them repairs were carried out by Uzziel, a member of the goldsmiths' guild, and next to him repairs were carried out by Hananiah, of the perfumers' guild: they strengthened Jerusalem as far as 9 the Wall of the Square. Next to them repairs were carried out by Rephaiah 10 son of Hur, ruler of half the district of Jerusalem. Next to them Jedaiah son of Harumaph carried out repairs opposite his own house; next to him repairs 11 were carried out by Hattush son of Hashabneiah. Malchijah son of Harim and Hasshub son of Pahath-moab repaired the next section as far as the Tower 12 of the Furnaces. Next to them repairs were carried out by Shallum son of 13 Hallohesh, ruler of half the district of Jerusalem, by him and his sons. Hanun and the inhabitants of Zanoah repaired the Valley Gate; they restored it, constructed its framework and set its doors, bolts and bars in place, and repaired 14 a thousand cubits of wall up to the Dung Gate. Malchijah son of Rechab, ruler of the district of Beth-hac-cherem, repaired the Dung Gate, he and his sons: he set its doors, bolts and bars in place.

15 Shallum son of Col-hozeh, ruler of the district of Mizpah, repaired the Fountain Gate; he restored it, covered it, and set its doors, bolts and bars in place. He also rebuilt the wall of the conduit cistern, adjoining the king's garden, 16 as far as the steps coming down from the Citadel of David. Next to him, Nehemiah son of Azbuk, ruler of half the district of Beth-zur, carried out repairs up to a point opposite the tombs of David, the artificial pool and the House 17 of Heroes.^b Next to him repairs were carried out by the Levites: Rehum son of Bani; next to him Hashabiah, ruler of half the district of Keilah, carried out 18 repairs for his own district. Next to him repairs were carried out by their 19 brothers: Binnui son of Henadad, ruler of half the district of Keilah; next to him, Ezer son of Jeshua, ruler of Mizpah, repaired another section opposite the slope up to the Armory, toward the Angle.

20 Next to him Baruch son of Zabbai repaired another section from the Angle as 21 far as the door of the house of Eliashib the high priest. Next to him Meremoth son of Uriah, son of Hakkoz repaired another section from the door of Eliashib's 22 house to its farther end. Next to him repairs were carried out by the priests 23 who lived locally in the country. Next to them repairs were carried out by Benjamin and Hasshub, opposite their own houses. Next to them repairs were carried out by Azariah son of Maaseiah, son of Ananiah, beside his own house.
 24 Next to him Binnui son of Henadad repaired another section from the house of 25 Azariah as far as the Angle. Next to him Palal son of Uzai carried out repairs opposite the corner of the tower jutting out over the upper palace of the king and standing in the prison courtyard. Next to him Pedaiah son of Parosh 26 carried out repairs as far as the Water Gate, in an easterly direction and up to a point opposite the projecting tower. Next to him the men of Tekoa 27 repaired another section opposite the great projecting tower as far as the wall of Ophel.

28 From the Horse Gate onward repairs were carried out by the priests, each 29 opposite his own house. Next to them repairs were carried out by Zadok son of Immer opposite his own house. Next to him repairs were carried out by 30 Shemaiah son of Shecaniah, keeper of the East Gate. Next to him Hananiah son of Shelemiah and Hanun sixth son of Zalaph repaired another section.
 Next to him repairs were carried out by Meshullam son of Berechiah opposite 31 where he lived. Next to him Malchijah, of the goldsmiths' guild, repaired as 30 far as the quarters of the oblates and of the merchants, opposite the Watch 32 Gate as far as the high chamber of the corner. And between the high chamber 37 of the corner and the Sheep Gate repairs were carried out by the goldsmiths and the merchants.

The effect on the Jews' opponents

³³ When Sanballat heard that we were rebuilding the walls he flew into a rage, ^{4:1} beside himself with anger. He ridiculed the Jews and in front of his kinsmen ³⁴ and the wealthy men of Samaria he exclaimed, "What are these pathetic Jews ² trying to do? . . . Do they expect to finish in one day? Do they think they can put new life into these charred stones, salvaged from the heaps of rubble?" ³⁵ Tobiah the Ammonite was standing beside him. "Let them build," he said, ³⁶ "a jackal jumping on their wall will soon knock the stones down again." "See, ⁴ our God, how we are despised! Make their sneers fall back on their own heads.
³⁷ Give them over to shame in a land of exile. Do not hide their guilt or let their ⁵ sin be blotted out before you, for heaping insults on the builders.

³⁸ Meanwhile we were rebuilding the wall which was soon finished all the way ⁶ round to mid-height, since the people put their hearts into the work.

¹ 4 When news reached Sanballat, Tobiah, the Arabs, the Ammonites and the ⁷ Ashdodites, that repairs to the walls of Jerusalem were going forward—since ⁸ the gaps were beginning to be made good—they were furious, and conspired together to come and attack Jerusalem and upset my plans.

⁹ Then we called on our God and set a watch against them, day and night, ¹⁰ to guard the city. Judah, however, was saying, "The strength of the carriers is failing and the amount of rubble enormous; we shall never finish the wall." ⁵ And our enemies were saying, "We will appear among them before they know or see anything; then we will cut them down and put an end to the business." ⁶ Now on ten occasions Jews who lived near them gave us warning, "They are ¹² coming up against us from every place they live in." So we took up positions ¹³ down behind the wall where the place was clear; I posted the people by ⁸ families with their swords, spears and bows. I had seen their fear and ¹⁴ I stood up and addressed the authorities, the officials and the rest of the people, "Do not be afraid of them. Keep your minds on the Lord, who is great and to be feared, and fight for your kinsmen, your sons, your daughters, your wives ⁹ and your homes." Learning, however, that we were forewarned, and that God ¹⁵ had thwarted their plan, our enemies withdrew, and we all went back, everyone to his work on the wall.

¹⁶ But from that day onward only half of my men continued the work; the rest, with spears, shields, bows and breastplates, stood behind all the House ¹¹ of Judah who were building the wall. The carriers, too, were armed so that each did his work with one hand while gripping his weapon with the other.
¹² And as each builder worked, he wore his sword at his side. Beside me stood a ¹⁸ trumpeter. I addressed the authorities, the officials and the rest of the people, ¹³ "The work is important and extensive, and we are deployed along the wall at ²⁰ some distance from each other. Rally around us wherever you hear the trumpet ¹⁵ sounding, and our God will fight for us." So we went on with the work from ²¹ break of day till the stars appeared. Then I spoke to the people again, "Let ¹⁹ each man, with his servant, spend the night inside Jerusalem: in this way we can ²² employ the night in watching and the day in working." But none of us, neither ¹⁷ myself, my kinsmen, my servants, nor the members of my personal guard, ever took off our clothes; every man kept his weapon to hand.

The social problems of Nehemiah. He vindicates his administration

¹ 5 The ordinary people and their wives began complaining loudly against their ² brother Jews. Some said, "We are having to barter our sons and daughters ³ to get enough corn to eat and keep us alive." Others said, "We are having to mortgage our fields, our vineyards, our houses to get corn during the famine." ⁴ Still others said, "We have had to borrow money on our fields and our vineyards ⁵ to pay the king's tax; and though we are of the same flesh as our brothers, and our children as good as theirs, we are having to sell our sons and our daughters into slavery; some of our daughters have even been raped! We can do nothing about it, since our fields and our vineyards are now the property of others."

3 a. Called "the gate of Ephraim" in Ne. 12:39. b. Once the barracks of the king's body-guard.

6 When I heard their complaints and these words I was very angry. Having turned the matter over in my mind, I reprimanded the authorities and officials. "What a burden you impose," I said, "every one of you on his brother!" 7 Summoning a great assembly to deal with them, I said to them, "To the best of our power, we have redeemed our brother Jews who had been sold to foreigners, and now you in turn are selling our brothers for us to redeem them!" 8 They were silent and could find nothing to say. "What you are doing," I went on, "is wrong. Do you not want to walk in the fear of our God and escape the sneers of the nations, our enemies? I too, my kinsmen, and my servants have lent them money and corn. Let us cancel this debt. Return them their fields, their vineyards, their olive groves and their houses forthwith, and remit the debt on the money, corn, wine and oil which you have lent them." "We will make restitution," they replied, "we will claim nothing more from them; we will do as you say." At once I summoned the priests and made them swear to do as they had promised. Then I shook out the lap of my gown with the words, "May God do this, and shake out of his house and property any man who does not keep this promise; may he be shaken out like this and left empty!" And the whole assembly answered, "Amen," and gave praise to Yahweh. And the people kept this promise.

14 What is more, from the day the king appointed me governor in the land of Judah, from the twentieth to the thirty-second year of King Artaxerxes, for twelve years, neither I nor my kinsmen ever ate governor's bread.^a Now the former governors, my predecessors, had been a burden on the people, from whom they took forty silver shekels each day as their subsistence allowance, while their servants oppressed the people too. But I, fearing God, never did this.

16 And furthermore I worked on this wall all the time, though I owned no land; and my servants also were all employed on the work.

17 Leaders and officials to the number of a hundred and fifty ate at my table, not to mention those who came to us from the surrounding nations. Every day, one ox, six fine sheep, and poultry, were prepared at my expense; every ten days skins of wine were brought in bulk. But even so, I never claimed the governor's subsistence allowance, since the people already had burden enough to bear.

19 In my favor, my God, remember all I have done for this people.

The intrigues of Nehemiah's enemies. The wall is finished

1 6 When Sanballat, Tobiah, Geshem the Arab and our other enemies heard that I had rebuilt the wall and that not a single gap was left—though at that time I had not fixed the doors to the gates—Sanballat and Geshem sent me a message, "Come and meet us at Hac-chepirim in the Vale of Ono." Now they intended some harm to me. So I sent messengers to them to say, "I am engaged in a great undertaking and so cannot come down. The work would come to a halt if I left it to come down to you." Four times they sent me the same invitation and I made them the same reply. The fifth time, with the same purpose in mind, Sanballat sent me his servant bearing an open letter. It ran, "There is a rumor among the nations, so Gashmu^a says, that you and the Jews are thinking of rebelling, which is why you are building the wall; that you yourself are to become their king; that you have even briefed prophets in your own interest in Jerusalem to proclaim: 'Judah has a king.' These rumors will soon be reaching the king; so you had better come and talk things over with us." To this, however, I replied, "As regards what you say, nothing of the

- ⁹ sort has occurred; it is a figment of your own imagination." "For they were trying to frighten us, thinking, "Their hands will tire of the work, and it will never be finished." But I meanwhile was making my hands even stronger.
- ¹⁰ I had been to visit Shemaiah son of Delaiah, son of Mehetabel, since he was prevented from coming to me. He said:

"Let us meet at the Temple of God, in the innermost part of the sanctuary;
let us shut the sanctuary doors, for they are coming to kill you, they are coming to kill you tonight."

- ¹¹ But I retorted, "Is a man like me to run away? A man in my position to go ¹² into the sanctuary to save his life? I will not go." I realized that God had not sent him to say this, but that he had pronounced this oracle over me because Tobiah ¹³ was paying him to frighten me into doing this, and so committing a sin as a result of which they would have been able to blacken my reputation and ridicule ¹⁴ me. Remember Tobiah, my God, for what he has done; and Noadiah the prophetess, and the other prophets who tried to frighten me.
- ¹⁵ The wall was finished within fifty-two days, on the twenty-fifth of Elul.^b ¹⁶ When all our enemies heard about it, and all the surrounding nations had seen it, they were deeply impressed and acknowledged that this work had been accomplished by the power of our God.
- ¹⁷ During this same period several of the authorities of Judah kept sending letter ¹⁸ after letter to Tobiah, and letters from Tobiah kept arriving for them; for he had many sworn to his interest in Judah, since he was son-in-law to Shecaniah son of Arah, and his son Jehohanan had married the daughter of Meshullam ¹⁹ son of Berechiah. They even cried up his good deeds in my presence, and they reported what I said back to him. And Tobiah kept on sending letters to frighten me.
- ¹ 7 When the wall had been rebuilt and I had set the doors in place, keepers ² were appointed for the gates (besides cantors and Levites). I entrusted the administration of Jerusalem to my brother Hanani, and to Hananiah the commander of the citadel, for he was a trustworthy man and God-fearing above the ³ ordinary. I said to them, "The gates of Jerusalem must not be opened until the sun gets hot; and you are to shut and bar the doors while it is still high; and detail guard pickets from the inhabitants of Jerusalem, some for the lookout posts, and others for duty outside their own houses."

The repopulation of Jerusalem

- ⁴ The city was large and spacious but the population was small, and no new ⁵ families were growing up. My God therefore inspired me to assemble the authorities, the officials and the people for the purpose of taking a census by families. I discovered the genealogical register of those who had returned in the first group, and there I found entered:

A list of first exiles to return

- ⁶ These are the people of the province who returned from captivity and exile.
After being deported by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, they returned to ⁷ Jerusalem and to Judah, each to his own town. They arrived with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Bigvai, Nehum, Baanah.

 54 of Hatipha.

57 The sons of Solomon's slaves: sons of Sotai, sons of Sophereth, sons of 58 Perida, 'sons of Jaala, sons of Darkon, sons of Giddel, 'sons of Shephatiah, 59 sons of Hattil, sons of Pochereth-haz-zebaim, sons of Amon. 'The total of the 60 oblates and the sons of Solomon's slaves: three hundred and ninety-two.

61 The following, who came from Tel-melah, Tel-harsha, Cherub, Addon and 62 Immer, could not prove that their families and ancestry were of Israelite origin: 63 sons of Delaiah, sons of Tobiah, sons of Nekoda: six hundred and forty-two.

63 And among the priests: sons of Hobaiah, sons of Hakkoz, sons of Barzillai—who 64 had married one of the daughters of Barzillai, the Gileadite, whose name he 65 adopted. 'These people searched in their ancestral registers but could not be 66 located in them, so they were excluded from the priesthood as unclean, 'and 67 His Excellency forbade them to eat the sacred foods until a priest could be found 68 for the Urim and Thummim.

66 The whole assembly numbered forty-two thousand three hundred and sixty 67 people, 'not counting their slaves and maidservants to the number of seven 68 thousand three hundred and thirty-seven. They also had two hundred and 69 forty-five male and female singers. 'They had (seven hundred and thirty-six horses, two hundred and forty-five mules) four hundred and thirty-five camels and six thousand seven hundred and twenty donkeys.

69 A certain number of heads of families gave offerings for the building. His Excellency contributed one thousand gold drachmas, fifty bowls, thirty priestly robes and five hundred (silver minas) to the fund. 70 And heads of families gave twenty thousand gold drachmas and two thousand two hundred silver 71 minas to the building fund. The gifts made by the rest of the people amounted to twenty thousand gold drachmas, two thousand silver minas, and sixty-seven priestly robes.

72a The priests, Levites and part of the people settled in Jerusalem; the gate-keepers, cantors, oblates and all the other Israelites, in their own towns.

Judaism is born. Ezra reads the Law. The feast of Tabernacles 72b 1 When the seventh month came, 8 all the people gathered as one man on the square before the Water Gate. They asked Ezra the scribe to bring the Book 2 of the Law of Moses which Yahweh had prescribed for Israel. Accordingly Ezra the priest brought the Law before the assembly, consisting of men, women, and children old enough to understand. This was the first day of the seventh 3 month. On the square before the Water Gate, in the presence of the men and women, and children old enough to understand, he read from the book from early morning till noon; all the people listened attentively to the Book of the Law.

4 Ezra the scribe stood on a wooden dais erected for the purpose; beside him stood, on his right, Mattithiah, Shema, Anaiiah, Uriah, Hilkiah and Maaseiah; on his left, Pedaiah, Mishael, Malchijah, Hashum, Hashbaddanah, Zechariah, 5 and Meshullam. In full view of all the people—since he stood higher than all the people—Ezra opened the book; and when he opened it all the people stood 6 up. Then Ezra blessed Yahweh the great God, and all the people raised their hands and answered, "Amen! Amen!"; then they bowed down and, face to the 7 ground, prostrated themselves before Yahweh. (Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabab, Hanan, Pelaiah, who were Levites, explained the Law to the people while the people 8 remained standing.) And Ezra read from the Law of God, translating and giving the sense, so that the people understood what was read.

9 Then (Nehemiah—His Excellency—and) Ezra, priest and scribe (and the Levites who were instructing the people) said to all the people, "This day is sacred to Yahweh your God. Do not be mournful, do not weep." For the people were all in tears as they listened to the words of the Law.

10 He then said, "Go, eat the fat, drink the sweet wine, and send a portion to the man who has nothing prepared ready. For this day is sacred to our Lord. 11 Do not be sad: the joy of Yahweh is your stronghold." And the Levites calmed all the people, saying, "Be at ease; this is a sacred day. Do not be sad." And 12 all the people went off to eat and drink and give shares away and begin to enjoy themselves since they had understood the meaning of what had been proclaimed to them.

13 On the second day the heads of families of the whole people, and the priests 14 and Levites, gathered around Ezra the scribe to study the words of the Law. And written in the Law that Yahweh had prescribed through Moses they found this, "The sons of Israel are to live in shelters during the feast of the seventh month." 15 As soon as they heard this, they issued a proclamation in all their towns and in Jerusalem: "Go into the hills and bring branches of olive, pine, myrtle, palm 16 and other leafy trees to make shelters, as it says in the book." The people went; they brought back branches and made themselves shelters, each man on his own 17 roof, in their courtyards, in the precincts of the Temple of God, on the square of the Water Gate and the square of the Gate of Ephraim. The whole assembly, all who had returned from captivity, put up shelters and lived in them; the sons of Israel had never done such a thing from the days of Joshua son of Nun till the present.^a And there was great merrymaking.

¹⁸ Each day, from the first day to the last, Ezra read from the Book of the Law of God. They celebrated the feast for seven days; on the eighth day, as prescribed, there was a solemn assembly.

The ceremony of atonement

¹ 9 On the twenty-fourth day of this month the Israelites, in sackcloth and with ² dust on their heads, assembled for a fast. Those of Israelite stock separated themselves from all those of foreign origin; they stood confessing their sins and ³ the transgressions of their ancestors. (Standing, each man in his right position, they read from the Book of the Law of Yahweh their God for one quarter of the day; for another quarter they confessed their sins and prostrated themselves ⁴ before Yahweh their God.)^a (On the Levites' platform stood Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani and Chenani, calling loudly to ⁵ Yahweh their God; and the Levites, Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah and Pethahiah said, "Arise and bless Yahweh our God.")

Blessed be you, Yahweh our God, from everlasting to everlasting.
 And blessed be your name of glory that surpasses all blessing and praise.

⁶ Yahweh, you are the only one.
 You made the heavens, the heaven of heavens, with all their array, the earth and all it bears, the seas and all they hold.
 To all of these you give life and the array of the heavens bows down before you.

⁷ Yahweh, you are the God who chose Abram, brought him out from Ur in Chaldaeae, and gave him the name of Abraham.
⁸ Finding him faithful of heart before you, you made a covenant with him, to give him the land of the Canaanite, of the Hittite and Amorite, of the Perizzite, Jebusite, Girgashite, to him and his posterity.
 And you kept your promise because you are just.

⁹ You saw the distress of our fathers in Egypt, you heard their cry by the Sea of Reeds.
¹⁰ You worked portents and miracles against Pharaoh, against his servants and all the people of his land;
 for you knew how they treated them with arrogance.
 You won a reputation which you keep to this day.
¹¹ You divided the sea in front of them:
 they passed through the deep sea dry-shod.
 Into the depths you hurled their pursuers like a stone into rushing waters.
¹² With a pillar of cloud you led them by day, with a pillar of fire by night:
 to light the way ahead of them
 by which they should go.

