JESUS' instructions on how to be ready for the coming judgment continue in the stories and sayings found in today's Gospel. We are not to be like the greedy rich man in last Sunday's Gospel who planned to store his great harvest in barns rather than share it. We are, rather, to share our wealth with those in need.

The antidote for the anxiety brought on by the coming judgment is to relinquish our possessions and provide for the needs of others. Our treasure will be in heaven where it will not wear out or be destroyed.

The other major way to be ready for the coming judgment is to be watchful. In Luke's Gospel, Jesus tells a parable about watchfulness to begin making this point. We must be like servants waiting for the master's return from a wedding banquet, which, even now, can last for a few days in the Middle East. We must be watchful so that even if the master comes after midnight, we will be ready for him. This is what the coming of the Son of Man will be like.

Peter asks if this parable is meant for the apostles or for the large crowd that has gathered to listen to Jesus.

Without answering Peter's question, Jesus responds with another parable about servants awaiting the return of their master. It begins with a question: "Who, then, is the faithful and prudent steward whom the master will put in charge of his servants to distribute the food allowance at the proper time?"

This parable adds to the theme of watchfulness; it explains how to wait and reminds us of the reward for the faithful follower at the heavenly banquet after the judgment. If it is addressed to the apostles, then it could also be addressed to leadership in the early Church.

Either way, the parables reminds us that we should be found doing our jobs when the master arrives. If we are doing our jobs, our reward will be great. But if we relax, neglect our duties, and begin to act like the greedy rich man—eating, drinking, and making merry—we will not have a place in the kingdom.

Watchfulness means living in such a consistently moral and obedient way that we are always ready to give an account to God of how we have lived. - Loyola Press.

National Stroke Week

Every year, around 19,000 residents in NSW have a stroke. In 2021, Lismore Base Hospital had 405 stroke patients with Tweed Hospital having similar numbers.

"A stroke is a medical emergency, and kills up to 1.9m brain cells per minute," said Kim Hoffman, Lismore Base Hospital Stroke Coordinator.

"It's also important that people learn to recognise stroke symptoms and call an ambulance immediately, to give stroke sufferers the best chance of a successful outcome."

Stroke patients in the Northern Rivers have access to the NSW Telestroke Service at Lismore Base and Tweed Hospitals, which links stroke patients with specialist clinicians via telehealth. The service enables time-critical diagnosis and treatment linking expert stroke clinicians with local emergency physicians to quickly determine the best possible treatment plan for a patient. Developed by eHealth NSW and the Agency for Clinical Innovation, the NSW Telestroke Service is based at Sydney's Prince of Wales Hospital.

ST JOHN'S SCHOOL NEWS

I hope that everyone has had a lovely week! After a massive Week 2, this week we settled back into our routines.

With Greg Flint being on long service leave until 19th August, I can announce that Naomi O'Dwyer has officially been appointed as Acting Assistant Principal for this time period along with her Additional Needs Teacher (ANT) role. Courtney Wells will take up the position of Acting Leader of Pedagogy along with her role of Leader of Evangelisation and Classroom Teacher.

This coming term is somewhat quieter but we do have St Mary of the Cross Feast Day on Monday, book week and the book fair coming up, plenty more engaging learning and some small events like Father's Day! Every blessing for the coming week,
Dave Bermingham, Principal.

Throughout the school's Naidoc Week celebrations, students participated in a range of activities, and we finished the week with a dress up in Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander Flag colours and a bush tucker lunch. Yum!

What a great immersion for our students!