- 13 You came down on Mount Sinai and spoke with them from heaven; you gave them ordinances that are just, laws that are sure,
good statutes and commandments;
- 14 you taught them to know your holy sabbath, laid down for them commandments (statutes) and Law through Moses your servant.
- 15 For their hunger you gave them bread from heaven, for their thirst you brought them water spurting from the rock.
You bade them go in and take possession of the land that you had sworn to give to them.
- 16 But our fathers grew proud, were obstinate, and flouted your commands.
- 17 They refused to obey, forgetful of the wonders that you had worked for them; they became obstinate, they even thought of going back to Egypt and their slavery.
But you are a God of forgiveness, gracious and loving, slow to anger, abounding in goodness,
you did not forsake them.
- 18 When they cast themselves a calf out of molten metal and said, "This is your God who brought you up from Egypt" (and were guilty of grave blasphemies),
- 19 you, so greatly loving, still did not forsake them in the wilderness:
the pillar of cloud did not leave them that led them on their path by day, nor the pillar of fire by night,
to light the way ahead of them
by which they should go.
- 20 You gave them your good spirit to make them wise, you did not withhold your manna from their mouths, you gave them water for their thirst.
- 21 Forty years you cared for them in the wilderness:
they went short of nothing, their clothes did not wear out, their feet were not swollen.
- 22 You gave to them kingdoms and peoples, allotted them these as frontier regions; they occupied the land of Sihon king of Heshbon, and of Og king of Bashan.
- 23 You multiplied their sons

8 a. Ho. 12:10 seems to attest this feast in the 8th century. According to 2 Ch. 7:8;8:13, it was celebrated from the time of Solomon.

9 a. This gloss makes the gathering resemble the liturgical penitential gatherings of the Chronicler's own day.

as the stars of heaven and led them to the land that you had told their fathers to enter and possess.

24 The sons invaded and conquered the land, and before them you humbled the land's inhabitants, the Canaanites, whom you gave into their hands;
with their kings and the population of that country, to be treated just as they pleased; 25 they captured fortified towns and a fertile countryside, took possession of houses stocked with all kinds of goods, of cisterns ready-hewn, of vineyards and olive groves, of fruit trees in profusion;
they ate, ate their fill, regaling themselves on the good things you lavished on them.

26 But, disobedient as they were and rebellious toward you, they thrust the Law behind their backs, they killed the prophets who admonished them to bring them back to you (and were guilty of grave blasphemies).

27 So you delivered them into the hands of their oppressors who oppressed them.

In the days of their oppression they cried to you, and from heaven you heard them and, greatly loving, you granted them saviors who freed them from the hands of their oppressors.

28 But, once at peace, again they did wrong before you and you gave them over to the hands of their enemies who treated them tyrannically.

And once more they cried to you and from heaven you heard them:
how often are you, so loving, to deliver them?

29 You admonished them to bring them back to your Law; but they grew proud, they did not obey your commandments, they sinned against your ordinances in which a man finds life if he observes them; they shrugged their shoulders, they were obstinate, they would not obey.

30 You were patient with them for many years;
you admonished them by your spirit through your prophets, but they would not listen.

You delivered them then into the hands of the natives of the countries.

31 But, greatly loving, you did not make an end of them,
you did not forsake them,
for you are a gracious and a loving God.

32 Now therefore, our God, great and mighty God who must be feared, maintaining your covenant and your kindness, count as no small thing this misery that has happened to us, our kings, our leaders, our priests, our prophets, and all your people from the time of the kings of Assyria to the present day.

33 You have been just in all that has happened to us, for you have shown your faithfulness, we our wickedness:
34 our kings, our leaders, our priests and our fathers have not kept your Law, they have been unmindful of your commandments and the warnings that you gave them.
35 While they were in their kingdom with the good things you lavished on them, in the wide and fertile land that you had set before them, they did not renounce their evil deeds.
36 Here are we now, enslaved; here in the land you gave our fathers to enjoy its fruits and its good things, we are slaves.
37 Its rich fruits swell the profit of the kings whom for our sins you have set over us, who dispose as they please of our bodies and our cattle.
Such the distress we endure!

A record of the promises made by the community^a 38 10 . . . As a result of all this we make a firm agreement, in writing. Our leaders, our Levites, and our priests have put their names to the document under seal . . .

2 On the sealed document were the names of: Nehemiah son of Hacaliah, 11 and Zedekiah, Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah, Pashhur, Amariah, Malchijah, 3,4 Hattush, Shebaniah, Malluch, Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah, Daniel, Ginnethon, 5-7 Baruch, Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin, Maaziah, Bilgai, Shemaiah: these are 4-6 the priests.
7,8

10 Then the Levites: Jeshua son of Azaniah, Binnui of the sons of Henadad, 11 Kadmiel, and their kinsmen Shebaniah, Hodaviah, Kelita, Pelaiah, Hanan, 12-14 Mica, Rehob, Hashabiah, Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah, Hodiah, Bani, Chenani.
15-17

14-15 The leaders of the people: Parosh, Pahath-moab, Elam, Zattu, Bani, Bunni, 17-19 Azgad, Bebai, Adonijah, Bigvai, Adin, Ater, Hezekiah, Azzur, Hodiah, 16-18 Hashum, Bezai, Hariph, Anathoth, Nebai, Magpiash, Meshullam, Hezir, 19-20 Meshezabel, Zadok, Jaddua, Pelatiah, Hanan, Anaiah, Hoshea, Hananiah, 20-21 Hasshub, Hallohesh, Pilha, Shobek, Rehum, Hashabnah, Maaseiah, Ahiah, 21-23 Hanan, Anan, Malluch, Harim, Baanah.
22-24

25-27 . . . But also the rest of the people, priests and Levites—gatekeepers, cantors, 28 oblates—in short, all who have broken with the natives of the countries to 29 adhere to the Law of God; as also their wives, sons and daughters, all those 30 who are old enough to understand, join with their kinsmen and leaders and 29 undertake, under curse and oath, to walk according to the Law of God given through Moses, the servant of God, and to observe and practice all the commandments of Yahweh our Lord, his customs and his laws.

31 In particular: we will not give our daughters to the natives of the land 30 nor take their daughters for our sons.

32 If the natives of the land bring goods or any foodstuff whatever to sell 37 on the sabbath day, we will buy nothing from them on sabbath or holy day.

10 a. During Nehemiah's second mission, described in ch. 13, he had to correct various religious abuses; this is an official report of the community's undertaking to reform though the Chronicler has linked it with the reading of the Law, ch. 8-9.

We will forgo the fruits of the soil in the seventh year, and all debts.

³³ We recognize the following obligations:

to give one third of a shekel yearly for the liturgical requirements of the Temple of our God: for the loaves set out, for the perpetual oblation, for the perpetual holocaust, for the sacrifices on sabbaths, on New Moon feasts and on solemnities, for sacred foods, for sacrifices for sin to atone for Israel; in short, for all the services of the Temple of our God;

³⁶ and further, to bring yearly to the Temple of our God the first fruits of our soil and the first fruits of every fruit of every tree, also the first-born of our sons and of our cattle, as is written in the Law—those first-born of our herds

³⁷ and flocks taken to the Temple of our God being intended for the priests officiating in the Temple of our God. Furthermore, we will bring to the priests, to the chambers of the Temple of our God, the best of our meal, the fruit of every tree, new wine and oil; and to the Levites the tithe on our soil—the Levites themselves will collect the tithes from all our agricultural towns; a priest, a son of Aaron, is to accompany the Levites when they collect the tithes, and the Levites will pay a tenth part of the tithes into the Temple of our God, into the treasury offices; since these rooms are where the Israelites and the Levites bring the contributions of corn, wine and oil, and where the supplies are kept for the sanctuary, the officiating priests, the gatekeepers and cantors.

³⁸ Furthermore, as regards deliveries of wood for burning on the altar of our God as is written in the Law, we have arranged, by drawing lots among the priests, Levites and people, that these deliveries are to be made at the Temple of our God by each family in turn at stated times every year.

³⁹ We will no longer neglect the Temple of our God.

The repopulation policy of Nehemiah. Various lists

¹ 11 . . . Then the leaders of the people settled in Jerusalem. The rest of the people drew lots: one man in ten was to come and live in Jerusalem, the holy city, while the remaining nine were to stay in their towns. And the people blessed all those who volunteered to live in Jerusalem.

² These are the provincial leaders who settled in Jerusalem—and those who settled in the towns of Judah. So Israel, the priests, the Levites, the oblates and the sons of Solomon's slaves, made their homes in their appropriate towns, each man on his own property.

The Jewish population in Jerusalem

³ In Jerusalem there lived some of the sons of Judah and some of the sons of Benjamin.

Of the sons of Judah: Athaiah son of Uziah, son of Zechariah, son of Amariah, son of Shephatiah, son of Mehalalel, of the descendants of Perez; Maaseiah son of Baruch, son of Col-hozeh, son of Hazaiah, son of Adaiiah, son of Joiarib, son of Zechariah, descendant of Shelah. The total number of the descendants of Perez living in Jerusalem was four hundred and sixty-eight adult men.

⁵ Joel son of Zichri was in charge of them, and Judah son of Hassenuah was second in command of the city.

⁶ Of the priests: Jedaiah son of Joiakim, son of Seraiah, son of Hilkiyah, son of Meshullam, son of Zadok, son of Meraioth, son of Ahitub, prefect of the Temple of God, and his kinsmen who were responsible for the Temple liturgy: eight hundred and twenty-two; Adaiiah son of Jeroham, son of Pelaliah, son of Amzi, son of Zechariah, son of Pashhur, son of Malchijah, and his kinsmen, heads of families: two hundred and forty-two; and Amashai son of Azarel, son of Ahzai, son of Meshillemoth, son of Immer, and his kinsmen, adult men: one hundred and twenty-eight.

Zabdiel son of Haggadol was in charge of them.

¹⁵ Of the Levites: Shemaiah son of Hasshub, son of Azrikam, son of Hashabiah, ¹⁶ son of Bunni; ·Shabbethai and Jozabad, the levitical leaders responsible for ¹⁷ the outside work of the Temple of God; ·Mattaniah son of Mica, son of Zabdi, son of Asaph, who directed the hymns and, at prayer, intoned the thanksgiving; Bakbukiah, the second in rank among his kinsmen; Obadiah son of Shammua, ¹⁸ son of Galal, son of Jeduthun. ·The total number of Levites in the holy city:
 two hundred and eighty-four.

¹⁹ The gatekeepers: Akkub, Talmon and their kinsmen, who kept watch at the gates: one hundred and seventy-two.

Supplementary notes

²¹ The oblates lived at Ophel; Ziha and Gishpa were in charge of the oblates.
²² —The head of the Levites in Jerusalem was Uzzi son of Bani, son of Hashabiah, son of Mattaniah, son of Mica; he belonged to the sons of Asaph who were ²³ responsible for the chanted parts of the liturgy in the Temple of God; ·there was a royal decree relating to the cantors, embodying regulations for their ²⁴ attendance day by day.—Pethahiah son of Meshezabel, belonging to the sons of Zerah son of Judah, was the king's commissioner for all such matters as concerned the people.

²⁰ The rest of the Israelites, priests and Levites made their homes throughout ²⁵ the towns of Judah, each man in his own inheritance, ·and in the hamlets situated in rural districts of their own.

The Jewish population outside Jerusalem

Some of the sons of Judah made their homes in Kiriath-arba and its outlying villages, in Dibon and its outlying villages, in Jekabzeel and its outlying hamlets, ²⁶ in Jeshua, Moladah, Beth-pelet, ·Hazar-shual, in Beersheba and its villages, ²⁷ in Ziklag, in Meconah and its villages, ·in Enrimmon, Zorah, Jarmuth, ·Zanoah, ²⁸ Adullam and their hamlets, Lachish and its countryside, Azekah and its villages:
²⁹ thus, they settled from Beersheba as far as the Valley of Hinnom.

³⁰ Some of the sons of Benjamin made their homes in Geba, Michmash, Aija, ³¹ in Bethel and its villages, ·Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah, ·Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim, ³² Hadid, Zeboim, Neballat, ·Lod and Ono, and the Valley of the Craftsmen.

³³ Some groups of Levites settled in Judah as well as in Benjamin.

Priests and Levites who returned under Zerubbabel and Jeshua

¹ 12 These are the priests and the Levites who came back with Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua:

² Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra, ·Amariah, Malluch, Hattush, ·Shecaniah, Harim, ³ Meremoth, ·Iddo, Ginnethoi, Abijah, ·Mijamin, Maadiah, Bilgah, ·Shemaiah; ⁴ also: Joiarib, Jedaiah, ·Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, Jedaiah.

⁵ And the Levites: Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, Mattaniah—⁶ this last, with his kinsmen, directed the hymns of thanksgiving ·while Bakbukiah, ⁷ Unno and their kinsmen in their respective orders formed an alternate choir.

⁸ These were the heads of the priests and of their kinsmen in the days of Jeshua.

Genealogical list of high priests

⁹ Jeshua was the father of Joiakim, Joiakim father of Eliashib, Eliashib father ¹⁰ of Joiada, ·Joiada father of Johanan, and Johanan father of Jaddua.

Priests and Levites in the time of the High Priest Joiakim

¹¹ In the days of Joiakim the heads of the priestly families were: family of ¹² Seraiah, Meraiah; of Jeremiah, Hananiah; ·of Ezra, Meshullam; of Amariah, ¹³ Jehohanan; ·of Malluchi, Jonathan; of Shebaniah, Joseph; ·of Harim, Adna; ¹⁴ of Meremoth, Helkai; ·of Iddo, Zechariah; of Ginnethon, Meshullam; ·of ¹⁵

18 Abijah, Zichri; of Miniامين, . . . ; of Moadiah, Piltai; of Bilgah, Shammua; 19 of Shemaiah, Jehonathan; also: of Joiarib, Mattenai; of Jedaiah, Uzzi; of 20 Sallai, Kallai; of Amok, Eber; of Hilkiah, Hashabiah; of Jedaiah, Nethanel.
 21 In the days of Eliashib, Joiada, Johanan and Jaddua, the heads of the priestly 22 families had been recorded in the Book of the Chronicles^a up to the reign of Darius the Persian.

23 The sons of Levi.

The heads of families were recorded in the Book of the Chronicles, but only up to the time of Johanan, grandson of Eliashib.

24 The heads of the Levites: Hashabiah, Sherebiah, Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel; and their kinsmen forming an alternate choir for the hymns of praise and 25 thanksgiving, in accordance with the ordinances of David the man of God, in corresponding groups, these were: Mattaniah, Bakbukiah and Obadiah. The gatekeepers, Meshullam, Talmon and Akkub stood guard at the storehouses near the gates.

26 These lived in the days of Joiakim son of Jeshua, son of Jozadak, and in the days of Nehemiah the governor and of Ezra, priest and scribe.

The dedication of the wall of Jerusalem

27 At the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem the Levites were sent for, wherever they lived, to come to Jerusalem: the dedication was to be celebrated joyfully 28 with songs of thanksgiving, with cymbal, lute and lyre. Accordingly the cantors, sons of Levi, assembled from the countryside around Jerusalem, from the villages 29 of the Netophathites, from Beth-gilgal, from the districts of Geba and Azmaveth; since the cantors had built themselves villages all around Jerusalem.
 30 And the priests and Levites purified themselves, then purified the people, the gates and the wall.

31 I then made the leaders of Judah come on to the top of the wall, and organized two great choirs. The first made its way along the top of the wall, 32 right-handed, toward the Dung Gate; bringing up the rear were Hoshaiah and half the leaders of Judah, and also Azariah, Ezra, Meshullam, Judah, 33 Mijamin, Shemaiah and Jeremiah, selected from the priests and carrying 34 trumpets: then Zechariah son of Jonathan, son of Shemaiah, son of Mattaniah, 35 son of Micaiah, son of Zaccur, son of Asaph, with his kinsmen, Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah, Hanani, carrying the musical instruments of David the man of God. And Ezra the scribe walked at their head.
 37 At the Fountain Gate they went straight on up, near the steps of the Citadel of David, along the top of the wall and along the ascent of the Palace of David as far as the Water Gate, on the east.

38 The second choir made its way left-handed; I followed it, with half the leaders of the people, along the top of the wall, above the Tower of the Furnaces and 39 as far as the wall of the Square, then over the Gate of Ephraim, the Fish Gate, the Tower of Hananel, as far as the Sheep Gate; they came to a halt at the Watch Gate.

40 The two choirs then took their places in the Temple of God. I had half of the officials with me, as well as the priests, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniامين, 41 Micaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, Hananiah, carrying trumpets, also Maaseiah, Shemaiah, Eleazar, Uzzi, Jehohanan, Malchijah, Elam and Ezer. The cantors 42 sang under the direction of Jezrahiah. There were great sacrifices offered that 43 day and the people rejoiced, God having given them good cause for rejoicing; the women and children rejoiced too, and the joy of Jerusalem could be heard from far away.

A golden age

44 For the chambers intended for the stores, contributions, first fruits and tithes, supervisors were then appointed whose business it would be to collect in them

those portions from the town lands awarded by the Law to the priests and Levites. For Judah rejoiced in the officiating priests and Levites. It was they who performed the liturgy of their God and the duties of purification—and the cantors and gatekeepers too—in accordance with the ordinances of David and his son Solomon. For from ancient times, from the days of David and Asaph, there had been guilds of cantors and canticles of praise and thanksgiving to God. And so, in the days of Zerubbabel and in the days of Nehemiah, the whole of Israel used to give the cantors and gatekeepers their due portion for each day. They set aside for the Levites their sacred dues, and the Levites would set theirs aside for the sons of Aaron.

13 At that time they were reading from the Book of Moses to the people, when they found this written in it, “The Ammonite and the Moabite shall never be admitted to the assembly of God, since they did not come to meet the sons of Israel with bread and water. They hired Balaam against them to curse them,^a but our God turned the curse into a blessing.” As soon as the people had heard the Law they excluded all of foreign descent from Israel.

The second mission of Nehemiah

Now before this, Eliashib the priest had been appointed supervisor of the chambers of the Temple of our God. A connection of Tobiah’s, he had furnished a spacious chamber for him where the oblations, incense, utensils, tithes of corn, wine and oil had previously been kept, that is to say the portions of the Levites, cantors and gatekeepers, and what was set aside for the priests. While all this was going on I was away from Jerusalem, for in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon^b I had gone to see the king. But after some time I asked the king for permission to leave, and returned to Jerusalem. It was then that I heard the wicked thing that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, furnishing a chamber for him inside the court of the Temple of God. This made me very angry. I threw all Tobiah’s household furniture out of the chamber, gave orders for the chambers to be purified, and had the utensils of the Temple of God, the oblations and the incense, all put back.

I also discovered that the portions of the Levites were not being delivered and that they, the Levites and the cantors responsible for the liturgy, had all gone off home to their fields. I reprimanded the officials. “Why is the Temple of God deserted?” I asked. And I collected them together again and sent them back to their duties. Then the whole of Judah brought the tithe of corn, wine and oil to the storehouses. As supervisors of the storehouses I appointed Shelemiah the priest, Zadok the scribe, Pedaiah one of the Levites and, as their assistants, Hanan son of Zaccur, son of Mattaniah, since they were considered reliable; their duty was to make the distributions to their kinsmen. Remember me for this, my God; do not blot out the pious deed I have done for the Temple of my God and for its liturgy.

In those days I saw people in Judah treading winepresses on the sabbath, and others taking sheaves of corn and loading them on donkeys with wine, grapes, figs and every kind of load which they meant to bring into Jerusalem on the sabbath day. I warned them not to sell the foodstuffs. In Jerusalem itself, Tyrians who lived in the city were bringing in fish and every sort of merchandise to sell them on the sabbath day. I reprimanded the authorities of Judah, “What a wicked way to behave, profaning the sabbath day! Did not your ancestors do just this, with the result that our God brought all this misery on us and on this city? Do you want to bring fresh wrath on Israel, by profaning the sabbath?” So just before the sabbath^c as the shadows were falling on the gates of Jerusalem, I gave orders for the doors to be shut, and said, "Do not open them again until the sabbath is over." I stationed a few of my servants at the gates to see that no load was brought in on the sabbath day. Once or twice merchants and traders in goods of all kinds spent the night outside Jerusalem, but I gave them this warning, "Why are you spending the night by the wall? Do it again, and I will punish you." After that, they did not come on the sabbath any more. I ordered the Levites to purify themselves and to come and supervise the gates, so that the sabbath day might be kept holy. For this too remember me, my God, and as your mercy is great, so pity me.

At that time I again saw Jews who had married women from Ashdod, Ammon and Moab. As regards their children, half of them spoke the language of Ashdod^d or the language of one of the other peoples, but could not speak the language of Judah. I reprimanded them and called down curses on them; I struck several of them and tore out their hair and made them swear by God, "You shall not give your daughters to their sons or take their daughters either for your sons or for yourselves. Is this not how Solomon king of Israel sinned? Among all the nations there was never a king like him; he was loved by his God; God made him king of all Israel; and yet for him, foreign women were causes of sin. Must we then hear it said that you too are committing this grave crime: playing traitor to our God by marrying foreign women?"

One of the sons of Jehoiada, son of the high priest Eliashib, was son-in-law to Sanballat the Horonite, and I expelled him from my presence. Remember these, O my God, for the degradation they have brought on the priesthood and on the covenant of the priests and Levites.

And so I purged them of everything foreign; I drew up regulations for the priests and Levites defining each man's duty, and regulations for the deliveries of wood at stated times, and for the first fruits.

Remember me, my God, for my happiness.

INTRODUCTION TO TOBIT, JUDITH AND ESTHER

Although these three books have the literary form of historical stories, the events of which they tell are not attested from other sources and the books are found to treat the facts of history and geography with a good deal of freedom. Plainly they were written to teach lessons of another kind, and some of the early Greek Bibles include them with the wisdom writings.

Tobit, the story of a dutiful son who is given miraculous help by an angel, was written among the Jews of the dispersion, possibly in Egypt, between the 4th and 5th centuries B.C., though the setting of the story is some two hundred years earlier. The book was not accepted into the Hebrew Bible and was recognized by the Church only after a certain hesitancy in the patristic period. In the new translations of the Bible made at the Reformation, it was put in the Apocrypha.

The same treatment was given to the Book of Judith, the story of the defeat of Nebuchadnezzar's armies through a woman's single-handed assassination of their commander. It was written about 100 B.C.

The theme of Esther is similarly the deliverance of the nation by the actions of a woman. The Hebrew version was probably written about 300 B.C.; the Greek version, which is longer and contains some important additions, is later. In this text, additions adopted from the Greek version are printed in italics. Although the book of Esther has been read and quoted from early days, the Greek passages are "deuterocanonical," their history being the same as that of Tobit and Judith.

TOBIT

¹ I The tale of Tobit^a son of Tobiel, son of Ananiel, son of Aduel, son of Gabael, ² of the lineage of Asiel and tribe of Naphtali. ·In the days of Shalmaneser, king of Assyria, he was exiled from Thisbe, which is south of Kedesh-Naphtali in Upper Galilee, above Hazor, some distance to the west, north of Shephat.

I. TOBIT THE EXILE

³ I, Tobit, have walked in paths of truth and in good works all the days of my life. I have given much in alms to my brothers and fellow countrymen, exiled ⁴ like me to Nineveh in the country of Assyria. ·In my young days, when I still was at home in the country of Israel, the whole tribe of Naphtali my ancestor broke away from the House of David and from Jerusalem. Yet this was the city chosen out of all the tribes of Israel for their sacrifices; in this the Temple—God's ⁵ dwelling place—had been built and hallowed for all generations to come. ·But all my brothers and the House of Naphtali offered sacrifice to the calf that Jeroboam the king of Israel had made at Dan, on the mountains of Galilee.

⁶ Often I was quite alone in making the pilgrimage to Jerusalem, fulfilling the law that binds all Israel perpetually. I would hurry to Jerusalem with the first ⁷ yield of fruits and beasts, the tithe of cattle and the sheep's first shearings. ·I would give these to the priests, the sons of Aaron, for the altar. To the Levites ministering at Jerusalem I would give my tithe of wine and corn, olives, pomegranates and other fruits. Six years in succession I took the second tithe in money ⁸ and went and paid it at Jerusalem. ·I gave the third to orphans and widows and to the strangers who live among the Israelites; I brought it them as a gift every three years. When we ate, we obeyed both the ordinances of the Law of Moses and the exhortations of Deborah, the mother of our father Ananiel; for my ⁹ father had died and left me an orphan. ·When I came to man's estate, I married a woman from our kinsmen whose name was Anna; she bore me a son whom I called Tobias.

¹⁰ When the banishment into Assyria came, I was taken away and went to Nineveh. All my brothers and the men of my race ate the food of the heathen, ^{11,12} but for my part I would not eat the food of the heathen.^b ·And because I had ¹³ kept faith with my God with my whole heart, ·the Most High granted me the favor of Shalmaneser, and I became the king's purveyor. ·Until his death ¹⁴ I used to travel to Media, where I transacted business on his behalf; and ¹⁵ I deposited sacks of silver worth ten talents with Gabael, the brother of Gabrias, at Rhages in Media.

¹⁵ On the death of Shalmaneser his son Sennacherib succeeded; the roads into ¹⁶ Media were barred, and I could no longer go there. ·In the days of Shalmaneser ¹⁷ I had often given alms to the brothers of my race; ·I gave my bread to the hungry ¹⁸ and clothes to the naked; and I buried, when I saw them, the bodies of my countrymen thrown over the walls of Nineveh.

¹⁸ I also buried those who were killed by Sennacherib (for when he retreated from Judaea in disorder, after the King of heaven had punished his blasphemies, in his anger Sennacherib killed a great number of Israelites). So I stole their bodies to bury them; Sennacherib looked for them and could not find them.

¹⁹₂₂ A Ninevite went and told the king it was I who had buried them secretly. When I knew that the king had been told about me and saw myself being hunted by men who would put me to death, I was afraid and fled. All my goods were seized; they were all confiscated by the treasury; nothing was left me but my wife Anna and my son Tobias.

²¹₂₄ Less than forty days after this, the king was murdered by his two sons, who then fled to the mountains of Ararat. His son Esarhaddon succeeded. Ahikar,^c the son of my brother Anael, was appointed chancellor of the exchequer for the kingdom and given the main ordering of affairs. Ahikar then interceded for me and I was allowed to return to Nineveh, since Ahikar had been chief cup-bearer, keeper of the signet, administrator and treasurer under Sennacherib, king of Assyria, and Esarhaddon had kept him in office. He was a relation of mine; he was my nephew.

II. TOBIT BLINDED

¹ 2 In the reign of Esarhaddon, therefore, I returned home, and my wife Anna was restored to me with my son Tobias. At our feast of Pentecost (the feast of Weeks) there was a good dinner. I took my place for the meal; the table was brought to me and various dishes were brought. Then I said to my son Tobias. "Go, my child, and seek out some poor, loyal-hearted man among our brothers exiled in Nineveh, and bring him to share my meal. I will wait until you come back, my child." So Tobias went out to look for some poor man among our brothers, but he came back again and said, "Father!" I answered, "What is it, my child?" He went on, "Father, one of our nation has just been murdered; he has been strangled and then thrown down in the market place; he is there still." I sprang up at once, left my meal untouched, took the man from the market place and laid him in one of my rooms, waiting until sunset to bury him. I came in again and washed myself and ate my bread in sorrow, remembering the words of the prophet Amos concerning Bethel:

Your feasts will be turned to mourning, and all your songs to lamentation.

⁷ And I wept. When the sun was down, I went and dug a grave and buried him.

⁸ My neighbors laughed and said, "See! He is not afraid any more." (You must remember that a price had been set on my head earlier for this very thing.) "The time before this he had to flee, yet here he is, beginning to bury the dead again."

⁹₁₀ That night I took a bath; then I went into the courtyard and lay down by the courtyard wall. Since it was hot I left my face uncovered. I did not know that there were sparrows in the wall above my head; their hot droppings fell into my eyes. White spots then formed, which I was obliged to have treated by the doctors. But the more ointments they tried me with, the more the spots blinded me, and in the end I became blind altogether. I remained without sight four years; all my brothers were distressed; and Ahikar provided for my upkeep for two years, till he left for Elymais.

¹¹₁₂ My wife Anna then undertook woman's work; she would spin wool and take cloth to weave; she used to deliver whatever had been ordered from her and then receive payment. Now on March the seventh she finished a piece of work

20 and delivered it to her customers. They paid her all that was due, and into the 13 bargain presented her with a kid for a meal. When the kid came into my house, 21 it began to bleat. I called to my wife and said, "Where does this creature come from? Suppose it has been stolen! Quick, let the owners have it back; we have 14 no right to eat stolen goods." She said, "No, it was a present given me over and above my wages." I did not believe her, and told her to give it back to the owners 22 (I blushed at this in her presence). Then she answered, "What about your own alms? What about your own good works? Everyone knows what return you 1 have had for them." 3 Then, sad at heart, I sighed and wept, and began this prayer of lamentation:

2 "You are just, O Lord, and just are all your works.
 All your ways are grace and truth, and you are the Judge of the world.

3 "Therefore, Lord, remember me, look on me.
 Do not punish me for my sins or for my heedless faults or for those of my fathers.

4 "For we have sinned against you and broken your commandments; and you have given us over to be plundered, to captivity and death, to be the talk, the laughingstock and scorn of all the nations among who you have dispersed us.

5 "Whereas all your decrees are true when you deal with me as my faults deserve, and those of my fathers, since we have neither kept your commandments nor walked in truth before you; 6 so now, do with me as you will; be pleased to take my life from me; I desire to be delivered from earth and to become earth again.
 For death is better for me than life.
 I have been reviled without a cause and I am distressed beyond measure.

"Lord, I wait for the sentence you will give to deliver me from this affliction.
 Let me go away to my everlasting home;
 do not turn your face from me, O Lord.
 For it is better to die than still to live in the face of trouble that knows no pity; I am weary of hearing myself traduced."

III. SARAH

7 It chanced on the same day that Sarah the daughter of Raguel, who lived in 8 Media at Ecbatana, also heard insults from one of her father's maids. You must know that she had been given in marriage seven times, and that Asmodeus, that worst of demons, had killed her bridegrooms one after another before ever they had slept with her as man with wife. The servant girl said, "Yes, you kill your bridegrooms yourself. That makes seven already to whom you have been 9 given, and you have not once been in luck yet. 'Just because your bridegrooms have died, that is no reason for punishing us. Go and join them, and may we be 10 spared the sight of any child of yours!' 'That day, she grieved, she sobbed, and went up to her father's room intending to hang herself. But then she thought, "Suppose they blamed my father! They will say, 'You had an only daughter whom you loved, and now she has hanged herself for grief.' I cannot cause my father a sorrow which would bring down his old age to the dwelling of the dead.

 I should do better not to hang myself, but to beg the Lord to let me die and 11 not live to hear any more insults." 'And at this, by the window with outstretched arms she said this prayer:

"You are blessed, O God of mercy!
 May your name be blessed for ever, and may all things you have made bless you everlastingly.

12 14 "And now, I lift up my face and to you I turn my eyes.
 13 15 Let your word deliver me from earth;
 I can hear myself traduced no longer.

14 16 "O Lord, you know that I have remained pure;
 no man has touched me; 15 17 I have not dishonored your name or my father's name in this land of exile.

"I am my father's only daughter, he has no other child as heir;
 he has no brother at his side, nor has he any kinsman left for whom I ought to keep myself.

"Already I have lost seven husbands;
 why should I live any longer?
 If it does not please you to take my life, then look on me with pity;
 I can hear myself traduced no longer."

16 This time the prayer of each of them found favor before the glory of God, 24 and Raphael was sent to bring remedy to them both. He was to take the white 17 spots from the eyes of Tobit, so that he might see God's light with his own eyes; 25 and he was to give Sarah, the daughter of Raguel, as bride to Tobias son of Tobit, and to rid her of Asmodeus, the worst of demons. For it was to Tobias before all other suitors that she belonged by right. Tobit was coming back from the courtyard into the house at the same moment as Sarah, the daughter of Raguel, was coming down from the upper room.

IV. TOBIAS

1 4 The same day, Tobit remembered the silver that he had left with Gabael 2 at Rhages in Media and thought, "I have come to the point of praying for death; I should do well to call my son Tobias and tell him about the money 3 before I die." 'He summoned his son Tobias and told him:

“When I die, give me an honorable burial. Honor your mother, and never abandon her all the days of your life. Do all that she wants, and give her no reason 4 for sorrow. Remember, my child, all the risks she ran for your sake when you 5 were in her womb. And when she dies, bury her at my side in the same grave.

“My child, be faithful to the Lord all your days. Never entertain the will 6 to sin or to transgress his laws. Do good works all the days of your life, never 7 follow ways that are not right; for if you act in truthfulness, you will be 8 successful in all your actions, as all men are if they practice what is right.

“Set aside part of your goods for almsgiving. Never turn your face from any 9 poor man and God will never turn his from you. Measure your alms by what 10 you have; if you have much, give more; if you have little, give less, but do not 11 be mean in giving alms. By doing so, you will lay up for yourself a great treasure 12 for the day of necessity. For almsgiving delivers from death and saves men 13 from passing down to darkness. Alms is a most effective offering for all those 14 who give it in the presence of the Most High.

“My child, avoid all loose conduct. Choose a wife of your father’s stock.
 Do not take a foreign wife outside your father’s tribe, because we are the sons of the prophets. Remember Noah, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, our ancestors from the beginning. All of them took wives from their own kindred, and they were 15 blessed in their children, and their race will inherit the earth. You, too, my child, 16 must prefer your own brothers; never presume to despise your brothers, the sons 17 and daughters of your people; choose your wife from among them. For pride brings ruin and much worry; idleness causes need and poverty, for the mother of famine is idleness.

“Do not keep back until next day the wages of those who work for you; pay 18 them at once. If you serve God you will be rewarded. Be careful, my child, 19 in all you do, well-disciplined in all your behavior. Do to no one what you would not want done to you. Do not drink wine to the point of drunkenness; do not let excess be your traveling companion.

“Give your bread to those who are hungry, and your clothes to those who are naked. Whatever you own in plenty, devote a proportion to almsgiving; and when you give alms, do not do it grudgingly. Be generous with bread and wine on the graves of virtuous men, but not for the sinner.

“Ask advice of every wise person; never scorn any profitable advice. Bless the Lord God in everything; beg him to guide your ways and bring your paths and purposes to their end. For wisdom is not given to every nation; the Lord himself gives all good things. At his will he lifts up or he casts down to the depths of the dwelling of the dead. So now, my child, remember these precepts and never let them fade from your heart.

“Now, my child, I must tell you I have left ten talents of silver with Gabael son of Gabrias, at Rhages in Media. Do not be afraid, my child, if we have grown poor. You have great wealth if you fear God, if you shun every kind of sin and if you do what is pleasing to the Lord your God.”

V. THE FELLOW TRAVELER OF TOBIAS

5 Tobias then answered his father Tobit, “Father, I will do everything you have 6 told me. But how am I to recover the money from him? He does not know me, nor I him. What token am I to give him for him to believe me and hand me over the silver? And, besides, I do not know what roads to take for this 7 journey into Media.” Then Tobit answered his son Tobias, “Each of us set his signature to a note which I cut in two, so that each could keep half of it. I took one piece, and put the other with the silver. To think it was twenty years ago 8 I left this silver in his keeping! And now, my child, find some trustworthy man to travel with you—we will pay him for his time until you arrive back—and then go and collect the money from Gabael.”

⁴₅ Tobias went out to look for a man who knew the way to go with him to Media. Outside he found Raphael the angel standing facing him (though he did not guess he was an angel of God). He said, “Where do you come from, friend?” The angel replied, “I am one of your brother Israelites; I have come to these parts to look for work.” Tobias asked, “Do you know the road to Media?”

⁶₈ The other replied, “Certainly I do. I have been there many times; I know all the ways by heart. I have often been to Media and stayed with Gabael, one of our kinsmen who lives at Rhages in Media. It usually takes two full days to get from Ecbatana to Rhages; Rhages lies in the mountains, and Ecbatana is in the middle of the plain.”² Tobias said, “Wait for me, friend, while I go and tell my father; I need you to come with me; I will pay you for your time.” The other replied, “Good; I will wait; but do not be long.”

⁹₁₀ Tobias went in and told his father that he had found one of their brother Israelites. And the father said, “Fetch him in; I want to find out about his family and tribe. I must see if he is going to be a reliable companion for you, my child.” So Tobias went out and called him. “Friend,” he said, “my father wants you.”

¹¹₁₂ The angel came into the house; Tobit greeted him, and the other answered, wishing him happiness. Tobit replied, “Can I ever be happy again? I am a blind man; I no longer see the light of heaven; I am sunk in darkness like the dead who see the light no more. I am a man buried alive; I hear men speak but cannot see them.” The angel said, “Take comfort; before long God will heal you. Take comfort.” Tobit said, “My son Tobias wishes to go to Media. Will you join him as his guide? Brother, I will pay you.” He replied, “I am willing to go with him; I know all the ways; I have often been to Media, I have crossed all its plains and mountains, and I know all the roads.”

¹³₁₄ Tobias said, “My son Tobias wishes to go to Media. Will you join him as his guide? Brother, I will pay you.” He replied, “I am willing to go with him; I know all the ways; I have often been to Media, I have crossed all its plains and mountains, and I know all the roads.” Tobias said, “Brother, what family and what tribe do you belong to? Will you tell me, brother?” “What does my tribe matter to you?” the angel said. Tobit said, “I want to be quite sure ¹⁵₁₆ whose son you are and what your name is.” The angel said, “I am Azarias, son of the great Ananias, one of your kinsmen.” “Welcome and greetings, brother!

¹⁷₁₈ Do not be offended at my wanting to know the name of your family; I find you are my kinsman, of a good and honorable line. I know Ananias and Jathan, the two sons of the great Shemaiah. They used to go to Jerusalem with me; we have worshiped together there, and they have never strayed from the right path. Your brothers are worthy men; you come of good stock; welcome.”

¹⁹₂₀ He went on, “I engage you at a drachma a day, with your expenses, like my own son. Complete the journey with my son, and I will go beyond the agreed wage.” The angel replied, “I will complete the journey with him. Do not be afraid.

²¹₂₂ On the journey outward all will be well; on the journey back all will be well; the road is safe.” Tobias said, “Blessings on you, brother.” Then he turned to his son. “My child,” he said, “prepare what you need for the journey, and set off with your brother. May God in heaven protect you abroad and bring you both back to me safe and sound! May his angel go with you and protect you, my child!”

²³₂₄ Tobias left the house to set out and kissed his father and mother. Tobit said, ²⁵₂₆ “A happy journey!” His mother burst into tears and said to Tobit, “Why must you send my child away? Is he not the staff of our hands, with his errands to ²⁷₂₈ and fro for us? Surely money is not the only thing that matters? Surely it is not as precious as our child? The way of life God had already given us was good enough.” He said, “Do not think such thoughts. Going away and coming back, ²⁹₃₀ all will be well with our child. On the day of his homecoming you will see for yourself how all is still well with him. Do not think such thoughts; do not worry on their account, my sister. A good angel will go with him; he will have a good ³¹₃₂ journey and come back to us well and happy.” 6 And she dried her tears.

VI. THE FISH

² The boy left with the angel, and the dog followed behind. The two walked on, ³ and when the first evening came they camped beside the Tigris. The boy had gone down to the river to wash his feet, when a great fish leaped out of the water ⁴ and all but swallowed his foot. The boy gave a shout and the angel said, "Catch the fish; do not let it go." The boy mastered the fish and pulled it on to the bank.
⁵ The angel said, "Cut it open; take out the gall, the heart and the liver; set these aside and throw the entrails away, for the gall and heart and liver have curative ⁶ properties." The boy cut the fish open and took out the gall and heart and liver.
He fried part of the fish for his meal and kept some for salting. Then they walked on again together until they were nearly in Media.

⁷ Then the boy asked the angel this question, "Brother Azarias, what can the ⁸ fish's heart, liver and gall cure?" He replied, "You burn the fish's heart and liver, and their smoke is used in the case of a man or woman plagued by a demon ⁹ or evil spirit; any such affliction disappears for good, leaving no trace. As regards the gall, this is used as an eye ointment for anyone having white spots on his eyes; after using it, you only have to blow on the spots to cure them."

¹⁰ They entered Media and had nearly reached Ecbatana when Raphael said ¹¹ to the boy, "Brother Tobias." "Yes?" he answered. The angel went on, "Tonight we shall be staying with Raguel, who is a kinsman of yours. He has a daughter ¹² called Sarah, but apart from Sarah he has no other son or daughter. Now you are her next of kin; she belongs to you before anyone else and you may claim her father's inheritance. She is a thoughtful, courageous and very lovely girl, ¹³ and her father loves her dearly. You have the right to marry her. Listen, brother; this very evening I will speak about the girl to her father and arrange for her to be betrothed to you, and when we come back from Rhages we can celebrate the marriage. I assure you, Raguel has no right whatever to refuse you or to betroth her to anyone else. That would be asking for death, as prescribed in the Book of Moses, once he was aware that kinship gives you the pre-eminent right to marry his daughter. So listen, brother. This very evening we will speak about the girl and ask for her hand in marriage. When we come back from Rhages we will fetch her and take her home with us."

¹⁴ Tobias answered Raphael, "Brother Azarias, I have been told that she has already been given in marriage seven times and that each time her bridegroom has died in the bridal room. He died the same night as he entered her room; ¹⁵ and I have heard people say it was a demon that killed them, and this makes me a little afraid. He does no harm to her, of course, because he loves her; but as soon as a man tries to approach her, he kills him. I am my father's only son, and I have no wish to die; I shrink from causing my father and mother a grief ¹⁶ that would bring them to the grave; they have no other son to bury them." The angel said, "Are you going to forget your father's advice? After all, he urged you to choose a wife from your father's family. Listen then, brother. Do not worry about the demon; take her. This very evening, I promise, she will be given ¹⁷ you as your wife. Then once you are in the bridal room, take the heart and liver of the fish and lay a little of it on the burning incense. The reek will rise, ¹⁸ the demon will smell it and flee, and there is no danger that he will ever be found near the girl again. Then, before you sleep together, first stand up, both of you, and pray. Ask the Lord of heaven to grant you his grace and protection. Do not be afraid; she was destined for you from the beginning, and it is you who will save her. She will follow you, and I pledge my word she will give you children who will be like brothers to you. Do not hesitate." And when Tobias heard Raphael say this, when he understood that Sarah was his sister, a kinswoman of his father's family, he fell so deeply in love with her that he could no longer call his heart his own.

VII. RAGUEL

1 7 As they entered Ecbatana, Tobias said, "Brother Azarias, take me at once to our brother Raguel's." And he showed him the way to the house of Raguel, whom they found sitting beside his courtyard door. They greeted him first, and he replied, "Welcome and greetings, brothers." And he took them into his house.

2 3 He said to his wife Edna, "How like my brother Tobit this young man is!" Edna asked them where they came from; they said, "We are sons of Naphtali exiled in Nineveh." "Do you know our brother Tobit?" "Yes." "How is he?" "He is still alive and he is well." And Tobias added, "He is my father." Raguel leaped to his feet and kissed him and wept. Then finding words, he said, "Blessings on you, child! You are the son of a noble father. How sad it is that someone so virtuous and full of good deeds should have gone blind!" He fell on the neck of his kinsman Tobias and wept. And his wife Edna wept for him, and so did his daughter Sarah. Raguel killed a sheep from the flock, and they gave them a warmhearted welcome.

They washed and bathed and sat down to table. Then Tobias said to Raphael, "Brother Azarias, will you ask Raguel to give me my sister Sarah?" Raguel overheard the words, and said to the young man, "Eat and drink, and make the most of your evening; no one else has the right to take my daughter Sarah—no one but you, my brother. In any case I, for my own part, am not at liberty to give her to anyone else, since you are her next of kin. However, my boy, I must be frank with you: I have tried to find a husband for her seven times among our kinsmen, and all of them have died the first evening, on going to her room. But for the present, my boy, eat and drink; the Lord will grant you his grace and peace." Tobias spoke out, "I will not hear of eating and drinking till you have come to a decision about me." Raguel answered, "Very well. Since, as prescribed by the Book of Moses, she is given to you, heaven itself decrees she shall be yours. I therefore entrust your sister to you. From now you are her brother and she is your sister. She is given to you from today for ever. The Lord of heaven favor you tonight, my child, and grant you his grace and peace."

12 Raguel called for his daughter Sarah, took her by the hand and gave her to Tobias with these words, "I entrust her to you; the law and the ruling recorded in the Book of Moses assign her to you as your wife. Take her; take her home to your father's house with a good conscience. The God of heaven grant you a good journey in peace." Then he turned to her mother and asked her to fetch him writing paper. He drew up the marriage contract, how he gave his daughter as bride to Tobias according to the ordinance in the Law of Moses.

14,15 After this they began to eat and drink. Raguel called his wife Edna and 17,18 said, "My sister, prepare the second room and take her there." She went and made the bed in this room as he had ordered, and took her daughter to it. She 19 wept over her, then wiped away her tears and said, "Courage, daughter! May the Lord of heaven turn your grief to joy! Courage, daughter!" And she went out.

VIII. THE GRAVE

1 8 When they had finished eating and drinking and it seemed time to go to bed, 2 the young man was taken from the dining room to the bedroom. Tobias remembered Raphael's advice; he went to his bag, took the fish's heart and liver 3 out of it and put some on the burning incense. The reek of the fish distressed the demon, who fled through the air to Egypt. Raphael pursued him there, and bound and shackled him at once.

4 The parents meanwhile had gone out and shut the door behind them. Tobias rose from the bed, and said to Sarah, "Get up, my sister! You and I must pray

⁵ and petition our Lord to win his grace and his protection." ·She stood up, and ⁷ they began praying for protection, and this was how he began:

"You are blessed, O God of our fathers; blessed, too, is your name for ever and ever.
 Let the heavens bless you and all things you have made for evermore.

⁶ ⁸ It was you who created Adam, you who created Eve his wife to be his help and support; and from these two the human race was born.
 It was you who said,
*'It is not good that the man should be alone;
 let us make him a helpmate like himself.'* ⁷ ⁹ And so I do not take my sister for any lustful motive;
 I do it in singleness of heart.
 Be kind enough to have pity on her and on me and bring us to old age together."

⁸ And together they said, "Amen, Amen," and lay down for the night.
¹¹ But Raguel rose and called his servants, who came and helped him to dig ¹⁰ a grave. ·He had thought, "Heaven grant he does not die! We should be over-¹¹ whelmed with ridicule and shame." ·When the grave was finished, Raguel went ¹² back to the house, called his wife and said, "Will you send a maid to the room ¹⁴ to see if Tobias is still alive? For if he is dead, we may be able to bury him without ¹³ anyone else knowing." ·The maid was called, the lamp lit and the door opened; ¹⁴ the maid went in. She found the two fast asleep; ·she came out again and ¹⁶ whispered, "He is not dead; all is well." ·Then Raguel blessed the God of heaven ¹⁷ with these words:

"You are blessed, my God, with every blessing that is pure;
 may you be blessed for evermore!

¹⁶ "You are blessed for having made me glad.
 What I feared has not happened; instead you have treated us with mercy beyond all measure.

¹⁷ ¹⁹ "You are blessed for taking pity on this only son, this only daughter.
 Grant them, Master, your grace and your protection; let them live out their lives in happiness and in grace."

¹⁸ And he made his servants fill the grave in before dawn broke.

¹⁹ He told his wife to make plenty of bread; he went to his flock, brought back two oxen and four sheep and gave orders for them to be cooked; and preparations ²⁰ began. ·He called Tobias and said, "I will not hear of your leaving here for ²¹ a fortnight. You are to stay where you are, eating and drinking, with me. You ²⁴ will make my daughter happy again after all her troubles. ·After that, take away a half of all I have, and go without let or hindrance back to your father. When my wife and I are dead you will have the other half. Courage, my boy! I am your father, and Edna is your mother. We are your parents in future, as we are your sister's. Courage, my son!"

IX. THE WEDDING FEAST

¹9 Then Tobias turned to Raphael. "Brother Azarias," he said, "take four servants ²and two camels and leave for Rhages. Go to Gabael's house, give him the ³receipt and see about the money; then invite him to come with you to my wedding ⁴feast. You know that my father must be counting the days and that I cannot ⁵lose a single one without worrying him. You see what Raguel has pledged ⁶himself to do; I am bound by his oath." So Raphael left for Rhages in Media with the four servants and two camels. They stayed with Gabael, and Raphael ⁷showed him the receipt. He told him about the marriage of Tobias son of Tobit and gave him his invitation to the wedding feast. Gabael started counting out the sacks to him—the seals were intact—and they loaded them on to the camels.
⁸Early in the morning they set off together for the feast, and reached Raguel's house where they found Tobias dining. He rose to greet Gabael, who burst into tears and blessed him with the words, "Excellent son of a father beyond ⁹reproach, just and generous in his dealings! The Lord give heaven's blessing to you, to your wife, to the father and mother of your wife! Blessed be God for granting me the sight of this living image of my cousin Tobit!"

¹10 Every day, meanwhile, Tobit kept reckoning the days required for the journey there and the journey back. The full number went by, and still ²his son had not come. Then he thought, "I hope he has not been delayed there!
I hope Gabael is not dead! Perhaps no one was there to give him the money." ³And he began to worry. His wife Anna kept saying, "My son is dead! He is no longer among the living!" And she began to weep and mourn over her son. She ⁴kept saying, "Alas! I let you leave me, my child, you, the light of my eyes." ⁵And Tobit would reply, "Hush, my sister! Do not think such thoughts. All is well with him. Something has happened there to delay them. His companion is ⁶someone we can trust, one of our kinsmen at that. Do not lose heart, my sister.
⁷He will be here soon." But she only said, "Leave me alone; do not try to deceive me. My child is dead." And every day she would go abruptly out to watch the road by which her son had left. She trusted no eyes but her own. Once the sun had set she would come home again, only to weep and moan all night, unable to sleep.

After the fourteen days of feasting that Raguel had sworn to keep for his daughter's marriage, Tobias came to him and said, "Let me go now; my father and mother must have lost all hope of seeing me again. So I beg you, father, to let me return to my father's house; I have told you the plight he was in when ⁸I left him." Raguel said to Tobias, "Stay, my son, stay with me. I will send ⁹messengers to your father Tobit to give him news of you." But Tobias pressed ¹⁰him, "No. I ask your permission to go back to my father's house." Without more ado, Raguel committed Sarah his bride into his keeping. He gave Tobias half his wealth, menservants and maidservants, oxen and sheep, donkeys and ¹¹camels, clothes and money and household things. And so he let them leave happily. To Tobias he said these parting words, "Good health, my son, and a happy journey! May the Lord of heaven be gracious to you and to your wife ¹²³Sarah! I hope to see your children before I die." To his daughter Sarah he said, "Go now to your father-in-law's house, since henceforward they are as much your parents as those who gave you life. Go in peace, my Daughter, I hope to hear nothing but good of you, as long as I live." He said good-by to them and let them go.

Edna in her turn said to Tobias, "Dear son and brother, may it please the Lord to bring you back again! I hope to live long enough to see the children of you and my daughter Sarah before I die. In the sight of the Lord I give my daughter into your keeping. Never make her unhappy as long as you live. Go in peace, my son. Henceforward I am your mother and Sarah is your sister. May ¹² we all live happily all the days of our lives!" And she kissed them both and saw them set out happily.

¹³ Tobias left Raguel's house with his mind at ease. In his gladness he blessed the Lord of heaven and earth, the King of all that is, for the happy issue of his travels. He gave this blessing to Raguel and his wife Edna, "May it be my happiness to honor you all the days of my life!"

X. TOBIT'S SIGHT RESTORED

¹ ² 11 They were nearly at Käserin, opposite Nineveh, when Raphael said, "You know the plight in which we left your father; let us go on ahead of your wife and prepare the house ourselves while she travels behind with the others."

⁴ They went on together (Raphael had warned Tobias to take the gall with him) and the dog followed them.

⁷ Raphael said to Tobias before he reached his father, "I give you my word that your father's eyes will open. You must put the fish's gall to his eyes; the medicine will smart and will draw a filmy white skin off his eyes. And your father will be able to see and look on the light."

⁹ The mother ran forward and threw her arms around her son's neck. "Now I can die," she said, "I have seen you again." And she wept. Tobit rose to his feet and stumbled across the courtyard through the door. Tobias came on toward him (he had the fish's gall in his hand). He blew into his eyes and said, steadying him, "Take courage, father!" With this he applied the medicine, left it there a while, then with both hands peeled away a filmy skin from the corners of his eyes. Then his father fell on his neck and wept. He exclaimed, "I can see, my son, the light of my eyes!" And he said:

¹⁷ "Blessed be God!
Blessed be his great name!
Blessed be all his holy angels!
Blessed be his great name
for evermore!
¹⁵ For he had scourged me and now has had pity on me and I see my son Tobias."

Tobias went into the house, and with a loud voice joyfully blessed God. Then he told his father everything: how his journey had been successful and he had brought the silver back; how he had married Sarah, the daughter of Raguel; how she was following him now, close behind, and could not be far from the gates of Nineveh.

¹⁶ Tobit set off to the gates of Nineveh to meet his daughter-in-law, giving joyful praise to God as he went. When the people of Nineveh saw him walking without a guide and stepping forward as briskly as of old, they were astonished. Tobit described to them how God had taken pity on him and had opened his eyes. Then Tobit met Sarah, the bride of his son Tobias, and blessed her in these words, "Welcome, daughter! Blessed be your God for sending you to us, my daughter. Blessings on your father, blessings on my son Tobias, blessings on yourself, my daughter. Welcome now to your own house in joyfulness and in blessedness. Come in, my daughter." He held a feast that day for all the Jews of ¹⁸ ²⁰ Nineveh, and his cousins Ahikar and Nadab came to share in Tobit's happiness.

XI. RAPHAEL

1 12 When the feasting was over, Tobit called his son Tobias and said, "My son, 2 you ought to think about paying the amount due to your fellow traveler; 3 give him more than the figure agreed on." "Father," he replied, "how much am 4 I to give him for his help? Even if I give him half the goods he brought back with 5 me, I shall not be the loser. He has brought me back to you safe and sound, 6 he has cured my wife, he has brought the money back too, and now he has 7 cured you as well. How much am I to give him for all this?" Tobit said, "He has 8 richly earned half of what he brought back." So Tobias called his companion 9 and said, "Take half of what you brought back, in payment for all you have 10 done, and go in peace."

11 Then Raphael took them both aside and said, "Bless God, utter his praise 12 before all the living for all the favors he has given you. Bless and extol his 13 name. Proclaim before all men the deeds of God as they deserve, and never tire 14 of giving him thanks. It is right to keep the secret of a king, yet right to reveal 15 and publish the works of God. Thank him worthily. Do what is good, and no 16 evil can befall you.

17 "Prayer with fasting and alms with right conduct are better than riches with 18 iniquity. Better to practice almsgiving than to hoard up gold. Almsgiving saves 19 from death and purges every kind of sin. Those who give alms have their fill 20 of days; those who commit sin and do evil, bring harm on themselves.

21 "I am going to tell you the whole truth, hiding nothing from you. I have 22 already told you that it is right to keep the secret of a king, yet right too to reveal 23 in worthy fashion the works of God. So you must know that when you and 24 Sarah were at prayer, it was I who offered your supplications before the glory 25 of the Lord and who read them; so too when you were burying the dead. When 26 you did not hesitate to get up and leave the table to go and bury a dead man, 27 I was sent to test your faith, and at the same time God sent me to heal you 28 and your daughter-in-law Sarah. I am Raphael, one of the seven^a angels who 29 stand ever ready to enter the presence of the glory of the Lord."

30 They were both overwhelmed with awe; they fell on their faces in terror.
 31 But the angel said, "Do not be afraid; peace be with you. Bless God for ever.
 32 As far as I was concerned, when I was with you, my presence was not by any 33 decision of mine, but by the will of God; it is he whom you must bless throughout 34 your days, he that you must praise. You thought you saw me eating, but that 35 was appearance and no more. Now bless the Lord on earth and give thanks to 36 God. I am about to return to him above who sent me. Write down all that has 37 happened." And he rose in the air. When they stood up again, he was no longer 38 visible. They praised God with hymns; they thanked him for having performed 39 such wonders; had not an angel of God appeared to them?

XII. ZION

1 13 And he said:

2 "Blessed be God who lives for ever, 3 for his reign endures throughout all ages!
 4 By turns he punishes and pardons; 5 he sends men down to the depths of the underworld 6 and draws them up from supreme Destruction; 7 no one can escape his hand.
 8 Declare his praise before the nations,

12 a. Only three are named in the Bible: Gabriel, Michael, Raphael.

you who are the sons of Israel!
 For if he has scattered you among them, there too he has shown you his greatness.
 Extol him before all the living;
 he is our Master and he is our God and he is our Father and he is God for ever and ever.

“Though he punishes you for your iniquities, he will take pity on you all;
 he will gather you from every nation wherever you have been scattered.

If you return to him with all your heart and all your soul, behaving honestly toward him, then he will return to you and hide his face from you no longer.
 Consider how well he has treated you; loudly give him thanks.

Bless the Lord of justice and extol the King of the ages.

I for my part sing his praise in the country of my exile; I make his power and greatness known to a nation that has sinned.

Sinners, return to him;
 let your conduct be upright before him; perhaps he will be gracious to you and take pity on you.

I for my part extol God and my soul rejoices in the King of heaven.

Let his greatness be in all men's mouths, his praises be sung in Jerusalem.

“Jerusalem, Holy City, God scourged you for your handiwork yet still will take pity on the sons of the upright.
 Thank the Lord as he deserves and bless the King of the ages, that your Temple may be rebuilt with joy within you and within you he may comfort every exile, and within you he may love all those who are distressed, for all generations to come.

“A bright light shall shine over all the regions of the earth; many nations shall come from far away, from all the ends of the earth, to dwell close to the holy name of the Lord God, with gifts in their hands for the King of heaven.
 Within you, generation after generation shall proclaim their joy, and the name of her who is Elect shall endure through the generations to come.

“Cursed be any who affront you, cursed be any who destroy you, who throw down your walls, who raze your towers, who burn your houses!

 Blessed for ever be all who build you!
 Then you will exult, and rejoice over the sons of the upright, for they will all have been gathered in and will bless the Lord of the ages.

“Happy are those who love you, happy those who rejoice over your peace, happy those who have mourned over all your punishment!
 For they will soon rejoice within you, witnessing all your blessedness in days to come.
 My soul blesses the Lord, the great King, because Jerusalem shall be built anew and his house for ever and ever.

“What bliss if one of my blood is left to see your glory and praise the King of heaven!
 The gates of Jerusalem shall be built of sapphire and of emerald, and all your walls of precious stone;
 the towers of Jerusalem shall be built of gold and their battlements of pure gold.’
 The streets of Jerusalem shall be paved with ruby and with stones from Ophir; the gates of Jerusalem will resound with songs of exultation; and all her houses will say, ‘Alleluia! Blessed be the God of Israel.’ Within you they will bless the holy name for ever and for ever.”

¹ 14 The end of the hymns of Tobit.

XIII. NINEVEH

² Tobit died in peace when he was a hundred and twelve years old and received ³ an honorable burial in Nineveh. ‘He was sixty-two when he went blind; and ⁴ after his cure he lived from then on in comfort, practicing almsgiving and ⁵ continually praising God and extolling his greatness. ‘When he was at the ⁶ point of death he summoned his son Tobias and gave him these instructions, “My son, take your children and hurry away to Media, since I believe the word of God pronounced over Nineveh by Nahum. Everything will come true, everything happen that the emissaries of God, the prophets of Israel, have predicted against Assyria and Nineveh; not one of their words shall prove empty.
 It will all take place in due time. You will be safer in Media than in Assyria or in Babylonia. Since I for my part know and believe that everything God has said will come true; so it will be, and not a word of the prophecies shall fail.

“A census will be taken of our brothers living in the land of Israel and they will be exiled far from their own fair country. The entire territory of Israel will become a desert, and Samaria and Jerusalem will become a desert, and the 5 house of God, for a time, will be laid waste and burned. Then once again God will take pity on them and bring them back to the land of Israel. They will rebuild his house, although it will be less beautiful than the first, until the time has fully come. But after this, all will return from captivity and rebuild Jerusalem in all her glory, and the house of God will be rebuilt within her as the prophets of 6 Israel have foretold. And all the people of the whole earth will be converted and will fear God with all sincerity. All will renounce their false gods who have 7 led them astray into error, and will bless the God of the ages by upright conduct. All the Israelites spared in those days will remember God in sincerity of heart. They will come and gather in Jerusalem and thereafter dwell securely in the land of Abraham, which shall be their own. And those who sincerely love God shall rejoice. And those who commit sin and wickedness shall vanish from the earth.

⁸ 10 "And now, my children, I lay this duty on you: serve God sincerely, and do 11 what is pleasing to him. And lay on your children the obligation to behave uprightly, to give alms, to keep God in mind and to bless his name always, sincerely and with all their might.

⁹⁻¹⁰ 12 "So then, my son, leave Nineveh; do not stay here. As soon as you have 13 buried your mother next to me, go the same day, whenever it may be, and do not linger in this country where I see wickedness and perfidy unashamedly triumphant. Consider, my child, all that Nadab did to his foster father Ahikar. Was he not forced to go underground, though still a living man? But God made the criminal pay for his outrage before the eyes of his victim, since Ahikar came back to the light of day, while Nadab went down to everlasting darkness in punishment for plotting against Ahikar's life. Because of his good works Ahikar escaped the deadly snare Nadab had laid for him, and Nadab fell into it to his 11 own ruin. So, my children, you see what comes of almsgiving, and what wickedness leads to, I mean to death. But now breath fails me."

They laid him back on his bed; he died and was buried with honor.

¹² 14 When his mother died, Tobias buried her beside his father. Then he left for 15 Media with his wife and children. He lived in Ecbatana with Raguel, his father-in-law. He treated the aging parents of his wife with every care and respect, and later buried them in Ecbatana in Media. Tobias inherited the patrimony 13 of Raguel besides that of his father Tobit. Much honored, he lived to the age 14 of a hundred and seventeen years. Before he died he witnessed the ruin of 15 Nineveh. He saw the Ninevites taken prisoner and deported to Media by Cyaxares king of Media. He blessed God for everything he inflicted on the Ninevites and Assyrians. Before his death he had the opportunity of rejoicing over the fate of Nineveh, and he blessed the Lord God for ever and ever. Amen.

JUDITH

I. THE CAMPAIGN OF HOLOFERNES

Nebuchadnezzar and Arphaxad^a

¹ 1 It was the twelfth year of Nebuchadnezzar^b who reigned over the Assyrians in the great city of Nineveh. Arphaxad was then reigning over the Medes at ² Ecbatana. He surrounded this city with walls of dressed stones three cubits thick and six cubits long, making the rampart seventy cubits high and fifty ³ cubits wide. At the gates he placed towers one hundred cubits high and, at the ⁴ foundations, sixty cubits wide, the gates themselves being seventy cubits high and forty wide to allow his forces to march out in a body and his infantry to parade freely.

⁷ Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians sent a message to all the inhabitants of Persia, to all the inhabitants of the western countries, Cilicia, Damascus, ⁸ Lebanon, Anti-Lebanon, to all those along the coast, to the peoples of Carmel, ⁹ Gilead, Upper Galilee, the great plain of Esdraelon, to the men of Samaria and its outlying towns, to those beyond Jordan, as far away as Jerusalem Bethany, Chelous, Kadesh, the river of Egypt, Tahpanhes, Rameses and the ¹⁰ whole territory of Goshen, beyond Tanis, too, and Memphis, and to all the ¹¹ inhabitants of Egypt as far as the frontiers of Ethiopia. But the inhabitants of these countries ignored the summons of Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians and did not rally to him to make war. They were not afraid of him, since in their view he appeared isolated. Hence they sent his ambassadors back with nothing ¹² achieved and in disgrace. Nebuchadnezzar was furious with all these countries. He swore by his throne and kingdom to take revenge on all the territories of Cilicia, Damascene and Syria, of the Moabites and of the Ammonites, of Judaea and Egypt as far as the limits of the two seas, and to ravage them with the sword.

The campaign against Arphaxad

¹³ In the seventeenth year he and his forces gave battle to King Arphaxad and in this battle defeated him. He routed Arphaxad's entire army and all his cavalry ¹⁴ and chariots; he occupied his towns and advanced on Ecbatana; he seized its towers and plundered its market places, reducing its former magnificence to a ¹⁵ mockery. He later captured Arphaxad in the mountains of Ragae and, thrusting him through with his spears, destroyed him once and for all.

1 a. This translation follows the Greek. In places where the verse numbering differs from the Vulgate Latin text, the Vulgate verse numbers are added in italic. b. Nebuchadnezzar stands for "the enemy of God's people, Israel"; historically he was king of Babylon and was never styled "king of Assyria," and Nineveh was not his capital city. c. Probably the Chaldaeans.

16 He then retired with his troops and all who had joined forces with him: a vast horde of armed men. Then, carefree, he and his army gave themselves up to feasting for a hundred and twenty days.

The campaign in the west

1 2 In the eighteenth year,^a on the twenty-second day of the first month, a rumor 2 ran through the palace that Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians was to 3 have his revenge on the whole world, as he had threatened. Summoning his 4 general staff and senior officers he held a secret conference with them, and 5 with his own lips pronounced utter destruction on all these countries. It was 6 then decreed that everyone should be put to death who had not answered the 7 king's appeal.

8 When the council was over, Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians sent for 9 Holofernes,^b general-in-chief of his armies and subordinate only to himself.
10 He said to him, "Thus speaks the Great King, lord of the whole world: 11 'Be on your way; take men of proved valor, about a hundred and twenty 12 thousand foot soldiers and a strong contingent of horse with twelve thousand 13 cavalrymen; then advance against the western lands, since these people have 14 disregarded my call. Bid them have earth and water ready, because in my rage I 15 am about to march on them; the feet of my soldiers will cover the whole face of the 16 earth, and I will plunder it. Their wounded will fill the valleys and the torrents 17 and rivers, blocked with their dead, will overflow. I will lead them captive 18 to the ends of the earth. Now go! Begin by conquering this whole region for me.
19 If they surrender to you, hold them for me until the time comes to punish them.
20 But if they resist, look on no one with clemency. Hand them over to slaughter 21 and plunder throughout the territory entrusted to you. For by my life and 22 by the living power of my kingdom, I have spoken. All this I will do indeed.
23 And you, neglect none of your master's commands, act strictly according to my 24 orders without further delay.'"

25 Leaving the presence of his sovereign, Holofernes immediately summoned 26 all the marshals, generals and officers of the Assyrian army and detailed the 27 picked troops as his master had ordered, about a hundred and twenty thousand 28 men and a further twelve thousand mounted bowmen. He organized these in the 29 normal battle formation. He then secured vast numbers of camels, donkeys 30 and mules to carry the baggage, and innumerable sheep, oxen and goats for 31 food supplies. Every man received full rations and a generous sum of gold 32 and silver from the king's purse.

33 He then set out for the campaign with his whole army, in advance of King 34 Nebuchadnezzar, to overwhelm the whole western region with his chariots, his 35 horsemen and his picked body of foot. A composite corps brought up the rear, 36 as numerous as locusts or the grains of sand on the ground; there was no 37 counting their multitude.

The stages of Holofernes' advance

38 Thus they set out from Nineveh and marched for three days toward the plain 39 of Bectileth. From Bectileth they went on to pitch camp near the mountains 40 that lie to the north of Upper Cilicia. From there Holofernes advanced into 41 the highlands with his whole army, infantry, horsemen, chariots. He cut his 42 way through Put and Lud, stripped all the sons of Rassis and sons of Ishmael 43 living on the verge of the desert south of Cheleon, marched along the Euphrates, 44 crossed Mesopotamia, razed all the fortified towns controlling the wadi Abron 45 and reached the sea. Next he attacked the territories of Cilicia, butchering 46 all who offered him resistance, advanced on the southern frontiers of Japheth, 47 facing Arabia, completely encircled the Midianites, burned their tents and 48 plundered their sheep runs, made his way down to the Damascus plain in the 49 time of the wheat harvest, set fire to the fields, destroyed the flocks and herds, sacked the towns, laid the countryside waste and put all the young men to the sword. Fear and trembling seized all the coastal peoples. The populations of Sidon and Tyre, of Sur, Ocina, Jamnia, Azotus, Ascalon, were panic-stricken.

3 They therefore sent envoys to him to sue for peace and say, "We are servants of the great King Nebuchadnezzar and we lie prone before you. Treat us as you think fit. Our cattle farms, all our land, all our wheat fields, our flocks and herds, all the sheep runs in our encampments are at your disposal. Do with them as you please. Our towns and their inhabitants, too, are at your service; go and advance against them if such is your good pleasure." These men came to Holofernes and delivered the message as above.

6 He then made his way down to the coast with his army and stationed garrisons in all the fortified towns, levying outstanding men there as auxiliaries.

7 The people of these cities and of all the other towns in the neighborhood welcomed him, wearing garlands and dancing to the sound of tambourines.

11.12.13 8 Notwithstanding this, he demolished their shrines and cut down their sacred trees, carrying out his commission to destroy all local gods and to force the nations to worship Nebuchadnezzar alone and to compel men of every language and nationality to hail him as a god.^a 9 Thus he reached the edge of Esdraelon, in the neighborhood of Dothan, a village facing the great ridge of Judaea. He pitched camp between Geba and Scythopolis and stayed there a full month to replenish his supplies.

Judaea on the alert

4 When the Israelites living in Judaea heard how Holofernes, general-in-chief of Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians, had treated the various nations, first plundering their temples and then destroying them, they were thoroughly alarmed at his approach and trembled for Jerusalem and the Temple of the Lord their God. They had returned from captivity only a short time before, and the resettlement of the people in Judaea and the reconsecration of the sacred furnishings, of the altar, and of the Temple, which had been profaned, were of recent date.^a 4.5 They therefore alerted the whole of Samaria, Kona, Beth-horon, Belmain, Jericho, Choba, Aesora and the Salem valley. They occupied the summits of the highest mountains and fortified the villages on them; they laid in supplies for the coming war, as the fields had just been harvested. Joakim the high priest, resident in Jerusalem at the time, wrote to the inhabitants of Bethulia and of Betomesthaim, two towns facing Esdraelon, toward the plain of Dothan. He ordered them to occupy the mountain passes, the only means of access to Judaea, for there it would be easy for them to halt an attacking force, the narrowness of the approach not allowing men to advance more than two abreast. The Israelites carried out the orders of Joakim the high priest and of the people's Council of Elders in session at Jerusalem.

A nation at prayer

9.10.11.12 All the men of Israel cried most fervently to God and humbled themselves before him. They, their wives, their children, their cattle, all their resident aliens, hired or slave, wrapped sackcloth around their loins. All the Israelites in Jerusalem, including the women and children, lay prone in front of the Temple, and with ashes on their heads stretched out their hands before the Lord. They draped the very altar in sackcloth and fervently joined together in begging the God of Israel not to let their little ones be massacred, their wives carried off, the towns of their heritage destroyed, the Temple profaned and desecrated for the heathen to gloat over it. The Lord heard them and looked kindly on their distress.

The people fasted for many days throughout Judaea as well as in Jerusalem before the sanctuary of the Lord Almighty. Joakim the high priest and all who stood before the Lord, the Lord's priests and ministers, wore sackcloth around their loins as they offered the perpetual holocaust and the votive and voluntary offerings of the people. With ashes on their turbans they earnestly called on the Lord to look kindly on the House of Israel.

A council of war in Holofernes' camp

5 Holofernes, general-in-chief of the Assyrian army, received the intelligence that the sons of Israel were preparing for war; that they had closed the mountain passes, fortified the high peaks and laid obstructions in the plains. Holofernes was furious. He summoned all the princes of Moab, all the generals of Ammon and all the satraps of the coastal regions. "Men of Canaan," he said, "tell me: what people is this that occupies the highlands? What towns does it inhabit? How large is its army? What are the sources of its power and strength? Who is the king who rules it and commands its army? Why have these not condescended to wait on me, as all the western peoples have done?" Achior,^a leader of all the Ammonites, replied, "May my lord please listen to what your servant is going to say. I will give you the facts about these mountain folk whose home lies close to you. You will hear no lie from the mouth of your servant. These people are descended from the Chaldeans. They once came to live in Mesopotamia, because they did not want to follow the gods of their ancestors who lived in Chaldea. They abandoned the way of their ancestors to worship the God of heaven, the God they had learned to acknowledge. Banished from the presence of their own gods, they fled to Mesopotamia where they lived for a long time. When God told them to leave their home and set out for Canaan, they settled there and accumulated gold and silver and great herds of cattle. Next, famine having overwhelmed the land of Canaan, they went down to Egypt where they stayed as long as food could be found there. There they became a great multitude, a race beyond counting. But the king of Egypt turned against them and exploited them by forcing them to make bricks; he degraded them, reducing them to slavery. They cried to their God, who struck the entire land of Egypt with incurable plagues, and the Egyptians expelled them. God dried up the Red Sea before them and led them forward by way of Sinai and Kadesh-barnea. Having driven off all the inhabitants of the desert, they settled in the land of the Amorites and, such was their strength, exterminated the inhabitants of Heshbon. Then, having crossed the Jordan, they took possession of all the highlands, driving out the Canaanites before them and the Perizzites, Jebusites, Shechemites and all the Girgashites, and lived there for many years. All the while they did not sin before their God, prosperity was theirs, for they have a God who hates wickedness. But when they turned from the path he had marked out for them, some were exterminated in a succession of battles, others taken captive to a foreign land. The Temple of their God was razed to the ground and their towns were seized by their enemies. Then having turned once again to their God, they came back from the places to which they had been dispersed and scattered, regained possession of Jerusalem, where they have their Temple, and reoccupied the highlands which had been left deserted. So now, master and lord, if this people has committed any fault, if they have sinned against their God, let us first make sure that they have offended in this way, and then let us advance and attack them. But if their nation is guiltless, my lord would do better to abstain, for fear that their Lord and God should protect them; we should then become the laughingstock of the whole world."

22 When Achior had ended this speech, all the people crowding around the tent began protesting. Holofernes' own senior officers, as well as all the coastal 23 peoples and the Moabites, threatened to tear him limb from limb. "Why should 27 we be afraid of the Israelites? They are a weak and powerless people, quite 28 unable to stand a stiff attack. Forward! Advance! Your army, Holofernes our 24 master, will swallow them in one mouthful!"

Achior handed over to the Israelites

1 6 When the uproar of those crowding around the council had subsided, Holofernes, general-in-chief of the Assyrian army, reprimanded Achior in 2 front of the whole crowd of foreigners and Ammonites. "Achior, who do you think you are, you and the Ammonite mercenaries, playing the prophet like this with us today, and trying to dissuade us from making war on the people of Israel? You claim their God will protect them. And who is their God if not Nebuchadnezzar? He himself will display his power and wipe them off the face 3 of the earth, and their God will certainly not save them. But we, his servants, shall destroy them as easily as a single individual. They can never resist the 4 strength of our cavalry. We shall burn them all. Their mountains will be drunk with their blood and their plains filled with their corpses. Far from being able to resist us, every one of them will die; thus says King Nebuchadnezzar, lord of the whole world. For he has spoken, and his words will not prove empty.
 5 As for you, Achior, you Ammonite mercenary, who in a rash moment said these words, you shall not see my face again until the day when I have taken 6 my revenge on this brood of fugitives from Egypt. And then the swords of my 4 soldiers and the spears of my officers will pierce your sides. You will fall 7 among the wounded, the moment I turn on Israel. My servants will now take 8 you into the highlands and leave you near one of the towns in the passes; you 9 will not die, until you share their ruin. No need to look so sad if you cherish 5 the secret hope that they will not be captured! I have spoken; none of my words will prove idle."

19 Holofernes having commanded his tent orderlies to seize Achior, to take him 11 to Bethulia and to hand him over to the Israelites, the orderlies took him, 8 escorted him out of the camp and across the plain, and then, making for the 12 highlands, reached the springs below Bethulia. As soon as the men of the town sighted them, they snatched up their weapons, left the town and made for the mountain tops, while all the slingers pelted them with stones to prevent 13 them from coming up. However, they managed to take cover at the foot of 9 the slope, where they bound Achior and left him lying at the bottom of the mountain and returned to their master.

14 The Israelites then came down from their town, stopped by him, unbound 10 him and took him to Bethulia, where they brought him before the chief men of the town, who at that time were Uzziah son of Micah of the tribe of Simeon, 15 Chabris son of Gothoniel and Charmis son of Melchiel. These summoned all 16 the elders of the town. The young men and the women also hurried to the assembly. Achior was made to stand with all the people surrounding him and 17 Uzziah questioned him about what had happened. He answered by telling them 12 what had been said at Holofernes' council, and what he himself had said in the presence of the Assyrian leaders, and how Holofernes had bragged of what he 18 would do to the House of Israel. At this the people fell to the ground and 14 worshiped God. "Lord God of heaven," they cried, "take notice of their 19 arrogance and have pity on the humiliation of our race. Look kindly today on 20 those who are consecrated to you." They then spoke reassuringly to Achior 16 and praised him warmly. After the assembly Uzziah took him home and gave 21 a banquet for the elders; all that night they called on the God of Israel for help.

II. BETHULIA UNDER SIEGE

The campaign against Israel

1 7 The following day Holofernes issued orders to his whole army and to the whole host of auxiliaries who had joined him to break camp and march on Bethulia, to occupy the mountain passes and so open the campaign against the Israelites. The troops broke camp that same day. The actual fighting force numbered one hundred and twenty thousand infantry and twelve thousand cavalry, not to mention the baggage train with the vast number of men on foot concerned with that. They penetrated the valley in the neighborhood of Bethulia, near the spring, and deployed on a wide front from Dothan to Balbaim and, in depth, from Bethulia to Cyamon, which faces on Esdraelon. When the Israelites saw this horde, they were all appalled and said to each other, "Now they will lick the whole country clean. Not even the loftiest peaks, the gorges or the hills will be able to stand the weight of them." Each man snatched up his arms; they lit beacons on their towers and spent the whole night on watch.

6 On the second day Holofernes deployed his entire cavalry in sight of the Israelites in Bethulia. He reconnoitered the slopes leading up to the town, located the water points, seized them and posted pickets over them and returned to the main body. The chiefs of the sons of Esau, the leaders of the Moabites and the generals of the coastal district then came to him and said, "If our master will please listen to us, his forces will not sustain a single wound. The Israelites do not rely so much on their spears as on the height of the mountains where they live. And admittedly it is not at all easy to scale these heights of theirs.

11 "This being the case, master, do not engage them in a pitched battle, and then you will not lose a single man. Stay in camp, keep all your troops there too, while your servants seize the spring which rises at the foot of the mountain, since that is what provides the population of Bethulia with their water supply. Thirst will then force them to surrender their town. Meanwhile, we and our men will climb the nearest mountain tops and form advance posts there to prevent anyone from leaving the town. Hunger will waste them with their wives and children, and before the sword can reach them they will already be lying in the streets outside their houses. And you will make them pay dearly for their defiance and their refusal to meet you peaceably."

16 Their words pleased Holofernes as well as all his officers and he decided to do as they suggested. Accordingly a troop of Moabites moved forward with a further five thousand Assyrians. They penetrated the valley and seized the Israelites' water points and springs. Meanwhile the Edomites and Ammonites went and took up positions in the highlands opposite Dothan, sending some of their men to the southeast opposite Egrebel, near Chous on the wadi Mochmur. The rest of the Assyrian army took up positions in the plain, covering every inch of the earth; their tents and equipment made an immense encampment, so vast were their numbers.

19 The Israelites called on the Lord their God, dispirited because the enemy had surrounded them and cut all line of retreat. For thirty-four days the Assyrian army, infantry, chariots, cavalrymen, had them surrounded. Every water jar the inhabitants of Bethulia had was empty, their wells were drying up; on no day could a man quench his thirst, since their water was rationed. Their little children pined away, the women and young men grew weak with thirst; they collapsed in the streets and gateways of the town; they had no strength left.

23 Young men, women, children, the whole people thronged clamoring around Uzziah and the chief men of the town, shouting in the presence of the assembled elders, "May God be judge between you and us! For you have done us great harm, by not suing for peace with the Assyrians. And now there is no one to help us. God has delivered us into their hands to be prostrated before them in thirst and utter helplessness. ·Call them in at once; hand the whole town over to be sacked by Holofernes' men and all his army. ·After all, we should be much better off as their booty than we are now; no doubt we shall be enslaved, but at least we shall be alive and not see our little ones dying before our eyes or our wives and children perishing. ·By heaven and earth and by our God, the Lord of our fathers who is punishing us for our sins and the sins of our ancestors, we implore you to take this course now, today." ·Bitter lamentations rose from the whole assembly, and they all cried loudly to the Lord God.

Then Uzziah spoke to them, "Take heart, brothers! Let us hold out five days more. By then the Lord our God will take pity on us, for he will not desert us altogether. ·At the end of this time, if there is no help forthcoming, I will do as you have said." ·With that he dismissed the people to their various quarters. The men went to man the walls and towers of the town, sending the women and children home. The town was full of despondency.

III. JUDITH

A portrait of Judith

8 Judith^a was informed at the time of what had happened. She was the daughter of Merari son of Ox, son of Joseph, son of Oziel, son of Elkiah, son of Ananias, son of Gideon, son of Raphaim, son of Ahitub, son of Elijah, son of Hilkiah, son of Eliab, son of Nathanael, son of Salamiel, son of Sarasadai, son of Israel. Her husband Manasseh, of her own tribe and family, had died at the time of barley harvest. ·He was supervising the men as they bound up the sheaves in the field when he caught sunstroke and had to take to his bed. He died in Bethulia, his home town, and was buried with his ancestors in the field that lies between Dothan and Balamon. ·As a widow, Judith stayed inside her home for three years and four months. ·She had had an upper room built for herself on the roof. She wore sackcloth around her waist and dressed in widow's weeds. ·She fasted every day of her widowhood except for the sabbath eve, the sabbath itself, the eve of New Moon, the feast of New Moon and the festival days of the House of Israel. ·Now, she was very beautiful, charming to see. Her husband Manasseh had left her gold and silver, menservants and maidservants, cattle and lands; and she lived among all her possessions ·without anyone finding a word to say against her, so devoutly did she fear God.

Judith and the elders

9 Hearing how the water shortage had demoralized the people and how they had complained bitterly to the headman of the town, and being also told what Uzziah had said to them and how he had given them his oath to surrender the town to the Assyrians in five days' time, ·Judith immediately sent her woman of affairs who managed her property to summon Chabris and Charmis, two elders of the town. ·When these came in she said:

"Listen to me, leaders of the people of Bethulia. You were wrong to speak to the people as you did today and to bind yourself by oath, in defiance of God, to surrender the town to our enemies if the Lord did not come to your help within a set number of days. ·Who are you, to put God to the test today, you, out of all mankind, to set yourselves above him? ·You of all people to put the Lord Almighty to the test! You do not understand anything, and never will. ·If you cannot sound the depths of the heart of man or unravel the arguments of his mind, how can you fathom the God who made all things, or sound his mind

7 a. "The sons of Esau" are the Edomites; they and the Moabites are traditional enemies of Israel.

8 a. The name means "the Jewess."

or unravel his purposes? No, brothers, do not provoke the anger of the Lord our God. Although it may not be his will to help us within the next five days, he has the power to protect us for as many days as he pleases, just as he has the power to destroy us before our enemies. But you have no right to demand guarantees where the designs of the Lord our God are concerned. For God is not to be coerced as man is, nor is he, like mere man, to be cajoled. Rather, as we wait patiently for him to save, let us plead with him to help us. He will hear our voice if such is his good pleasure.

“And indeed of recent times and still today there never has been one tribe of ours, or family, or village, or town that has worshiped gods made with human hands, as once was done, and that was the reason why our ancestors were delivered over to sword and sack, and perished in misery at the hands of our enemies. We for our part acknowledge no other God than him; and so we may hope he will not look on us disdainfully or desert our nation.

“If indeed they capture us, as you expect, then all Judaea will be captured too, and our holy places plundered, and we shall answer with our blood for their profanation. The slaughter of our brothers, the exile of our country, the unpeopling of our heritage, will recoil on our own heads among the nations whose slaves we will become, and our new masters will look down on us as an outrage and a disgrace; for our surrender will not reinstate us in their favor; no, the Lord our God will make it a thing to be ashamed of. So now, brothers, let us set an example to our brothers, since their lives depend on us and our most sacred possessions—Temple and altar—rest on us.

“All this being so, let us rather give thanks to the Lord our God who, as he tested our ancestors, is now testing us. Remember how he treated Abraham, all the ordeals of Isaac, all that happened to Jacob in Syrian Mesopotamia while he kept the sheep of Laban, his mother’s brother. For as these ordeals were intended by him to search their hearts, so now this is not vengeance God exacts against us, but a warning inflicted by the Lord on those who are near his heart.”

Uzziah replied, “Everything you have said has been spoken from sincerity of heart and no one will contradict a word of it. Not that today is the first time your wisdom has been displayed; from your earliest years all the people have known how shrewd you are and of how sound a heart. But, parched with thirst, the people forced us to act as we had promised them and to bind ourselves by an inviolable oath. You are a devout woman; pray to the Lord, then, to send us a downpour to fill our cisterns, so that our faintness may pass.”

Judith replied, “Listen to me. I intend to do something, the memory of which will be handed down to the children of our race from age to age. Tonight you must be at the gate of the town. I shall make my way out with my attendant. Before the time fixed by you for surrendering the town to our enemies, the Lord will make use of me to rescue Israel. You must not ask what I intend to do; I will not tell you until I have done it.” Uzziah and the chief man said, “Go in peace. May the Lord show you a way to take revenge on our enemies.” And leaving the upper room they went back to their posts.

Judith’s prayer

9 Judith threw herself face to the ground, scattered ashes on her head, uncovered the sackcloth she was wearing and cried loudly to the Lord. At the same time in Jerusalem the evening incense was being offered in the Temple of God. Judith said:

2 “Lord, God of my father Simeon, you armed him with a sword to take vengeance on the foreigners who had undone a virgin’s girdle to her shame, laid bare her thigh to her confusion, violated her womb to her dishonor,

3 since though you said, 'This must not be,' they did it.
For this you handed their leaders over to slaughter, their bed, defiled by their deceit, to blood.
You struck the slaves down with the chiefs and the chiefs with their servants.
4 You left their wives to be carried off, 3 their daughters to be taken captive, and their spoils to be shared out among the sons you loved, who had been so zealous for you, had loathed the stain put on their blood and called on you for help.

"God, my God,
now hear this widow too;
5 for you have made the past, 4 and what is happening now, and what will follow.
What is, what will be, you have planned;
what has been, you designed.
6 Your purposes stood forward;
'See, we are here!' they said.
5 For all of your ways are prepared and your judgments delivered with foreknowledge.

7 "See the Assyrians, boasting in their army, 6 glorying in their horses and their riders, exulting in the strength of their infantry.
9 Trust as they may in shield and spear, in bow and sling, 10 in you they have not recognized the Lord, the shatterer of war; 8 yours alone the title of Lord.

11 "Break their violence with your might, in your anger bring down their strength.
For they plan to profane your holy places, to defile the tabernacle, the resting place of your glorious name, and to throw down with iron the horn of your altar.
9 Observe their arrogance, 12 send your fury on their heads, give the needful courage to this widow's hand.
10 By guile of my lips strike slave down with master, and master with his servant.
15 Break their pride by a woman's hand.

11 "Your strength does not lie in numbers, 16 nor your might in violent men; since you are the God of the humble, the help of the oppressed, the support of the weak, the refuge of the forsaken, the savior of the despairing.

12 Please, please, God of my father, God of the heritage of Israel,

17 Master of heaven and earth, Creator of the waters,
 King of your whole creation, hear my prayer.

18 Give me a beguiling tongue to wound and kill those who have formed such cruel designs against your covenant, against your holy dwelling place, against Mount Zion, against the house belonging to your sons.

14 19 And demonstrate to every nation, every tribe, that you are Yahweh, God almighty, all powerful, and that the race of Israel has you for sole protector."

IV. JUDITH AND HOLOFERNES

Judith goes to the camp of Holofernes

1 10 Thus Judith called on the God of Israel. When she had finished praying, 2 she rose from where she lay, summoned her attendant and went down into 3 the rooms which she used on sabbath days and feasts. There she removed the sackcloth she was wearing and, taking off her widow's dress, she washed all over, anointed herself with costly perfumes, dressed her hair, wrapped a turban around it and put on the dress she used to wear on joyful occasions when her 4 husband Manasseh was alive. She put sandals on her feet, put on her necklaces, bracelets, rings, earrings and all her jewelry, and made herself beautiful enough 5 to catch the eye of every man who saw her. Then she handed her attendant a skin of wine and a flask of oil, filled a bag with barley girdle cakes, cakes of dried fruit and pure loaves, and wrapping all these provisions up gave them 6 to her as well. They then went out, making for the town gate of Bethulia. There they found Uzziyah waiting with the two elders of the town, Chabris and Charmis.
 7 When they saw Judith, her face so changed and her clothes so different, they were lost in admiration of her beauty. They said to her:

8 "May the God of our ancestors keep you in his favor!
 May he grant your purposes fulfillment to the glory of the sons of Israel, to the greater glory of Jerusalem!"

9 Judith worshiped God, and then she said, "Have the town gate opened for me so that I can go out and make all your wishes come true." They did as she asked 10 and gave orders to the young men to open the gate for her. This done, Judith went out accompanied by her maid, while the men of the town watched her all the way down the mountain and across the valley, until they lost sight of her.

11 As the women were making straight through the valley, an advance unit of 12 Assyrians intercepted them, and seizing Judith began questioning her. "Which side are you on? Where do you come from? Where are you going?" "I am a daughter of the Hebrews," she replied, "and I am fleeing from them since they 13 will soon be your prey. I am on my way to see Holofernes, the general of your army, to give him trustworthy information. I will show him the road to take if he wants to capture all the highlands without losing one man or one life." 14 As the men listened to what she was saying, they stared in astonishment at the 15 sight of such a beautiful woman. "It will prove the saving of you," they said to her, "coming down to see our master of your own accord. You had better 16 go to his tent; some of our men will escort you and hand you over to him. Once you are in his presence do not be afraid. Tell him what you have just told us and you will be well treated." They then detailed a hundred of their men as escort for herself and her attendant, and these led them to the tent of Holofernes.

News of her coming had already spread through the tents, and there was a general stir in the camp. She was still outside the tent of Holofernes waiting to be announced, when a crowd began forming around her. They were immensely impressed by her beauty and impressed with the Israelites because of her. "Who could despise a people having women like this?" they kept saying. "Better not leave one man of them alive; let any go and they would twist the whole world around their fingers!"

Then the bodyguard and adjutants of Holofernes came out and led Judith into the tent. Holofernes was resting on his bed under a canopy of purple and gold studded with emeralds and precious stones. The men announced her and he came out to the open part of the tent, with silver torches carried before him.

When Judith confronted the general and his adjutant, the beauty of her face astonished them all. She fell on her face and did homage to him, but his servants raised her from the ground.

The first meeting of Judith with Holofernes

11 "Courage, woman," Holofernes said, "do not be afraid. I have never hurt anyone who chose to serve Nebuchadnezzar, king of the whole world. Even now, if your nation of mountain dwellers had not insulted me, I would not have raised a spear against them. This was their fault, not mine. But tell me, why have you fled from them and come to us? . . . Anyhow, this will prove the saving of you. Courage! You will live through this night, and many after. No one shall hurt you. No, you shall be treated as well as all those are who serve my lord King Nebuchadnezzar."

Judith said, "Please listen favorably to what your slave has to say. Permit your servant to speak in your presence. I will speak no word of a lie in my lord's presence tonight. You have only to follow your servant's advice and God will bring your work to a successful conclusion; in what my lord undertakes he shall not fail. Long life to Nebuchadnezzar, king of the whole world, who has sent you to set every living soul to rights; may his power endure! Since, thanks to you, he is served not only by men, but through your compulsion the wild animals themselves, the cattle, and the birds of the air are to live in the service of Nebuchadnezzar and his whole House.

"We have indeed heard of your genius and adroitness of mind. It is known everywhere in the world that throughout the empire you have no rival for ability, wealth of experience and brilliance in waging war. We have also heard what Achior said in his speech to your council. The men of Bethulia having spared him, he has told them everything that he said to you. Now, master and lord, do not disregard what he said; keep it in your mind, since it is true; our nation will not be punished, the sword will indeed have no power over them, unless they sin against their God. But as it is, my lord need expect no repulse or setback, since death is about to fall on their heads, for sin has gained a hold over them, provoking the anger of their God each time that they commit it. As they are short of food and their water is giving out, they have resolved to fall back on their cattle and decided to make use of all the things that God has, by his laws, forbidden them to eat. Not only have they made up their minds to eat the first fruits of corn and the tithes of wine and oil, though these have been consecrated by them and set apart for the priests who serve in Jerusalem in the presence of our God and may not, lawfully, even be touched by the people, but they have even sent men to Jerusalem—where the inhabitants are doing much the same—to bring them back authorization from the Council of Elders. Now this will be the outcome: when the permission arrives and they act on it, that very day they shall be delivered over to you for destruction.

16 "When I, your servant, came to know all this, I fled from them. God has sent 13 me to do things with you at which the world will be astonished when it hears.
 17 Your servant is a devout woman; she honors the God of heaven day and night.
 14 I therefore propose, my lord, to stay with you. I, your servant, will go out 15 every night into the valley and pray to God to let me know when they have 18 committed their sin. I will then come and tell you, so that you can march out 19 with your whole army; and none of them will be able to resist you. I will be your guide right across Judaea until you reach Jerusalem; there I will enthrone you in the very middle of the city. Then you shall lead them like sheep and never 16 a dog dare open its mouth to bark at you. Foreknowledge tells me this; this 17 has been foretold to me and I have been set to reveal it to you."

20 Her words pleased Holofernes and all his adjutants. Full of admiration at 18 her wisdom they exclaimed, "There is no woman like her from one end of the 19 earth to the other, so lovely of face and so wise of speech!" Holofernes said, 20 "God has done well to send you ahead of your people. Strength will be ours, 21 and ruin theirs who have insulted my lord. As for you, you are as beautiful as you are eloquent; if you do as you have promised, your god shall be my god, and you yourself shall make your home in the palace of King Nebuchadnezzar and be famous throughout the world."

1 12 With that he had her brought in to where his silver dinner service was already laid, and had his own food served to her and his own wine poured 2 out for her. But Judith said, "I would rather not eat this, in case I incur some 3 fault. What I have brought will be enough for me." "Suppose your provisions run out," Holofernes asked, "how could we get more of the same sort? We have 4 no one belonging to your race here." "Never fear, my lord," Judith answered, "the Lord will have used me to accomplish his plan, before your servant has 5 finished these provisions." Then the adjutants of Holofernes took her to a tent 6 where she slept till midnight. A little before the morning watch she rose. She had already sent this request to Holofernes, "Let my lord kindly give orders 7 for your servant to be allowed to go out and pray," and Holofernes had ordered 7 his guards not to prevent her. She stayed in the camp for three days; she went out each night to the valley of Bethulia and washed at the spring where the 8 picket had been posted. As she came up again she prayed to the Lord God of 9 Israel to guide her in her plan to relieve the children of her people. Having purified herself, she would return and stay in her tent until her meal was brought her in the evening.

Judith at the banquet of Holofernes

10 On the fourth day Holofernes gave a banquet, inviting only his own staff 11 and none of the other officers. He said to Bagoas, the eunuch in charge of his personal affairs, "Go and persuade that Hebrew woman you are looking after 12 to come and join us and eat and drink in our company. We shall be disgraced 11 if we let a woman like this go without knowing her better. If we do not seduce 12 her, everyone will laugh at us!" Bagoas then left Holofernes and went to see Judith. "Would this young and lovely woman condescend to come to my lord?"
 he asked. "She shall occupy the seat of honor opposite him, drink the joyful wine with us and be treated today like one of the Assyrian ladies in waiting 14 in the palace of Nebuchadnezzar." "Who am I," Judith replied, "to resist my lord?
 13 I will not hesitate to do whatever he wishes, and doing this will be my joy to my 14 dying day."

15 At this she rose and put on her dress and all her feminine adornments. Her maid preceded her, and on the floor in front of Holofernes spread the fleece which Bagoas had given Judith for her daily use to lie on as she ate.

16 Judith entered and took her place. The heart of Holofernes was ravished at the sight; his very soul was stirred. He was seized with a violent desire to sleep with her; and indeed since the first day he saw her, he had been waiting for an 17 opportunity to seduce her. "Drink, drink!" Holofernes said. "Enjoy yourself 18 with us!" "I am delighted to do so, Lord, for since my birth I have never felt 19 my life more worthwhile than today." She took what her maid had prepared, 20 and ate and drank facing him. Holofernes was so enchanted with her that he drank far more wine than he had drunk on any other day in his life.

1 13 It grew late and his staff hurried away. Bagoas closed the tent from the outside, having shown out those who still lingered in his lord's presence.
2 They went to their beds wearied with all their drinking, and Judith was left 3 alone in the tent with Holofernes who had collapsed wine-sodden on his bed.
4 Judith then told her maid to stay just outside the bedroom and wait for her to come out, as she did every morning. She had let it be understood she would be going out to her prayers and had also spoken of her intention to Bagoas.
5 By now everyone had left Holofernes and no one, either important or unim-6 portant, was left in the bedroom. Standing beside the bed, Judith murmured to herself:

7 "Lord God, to whom all strength belongs, prosper what my hands are now to do for the greater glory of Jerusalem, 8 now is the time to recover your heritage and further my designs to crush the enemies arrayed against us."

6 With that she went up to the bedpost by Holofernes' head and took down his 7 scimitar; coming closer to the bed she caught him by the hair and said, "Make 8 me strong today, Lord God of Israel!" Twice she struck at the nape of his neck 9 with all her strength and cut off his head. She then rolled his body off the 10 bed and tore the canopy down from the bedposts. Soon after, she went out 11 and gave the head of Holofernes to her attendant who put it in her food bag.
12 The two then left the camp together, as they always did when they went to pray.
Once they were out of the camp, they skirted the ravine, climbed the slope to Bethulia and made for the gates.

Judith brings the head of Holofernes to Bethulia

11 From a distance, Judith shouted to the guards on the gates, "Open the gate!
12 Open! For the Lord our God is with us still, displaying his strength in Israel 13 and his might against our enemies, as he has today!" Hearing her voice, the 14 townsmen hurried down to the town gate and summoned the elders. Everyone, 15 great and small, came running down, since her arrival was unexpected. They 16 threw the gate open, welcomed the women, lit a fire to see by and crowded 17 around them. Then Judith raised her voice and said, "Praise God! Praise him!
18 Praise the God who has not withdrawn his mercy from the House of Israel, 19 but has shattered our enemies by my hand tonight!" She pulled the head out of the bag and held it for them to see. "This is the head of Holofernes, general-in-chief of the Assyrian army; here is the canopy under which he lay drunk!
20 The Lord has struck him down by the hand of a woman! Glory to the Lord who has protected me in the course I took! My face seduced him, only to his own undoing; he committed no sin with me to shame me; or disgrace me." 21 Overcome with emotion, the people all fell on their knees and worshiped 22 God, exclaiming as one man, "Blessings on you, O our God, for confounding 23 your people's enemies today!" Uzziah then said to Judith:

"May you be blessed, my daughter, by God Most High,
beyond all women on earth; 24 and may the Lord God be blessed, the Creator of heaven and earth, by whose guidance you cut off the head of the leader of our enemies.

19 The trust you have shown 25 shall not pass from the memories of men, but shall ever remind them of the power of God.
20 God grant you to be always held in honor, and rewarded with blessings, since you did not consider your own life when our nation was brought to its knees, but warded off our ruin, walking undeterred before our God."

26 All the people answered, "Amen! Amen!"

V. TRIUMPH

The Jews attack the Assyrian camp

1 14 Judith said, "Listen to me, brothers. Take this head and hang it on your 2 battlements. When morning comes and the sun is up, let every man take his arms and every able-bodied man leave the town. Appoint a leader for these, as if you meant to march down to the plain against the Assyrian advance post.
3 But you must not do this. The Assyrians will gather up their equipment, make 4 for their camp and wake up their commanders; they in turn will rush to the tent of Holofernes and not be able to find him. They will then be seized with 5 panic and flee at your advance. All you and the others who live in the territory of Israel will have to do is to give chase and slaughter them as they retreat.
6 "But before you do this, call me Achior the Ammonite for him to see the 27.28 man who thought so meanly of the House of Israel and recognize this as the man who sent him to us as a man already doomed to die." (13)^a So they had Achior brought from the house of Uzziah. No sooner had he arrived and seen the 7 head of Holofernes held by a member of the people's assembly than he fell 30 down on his face in a faint. They lifted him up. He then threw himself at the feet of Judith, and prostrate before her exclaimed:

31 "May you be blessed in all the tents of Judah and in every nation; at the sound of your name men will be seized with dread.

8 "Now tell me exactly what you have been doing in these past few days." And surrounded by all the people Judith told him everything she had done from the 9 day she left Bethulia to the moment when she was speaking. When she came to the end, the people cheered at the tops of their voices until the town echoed.
10 (14) Achior, recognizing the mighty works of the God of Israel, believed ardently in him and, accepting circumcision, was incorporated in the House of Israel forever.

11 At daybreak they hung the head of Holofernes on the ramparts. Every man took his arms and they all went out in groups to the slopes of the mountain.
12 Seeing this, the Assyrians sent word to their leaders, who in turn reported to 9.13 the generals, the captains of thousands and all the other officers; and these in their turn reported to the tent of Holofernes. "Rouse our master," they said 12 to his major-domo, "these slaves have dared to march down on us to attack—13 and to be wiped out to a man!" Bagoas went inside and clapped his hands in front of the curtain dividing the tent, thinking that Holofernes was sleeping 15 with Judith. But as no one seemed to hear, he drew the curtain and went into 14 the bedroom, to find him thrown down dead on the threshold and the head

16 gone from his body. He gave a great shout, wept, sobbed, shrieked and rent 15 his clothes. He then went into the tent which Judith had occupied and could 17 not find her either. Then, rushing out to the men, he shouted, "Those slaves 18 have duped us! One Hebrew woman has brought shame on the House of 16 Nebuchadnezzar. Holofernes is lying dead on the ground, with his head cut off!" 19 When they heard this, the leaders of the Assyrian army tore their tunics in 18 consternation, and the camp rang with their wild cries and their shouting.

1 15 When the men who were still in their tents heard the news they were 2 appalled. They were so gripped with panic and dread that no two men 3 could keep together: the rout was complete. They fled along every track across 4 the plain or through the mountains. The men who had been bivouacking in 5 the mountains around Bethulia were fleeing too. Then all the Israelite warriors 6 charged down on them. Uzziah sent messengers to Betomasthaim, Bebai, 7 Choba, Kola and through all the highlands of Israel, to inform them of what 8 had happened and to urge them all to hurl themselves on the enemy and 9 annihilate them. As soon as the Israelites heard the news, they fell on them as 10 one man and massacred them all the way to Choba. The men of Jerusalem and 11 the entire mountain country also rallied to them, once they had been informed 12 of the events in the enemy camp. Then the men of Gilead and Galilee attacked 13 them on the flank and struck at them fiercely till they neared Damascus and 14 its territory. The rest, who had stayed in Bethulia, fell upon the Assyrian camp 15 and looted it to their great profit. The Israelites returning from the slaughter 16 seized what was left. The hamlets and villages of the mountain country and the 17 plain also captured a great deal of booty, since there were vast stores of it.

Israel gives thanks

8 Joakim the high priest and the Council of Elders of Israel, who were in 9 Jerusalem, came to gaze on the benefits that the Lord had lavished on Israel 10 and to see Judith and congratulate her. On coming to her house they blessed 11 her with one accord, saying:

"You are the glory of Jerusalem!
 You are the great pride of Israel!
 You are the highest honor of our race!

10 "By doing all this with your own hand 11 you have deserved well of Israel, and God has approved what you have done.

"May you be blessed by the Lord Almighty in all the days to come!"

12 All the people answered, "Amen!"

13.14 The people looted the camp for thirty days. They gave Judith the tent of Holofernes, all his silver plate, his divans, his drinking bowls and all his furniture.
 She took this, loaded her mule, harnessed her carts and heaped the things into 15 them. All the women of Israel, hurrying to see her, formed choirs of dancers 16 in her honor. Judith distributed branches to the women who accompanied her; 17 she and her companions put on wreaths of olive. Then she took her place at 18 the head of the procession and led the women as they danced. All the men of 19 Israel, armed and garlanded, followed them, singing hymns. With all Israel 20 around her, Judith broke into this song of thanksgiving and the whole people sang this hymn aloud:

1 16 "Praise my God with the tambourine, 2 sing to the Lord with the cymbal, let psalm and canticle mingle for him, extol his name, invoke it!

For the Lord is a God who shatters war; he has pitched his camp in the middle of his people to deliver me from the hands of my enemies.

"Assyria came down from the mountains of the north, came with tens of thousands of his army.

Their multitude blocked the wadis, their horses covered the hills.

He promised to burn up my country, destroy my young men with the sword, dash my sucklings to the ground, make prey of my little ones, carry off my maidens;

but the Lord Almighty has thwarted them
by a woman's hand.

For their hero did not fall at the young men's hands, it was not sons of Titans who struck him down, no proud giants made that attack, but Judith, the daughter of Merari, who disarmed him with the beauty of her face.

She laid aside her widow's dress to rally those who were oppressed in Israel;

she anointed her face with perfume, bound her hair under a turban, put on a linen gown to seduce him.

Her sandal ravished his eye, her beauty took his soul prisoner . . .
and the scimitar cut through his neck!

"The Persians trembled at her boldness, the Medes were daunted by her daring.

These were struck with fear when my lowly ones shouted, these were seized with terror when my weak ones shouted louder, and when they shouted loudest, these gave ground.

The children of mere girls ran them through, pierced them like the offspring of deserters.
They perished in the battle of my Lord!

"I will sing a new song to my God.

Lord, you are great, you are glorious, wonderfully strong, unconquerable.

May your whole creation serve you!
For you spoke and things came into being, you sent your breath and they were put together, and no one can resist your voice.

"Should mountains topple to mingle with the waves, should rocks melt like wax before your face, to those who fear you,
you would still be merciful.

"A little thing indeed is a sweetly smelling sacrifice, still less the fat burned for you in holocaust;

but whoever fears the Lord is great for ever.

¹⁷₂₀ "Woe to the nations who rise against my race!
The Lord Almighty will punish them on judgment day.
²¹ He will send fire and worms in their flesh and they shall weep with pain for evermore."

¹⁸₂₂ When they reached Jerusalem they fell on their faces before God and, once the people were purified, they offered their holocausts and voluntary offerings ¹⁹₂₃ and gifts. ·All Holofernes' property given her by the people and the canopy she herself had stripped from his bed, Judith vowed to God as a dedicated offering.
²⁰₂₄ For three months the people gave themselves up to rejoicings in Jerusalem before the Temple, where Judith stayed with them.

Judith lives to old age. Her death

²¹₂₅ When this was over, everyone returned home. Judith went back to Bethulia and lived on her estate; as long as she lived, she enjoyed a great reputation ²²₂₆ throughout the country. ·She had many suitors, but all her days, from the time her husband Manasseh died and was gathered to his people, she never gave ²³ herself to another man. ·Her fame spread more and more the older she grew ²⁸ in her husband's house; she lived to the age of a hundred and five years.^a She emancipated her maid, then died in Bethulia and was buried in the cave where ²⁴₂₉ Manasseh her husband lay. ·The House of Israel mourned her for seven days.
Before her death she had distributed her property among her own relations and those of her husband Manasseh.
²⁵₃₀ Never again during the lifetime of Judith, nor indeed for long after her death, did any one trouble the sons of Israel.

16 a. And thus qualifies to be ranked with the heroes of the patriarchal age.

ESTHER

Mordecai's dream^a

11^{1a}₂ 1 In the second year of the reign of the great King Ahasuerus,^b on the first day of Nisan, a dream came to Mordecai son of Jair, son of Shimei, son of Kish, 11^{1b}₃ of the tribe of Benjamin, a Jew living at Susa and holding high office at the royal 11^{1c}₄ court. He was one of the captives whom Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had deported from Jerusalem with Jeconiah, king of Judah.^c

11^{1d}₅ This was his dream. There were cries and noise, thunder and earthquakes, and 11^{1e}₆ disorder over the whole earth. Then two great dragons came forward, each ready 11^{1f}₇ for the fray, and set up a great roar. At the sound of them every nation made ready 11^{1g}₈ to wage war against the nation of the just. A day of darkness and gloom, of affliction 11^{1h}₉ and distress, oppression and great disturbance on earth! The righteous nation was thrown into consternation at the fear of the evils awaiting them, and prepared for 11¹ⁱ₀ death, crying out to God. Then from their cry, as from a little spring, there grew 11^{1j}₁ a great river, a flood of water. Light came as the sun rose, and the humble 11^{1k}₂ were raised up and devoured the mighty.

11^{1l}₂ On awakening from this dream and vision of God's designs, Mordecai thought deeply on the matter, trying his best all day to discover what its meaning might be.

A plot against the king

11^{1m}₂ Lodging at court with Bigthan and Teresh, two of the king's eunuchs who 11¹ⁿ₃ guarded the palace, Mordecai got wind of their intentions and uncovered their plot. Learning that they were preparing to assassinate King Ahasuerus, he warned 11^{1o}₄ the king against them. The king gave orders for the two eunuchs to be tortured; 11^{1p}₅ they confessed and were executed. The king then had these events recorded in his 11^{1q}₆ Chronicles, while Mordecai himself also wrote an account of them. The king then 11^{1r}₇ appointed Mordecai to an office at court and rewarded him with presents. But 11^{1s}₈ Haman son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, who enjoyed high favor with the king, determined to injure Mordecai in revenge for the king's two eunuchs.

I. AHASUERUS AND VASHTI

Ahasuerus' banquet

1 1 It was in the days of Ahasuerus, the Ahasuerus whose empire stretched from 1 India to Ethiopia and comprised one hundred and twenty-seven provinces. 2 In those days, when King Ahasuerus was sitting on his royal throne in the 3 citadel of Susa, in the third year of his reign, he gave a banquet at his court for all his administrators and ministers, chiefs of the army of Persia and Media, 4 nobles and governors of provinces. Thus he displayed the riches and splendor of his empire and the pomp and glory of his majesty; the festivities went on for a long time, a hundred and eighty days.

5 When this period was over, for seven days the king gave a banquet for all the people living in the citadel of Susa, to high and low alike, in the enclosure adjoining the king's palace. 6 There were white and violet hangings fastened with cords of fine linen and purple thread to silver rings on marble columns, couches of gold and silver on a pavement of porphyry, marble, mother-of-pearl and 7 precious stones. For drinking there were golden cups of various design and 8 the royal wine in plenty according to the king's bounty. By royal command, however, drinking was not obligatory, the king having instructed the officials of his household to treat each guest according to his own wishes.

The affair of Vashti

9 Queen Vashti,^d too, had given a banquet for the women in the royal palace 10 of King Ahasuerus. On the seventh day, when the king was merry with wine, he commanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, Abagtha, Zethar and Carkas, the seven eunuchs in attendance on the person of King Ahasuerus, 11 to bring Queen Vashti before the king crowned with her royal diadem, in order to display her beauty to the people and the administrators, for she was very 12 beautiful. But Queen Vashti refused to come at the king's command delivered 13 by the eunuchs. The king was very angry at this and his rage grew hot. He then consulted the wise men who were versed in the law, since it was the practice 14 to refer matters affecting the king to expert lawyers and jurists. He summoned Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena and Memucan, the 15 seven administrators of Persia and Media who had privileged access to the royal presence and occupied the leading positions in the kingdom. "According to 16 law," he said, "what is to be done to Queen Vashti for not obeying the command of King Ahasuerus delivered by the eunuchs?" In the presence of the king and of 17 the administrators Memucan answered, "Vashti has wronged not only the king, but also all the administrators and nations inhabiting the provinces of King 18 Ahasuerus. The queen's conduct will soon become known to all the women and encourage them in a contemptuous attitude toward their husbands, since 19 they will say, 'King Ahasuerus ordered Queen Vashti to appear before him and she did not come.' The wives of all the Persian and Median administrators 20 will hear of the queen's answer before the day is out, and will start talking to the king's administrators in the same way; that will mean contempt and anger all around. If it is the king's pleasure, let him issue a royal edict, to be irrevocably 21 incorporated into the laws of the Persians and Medes, to the effect that Vashti is never to appear again before King Ahasuerus, and let the king confer her royal 22 dignity on a worthier woman. Let this edict issued by the king be proclaimed throughout the length and breadth of his realm, and all the women will henceforth bow to the authority of their husbands, both high and low alike."

21 This speech pleased the king and the administrators and the king did as 22 Memucan advised. He sent letters to all the provinces of the kingdom, to each province in its own script and to each nation in its own language, ensuring that every husband should be master in his own house.

II. MORDECAI AND ESTHER

Esther becomes queen

1 2 Some time after this, when the king's wrath had abated, Ahasuerus remembered Vashti, how she had behaved, and the measures taken against her.

1 a. Passages found in the Greek text but not contained in the Hebrew are printed in italic. In places where the verse numbering differs from the Vulgate Latin text, the Vulgate verse numbers are added in italic. b. 'Ahasuerus' is the Hebrew transliteration of the Persian name which in Greek is rendered Xerxes. c. The chronological details cannot be harmonized; Mordecai is a courtier of Ahasuerus (about 480) and was exiled in the reign of Jeconiah (about 598). d. She is unknown to history.

2 The king's courtiers in waiting said, "Let beautiful girls be selected for the king.
3 Let the king appoint commissioners throughout the provinces of his realm to bring all these beautiful young virgins to the citadel of Susa, to the harem under the authority of Hegai the king's eunuch, custodian of the women. Let him 4 provide them with what they need for their adornment, and let the girl who pleases the king take Vashti's place as queen." This advice pleased the king and he acted on it.

5 Now in the citadel of Susa there lived a Jew called Mordecai son of Jair, son 6 of Shimei, son of Kish, of the tribe of Benjamin, who had been deported from Jerusalem among the captives taken away with Jeconiah king of Judah by 7 Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. He had brought up Hadassah, otherwise called Esther, his uncle's daughter, who had lost both father and mother; the girl had a good figure and a beautiful face, and on the death of her parents Mordecai had adopted her as his daughter.

8 Following the promulgation of the king's edict, a great number of girls were brought to the citadel of Susa where they were entrusted to Hegai. Esther also was taken to the king's palace and entrusted to Hegai, the custodian of the 9 women. The girl pleased him and won his favor. Not only did he quickly provide her with all she needed for her dressing room and her meals, but he gave her seven special maids from the king's household and transferred her and 10 her maids to the best part of the harem. Esther did not reveal her race or 11 kindred, since Mordecai had forbidden her to do so. Mordecai walked up and down in front of the courtyard of the harem every day, to learn how Esther was and how she was being treated.

12 Each girl had to appear in turn before King Ahasuerus, after a delay of twelve months fixed by the regulations for the women; this preparatory period was occupied as follows: six months with oil of myrrh, and six months with 13 spices and lotions commonly used for feminine beauty treatment. Before going into the king, each girl was allowed to take with her from the harem to the king's 14 palace whatever she chose. She went there in the evening, and the following morning returned to another harem entrusted to the care of Shaashgaz, the king's eunuch, custodian of the concubines. She did not go to the king any more, unless he was particularly pleased with her and had her summoned by name.

15 But when it was the turn of Esther, the daughter of Abihail whose nephew Mordecai had adopted her as his own daughter, to go into the king's presence, she did not ask for anything beyond what had been assigned her by Hegai, the king's eunuch, custodian of the women. And Esther soon won the admiration of 16 all who saw her. She was brought to King Ahasuerus in his royal palace in the 17 tenth month, which is called Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign; and the king liked Esther better than any of the other women; none of the other girls found so much favor and approval with him. So he set the royal diadem on her head and proclaimed her queen instead of Vashti.

18 Then the king gave a great banquet, Esther's banquet, for all his administrators and ministers, decreed a holiday for all the provinces and distributed largesse with royal prodigality.

Mordecai and Haman

19 When Esther, like the other girls, had been transferred to the second harem, she had not revealed her kindred or race, in obedience to the orders of Mordecai, whose instructions she continued to follow as when she had been under his care.
21 At this time Mordecai was attached to the Chancellery and two malcontents, Bigthan and Teresh, king's eunuchs belonging to the Guardians of the Threshold, 22 plotted to assassinate King Ahasuerus. Mordecai came to hear of this and informed Queen Esther, who in turn, on Mordecai's authority, told the king.
23 The matter was investigated and proved to be true. The two conspirators were sent to the gallows, and the incident was recorded in the Book of the Chronicles in the presence of the king.

1 3 Shortly afterward, King Ahasuerus singled out Haman son of Hammedatha, 2 from the land of Agag,^a for promotion. He raised him in rank and precedence 3 above all his colleagues, the other officers of state, and gave orders that all the 4 officials employed at the Chancellery were to bow down and prostrate themselves 5 before Haman. Mordecai refused either to bow or prostrate himself. "Why do 6 you flout the royal command?" the officials of the Chancellery asked Mordecai.
 7 They asked him this day after day, but he took no notice of them. In the end 8 they reported the matter to Haman, wishing to see whether Mordecai would 9 persist in his attitude, since he had told them he was a Jew. When Haman had 10 seen for himself that Mordecai did not bow or prostrate himself before him, he 11 was seized with fury. Having been told what race Mordecai belonged to, he 12 could not be content with murdering Mordecai but made up his mind to wipe 13 out all the members of Mordecai's race, the Jews, throughout the empire of Ahasuerus.

III. THE JEWS IN PERIL

The decree of extermination against the Jews

7 In the first month, that is the month of Nisan, of the twelfth year of King 8 Ahasuerus, they cast the pur (that is, the lot) before Haman for the day and 9 the month. The lot falling on the twelfth month, which is Adar, Haman said 10 to King Ahasuerus, "There is a certain unassimilated nation scattered among 11 the other nations throughout the provinces of your realm; their laws are different 12 from those of all the other nations and they ignore the royal edicts; hence it 13 is not in the king's interests to tolerate them. If it please the king to decree their destruction, I am prepared to pay ten thousand talents of silver to the king's receivers, to be credited to the royal treasury."

10 The king then took his signet ring off his hand and gave it to Haman son of 11 Hammedatha, the Agagite, the persecutor of the Jews. "Keep the money," he 12 said, "and you can have the people too; do what you like with them."

12 Then on the thirteenth day of the first month the royal scribes were summoned, and copies were made of the orders addressed by Haman to the king's satraps, to the governors ruling each province and to the principal officials of each 13 people, to each province in its own script and to each people in its own language.
 The edict was signed in the name of King Ahasuerus and sealed with his ring, and letters were sent by runners to every province of the realm ordering the destruction, slaughter and annihilation of all Jews, young and old, women and children, on the one day, the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is Adar, and the seizing of their possessions.

13a The text of the letter was as follows:

13:1 "The great King, Ahasuerus, to the governors of the hundred and twenty-seven provinces stretching from India to Ethiopia, and to their subordinate district commissioners.

13₂ "Being placed in authority over many nations and ruling the whole world, I have resolved never to be carried away by the insolence of power, but always to rule with moderation and clemency, so as to assure for my subjects a life ever free from storms and, offering my kingdom the benefits of civilization and free transit from 13c end to end, to restore that peace which all men desire. In consultation with our advisers as to how this aim is to be effected, we have been informed by one of them, eminent among us for prudence and well proved for his unfailing devotion and unshakeable trustworthiness, and in rank second only to our majesty, Haman by

2 a. Probably a Babylonian name (Ishtar), like Mordecai (Marduk).

3 a. Country not known; the name is that of an Amalekite king conquered by Saul.

^{13d}₄ name, that there is, mingled among all the tribes of the earth a certain ill-disposed people, opposed by its laws to every other nation and continually defying the royal ordinances, in such a way as to obstruct that form of government assured by us to the general good.

^{13e}₅ "Considering therefore that this people, unique of its kind, is in complete opposition to all mankind from which it differs by its outlandish system of laws, that it is hostile to our interests and that it commits the most heinous crimes, to the point of endangering the stability of the realm:

^{13f}₆ "We command that the people designated to you in the letters written by Haman, appointed to watch over our interests and a second father to us, are all, including women and children, to be destroyed root and branch by swords of their enemies, without any pity or mercy, on the fourteenth day of the twelfth month, Adar, of the present year, so that, these past and present malcontents being in one day forcibly thrown down to Hades, our government may henceforward enjoy perpetual stability and peace."

¹⁴ The text of this decree, to be promulgated as law in each province, was published to the various peoples, so that each might be ready for the day aforementioned. ¹⁵ At the king's command, the runners set out with all speed; the decree was first promulgated in the citadel of Susa.

While the king and Haman gave themselves up to feasting and drinking, consternation reigned in the city of Susa.

Mordecai and Esther try to avert the danger

⁴ When Queen Esther's maids and eunuchs came and told her, she was overcome with grief. She sent clothes for Mordecai to put on instead of his sackcloth, ⁵ but he refused them. Then Esther summoned Hathach, a eunuch whom the king had appointed to wait on her, and ordered him to go to Mordecai and inquire what was the matter and why he was acting in this way.

⁶ Hathach went out to Mordecai, who was still in the city square in front of ⁷ the Chancellery, and Mordecai told him what had happened to him personally, and also about the sum of money which Haman had offered to pay into the ⁸ royal treasury as compensation for the destruction of the Jews. He also gave him a copy of the edict of extermination published in Susa for him to show ^{15:1} Esther for her information, with the message that she was to go to the king and ^{8a} ² implore his favor and plead with him for her people. "Remember your humbler circumstances," he said, "when you were fed by my hand. Since Haman, the second ^{8b} ³ person in the realm, has petitioned the king for our deaths, invoke the Lord, speak to the king for us and save us from death!"

⁹ Hathach came back and told Esther what Mordecai had said; and she ¹¹ replied with the following message for Mordecai, "All the king's servants and the people of his provinces know that for a man or woman who approaches the king in the inner court without being summoned there is one penalty: death, unless, by pointing his golden scepter toward him, the king grants him his life. And I have not been summoned to the king for the last thirty days."

¹² ¹³ These words of Esther were reported to Mordecai, who sent back the following reply, "Do not suppose that, because you are in the king's palace, you are going to be the one Jew to escape. No; if you persist in remaining silent at such a time, relief and deliverance will come to the Jews from another place,^a but both you and the House of your father will perish. Who knows? Perhaps you have come to the throne for just such a time as this."

¹⁵₁₆ Whereupon Esther sent this reply to Mordecai, "Go and assemble all the Jews now in Susa and fast for me. Do not eat or drink day or night for three days. For my part, I and my maids will keep the same fast, after which I shall ¹⁷ go to the king in spite of the law; and if I perish, I perish." Mordecai went away and carried out Esther's instructions.

Mordecai's prayer

^{17a}_{13:8} Then calling to mind all the wonderful works of the Lord, he offered this prayer:

^{17b}₉ "Lord, Lord, King and Master of all things, everything is subject to your power, and there is no one who can withstand you in your will to save Israel.

^{17c}₁₀ "Yes, you have made heaven and earth, and all the marvels that are under heaven.
 11 You are the Lord of all, and there is none who can resist you, Lord.

^{17d}₁₂ "You know all things; you know, Lord, you know, that no insolence, arrogance, vainglory prompted me to this, to this refusal to bow down before proud Haman.
 13 I would readily have kissed his feet for the safety of Israel.

^{17e}₁₄ "But what I did, I did rather than place the glory of a man above the glory of God; and I will not bow down to any but to you, Lord;
 in so refusing I will not act in pride.

^{17f}₁₅ "And now, Lord God, King, God of Abraham, spare your people!
 For men are seeking our ruin and plan to destroy your ancient heritage.
^{17g}₁₆ Do not overlook your inheritance, which you redeemed for your own out of the land of Egypt.
^{17h}₁₇ Hear my supplication, have mercy on your heritage, and turn our grief into rejoicing, that we may live to hymn your name, Lord.
 Do not suffer the mouths of those who praise you to perish."

¹⁷ⁱ₁₈ And all Israel cried out with all their might, for they were faced with death.

Esther's prayer

^{14:l}_{17k} Queen Esther also took refuge with the Lord in the mortal peril which had overtaken her. She took off her sumptuous robes and put on sorrowful mourning. Instead of expensive perfumes she covered her head with ashes and dung. She humbled her body severely, and the former scenes of her happiness and elegance

³ were now littered with tresses torn from her hair. She besought the Lord God of Israel in these words:

17l "My Lord, our King, the only one, come to my help, for I am alone and have no helper but you and am about to take my life in my hands.

17m 5 *"I have been taught from my earliest years, in the bosom of my family, that you, Lord, chose Israel out of all the nations and our ancestors out of all the people of old times to be your heritage for ever;
and that you have treated them as you promised.*

17n 6 *"But then we sinned against you, and you handed us over to our enemies for paying honor to their gods.
Lord, you are just.*

17o 8 *"But even now they are not satisfied with the bitterness of our slavery:
they have put their hands in the hands of their idols^b to abolish the decree that your own lips have uttered, to blot out your heritage, to stop the mouths of those who praise you, to quench your altar and the glory of your House, and instead to open the mouths of the heathen, to sing the praise of worthless idols and forever to idolize a king of flesh.*

17p 10 *"Do not yield your scepter, Lord, to non-existent beings.
Never let men mock at our ruin.
Turn their designs against themselves, and make an example of him who leads the attack on us.
Remember, Lord; reveal yourself in the time of our distress.*

17q 11 *"As for me, give me courage, King of gods and master of all power.
Put persuasive words into my mouth when I face the lion; change his feeling into hatred for our enemy, that the latter and all like him may be brought to their end.*

17r 12 "As for ourselves, save us by your hand, and come to my help, for I am alone and have no one but you, Lord.

17s 13 You have knowledge of all things, and you know that I hate honors from the godless, that I loathe the bed of the uncircumcised, of any foreigner whatever.

17t 14 You know I am under constraint, that I loathe the symbol of my high position bound round my brow when I appear at court; I loathe it as if it were a filthy rag and do not wear it on my days of leisure.

17u 15 Your handmaid has not eaten at Haman's table,

17v 16

17w 17 nor taken pleasure in the royal banquets, nor drunk the wine of libations.

¹⁷₁₈ Nor has your handmaid found pleasure from the day of her promotion until now except in you, Lord, God of Abraham.

¹⁷₁₉ O God, whose strength prevails over all, listen to the voice of the desperate, save us from the hand of the wicked, and free me from my fear."

Esther presents herself at the palace

^{1a}_{15:4} 5 On the third day, when she had finished praying, she took off her suppliant's mourning attire and dressed herself in her full splendor. Radiant as she then appeared, she invoked God who watches over all men and saves them. Then she took two maids with her. With a delicate air she leaned on one, while the other accompanied her carrying her train. She leaned on the maid's arm as though languidly, but in fact because her body was too weak to support her; the other maid followed her mistress, lifting her robes which swept the ground. •Rosy with the full flush of her beauty, her face radiated joy and love: but her heart shrank with fear. •Having passed through door after door, she found herself in the presence of the king. He was seated on the royal throne, dressed in all his robes of state, glittering with gold and precious stones—a formidable sight. •Raising his face, afire with majesty, he looked on her, blazing with anger. The queen sank down. She grew faint and the color drained from her face, and she leaned her head against the maid who accompanied her. •But God changed the king's heart inducing a milder spirit. He sprang from his throne in alarm and took her in his arms until she recovered, comforting her with soothing words. "What is the matter, Esther?" he said. "I am your brother. Take heart; you will not die; our order only applies to ordinary people. Come to me." •And raising his golden scepter he laid it on her neck, embraced her and said, "Speak to me." "My lord," she said, "you looked to me like an angel of God, and my heart was moved with fear of your majesty. For you are a figure of wonder, my lord, and your face is full of graciousness." •But as she spoke she fell down in a faint. The king was distressed, and all his attendants tried their best to revive her. "What is the matter, Queen Esther?" the king said. "Tell me what you desire; even if it is half my kingdom, I grant it you." "Would the king be pleased," Esther replied, "to come with Haman today to the banquet I have prepared for him?" •The king said, "Tell Haman to come at once, so that Esther may have her wish."

⁶ So the king and Haman came to the banquet that Esther had prepared. •As they drank their wine, the king again said to Esther, "Tell me what you request; I grant it to you. Tell me what you desire; even if it is half my kingdom, it is yours for the asking." "What do I desire, what do I request?" Esther replied. "If I have found favor in the king's eyes, and if it is his pleasure to grant what I ask and to agree to my request, let the king and Haman come to the other banquet I intend to give them tomorrow, and then I will do as the king says."

⁹ Haman left full of joy and high spirits that day; but when he saw Mordecai at the Chancellery, neither standing up nor stirring at his approach, he felt a gust of anger. •He restrained himself, however. Returning home, he sent for his friends and Zeresh his wife and held forth to them about his dazzling wealth, his many children, how the king had raised him to a position of honor and promoted him over the heads of the king's administrators and ministers. "What is more," he added, "Queen Esther just invited me and the king—no one else except me—to a banquet she was giving, and better still she has invited me and the king again tomorrow. •But what do I care about all this when all the while I see Mordecai the Jew sitting there at the Chancellery?" "Have a fifty-cubit gallows run up," Zeresh his wife and all his friends said, "and in the morning ask the king to have Mordecai hanged on it. Then accompany the king to the feast without a care in the world!" Delighted with this advice, Haman had the gallows erected.

IV. THE JEWS' REVENGE

The discomfiture of Haman

1 6 That night, the king could not sleep; he called for the Record Book, the 2 Chronicles, to be brought and read to him. They contained an account of how Mordecai had denounced Bigthan and Teresh, two of the king's eunuchs 3 serving as Guardians of the Threshold, who had plotted to assassinate king Ahasuerus. "And what honor and dignity," the king asked, "was conferred on Mordecai for this?" "Nothing has been done for him," the courtiers in attendance 4 replied. Then the king said, "Who is on duty in the antechamber?" Haman had at that moment entered the outer antechamber of the king's palace to ask the king to have Mordecai hanged on the gallows which he had just put up for the 5 purpose. So the king's courtiers replied, "Haman is waiting in the antechamber." 6 "Bring him in," the king said, and went on to ask as soon as Haman had entered,
 "What is the right way to treat a man whom the king wishes to honor?" "Whom," 7 thought Haman, "would the king wish to honor, if not me?" So he replied, "If 8 the king wishes to honor someone, have royal robes brought, which the king has worn, and a horse which the king has ridden, with a royal diadem on 9 its head. The robes and horse should be handed to one of the noblest of the king's officers, and he should array the man whom the king wishes to honor and lead him on horseback through the city square, proclaiming before him: 10 "This is the way to treat a man whom the king wishes to honor." "Hurry," the king said to Haman, "take the robes and the horse, and do everything you have just said to Mordecai the Jew, who works at the Chancellery. On no account leave anything out that you have mentioned."

11 So taking the robes and the horse, Haman arrayed Mordecai and led him on horseback through the city square, proclaiming before him: "This is the way to 12 treat a man whom the king wishes to honor." After this Mordecai returned to the Chancellery, while Haman went hurrying home dejected, covering his 13 face. He told his wife Zeresh and all his friends what had just happened. His wife Zeresh and his friends said, "Thanks to Mordecai, you have just had a fall; if he happens to belong to the Jewish race, you will never recover the upper hand again. Far from it; once having begun, thanks to him you will fall and fall again."

Haman at Esther's banquet

14 While they were still talking, the king's eunuchs arrived in a hurry to escort 1 Haman to the banquet that Esther had prepared. 7 When the king and Haman 2 were seated at the banquet with Queen Esther this second day, the king again said to Esther as they drank their wine, "Tell me what you request, Queen Esther?
 I grant it to you. Tell me what you desire: even if it is half my kingdom, it is yours 3 for the asking." "If I have found favor in your eyes, O king," Queen Esther replied, "and if it please your majesty, grant me my life—that is what I request; 4 and the lives of my people—that is what I desire. For we are doomed, I and my people, to destruction, slaughter and annihilation; if we had merely been condemned to become slaves and servant girls, I would have said nothing; but as things are, it will be beyond the means of the persecutor to make good the 5 loss that the king is about to sustain." King Ahasuerus interrupted Queen Esther, "Who is this man?" he exclaimed. "Where is he, the schemer of such an 6 outrage?" Esther replied, "The persecutor, the enemy? Why, this wretch Haman!" 7 Haman quaked with terror in the presence of the king and queen. In a rage the king rose and left the banquet to go into the palace garden; while Haman, realizing that the king was determined on his ruin, stayed behind to beg Queen Esther for his life.

- 8 When the king returned from the palace garden into the banqueting hall, he found Haman huddled across the couch where Esther was reclining. "What!" the king exclaimed. "Is he going to rape the queen before my eyes in my own palace?" The words were scarcely out of his mouth than a veil was thrown over 9 Haman's face. Harbona, one of the eunuchs attending the king, was present. He said, "How convenient! There is that fifty-cubit gallows which Haman ran up for Mordecai, whose report saved the king's life. It is all ready at his house."
10 "Hang him on it," said the king. "So Haman was hanged on the gallows which he had erected for Mordecai, and the king's wrath subsided.

The royal favor passes to the Jews

- 1 8 That same day King Ahasuerus gave Queen Esther the house of Haman, the persecutor of the Jews. Mordecai was presented to the king, Esther having 2 revealed their mutual relationship. The king, who had recovered his signet ring from Haman, took it off and gave it to Mordecai, while Esther gave Mordecai charge of Haman's house.
3 Esther again went to speak to the king. She fell at his feet, weeping and imploring his favor, to frustrate the wicked scheme devised by Haman the 4 Agagite and his plot against the Jews. The king held out the golden scepter 5 to her, whereupon Esther rose and stood face to face with him. "If such is the king's good pleasure," she said, "and if I have found favor before him, if my petition seems proper to him and if I myself am pleasing to his eyes, may he be pleased to issue a written revocation of the letters which Haman son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, contrived to have written to procure the destruction of the 6 Jews in every province of the realm. For how can I look on, while my people suffer what is in store for them? How can I bear to witness the extermination of my race?"
7 King Ahasuerus said to Queen Esther and to Mordecai the Jew, "I for my part have given Esther Haman's house, and have had him hanged on the gallows 8 for planning to destroy the Jews. You are free now to write to them as you judge best, in the king's name, and seal what you write with the king's signet; for an order written in the king's name and sealed with his signet is irrevocable."
